President Mobilizes Troops For Possible Use In Mississippi; Will Address Nation

Help' Is Offered Barnett

OXFORD, Miss. (UPI) — Vigorously from across the town Saturday with offers of help — armed or unarmed — to keep Negro James Meredith and his federal escorts from entering the University of Mississippi.

The showdown is expected to begin Monday when 700 U.S. demobilized paratroopers, now poised in Memphis, Tenn., are expected to take the 29-year-old Meredith to the "Ole Miss" campus.

Ross Barnett ringed the campus with 500 club-carrying police officers the last time it was attempted and the government had to call off the attempt at the last minute.

The clearing house for the vigilante offers was the cluttered home of Lafayette County Sheriff W. Ford in downtown Oxford.

"I implore you to stay away from Oxford, either as a spectator or to help us, if you are in wanting to bring about a peaceful situation," the sheriff told one caller.

It hardly had he completed his sentence when word filtered that William T. Rainach, of the prime movers in the Citizens Council, had entered the campus accompanied by two companions.

Force from Louisiana reached Oxford in an impromptu conference with newsmen at the side of his big, black automobile.

He said he had talked with Meredith Friday night and told there were "10,000 men in Louisiana ready to come to Mississippi and place themselves."

Nationwide Talk Is Scheduled For 7:30 P.M. Today

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy issued orders Saturday night for federal troops to mobilize at Memphis, Tenn., for possible use in the Mississippi crisis and arranged to address the nation over television and radio Sunday evening.

The Pentagon announced the troop directive in a brief statement just a few minutes before the White House said that Kennedy would go on the air at 7:30 p.m. EDT Sunday.

Acting White House press secretary Andrew Hatcher said the President would speak for 15 minutes on the crisis which is one of the gravest since the Civil War.

Of the troop movement, a Pentagon spokesman said shortly after 11 p.m. EDT that Army troops were "on their way to Memphis."

It was reported by one administration official that the troops being assembled were military police units. The number was undisclosed but described by a source as "small."

A brief Pentagon statement said that the department had ordered the Army "to assemble a force of active Army units at Memphis (Tenn.) Naval Air Station prepared to enforce federal court orders in Mississippi in event it becomes necessary to use federal troops for that purpose."

The department said the Army already had "initiated the movement of designated units."

A spokesman said there would be no further elaboration. There was no indication how many troops were being mobilized.

The Pentagon announcement followed a tense day featured by persistent rumors that President Kennedy would initiate a troop movement to Mississippi where Gov. Ross Barnett has defied court orders that Negro James Meredith be allowed to register at the state university.

en. Walker Is Leading Crusade Backing Barnett

ALLAS (UPI) — Former Maj. Edwin A. Walker, who once led the cold war from a command post on Germany's Neckar, Saturday led a conservative crusade from a gray stone on a shadowy creek.

Walker wants volunteers to stand beside Mississippi Gov. Barnett in his fight against integration.

Thousands of Americans Walker believes "thousands" of Americans will join him in Mississippi if and when federal troops are ordered to enforce a federal court order to permit Meredith, a Negro to enter the University of Mississippi at Oxford.

Walker denounced a report that 100 volunteers were ready to march as "a typical liberal misrepresentation of our strength."

Walker, 53, resigned from the job to become a spokesman forervative causes. He has declined his role as commander of federal troops who enforced (See WALKER, Page 10)

US Asks Recall Of Two Russian UN Workers; Sailor Is Arrested By FBI

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States Saturday asked Russia to immediately recall two members of its mission to the United Nations accused of receiving U. S. defense secrets from an American sailor.

A U. S. note delivered to Soviet mission headquarters in New York asked for the "immediate withdrawal" of Evini M. Prokhorov, 31, a second secretary, and Ivan Y. Vyrodov, 38, a third secretary.

The two were accused of receiving classified documents from Yeoman First Class Nelson Cornelius (Bulldog) Drummond who was arraigned in federal court in New York Saturday on charges of conspiring to peddle the secrets.

The U. S. note said that, "As host to the United Nations, the government of the United States strongly protests these espionage activities directed against the internal security of the United States."

It said the two Russians had acted "clearly outside the scope" of official duties and in "outrageous violation" of their privileges of residence under the United Nations headquarters agreement.

Drummond, was arrested by FBI agents while in the company of the Russians. The agents freed the Russians because of their diplomatic immunity.

Drummond's arrest was the second in two weeks involving Soviet espionage in the United States. Two other Russians—Yuri A. Mishukov, a 31-year-old translator, and Yuri V. Kaitsev, 38-year-old political affairs officer—were expelled from the country following the disclosure of their espionage activities as members of the Soviet mission to the United Nations.

Drummond was assigned to the mobile electronics technical unit at Newport, R. I., as administrative assistant to the officer in charge.

16 Year Veteran

A veteran of 16 years with the Navy, and a native of Baltimore, he lives with his wife, Lucille, in Newport where he owns the Havana Bar and Grill, which he bought earlier this year, near the Navy base there.

He faces a possible death penalty or life imprisonment if convicted.

Drummond entered a plea at his arraignment Saturday before U. S. Commissioner Earle N. Bishop. A preliminary hearing was set for Oct. 8.

FBI agents said they first got on his trail during his naval service in London from 1958 to 1959. After he made a trip from Newport to New York City Sept. 7, FBI agents secretly searched his auto and said they found 11 classified defense documents and a miniature camera concealed in the trunk.

Soviet Bought Camera

The FBI said the camera was traced to an employee of the Soviet mission to the United States who bought it last February in New York.

The car was one of two expensive 1959 make autos owned by Drummond, who the FBI said was in "extreme financial difficulties." His take-home pay is $120.95 per month.

When the federal agents closed in on Drummond late Friday night, he was seated in his car outside a diner in suburban Larchmont, N.Y., just north of New York City.

Agents said that in the car with him was Prokhorov. The second Russian, Uyrodiv, had gone into the diner.

Although the FBI was forced to release the two Russians because of their diplomatic immunity, the government can demand that the United Nations expel the two.

Soviet Union Gives Yemen Recognition

ADEN (UPI)—The Soviet Union Saturday extended diplomatic recognition to the new rebel government of Yemen and warned other nations to leave the Red Sea kingdom alone. The United Arab Republic also formally recognized the new regime.

Bearded Prince Seif al Islam al Hasan who has proclaimed himself the new imam, or ruler, of Yemen, meanwhile was reported to have reached Djeddah, Saudi Arabia, to try to marshal Yemeni tribesmen to fight for his lost throne.

But the rebels appeared in firm control. They announced formation of a government Friday night and said they had executed 10 of the deposed leaders, of the small kingdom. Yemen borders this British protectorate at the juncture of the Red Sea and the Gulf of Aden.

Before boarding a plane in London for his flight to the Middle East—where he planned to enter Yemen secretly—the new imam was asked what he thought of rebel claims he would be assassinated if he set foot on the soil of "free Yemen."

"I think I will live," he said. "But I suppose assassination is possible. It could happen to anyone."

Observers were scarcely surprised at the alacrity with which Moscow recognized the new government. Both the Soviet Union and Communist China have been active in getting a foothold there, and Russia recently built a big seaport for the country.

Egypt's quick move also was not surprising. Leaders of the rebellion were reported earlier to have close ties with President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the U.A.R. Two Yemenites in exile in Cairo were named to the revolutionary cabinet.

Britain's course was not clear. Britain has a major base in Aden scarcely 50 miles from the Yemen border, but in London government sources said Britain would follow a policy of "strict non-intervention." The sources said the question of formal recognition had not arisen.

(In Beirut, Lebanon, Yemeni students stormed their embassy and tore down royal emblems and portraits after the charge d'affaires refused to dismantle them. Police arrested the youths, described as pro-Nasser.)

'Dry Run' Polio Inoculation Set In Pampa Today

Volunteer workers who will participate in next Sunday's Sabin oral polio immunization in Pampa, McLean and Lefors will conduct a "dry run" of the project at 2 p.m. today in William B. Travis Elementary School here in Pampa.

The voluntary workers will take their immunization doses—three drops of the vaccine on a cube of sugar—at today's practice session.

The drive locally is being sponsored by the Top O' Texas Medical Society and the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Coordinators for the inoculation campaign are Drs. Ed Williams and Raymond Laycock.

On Next Sunday there will be six inoculation centers in Pampa and one each in Lefors and McLean. Places where Gray county residents may go for their immunization vaccine doses will be announced again later this week.

Sponsors of the project are hoping for a 100 per cent turnout of Gray County residents in the mass polio inoculation drive which is being conducted nationwide.

All volunteers were expected to bring their families with them today to be inoculated. All Jaycees were especially urged to be out for the "dry run" with their families, according to John Osborne, co-chairman of the project for the Jaycees.

Others expected to be on hand today, with their families, are members of the Top O' Texas Medical Association, Top O' Texas Pharmaceutical Association, the District 23 Nurses Association, and various Boy Scout units. All of these organizations will be helping out next Sunday when the mass immunization project is held for the general public.

Both Governor, Lt. Governor Found 'Guilty'

By HARRY FERGUSON
UPI National Reporter
NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — A federal appeals court Saturday found Lt. Gov. Paul B. Johnson of Mississippi guilty of contempt for barring a Negro from the state university. Unless he complies with the order to admit James H. Meredith to the university by 11 a.m. Tuesday he will be fined $5,000 a day.

Johnson got off easier than Mississippi Gov. Ross Barnett did Friday. The court held the governor in contempt and said unless he complied with its order by 11 a.m. Tuesday, he would be arrested and fined $10,000 a day.

However, Saturday's ruling specified that if Johnson became governor or acting governor, he would be subject to the same penalties that were laid against Barnett.

The ruling apparently anticipated the possibility that Barnett might go to prison and that Johnson would be left in charge of the executive affairs of the state.

Johnson did not appear in court and presiding Justice Richard T. Rives would not let two attorneys representing Mississippi enter the case as friends of the court.

In Jackson, the Mississippi legislature rammed through a state law Friday which apparently (See LT. GOV., Page 10)

Schirra Moves Into 'Ready Room'

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — U. S. astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr. moved bag and baggage Saturday into a special "ready room" to wait out the last 72 hours before his planned 160,000-mile rocket trip through space.

A small room in Hangar S, complete with television and hi-fi, will give the spaceman a quiet place to hang his hat for the next three days while he runs through the intensive physical and psychological tests that will clear him for America's third manned flight into orbit.

Three miles away, technicians worked around the clock to get Schirra's Sigma-7 space capsule ready for launch.

Miami said the situations in the central and eastern Atlantic and central Pacific were "satisfactory." Weather fronts made the Gulf of Mexico and western Atlantic somewhat "questionable," but this should clear up by Wednesday.

Technicians expect to begin loading the silvery Atlas booster rocket Tuesday with 63,000 pounds of high-grade kerosene—the fuel that will burn with liquid oxygen to boost Schirra and his Sigma-7 into orbit more than 100 miles up at a speed of 17,000 miles per hour.

Many Duties Set

Schirra will be the busiest man in the United States has ever sent into space during the nine hours and 11 minutes that will elapse between his blast off from Cape Canaveral and his planned landing near Midway Island.

In addition to improving the "steering" techniques of the bell-shaped Mercury space capsule, the astronaut will spend plenty of time observing space, taking pictures of earth and its weather and making tests inside the spacecraft—all of which will have important bearings on future U. S. space programs from weather satellites to lunar landings.

He has a batch of important scientific experiments to make, including:

- Spotting, observing and reporting on high-intensity light sources on earth. A giant flare will be (See ASTRONAUT, Page 3)

Weather Favorable

The weather, always a major problem for Project Mercury, appeared to be generally good over the most critical areas—the Atlantic and Pacific Ocean locations where Schirra would be expected to come down if his flight ended after any one of the planned six orbits.

Firm Asks Sugar Beet Acreage

WASHINGTON (UPI)— Holly Sugar Corp. has called upon Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman to designate 33,129 acres in West Texas and Eastern New Mexico as a national sugar beet acreage reserve. The firm plans to build a beet sugar factory in the Hereford-Dimmitt area by Sept. 1, 1964. The Holly proposal was submitted by Merrill E. Shoup, president of the corporation, at a hearing conducted by the sugar division of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The Texas Beet Growers Association and the Curry County, N.M. Beet Growers Association joined in the request.

Shoup testified that some 90 farmers had signed statements of intent to grow sugar beets for the new mill. He said they have more than 90,000 acres of irrigated land.

The land would be located in Deaf Smith, Castro and Parmer counties in Texas and Curry county in New Mexico.

Freckle-Faced Ronny Is A Busy Actor In 'Shirley Temple' Roles

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—That endearing little freckle faced kid with the mop of red hair you've been seeing in movies and on "The Andy Griffith Show" is 8-year-old Ronny Howard, a male Shirley Temple.

Not for years has a movie moppet come along to compare with Ronny's appeal. This is evident in the amount of work he does.

In addition to playing Opie, the cute little punk son of the Griffith series, Ronny had a fat role in "The Music Man" and soon will be seen in the MGM comedy,

"The Courtship of Eddie's Father." He's so busy his schedule calls for him to split his work week between Desilu studios, where the television series is filmed, and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer where he co-stars with Glenn Ford.

You'd think a kid like that would be odds on favorite to be Mr. 1962 Pain-in-the-neck. And you'd be wrong.

The principal fault with young Ronny is that he is a miser. His acting career brings him tens of thousands of dollars a year which he hoards with stinky fervor.

The bulk of Ronny's fortune goes into a trust fund by law, thanks to a lesson learned from Jackie Coogan who was fleeced of a million bucks or so when he was too young to drink beer. But the youngster does get 25 cents a week allowance.

What does he do with this magnificent sum?

"I save it," he said. "And I save all the other money too so I can go to college when I grow up."

It was noted that if his earning capacity continues at its present rate, by the time he is ready for higher education he will be able to buy his own college.

Then, in a burst of foresight, he said, "By then it will be so expensive I'll need every cent I've earned."

Reverting to 8-year-old thinking, Ronny outlined his collegiate aspirations: "I want to go to the University of California to study archeology and how to be a better actor, and the rest of that stuff like reading and writing."

"After college I want to be a producer, director and a writer and an actor. I've already written a six-page story called 'A Boy and His Friends.'"

Ronny's life is not a normal one for a boy his age but he is content. He prefers Opie's make-believe world to his own, however.

"I'd like to live out in the country like Opie does," the little guy said wistfully. "He gets to swim in the river and go fishing and ride horses all the time."

"Sometimes I'm like Opie but I'm usually my own independent kind of a person. Most kids climb trees but I don't because I haven't been able to build up my muscles, you might say."

"Other kids have to have a gang around when they play. Not me. I know how to play by myself. I pretend a lot."

"Usually I pretend I'm two characters in different armies that are fighting each other. I pretend the poor army kills my father. The poor army only has spears and knives and things like that. But I join the rich army with cannons and guns and kill the ones in the poor army that killed my father."

Ronny's father, actor Rance Howard, is very much alive. He looked a bit restless sitting in the MGM commissary listening to his son describe his grisly demise.

"I like to hear about wars, especially the American Revolution and the Civil War," young Howard continued.

"I dictated a monologue about both of 'em to Daddy. Maybe we can make an education record of them for children. It could be very interesting."

In a final demonstration of his preoccupation with a college education, he added, "It might bring in some more money for my college days."

Foley Will Appear At Prison Rodeo

HUNTSVILLE — An added feature attraction at the opening of the 31st Annual Texas Prison Rodeo here Sunday, October 7 will be Red Foley, veteran recording artist. It was announced by H.H. Coffield, Rockdale, Chairman of the Texas Board of Corrections.

Foley, who undertakes a dramatic acting role in television this fall, will share the opening rodeo spotlight with Rex "Mr. Cowboy" Allen, and his horse, Koko.

Back in 1930 Foley became one of the stars of the "National Barn Dance" and during the years he has been a constant mainstay in the entertainment world.

The celebrated entertainer originated the "Jubilee" in his hometown of Springfield, Mo., where he discovered much new talent including the famous Brenda Lee.

Foley himself now possesses the only lifetime contract ever issued by a record company which was given him on his 20th anniversary as a Decca artist.

Among the greatest favorites of his fans are "Peace in the Valley," "Steal Away," and "Just a Closer Walk With Thee."

In addition to Foley and Allen, the rodeo will feature thrilling inmate contests, plus a host of variety specialties to round out a fast-moving two-hour show.

The rodeo is held each Sunday in October with net proceeds from ticket sales earmarked for inmate rehabilitation.

which established her as one of the important authors of our time.

BELIEVE MY LOVE is the story of an inter-racial love and marriage, set against the background of all the doubts and fears and economic pressures of the time. Celia Carter of Corinth College in Nebraska and Ralph Howe of Hardin University in Colorado meet in Estes Park and fall in love, parting after their ten days in the mountains with the belief that a Chinese boy and his American girl would not plan marriage. The continuing love between these two well-drawn, thoroughly believable young people is the substance of this fascinating book. Surely no story has ever depicted a love so frustrated and battered, so discarded time after time, yet so clung to through three years of bitterness as does this heart-stirring story. The jobless, hungry, insecure Depression comes to life in Estes Park, in Corinth, in Chicago, in Denver. Many a reader will pause to weep nostalgic tears—and all will feel deep admiration for the courage, suffering, and eventual triumph of the fine people in this book.

Mrs. Chinn will be in Pampa on Friday afternoon and evening to autograph her new novel. She will be at the News Service, 110 West Kingsmill, from 4 to 5 and from 7 to 8. All Pampans are invited to attend the party for this neighboring (Borger) author.

This is one of the many dramatic and terrifying scenes in "The Phantom of the Opera," color filmization of the classic thriller that will open Thursday at the Capri Theatre for three days. ## Oil Well Drilling Appears Headed For A Low Year

Southwestern Oil Column: Focus On Oil

By EDWARD M. McMANUS United Press International TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — Oilwell drilling appears headed for a low year.

The American Assn. of Oilwell Drilling Contractors predicted this week that active rotary drilling rigs might drop to a 15-year low. And the association said the total of new well completions was likely to fall to the lowest level in nine years.

The organization puts out a weekly bulletin, tabulating the number of rotary rigs actually making hole. As of last Monday, the figure stood at 1,696, or 158 below the total a year ago this week.

Warren L. Baker, spokesman for the association, was not optimistic. "In marked contrast with early months of 1962, drilling activity in recent months has lagged behind the extremely low levels of 1961 and 1960," he said in a statement.

"It now appears certain that U.S. drilling activity will register another decline during 1962," Baker said there was slight encouragement when rotary rig activity rose above 1,700 for the first time this year during the three-week period ending Sept. 3. But then the rig total dropped sharply in the next two weeks to 1,624, more than 200 below the figure of the previous year at that point.

Last week, the activity increased again, but not enough to prompt much confidence.

Baker said by the end of the year, a "substantial" additional number of rotary drilling contractors will have gone out of business.

The Oil and Gas Journal points out that while the number of total wells is down, the footage has shown an increase.

Current footage figures are not available, but at the end of July, the Journal predicted 1962 footage would be 200,201,000 feet, higher than in 1960 or 1961.

At that time, the weekly magazine published a forecast of 46,538 total wells for the year. That would be 424 fewer than last year, and the lowest since 1952.

Americans Are Venturing To Sea In Oil Search

NEW YORK — Americans are venturing farther from shore and deeper into the sea, in their search for new oil and gas reserves.

Oil Facts, published by the American Petroleum Institute, reports that the industry is spending millions of dollars to develop new offshore drilling techniques and equipment.

One firm, for example, spent seven years and $7 million to perfect a system which makes it possible to install drilling and well-completion equipment on the ocean floor, lock it in place and put it into operation—all by remote control from the surface. No divers are needed.

A number of huge new floating rigs are being designed and built at costs ranging up to $4 million each.

With these new methods and equipment, says Oil Facts, it is now believed possible to find and produce petroleum from under the open sea, regardless of distance from land or depth of water.

Most offshore drilling so far has been in relatively shallow water. Some wells have been drilled as far as 65 to 70 miles from shore, but in waters only 180 feet deep.

One new floating barge already has drilled holes in waters near 300 feet in depth; another is designed to operate in waters up to 500 feet in depth. New rigs also are being designed with greater stability against storms, and with greater versatility.

The petroleum industry already has invested more than $3 billion in offshore operations.

In 1950, the most recent year for which complete data are available, the industry drilled 538 offshore wells at a total cost of more than $200 million. The average cost per offshore well rose to $385,700 that year, compared to $52,100 for the average productive oil well on land.

Some of the new machinery designed for deep-water operations can float virtually motionless despite wind and waves, while drills penetrate thousands of feet beneath the ocean floor.

As well as developing the new techniques, the industry has expanded its search for oil and gas. New exploration efforts are underway along both coasts and in the Gulf of Mexico.

PE Certificate Of Service Winners Are Announced

The 1962 recipients of the Society of Petroleum Engineers Certificate of Service are James R. Welsh (posthumously) and Ernest K. Parks. Presentation of the Certificates will take place at the membership Luncheon during the 37th Annual Fall Meeting of the Society of Petroleum Engineers, Oct. 7-10, in Los Angeles, Calif.

The Certificate of Service is given "to recognize and show appreciation for exceptional services rendered by Members of the Society of Petroleum Engineers. Qualifications for the award allow it to be presented "only to those relatively few individuals whose contributions stand out sharply even above the excellence of the services rendered each year by several score members of the Society."

James R. Welsh was a division petroleum engineer for Humble Oil & Refining Co. in Houston when he was killed in an automobile accident in Aug., 1961. The citation on his certificate will state: "In recognition for his outstanding work in membership development for the Society of Petroleum Engineers of AIME, and in particular for his service as chairman of the Society Membership Committee in 1956." Under Welsh's leadership as Membership Chairman, the Society made the largest membership increase in its history.

Welsh joined Humble as a refinery engineer in 1940, one year after receiving a Chemical Engineering degree from the U. of Texas. He then served in production research and petroleum engineering before becoming a division petroleum engineer.

Ernest K. Parks, who is now a petroleum engineer and independent consultant in Santa Barbara, Calif., was instrumental in establishing the Junior group of the Southern California Section of AIME. Since its founding in 1938, while Parks was chairman of the Southern Calif. section, this has been one of the strongest petroleum groups in Calif.

Parks, formerly chief production engineer for Standard Oil Co. of Calif., served as associate chairman of the 1947 Petroleum Div. Fall Meeting in Los Angeles and as a member of the Society of Petroleum Engineers Nominating Committee in 1956-57.

"For outstanding service to the petroleum industry as a pioneer consultant and for distinguished achievement in the engineering profession and practicing engineer," is the citation that will appear on Parks' certificate.

The Society of Petroleum Engineers is a constituent society of the American Institute of Mining, Metallurgical and Petroleum Engineers. Its purpose is to promote the exchange of engineering information and to improve the drilling and production of petroleum.

TEXAS TECH GETS PIEA AID FUND

LUBBOCK — Texas Tech has received a $2,500 student aid fund from the Petroleum Industry Electrical Assn.

The fund is to be used for personal loans without interest to deserving junior, senior, or graduate students in electrical engineering.

Individual loans may be made up to $50.

The fund at Tech is the sixth established by the association, which has more than 400 active members from 78 companies.

A check for the fund was presented to Dr. Harold Spuhler, Tech electrical engineering department head, by Benny J. Ballard of Beaumont, representing the association. Ballard is a Tech graduate.

Association Names Winners Of Awards

DALLAS — William J. Goldston, Houston independent oil producer; and Dr. Richard J. Gonzalez, Houston, one of the nation's best-known petroleum economists, were named Saturday to be the 1962 recipients of Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association's Distinguished Service Awards.

In announcing the decision by a select committee composed of former recipients, Association President J. Clyde Tomlinson said the awards would be presented at the closing session of the Association's 43rd Annual Meeting, to be held at the Sheraton-Dallas Hotel, October 8-9-10.

Long active in petroleum industry affairs, Goldston served as president of Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association, the general organization covering eight producing states, in 1959 and 1960. President of Goldston Oil Corporation, which he organized with his brother, Walter, in 1934, Goldston began his career as an independent in 1931 in East Texas. A native of North Carolina, he was graduated from the University of Oklahoma in 1929 with a degree in geology. His business interests include presidency of Goldrus Drilling Company, a directorship of First City National Bank of Houston, Mobile Offshore Company, and Tex-Tube, Incorporated.

Dr. Gonzalez, a member of the board of directors of Humble Oil & Refining Company, is functionally responsible for the company's finance and economics. For many years he has been identified as one of the industry's most authoritative spokesmen on percentage depletion. Author of numerous articles on oil and gas economics, Dr. Gonzalez has testified before several congressional committees on oil industry problems and has served with numerous industry committees making statistical and economic studies. A native of San Antonio, he holds three degrees from The University of Texas, where he once taught economics and was chosen a member of Phi Beta Kappa. Dr. Gonzalez joined the Humble Company as an economic adviser in 1937, became a member of the board in 1951 and treasurer in 1953.

Commission Changes Oil Well Spacing

AUSTIN (UPI) — The Texas Railroad Commission Thursday issued an order changing the statewide spacing for oil wells from 20 to 40 acres.

The commission also provided that wells must be at least 467 feet from lease lines, and no closer than 1,200 feet to each other on the same lease.

The order becomes effective Oct. 1.

Commission chairman William J. Murray Jr. said the order does not affect wells already drilled or spacing in fields that have special rules.

"This reflects a trend toward wider spacing," Murray said. "A driller can still get lower spacing according to what he can justify."

The old rules provided 330 feet must separate lease lines from wells and a minimum distance between wells of 933 feet. Some operators had suggested spacings of 660 and 1,330 feet, respectively, which Murray said would be less flexible than the ordered change.

"This rule is not of great significance," Murray said, "because spacing is primarily developed on individual fields."

He pointed out a new rule allows a discovery driller to get spacing rules after drilling only one well rather than five wells as was previously provided.

"If you discover a new field, you can still ask for whatever spacing you justify. There will still be some 20 acre and 30 acre spacing," Murray said.

The rules that were changed had been in effect since 1944.

Proponents of the well spacing change contended the new rule would discourage drilling unnecessary wells in Texas.

Many Scholarships Open To Students

By DAVID NYDICK UPI Education Specialist

Students expecting to enter college in September, 1963, should begin their plans immediately.

There are many ways to solve financial problems. Where and when should you seek assistance?

You may be surprised to find that there are hundreds of scholarships, grants, loans, and payment, business foundations, individuals, banks, religious organizations, fraternal groups, and even the colleges themselves.

You will find many deadlines for applications and tests. The necessary information, which you must supply, often takes a good deal of time to collect. There may be delays because your school must forward records for many students. It is important to start immediately.

Where should you begin? You must first analyze your financial needs, background, and education aims. You can then narrow the search to those aids which satisfy your purposes. The tremendous variety of offerings means the need for an organized approach on your part. A visit to the library will give you an idea of what you are dealing with. Feingold's, "Scholarships, Fellowships, and Loans," is an excellent listing. Your local library or school probably has others. Browse through and become familiar with the material.

Many of these proposals are outright grants. This type of financial aid (scholarship, fellowship) does not have to be repaid. The requirements for eligibility are generally: Promise as a student; financial need; good character; qualities of leadership. Many are general as opposed to others with specific requirements.

such as residence in one geographic area, religious affiliation, field of study, etc.

You should apply to as many sources as are practical. Search for those with the special demands which you meet. You may be increasing your chances if you apply to those with more limitations since there will be fewer candidates who will be eligible.

There are also a large variety of loans available. Many banks and institutions make loans which do not have to be repaid until after graduation. These possibilities can be checked through your local bank and at the college of your choice. Many colleges have made arrangements so that you may apply through their office.

Of course, you should not neglect to consider the many free or low tuition colleges and universities. Local, state and federal governments maintain or subsidize these colleges so that citizens may further their education.

Investigation of all levels of government will uncover a variety of possible aids. Contact your local education department and write to the U.S. Office of Education in Washington, D. C.

Most high school advisors maintain up to date files with information about sources of available funds and procedures for applying. Many colleges maintain similar files and listings of part time positions which will not interfere with studies.

An individual interested in a college education should not give up because of financial difficulties. If you are truly ambitious, you may be able to obtain the needed assistance. At this time, the most important step is to get started.

Do you wage a space war every night for your share of the bed? And once you gain possession of your share is it really worth the struggle just to acquire a mere 27 inches of sleeping width, the same width you had as a baby in a crib? Most husbands and wives think not, and do something about it, like switching to King-Size Beautyrest. Look what happens when you sleep on spacious, wonderfully comfortable King-Size Beautyrest. First, you gain 5-inches in bed length and a grand 21 inches in width. So much for the space war. Second, you sleep in Beautyrest comfort, the best man can provide. You enjoy a rest provided by hundreds of individually pocketed coils, each acting independently for buoyant yet firm support to every part of your body. Those Beautyrest springs never, never sag.

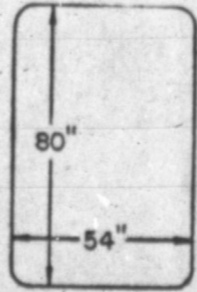

And here's more good news. Beautyrest lasts 3 times longer than ordinary connected coil mattresses. The United States Testing Co. has proved it so time and time again in a long series of durability tests. So why not switch to King-Size Beautyrest tonight.

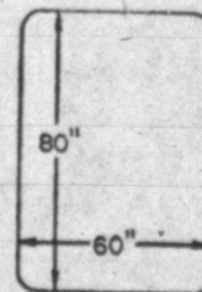

Look at the hammock type of sleep you get from an ordinary mattress with its tied-together coils. Push down on one and they all go down.

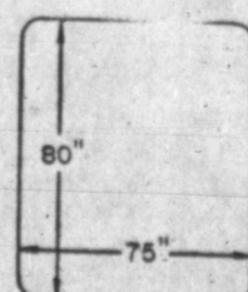

Here's why even the heaviest husband can't disturb his wife's rest on a Beautyrest. Independently acting coils provide separate, non-sag support.

Communist China Celebrates 13th Anniversary Monday

They Still Threaten To 'Liberate' Taiwan

By CHARLES R. SMITH
United Press International
TOKYO (UPI) — Communist China celebrates its 13th anniversary Monday at odds with the Soviet Union, on the brink of war with India, and probably only months away from becoming the world's fifth nuclear power.

As its 13th anniversary rolls around, the Peiping regime still threatens to "liberate" Taiwan by force, whipping up anti-American campaigns across the mainland, trying to get the United Nations by having Nationalist China thrown out, and peering into Southeast Asia.

The Red Chinese have come a long way since Mao Tse-tung united a rostrum in Peiping on July 1, 1949, and proclaimed the founding of the Communist Republic before 350,000 cheering Chinese.

But the Chinese Communists are the first to admit that they are a long way to go before attaining the position to which they aspire.

The Peiping regime now is in process of what the Communist leaders choose to call "taking one step backward to take two steps forward."

It has undergone — and still is undergoing — some serious internal strains.

The regime is struggling to recover from crippling agricultural failures brought on by bad weather, bungling bureaucracy, peasant discontent and over-emphasis on industry.

The National People's Congress spring put its stamp of approval on a capital retrenchment program and a back-to-the-farm movement.

According to the Peiping People's Daily, authoritative publication of the Chinese Communist Party, the "aid-to-agriculture" policy is beginning to pay off. In July September, the paper printed an increase in agricultural production this year, barring a disastrous autumn harvest.

Part of China's troubles — at home and abroad — can be traced to its ideological dispute with the Soviet Union. The feud has been going on for the past few years. It reached its peak, publicly at least, late last year.

For the past several months it

World Of Religion

By LOUIS CASSELS

Jews throughout the world are serving their "high holy days." Thursday was Rosh Hashana, the Jewish New Year. It marked the beginning of the year 5723 on the Jewish calendar.

Regarded as even more sacred than the Passover, the high holy days continue through Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement, which begins at sundown, Oct. 7.

Rosh Hashana services in synagogues and temples traditionally include the blowing of the shofar, ram's horn, as a summons to devout Jews to search their consciences, reflect on the deeds of the past year, and commit themselves to a better life in the year ahead.

The National Council of Churches has invited Christians throughout the country to help build new churches for Negro congregations in Georgia whose churches have recently been burned.

The Georgia Council of Churches already is raising a special fund for this purpose, and contributions made through the National Council will be added to the state council's fund.

"We wish to commend all those Georgia and other parts of the South who are raising funds to rebuild the churches," said Dr. Roy Ross, general secretary of the National Council. "We invite Christians in all parts of the country to join in these efforts. By so doing, they will assert their conviction that violence and intolerance have no place in our democratic society."

The Commerce Department in a report on building trends estimates that expenditures for such construction in the United States will top $1 billion this year, last year's outlay was just under $1 billion.

has been under wraps, but the best informed observers of the Communist scene say it is far from over.

The best recent evidence to support this observation is a recent article in the People's Daily, which attacked Yugoslav President Marshal Tito and "revisionism" in the Communist movement.

The paper's attack almost coincided with the visit to Yugoslavia of Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev.

More important, perhaps, was its strong defense of the "hard line" communism advocated by Peiping and Mao's theories — as opposed to those of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev — on the inevitability of war.

The dispute with the Soviet Union has cost China considerably — in terms of influence within and without the Communist camp, and in terms of cold cash.

The Soviet Union still gives the Peiping regime some technical and economic assistance, but the overall amount has been drastically reduced.

There also has been a sharp reduction in the amount of trade between the two Communist giants. The trade gap has been partially closed by trade with Western nations, the most prominent example being huge grain purchases from Australia and Canada.

No firm figures are available on China's balance of payments position, but the best available estimates indicate the Peiping regime is facing a serious balance of payments problem.

The ideological dispute with the Soviet Union may well be the most serious long-range problem facing the Peiping regime, but the problem of the most immediate import perhaps is the border dispute with India.

The border problem is rooted in British colonial history, but the Chinese and Indians have been wrestling unsuccessfully with it for only about a half dozen years.

Attempts at peaceful negotiation have been fruitless. In recent weeks bloodshed has increased along the dispute border of the world's two most populous nations.

Both countries have warned that war could break out at any moment.

Basically, the dispute involves more than 40,000 square miles of territory along the border.

China has issued almost weekly warnings and protests during the past several months in extremely strong language.

On the other side of the vast China mainland, the Chinese Communists have another war scare whipped up.

They have staged a tremendous military buildup along the coastal area fronting the Formosa Strait. In the southern area, particularly in Kwangtung Province, they have clamped on some of the most stringent internal security measures since the end of their bloody purges in the 1950's.

According to Far East intelligence sources, the military buildup and tightened security are based on a genuine fear of a Nationalist invasion.

But some sources also believe the moves might be partially designed to distract a disgruntled population.

When the Red Chinese air force shot down an American-made, Nationalist-owned U2 plane over East China early in September, the Communist authorities appeared to be trying to use the incident to whip up a new large-scale anti-American campaign.

If they were, they failed, according to their own accounts of the rallies broadcast over Peiping Radio and monitored in Tokyo.

The attitude may change when the Red Chinese acquire nuclear weapons.

the U2 incident to reaffirm their intention to "liberate" Taiwan, by force, if necessary.

Few people expect the Communists to try to make good on their threats as long as the United States Seventh Fleet is protecting the Nationalist-held island.

The Communist authorities used

The best available sources here believe that the nuclear breakthrough for the Chinese will come within the next year.

Remarks by Foreign Minister Chen Yi to Japanese journalists in mid-September, have caused some to predict that the Chinese might explode a crude nuclear bomb before this year is out.

Until she becomes a nuclear power, Red China appears intent on pushing her aims through Mao's favorite tactic — guerrilla warfare.

The chances of the Peiping regime being admitted to the United Nations this year are slim.

When he disclosed China's large-scale nuclear weapons research in mid-September, Chen Yi repeated some old remarks in this.

Communist China, he said, will never consent to becoming a member of the United Nations until the Nationalist Chinese are kicked out.

China is prepared to wait, he said, as have others before him.

Woman Hurt In Accident

A Sanford woman was reported in good condition in Highland General Hospital late Saturday night, suffering from injuries she received in a two-car accident at 10:50 p.m. Friday one-half mile west of Pampa on State Highway 150.

According to Highway Patrol officers who investigated the accident, Mrs. Mila Ann Hamlin, a passenger in a pickup truck being driven by her husband, William Easley, was taken by ambulance to the hospital with cuts and bruises when the truck collided with a car being driven by Roy Harding, Borger.

Officers said the Harding vehicle was attempting to turn left onto the highway from a private drive and drove into the path of the Hamlin truck, which was headed west.

Harding was cited for failure to yield right-of-way. He was not injured.

"I would not invite outside groups because it would make discipline impossible. But I would not tell them not to come."

Short of Clash

An informed source told United Press International Saturday that the marshals were expected to stop short of an open clash with Barnett's private army.

If they run into trouble, this source said, they would immediately report it to Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, who likely would dispatch troops.

A high ranking state law enforcement officer earlier told UPI that no attempt would be made to stop Army troops, but any lesser federal force could expect trouble.

Approximate damage to the Harding car was $250. Damage to the pick-up truck was extensive, officers said.

Notre Dame Topples Oklahoma

NORMAN, Okla. (UPI)—Notre Dame stopped two serious Oklahoma threats in the fourth quarter with sterling defensive play and won its opener, 13-7, before a disappointed homecoming crowd of 60,500 and a nationwide television audience.

Oklahoma had a good chance of tying and possibly going ahead in the closing minutes, but Notre Dame stopped the Sooners on the one yard line and then covered a fumbled pitchout on fourth down. Minutes later, after Oklahoma had recovered Notre Dame's only

Nebraska Upsets Michigan, 25-13

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI)—Upstart Nebraska refused the underdog's role Saturday and dealt Michigan a stunning 25-13 defeat before 70,287 for its second victory of the young season.

Led by quarterback Dennis Claridge and the bruising rushing of all-America hopeful Billy Thornton, the Cornhuskers quickly took command after a scoreless first period and maintained the surprising edge the rest of the way. Claridge scored one Nebraska touchdown on a six-yard run and led the Cornhuskers on their other three scoring drives.

Nebraska had opened with a 53-0 rout of South Dakota a week ago, but still was rated underdog to untested Michigan.

Thornton, a 212-pound senior fullback was kept under wraps with a leg injury most of the first half. But he haunted Michigan in the final two periods with his power rushes and scored two of Nebraska's three touchdowns in the second half.

Hallback Dennis Stuewe ran over Michigan's inexperienced line for the first score of the game. He romped 11 yards and Jim Baffico booted the extra point.

Michigan pulled to within one point before halftime on Dave Glinka's eight-yard run.

But Thornton powered his way for a one-yard touchdown plunge early in the second half and Claridge followed with a six-yard scoring run to send the Cornhuskers ahead 19-6.

The Wolverines made a comeback early in the fourth period when halfback Dick Rindfuss capped a drive by crashing four yards and Bob Timberlake booted the extra point.

Thornton and Claridge put the game out of reach minutes later. Claridge completed three key passes and Thornton sped 16 yards into the end zone.

Arkansas, with Moore hitting on 11 of 12 passes, piled up a 21-6 first half lead and added three more touchdowns in the second half. Tailback Jesse Branch picked up two touchdowns and Moore also got two.

Tulsa's biggest moment came late in the third period when sophomore tailback Ken Boone intercepted a pass from Arkansas' second string quarterback, Bill Gray. Boone dodged his way through most of the Arkansas team, going 67 yards to score Tulsa's second touchdown.

Moore, a senior from Little Rock, got beautiful blocking on his long run. Arkansas had taken the ball on its own 10 after a Tulsa punt and Moore pushed over right tackle and was on his way down the side of the field. He was hardly touched.

The run set an Arkansas record for runs from scrimmage.

Gray replaced Moore at quarterback in the final minute of the first half and on his first play threw a short touchdown pass to Branch. The other Branch touchdown was on an eight-yard end run.

Gray threw another scoring pass late in the game to sophomore end Jerry Lamb, and Fred Marshall ran over from the 19 for Arkansas with three seconds left.

Tulsa's other touchdown, by Jerry Swanson, climaxed a 65-yard march in the first quarter, led by McBirnie's passing.

BOULDER, Colo. (UPI)—Colorado University's football team, made up of the remnants of last season's Big Eight Conference champions, squeaked past Kansas State, Saturday, 6-0, by stopping the Wildcats four times inside the 10-yard line.

It was the first victory of the season for the Colorado team, which was riddled by a recruiting scandal and scholastic deficiencies. Utah dumped Colorado, 37-21, in the opener a week ago.

Colorado scored its lone touchdown in the third period after its only other threat was stopped on the Kansas State one-foot line in the second period.

The Buffaloes drove 82 yards on 17 plays, featuring the bull-like rushes of fullback Bill Harris, to score the winning touchdown. Quarterback Frank Cesarck, who completed three of five passes for 29 yards in the march, dove over from one yard out on fourth down after Colorado had picked up a first down on the 7.

But the greatest excitement for the 35,000 fans was in Colorado's goal line stand.

Colorado stonned Kansas State three times within the 10-yard line after scoring the touchdown.

Florida Falls, 17-0, Before Georgia Tech's Power

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (UPI)—Quarterback Billy Lothridge, plowing through holes cut in the Florida defense by a big, tough Georgia Tech line, drove the Yellow Jackets to a 17-0 victory Saturday before a capacity crowd of 45,500.

Lothridge repeated the aerial wizardry of his performance against Clemson last week and threw in several slashing runs to spark all the Tech scoring plays. He ran for one score, threw a brilliant, 31-yard touchdown pass, kicked a field goal and added the extra points.

Backing the 20-year-old junior from Gainesville, Ga. was the powerful Tech line, which opened holes for 194-pound Joe Auer and Tech's other fine running backs.

The Florida defense held Tech for a while but crumbled in the second half.

Big Florida right guard Jack Katz helped keep the Gators from being trodden underfoot, but most of the action was deep in Florida territory in the second half.

Lothridge opened the scoring with less than two minutes of the second period left, kicking a field goal from 17 yards out after the Engineers marched up field from their own 44 in 10 plays.

With 38 seconds to go, Lothridge made it 10-0 with a sizzling 31-yard pass to right end Billy Martin in the end zone, after their 29-yard line to the Florida 31 in two fast plays.

Early in the third period Lothridge combined with powerful fullback Mike McNames to pound the Florida defense from the Gator 50 to the goal line in nine plays, aided by three penalties against Florida—then scurried through a hole for a one-yard touchdown.

Iowa's New Formation Successful

IOWA CITY, Iowa (UPI)—Iowa's Matt Szykowny, operating out of the new "floaters" formation, passed for three touchdowns Saturday and the Hawkeyes went on to win their ninth straight opening game by drubbing Oregon State, 25-8.

An estimated 54,000 fans watched Szykowny win a passing duel with Oregon State quarterback Terry Baker, who was hounded by Iowa's hard-charging linemen throughout the game.

Szykowny pitched scoring passes of 4, 36 and 14 yards to three different receivers and added two extra points by kicking and another on a pass to lead the Hawkeyes.

The new "floaters" formation, installed by coach Jerry Burns, is to prevent opponents from gangling up on end Cloyd Webb and Iowa's speedy halfbacks, succeeded in spreading regon State's defense.

Warren Spahn Is Winningest Lefty In Major Leagues

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—Warren Spahn became the winningest lefthander in major league history as the Braves beat the Pittsburgh Pirates Saturday for the 37th win of his spectacular career.

The 41-year-old Spahn, who did not win his first game until age 25, was hugged by his jubilant teammates as 11,339 fans cheered wildly.

Spahn, who already has a place reserved for him in Baseball's Hall of Fame, surpassed the 226 victories notched during the 17 year career of southpaw Eddie Plank, who pitched before Spahn was born.

Athletics Tumble

DETROIT (UPI)—Bubba Morton's two-out single in the bottom of the ninth gave the Detroit Tigers a 3-2 victory Saturday over the Kansas City Athletics.

Morton's single, which bounced off the glove of shortstop Billy Consolo, scored Jake Wood, who had gone in as a pinch-runner for catcher Mike Roarke. Roarke opened the ninth with his third walk of the game. Wood was sacrificed to second from where he scored.

W. Virginia Wins

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI)—Junior quarterback Jerry Yost ran for one touchdown and passed for another Saturday to steer West Virginia past Virginia Tech. Yost ran 56 yards for West Virginia's first score and pitched a 28-yard touchdown pass to sophomore end Milt Clegg with only three seconds remaining in the first half.

Mountaineer defenders stopped two four-period drives which ended with the Techmen losing possession twice within the West Virginia 8-yard line.

Los Angeles In 3rd Place Cinch

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Los Angeles clinched third place in the American League Saturday by beating Cleveland, 4-1, in the first game of a doubleheader behind the strikeout pitching Bob Belinsky and Dean Chance.

The victory assured the Angeles of going into the final game of the season Sunday with a two-game lead over fourth place Chicago. The White Sox can only make up 1½ games.

Games Called Off

BOSTON (UPI)—A scheduled doubleheader between the Boston Red Sox and Washington Senators was postponed Saturday because of wet grounds.

One of the games was rescheduled for Sunday as part of a doubleheader. Only one game had originally been scheduled for Sunday.

Youngsters learn mighty early about the cooling effect of water when the weather's hot. And air conditioning engineers know that water cooling is far more efficient than air cooling. The reason is simple . . . 85° water can absorb more heat from your home than 100° air.

That's why ARKLA-SERVEL Sun Valley's GAS air conditioners are WATER cooled! Water cooling, plus Sun Valley's "no moving parts" principle, gives you two big advantages unavailable with other air conditioners. ## Clemson's Tigers In 7-0 Victory

RALEIGH, N. C. (UPI)—Clemson quarterback Jim Parker broke up a fumbling defensive struggle Saturday with a fourth period pass to end Oscar Thorsland that gave the Tigers a 7-0 victory over North Carolina State.

After each team had either fumbled away sustained drives or lost the ball on pass interceptions, Parker heaved a long one to Thorsland that was good for 53 yards to the Wolfpack's five. From there fullback Pat Crain carried to the one, and then plunged over on the next play. Rodney Rogers' kick was good.

State made a fiery comeback attempt in the closing minutes but couldn't make it to pay dirt.

Navy Rebounds With 20-16 Win

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (UPI)—Navy, rebounding from its trouncing by Penn State last week, came from behind with a fourth period touchdown Saturday to defeat William and Mary, 20-16.

It was Navy's eight consecutive win over the Southerners, but the Midshipmen had to put a last minute goal stand to thwart a bid by the Indians for victory.

The Indians, trailing by four points, chalked up two first downs and marched to the Navy 12. But there the Middies' defense strengthened and they took over the ball on downs on their own 20 yard line.

Halaby Would Double Federal Officials' Salaries

Halaby—A UPI Extra
EDITOR'S NOTE: Najeeb E. Halaby heads an agency with far-reaching authority over civil aviation. Inevitably, the boss of the Federal Aviation Agency is the center of controversy, and Halaby has stirred up his share just as Elwood Quesada did when he headed FAA. This includes feuds with congressmen and various aviation organizations. The following interview, unusual in its frankness, reveals Halaby's thinking on subjects ranging from air accident investigation to his troubles in trying to live on his government salary.

By ROBERT J. SERLING
UPI Aviation Editor
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal Aviation Administrator Najeeb E. Halaby today revealed his formula for saving the taxpayers' money — double the salaries of top government officials.

"If I could double the salaries of my own key officials," he said in an exclusive UPI interview, "I could save 10 times that amount just in improved efficiency and performance. The biggest problem in the Federal Aviation Agency and all government is attracting the right high echelon people. You can't do it without some monetary incentive in most instances."

The head of the 44,000-man FAA sat in his spacious office, which is decorated with model planes and Indian relics (his hobby), and candidly discussed his first 19 months in office. He described life in Washington as "a kind of battle where you have to keep the initiative so your enemies are always firing on your stern and not your bow."

Halaby, an intense, dynamic man who looks and talks like movie star Gregory Peck, tends to pace while talking to visitors. He is persuasive, personable, informal and disarmingly frank. His vocabulary is both erudite and salty. He is known as "Jeeb" throughout the agency.

Halaby listed these as his proudest achievements in FAA: —Establishment of a strong management team by "deploying talent more effectively (a polite way of saying he cleaned house) and recruiting about 15 unusually competent and experienced top people."

—Installing more confidence and respect in the giant agency along with less resentment toward its dictator-like authority.

—Major reforms in FAA's research projects which he thinks in the past "wandered around with little sense of direction."

—Improved cooperation with FAA's sister air agency, the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB), particularly in enforcement and accident investigation.

Conversely, Halaby admits his biggest disappointment — and in a sense, temporary failure — is continued weaknesses in the nation's air traffic control system.

Here is Halaby's comment on some of his own and aviation's problems:

Air Traffic Control: "Neglect of the airways in the past has produced a kind of improvised system dependent on a large number of persons working in a small space under very little systemization. Air traffic controller morale is a problem. Some controllers feel we're too strict on discipline when they make mistakes. But you don't inspire anyone by mollycoddling or pampering. You inspire them by leadership, and that includes giving them the right tools to do their job. I'd like to see controllers with the esprit de corps of the FBI or the Marines. As for discipline, you don't wait for an accident to take corrective action. You take it after an incident that could have caused an accident."

Relations With Congress: "I've never been deliberately arrogant or insulting to a congressman. Sometimes you inadvertently say something that gets you into hot water because you don't know what motivates a congressional complaint or suggestion. In one case, where I was getting blasted for closing down a FAA facility in a city, I didn't know the mayor was from one faction, the congressman involved was from another, and that each was trying to outdo the other in retaining the facility. I guess there's some merit in the criticism that I've spoken too hastily at times—like when I called one congressman 'a freshman who is acting like a freshman.' But I regard Congress as my board of directors and I have no complaints about the cooperation FAA gets from Capitol Hill."

His Predecessor, Elwood R. Quesada: "Since becoming administrator, I've acquired a lot of sympathy for what Quesada went through. I didn't realize until I took the job how constant the pressure would be and what a variety of forms it assumes."

Accident Investigation: "I know there has been something of an FAA-CAB feud on this subject but I think we've finally achieved a very candid, close cooperation with CAB. At first we had going on was my friendship with CAB Chairman (Alan S.) Boyd. Now it is far more than an 'Alan-Jeeb' relationship. The FAA does not want to take over accident investigation. But it does want to be part of an efficient team in helping CAB solve accidents. I've been accused of shooting off my mouth about some accidents, but frankly I don't think we should hide anything factual we uncover in the course of a crash investigation. By telling what we know, we allay fears and cut down wild rumors. I regard this as a sound public policy which I'll continue to observe."

Aviation Feuds: "There is less feuding among the various segments of aviation than there used to be, but it isn't possible to eliminate feuds entirely. I believe there has been a general improvement in the approach of those segments to aviation problems and less concentration on the things that divide them."

Personal Life: "What personal life? I love golf and tennis and hunting but I don't find time for them anymore. We're living off our savings right now because my salary ($22,500 annually) isn't enough to provide me with the standard of living my family has enjoyed in the past. I'm not complaining. I'm just stating a federal fact of life. It cost me $3,000 to move here from California. I had to sell some stock to pay tuition for my children's schooling. We live in a three-bedroom house and we need four bedrooms because I have two daughters feuding over whether each should have a room of her own. I work a six and sometimes a seven-day

Space Center To Give Boost For Coast's Economy

COLLEGE STATION (UPI)—The Manned Spacecraft Center at Houston will provide an estimated $120 million a year economic boost to the Gulf Coast area.

Paul E. Purser, representing the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) made the estimate recently before some 250 businessmen at the 12th annual Texas Industrial Development Conference.

Purser said that by July, 1963, the spacecraft center will employ about 3,000 persons with a payroll of $20 million a year. Additional economic stimulus will come from attracting other industries, he said.

"Since we became established in Houston at the first of the year 75 industrial firms have opened offices in the Houston area work with the NASA," Purser said.

Purser said that in the current semester, NASA has 125 employees enrolled at Texas A&M, Rice and the University of Houston.

"In years to come," he said, "we expect this enrollment to create by several fold."

Bill R. Cobb of the Texas Industrial Commission told the conference that Texas can expect about 60 per cent increase in number of industrial and manufacturing plants by 1977.

MATURE PARENT

Dear Mrs. Lawrence: I would appreciate your writing that parents should keep their arguments private and away from their children. Last night my husband started an argument over some church work I have been asked to do. I was trying to quiet him down when our 11-year-old girl butted in and told him that I had already agreed to do the work. This is always what happens. He cannot see that arguing before the children encourages them to take sides with one of us.

ANSWER: No, ma'am, I will not advocate the kind of privacy you want me to advocate for parents' quarrels — the kind given by a locked bedroom door: the hiding, self-conscious, phony, show-polite-we-are-to-such-other-privacy so generally preached by child guidance authorities.

The kind of privacy I respect is the kind parents make for themselves right square in the presence of children — the kind that enables them both to turn upon an interfering youngster and say, "This is our business. We will take care of it ourselves, thank you."

Yes, that's the kind of "united front" that is a blessing to everyone. It keeps proper distance between parents and children and establishes the limits which the young need made for them.

What encouraged your daughter to interfere in your quarrel was not the quarrel but your fear of it.

The young have fox noses for the smell of resentments that linger on in fathers and mothers after unfinished quarrels.

They will use the resentments to insert a deeper wedge between their parents if it seems to promise the child's advantage.

A daughter who wants some favor from her father will rush in to support his objection to our church work — and get what she wants by winning his gratitude.

But such unhealthy family goings-on are not caused by healthy quarrels between parents. They are caused by the sickly, unfinished quarrels between two adults who have chosen to swallow their bile in the name of some ideal of themselves as "peace lovers."

No, I'm afraid I can't advocate grownups running off to a locked bedroom every time they get mad at each other in order to spare their children the truth that they can get mad.

The only people such parents fool are themselves.

LUXURY ITEMS

Luxury for the campus: little velvet jackets and giant mufflers of bubbly wool mohair.

Bentley's CHATTER

Every once in a while, fashion authorities come up with a brand new color. This year, the color is called "black olive".

It is a mixture of black and green which comes out almost olive looking. It is really quite pretty, but we were surprised to find it rated an editorial in the Wall Street Journal. The article called attention to the fact that retailers were always bringing out something new to excite trade and motivate women to buy. Very mildly they rebuked women for being so easily swayed by just the name of a new color...

If and when we have time, we will have to answer this and tell them they could have entitled the article... "Men see Red... with the New black olive" or some such.

Anyway it all goes to prove that color is important, and this is the year for it. It is all very understandable: one look at the new LILLIAN lipstick red coat with the norwegian natural blue fox collar, simply beautiful; the red wool basic dress by MERELY, fully lined, sizes from 7 to 13... price only $19.95. The exciting red crepeon coat by CANDY WILLIAMS with the laminated lining for warmth without weight with three big buttons and flare back... only $29.95. Or choose the red poplin coat with a black fox collar by DEBUTOGS... it is pile lined and only $39.95.

PLANS WEDDING

Miss Carolyn Jo Brown

CANADIAN (Spl) — Mrs. Charles E. Brown announce the engagement of their daughter, Carolyn Jo, to Bob Wilburn, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. Wilburn of Canadian. A date has been set for the wedding.

Mrs. Allan Is New S Club President

SKELLYTOWN (Spl) Members of the Skelly Schaefer Club met recently in the club house for election of officers and a social. Mrs. L. D. Cowart and Mrs. A. Wesner were hostesses. Mrs. Leroy Allan was elected president; Mrs. William Truitt, vice-president; Mrs. J. M. Chapin, secretary; Mrs. R. C. Eaton, treasurer; Mrs. Wesner, power chairman; Mrs. Cowart, social chairman and Mrs. R. E. McAllister, reporter. A social was planned to be held at the club house September 29 for members and their husbands. Fruit salad, coffee and tea was served to those mentioned and Mmes. John Kenney and John Simmons.

WELL! ... reading is enlightening and you come across the most amazing things ... like, for instance, this week our glance caught an article which stated "a whopping 72 per cent of American husbands help their wives with the dishes!" ... we thought husbands NEVER did ... until we read the results of a survey conducted by a stainless steel sink company which wanted to find out who is using them ... it seems that male pride is putting up a last ditch fight though ... the article stated that "only 14 per cent of husbands pitch in on the dishes every night and 41 per cent help with dishes at frequent intervals" ... probably once or twice a week ... while "another 17 per cent grabs a dish towel only on special occasions such as the aftermath of company dinners" ... but for those men-of-the-house, who stubbornly refuse to do a dish, they can take heart ... there are 28 per cent of the male population with them! ... one of the diehard 28 per cent, who scorned dishes as "women's work", growled, "The only chance I get to relax is when she is doing the dishes and I can sit and read the paper" ... "but", the survey report continued, "the apron isn't always where you would expect to find it. One husband admitted, "of course I let my wife do the dishes alone. That's her part of the job. I do the cooking" ... the rest of this amazingly revealing article was unreadable ... we had splashed some of our soapy dishwater on it ... as we stood at the sink doing the dishes!

BUT, DEAR AND GENTLE SISTERS ... our life isn't so bad ... even if the dish-washing chore is ours alone ... consider for one moment how our lot on washday has improved since great-grandma's day ... women today, whose most difficult washday chore may be getting the soap carton open, can read this item sent in by a reader of this column and count their blessings ... it's an authentic Kentucky "receipt" in its original spelling for washing clothes:

- (1) build a fire in back yard to heat kettle of rain water,
- (2) set tubs so smoke won't blow in eyes if wind is pert;
- (3) shave one hole cake soap in bilin water;
- (4) sort things, make three piles. 1 pile white, 1 pile cul-lord, 1 pile work britches and rags;
- (5) stir flour in cold water to smooth then thin down with biling water;
- (6) rub dirty spots on board, scrub hard, then bile. rub cul-lord but don't bile — just rench and starch;
- (7) take white things out of kettle with broom stick handle then rench, blew and starch;
- (8) spread tee towels on grass; (9) hang old rags on fence;
- (10) pore rench water in flower bed; (11) scrub pr... oops! porch with hot soapy water; (12) turn tubs upside down; (13) go put on clean dress ... smooth hair with side combs ... brew cup of tee ... set and rest and rock a spell and count blessin'!

WHILE WE'RE still on "the housewife" subject ... a note this week from Rosa Martin reveals that she has her own favorite recipe for Sauer Kraut Salad ... the ingredients are basically the same as the one printed last week but she has suggested a few variations you might like ... for her salad, Rosa writes that she uses one 15-oz. can of drained Kraut ... one cup of onions diced ... one cup of celery diced ... one green pepper diced ... on small can of drained pimientos ... and three-fourths cup of sugar ... mix all ingredients together and let stand a few hours ... or a few days ... and it will be good as ever if kept chilled and covered ... Rosa tells us that this recipe came all the way from Cedar Vale, Kansas! ... also, a note from Mrs. Harry Hoyler Sr. ... who liked the Sauer Kraut recipe ... but didn't appreciate the error about her grandson, Jimmy Hoyler, who is a student at Oklahoma University this year ... we had him rooming with Jerry Ford, who isn't even going to OU ... Jimmy is rooming with David Tripplehorn ... Jimmy has pledged Sigma Nu and David has pledged Alpha Theta Omega on the OU campus ... we have no alibi ... just must have washed too many dishes that day!

KNOW WHAT Doris and Houston Price are doing now that son David, is in college ... and week ends are rather on the lonely side? ... well, they gather up a group of youngsters and take them out for an old-fashioned week end on the farm ... doesn't that sound like fun! ... of course, you have to let them know you want to go and there is a nominal fee and the youngsters have to be over six years of age ... wonder if they would take anyone over 27! ... on these autumn week ends we'd love to spend some time in the wide out-of-doors looking at and listening to the sights and sounds of nature ... unfettered by the trappings of our weekday routine ... Cathy Nelson ... Terry Ann Culley ... and Cile Gordon have been a few of their recent guests.

THERE ARE STRANGE things happening around Frank Smith's diggings on Cuyler Street ... and if you want to bring a sly smile to the corner of his mouth just call him the "Barefoot Boy" ... now Frank has shelves and shelves of shoes but do you know what he is advocating? ... "NATIONAL BAREFOOT WEEK" which was to begin yesterday and continue through Oct. 6 ... there is a method in his sly madness though ... he's willing to go through this barefoot business to emphasize the freedom of wearing properly fit shoes that are as comfortable and as enjoyable as being a barefoot youngster ... it will take more than a week to put this idea across say we as we ease out of our four-inch stilleto heels that are further armed with razor-sharp toes ... it will take a lot of pace-setting shoe fashions by some of our smart Pampa matrons.

RETURNING PAMPANS ... who are coming home from vacations remind us that summer is only a week past and autumn only a week old ... Maye Skaggs has just returned home this week from a trip to Colorado and New Mexico with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Porter Oakes of Wichita Falls ... while in Denver, Maye and the Oakes were houseguests of Mr. Oakes' sister and family, the E. E. Nowells, who live in the Southern Hills section of that city ... they took sidetrips to the Front Range, South St. Vrain and Bear Creek Canyon Mountain areas ... they returned home by way of the San Luis Valley, Taos and Eagle Nest areas of New Mexico ... and Maye described the Aspen spectacle in this territory as "breath-taking."

THERE'S TO BE a ggy old time tomorrow night in Sam Houston School auditorium ... when Pampa Little Theatre entertains guests with three one-act comedies and a review of the Broadway musical, "The Sound of Music" ... Ruth Holladay, wife of the Pampa Harvester football coach, is to be the reviewer ... and those who heard her at the Beta Sigma Phi Autumn luncheon in the Pampa Country Club recently have nothing but raves about her performance there ... so it should be a pleasant evening ... fun ... food ... and, free ... what more could you ask? ... see you there? Love, Peg nous tiered skirt, highlighted scalloped edging, cascaded fully to form a brush train.

What Does Gal Do When Mink Is Stored?

There's a rumor afoot that mink is beginning to slip as a status symbol.

Maybe it's a good thing. It does seem that in the last few years some women got to depend a bit too much on the quality of their mink coats and stoles to tell the world that the woman beneath was something special.

Haven't you often seen a woman, with no obvious assets but a carelessly worn, expensive mink, putting on the airs of a duchess with salesgirls, or looking slightly over the heads of unminked women? Didn't it make you wonder what such a woman depended on in the summer to justify such arrogant airs, or if she just put them aside when her mink went into storage?

The trouble is, it has been so easy for a woman to toss a mink coat over her shoulders and de-side that the mink made her something special—special enough so that she could act bored, instead of exerting herself to be charming; so that she could act impatient and demanding with those who served her, smug in the belief that the mink gave her certain privileges of rank.

Of course, mink doesn't affect all women in that peculiar way. But for those who actually believed that mink could lend them status—it sometimes had a pretty sad effect.

No woman who loves beautiful furs wants to see mink go out of fashion. But it might be a good thing for the world to get around that it can no longer be counted on to give a woman status, since a lot of women have obviously come to believe that it can.

The trouble is—the women who believe you can buy status will and depend on it to impress others probably take up the newest status the way they learned to lean on symbol (whatever replaces mink) mink.

Conservation Of Natural Resources Stressed At Civic Culture Club Meet

Mrs. J. B. Townsend presented a paper on "Where My Caravan Has Rested" at the Civic Culture Club meeting held Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Carl Axelson.

The discussion theme was concerned with soil, water and natural resource conservation from the speaker's own personal observation. She traced conservation observations from her childhood on a farm in Western Ohio to the present time in the state of Texas.

"We need to realize that our very lives depend on how well we keep and care for every bit of our resources; be it county or state or some other part of this wonderful land of ours," Mrs. Townsend stated.

"We must make everyone realize it is our land and our responsibility to keep and protect it. We each can do a little if only by watching our actions and trying to influence others. Teach them to admire its beauties: its forests; its mountains; its streams; its parks and recreational features and to know we have them today only because there are those who have cared and tried to conserve them for us."

During the business meeting conducted by Mrs. Axelson, president, the club voted to support every federation requirement and to participate in the 800 Club.

It was announced that a district board meeting and workshop will be in Canadian on Oct. 4. Members attending were Mmes.

Altrusa's Constitutional House Depicted At Meet

Mrs. Irl Smith, chairman of the Laws committee, presented an informative and graphically illustrated program on the Altrusa Club's by-laws and constitution at a dinner meeting held Monday evening in the West Starlight room of the Coronado Inn.

In describing a "blue-print for Altrusa" as outlined in the by-laws, Mrs. Smith described the activities of the club as "to cultivate friendly relationships; promote mutual understanding of women who are actively engaged in business and professions; to encourage high ethical standards of business and professional conduct; to give vocational information and be of service to women already engaged in or entering business or professional fields; to encourage participation in community and public affairs on a bipartisan basis; to do any and all things conducive to the betterment and ultimate welfare of women in business and the professions; to promote education and cultural training and improvement; to be informed on international affairs and to promote mutual understanding between the people of all nations."

Mrs. Smith was assisted in the presentation of the program by Mrs. Bonnie McCauley, Ila Pool, Mary Wilson, who posed questions pertinent to the by-laws and constitution and answered them with excerpts from the constitution.

Mrs. Smith likened the organizational frame work of Altrusa to a "Constitutional House" with each committee and officer's work given a designated room in the house. A miniature, completely furnished house was used to illustrate and following the meeting members were invited to view "Altrusa Manor."

As a concluding feature, Mrs. Wilson and Miss Rosemary Lawlor sang "Bless This House," accompanied by Mrs. Fidelia Yoder at the piano.

Miss Gail Cole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Cole, was introduced by Mrs. Rufe Jordan as the Altrusa Girl of the Month for September, Miss Cole, Pampa High School senior and editor of the "Little Harvester," is a member of the Student Council and of the Kit Kat Klub. She plans to continue with her studies at Texas Technological College in Lubbock in Sociology and Creative Writing.

Mrs. F. A. Hukill, International Affairs chairman, announced that her committee would entertain with an International Tea on Friday afternoon at three in the Hospitality Room of the Citizens' Bank and Trust Co. All foreign-born citizens and guests, as well as Altrusa members, were invited to attend.

Take It From Kathy

by Kathy Peterson

Dear Kathy: I am a boy, 17. I'm fairly popular and can always get a date. Before going out, I explain that everything is Dutch. Most girls agree. Why is it wrong? Or is it: It's only fair to furnish the car and the gas—Dutch Dater.

Dear Dutch Dater: Chivalry isn't dead, but you certainly aren't helping to keep it alive.

Is Dutch dating wrong? Not really, but you are way off socially. Most of the girls I know would class you with the low who'd race an elderly lady for the last seat on a bus.

Lots of couples who plan to marry help one another in order plan for the future. The girl might share a few of the financial problems, but this is a different situation.

Teen-agers: Please send your personal problems to Kathy Peterson in care of this paper. If she cannot answer each letter personally, letters of general interest will be answered in this column.

Salad Supper Is Enjoyed By Club

Mrs. Keeton, program chairman, presented an outline of programs which will be presented this year. Members present were Mrs. Paul Buchanan, Bert Eastham, H. H. Kealey, Fred Ulrich, Joe Wheeler, R. J. ## Dear Abby... Hubby Comes Close To Having Everything!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: After ten years of marriage I have found out that my husband has been embezzling checks from the company for which he works. I stumbled on this quite by accident about two months ago.

He is a good husband and father. We don't live extravagantly and I don't know what he is doing with the money. We have three precious children and it would kill me if he was caught and sent to prison. I can't bring myself to tell my pastor or my dear mother. I don't want to discredit him in their eyes. I shall be watching and praying for you to tell me what to do. He doesn't know I know.

in the oven the afternoon of the party. An hour before the guests were to arrive I discovered my young son had fooled with the oven dials and, as a result, the main dish was uncooked. (It takes five hours in a slow oven.) I phoned the guests and postponed the dinner party. My husband said I should have prepared something else in a hurry or taken them out. What is your opinion?

ON THE SPOT
DEAR ON: Your husband was right. Your guests would rather had had scrambled eggs or canned spaghetti than have been told to stay home. REAL hospitality is not WHAT is served, but HOW.

BURDENED
DEAR BURDENED: Tell your husband what you know — today! And INSIST, upon threat of exposing him yourself, that he confess to his employer while he may still be able to make restitution. The law will be easier on him now than later.

Unload your problem on Abby. For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of this paper.

DEAR ABBY: My wife is a beautiful girl, and after 10 years of marriage I am still crazy about her, but she can't hold a candle to my mother when it comes to housekeeping.

She's a romantic mate, a good cook and she isn't lazy. We have six adorable children and she's a terrific mother. I give her credit for teaching them to love each other, to share and to control their tempers. She never nags and asks very little for herself. But our house is usually upside down. It's an old house but my mother lived in an older house and kept it as neat and spotless as a hospital. How can I get my wife to be a better housekeeper?

UPSIDE DOWN
DEAR UPSIDE: You are married to a beautiful, romantic, undemanding woman. She is a good cook and a terrific mother to your six children. Quit comparing her to your mother and count your blessings. You can't have everything — but you come close.

DEAR ABBY: Last week I had planned a dinner party for a dozen people. The dinner was based on one main dish which I placed

Federation Theme For Strengthening Liberty Topic At Varietas Breakfast

To start club activities off for the new year, Varietas Study Club entertained with a breakfast on Tuesday morning in the home of Mrs. S. C. Evans, 1800 Charles, with Mmes. H. Price Dosier and Cecil Dalton as assisting hostesses.

Importance Of Bulbs As Harbingers Of Spring Stressed At Garden Club Meeting

"Brighten The Scene With Bulbs" was the program topic presented by Mrs. J. A. Knox at the Top of Texas Garden Club meeting held Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Fred Hinkley, 501 N. Nelson.

In the discussion, Mrs. Knox suggested types of bulbs best suited to this area; which are better as group plantings or as single specimens. She explained that some bulbs came into being by way of the vegetable garden.

The speaker outlined planting times, depths, food, protection from insects, animals and stressed bulbs importance as "the first harbingers of Spring."

During the business meeting conducted by Mrs. V. K. Osborn, president, it was announced a new reference book was chosen to add to the club library.

Fall flower show plans were cancelled.

Mrs. Osborn, president and Mrs. Knox, secretary, were named delegates to the Garden Club Council.

It was announced that the fourth Thursday of each month has been chosen as "Garden Club Day" by a local radio station for the 8:30 p.m. Richard Drug radio

Reds Not So Tall, After All

The Russians, contrary to a rather widely held belief and fear are not 19 feet tall.

That is the important deduction that can be made from the recent revelations of the Civilian Space Agency concerning Russian failures in space explorations. Specifically, five attempts to reach distant planets proved futile. A sixth was only partially successful.

This knowledge was long kept confidential on security grounds—military and intelligence authorities felt that its release might endanger our sources of information concerning Soviet activities in the space race. An inevitable result was public pessimism, based on the idea that the Russians were far ahead and that all they had to do was select a target, take aim, press the button, and hit the bulls-eye every time. So, in early September, the decision was made to release facts the Space Agency possesses, without, of course, revealing the nature of the sensing and tracking devices that produced them.

This has a very vital bearing on our power vis a vis Soviet power. For outer space could, in the thinking of many scientists, become the scene of future battles and conquests on which dominance of the world would depend. Moreover, there are top authorities who are convinced that in other areas of power—hard, cold military power—we are stronger, as compared with the Soviets, than is generally understood.

The September Reader's Digest carries an impressive article by Hanson W. Baldwin, military editor of the New York Times and a Pulitzer Prize winner. Mr. Baldwin writes: "The United States—not Russia—is today the strongest military power in the world. The United States—not Russia—has been the strongest military power in the world all through the period of expanding communist conquest since World War II. But, so far as halting Red inroads is concerned, this 'posture of strength' hasn't done us much good. The reason is that our political leaders and our diplomats have not—with some exceptions—used our military power skillfully and fully to bolster our policies."

Mr. Baldwin is not a saber rattler—he is not an advocate of aggression. He believes, however, that we must use our power "with absolute firmness in defense of the Western world and its allies."

He lists the varied sources of our power and it is an encouraging one indeed. It begins with our vast industrial and agricultural resources, on which everything depends. In the military sphere it includes absolute supremacy at sea, an edge in piloted aircraft, and, in his opinion, a nuclear advantage despite the Soviet achievements in this sphere. We not only have a much larger nuclear stockpile than Russia, but we have more varied nuclear devices. And we are ahead in missile development. Russia's advantage is in the size of her ground forces. Here, too, new weapons are providing a balance against sheer manpower.

Mr. Baldwin argues that we have temporized too often in the face of Russian threats and actions, thus letting her push and consolidate her gains; while, when we have held firm, the Soviets have backed down. But, he believes we have not held firm nearly often enough. He tells a story of indecision—in the crises in Laos, Cuba, and elsewhere. Brave words have not been implemented by actions.

So, as he sees it, there are four major policies which should govern our use of power. Summed up very briefly these are: A willingness to use this power to further our policies; to reward our friends and penalize our enemies; to decide, for ourselves, what are our vital interests and to act upon them, regardless of what such a body as the United Nations may decide; and, finally, flexibility and imagination in the use of power. His conclusion: "The communists must know with a absolute certainty that aggression against our interests will cause immediate reactions harmful to them, in any one of a hundred ways. This use of power will not cause war. It is the surest way to prevent it. Lack of action in the face of communist aggression can only doom us to defeat."

An Ironical Fact

Some persons consider it almost profanation to question the greatness of TVA. There is no doubt that it was the greatest step ever taken in the United States toward socialism and the common ownership of the means of production.

All the taxpayers of 48 states were assessed to build a federally tax-exempt electric project which eliminated taxpaying power companies in its area. The excuse for its establishment was to prevent floods and land erosion, promote navigation, produce fertilizers, provide for reforestation, recreation areas etc., with power production a by-product of the dams.

The Nation's Press

WE CAN'T DELEGATE THIS RESPONSIBILITY. (Industrial News Review) In championing individuals' efforts to try to understand the complexities of the world so as to preserve their freedom, Robert H. Callcott, president of the Cleveland, Ohio Council on World Affairs said: "The laboriousness of trying to understand these complex problems is no excuse for waiving the rights and responsibilities of citizenship. No such delegation of responsibility and knowledge is possible if we are to remain free. It has been said before, and I know it sounds trite to repeat it, but an informed electorate is the best safeguard of a sound economy and a sound government."

Citizens lose their freedom in proportion to the independence of action they give up in return for "gifts" they accept from government.

And that is the way the federally socialized power movement was launched. Then it was extended to other areas. Coal plants were added to hydro. Now the drive is on for a nationally interconnected hook-up of tax-exempt regional federal power plants.

As a political vehicle TVA was supposed to save some southern farmers from the perils of nature. Now due to the national shift from the farms to urban-industrial sections its activities will be directed toward the more populous sections.

With all the hundreds of millions of dollars poured into TVA by the taxpayers of the nation, increased development in its territory was bound to occur. It moved industries away from other sections of the country with the bait of low cost federally tax-free power. But even so, much of the section it serves has been classified among the critically depressed areas, while other sections served by taxpaying power companies move ahead in a normal manner and put up tax money to finance the tax-exempt federal plants.

It is an ironical fact that while taxpayers are putting up some $50 billion dollars a year to protect our nation from the aggressions of communism, they are at the same time called upon to put up additional millions of dollars annually to build a tax-free federal power monopoly, which as it grows, prevents building publicly regulated taxpaying power plants.

When you favor government ownership of commercial business you accept the socialist line. Thus, can our free enterprise, capitalist system be destroyed from within.

Pull Up A Chair

By Neal O'Hara

The law of averages being what it is, "some baby boy (or—maybe a baby girl) who is born in June of the next year or two should become President of the United States. For June is the only month in which a President has so far never been born. (JFK) came close, though, being born on May 29.) . . . Men and women a year or two from now may be greeting one another with "How's the air today?" For New York University is presently engaged in developing a miniature device, which will record whether the air they breathe contains pollutants harmful to the health, and in what degree.

Headline in the Los Angeles Times: "Blond Carol Changing Reaches Great Heights Even If She Is Tall." . . . Recent research disclosed that only 64 per cent of Frenchmen brush their teeth, and the disparity then was traced in a large measure to this cause—the frequent lack of running water in France.

Today's favorite gag: Little Alfred asked his father if there was any work he could do around the house to replenish his pocket money. The father thought a moment, then said he couldn't think of anything that needed to be done. "Then," replied little Alfred, "how about putting me on relief?"

In Minnesota, where there is a law allowing the sale of uncolored oleomargarine, but a tax on the colored product, there are those who bootleg thousands of pounds of colored margarine from the nearby states of Wisconsin, Iowa and the Dakotas. . . . About a year before his death, Ernest Hemingway was offered a substantial fee to record anything he chose for a leading hi-fi company featuring contemporary and classical literary works. Hemingway was not gruff in his reply, but did reject the offer, explaining he couldn't stand the sound of his own voice. . . . Observes a cynic: "If given an inch, some people think they are rulers."

Thoughts while shaving: 1. There's the sales manager who contends today's salesmen aren't what they used to be. In the household furnishing field, he asks when did you last see a salesman deliberately hurl a plastic plate onto the floor to show it doesn't break? . . . 2. He goes on: When did you last see two strong men pulling on two separate legs of a pair of overalls to show how sturdy they are at the seams? Or a salesman standing on a dresser drawer? Failure to demonstrate, he asserts, costs thousands of dealers many millions of dollars. . . . 3. Television and the movies have given the idea that editors of newspapers are a crime-solving, scoop-happy breed of zealots. So Editor & Publisher's columnist, Ray Erwin, points out that in their day such gentle and placid poets as William Cullen Bryant, Walt Whitman and John Greenleaf Whittier served as editors of city newspapers. . . . 4. Yes, Bryant, the poet who wrote "Thanatopsis" and "Lines to a Waterfowl," was principal editor of the New York Evening Post. Walt Whitman, who wrote "Leaves of Grass," was editor of the Brooklyn Eagle. And the Quaker, John Greenleaf Whittier, who wrote "The Barefoot Boy," was editor of the Haverhill (Mass.) Gazette. They might not fit very snugly in a daily newspaper editor's seat today, but they were more than adequate for their tasks when they did rule their newspapers.

Country editor speaking: "It is claimed the new model cars accentuate comfort. But not, one imagines, to the point of making it possible to get in with your hat on."

The heavens put on quite a show for much of the world on July 31. At that time there was an annular eclipse of the sun. This is the type of eclipse in which a thin ring of sunlight is visible around the dark moon.

The Lights Are Low

It's Up To You

by HOWARD KERSHNER L. H. D.

Forty-five thousand Americans assembled in West Branch, Iowa on the tenth of August to celebrate the 88th birthday of our most distinguished citizen. For many years I have treasured my friendship with Herbert Hoover and it was a climactic experience to sit only a few feet distance from the Chief and listen again to his words of wisdom.

A fine, intelligent crowd greeted Mr. Hoover on that memorable day and thoroughly enjoyed singing, "Happy Birthday to you." The multitude had assembled from all over the country but the bulk of them had come from the grass-roots of the Mid-West. Someone pointed out that of the four presidential libraries that have now been established, three are erected in the heart of our country—the contiguous states of Iowa, Missouri and Kansas.

Many notables were present, including former President Truman, and a number of governors and congressmen. But the chief interest centered in the message which Mr. Hoover delivered to his fellow countrymen in a firm voice and without fear or subservience. He called for a concert of free nations to preserve peace and maintain our Western, Christian ideals.

Less than 100 yards from the speakers' stand in front of the Hoover Library and Museum stood the little white house consisting of two tiny rooms and a lean-to kitchen, which appeared to be not much more than five by six feet in size, where President Hoover was born just 88 years ago. It was a humble dwelling occupied by fearless, hardworking, God-fearing and humble people in the pioneer days of that section of our country. What must have been the thoughts of the man who has received every acclaim the world can give as he remembered the humble circumstances of his childhood after 88 years of life. He recalled the fact that in his early boyhood he picked potato bugs at 10 cents a hundred and used the money to honor the founders of our country on the Fourth of July. His whole life has been an honor to the Founding Fathers as he has striven mightily to uphold and fulfill the ideals which they bequeathed to us. George Washington had been in his grave only 76 years when Herbert Hoover was born. The latter has lived through a little more than half of the period of our national existence. He has much to tell us and we will do well to listen. He is now engaged in the task of writing several additional books. We pray that his life may be spared to complete them.

Herbert Hoover is a salty and sometimes crusty character of massive integrity and great wisdom. His critics do not and never have rated in comparison with him. Their carping voices have been stilled as his stature towers higher and higher, as an example

Curbs On New Drugs Could Start Hassle

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A new gimmick that could start another hassle like the thalidomide controversy has just been introduced in the House version of drug control legislation now under consideration.

It is an amendment introduced by Rep. Samuel N. Friedel, D-Md., providing that government regulations must require doctors to inform "human beings or the representatives" and obtain their consent to give patients experimental drugs before they are approved by the Food and Drug Administration or general use.

Obtaining the consent of a patient's "representative" was included to cover the cases of children, the critically ill, those in a coma or incompetents whose parents or guardians have the responsibility for their dependants, relatives or wards' care. From an average citizen's point of view, it is only common sense that patients be told when a new drug is prescribed for them and give their consent to its use.

This idea was presented to the House Commerce Committee on Aug. 22 by Clinton R. Miller, assistant to the president of the National Health Federation of San Francisco and Washington. Miller testified that, "No person should be denied the right to know that he is being made an involuntary guinea pig for the testing of experimental drugs."

Rep. Friedel was present when this testimony was given and said he would introduce a drug bill amendment to this effect. It has just been approved by voice vote in a House Commerce Committee session marking up a final draft of the legislation before it goes to the House floor for debate.

The 78-10-0 Senate-passed drug bill contains no such stringent restriction. Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., offered a strong amendment with this provision during floor debate, but after cloakroom conferences he was persuaded to water it down.

So the Senate bill provides only that the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, in issuing regulations on the use of experimental drugs, "shall have due regard for the ethics of the medical profession and the interest of the patients."

The medical ethics of this situation are laid down in an opinion of the American Medical Association House of Delegates on March 3, 1958. Three principles for the use of experimental drugs must be followed "wherever possible."

There must be voluntary consent of the patient. The danger of each experiment must be explained. The drug must be prescribed under proper protection. An AMA spokesman in Washington says it will have no official position on the Friedel amendment—which came as a complement of public service in our country ought to be. "Hail to the Chief," and many happy returns of that great day in West Branch.

ROBERT ALLEN Report ALLEN-SCOTT PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Russia is adding three new sinister "defenses" to its huge military buildup in satellite Cuba, as follows:

1) The first of some 20 Soviet-installed and manned radar stations with a range of more than 200 miles is now in operation. These radar stations, slated to ring Cuba's coasts, will be capable of tracking every plane taking off and landing at Miami's International Airport, the Navy's big base and submarine school at Key West, and strategic airbase at nearby Boca Chica. These installations are only 90 miles from Cuba.

2) By December 1, with these radar stations, Russia will complete the installation of so-called companion counter electronic equipment that will create still another long-range menace—the ability to jam U.S. communications at the vital Guantanamo, Key West and Boca Chica bases, and even play havoc with ballistic and other missiles launched from Cape Canaveral, some 400 miles distant from Cuba.

3) Convert the Isle of Pines, a small island off the coast of Cuba that Castro has been using as a barbarous concentration camp for political and other prisoners, into a secret submarine and missile base. Already most of the inmates on the Isle of Pines have been transferred to prisons in Cuba.

There is no explanation why official Washington has been silent about these latest provocative Communist developments, although they are fully known to the White House and the State and Defense Departments. But so far, none of these authorities have given the slightest hint of these latest Red "defenses."

Similarly, there is no explanation why congressional leaders have not been told about them. A few have gotten wind of this highly important information, but from non-official sources. WHAT IT ALL MEANS —The Russian-installed and operated radar station in Cuba is the first in the Western Hemisphere. With the companion counter electronic equipment being installed, this radar station, and the score of others to be erected throughout Cuba, will give the Soviet two vital military capabilities:

(1) Maintain a constant surveillance of all U.S. air operations in this crucial Caribbean area; (2) jam U.S. communications in the event of a blockade of Cuba.

For example: All U.S. naval operations in and out of the Guantanamo, Key West and Boca Chica bases can now be completely charted by the Russian radar. Soviet submarines (several have escorted Red freighters into Havana, henceforth can be warned of the presence of U.S. patrol planes and dive out of sight. Likewise, with the counter electronic equipment, the communications of these and other American planes can be obstructed. It is also possible this advanced type jamming equipment can be used against missiles launched from Cape Canaveral.

An Intelligence report expressly warns of this alarming danger. On the Isle of Pines, the apparent intent is to make it a base for intermediate range (1500 miles) ballistic missiles. Work has begun on missile launching pads; also on airplane hangars and landing strips.

Hundreds of Russian military personnel and "technicians" now on the Isle, which has declared a military zone. Cubans in uniform also are on hand, are greatly outnumbered by Russians who appear to be in complete control. They are operating as if the Isle is their own territory.

Last year, retired General Arthur Trudeau, then chief of Research and Development, warned that the Soviet plan to make the Isle of Pines a powerful naval and missile base. Trudeau's carefully-detailed warning was disregarded, as intelligence agencies reported they had no information on such Russian plans.

GIANT RED BUILD-UP — Latest Navy Intelligence figures show that in the past five months a total of 860 ships from the Soviet bloc and other countries have unloaded cargoes in Cuba. Of these vessels, are definitely known to have carried arms shipments. Intelligence officials are convinced the actual number is considerably larger; some estimates are as high as 200. These sources report that more than 50 ships with weapons are either en route to Cuba or loading at Communist ports. . . . The establishment of a NATO-type alliance combat Castro and his Soviet-dominated machinations is being privately urged by at least one of the Latin American foreign ministers who will meet with Secretary Rusk in Washington next week. Favoring this force measure are Panama, Guatemala, El Salvador, Honduras, Nicaragua, Costa Rica, Colombia, Venezuela, the Dominican Republic and Haiti. . . . Rusk seeks approval of a proposal to which the U.S. and Latin American countries would bar submarines from traveling to and from Cuba.

Intelligence authorities have maps printed in Russia showing Cuba in the same color as satellites — Hungary, Rumania, Czechoslovakia, East Germany, etc. . . . President Kennedy has immediate plans to name a White House military adviser to replace General Maxwell Taylor, who becomes head of the Chiefs of Staff late next month. McGeorge Bundy, potent political adviser on security affairs, is opposed to a successor Taylor in the inner White House circle, and apparently is having his way. Certain White House projects unfinished by Taylor being turned over to Major General Clifton, the President's special aide, who filled the role in the Eisenhower Administration. Clifton is a one-time aide of General Omar Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs Staff in the Truman Administration.

Question Box (We invite questions on economic and the proper functioning of government which will not injure anyone.) Question: "Would shortening work week solve unemployment?" Answer: Since all wages come from production, shortening work week would not reduce employment. In fact, it would create unemployment for the countries that practiced shortening the work week. Since all wages have to be produced by workers for them to have continuous jobs with ever-increasing wages, anything that reduces production, and thus reduces funds available for more and better tools will increase unemployment. Shorter working hours does reduce production. If that is true then why not reduce their one hour per week? If the United States adopts a four hour work week, it will greatly increase unemployment in United States, because people satisfy their wants with the least possible sacrifice. They would buy foreign-produced products. And if the labor unions were successful in getting a protected tariff to protect them, our standard of living would continue to go down and in the long run people would awaken to the fact that anything that retards free and natural division of labor is harmful to everyone. . . . Certainly shortening the work week to 35 or 30 hours or four a week would not reduce employment. It would increase employment unless there were less people able to live. The jobs would be producing the least necessities.
