Greg Blackwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Blackwood, Muleshoe, has enrolled for the first session of summer school at Lubbock Christian College. Blackwood, a 1965 graduate of Muleshoe, is a sophomore agriculture major.

In the Thursday meeting of the Chamber Board of Directors the program of work for the Muleshoe Area Women Service of the Chamber of Commerce was under discussion and plans are being made to complete arrangements for the July 4 celebration.

The proposed "throw-away shopper" which is being drafted by some members of the Business activities committee has not yet been approved by the Board of Directors of the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce, board member Don Harmon said.

Mr. and Johnny Prather, left Thursday morning for Omaha, Neb. where they attended the funeral services of his brother.

Freddie Helms, 15 year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Helms, Springlake, is in West Plains hospital being treated for injuries received when See MULESHOE on Page 2

On behalf of the Board of Directors, Harmon Elliott expresses hope that the public will attend this meeting as the citizens of the area should be informed and able to answer questions about the Muleshoe area in relation to prospective industry and know where needed additional information is available.

As soon as the Fact Book is released, special industrial teams will be selected for each division of the book. These teams will familiarize themselves with their division in order to better assist those inquiring about industry in relation to facilities to accommodate their needs.

Drama packed recitations given by Miss Mary Rando, 16, Friona, captivated an audience of Lions Club members and guests at the noon meeting Wednesday.

The talented young student is one of 18 children and although she has lived with her family near Friona for a number of years, she is a native of Muleshoe.

Hardships in life have never dampened the spirits this courageous Latin American, who, through her actions and sincere expression shows just how truly American she is. Since her unusual talent was discovered at the Friona May Day celebration, Mary has made 36 personal appearances and has had to turn down many invitations due to lack of time to fill them.

You see...Mary's father has been gone for some five years and being one of the older children of the large family, much of the responsibility falls on her. She attends school during the school term, cleans house after school, helps care for the smaller children and home, then after they are in bed, Mary does her school homework.

"We all work, but we have fun, too," Mary said, "sometimes Mary doesn't get to bed until 2 or 3 a.m. because she is studying. She is determined and her load is heavy," said June Rhodes, Third grade Friona teacher who has accompanied Mary on all her speaking engagements except two.

Bliss Connected With New Feedlot

Bob Bliss, former manager of King Feed Lot, will be associated with the Swisher County Cattle Co., Inc. as manager and partner.

Plans from various engineering companies are now under consideration for the operation which is to be constructed west of Kaffier Swint west of Tulsa.

V. H. Harman, Sr., V.H. Harman, Jr., John Toles, H.E. Toles and Bob Bliss announced plans for the new plant with construction to get underway in the next 30-45 days.

Bliss said the mill will be of the most modern construction including a completely automated batch-type weighing system.

The new business will be known as the Swisher County Cattle Co., Inc. and the pens are to have an initial capacity of 12,000 to 15,000 head with a gradual expansion to 30,000.

"Getting to and from the places she speaks hasn't been a problem as this solves itself by Friona residents volunteering their services in taking her...so this hasn't cost any one person but very little.

Mr. and Mrs. Deon Autry brought Mary, Mrs. Rhodes and pianist Cindy Ingram here for the Lions Club program. Autry is a member of the Friona Lions Club.

First Wheat For '67 At Elevator

The first two loads of the 1967 wheat crop arrived at Muleshoe Elevator Wednesday, J.O. Phillips, West Star Route, Baileyboro, arrived with the first load which tested 13.7 moisture with 59 pounds test weight and estimated yield of 6 bushels per acre.

Mr. Short who farms irrigated land in the Pleasant Valley Community brought in the second load. The moisture content was 14.4 with a 61 pound test weight, with an estimated yield of 35 bushels per acre.

Phillips' wheat was the Combo variety and Short's was 'Early Triumph.'

Ben Yeager, manager of the elevator presented both farmers with bonus checks.

Wheat harvest is expected to get off to a slow start and pick up rather rapidly as more drying weather prevails.

Needmore Wreck Injures Three

A pre-dawn accident Tuesday three miles south of Needmore sent three Morton people to hospitals.

Injured in the car-truck accident were Mrs. Vergie Tucker, Mrs. Dee Tucker and John Tucker. The truck driver was not injured.

The Tucker vehicle, traveling north on state highway 214, came in contact with the rear of a southbound truck used for hauling caliche, investigating officer Highway Patrolman Weldon Parsons, Littlefield said the truck had missed a turn-off and was backing up when the accident occurred.

The Tuckers are in West Plains Hospital here

Whitt Named To Service Board

Roy D. Whitt, John Deere implement dealer, was recently elected to serve on the Board of Directors of the Educational Service Center for District XVII.

The Board of Directors is the policy making and appraisal body of the Education Service Center. This seven member group was elected by members of the Joint Committee in May. The board will name the Executive Director sometime in June.

The center will establish a materials lending library, lending such materials as 8 and 16 mm films, filmstrips, 35 mm slides, and tape recordings. Duplicate services for reproducing such materials as slides, audio tapes, and visuals for use with overhead projectors will be available. The Center will also plan and implement such services as learning processing, diagnosis of learning difficulties, and in-service education for professional staffs.

Roy Whitt graduated from Lufkin, Texas High School in 1945; attended North Texas Agricultural College, Arlington and Oklahoma A. and M. He received his B.S. degree in Agricultural Education from Texas Tech in 1949, and received his Masters Degree in Education from Texas Tech in 1951.

In 1948 while he was in Tech, he was president of the Future Vocational Agricultural Teachers Association. He taught agriculture at New Deal for three years.

Presently he is co-owner and manager of the John Deere implement Co. Prior to operating this business, he farmed for five years.

Mr. Whitt is a Past Director of the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce, has been chairman of the Official Board of the Methodist Church and is Institutional Representative of the Boy Scouts. He is quite an accomplished public speaker, also.

He and his wife, Joy, are members of the Muleshoe First Methodist Church. They have three children: Russell age 8, Beth age 6 and Mary Jan age 3.

Utah Family 'Welcomed' By Tourist Committee

A somewhat 'overwhelmed' party was stopped by city patrolmen Larry Hensley and David Cunningham on highway 84 west, Friday at 4 p.m. launching the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce's 13-week tourist attraction program.

The surprised family were greeted by Bob Stovall, head of the Tourist committee and on behalf of the city, by the Patrolmen.

The tourists were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Duehneier and daughters, Laura and LaDonna and Mrs. Laura Hollinger, Salt Lake City, Utah. They were enroute to Galveston to visit their daughter who is attending school there.

The Duehneiers were escorted to the Mule Memorial Statue where Roger Albertson presented them with a miniature Mule shoe and courtesy tickets for a free meal at the Corral, a free nights lodging at Highland Motel. Wallace Theatre Ticket, a tank of gas at West 6th Texaco and a floral welcome at Decorator's 216. Albertson is a member of the Ambassador's Club.

"This is our first trip to Texas," the family said, and all through Arizona and Texas people told us we would have better roads in Texas... and just think what an impression Texas has made on us. We had only driven about 30 miles into Texas and received this kind of welcome!

"It really astounds us. Other than Salt Lake City, Muleshoe, Texas is one place we will never forget, LaDonna said.

"When I first heard the sirens coming into town, I checked the speedometer and wasn't speeding --- then I decided I was just imagining things... but sure enough, I wasn't. The policemen were behind me and I just couldn't think of anything I had done wrong, but was I ever surprised when I did decide they meant for me to stop! "This is the first thing like this that ever happened to us."

Stovall pointed out the points of interest to the family and directed them to the places of business for the accommodations given them.

This tourist plan was planned in a Chamber of Commerce business meeting in early April. Brochure to give the tourists with color pictures and descriptive stories of Muleshoe's highlights, have been sent to the publisher for printing.

Community Cooperation Needed In The Industrial Program

It is rather vital, in the small town, that people in the community cooperate fully in the industrial program if results are to be satisfactory. The metropolitan area, on the other hand, presents a different situation; the city can finance a full staff of trained men to do the job. The small towns cannot spend perhaps a quarter of a million dollars annually for this purpose; the alternative is help from all the townspeople.

There are several reasons why townspeople must actively support the industrial program. In the first place, the Chamber Manager has many other duties which he must perform if he is to hold his job. Others who are responsible for industrial promotion likewise have jobs which support them and which they cannot neglect. They must help.

Secondly, it is recognized by all that the industrial generally has a wide range of choices in the selection of a location. One firm which recently established a branch plant in the South considered 95 towns in five different southern states. Final selection was determined by the attractive appearance of the town: its store fronts, streets, homes and yards, schools, churches, parks and recreational facilities, the progressive attitude of bankers and city officials. It is up to the people of the town to work together and make their town attractive to industry. This calls for cooperation.

In the third place, many industrial firms need some financial assistance in expanding their activities. They have ample funds for production purposes but cannot safely tie up a large proportion in land and a building. However, they do not expect a gift of these items but will pay for them over a period of time. When this occasion arises it is frequently expedient for the community to exhibit an industrial fund for industrial promotion. A number of towns have done this very successfully.

In line with this thought is the fact that good industrial land is occasionally hard to secure at a reasonable price. An industrial fund can frequently be used to a good advantage in making land available for industry. In addition, the question of competition among towns for industry is significant. Many towns have purchased or optioned land which they can show to an industrial prospect. The industrial fund truly calls for community cooperation. Moreover, the industrial fund is evidence to the industrialist that the community really wants industry and is cooperative. In one instance at least a site and building were demanded but were paid for as soon as they were ready for use. The demand was simply a test of the community.

In the fourth place, the bottleneck in locating industry is discovering who may be planning an expansion or a move. The large Chamber of Commerce or utility company has special ways of learning of this but the small town can seldom do so; on the other hand, townspeople frequently hear "tips" which may lead to location of an industry. The housewife while the banker is in a strategic position to hear of impending moves from the congested metropolitan area. Even the traffic cop has been known to be instrumental in an industry location. These are only a few of many such cases on record. Active cooperation by townspeople pays off.

In the fifth place, the attitude of people in a community becomes highly significant in the final decision on location. See COOPERATION on Page 2

Bill Hardage Takes Team to National Meet

Six members of the Wayland Pioneer track team left Thursday for South Dakota where they are competing in the NAIA national meet. Pioneer Coach Bill Hardage is from the LaBuddie community and the son of Mr. and Mrs. L.M. Hardage.

The scene will be the national meet of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics, of which Wayland is a member. Several thousand U.S. athletes are expected to be on hand for the three-day meet at Howard Wood Memorial Field.

Coach Bill Hardage will enter his track teams in six events, including the 100, 220, 440, 880 and Wayland entries, who gained the right to compete in the national meet by equalling or besting the time standards set up by the NAIA. They are Danny Murphee, Roy Donaldson, Lamont Batchelor, Bob Pardue, Jerry Summers and Brent Lamkin.

of a firm, it is rather common, at least in small towns, for representatives of a plant to visit the town and personally investigate. They ask questions of the clerk in the drug store, of the waitress, of the men, boys, and girls they may meet on the street, and of many others. They are trying to find out about the thinking and attitudes toward the city government, the traffic department, the community, the neighbors, toward themselves. Unfavorable responses rise doubts and frequently the town is by-passed in favor of another. These, and other factors, all indicate the necessity for full cooperation of everybody in the community if the industrial program is to produce results.

Corpsman Tells Of Thailand Students

CANNON AFB, N.M. -- "The R's, L's and W's gave them the most trouble, and sometimes they got their tenses mixed up, but their American slang was perfect." So AIC Dennis L. Clermont, a corpsman at Cannon's 832nd Tactical Hospital, described the Thailand students in an English class he taught while stationed at Udorn Royal Thai Air Base, Thailand.

Clermont arrived at Udorn in February 1966 and was assigned to the 432nd Tactical Dispensary. There he processed physical examinations, monitored sick call and remained on stand-by for aircraft emergencies. During his off-duty time he travelled as much as possible, visiting the villages and meeting the people.

They wanted to learn more about America. When the instructor, and Air Force sergeant, returned to the United States, Clermont was asked to replace him. Although he had no experience as a teacher, he accepted. The class met three nights a week. "I enjoyed it tremendously, and I learned an awful lot myself," he said. "The students wanted to know everything they could about our country and about me because I was an American. I spent a lot of time explaining our way of life and ways of doing things."

The class used a USIS textbook and daily lesson plans. Clermont also encouraged class discussions, which usually turned to life in the United States. "Sometimes," he recalled, "I trapped myself in those discussions. The students would see an American movie and ask me something about it. You know-- why we use a certain gesture or word, or why we do certain things. Once or twice I asked a Peace Corps teacher who taught advanced English in Udorn to help me out, and sometimes even the two of us couldn't find an adequate answer. I often wished I'd had a better working knowledge of the Thai language. And English, too."

Clermont taught the class for three months, with no compensation other than a great personal satisfaction. In February he was transferred to Cannon AFB. He still corresponds with many friends in Thailand and would like to return some day.

"Teaching and getting to know the Thai people has done me a lot of good," said Airman Clermont. "I would like to go back and do it again."

Castro County Providing Migrant Labor Housing

Castro County is in the process of eliminating one of its major problems, housing for migrant labor.

A million dollar housing project intended to provide decent housing for a fair price that laborers can afford to pay. Hopefully, businessmen and farmers will get big stakes in the project when it gets eaten alive in the process.

Dimmitt's labor camp is now under construction, located on the east city limits just one block south of the Nazareth highway, the steel and concrete complex is taking shape.

The cucumber growers of Castro County formed what turned out to be the Castro County Agricultural Housing Association, which had dues for membership originally set at $250. Heading the association today as president of the board is Allen Webb, a farmer.

The association elected a steering committee, and hired an engineer to look into the needs of the area. Studies endorsed what the farmers had known all along--decent housing for a fair rent price was needed.

Cotton Has Opportunity To Share Market

Memphis -- Cotton has an excellent opportunity to share in the expanding market for easy care fabrics, according to a National Cotton Council study just released.

The report, "Easy Care Cottons," indicates that 9.4 billion yards of cotton and competing materials were consumed in 1966 in outlets representing potentials for easy care fabrics. This potential lends urgency to research financed by the Cotton Producers Institute and slated for expansion under the dollar-a-bale program approved by growers.

notes the report. "Producers of polyester fibers quickly recognized an opportunity to invade some of cotton's biggest markets by promoting blends of their fibers with cotton for durable press products."

- (1) Enable cotton to compete in the 2.3 - million-bale market currently held by easy care synthetics;
 - (2) Enable cotton to maintain its position in the 1.4 - million-bale market held by easy care cottons; and
 - (3) Prevent synthetics from taking the 2.8 - million-bale market representing the expansion potential for all easy care fabrics and currently held almost entirely by regular finish cottons.
- Further favoring easy care are such factors as larger families, more women working, informal living, scarcity of household help, more emphasis on neat appearance, better home laundry equipment, and less time for washing and ironing.
- Many housewives, too, are willing to launder items at home so the money saved thereby can be applied to the purchase of other things.
- The survey devotes a chapter to durable press -- a new technology in easy care -- and a term for products which can be "worn or used innumerable times without losing shape-holding properties."
- The Council drew attention to the potentials of durable press as far back as 1955 when it submitted two proposals to the Southern Regional Research Laboratory. The cotton industry worked for several years to focus more research on it before the process became available in trousers in 1964.
- "But the real impetus for an almost phenomenal promotion of durable press arose from the reduced abrasion resistance and strength of the early all-

I was recently granted a divorce because of my wife's desertion. My question is: When should I tell the girls whom I met that I was once married -- as soon as we meet, over the phone, on the first date, second date when (and if) we start getting serious ... or never?
Mr. C. F.
Dear Mr. C. F.:
It is not necessary for you to tell girls you met that you were once married. This aspect of your life is personal and everyone need not know about it.
When you meet a girl who means more to you than just a casual friendship, it is the proper time to tell her of your past. Which, by the way, is nothing to be ashamed of.

MULESHOE ELEVATOR Proudly Presents The FIRST Load Of WHEAT In Bailey County Brought In By J.O. Phillips West Star Rt., Baileyboro

WITHIN MINUTES TIME --- Within a few minutes time Wednesday, two loads of the first 1967 wheat crop were cut. First load to actually reach the Muleshoe Elevator was from the dryland farm belonging to J.O. Phillips (center) West Star Route, Baileyboro. Pictured with him is his son Gary, (left) and elevator manager, Ben Yeager. Phillips' Concho wheat had a moisture content of 13.7 with a test weight of 59 pounds and estimated yield of six bushels per acre. Roy Short, Pleasant Valley community, brought the second load to the elevator later that day. His 'Early Triumph' wheat was grown on irrigated land with a moisture content of 14.4. The test weight was 61 pounds per bushel with an estimated yield of 35 bushels per acre. Both farmers received bonuses for bringing in the first loads of wheat.

Sow Comfort Important In Hot Weather

COLLEGE STATION -- Multiple farrowing of hogs (arrowing throughout the year) is the growing trend in today's progressive agriculture picture. However, the hot weather in Texas during the summer can put a crimp in this year-round production plan, due to the effects of heat stress on sows during pregnancy.

According to T.D. Tanksley, Jr., assistant professor and Extension animal husbandman in the Department of Animal Science at Texas A & M University, year-round production has necessitated hot-weather breeding of sows. Summer heat stress has resulted in fewer sows "settled" on first service and smaller litters farrowed by those successfully bred because of high embryonic mortality. This, in turn, means less profit per sow for the pork producer.

Tanksley says that researchers at Purdue University, have recently released very important information on this problem. The researchers have completed a series of 3 tests on sows whereby the temperature and relative humidity were rigidly controlled, in each test, some of the sows were subjected to high temperature conditions (95° - 98° F) for a period of 24 - 120 hours immediately after breeding; others were subjected to the high temperatures beginning on the 20th day after breeding while the remainder served as the control group (pasture conditions of 60° - 75° F). All sows were slaughtered between the 27th to the 51st day of pregnancy. Embryonic mortality was measured by comparing the number of corpora lutea on the ovaries. In all experiments, when the heat or thermal stress was applied immediately after breeding, the embryonic death loss was greater than in the control group or the group stressed 20 days after breeding, Tanksley said. In the third test, when the sows were subjected to the most severe stress (98 degrees F and 50 percent relative humidity) for a period of 5 months, survival was not impaired in the sows on which treatment began on the 20th day of pregnancy. The Purdue workers indicated that at this stage of gestation, elevated temperature would kill the sow before causing significant loss of embryos.

Tanksley added, although it is important to keep sows comfortable throughout the 114-day gestation period, this research indicates it is critically important during breeding time and the first 5-15 days following breeding. We must provide adequate facilities for pregnant sows in order to get the greatest possible number settled and the maximum number of pigs farrowed, tanksley emphasized.

In most areas of Texas, adequate comfort can be provided during this critical period by dense shade in combination with fogging or spraying nozzles. Some semi-confinement operations provide about 20-30 square feet of shaded area, a concrete floor covered with 3-6 inches of fine sand and a water fogging or sprinkling system. When necessary, fans are used to insure adequate air movement to get adequate evaporation and cooling. Cool, concrete sows during breeding and immediately after will pay off in more pigs and more profit, concludes Tanksley.

Captain Jerry Hicks U.S. Air Force College Graduate

MONTGOMERY, -- Captain Jerry N. Hicks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Hicks of 706 Main St., Muleshoe, was graduated from the U.S. Air Force Air Command and Staff College at Maxwell AFB, Ala., June 9.

The graduation ceremonies for Captain Hicks and fellow officers marked the end of more than nine months of professional military education.

The Air Command and Staff College is part of Air University's professional education system which prepares officers for higher command staff positions.

The graduation class numbered more than 500 Air Force officers in grades of Captain, major and lieutenant colonel. Also in the class were some 50 officers from the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Air National Guard, and Air Force civilian employees.

Captain Hicks is being assigned to Cannon AFB, N.M., for duty as an F-100 Super Sabre pilot in the Tactical Air Command which supports U.S. ground forces with air strikes, aerial delivery of troops and equipment and other combat airpower.

The captain has completed a tour of duty in Vietnam. Approximately 15 percent of the Air Force students in the class have served in Southeast Asia and 75 percent of the class's Air Force officers are being reassigned to Southeast Asia.

Captain Hicks was commissioned in 1957 through the aviation cadet program.

A 1954 graduate of Patton Springs High School, Afton, Tex., he attended Eastern New Mexico University at Portales.

His wife, Shirley, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R.L. Matthesen of Muleshoe.

FOUNDATION

Our nation is witnessing a building boom, such as has never before been seen. Every day new foundations are being dug and laid. Any builder will tell you that it takes a firm foundation to support today's skyscraper.

Our Lord, in His sermon on the mount, compared those that heed His word, to the wise man that built his house upon a rock, and those that did not heed His word to the foolish man that built his house upon sand and it was washed away.

Build your house upon a rock... Attend church regularly.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny, the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhill

Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm wanders out of his field this week, but that's his lookout.

Dear editor: One of the fine things about reading a newspaper is that a man can find such a wide choice of things in it about human nature he can't understand.

For example, I have been puzzling for days now over an item I read in a newspaper last week. According to it, a bunch of art experts inspected a Texan as old man's collection of paintings and decided three-fourths of them were fakes.

Now up to them, the pictures had suited the owner, his friends liked them, everybody was impressed, but now that the experts say they are fakes, all the pleasure has disappeared. I don't understand this. I knew a 4-year-old once who wouldn't eat any apple on Christmas morning except the one Santa Claus put in her stocking, but in a couple of years she had come to the notion that it didn't make any difference where an apple came from so long as it tasted good. Couldn't tell by biting into it whether it came from the grocery store or the North Pole.

I heard of a western rancher once who found out Kansas City steaks were somehow considered better than any others and hence brought a little better price, so he shipped his cattle to a town in Kansas, held them there a week, then took them into a Kansas City and sold them and got a big laugh out of all the people there who were eating fake steaks.

Understand, I'm not qualified to discuss art, I'm not even qualified to discuss farming if you get right down to it, but I can't figure out a business where you have to call in an expert to tell you whether or not you should like a given painting.

Of course if you're going into the financial aspects of it, that's a different matter. An original by a celebrated artist naturally is worth more than a copy.

the same as it is with a dollar bill, but that's for exchange purposes, not for looking at. It's a good racket, though, and wish I could get in on it. Can you tell me how I can convince the public the "J.A." brand of Grain Sorghum if it was originally grown by me, is worth a hundred times the ordinary kind?

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

LIBRARY News

The children of the Muleshoe Area are really reading this summer; they have checked out over 1,000 books from the library, since school was out. Most of them have joined the summer reading club, with a goal of 12 or more books for the summer.

Most recent memorial gifts to the library are as follows: presented by Mrs. Glen D. Harris in memory of J.J. Brackman; and presented by Mrs. Ida McMurry and given in memory of David Anderson. The Muleshoe A.A.U.W. will do volunteer work at the library again this summer. This is a project they had even before the Muleshoe Area library opened, and have continued with this every summer since. During these busy summer months, this help is really appreciated.

The following women have signed to work this summer: Mrs. Beddingfield, Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Chapman, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Costen, Mrs. Spence, Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Watson, Mrs. Dillman, Mrs. Witherspoon, Mrs. Everett, Mrs. Wolfe, Mrs. Fox, Mrs. Lane, Mrs. Francis, Mrs. Eggers, Mrs. Hooten, Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Hawkins, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Maddox, Mrs. McAlpin, and Mrs. Jack Rennels.

Bates Family Recalls Early Life in Fairview

By Evelyn Parrott Scott

The late Eugene Tullis Bates was born at Little Elm in Denton County, Texas and was the son of W.P. Bates and wife, Mildred Lucille (Witt) Bates.

His father, W.P. Bates, originally of Kentucky, was a farmer and rancher. The Bates family moved to Willbarger County in 1849 where W.P. a homesteaded right of bought a section of land for five hundred dollars. Eugene met and later married Effie Mae Alexander, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Josh Alexander, who also resided in the Mack Community in Willbarger County. The couple were married May 13, 1901.

They later moved to Davidson, Oklahoma where they were living when E.T. came to the Plains and bought land in 1925 from Rochester Hadaway of Fort Worth. The land is located in Bailey County in the old Fairview Community south of Muleshoe.

In 1925 Willie Bates, nephew to E.T., farmed the Bates land along with land he had bought, but, due to family illness was unable to harvest the crop and Mr. Bates gathered two crops that year, one at Davidson and one here on the Plains.

In September of 1927 the Bates moved to the Plains permanently, sending some household and farm equipment through in an immigrant car. The family came in a Model T Ford touring car and also brought through a Ford truck. They arrived in Otton late on Saturday afternoon, remained over for one night, then came onto their farm west of Sudan arriving there about ten o'clock Sunday morning, Sept. 5.

The two older children, Nita Viola and Estelle are both already married at the time the family came to the Plains, but the three younger ones Estelle, Jack, and Buford were just in time to start school on Monday morning after their arrival on Sunday, in the brand new brick Fairview School. Prior to then classes had been held in a four room house where the Buford Bates family now lives.

This school also had high school classes through 1933 and Jack Bates was one of the graduating seniors for the last year high school courses were offered there. Others in the 1933 graduating classes were Lela Wiseman, (now Mrs. Dorman Chester); Dolrus Coleman, (now Mrs. J.B. Harper); Ferrell

Little; Evelyn Gummelt (now Mrs. John Liston).

Among early day teachers at the old Fairview School were Miss Carrie Lee Curruth, principal Fred Bryant, Mrs. Evans, Mrs. Thelma Maderia.

Early day activities remembered by members of the family included the famed jackrabbit hunts when all types of shot guns furnished plenty of amusement; Political speaking and pie suppers at the old schoolhouse.

Early day neighbors were the A.L. Davis family, the John Davis family, the M.E. Finleys, the T.C. Wisomans, and the John Gummelts.

At one time cowboys from a nearby ranch were driving cattle by the Bates farm and the family dog ran out and barked at the cattle. One of the cowboys showing his prowess with a lasso roped the dog and the dog ran yelping back under the cowboy's horse. The cowboy promptly forgot the rope and dog as he had all he could do to ride his buckin' bronc.

Jack Bates remembers pulling cotton for 25 cents a hundred and selling cotton for 75¢ a pound. The family farmed with horses and mules until 1938 when they bought the first tractor.

Feed was headed by hand by the family until the late 1930's when they then started machine heading using a wheat push-header. At times Mr. Bates would hire six or seven hands during the rush seasons of the year, paying $1.00 a day and room and board.

After moving to the plains Mr. Bates never had to buy feed for his farm animals as he raised feed and stored it to be used during the year for this purpose. Also when feed was selling for three dollars a ton the family found it cheaper to buy feed in their 'pop-bellied' heating stove.

Buford and Estelle are both graduates of Sudan High School, the old Fairview school having discontinued high school subjects after 1933. Buford was a graduate of the 1933 class and attended Business School in Deaton. He later worked one fall at the John Dea Gin. While attending school here, Buford and Estelle rented a house in town and Estelle kept house for them.

At present Mrs. Bates resides in Lubbock with her daughter, Nita Virginia Jordan. The other Bates children include Estelle Mildred, Nita Viola Powers, Lake Stephens, Wash. Leobs of Sacramento, California, Jack Robert, who married Peggy Fried of Muleshoe and resides near the old family farm and is engaged in farming; Buford Eugene Bates, married Ruth Elaine Wofford of Sudan, Buford is also engaged in farming.

SOUTHERN CHURCH 'CRISIS'
NEW YORK (AP) - Educated, sensitive people are finding it "hard to accept the simplicity which prevails" in popular Southern churches, says the Rev. Dr. Samuel S. Hill Jr. of the University of North Carolina. A Southern Baptist and head of the university's religion department, he writes in a new book "Southern Churches in Crisis," published by Holt, Rinehart and Winston.

"In the Southern church's hands, the Christian affirmation and claim are reduced to a mere shadow of its massive, dynamic reality."
