Prelude To 'K' Visit

JFK, Gromyko Holding Talks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy was meeting late today with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko for a cold war discussion expected to lead to Kennedy-Khrushchev talks in the United States later this year.

High U.S. officials reported new and stronger evidence from Moscow that the Soviet premier is anxious to see Kennedy and discuss Berlin and other East-West problems before putting any new pressure on the Red-encircled city.

They said Khrushchev made this clear in the course of his three-hour talk Tuesday in Moscow with U.S. Ambassador to Russia Foy D. Kohler. He indicated he would like to make the trip during the last week of November or early December.

They said it was possible that Gromyko, at the White House session, would pass along the official word that Khrushchev plans to attend the United Nations assembly in New York and would like to set up a meeting with the President. Kennedy has said he would be glad to see the Soviet premier if he came to this country for the U.N. assembly.

The meeting was scheduled for 5 p.m. EDT.

Berlin Principle Topic

Berlin was expected to be one of the principal topics discussed by the President and Gromyko at their late-afternoon meeting, but U.S. officials said their talk also undoubtedly would touch on other problems, such as the disarmament and nuclear test ban deadlock and continued Communist trouble-making in Southeast Asia.

It also was believed Kennedy would warn Gromyko of the highly unfavorable U.S. and hemispheric reaction to the continued Soviet military build-up of Cuba. Kennedy and his top aides do not consider the Cuban problem a subject for negotiation with Russia, but a problem for the hemisphere to solve. They have reacted very strongly against any suggestion they might soften the U.S. position on Berlin in return for Soviet withdrawal from Cuba.

Gromyko, who has been attending the opening phases of the U.N. assembly, asked to see the President before returning to Moscow. He motored from New York Wednesday and met late in the afternoon with Director William C. Foster of the U.S. Disarmament Agency, at Foster's request.

BULLETIN

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — The United States today launched a camera-equipped Ranger - 5 spacecraft on a planned three-day flight to the moon.

The gold-and-chrome plated space probe, representing America's 11th moonshot in four years, was rigged up to take the first close-up pictures of the moon and to "crash land" a package of instruments on the lunar surface for a month of detailed study.

Storm's High Winds Expected To Intensify

WILMINGTON, N.C. (UPI) — Hurricane Ella plowed steadily up the Eastern Seaboard today, aiming its 90-mile-an-hour winds at the jutting headland of Cape Hatteras and North Carolina's oft-buffed Outer Banks.

Fringe winds of the big storm kicked up heavy seas from Florida to New Jersey.

Gale force winds of 39 to 54 m.p.h. were reported a short distance offshore along the Carolina coast this morning and gusts to 45 m.p.h. were clocked at Oak Island, N.C.

The Weather Bureau said Ella's highest winds of 90 m.p.h. were expected to intensify still further during the day.

Moving Northward

At 8 a.m. EST the fifth tropical storm of the season was located about 360 miles south of Cape Hatteras moving on a northward course at 7 m.p.h. It was centered near latitude 36.1 north, longitude 75.3 west.

Gale warnings flew from Nags Head, N. C. to Georgetown, S. C. and small craft from Cape May, N. J. to Miami, were advised against venturing far from shore.

The Weather Bureau warned: "Hurricane Ella is a large storm producing gale force winds over an area five to six hundred miles across."

Weather-wise residents of North Carolina's Outer Banks kept close watch on Ella, but didn't let the storm interfere with the area's annual fall surf fishing contest.

"A small change will make the difference on whether it goes east or west of Cape Hatteras," said Miami forecaster Raymond Craft. He said if Ella hits land it will be tonight before the coast will feel any hurricane-force winds.

"Winds will gradually increase on the Carolina coasts reaching gale force from Georgetown northward" during today, the weather bureau said. Gale force winds are from 39-54 m.p.h.

Winds Batter Coast

Gusts up to 20 m.p.h. began hitting Carolina beach near here Wednesday night. Tides were running two to three feet higher.

The Oak Island, N.C., Coast Guard station reported 25 m.p.h. winds Wednesday night.

Ships 90 miles off the Carolina coast reported 11-foot seas and gale winds Wednesday night.

There were no serious preparations to meet the hurricane Wednesday night, however, as most coastal residents apparently preferred to wait for more definite word on what Ella would do.

Craft said the huge "eye" or center of the hurricane, averaging around 100 miles in diameter, indicated a poorly developed storm. Ella formed from a large area of squalls in the Atlantic.

Only one other tropical storm has touched the U.S. mainland during this unusually quiet hurricane season. Tropical storm Alma brushed the coasts of North Carolina and New England in late August without serious damage.

American, Two British Scientists Get Nobel Prize

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UPI) — An American and two British scientists won the 1962 Nobel Prize for physiology or medicine today.

The Nobel committee of the Stockholm Caroline Institute gave the $50,043 award to U.S. scientist James Dewey Watson, and to British scientists Francis Harry C. Crick and Maurice Hugh Frederick Wilkins.

The three men will share the $50,043 award, which derives from the income of the $9 million trust fund established by Alfred N. Nobel, the Swedish inventor of dynamite.

The committee said the three men were honored for their "discoveries concerning the molecular structure of nuclear acids and its significance for information transfer in living material."

Watson, 34, lives in Cambridge, Mass. He is a biochemist and educator who has done extensive biological research into bacterial virus, molecular genetics and protein synthesis. He and Crick shared the John Collins Warren prize of the Massachusetts General Hospital in 1958.

Watson, Crick and Wilkins, in addition to now sharing the Nobel Prize, also were jointly awarded the Albert Lasker award in the United States in 1960.

Crick, 46, has been a scientist at the medical research council unit for molecular biology at Cambridge, England, since 1949. He is an internationally known expert on molecular biology and has taught in the United States.

Wilkins, 46, has been deputy director of the medical research council since 1955. He took part in the U.S. Manhattan Project as a member of the British Ministry of Supply.

CoC Officer Installation Set Tuesday

Joe Colley, general manager of the Abilene Chamber of Commerce, will be the installing officer at the annual installation banquet for Pampa Chamber of Commerce officers and directors and their wives in Coronado Inn at 7 p.m. next Tuesday.

Officers to be installed are Dr. Joe Donaldson, president; Aubrey Steele, vice president; and Loyd Davies, finance director. The 24-member board of directors also will be installed at the same time.

The new officers and directors will officially take office at the annual Chamber Membership and 60th Anniversary Banquet at 7 p.m. Thursday night in the Robert E. Lee Junior High Cafeteria.

E. O. Wedgworth, chairman and manager, said today five new directors have been approved to complete the 24-man board set up under the chamber's new constitution and by-laws.

John Lee Bell, Fred Vanderburg and A. L. Smalley were appointed by President-elect Donaldson and Jay Thompson and George Scott were elected by the board.

The program for the 60th Anniversary Banquet is to be built around the history of Pampa and Gray County from 1902-62 and will consist of a 15-minute prologue arranged by Warren Hassa, narrator; Joe Whitten, soloist and Jerry Whitten, organist.

REV. GEORGE SALLAWAY... banquet speaker

Banquet Held In Convention Of Catholic Women

The Rev. George Sallaway, pastor of St. Ann's Church in Canyon, addressed the Amarillo MCCW Convention at a banquet held last night at Coronado Inn.

Topic of his speech was "The Ecumenical Council." Father Sallaway has made an extensive study of the Second Vatican Council, and spoke on the subject at the spring deanery meetings.

His talk also was in keeping with the Convention's theme: "Strengthen our Minds in Truth—Dispose our Hearts to Obedy," which was taken from the "Prayer to the Holy Spirit for the Success of the Ecumenical Council."

A native of Scarsdale, N.Y., Father Sallaway has called the Texas Panhandle "home" since 1946, when he was sent here for his health, a victim of asthma. He was graduated from Price College in Amarillo in 1947, and entered St. Thomas' Seminary in Denver, where he received his A. B. Degree. From St. Thomas, he attended the American College in Rome, and received there his S.T.L. (Licentiate Dogmatic Theology). He was ordained December 8, 1954.

His first station after ordination was at Sacred Heart Cathedral, he has since served in Lubbock, Borger, Odessa, and Childress, and his present parish, Canyon.

Rev. Sallaway is a student of Cardinal Newman, and has written five works on the Cardinal. He has worked with the Newman Clubs at Texas Tech in Lubbock, and at Odessa College in Odessa. He is presently chaplain of the Newman Center at West Texas State College, and a member of (See BANQUET, Page 6)

Navy Squadron Is Moved To Key West, Fla.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Defense Department said today it ordered a squadron of Navy Phantom II jet fighter planes to Key West, Fla., two weeks ago to bolster the air defenses of that area against increasing Cuban air strength.

The department freely acknowledged the move.

Deputy Secretary Roswell L. Gilpatrick ordered the Navy on Oct. 6 to send 12 of the Phantom planes to the Florida base.

The Pentagon believes the Phantom is the fastest fighter plane in the world. It can reach a speed of about 1,500 miles an hour.

The jet fighters now stationed in the Florida area are about 90 miles from the nearest point in Cuba.

Cuba has been receiving increasing numbers of Russian-built MIG jet fighter planes, mostly of an older type.

Ben Bella Joins Castro In Demand That U.S. Vacate Guantanamo Base

HAVANA (UPI)—Algerian Premier Ahmed Ben Bella joined Fidel Castro Wednesday night in demanding that the United States give up its big naval base at Guantanamo in Cuba's south coast.

A communique issued a few hours after Ben Bella left for New York said the two premiers agreed on "the immediate need for the evacuation of troops and the dismantling of foreign military bases in other countries, including the naval base at Guantanamo."

(In Washington, a State Department spokesman said the United States has no intention of giving up the base.)

"The revolutionary (Castro) government and the people of Cuba have repeatedly manifested their intention of demanding the return of the Cuban territory occupied by the base at the proper time, through the means offered under international law," the communique said.

It also was announced the Castro has accepted an invitation to visit Algeria, although no date was set for the trip.

In a speech to a mass meeting early today, Castro asked for 50 doctor volunteers to go to Algeria to deal with "epidemics" of unspecified diseases in that country.

Castro's speech, broadcast by Radio Havana, also "proposed" that the doors of Havana University be closed to young Cubans who oppose the bearded leftist's revolutionary regime.

"They ought not to be allowed to enter the university because it is not fair to use the workers' money to teach... potential traitors," Castro said.

Ben Bella left here late Wednesday after an overnight stay during which he promised support for the Castro regime and announced that his "National Liberation Front" had awarded the bearded Cuban a "medal of honor."

The Algerian premier landed in New York late Wednesday night.

The communique said the two leaders found they had "essentially identical points of view" on world affairs.

United Fund Total Is Now At $44,929.89

Pampa's United Fund thermometer rose to $44,929.89 today on its way to the goal of $73,600.

The amount was set in the fifth report meeting held yesterday evening at Coronado Inn by workers in the 1962 Pampa-Lefors United Fund Drive.

United Fund President Herschel Wilks explained that there still are a large number of workers who have not completed their contacts and also several firms that have not completed solicitation of their employees.

A date for a final report meeting will be set soon, Wilks said. All workers again were urged to turn in their reports as soon as they are completed to the United Fund office in City Hall.

Here is a breakdown of reports from chairmen of money raised by the various UF divisions:

60th Anniversary Celebration To Get Underway Here On Thursday

Pampa's 60th Anniversary Celebration will officially get underway at 3:30 p.m. next Thursday with a parade in downtown Pampa.

The street parade is to be made up of bands and local entries and floats depicting the old-time theme of Pampa's history dating from two years after the turn of the century.

Local merchants were urged again today to line up their entries for the parade, keeping in mind the old-time angle for individuals and floats.

Employees in downtown stores also are digging out their old-time costumes and Pampans also are urged to enter the spirit of the three-day celebration.

Theme of the 60th Anniversary Celebration is "60 Years on the Grow."

In addition to the downtown parade on Thursday afternoon other highlights of the celebration will include the 60th Anniversary Banquet in Robert E. Lee Cafeteria at 7 p.m. Thursday, a square dance festival in the Pampa Junior High School gymnasium at 8 p.m. Friday, sponsored by the Calico Capers, and The Gay 90s Revue to be staged in the Pampa Junior High School auditorium at 8 p.m. Saturday under sponsorship of the Pampa Jaycees and the Pampa Little Theater Players.

The banquet speaker will be Dr. Guy D. Newman, president of Howard Payne College at Brownwood, Texas. Dr. Newman served as pastor of Baptist Churches in Groom and Amarillo in the 1930s. He served as assistant to the president and vice president of Baylor University prior to going to Brownwood in 1951.

Oil Allowable Is Still At 8 Days

AUSTIN (UPI) — The Texas Railroad Commission kept the state's oil production for November on an eight-day producing schedule today for the 10th straight month.

Based on the eight-day pattern, the estimated calendar day allowable for Texas will be 2,743,067 barrels daily, which is up 49,010 daily from October because of the change from a 31-day to a 30-day month.

Ten of the 12 major producers at today's prorating hearing recommended the eight-day allowable, and two asked for seven days of production.

Usually Reliable Minuteman Missile Goes Wild

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — A thunderous roar, a fiery slash across the sky, and for eight incredible seconds an intercontinental ballistic missile flew a deadly course toward the United States.

The launching site was Cape Canaveral. The missile, a 54-foot minuteman "instant ICBM."

And in those eight seconds Wednesday night, the normally dependable Minuteman wrote perhaps the wildest story in the history of this sprawling, 12-year-old missile testing center.

Before it was over, the United States was threatened by one of its own missiles, one rocket was destroyed and another damaged, brush fires were scattered all over the Cape, windows for miles around were rattled and some broken, and one man was injured while scurrying for safety.

And about the only thing the Minuteman proved was that the Air Force has some very good reasons for the stringent safety precautions it takes for all ballistic missile tests at Cape Canaveral.

After a fairly normal countdown, the three-stage Minuteman bolted from the bottom of a concrete-lined launching "silo." It was supposed to follow a smooth flight of about 3,000 miles as another "routine" test of a missile that often has demonstrated its reliability.

The Minuteman left the ranks of the routine and became a fiery 33-ton juggernaut of potential destruction by one simple action—it changed course. Instead of angling toward the southeast and over the Atlantic Ocean, it bent sharply in the opposite direction.

"It looked like the television picture was just exactly backwards," said one missileman who watches the shots from inside a protected building via closed-circuit television.

The missile crossed back over the heart of the 15,000-acre Cape—and headed toward the Florida mainland. The seconds ticked by with electrifying slowness. Blow it up! Blow it up! yelled the observer. Still it climbed.

A range safety officer with trained precision waited out the long seconds until the Minuteman could gain altitude. He flipped two switches that triggered a radio signal and touched off an explosive package inside the rocket.

The Minuteman shattered into hundreds of fiery fragments soaring in huge, sparkling arcs above the Cape, turning night into day, and churning up the sand into gigantic, exploding clouds as they rammed back into the land.

Permian Basin's Oil Show Opens At Coliseum

ODESSA, Tex. (SpI) — The largest oil show in the world opened here today as the 1962 Permian Basin Oil Exposition got underway on the grounds of the Ector County Coliseum.

Exhibitors and invited guests toured the grounds that contain in excess of 450 displays, varying from the highly technical to those which the "laymen" in the petroleum industry can readily understand.

At 1 p.m. tomorrow the oil show will be formally opened to the public. At that time, the co-honorees for the 1962 affair, George Bentley of Monahans, Texas, and George T. Abell of Midland, Texas, both highly regarded veterans of the industry, will snip the ribbon at the main entrance to the show grounds. They will be assisted by O. D. Albright of the Sun Oil Co. and president of the show this year.

Preceding the formal opening of the show, a huge parade will be conducted in downtown Odessa. It will include 14 junior and high school bands — from Odessa, Kermit, Stanton, Crane, Buena Vista High School of Imperial, Texas, and one of the better known high school bands of eastern New Mexico, the Jal High School marching band, plus floats that are being prepared by many civic organizations of Odessa and the Permian Basin and by a number of the exhibitors who will be displaying in the oil show.

A last minute approval also will see the widely acclaimed Oklahoma Military Academy's precision drill team on hand for the parade.

Friday will see the influx of some 4,000 school teachers for the Business Education Day program. This event will begin at 9:30 a.m. with registration and a welcoming coffee, and will be followed by speeches by Joseph O'Neil, Jr., a Midland independent oilman and president of the Permian Basin Petroleum Association, and Ferrill Rogers, conservation counsel for the oil and gas division of the State of Oklahoma.

At 11:30 a.m., the famed Odessa Chuck Wagon Gang will serve a barbecue dinner for the teachers, and a guided tour of the grounds will commence at 1 p.m., immediately following the formal opening.

Saturday at 5 p.m. the Odessa Chuck Wagon Gang will hold its annual oil show barbecue dinner. This affair is expected to attract some 15,000 to 20,000 persons, and will be conducted on the oil show grounds.

Saturday night at 9 o'clock a barbershop chorus concert will be held in the coliseum.

The show grounds will open at 10 a.m. Saturday and 1 p.m. Sunday. Nightly closing time is 9 o'clock.

OPEN HOUSE SET

CHARGES FILED
LUBBOCK (UPI)—Felony theft and burglary charges were filed Tuesday against James Elmer Firestone, 31, and Hershel McKnight, 35, of Lubbock, Tex. Police said the thefts involved $15,000 to $20,000 worth of farm equipment in Texas and Oklahoma.

HONESTY COSTS
DAVENTRY, England (UPI)—Policeman Robert Quinn, who gave himself a ticket after an auto accident, was commended Tuesday by a traffic court judge. The jurist then fined him $22.40 for careless driving.

Wayne Morse Seeking Fourth Consecutive Term In Senate

Campaign Trails—The West
By DE VAN L. SHUMWAY
United Press International
PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—By plunking down a few cents, Oregon voters can buy two books about Sen. Wayne Morse, the state's Maverick lawmaker.

Morse, campaigning for his fourth consecutive Senate term, doesn't like the books — "The Tiger in the Senate" by Washington newsman A. Robert Smith and "The Record of Wayne Morse" by former Republican National Committeeman Harrison E. Spangler.

Neither do other Democrats in Oregon. Young Democratic organization President Merlyn Gubser called the Spangler book "filled with untruths, misquotations and misleading information."

Morse, until 1952 a Republican and now a Democrat shrugs off the effect of the books with one caustic statement:

"I have nothing to be defensive about. God couldn't create a person as bad as the opposition would like to portray me."

Challenging the volatile Morse is wealthy Portland businessman Sig Unander, a good vote-getter when elected state treasurer in 1952 and reelected in 1956.

Unander has been running hard, speaking daily and traveling throughout the state, while Morse has been tied down in Washington tending to the business of the Senate.

Although Morse has been tagged a prime Republican target in the West this year, observers concede it would take a Republican miracle to unseat him.

He has been stressing his record of gaining public works projects for Oregon and has so far refused to get involved in a personal campaign.

A victory for Morse would simply help shore up the Democrats' favorable situation in the 11 Western states from the Rocky Mountains west, excluding California where incumbent Edmund G. Brown and former Vice President Richard Nixon are battling for the governorship.

Going into the November general election, the "New Frontier" of President Kennedy, which won only two Western states in 1960, has a good edge in the Old Frontier.

In the Senate, with 11 seats involved, Democrats now hold nine and the Republicans two.

In the House, the Democrats sport a 15-12 margin and will eight governorships up for election this fall, it's a 4-4 standoff.

In California, 38 House seats are at stake, up 8 because of population gains. The present alignment is 16-14 in favor of the Democrats. Republican Sen. Thomas Kuchel is opposed by Democratic state Sen. Richard Richards.

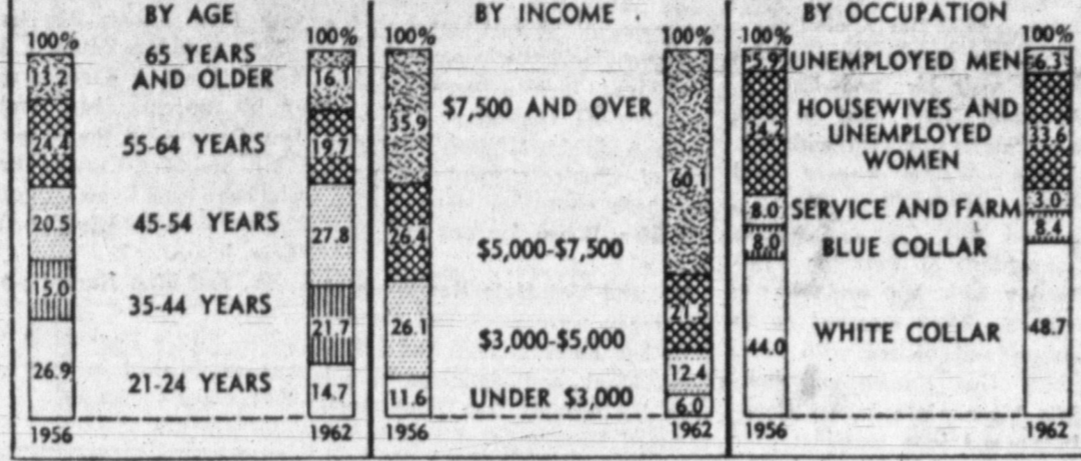

The "New Frontier" — support of Kennedy — isn't an abiding issue in the West. It's more of a side issue and supporting the administration down the line can work to the disadvantage of some lawmakers in such states as Arizona and Montana.

In many states, local issues have sparked the most vigorous campaigns.

An example is Idaho, where gambling has become a major rallying point between incumbent Republican Gov. Robert E. Smylie and Democrat Vernon K. Smith.

calls Smith's plan "a fiscal phony and a moral fraud" which is unconstitutional. (The State Supreme Court in 1954 threw out gambling in Idaho on grounds it violated a constitutional lottery bar).

PROFILE OF SHAREHOLDERS

TAKING STOCK—Charts above profile the 17 million Americans who now own shares of stock in national corporations. Half of all stock is owned by persons between the ages of 35 and 54. Shareowners now have a median income of $8,600, compared with $6,200 in 1956. While women shareowners continue to outnumber men—8.3 million to 8 million—the balance is more nearly equal than at any time since 1952. Data: National Industrial Conference Board.

The Lighter Side On 'Cultural Exchange'

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Negotiations between Nikita Khrushchev and Irv Lichtenstein are on the brink. It is not clear, however, what they are on the brink of.

All that can be said with certainty is that Lichtenstein feels he has gone as far as he can go. The next move is up to Khrushchev, who may have gone farther than he can go.

Lichtenstein, I should explain for those of you who came in late, is a local radio station executive and do-it-yourself diplomat. I assume you know who Khrushchev is.

Last month, by-passing such traditional diplomatic channels as the United Nations, the State Department and David Susskind, Lichtenstein wrote a letter to Khrushchev proposing a cultural exchange.

He said he would have his disc jockeys at station WDC broadcast Russia's 10 most popular songs if Radio Moscow would, in turn, broadcast America's 10 top tunes.

Subsequently, Lichtenstein received 10 recordings from Moscow, which were duly aired. I heard some of them and they sounded like they needed airing.

Meanwhile, in keeping with established international precautionary principles, Lichtenstein had his engineers monitor Radio Moscow to see if Khrushchev was carrying out the other end of the exchange.

This week, having received no evidence that the U.S. tunes were being played in the Soviet capital, Lichtenstein suspended broadcasting of the Russian records.

He was careful, however, to leave the door open for future negotiations. He offered to accept at face value a certification from Khrushchev that the Soviets had been playing our songs.

"We don't think that 'on-site inspection' poses any problem in this case," Lichtenstein said.

In other words, he waived the right to send a team of disc jockeys to Moscow to make certain the Russians with complying with the exchange agreement.

Lichtenstein may be criticized in some quarters for having made such a concession, but I think the latest scientific information will show that on-the-spot inspection no longer is necessary to detect popular music.

If "Limbo Rock," the No. 3 U.S. tune, were played anywhere in the Soviet Union, the shock waves would be recorded on seismographs throughout the Western Hemisphere.

Hubby Leaves Again With His Spouse's Stocks
MILWAUKEE (UPI)—A man who returned to his wife after 10 years of desertion has left again—this time with $100,000 in stock and bonds belonging to his spouse.

Police said Tuesday that Arthur Williams, 78, a dapper Englishman, came back to his wife in 1959. Mrs. Williams, who moved here from Kirkwood, Mo., had accumulated blue chip stocks through wise investments from her dressmaker's income.

They said Williams left last month, without a word, sending a letter from Niagara Falls saying he had "done nothing wrong."

Mrs. Williams' son, Arthur, 45, said the missing stocks and bonds were removed from a bank safety deposit box.

Williams was charged with forging his wife's signature on a check for $4,748 issued her by a brokerage house.

Joe Fischer, Pampa chairman; Mrs. Earl Adkinson, Lefors chairman; and Mrs. R. A. Mack, Mother's chairman. The chairman for McLean will be selected next week.

Yeggs Hit Grocery Store In McLean

Burglars broke down the door of Cooper's Food Market in McLean, sometime between 1 and 2:30 a.m. today, opened the safe and made away with $160 in cash and between $1,300 and $1,450 in checks.

Sheriff Rufe Jordan and Pampa Patrolman Denny Roan, who went to McLean to investigate the case, reported that the store had been checked by the town marshal at 1:05 a.m. and everything was alright.

A bread deliveryman arrived at the store about 2:30 a.m. and discovered the front door had been kicked in.

It is believed the burglars still were inside at the time and fled through the backdoor when they heard the deliveryman.

Sheriff Jordan said the burglars overlooked more money than they took with them.

The sheriff also stated that about 20 of the 24 checks stolen had been cashed yesterday at the store by employees of the Marie Foundation, McLean plant.

A warning was issued to merchants to watch for Marie Foundation checks since all of them had been endorsed.

The sheriff said that in addition to the cash and checks the burglars also stole three or four cartons of cigarettes.

Wheeler Cattle Herd Is Sold Out

In one of the biggest cattle transactions of the past week, Mrs. Isabel Huseby of Wheeler County leased her H Ranch in Wheeler County and sold her herd of approximately 600 head to J. Terris Hess of McLean.

Richard Brown, son of the late R. William Brown, also bought some 200 head of calves.

Mrs. Huseby said the cattle sold were the last in the herd started by her father, Mark Huseby, back in 1875.

Another Prowler Report Is Filed

Police went on another wild goose chase last night following a prowler report at 7:15 p.m. by Mrs. J. E. Pierson, 1325 Christine St.

Mrs. Pierson said she heard a "terrible racket" at the dining room window of her home and said all the dogs in the neighborhood were barking.

Investigating officers said they found a screen had been jerked loose from the window, but could find no footprints that would give them a clue.

Yeggs Hit Grocery Store In McLean

Burglars broke down the door of Cooper's Food Market in McLean, sometime between 1 and 2:30 a.m. today, opened the safe and made away with $160 in cash and between $1,300 and $1,450 in checks.

Sheriff Rufe Jordan and Pampa Patrolman Denny Roan, who went to McLean to investigate the case, reported that the store had been checked by the town marshal at 1:05 a.m. and everything was alright.

A bread deliveryman arrived at the store about 2:30 a.m. and discovered the front door had been kicked in.

It is believed the burglars still were inside at the time and fled through the backdoor when they heard the deliveryman.

Sheriff Jordan said the burglars overlooked more money than they took with them.

The sheriff also stated that about 20 of the 24 checks stolen had been cashed yesterday at the store by employees of the Marie Foundation, McLean plant.

A warning was issued to merchants to watch for Marie Foundation checks since all of them had been endorsed.

The sheriff said that in addition to the cash and checks the burglars also stole three or four cartons of cigarettes.

Wheeler Cattle Herd Is Sold Out

In one of the biggest cattle transactions of the past week, Mrs. Isabel Huseby of Wheeler County leased her H Ranch in Wheeler County and sold her herd of approximately 600 head to J. Terris Hess of McLean.

Richard Brown, son of the late R. William Brown, also bought some 200 head of calves.

Mrs. Huseby said the cattle sold were the last in the herd started by her father, Mark Huseby, back in 1875.

Another Prowler Report Is Filed

Police went on another wild goose chase last night following a prowler report at 7:15 p.m. by Mrs. J. E. Pierson, 1325 Christine St.

Mrs. Pierson said she heard a "terrible racket" at the dining room window of her home and said all the dogs in the neighborhood were barking.

Investigating officers said they found a screen had been jerked loose from the window, but could find no footprints that would give them a clue.

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market seems well adjusted to underlying values and immediate business prospects, but shows no signs of an early move out of its three month trading range, says Standard & Poor's Corp.

According to its weekly publication, Outlook, investors should maintain positions in better-situated issues, and be on the alert for buying opportunities that might open up.

Spear & Staff advises its clients to continue to adhere to a policy of cautious optimism. While this advisory service would wait for the market to tell its own story before committing reserves, it would not hesitate to gradually increase its positions in specifically recommended issues.

Investors Research Co. says from the manner in which the market has been acting, it looks like $65.570 in the industrial average is a rock-ribbed area of investment support. The service expects a November low in this area to be followed by a general November-February upturn that could easily surpass this summer's highs.

When a performer "ad libs," he is saying something which was not in the script, was not rehearsed. The term actually comes from music. Ad libitum (in Latin "at pleasure") is a direction signifying that the performance of the passage in question is left to the discretion of the performer; also that a given portion of a work may be omitted.

Here's A Treat For Halloween

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
If you don't want to be bewitched or cast under an evil spell when your doorbell rings on Halloween, have some of these chewy Tricky-Treats ready for outstretched hands. There's no trick to making them. Toasted puffed rice forms the base and each kernel is coated with chocolate-caramel.

Of course, if you invite some of the hungry goblins indoors, be make pizza snacks in second recipe to offer the easy-to-make pizza snacks in second recipe.

TRICKY-TREATS FOR HALLOWEEN
(Makes 12 candy balls)
6 cups puffed rice

TRICKY-TREATS for Halloween goblins are easily made with puffed rice, chopped nutsmeats, caramels and chocolate.

1 cup chopped nutsmeats
1 14-oz. pkg. caramels
2 oz. (2 squares) semisweet chocolate
¾ cup water

Tart Apples Make This Delicious Dish

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Green apple pie is an American heritage. Top it with ice cream and sing "My Country 'Tis of Thee." Or serve with wedges of rich cheddar cheese. Best use tart apples, now so plentiful in your market.

Another delectable use for tart apples is in a Brown Betty. Here's a good recipe:

APPLE COCONUT BETTY
(Makes 8 servings)
6 cups thinly sliced pared tart apples
1½ cups soft bread crumbs
1½ cup flaked coconut (1-13 cups)
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
6 tablespoons butter or margarine

Arrange 3 cups apple slices in shallow greased baking dish. Sprinkle with half the bread crumbs and 1-3 cup coconut. Combine brown sugar, salt and cinnamon; sprinkle half this mixture over coconut. Dot with 3 tablespoons butter. Repeat. Sprinkle top with remaining 1-3 cup coconut. Cover (use aluminum foil if baking dish does not have a cover). Bake at 350 degrees F. (moderate) for 35 to 40 minutes. Re-greased baking sheet. Brush with melted margarine and sprinkle with cinnamon sugar mixture. Repeat with remaining three pieces of dough.

Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about one hour. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) about 25 minutes.

Heat puffed rice in shallow pan in moderate oven (330 degrees F.) 10 minutes. Pour into large greased bowl; add nut meats.
Place caramels, chocolate and water in top of double boiler; heat over boiling water, stirring frequently until melted and smooth. Mixing quickly, gradually pour melted caramel mixture over puffed rice.
Stir until kernels are evenly coated. Grease hands and quickly shape puffed rice candy into balls. Cool, then wrap each ball in cellophane and tie with a ribbon.

PIZZA MUFFIN SNACK

(8 servings)
4 English muffins
1 (8-ounce) can tomato sauce
Dash of oregano
Dash of pepper
Dash of salt
8 slices Mozzarella cheese
Split muffins in half, horizontally, with a dinner fork. Spread 1½ tablespoons of tomato sauce on each muffin half. Sprinkle sauce with oregano, pepper and salt. Top with a cheese slice. Bake on a cookie sheet in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) for 15 minutes, or until cheese melts.

move cover; bake 10 minutes longer or until apples are soft. Serve with cream or ice cream if desired.

'Home Baked' Treat

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Have you ever made "home baked" treats out of bakers' bread or rolls? You'll be surprised at how homey and delicious they can be.

The first step is a visit to the bakery or baked goods department of your market. Next step is following recipes like these in your own kitchen.
With a doughnut-hole attachment, SURPRISE JELLY TARTS (1 dozen)
12 slices enriched bread
2 tablespoons melter butter or margarine

1 (3-ounce) package cream cheese
2 teaspoons milk or water
Jelly in assorted flavors
Using a 2-inch biscuit cutter cut 15 rings from 8 bread slices. Remove the doughnut-hole attachment and cut 8 additional circles of bread.

Place the rounds with centers not removed on a baking sheet. Brush lightly with butter. Place a bread ring on top of this and fill the center with cream cheese softened with 2 teaspoons milk or water. Again brush the bread lightly with butter.
Place another bread ring on top of this and fill with jelly in assorted flavors and colors. Brush lightly with the melted butter. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) for ten minutes.

TOASTED HONEY-SESAME STICKS
(32 sticks)
8 slices enriched bread
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
3 tablespoons honey
2 tablespoons toasted sesame seeds

Remove crusts from sliced bread; brush with combined melted butter and honey; sprinkle with toasted sesame seeds. Cut each slice of bread into four finger-length pieces. Place them on a baking sheet; toast in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) for nine minutes, or until crisp and golden brown.

GARLIC NIBBLERS
(1½ quart)
¾ cup corn oil
1 teaspoon dry minced garlic
2 quarts (½-inch) soft bread cubes
½ cup grated Parmesan cheese

Put corn oil in a large shallow baking pan; sprinkle garlic over the surface. Add soft bread cubes to garlic oil, tossing them lightly with a fork until all cubes are coated. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese and toss again.
Bake in a slow oven (300 degrees F.) for thirty minutes, or until crisp and lightly browned. Toss once or twice during baking period.

LITTLE LIZ
Pickpockets usually live alone but go out in crowds for a little change.

Treat The Goblins To Tasty Donuts

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Halloween spooks, made of paper cups and plates can offer trick or treat donuts to door ringing youngsters. Some parents wrap the donuts in transparent Saran with a small coin taped on the outside. The coin is to be contributed to needy children of the world, the donuts to the immediate needs of local trick-or-treaters.

Not a bad idea—fun and an awareness of international poverty combined to add a little more sanity to Halloween's traditional youthful high jinks.

Most youngsters relish donuts. You can buy them plain or sugared, or with fanciful frostings in many colors and flavors. Served with fruit punches or new cider, they will keep "body and soul" together during ducking for apples and other Halloween indoor sports.

Of course, if they are still hungry, they'll welcome these, too: "HOT POT" BEANS (Serves 6)

1 package (2 cups) quick beans
2½ cups boiling water
1½ teaspoons salt
6 slices bacon
1 cup chopped onion
1 medium can tomatoes
1 cup green peppers, finely diced
1 teaspoon curry powder
Pepper to taste

Pour boiling water and salt over beans and boil for 20 minutes. Brown bacon and drain off fat. Add onions, tomatoes, green peppers, curry powder and pepper to bacon. Simmer for 15 minutes. Mix lightly with drained beans and heat thoroughly in oven, about 20 minutes.

mixture and beaten egg yolks; stir to blend. Add flour, beat until well blended. Cover tightly with aluminum foil. Refrigerate at least 4 hours or overnight.
Combine sugar and cinnamon until well blended. Divide dough in half. Divide each half into 3 pieces. Roll each piece into an 18-inch strand. Braid 3 pieces together; seal ends well. Place on

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW

United Press International

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—In NBC's new Wednesday night series, "The Eleventh Hour," television has finally discovered a virtual all-purpose hero.

In the atrociously pretentious opener two weeks ago, about a lady who knocked off her husband, we learned that the star, Wendell Corey, plays a psychiatrist. But wait a minute—he's also a lawyer. And wait another minute—he's also on call for hospital duty and police work. And that's not all—he often operates like a private eye. Hot dog!

Some wags about town have suggested that if the series could be set on a ranch with Corey as the father of three sons, and if a couple of production numbers could be thrown in from time to time, there would be nothing left for television to do. In short, he is a little of everything, and therefore not much of anything.

If, of course, you find it entertaining to watch mental cases regularly, then you will have a ball looking at "The Eleventh Hour." But since Corey is really not much of anything, the show is most likely to have its rare moments when he and his equally unimpressive associate (Jack King) are merely incidental—which was the case last night.

It was a sudsy thing. Wednesday night's venture, even to the tear jerking music; but it got superior performances from Barbara Rush and David Janssen in a study of a man who subtly weaves doubts in the mind of his ex-wife, a former mental patient, to gain custody of their daughter. Psychiatry was distinctly secondary to mystery, even though the show is introduced by an ink splotch for "authenticity."

On the matter of sudsiness, a recent meeting here of the Writers Guild produced complaints that there is too much of a soapy flavor in scripts in many of the new series. In the television industry, this definite trend is talked of as giving the shows more "heart" this season.

This has obvious advantages. Sentiment of the slobbering variety is the lowest common denominator, with instant mass appeal. In addition, it requires the least writing, acting or directing ability. Legitimate heroic dialogue, for instance, requires knowledge of and interest in people of heroic talents, efficiencies and natures; whereas our video writers seem so obsessed with defying the commonplace that you are almost not "in" unless you are a professional loser.

NBC-TV has found it easier for a star to be full of sympathy than talent. The psychiatrist in "The Eleventh Hour," the rodeo rider in "Wide Country," the reporter in "Saints and Sinners," the young idol in "Dr. Kildare," even the slightly heroic lawyer of "Sam Benedict"—they are all really playing the same interchangeable part: Professional humanists. And while this may have admirable points, I maintain that some flagrant talent and individualism is preferable, no matter how well-intentioned a message or direction may be. The Channel Swim: Charles Boyer plays a Latin dictator on NBC-TV's Dick Powell show Nov. 13. Jackie Gleason, Shirley Temple, Arthur Godfrey and "Captain Kangaroo" describe Thanksgiving Day parades in New York, Detroit and Philadelphia on a CBS-TV two-hour special Nov. 22.

Betty Grable joins Lawrence Welk as a guest on Andy Williams' NBC-TV program Nov. 8. Lana Turner was added to Bob Hope's annual Christmas tour of overseas military bases, from which film footage will be made into a special for the same network Jan. 16.

"CBS Reports" for Oct. 31 describes the gubernatorial battle between Richard Nixon and Gov. Edmund G. Brown in California. ABC-TV's "Close-Up" for Oct. 30 will tell about a short-term prison instead of the originally scheduled show about urban renewal.

Guantanamo Bay Still Secure In US Hands

EDITOR'S NOTE: For more than half a century U.S. warships have swept proudly in and out of Guantanamo Bay, helping to guarantee the freedom both of Cuba and the United States. Now Fidel Castro has vowed a legal battle to throw this country off the base. The following dispatch tells why U.S. officials are confident he will fail.

By NORMAN RUNNION
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Once again, Cuba has staked out a claim for the big U.S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay.

And once again, the Cubans have said they will get the United States out by legal means—not by force.

It has happened before and undoubtedly will happen again. Whenever U.S. - Cuban relations heat up towards the boiling point, as they have in recent weeks, Guantanamo invariably comes to the fore.

The latest demand for "Gitmo," as the Navy has called it for generations, was made by Cuban President Osvaldo Dorticos in his Oct. 8 speech before the United Nations General Assembly.

"We have stated more than once and we repeat our right to recover that territory," he said. "That region was torn from us following an American incursion."

"In Due Time"
Cuba, he said, would exercise its right in due time, but "shall not do so by means of armed force. We shall exercise that right when we deem it appropriate, through the procedural channels of international law and before the international bodies competent to deal with such a claim."

In the past, Premier Fidel Castro, has said these "procedural channels" would be the International Court at The Hague. The strategy would be to try to overthrow the treaties under which Cuba originally granted the base to the United States.

Guantanamo Bay, a 28,000-acre enclave on the southeastern tip of Cuba, has been U.S. property since 1903. On three sides it is surrounded by Cuban territory. In the distance loom the Sierra Maestra Mountains where Castro launched his career as a guerrilla fighter.

The south side is the water, a fine natural harbor. In the words of the Defense Department, this oldest of all U.S. overseas naval bases "provides an excellent base in support of essential fleet, operational training."

Best Training Area
"Excellent year-round climate, unobstructed sea and air space and close proximity to the United States all combine to provide a training area which has no equal in the Atlantic. For this reason the majority of the Atlantic Fleet ships visit Guantanamo annually for shakedown or refresher training."

The United States has no intention of surrendering Guantanamo. It has given the base enough firepower to ward off any military threat. Reinforcements could be landed almost immediately in case of trouble.

Furthermore, it is confident Castro has no legal case. The "incursion" cited by Dorticos was the Spanish - American War, fought on Cuban soil. American public opinion, aroused by the sinking of the battleship Maine in Havana Harbor ("Remember the Maine") demanded the campaign which liberated the island. The Spaniards, under the treaty of Paris signed on Dec. 10, 1898, relinquished Cuba to U.S. control. But there was no desire to make the island part of the United States. The so-called Teller Amendment, passed by Congress on April 19, 1898, promised to leave the government in the hands of the Cuban people.

Interim Occupation
There was an interim American occupation, however. The military governor was Gen. Leonard Wood, who had fought in the war. He was authorized to have the Cubans meet in convention and draw up a constitution.

The assembly opened Nov. 5, 1900. Ultimately it adopted a constitution patterned after this country's. But the stickler, from the U.S. viewpoint, was that it contained no provision for continuing future relations with the United States.

Wood was authorized to tell the convention that America's withdrawal of control in the island was conditional on the adoption of such a provision.

The end result was the "Platt Amendment." Added to the Army money bill of March 2, 1901, the amendment was named for Connecticut Sen. Orville H. Platt. Actually the author was Elihu Root, the secretary of war.

Viewed from today's vantage point, when "colonialism" is a nasty word, the amendment contained some bald provisions. One section gave the United States authority to intervene in Cuba to preserve the country's independence and maintain law and order.

The "Guantanamo" section said: "To enable the United States to maintain the independence of Cuba, and to protect the people thereof, as well as for its own defense, the government of Cuba will sell or lease to the United States lands necessary for coaling or naval stations at certain specified points to be agreed upon with the President of the United States."

Familial Territory
Guantanamo already was familiar territory. During the Spanish American War, the Bay was seized by 100 Marines to provide a base for the U.S. Navy, which was blockading the Spanish Fleet in Santiago Harbor 40 miles away. The Marines established a camp there — Camp McCalla and engaged in the first U.S. fighting on Cuban soil to ward off attacking Spanish troops.

The Platt Amendment was duly incorporated in the Cuban constitution. On May 29, 1902, the United States turned over control of the island to the Cubans. Tomas Estrada Palma became the first president of the new republic.

A year later, the Platt Amendment was incorporated in a U.S. Cuban treaty of relations, signed on May 22, 1903. A month earlier, a lease agreement had been signed providing U.S. right to use Guantanamo Harbor for a naval base.

This agreement recognized that Cuba retained ultimate sovereignty over the area. But Cuba granted the United States complete jurisdiction and control during the time it used the base.

In 1934, the Platt Amendment was abrogated by the United States and Cuba. This was at the start of Franklin D. Roosevelt's "Good Neighbor" policy. The objective was to remove the language giving the United States the right to intervene.

Retain "Gitmo" Section
But the section affecting Guantanamo bay was retained in a new treaty. It said "the stipulations of that agreement with regard to the naval station at Guantanamo shall continue in effect" unless revised or abrogated by the United States and Cuba.

Furthermore, it said: "So long as the United States of America shall not abandon the said naval station at Guantanamo or the two governments shall not agree to a modification of its present limits, the station shall continue to have the territorial area that it now has, with the limits that it has on the date of the signature of the present treaty."

This, in the U.S. view, is the key language involved when the Castro regime threatens to take its case to the world court.

The 1903 lease agreements were signed by the presidents of the two countries — Theodore Roosevelt for the United States — without being submitted to the U.S. or Cuban congress.

But the 1934 treaty was ratified in accordance with the constitutional provisions of both countries, the Defense Department says. It adds:

"Since this treaty reaffirmed the provisions of the original two lease agreements, the question as to whether these agreements were legal and binding prior to 1934 is purely academic."

Red Fishing Port
The Castro regime, while trying to get out from under its Guantanamo treaty obligations has just signed a treaty with the Soviet Union to build a "fishing port" in Havana Bay.

The agreement, according to the Soviet Tass news agency, provides "Soviet technical assistance to Cuba in the construction of a port, including the building of wharves, freezers, storage warehouses, repair shops with a floating dock, oil storage facilities, a radio station and other auxiliary installations." Both the Cubans and the Russians claim the port will be headquarters for a joint Atlantic fishing fleet. The idea would be that Soviet trawlers, operating in northern waters off the United States, could go to Cuba rather than return across the Atlantic to their home ports.

But concern has been expressed here that the facilities may be used to support Soviet submarines or trawlers observing U.S. military and missile operations in the Caribbean.

Because of Guantanamo's position, however, the Cubans — and the Russians — can now watch U.S. naval maneuvers without even bothering to go to sea.

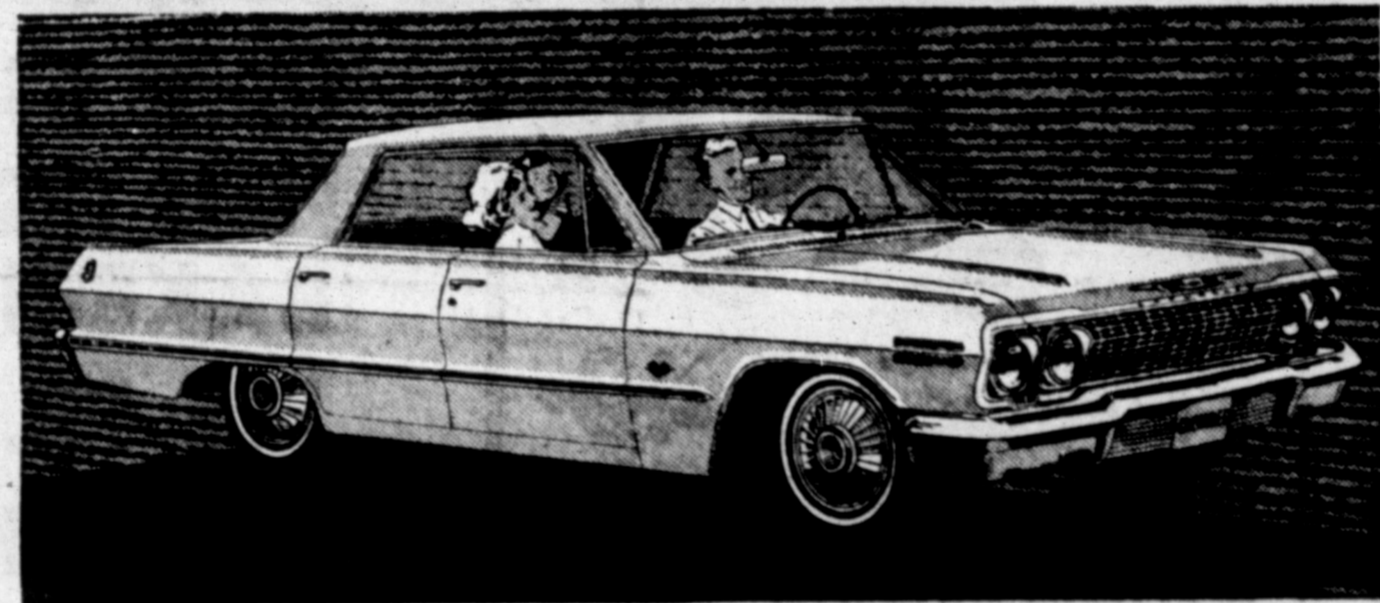

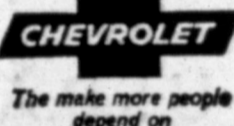

When the USS Enterprise, the great nuclear-powered aircraft carrier, conducted its shakedown operations last spring it cruised off the Cuban coast. It could easily be seen from land, and one day it was observed by a Russian freighter.

We're Cuff Deep In Fur This Winter

This winter, you can have mink in your wardrobe for a touch of luxury without a fractured budget. Pale colors are high fashion for winter. This coat (left) is pale beige with shawl collar and deep cuffs in mink. Floor length velvet hostess robe (center) has wide neckline outlined in mink. The beautiful white suit for winter (right) is frosted with white mink for a snow princess look. Fur trim is a practical protection on icy days, as every girl knows.

By GAILE DUGAS
Women's Editor

NEW YORK (NEA) — One of the prettiest ways to include the flattery of fur in your winter wardrobe is via fur trim.

Fashions are cuff deep in fur this year. It's used on suits, coats, cocktail dresses, hostess robes and hats. The woman who yearns for mink may have it without putting the family budget forever out of order.

Versatile mink is still leading the field according to the Hudson's Bay Co., as luxury trim for winter fashions. Fox and opossum are pretty but, because they are shaggy, are most flattering to tall, slim, stately women.

Once you've acquired a fur-trimmed fashion, here are some tips for keeping it looking handsome:

Keep it in the coolest closet in the house and don't jam it in with other clothing. Don't crush the fur and do allow air to circulate about it.

If the fur gets wet in snow or rain, dry it in a cool, airy room. Never dry it near a hot radiator. Don't use a comb or brush or fur trim. A good shaking will fluff up the fur.

If you carry packages, don't let them (or your handbag) rub against the fur. This will cause premature wear.

Remember, if you treat it with care, fur is durable and will remain beautiful for a long time.

Dear Abby
By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Some very dear friends of mine have a summer piece and I am frequently their weekend guest. I have just returned from a visit with them and I can't sleep nights for worrying about my last visit. I had a lot on my mind and I wasn't myself. I am very fond of these people and want to write them a thank-you letter, but don't know what to say. I can't say "I had a lovely time," because I didn't. I was very disagreeable and argumentative and had a miserable time and they know it. Should I ignore the facts or just skip the letter this time? Hypocrisy isn't easy for me.

TOBACCO TABULATIONS—National consumption of tobacco in 1962 is estimated at about 11 pounds for each person 15 years old and over. U.S. Department of Agriculture reports this is about the same as in 1961, but a tenth lower than the record high of 10 years ago. Cigarette consumption is near 9.2 pounds or four-fifths of the total. Per capita smoking of cigarettes averages out to 3,984, or over 199 packages. Cigar smoking will probably show an increase over 1961, but other tobacco uses will likely decline.

Polynesian Sailors Survived Shipwreck

SUVA, Fiji Islands (UPI)—An ingenious still for making fresh water and a one-match fire that didn't go out were credited today with saving the lives of 12 Polynesian sailors shipwrecked for more than three months on a barren reef in the southwest Pacific.

Ten survivors were taken from the reef by a New Zealand flying boat and brought to Suva this week after two of their companions drifted on a crudely made raft more than 300 miles to seek help.

"It was as if everything on our bodies came alive again when the plane came," said Veefutu Pahulu, one of the survivors. "We were very, very happy."

Death before Rescue
Five others of the 17-man crew died from the ordeal, including one lost from the raft sent to find help and one who succumbed on the reef shortly before the rescue plane arrived.

The survival story of the hardy seamen from the tiny Polynesian archipelago of Tonga was one of ingenuity and improvisation.

They set out from Tonga July 4 in the 50-foot cutter Tuiakeapu, headed for Auckland, New Zealand. Three days out of port, the ship ran aground on Minerua Reef, about 325 miles south of the Fiji Islands, broke up and sank.

Although the crew managed to crawl onto the reef with some food salvaged from the ship, all their water supplies were lost. There was no fresh water on the reef.

But they had a large aluminum pot, a kettle, a rubber tube and one match.

On-Match Frie
The men set up a crude still to boil seawater in the pot and channel it through the tube to be condensed in the kettle. Everything depended on the match. It lit.

Matter of Fact
Some of the history of Abilene, Kansas—the boyhood home of Ike: The town was selected in 1867 by Joseph McCoy, a cattle entrepreneur and later mayor of Abilene, as the northern terminus of the Texas cattle drives. The year the Kansas-Pacific railroad reached this point. The biggest year of cattle drives to Abilene over the Chisholm trail was 1870, when more than 5,000 cowboys driving 700,000 cattle arrived there.

Foreign Commentary

By ELIE MAISSI
United Press International
PARIS (UPI)—French President Charles de Gaulle would fight alongside the United States to defend Western rights in Berlin and Western access to Berlin. His aides are making that clear, to East and West.

Officials here said he is as determined as President Kennedy not to back down an inch on this. On the other hand De Gaulle's chief worry about Berlin is that the United States might not take a sufficiently tough stand and would be prepared to make concessions to the Soviets if the issue comes to the conference table.

French officials were gratified by the toughness shown in the recent statement by Kennedy's special assistant for national security affairs, McGeorge Bundy, that the United States would—if necessary—fight alone for Berlin. However, they hastened to add that De Gaulle never would let it come to that.

France Would Help
If the United States is forced to fight for Western rights in Berlin, France would be right in there fighting at its side, they said. It was presumed Great Britain would be, too.

At this point, however, De Gaulle appears to part company with his Allies.

There is no doubt among officials here that he is as doggedly opposed to negotiations with the Soviets under duress or threat of duress as he was a year ago when he refused flatly to have any part in diplomatic probing talks with the Russians.

De Gaulle was said to be somewhat disturbed over the possibility that the United States might be ready to make concessions at the conference table if the Russians would also.

The French line is and always has been that concessions to the Soviets are dangerous because they would simply touch off new demands. Consequently, De Gaulle remains rigidly opposed not only to concessions but even to negotiations while the Russians remain in a threatening mood. He argues that any negotiations on Berlin at the present stage could only lead to concessions by the West and new Soviet demands.

Does Not Underestimate Threat
This does not, of course, mean that De Gaulle underestimates the Soviet threat to Berlin or the likelihood that Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev will sign a separate peace treaty with the East German Communists.

It means simply that De Gaulle is convinced that the West must stand absolutely firm in the face of the current mounting campaign from Moscow.

French officials also share the view of the United States that Khrushchev is being pushed to some extent by his own internal problems.

However, they said, De Gaulle sees no reason why the West should hasten to get Khrushchev off the hook.

De Gaulle remains convinced that Khrushchev is not seriously planning to launch a nuclear world war over Berlin. So he feels the West should do nothing to help his internal position and should make no moves toward negotiations until he ceases threatening and trying to browbeat the West.

Frigid Climate In Alaska Is Not A Marriage Hazard

NEW YORK (UPI)—The frigid climate on the Alaskan frontier has not dimmed the ardor in the hearts of the natives. Figures released today show that marriages increased by 12 per cent in the newest state during 1961.

Throughout the country, 1,549,000 couples said their vows during the year, according to statistics of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. This was a 1.4 per cent increase over 1960.

The statistical records show that the most maritally progressive American cities in 1961 were New Bedford, Mass. and Salt Lake City, Utah, with rises of 11 per cent; and El Paso, Tex. and Tacoma, Wash., with increases of 10 per cent.

"RUNS" TRAFFIC LIGHT

Olds was driving along a downtown street when a stiff wind snapped guy wires supporting a traffic light which dropped in the path of his car.

NAVY SETUP CHAMP
SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Squadman Edward C. Jolly, 21, of Prosser, Neb., a crewman aboard the submarine Ronquil, may be the fittest sailor in the whole U.S. Navy.

During his quarterly fitness test, Jolly did 4,001 setups in three hours and one minute. The Navy is checking whether he can officially claim the all-Navy record for consecutive setups.

Washington Window

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Just off the press is a useful publication that offers a hard-nosed conservative analysis of the voting record of your representatives in the 87th Congress.

It is published by Americans for Constitutional Action (ACA), 20 E Street, N. W., Washington 1, D. C. ACA is a no-nonsense conservative outfit sponsored by trustees including retired Adm. Ben Moreell, former Gov. Charles Edison of New Jersey, Edgar N. Eisenhower, former President Hoover, and Loyd Wright of Los Angeles, a former president of the American Bar Association.

ACA analyzes congressional votes deemed to uphold the U. S. Constitution in contrast to votes deemed by ACA to further the socialization of the United States. It abhors the point of view adopted by some important and effective political elements that the Constitution is unsuited to modern conditions. ACA concedes, however, that this point of view has prevailed to a considerable extent in the following developments:

Legal Definitions
"By tortuous legislative, executive and judicial interpretations of the 'general welfare' and 'commerce' clauses and by various amendments of the Constitution."
"By an ill-advised constitutional amendment (the 18th for graduated income tax), which empowers Congress to confiscate all of the income from private property and all of the fruits of individual citizens' labors, without limitation."

"By judicial decisions of questionable jurisdiction rationalized by the so-called 'New Social Doctrine.'"
"By abdication by Congress of its constitutional authorities and responsibilities in favor of an all-powerful chief executive."
"And, by bribery of the sov-

PREACHER OVERPAID

GEORGETOWN, Tex. (UPI)—Rev. Lively Brown said last week the community's dry weather might be the result of church members not "paying the preacher" and urged them to drop more in the collection plate.

The next Tuesday it rained. It also rained Wednesday and Thursday.
On Friday lightning struck the church steeple.

foreign states with handouts from the federal government which are financed by tax extortions from the states' own citizens."

Aid to Candidates
In the 1960 elections ACA variously assisted 21 Senate candidates and 159 candidates for the House. ACA now is providing 18 professional organizers and campaign specialists to 11 senatorial and three congressional candidates. It will endorse and assist a total of 147 conservative candidates in this year's elections.

ACA is supported entirely by contributions by individuals. Such contributions are not tax-exempt and ACA cautions interested persons that contributions to ACA by tax-exempt foundations and by corporations would be unlawful. Copies of the ACA analysis of congressional votes may be obtained from ACA headquarters in Washington, D. C.

Top Golfers In Ontario Open

ONTARIO, Calif. (UPI)—The majority of the nation's top golfers swung into action in this Southern California citrus belt community today in the first round of the 72-hole $27,500 Ontario Open.

Heading the field of 136 touring pros in the second annual Ontario Open over the par 71, 6,600-yard Whispering Lakes course was Gene Littler, enjoying the greatest money-winning season of his career.

With earnings of $54,590.83, the San Diego, Calif., pro is second only to the peerless Arnold Palmer in earnings this year. Palmer, who has amassed $81,448.33, is skipping the fall Western tour.

Most of the money-winners in last week's $40,000 Bakersfield Open, excluding the top-finishing Billy Casper, were on hand for the four-day Ontario Open.

Littler's chief opposition was expected from George Bayer, Phil Rodgers, Bob Goalby, Tony Lema and several youngsters who have done well on the fall swing.

Lema was ranked among the hottest golfers currently in action after having won the Sahara Open at Las Vegas, Nev., and finished second in the Seattle and Bakersfield tourneys.

Rodgers, although out of the Florida A & M Still No. One In Small Colleges

NEW YORK (UPI)—Fresno State, rebounding from a loss to Abilene Christian, moved up to third place behind Southern Mississippi and Florida A&M today in the weekly United Press International board of coaches small college football ratings.

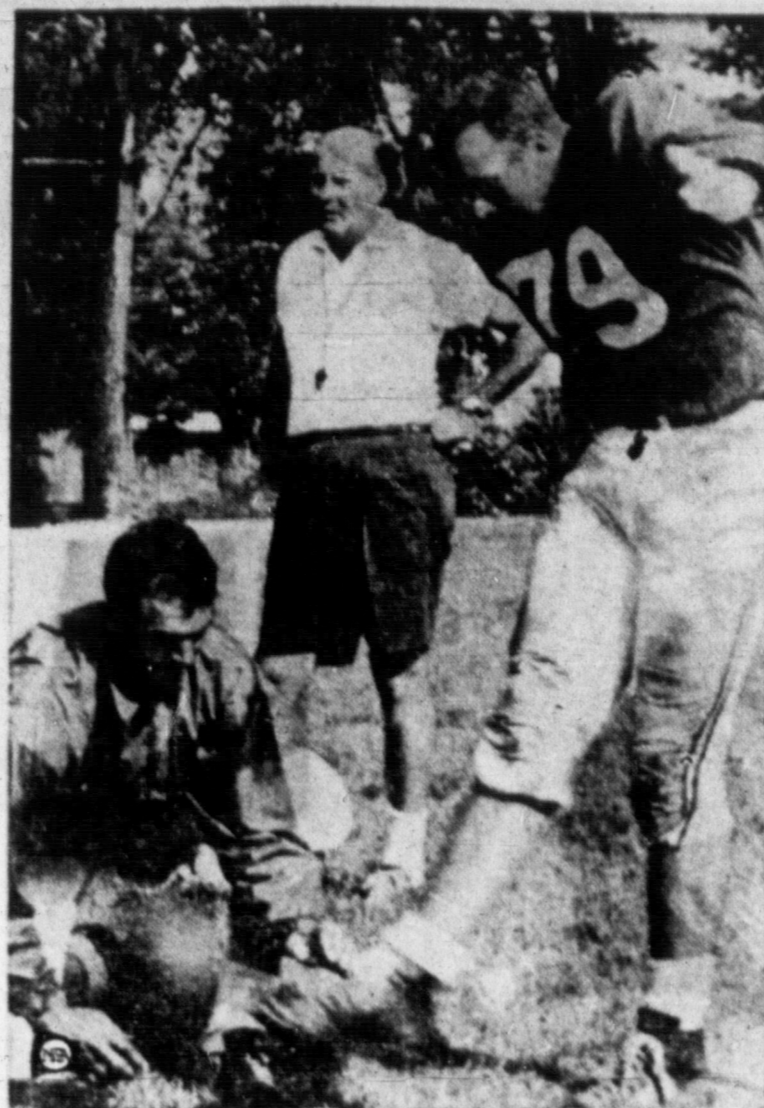

For the third straight week of the 1962 season, Florida A&M, unbeaten in its last 11 games carrying back to the 1961 season, topped the UPI ratings, drawing 17 first-place votes this week from the 35-coach board.

Southern Mississippi, beaten by major school Memphis State, 8-6, last Saturday, remained second but lost ground in its bid to overtake Florida A&M. Fresno State, meanwhile, fourth a week ago after losing to Abilene Christian, rebounded with a 51-6 rout of California Poly of San Luis Obispo to advance to third place.

With points distributed on a basis of 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1, for votes from first through 10th, Florida A&M had 274 points, Southern Mississippi had 223 and Fresno State had 189. Southern Mississippi was the top pick of six coaches while Fresno State was named No. 1 by four others. Behind Fresno State came Northern Illinois, Southeastern Louisiana, Central Oklahoma, Delaware, Southern Illinois, Lenoir-Rhyne and Pittsburg (Kan.), the defending champion.

Hillsdale, which lost a 13-6 decision to Southern Illinois for its first defeat of the season following four victories, slipped from fifth to 12th, while Humboldt State, its game with Sacramento State last Saturday washed out by the West Coast storm, dropped from eighth to 11th.

Behind Hillsdale in the second 10 were Montana State, Arkansas State, Northeast Missouri, Lamar Tech, Arizona State (Flagstaff), Tufts, Texas A&I and California Poly of Pomona.

Bucks Host Dalhart In Top Area Action

District 1-AA Championship will probably be at stake tomorrow night in White Deer as the Bucks host Dalhart in the top game of the area.

The Bucks, 3-3 for the season, have to stop Dalhart, 5-1, in order to stay in contention for the championship. A victory by the Wolves would virtually mean the championship to the Dalhart school.

The Wolves only loss was at the hands of undefeated Perryton of Class AAA. Dalhart is rated No. 8 in state rankings.

Pirates, Canadian

The Pirates of Lefors host Canadian in a game slated for tomorrow night. The Pirates are favored to down the Wildcats. The rivalry between the two schools is a long standing one. Canadian has won two and lost three this year. Lefors record is 3-1. The Pirates played Stinnett to 0-0 standoff for the tie.

In its Homecoming game, Mobeetie hosts Miami in an eight-man football contest. Darrowett plays booker in another eight-man football struggle.

Perryton Idle

Unbeaten Perryton is idle this week. Last week Perryton roared by Spearman, 68-16. Next game will be for the Rangers is against Littlefield in district play.

Panhandle is expected to bounce back after losing to White Deer, 26-6, against Sanford-Fritch. In another area game, McLean tries out Clarendon. The game will be played in Clarendon. Wheeler plays Follett, there. The Groom Tigers have an open date this week.

Griffith Leaves New Boxing Title

VIENNA (UPI)—Welterweight champion Emile Griffith left a new synthetic boxing title behind him in Vienna today before flying back to the United States for an almost certain defense of his welter crown at Las Vegas, Nev., Dec. 8.

Griffith quickly abandoned the Austrian version of the new junior middleweight (154-pound) world title that he won in Vienna Wednesday night by outpointing Teddy Wright of Detroit.

On Monday, Griffith will meet promoter Mel Greb of Las Vegas in New York and probably sign for the Dec. 8 defense against Jorge Fernandez of Argentina, although Luis Rodriguez has been getting some challenger's consideration.

Dumas, Borger Make Top Ten Demons In No. 1 Spot With Bulldogs Third

By ED NIT UPI Sports Writer

Dumas replaced Brownwood as Class AAA's No. 1 team, while Wichita Falls, Denver City and New London held firmly to their respective top spots in the wake of another reshuffling of the United Press International's TOP TEN Texas schoolboy football ratings.

Dumas, the defending state champion, whose only loss has been 13-0 to high-ranked Class AAAA Borger, whipped up a 60-6 victory over Muleshoe last week while top-ranked Brownwood had to strain for a 14-0 defeat of Weatherford.

Wichita Falls tripped previously undefeated Lawton, Okla. 22-6 for the AAEA champions' fifth in a row. Denver City, the pre-season AA favorite, was idle, while New London enhanced its Class A top tag by whipping Judson 46-12.

New Faces Appear

There were some new names among the TOP TEN in all but the AAA division - Abilene High and Waco High claiming 9th and 10th spots in AAAA. Lamar Consolidated moving into AAA's No. 9 spot, and Big Lake, Pearland and Sunray showing up for the first time in Class A's select group in the Nos. 4, 7 and 10 spots.

Galena Park and Beaumont South Park departed to make room for the new AAAA arrivals: Lamesa bowed out of the AAA ranks, and Pettus, Wink and Early lost their status symbols in Class A. All were beaten, except for Galena Park which was tied by Houston Bellaire.

Port Arthur held onto the No. 2 spot in AAAA by beating Corpus Christi Ray 28-21. Borger moved up to No. 3 with a 14-6 defeat of Amarillo Tascosa. Denison climbed to No. 4 with a 42-8 walloping of Denton. Spring Branch slid from 3rd to 5th with a 14-12 victory over Victoria. Dallas Samuell climbed to 6th by beating Dallas Adams 14-0. Pasadena dropped a notch to 7th despite a 36-6 defeat of Houston Smiley and Harlandale edged upward 8th by cutting down previously unbeaten San Antonio MacArthur 38-0.

Abilene and Waco, both one-time losers, continued their surge back by beating Odessa Permian 28-6 and Austin S.F. Austin 30-8.

Two Teams Advance In AAA, Nacogdoches and Graham each moved up a notch to 3rd and 4th by beating Henderson 38-0 and Sweetwater 26-8. Orange dropped from 3rd to 5th with a 19-0 win over Port Neches. McKinney, San Benito and Bay City also moved up one notch each to 6th, 7th and 8th as McKinney trounced Paris 28-0 and the other two were idle. Angleton edged 20-19 by Port Lavaca, slid from 6th to 10th.

In AA, Jacksboro, Stamford, Bellville and Hamlin rounded out the top five behind Denver City as a week ago, but Sweeny moved from 8th to 6th by beating 7th ranked Pathos (which skidded to 10th). West killed to 7th by beating McGregor 13-6. Dalhart to 8th with a 19-18 win over Tucumcari. N.M. Winters slid from 6th to 9th while idle.

Rotan hung onto the No. 2 spot in A behind New London, while Big Lake bounced into 4th with a 28-6 romp past AA Stanton. Rosebud and Baird moved up to 5th and 6th as Rosebud beat Franklin 42-0 and Baird was idle. Pearland was recognized for its state's highest scoring average of 42.4-point average although idle last week, and Bloomington and Chillicothe held onto their 8th and 9th spots.

This week's schedule has two games matching rated teams—Bay City and Lamar Consolidated in AAA and Stamford and Hamlin in AA.

Harvesters Meet Rival Amarillo

One of the Panhandle's oldest football rivalries will break out anew as both Pampa and Amarillo High will come out firing with both guns smoking in a heated duel this Friday night. Game time is 7:30 in Dick Bivins Stadium, Amarillo.

Pampa's opponent, the Sandies, are defense minded and have allowed 30 points in four games, including 20 points surrendered to mighty Wichita Falls.

Amarillo High's backfield is not noted for speed, but has one of the hardest running corps of runners in the district. Probable starters in the Amarillo backfield are Gilbert Coates (175) or Mike Mullins in the quarterback slot with John Vachon (165) and Jimmy Dean (175) at halfbacks. Fullbacks for the Sandies is Charles Ansley at 155.

The Sandies have a season record of 2-2 and are still smouldering from the 15-14 upset suffered at the hands of Pampa last year in the final minute of action.

Pampa's Kenny Hebert impressed the entire district last year as a definite threat to go all the way as he scampered eighty yards on a kick return and passed for the extra points to upset Amarillo.

Pampa's Friday night opponent has beaten Odessa, 6-0, and Plainview, 48-0, and have lost to Wichita Falls, 20-0, and Ft. Worth Paschal, 10-8.

Coach Otis Holladay plans to start the same boys as started against Monterey last week. In the backfield for Pampa will be Don Aryes at quarterback; Kenny Hebert at tailback; Randy Matson at fullback; and Jerry Glover at wingback.

Doug Locke will be out with an injury and Glenn McCathern is slated to take over his guard position, with Carl Clark in the other guard slot. Other starting linemen are ends Ricky Stewart and Howard Reed; tackles Shaun Hills and John Brown at center.

Burl Bartlett, head coach at Dumas last year, is the head mentor at Amarillo High this year.

American Paradox

Surely we are a people afflicted with paradoxical thinking. One of the great mysteries relates to the manner in which Americans continue to summon up from deep recesses within themselves, trust in their powerful political system.

This state has involved them, a fearful people, in at least half a score of wars since it got started. It has run up a debt on them so enormous that it will probably never be paid. It is wasting their substance in riotous living, excesses and foreign handouts. It impairs their ability to look after themselves. It practices deception on a large way, indoctrinates their youth, involves them in disputes which are without meaning to the future of the nation.

Yet, in spite of these and other major wrongs, the American people trust their state. But a second mystery looms even more large. The American people do not trust their magnificent economic system. This system, based upon private ownership of property and the private management of the tools and instruments of production, has produced the finest and most plentiful way of life which ever blessed any people on the face of the earth.

This same capitalistic system has put clothes on their backs, fed in their larders, houses on their lots, cars on their streets, and provided millions upon millions of jobs wherein most persons live only meagerly.

Nor has the system been content with this. It has, instead, created ever more labor-saving tools that the back-breaking drudgery of housewife and laborer is relegated to the past. Power machinery now does all but a fraction of the heavy work. And by a very few people in this country and do not enjoy standards of living immensely more gratifying than the standards of living enjoyed only a few hundred years ago by the most powerful monarchs on earth.

Louis XIV of France, "the sun king," couldn't begin to enjoy life the way an hourly rated worker enjoys it in his five-room unglow. The magnificence of Henry VIII of England is paled into insignificance by the splendors rolled out by the average teacher, doctor, preacher, or lawyer. But as our economic system has been cutting down on our hours and making life far more enjoyable, we have not learned to trust it. We are fearful that some member of the economy may happen to make a dollar profit. And, paradox of all paradoxes, we rush to the government and demand that it punish any individual in the market place who may conceivably have charged us more than we think he should.

In other words, we don't know what side of the bread the butter is on. We think our advantages in this country stem from our government. They do not. They come from our economic system. We think that our disadvantages stem from greedy, grasping capitalists. They do not. They arise from the greed and avarice of politicians, ensconced in office on the public payroll. Never were there a people who were more thoroughly confused as to the manner and matter of their own lives.

And today, when the threat of communism confronts us, the major concern of the man on the street seems to be to make the federal government stronger. Apparently, he doesn't yet understand that communism is not out to attack our government but rather is out to destroy our economic system. And in this aim, our government offers full cooperation for it readily aligns itself with any and all policies, from whatever source, which may end in making the government stronger and the people weaker and less able to look after themselves.

This is the great paradox. We fear that which is not fearful. And we trust that which is never to be trusted. Small wonder that wise men have cautioned us from time to time that freedom will always perish when the state grows large. The state is, by its nature, the enemy of freedom. It cannot abide the voluntary choices of free individuals. It can only survive if it obtains an increasing amount of our money, our subservience, our spineless reliance on it.

Today, Americans do not seem to wish to carve fortunes and empires for themselves. Rather, they wish to be tended and looked after like a flock of sheep.

Education' Cost Rises

In the years between fiscal 1947 and 1963, federal government spending for "education" one of the nation's taxes, has increased 22-fold, says Tax Foundation, Inc. The extent of this spending is shown in the Foundation's new study, Growth of Federal Domestic Spending Programs, 1947-1963.

A Georgia used car dealer put on a "Good Old Days Value Sale," in which his cars were not only slashed to lowest prices, but as a sidebar he opened an old-fashioned grocery store on the lot and sold bread at 35 cents a loaf, a dozen eggs at 35 cents, and bacon at 20 cents a pound.

When the big-time college football teams make out-of-town trips these days, wonder do they lug along their own supply of drinking water? We recall that half a century ago Harvard's footballers never ventured to New Haven to play Yale, or Princeton to play the Tigers, or to other points without carrying large jugs of pure water from which the noble athletes were ordered to quaff exclusively. Not that they feared their home-town rivals would put poison in the water, but there was the thought a change of drinking water might affect an athlete in some minor degree. . . . Don't know whether things have changed since, but the then veteran editor of women's magazines, Anna Steese Richardson, once put it briefly this way: "American women's primary interest is to get a man—and if not to keep him, then to replace him with one more desirable." Is there any dissent from today's crop of editors of women's magazines? . . . 4. Until recently it was the first time one can remember having read that a locomotive engineer had been found guilty of drunken driving and causing a train wreck. The engineer at the throttle of a crack passenger train that was wrecked last spring when taking a curve at 87 m.p.h. was found to have been drinking beer prior to the accident.

Under the new bill, foreign income of American individuals and corporations becomes taxable when earned. An exemption is granted to an American company that manufactures and sells in one foreign country. But if it manufactures in one country, sells in others, income is taxable in the United States.

One reason given for the Treasury's promotion of the new tax policy is that all a taxable income should be treated alike, wherever earned. . . . Another reason is the desire to keep capital at home—to create more jobs, and production for export, instead of allowing American companies to manufacture under cheaper labor abroad and sell at lower prices.

A third reason given is the Treasury's major concern with improving United States balance-of-payments position. These are commendable principles, but if carrying them out curbs overseas investment or places American manufacturers at a disadvantage in competing for foreign markets, they may defeat their own purpose. This example is cited:

Representatives of 64 American companies formed a Committee for Export Expansion Through Subsidiaries Abroad—CEETSA—to defeat or modify these provisions of the tax bill after it passed the House. They registered as lobbyists. They paid no attention to the drive of other business groups for a general tax reduction. They concentrated on maintaining their competitive position overseas.

They didn't get to first base.

Tax Reform Bill—Boon Or Bane? By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA) — One section of the new tax reform bill as it emerged from Senate-House conference is being looked at critically in the belief that it may create more new problems for the government than it will solve old ones.

This is the part that deals with Treasury department's effort to close foreign tax havens. The villain here—the horrible example cited most frequently, to win support for the administration bill—is the Hollywood movie star who hides assets abroad to avoid United States taxes.

The new bill may stop this practice all right. But it may also put curbs on American companies now operating subsidiaries abroad, and discourage new ones.

If this is the outcome, the government may be sabotaging another of its major objectives—encouragement of private United States investment abroad to ease the foreign aid burden and contribute to development of new nations.

The old law—passed in 1913 amended in 1918—provides that American companies with foreign income do not pay United States taxes on it until it is brought home. Under this practice, American companies operating abroad plowed much of their foreign earnings into expanding overseas operations.

Under the new bill, foreign income of American individuals and corporations becomes taxable when earned. An exemption is granted to an American company that manufactures and sells in one foreign country. But if it manufactures in one country, sells in others, income is taxable in the United States.

One reason given for the Treasury's promotion of the new tax policy is that all a taxable income should be treated alike, wherever earned. . . . Another reason is the desire to keep capital at home—to create more jobs, and production for export, instead of allowing American companies to manufacture under cheaper labor abroad and sell at lower prices.

A third reason given is the Treasury's major concern with improving United States balance-of-payments position. These are commendable principles, but if carrying them out curbs overseas investment or places American manufacturers at a disadvantage in competing for foreign markets, they may defeat their own purpose. This example is cited:

The American Way

STEEL FINALLY FIGHTS BACK By TOM ANDERSON EDITOR'S NOTE: Thos. J. Anderson, Publisher of Farm and Ranch and five other farm publications, is the most-quoted farm editor in America.

To the Steel Executives "in contempt of Congress: Dear Fatcats: Your guts are showing, finally. Last year blue steel turned pale yellow when King John issued his edict. Have you decided it's better to go down fighting? You are out of character, and so congratulations!

You are in contempt of Kefauver—just as millions of Tennesseans have been for years. Kefauver has kept getting elected in Tennessee because he and the people have so much in common; they expect so little of each other. Millions of good patriotic Americans have long been in contempt of the majority of Congressmen and Senators. Most of them are dedicated men—dedicated to staying there, regardless.

Politics Naturally that snatching phony, Kowfeyer, got his Anti-Monopoly Subcommittee into the act. Kefauver's hobby—in public, that is—is to expose you wicked price-fixing and bid-rigging Big Businessmen. He wouldn't dare tackle Hoffa or Reuther, who are much worse menaces, of course, than even the worst of you. And that's going some. Attacking Big Business gets votes. Attacking union racketeering gets political oblivion in some areas.

The New Frontier, the most diabolical monopoly in the history of this country, is awfully worried about business monopolies. Union gangster Hoffa is now using every means at his command to extend his dictatorship to all forms of transportation. If he is successful, he will be able to paralyze the nation at any moment, by telephone. The "national interest" that the politicians so piously proclaim demands that unions be put under the same anti-trust and monopoly laws as Business. Maybe the unions can be put under control, if you can resurrect the courage and character to refuse to give in to their outrageous demands. If industry won't or can't stop the unbridled growth of union monopoly, then the people must rise up and stop it.

Don't Need Unions Following the Russian Revolution, Lenin told Communist agents throughout the world that their easiest way to take over all countries was through labor unions. If you Big Businessmen continue to buy union peace piecemeal by compromising the individual freedom of your employees at every "bargaining table" in order to maintain peace and profits, you can prove Lenin wrong. You can most easily deliver us to the collectivists. Unions have the power to break a company while its competitors—and anti-capitalists—rejoice.

You fishy-eyed fatcats with your fossilized hearts figure that you'll continue to preside over your seas of dead faces even if King John socializes the nation. Somebody has to run the Steel mills regardless, doesn't somebody?

Price Control Tennessee's junior demagog, Senator Gore, proposes a plan to subject Steel to regulations similar to that now imposed on the rates of inter-state public utilities. Senator Gore is determined to make the steel industry, and eventually all other big industry, divulge and make public an itemized cost on all items manufactured. This is so the federal government can get into the price-control business. The New Frontier plans price-control of all commodities, including labor. Price control is people control. And people control is the National Purpose of the power-mad New Frontiersmen.

So, welcome to the fight, fatcats. At last. With your help, maybe we little capitalists can yet save our country from Socialism, insolvency and surrender. There are just two things we need to do the job: morality and courage. Glad to know you have some of both left. Freedom and morality are one ball of wax.

Sincerely, Tom Anderson

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.) Question No. 27: (A) "Could you please state where an authentic frameable copy of our United States Constitution could be obtained?"

In the first place, we do not know what Constitution the question is talking about: The original Constitution before any amendments, or the Constitution with all the amendments. The amendments have practically changed the whole Constitution, and the interpretation of the Supreme Court has made it provide a welfare state, socialistic government.

A copy of the Constitution of the United States and the Declaration of Independence can be obtained from Doubleday & Company, Inc., Garden City, New York for $1, or probably from any bookstore.

The real original spirit of the Constitution is the Declaration of Independence, but the Constitution departed from the spirit of the Declaration and gave the government the power to tax, which is the power to destroy. The Declaration of Independence didn't give any such power.

(B) "Is economic leveling constitutional?" Not if the Declaration of Independence is the spirit of the original Constitution. But with the amendments, especially the 16th, and the interpretation of the Supreme Court in the last few decades, the government has a right to take everything from those who have, and distribute it equally as it wants to.

All governments eventually repudiate their obligations, and the United States is certainly doing that at a rapid rate by making the dollar of less and less value and robbing everybody who has a life insurance policy or a bond.

We would say that leveling is constitutional if the amendments are included, which changed the spirit of the Constitution, but not constitutional if the original Constitution before any amendments were added is regarded as "The Constitution."

No one really knows what the Constitution means until the Supreme Court hands down, its interpretations which change from year to year. So no wonder the lawyers cannot tell whether this or that is constitutional. Economic leveling is certainly a violation of the Declaration of Independence. And as one Supreme Court judge said years ago, to properly interpret the Constitution of the United States, you must go back to the Declaration of Independence, which was the spirit of the Constitution.

Smallest Cotton Acreage In History For Next Year

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The 1963 cotton crop will be grown on the smallest acreage in history unless Congress approves a cotton program permitting larger land use.

The Agriculture Department Monday set the 1963 national acreage allotment at 16 million acres. This compares with an allotment of 18,101,718 acres for the 1962 crop.

The department made no disposition of the 310,000 acres held as a national acreage reserve to be used as needed for establishment of minimum farm allotments. Officials said that when the reserve acreage is allocated, the total national allotment will be about 10 per cent under that of 1962.

Officials held out hope that the final allotment for 1963 would be larger than now indicated. An increase will depend upon adoption of new legislation early in the next session of Congress. To be effective, the legislation must be approved by the middle of February.

President Kennedy has announced he will recommend legislation to remove the inequity in the present two-price cotton system. Such legislation would be designed to increase the domestic use of U. S. cotton and may also include other provisions which would permit increases in the acreage to be planted.

The legislation probably would revolve around the export subsidy and a subsidy to domestic mills, while maintaining an adequate support price for producers.

The department established the 16 million acre allotment because, under farm law relating to supply-demand, that was all it could do. The indicated production for 1962 exceeds estimated consumption by 1.2 million bales. This will raise the carryover next Aug. 1 to 8.7 million bales, well over a normal supply.

The department estimated that 16 million acres next year would produce enough cotton to meet consumption and keep the carryover to 8.7 million bales on Aug. 1, 1964.

'Problem Talker' Creates A Big Telephone Bill

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — busybodies who can't let the phone alone endear themselves to AT&T — especially when talking long distance.

But a problem solver figures the big talkers have telephitis. They disrupt either their day or budget by talking too much.

The problem sleuth, Dr. Donald Curtis, connects telephitis with insecurity, lack of organization and the "butterfly mind."

He says the trouble yields to treatment combining order, purpose and definition of life.

Dr. Curtis is director of Science of Mind Church of Religious Science in Los Angeles, Calif.

He touches on telephitis — and a hundred other problems, including war — in a new book: "Human Problems and How to Solve Them."

The book is based on the case histories of thousands of persons Dr. Curtis says he has counseled and helped. In it, he maps the escape route for those beset by anxiety and defeat.

Most particular personal problems, as he sees them, stem from fear, hostility, inferiority, guilt.

Fatigue, another contemporary problem, stems partly from resistance, boredom and overloads, as Dr. Curtis figures it. The Curtis RX for fatigue: ease, enthusiasm, cooperation.

If your problem is falling down in the exercise department, it probably means you can't organize, reject yourself and have a lack of interest.

To straighten this problem, the expert recommends order, self-respect, interest.

The job of the counselor or practitioner, he's found, is to help the troubled find an inner tranquility and renewed self-respect. In this frame of mind, he's observed that most persons can begin to attack and conquer specific problems.

A graduate of Northwestern University, Dr. Curtis formerly taught at Allegheny College and Duquesne University.

CURE FOR SNORING

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI)—The kite medical association suggested Tuesday that snorers tie a scarf under the jaw and over the top of the head before going to bed.

Snoring, it explained, results from the jaw relaxing and the mouth falling open.

COURAGE VS. INFLUENCE

Do you want a man with the courage to speak up for you in Congress... or do you want a man who has publicly admitted he fears to speak up on the floor of the House because of the influence he might lose? Jack Seale will not yield to New Frontier pressures... He has the courage to speak up FOR a sensible farm program... FOR a firm foreign policy... FOR a balanced budget and a sound dollar... and FOR election law reforms.

THE AMOEBA AND HE—What effect will the weightlessness of space have on the cells of the human body? To try to find out, microbiologist Ramon McKinney peered through a microscope at a tiny, single-celled amoeba during brief periods of weightlessness attained by an airplane flying a special trajectory. Above, the Chance Vought Astronautics scientist straddles the aluminum and foam rubber apparatus which held the microscope as it floats inside the plane's cabin. Result: No change in the amoeba's behavior.
