Lyons stated the new by-laws and charter will be ready for presentation to the general membership within the next few days.

The announcement followed by two days, final passage by the Pampa City Commission of an ordinance abolishing the Board of City Development, which had been a tax-supported group.

The Chamber now will go under a system of voluntary support by its members.

It was also announced today that the annual installation dinner for new officers and directors will be held in the Coronado Inn Tuesday night, Oct. 23.

The annual membership banquet of the Chamber will be held in the Robert E. Lee Jr. High School cafeteria on the night of Thursday, Oct. 25. The new officers will take over their posts at that time.

Directors: E. L. Green, Johnny Watson, Floyd Watson, Aubrey Steele, Dick Evans, Harold Barrett, Tom Snow, James Evans, George Newberry.

Loyal Davies, Joe Donaldson, H. V. Wilks, F. E. Imel, Jerald Sims, Clyde Carruth, Howard Buckingham, Ralph McKinny, and J. C. Roberts.

Twelve Indicted In Scandal

GILMER, Tex. (UPI)—Twelve men were indicted Wednesday for bribery and theft in the first Texas criminal indictments resulting from an intensive investigation into slanted oil well drilling.

The indictments returned by the Upshur County grand jury were the first so far by state or county officials. On Sept. 15, a Tyler federal grand jury brought a 109-count indictment against J. C. and W. V. Stroud, Henderson brothers. They were accused of oil rustling in the East Texas field, the world's largest.

Texas Atty. Gen. Will Wilson provided the grand jury in Gilmer the information gathered in the investigation of illegal drilling of oil in four Texas oil fields. He was joined by assistants David McAngus and Gilbert Hargrave, and a special counsel for Wilson's office, Frank Maloney.

Announce Indictments

Wilson and Dist. Atty. Ott Duncan of Upshur County announced the indictments.

"This is a most important series of indictments," Wilson said. "All Upshur County officials, and particularly Duncan, have cooperated 100 per cent."

Wilson said that he will go to Gregg County today to confer with Dist. Atty. Ralph Prince about the possibility of returning another series of indictments there.

Wilson said the investigation has reached its peak. He said it will move quickly with "rapid development of the cases."

Charges Specified

Those named by the Upshur County grand jury and the charges against them included:

E. W. Scates of Longview and L. D. Murphy, alias Robert V. Jobe of Kilgore, for bribery; E. W. Scates and L. D. Murphy alias Robert V. Jobe for conspiracy to commit bribery; L. D. Murphy, E. W. Scates, J. W. Tyner of Tyler, and H. J. Bissell, W. C. Deutsch, W. A. Hewell and F. C. Deutsch, all of Longview, for conspiracy to commit theft; Robert W. Mathews of Houston for acceptance of a bribe; W. E. Mitchell of Gladewater and Arthur Vaughn of Longview for conspiracy to commit theft; Pete Davis of Gladewater for general theft, and C. S. Starr of Longview for general theft.

Murphy is a former district engineer for the Railroad Commission in East Texas. He and Nelson Decker, another former employe, were fired by the commission.

Schirra's Textbook-Perfect Six Orbits Hailed By US Scientists

'A Wonderful Flight' Says New Space Hero

By ROBERT C. MILLER
United Press International

ABOARD USS KEARSARGE (UPI) — Jubilant U.S. space officials said today astronaut Walter M. Schirra's textbook-perfect six orbits of the earth disclosed new fuel-saving methods that will spur the nation's drive toward the moon.

President Kennedy called Schirra's feat an "historic exploration into space."

The 39-year-old naval commander underwent physical examinations and was interviewed by space scientists aboard this aircraft carrier that plucked him from the Pacific Wednesday after he completed America's longest and highest space flight with a bullseye splashdown 275 miles northeast of Midway Island.

"I am fine, just fine," he said. "It was a wonderful flight."

From 8:15 a.m., EDT, at Cape Canaveral when an Atlas missile rocketed him into space until 5:28 p.m., EDT, when his Sigma 7 Mercury capsule splashed into the Pacific, Schirra traveled 160,000 miles at altitudes up to 176 miles and a speed of 17,560 miles per hour.

Corrects Minor Problem

For a brief time during that 9 hours and 13 minutes Schirra encountered a minor problem when his space suit's heating system became too warm. This condition was subsequently corrected.

But Walter B. Williams, operations officer of Mercury project, said in Cape Canaveral that the flight, "as far as I'm concerned, was perfect."

Both he and Schirra's fellow astronaut, Donald Slayton, said a highly significant result was Schirra's ability to let his two-ton bell-shaped capsule drift uncontrolled through a full orbit and one-half without difficulty.

He thereby conserved control fuel and as a result had 80 per cent of the fuel left in the manual and automatic control systems when he was in position to fire the braking rockets at the conclusion of his flight.

Another favorable result was the fact that Schirra could align his capsule easily after drifting for a long period. He did this by using reference marks on the capsule window. This will permit removal of the periscope, Williams said, to make room for 75 pounds of additional oxygen and fuel for a future U.S. space venture, the 24-hour orbital flight.

In Early 1963

The 24-hour flight is planned for early next year. After that would come two-man orbits with the Gemini space capsule, followed by a landing on the moon before 1970.

Another of Schirra's fellow astronauts, John Glenn, said Schirra "could possibly have gone for six more orbits with more fuel and oxygen." Glenn manned a Mercury tracking station at Pt. Arguello, Calif.

Schirra was undergoing extensive physical examination and receiving the technical aspects of his flight with space officials as the Kearsarge returned him to Honolulu, where it will arrive Saturday. From there he will be flown to Houston, Tex., for a welcome-home parade after which he will be presented a Distinguished Service Award.

The Kearsarge steamed toward Midway Island where the Sigma 7 space craft was to be transferred to a tug that will take it ashore. A C-130 transport plane will deliver it to Cape Canaveral.

In Good Shape

Doctors said their preliminary examination showed that Schirra suffered no ill effects. Nor did the nearly nine hours of weightlessness cause him any disorientation or vertigo.

The compact 5-foot-10, 170-pounder received the congratulations of President Kennedy in a brief telephone conversation from the Kearsarge shortly after he was taken aboard.

Schirra was in "exuberant spirits" (See SCHIRRA, Page 10)

Injunction For Dock Strike Is Asked By JFK

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy ordered the Justice Department today to seek a federal court injunction under the Taft-Hartley law to halt a strike of longshoremen on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts.

The President directed Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy to request the back-to-work order after receiving a report from a three member board of inquiry named Monday to look into the crippling strike.

Under the federal court order, the strikers would be ordered back to work for an 80-day "cooling-off" period.

The board report said it was clear that the International Longshoremen Association and the maritime industries "have not engaged in productive bargaining over the subjects which separate them."

The board found that the shutdown of major ports from Maine to Texas "creates an intolerable condition which necessitates resumption of work and an early settlement of the dispute."

Members of the International Longshoremen's Association walked off the piers in a dispute with the New York shipping Association.

The association, which represents 145 shipping lines and stevedoring firms, was reported to have offered the ILA a $22 million contract package providing a 9-cent an hour wage increase in each of the next three years.

With it, the NYSA demanded negotiations on "increased productivity."

The ILA contends that the "increased productivity" would give the employers a profit of more than $85 million. Union officials have scoffed at NYSA estimates that the ILA demands would cost shippers $154 million.

Other maritime unions have observed the picket lines of the striking ILA.

To Avert Crowd On Campus ...

Mississippi's Game Is Switched To Jackson

OXFORD, Miss. (UPI)—University of Mississippi officials, fearful of having a football crowd on the campus during a time of racial tension, said today the Saturday game with the University of Houston would be played instead at Jackson.

The announcement, confirmed by Memorial Stadium officials in Jackson, capped a confusing series of announcements and reports that first had reported the game would be played here, then named Houston as the site.

The team had been alerted early today to stand by for a trip to Houston.

Walker Remains In High Spirits At Institution

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (UPI) — Former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker remained in high spirits today while his attorneys fought a legal battle to end his "political" confinement at a federal institution here.

He was held on a federal court order for psychiatric examination.

A writ of habeas corpus petition was filed in U. S. district court here Wednesday but Judge John Oliver delayed setting a hearing.

Walker's widowed mother, Mrs. George P. Walker of Center Point, Tex., said she had been with her son and that he was in "good spirits."

When asked if her son acted strangely or appeared changed mentally, she replied courteously but firmly in deep Southern tones:

"No, that I'll verify."

Clyde Watts of Oklahoma City, Walker's attorney, said the imprisoned ex-officer was "in complete possession of all mental faculties."

Mrs. Walker said that Walker had not undergone any psychiatric treatment and it was her understanding that his permission was required before such action could be taken.

Rep. Bruce Alger, R-Tex., charged in Washington that Walker was being denied his constitutional rights and was part of "what appears to be a deliberate conspiracy."

Inquiries To Open On Blast; 21 Were Killed

NEW YORK (UPI)—Inquiries open today into the devastating explosion of a boiler at noon Wednesday in a New York telephone company office. Twenty-one persons died in the blast and at least 100 others were injured.

The 15-foot-long boiler burst with a terrifying roar at 12:07 p.m. and ricocheted through a basement wall into an adjacent cafeteria filled with women.

"It killed everything in its path," said Fire Commissioner Edward Thompson. "It was like it was jet-propelled."

The blast toppled the two-story, block-square building into a smoking arena of terror. Screaming girls jumped or were blown out of windows. Others toppled through a 20-by-12-foot hole the boiler tore in the ceiling of the cafeteria as it rocketed through the room.

The announcement, confirmed by Memorial Stadium officials in Jackson, capped a confusing series of announcements and reports that first had reported the game would be played here, then named Houston as the site.

The team had been alerted early today to stand by for a trip to Houston.

U. S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy had been reported considering cancellation of the game altogether.

The announcement came as Negro James Meredith, local point of the unrest that broke out the bloody rioting Sunday night, was allowed to go to classes alone for the first time today. Up to now, the 29-year-old Negro has been accompanied by U. S. marshals and a truckload of troops.

Thornion Caine, 41, an unemployed laborer from Picayune, Miss., was taken into custody Wednesday when he tried to enter the 29-year-old Meredith's dormitory.

Makes TV Speech

Later, Gov. Ross R. Barnett made a television address from Jackson, the state capital, in which he described Oxford residents and Ole Miss students as "captives of an all-powerful federal government."

The governor, who still faces contempt charges for his role in trying to bar the Negro from the university, vowed to continue his opposition to Meredith's enrollment by "every legal means."

Two persons were killed and scores injured in bloody rioting last Sunday night which followed Meredith's admission to the campus.

Bond Election Talk Is Set For CoC Membership

Information dealing with Pampa's proposed $1.5 bond issue will be presented to the Chamber of Commerce at its monthly membership luncheon in Coronado Inn Monday, Oct. 15.

Gordon Lyons, chamber president, said today the luncheon program for the membership meeting will be supplied by the Pampa City Commission and will consist of a speaker who will explain the purposes of the street improvement and drainage system bond issue proposal.

An election on the improvement program has been set for Tuesday, Oct. 30.

Wayland Merriman, of the consultant engineering firm of Merriman and Barber, and City Harold Schmitzer appeared before the Council of Clubs at a meeting this forenoon in the City Club Room of City Hall to explain the bond issue proposal.

The proposed bond issue is based on a survey of highway and drainage needs conducted by Merriman and Barber at the request of the City Commission.

The City sent out letters to all civic clubs and various women's organizations asking that a speaker be allowed to appear before the groups to explain the proposed bond issue.

Several dates have been arranged for speakers to appear before women's organizations. The Morning Optimist Club has scheduled a speaker on the bond issue. City Manager Harold Schmitzer said.

The Downtown Kiwanis Club has informed the city manager its programs are worked up in advance and are filled until the first week in November and that it would be impossible to schedule a speaker on the bond issue unless one of the programs is cancelled out.

Bond issue speakers will appear before the American Business Women's Ass'n. at 7 p.m. next Tuesday in the dining room of Pampa Hotel, the Pampa Real Estate Board luncheon meeting Oct. 15 in Coronado Inn, and the Pampa Service League at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday, Oct. 23, in the City Commission Room of City Hall.

Arrangements for other meetings are in the process of arrangement, the city manager said.

"We will be happy to have a speaker appear before any group interested in what is being planned for Pampa's growth," Schmitzer said, "we want the taxpayers to be thoroughly informed so they can vote intelligently on the issue."

The proposed bond issue would provide the city's approximately $1.5 million share of the cost of improving Highways 152, 213 and U.S. 80 inside the city limits and the drainage system necessary thereto.

The State Highway Department will spend an additional $2-million to $2½-million on the project covered by the city bond issue.

At a recent meeting, Engineer Merriman pointed out that his firm drew the plans as requested by the City Commission to give Pampa improved access on the three major highways leading into the city.

The project will include the widening and necessary paving on Alcock St., W. and E. Brown St., and S. Cuyler and S. Barnes Sts. Added to this would be the storm sewers for necessary drainage of the overall project.

The Highway Committee of the Chamber of Commerce met this morning in chamber offices at City Hall to consider the City Commission's answers to a list of questions on the bond issue submitted by the chamber group. The list of questions and answers were published in yesterday's Pampa News.

Kiwanis Club To Be Represented At Convention

The Downtown Kiwanis Club of Pampa will be represented at the 1967 convention of the Texas-Oklahoma District of Kiwanis International in Oklahoma City, today through Saturday. Club President Dr. Weldon B. Adair announced yesterday. Hosts for the convention will be members of the Kiwanis clubs of Oklahoma City.

Local delegates to the convention will be Dr. Adair, Melvin T. Munn, Malcolm Douglass, Arthur Aftergut and Warren Hasse. They left for Oklahoma City this morning.

Martin T. Wiegand, a trustee of Kiwanis International, and Washington, D.C. businessman, will be a featured speaker at the three-day meeting at the Stratton-Oklahoma Hotel. Also on hand will be Edward C. Keele of Oklahoma City, a trustee of Kiwanis International, and O. Sam Cummings of Dallas, a former president of the international service organization.

Delegates from 224 clubs, representing nearly 18,000 business and professional leaders, will participate in the various sessions. Committee conferences, a discussion of plans for the coming year, consideration of successful community service work, and the election of officers will highlight the program. Dr. Adair said.

Presiding officer will be Jay Dee Fountain, of Lawton, Oklahoma, a member of the Northwest Lawton Club. He is governor of the Texas-Oklahoma Kiwanis District, and a Lawton building contractor.

Pampano To Host Wayland 'Party'

PLAINVIEW (Sp)—The event is a Stay-All-Day Party on Monday, Oct. 9. The guests are parents of students, and the place is Wayland Baptist College, Plainview.

Among those serving as hosts and hostesses for the annual Parents' Day gathering will be Royce Harnsberger, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Harnsberger, 1917 Christy, Pampa.

Going to classes will no doubt be more like a party to parents than to students, but the Waylanders are arranging for their guests to visit classes as well as to attend the chapel program which they have planned.

Also on the agenda is lunch in Slaughter Memorial Center, according to Douglas Clark, assistant professor of sociology, who is chairman of the Parents' Day Committee. Reservations are already being returned in response to the special letter of invitation to parents sent by President Owen.

"Party" plans following chapel at 11 a.m. call for a panel discussion where parents will have opportunity to become acquainted with administration and faculty members and to ask specific questions about student life and academic objectives at Wayland, which is observing its 15th year as a fully accredited senior college.

Capping off the day's events will be dedication services for Wayland's new Home Life Building at 2 p.m. Students and their parents will have a chance to attend a reception and to tour the two-story cream brick building following the dedication. Some $281,000 of the $300,000 cost of construction of this first unit was raised by members of the District Nine Woman's Missionary Union.

The iris, because of its delicate texture and sparkling hues, is named in honor of the Goddess of the Rainbow.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW

United Press International
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — I'll tell you what kind of a day it was Wednesday:
 All at the same time, one of my television sets was reporting that astronaut Wally Schirra soon would be picked up safely; another set was showing the Los Angeles Dodgers disgracing themselves nationally as they forced the National League pennant on San Francisco; and above the din, the lady to whom I am married was trying to hit me up for a loan.

Ope moral seemed to fit all these events: I refer to that fine old axiom: "It isn't how you play the game; it's whether you win or lose."
 Schirra and his cohorts played so well that his six-orbit flight was a breeze for a change for viewers and television reporters. It seems incredible to say that a comparatively trivial sports event such as the Dodger-Giant contest was more nerve-wracking; but happily this was virtually so as the space crew achieved such a high degree of efficiency that one almost tended to forget the implicit danger of every moment.

The long day's viewing into night also offered three new series for dedicated, and employed, video watchers: "Going My Way," "Our Man Higgins" and "The Eleventh Hour." And, as in the day's earlier events, the most notable effort dealt with matters celestial—in this case, ABC-TV's "Going My Way," with Gene Kelly and Lep G. Carroll as a couple of parish priests in Manhattan.

The hour-long comedy-drama, based on the Oscar-winning movie with Bing Crosby and Barry Fitzgerald, is by no means sectarian—but neither does it rob the gentlemen of the cloth of their often earthy flavor.

There was some corn and treacle in the first show — about collecting money to let Carroll visit Ireland — but it smacked of real sentiment and served to remind us there is other "realism" than punks and killing and hospitals. I had a fine time watching; it was gentle, and it was rowdy and boisterous with Kelly and the great Carroll doing jig at a party; the script was warm and neat; and there was a good twist about a cheap second-hand dealer insisting the elderly priest accept $500 he had saved in the vain hope of visiting his native land of Poland.

A showdown scene in which Carroll dissuades the stingy junkman from insisting was a honey. There was a healthy pride in this country; and, refreshingly, no one seemed ashamed or too sophisticated to show it. I hope "Going My Way" is a success. As critic Marya Mannes wrote in the latest Saturday Evening Post, it is time we stopped exalting jerks.
 ABC-TV's other entry, "Our Man Higgins," stars the delightful Stanley Holloway as an English butler inherited by an American family. You may remember hearing Holloway sing "With a Little Bit of Luck" in "My Fair Lady." In "Higgins," his task is to straighten out an obnoxious family.

No family was ever more obnoxious. But Holloway's grace and style are such that he had me smiling after a while. The show will ride entirely with him. He is not a male "Hazel" but more of Clifton Webb's old "Mr. Belyedere." It would be good to see Holloway make a go of it. Among other things, "Our Man Higgins," like "Going My Way," has a healthy respect for the theory that children are not equal to parents.

In NBC-TV's "The Eleventh Hour," Wendell Corey plays a psychiatrist who is also a lawyer, works in a hospital and is something of a private eye. That about covers it. The first story concerned an accused husband-killer. It was cheaply sensational, talky and pretentious. You have seen it all before, slightly altered. "The Eleventh Hour" was a long one.

Cribbing
 NEW YORK (UPI) — "Eighty per cent of today's married couples sleep in cribs," according to John W. Hubbell, vice president of a bedding manufacturing firm (Simmons).
 Hubbell said four of every five American couples sleep on a standard size double bed which is 34 inches wide, allowing each spouse 27 inches of sleeping space, or the width of a baby crib. He suggested beds up to 21 inches wider and five inches longer than standard double beds.

CORRIDORS IN THE CLOUDS—Under study by the Federal Aviation Agency is a system of terminal air corridors near major airports, where air traffic is heaviest. Artist's drawing gives concrete form to these invisible highways. Aircraft entering a terminal area would be segregated by their speeds and other performance capabilities and be guided down sloping "ramps" to the runways under positive control from the ground.

Prices For Farm Goods Up Slightly

AUSTIN (UPI)—Texas farmers got slightly higher prices for their goods in mid-September compared with a month earlier, the U.S. Department of Agriculture has reported.

The USDA said the all-product index as of Sept. 15 was 262 per cent of the 1910-1914 base years, compared with 261 per cent a month earlier.

However, the index is exactly at the same point it had reached a year earlier.
 The all-crop index declined 4 points in the month, to 237 per cent. This was 5 points below the mid-September level a year ago. Cotton at 39.9 cents a pound was about a penny lower than a year previously. Grain sorghum dropped 4 cents a hundred weight. Corn was about the same but oats were 3 cents per bushel above the previous month and hay was 50 cents per ton higher.
 Other categories with increased prices over the previous month were hogs, beef cattle, calves, sheep, lambs, milk and poultry and eggs.

 On the down side were prices for mohair.
 Don Gaspar de Portola, leader of a Spanish expedition to northern California in 1769, discovered the California redwood.

Bonny Beef Braid Fall Favorite In Fancy Food

As the days grow shorter and the fragrance of burning leaves permeates the air, a hearty hot meal should be put on the menu. And, you'll feel like spending more time in the kitchen as brisk weather sets in and the outdoor barbecue is put away. The baking that's been put off during the summer months once again becomes a pleasure and shows off your skill at making tender, flaky pastry. Beef stew, a favorite fall meal, is hearty but fancy in a latticework setting of pie dough made into a Bonny Beef Braid.

Homemakers who know that the proof of the pie is in the crust, insist that there is no finer than lard for producing extra flaky pastry. When you select the lard with high shortening power it is your assurance of melt-in-the-mouth tenderness in prize winning pies and fancy meat braids. The results will give you personal pride and give your family gastronomic delight. It's effortless and tasteless and serves all your baking and frying needs. Lard is easily kept on your cupboard shelf because it stays fresh without refrigeration. The handy markings on the carton do away with messy measuring. You simply slice off the amount needed.

The dough for the Bonny Beef Braid is rolled out to a rectangle measuring 20 by 14 inches. To keep the dough of uniform thickness lift the rolling pin at the edge of the rectangle. When the lengthwise sides of the rectangle are slit into strips and the beef stew spooned down the center, the strips are brought over the beef stew in latticework fashion to make a braid. Because the beef stew has been cooked the braid is placed in the oven just to lightly brown the crust.

- Yield: 4 servings

PASTRY:
 3 cups sifted flour
 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
 1/4 cup lard

FILLING:
 1 pound beef stew meat, cut into 1/2 inch cubes
 2 tablespoons lard
 1 teaspoon salt
 1/4 teaspoon garlic powder
 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 1/4 teaspoon paprika
 1 bay leaf
 1/4 cup sliced mushrooms
 2 cups water
 2 cups cubed potato
 1 cup sliced carrots
 2 tablespoons flour
 1/4 cup cold water
 Melt 2 tablespoons lard in a skillet. Add stew meat and brown well. Blend in salt, garlic powder, pepper, paprika, bay leaf, mushrooms and water. Cover and simmer over low heat about 2 hours. Stir in potato and carrots and cook until vegetables are tender. Mix together flour and water. Stir into stew and cook for about 5 minutes. Set aside while making pastry.

To make pastry, sift flour with salt into a bowl. Cut in lard, using a pastry blender or fork, until the mixture is the consistency of corn meal and small peas. Sprinkle cold water, a little at a time, over different parts of flour mixture. Toss together lightly with a fork. Place dough on waxed paper. Knead 3 times. Press gently with the paper into a ball. Let stand at room temperature for 15 to 20 minutes.

Using a floured pastry cloth and rolling pin, roll dough into a rectangle about 20 by 14 inches. Place dough on a baking sheet.

On each side of the rectangle, lengthwise, make 4 inch cuts in the dough, about 1 inch apart. Place beef filling down center of dough, on un-cut portion, leaving an inch of dough at each end. Beginning at one end, fold an inch of dough up over the filling. Bring one strip of dough from each side, criss-crossing strips in the center. Continue crossing dough lattice fashion. At other end of braid, fold one inch of dough up over filling and tuck strips underneath braid. Bake in a hot oven filling and tuck strips unminuted or until crust is brown. Serve hot.

The "How-To" of Hollandaise Sauce

Every woman who loves to cook should know how to make a good, smooth Hollandaise sauce that will enhance a variety of foods. Hollandaise sauce is especially delicious with fresh asparagus in the Spring, but it is equally compatible with other vegetables, and with eggs and fish. The goodness of this Hollandaise recipe comes from the resty flavoring of Tabasco, the liquid red pepper spice.

Many women steer away from making their own Hollandaise, but by following directions, you can whip up a gourmet sauce you'll be proud of. Tabasco gives it that mouth-watering touch, and since it is a liquid red pepper, it blends in easily with the other ingredients, leaving no unsightly specks to mar the sauce's smooth perfection.

Hollandaise Tabasco
 2 egg yolks
 2 tablespoons lemon juice
 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
 1/4 cup butter
 1/4 teaspoon sugar
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 1/4 teaspoon Tabasco
 1/2 cup butter
 Put egg yolks, lemon juice, mustard, sugar, salt and Tabasco into small heavy earthenware mixing bowl; mix well. Divide butter into 3 equal portions. Add one portion of butter to the egg mixture and place the bowl in a saucepan of hot water. Place over low heat and stir constantly until butter is melted. Add second portion of butter, and when this is melted, repeat with third portion, stirring constantly as butter melts and sauce thickens. Remove from heat. Yield: 1/2 cup.

If the can makers realize their 1962 sales goals, they will have a 5 per cent of the carbonated beverage market, which sells about $5.5 billion units annually, the publication said.

Conservatism Rebirth Is Urged By Rickenbacker

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Edward V. Rickenbacker, World War I flying hero and Eastern Air Lines board chairman, has called for a rebirth of conservatism in order to halt the nation's slide "down the wrong highway into communism."

Rickenbacker blasted "the socialist liberals" in a speech prepared for delivery at the national conference of United Press International editors and publishers.

He spoke at the second day of the annual meeting of news executives, who Monday, saw former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Gov. Edmund G. Brown clash in the only head-to-head meeting of their campaign for governor of California.

Rickenbacker said the Nov. 6 elections will decide whether this country will continue down the socialist road or hesitate.

"Because if the Republicans do not elect 35 to 40 conservative congressmen and two or three senators, but elect only half of that number," he said, "the New Frontiersmen will consider it a public mandate to multiply their spending and continue to develop a welfare and socialist state—the next thing to communism."

Leave United Nations
The onetime daredevil auto racer and fighter pilot urged that America take these steps:

"Get out of the United Nations, and regain control of our own foreign policy and national solvency until all members have paid up (their share of costs) in full."

Sever relations with Russia
"and all those so-called neutrals and hypocritical blackmailers such as Tito, Nehru, Sukarno, Nkrumah and others."

"Warn the world, time and again, that reaffirmation of the Monroe Doctrine will be backed up by the military strength of the United States."

Abolish "futile, wasteful so-called 'foreign aid.'"

The nearly 400 news executives exchanged ideas at panel discussions on news judgment and new developments in the newspaper industry.

Panel Discussions
Discussing how they "played" the news on a given day were Edward Kennedy, assistant publisher of the Monterey (Calif.) Peninsula Herald, chairman; Ralph Nicholson, publisher of the Dothan (Ala.) Eagle, panel host; and Dow Richardson, editor of the Kokomo (Ind.) Tribune; James Ottaway, publisher of Ottaway newspapers (N. Y., Conn., Pa.); Tony Hillerman, executive editor of the Santa Fe New-Mexican, and Nick Williams, editor of the Los Angeles Times.

E. S. Pulliam, assistant publisher of the Indianapolis Star and News, discussed new editorial techniques and said news reports "should be more accurate, more informative and easier to understand."

Cred W. Stein, editor and publisher of the Binghamton (N. Y.) Press, said that in order to attract top-flight editorial personnel, newspapers should cultivate an "atmosphere of idealism and enthusiasm and healthy skepticism."

The U. S. Air Force Academy opened July 11, 1955, with 306 cadets.

Washington Window

WASHINGTON WINDOW
By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) —Dear Gen. Eisenhower:

You should be first in line to buy J. Edgar Hoover's new book and be first to read it, too, if only to protect yourself against another embarrassment in defending the American way against the Communist system.

In one of your early presidential news conferences you told us about an incident when you were commanding NATO and were having a dish of tea or something with one of those Russian generals who also was a political commissar and very handy with words to boot.

Remember? This Russian Joe gave you a big sales talk on the Communist system and challenged you to reply in behalf of the American way. You told us that you couldn't do it or, anyway, that you felt that your argument was inadequate.

That is not surprising because a Communist political commissar must be thoroughly schooled in the basic arguments of his trade, as a West Point cadet, commits to memory the dreary passages of the IDR (infantry drill regulations).

Unfair Contest
Mighty few Americans could stand up to a Kremlin commissar and refute, point by point, the Russian Joe's arguments in behalf of Communism and in derogation of the United States. Oh, our guy would know right enough that ours was the best system, but his argument would not be organized.

Neither would our boy be likely to have the skill in debate and logic to detect and destroy the Russian arguments, based as they are on a series of false and phony premises.

Well, general, that's where J. Edgar Hoover's book comes in.

It is written for Americans just like you and me and your neighbors and mine. More than that, Hoover has written a book ideally suited to become the text for teaching American high school and college students what communism is about and where and how and why it is inferior to the American way.

For Young Americans
That is the most important attribute of Hoover's book, "A Study of Communism," that it can explain to young America why they should be willing to fight and die to keep communism out. It is more important that young America understand all about that than that you or I understand it, general.

You and I are too old to fight. But, the way things are going with the Commies swarming all over Cuba and likely to be collecting some mainland Latin American nations before long, the young American of the present may have some fighting and dying to do.

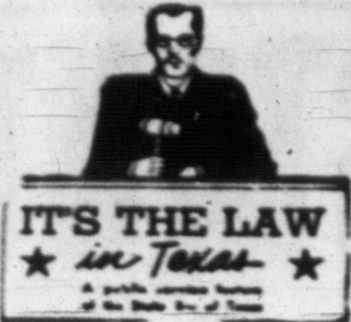

You would have liked that Russian Joe, general, if you had slugged him with the facts contained in Hoover's book. Of course it wasn't written then and you couldn't have been expected to know about it. But the book is published now by Holt, Rinehart and Winston, 203 pages, $2.95.

Does the Trick
CUDAHY, Wis. (UPI) — Mrs. Nellie Kresser, 46, rescued Edward Mroz, 14, from a sand hill cave in the other day in an effective, if unorthodox, manner.

She said she "slid down the hill on the seat of my pants in my Sunday clothes" for 80 feet to reach Edward, who was nearly buried in sand.

"I got bruises," Mrs. Kresser said.

BANKRUPTCY
In bygone days when a man got himself hopelessly into debt, the courts would jail him until he paid. Or, as in our colonial days a man became an "indentured" servant, and would come to America to work off his debt.

Neither jail nor servitude proved practical. A man in jail could not earn anything to pay his debts. It was drastic — something like the Siberian salt mines — to send a man to serve for years across the seas.

Through hard luck, illness, easy credit, impulse buying, or shifts in world affairs, men and women may find themselves hopelessly in debt.

Our bankruptcy laws aim to permit an honest but unlucky or weak debtor to turn over a new leaf. They allow him to file a voluntary petition in bankruptcy. He accounts for all of his property and turns it over for his creditors' benefit. The court sets up machinery to get as much of their money back as possible.

The court then adjudges the man a bankrupt. This means, with some exceptions, that the court will discharge him of his debts. Any income he gets after that time cannot be reached in court to pay his old debts.

Debtors may try to gain in ways not intended by the bankruptcy laws. If so, creditors may object. Besides, the courts may deal drastically with such debtors under our criminal laws.

Under the bankruptcy laws, a man is not required to surrender to his creditors certain items. In this State they usually include the family stove, refrigerator, radio, wearing apparel, working tools of one's trade and certain other

UPI Foreign News Analyst
In a command headquarters near the edge of Saigon last summer a South Vietnamese colonel used a pointer to locate on a military wall map the town of Ban Methout.

"Here," he said, "is where a year ago the Communist Viet Cong intended to cut South Viet Nam in two."

"Since the coming of the Americans that plan has been abandoned."

Ban Methout is a key road junction close to the Cambodian border and almost exactly midway between the rich rice-growing delta to the south and the 11th Parallel which divides South Viet Nam and Communist North Viet Nam.

The colonel explained that militarily the plan had been first to sever South Viet Nam at the midway point, then to bring pressure on the capital of Saigon from west, north and south, and finally to force upon South Viet Nam a Communist-style neutral government.

This week, President Ngo Dinh Diem of South Viet Nam announced that his troops had gone over to the offensive against the Communists.

Clear and Hold
It is an offensive of airborne thrusts in an operation called "clear and hold," meaning that it clears out pockets of Viet Cong resistance and then sends in administrators whose task is to educate the people and attempt to hold the land thus won.

In this sense, then, the South Vietnamese have gone over to the offensive and vast American aid, which includes thousands of American advisers, has upset the Communist timetable of conquest. But a Communist advantage is their ability to shift quickly from one pressure point to another, whether it be political or military. Furthermore, they regard South Viet Nam only as one portion of a war theater involving the whole of Southeast Asia, including Thailand.

Communist Goal
One goal is to force the United States into another Geneva conference such as the one which set up the still questionable neutrality of Laos.

To this end, the Communist-directed "national liberation front" sent a delegation to Jakarta where it reportedly obtained from President Sukarno of Indonesia endorsement of their "just" war against American imperialism.

Further, the Communists quickly endorsed a request from Cambodia that another Geneva conference be called to guarantee Cambodian neutrality.

Pope Announces First Train Trip

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope John XXIII has announced an historic 400-mile train trip to pray at two Roman Catholic shrines for the success of the forthcoming Ecumenical council.

The one-day trip today to the shrines of Loreto and St. Francis of Assisi will break a century-old tradition that the pontiff remains close to the Vatican.

The 80-year-old Pope will be the first pontiff to use a railway in 100 years.

The shrine to the Blessed Virgin at Loreto, on the Adriatic coast about 200 miles north of here, is second only to Rome as an important place of pilgrimage in Italy. Assisi is where St. Francis is buried.

NEW CADILLAC FOR 1963 — The new silhouette of the Cadillac Coupe de Ville for 1963 results from this new roof design. It combines a more sporty look with an air of formality and is responsible for an additional seven inches in the rear deck which adds greatly to the appearance of greater length. In actuality the Coupe de Ville is only one inch longer than last year at 223 inches. The framed-in back window is 38 per cent smaller in overall area. The new Cadillacs are on display at Tom Rose Motors Co., 121 N. Ballard.

Walter Rogers Reports

A Cuban Cure

I had an uncle who considered himself quite a philosopher. He had many sayings among which was the following, "there are more ways to kill a cat than stuffing it on butter." I think this axiom could be applied to Castro and the present Cuban situation.

Much has been said about the possibilities of a blockade. A blockade, as such, under international law is an act of war. Whether or not a war would be precipitated by a physical blockade is unknown. Such action would involve the calculated risk incident thereto. However, it is my opinion that if a physical blockade procedure is followed, this country should be ready, able and willing to go to war so that there would be no misunderstanding on the part of the American people. It is my personal feeling that Cuba now constitutes a cancer on the Western Hemisphere that must be removed — a job that can be done with great success just as a skillful surgeon would remove the cancer from a human body if the matter is properly approached.

In pursuing this thought which I have tried to study very carefully, I decided during the early part of this year that efforts must be made to prevent trade with Cuba at every turn. Prior efforts on the part of a number of us in Congress had produced the discontinuance of the sugar purchases as well as several other economic sanctions. The Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, of which I am a member, gave approval to a bill introduced by my good friend and colleague, Congressman Paul Rogers. This measure prohibited the shipment of Cuban goods into the United States and in interstate commerce. The bill cleared the House by an overwhelming vote but has not yet been passed upon by the Senate. It would express to the world the opinion of the House of Representatives on this subject.

It is apparent that the United States alone cannot solve this problem so long as the nations friendly to us continued shipments to Cuba. Many of these nations were receiving foreign aid from this country, while ships owned by nations of these countries are listed on the registry of those countries were continuing to ply the seas in trade with Cuba. My next thought was to limit the authority of our government to pay foreign aid to the countries permitting such practice. Hence I offered an amendment to the Foreign Aid Appropriations Bill which has met with favorable comment all over this Nation. This Amendment would simply give to a foreign country authorized to receive aid from this country the choice of permitting this continuing trade with Cuba or accepting our foreign aid, grants and loans. The amendment would, therefore, help to solve one of the major problems and afford us the opportunity of seeing just who our friends are in this scrap.

However, a country could say that they preferred to trade with Cuba and turn down the foreign aid, or some countries, friendly to us but not receiving foreign aid, would not be effected. Efforts were being made and had been made in our diplomatic circles to persuade friendly nations to cease this trade with Cuba. It was the opinion of many that if effective results could be brought about by agreement with these nations, it would be more helpful in the solution of the overall problem. However, as time ran on, it became apparent that all the foreign nations were not going to make such an agreement. In recent weeks several of such nations freely voiced publicly their intention not to cease this trade. Consequently, it was my opinion that it was time for the Congress to act on this subject. Therefore, I introduced HR 13214 which reads as follows:

"That all ports of the United States are hereby closed to all vessels while engaged in trade or commerce with Cuba (except United States installations therein), or while engaged on any voyage during which such vessel has engaged in trade or commerce with Cuba (except U. S. installations therein), except where such vessels are required to enter ports of the U. S. for repairs or emergencies recognized as such under international law.

"Sec. 2. Any vessel which enters or attempts to enter any port of the U. S. during a period when the ports of the U. S. are closed to it under the first section of this Act shall, together with such cargo, be forfeited." Much could be said about this law but space here will not permit. Suffice it to say that if this proposal can be enacted into law, it will be one of the most effective weapons that has been employed in the cold war.

Astronaut's Comments From Space

By United Press International

Astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr., speaking from space: "This really is a sayonara."

"She's flying beautifully" (seven minutes after blastoff) . . . "Sun's coming in the window now. The sunlight is in the upper right hand corner, just peeking in at me."

"Everything is green." (A new term in astronaut talk, replacing the "go" and "A-okay" usages meaning that all was going well.)

Condition report to Zanzibar: "A little warm but quite comfortable."

"I feel real good. I have beads of perspiration on my lips but that's about all."

" . . . a block of light." (viewing the Woomera, Australia, flare through thin clouds and light rain.)

Over Mexico in first orbit: "Very good shape . . . chimp configuration." (On automatic control as though a chimpanzee were the passenger).

To astronaut Scott Carpenter at Guaymas, Mexico, station: "saw some of your friends." (Referring to the luminous specks that Carpenter saw on his flight).

"Oh, got some lights down there! Thank them for me." (Perth, Australia, had turned on its lights for him.)

"I have a delightful report for John Glenn. I, too, see fireflies!" In a second-orbit conversation with astronaut Glenn at the California ground station: "It's a real, real thrill."

To Hawaii, in passing: "Aloha!" After getting his space suit's high temperature under control: "Unnecessary to discuss it further."

The view from space: "It certainly is hard to describe." Told that it was time for lunch: "Hey, I'm going to try some of that."

South Texas Situation On Water Better

AUSTIN (UPI)—Scorched South Texas received rains that greatly improved range and pasture feed conditions last week, the U.S. Department of Agriculture has reported.

The USDA said the drought-plagued area still needs additional moisture for cattle to have adequate fall grazing. Ranges and pastures in Edwards Plateau counties, another area hit hard by drought, were greening following the rains last week.

General rains over the state provided additional planting moisture for fall crops and slowed farm and ranch activities to a standstill in some areas.

Rains and heavy dew slowed harvest of Texas cotton during the week. The harvest was 29 per cent completed, about the same rate as this time last year.

Plains cotton was maturing slowly and upper coastal cotton was 97 per cent harvested, far ahead of last year's pace. Black land cotton farmers worked intermittently between showers to complete 68 per cent of the harvest.

The Lighter Side On Presidential 'Chewings Out'

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — One of the national magazines recently published an article about President Kennedy's relations with the press.

It noted that Kennedy reads the newspapers more than most presidents have done, and also is likely to have a more active reaction to what he reads.

If he sees something he likes, he may convey his feelings to the author. And the same is true if he sees something he doesn't like.

After reading the article, I called up a friend of mine who covers the White House and asked for an elaboration on this point.

Having your pieces reviewed by the White House has come to be a sort of journalistic status symbol," my friend said.

Have Prestige
"There is a certain honor attached to getting a complimentary remark or message, but the chewings out are what carry the real prestige. They mean that you have 'arrived' and that what you write 'matters.'"

"There are several ways a chewing out can be administered. The President may do it personally. Or he may have Pierre Salinger do it. Or it may be Bobby Kennedy who does it.

"A chewing out by Salinger isn't regarded as a collector's item if he does it on his own hook. If, however, he does it on behalf of the President, then it goes into the record book and you are entitled to the rank of 'enterprising reporter.'"

"A chewing out by Bobby Kennedy may be for something you wrote about him. That doesn't count except at the Justice Department, which uses a different scoring system.

Carries High Rank
"But if Bobby chews you out for something you wrote about the President, it falls within the White House rules and carries with it the rank of 'influential newspaperman.'"

"The top ranking is 'distinguished journalist' and it can only be achieved by a personal chewing out from the President himself."
"That's very interesting." I

Negroes Cry, 'Remember Mississippi'

DALLAS (UPI)—Four Negro men beat and kicked a Texas Liquor Control Board undercover agent Tuesday after the agent had asked them where he could buy liquor after hours.

The agent, Kent A. Butler, 25, told Dallas police he asked four Negroes about the liquor when said. "How about a chewing out from Teddy Kennedy?"

"Not valid except in Massachusetts," my friend replied.

"How about Sargent Shriver or Peter Lawford?"

"In-law chewings out are marked with an asterisk, like Roger Maris' home runs."

"One time I got a chewing out from Bobby Kennedy when he was still serving as a Senate committee counsel," I said.

"Does that count?"

"Technically," he ruled, "it would be classified as a congressional chewing out and could not be used except in event of a tie."

Arkansas' state-owned toll bridges became toll free in 1938.

they pulled up beside his car at a traffic light in the Oak Cliff section of Dallas. He said he was trying to track down illegal liquor.

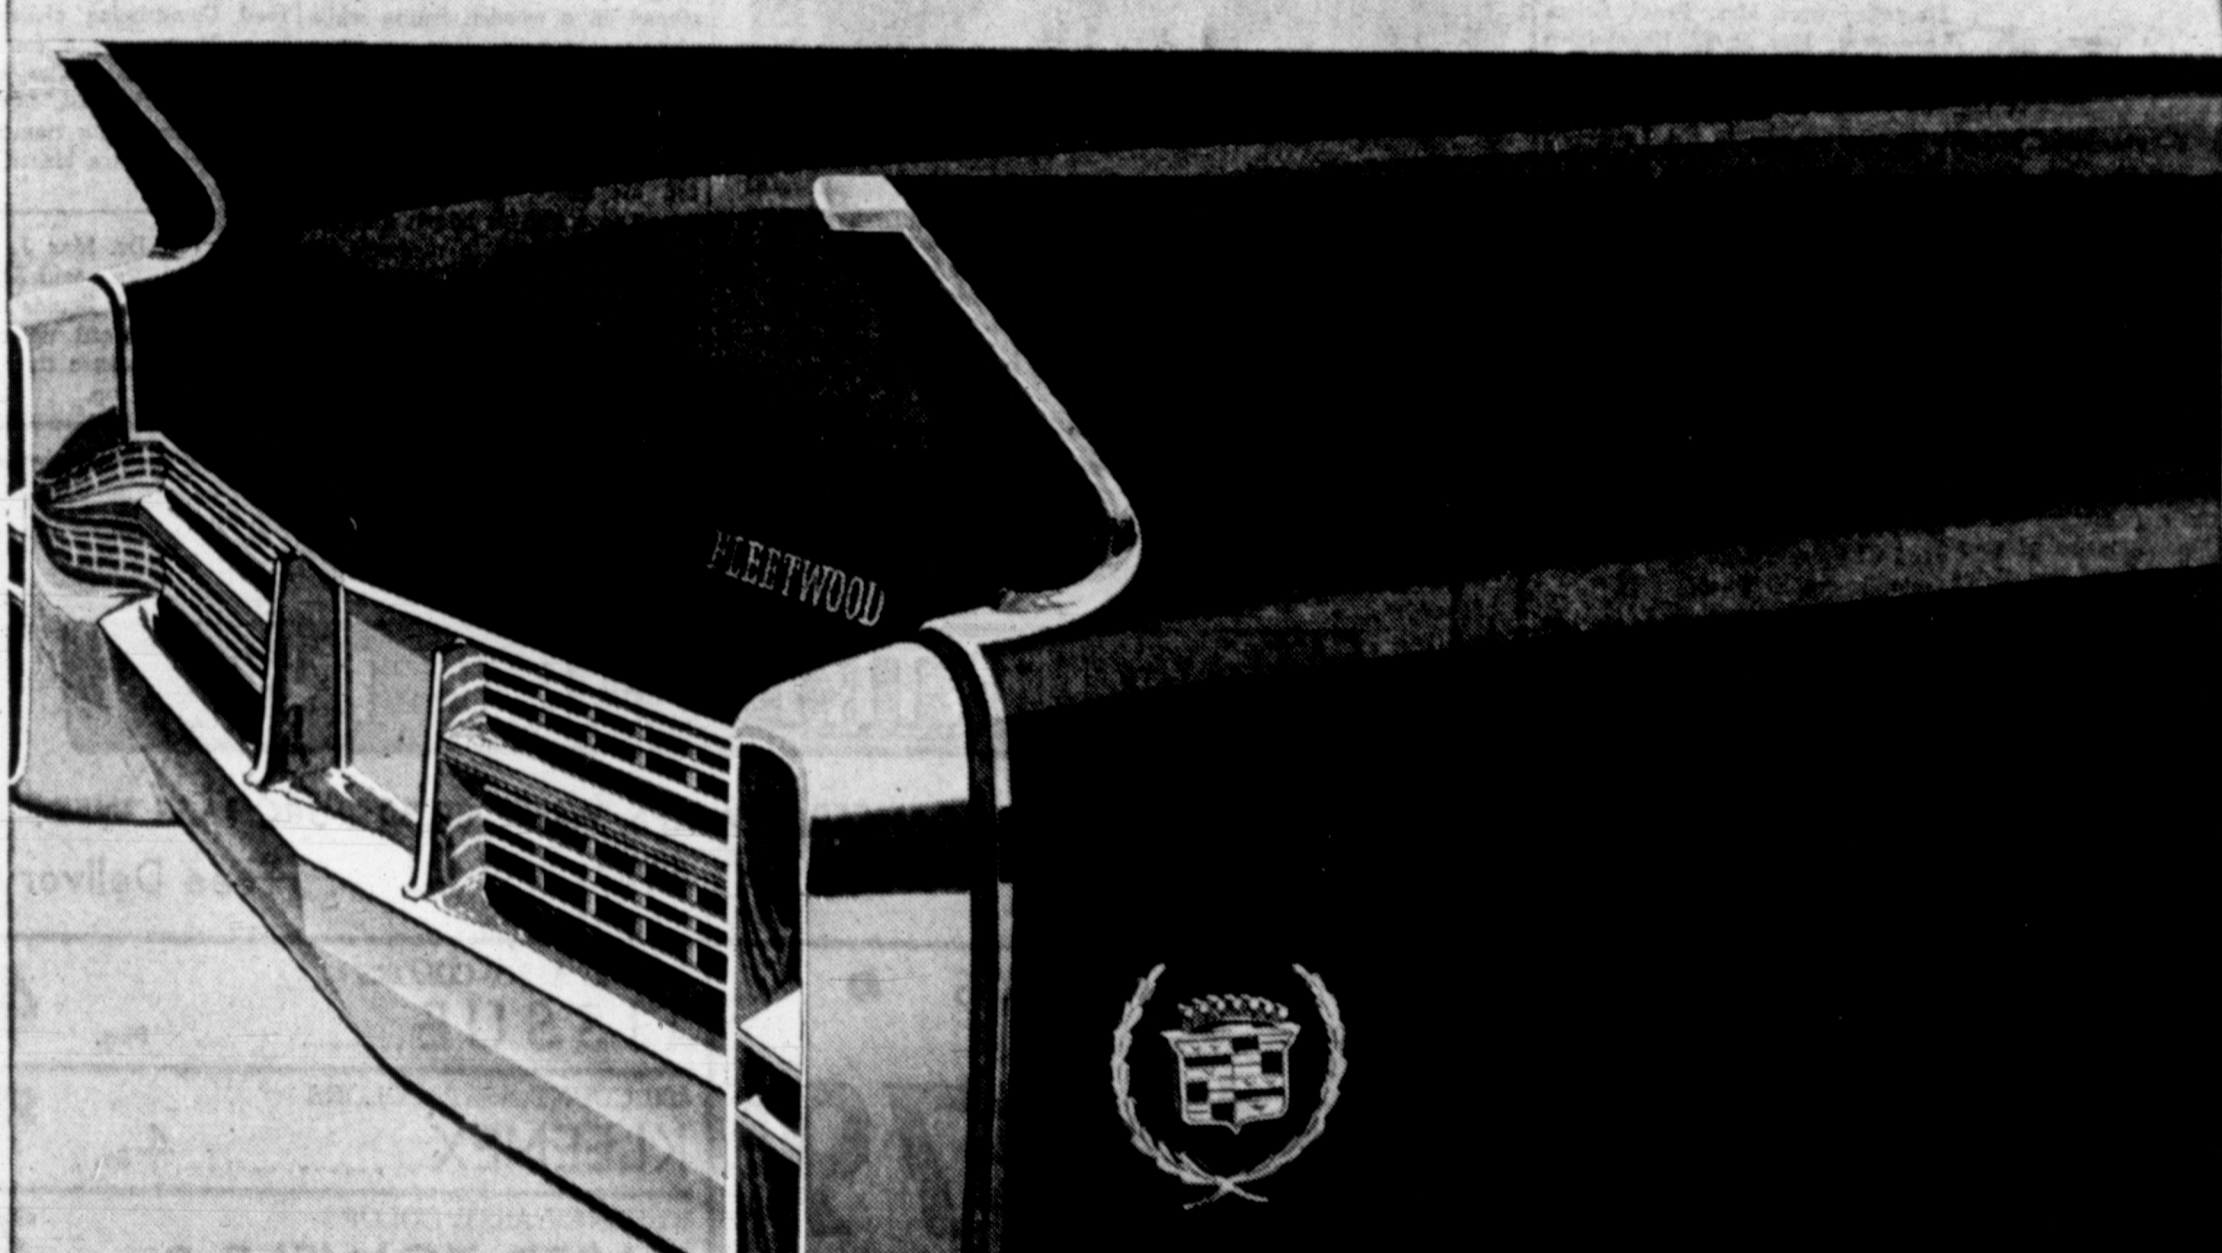

The men led Butler in his car to a spot just outside the city limits and told him to park and wait he said. They drove away. About eight minutes later another car containing four Negroes drove up behind him, he said.

He said the men jumped out of their car, smashed his rear window with a tire tool, pulled him out of his car and slugged and kicked him. He said he fired four shots at them with an automatic pistol.

When the Negroes fled, one of them shouted, "Remember Mississippi," Butler said. He said he was not certain the first group of Negroes was the same as the ones who beat him up.

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI) — From a technical standpoint, says Kenneth Ward, although heavier volume and a large increase in the number of individual lows characterized the market setback last week, the selling had all the earmarks of scared public liquidation in that it was confined to relatively small lots.

There nevertheless is no question that the reaction has further damaged the market's technical underpinnings and that this will take more time to repair, says the analyst for Hayden, Stone & Co.

For this reason, he says any near term recovery by the industrials will probably have difficulty in carrying much above 590-600, unless such attempted action is preceded by the industrials reforming a more solid base of support and consolidation than is apparent so far.

Martin Gilbert of Van Alstyne, Noel & Co. says while it is true that the technical signals point to an extension of the downward trend, he doubts that weakness will extend to the June lows (574.55 intra-day and 535.78 close). He says thinking should be in terms of buying opportunities, since any drying up of offerings in the interim could well result in a sharp rally.

More Fuel Room

In addition, another innovation was tried on Sigma 7 which worked so well that the capsule's periscope can be removed for future flights. This will allow 75 pounds of additional oxygen and fuel to be put aboard for the 24-hour mission.

The innovation involved a series of lines placed on the capsule's window which enabled the astronaut to check the position of his capsule with the earth. Called the "yaw reticle," it permitted Schirra to quickly halt the yaw—a side-to-side motion — during drifting flight.

In previous missions, precious fuel was used up when the pilot corrected this yawing motion. It now can be corrected faster, and there is no need for the periscope to check the earth's relative position.

Schirra

(Continued From Page 1) its throughout the flight. He tossed a cheerful "Sayonara" (Japanese for farewell for now) to colleagues before blastoff from Cape Canaveral; called out an "Aloha" as he whirled over Hawaii, and shouted "Hallelujah" when he was told at the start of the fourth orbit that he could go the full six and make the first manned splashdown of a spacecraft in the Pacific.

With his flight two-thirds finished, Schirra reported haze over the North American continent and said he was "drifting and dreaming."

After flashing through six 45-minute days and the same number of nights, Schirra prepared his return to earth.

Fites Retro-rockets

As the carrier Kearsarge moved into position in the "ball park" northeast of Midway, the space capsule's retro-rockets were fired at a position 1,150 miles northwest of Guam in order to slow the capsule's pell-mell flight through space so it could be brought to earth by gravity.

At 5:17 p.m., EDT, the capsule passed through the blazing heat of atmospheric friction, one of the most critical stages of the journey back to earth. The spacecraft was blackened and blistered, but Schirra was unharmed.

Forty-thousand feet above the ocean, Schirra activated the small drogue parachute to stabilize the capsule and slow it further.

Two minutes later the main parachute—a candy-stiped red and white canopy—billowed out and lowered the capsule into the ocean a little more than four miles from the carrier.

Aboard the Kearsarge Ens. John A. Stephenson, 23, of 3652 Clary St., San Francisco, had sighted the Sigma 7 spacecraft on his radar screen at a range beyond 150 miles and tracked its downward flight. It was the first time in history that an American radar has picked up the re-entering capsule at such a distance.

"This is a sweet little bird," Schirra radioed as he waited in the bobbing spacecraft.

Boards Carrier

The Kearsarge lowered a whaleboat with frogmen, who attached a "doughnut" flotation gear to the capsule. Then at 6:05 p.m., EDT, capsule and astronaut were hoisted gently aboard the carrier and placed on a wooden frame while white-coated technicians moved in to release Schirra.

Schirra's physical exam included a chest X-ray to determine whether weightlessness had affected his lungs; an electrocardiogram, to study his heart; an electroencephalogram to measure his brain waves and a check of his eyes to determine whether any cosmic rays had streaked through the cornea.

Dr. Richard Pollard, Jackson, Mich., and Dr. Max J. Traumer, Springfield, Pa., said Schirra told them he drank liquids during his flight but passed up chunks of solid food because they were too hard to pick up.

Seven Years, And 240,000 Miles Separate Old, New Astronauts

By ALVIN B. WEBB JR.
CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—Seven years and 240,000 miles separate America's sovereign seven Mercury astronauts and their nine newly crowned heirs apparent.

The years are the difference in where they have been. The miles are the difference in where they are going.

At first glance, the comparison seems drastic. On one hand there is the veteran band of U.S. spacemen who wear the title of "superb seven" like a glove. Experience tells in the confidence of their walk, the ability on their pioneering flights and the fame that hangs on their name.

On the other hand, there are the nine fledglings. They too are calm, for they, like the Mercury astronauts, are veteran airplane test pilots. But their quiet manner seems more of a shyness born of their inexperience in space missions as well as their first exposure to fame's spotlight.

Youth — Priceless Commodity

But what they lack in experience, confidence, self-assurance and ability now, the newcomers will more than make up for the one advantage they have — the seven years, the average difference between their ages and those of the Mercury spacemen.

This is the priceless commodity called "youth."

With it, the nine space trainees will try to buy their passage across the 240,000 miles to the No. 1 target in space, the moon. That some of them will make it this decade seems certain.

From this knowledge of a goal and the scientific assurance that they can make it has come to the rookies a peculiar confidence that the Mercury astronauts cannot know.

The age difference gave the initial seven the glamour of making the first U.S. manned space flights. But there had to be a price. It probably will be paid in the failure of any of them to reach the moon.

There has always been good-natured rivalry between those first astronauts, but it has been among seven men who were remarkably alike in many respects. The addition of the nine lends a new flavor of striking differences.

Always "Some Banter"

There already has been "some banter" between the old seven and the new nine, officials say. They added that "maybe there will be more banter." The difference here between "youth" and "veteran" is an average of 32.5 years against 39 years. But it is a big difference.

The first impression is that all but one of the nine newcomers are much younger than that 32.5 average. The exception is the youngest of the lot, Thomas P. Stafford. His balding pate belies his 32 years.

Perhaps Neil A. Armstrong, one of the two civilians on the new team, best typifies the "new generation" of astronauts. He looks more like a college junior than a 32-year-old veteran of the red-hot X15 rocket program.

His personality seems a mixture of traits in two of the Mercury astronauts — the light-hearted wit of Virgil I. (Gus) Grissom and the almost intense ability of Walter M. (Wally) Schirra to be refreshingly and candidly human.

Asked once to pontificate on the national effort in space, Armstrong commented simply: "If we knew what's up there, we wouldn't have to go."

It's a point that couldn't be argued.

Flair For Fun

Armstrong has a flair for fun but he sharply divides play and work. At the controls of the X15, many of the older pilots occasionally crack jokes. Neil Armstrong is dead serious.

Charles Conrad, on the other hand, is not quite like any of the Mercury astronauts. There is an extra eagerness in this 32-year-old Navy test pilot.

Conrad has a special admiration for Schirra that comes to the fore easily. The two were old friends long before either had much more than dreams of becoming spacemen.

When Schirra made it, Conrad knew what he wanted. "I made up my mind to volunteer for the program if the chance ever came," he says with a broad smile.

Schirra and Conrad have something else in common — a daredevil ancestry. The fathers of both were old-time aeronauts.

Conrad's close friend is a fellow neophyte astronaut, James A. Lovell, who has an ingrained horror at being left behind, particularly on the most spectacular adventure of all time.

Jim Lovell seems to smile constantly with his eyes. But he was dead serious six months ago when he vowed he didn't want to be on the sidelines while others were doing what he thought he could do just as well.

Lovell has confidence to complement his splendid physical and mental abilities. It all paid off in his selection to what he proudly calls the "first team."

Many Things In Common

They all brought something into the program, many things they have in common — the sophisticated daredevilry portrayed by astronaut Elliot M. See Jr. in his trying engine test flights... The brash but delightful humor of Frank Borman, who admitted on the day of his formal introduction as an astronaut that he had just walked into the wing of an airplane and gashed his scalp...

The "action speaks louder than words" attitude of astronaut James A. McDivitt... The particular pride of Tom Stafford when he officially became an astronaut on his 32nd birthday... The drive of astronaut Edward H. White II to escape the "administrative team on the ground" and be on the first flight to the moon...

And the sparkling test pilot background of astronaut John W. Young Jr., who recently set a

Big Cotton Carryover Is Predicted

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Agriculture Department has predicted the cotton carryover on next Aug. 1 would total around 8 million bales.

This would be about 1.2 million bales above the 7.3 million bales in surplus on Aug. 1, 1962, and would be the highest carryover since 1957. The record carryover of 14.5 million bales was recorded on Aug. 1, 1956.

The department said the estimated increase in cotton surplus reflects a larger crop for 1962 than a year earlier and a decline in consumption during the 1962-63 crop year. The 1962 crop is expected to be about 14.6 million bales, about 300,000 bales larger than in 1961 and the largest crop since 1953.

In addition, the department said the estimated increase in cotton surplus reflects a larger crop for 1962 than a year earlier and a decline in consumption during the 1962-63 crop year.

Consumption of cotton during 1962-63 is expected to be 13.8 million bales, down 300,000 bales from a year earlier.

The larger crop for 1962 is primarily a reflection of higher yields, as harvested acreage is expected to be up only 100,000 acres from 1962. The average 1962 yield per harvested acre is expected to be 449 pounds, up from the 1961 yield of 438 pounds, but below the record high of 466 pounds in 1958. Higher yields are expected in each region except the Southwest.

The department said domestic consumption of cotton for 1962-63 probably will be around 8.6 million bales, down 400,000 bales from a year earlier. Exports are expected to total about 5 million bales, about the same as in 1961-62.

Nation's Missile Men Have Taken Up 'Mid-Air Angling'

WHITE SANDS MISSILE RANGE, N.M. (UPI)—U.S. missile men have taken up "mid-air angling." The object of their angling is not fish, but parachute-borne packages.

Army aviators and crewmen are developing the mid-air angling and recovery skills as part of the Mid-Air Recovery System (MARS) at White Sands Missile Range. The program offers three-fold possibilities. Maj. Myron R. Wilson, chief of Aviation Branch, RSD said. It provides a soft recovery for sensitive instruments and equipment, expedites the return of timely test-items to the testing agency and facilitates the recovery of items from otherwise inaccessible impact areas.

Special drop-planes release packages weighing up to 1,200 pounds from approximately 12,000-foot up

Army helicopters use talon-like hooks trailing from pick-up poles to grab the floating parachutes which carry the packages.

The second phase of the program, which begins in November, will involve recovery of packages up to 3,000 pounds.

MARS estimates their mid-air angling may catch on and save the government thousands of dollars a year.

meet Tempest '63...today!

how's this for exploding the myth that cars have to be expensive to look it! Tempest '63

Maybe you can tell the difference between Pontiac's Tempest (especially that Le Mans) and the high-priced jobs. Besides having a 4 that acts like a V-8, Tempest sports a new 260-hp V-8* that acts like nothing you ever got your hands on before. And besides its beautiful balance, Tempest has Wide-Track this year. And self-adjusting brakes and a tachometer* and the most fetching style since the bikini and all kinds of niceties that'll make your Tempest smoother and tougher. About all it doesn't have is a big fat price tag. Vive la difference! Pontiac Tempest

Richness Of Fabric Plus Fur For Fall

Bold black-and-white checks are used (left) for this worsted coat with Canadian black fox trim. Boa collar is unattached. Walking suit (center) has three quarter jacket of black-and-white tweed worn over straight knit skirt and double knit overblouse. Boa collar of European blue fox trims this suit (right) of worsted basketweave. These are Lilli Ann designs.

By GAILE DUGAS

NEW YORK (NEA) — Rich and beautiful fabrics dripping with fur make an irresistible combination in autumn coat and suit fashions.

Subtle basketweave worsteds, worsted tweeds, bubbly combinations of wool and mohair or wool and angora get special frosting in the way of white mink, ranch mink, black mink, Russian sable, blue fox or black fox.

Sometimes the fur borders a hem. Or it appears as cuffs, ring collar, deep shawl collar or boa. Colors for these handsome fur-trimmed fashions are bold (brilliant red, deep turquoise, black-and-white) or subtle (greige, oyster white, golden beige, pale gray, black-and-brown mixtures.)

On many coats and suits, the fabric is used as trim. For example: interesting buttons are covered with the wool basketweave of the suit. Or cording, in various widths, is used to outline a suit jacket or finish the neckline of a coat.

Dear Abby... How To Treat the Blind With Appreciation

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: When a friend of mine saw your article on how to treat the blind, she read it to me because she knew I would be interested. You see, I am a blind teen-ager. Your advice was excellent, but you didn't go far enough.

Our biggest problems are (1) people who yell at us. They think that because we are blind we are DEAF, too. (2) People who come up behind us, slap us on the back and say, "Hello, there!" How we wish they would identify themselves. (3) People who make us uncomfortable by treating us as though we were abnormal. A sightless person who learns to live with his handicap can have as much fun (or more) than anybody. Yours, sincerely,

SIGHTLESS BUT HAPPY
DEAR ABBY: Thank you for your wonderful letter. And if my readers want free information on how to treat the blind, contact your local Lions Club, Lighthouse for the Blind, or any other service organizations that aid the sightless in your community.

DEAR ABBY: Does a 39-year-old man have the right to grow a beard if he wants to? Or should his wife have something to say about it? My wife and I have been going around about this one for almost a year. Everyone I know (with the exception of my wife) thinks I look great with a beard.

BEARDED
DEAR BEARDED: You not only stuck your chin out, you grew hair on it. The opinion of your wife, in this case, should be more important than all the other opinions combined. She loves you! How are you fixed for blades?

DEAR ABBY: A little while ago, a young boy in a baseball uniform rang my doorbell and asked if I would like to DONATE something to the Little League. Now it seems disgraceful that these not-so-underprivileged boys should be sent out to beg. The Little League does much to build character and teach sportsmanship, democracy, etc. but what does begging do for their self-respect?

Girl Scouts and Campfire Girls go from door to door selling cookies, but the cookies are wonderful and you get something for your money. If Little Leaguers need money, why don't they sell tickets and put on a game? If you agree with me, print my letter. If you think I am wrong, tell me off in your column.

Phyllis Daisling To Attend Dress Revue

Phyllis Daisling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Daisling, will be one of the forty outstanding 4-H seamstresses to compete in the State 4-H Dress Revue in Dallas this week. She and Miss Lou Ella Patterson, Gray County Home Demonstration Agent, left for Dallas Thursday morning.

The state winner will receive an expense paid trip to National 4-H Congress in Chicago this fall. The revue is held annually as a special feature of the State Fair of Texas in October. Two style shows will be held in the Women's building Saturday morning, Oct. 6.

Judging will take place Oct. 5. It will be done by the participants this year. The contest involves more than the appearance and construction of a garment. For grooming, posture and poise, selection of design and fabric, becomingness, fit, choice of accessories, and 4-H clothing records all help determine the winners.

The Mature Parent Need To Understand

The "Why" Of Anger

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

After refreshing herself, Joan has left the milk-bottle on the table to sour under the hot rays of the sun. Her unwashed glass is beside it. There are cookie crumbs on the table and some on the freshly mopped floor.

"Attending to her carelessness, we think, 'It's endless. This morning it was the cap left off the toothpaste tube. Yesterday it was the cake of soap in the bathtub. I am really sick and tired of this finishing up for her...'"

"So when Joan comes in from her music lesson lesson, we say, 'I haven't got time now to listen to what Miss Staples thinks of the way you've improved. Just put your music away and get the table set for dinner.'" angry. I'm just interested in getting this family's dinner on the table and want some help."

Which is one of the innocuous-seeming ways we can put increasing distance between us and a child.

I don't know whether you have ever sought the cause of an anger you feel you have aroused in a precious person — and been told, "Angry? Me? I'm not angry. I just want to finish washing this car" or "I just want to be allowed to read this newspaper in peace."

But if you have, you will have felt the discouraged sadness that is the appropriate human response to such refusal of contact. You have known that the beloved person's refusal to give you the cause of his anger at you is his refusal to give you himself.

Which is fine once in a while, as we all need distance occasionally from even our dearest people.

But when a husband's refusal to tell us how we have angered him becomes chronic, then discouragement we feel begins to harden into hopelessness. And our marriage settles into that gray, lifeless routine in which his chronic anger at us is accepted and we begin to secretly ask ourselves, "What's the use of anything?"

As discouragement can harden into hopelessness in us, so can it begin to harden in a child.

To be told why you've angered an important person is a great satisfaction. It equals his admission that you are important to him, too, in spite of your carelessness with the milk bottle.

The sooner you write a thank-you note, the better.

Space exploration increased its pace rapidly in 1959. Russia led off on Jan. 2 with a 770-pound probe that bypassed the moon to become the first man-made planet. In March, the U.S. Pioneer IV joined it in endless orbit around the sun. The first Discoverer satellites were launched into polar orbit from Vandenberg AFB, Calif. In April, selection of seven candidates for the Mercury man-in-space program was announced. They went into strenuous training, looking toward a possible flight in 1961.

Pioneering the way for the astronauts were the tiny monkeys Abibi and Baker, who came through a 300-mile ride inside a Jupiter nose cone in May. They proved that the day was not far off when man himself would venture into space.

The Russians, however, continued to score spectaculars. In September, their Lunik II crashed on the moon, scattering hammer-and-sickle pennants. Then, on Oct. 4, the second anniversary of Sputnik I, Lunik III was launched and sent back the first photographs of the hidden side of the moon.

Designer Of Dresses Blasts Those 'Awful' Baseball Team Uniforms

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI)—"I understand comfort and elasticity are necessary—but why do they dress like that? Why do they wear those dreadful things under their suit? And such a suit!"

That's designer Pauline Trigere speaking her mind about baseball uniforms.

The French-born wizard at fashion's drawing board, one of fashion's strongest voices, doesn't go out to the ball games very often. And she thinks "those ugly uniforms," offending her fashion sense, have something to do with it.

Suggests Style Changes

To get more women out to the ball game, she suggests the clubs tinker with the idea of style changes every so often. Listen to her:

"Baseball? The World Series. I know nothing about it. I have been only several times—but I do not understand it. Possibly, my lack of reaction has something to do with those ugly uniforms."

The femme who has won every kind of coveted fashion award, including a perch in fashion's hall of fame, pointed to an old picture of Ted Williams when she brought up "those dreadful things."

"He is a very nice looking man," she said. "But why is his undershirt showing?"

"When you consider that baseball is the national American sport—it is hard to believe that year after year ball players run onto playing fields in uniforms that are as shapeless as old laundry bags.

"Even the sponsor of the World

Things Are Going Pretty Good For 'Freckles' Brown

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI)—Everything's going "pretty good" these days for Freckles Brown, and that's the most, a participant in one of the roughest, most demanding sports around can ask.

Brown makes his living riding wild, snorting bulls and other similarly discontented animals. Sometimes he will throw a rope on a sprinting calf or, dodging menacing horns, down an animal nearly twice his size.

Freckles Brown, at 41, is a rodeo star, a member of a hearty breed who risks life and limb in increasingly popular arena shows around the nation.

Brown has won, to the best of his recollection, about $19,000 this year, which puts him well ahead of 1961. A contender for the prized all-around cowboy title, he is leading the pack in bull riding, his specialty.

"I guess I made about 65 or 70 rodeos so far this year," Brown drawled in his hotel room after winning the bull riding finale, at the State Fair of Oklahoma. "I'm doing a lot more rodeoing than I did in the past."

"This past week, for instance, I rodeoed in Albuquerque, Omaha, Oklahoma City, Texarkana, Pine Bluff and Memphis," he said. "I don't travel by air unless I have to, but most of the time I have to."

Brown, who lives in Lawton but isn't home much any more, has no plans to hang 'em up despite his age in a sport where, like most athletic endeavors, youth is a dominant factor.

"I figure I got three or four more years—as long as I'm feeling good," Brown said. "I haven't been hurt much this year and don't have so many sore places."

PRICE OF PROGRESS
LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The electronic age is affecting emergency requests for ambulances. A woman called Central Receiving Hospital for an ambulance Tuesday because:

"I can't get up and I want someone to come over to turn off my television set."

LONDON—The Daily Mirror, on the Mississippi segregation battle: "James Meredith is a veteran of the Korean War, but in Oxford, Mississippi, he is displaying greater courage than he ever needed on the battlefield."

On Recreation In America

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)— Ordinarily, a table of figures published by a government bureau will deaden my senses faster than a shot of novocain.

Occasionally, however, I encounter a set of statistics that makes me tingle all over. Such was the case of a recent Commerce Department compilation of 1961 recreational expenditures.

One of the recreational activities covered by the survey was parimutuel horse race betting. It showed that the amount of money lost at this sort of recreation last year was the equivalent of $3 for every man, woman and child in the country.

Obviously, a lot of people have not been doing their part.

Nevertheless, that $3 is an impressive figure. In 1955, when the last recreation survey was made, losses at the track amounted to only $2.50 per person.

Based On Health

The popularity of parimutuel recreation is, of course, based primarily on matters of health. Those who participate do so for the fresh air, the sunshine and the stimulating exercise gained by tearing up losing tickets.

Playing the horses was, in fact, about the only type of strenuous recreation that the average American got last year. The great bulk of our recreational expense was devoted to passive pursuits.

We spent an average of $26 apiece on television and radio receivers, records and musical instruments. Magazines, newspapers and sheet music took $14, and $9.50 went for books and maps.

For the movies we plunked down $7.50, and for stage and opera $2. For flowers, seeds and potted plants we spent $6.

Watch It Grow

It requires a certain amount of energy to watch a potted plant grow, but otherwise these types of recreation can generally be classed as non-vigorous.

On billiards, bowling, dancing, riding, shooting, skating, swimming, golf, sightseeing, flying, amusement devices and other types of exercise we spent only $5.50 each.

This composite picture of our recreational spending illustrates as well as anything what President Kennedy means when he said that Americans are becoming too sedentary.

It behooves us all to stir ourselves and spend more time at the races.

NEW WAY TO BE SUDDENLY SLIM

Are you a woman whose figure is on the good side but might look perfect? You'll be thrilled by the new easy way science has discovered for you to become Suddenly Slim.

If you're more than 15 pounds overweight, then this idea is not for you. If your weight problem falls within this range, then you can realize a new, another figure today, without diet or exercise.

Suddenly Slim is an all-new kind of 4-oz. girdle constructed of science fibers. A startling innovation is the sheer front panel. This is permanently stiffened by a science process and cannot give or sag. It's surrounded by a slimming action border. A featherstitched panel down each side of this girdle will contour your hips if they are a problem. The girdle itself is of "wonder" Lycra spandex fiber. It feels like nothing on but has such slimming strength it gives your figure everything that's possible with a foundation.

"Suddenly Slim" is the peak achievement of the designer-genius, Olga.

Dark Says, 'We Were Counted Out 50 Times But We Always Came Back'

Yankees, Giants To Meet On W. Coast

By LEO H. PETERSEN UPI Sports Editor

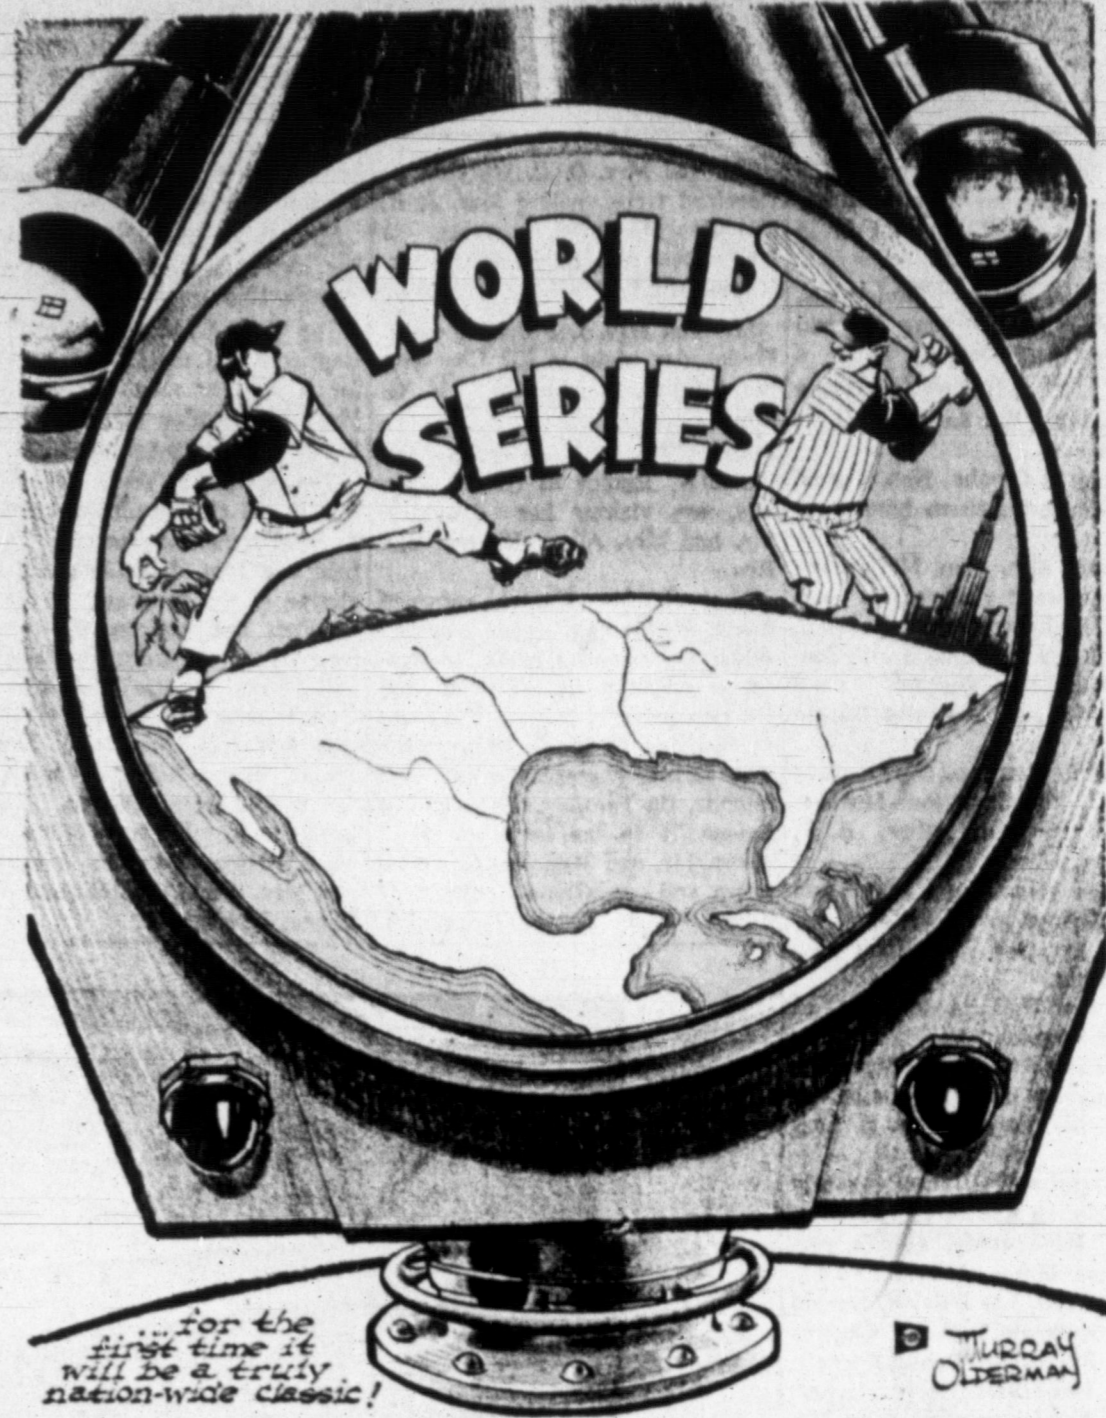

By NORMAN MILLER UPI Sports Writer LOS ANGELES (UPI)—To manager Al Dark of the San Francisco Giants, the last National League game of 1962 was just like so many that had been played before it.

64 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers which clinched the pennant. "I don't know any team in baseball that was counted out so many times.

ers in the deciding playoff game for the National League championship and won the 18th pennant in the history of the club, which dates back to the 1870's in New York.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) The dog-tired but dead-game Giants, riding the impetus of the wackiest pennant finish in baseball history, went out today to dispose of another old foe in the first game of the World Series.

Two outs away from defeat, they ripped a page out of the past to down the Los Angeles Dodgers in the third and final game of their error-ridden dog fight for the National League flag.

For the first time it will be a truly nationwide classic!

Eleven Years Have Made World Of Difference To Giants' Willie

Walt Alston Is Absolved Of All Blame; Will Be Back Next Year

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Loser Walt Alston was absolved of all blame today by the Dodger brass and it looks like he'll be back to try again next year.

There have been votes of confidence before that have turned out to be kisses of death, but in this particular case the harried 54-year-old Dodger manager doesn't seem to have too much to worry about.

Trail By Two The Giants trailed, 4 - 2, when they came to bat in the ninth inning and at one point they were only two outs away from defeat.

It was just as good. And now, as in 1951, it sends them against the well-rested Yankees—but this time they hope the outcome is different.

Hook of the Yankees nominated his clutch southpaw ace, Whitey Ford, to open the Series.

O'Malley and Bavasi each spoke to the weary and disappointed Alston over a clubhouse telephone and the Dodger owner said: "Relax and don't worry, Walt. This has been a long season. You did all you could, but this is baseball."

In point of major league service, Alston is the "dean" of all current managers with nine consecutive years at the Dodger helm.

Little Matty Alou, batting for pitcher Don Larsen, started the winning rally when he lashed a single to right center. He was forced at second by Harvey Kuenn however, and then Dark sent up big Willie McCovey to bat for Chuck Hiller.

San Francisco's Fans Went Into 'Orbit' After Win

Pierce beat the Dodgers in the first playoff game and then closed the door on them in the ninth Wednesday when the Giants came from behind with four big runs in the ninth inning to turn back the choked-up Dodgers, 6-4.

Starting Lineups SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The probable starting lineups for today's opening game of the 1962 World Series:

What had started out as a festive event at the airport nearly became a riot after darkness set in and more and more persons arrived to strain on the ropes in the landing area.

Announces Change Now the landing area looked more like Market Street, and at 8:25 p.m., a sheriff's car went about announcing flatly that the Giants would land at another airport.

Yet it plagues him that he never has come through in glittering style in two previous shots at the series. In 1951, that rookie year, he batted only .182 in the Series as the Giants lost to the Yankees.

Yankees Favored NEW YORK (UPI)—Broadway oddsmakers established the New York Yankees 7-5 favorites, man to man, to win today's opening game of the World Series with the San Francisco Giants.

Holladay Announces Lineup Changes

Head Football Coach Otis Holladay has announced some probable changes in the starting lineup Friday for the Harvesters' game against Tascosa of Amarillo.

The game, opening district play for the Green and Gold, will be played at 7:30 Friday in Harvester Park.

Holladay said sophomore Charles Snuggs has been moved up from the "B" team, the Shockers, and will probably start at quarterback for the Harvesters.

Snuggs' move into the starting Harvester backfield precipitates other changes there, too. Kenny Hebert, who started at the quarterback post for the first three games, has been switched to tailback; new Harvester Randy Matson has won the starting fullback post; and former tailback Jerry Glover will open the game at wingback, Holladay said.

Other changes move Doug Locke into a starting guard post and Shaun Hills into an opening tackle job. Other starters will be John Brown at center, Carl Clark at guard, Keith Reimer at tackle, and Ricky Stewart and Howard Reed at ends.

The Harvesters have been putting a lot of emphasis on defensive work during this week's practice sessions, but a liberal amount of offense has also been worked in, especially for the new boys' timing and familiarization.

The Harvesters may take the field with a slight weight advantage this week as the visiting Tascosa Rebels, owners of a 2-1 record, have a few smaller boys in some spots.

The Rebels have downed Midland Lee, 7-6, and Fort Worth Arlington Heights, 20-14, while losing to powerful Permian of Odessa, 14-0.

The Harvesters laced Bel Air of El Paso, 19-7, topped Phillips, 12-0, and lost to defending AAA state champion Dumas, 40-8.

Halfback Mark Yarbrough, no. 39, sparks the Tascosa attack with vicious running ability, the scouting report says and, unless this boy can be stopped, the Harvesters could come out on the short end of the score again this week. Better things are anticipated, though, as last week's loss has failed to dampen the enthusiasm of the Green and Gold and "the spirit will be there Friday if the body is willing."

Other starters for the Rebels will be Johnny Weidling, 175 pounds, at quarterback; 160 pound fullback Lewis Thomas; and halfback Bill Defee, 176 pounds.

Starting linemen for the Amarillo team will be 187 pound center Melvin Bell, 185 pound Bill Doane and 178 pound John Bentley at guards; 187 pound Robert Cameron and 216 pound John Tyler at tackles; and 160 pound Harlan Green and 169 pound Tommy Gergeni at ends.

Coaches for Tascosa are R. M. "Pat" Patterson, head coach, assisted by John McGuire, Quincy Armstrong and Ronald Robbins. Other coaches in the Tascosa High School System are Cliff Mehrtens, Jack Rice, Harry Walker and Dan Ives, trainer.

TITAN QB INJURED
NEW YORK (UPI)—Quarterback Lee Grosscup is an unlikely starter for the New York Titans Saturday night against the Boston Patriots. Grosscup will be sidelined with a knee injury. Harold Stephens, purchased from Louisville of the United Football League, will back up Ed Songin at quarterback for the Titans.

Junior High, 'Shockers' Slate Games

All local Junior high teams and the high school "B" team play this week as football has a full schedule for local squads.

In home games, the Shockers pay Berger at 7:30 tonight, the Pampa Junior High ninth grade team, the Reapers, plays Perryton at 4 p.m. today on the field inside the track at high school; the Lee Junior High eighth grade team plays Austin of Berger today at 4 p.m. on the Lee practice field; and the Lee seventh grade team plays Houston of Berger at 4 p.m. Friday on the Lee practice field.

In "away" games, the Lee ninth graders, the Rebels, play Austin of Berger, there, at 4 p.m. today; Pampa Junior High's eighth grade team travels to Perryton for a 4 p.m. game today; and the Pampa Junior High seventh grade squad plays Austin of Berger, there, at 4 p.m. Friday.

Table Tennis Club Scheduled

PERRYTON (Spl) — The Perryton and Vicinity Young Men's Christian Association will organize a Men's Table Tennis Club to begin Tuesday, Oct. 9, from 7 until 9 p.m. at the YMCA Hub. The club will meet every other Tuesday.

Anyone interested in joining this club is invited to the organizational meeting set for Tuesday, October 9.

The YMCA sponsors a City wide table tennis tournament each year and the enthusiasm is so great it was decided to organize this table tennis club. All men, ages 15 and over, are invited to join.

BITES OPPONENT

Southwest Conference Coaches Worry About 'Muscles And Bones'

By PAUL FREEMAN
United Press International
Muscle and bones occupied the worrying time of Southwest Conference coaches today.

The powerful Razorbacks of the University of Arkansas presently shape up as the SWC health leaders. Coach Frank Broyles Wednesday pronounced his team in good physical shape for Saturday night's Fort Worth clash with Texas Christian.

TCU coach Abe Martin was not quite so lucky. Martin kept a weather eye on All-America candidate quarterback Sonny Gibbs in drills Wednesday. But Gibbs showed no signs of favoring an injured ankle.

Coach Darrell Royal of the University of Texas Longhorns said starting fullback Ray Poage, out with a shoulder injury, definitely will not start Saturday night at Austin against Tulane. Royal, who sent the Longhorns through extensive drills against the Tulane spread formation, said Poage may not get in the game.

Rice coach Jess Neely looked over his squad for someone healthy and able enough to do some kicking. He tried out Jerry Candler, Preston Johnson, and Randy Kerbow, who has been out with an injured knee. Kerbow hobbled somewhat in practice Wednesday, but may play against nationally-rated Penn State at Houston Saturday.

Coach J. T. King of the Texas Tech Red Raiders expressed displeasure over Tech's first team's defensive work against Texas A&M plays. The Red Raiders face the Aggies at College Station. A&M held an extensive drill Wednesday, stressing offense.

Southern Methodist avoided rough work and reviewed assignments for its afternoon game against the Air Force Academy in Dallas. Joe Miller, Ray Green and Jack Rhoads were appointed tri-captains for the game.

The Baylor Bears, idle this weekend, held a general workout in preparation for their SWC curtain-raiser Oct. 13 against Arkansas.

Palmer Is Named Pro Of The Year

DUNEDIN, Fla. (UPI)—Arnold Palmer made a runaway of the voting for the 1962 Professional Golfers Association Player-of-the-Year award, collecting 1,005 of the 1,000 votes cast.

The selection of Palmer for the award, the second time he has won it, was announced Wednesday by Lou Strong, president of the PGA. Palmer also won the award in 1960.

The popular golfer is the second man to win the award more than once. Ben Hogan was honored four times.

Voting was by members of the PGA and persons on the PGA National press list. No other golfer collected more than 13 votes.

For the first time, the award was open to PGA members only, so Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player, both approved tournament players, were not eligible.

COMBAT—Norman Snead, 16, was stopped short of the goal line as he tried a quarterback sneak from the one-yard line in Dallas. The Washington quarterback scored a touchdown with the identical maneuver on the next play.

Idalou Coaches Are Killed In Crash Of Auto

SLATON, Tex. (UPI)—An automobile slammed into the rear of a parked flat bed truck Wednesday night near Slaton, killing the head football coach and the basketball coach at Idalou High School. Two junior high coaches were injured.

Police said Olin Reddell, age 35, who had won four straight district championships in football at Class A Idalou, and Dwyer Coggin, 27, head basketball assistant football coach at the school, were killed instantly.

In fair condition today at Merit Hospital in Slaton, were Tom Chitty, 23, junior high football coach, and Dick Belt, 27, junior high basketball coach. They were in the back seat of the car driven by Coggin.

William Harrison, 51, a Plainview, Tex., Negro and driver of the truck, told police a fire started under the dashboard of the truck which was loaded with 10,000 gallon tank of anhydrous ammonia. He said he pulled the truck off the side of the road, but that the end of the truck was still in the traffic lane.

The car then struck the truck. The accident happened on Farm Road 400 north of Slaton. The coaches were on their way back from a coaches meeting in Slaton.

SIGN WITH STEERS

Capitol Hill Commentary

By PAUL R. ALLERUP
LONDON (UPI) — You won't get one of them to say so on the record — but most of America's European Allies wish the United States would forget about the Monroe Doctrine when talking about Cuba.

The main line of thinking is that the Monroe Doctrine has been outdated by events, including America's own entry in two of Europe's wars and by such developments in the last 20 years as the Atlantic Charter, the United Nations, the Truman Doctrine, the Marshall Plan and American leadership of NATO.

There is no overt opposition to, or quarrel with, the Monroe Doctrine either in Britain or on the European continent. Tacitly, by failing to take a formal position against it, the governments accept it.

But with no real exception they regard President Monroe's statement of 1823 as an outmoded document. Legalists argue further that as a unilateral declaration it never had the approval of Europe, or official acceptance.

Get Same Answer
United Press International reporters who have sounded out informed government sources from London to Lisbon got the same "off the record" answer — occasionally in different words — in all the capitals.

"Archaic" and "outdated" were favored adjectives in such comment on the Monroe Doctrine. "It has no standing in international law" and "it doesn't exist for us" were some other reactions.

Behind the wariness of the European Allies to take a position on application of the Monroe Doctrine lies uneasiness over the possible consequences. America's allies over here sympathize with the American dilemma. But none, at this stage, sees the situation as a "casus belli" — cause for war. (In the 1890's American President Grover Cleveland invoked the doctrine to warn Britain that Washington would regard it as a casus belli if the United Kingdom used force, as it was threatening to do, in a Venezuela-British Guiana border dispute. This dispute ended in 1897 with an arbitration settlement that to this day still isn't satisfactory to Venezuela and is on the agenda of the present United Nations General Assembly.)

Editorials Urge Coolness
There has been a good deal of non-committal editorial comment here on the agitation by some members of Congress for action against Cuba under the Monroe Doctrine. But largely it has dealt with the need for coolness in the crisis rather than discussion of the Monroe Doctrine itself.

One London newspaper this week, however, gave voice to the view that the Monroe Doctrine should be discarded as a working paper for American diplomacy. Writing in Lord Beaverbrook's Evening Standard, Commentator Paul Johnson said: "The trouble is that the Americans have become the emotional prisoner of one of their favorite myths — the Monroe Doctrine. Most Americans believe this to be a solemn and binding treaty with the full force of international law. In fact, it is nothing of the sort. It is a unilateral declaration of policy in deliberately vague terms which was angrily denounced (in 1823) by most of the great powers. "What is more, America herself has long since driven a coach and four through the doctrine. For what most Americans forget (if they ever know) is that the doctrine, while warning Europe to keep out of America, also promised that America will keep out of Europe. Johnson ignores the fact that the Monroe Doctrine leaves the United States free to defend itself from whatever quarter it might be "menaced" and Europe was not specifically excluded. Nevertheless, this commentator pronounced a viewpoint not much different from what diplomats around the continent, and in Britain, have been voicing privately.

Through successive Washington administrations, it has been U. S. policy to discourage any arms build-up in the Middle East.

The policy, however, did not prevent a full-scale war between Israel and Egypt in 1956, nor has it influenced a heavy flow of United States weapons into the Arab Republic, Syria and Iraq. Smaller amounts also have gone to Yemen.

It was with this in mind that the United States reversed its long-standing policy and agreed to supply Israel with short-range supersonic Hawk defensive missiles and to train Israel crews in their use.

The decisions involved obvious risks. U. S. relations with the U. A. R. hit a low in 1955-56 when the United States withdrew its promise of financial support for Egypt's Aswan dam and opposed Egypt's seizure of the Suez Canal. They have improved only gradually since.

Arms Superiority
On the other hand was a fear that, with arms superiority on the Arab side, either the Arabs might be tempted to attack Israel or the Israelis might start a "preventive" war to reduce the imbalance.

The Hawk is a 17-foot solid-fuel missile that can hit a target at 38,000 feet, and therefore would provide protection against President Nasser's MIG fighters and jet bombers.

Nasser's buildup on the easy-payment plan began in 1955—Soviet farms for Egyptian cotton. In the same year the Israelis requested similar U. S. aid but that and subsequent requests were refused on the grounds that the United States was "not convinced" such aid would remedy the situation.

Military Powers
The U. A. R. today is said to possess 100 to 200 MIG fighters, tanks, submarines and a full line of destructive power, including recently received TU16 jet bombers. It is the most heavily armed nation in the Middle East.

Syria also has Soviet MIGs and army weapons. Iraq has both MIG 15s and 17s and is awaiting delivery of 21s. She also has a full supply of other Soviet weapons.

Israeli shipping still is banned from the Suez Canal and recent weeks have seen recurring clashes between Israeli forces and the

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI) — Standard & Poor's "Outlook" says the stock market may have to withstand further selling pressure, but another phase of panicky liquidation seems unlikely.

It says "our thinking at this stage is in terms of buying opportunities that may lie ahead, rather than of lightening overall common stock positions."

Spear & Staff Inc. says we may be in for a soft market during the next 60 to 90 days and it advises clients to keep a good backlog of cash, especially those holding speculative and volatile stocks. It adds that cash should be held with a view to continued gradual reinvestment in strong stocks with growing earnings and with consolidation patterns indicating that they are in an over-sold condition.

Analyst Arthur Wiesenberger says since the stock market "ceiling of visibility" will probably not lift materially, a policy of caution — of building up and maintaining reserves as opportunities present themselves—is suggested.

It was to prevent little ones from building into big ones that the United States took its calculated risk.

ANNOUNCING THE OPENING OF...

NEW RAMBLERS FOR 1963 — The 1963 Ramblers look much longer with their all-new styling, but actually are more than an inch shorter than past models. Overall height is reduced three inches without sacrifice of interior room. Wheelbase is increased to 112 inches. A new body construction technique is used on the '63 Ramblers for the first time. Curved side glass is standard on the 1963 Rambler, the only low-priced car to have this custom feature. Shown is the Rambler Classic 770 four-door sedan. The new Ramblers are now on display at Tex Evans Buick-Rambler, 124 N. Gray.

HOME UNDER THE RANGE—Although all that is visible is a garage, this lot in Plainview, Tex., is occupied by a house—completely underground. Entrance to the house—called the "Atomita"—is through the garage. Huge stone planter is actually chimney for den fireplace and inlet for a gravity flow ventilation system. Inside, murals painted on the concrete shell in which the four-bedroom house is built depict serene landscapes "outside" the windows. An intricate lighting system changes the scenes from dawn to daylight to dusk to night at the touch of a button. Advantages cited by its builder: Constant temperature; no exterior maintenance; lower insurance; torpado, fallout shelter.

Onna White Has Tough Show Biz Job... Teaching Actors To Dance

By JOSEPH FINNIGAN
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — One of the toughest jobs in show business belongs to Onna White, a pretty choreographer who teaches heavy-footed actors intricate dance steps.

In Filmland's old days, movie stars were typed as good guys, bad guys, romantic idols or all-American boys. It was the same with actresses. They were either "the girl next door" or somebody else.

Stars rarely left their appointed niche. Studio bosses feared changing an image meant boxoffice disaster.

But like the old days, that thinking is gone. More and more stars are breaking away from their images and turning to other characterizations. And when they decide on a dancing role, patient Miss White is ready with the steps.

Currently working on the film version of "Bye Bye Birdie," co-starring Janet Leigh and Dick Van Dyke, Onna also did choreography for "Music Man," both the stage and movie productions. Other stage shows for which she did dance numbers include "Take Me Along," with Jackie Gleason and Walter Pidgeon, "Do Re Mi," starring Phil Silvers, and George Gobel's "Let It Ride."

Gleason Dances Well
Contrary to what many people think, Onna says the bulky Gleason is light on his feet. He's practically a fat Fred Astaire.

"Jackie comes to rehearsal, sits on a chair and says 'On, show me what you want me to do,'" Miss White said. "I show him and he does it rhythmically."

"He and Walter Pidgeon did a soft show in 'Take Me Along' and Walter is not the greatest dancer in the world. But he was determined to do this dance. His wife told me he rehearsed in his hotel room. He learned that dance under a great strain and it was perfect."

Pidgeon danced by the numbers, counting every step. One out of place move by the improvising Gleason was enough to throw Walter off balance.

Miss White also coached Robert Preston for "Music Man" movie and Broadway appearances. The actor, long known as a movie villain, received a career boost from the musical show.

Star Abandons Cartwheels
"Bob Preston is very rhythmic and athletic," Onna said. "Originally I wanted Bob to do cartwheels. He practiced for weeks but never quite made it. Finally we decided that he did so many other things well that we didn't have him do cartwheels. There were too many hazards involved; he could break an ankle.

TRUMPET FOR JUDY—So say the producers of "The Lonely Stage," the new, tear-jerking film in which Judy Garland stars. Here, in a scene from the movie, Dr. Donne (Dirk Bogarde) listens as Jenny Bowman (Judy) describes the throat ailment which destroys her career as a star.

Miss White said movie stars approach their first dancing lesson like nervous schoolboys.

"Nobody is allowed on the set except the pianist, me and my assistant on the first day," Onna said. "Then as the stars progress, a few people are let on. Pretty soon the actors are inviting guests to visit."

When teaching balky actors unusual dance steps, Miss White uses psychology.

"The way you approach them is important," Onna said. "You have to use psychology. I've known choreographers who couldn't get along with actors because they tried to get them to do something they couldn't do."
