Pampa Woman Is Polio Victim: First Case Here

A 27-year-old Pampa housewife and mother of two small children has been reported as Pampa's first polio victim this year.

She is Mrs. Jimmy Hayes, 2232 N. Christy, who was stricken while visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Morgan in Frisco, Texas several days ago.

Mrs. Hayes is a patient in Collinsville Memorial Hospital in McKinney, near Frisco.

Her husband, Jimmy, who is employed as an engineer for Cabot Corporation here, said today that his wife became ill Monday night and was admitted to the hospital Tuesday afternoon.

After several tests and a spinal tap, doctors at the hospital said she was suffering from a mild polio case.

Jimmy, who is at the hospital, told The News today that doctors at the hospital said there was no paralysis and that she would be able to return home in 12 to 14 days.

The only sign of paralysis, doctors said, was a slight loss of muscle control in her right leg.

She is being held in an isolation room at the present time.

Mrs. Hayes had taken one polio shot in 1959.

No other cases of polio have been reported in the city so far this year, according to Dr. Malcolm Brown, city health officer.

Six Nations In Maneuvers As 'Friend' Project

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Six nations participated in recent three-day Operation Friendship military maneuvers in Honduras, according to a U.S. Embassy bulletin released here Thursday.

The announcement came the day after Cuban Ambassador to Mexico Carlos Lechuga said his country is about to be invaded again, and cited instances of attack preparations in the Caribbean area including military activity in Central America.

The embassy release said the military exercises were designed to demonstrate "the capacity of friendly nations to help a neighboring country in case of urgency." It said they were held at the invitation of the Honduran government, but did not give the date of the exercises.

Colombia, El Salvador, Guatemala, Nicaragua, and Honduras participated in the exercises, together with 400 North American soldiers transported by air from the Panama Canal Zone.

Honduran President Ramon Villeda Morales and U.S. Caribbean Zone Commander Gen. Andrew O'Mera reviewed the combined troops after the maneuvers, the embassy said.

A dispatch from Tampico, Gulf Coast port, Wednesday reported the forced landing of a single-engine plane en route from New York to Retalhuleu, Guatemala, where military units were trained prior to the April, 1961 invasion of Cuba.

The dispatch said the plane bore Guatemalan registry, TG-FAIF, and was piloted by a U.S. citizen identified only as Vladimir Alexandroff. Its planned route included Tuxpan and Veracruz, the dispatch added. The plane was described as a $15,000 aircraft, destined for crop dusting.

Water Safety Is Program Topic

Terry Culley, Pampa High School basketball coach, will present a program on water safety at the monthly meeting of the Pampa Chapter of the American Red Cross, scheduled to be held at 7 a.m. Tuesday in Coronado Inn.

Chapter chairman E. B. Pemberton has urged all committee chairmen, officers and directors to attend the meeting.

'Howdy Day' On Campus At PHS

It was "Howdy Day" today for Pampa High School students, as upperclassmen welcomed the incoming sophomore students into high school.

Students were wearing western clothes and name tags to identify them when meeting a new student in the hall or during classes.

The special day, sponsored annually by the student council, will be climaxed at 7 p.m. today in the Girls' Gymnasium with a party for all high school students. At this time a Mr. and Miss "Howdy" will be selected to reign during the school year.

Bulletin

Pampa and vicinity was placed on an alert for severe weather conditions today when forecasters announced possible tornadoes and thunderstorms in extreme central New Mexico, portions of the Texas Panhandle, South Plains and extreme southwestern Oklahoma. The alert is in effect from 3 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Two Courses Slate Start On Tuesday

Distributive Education Courses from the University of Texas, sponsored by the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, will begin Monday in the Chamber of Commerce office at 7:30 p.m.

Two courses on "How to Supervise Employees" and "How to Train Employees" will be taught on alternate nights running from Sept. 10 through Sept. 20. Instructor for both classes will be Francis Flynn, supervisory training specialist at the University of Texas. Flynn is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin and has had broad experience in personnel administration and retail merchandising.

Both classes will be taught in the Chamber of Commerce conference room beginning each evening at 7:30 p.m. The fee for each of the courses will be $3.50 per person. The courses are being held on alternate nights in order that a person may take both courses if it is so desired.

It is hoped classes may be held to approximately 20, since the smaller numbers make possible more participation by students enrolled.

Reservations are now being made at the Chamber of Commerce office, MO4-3242. Enrollment can be made, however, at the opening session Monday night in the Chamber of Commerce office.

Probe Out Nearly 2 Million Miles

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — America's Mariner 2 neared the two-million-mile mark today on its spectacular 180-million-mile trip to Venus.

The historic space vehicle reached a point 1,839,971 miles from earth at midnight, EDT, traveling at a speed of 6,623 miles an hour. It was expected to be two million miles away late today or early Saturday.

The 447-pound instrument-laden spacecraft will pass within 9,000 miles of the cloud-shrouded planet early in December and then spend the remainder of its existence as a satellite of the sun.

"It will probably circle around the sun until doomsday," an official at Cal Tech's Jet Propulsion Laboratory said.

President Asked To Intervene In Railroad Strike

CHICAGO (UPI) — The growing economic impact of the telegraphers strike that shut down the Chicago and North Western Railway brought appeals today for President Kennedy to intervene.

The walkout, in its second week with no end-in-sight, has idled cars on the nation's third longest rail network, 10,565 miles of track in nine states from the Great Lakes to the Wyoming Rockies.

The North Western, in newspaper advertisements, urged private citizens and industries to "ask what our government is doing to compel the union to accept the presidential emergency board recommendations (for settling the job security dispute that triggered the walkout)."

Other railroad leaders, along with community and business groups, made similar appeals to Kennedy amid mounting reports of plant closings, worker dismissals and stranded farm products.

Federal Mediator Francis A. O'Neill Jr., who has described Kennedy as "very concerned" about the strike, planned separate meetings again today with the North Western and the Order of Railroad Telegraphers (ORT).

O'Neill said, after talks Thursday with bargaining teams led by North Western board chairman Ben J. Heineman and ORT president George E. Leighty, there was "no change in basic positions."

The "basic positions" in the five-year-old dispute were the ORT demand that elimination of telegraphers' jobs be subject to joint negotiations, and the North Western rejection of this proposal in favor of the emergency board recommendations. The board suggested, among other things, that workers laid off be retrained and re-hired on a preferential basis.

The walkout by some 1,000 telegraphers, depot attendants and tower watchmen began Aug. 30. More than 15,000 other North Western employees also were out of work because they refused to cross ORT picket lines.

Soblen Still Unconscious; Doctors Fear Convicted Spy's Heart Failing

LONDON (UPI) — Doctors battling to save the life of fugitive spy Dr. Robert Soblen reported today he still was unconscious more than 24 hours after taking an overdose of barbiturates and his heart may be giving out.

Concerning Cuba

Republicans Propose Tougher Declaration

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republican congressional leaders proposed today that congress adopt a Formosa-type declaration authorizing President Kennedy to use troops if necessary in the Cuban crisis.

At the same time, the GOP Senate and House leaders urged all Americans to "unite in a calm, considered approach" to meet the threat of the Soviet arms buildup in the Castro regime.

Senate GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., and House leader Charles A. Halleck, Ind. told a news conference they had not cleared their proposal in advance either with the President or the Democratic leadership.

Letter to Johnson
They said they were submitting it in a letter to the Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and Speaker John A. McCormack today. They said they would like to see resolutions adopted before congress adjourns this year.

The Formosa resolution was adopted in 1955 at President Eisenhower's urging. At that time Communist China was threatening the Nationalist island stronghold and the Pescadore Islands. The resolution authorized the President "to employ the armed forces of the United States" at his own discretion.

Some legislators argued at the time that Eisenhower, as commander-in-chief, had that authority anyhow. But Halleck noted today that the result has "proved very effective up to this point."

Democrats Invited
The Republicans invited Democrats to join in drafting the proposed Cuba resolution—which presumably would refer to all of Latin America as well. They urged that it be drawn up in consultation with the White House.

Dirksen, answering questions, said the idea was not broached to Kennedy at this week's high-level briefing on the Cuban problem.

But he said that "this course of action by the congress will reflect determination and clear purpose of the American people and will demonstrate to the world the firmness of this nation in meeting this problem."

Before the GOP leaders announced their resolution, Democratic leader Hubert H. Humphrey accused the GOP of playing "careless and reckless politics" by its criticism of Kennedy on Cuba.

CoC, BCD Hold Meet Concerning City's Proposal

The Board of Directors of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce and Board of City Development met last night in the Quivira Room of Coronado Inn to study the City Commission's proposed ordinance to regulate the operation of the BCD.

In effect, the new city ordinance would separate the BCD from the Chamber of Commerce and place it under supervision of the City Manager.

While provisions of the legislation call for the BCD to cooperate with the Chamber of Commerce, BCD expenditures and operating costs would be under control of the city the same as other city departments. Monthly reports likewise would be required the same as from other city government units.

Present members of the chamber board and Board of City Development and newly appointed members of the BCD attended last night's session in the Coronado.

E. O. Wedgeworth, chamber manager, said today copies of the proposed ordinance were furnished all members of the board for detailed study prior to another board meeting to be held within the next few days.

Wedgeworth also announced that the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce and BCD has been set for Thursday night, Oct. 25, in Robert E. Lee Junior High School Cafeteria. A speaker for the banquet will be announced later, Wedgeworth said.

Border Guard Flees To American Sector

By JOSEPH B. FLEMING
United Press International

BERLIN (UPI) — The East German Army said today it doubts that the United States will continue to stand up for Western rights in Berlin.

People's Army, the official East German Army newspaper, said the Western Allies eventually will have to deal with Maj. Gen. Helmut Poppe on their rights in the divided city.

West Berlin police said a Communist border guard fled to the American sector of the city in full uniform early today.

Two Others Flee
The American-run radio station Rias said two other East Germans, a man and wife, also crossed the border. West Berlin police could not confirm this report.

Poppe, a 35-year-old East German, was named East Berlin commandant last month in place of a Russian general. The Western Allies said they would continue to hold Russia responsible for the Eastern sector and would not negotiate with Poppe.

"Just wait, gentlemen, just wait," People's Army said in an editorial.

The newspaper, in support of its argument, said the Americans made no attempt to break through to Berlin during the 1948-49 Communist blockade and took no action when the anti-refugee wall was erected a year ago.

The newspaper said Gen. Lucius D. Clay, U. S. military governor during the blockade, wanted to break through to Berlin with tanks.

"The breakthrough did not take place because illusions have never had any strategic value," it said.

People's Army charged the Western Allies with using the air corridors to Berlin illegally to fly in spies and saboteurs. It repeated the familiar Communist demand that a peace treaty ending Western rights must be signed soon.

The newspaper made its claims at a time of new tension caused by the Russian shooting of a U.S. military sedan and American charges of Soviet irresponsibility in Germany.

With Moscow and the West hurling charges and counter-charges at each other, the crisis appeared to be drifting away from solution.

The Russian shooting of an American military vehicle in East Germany Sunday became known Thursday. Officials in Washington confirmed the incident shortly after the State Department accused Russia of making false charges against the West in an effort to cover up Moscow's failure to live up to its responsibilities in Berlin.

Answers Soviet Note
The State Department statement was in reply to Wednesday's Soviet note charging the United States, Britain and France with provoking incidents along the Berlin wall and protecting fascist elements in West Germany.

In their note, the Russians turned down a Western bid for a later, Wedgeworth said.

They didn't move, so I knew they were dead," she had said earlier when she was found.

Laurie, despite her injuries, was conscious and uncomplaining on the trip by helicopter to safety.

Residents in the area of the plane crash said temperatures in the mountainous area had fell into the 30s since Monday when the plane vanished. Doctors attributed the good condition in which the girls were found to their excellent physical condition.

Three Days In Rugged Mountain Terrain

6-Year-Old Sticks By Injured Sister, Dead Parents

BIG BEAR, Calif. (UPI) — "Mommy and Daddy were dead. Laurie had a hurt knee and couldn't walk."

This was the reason a 6-year-old girl gave for staying three days in rugged mountain terrain without food or water beside the plane that carried her parents to their deaths.

And it is probably the reason Julie Clark and her 8-year-old sister, Laurie, are alive today.

A helicopter carrying their grandfather sighted the wreckage from the air. Travelodge Corp. vice president William R. Clark and his wife, Jacqueline, both 32, of La Mesa, Calif., were killed instantly in the plane crash Monday.

When Scott King, president of Travelodge, landed in the helicopter near his granddaughters Thursday, Julie stumbled toward him pleading: "May I have some water, please?"

Undergoes Operation
While Julie told the harrowing tale of their three days without food or water from her San Bernardino, Calif., hospital bed, her sister was in another part of the hospital undergoing a three-hour operation to set a compound fracture of her left thigh.

Looks For Water
"Laurie said I should go to the plane and try and find some water," Julie continued. "I looked all over because we always carried water, but I couldn't find any. I couldn't find any food either.

"Then Laurie told me to look for something for us to keep warm with. I went back to the plane and found a suitcase. Mommy and Daddy's clothes were in it. We put them on and huddled together to keep warm. We didn't get cold."

"Later Laurie said I should go up over the hill to get help. I got halfway up and got scared so I ran back. I didn't get scared again, though."

One of the first doctors to arrive at the scene said he was extremely impressed that the young child did not leave.

"She could easily have wandered off, but she didn't," Dr. Thomas R. Hall said. "She stayed with her wounded sister. They just fought the problem themselves with Mommy and Daddy dead."

See Search Planes
The little girls saw search planes overhead.

"But no one seemed to know we were down there," Julie said. "When the helicopters came, Laurie said they would find us because they could land anywhere."

Julie wasn't asked if her parents were dead. But she knows.

"They didn't move, so I knew they were dead," she had said earlier when she was found.

Laurie, despite her injuries, was conscious and uncomplaining on the trip by helicopter to safety.

Residents in the area of the plane crash said temperatures in the mountainous area had fell into the 30s since Monday when the plane vanished. Doctors attributed the good condition in which the girls were found to their excellent physical condition.

Dutch Airline To Transport 61 Cubans

HAVANA (UPI) — A KLM (Dutch) Airline spokesman announced Thursday night that Brazil has chartered one of the line's planes to fly 61 Cuban refugees to Guayaquil, Ecuador.

The plane has been cleared to land Saturday at Guayaquil.

The refugees, who had spent months in the Ecuadorian embassy here awaiting safe-conducts enabling them to leave Cuba, came under Brazil's care when Ecuador broke off diplomatic relations with Premier Fidel Castro's revolutionary regime April.

The KLM flight will be the sixth in eight days to ferry refugees out of Cuba. Chartered Mexican airliners flew 300 Cubans who had sought asylum in the Uruguayan embassy to Miami in a series of flights starting late last week.

Prowler Escapes; Hammer Throw In Narrow Miss

A hammer throw by a serviceman home on leave from the Navy missed its mark early today and another prowler got away.

The hammer was thrown by Robert Ruff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ruff, 618 Doucette, as he chased a man he had first spotted standing between his father's car and a hedge fence at the side of the Ruff residence.

Ruff told police he had arrived home on leave yesterday and was sitting up late talking with his father and mother.

At about 3 o'clock this morning young Ruff said he stepped out on the front porch to flip away a cigarette and he spotted the man.

He said he shouted and asked him what he was doing. The prowler ran. Ruff in his bare feet ran into the house and put on a pair of shoes and returned to the outside where he discovered the man on the other side of the house. Young Ruff had also picked up a hammer which he threw after chasing the man through an alley. The hammer missed and the chase continued, but the fleeing prowler managed to disappear in the alley in the 600 block of Doucette.

Ruff gave police a description of the man. He said he was about 5 feet, 10 inches tall, weighing 150 pounds and wore a pair of levis and dark shirt.

Patrolman E. L. Piaz investigated the report after police were called but said he was unable to find any further trace of the man.

Five Elected To Chamber Board

Five members were elected for one-year terms on the Chamber of Commerce Advisory Board as ballots were counted today in the Chamber of Commerce office.

Those elected from a list of ten nominations were Dick Evans, E. L. Green Jr., Aubrey Steele, Floyd Watson and Johnny Watson.

They will be inducted and take office at the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce on Oct. 25.

Foreign News Commentary

In the dark of after midnight in heavily guarded Cuban ports, the Soviet Union rushes a stepped-up program to bolster the regime of Fidel Castro.

Eye-witness reports tell of Russian troops playing volleyball in military installations outside Havana.

And in Washington and other American capitals the argument goes on, whether, as Nikita Khrushchev said, the Monroe Doctrine is dead.

In Managua, Nicaragua, a government spokesman demanded collective military action against the Castro regime by members of the Organization of American States. He added:

"If the United States and the O.A.S. fail to act, it means the Monroe Doctrine and the inter-American system are dead and the continued existence of the O.A.S. is unjustified."

Suggests Invasion

In Washington, Sen. Homer E. Capehart, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, suggested that Cuba should be invaded to halt the flow of Communist aid, whether material or manpower.

In April, 1961, President Kennedy told the American Society of Newspaper Editors:

"Should it ever appear that the inter-American doctrine of non-interference merely conceals or excuses a policy of non-action—then I want it clearly understood that this government will not hesitate in meeting its primary obligations, which are to the security of the nation."

Last week, the President spoke again of the Cuban situation. He told a news conference:

"I think it would be a mistake to invade Cuba."

The United States defended the Monroe Doctrine, the President said, by working to "isolate the Communist menace in Cuba."

Another Warning

This week the President took occasion further to warn Cuba against aggression anywhere in the hemisphere.

But the impression remained that the United States contemplated no more direct action than already has been taken.

The words of the President, of Senator Capehart and the Nicaraguan spokesman are indicators of the division of opinion within the American hemisphere over the Cuban question.

This year Cuba will do about 80 per cent of all its business with Communist nations.

The steady flow of Soviet technicians, military, agricultural and industrial, suggests the extent to which these experts have taken over important phases of Cuban life.

Cuban refugees confirm that there are empty bellies in Castro's Cuba and the hardships which the country is undergoing.

But the steady flow of Soviet and chartered British, Italian, West German, Greek and Norwegian vessels also illustrates the weakness of the U.S. boycott which never can become truly effective without military measures—which for global reasons the U.S. wishes to avoid.

Meanwhile, presumably, this statement of last December by the State Department still stands: "The employment situation worsened."

Figures released by the Labor Department Wednesday showed that the number of persons with jobs rose by 198,000 in August to a record 89,762,000.

Unemployment dipped by 86,000 to 3,932,000, but a normal seasonal decline for the month would have been about 450,000.

Consequently, the seasonally adjusted unemployment rate climbed from 5.3 per cent of the labor force in July to 5.8 per cent in August. This was the highest rate since last January, and the jump was the biggest since the recession month of December, 1960.

The increase did not signal the start of a business recession, said Seymour Wolfbein, the Labor Department's manpower specialist. Two unusual developments kept the jobs total high, he said.

New car production almost halted in the week the monthly labor force situation was measured. Auto plants had shut down

New car production almost halted in the week the monthly labor force situation was measured. Auto plants had shut down for annual model changeover. Consequently, a good many auto workers were on temporary lay-off. Wolfbein said the data available so far did not show how many.

The number of persons waiting to start a job within 30 days climbed by nearly 100,000. Most of them were teachers awaiting the reopening of school this month.

Both the teachers and the laid-off auto workers were counted as jobless under the government's definition. More generally, it is that anyone without a job and looking for one is unemployed.

US Asks Allies To Prevent Ships From Carrying Red Goods To Cuba

By DONALD MAY
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States has asked several of its NATO Allies to try to prevent their commercial ships from carrying Soviet goods to Cuba, official sources said today.

The action was a follow-up to President Kennedy's remark at a news conference a week ago that NATO countries should "consider what steps they could take to discourage their private vessels from being chartered by Russia for the Cuban trade."

The State Department estimated that since mid-July about 60 ships have left Soviet bloc ports for Cuba. Of these, 25 were said to be Soviet-owned and most of the rest were chartered from free world countries.

A U.S. approach to several NATO nations was made in Paris Wednesday by U.S. political representatives to the NATO Council. But it was done in private meetings with European representatives, not through NATO committee machinery.

American officials also are continuing talks with European countries on whether their trade with Cuba hampers U.S. policy of trying to isolate the Castro regime economically and whether goods embargoed to Cuba by the United States might have been transhipped through Europe.

The countries approached on the charter question included Greece, Norway, Britain and West Germany. These are said to be the NATO nations whose vessels most frequently are chartered to Russia.

Last Supper Display Is Slated Here

A life size sculptured replica of Leonardo Da Vinci's world famous painting of "The Lord's Last Supper" will be displayed here Oct. 8-9, according to Lindy Houck, president of the breakfast Optimist Club.

The display is mounted in a van-like trailer 34 feet long and will be shown on Cuyler St. in front of Heard & S Jones Drug.

The display was made by two men, John Till and Jean LeBlanc, working in their spare time because they were impressed with the dignity and meaning of the great work of art. Each figure was sculptured in clay first. Then a cast was made and the figures were poured in cast Hydrastone. The rough edges were taken off and the figures were then painted.

Painting the features and finding the clothing to match the masterpiece was in itself a great task. The result is the display, the value of which cannot be measured either monetarily or aesthetically.

In vivid reality at the table sits Jesus surrounded by His disciples as they shared together the traditional Paschal meal. Their faces show many emotions, dismay, indignation and consternation over Jesus' statement that one would betray Him. Philip is asking, "Is it I, Lord?" Simon Peter's expression is one of disbelief at what Thaddeus has repeated. James, the elder, with arms outstretched, is as one astounded. Only Judas, clutching his money bag in which he carried the meager funds of the group, sits with an expression of guilt.

The display, which will be here for the only showing this year, is being brought to Pampa by the Breakfast Optimist Club.

Ringleader Of Assassination Attempt Is Held

PARIS (UPI) — French police have arrested the ringleader of the terrorist commandos who attempted to assassinate President Charles de Gaulle Aug. 22, Minister of Interior Roger Frey announced today.

Frey identified him to a crowded news conference at the ministry of interior as Lieut. Alain Bougrenet De la Tocnaye, alias Jean-Louis Vuillier. Another alias he used was "Max," Frey said.

Police also have arrested De la Tocnaye's chief aide, a man named Prevost, who also used the name of Bremonville, Frey told newsmen.

Frey announced that 11 terrorists took part in the attack on De Gaulle as he was driving from the Elysee Palace to suburban Villacoublay Airfield.

Five of the 11 have been captured.

Difficulties In Stock Market Are Studied

By JESSE BOGUE
UPI Financial Editor
NEW YORK (UPI) — Since the stock market difficulties of last spring, economists have watched carefully for indications of what it may have done to expansion plans in various key industries.

What effect, if any, it may have had still is difficult to determine. A special federal report, from the Department of Commerce and the Securities and Exchange Commission, showed that in August U. S. companies still expected to up their 1961 expenditures for new plants and equipment by 8 per cent to $37.2 billion.

This showed no change from surveys taken in February and May. Observers noted it was the first survey of such plants since the market decline; it also was the first since the July announcement of liberalized changes in depreciation rules.

A separate report issued during the week end by one industry, chemicals, showed expenditures for the first six months of 1962 were up 8.6 per cent over the like period of 1961; that the estimated 1962 total for new plant and equipment will be $1.65 billion, 1.8 per cent higher than last year's, 3.5 per cent below the original estimate made earlier in 1962; but the highest since 1957, a record year for such spending in the industry.

The survey of the chemical industry came from the Manufacturing Chemists' Association, Inc., Washington, D. C., and appeared in September 1962 issue of the Chemical and Engineering News. It was made during July.

It indicated that earnings were encouraging for the first six months of the year; but nearly half of the chemical company officials replying to the survey believed that earnings would narrow during the last six months.

Temporary Peace In Algeria Seen

By United Press International
Events have shown there still is no great love lost among rival Algerian leaders. But severe internal pressures may enforce at least a temporary peace among them.

One of the greatest of these pressures comes from the people themselves.

Caught between opposing forces, both Algerians, the people of Algiers surged into the streets last week, shouting "Seven years of war is enough!"

Twenty thousand members of the big general union of Algerian workers staged a huge demonstration in which marchers carried banners demanding "bread, houses, work."

They threatened a general strike should fighting erupt in Algiers, in effect declaring a "plague on both your houses."

There were other pressures which threatened to leave whatever faction won with a thoroughly bankrupt country on its hands.

Port Traffic off
Unemployment was high and traffic in the port of Algiers was dropping steadily.

Banks had halted short-term loans and tax collections were almost nil.

Fear of government bankruptcy had led to widespread hoarding of the French franc which normally had been freely exchanged for the Algerian franc.

More French-owned enterprises were closing down daily and there was the increasing possibility that the estimated remaining 350,000 Frenchmen soon would decide to follow the half million who already had fled to France.

They were the professionals and skilled workers on whom the new state, for a while at least, would have to depend.

Shutdown Period
So, for the moment, hard realities transcended the personal ambitions of feuding Algerian leaders. Since any new nation must experience its period of shutdown and adjustment, there was no reason to expect otherwise of Algeria.

But other forces also were at work.

On the one hand were the estimated 65,000 men of the National Liberation Army which mostly sat out the war in neighboring Tunisia and Morocco. On the other were 30,000 guerrillas who actually fought the war and who now referred to soldiers of the ALN as "foreigners." Ambitious men led both factions.

Ahmed Ben Bella, 45, started the revolution but spent the last five years of it in French prisons. He had the support of the ALN.

Active Guerrilla Fighter
Belkacem Krim, 40, who emerged as Ben Bella's strongest opponent, had been an active guerrilla fighter against the French and later led the Algerian team in peace negotiations with the French.

These were the principals in the power struggle but there also were others who professed to want a civilian government but were reluctant to surrender the power of the military.

Politically there also were questions to be answered. Whether any new Algerian leadership would continue a close association with France, or whether it would veer either toward Moscow or a form of Nasser — type socialism, were among them.

Temperance Union Hits US Drinking

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — "It is not possible for a nation of 185 million people to drink 361,360 gallons of alcoholic beverages an hour and remain strong," the president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union (WCTU) said Thursday.

The WCTU, headed by Mrs. Fred J. Tooze of Evanston, Ill., opened its 88th annual convention today.

"A lot of people call us old ladies in witches' hats," Mrs. Tooze said. "But we've stuck to our guns over the years and the liquor industry is worried about us."

Mrs. Tooze said the convention will attack the "false formula" that alcoholism can be treated and cured.

"Americans are beginning to realize they are killing themselves and destroying their youth with what is plainly a narcotic-alcohol," Mrs. Tooze said.

Horse Feeding Rule
A general rule in feeding a horse is 1 1/4 pounds of hay and 1/2 to 3/4 pounds of grain for every hundred pounds of the horse's weight. By this standard a 1,200-pound horse would be fed 16 pounds of hay and 9 pounds of grain every day.

'Miss America' Pageant Moves To Home Stretch

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (UPI) — Miss America pageant preliminaries moved into the home stretch today with the 54 talented and pretty contestants fighting the jitters.

Miss Hawaii and Miss Michigan Thursday night won trophies in the talent and swim suit contests in that order.

Miss Hawaii, Patricia Anderson, a doll with a Metropolitan Opera voice, sang "Un Bel Di" from Madame Butterfly and wept when she won.

She said she hoped to get in touch with her parents who remained home in Honolulu because of the distance.

The swim suit winner, Carole Jean Van Valin, reacted differently when the judges selected her.

"I just didn't realize I'm just going to have to take a second look at myself in a mirror," she said.

The third round of competitions in the preliminary phase of the pageant is tonight. Saturday the judges will announce the names of contestants who merit a place on the semi-final level.

Ten hopefuls selected then will compete all over again in swim suit, evening gown and talent events to select the five finalists.

In the final phase of competition each contestant will have to answer a question taken from a fish-bowl.

Four Die In House Blaze
ALBUQUERQUE (UPI) — A 43-year-old woman and her three young grandchildren sat waiting for her daughter to give birth to another child.

Firemen found the body of Mrs. Melvina Sanchez, 43, lying beside a chair in the living room.

Her eldest grandson, Hector, 3, was strapped in the middle of the kitchen floor and the bodies of Eva Marie Garcia, 2, and Anthony Garcia, 1, were found in their bed and crib.

Authorities tentatively attributed the blaze to an overload on the electrical system or to smoking. A penny was found stuffed in the fuse box.

The chair in which Mrs. Sanchez had been sitting was badly burned but the remainder of the house escaped damage except for smoke and water.

Meanwhile, police said that Mrs. Melvina Garcia, 23, mother of the children and Mrs. Sanchez's daughter, gave birth to a baby at midnight in a nearby hospital.

Mrs. Garcia was separated from her husband, Hector, who was believed residing in California.

The Garcia home was part of a two-apartment duplex. The fire was first noticed by the next door neighbor, Mrs. Eugene Tanner, who was roused from her sleep by the smell of smoke.

She awakened her husband and together they broke down the Garcia's door, only to discover the lifeless bodies of the children and their grandmother.

The children were pronounced dead on arrival at a hospital. Mrs. Garcia suffered extensive burns on her body.

Ferry Capsizes And 20 Are Dead

SEOUL (UPI) — A ferry barge capsized in the muddy, rain-swollen Han River at Seoul today, police said about 20 of its 53 passengers were drowned.

The motor of a powerboat pushing the low, flat ferry failed, leaving it at the mercy of the swift river current. Police said passengers panicked and it overturned.

Police said the passengers included 40 men, 10 women and three children. Many were farmers or farmers' wives who had come to Seoul earlier in the day to sell vegetables, and were returning home.

The ferry was making its regular run from Seoul's Hanam district to the town of Cham Sil Ri on the other side of the 2,20-foot-wide river when the accident occurred.

The survey of the chemical industry came from the Manufacturing Chemists' Association, Inc., Washington, D. C., and appeared in September 1962 issue of the Chemical and Engineering News. It was made during July.

It indicated that earnings were encouraging for the first six months of the year; but nearly half of the chemical company officials replying to the survey believed that earnings would narrow during the last six months.

The Siren Look Of Harlow-Garbo In Hats

By GAILE DUGAS
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA) — This fall, the era of the glamorous hat is with us once more.

Glamour is a tired and over-worked word. But Jean Harlow had the real thing and so did Greta Garbo. And the hats of autumn, 1962, take their inspiration from Harlow and Garbo as well as from the Marienbad hairdo.

They tilt forward on the brow. They shadow the face mysteriously. They twist into a turban and wrap about the neck. They drip with fur. They play up the profile. Snood and kerchief versions are with us once more. So are slouch and swagger hats a la Garbo. Hats are everything they should be this fall, lending an illusion of beauty to every woman.

The 1962 versions are, of course, updated. They are not merely translations of the fashions of the 1930s. They are stunning new fashions on their own.

Some hats come with full crowns, others with true height, still others completely wrapped. Many hats have scarves attached (here's coverup for a sagging hairdo) and some have snoods. Brimmed hats aplenty, worn with brim either up or down.

Many little tams, some worn tilted to the side and others worn forward on the brow. Lots of visored caps for the particular Marienbad hairdo. And then, there are turbans.

Turbans are large and take on a truly mysterious, Far Eastern look — some in prints and some in solid colors but all of them dramatic.

LITTLE LIZ

There are too many cars of tomorrow on the roads of yesterday and too many of yesterday's cars on the roads of tomorrow.

The siren look, hallmark of Garbo and Harlow back in the 1930's, has returned to us via fall hat fashions. But this is a new, updated look that is strictly 1962. Garbo slouch hat (left) and Harlow profile hat (right) tilted to one side have been done in many new versions. Greta Garbo effect (upper left) is seen in this hat with rolled profile brim. This is done in green, furry felt by Sally Victor. The snappy profile cloche a la Harlow is done in "more hat" mood of 1962 (lower left) by Lilly Dache. Here is 1962 version of Garbo's famous glamour hat (upper right) by Mr. John. Here's updated version of the Harlow hat (lower right) in Sally Victor's trim, neat cap-cloche. This is done in gold suede for maximum chic.

Photographs Point Up Your Figure Faults

By ALICIA HART
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

When you look at your beach photographs, don't moan that the camera has added pounds to your appearance. You're probably not as heavy as you look in the candid photos, but you may be more overweight than you'd realized.

Even the camera won't make a sylph look like a baby elephant. If you appear somewhat heavier in your snapshots than you do in your mirror, perhaps your posture was careless. Slouching, when standing or sitting, can add inches to your waistline and give your shoulders a rounded thickness.

The candid shots also may tell you that you made a wrong choice when you bought your swimsuit and that vertical stripes or a deeper solid color would have been a better selection.

These pictures can be a wonderful reference source for self-improvement. So don't shriek out that you can't possibly look that bad! Just take steps to insure better results at the next picture-taking session.

The simplest way to find out exactly what your own irritating mannerisms are is to watch other women. When you meet one who pokes a finger at you to emphasize a point, don't just think of how annoying she is.

Ask yourself if you do it, too. When you're in the room with a girl who talks incessantly, consider how often you may have been just such an offender.

I attended a party recently at which one guest interrupted whenever someone else attempted to speak. It was annoying, and I was embarrassed for her. Yet she made me realize that on occasion I had done the same thing, particularly when I couldn't contain an enthusiastic comment.

I was grateful to her for making me aware of my own fault. Your mannerisms are as much a part of your appearance as your features. Most of us don't know how others see us, so we must be ruthless in judging ourselves.

Lipstick is one cosmetic that should be most carefully applied. Never glide it on and run out the door. It should always be allowed to set about 20 minutes, then blot.

If the excess isn't removed with a tissue, it can easily smear and give your lipline a ragged appearance or, even more unsightly, rub off onto your teeth.

There's nothing attractive about drinking glasses or linen napkins smeared with lipstick. And no friend cares to be greeted with a red lip print on the cheek-

Take It From Kathy

by kathy peterson

Dear Kathy: I feel awfully gipped at times when I see how much more other kids have. I don't have much to spend on clothes and never have the right thing to wear. My friends are well dressed, but I wind up wear-over and over again things that are out of style. My parents seem to think that a variety of clothes is a luxury. I have become extremely self-conscious about this and wish desperately I could do something about it.—Marty.

Dear Marty: Problems never look too sad if there's a chance things will improve. Since you are old enough to have stopped changing size constantly, you can start building an interesting wardrobe. Plan a campaign of careful shopping.

DON'T IMPULSE-SHOP. The clothes-hungry impulse shop. Figure practically how far your dollars will go to extend a wardrobe.

DON'T MISTAKE fads for fashions. Learn the difference by studying newspapers, store window and magazines. In time, you'll be able to pick out the lines that mean long-lasting fashion and the gimmicks of mere fads.

DON'T ASSUME that basic outfits must be black, severely simple and dull-looking. Think in terms of colors that blend with accessories. Style should be those long-lasting lines we mentioned. Details should be appropriate for day or informal evening wear.

DON'T BLAME others for your dilemma if you are old enough to help yourself via a part-time job, or a sewing course that will teach you to repair, alter and make clothes.

DO SHOP off-season. It takes a bit of self control to pass up the current offerings, but the gal with a limited budget can do well that way.

DO SUBSTITUTE time for money. Comparison shopping will make you familiar with real value.

DO SPLURGE on quality accessories when you can. They'll last for a long time and give an expensive look to budget dresses.

DO KEEP replacement and maintenance costs to a minimum. Keep your cloths spotless and in repair.

DO EMPHASIZE grooming. This is the real key to making a good impression.

Dear Abby... Cheater Needs To Be Put Straight

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We are a group of women who have had a two-table mah jongg club for the past ten years. We are all the original group and are friends of long standing. About three months ago we noticed that one of the women cheats. There is no question about it because several of us have been watching her and we are sure. No one wants to be the spokesman for the club and tell her we don't want to play with her any more. How can we handle this very delicate situation?

MAH JONGG CLUB
DEAR CLUB: Since no one wants to tell her privately (which would be the least humiliating), your next best method would be for the club to write a letter signed by all the members. (Crack, bam, and no flowers to the cheater!)

DEAR ABBY: I have been dating a certain young man for over a year and I could really care for him, but I can't find out how he feels about me. He takes me out about twice a week and, as far as I know, I'm the only one he dates. But he has never talked about "our future" or his feelings for me, but, oh boy, when he kisses me I just about fall apart! I can tell that he really likes me, but he never comes out and SAYS it. What is wrong with this guy?

ROZ
DEAR ROZ: Nothing. Maybe he just likes to kiss.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I were both married before, and have married children by those marriages. On recent occasions his daughter has invited us to her home for small dinner parties. She also invites his former wife who, of course, is her mother. I am not comfortable in such company, but up until now I have not wanted to make an issue of it. (His ex-wife never remarried.) MY children invite us to their homes, too but they have more sense than to invite their father at the same time. How should this be handled?

ANNOYED
DEAR ANNOYED: Tell your husband to tell his daughter that you and he are happy to accept her hospitality, but it would be much more enjoyable if she did not include her mother in that party. She'll understand. And if she doesn't WANT to understand, she is being intentionally provocative, in which case you and your husband should avoid her.

Bentley's CHATTER

all sorts of little quips reach us, and every once in a while we like to pass them on... like so.

"A man is like tea. He never knows his real strength until he gets in hot water."

"there is one thing about baldness... it's neat."

"ulcers... something you get from mountain-climbing over mole-hills."

"whether or not it is bad luck to meet a black cat depends on whether you are a man or a mouse."

this could go on for some time, but we think this is a nice one to put an end to it, especially since we have to get on with a commercial.

"mixed greens are good for this time of the year, especially when they come in fives, tens, and twenties."

we have suggestions for those mixed greens that will give you pleasure all winter, not only keep you warm but give you that personalized feeling of looking so right.

we at Bentley's are proud and happy to tell you we carry the exclusive line of Bettjean coats and suits — designed with a flair for line and fabric — each garment has a distinctive look, superbly tailored and simply elegant for their detail. Effects Of Rail Strike Form Slowly

UPI Financial Editor
NEW YORK (UPI) — When a strike such as the Chicago and Northwestern's knocks out one link in the mesh of railroads stretching across the nation, its effects may be felt only slowly in connecting lines, Eastern railroad sources said today.

Arrangements by which shipping can be routed on alternate lines go automatically into effect; the Interstate Commerce Commission, issues rerouting orders which permit this and which protect the shipper.

"Where the real long-range effects are felt, one railroad spokesman here said, "is in the after-strike business done by the struck railroad in communities where it is the only line. If shippers find other means of transportation, they may be slow in coming all the way back."

Gordon Randall, district manager of the Association of American Railroads freight traffic division, said that he knew of no unusual incidents, traffic backups or the like, to have resulted from the walkout thus far.

"Generally speaking, we have no overcap," explained a Pennsylvania Railroad representative. "So we have merely transferred shipments to other lines, like the Milwaukee Road."

A New York Central source said that Western points on its line reported some diversion of cattle shipments appeared to have taken place. They were routed to the NYC from the Chicago Burlington and Quincy or the Milwaukee, where formerly they probably would have been received from the Northwestern.

Railroad sources here generally agreed on one point, that the trucking lines would be "going in there to reap a harvest."

Analysts Are Interested In Use Of Light

By JESSE BOGUE
NEW YORK (UPI)—Light and what has happened to it in the modern laboratory has attracted the watchful attention of some market analysts, a financial publication reports.

The story of lasers and masers and of the development of fiber optics has become fairly well known among followers of modern science and its application to industry.

It is in the potential uses of the scientific findings that the analysts' interests lie. Many companies are now active in what is called the general field of optics; its influences extend to most of the science industries.

Investor News, a publication of the Francis I. duPont and Co., notes that there is an impressive list of large and small companies experimenting in and producing various articles which are considered part of the optics industry output, from eyeglasses to the more "sophisticated" items of space hardware.

But so far as profits and stock prices, it says, "for the near and medium-term at least, company scores will depend on how well they hit with their ophthalmic and apparatus sales."

"Fiber optics and lasers excite heady long-term prospects — but realizing these potentials will call for heavy R & D outlays."

Optics stocks, along with other technological issues, took their lumps in the recent stock market gyrations, but the publication said there are indications of an excellent sales and earnings year for most of the companies with a strong line of ophthalmics and apparatus, which it calls the "bread and butter" of the industry.

'Improvising' Pianist Stumps The Experts

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — Music experts are puzzled about a young concert pianist whose playing of classical compositions has a way, according to his critics, of sounding unlike the notes set down by the masters.

Although they have sincerely praised 33-year-old Frederic De Lis for a dynamic keyboard style and exciting presentation, the experts still aren't sure they're not being entertained by a talented double-talk artist.

The most recent cause for excitement over the New York-born pianist developed out of a concert he gave in the Gold Room of Pasadena Civic Auditorium in which he played pieces billed as little-known works by Bach, Beethoven, Debussy, Bartok and Liszt.

The program listed "Chorale and Free Fantasy" by Bach, "Passacaglia and Fugue on A-C-H" by Beethoven, "Three Episodes from the Fantasia" by Debussy, "Four Piano Pieces" by Bartok and "Phantasiepiece on a Motive from Wagner's Rienzi" by Liszt.

But what was played definitely was not written by the masters, according to Dr. Milton Stern of the Los Angeles State College piano department.

"I would categorically say some of the pieces exist," Stern himself a concert pianist, said after the concert. "He (De Lis) uses legitimate musical forms and names, but the music that came out was most fraudulent."

"He would start each work in the style of the composer, but would then go off on his own," Stern, who is backed up by Mrs. Lucy Peterson Vasquez, pianist for the Pasadena Symphony, claimed the performance was at best "an enormous improvised concert," at worst "an out-an-out fraud."

But the man at the center of the controversy, a pianist who made his concert debut as a 10-year-old prodigy, is doing nothing to settle the confusion. "They would say the pieces I played weren't valid even if I could prove the names are," De Lis shrugged. "So I won't say anything. Actually, I prefer to be the only one who actually knows."

Improvised concerts, at any rate, are not new to De Lis. In almost 2,000 performances since his West Coast debut in 1950 in the same Pasadena theater, De Lis has become known as an artist who can invent on the keyboard the way scientists do in the laboratory.

De Lis, a faculty member of the 30-year-old Artist-Musicians Guild School of Music, a sponsoring institute for young artists, has gained a reputation for his ability to build full-scale improvisational recitals out of themes suggested by his audience.

His programs are likely to list such ephemeral works as "Fantasia on What Comes to Mind" or "Improvisation on the Notes of Sharp, C, E-D-Flat, A-sharp." In addition, the nimble pianist has set down on paper a piano concerto, several songs and piano

Beef Market Higher In Last Month

FORT WORTH — An active market with a good demand and prices strong to $1.00 higher characterized the Texas fed cattle trade during August, according to the latest monthly summary published by the Cattle Feeders Division of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association.

A very limited supply of fed cattle available in Texas feedlots and higher prices for both dressed beef and live cattle at Mid-west markets keep upward pressure on Texas fed cattle prices.

Cattle, continued to be sold from feedlots at lighter weights and with a shorter feeding period than has been normal. "Heavier weight, choice cattle have been in strong demand but with the prices being offered for short-fed cattle there has been little incentive to hold cattle in the feedlot," said Lloyd Bergsma, director of the Cattle Feeders Division. The average cost of slaughter steers at Chicago reached a new three-year high last week of August.

Dressed beef prices moved higher during the month with a strong close the last week of the month. A big factor in the higher beef prices has been the very good consumer demand for beef.

Beef production at federally inspected plants, for the week ending August 25 was approximately equal to the same week in 1961. The average weight of cattle slaughtered during that week was down 35 pounds per animal compared to the same week last year. At Chicago, choice steer beef weighing 700-800 pounds sold $3.50 west coast markets did not show west coast market did not show as great a price increase and at Los Angeles, beef prices were only slightly higher. Choice steer beef, 650-700 pounds, sold for 43.00-43.50 compared to 42.00-42.50 at the close of last month.

Feeder cattle prices were mixed with the quality of cattle being offered at markets improved. Prices looked steady to weak with some classes of cattle as much as $1.00 lower. The demand for feeder cattle continued strong. The number of cattle and calves being placed on feed in Texas feedlots increased considerably during the month.

Think of a Russian party and immediately endless drinking of vodka comes to mind. However, earlier in the century attempts were made to stamp out this national drink. During World War I the sale of vodka was prohibited. After the revolution of November, 1917, a general prohibition was called. But the Russian reaction to prohibition was the same as in this country and vodka-drinking continues.

JACK SEALE

Has the courage to speakup for you
Sincere in his convictions
Dedicated to sound principles
JACK SEALE BELIEVES:

... WASTEFUL GOVERNMENT SPENDING CAN BE STOPPED; THAT THE BUDGET CAN BE BALANCED, AND A CUT IN TAXES CAN FOLLOW

Jack Seale believes that continuing deficit spending and inflation kill economic incentive, not only for business, but for individuals as well. He believes the American dollar will continue to be the bulwark of international trade only as long as its value is maintained. Taxes can be cut only when a sane program of government spending is adopted and efforts are made to retire the national debt. Where are the sacrifices that were promised by the New Frontier? The future will be built by those who work for it — not by those who only promise it.

... THE ECONOMY OF OUR NATION WILL PROSPER BEST WHEN THE COMPETITIVE ENTERPRISE SYSTEM IS ALLOWED TO FUNCTION

Jack Seale believes the principles of free enterprise, on which our country was founded, will provide more for the greatest number than any other system. It's the system that has made our country great. All we have to do is observe what has happened to other countries under socialistic schemes of governmental control. We don't have to take anyone's word for it. We can see for ourselves what private, competitive enterprise can do as opposed to socialistic and communistic economies.

... A FARM PROGRAM PATTERNED ALONG THE LINE OF THE FARM BUREAU PLAN IS NEEDED TO FREE THE FARMER FROM THE STRAPS OF GOVERNMENT BUREAUCRACY

Jack Seale believes the farmer wants to plan his own life. Kennedy-Freeman schemes would further chain the farmer rather than free him. Farmers are rebelling and rightly so against plans the "intellectual snobs" would force on them with utter disregard of the farmers' real wishes.

... THE INTELLIGENCE OF THE AMERICAN PEOPLE SHOULD NO LONGER BE INSULTED

Jack Seale believes that proposals for "more government, more wasteful spending and more controls over our daily lives" insult our intelligence when they're continually labeled, "in the public interest". These proposals are insulting because the American people know these are only attempts to gain further power and control.

... AMERICA IS ENGAGED IN A BATTLE FOR SURVIVAL

Jack Seale believes our economy, our freedoms and our entire way of life is at stake in our fight against Communism. For this reason he is a member of the John Birch Society in its fight against godless Communism. Jack Seale does not condone irresponsible statements and personal prejudices of any individual, organization or pressure group. Jack Seale is obligated only to the people of the 18th Congressional District. He believes we must adopt a "win" policy rather than appease and concede, and finally lose again and again. We must speak up for victory rather than apologize when we attempt to gain a victory against godless Communism.

... THE DIGNITY AND RESPONSIBILITY OF THE INDIVIDUAL IS IMPORTANT

Jack Seale believes that welfare programs should be dignified plans that will not destroy the self respect and initiative of the individual. He believes that voluntary programs should be planned for those who "need" help.

YOU, MR. and MRS. VOTER, SHOULD BE ARMED!

HOW CAN WALTER ROGERS EXPLAIN THESE VOTES?

JACK SEALE does not believe that these votes represent the will of the people of the Texas Panhandle:

- 1. FARM BILL, H.R. 11222 — killed June 21, 1962. A new vote was in favor of the Kennedy-Freeman Farm Program. Walter Rogers voted NAY. If this bill had passed, there would have been absolute and free dictation to and repatriation of farmers by a dictatorial czar, the Secretary of Agriculture.
- 2. ARMS CONTROL AND DISARMAMENT AGENCY, H.R. 9118 — passed Sept. 19, 1961. A Yea vote was for this Arms Control Agency. Walter Rogers voted Yea. John Ashbrook, Rep., Ohio, said, "This Agency will in my judgment stay completely into the hands of the one-worlders, the 'id' rather than the 'ego' boys and those who think that no sacrifice of sovereignty, honor or principle is too great to make in pursuit of the illusive goal of peace. Judging by the past record of the State Department, this Agency might better be called the SURRENDER AGENCY."
- 3. WASHINGTON D.C. AQUARIUM. Vote on passage of this bill, August 28, 1961. This project was attacked as unnecessary, in the course of debate. Rep. H. R. Gross (R, Iowa) said, "A $20 million fish tank here in Washington is not going to increase the fish population." Supporters of the bill stressed its educational value and that it would serve as a world center of specialized fishery research. Walter Rogers voted YEA to build this Aquarium.
- 4. LIMIT U.S. CONTRIBUTIONS FOR U.N. CONGO OPERATION, H.R. 11508. Walter Rogers voted NAY. This bill would have limited U.S. contributions for U.N. Congo operation to 22.05 per cent of total payments contributed by other nations instead of total cost of operation.
- 5. RAISING NATIONAL DEBT CEILING, H.R. 11976 — passed June 14, 1962. New votes were against raising the Debt Ceiling. Walter Rogers voted Yea. This bill raised the public debt limit to $200 billion. In spite of the horrible tax burden of every American family, our Federal Government continues to spend and spend and spend.
- 6. FEDERAL AID TO HIGHER EDUCATION. H. Res. 625. Providing for sending to conference H.R. 8905, to authorize assistance to public and other non-profit institutions of higher learning in financing the construction and rehabilitation of academic facilities. Agreed to May 9, 1962. MAY voters FOR sound money and AGAINST inflation, FOR local self-government and AGAINST central Government intervention. Walter Rogers voted YEA.

The indestructible relationship of God and man will be emphasized at Christian Science church services Sunday.

Scriptural selections in the Lesson-Sermon on "Man" include the following verse (Psalm 18): "It is God that girdeth me with strength, and maketh my way perfect."

A citation to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy states (p. 470): "The relations of God and man, divine Principle and idea, are indestructible in Science, and Science knows no lapse from nor return to harmony, but holds the divine order or spiritual law, in which God and all that He creates are perfect and eternal, to have remained unchanged in its eternal history."

By LOUIS CASSELS United Press International

May a Christian believe that all human souls will eventually be saved? For Roman Catholics, the answer is unequivocally no, Catholic teaching holds that all who die in a state of mortal sin are condemned to suffer eternal punishment in hell.

Most Protestant fundamentalists view the matter in the same light.

The church membership will be praying at the altar of the church in interest of Christ and His Church.

Guest Speaker At Local Church

The Rev. John Zanon of New York, a former Roman Catholic Priest, will be guest speaker at the 11 a. m. worship service in the Hobart Street Baptist Church Sunday.

Rev. Zanon is at the present affiliated with Christ's Mission of Sea Cliff in New York, "where he is faithfully proclaiming the Word of God," church representatives said.

Dr. Carver Gives Topics For Sunday

Dr. Douglas Carver, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will be in the pulpit for both worship services Sunday.

At the 11 o'clock service he will use, "Don't Let Your Corner Drag," for his sermon topic. Joe Whitten, minister of music, will direct the Church Choir in singing an anthem, "Holy Lord God" by Cain.

At the 7:30 evening worship the pastor will speak from the subject, "There's a Serpent in the Woodpile." The church choir will sing "Wonderful Grace of Jesus" by Lillenas. Miss Lane will play "From a Wayside Chapel" by Perry for the evening offertory.

There are many other Protestants, however, for whom the doctrine of universal salvation has a strong appeal.

They believe that the ultimate redemption of all human souls is the only purpose that can be ascribed to God without detracting either from his sovereignty or from his infinite love for mankind.

"It is God's will, as the New Testament puts it, that all men shall be saved," says the Rev. Dr. W. Norman Pittenger, a prominent Episcopal theologian.

They agree that God desires the salvation of all — so much that he has paid the price of reconciliation himself in the sacrifice of Christ. But he does not force his grace upon the human creatures whom he has dignified with the gift of free will.

How is the ordinary Protestant layman to choose between the doctrines of eternal punishment and universal salvation? Appoint Special Commission

The United Church of Canada appointed a special commission of 43 prominent theologians to wrestle with that question. Their report says: "Perhaps the answer is that we are not meant to choose between them."

"These doctrines are not meant to be understood as theoretical statements which are mutually incompatible," the theologians said.

"We should not think of the doctrine of universal salvation as a statement about the future which must be true or false, but as an affirmation of the present fact that God seeks to save us and all men."

"We should not think of the doctrine of eternal punishment as a statement about another world which we may accept or reject, but as a warning to us to repent."

Thomas Francis Bayard, being appointed by President Grover Cleveland as ambassador to Great Britain.

THE JOY OF GOD'S PEOPLE

Isaiah 12:1-3 And in that day thou shalt say, O Lord, I will praise thee: though thou wast angry with me, thine anger is turned away, and thou comfortedst me.

Behold, God is my salvation; I will trust, and not be afraid: for the Lord JEHOVAH is my strength and my song; he also is become my salvation.

Therefore with joy shall ye draw water out of the wells of Salvation.

King David knew the joy of the Lord as he writes in Psalms 16:11 Thou wilt show me the path of life: in thy presence is fullness of joy; at thy right hand there are pleasures of evermore.

Psalms 46:4 There is a river, the streams whereof shall make glad the city of God, the holy place of the Tabernacle of the most high.

Isaiah 35:10 And the ransomed of the Lord shall return, and come to Zion with songs and everlasting joy upon their heads: they shall obtain joy and gladness, and sorrow and sighing shall flee away.

I Peter 1:8 Whom having not seen, ye love; in whom, though now ye see Him not, yet believing, ye rejoice with joy unspeakable and full of glory.

The Child of God has a joy that cannot be explained in words as Peter said, "joy unspeakable".

Romans 14:17 For the kingdom of God is not meat and drink; but righteousness and peace, and joy in the Holy Ghost.

The Panama Daily News

AN INDEPENDENT FREEDOM NEWSPAPER

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by any government, with the gift of freedom, and that it is every man's duty to God to preserve his own liberty and respect the liberty of others. Freedom is self-control, no more, no less.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guides expressed in the Ten Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. For only when man understands Freedom and is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities in harmony with the above moral principles.

Higher Criticism

It is our growing belief that the field of higher criticism is a field that is increasingly neglected in our government institutions. So firmly imbedded is the idea of conformity in our government-run educational institutions, that criticism has degenerated into mere griping, and the careful and painstaking analysis, the penetrating challenge that can arise only from a thorough diagnosis of known data via a vis any new idea or program, is terribly neglected.

Americans, by and large, have become people who want to get along and who end up by going along.

Perhaps we have become so hardened to the constant revelation of evil in high places, to the constant use of force to collect money for each and every governmental program, that we perform an emotional and intellectual surrender and tend to retreat into our own little spheres of activity and comprehension.

This is particularly serious when the custom is followed by learned men of letters who have sufficient experience in the use of their minds and critical faculties to know better. But when government not only picks up the tab for just about anything the enormously inventive mind of a man can create, but additionally dangles all kinds of rewards in front of everyone, from the unemployed to the savant, to encourage them to spend more money and to rely ever more upon the state, a sort of moral decline sets in.

There seem to be so many things in government to criticize that the very magnitude of the problem engulfs some of our best brains. And there seem to be so few efforts to expose these horrors that it is relatively easy for the critic to turn loose a bit of venom against the real doers, and to refrain from a higher and more useful examination, devoid of venom and consequently of enormous use and merit.

Nowhere is this more apparent than in the field of economics. The understanding of economic principles is not unusually difficult. However, it is true that no

The Difference

Men who are happy are those who have learned how to conquer that which can be conquered and to cooperate with the inevitable. Best of all is the ability to tell the difference between an opportunity for change and an unchangeable natural law.

Ignorance No Longer Bliss

It should be reassuring to all Americans to hear from President Kennedy's own lips in his televised press conference that: "The Monroe Doctrine means what it has meant since President Monroe and John Quincy Adams enunciated it, and that is that we would oppose a foreign power extending its power to the Western Hemisphere. And that's why we oppose what is happening in Cuba today."

But it is disturbing to hear from the same source at the same time (in reply to other questions on Cuba) that the White House does not know whether there are any Russian "troops" in Cuba, whether anti-aircraft missiles have been shipped in yet in the absence of information on what is going on, that there is no thought at the Commander-in-Chief's level of invading Cuba.

When it is admitted that shipping into Cuba has grown so sharply that NATO ships have been pressed into service to aid Russian ships in delivering whatever mysterious cargoes of men and goods they are carrying; that the Soviets are supporting the Castro regime against economic collapse; that the island is crawling with Russian "technicians," why—in the name of the billions that have been spent on "intelligence" over recent years—don't we know what goes on?

And, more basically, when we know from bitter experience that every Communist of whatever calling is a faceless, order-taking minion of the Red menace, why do we have to know his name, rank and regiment to know whether he is an enemy? Why do we have to know whether the "technicians" are working on air strips for fighters or bombers, or on submarine shelters, or on sabotage plans, or on Cubans who may still cherish dreams of freedom—in order to brand them for what they are? And finally, why should we cling to the myth that Castro retains any authority in Cuba when he has bragged for so long of his sell-out to the Kremlin?

But, as the President has said, we are opposing "what is happening in Cuba today," because of the Monroe Doctrine. This opposition, he pointed out, has consisted of cutting off trade with Cuba, working in the OAS "and in other ways to isolate the Communist menace in Cuba." The rising tempo of the Red build-up, however, should suggest that our opposition is not working very well.

Thus, it is cold comfort to know that the Monroe Doctrine—swept under the rug by Eisenhower—has reappeared as a toothless instrument of US policy.

Pull Up A Chair

By Neal O'Hara

You may soon be offered a new fat-free, low-calorie snack wafer developed by the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture. It is comprised of about two-thirds potato solids and one-third non-fat milk solids, and the government hopes it will provide a new outlet for these farm products. The most serious type of cold is that which is caused by virus, because it is likely to lend itself to the production of complications by both bacteria and virus. Certain viruses can go into the lungs and produce virus pneumonia.

Nautical note in the Seattle Times: "The luxury liner United on its voyage from New York to Le Havre when they sit down for a small champagne dinner party." "When corporations examine the wives of executives who are up for promotion, the criteria by which the wives are judged have lately begun expanding beyond ability to hold liquor and throw a decent dinner party. In the words of one company, the wife must be 'a person who is totally adjusted to both the pressures of her internal and external world.' Today's favorite gag: While being shaved, the suave man-about-town suggested to the girl manicuring his nails that they dine, drink and dance that evening. Nervously, she declined, saying she was married. 'Oh, I don't think your husband would object to your being nice to a lonely stranger,' he purred. 'Why don't you ask him, anyway?' 'Ask him yourself,' said the manicurist. 'He's shaving you.'

Whenever you stick a U.S. postage stamp on an envelope you may be interested to know the gum on the back is a special corn dextrine, made from the starch of waxy maize. When the retail merchants of a New England city recently held their annual bargain day and "Festival of Values," one of the participants was a funeral home.

Thoughts while shaving: 1. A talented fellow who has ghost written scores of speeches for the president of a nationally famous sports puts it this way: "It's mighty hard for anyone who just works there to think like the man who owns the place, and to talk like him, on paper. No matter what you write, it sounds false—at least to you." 2. Then there's the yekel who came into a small city and gaped at the imposing Odd Fellows Hall. He looked up at the big sign which read: "T.O.O.F." Turning to a passer-by, he said, "You can't tell me that building is 100 feet." 3. Don't dogs ever become hoarse from constant barking? Now there's our neighborhood nuisance, the pet the lone spinster liberates early each morning and which proceeds to bark incessantly. A recent morning we clocked that dog yap-yap-yapping for 76 vans in just one minute—just a barking fool. 4. Tough on the tongue is that Michigan city of Hamtramck, a municipality of 35,000, entirely surrounded by the city of Detroit. On paper it's a two-syllable name, but we never heard it pronounced in fewer than three syllables—HAM-TRAM-ICK."

Country editor speaking: "The Southern business man who was fined $50 for kissing his stenographer gives us an idea. If all the girls would kiss and tell, we could pay off the national debt."

Think Twice About Working Pounds Off

Those of us who have to struggle with the weight problem concentrate almost exclusively on food intake. Rarely do we concern ourselves with variations in energy output. And, on the few occasions when the relationship between weight and physical activity is brought to our attention, we are apt to be treated to exaggerated claims made by trainers, exercisers, masseurs and others of the "strong-arm" set.

A new book by an Australian authority ("Food for Better Performance") is particularly welcome for its valuable table of caloric expenditures. Here, in brief, are some of the surprising figures on hourly caloric loss: Less than 50 calories — sweeping floors, washing small clothes, typing (electric or mechanical) watch repairing. 100 — walking at a rate of 2 m.p.h. 100 to 200 — canoeing at a 2 1/2 m.p.h., riding a walking horse, walking 3 m.p.h. or working as a machine fitter, joiner or fitter. 200 to 300 — bicycling at a rate of 1/2 m.p.h., dancing foxtrot or waltz, golfing, swimming breast or back stroke, making beds, pushing a wheel barrow holding 22 pounds or loading a chemical mixer. 300 to 400 — canoeing at a rate of 4 m.p.h., dancing the rumba, playing tennis, walking 4 m.p.h. if body weight is 200 pounds or scrubbing on hands and knees. 400 to 600 — climbing slopes, bicycling at a rate of 13 m.p.h., riding a horse that is trotting or galloping, running 4 to 7 miles or cross country, skiing on hard snow at moderate speed, swimming side stroke or digging with a pick or shovel.

As an example of the average daily expenditure of calories made by a sedentary worker (typist), Dr. R. C. Hutchinson gives an estimate of but 700 calories. Or about the amount of energy expended in just one hour in climbing, bicycling at a rate of 13 m.p.h., running 7 1/2 miles skiing or swimming side stroke.

Latest Committee Report Answers No Questions

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Suppose you are one of the three to four million Americans who own a few shares in one of the 350 mutual investment funds that make up this $19 billion poor man's stock market. The average investment in the 5.3 million mutual fund accounts is $3,500. Some people have more than one. They pay an average 8 per cent fee on their investment to have it managed by experts who are supposed to get them maximum dividends through diversification. But a good many people wonder constantly if they couldn't do better by putting the money in one or two companies on the big boards, or in an investment club, of neighbors and pals.

The best advice available on this question is — Don't look for the answer in the House Commerce Committee's latest report, "A Study of Mutual Funds." Why the answers aren't in this 600-page job nobody will ever know. But if you ever want a perfectly simple question completely confused, the best thing to do is turn it over to a committee of economists.

House Commerce Committee Chairman Oren Harris, D-Ark., in a letter of introduction to this report cites a congressional resolution authorizing an investigation into the adequacy of protection to investors under existing securities act regulations. That clear statement of purpose is what started all this. The House committee staff couldn't do the research job, so it was turned over to SEC. It had other fish to fry so a contract was sublet to the Securities Research Unit, Wharton School of Finance, University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia.

Under direction of Dr. Irwin Friend, a former SEC analyst in the late 1930s, the Wharton research unit made a study of open-end investment trusts for a fee of $35,700. But the Wharton report was completed before the market took

THE "LITTLE UNITED NATIONS" (Christian Economics)

Near the great building on the East River of New York which houses the United Nations, there is an organization called the Assembly of Captive European Nations, sometimes called the "Little United Nations." It has issued an appeal calling upon the world to remember the nine small nations, that have been enslaved by the USSR and are now suffering under cruel repression. It asked the peoples of the world to aid them in their fight for freedom.

The nine nations comprising the organizations are Albania, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Estonia, Hungary, Latvia, Lithuania, Poland and Rumania. They contain more than 80 million people. Other nations, such as East Germany, North Korea, Laos, North Viet Nam, Tibet and Outer Mongolia should be added. These peoples are the victims of Communist colonialism. While the Western powers are steadily and rapidly freeing their former colonial possessions, China and Russia are extending their sway wherever possible, notably, Asia, Africa and Latin America. The voices of these oppressed peoples should be heard and ways must be found to call attention to their plight. Let there be no new agreements with Russia and Chi-

USSR Pulls Ahead in Some Areas of Nuclear Weapons, Preliminary Analysis Shows

WASHINGTON — A preliminary analysis of the latest Soviet nuclear tests shows that the Soviet Union again has pulled ahead of the U.S. in some areas of atomic weapons design, particularly in the large-yield warheads for anti-missile missiles. In studying the results of the still-secret analysis, Defense Department officials have been disturbed by the development progress and technical sophistications shown by the Soviet Union in continuing to reduce the weight and increasing the explosive yield of these nuclear warheads.

Already, Air Force monitors have collected sufficient evidence from the radio-active debris spewed from the first nine atmospheric blasts to indicate that Soviet scientists have developed an anti-missile or anti-satellite warhead ten times more powerful than any weapon that the U.S. now has in its stockpile, on the production line, or in laboratory design.

This startling nuclear breakthrough, when coupled with the Soviet's recent space spectacular — the joint launching and maneuvering of two-man satellites within sight of each other — means that their scientists have perfected a new military space weapon system capable of intercepting and destroying U.S. satellites. The U.S. does not have this capability.

The Army's Nike-Zeus, which is the nearest weapon that the U.S. has to a satellite-killer, is under development and being tested as an anti-missile missile. From results of recent tests in the Pacific, Army scientists are convinced that the Nike-Zeus could be converted to an anti-satellite weapon, but that it will take two years of development and a billion dollars. Another U.S. satellite-interceptor is the Saint. An Air Force project, the Saint is still in the research stage.

MEETING THE CHALLENGE — This growing Soviet nuclear space thrust is the main reason behind two explosive recommendations that the Joint Chiefs of Staff have sent to President Kennedy. These military advisors are urging the President (1) to double funds for the military space program, and (2) consider taking military action, if necessary, to keep the Soviets from completing a satellite tracking station in Cuba.

A whole new range of security problems for the U.S. is being raised by the Kremlin's decision to build a tracking station just 90 miles from the Florida coast, according to the JCS. For instance, they report that the stations will give the Soviets almost instantaneous data on all U.S. satellite and missile launches from our big test center at Cape Canaveral, Fla. With this information, Russian scientists

6 Americans Doomed To Defeats In Tennis

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI)—At least two of the six Americans who slashed their way into the final "sweet 16" in the men's singles division of the U.S. tennis championships were doomed to defeat today.

The casualty list among the underdog Yanks may be higher but two had to go for sure in All-American matches involving eighth-seeded Frank Froehling of Coral Gables, Fla., vs. Ron Holmberg of West Point, N.Y., and one-time ranking ace Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, 39, vs. Ham Richardson of Dallas, 29.

The two other American survivors — Chuck McKinley of St. Ann, Mo., and Andy Lloyd of New Orleans — both were paired against foreigners. Third-seeded McKinley, who hasn't dropped a set in three rounds, was favored over Jan Leschley of Denmark and Lloyd, a Junior Davis Cupper was a toss-up against Reino Nyssonen of Finland.

Includes Favorites

The remaining 10 included the Australian favorites, Rod Laver and Roy Emerson; Mexican Cuppers Ra'ael Osuna and Antonio Palafox, Billy Knight and Mike Sangster of Britain, Jaidep Mukerjee of India and Gordon Forbes of South Africa.

Seixas and Osuna scored sensational victories Thursday with Seixas knocking over sixth-seeded Swedish Davis Cup ace Jan Erik Pampa's Green and Gold Harvesters, presenting a beautiful sight to win-hungry local fans, severely walloped a visiting AAA Hereford team in a scrimmage session on the PHS campus yesterday.

The Harvesters, getting the "feel" of the offense installed by new coach Otis Holladay, crossed the double stripe into pay dirt eight times and the visitors got two TDs and a third was called back for an infraction of the rules.

No score was kept, officially, but Harvesters fans were counting the times the officials raised their arms in the touchdown signal, nevertheless.

The home team scored in its first offensive period when Ralph Palmer scattered 20 yards to "break the ice" after contributing an earlier 20 yard gallop to the drive. On the next play after the first tally, tailback Jerry Glover racked up 20 yards and then quarterback Kenny Hebert got 30 and another touchdown. Then time ran out and it was Hereford's first offensive period.

The first play, the visitors broke a halfback loose for 60 yards and a score, only to be called back for backfield in motion. This was a momentary lapse on the part of the Harvesters, however, as the Whitefives worked on many another play before getting another score.

On the second Green and Gold effort, Palmer again broke loose for a 50 yard scamper but fumbled the ball when tackled and here the teams started playing "for real" with the ball changing hands on fumbles, etc., instead of staying on the offense and defense for timed periods.

On the third offensive drive, the Harvesters had to kick on fourth down, but made the Hereford receiver fumble and recovered the ball for another try. On the first play Glover raced 20 yards for another score.

Shortly thereafter Palmer scored again from 25 yards out, then wingback Rickey Stewart got a tally from 49 yards out, Hebert kept for 56 yards and a touchdown and, oh, oh, Hereford sandwiched in an 80-yard pass and run TD, followed by another score after a sustained drive by the Whitefives reserves, and then it was Harvesters time again.

Wingback Eugene Madrid got the next score with a 65 yard dash and then Glover scored again, racing 60 yards in the process. When it was all over, after two hours of work, coach Holladay said, "We've still got a lot of work to do, we made several mistakes, but we showed a great deal of promise this afternoon. I was particularly pleased with the team's aggressiveness during the day."

Cited by Holladay for stellar line work during the afternoon were middle linebackers Donny Ayers and Bobby Price, end Eddie Barnes, left linebacker Ricky Goodwin, guard John Brown, center linebacker Curtis Fletcher, defensive halfback Travis Tucker, guard Carl Clark and Doug Locke, right inside linebacker John Osborne and the entire first offensive line unit, ends Howard Reed and Clay Lively, tackles Keith Reimer and Dee Wright, guards Clark and Glen McCathern, and center Gary Epperson.

"I felt like they did a good job," Holladay said of the team's linemen.

Some of the "crispest" blocking and hardest tackling seen on the Pampas in many a year was in evidence Thursday afternoon as the Green and Gold showed it had made good use of the week of workouts under its belt.

Next Friday comes the real test, though, as the team plays host to El Paso, Bel Air in the official season's opener. Bel Air is expected to win its district but the Harvesters will be looking for a few scraps themselves when the visitors arrive.

There was a good turnout of fans for the scrimmage with one man making the caustic comment that, "There are more people here than at some of last year's games."

After the scrimmage session, the Harvesters were feted to a barbecue by the Pampa Quarterback Club at the stadium.

Rex Baxter Jr. Grabs 1st Round Lead In Denver Open With Par-Shattering 64

DENVER (UPI) — Former collegiate champion Rex Baxter Jr. mastered the Denver Country Club greens Thursday in fashioning a si-under-par 64 to grab the first-round lead in the Denver Open.

The former collegiate champ, Trans-Mississippi titleholder and Walker Cupper of amateur fame, blazed a 30-34-64 over the par-70 Denver Country Club layout.

It left the 26-year-old Baxter three strokes in front of his nearest competitors — Dow Finsterwald, Tequesta, Fla.; Ken Still, Tacoma, Wash., and Bill Johnston, Phoenix, Ariz.

Another stroke back at 68 were Doug Sanders, Ojai, Calif.; George Bayer, Miami; Art Wall Jr., Pocono Manor, Pa.; Don Massengale, Jacksonville, Tex., and Mason Rudolph, Clarksville, Tenn. When Baxter turned in his card early in the day, it appeared he would be followed by a rash of low scoring. But it developed that only 12 others broke par on the 6,702-yard course.

Baxter, who plays out of Amarillo, Tex., has never won a tournament since joining the pro tour more than four years ago. He has won only $8,296 in 27 tournaments this year. And his highest finish in 1952 was eighth place in the Waco, Tex., Open.

Today's round in the $30,000 tournament will trim the field of 131 to the low 70 and ties.

Giants Step Up Notch But Angels Are Fading

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

The San Francisco Giants may or may not win the 1962 National League pennant but at least they can never be accused of folding in the clutch.

The Giants — who've disappointed their San Francisco fans year after year since switching from New York — won the game that kept them in the NL race Thursday night when they downed the Los Angeles Dodgers in a head-to-head heart-stopper, 3-6.

The victory was their third of the crucial four-game series in Los Angeles and moved them to within 1½ games of the Dodgers with three weeks left in the race. There's no guarantee that a pennant will fly over San Francisco's park but at least there won't be a white feather atop the flagpole.

This was the kind of a game the Giants figured to blow — one in which they piled up an early 4-0 lead at the expense of 23-game winner Don Drysdale and then proceeded to see it tied at 4-4. They were tied again in the last of the eighth but then pushed across four big runs in the top of the ninth and made them stand up in the face of a last-ditch Dodger rally in the last of the ninth.

Kuenn's Hit Wins

Stu Miller, soft-balling relief ace, finally retired the last Dodger but it was Detroit Tiger cast-off Harvey Kuenn whose three-run double in the top of the ninth won the game. Relief pitcher Ron Perranoski had loaded the bases with none out and then walked Orlando Cepeda to force in the run that put the Giants ahead, 5-4. Then came Kuenn's base-clearing double that settled matters with the aid of Miller's relief.

Some 3,000 miles across the continent the Los Angeles Angels also, suffered a blow to their American League pennant hopes when the New York Yankees beat them, 6-5, at Yankee Stadium. That victory lifted the Yankees into a three-game lead over the idle second-place Minnesota Twins and put them 4½ games ahead of the Angels.

The Angels led behind Dean Chance, 5-2, going into the last of the seventh but the Yankees erupted as is their custom with Tom Tresh's two-run single the key blow of a four-run counter-attack that won the game. Jim Coates, who shut out the Angels the last two innings, won his seventh game while Chance suffered his eighth loss against 12 wins.

Cards Best Braves

The St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Milwaukee Braves, 7-1, and the Houston Colts rallied for a 4-3 win over the Pittsburgh Pirates in the only other major league action on Thursday.

Gene Oliver's two-run seventh-inning homer enabled the Cardinals to take a 2-1 lead and provided Ernie Broglio with the runs he needed to post his 11th win against seven losses. The Cardinals clinched the victory with five runs in the eighth inning. Frank Bolling homered for the Braves run.

"I was a little tired after all that driving," said the tour's fourth-leading money winner. "The first nine holes I couldn't feel anything. My hands were just numb."

Only four other golfers matched par on the 6,522-yard, par-74 Eugene Country Club course.

They were Miss Smith; Mary Mills of Ocean Springs, Miss.; Barbara Romack of Sacramento, Calif., and Carol Mann of Olympic Fields, Ill.

Mickey Wright, winner of the Spokane Open and the leading money winner on the women's tour this year, finished with a 40-39-79, six strokes off the pace.

Neutrality Law Prohibits Americans From Getting Involved In Wars With 'Friends'

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The Havana waterfront is bombarded by Cuban exiles based in Miami. An American soldier of fortune is rounded up in the Congo. A U.S. liner is shot down while fighting for Indonesian rebels. Yet the United States has strict laws designed to insure neutrality in such situations. The following dispatch deals with this seeming anomaly.)

By DONALD MAY
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—In April, 1953, a Yankee schooner scudded into New York harbor, bringing the first news of a new war in Europe.

The fact that a series of ocean gales had cut off the United States from all news of the Continent for three months — including France's declaration of war on Great Britain and Spain — could help to explain the policy the United States subsequently adopted.

President George Washington issued his famous proclamation of neutrality. He said it was the "disposition" of this country to "pursue a conduct friendly and impartial toward the belligerent powers." He warned Americans against "aiding or abetting hostilities."

Congress followed by passing a series of "neutrality laws" making it a crime to aid belligerent states or to mount military expeditions from U.S. shores against a friendly state.

Washington's policy of neutrality is now long gone, now that two world wars have left the United States intimately involved in the affairs of most of the world. But the neutrality laws have remained with little change.

The laws came into the news on Aug. 24 when two boatloads of young Cuban exiles, based in Miami, slipped into Havana harbor. They shot up a large amount of water front real estate, including a hotel housing Russian technicians.

The law was not invoked in April, 1961, when about 1,000 Cuban exiles, many from the United States, made their ill-fated invasion attempt at the Bay of Pigs.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy ruled they had not departed on an invasion but had gone as individuals to "join an insurgent group,"

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—The following list speaks best for itself: Thursday night, CBS-TV killed its "Accent" series, a colorful weekly look at American personalities, places and history, and will replace it with "Mister Ed," a show about a talking horse.

Why? Don't be silly, Money. "Accent," which was switched from a weekend afternoon slot and given a night-time showing this summer, was one of the better programs on the air, a fine example of how to combine entertainment and education. Thursday night, it bowed off with "Pearl Harbor: Unforgotten," a change of pace from lighter subjects but an often-moving half-hour from the site of the 1941 Japanese attack.

The recorded voices of persons who were at the scene on Dec. 7, 1941, were interwoven dramatically with an educated camera that scanned the area which Japanese planes turned into a graveyard of American ships.

Some of the voices were poignant. One person remembered screams of "War! War! War!" Another said: "I was mad... I was an Army reserve officer, and I put on my uniform."

In sharp counterpoint, host John Ciardi cut from time to time to a young petty officer, who was not yet born when the attack took place but was the guide on a boat that took tourists on a Pearl Harbor trip. The sailor's cold, almost naive recitation of the historical facts gave the show its sought-after effect of illustrating how the infamous day is now just a relic to a new generation.

Perhaps the most moving moments came in a visit to the shrine at the site of the final resting place of the USS Arizona. The main deck of the Arizona is only eight feet below the water's surface.

Amid all the talk of improved informational programming, and the cancellation of "Accent," it is interesting to note that none of the three networks has scheduled a single new documentary news-type show for prime evening time in the coming season.

Ciardi, poetry expert for the Saturday Review magazine, wrote of "Accent" in the publication's Sept. 1 issue, with justifiable pride: that it had "a firm grasp of the fact that TV cannot afford to dabble in ideas unless it remembers to be entertainment first."

But, he adds, the series "has been constantly hobbled by lack of cash. I hope the series will go on... but if it does, I hope CBS will give it enough budget for it to have a real chance... In TV the miracles are finally on the side where the cash is... If CBS wants it to be as good as it can be, the network has only to put up the cash."

Ciardi also wrote with droll humor that he likes to watch the "sinkers" on television. "Mister Ed" should add to his pleasure.

In July, Richard Nixon appeared on NBC-TV's "Your First Impression." Thursday, his California gubernatorial foe, Gov. Edmund Brown, was on the same show. NBC said Brown asked for equal time and was granted it immediately.

The Channel Swim: Maurice Chevalier guests Sept. 16 on CBS-TV's "Who in the World...". Robert O. Lewis is temporary host of NBC-TV's "Play Your Hunch" for two weeks starting Oct. 1; regular emcee Merv Griffin quits to start his new daytime variety show.

ABC-TV airs its heralded on-ing from the United States to take action as a military force against a nation with whom the United States is at peace."

Use of this country as a base for anti-Castro Cubans plagued State Department policy as far back as February, 1960. At that time, the department was forced to send the Fidel Castro government "sincere regrets" over an incident in which a light plane from Florida exploded over Cuba.

A few days later the Cubans charged that another plane, a twin-engine bomber, had shot up a suburb of Havana. The United States denied any knowledge of the incident.

In March, 1961, two American flyers, Howard Rindquist and William Schergales, were captured when they landed their Piper Comanche on a Cuban highway. The Cubans charged they were trying to smuggle state enemies out of Cuba.

U.S. officials intimated the Cuban government might have staged the whole thing as an anti-American stunt.

No matter how tight the controls, agents found it impossible to police all the private airfields in Florida and nearby states. In May, 1961, Cuba claimed to have captured a light plane on a highway outside Havana and to have killed the pilot. The FAA said the plane was rented in Louisiana.

In another but related category is the diplomatic problem of American citizens who go off to join in another country's battles.

When United Nations forces rounded up mercenaries fighting for Katanga President Moise Tshombe in the Congo recently they found that one of Tshombe's pilots was Hubert Faulstich Julian, a soldier of fortune from New York City.

In another case, Alan L. Pope, was shot down in 1958 while flying a B26 bomber for Indonesian rebels. He was sentenced to death by an Indonesian court, but the State Department, after years of efforts, recently won his release.

LEGISLATORS' RETREAT?—Rep. Robert Barry, R-N.Y., reportedly is trying to interest fellow legislators in joining him for relaxation on Fisher's Island, a retreat five miles out into the Atlantic off New London, Conn. Flying time from Washington, D.C., is about two hours. The congressman could buy a room, completely furnished house next to one owned by Barry for $135,000. Called Windshield, the house has been vacant for several years. It has 14 bedrooms and three big sleeping porches. Interior and exterior views of the house are shown. Barry believes the house would benefit the nation.

Says It's Crazy But She Will Try For The 'Most Watchable Girl' Title

By HARRY MILLICAN
NEW YORK (UPI)—She was tall, red-haired, beautiful and shapely. When she walked into the office, typewriters stopped for a moment, and there were a few whistles.

"I'm Ellen Nevdal," she introduced herself. "I'm 25 years old, 5 feet 7 1/2 inches in my stocking feet, weigh 124 pounds and measure 34-22-35. I'm a model and TV actress. I was born in Bergen, Norway, and American men are crazy."

Why are they crazy?
"Because they are, that's why. They tell me 750,000 of them belong to this silly organization."
What organization?
"The American Society of Girl Watchers, that's what organization."

And what has this to do with her?
"Well, I was minding my own business, and somebody entered my name in the beauty contest they're having. There were 25 of us, and I was one of the four girls they picked for the finals. If I win I'll be the 'Most Watchable Girl' in America."

So what's wrong with that?
"It's absurd, that's what's wrong. I can understand a society of bird watchers, but girl watchers! They even had a 'Girl Watcher's Guide.' Can you imagine, a man having to read a book to find out how to watch girls?"

But, doesn't she want to win?
"Well, maybe the publicity would do me some good. But men have been watching me all my life—it certainly wouldn't be a new career."
Does she like being watched?
"Of course I do. Heavens, when men quit looking at a girl, it's time for her to start wondering what's wrong with her."

Do American and European men watch girls the same way?
"No, not really. In Norway, the men look at girls, but they do it discreetly. In Paris, they are so open about it, they almost overwhelm you. In Italy, they not only look at you, but pinch you where you sit. Americans are sort of in between, in a kind of guilty way. I guess they're cute as well as crazy."
Does she like to look at men?

TO CONTINUE AID ROME (UPI)—The United States will donate food for Italian school children for at least another two years, according to the U.S. Embassy here.
Governments of the two countries have reached their fifth agreement for distribution of about $4 million worth of U.S. food among 1.4 million Italian children aged 3-14.

ROAD GETS PICKLED SAINT AVOLD, France (UPI)—A tractor-trailer truck overturned near here Tuesday, dumping 28 tons of cucumbers on the highway.

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—Martin Gilbert, the Van Alstyne, Noel & Co. analyst says that on the basis of Tuesday's decline, it seems likely that there will be some further selling before the market settles down again.

However, he believes support will be forthcoming, and he doubts if any setback of an important nature is in the offing. As far as he is concerned, the up-trend line recently established, should hold with the prospect in view of further buying orders coming in shortly.

Smitten & Safian's weekly analysis says there do not seem to be enough stocks which are ready for a substantial move to make it worthwhile for traders to take positions in additional situations at the moment. It says the longer-term outlook is still one of exceptional strength, but during the next several trading days, "we expect stocks to back and fill around current levels."

Harris Upham & Co.'s monthly review says that if the advance continues into October, it could well be a time to add to cash reserves in hopes of buying a greater number of shares during the tax-selling period that seems likely from November into December.
