Nehru Says Some Indian Troops Got To Safety After Red Encirclement

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru said today that hundreds of Indian soldiers trapped when the Communist Chinese cut them off at Se La Pass may be making their way to safety.

Nehru, speaking to Parliament, said about 1,000 members of the battered 4th Division already have made their way back to Indian lines.

"They have not reported actually to their headquarters," he said. "They were traced by some of our helicopters. The exact number is not known. It is possible a fair number may be in a different column."

It was hearing news for members of Parliament and the soldiers' families since there had been no word of the missing division since they were trapped by a Chinese flanking movement a week ago.

Asks Clarification

Nehru said there was no new word from the front lines, indicating a four-day-old cease fire.

BULLETIN

NEW DELHI (UPI) — India today rejected a key portion of the Chinese Communist cease-fire proposal because it would give the Reds 2,000 square miles of Indian claimed territory they acquired by force. But an Indian spokesman said the proposals were still under study.

U.S. Gen. Paul Adams, British Gen. Sir Richard Hull and others flew to Assam state via Calcutta Sunday for talks with local commanders and an aerial survey.

1,300 More Take Polio Vaccine Here

Nearly 1,300 Gray County residents took Type II of the Sabin oral polio vaccine yesterday afternoon in a make-up session, but the total number of people taking Type II was almost 1,500 less than took the Type I inoculation.

The final figure for those taking the vaccine inoculation was 16,595 as compared to 18,031 that received the Type I dosage.

The inoculation was administered yesterday afternoon from 1:45 p.m. in the Stephen F. Austin grade school.

Helping with Sunday's Part II of the polio inoculation program were the Top O' Texas Medical Society, pharmacists, Jaycees, Jaycee-Ettes, Gray Ladies, nurses, nurses' aides, and others.

Part III of the Sabin Oral Vaccine project will be given sometime in January.

Fidel Castro Demands US Dismantle 'Terror Camps'

Guatemalan Revolt Put Down After Three Hours

GUATEMALA CITY (UPI) — President Miguel Ydigoras Fuentes personally directed loyal army troops Sunday in squelching a three-hour air force uprising he said was directed by agents of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro.

Two civilians were killed and scores injured during the battle between strafing air force planes and army ground units using anti-aircraft batteries and machine guns.

The number of military casualties was not known. Five Mustang fighters and three twin-engine medium bombers made repeated passes over the presidential palace, infantry garrisons and police headquarters, raking them with rocket and machine gun fire.

Shoot Down Plane

A statement from the presidency said anti-aircraft guns shot down one of the fighter planes. Police headquarters was reported destroyed.

The revolt collapsed when army troops backed by mortars and artillery surrounded the Aurora International Airport south of the city and forced air force infantrymen to surrender.

The airport was the center of the revolt which started shortly after 9 a.m. and snuffed out by noon. The government said rebellion was confined to a few officers in the capital and did not spread to the interior.

The presidency announced that three leaders of the revolt — all air force colonels — had fled by airplane, probably to El Salvador. Ydigoras told reporters that their fellow officers had asked him to permit the escape as a "favor."

Identifies Colonels
(In Washington, Guatemalan Ambassador Carlos Alejos identified the colonels as Carlos Marroquin, Jose Gonzales Batres and Manuel Asturias Sobral. He said they did not have any left-wing affiliation.)

The State Department in Washington said one United States citizen received a flesh wound from falling shrapnel during the brief battle. She was Mrs. Phillip F. Snare, wife of a political officer of the U.S. Embassy, whose home was near the bombed installations.)

Would Be 'Price' For Cuban Inspections

HAVANA (UPI) — Premier Fidel Castro's government demanded today that the United States dismantle "training camps of mercenaries, spies, saboteurs and terrorists" under United Nations inspection as a price for international inspection of Cuba.

The demand by the cabinet and the national board of the Integrated Revolutionary Organizations (ORI) was printed today in the government newspaper Revolution.

It was formulated at a two-hour joint session Sunday night and was designed to answer President Kennedy's statements on the Cuban crisis in his press conference last Tuesday.

Quarantine Lifted

Kennedy at that time announced he was lifting the naval quarantine of Cuba because Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev had told him all Russian bombers would be withdrawn from the island within 30 days.

The President noted, however, that Cuba "has not yet permitted the United Nations to verify whether all offensive weapons have been removed and no lasting safeguards have yet been established against the future introduction of offensive weapons back into Cuba."

CoC Directors To Attend Lubbock Training School

A delegation of 12 to 15 persons headed by the executive officers and board members of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce will go to Lubbock Wednesday to attend a training institute for directors of Commerce officers, directors and committee chairmen.

Some 150 persons from West Texas and Eastern New Mexico towns and cities are expected to attend the one-day training school.

The Pampa delegation will be headed by Dr. Joe E. Donaldson, president; Aubrey Steele, vice president; Loyd Davies, finance director; and E. O. Wedgeworth, secretary-manager of the Pampa Chamber. The training institute is sponsored by the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Heading the list of leaders for the conference is Frank Mueller, manager of the State Chamber of Commerce Service Department of the U.S. Chamber. Other discussion leaders and panelists include Milton O. Fletcher, Assistant Manager of the Local Chamber of Commerce Service Department of the National Chamber; Robert E. Reilly, District Manager of the U.S. Chamber; J. Lodge Craig, Manager of the United States Chamber and Fred H. Husbands, Executive Vice President of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Invitations have been mailed to some 50 Chambers of Commerce in the West Texas-Eastern New Mexico area and a list of names is being prepared for the meeting according to John A. President Reviews Crisis-Area Troops

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter
FT. STEWART, Ga. (UPI) — President Kennedy embarked today on a day-long tour of the massive force of men and planes he rushed into position to meet any threat arising from the Cuban crisis.

The President, accompanied by Joint Chiefs of Staff and Adm. Robert L. Dennison, landed at Hunter Air Force Base by jet from Washington and boarded a helicopter for Ft. Stewart.

Dennison, commander of the Atlantic Fleet, is in overall command of Cuban operations. Kennedy was joined here by Rep. Carl Vinson, D-Ga., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee.

Kennedy was greeted at Ft. Stewart by an awesome impressive mass of men and machines. Drawn up on a giant reviewing field was the entire 1st Armored Division, reactivated at Ft. Hood, Tex., last February.

The division symbolized the reserve might of the United States and the Minuteman-like call to arms that the President sounded several weeks ago.

Mobilization Record

Maj. Gen. Ralph E. Haines Jr., division commander, said he knew of no "previous troop movement wherein an entire armored division, with its full complement of men, equipment and supplies for combat, was initiated from a standing alert in 24 hours and completed in a little over two weeks."

Kennedy rode in an open sedan down the columns of men and steel, accompanied by General Haines and Gen. Maxwell Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Although the weather was sunny but chilly and breezy, Kennedy wore no topcoat.

After Ft. Stewart the President inspected Homestead Air Force Base, Fla., headquarters for the Cuban operation, and Boca Chica naval air station and Key West naval base in the Florida keys.

Before leaving Washington this morning the President urged the world to grasp a new opportunity to end nuclear weapons testing.

He said "the crucial developments within recent weeks have served to confirm both the need and urgency" of disarmament. He asked that high priority be given to a nuclear test ban agreement, which Russia has blocked on the question of inspection.

Kennedy noted that the United States has completed its series of atmospheric tests and "there is hope that the Soviet Union eventually will soon conclude its series of atmospheric tests."

Time for Agreement

"This suggests that a moment may be at hand to initiate the beginning of the end of the upward spiral of weapons competition. If so, the opportunity must not be lost."

On his 11-hour tour, Kennedy planned visits to:

Ft. Stewart, Ga., to review the 1st Armored Division and which troops cover a "confidence course."

Homestead Air Force Base, Fla., advanced headquarters for Cuban operations, where his stops will include the building where reconnaissance pilots are debriefed after their flights.

Boca Chica naval air station and Key West naval base, far down the Florida keys. He will watch Navy pilots "scramble" their planes and may talk to reconnaissance pilots.

Back at Bases

The mighty force of men and planes that Kennedy pushed into the southeastern United States a few weeks ago was sent back to home bases when Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev pulled his long-range missiles out of Cuba and promised to get Russian bombers out quickly.

Christmas Decorations All In Place

Monday shoppers in Pampa made their rounds in a holiday atmosphere today.

The downtown business section was shining with Christmas decorations put in place yesterday by members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The Christmas lights, however, will not be turned on until Friday afternoon for the annual Santa Day parade.

The big Yule pageant is scheduled to get under way at 4 p.m. Friday from its starting point at Craven and S. Cuyler streets and will move north through the downtown area.

Bands, floats and marching units depicting the Christmas theme will feature the annual parade.

Highlight, of course, will be the appearance of Santa Claus who, immediately following the parade, will meet the children in Courthouse Square where candy and favors will be distributed by Santa's helpers.

Downtown merchants, civic and church groups and other organizations throughout the city have been invited to enter floats in the parade. Special prizes will be awarded for the best decorated entries.

Inmate Dies Trying To Prevent Kidnaping

By DE VAN SHUMWAY
FOLSOM, Calif. (UPI) — A deeply religious Folsom prison inmate died Sunday in a futile attempt to stop three other prisoners from kidnaping and holding hostage members of a church choir who had come to sing for them.

Conrad N. Becker, 41, serving time for burglary, was stabbed three times with a makeshift knife. He died without knowing that the three convicts released their prisoners unharmed after negotiations with prison authorities.

The stabbing occurred in the prison chapel of the maximum security prison just as the 18-member Bethel Choir from nearby Sacramento finished its first hymn of the afternoon services.

Becker noticed the three convicts, all armed with some sort of weapons, walking purposefully up the aisle toward the choir. He screamed, "Praise God," and attempted to tackle one of the men who turned and stabbed him repeatedly.

Serving Life Sentences

The convicts, all serving life sentences, hustled six of the started choir members and the prison chaplain into the chaplain's seven-by-seven foot office.

Then they began negotiations for release with Warden Robert A. Feinae, and Richard A. McGee, director of the California prison system. Discussions were carried on through a window of the door which one convict smashed.

"They wanted us to open the gates, and we just don't open gates," said Heinz. "It's possible that these fellows just wanted to give it a try to see if it would work."

After three and a half hours the convicts, Farrell Fenion, 29, Edward W. Maher, 27, and Edward Caught, 29, released their seven hostages.

The inmates then were questioned and placed in solitary confinement.

Death Penalty Mandatory

McGee, called to the prison from Sacramento, said later that he promised the men he would ask the district attorney not to prosecute them under a state law which makes the death penalty mandatory for a life convicted of assault with a deadly weapon. Nevertheless, Asst. Dist. Atty.

Oscar Kistle said he would ask the Sacramento grand jury for murder indictments against all three.

Becker was described as a man with deep religious convictions. He attended Sunday choir sessions whenever possible in order to take part in the group singing.

The members of the choir held prisoner were identified as Frank Dotson, Howard Hooker, Naaman Hall, Joseph Crike, Herschel Dean, and their leader, the Rev. Frank Mapes. Prison chaplain Heald Overy also was held.

Warm, woolly, pretty head coverings for the depths of winter offer real chic. Elongated, cuffed hooding cap (left) trails a pom-pom at the tip of a wool braid. These Woolly Charmers Have Style

By GAILE DUGAS Women's Editor

NEW YORK (NEA)—When the winds blow cold and sharp, a girl likes to feel warm and cozy. But she doesn't necessarily want to look as if she had a head cold. This season, designers have conquered the problem with a series of budget-priced, woolly charmers that keep the head warm and the girl pretty. When it comes to separating the women and the girls, fashion draws few lines these days. Stores are quite well aware that matrons sneak into college shops for sweaters, slacks and skirts. And that they crowd hat bars right along with the younger set. So these new cold weather head warmers are aimed at girls of all ages. They are designed to hug the head and to stay in place despite wintry winds, sleet or snow. What good is a hood if it slips down your back when the going is rough?

At the same time, these new designs offer lots of fashion for very little money. They were designed to make the wearer look good while keeping warm. Also important: For the winter traveler, such head warmers are ideal.

They pack flat, emerge fresh from a suitcase and are easily on hand whenever they're wanted. And they are available in many colors and color combinations to suit you.

POLLY'S POINTERS

She Bells Her Husband And Gets Beauty Sleep!

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—To find out how early my husband returns home after a night out with the boys, I pin a bell to the end of the sheet on his side of the bed. When he wearily climbs in, the bell wakes me.

DEAR GIRLS—Of course, your only reason for doing this would be the assurance that hubby had a good time. If any other motives were lurking in the back of A.R.'s mind (I feel sure they were not) the following letter is for her—

DEAR POLLY—I want to share my favorite preserving recipe with you and the girls. "How to Preserve a Husband." Be careful of your selection. Do not choose too young. When once selected, give your entire thought to preparation for domestic use. Some insist on keeping them in a pickle, others are constantly getting them in hot water. This makes them sour, hard and sometimes bitter. Even poor varieties may be made sweet, tender and good by garnishing them with patience, well sweetened with love and seasoned with kisses. Wrap them in a mantle of charity. Keep warm with a steady fire of domestic devotion and serve with peaches and cream. Thus prepared, they will keep for years.

M. C.
DEAR POLLY—Here is one for the motorist. When oven mitts wear thin and the heat comes through, launder and keep them in the car. They are excellent for keeping the windshield clear on nasty days when it fogs up. By the time they are ready for this chore, the stiffness has gone and it is even possible to drive with one on.

DEAR POLLY—If your television set has rabbit ears and you have picture trouble, improve the picture by wrapping the rabbit ears with aluminum foil.

C. W.
GIRLS—With due respect to my television repairman (who says it is the bunk) television reception is often better with foiled wrapped "ears." I have used them for a long time.

Guard Against 'Winter Susceptibility' By Planning A Healthful, Nutritious Diet

Healthful nutrition is a year-round job. But as cooler weather comes to Texas, it becomes increasingly important to guard against falling victim of "winter susceptibility."

There really isn't any such term, but the fact of the matter is that bodily resistance may be lessened during fall and winter. For this reason it is smart to continue to observe the rules of good nutrition.

The well-fed family receives the basic foods in their daily diet. Food rich in protein should be served at every meal. Meat, fish, poultry, eggs, cheese and milk are sources of high quality protein. Other sources are cereals, peas, beans, and nuts. A green or yellow vegetable should be served at least once a day. These contain essential vitamins and minerals and are especially rich in vitamin A. Because it cannot be stored in the body, vitamin C (from citrus fruits, tomatoes and certain other fresh or processed fruits and vegetables) is needed every day. With the addition of these to round out meals according to tastes and appetites, the well-fed family is provided with the nutrients needed for health and growth.

Breakfast is probably the most important meal of the day because you have gone without food for such a long period of time. One-third of our daily diet should be eaten at breakfast.

Breakfast is essential to children. Fruit, meal, eggs, or other protein rich food and cereal or bread and butter and milk make a good breakfast. Three good nutritious meals a day will go a long way toward keeping you fit through fall and winter and all year long.

Bethany SS Class Meets In Hotel

The Bethany Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church met recently in the Pampa Hotel. A guest, Miss Darline Elliott, a missionary living in Columbia, talked of her work there. Mrs. Mabel Wipier, presented the invocation and breakfast was served. A beautiful devotional was given by Mrs. T. V. Love, using the subject, "Clouds of Glory," and closed with prayer. Mrs. P. G. Turner, president, presided during the business meeting. Reports were given and birth days for the month of December were announced. It was decided that the Christmas party will be in the lounge of the First Baptist Church, Dec. 14. Members attending were Mmes. Winter, Austin, McKinney, Love, Ramsay, Patterson, McDaniel, Henry, Vandover, Young, Anderson, Wells, Greene, Egerton, Turner, Davis, Gamage and Miss Edna King.

Bridal Shower For Couple In Church

Miss Linda Sue Gustavus, Wichita Falls and M. Duane Dunham, 2128 N. Sumner, were honored with a bridal shower Nov. 18 at the parlor of the First Baptist Church. The brides colors of gold and white were carried out in the table decorations and crystal appointments were used. The cake featured individual, gold wedding bells with two large hearts inscribed with "Linda and Butch." The centerpiece consisted of an arrangement of white mums, gold leaves and gold candles. Mrs. R. A. Dunham assisted in opening the gifts. Cake and punch were served by Mrs. Lynn Love and Mrs. Woody Stewart with Mrs. Terry Jo Haralson assisting at the guest register. Hostesses for the occasion were: Mmes. G. L. Craddock, Leon Fain, James C. Scott, M. E. Wray, H. T. Gantz, D. L. Allen, S. B. Haralson, Glenn Sanders and W. H. Scherer. Approximately 50 guests attended or sent gifts.

Dear Abby....

He's Just A Growing 'Boy'!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Our son had only one more year before graduating from law school when his wife made him quit. She said there was no future in law. She talked him into selling on commission. One week they eat chicken and the next week they eat feathers. Now she says they need $1000 to get his teeth fixed — for "business reasons." How can teeth be important in business unless you are a horse? If she would let him finish law school, he would have something in his head and nobody would look at his teeth. She has made a horse of him! He's our only son and we love him. Should we give him the money?

THE OLD FOLKS
DEAR OLD FOLKS: If your son is required to meet the public, his teeth ARE important. You don't help children (some child!) to stand alone by GIVING them things. LEND him the money.

DEAR ABBY: Is it possible to fall in love with a picture?

DEAR C. C.: Yes. But it invariably ends in frustration because a picture can't love back.

Remains Of Large Bird Are Found With Wreckage Of Downed Airliner

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI)—The remains of a large bird found in the tail stabilizer of a downed airliner plane which crashed and killed 17 persons here Friday were identified today as those of a swan.

Dr. Russell E. Fisher, chief Maryland medical examiner, said her pieces of the bird's carcass were found 10 feet from the left stabilizer of the plane.

"I've got a foot-square piece of the carcass," Fisher said. "It's white with down below the feathers—it couldn't be anything else but a swan."

Fisher said the 12-to-18 pound bird migrates from Canada to the Chesapeake Bay area every winter. He said the swans travel in flocks which number up to 150.

She was born Aug. 16, 1896, at Queen, Penn., and came to Lefors in 1935. She had resided in Pampa since 1940.

Survivors include the husband, W. H. Hoover, of the home address; three sons, B. W. of Huntsville, C. C. and Lee of Pampa; three daughters, Mrs. Joan Marie Daggett of Hayward, Calif., Mrs. Mary Jean Mayfield of Borger, and Mrs. Joyce Katherine Bryant of Amarillo; her mother, Mrs. June Haslitt of Marianville, Penn.; five brothers, Merle, Clifton, Fred, Gaylord and Clayton, all of Pennsylvania; two sisters, Mrs. Violet Mensch of Marianville, Pa., and Mrs. Nora Burick of Richmond, N. Y.; 18 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Pampan Defends Farmer's Role In Conservation

Jan C. Mills, range conservationist, issued a statement from his Gray County Soil Conservation office today, in which he said farmers and ranchers often are criticized for accepting cost-share payments for carrying out conservation practices and that many think the farmers and ranchers are getting rich out of these payments.

"Actually," Mills said, "the farmers and ranchers have to stand their part of the cost of carrying out the various conservation practices."

In the remainder of his statement, Mills said:

"Who benefits from the conservation practices that are cost-shared? Many of the conservation practices are not carried out to increase yields, but are carried out to prevent further damage to our remaining soil. Every one benefits from conservation practices carried out by our farmers and ranchers and cost-shared by the federal government. This generation and generations to come will benefit from money invested in permanent conservation by farmers, ranchers and the government. In 1959 our population was 151,999,800 and 180,000,000 in 1960. At this rate it has been estimated that the population will be 280,000,000 in 1980, and 350 million in 2000. It is highly important that our remaining land be protected from further erosion.

"If money invested in conservation by the government is a subsidy, then everyone benefits from this subsidy. If countries like India, Spain, Greece and China had practiced good conservation hundreds of years ago they would not have millions of people on a starvation diet today. There are millions of acres of land that have been completely destroyed by erosion. Had you rather live in a country of plenty or a country of want? It is high time we started congratulating our farmers and ranchers for doing an outstanding job of conserving our most precious heritage, the soil."

James Madison was the first U.S. president to sign a declaration of war, against Great Britain on June 18, 1812.

Eight Amish Are Jailed In School Case

INDEPENDENCE, Iowa (UPI)—Eight bearded Amish men, who believe they know what's good for their children, remained in jail today rather than pay $10 fines for rejecting state-approved education.

The farmers were sentenced to three-day terms by Justice of the Peace J. M. Koepfel on Saturday, but a ninth paid his fine and another's case was continued because of his illness.

They appeared in court on charges of "failure to cause a child to attend a certified school," which had been filed by Buchanan County School Supt. J. J. Jorgensen.

Jorgensen said the Amish, who drive buggies and wear homespun garb, have refused to hire qualified teachers for the two private schools they operate. Under Iowa law, a "qualified" teacher must have a college education.

Pilot Survives Fall Of 600 Feet

LOSSIEMOUTH, Scotland (UPI)—A Navy pilot fell 600 feet to the ground Friday without serious injury when his parachute failed to open after he bailed out of his crippled plane, an admiralty spokesman reported Saturday.

"I thought I had had it," said Naval Sub-Lt. Christopher Legg. He ejected himself from his single-seat Scimitar jet when it went out of control at 500 feet. Because the plane was so low and in a deep bank, the pilot's parachute did not open.

Legg was picked up by helicopters 90 seconds after the crash and held in a hospital for observation. He was not visibly injured. An admiralty spokesman said there was not time for the parachute to be effective.

Two Hunters Are Accidentally Killed

CONROE (UPI)—Two Texas hunters have been shot by persons who mistook them for wild turkeys.

Funeral services were scheduled today for Howard Sheets, 31, of Houston, shot down Saturday in dense underbrush in the Sam Houston National Forest. Sheriff Fred Bull said Glen McCown, 22, of Houston mistook Sheets for a turkey.

Billy Ed Nixon, 17, was shot and killed Thursday when another hunter shot him out of perch in a tree. The other hunter, Ben Harbour, 19, of Austin, said he thought Harbour was a "turkey or some kind of big bird."

Sheriff's Officers Are Seeking Pump

Sheriff's officers today were on the hunt throughout Gray County for a 16-hp. Wisconsin gasoline irrigation pump stolen from Memory Gardens cemetery.

Sheriff Rule Jordan asked farmers and ranchers to be on the lookout for anyone trying to dispose of a pump of this type.

The pump carries serial number 2371557, the sheriff said, and was purchased for the cemetery only about six months ago. The pump was valued at $375, according to Hoyt Haysie, Memory Gardens manager.

Thefts And Prowler Are Reported

A prowler report was turned in shortly before 10 p.m. Sunday by Mrs. Roy McWhirt, 541 S. Gray. She told police she heard someone walking in the driveway at the side of the house.

Patrolmen C. L. Wallace and Charles Matson hurried to the scene but said they could not find any trace of anyone in the immediate neighborhood.

Mrs. E. L. Emerson, 217 N. Sumner, reported this morning that a 50-foot roll of red picket fence was stolen from her back yard sometime last night.

A fender skirt was stolen from the car of Jerry Thomas, 413 S. Ballard, while Thomas was in Lee's Cafe, 400 S. Cuyler, last night. The stolen fender skirt was valued at $10.

Hayden P. Harrison reported that someone entered the Standard Amusement Co., 625 S. Cuyler, by prying open a rear window last night and stole two boxes containing about 400 phonograph records.

Harrison said the records were used ones from juke boxes that had been serviced throughout the city. No value was placed on them.

Two Fires Reported

A small grass fire Sunday afternoon on the east end of Francis Street caused no damage. The fire was reported to the Pampa Fire Department at 2:58 p.m. yesterday.

At 6:40 p.m., the fire department was called to put out a burning log caused from another small fire. No damage was reported.

Woman Asks Man To Duel

LA PAZ, Bolivia (UPI)—A spinster member of congress has formally challenged her party leader to a duel to the death. It is believed the first such challenge ever issued by a woman in Bolivia.

Rosa Lema Dolz, aggressive member of the chamber of deputies for the neo-Marxist National Revolutionary Movement (MNR), was thrown out of the party "for lack of party discipline" by chief Armando Bascope.

She challenged Bascope to the duel and named two other MNR women leaders as her seconds.

"If he won't duel, I'll kill him anyway," the spinster said.

Bascope could not be reached for comment.

Kennedy was accompanied by the Joint Chiefs of Staff and Adm. Robert L. Dennison, commander of the Atlantic Fleet, who is in overall command of Cuban operations.

The Tactical Air Command reported Sunday, as a "backdrop" to Kennedy's visit, that it had nearly a thousand warplanes ready for action in the southeast at the height of the Cuban crisis.

It rushed in from other parts of the country a fleet of RF101 reconnaissance jets, RB66 jet reconnaissance bombers, F100, F104 and F105 jet fighters and KB50 aerial tankers. It reported that it also delivered about 7,000 military personnel and 3,300 tons of support equipment to key bases.

In an apparent reference to the Soviet missile and bomber withdrawal, Mikoyan spoke of "difficult times for Cuba and for our people" but he said Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev was "the closest friend of the Cuban people who did much for them and who played an important role" in settling the crisis peacefully.

As in former statements, the Soviet deputy premier backed Castro's five demands for a settlement of U.S.-Cuban tension, including American withdrawal from the Guantanamo naval base.

'Twill Ever Be Thus

The mass walkout of Russian construction workers at an industrial site in Siberia is the latest indication that things are not as they once were in the U.S.S.R. when Stalin ruled supreme.

On the other hand, this overt demonstration of dissatisfaction with living conditions shows that some things have not changed, even after 45 years of communism. Human nature, for instance.

Consider the remark of an official in charge of state investment in the area. Citing the problem of constant labor turnover, he said: "If you cannot interest a person from a material point of view, you are not going to keep him on the job."

The discovery of this elementary truth apparently comes as a profound shock to the Marxists. It goes contrary to the book. A new type of selfless, dedicated Soviet man was supposed to be in the making, free of the distortions caused by "capitalistic exploitation."

Russians, however, seem to have much like anybody else once state direction of their lives is relaxed ever so slightly. Incentive shapes the performance. They want the good life today, not in some promised Utopia to come.

Two-Way Street

Although it's still a part of American folklore that all city lads have grandparents living on a farm who they excitedly visit at Thanksgiving and Christmas ("Over the hills to grandmother's house..."), there just aren't that many grandparents with farms to go around anymore.

Time was — and not so long ago, either — when this was a predominantly rural nation. Today, as farm population continues to shrink and fewer Americans have ties with the land, a real problem of misunderstanding between rural and urban folk has emerged.

The city dweller visualizes the farmer sitting back with government check in hand to survey the fields he is paid not to plant.

IN THE WAY

Governments Destroy Desire to Produce

My wife purchased an attractive, well made and nicely packaged item. The price was quite reasonable. We found a tag stating the product had been made in Hong Kong. I made a casual remark about how tough it would be to compete with this low price and then decided to think the matter out more fully.

After a couple of hours of figuring, we arrived at several conclusions: It would be possible to manufacture the item in this country on a competitive basis despite present day labor and material costs if we could get government off our backs. Taxes and government intrusions would run up the actual costs of operating to such an extent as to make it virtually impossible to achieve a net profit of more than 5 per cent on an investment of about $100,000.

Since $100,000 invested in savings and loan associations earns about the same return, it doesn't make good sense to gamble $100,000 in a private enterprise endeavor of this kind under present circumstances.

This reminded us of some correspondence we had with a man who, a few months ago, planned to open up a small manufacturing business in the Pacific Northwest. He bought land, began to build a home preliminary to starting work on the construction of a small factory building. Before he managed more than a few breaths government began to get in his way. Then a labor union began to explain the facts of life to him. Then the potential employer of about 20 people rebelled. He finished his home and abandoned plans for his small factory.

In our own area a man who had spent 20 years building up a fine small business decided to expand a little. Government moved in and told him what he would have to do and how much he would have to spend and as government continued to tell him what he could do with his own money, he began to get the message, threw up his hands and decided to get out of business, completely. He left the state last week.

Last week a man asked us for directions which would set him on the right road to find a couple of men who build an excellent product. They live many miles from the next closest place of habitation and the visitor was quite upset. "Why do they live out there? I've seen their product and I can sell 100 of them without stirring from my office but I am not interested. Maybe I can talk some sense into them."

I started to tell him he was wasting his time but decided to mind my own business. The people who build the product turn out about ten a year. They have refused orders for ten times that many. If they expand their business they will become involved with government, taxes, intrusions and confusions. They have been turning business away for more than five years. Government has killed their urge to earn.

We know of others, a dairyman, a couple of farmers, a photographer, the owner of a successful advertising agency, a magazine publisher and more. Each has moved out and away from the rat race because he couldn't get government and confiscatory taxation off his back. How many hundreds or thousands of Americans are following this same road? We will probably never know.

When governments steal from earners for the support of those who prefer not to earn, for the support of foreign governments and an incessantly growing bureaucracy, something has to give. A relatively few people become so disgusted as to feel compelled to move out and away from the enslavers. They fight for their right to live as decent, self-responsible human beings in freedom.

There is one unsalable fact which should be mentioned in this connection; When government gets in the way of the people, government stumbles all over itself every time it turns around. Good luck and good health to you, in Freedom.

Pull Up A Chair

By Frank J. Markey

We are always amazed when we look up at our reference shelf and spot WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA, bound in its familiar red cover. My copy is Volume 32 and it is published by the A. N. Marquis Co., of Chicago, a non-profit foundation. This volume has been continuously published since 1899 and has had many imitators, who have been stopped by the Courts and the Federal Trade Commission. The Courts adjudged that no one can use the title WHO'S WHO, even though they add the words in Clergy, Lay, Physicians, etc.

No man or woman can buy their way into this great book. You are selected by a board of editors because you are notable and outstanding in your field of endeavor. You are in because you are known nationally for reputable achievement. Other names are included on account of their position in civil, educational, military, etc.

This biographical reference has 3588 pages of listings. It took 18 months to prepare this 1962-1963 edition and represents the world's most difficult job of small type setting. Its manufacturing operation is the equivalent of TWO AND ONE HALF MILLION (correct) novels of typical bulk. The first publisher was A. N. Marquis and in 1950 the WHO'S WHO Properties were transferred to a non-profit corporation. The present publisher is Jackson Martindell.

State Dept. bigwigs have observed that the greatest aid to an understanding of the American way of life is circulating the catalogs of our great mail order houses all over the world — and especially behind the Iron Curtain. A mail order catalog is propaganda that no communist commissar can deny.

Only the more rugged mortals should attempt to keep up with current literature. (George Ade). The fastest train run in the U.S. was recorded just 57 years ago when the Pennsylvania railroad's Broadway Limited, between New York and Chicago, covered three miles in 85 seconds, traveling at the rate of 127 m.p.h. Those who subscribe to magazines by filling out a coupon and promising to pay later represent a loss of about 10 per cent to the publishers. The other 90 per cent pay up.

One phrase of newspaper columning is that some readers' memories betray them and they think they read one thing in a certain column which was actually written by a rival columnist. One New York syndicate writer (Inez Robb) reports that within a 24-hour period she was congratulated on writing columns produced by three other columnists (two men and a woman). It prompted her to write: "One of the occupational hazards of columning is the depressing conviction that his deathless prose goes in one paper and out the other, with the reader — God bless him! — not remembering from one day to another, who wrote what, which and where."

The elder statesmen of the New York press have an organization known as the Society of the Silurians. About 750 members meet twice annually. To be eligible a member must have served on the Metropolitan press over 25 years ago. Among the founders were Charles Edward Russell and David G. Baillie, father of the famous Hugh Baillie, who is the outgoing president. For many years Hugh was President of the United Press. Another old great press association chief, Barry Farris, is editor of the Silurian Bulletin. He was Executive Editor of the old International News Service, which the United Press took over a few years ago. George Sokolsky, nationally syndicated columnist, is always asked to make a speech, regardless of whether he is among those scheduled and delights with his sharp wit. Besides writing a daily column, George spends a great deal of his time in charitable endeavors taking care of old newspapermen who are ill or who have met with reverses. The charitable fund is supported by the Silurians but the names of those aided is never revealed. Sokolsky merely reports to the annual meeting about the case as Project 8 or 9. He alone keeps the secrets.

MEMORY LANE: The days when eating lobster and ice cream, or drinking milk after eating cherries was supposed to give you a violent attack of ptomaine poisoning, if, indeed, it didn't kill you.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The average employe thief during 1961 helped to steal an estimated $3 billion from U.S. companies, according to a case-history study made recently by one of the nation's major business-security and research organizations.

Only 25 per cent of these thefts are cash, the other 75 per cent in merchandise. The average thief is in his early thirties, father of two children and a member of two or more social organizations, the survey disclosed.

There's Only One Sure Cure

Edson In Washington Premier's Threat To Quit Stirs New Crisis In Laos

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Neutralist Laotian Prince Souvanna Phouma's threat to resign as premier of his country's three-and-a-half months old coalition government with Communists and anti-Communists prompts a quick look at this Southeast Asia trouble spot.

Laos did not become an issue in the U.S. elections this year although Republican and some Democratic critics of the Kennedy administration have been lambasting the President's handling of this situation all year.

The reply to this political complaining is that the Geneva accord with the Russians and a dozen other interested nations, which ended active warfare in Laos, was fully explained to congressional leaders before it was signed on July 23. It was accepted, not as a perfect solution, but the best deal possible.

The realistic appraisal of the Laotian situation today is that all the troubles foreseen are still there, but there is no fighting. In this respect, Laos is better off than Viet Nam.

The most interesting thing about Laos is that it is the only three-headed, neutralist, Communist and anti-Communist "troika" government in existence.

Hopes were that it could be made to work in a small country under the most favorable conditions, with big power guarantees.

Laos still has its anti-Communist forces under Gen. Phoumi Nosavan and Communist Pathet Lao forces under Prince Souphanouvong. They are supposed to be working with the latter's half-brother, Prince Souvanna Phouma as neutralist premier.

A provision in setting up the new regime was that all foreign troops were to leave the country. The 866 Americans under Maj. Gen. R. H. Tucker, head of the U.S. military assistance group, checked out on time.

Forty North Vietnamese went through the formality of checking out through the U.N. International Control Commission post in Vientiane. But how many of the estimated 10,000 Vietnamese supporting the Communist Pathet Lao forces have walked back where they came from is unknown.

Premier Souvanna Phouma recently returned from the North Vietnamese capital in Hanoi, where he went to discuss closing the Ho Chi-minh trail through Laos to South Viet Nam and withdrawal of forces from Laos. Before going there, he announced that if he could not get satisfaction, he would go on to Peking, to talk to the Red Chinese. He did not go.

But on his own return to Laos, the premier admitted there are "still plenty of differences" in his own government.

The three factions have adopted a Constitution. There is a Parliament, elected in 1960 without Pathet Lao votes or deputies. It is therefore unrecognized by Prince Souphanouvong. But the Parliament recently gave the premier emergency powers which he is now trying to carry out.

His cabinet is supposed to be the top executive body but it is split three ways. Under the cabinet is a Commission for Verification of the Geneva Accord and a Cease-Fire Committee. Neither has been able to do what the names indicate. Souvanna Phouma has fewer than 10,000 troops under his direct control to keep order. This contrasts with more than 20,000 Communist and 50,000 loyalist troops. There is no agreement on how to integrate these three forces and reduce them to a 20,000 man army under the central government.

The Doctor Says:

Body Build, Not Height, Is Guide to Normal Weight

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT Q—Am 47, my height is 5-feet-5 1/2 inches, and I have weighed about 130 pounds all my adult life. In the last year or two, however, my weight has gone up to as much as 142 pounds and I feel like a balloon.

At present, even though I am down to 129, I am very conscious of my extra weight because it seems to be mostly on my thighs. I have tried to cut down on fatty foods and sweets but after about three days of this I crave for something sweet.

Arbitrary figures for the desirable weight in an adult of a certain height have been discarded and ranges of weights depending on body build have been adopted in their place. If you have a medium frame your weight should be between 118 and 133 pounds. Unless you have a special condition, your excessive weight can come only from taking more calories than you can use up.

Many people make the mistake of trying to lose weight too rapidly. This leads to fatigue and irritability. The two most important factors in losing weight are: (1) a sincere wish to lose and to maintain the weight at a desirable level and (2) the choice of enough food to give you an average loss of about half a pound a week. This requires a lot of will power but there are no short cuts to weight loss that are compatible with maintaining optimal health.

Q—I have been having trouble for some time with my head stopping up. The only relief I can get is to use a nose spray. Is there any other treatment that I should use?

Normally, the breathing is easier through one side of the nose than the other and there is a rhythmic alternation between the two sides. When the congestion affects both sides at once there is great discomfort.

I don't know what kind of nose spray you are using but some sprays, even though they give temporary relief, interfere with the movement of the cilia, which are tiny hairlike structures found in all mucous membranes that cause secretions to flow in a certain direction.

When these cilia are temporarily paralyzed the secretions are dammed back and the feeling of congestion is aggravated. The safest procedure is to use sprays or drops that do not paralyze these cilia. Warm salt water is frequently helpful.

Unfortunately, long continued use of other substances, whether in the form of saline, nose drops, inhalers or sprays will set up a chronic congestion, the very condition you are trying to cure. Such a congestion is hard to eliminate.

Pentagon Officials, Especially Sylvester, To Face Senate Grilling on Information Policy of Denial

WASHINGTON — Pentagon officials face sharp congressional grilling on their denials that high-level Russian planes have made reconnaissance flights over south-eastern United States.

Senate Armed Services Committee members, who have detailed information about these Soviet reconnaissance flights, intend to closely interrogate Defense authorities. Particularly slated for questioning is Assistant Defense Secretary Arthur Sylvester, in charge of press relations, whose normal practice is to issue blanket denials on everything he doesn't personally announce — which is very little!

Illustrative of Sylvester's general cover-up policy was his denial of this column's disclosure that IL-28 supersonic jet bombers were in Cuba. Sylvester airily brushed this report aside as unfounded. Shortly thereafter these planes, capable of carrying nuclear bombs, publicly became a major issue in the tense negotiations over offense weapons between President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev.

Similarly, Sylvester tartly denied this column's revelation that a number of Russian submarines were operating in the Caribbean, and that the Navy had allowed three to pass through the "quarantine" to dock at Banos, 80 miles northeast of Guantanamo. The following week the Pentagon officially admitted the presence of these subs and released an air photo of one of them surfacing.

This column had reported that two of the Red subs had been photographed while recharging their batteries on the surface. A complete record of these and other cover-up instances is being compiled by influential members of the Senate Armed Services Committee. They are increasingly concerned over the administration's iron-handed news control policy and plan to thoroughly air it after Congress reconvenes January 9.

Sylvester's flat denial of the Red reconnaissance overflights is evoking particular indignation because of the detailed information the senators now have on them. The lawmakers are convinced this was a deliberate suppression of facts, and they propose to ascertain who was responsible for it and why.

WHAT THEY'RE HIDING — The following are publishable details of the Red overflights that are in the hands of Armed Services Committee members:

At the very time Sylvester was publicly denying this column's disclosure of the high-level Soviet reconnaissance flights, the Defense Intelligence Agency was circulating photographs of the movement of the cilia, which are tiny hairlike structures found in all mucous membranes that cause secretions to flow in a certain direction. When these cilia are temporarily paralyzed the secretions are dammed back and the feeling of congestion is aggravated. The safest procedure is to use sprays or drops that do not paralyze these cilia. Warm salt water is frequently helpful.

Unfortunately, long continued use of other substances, whether in the form of saline, nose drops, inhalers or sprays will set up a chronic congestion, the very condition you are trying to cure. Such a congestion is hard to eliminate.
