Success Is Hinted In Talks On Bay Of Pigs Prisoners

Chief Negotiator Is In Cuba To See Castro

By MARTIN McREYNOLDS
United Press International

James B. Donovan, chief negotiator for the release of the 1,113 prisoners captured during the Bay of Pigs invasion left New York suddenly Sunday night for Cuba to try to complete final arrangements for the captives' release before Christmas.

Donovan was accompanied by Alvaro Sanchez, Jr., national chairman of the Cuban Families committee for the liberation of prisoners of war, and Mrs. Berta Barreto, committee coordinator in Havana.

The three were reported in Miami waiting final word on an appointment with Cuban Premier Fidel Castro.

Sudden Summons

A committee spokesman said Donovan received a phone call instructing him to leave for Cuba Sunday night.

"We are very hopeful this whole situation can be cleared up in the next few days," the spokesman said. "We're back in a cliff hanging situation."

In Washington, a State Department official said Donovan's passport has been validated for a trip to Cuba.

Donovan, a key figure in the efforts to raise $62 million worth of medicine, food and other supplies which Castro has demanded as "fines" for the prisoners, said Sunday in New York he could not comment on the status of the negotiations "for the time being."

A spokesman for the American Red Cross said the Farrell Lines freighter African pilot was standing by in Baltimore harbor to carry supplies to Cuba for the barter "when and if needed."

To Sail Today

A Farrell Lines spokesman indicated the ship would sail today but declined to give its destination. A call went out for a sailing crew to report.

The Baltimore Sun said the ship tentatively was scheduled to sail for Miami today to pick up $13 million worth of medicines and food and then sail to Havana. It said the prisoners would be flown back.

In Havana, a usually reliable informant said the deal was near completion, with only details remaining, such as which prisoners will be released first and how the exchange will be coordinated.

British officials have reacted sharply to reports that the United States will abandon the missile which is being developed jointly by both countries. Britain has counted on the missile to be the backbone of its nuclear strike force.

'Skybolt' Tussle Spreads

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration was threatened today with the possibility of congressional retaliation if it scraps the Skybolt missile.

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., said Sunday that unless arguments for cancelling the Skybolt program were truly convincing "this would affect many other programs that the administration might like to see go through Congress."

Symington obviously did not think the administration could justify killing Skybolt.

He said that if the Skybolt was discarded he would not see a future for the Air Force. He noted that Russians have developed anti-aircraft missiles that are able to shoot down bombers before they reach their targets.

The Skybolt is an air-to-ground missile. It is fired from a plane, as far as 1,000 miles from target.

The warning by Symington, one of Congress' most influential military specialists, added a second front to the Skybolt controversy.

No Charges Are Filed In Man's Death

BORGER (UPI) — James E. Spangler, 32, on parole from federal prison for bank robbery, was shot four times and killed Sunday on the front porch of his ex-wife's home.

Police said Earl W. Marvel, 31, crippled from an industrial accident, admitted shooting Spangler. Marvel said Spangler had pushed his way into the home minutes before.

No charges were filed against Marvel.

Marvel's wife, Ethel Marvel, 29, and Spangler had been divorced since 1952.

Police said Spangler had gone to the Marvel home earlier in the day. They said the ex-convict wanted Mrs. Marvel to come back to him.

Mrs. Marvel said she talked Spangler into sitting in his car with her and their 15-year-old daughter Marilyn Sue. She said her ex-husband had been drinking. Police quoted the woman as saying Spangler ran toward the house saying he was going to beat Marvel.

The woman said Spangler ignored her husband's command not to enter the house. She said Spangler was shot as he ripped open the screen door.

Marilyn, told by her mother to "go get somebody," raced off in Spangler's car. She had a minor collision as she turned into a local drive-in restaurant.

In their hands lies the responsibility for planning and seeing that the MoD campaign is carried out efficiently and productively. ## Pampa Will Get Police Dog; Night Patrols Increased Pampa will add a canine member to the police force after the first of the year, City Manager Harold Schmitzer said today.

Patrolman C. L. Wallace will be the dog's handler, Schmitzer said, and a fenced kennel already has been built for the police dog at Wallace's home, 1124 S. Sumner.

The city manager said the dog is a gift to Pampa by W. B. Gunn of Gunn Bros. Game Farm, Amarillo.

Gunn, a former Pampan, also will defray the cost of training the patrolman with the dog, Robert D. Wilberforce, Amarillo trainer, will train Patrolman Wallace and the dog, Schmitzer said.

Gunn, in a letter to the city manager, said it would be necessary to postpone the training session because of the Christmas holidays.

"The plan is to start the training right after the first of the year," Schmitzer said.

The city manager and Police Chief Jim Conner also announced today they were stepping up plans to increase police protection in the downtown area with special night patrols of the business area.

Fire Chief Ernest Winborne also announced that a radio car patrol has been put into service from midnight until dawn to check streets and alleys in the downtown area to provide additional fire detection.

Work was begun today on the installation of 50 additional 6,000-lumen lights at strategic places in downtown alleys, according to R. B. Cooke, public works director.

"These moves are being taken to afford increased police and fire protection in the downtown areas," City Manager Schmitzer said.

Macmillan Off For JFK Visit

LONDON (UPI)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan flew off today to meet President Kennedy in the Bahamas, expressing confidence that the Skybolt missile issue—which has created the worst Anglo-American rift since the Suez crisis—could be settled.

"I have no doubt we shall find a way through our difficulties in a spirit of agreement we shall always have with the American people and administration," he said in an airport statement.

"At this moment—after Cuba—we have to try to make a new assessment so far as we can of the position between East and West," Macmillan said. "Can the position be turned to our advantage? Is there a chance of getting ahead with some of these questions—nuclear tests, disarmament and other matters? Might it not lead to a broader agreement between the two great blocs of power?"

Over 5,000 Take Part In Annual 'Pampa Pilgrimage'

The fourth annual Pampa Pilgrimage, the Pampa High School Key Club's community-wide "Family Walk to Church," was determined a "success," according to Melvin T. Munn, counselor of the organization.

Fourteen Key Club members manning phones received reports from the 38 participating churches and relayed attendance marks to the First Baptist Church, where John Holloway, general chairman of the fourth annual Pampa Pilgrimage compiled the count. Final attendance was 5,243.

The record attendance mark of more than 7,000 was set in 1959, the year of the first Pilgrimage. In 1960 and 1961 attendance was in excess of 5,000.

Many of the participating churches reported all pews full at this special holiday season service.

Raymond Nance, president of the Key Club, gave a brief Christmas Challenge speech during the special services.

A prayer of dedication was given by Hank Henry.

Wife Seeks To Visit Man Reds Hold In Spy Case

MOSCOW (UPI) — A British housewife hoped to find out today when she may see her husband, imprisoned as a key figure in the major spy case building up here.

Mrs. Sheila Wynne arrived Saturday to see her husband, Greig, who was arrested in Budapest Nov. 2. He was brought here and subsequently is alleged to have confessed taking part in spy ring in Russia. He is believed to be held in Lubyanka prison.

Soviet newspapers so far have named five American diplomats as members of the ring and hinted Sunday that the list could grow.

Big Trial Seen
The signs indicated a buildup for the biggest Soviet show trial since the 1960 conviction of U.S. pilot Francis Gary Powers on charges of aerial espionage.

Two U. S. diplomats—embassy archivist Richard C. Jacobs, of Egg Harbor, N. J., and assistant agricultural attache Rodney W. Carlson, 30, of Alcester, S. D., have left the Soviet Union.

Pravda, the Communist party newspaper, Saturday accused three other embassy employees of being "cloak and dagger" agents.

Security officer Hugh Montgomery, 39, of Springfield, Mass., embassy doctor and assistant Air attache Capt. Alexis H. Davison, 31, of Atlanta; and second secretary Robert K. German, 35, of Dallas, Tex.

Jacobs was accused of spying Nov. 2 and was expelled three days later. Carlson left Russia last Friday after an official Tass news agency dispatch linked him with the alleged ring.

Embassy officials said they have received no government demands yet that the other three embassy employees be expelled.

Russian Accused
The seventh man accused of belonging to the ring is a Soviet government employe, Oleg V. Penkovsky was corrupted by such western customs as the Charleston and the twist while studying the secret codes used to send political, military and economic secrets of the West, a Russian dispatch said.

"He dreamed of the time when he would be in the New York or London night clubs for good," it said. "But the ordinary Soviet people who worked alongside Penkovsky helped the security police to expose and catch the brazen traitor red-handed."

President Slates Unique TV Report
WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy will give the nation tonight a unique television report on his first two years in the White House.

The President taped an hour-long interview for showing over the major networks to start a busy week of activity before he heads for Palm Beach, Fla., to spend Christmas with his family.

On his agenda today was a session with the executive committee of the National Security Council and a late afternoon ceremony to light the national Christmas tree. He will speak briefly at the tree-lighting ceremony

Mothers Win 1st Round In 'Tree Fight'

SHARON, Mass. (UPI) — Irate mothers have won the first round in a battle to force authorities to rescind an order banning Christmas trees from three public schools.

School Committee Chairman Richard Hosmer Sunday night called a special public hearing for Wednesday night to discuss the controversy.

"Results of the hearing could lead me to immediately call an emergency meeting of the school committee," Hosmer said.

The hearing was scheduled after 24 mothers, bundled against sub-freezing temperatures, trudged through snow covered streets circulating petitions to force a special school committee meeting.

They collected about 1,000 names on the petitions in this tiny hamlet of only 4,000 voters.

The controversy was touched off last week when principals at Sharon High School and the East and Heights elementary schools ordered teachers not to permit Christmas trees in classrooms this year.

The principals said they were fearful that the trees violated laws governing separation of church and state.

2 Escapees Now Back In 'The Rock'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The myth of "invincible Alcatraz," tarnished six months ago when three inmates disappeared from the island prison in San Francisco Bay, was shattered a second time Sunday night when two convicts escaped from "The Rock."

Both men were captured in a matter of hours.

John Paul Scott, 35, a Kentucky bank robber, floated and swam three miles through the churning, rain-swept bay and landed on a rock under the Golden Gate Bridge.

Another bank robber, D. Lee Parker of Canton, Ohio, was captured 28 minutes later as he shivered on a rock outcropping known as "Little Alcatraz," only 100 yards off the main island.

But Scott, using a makeshift set of water wings including an inflated shirt and several pair of surgical gloves, made it to Fort Point, a Civil War era fortress directly under the bridge on the San Francisco side.

He was seen there by two unidentified boys who called the military police at the Presidio of San Francisco. A team of MPs and firemen captured the shivering, speechless convict. A spokesman at Letterman Army Hospital, where he was treated for exposure, said he had been in the water at least an hour and a half.

Charles Laughton Victim Of Cancer

By JOSEPH FINNIGAN
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Award-winning actor Charles Laughton is dead.

The rotund, 63-year-old actor lost his long battle with cancer Saturday night.

Actress Elsa Lanchester, his wife since 1929, was at his bedside when Laughton died in his sleep.

The film and stage star's brother, Frank Laughton, said Sunday funeral arrangements were pending because Miss Lanchester, who had kept up a cheerful front during the long illness, was "taking the death quite hard."

Laughton had been fighting the losing battle with cancer for nearly a year. He entered Cedars of Lebanon Hospital July 30 but on Nov. 30 was granted his last wish—to die at home.

Felt No Pain
A family spokesman said Laughton was "feeling no pain toward the end. He had been in a coma for several hours and was resting quietly under sedation before that."

Laughton was mourned by his friends as a great talent and a great friend.

"Charles was a great grizzly bear and he vainly tried to hide his big, pink plush heart," said actress Agnes Moorehead when she learned of his death.

"I doubt if Mr. Laughton had any foes," actress Joan Crawford said. "He always frightened me and other people in our industry, but only by his great talent."

"Laughton was an actor who dared," commented Kirk Douglas who appeared in "Spartacus" with Laughton in 1960. "The modern trend in acting is to underplay and, as a result, many actors come up doing nothing. But when Laughton was on the stage or screen, you knew it."

Become U.S. Citizens
"A director couldn't hope to direct a Laughton picture," said Lewis Milestone, director of Laughton in "Jamaica Inn" in 1938. "The best he could hope for was to refer to."

Laughton and his wife became United States citizens in 1930.

"We have been wanting to very much for a long time," he said. "I took the step with the deepest, religious convictions that this is what I want to do."

The actor had no illusion about himself. The son of an innkeeper at Scarborough, England, where he was born July 1, 1890, Laughton (See LAUGHTON, Page 3)

Heat Cap Helps Keep Hair In Condition

So much time is spent indoors during the cold months that overheated rooms have a drying effect on the hair and scalp. And if you find that your hair is lusterless and won't hold a setting, you probably need a series of conditioning treatments.

You can restore health to a dry scalp and brittle hair in a number of ways. Weekly hot oil treatments will do the trick, or daily use of a heatless conditioner.

But a new cream, used together with a heat cap, will give you at home, the same kind of professional conditioning treatment that you would get at a salon.

Shampoo your hair first. Then section it off and apply the conditioning cream, rich in lanolin and protein, until the entire head is saturated. Then massage the conditioner into the scalp and all through your hair.

Slip on the heat bonnet, which has three settings, and leave it on a comfortable temperature for about a half-hour. You can do other grooming chores or read while it works.

After you remove the cap, thoroughly rinse your hair with warm water until the conditioner is removed. Then set as usual.

You'll find that your setting will hold in place longer, and after just a few treatments, a healthy gloss will return to your hair.

To counteract the drying effects of overheated rooms, this girl conditions her hair at home with a proteinized cream conditioner and heating cap.

Return that best seller you borrowed before it becomes last season's best seller.

The Lichtstock, or light stand, a pyramid of wooden shelves upon which are placed small lighted candles, is a traditional Christmas decoration in Germany. A similar stand is still used in Italy where lighted Christmas trees have never become really popular.

Take It From Kathy

by Kathy Peterson

Dear Kathy: We have a problem with a teacher and a "teacher's pet." She's always a "teacher's pet," and gets the best marks by doing it. The people who just sit in class and do their work don't get the marks they deserve. Things are so obviously unfair, but we can't do anything about it. If we complain, we're afraid we'll fail. What should we do?—Gypped.

Teachers are people and people are human. You or any of your friends could wind up in the profession. Think about things more carefully.

Any leader is expected to be a little more perfect than those he directs. Teachers, like clergymen, are pretty severely criticized as soon as they fall short of the ideal.

If a teacher gives a student extra attention, it's usually because he's at one end of the scale or the other. He could be a hard worker, or the very poor student who needs and gratefully accepts help. I've seen situations in which a "teacher's pet" was resented, but never one in which a student received an "A" for inferior work. That would be unusual.

If students receive poor marks for good work, they should have evidence in the form of tests and homework. Give the teacher a chance to explain how he arrived at your grade.

Newsworthy for little girls: nautical inspired shirts such as the square necked striped French sailor and the solid color midgy.

One manufacturer's line contains a wooden cabinet installed over the air conditioner in early American, provincial, contemporary and traditional designs. The cabinets act as a muffler and make the units practically noiseless. ### Senior Center Corner

Senior Citizens Center
By MRS. O. A. WAGNER

The Senior Center met at the Lovett Memorial Library for its Christmas party Thursday afternoon with 94 Seniors present.

The hall was decorated beautifully with Christmas tree and winter bouquets. The Altrusa girls did themselves proud, with a very nice program befitting the holiday season.

Mrs. Lorene Locke, president, and Adrian Foster, program chairman, were masters, or mistresses of ceremonies. Roger McConnell showed a series of films.

A combo of Junior High school boys, Mike Osborne, Lynn Mills, Billy Hawkins and Smithson Goodlet, with their electric guitars and drums, directed by David Johnson, was enjoyed; also a girls' trio of high school girls, Misses Pam Ludeman, Denise Ball, Susan Lawrence, with Mrs. Hugh Sanders at the piano, sang Christmas carols.

Each Senior received a nice gift. Door prizes were given Mrs. Kate Humphrey, C. C. DeMoss, Mary Lee Bullock, Maggie Deal, A. H. Burgin, Josephine Wright, Mary Rogers, Jessie VanHuss, Kathryn Osborne, Messrs. H. J. Franklin, Ennis Jones and Lee Frazier. Refreshments of sandwiches, cake and coffee were served.

Mrs. N. M. Norris, who was in Highland General Hospital recently was able to come down for a while.

Mrs. G. M. Woodward has been quite ill and was unable to be with us. She is staying with her daughter, Mrs. Sugg Cobb, 1106 N. Russell, and would enjoy short calls. How about sending her a shower of Christmas cards? Have been missing her sweet smile at the Center the past few weeks. Hope she will soon be able to be with us. Also learned that M. A. Cobb, who is in the Hillhaven Rest Home, 2324 Line Ave., Amarillo, is not doing very well. Perhaps his friends would like to send him a Christmas greeting.

Mrs. Padgett whispered to me as she was leaving that she is returning to her home in Oklahoma this week.

Recent visitors in the home of Mrs. Johannie Mullins and Mrs. Ione Wallace were their sister and daughter, Mrs. Charles W. Crader and Mr. Crader of Fort Worth.

Seems we are discovering another poet in our midst. Here is a poem one of our members handed me:

POLLY'S POINTERS

'Scarecrow' For Mice

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—Here is a funny one—but it works. I live in an old house with mice. They chewed a hole into an upper kitchen wall cabinet. It was too high and narrow for my cat to catch them. So I combed the cat and got a handful of cat hair and taped it into the mouse hole. It scared the living daylight out of the mice and they never came back. About once a year I renew the cat hair.

LITTLE OLD LADY
DEAR POLLY—Take along a shopping bag when going to the movies with the children. In it can go all the mittens, hats, scarves and what have you and there is no danger of losing anything. It also ends the juggling of things on your lap.

MRS. N. T.
DEAR POLLY—Sew a loop of elastic inside the cuffs of your small child's sweaters. To keep sweater sleeves from pushing up when putting on his coat, slip loops (U) over the thumbs.

HELEN
What a simple way to pamper the patience of both mother and child!

POLLY
DEAR POLLY—We make homemade candies for Christmas gifts. By packing a small piece of bread in each box, our delights stay as fresh for Christmas delivery as if we made them the night before. The bread may be cut in cute shapes with small cookie cutters.

VERNA
DEAR POLLY—The binding on the top edge of an electric blanket gets pretty soiled before the end of the season. To protect it, I take a worn sheet, fold it in half, top to bottom, and sew just the sides together. This slips perfectly over the top half of the blanket and can be slipped off and washed as often as needed.

MRS. V. M. MCG.
DEAR POLLY—I was impressed with yesterday's article. I think the idea about protecting garden tools by keeping in a bucket of sand is good. The writer should have added: "If oil is mixed with the sand, not only will it clean the tools but it will also leave a film of oil which will help prevent rust."

Dear Abby...

Make An... "Official" Change!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: For the past 24 years of our marriage we have spent Thanksgiving and Christmas with my husband's mother, who lives 40 miles away. She is now 80, and for the last 24 years we have felt it might be her last because she has not been feeling well. I used to make a big Thanksgiving dinner for the entire family. We had all my husband's brothers and sisters and their children, and it was fun. But for five years now, after all the plans were made, I'd get a call the day before that Mother didn't feel up to the confusion, and we ended up taking her to the hotel for dinner — minus the children. The children are growing up and I want the whole family together at my home at holiday time. What can I do? The holidays have been ruined for so many years. I am sick of hearing "it may be Mother's last."

DEAR ABBY: For you and that bewildered Mr. Tucker, who wanted to find out where the expression "all tucked out" came from: It dates back to the old English dialect. It originated from "tucked up" — which means cramped for space. It finally came to mean "all worn out" or "all tucked out." I don't know why you got so tucked out trying to get this information. I got it from the English Department at the University of Minnesota in less than an hour.

Spirit Of Christmas Is Everywhere

At times in this jet age we may forget that the traditional spirit of 'Christmas is still abroad in the land. We found it warm and gentle and merry in beautiful, snow-covered Williamstown in northwestern Massachusetts.

There, on the campus of historic Williams College, in spacious Williams Inn, we took delight in the Twelve Days of Christmas, with Yule logs lighted every night, was sail bowls, a crew of vividly uniformed beekeepers and serving wenches, jesters and youthful sprites.

When Seraffyn, the wandering minstrel arrives, the boar's head ceremony begins. Beekeepers and wenches carry in the boar's head, a Christmas goose and a flaming plum pudding while the minstrel serenades the gathering on a stringed lute.

There is a roast suckling pig, garlanded with cranberry necklaces, resting on a bed of English holly. Our old friend John L. Treadway carves it while two "English yeomen" stand at his side to assist in the succulent ceremony.

All about the inn are cookie jars stacked with lebkuchen, pfeffernusse, sugar plum drops and Biltzuchen. There are wonderful Yule Log desserts, too. And, of course, tall candles gleam merrily while the Yule logs burn and the wassail bowl is emptied.

You might enjoy Twelve Days of Christmas parties in your own communities. Neighbors could get together and plan them. The children and teen-age boys and girls, could be "beekeepers, serving wenches and sprites." Costumes are not difficult to make. Certainly there is one amateur musician among you who could be the wandering minstrel. And good cooks, wise in the ways of preparing goose, suckling pig, flaming plum pudding and Christmas cookies abound in every American community.

O' course, you may lack the gentle snow-covered hills of Williamstown or the occasional deer that pauses for a second on the inn grounds. But the old-fashioned spirit of Christmas can still be found wherever hearts are warm and spirits merry.

Harvesters Play Host To Elk City

Borger, Dumas, Rotan Favored To Win State Championships

By United Press International
Borger, Dumas and Rotan are favored against three other squads this week for one of the four state titles in the Class A bracket.

ously, while Rotan is embarking on its seventh playoff try. Ingleside made it to the playoffs 11 times, once before in the Class A bracket.

Bulldogs Rush
Borger was in command all the way against Lufkin with 71-yard and 40-yard scoring sorties by David Dillingham and A. C. Tillman boosting the Bulldogs' rushing figure to 348 yards Brackenridge quarterback Vic Castillo passed for touchdowns on five drives varying from 26 to 89 yards to hand Spring Branch its first defeat.

Dumas got four third-period touchdowns and held Jacksonville without a first down through the first half. Pharr came from behind to nip an Orange team crippled by the loss of its quarterback.

It was closer for Jacksboro, with relief on two field goals by Gary Winton. Winton had never before tried one, but made good to lead Jacksboro by previously undefeated Winters. Two long passes tipped the scales in Rockdale's game with Sinton.

Steve Herron threw one touchdown pass, scored once on a 55-yard pass interception and lunged one yard for another counter to pull Rotan into the playoffs. Ingleside throttled New London's heralded Danny Bigbie and made good on Glenn McDonald's running and receiving to upset the Wildcats.

Pampans Try Sooners Tonight, Rangers Next

Pampa's Harvesters, with a full slate of games before the Christmas Holidays, host Elk City tonight, travel to Perryton Tuesday night, and host the Top O' Texas Tournament in Pampa Friday and Saturday night.

The Harvesters, 7-1 for the season, split two games with the Elk City, Okla., school last year with each team winning on its home court. The Pampans lost the first game last year, 44-41, in a disputed contest and trimmed the visitors, 39-32, in the second meeting last year.

Two-Game Streak
The Pampans are riding a new two-game winning streak after being edged by Thomas Jefferson of Dallas in the first round of the Denton Tournament last week end, 55-52, to break the Harvesters five-game winning streak. The Harvesters have yet to lose a home game this season.

In the Denton Tourney, guard Wayne Kreis, forward Gordon Balch, and center Randy Matson were the Harvesters improving their scoring averages. The 5-11 Kreis scored 75 points in the three games to move his average from 20.8 to 22.3. Matson brought his average upwards slightly, from 11.6 to 11.9 with Balch moving from 5.2 to 6.1.

Losing 55-52 to the defending state champions, Dallas Jefferson, Pampa has won seven of eight games at the expense of Phillips, 98-39; Vernon 86-34; Lamar, 81-33; and Perryton, 70-26; Richland Hills of Ft. Worth, 79-52; and Grand Prairie, 75-56.

The scoring averages for the five starters are: Kreis, 22.3; Sikes, 14.1; Matson, 11.9; Swanson, 9.1; and Balch, 6.1.

Shockers
The Shockers, also winning a consolation trophy over the week end in the Phillips "B" Tournament, will play Elk City's "B" team at 6:15. The Shockers are 7-2 so far this season. ## All-Texas Playoffs In American League

By ED FITE
UPI Sports Writer

The Dallas Texans and the Houston Oilers, both of whom thrive on pressure, will be counting on momentum when they turn the American Football League championship game next Sunday into an all-Texas affair.

The Lone Star State teams, owned by a pair of the world's young millionaires, determined to forge at any cost a strong rival for the established National Football League, completed their third AFL season with identical 11-3 won-lost records.

AFL founder Lamar Hunt's Texans, their Western Division title in the bag for three weeks, wrapped up their most successful season with a 26-17 victory over the San Diego Chargers Sunday in Dallas.

Houstonian Bud Adams' Oilers clinched their chance for a third successive AFL crown 24 hours earlier in New York's bitter cold with a 44-10 triumph over the Titans that earned the Eastern Division flag.

Title Game Sunday
Now, they'll settle the league title at Houston next Sunday in their third clash of the season. They split the first two games in back-to-back mid-season scheduling. The Texans walloped the Oilers 31-7 at Houston and the Oilers bounced back the ensuing Sunday with a 14-6 decision in Dallas.

Texas Coach Henry Stram, after praising his team for its refusal to take the enemy lightly with the title in the bag, said he felt the showdown contest would be "a fine game."

"We have momentum going, but so does Houston," Stram said. Houston Coach Pop Ivy, who watched the Texans sandbag the Chargers Sunday with four pass-interceptions by Bobby Ply, fine running by Abner Haynes and clutch passing by Lenny Dawson, had nothing but praise for the team he has to beat.

"They (Texans) have a real fine team," Ivy said, "both offensively and defensively. Their running game is so good it makes their passing hard to defend, plus the fact that Dawson is a running threat too. Their balance is tremendously troublesome."

Fort Worth Game

Defending Class AAA champion Dumas, also ranked No. 1 by the PI, and Pharr-San Juan-Alamo met Saturday at Texas Christian stadium in Fort Worth. The Dumas Demons spoiled Jacksonville's strong bid for a rank up to 42-12, while Pharr-San Juan-Alamo knocked off No. 2 ranked game 20-13.

Ingleside, playing for the second year as a Class A school, and Rotan, meet Saturday afternoon at Temple. Ingleside scored the upset of the playoffs in chopping down No. 1 ranked New London, 14-4, while No. 2 rated Rotan ended Albany's dreams of a third consecutive crown 20-20.

Jacksboro, No. 2 ranked all season long, and unbeaten, became the Class AA favorite with a 6-0 victory over Winters, while Rockdale blanked Sinton 14-0.

Brackenridge won the AAAA title in 1947, while this week's game marks Borger's first trip out of district.

Dumas, Rockdale, Rotan and Ingleside have been beaten once, Pharr-San Juan-Alamo has lost once and tied once. Brackenridge has the worst record of the playoffs with three checks on the minus side of the win-loss column.

Jacksboro lost out in semifinal play last year, while Rockdale's venture to Arlington marks its second trip past district. Pharr-San Juan-Alamo has been in the playoffs only three times previous.

SMU Mustangs Meet Wildcats

By United Press International
Southern Methodist, one of last year's co-champions who appears ready to make a serious threat for a Southwest Conference repeat after snapping a three-game losing streak, and Baylor's bustling bears got this week's conference basketball program under way tonight.

Coach Doc Hayes' Methodists, who took on new life with an injection of sophomores last week, lost Northwestern, the first of two Big Ten foes of the week, at Dallas, while Baylor entertains a Tulsane team mauled by SMU last Saturday night.

A dozen other games are on the pre-Christmas week schedule, including Texas A&M's appearance in the Houston Classic Friday and Saturday nights and Western invasions by Texas and Baylor the same two nights. Texas plays California and Stanford, while Baylor has a two-night stand against Brigham Young at Provo, Utah.

Aggies Head League
The Aggies, boasting the loop's best record (4-1) after upsetting Houston 69-47 last week, play LSU and Michigan as their share of the Houston doubleheaders.

Tuesday night, Rice returns to the floor after a week's layoff to meet Centenary at Houston and Texas Tech plays Oklahoma at Norman. Wednesday, Arkansas plays LSU at Little Rock, and on Thursday SMU will play Minnesota at Dallas.

Friday night's other action will have Rice hosting the Phillips Oilers and Texas Christian journeying to Oklahoma City.

Conference teams won six and lost 11 games against outsiders last week to leave their season record at 15-25.

Optimist Boxers Downed By Top Canyon Fighters

This Thursday night in Pampa, the Optimist boxers will stage a return engagement with the highly successful boxers from Clovis, N.M. who edged Pampa's team in Clovis recently.

Steers Trample Chiefs In ABL
By United Press International
The Kansas City Steers trampled the once high-flying Long Beach Chiefs into the dust Sunday and served notice that they are still the team to beat in the American Basketball League.

The defending champions of the Western Division walloped the Chiefs, 112-88, and swept a two-game series which saw the Chiefs drop out of first place for the first time this season.

Long Beach center Bill Spivey, who sparked the Long Beach team to 11 consecutive victories at the opening of the season, scored 37 points Sunday to share scoring honors with Larry Staverman of the Steers.

Friday night's other action will have Rice hosting the Phillips Oilers and Texas Christian journeying to Oklahoma City.

Cincinnati's Bearcats Lead College Cagers

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

Top-ranked Cincinnati keeps winning at such an incredible clip that any day now someone's bound to start hollering "Break up the Bearcats!"

Maybe that old anti-Yankee yell sounds laughable when applied to college basketball, but hold the ball a minute and consider this: Cincinnati has won more games during the past five years than any other major college team in the country. And the odds certainly don't appear to be in its sight.

Coach Ed Jucker's unbeaten Bearcats swept to another pair of victories during the weekend when they clipped Kansas State, 75-61, Friday night and Kansas, 64-48, Saturday for their fifth and sixth straight triumphs of the season.

24th Consecutive Victory
Six-foot, 8-inch George Wilson scored 20 points against Kansas to pace the Bearcats to their 24th consecutive victory dating back to last season when they won the NCAA crown for the second straight time. And going back five years, Cincinnati has won a total of 141 games and lost only 14.

There were no casualties among the nation's top 10 teams on Saturday night.

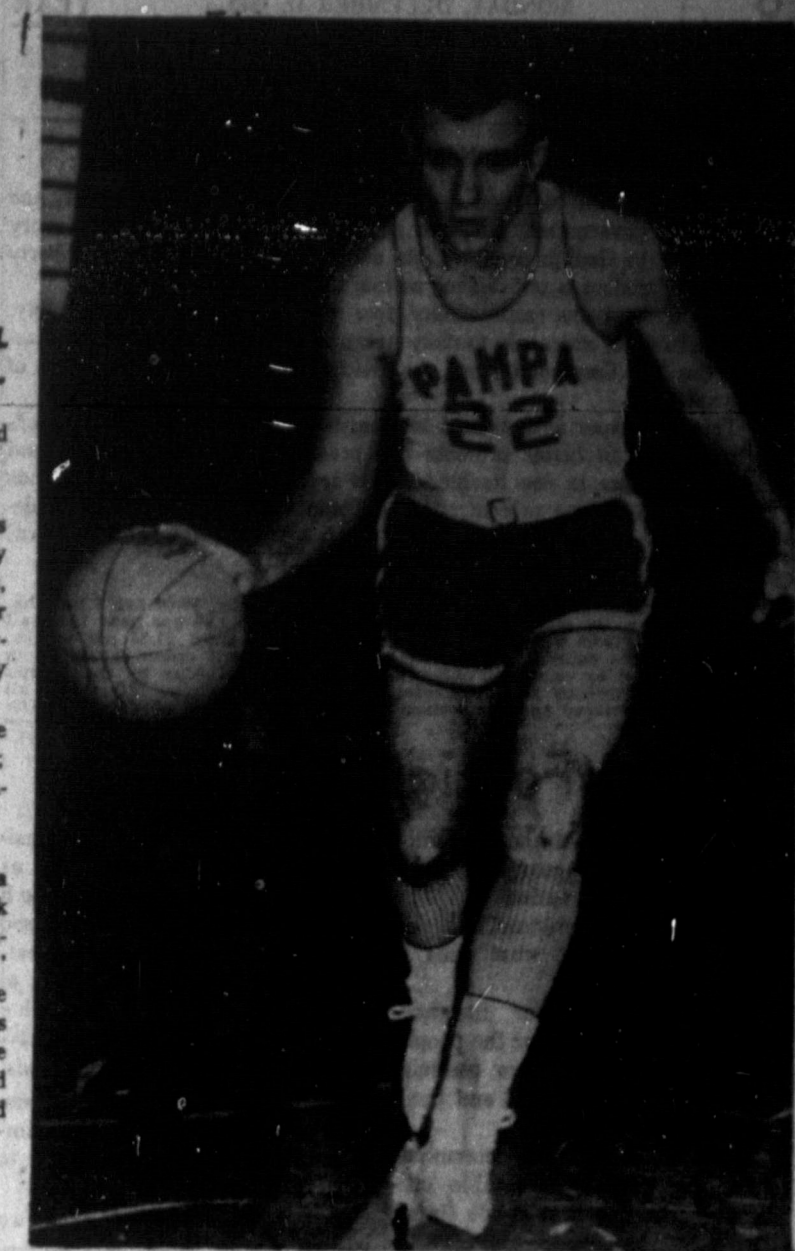

Art Heyman poured in 35 points to lead second-ranked Duke to a 76-75 heart-stopper over Louisville, while third-ranked Loyola (Ill.) had much less trouble swamping South Dakota, 105-58.

Reserve guard Dick Ricketts came off the bench to score eight points in the last five minutes and provide fourth-ranked Ohio State with a 74-62 win over Texas Christian, and fifth-ranked Mississippi State downed Memphis State, 77-66.

Oregon State Wins
Mel Counts netted 28 points in pacing sixth-ranked Oregon State to a 70-60 decision over previously unbeaten California; seventh-ranked Stanford edged San Francisco, 44-43; eighth-ranked Illinois was forced into overtime to beat Iowa State, 76-73, and ninth-ranked Bowling Green walloped Western Kentucky, 83-58. West Virginia, the nation's 10th ranked team, was idle.

DOWN AND OUT — Canyon's Don Clement sends Pampa's Jesse Dean Reed sprawling to the canvas in Saturday night's fights at the Pampa Optimist Boys Club Building. Canyon, Lefors, and Skellytown were on hand for the fights. Clement won the fight on a knockout with 1:10 gone in the second round of the scheduled three round bout. Pampa's boxers host Clovis, N.M. this Thursday.

ALL-TOURNAMENT SELECTION — Pampa's high-scoring guard, Wayne Kreis, was named to the first team all tournament team at Denton Saturday night. The 5-11 guard scored 75 points in three games in the Denton Tourney, averaging 25 points. Kreis is averaging 22.3 points per game. Randy Matson, 6-6½, center, was named to the tournament's second team. Bob Glover, Dallas Jefferson, was named the best all around player of the tournament. Kreis will be a starter for the Harvesters tonight as they entertain Elk City in an 8 p.m. game. (Smith Studio Photo)

Tittle Paces Giants Past Dallas 'Pokes

By NORMAN MILLER
UPI Sports Writer

The Green Bay Packers' pennant-clincher turned out to be an anti-climax, but the free-and-easy New York Giants carried on their big jinx right to the final Sunday of the National Football League season with a record-passing performance by Y.A. Tittle.

They'll meet for the league championship for the second straight season, Dec. 30 in New York, and the Giants are counting on their hot hand to reverse the outcome of last year's 37-0 rout in Green Bay.

The oddsmen have pegged the Packers as 6½-point favorites for the title game, to which the Giants ask: Who ever expected us to come THIS far?

Green Bay clinched its third straight Western Division title Sunday before its game at Los Angeles was five minutes old. By that time, the second-place Detroit Lions had lost to the Chicago Bears, 3-0, dousing their last hope for the title.

Celtics, Lakers Hold NBA Leads

By United Press International
The Boston Celtics and the Los Angeles Lakers are rolling along as expected in the National Basketball Association race—but they can't seem to shake their closest competitors.

Both teams were idle Sunday night, but Syracuse kept the pressure on Boston in the Eastern Division by walloping San Francisco, 144-137, and St. Louis kept on the heels of the Lakers in the West by downing New York, 115-108.

Chicago defeated Detroit, 110-86, in the first game of a doubleheader played in St. Louis.

The Nationals exploited for 50 points in the first quarter at San Francisco and held Wichita Chamberlain to a mere 43 for the night. Hal Greer and Lee Shaffer sparked the Syracuse attack with 32 points each.

The Hawks made it 15 victories out of 18 games at home with their victory over New York. Richie Guerin of the Knicks took high point honors with 30, while John Barnhill hit 22 for the winners.

The Chicago Zephyrs, led by Terry Dischinger with 33 points, came from behind in the closing minutes to edge Detroit after trailing throughout most of the game. Bob Ferry scored 28 points for Detroit.

Roner Leclerc's 9-yard field goal for Chicago on the first play of the final period decided the game that knocked the Lions out of the race. These two teams played two games this season without scoring a touchdown. Detroit won their opener, 11-2.

Kicks Winning Field Goal
Tackle Fred Williams' fumble recovery on the Chicago 36, after linebacker Joe Fortunato had knocked the ball out of Ken Webb's hands, gave the Bears the ball for their game-winning drive. Y. A. TITTLE ... record-breaking performance beat the Dallas Cowboys, 41-31.

In Sunday's other games, Lou Michaels extended his field goal kicking record to 26 by booting two more during the Pittsburgh Steelers' 27-24 victory over the Washington Redskins, the Baltimore Colts drubbed the Minnesota Vikings, 42-17, and the St. Louis Cardinals beat the Philadelphia Eagles, 45-35. The Cleveland Browns edged the San Francisco 49ers, 13-10, on Saturday.

In the American Football League, the Oakland Raiders snapped their 19-game, two-season losing streak by defeating the Houston Oilers, 20-0, and the Dallas Texans beat the San Diego Chargers, 26-17. On Saturday, the Houston Oilers walloped the New York Titans, 44-16.

About Foreign Policy

Our State Department recently reaffirmed its support for "self-determination" of nations. This sounds commendable at first glance — but what does it really mean?

Does it mean, for instance, "self-determination" for the people of Katanga? Or will we continue to aid the UN's drive to end their independence?

Does it mean "self-determination" for Ghanas miserable citizens — who live in a police state? Or only for their dictator — Kwame Nkrumah — to whom we give foreign aid?

And, of course, what about Poland, China, Cuba, and the rest of the battered and slain Communist satellites? Do their citizens get "self-determination" too? Or will we continue to honor — and co-exist with — their rulers?

The list of examples is endless. But the point is very simple: our foreign policy is aimless and contradictory because we apparently don't know what we stand for.

Our words have lost their meanings — as witness "self-determination" — Our president proclaims the world "freedom" to the world — and then asks Congress to grant him dictatorial powers over trade and commerce.

Our politicians speak with reverence of "self-government" — then load us down with more federal government.

It's obvious that we must first rediscover — here at home — what we stand for before we can lead and inspire the "world opinion" our leaders worship so much.

Yet, to abandon this aimlessness and acquire a firm national purpose, we need only look again to the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution. They were the clarion calls of freedom — ushering in a new era in which mankind could rise to new heights of

Less Than Zero

Control of the minority by the majority is the most barren of processes. In the long run, the net result is a minus quantity, far less than the zero which indicates nature in balance.

Words Do The Twist—

One of the most frustrating things about the ideological conflict between Russia and the United States is that we both use the same words — "Peace," "freedom" — but are poles apart in their meanings.

An instance is a speech made by Soviet propaganda expert Leonid Ilyichev to the U.S.S.R. Academy of Sciences:

"We still inadequately inform world opinion and the working people of all nations about the successes of the Soviet Union."

"We are weak and sometimes inept in revealing the advantages

Their clients come from all walks of life, seeking synthetic glory and fame. The ghosts turn out books, magazine articles, both fiction, and nonfiction, prepare articles, speeches, manuscripts and other assembly line material for a substantial fee. They even assist the bogus authors in contacting vanity publishers, who charge the entire cost of printing and distribution in addition to a nice profit.

Washington is also the scene and favorite climate for ghosts. Many of the speeches of Senators and Congressmen, released by the Democratic and Republican National Committees are the work of unseen writers. We like the start of a true revolution — a revolution from tyranny of all kinds.

What has happened to that noble revolution? And — more important — what are we going to do to restore it?

During this coming year, we will have our opportunity to revive those ideals of Americanism. Our state and national legislatures will be considering mountains of new laws. If we create the demand, we can make freedom the number one issue. We can demand that our representatives vote to repeal restrictive legislation, rather than increase it. We can begin again the movement toward greater freedom — and away from big government.

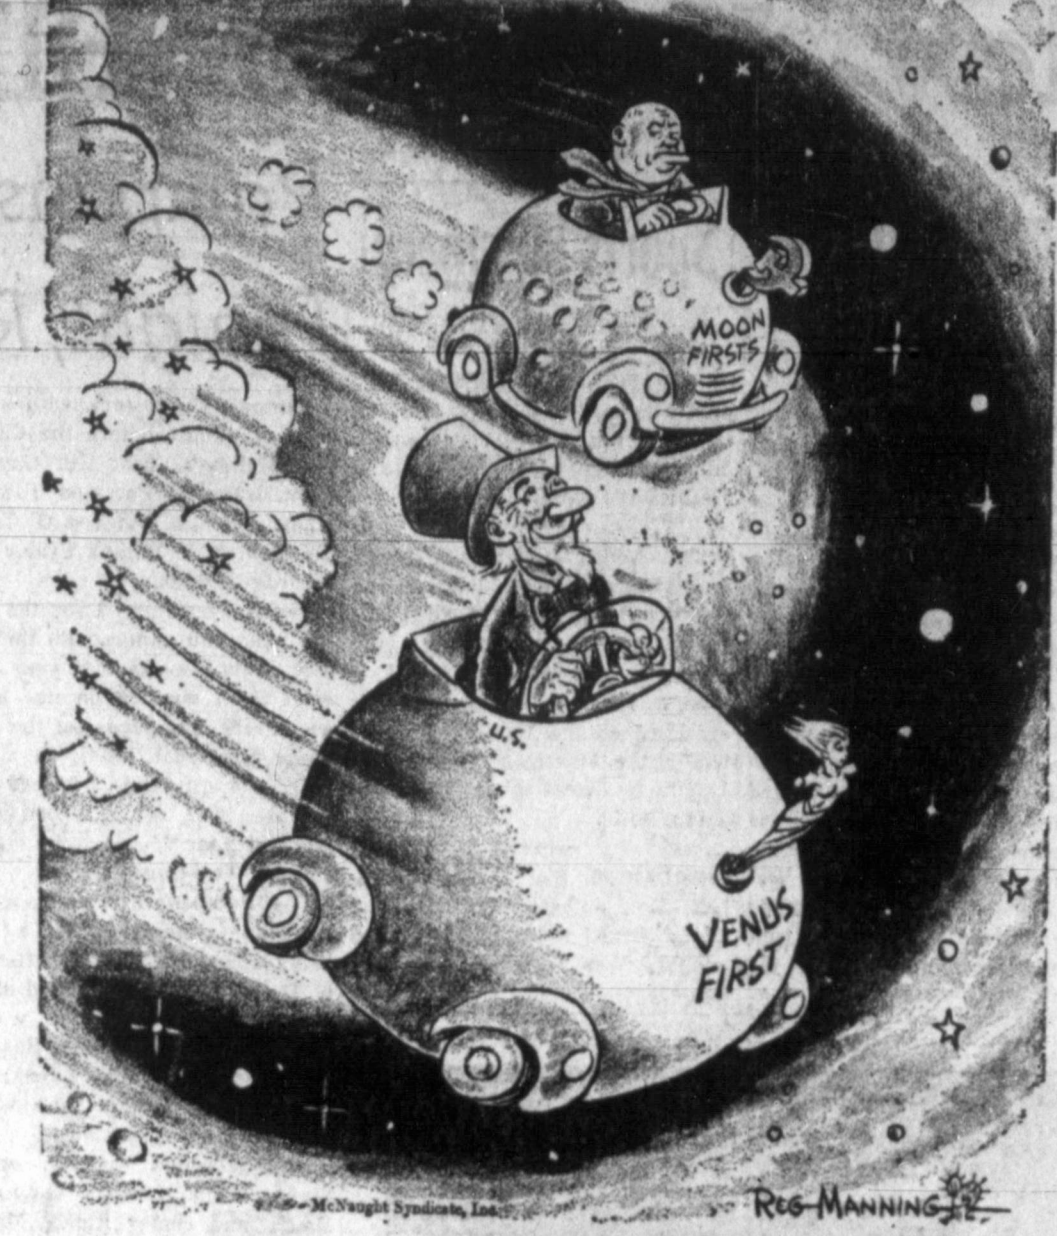

Once America returns to the ideals of its own revolution, it will have no trouble assuming a position of absolute superiority in world affairs. Once we again provide the radiating example of liberty, millions of people of the world over will rush to get on the bandwagon.

The yearning to be free can generate a tidal wave that no government — no tyrannical — can withstand. And it is within our power to inspire that wave.

But let us keep our eyes on the proper battleground. The job begins right here at home. And it will take hard work from all of us who really care.

Make your New Year's resolution now. Resolve to play an active part in the affairs of freedom in 1963. Do your share — and more — to put Americanism back in America.

Nation-wide Move Against Communist Goods Growing

By ED DELANEY

As a sequel to one of my recent columns, it is gratifying to note that a nation-wide movement has started which means, in essence, millions for defense but not one cent for communist-made products. That is the announced purpose of a newly organized group of industrialists and commercial firms under the name, American Council of Domestic Manufacturers. Its president is Charles Allen, the Allen Gauge & Tool Co., Pittsburgh, Pa.; vice president, Lawson Adams, Wrought Washer Co., Milwaukee, and secretary, Rayburn Watkins, the Associated Industries, Louisville, Ky., with head office in Louisville.

The movement to boycott communist-made merchandise has gained support, not only from the buying public but from representative business concerns. The Pacific Coast Administrative Office of Sears, Roebuck & Co. announces: "our policy is to abstain from buying or offering for sale any merchandise purchased from communist countries or those in which the government is in sympathy with communism."

A communication from Linda Morse, public relations division of Disneyland, notes: "It is the policy here at Disneyland and has been for some time to restrict our souvenir purchases to imports from nations other than the so-called Iron Curtain countries." A district manager of Walgreen chain of drug stores wrote that Mr. Walgreen himself issued a directive "completely prohibiting" the purchase of merchandise made in communist controlled countries.

The Economy Wholesale Distributors of Jacksonville Fla., dealers in drugs and houseware, made known that they have discontinued the purchase of any merchandise from communist countries. The executive vice president of Diana Stores Corp., New York, with retail outlets in several states, approved the ban on communist-made goods and noted also that "this attitude should be expressed to the higher ups in our federal government."

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

Question: "How would employees get their wages up if it were not for labor unions?"

ANSWER — That is a very good question, because many, many people who are not even employees actually believe that labor unions are the cause of real wages going up.

There is no doubt that monopoly of wages by unions on the necessities of life can temporarily increase the wages of union members. But, these increased monopoly wages either reduce the living standard and the real wages of other workers or reduce the accumulation of tools, thus making all people work for less so that the total real wages in the long run are lowered by labor unions rather than raised.

The way that wages are increased is by having more capital, more tools owned by different employers bidding against each other to get more efficient help. There are now between 4½ and 5 million employees in the United States, and all of them want to get efficient help. They bid against each other to get the men who are the more efficient, enabling the employer to produce more and sell for less. Labor unions, by strikes and by keeping the wrong man in a job, do not permit production to increase as rapidly as it would were it on a free market basis and the workers paid on a competitive basis. And when this capital is produced it must be used in order to benefit its owner. Therefore, they either consume it and enjoy it, or they lend it out, or they invest it or give it away. And this increased investment makes more competition between employers for help and more competition between sellers, thus lowers prices. If the savers lend it, it is used to build houses, that keeps interest rates down and makes houses cost less or rent for less.

Since labor unions have never produced any additional wealth but have prevented billions of dollars in wealth from being created, the total wealth produced is a lot less. And since wages if they are to last can come only from production and when there is less production, total real wages are a lot less than they would be if there were no striking labor unions.

We know of no rational employer who objects to workers having an agent to represent them to try to find them a better job or to persuade the employer that he cannot replace his employees for the wages he is paying. This kind of a union would be a good union, but they do not use this method. They use the method of scarcity, of strikes, of keeping the person from below from having the right to learn a trade and advance.

Then, again, if any worker has a good idea and there is plenty of capital available seeking its employment he'll have no trouble in finding a capitalist who will finance him and get him in business for himself. Capital is always looking for men with ideas so that they can use their savings to the best possible advantage.

Yes, wages go up, not because

Soviet Buildup of Cuba As Military Base Continuing, Aerial Reconnaissance Reveals

WASHINGTON — There are ominous new signs that Premier Khrushchev is going ahead with his original plan to make Cuba a Soviet military base despite his withdrawal of Russian missiles and bombers.

The latest U.S. aerial reconnaissance flights, quietly doubted this week on orders of President Kennedy, clearly show these alarming Soviet activities in Cuba:

—Installation of four new type ground-to-air missiles, designed to destroy low-flying jet planes.

—Increased building at Russia's newly-acquired fishing-naval base at Banes; also on three airfields in central Cuba.

—Unloading of new military equipment, including Soviet army trucks and command cars, at two Cuban ports.

Since early December U.S. overflights have spotted a marked increase in the arrival of Soviet bloc ships in Cuba. Forty-one of these ships have unloaded military equipment, additional Russian personnel, and civilian cargoes.

The Intelligence photographs reveal that 16 Soviet bloc ships are now tied up in Cuban ports and another 18 are on the high seas enroute from Russia with cargoes for Castro's Communist regime.

According to U.S. Intelligence officials, the unexpected installation of new Soviet missile bases in Cuba indicates that Khrushchev is concentrating on building up an impregnable ground-to-air rocket defense ring around the island.

Already Russian missilemen have succeeded in chasing the Air Force's high-flying U-2 planes from the skies over Cuba by shooting one down with their deadly SA-2 missile.

The Air Force, now using low-level reconnaissance planes, has been able to continue the surveillance of Cuba without losing any additional planes. The SA-2 surface-to-air missile is unable to hit these low-flying jets because of the missile's design. The Czech-made anti-aircraft guns in Cuba are too slow for these supersonic planes.

PLUGGING THE HOLE—Soviet servicemen are now trying to plug this gap in their defenses by setting up a new inter-rogating SA-3 surface-to-air missiles, capable of hitting low-flying U.S. planes as well as the higher flying U-2s.

The first of these new missiles is scheduled to be operational sometime in January, pointing to the chilling possibility of a new Cuban confrontation between U.S. planes and Russian missiles at that time.

In a new diplomatic move to head off this conflict, President Kennedy has written Khrushchev another letter urging the Soviet leader to live up to his original promise to remove all Russian combat troops from Cuba.

UNEXPECTED HELP — The World Bank is arranging for new financial help for Latin America to bolster the sagging Alliance for Progress program.

Global consortiums are being organized by World Bank officials to put up an estimated $2 billion in private capital to finance the overall development plans of five Latin American countries.

Under the plan, private bankers of all the major Western nations will join to finance the large development projects in Bolivia, Mexico, Venezuela, Chile and Colombia.

If this new type of financing in Latin America is a success, similar consortiums will be organized to help Panama, Honduras, and Brazil.

PAYING OUR SHARE — U.S. membership in international organizations is growing like Topsy. According to a report by Harlan Cleveland, Assistant Secretary of State for International Organization Affairs, "The U.S. is today a dues-paying member of 51 international organizations. Taken together with 22 related international programs, we are fraternizing in this fashion at a cost of more than $200 million a year — which is about 30 times the greens fee for the same course in 1945."

President Kennedy's economic advisers estimate that U.S. aid to India during the next 10 years will have to total at least $6 billion if it is to be effective. That's about three times more than the $2 billion the U.S. provided India from 1952 to 1962. — Jo Grimond.
