CHRISTMAS ON MARROW-BONE RIDGE

BY WALT SCOT

But healthy, well-fed boys get sleepy and Danny Dugan fell asleep guarding the precious pot.

And as Magoon, the lapraschou, said, there was a passery and the coins were tempting.

In the cold down Danny awoke. He stretched—and gasped! The pot was empty!

a doll, a jewelry box and a baton. Love,

Doggone Story
NEW YORK (UPI) — Ernest Borgnine, star of the McHale's Navy television series on ABC-TV, relays his favorite show business story:
A theatrical agent answered his telephone.
"I want a job," said the voice at the other end. "I can sing, dance and juggle."

"So can a thousand other people and they're all out of work," snapped the agent.
"Just a minute, don't hang up. I can play the piano, walk a tightrope and recite the Gettysburg Address backwards."
"So can all the others. You're wasting my time. Goodbye."

"Just a minute," pleaded the voice. "There's one other thing... I'm a dog!"

TO PRESENT 'MESSIAH' — The Sanctuary Singers of The First Methodist Church will present "The Messiah," by Handel, following the Pampa Pilgrimage Sunday at 6 p.m. in the church auditorium. Shown here are the Sanctuary Singers and the accompanists. (Smith Studio)

'Messiah' Slated At First Methodist Tonight

Following the Pilgrimage, the Sanctuary Singers of First Methodist Church will present the Christmas portion of Handel's "Messiah" at 6 p.m. at the church today.

Among the choruses to be sung are: "And the Glory of the Lord," "For Unto Us a Child is Born," "Glory to God," "All We Like Sheep," and "Hallelujah Chorus." Soloists for this presentation are Mrs. Mary D. Wilson, soprano, Mrs. Gene Norman, alto, and Bob Davis, tenor. The latter two are guest soloists and are members of the Polk Street Methodist Choir. Jerry Whitten will be the organist and Hubert Carson is director of music.

Also accompanying this presentation will be a string ensemble composed of Mrs. Earl Maxwell, Mrs. John Price, and Mrs. Hubert Carson, violins, Gerald Kiger, viola, and Evan Tonsing, cello. Mrs. Maxwell, Kiger, and Tonsing are all members of the Amarillo symphony. Mrs. Carson is regular organist at First Methodist Church and private teacher of violin. Mrs. John Price is a private teacher of violin also. Mike Palmer will play the tympani.

"Messiah" was composed in twenty-four days in 1741 and was an immediate success. Its popularity, power, and meaningfulness have continued to this day. When Handel had finished composing "Hallelujah," a servant found him at his desk with tears streaming down his face. "I think I did see all Heaven before me, the great God himself," said Handel. There is little wonder that "Messiah" has probably had more performances than any masterwork in the history of music.

The Lighter Side 'Blab Blare' On Television

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chairman Newton N. Minow of the Federal Communications Commission let it be known this week that he stands foursquare against blab blare.

I am waiting now for someone to ask me what "blab blare" is. If nobody is curious enough to inquire, I will tell you anyway. "Blab blare" occurs when the volume of a television commercial exceeds to an irritating degree the volume of the audio portion of the preceding and subsequent programs.

limits the volume of commercials to the volume of adjacent program material," Minow told Case.

If such a rule ever goes into effect, a number of commercials of recent vintage will have to be extensively revised in order to comply.

Take, for instance, that little brat who runs in screaming "Look, mom! No cavities!" They'll never teach him to keep his voice down, so he will have to be replaced.

I recommend as a substitute a mannerly youngster with a carefully modulated voice who will say: "Here's a bit of pleasant news for you, mother dear. The dentist who inspected my teeth found them free of cavities."

No More Bells
The rule likewise will compel the makers of pain killers to find another way of creating headache noises. No more bells clanging, sirens blowing and hammers pounding inside the skull.

Frankly, my headaches never sounded that way anyhow. My headaches make more of a whirring noise, something like a helicopter. My wife says her headaches have a scurrying sound, like cub bears running across a thatched roof.

I conclude therefore that most headache tablet commercials are unauthentic as well as too loud.

It seems to me, however, that a certain amount of commercial amplification is desirable. Without a change in the noise level, we might not be able to tell when one program is ending and another is about to begin.

Weather To Slow Texas Crop Growth

COLLEGE STATION (UPI)—Texas' unseasonably frigid weather will slow growth of winter crops and range vegetation and dry surface moisture, the Texas A&M College Agriculture Extension Service warned today.

The lowest temperatures of the season increased the need for supplemental feeding for livestock but the winds and generally fair weather dried surface moisture and permitted full scale mechanical harvesting of cotton on the high and low plains where most of the crop was still in the field.

Moisture continued short in the upper Panhandle and curtailed wheat grazing. Moisture would be welcomed over the entire Panhandle area, the service said. Other dry spots are in southern and southwestern counties with the situation in southern counties described as bad.

Ranchmen are burning prickly pear or feeding most of their livestock and stock water in some counties is critically short, the service reported.

Small grain in all areas of the state where moisture has been received made good progress and were furnishing good grazing, except where fields were too wet, up until the cold wave hit the state.

Livestock generally are in fair to good condition in all except the drier areas, but even before the latest norther, an increase was noted in the amount of supplemental feeding.

Volume of fall vegetables moving to market increased during the past week and most crops, except those in western and northwestern areas, are for all practical purposes, harvested, the service said.

Major jobs now are taking care of livestock, land preparation, distribution of fertilizer, repairing fences and other general farm and ranch work.

Fact of Matter

The gumbo — of chicken gumbo soup fame — is a herbaceous, hairy, annual plant. Because of the large amount of mucilage it contains, gumbo is extensively used for thickening broths and soups. In upper India, gumbo is used for clarifying sugar. In Africa, however, gumbo has a totally different use. The seeds are worn as beads. The best-perfumed seeds are reported to come from yet another part of the world, Martinique.

There's Stuff More Precious Than Gold Out In Space

WASHINGTON (UPI)—There's stuff far more precious than gold out there in space.

In another decade there'll be enough of it in orbit to tempt the most avaricious space-pirates ever conceived by science fictioners.

This dream stuff of hypothetical orbiting hijackers is radioactive plutonium-238, a non-explosive form of the manmade fissionable metal used in nuclear bombs and reactors.

It is known in scientific shorthand as PU-238, but it is nothing to turn up one's nose at. It is about 800 times more valuable than gold.

Right now nearly seven ounces of PU-238, worth $190,000, is orbiting the earth at regular intervals aboard the Navy navigational satellite transit 4-A and transit 4-B.

In another decade, according to projections by space officials, nearly $133 million worth of PU-238 will be orbiting the earth or flying among the planets.

PU-238 has gone into space because it is an ideal fuel for easily shielded, light-weight, long-lasting power units needed to keep satellite instruments and transmitters operating in a hostile environment where most other sources of electricity quickly fail.

It is manufactured in atomic reactors by nuclear alchemists who have succeeded—where the gold-hungry alchemists of the Middle Ages failed—in transmutation of elements.

Natural uranium is the ultimate source of all forms of plutonium, including the rare PU-238. There are two nuclear processes by which PU-238 may be produced. Each involves repeated transmutations in a nuclear reactor plus tedious and expensive chemical separation processes.

Dr. Robert E. Eilson, a member of the Atomic Energy Commission, has estimated the cost of PU-238, thus produced, at $1,000 a gram or $450,000 a pound. This compares with $80 a pound for gold and nearly $24,000 a pound for fissionable uranium.

Not being easily fissionable, PU-238, is useless for weapons or power plant reactors. But its radioactivity generates heat which may be converted directly into electricity.

It is long-lasting—only half its radioactivity is used up in years—and it does not emit penetrating rays which would require heavy shielding. It is more abundant than solar energy cells because it is not affected by radiations encountered in space.

Will Wilson Takes A Final Look At His Six Years In State Office

By WILLIAM CLAYTON
United Press International
AUSTIN (UPI)— Atty. Gen. Will Wilson, taking a final look at his six years as the state's chief lawyer, said Thursday the "best factor for improvement of the office is to change it from a two-year to a four-year term."

He said this should be done so that investigations would have more continuity and lawyers would be working in the office longer.

Wilson held his final press conference as attorney general in an Austin hotel, and reviewed the biggest investigations of his office. Wilson, who ran unsuccessfully for U. S. senator and for governor during his years as attorney general, goes out of office when Waggoner Carr becomes attorney general next year.

Of all the law enforcement areas, Wilson told capitol newsmen, "I think the area that is most prolific is the area of local government." Wilson added that if a law were passed requiring public officials to make their income tax public information, "you would do more good for enforcement than any other thing."

Galveston vice probe—"That was quite a nipper. One of the things I hope to do is find out the tipoff. In the main, the gambling (in Galveston) has been suppressed. Less so, the liquor violations and the prostitution."

Out Of Business
—Naturopaths — "That was on the whole a successful action. Those men are no longer operating as doctors."
—Loan sharks — "This was less rewarding than any of the rest in concrete results. Most of the lawsuits were successful but the facts of life are that in that field you probably cannot suppress them without a different system from what we have now."

Anti-trust prosecution — "These were slow, difficult cases and several are pending. If I had it to do over again, I think I would route more of them through the grand juries than I have done."

—The Estes case anti-trust action — "We got such cooperation from district attorneys that I wish I had done more referring such cases to grand juries."

Praises Grand Juries
—Slanted-well oil violations — "This was rewarding from an enforcement standpoint. One of the most satisfactory developments is the way these grand juries have taken these matters. These indicted people cut quite a swath in their communities, but grand juries came right out and brought indictments."

—Valmont plantations — "This is one of the most important of the cases. I issued an opinion that Spanish and Mexican land grants did not give the automatic right to use river water for irrigation. The case was won by the state at the State Supreme Court."

—Tidelands — "This was real satisfaction. I am proud of it." Wilson was credited with being instrumental in winning the tidelands rights for Texas. His consistent stand characterized his work that field.

Wilson said he will remain in Austin when he goes out of office and will practice private law here.

President To Push Cuts In Income Taxes

WASHINGTON (UPI)— President Kennedy is mapping strategy for forcing Congress to cut income taxes next year despite go-slow warnings by powerful Democrats alarmed at the specter of huge budget deficits.

Preparing for the impending battle, Kennedy will attempt to woo broad support of the business community in a speech before the Economic Club of New York Friday night.

"We intend to go ahead with our program. Then, of course, it will be up to the Ways and Means Committee and the Congress to make a judgment as to whether they will accept it," Kennedy told his news conference Wednesday.

Kennedy later conferred for 45 minutes with Rep. Willbur D. Mills, D-Ark., the committee's powerful chairman, who has challenged the wisdom of the administration's approach to 1963 tax legislation.

There was no immediate indication as to whether the talk had narrowed the gaps between the views of the two men.

Earlier this week Mills said publicly what he told Treasury officials some weeks ago — he could see no economic justification for enacting a tax cut retroactive to Jan. 1, 1963, as Kennedy has promised; and any tax bill enacted next year should contain revenue-producing reform provisions that would not fall too short of balancing the revenue loss that would occur through reduction of tax rates.

Although Kennedy is committed to proposing tax "reforms", White House strategists are fearful that any extensive package of revenue-boosting provisions would stir such strong opposition that the bill could not be passed in one congressional session.

6-Day, State-Wide Campaign Starts In Screw Worm Eradication Program

STRAWN, Tex. (UPI)— A special six-day state-wide fund raising campaign to raise money for the eradication of the costly screw worm, a serious threat to cattle health, has been announced by the president of the Texas Livestock Auction Association.

J. R. Taylor of Amarillo said the drive would reach each of the 178 livestock markets between Jan. 21-26 which will be asked to stage sale events and expend special efforts in soliciting money from the thousands of livestock producers in their respective areas.

The campaign is to aid the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation (SWAHRF), representing livestock producers of Texas and the Southwest, to raise the additional $1 million needed to fill the $3 million goal it has set for the project.

One-Sixth Pledge
The first $2 million has already been pledged to the foundation, whose screw worm eradication program covers a three-year period at an estimated cost of $12 million.

The $12 million program is a joint operation of SWAHRF, the Texas Animal Health Commission and the Animal Disease Eradication Division of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Under the terms of a memorandum signed by these groups costs were specified on a 50-50 matching basis. The USDA will provide half and the foundation and five Southwestern states: Texas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arkansas, must provide the other 50 per cent.

In addition, foundation leaders and livestock producers will urge the Texas legislature to appropriate additional funds to assist in the campaign to eradicate the screw worm and to establish a barrier zone.

Full Swing
SWAHRF leaders estimated that the barrier of sterile flies along the international border will be in full operation, weather permitting, by Feb. 15, 1963.

Outer half of the barrier will receive 600 flies per square mile per week and the inner half, 400 sterile flies per square mile. Estimated size of the barrier is 100,000 square miles which will require 50,000,000 flies per week until July 1, 1963.

Taylor said "operation of the screw worm eradication program is reaching a very critical stage in its financing and it is hoped that our one-week drive in Texas may result in raising substantial funds to materially aid and assist SWAHRF."

Taylor and Cecil Ward of Gainesville, member of the board of trustees of SWAHRF and a past TLAA president, were named as co-chairmen of the special fund raising group.

Oris Reynolds of Abilene, vice president of the Market Mene State Trade Association, will serve as treasurer, and organizational and promotional efforts of the 200 member statewide committee will be coordinated by Grover C. Lee Jr., of Strawn.

Zachary Taylor, twelfth President of the United States, was a second cousin of the fourth President, James Madison.

There was no immediate indication as to whether the talk had narrowed the gaps between the views of the two men.

Earlier this week Mills said publicly what he told Treasury officials some weeks ago — he could see no economic justification for enacting a tax cut retroactive to Jan. 1, 1963, as Kennedy has promised; and any tax bill enacted next year should contain revenue-producing reform provisions that would not fall too short of balancing the revenue loss that would occur through reduction of tax rates.

Although Kennedy is committed to proposing tax "reforms", White House strategists are fearful that any extensive package of revenue-boosting provisions would stir such strong opposition that the bill could not be passed in one congressional session.

GIVES UP SMOKING
PETERBOROUGH, England (UPI)— Mrs. Josephine Mellor, 21, said today she threw a half-crown (35 cents) down the kitchen drain every time she saw her husband puff a cigarette in an effort to make him stop smoking.

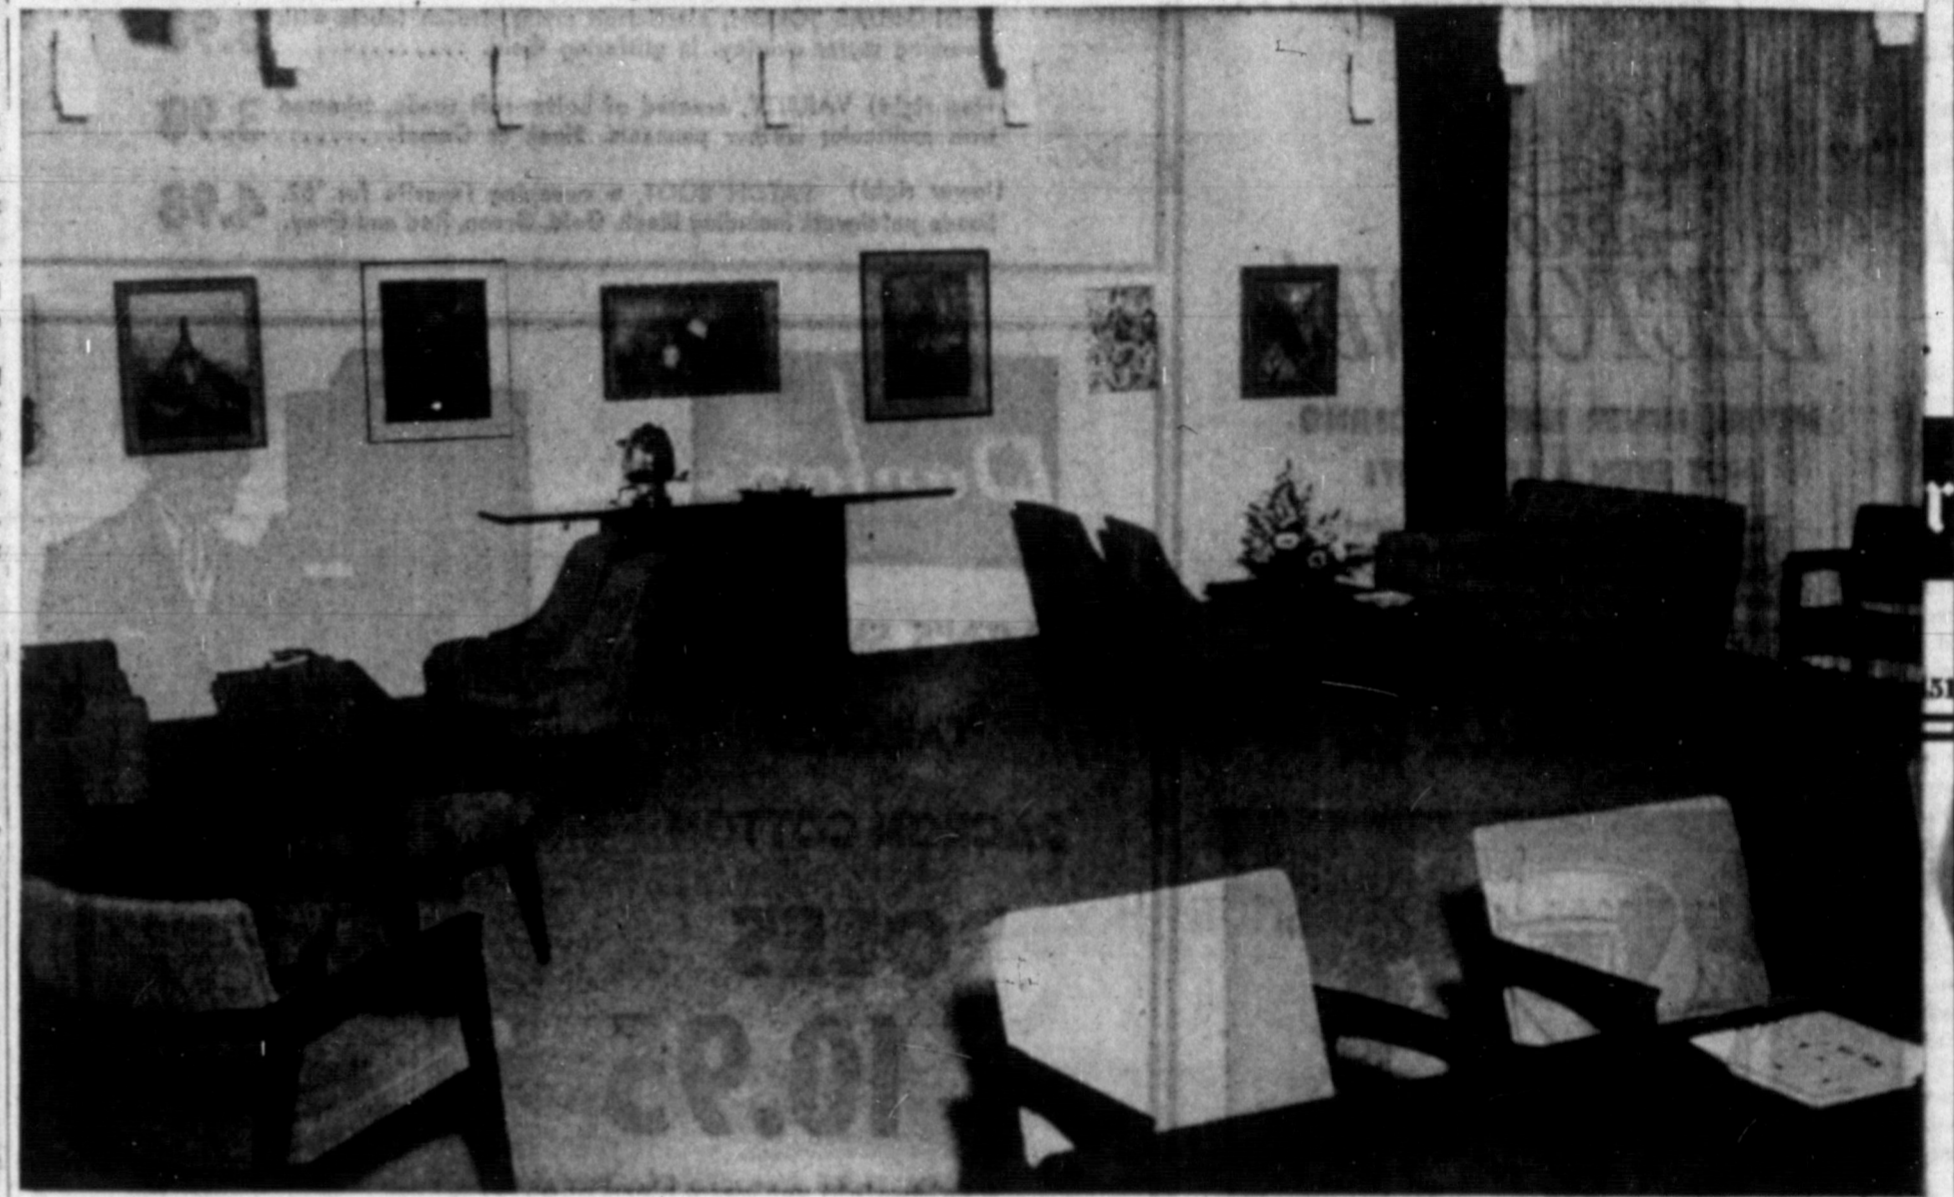

Her husband, Terry, agreed Thursday to swear off after $41 had gone down the drain.

"It was worth it," Mrs. Mellor said.

Bishop's Company' To Perform At First Methodist Church On Dec. 23

The Bishop's Company, American repertory players, who bring rema-in-the-church, will present Alan Paton's "Cry, The Beloved Country" at the evening services of the First Methodist Church, Sunday, Dec. 23, and the public is invited to attend.

The Bishops Company is a company of individuals who let their talents as professional actors serve the purposes of the church. They play in the chancel of the church, using the entire hancel area, no sets, few props, simplified costumes, and carry their own bank of lights. The plays are set within the framework of a worship service.

Tours include every section of the 30 states and Canada. The minister is asked to preside and the drama becomes a part of the evening worship service.

They bring an art form that is not meant simply to entertain, but to enlighten, to open doors, to touch and even trouble man's sinking. And beyond the "troubling" to leave something of substance that points a way to answers. They bring the emotional impact of the theatre into the sanctuary of worship in plays that deal fearlessly with the problems of greed, fear, faithlessness, prejudice and violence. . . plays of moral and spiritual concept that are designed to challenge men's thinking and bring men closer in their personal relations with God. "You will want to be sure and

Activities At Local Church Are Outlined

"The Long, Long Night Before Christmas" will be the sermon subject of the Rev. Russell G. West at eleven o'clock this morning at the Church of the Brethren.

Sunday school will open at 9:45 a.m. with classes for all age-groups. On Sunday evening the Church will cooperate with the Pampa Key Club and the annual Pilgrimage. People who can be asked to bring "Blankets for Relief" in cooperation with the city-wide and nation-wide collection of blankets. Following the Pilgrimage walk to church, the congregation will join by radio with the worship service at the First Baptist Church.

Immediately at the close of the radio worship service the people will meet in the church dining room for their December Family night fellowship supper. This will be followed with the program of the evening.

Amarillo Engineer To Take Part In Southwest National Power Survey

H. O. Hodson, vice-president, engineering and operations, of Southwestern Public Service Company, Amarillo, has accepted an invitation by Joseph C. Swidler, chairman of the Federal Power Commission, to head a southwestern regional committee as part of the FPC's National Power Survey.

H. O. HODSON ... To make power study

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — Market behavior in January is often more significant than in December, says L. O. Hooper of W. E. Hutton & Co.

Normally, in the first half of the first month of the year, there is a snapback from tax selling in the issues which are under the most pressure in December. In a vast majority of cases, too, there is an advance in prices between Dec. 24 and Dec. 31. Possibly the prospect for "good" behavior during the last week of the year and the month of January would be improved if we could have a little more of a correction during the next seven sessions, Hooper believes.

According to International Statistical Bureau, Inc., the outlook for various segments of the container industry continues favorable, with paper and metal containers expected to make the most impressive gains. The growth of metal containers, particularly in the beer and soft drink field, in the last two years has been most significant — with further gains expected.

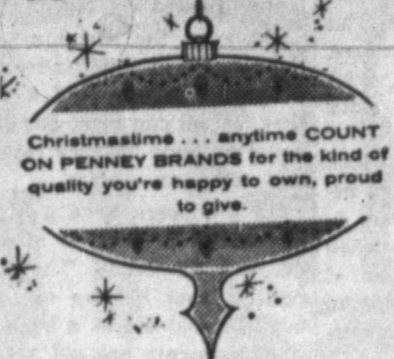

Bache & Co. says there are still signs of liquidation within the present buying atmosphere. In view of the continued signs of selling interest, it is likely that the general list will continue to show irregular tendencies over the near term, with some individual issues giving improved performances.

Swidler, the Federal Power Commission chairman, in acknowledging Hodson's acceptance stated, "I am glad that you have consented to serve as chairman of the Southwestern Advisory Committee. I am sure your experience in working with the problems of the electric utility industry will be of much value to the FPC staff and the regional committee."

Hodson was elected a vice president of Southwestern Public Service Company in 1951. He has had many honors recognizing his engineering ability and experience. In 1953, he was awarded the Outstanding Engineer Award of the Panhandle Chapter, Texas Society of Professional Engineers. In April of this year, he was raised to the grade of Fellow of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, one of only 30 in the state of Texas.

He is a registered engineer of Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Kansas. He is serving his second six year appointment as a member of the Texas State Board of Registration for Professional Engineers and is the current chairman. He is also director-elect of the newly-formed Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers which combines the American Institute of Electrical Engineers and the Institute of Radio Engineers.

Home-Heating Oil Is Going Through Annual Critical Period With Buyers

Southwestern Oil Column: "Focus On Oil" By TRAVIS HUGHES

United Press International TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — Home-heating oil, still waging an all-out battle with natural gas in the populous East, is going through its annual critical period in consumer relations this week.

Fuel oil heats more homes than natural gas or coal, although gas is a strong challenger. Heating oil accounts for $3 billion in sales annually and is second only to gasoline among crude oil products in dollar sales.

But when the first really cold weather hits, fuel prices go up along with the customers' tempers.

The homeowner in the East or Midwest must stock his oil tank with a big lump payment for fuel while the person who uses natural gas pays a monthly bill. The total may show that the oil-user pays less in the end, but that large initial outlay of money seems to be unpopular.

So, the domestic fuel oil marketers are trying an installment plan for their customers. This may seem psychological, but so is another marketing problem.

Prices Increased

The bitter cold of the last week increased demand for heating oil to the point where market prices rose a half-cent per gallon. This has been an annual procedure, with the prices dropping back down during the summer slack period.

Southwestern refiners may look at it as the law of supply and demand, but the customers seem to think the price goes up just when the fuel is needed most. Most of the time, the consumer tends to forget that prices were down during the summer.

For example, the current Tulsa world price listings show No. 1 grade prime heating oil selling from 9 3/4 to 10 1/4 cents per gallon — which includes the price hike. But last year at this time, the market listed the same oil for 10 to 10 1/2 cents — or 1/4 more than now.

Marketing Problems Studied

These marketing problems are being studied by a fairly new organization devoted to keeping fuel oil in the home-heating business — the National Oil Fuel Institute, Inc.

Oil gets little attention as a heating fuel in the southwest because natural gas is available at cheaper price. For example, the entire state of Texas has few—if any—homes heated by oil.

However, the best market is in the North and East where winters are more severe. And it is there that fuel oil can meet gas on more equal grounds because transportation costs are similar.

Oil producers have a big stake in fuel oil because it affects the demand for crude. The industry realizes that heating oil can die out like coal did as a heating fuel if adjustments are not made.

Nichols Wins Hogan Trophy

CHICAGO (UPI) — Robert Herman (Bobby) Nichols, a 26-year old touring golf pro who won a match with death after an auto accident. Saturday was named 1962 winner of the Ben Hogan Trophy.

The trophy is awarded annually by the Golf Writers' Association of America to the golfer who overcomes a physical handicap and continues active participation in the game.

Nichols, a graduate of Texas A&M, tied for third place behind Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer in last summer's national open championship at Oakmont, Pa., and wound up ninth on the money-winning list for the season.

He will receive the trophy in New York Jan. 9.

Nichols was severely injured when an auto carrying him and three other high school students crashed into a tree near Louisville, Ky., Sept. 3, 1952. He was 16 at the time.

Liston Fed Up With Patterson, Is Ready To Bolt Return Bout

By BILL McCORMICK
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (NEA) — Sonny Liston was pulling the handle of a slot machine in the Thunderbird Hotel in Las Vegas when he caught the words "six-round preliminary fight" from a conversation Teddy Brenner was having with a manager.

"Man," he said in mock-seriousness, turning to the Madison Square Garden matchmaker, "if this thing don't pay off pretty soon, you can put me in that six-rounder."

The cherries, plums, bars and bells on the mechanical thief a few more times refused to line up in paying position and the heavy-weight champion turned away in disgust.

"Guess I'll have to take a four-round preliminary," he told Brenner.

Things aren't quite that tough financially for the man who cracked the thin veneer of ring respectability that coated Floyd Patterson.

Having been broke most of his 28 years, Liston cherishes money and nurses a dollar with the solicitude of a brood hen. He'll probably never again run out of pocket money, but he'd like to make some more real-quick-and-get-paid for the last job he did in so quickly knocking out Patterson.

The big drawback to Liston's plans is Patterson, who always has been an accomplished hindrance to everybody's plans but his own. Liston had to sign one of those trick return bout contracts before he was allowed to commit assault and battery on the then champion.

Under its terms, Patterson can dictate the promoter, place and date for the re-engagement.

FLOYD PATTERSON
 Wants another match

through September, 1963. Liston can't fight anyone else in the meantime. A large chunk of Liston's share of the purse being held as a forfeit if he doesn't go through with the return. The rest has been attached by the Internal Revenue Service. Liston is suing.

"I'd like to live up to the contract even if nobody wants the fight but Patterson," Sonny said at the breakfast table as he extended his trip to Las Vegas beyond the Emile Griffith-Jorge Fernandez match for which he was imported to jigger up the boxoffice. "I'd rather fight him in a gym or steam room, but if he wants to do it publicly, that's okay with me."

Liston scowled as he signed autographs, a task he usually enjoys since he learned to write "Fie on Patterson," he said but not in those words. "He ain't running things no more. If he don't do something pretty quick I fight somebody else."

The man Liston would like to meet, if he decides to fight Patterson for the money owed him, is court instead of the ring, is Ingemar Johansson. He's better practically every other heavy weight of importance, including Eddie Machen, Cleveland Williams, Zora Folley and Mike DeJohn.

But Liston's patience is wearing as thin as a fashion model. He's on the verge of severing relations with Patterson, contract or no contract.

Outdoors In Texas

By WILLIAM CLAYTON
United Press International
 Whooping crane news is somewhat more hopeful this week than when the big, nearly-extinct birds started cruising into their winter home on the Texas coast.

H. J. Johnson, refuge manager at the Arkansas National Wildlife refuge near Austwell, Tex., says Dec. 7 was a banner day in the latest developments — two birds previously unaccounted for turned up in the refuge census. That boosted the total to 32.

That is still six shy of the total that spent their 1961-62 winter in Texas, but Johnson holds out hope there will be more uncounted so far.

The most disheartening report was that none of the returning birds are young, which means there was no hatch when the birds went north for their summer in Canada.

Poor Nesting Conditions
 Johnson said the far-north nesting conditions were not up to whooping crane standards, apparently.

The first two birds reported in at Arkansas arrived Oct. 15, Johnson recalled. This was one week later than the first arrivals of 1961. The home they found this year was in good shape—wind tides kept the saltwater lakes and pools along the eastern shore well filled with water.

Hurricane Carla scared wildlife conservationists last year. They feared the big wind would scatter the birds and possibly kill a few on their way to Texas. But Johnson said there was no damage to the part of the refuge the birds frequent. Workers are completing repairs to roads, fences, dikes, and other facilities hurt by the storm.

Slight Habit Change
 "The only change in whooper habits we have noted this year," Johnson said, "is an extension of habitat use. One bird utilized some saltwater lakes and tide pools on a ranch to the north of the refuge for the first time in modern history."

Johnson said it is not unusual for one or two birds to stray from the area for a few weeks, but all of them show up at the refuge finally, before the feathery squadron forms for the flight north.

Johnson said a U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service waterfowl biologist, Bill van Tries, is now stationed in Victoria in work on Gulf Coast problems, and is giving the whooping crane territory some attention.

News was fairly good in other outdoors happenings in the past week.

All Springs of the Texas Game and Fish Commission said range conditions in the Trans-Pecos contributed to good hunter success in the mule deer hunt, which closed Friday.

"Good early fall rains helped," Springs said. "Hunter success was running about 40 per cent."

Springs said animals were not moving much, because of a later rutting season and warm weather. But late in the two-week season, a cold snap helped.

COAST NO LONGER PATSIES FOR BIG 10, SAYS MCKAY

By HARRY GRAYSON
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA)—John McKay doubts that the Big Ten will dominate Pacific coast football as it has for the past 13 years.

Although the decline of west coast football started before the sitting difficulties of several years ago, McKay, coach of all-union Southern California, nation's No. 1 college team, butes the Far West's poor Bowl record in a large measure to the recent penalties.

Southern California, UCLA, and Washington were fined, denied the right to their senior players or penalties in some way," recalled McKay in New York for the "Look" American dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria. "They couldn't go to the Rose Bowl, so there was no incentive."

The Athletic Association of Western Universities, which grew out of the wrecking of the old Pacific Coast Conference as a result of the recruiting scandals, served notice on the Western Conference this season.

Southern California beat Iowa and Illinois, Washington topped Illinois and tied Purdue, UCLA finished in front of Ohio State, Stanford upset Michigan State, Washington State repelled Indiana. That is six victories and a tie in seven outings.

The Pacific coast hasn't had it so good in years and Southern California is out to embellish the record against Wisconsin in Pasadena on New Year's Day.

Glenn Davis, Army's famous Mr. Outside of 1943-44-45-46, now special events director of a Los Angeles newspaper, edged up to the table and remarked that Southern California should be stronger than ever next fall.

"If the kids don't blow up and the alumni lets them alone," said Davis.

McKay, the realist, had to agree. No fewer than 27 of the young men who helped win 10 straight games will return.

The only losses of consequence are Ben Wilson, the fullback whom the Los Angeles Rams drafted a year ago; Mary Marinovich, a tackle; and end Del

Houston Batters New York Titans

By KYLE THOMPSON
United Press International
VICTORIA (UPI)—The Pharr-San Juan-Alamo Bears, riding the passing arms of dual quarterbacks Carlos Vela and Johnny Warden, defeated the Orange Tiggers 20 to 13 Saturday to advance to the state class AAA finals against Dumas.

The lighter Bears, depending on the passing arms of dual quarterbacks Carlos Vela and Johnny Warden, defeated the Orange Tiggers 20 to 13 Saturday to advance to the state class AAA finals against Dumas.

The Oilers, whose windup 11-3 record is their best in three AFL seasons, will shoot for their third consecutive league championship against the Dallas Texans of the Western Division next Sunday in Houston.

Cannon, whose rushing has been hampered this season by a back injury, broke open the game by making a juggling catch of a 33-yard scoring pass from Blanda just before halftime and then sprinting 64 yards from scrimmage in the third period.

This was the longest run of Cannon's pro career.

A crowd of only 8,167 turned out in the 20-degree weather to watch the last football game played at the Polo Grounds. All the Oilers except Blanda wore Sneakers on the frozen turf.

This was also the Titans' last game under owner Harry Wismer, who is required to sell the club. The last-place Titans' 5-9 record is their poorest in three AFL seasons.

While Blanda, Cannon, fullback Charlie Tolar and the Oilers' powerful defense made a rout of the nationally-televized game, the Boston Patriots watched disconsolately 2,000 miles away in Oakland. If the Oilers had been upset, the Patriots could have clinched the title by beating the Raiders on Sunday.

Tolar became the AFL's second rusher to gain more than 1,000 yards when he carried for 107, giving him a total of 1,012 for the season. Cookie Gilchrist of Buffalo has finished his season with 1,094 rushing yards.

Blanda completed 15 of 32 passes for 225 yards before giving way to Jackie Lee. He threw a short five-yard scoring pass to fullback Dave Smith in the first period, hit Cannon with a 33-yard toss in the second quarter and then connected with a 41-yard pass to Willard Dewveall in the third period. Blanda also kicked a 38-yard field goal.

Houston thus closed out the regular season with seven straight victories and dropped the Titans for the sixth time in as many meetings since the league was formed.

Auto Racer Gambles With Highest Chips

By HAROLD SHEEHAN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA)—Why does a man drive a racing car when death is the ultimate penalty for a slip?

Sterling Moss, one of the great living drivers, compared international grand prix driving to shooting billiards. The English star's comments were aired in a New York restaurant during his visit to the United States to promote British MGs and Austin-Healeys.

"Billiard playing can be fun when you're playing with a friend just for enjoyment," said Moss, as he consumed a big hamburger (well done). "But the game takes on more interest if there is money on the table. Auto racing is gambling with the highest chips—your life."

A healed gash across his cheek was a reminder that Moss last spring had almost seen the Master Croupier rake in his chips. His latest accident left him semi-conscious for 38 days. After the bones and stitches—40 in his face—were healed he was still partially paralyzed. After months of therapy his reaction time is still down enough so that his future in racing hangs in doubt.

Moss obviously considers himself lucky that he is alive, but he is apprehensive about his absence from racing.

"I could climb into a car today," he said, "and give a creditable account of myself. On a course where most drivers click off 1:30.2, I could make it in, say 1:31.2."

"I could fool the average spectator that I was driving like a demon, but I couldn't fool myself. That extra second each lap would mean I would lose."

His somewhat slower reflexes, however, did not stave in the way of Moss collecting a speeding ticket in New York—a talent that seems to come naturally to him. He was once restricted to a bicycle on public streets after an English judge lifted his driving license.

"It was on Route 17 on the way back from the Watkins Glen race," Moss related. "I was driving the little Austin '350' and not wasting time."

"Suddenly I heard a growling noise next to me and was confronted by a local constable. 'Ah,' he said as he walked over to the car, 'it's not every day we have a celebrity drop in. Don't you know that you could get killed in that little car?'"

"'Look,' I said to him, 'Don't you know that you are driving around 4,000 pounds of metal looking for someone to have an accident with?'"

Demons

to give the Demons a 14-0 time lead.

Norman Bonner, the Demon's top ground-gainer with 109 yards, rapped off a 59-yard scamp and the slaughter was on in the next four minutes on 2-yard Joe Parsons to Kelly Er pass and a 16-yard run by sons, then added their sixth touchdown on a one-yard plunge Robert Houlette.

ophomore quarterback Richie Jackson kept Jacksonville in being shut out by threading Dumas reserves defense for yards rushing. He scored one Jacksonville touchdown on a 92-yard sprint and accounted for 42 yards in a drive which set James Martin's 18-yard touchdown run.

Jacksonville accounted for only one first down, in contradiction their 215 yards gained rushing. Robertson's long run made difference.

SIMPLY MUST STOP staring at this blank sheet of paper or a blank column will stare back on Sunday morning. Perhaps a good beginning would be with this "Recipe For A Happy Holiday Season," which a friend recently passed along to us:

- 1 cupful of Thankfulness
- 1 cupful of Faith
- 1 cupful of Hope
- 1 cupful of Love

For seasoning add a pinch of the following: childish laughter, excitement and song. Serve first in the family circle; then to neighbors and friends and all who come your way. NOTE: All measurements should be full measure and running over. An over-abundance of any one ingredient merely adds to the good seasoning of your Happy Holiday Recipe. Also may be kept at fingertip and served daily throughout the New Year.

COUNTDOWN TO CHRISTMAS ... it's 9 B. C. ... Before Christmas or Before Collapsing ... if you have any writing friends on your Christmas gift list, we have some suggestions for these rather eccentric people this year, instead of gifting them with the usual realm of typing paper or typewriter ribbon, why not use these suggestions offered by Hayes B. Jacobs in the current issue of Writer's Digest titled "What To Give The Writer For Christmas": (1) A SURPRISE BOOK: this can be almost any book as long as it is thick. What makes it a "surprise" is that when the writer unwraps it and begins to leaf through it, he will discover that you have cleverly concealed several hundred crisp new bills ... fives, tens or twenties (the larger the bill, the larger the surprise). You will find this is a book no writer can put down until he has gone all the way through it. (2) A WRITER'S TELEPHONE: This novel gift appears to be identical with the standard Bell System but thoughtful old you have made a special arrangement with the local telephone folks with the result that the Writer's Telephone has no ringing mechanism. The sight of it on the desk, the realization that it belongs to him and the knowledge that no wild intrusive jangling will ever come out of it will provide the writer with many delightful days of uninterrupted working time. It's available in Selentry Blot, Bliss Green, Contentment Yellow, Restful Red, Hush Brown and Mute White. (3) WRITING BREECHES: These are for the writers who have not been writing much lately. They are ordinary trousers which have been cleverly sewn, tacked or glued to the writer's chair. For women writers, companion models are Sit Slacks and Be-seated Skirts. (4) EDITOR'S DOLL: These are puppet-like figures for the writer's desk with pebbly green skin, staring, bloodshot-eyes, horns and tails. Around their necks are tiny name tags, left blank so that the writer may pencil in the names of all editors he is currently mad at. The doll comes equipped with a bunch of sharp hatpins. As each doll is stuck there is an unproven myth that in some distant editorial office an anguished cry is heard (5) AN IDEAMOBILE ... which is exactly what we want for Christmas so we can write this column every week ... if you have no writing friends on your gift list almost all of these suggestions can be modified to suit anyone's taste or occupation!

QUOTES FROM John Callarman, director of Pampa's Little Theater's Play "The Glass Menagerie" written by Tennessee Williams and planned for the Pampa High School boards on Friday and Saturday evenings of this week. "That is going to be one of the most unique plays that Pampa play-goers will have the opportunity to see" ... and since Christmas is the season for surprises Pampa Little Theater promises that, too "surprise when you enter the auditorium ... surprise in the set decoration ... surprise in the lighting ... and surprise in the quality of acting". Dan Pope, who has had minor roles in PLT's three productions, steps to the foreground in one of the four leading roles, as the sensitive, poetic son Ruth Holladay, already well-known to many Pampans despite her less than a year's residence here, will play "Amanda", the ex-Southern Belle type mama, who can't relinquish her social prowess ... a husband and wife, Dorothy and Dale Walker will take the other two leading roles ... Dale, who appeared briefly in the August production, "George Washington Slept Here," will play a swash-buckling athlete, who Amanda hopes will fall in love with her unloved daughter, Laura, as played by Dorothy, who appeared in "The Night Is My Enemy" the director says and we quote "there is one point in this play where we build up to a razor-sharp job that will sever the collective spine of the audience and for the remainder of the play we will help put it back together again" Virginia Myer is a new face behind-the-scenes in charge of make-up ... Nancy Imel is a new hand in the painting department ... but the actual set-building just couldn't be done without the old "regulars" like Glenn McConnell ... Frank Hatcher ... Wynne Veale ... and Jim Douthett ... and we know that PLT is most grateful for all the co-operation and encouragement that Cameron Marsh has given them ... so ... why not make one of your Christmas parties a theater party?

CHRISTMAS NOTES: we know one of the things that Carla Jo Combs, a sparkling little first grader at Travis School, is going to get for Christmas ... or soon after ... just this past Saturday she lost her first, front baby-tooth ... heard that Altrusa Club opened up a beautiful Christmas package at its Monday night program and out stepped Viola Jordan, who gave a clever reading "How Come Christmas?" in dialect and the Madrigal Singers ... Louise Richardson, Mary Wilson, Rosemary Lawlor, Jim Dailey, Gene Barrett and Hubert Carson ... the latter two are new this year to the singing group ... Hubert is the new choir director at the First Methodist Church ... seems we heard of another clever program presented just recently by Lou Ella Patterson at an Altrusa meeting ... using the "Telestar" theme ... since our communication's system isn't so good, that's all we know for sure ... only that it was clever and well-presented. Nete Hanks, Pampa Garden Club prexy, shared some of her gifted decorating ability with Petroleum Engineers Wives at a Christmas Luncheon Tuesday in the Pampa Country Club ... decorations at the Club are more beautiful than ever before but that's what we say every year ... a white and gold decor is carried out in the ballroom and lounge areas.

THAT Tea Dance given by Dan and Mary Williams ... Floyd and Laura Imel ... Arthur and Ruth Holland ... Raymond and Betty Reid ... Lillian and Stormy Jordan ... Mark and Floy Heath ... was a gay one ... in addition to the lovely feminine guests, a beauty spot was the hors d'oeuvres that appointed with a pink satin cloth extending in a deep shirred skirt to the floor and appointed with silver candelabra holding red and pink carnations ... we've never attended a Washington, D.C. party nor a Hollywood soiree ... but, we imagine, this one would vie for honors with any of them ... approximately 450 guests elbow-to-elbow!

THE YULE RULE is for fun and gaiety ... and that's the rule High School Members of the Pampa Country Club will follow next Saturday night when they entertain with a Christmas Formal honoring the College Set ... on the same evening in the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn, the three Beta Sigma Phi Sorority chapters, Upsilon, Rho Eta and Xi ... these lots will entertain with their annual Christmas Dance ... we know four homes that are decking the halls with holly and dusting off the old "welcome home" mat for Holiday vacationing sons ... Fern and Johnny Hines are expecting son, Don ... Ruth and Jake Osborne are looking forward to the arrival of son, Frank ... both are students at Staunton Military Academy in Staunton, Virginia ... George and Frances Green along with Hal and Ricky, are looking for George III to return in almost any day now from Culver Military Academy ... Bettie and John Haggard are anticipating the arrival

Canadian P-TA Has Meeting

CANADIAN (Spl) — Mrs. Cieta Hoobler presented the program for the regular meeting of the Canadian PTA held recently at the school cafeteria. Mrs. Hoobler reviewed Charles Taswell's "The Littlest Stork".

The afternoon's devotional was given by James Gitchell, pastor of the Assembly of God Church.

Mrs. Lawrence Pundt presided at the meeting which was opened with the PTA Associational Motto. A letter from District meeting was read.

It was announced that the January meeting originally scheduled for night time will be held at 3:20 p.m. in the afternoon at the high school auditorium. A. S. Jackson will present a film on Texas Wildlife.

Mrs. Hext's eighth grade and Miss Childers first grade tying with Mrs. Adams' fifth grade won awards for parent attendance.

Cookies and coffee were served by mothers of the seventh and eighth grade.

On campus, the wool story is lower limb: wool plaid spats to match skirts; wool hip boots for chilly evenings. Wool plaid watch bands for males match peak-style caps for football afternoons.

BETROTHAL ANNOUNCED

Miss Joyce Larue Holtman

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Holtman Jr., 1304 Terrace St., announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Joyce Larue, to James Franklin Waddell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph D. Waddell Jr., of Concord, N.C. The wedding will take place at the Mary Ellen and Harvester Church of Christ, Jan. 6.

'The Holy Night' Presented To 20th Century Forum Club

Members of Twentieth Century Forum Study Club met Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 12, in the home of Mrs. Joe M. Daniel Jr., 1928 Evergreen, with Mrs. Roy Bourland as co-hostess.

The Christmas program was presented by Mrs. Roy Holloway. Taken from a collection of Christmas legends, compiled by Selma Lagerlof, Mrs. Holloway presented the legend of "The Holy Night." This story had been translated from Swedish by Velma Howard. The legend is recounted by a grandfather as it was told to her by her grandmother, for whom she had had a keen affection. The grandmother had kept children happy for endless hours by telling story after story, always concluding with, "All this is as true, as true as that I see you and you see me."

"The Holy Night" is the legend of a cruel and hard-hearted shepherd, who, on the night the Christ child was born, finally showed that he could be merciful and therefore was made to see and hear wonders he could never before have seen or heard. ... And it was not only around the shepherd that there were angels but he saw them everywhere. They sat inside the grotto, they sat outside on the mountain, and they flew under the heavens. They came marching in great companies, and as they passed, they paused and cast a glance at the child.

There was such jubilation and gladness and songs and play! And all this he saw in the dark night, whereas before he could not have made out anything. He was so happy.

Here Grandmother sighed and said: "What that shepherd saw might also see for the angels fly down from heaven every Christmas Eve if we could only see them." Then she laid her hand on the granddaughter's head and said, "You must remember this, of their nephew, Calvin Broadway from Kemper Military Academy in Booneville, Mo. ... must close now and wash up a stack of dishes ... but all the while being jolly, jolly, jolly Ho! Ho! Ho! Peg.

Rho Eta Candlelight Ceremony Honors Beta Sigma Phi Pledges

Rho Eta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met Tuesday, Dec. 11; at 8 p.m., in the Hospitality Room of the Citizens Bank for the Christmas Party and Pledge Ritual. Mrs. Haldane Suttle, president, announced that the State Convention will be in San Antonio, June 14-16, 1963.

A Christmas basket, toys and clothing will be given to the club's adopted family.

Nineteen pledges took their Pledge Ritual in an impressive candlelight ceremony. The Lord's Prayer was played, for soft background music.

The serving table was covered with a red cloth, centered with a Christmas Centerpiece of candelabra and greenery.

Hostesses for the event were Mmes. Dick Wilson, James Trusty and Cletus Mitchell.

Pledges are: Glenda Anderson, a wonderful combination of talent and personality;

Peggy Beckham, a quiet smile, a nice hello, a likeable girl to meet and know;

Cuba Brooks, a lady without a doubt, and fresh as a morning in spring;

Helen Conway, singing on her way, always ready for a bit of gay;

Del Davis, she is good natured and sweet with dainty ways;

Mary Duenkel, in size she is tiny, but a big smile, she always wears;

Vertene England, her life is noble, pure and sweet, she is a girl hard to beat;

Vera Farmers, a cheerful smile, a helping hand, always ready on demand;

Phyllis Gardner, a laughable brown-eyed beauty, with a smile for all.

Lynda Garner, a blond beauty with a nice smile and cute figure;

June Gilpatrick, the twinkle of her eye makes many a sad heart gay;

Carol Green, the mildest manners and the gentlest heart makes her a friend to all;

Glenna Jones, her voice is soft and low but sincere in all she

Sue Lynn Lee, a pixie, it's just a bundle of happiness;

Charlotte Lewis, fair is her face, kind is her heart, two of twins, she'll never part;

Nelda Rogers, no matter you've known her only a while, you'll be charmed by disposition and smile;

Jean Smith, a very distinguished personality she does have, mirrored greatly by all;

Susie Spoonmore, an attraction blond that is described as "excellent";

Judy Taylor, here's a girl a smile that makes the bubble life more worthwhile;

Allene Turnbo, the smile in her eyes, and the smile on her face makes your heart merry when meet.

The following members v presented: Mmes. Bob Brun Jack Chisum, Frank Heare, J. Langford, Doug McBride, C. Mitchell, Ken Peeples, Hald Suttle, James Trusty, Delm Watkins, Raymond Williams

Dick Wilson.

Local Teacher Is Delegate To Recent P-TA State Convention In Ft. Worth

Mrs. Doris Price, a teacher at Stephen F. Austin, was a delegate to the 53rd Annual State Convention of the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, Nov. 14-16, in Ft. Worth. She submitted the following report for Stephen F. Austin P-TA Thursday Dec. 13.

MRS. DORIS PRICE
Austin Teacher

Mrs. Maydel Lanehart, representing Stephen F. Austin P-TA, was also a delegate to the State Convention.

Mrs. T. W. Whaley of Kose, state president, presided. The theme, "Homes Create Community Strength Through Good Citizenship," was keynoted in an address by Dr. Irby B. Carruth, president of the American Association of School Administrators, and Superintendent of Austin (Texas) public schools. He made the following points: that the emotionally upsetting of the child is usually started in the home. To build a great man and woman: (1) Love the child. (2) Give the child more time. (3) Set the example of a good citizen before your child.

Mrs. Clifford N. Jenkins of Long Island, N. Y., president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, addressed the delegates the first evening. Pertinent quotes include: "We are to raise our children to be worthy of our American Heritage. Teach them to respect individual rights and responsibilities enforced by discipline."

Dr. James H. Jauncey of El Paso, pastor of the First Christian Church, spoke on "The Home and the Citizen," stressing that he does not share anyone's views that we will ever become communistic, that the homes in our United States do create a community strength through good citizenship and spiritual values. The second day was taken up with conferences under the direction of R. H. McKay, of Dallas, state workshop chairman. Points brought out at the conference Mrs. Price and Mrs. Lanehart attended include: that it is very important that parents, teachers and principals take more interest in P-TA work, and that what is right and good for our children is right and good for all children.

You can pop laundry in the top and drop it out the bottom through flip-up doors of a space-saving new hamper. It hangs neatly inside a linen closet or bathroom door or a bedroom wall. Can be kept clean by washing with a sudsy sponge. (Rubbermaid, Inc., Wooster, Ohio).

Miss Schaeffer Is Speaker For Exemplar Chapter

The Exemplar Chapter, Xi Beta Chi of Beta Sigma Phi had its annual Christmas party in the home of Mrs. Dot Francis, 1112 Duncan. Miss Virginia Vaughn assisted as co-hostesses.

Miss Helen Schaeffer, speech teacher of Pampa High School, presented a delightful Christmas story, "Oh, Holy Night," by Selma Lagerlof.

The group gathered in the beautifully decorated den for the singing of many familiar holiday carols and for a gift exchange.

Refreshments of Christmas cookies, nuts and coffee were enjoyed by the following members: Mmes. Wayne St. Clair, Barber L. Clary, James Poole, Jeff Truly, Jack Vaughn, Murry Sealley, James Scholl, Jim Meredith, Barney McMullan, Ted Knox, Lemond Hall, Byron Hilbun, Joe Fischer, Ralph Esson, Tom Board, Howard Buckingham, John Plaster and Buster Grayson.

TEL Sunday School Class Has Meet

Gifts were exchanged by members of the TEL Sunday School Class of Central Baptist Church at a party held Tuesday afternoon in the home of their teacher, Mrs. R. E. Warren, 420 Doucette.

The class sang "Silent Night" followed with a prayer by Mrs. L. A. Baxter.

Mrs. E. O. Etheredge conducted a short business meeting with Mrs. W. G. Gooding giving the secretary's report.

The Christmas Story by St. Luke was read by Mrs. Henry Taylor. Mrs. Lelia Gomer carried out the Christmas motif in the entertainment.

Refreshments were served to Mmes. L. A. Baxter, M. E. Tucker, Lelia Gomer, Ada Stark, Sam Bray, E. E. Garland, W. G. Gooding, E. O. Etheredge, Maggie Deal, Henry Taylor, Myrtle Enloe, Frank Young, Dora Poe, Cathrine Osborn and C. G. Miller.

The class presented gifts to Mrs. Warren and Mrs. Etheredge and Mrs. Stark gave the closing prayer.

Pastel curtains dry without losing delicate color if washed and rinsed, and then placed in a large pillow case pinned to the clothesline to dry.

Country Club Is Setting For PEWS Christmas Luncheon

A festive air surrounded the Pampa Country Club as the Petroleum Engineers' Wives Society met Dec. 11, at 11:30 a.m. for their Christmas luncheon. Forty-one members and guests were present to enjoy the Christmas buffet.

Following luncheon, a short business meeting was conducted by president, Mrs. N. E. Turnbo. Yearbooks were distributed to members. New members presented to the group were: Mrs. Doyle Alexander, Borger. Mrs. Robert Allison, Mrs. E. D. McMe, and Mrs. William Trout, all Pampa.

Mrs. Ray E. Wilson, program chairman, introduced Mrs. Hermon Hanks, president of the Pampa Garden Club and National Flower Show Judge, who presented a program, "Christmas Ideas in the Making."

"Begin Christmas with a star," said Mrs. Hanks, "for the star is the symbol of all religions." She then showed an arrangement centered around a star, a madonna and the Holy Bible, to help guide her through the holiday season, keeping in mind the true meaning of Christmas.

Using pine cones, pecans and a piece of bark, Mrs. Hanks created a lovely arrangement that could be used effectively in a den or family room.

"Have something special for each guest," she said, and then demonstrated making several simple and thoughtful arrangements, using among other things, a football shoe for the returning college man.

Attending the meeting were: Mrs. Johnnie Ouzts, McLean, Mrs. James Jones, Mrs. M. Hammons, Mrs. Marshall Frazier all of Stinnett, and from Pampa, Mmes. Alonzo Lollar, E. D. McCabe, William Trout, James Morning, Russell Talley, Jack Chisum, Ray Jordan, Ken Burke, B. C. Norwood, Earl Johnson, Milton Kihnenman, L. K. Roberts, Robert Mitchell, W. A. Thienes, N. E. Turnbo, Paul H. Davis, Frank Vitrono, Robert West, M. Williams, Ray E. Wilson, Robert Allison, Joel Combs and Paul Murphy. Also attending were Mrs. Robert Herrin of Skellytown, Mmes.

Doyle Alexander, Barrie Barret, James Hamilton, E. V. Garrett, Billy Gillman, S. A. Evans, R. L. Holmes, E. M. Mason, Sam Archambeau, James Curzon and M. Prewitt all of Borger.

Now—the ultimate in golf shorts for midday. The pants have a built in tee pouch, pencil holder, towel rack and, aft on one leg, a zipper compartment for golf balls! The serious golfer doesn't sit during the pursuit of excellence, so no problem's anticipated in connection with the lumpy effect of golf balls in one's rear pocket. Wilma Donaldson, designer for Queen Casuals, said the utilitarian design is in response to demand from the females who rally round the tees.

Evelyn Laeger And Envoy H. C. Seago Are Married In Georgia Ceremony

The Salvation Army Chapel in Atlanta, Ga., was the setting for the double ring ceremony of Evelyn Laeger, Atlanta, and Envoy H. C. Seago, 611 Albert, at 6 p.m. Friday Nov. 23, Brigadier Gordon Swyer, Division Commander of Texas, officiated.

The couple wore Salvation Army Uniforms and the bride carried white sweetheart roses atop a white Bible.

Mrs. Joy Bone of Dallas served as bridesmaid wearing her Salvation Army uniform and flowers of red carnations.

Serving as best man was Captain Lorene Boone of Dallas.

The bride was given in marriage by her son-in-law, of Birmingham, Ala. Flag bearers were Captain John Nickles and Captain Fred Ruth.

Take It From Kathy

by kathy peterson

Dear Kathy: Could you help me with something? When a boy looks at me, I blush. It always happens! Every time I get excited or nervous over something, I get flushed. What can I do to prevent this? It's embarrassing.—W.

Dear W.: People usually stop blushing as they grow older and gain confidence. This should be encouraging. In the meantime, there isn't a thing you can do to correct it. Guess you'll just have to try smiling pleasantly along with those blushes, instead of hanging your head!

When you see a friend's picture in the paper, clip it for him. He'll value extra copies.

Maj. Viola Figgins provided traditional wedding music, and accompanied Miss Brenda Boone, niece of the bride as she sang, "Your People Shall Be My People" and the "Wedding Prayer."

A reception was held in Lakewood Corps in Atlanta following the ceremony. Mrs. Capt. Travis assisted at the punch service and Mrs. Capt. John Nickles and Mrs. T. Steele served wedding cake. Other members of the houseparty were Capt. Travis and Brig. John Needham.

The couple will reside at 116 Albert.

Mrs. Seago has been a case worker in the Salvation Army for the past 16 years and also travels aid.

Her husband has been Salvation Army's Commanding Officer for the past 16 years.

Bennett Group Of First Christian Church Meets For Salad Supper With Mrs. Wells

The Bennett group of the First Christian Church met at the home of Mrs. Lloyd Wells, west of Pampa recently. Mrs. Stella Bastin opened the meeting with prayer and presided at the business session. Plans were made to help with "Cheer-Boat Plates" for shut-ins. The plates will be delivered to homes on Dec. 19, after the general meeting. Gifts to be sent to aged, at Juliet Fowler Home, were taken at the meeting. Mrs. W. A. Patton presented the Christmas devotional and the group presented Mrs. Bastin a book, "Leaves Of Gold," for her services as leader of the group for the past two years.

A salad supper was served from a table laid in a white cloth with red tapers and a poinsettia centerpiece.

The following members were present, Mmes. Stella Bastin, W. A. Patton, Bob Swanson, Isaac Doom, H. L. Williams and son, H. L. Jr., G. I. Harkrader, H. H. Kessinger and the hostess.

The next meeting will be at the church, Jan. 8 at 7:30 p.m. with Mrs. Patton as hostess. Members are asked to bring their old Christmas cards to be sent to Bennetts Missionaries in Jamaica, for use in the children's work there.

Garden Club Has Christmas Party

A Christmas party and gift exchange was enjoyed by members of the Top O' Texas Garden Club, Tuesday, Dec. 11 at 1:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. J. A. Howard, 2101 N. Wells.

The president, Mrs. V. K. Osborn, conducted a short business meeting. Reports were made on Christmas customs of other countries, after which each member told of customs of her family. Christmas games were played with a background of Christmas carols.

Refreshments were served from a table laid with a red net cloth, and centered with holiday, dried arrangement and candles. Members present were: Mmes. R. E. Anderson, Fred Hinkley, J. A. Howard, J. A. Knox, A. H. Kouri, Margery Mack, V. K. Osborn, Tom Patton, L. B. Robertson and JJoe Rutledge.

Presbyterian Women Have Yule Party

Circles one through four of the First Presbyterian Church met for their annual Christmas party Wednesday. A special Christmas program was followed by a luncheon.

Circle one was in the home of Mrs. Henry J. Gindorf, 820 N. Gray; circle two, in the home of Mrs. Jack Foster, 1228 Williston; and circle three and four in the home of Mrs. W. L. Hesken, 1129 N. Somerville.

Lose your temper? Say something you regret? Apologize.

El Progreso Study Club Members Enjoy Interesting Christmas Story

El Progreso Study Club met Tuesday afternoon Dec. 11, in the home of Mrs. Kermit Lawson, 2223 Beech. The home was beautifully decorated throughout with clever Christmas arrangements and novelties. The business-meeting was presided over by Mrs. Glen Radcliff, president.

The program was presented by Mrs. Helen Vera, who was married in Holland, and lived there for a while with her husband, a native of that country before returning to the states to establish their home. Mr. and Mrs. Vera have lived in Pampa for almost a year so she is a relatively new member of the club.

She gave a first hand report on Christmas Customs in Holland, and displayed a unique collection of dolls, dressed in the native costumes of the different Provinces of Holland.

She related the legend of Saint Nicholas and said the United States Santa Claus, probably originated from Holland. St. Nicholas always arrives in Amsterdam by boat and rides down the streets on a white horse, checking to see if the children are being good. Dec. 5 is St. Nicholas Day and Dec. 25 and Dec. 26 both are legal Christmas Holidays, with family get togethers. Perhaps the strangest custom to us, is the custom of everyone having large chocolate letters or their initials, on Christmas. She explained they were very delicious, as Holland chocolate is much tastier than ours.

She said the children's presents were always left on the door steps and the adults did not put the name of the sender on their gifts.

She closed with the thought that our Christmas will be what we want it to be, in our hearts, and will not be commercialized unless we allow it to be, and quoted from the most beautiful Christmas story ever told, "For unto you is born this day in the City of David, a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord."

Members enjoying the very interesting program were Mmes. Jess Clay, V. J. Drew, Elmer Fisher, John Gill, George Hrdlicka, Bernard Johnson, Charles Lanehart, Bob McCoy, J. G. Morrison, Carlton Nance, Tom Perkins, Glenn Radcliff, George Waldstad, Harold Wright, and the hostess.

The Mature Parent

Parents Need To Let The Child Know

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Dear Mrs. Lawrence: You always tell parents to say "no" when they don't want to give children their own way. I often wonder what would happen to give children their own way. I often wonder what would happen to your fine theories if you had a child like my 8-year-old boy. Though he minds his father, he won't take a "no" from me, but treats me like dirt whenever I have to refuse him. My husband says this is because I have been too soft with him, but I think he holds something against me I don't know about.

ANSWER: Do you truly want this child's affection?

If so, ask for it. Tell him you want it. For I think it is the frustration of your simple wish for his affection that accounts for the hurt and confusion you express. I think that an equally simple statement of this wish may be what is needed to release better confidence between you and your boy.

If you think this recommendation sounds pretty silly, I suggest it is because it contains the possibility that your child will release you the affection you ask for. I think that you are as angered by the prospect of a "no" from him as he is angered by a spoken one from you.

"The fear of rebuff is a grave handicap to the wish for affection," wrote the late Dr. Karen Horney, founder of the American Association for the Advancement of Psychoanalysis, "because it prevents us from letting others know that we would like some attention."

Misunderstandings are bound to accumulate between us and a child if fear of his rebuffs dominates our dealings with him. The fear may block the expression of our wish for reconciliation. It also may bury it out of our sight under a pile of secondary feelings such as discouragement, chronic hurt and resentment. Out of touch with our original and appealing wish, we then appear to be more self-sufficient, cold and disinterested than we actually are. Inevitably, the child concludes that his affection is not important to us. In discouragement, hurt and resentment of his own, he begins to treat us "like dirt."

So it is valuable to see what it is in us that makes us so scared of declaring our need for his affection and trust. It is grandness in us — the same grandness that is in the spoiled child who can't tolerate any denial of his wishes. We feel secretly entitled to anything we want, including our son's affection. So a possible rebuff of our wish equals a shameful humiliation to us.

If water is beginning to soak through cork coasters, coat the bottom with colorless nail polish.

Dear Abby...

I'm With You!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 16 years old and am treated like a baby, Abby. My mother says I have to be home by 12 o'clock when I go out on a date, no matter what. If I go to a school dance, and the band plays until twelve, I have to leave the dance at 11:30 to be sure I am home on time. Last Saturday night we went to a movie and, Abby, I had to ask my date to leave before the movie ended because of that midnight rule. Please help me make my mother understand how embarrassing her rule is. I have never yet been late coming home.

That way people would think plenty before rushing into marriage.

SUBSCRIBER

DEAR SUBSCRIBER: Perhaps if a marriage license were more expensive people would not be so inclined to rush into what should be a life-long partnership. But why should a divorce be cheap? Perhaps if divorce were even more expensive, folks would try harder to make a go of the marriage.

MAMMA

What's on your mind? For a personal reply send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send $8.

Santa, the Snowman, or a colorful Christmas tree occupies almost the entire surface of synthetic-fiber scatter rugs. They are non-skid and washable. (Collins and Aikman, Roxboro, N.C.)

DEAR ABBY: Am I crazy or are there other people like me? I positively go out of my mind when I HEAR someone eating an apple. I can't describe what it does to me, but I feel that I want to jump out of my skin! How can I overcome it? Please don't tell me to see a psychiatrist.

ROSE

DEAR ROSE: An apple a day is supposed to keep the doctor away, so I am not about to send you to one. However, there is no need to torture yourself. When someone starts to crunch an apple — exit.

EMBARRASSED
DEAR EMBARRASSED: You shouldn't have to leave a dance or a movie before it is over, but if you continue to respect your mother's "rules," she's bound to ease up a bit. I hope so. You seem like a responsible girl.

DEAR ABBY: We almost came to blows over something I wish you would settle for me once and for all. I have always called my brother's wife my "SISTER-IN-LAW." Now they tell me that she is NOT my sister-in-law — she is nothing to me. They say the only sisters-in-law I have are the sisters of my husband! I am going mad trying to figure this out.

EVA

DEAR EVA: Technically, the relatives gained by marriage are "in-laws." Your brother's wife is indeed your sister-in-law.

DEAR ABBY: I think I have the solution for decreasing the divorce rate. Marriage licenses should cost $350 and divorces $2.

For gala holiday evenings, teenagers can add a special touch to their party clothes with imaginative use of flowers. This girl (left) has had a florist make up a head band of posies in colors to complement her dress. The modern teenager (center) is transformed into a Victorian picture by her nosegay of blossoms. For an informal party, this teenager (right) accessorizes a plain wool dress with a pouffe of fresh posies in a bright color.

Posies Add Beauty To Party Dress

ing the holiday party season, teenagers look for pretty and different ways to dress up party clothes. This can be done with no expense on the budget if you are creative. You can perk up a basic wool dress for an informal party. blend of types, they'll want to co-ordinate many kinds of posies with all types of clothing. There is, according to Florists' Telegraph Delivery members, only one rule when it comes to wearing flowers: they should be pinned with the stem down, as they grow. If you're looking for new ways to wear a blossom, try a headband of flowers, pin a bloom to your clutch bag, or use transparent tape to fasten a cluster to your shoulder when you wear a strapless gown. Some color combinations that are young and vibrant include orange posies on a pink dress, deep burgundy flowers with lime green, and yellow on gray, beige or brown. If you plan to wire party flowers to a friend in a distant city, chances are you won't know what kind of dress she'll wear. Leave the choice of blossoms to the florist. He'll select something neutral. When you accessorize your party clothes with flowers, wear small blooms if you are petite. If you are tall and stately, the flowers can be scaled according to your size. Mrs. Dean Burger, reporter; Mrs. Jack Bivens, program chairman, assisted by Mrs. Preston Harden. The group voted to meet the first Monday afternoon of each month at 2 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Mrs. Joe Page Presents Austin Choir In Christmas Program At P-TA Meeting

A Christmas pageant depicting the Nativity was presented by the fifth and sixth grade choirs and members of Mrs. Joe Page's sixth grade class for the Stephen F. Austin P-TA Thursday, Dec. 13. During the pageant the Christmas story from the Bible was narrated by Kay Barrow and Debra Stephens, and the choirs, directed by Mrs. Homer Krueger, sang familiar carols. Following the pageant the fifth grade choir sang "Christmas Lullaby" and "The Shepherds and the Star," and the sixth grade choir presented "Hark Ye, What Angel Voices," "Deck the Halls," and "The Little Sheep of Bethlehem." The program was concluded with the audience joining with the choirs to sing "Joy to the World."

The program was introduced by Diana Rose, and the accompanists were Berkeley Evans, Gail Wilson, Debbie Veale, Monte Westbrook and Linda Garret. Sets used in the pageant were made by Melissa Almsworth, Kathy Topper, Len Mills and Sherry Watkins.
Reverend Glyn Adsit, pastor of the First Christian Church, presented the spiritual thought for the day.
During the business meeting, led by Mrs. S. B. Sybert, president, committee reports were made by Mrs. Joe Gates, Exceptional Child Chairman, and Mrs. Frank Kelley, City Council Representative. Mrs. Houston Price reported on the State P-TA Convention in Fort Worth in November. Mrs. Sybert announced that there will be no meeting in January and that the next meeting will be Feb. 14 at 7:30 p.m.
The door prize was won by Mrs. Ed Keffer and the sixth grade won the room count banner.

B&PW's Christmas Meeting Is Today At Citizens Bank

Mrs. Flossie Anderson, president, presided at the meeting of the Pampa B&PW which met Tuesday, Dec. 11 at 7:30 p.m. in the City Club Room. The meeting was opened with the club collect by Hattie Harmon. Mrs. Georgia Mack gave the council report, stating the lots, belonging to the council were returned to the donors, by a vote of 10 to eight. Libby Shotwell reported on the welfare index, stating the welfare room was in need of a sewing machine. Laura Bell Carnelison, donated a used machine to the welfare index, which is located at the Plainsman Motel. Lillie Stafford is there on duty at all times.
Flossie Anderson read Christmas greetings from National Federation. The National Convention will be in Dallas, July, 1963.
Everyone was urged to get their Christmas decoration money in at once. The annual Christmas party will be today, Dec. 16 at 2:30 p.m. at Citizens Bank in the Hospitality Room. Gifts will be exchanged and Alma Ash is program chairman for the afternoon.
Seven new members were voted into the club.

Mrs. Burn's Pupils Present Christmas Piano Recital

Christmas carols, hymns, and songs were played by the piano students of Mrs. A. E. Burns at Barrett Baptist Chapel, 903 E. Beryl, on Friday Dec. 14, at 8 p.m.
Students performing were: Phyllis Powell, Linda Cooper, Ellen Price, Brenda, and Martha Shaw, Paula Bowden, Fran McGahan, Pamela Gaines, Kipp Everett, Becky Burris, Sue Crawford, Jan Liles, Orville and Ina Mae Reames, Lida Upping, Mike Branscum, Byron, Bobby, and David Burns.

Rev. West Presents Baker PTA Program

Rev. Russell G. West, pastor of the Church of the Brethren, was the guest speaker for B. M. Baker P-TA at their meeting Thursday, Dec. 13 at 7:15 p.m. in the school auditorium.
Rev. West read an inspirational poem, "The Creation," written by James Weldon Johnson, while showing colored slides which told the story of how God created the world and man. He next illustrated the eighth Psalm which was followed by a series of slides, showing the points of interest and beauty of his native state of Virginia and the Blue Ridge Mountains. He stated, "spring, summer, fall and winter were the best times to visit this state. It is always beautiful."

Rev. West concluded his program by playing a record of "How Great Thou Art," which had been recorded for him by a friend, Rev. Nelson T. Huffmah of Ridge-water, Va. An additional vers written by Rev. West told of the beauty of the flowers God planned for us to enjoy.
The business portion, presided over by Mrs. O. G. Ferguson, president, opened with a prayer by Mrs. John Vantine.
Mrs. A. N. Green, City Council Representative announced that the annual pilgrimage will be held Sunday, Dec. 16. Mrs. Green urged everyone to participate in this march to the church of their choice.
Miss Sibyl Turner, a sixth grade teacher, reported on her trip to Fort Worth, Nov. 14-16, as a delegate to the State P-TA Convention. Miss Turner commented briefly on the outstanding speakers and well planned program presented on "Citizenship." Other reports were given by Mrs. H. L. Engle, secretary and Mrs. Lawton Branscum, treasurer.

Mrs. H. V. Wilks, city council study course chairman, presented a potted plant to the B. M. Baker unit, for having the most members attend the study courses held during October and November. The theme for the seven sessions this year was, "Know Your Schools." Mrs. Wilks also presented a rose to Mrs. Ferguson.

Miss Edna Daughtee's first grade room and Mrs. Frank Dials sixth grade tied for the room count.
A cake, baked by Mrs. Howard Adamson, was awarded to Mrs. Ben Nahaney as door prize.
The executive board met at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 11 in the school cafeteria with Mrs. Ferguson, presiding.
Following the order of business, Mrs. Ferguson extended holiday greetings and presented small favors to each member. Coffee and cookies and cake were served from a table covered with a Christmas decorated cloth. The following members, in addition to Mrs. Ferguson attended: Mmes. Lawton Branscum, H. L. Engle, R. C. Dittmeyer, Troy L. Bennett, J. L. Hampton, B. P. Kenner, Howard Adamson, A. E. Burns, Charlie Pipes, A. N. Green, C. D. Anderson Jr., and R. A. McClenathan.

The film troupe had dis to living quarters over a wide area while in Spain some 30 buses, station wagon cars were needed to round all up for the trip to Ireland.

NEW YORK (NEA) — It's entirely possible that the woman who doesn't own a knit dress of some sort doesn't exist in the United States today.

For knit fashions have swept the country. For daytime, travel, sports, casual wear, dinner and formal evenings, there are knits tailored to the exact order.

Women live in them and love them. And small wonder. They don't wrinkle, don't sit out. They do look fresh hour after hour, are undeniably chic. And they are as becoming to the woman with generous padding as they are to a slender figure.

This winter, knits are going to resorts and staying home, too. North, south and the tropics, knits are on hand. The Norfolk jacket, the sweater dress with V neck and the perfectly cut knit suit are three top wool knit fashions this winter. The sweater dress, originally inspired by the V neck tennis sweater, is a solid hit for both city and country wear.

To give a dash to winter and pick up your spirits, mid-winter colors are the gayest ever. They include pink and yellow (sometimes combined with gray), bright red, light blue, rouge red and fresh blueberry blue. Gone are the days when a woman moved into black at the beginning of autumn and wore it straight through winter, until spring. The color explosion in fashion means a brighter, more pleasant wintertime fashion scene, both for those who wear the vivid shades and those who see them.

The Norfolk jacket is interpreted for midwinter (left) by Mia Editions in this knit costume. Color is light blue. Wool knit travel suit (center) by Cortina is white, edged in navy. It is ideal for resort wear, too. The sweater dress (right) is done by Mia in a double woolknit. V neck and slash pockets have piping matched to skirt color.

The Twentieth Century Culture Club met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. E. L. Henderson with Mrs. N. D. Steele as co-hostess.

To kindle the spark of the holiday season, Mrs. Rufe Jordan gave an amusing reading about some cowboys' version of the meaning of Christmas. With the Christmas carol, "Silent Night," as background music, she told the humorous interpretation of this song as given by the cowboys.

To this merriment was added an exchange of gifts among the club members.

A bountiful supply of food for a Christmas basket and gifts were brought for the family that had been chosen to receive this Christmas cheer.

Attending the Christmas party were Meses. Jeff Bearden, J. L. Chase, R. E. Dobbin, J. R. Donaldson, Phillip Gates, L. H. Hart, W. L. Hesse, Ronald Merrill, Doyle Osborne, E. E. Shelhamer, Michael Wilson and L. J. Zachry. Mrs. J. D. Merchant and Mrs. Fred Thompson who are inactive members were welcomed.

The club will meet in the home of Mrs. H. H. Hahn at 814 Somerville, Jan. 15.

AN INDEPENDENT FREEDOM NEWSPAPER

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by any government, with the right of freedom, and that it is every man's duty to God to preserve his own liberty and respect the liberty of others. Freedom is self-control, no more, no less.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guides expressed in the Ten Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. For only when man understands Freedom and is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities in harmony with the above moral principles.

Twin Beacons For Mankind

The Bill of Rights, the first 10 amendments to the United States Constitution, is one of the watershed documents of human history.

That it was conceived, made the law of the land and has endured through 171 years of harsh testing in the practical affairs of a growing, ever-changing nation is at once a source of wonder and a reason for faith in the future.

Its influence on modern history, particularly the first eight articles dealing with fundamental individual rights, is not realized by most of us. The French Revolution, the democratic revolts of 19th century Europe — even the well-conceived but badly used Soviet constitution — have all drawn inspiration from these basically simple statements.

Their genius is not that they tell us what they may do but tell government what it may not do.

The United Nations Universal Declaration of Human Rights also includes many of the guarantees of the Bill of Rights. It is fitting that their anniversaries coincide during the second week of December.

The one was adopted by the General Assembly on Dec. 10, 1948 (Human Rights Day); the other was declared in force by Congress on Dec. 15, 1791. Dec. 10 to 16 is Human Rights Week.

If the U.N. Declaration is large and bold, the American Declaration is watch-dogs and guards, on either side of the law.

A call to the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals brought two heavily gloved men, who expertly collared the dogs and took them away. The police did the same with the bookies.

To add to the woes of the bookies, the ASPCA later collected nine dollars from them in license fees for the dogs.

Lawbreakers are sometimes likened to wild beasts, but it is an unusual thing when police have to call on animal rescue workers to aid them in breaking a case.

It happened in Brooklyn, N.Y., where police had been staking out a suspected "bookie" joint. A raid was in the offing, but the presence of three lean and hungry Doberman pinschers in the back room of the place gave the police pause. The animals are excellent

Pull Up A Chair

By Frank J. Markey

Like many American cities, Dublin is feeling the impact of the wrecker and builder, so the Society for the Preservation of Historic Ireland is now doing something about it. The movement is being sparked in the United States by a Dublin-born physician, Dr. Edward Keelan of Westport, Conn. He is taking action to preserve historic and cultural cities in the Emerald Isle.

The beautiful 18th Century Georgian houses in Dublin's Merrion-Fitzwilliam Square district is one of the doctor's prime projects for preservation. Also the Aungier street home of Thomas Moore, Ireland's national poet is among the landmarks the Society is attempting to save from demolition.

Construction of a modern office block is scheduled on the site. Monster protest rallies are being staged in Dublin.

An advertising executive tells us that the average individual is more impressed by testimonials from big league baseball and football stars than from those in the business world. Stage and movie stars also rank high in attention.

The Presidential mansion of the Argentine Republic, located in the center of Buenos Aires, is called the Pink House. Now that Cuban tobacco is cut off, the chances are that our cigars will be made of the weed that grows in the state of Vera Cruz, Mexico.

It is not outside storms alone that continue to immerl it. It is that we, the guardians of its flame, may through ignorance, neglect and fear allow the light to dim.

Government Policy Idiotic and Evil

By GEORGE BOARDMAN, Ph. D.

As a rule I prefer not to look at mines, ore samples or other precious mineral bearing deposits because I can't do anything about the idiocy of government nor the insatiable lust for power of politicians. In this instance I looked at ore samples from a claim only recently acquired by a very good friend and the gold was easily seen by the naked eye.

During the early '30s, my friend earned his living for a few years mining his own placer claims. He loves prospecting, says it keeps him young and it does.

But as I held the specimens in my hand and looked at the gold, anger began to lighten in my head. Government says that Americans may not own a gold store gold or deal in gold except in a manner prescribed by government and at a price set by government almost 30 years ago.

Government makes this claim and makes it stick through the naked power of government. At the cost of the people. But might does not make right no matter how many times government and all its cohorts make the claim.

The Doctor Says:

Seek Shelter At Once If Warning Is Heard

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT

The two minutes it takes you to read this column may someday save your life. If a genuine air raid signal is sounded and I hope it never will be — get to a basement shelter without delay if you are in a house or building.

If you are outdoors and can't reach a shelter or building, lie flat on the ground, face down, and cover your head and neck with your arms. If there is a bright flash of light do not under any circumstances look at it or in the direction of the source.

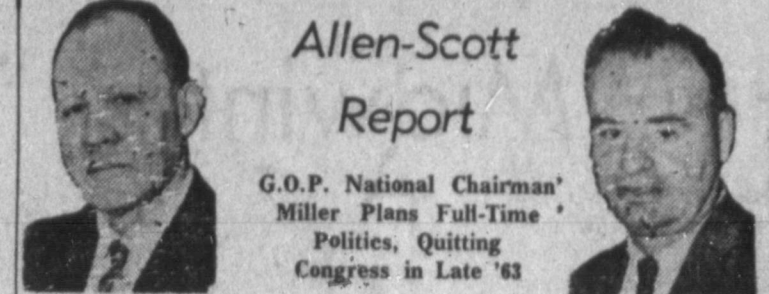

Wherever you are seek the best shielding available at once. Get as low as possible and stay put until the attack subsides. After you have taken shelter do not rush outside until you are officially advised that it is safe because, if you thus expose yourself to fallout contamination, you will not be able to help others but others will have to use valuable time and limited materials to take care of you.

It is essential that you obey instructions. Do not try to use your telephone. If it is working, all lines will be needed by Civil Defense personnel for co-ordinating and rescue work.

G.O.P. National Chairman Miller Plans Full-Time Politics, Quitting Congress in Late '63

WASHINGTON—Republican National Chairman William Miller intends to give up his congressional seat to devote full time to his political job.

No date has been fixed for that, and won't be for some time. But the New Yorker is thinking in terms of late next year, after the incoming session of the 88th Congress concludes.

Three factors are behind this backstage decision:

(1) Increasing demand among G.O.P. leaders for a full-time national chairman, on the ground this post requires that. There was much talk along this line at last week's meeting of the National Committee. No hostile move was made against Miller, but sentiment was widespread that the national chairman should function on a full-time basis.

(2) Urgent need to clear up the National Committee's debt of more than $400,000 still remaining from the 1960 campaign, and to start building up a reserve for the momentous 1964 presidential battle.

(3) Extensive reorganizing and strengthening of the party's organization into a high-powered electing machine. This year's ballot fight disclosed important weaknesses that require prompt corrective measures.

First week of the unannounced jolts at last week's committee meeting was the disclosure that, in effect, is broke. Its treasury is literally strapped.

To meet this emergency, the New York G.O.P. committee is contributing $100,000.

The National Committee's budget for 1963 was fixed at around $800,000. This is less than Miller originally planned, but he recommended cutting expenditures to the bone until the committee's finances are in a "much healthier state."

Whether this economizing can be adhered to remains to be seen. It was pointed out by Miller that the national headquarters does a "tremendous amount of business." As an illustration, he cited the following major expense items:

So far this year the committee has received more than one million pieces of mail and sent out upwards of three million. It has made more than 65,000 long-distance telephone calls. Until recently, monthly expenditures ran around $85,000.

"NO MORE 'EV AND CHARLIE'?" — One saving which the National Committee is instituting is dropping the $30,000 it had been putting into the "Ev and Charlie" weekly TV broadcast.

Most of this money went for salaries of the producers of this show by Senate Republican Leader Everett Dirksen, Ill., and House Republican Leader Charles Halleck, Ind. Their broadcast has been increasingly under fire in influential party quarters, with many leaders making no secret that they favored its being abandoned.

Dirksen and Halleck, however, emphatically disagree. They feel that they represent the "Republican party in action," and therefore are properly entitled to speak for it on a nationwide forum.

But starting in January, when the new Congress convenes, as far as the National Committee is concerned, Dirksen and Halleck will have to provide their own financing.

G.O.P. POLITICALS — Mississippi's energetic State Republican Chairman Wirt Yerger scored a big personal triumph at last week's National Committee meeting. He adopted his plan for a conference of all state chairmen. This session will be held in Washington March 1 and may be followed by another later in the year in a Southern or Western city.

their backstage organizing and politicking in his behalf. That's proceeding full-blast. In the meantime they are privately counseling their partisans to act with restraint and discretion. New York National Committeeman George Himman, a top Rockefeller strategist, is strongly urging that in private letters. Southern supporters of Senator Barry Goldwater are saying flatly he will actively seek the 1964 nomination. And they are confidently predicting the Arizonan will have nationwide backing and will be a front-running contender.

DEMO POLITICALS — President Kennedy hopes to find jobs for every important Democratic gubernatorial candidate who was defeated in this year's elections. Department and other government agency heads have been told to list available jobs for this purpose. Senator John Carroll, D-Colo., who was licked for a second term, aspires to a seat on the Federal Power Commission. A vacancy is expected next June, when the term of Howard Morgan expires, and Carroll is after it. But it's a toss-up whether he will get it as he has not been close to the President. Senator Ted Kennedy, D-Mass., will get a lot less in a committee assignment than he ambitiously wants. Despite his denials, he has applied for a seat on either the lofty Foreign Relations Committee or powerful Appropriations Committee. What he will most likely wind up with is a place on the Labor Committee — where his brother, the President, started.

Question Box

We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.

Question: "What fair method is there of arriving at what each worker, each employer, each leader of money should receive for his share of the total production?"

That's a question about which there have been lots of arguments. It is a live question and probably will be a live question for ages to come.

In a socialistic or communistic country, those who are in control of the government determine what each person should receive of the total production. Rewards are arbitrarily set. Of course, they invariably have higher rewards for those who are making the decisions and have the power. We, of course, do not think that is a fair method of establishing what each should receive.

However, under the democracy of the market, all people have an equal right to help establish values, to help determine what each worker should receive, what the profits of each employer should be, and what the lender of money should receive for his services.

Very few people realize that profits are just the reward for efficiency. If there is no efficiency, there is no profit. And the more efficient a man is in using natural resources and human energy and in giving the consumer more satisfaction for what he produces, the more this employer should receive in profits and the more his workers should receive in wages for their efficiency.

If this method were followed, where all people throughout the world were permitted to help establish values, our production would be very, very much higher than it is now. We then shouldn't have any wars, we would have goodwill, and we would, in short, live by the Golden Rule, and the Golden Rule certainly permits all people to be equally free to go into any line of business, adopt any profession or any kind of work that they believe will reward them the most and give them the most satisfaction. There are, of course, rewards other than material rewards. There is the reward of peace of mind derived from so living that one can live with himself.

In short, it is a democracy of the market, and as Walt Whitman expressed it by saying: "By God, I will give you the password of democracy: I will not accept anything that everyone else cannot have on the same terms."

Mrs. Campbell Installs New Officers Of African Violet Society Recently

Mrs. R. F. Dirksen read a Christmas prayer and Mrs. Lee Moore gave the Christmas story, "My Most Memorable Christmas," by Pearl Buck, at the African Violet Society meeting, Tuesday Dec. 11 at 7:30 p.m., in the home of Mrs. J. E. Carlson, 2223 Charles.

Mrs. Holly Gray, president, conducted the business meeting, where it was decided that the club would furnish a Christmas basket for a needy family. April the 20th was set for the Spring Violet Show.

New officers for the coming year were elected and installed by a guest, Mrs. W. R. Campbell. She used as the installation theme, "Parts of a House." She installed the following officers: Mrs. Norman Walberg, president, as the "walls"; Mrs. Dan Glaxner, secretary, as the "roof"; Lee Moore, historian, as the "windows"; C. C. Mtheny, reporter, as the "doors"; and Mrs. C. A. Jones, parliamentarian, as the "repairman."

During the social hour, Christmas gifts were exchanged and secret pals were revealed.

Assisting Mrs. Carlson with the refreshments which were served from a festive table, were Mrs. R. F. Dirksen and Mrs. Holly Gray.

It was announced that the next meeting will be with Miss Mary McKamy, Jan. 14.

Members and guests attending were Mmes. C. C. Matheny, Willie Rheudasil, J. E. Carlson, W. R. Campbell, Charles Glison, Lee Moore, Joe Shelton, Norman Walberg, Bob Montgomery, V. N. Osborn, R. F. Telstar' Gets Top Orbit In Tune Ratings

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Tornadoes roared into the No. 1 spot this week with their "Telstar," bumping out the Four Seasons' "Big Girls Don't Cry," which had held the prized spot in United Press International's top 20 survey for six weeks.

"Bobby's Girl" by Marcia Blane slipped into third place while "The Lonely Bull" by the Tijuana Brass proved he was more popular than lonely by jumping up to the No. 4 slot in the survey.

Chubby Checker's "Limbo Rock" rocked down a notch into fifth place.

One of the faster risers of the week was "Go Away Little Girl" by Steve Lawrence, which leaped into No. 6 from its eleventh rating last week.

"Return to Sender" by Elvis Presley skidded from third to the seventh level this week.

The rocket of the week was the Orions' "Don't Hang Up" which was launched from 17th place until it finally hit orbit at the eighth spot on this week's chart.

Mary Wells held down number nine with her new number "Two Lovers." Also new to the top ten was Bob B. Soxx and the Blue Jeans with their waxing of that old favorite, "Zip a Dee Doo Dah."

The song's rating this week, its rating of the week before, and the number of weeks it has appeared on the survey.

KISS FOR KINDNESS! — Five-year-old Diane Gardner displays her affection for Jackie Gleason, who has just brought joy and laughter into her life in "Gigot," opening Friday evening at 6:00 p.m. in the Capri Theatre. The picture is filmed in color and was photographed in Paris, France. The story told is that of an abused mute janitor living in Paris in the twenties and of his love for his fellow man.

Jose Jimenez Is Taking Regular TV Job As An Elevator Operator

By JOSEPH FINNIGAN, HOLLYWOOD Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Jose Jimenez, speaker of the most fractured English since Jimmy Durante, is taking a regular television job as an elevator operator.

It's probably assumed by the producers that numbers are easier to say than words making the job easier for Jose.

Jimenez, in the person of comedian Bill Dana, has been practicing elevator driving on Danny Thomas' CBS-TV show and now he's going out on his own.

Jose is convinced he knows which way is up, a must for elevator operators.

Dana, a comedy writer before striking gold in humble, Latin American Jimenez on Steve Allen's old show, makes the series debut with Jose on NBC next year.

Continues As Operator. "I'm making a heck of a good living with him," said Dana in the den of his hillside home.

"Jose is an office building elevator operator on Danny's show now and gets involved in lots of situations," Dana said. "On my show he's going to be doing the same thing in a hotel."

Dana's Jimenez character is diverse in the image of Walter Ditt, a great daydreamer of dramatic escapades in which he was hero. Similarly, Jimenez has been a hobbled racer, astronaut, deep sea diver, senator, paratrooper and symphony orchestra conductor.

Dana says Jose will continue to daydream such occupations for himself while snoozing at the elevator switch.

Jose is a successful laughgetter on television and records, but can't

Cyrano Cast

NEW YORK (UPI) — Donald Harron and George Rose will play key roles in the Hallmark Hall of Fame television presentation of "Cyrano de Bergerac."

The NBC-TV 90-minute color special due Dec. 6 will star Christopher Plummer in the title role and Hope Lange as Roxane.

Harron has been cast as the young guardsman, Christian, and Rose as the baker, Ragueneau. Harron was in the long Broadway run of "The Tenth Man" and Rose is currently appearing on Broadway in "A Man For All Seasons."

Mrs. Lawford is a member of the board of directors of the child care center which is named after her brother, Joseph P. Kennedy Jr., who was killed in World War II.

In a letter dated Dec. 7 and released Wednesday, she wrote: "I, the undersigned, have visited within the past two weeks the Kennedy child care center, as I have done many times since the center was opened.

"For the court's information, the study center deals solely with mentally retarded children. The center does not deal with children or parents involved in traffic accidents.

"I have also visited the city contract wrecking yard as instructed.

"Very truly yours, Mrs. Peter Lawford."

It Was A Vintage Chicken Soup Yet

By ERSKINE JOHNSON, HOLLYWOOD Correspondent, Newspaper Enterprise Assn., HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — On-stage, Offstage & Upstage: The French poodle named "Coquette" lapped up an entire bowlful of champagne as per the script. With no FCC demanding honesty in the movies, too, the champagne was really lukewarm chicken soup.

But Jack Lemmon poured it from a made-in-France bottle with an authentic label for a scene in "Irma La Douce."

After the scene, director Billy Wilder picked up the bottle, examined the 1957-dated label and said:

"Obviously, a very good year for chicken soup."

The ripe tomato, once vaudeville's worst enemy, should get Doris Day the biggest laugh of her film career. She fell into a basket of ripe, red ones for a scene in "The Thrill of It All" the other day, and some unplanned addition to the slapstickery went on the film.

The basket of tomatoes was on a stool which tipped over, spilling Doris and the tomatoes all over the set.

One of the year's best quips about the twist, we should mention here, came from the same set — no connection with tomatoes. A stage wait sent venerable character actor Reginald Owen, 73, and 77-year-old fellow actor Bert Mustin into small talk. The talk included Mustin asking Owen, "Do you do the twist?"

"Only," replied Owen, "when I try to get up out of a low chair."

Trade paper note: "Liz Taylor will get 'Cleopatra' pay ($1 million-plus percentage) to star in 'I Love Louise,' the probable final title of the film will be, 'What a Way to Go.'"

At $1 million per film, Liz Taylor obviously has found the ideal way to go.

Wheat Pastures In Good Shape

AUSTIN (UPI) — The rains and snows of November put Texas wheat pastures in good condition generally, the U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) said today.

All sections of the Panhandle but the northwest counties of the northern High Plains and southeastern areas of the southern Low Plains got moisture adequate to develop crown roots needed for grazing.

So far, the USDA said, fields are not muddy enough to cause stockmen to hold livestock off wheat acreage, as they had to do in 1961. Movement of cattle and wheat onto wheat pastures was active in the last half of November. Pasture prospects for winter grazing are good, the USDA said.

DRINK PROVES POISONOUS

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI) — James F. Woodward, 42, put insecticide in an empty rum bottle several months ago and placed it under the kitchen sink, his roommate said.

Woodward died Wednesday shortly after drinking a dose of the poison.
