Texas' Gubernatorial Inaugural Festivities Scheduled Tuesday

7,000 Will Parade For J. Connally

AUSTIN (UPI)—Sixty years ago when Gov. S. W. T. Lanham walked from his downtown hotel to the capitol, the inaugural "parade" consisted of seven persons. Tuesday, 7,000 persons will parade for Gov. Elect John Connally.

Connally and Lt. Gov. Elect Preston Smith of Lubbock will be sworn in amid ceremony unlike anything Texas has seen for many years. Bands will blare, troops will march, jets will swoop over, and the "Cowtown Cowgirls" will strut their stuff.

Underlying the pomp and circumstance is a political fact—the inaugural marks the opening of a new period of state government, in which some familiar, powerful figures are absent. Connally replaces Price Daniel, who served six years. Smith replaces Ben Ramsey, who served nearly 12 years.

Participating in the ceremonies will be two other major newcomers in state office — Waggoner Carr of Lubbock as attorney general and Byron Tunnell of Tyler as speaker of the House. Carr replaces Will Wilson, who tried unsuccessfully after a long tenure to win the governorship.

Billy Graham to Speak
Political overtones will be submerged in a flood of ceremony Tuesday.

Evangelist Billy Graham will start the day on a religious note. Graham will speak at the annual prayer breakfast on the mezzanine of the Driskill Hotel. The public is invited to the service, which will also include the program Rabbi Donald Crain of Congregation Aguda Achim Church in Austin; Catholic Bishop L. J. Reicher of the Austin diocese, and Dr. Monroe Vivion, executive director of the Texas Methodist Foundation. The prayer service will be telecast statewide.

At 11:15 a.m. Tuesday, the University of Texas Longhorn band adds the martial feeling to the affairs of the day with a concert in front of the state capitol.

Connally and Smith will take their oaths of office at high noon ceremonies from Robera W. Calvert, chief justice of the State Supreme Court.

100-Unit Parade
Some 100 units, including bands, military groups and state officials, will form the inaugural parade at 2 p.m. Tuesday. Weaving a 1.33-mile course north on Congress Avenue to the capitol and skirting the capitol grounds, the parade will march in review in front of stands at the new Reagan State Office Building.

Bitterest Cold Of The Winter Is Still Gripping The Top O' Texas

Slow Recovery From Cold Wave Forecast

The bitterest cold of the winter still was hanging on in earnest throughout the Texas Panhandle last night as the conclusion of a week end that sent the mercury plunging to a record 9 below zero in Pampa early Saturday.

That 9 below broke all existing records for a January 12th and was one degree colder than the previous low mark of minus 8 degrees reached here last winter.

The weathermen at Amarillo said last night it would get still colder before the break came. They predicted it would hit 10 below in Pampa by 6 o'clock this morning.

A very slow recovery from the cold wave is forecast through today with the maximum temperature probably climbing back to 10 or 12 above zero this afternoon.

Southeast winds are due by late Sunday, the forecasters said, and this should mean it will not be so cold tonight and it should also trigger a considerable warmup by Monday afternoon.

Frozen water pipes, automobile radiators and overworked batteries not sufficiently strong to turn over wheezing engines caused all kinds of inconvenience to many Pampans yesterday.

Six above zero was the unofficial maximum yesterday afternoon after the mercury had remained at one or two below until shortly after noon. The minimum of 9 below in Pampa came at 6 a.m. Saturday.

The mercury turned downward again around 4:30 p.m. and shortly before last midnight it had plunged to 4 degrees below with the 10 below zero mark expected to be reached around 6 a.m. today.

Clear skies and bright sunshine had little effect on the icy blasts yesterday. Pampa did escape further snowfall and none was in sight in the latest forecast.

To get an idea of the cold and the need for heat, Norman C. Henry, manager of the local office of Pioneer Natural Gas Co., said the highest demand for gas ever recorded here was chalked up during Friday and Saturday nights.

Henry said the new peak demand for gas climbed to 800,000 cu. ft. per hour. The previous high demand mark was 686,000 cu. ft. per hour.

Late yesterday afternoon Henry said no serious situations had cropped up locally and that, so far, complaints on gas pressure had been at a minimum.

Public Works Director R. B. Cooke reported that while there had been some reports of water pipe breaks in homes, there had been no breaks in main lines and that city services had been carried on as usual during the cold wave.

Plumbers have been working round the clock on calls to thaw out frozen pipes in all sections of the city.

Another rarity in Pampa was a found in the window designs made by Jack Frost. There probably were more frosted over windows (See WEATHER, Page 3)

Temperature Keeps 'Bad Guys' Home

The sub-zero weather of the week end must have kept all the "bad guys" indoors by the fire-side.

At least that's one explanation offered by Pampa police for the fact that there were no reports of prowlers, window peepers or burglars up until last night.

"It was just too cold for them to operate," one officer said. "So many windows were frosted over apparently the window peepers and prowlers figured it wasn't worth the effort."

Officers said a severe cold wave always cuts down on criminal activities.

Probably a case of "cold feet."

Dr. Dunn Given Reinstatement To Hospital Staff

PECOS, Tex. (UPI)—Dr. John Dunn, controversial physician fired from the staff of Reeves County Hospital, was ordered restored to the hospital staff Saturday in an order filed in District Court.

Judge W. E. Ward of El Paso said in a court hearing Saturday that he would issue a temporary injunction insuring Dunn of full use of the facilities at the Pecos hospital.

Dunn, a member of the John Birch Society, insisted the reason he was fired was politics. The president of the hospital's board of managers said it was for malpractice and harassing nurses and politicians.

Dunn turned Billie Sol Estes in to the FBI in February, 1961, suggesting the government look into Estes' anhydrous ammonia (fertilizer) tank dealings.

But Ward's order as filed with the court clerk said Dunn's termination of hospital privileges "is hereby set aside and held for naught as being void."

Privileges Restored

The order also said the hospital board was "hereby enjoined from denying hospital privileges" to Dunn. Ward ordered "full hospital privileges" be restored to Dunn.

The hospital board fired Dunn Jan. 7.

Ward said he was ordering a hearing of the hospital board of managers next Wednesday before the court recessed. But the order, as filed, made no mention of a hearing for Dunn.

At the hearing, Ward said he would order Dunn put under $1,000 civil bond. But the order as filed, reduced bond to $500.

It would be almost impossible for Dunn or any other doctor to practice in Pecos without access to Reeves County Hospital. The only other hospital is in Fort Stockton, 56 miles away.

Dunn said he went to the FBI about Estes two years ago. Within the past year, Estes has been sentenced to eight years in prison for swindling and faces trial on two other federal and two other state indictments. But Dunn said the Estes case has nothing to do with his hospital troubles.

Two Ordinances On Agenda For City Commission

An ordinance setting the date for a public hearing on the proposed paving of S. Barnes St. will top the agenda when the City Commission meets Tuesday night in City Hall.

City Manager Harold Schmitzer said the paving ordinance will provide for the improvement of S. Barnes from the Fort Worth & Denver Ry. underpass to the McCullough St. city limits.

Also up for consideration will be an emergency ordinance, to be introduced by Commissioner Will Graham, calling for the repeal of the recently passed ordinance ordering a charter change election on Jan. 31.

The ordinance calls for a vote on a change in the method of extending the city limits and also for a vote on the establishment of a mayor pro tem.

Commissioner Graham charged at last week's meeting of the commission that he was dissatisfied with the way in which the commission handled the passing of the special election ordinance and also the fact that the commission had ignored a petition asking that other issues be placed on the ballot concerning the method of voting on ward commissioners and establishing the office of mayor pro tem.

Other business scheduled Tuesday night will include the approval of routine salary changes from last Nov. 1 and recommendations by the city manager.

Mayor E. C. Sidwell was expected back in the city today from Chicago and will preside at the Tuesday night meeting which is scheduled for 7 p.m. in the City Commission Room.

McCormack Struggling To Quell Revolt By Labor-Backed Group Of Democrats

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Speaker John W. McCormack struggled desperately Saturday to quell a labor-backed revolt by a group of rank-and-file Democrats against the party leadership's first big decision of the 88th Congress.

The revolt was aimed at upsetting efforts of the leadership to assign a conservative Georgia Democrat — Rep. Phil M. Landrum — to a vacancy on the powerful House Ways & Means Committee.

The fight will be settled, probably by secret ballot, at a caucus of House Democrats Monday morning.

Both sides believe the outcome could have a significant effect on the future course of legislation. But they differed in their appraisals.

Pro-labor liberals opposing Landrum contended that it was wrong to assign a conservative to a committee which has life and death powers over such vital new frontier issues as taxes, medicare for the aged and unemployment compensation.

Landrum, who incurred labor displeasure for his co-authorship of the Landrum-Griffin labor reform act of 1949, already has given assurances in private talks with some pro-labor Democrats that he would not use his vote on the committee to help keep Kennedy's medicare program bottled up.

Informants said that Landrum would make further concessions shortly before the showdown vote. (See MCCORMACK, Page 3)

Collingsworth County Needs Federal Aid?

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Three Texas counties were declared eligible today for area development federal aid.

All are areas of substantial and persistent unemployment, the Commerce Department announced. They may apply for federal planning and financial aid for projects to the jobs.

The Texas counties are Collingsworth, Frio and Kinney.

Late yesterday afternoon Henry said no serious situations had cropped up locally and that, so far, complaints on gas pressure had been at a minimum.

Public Works Director R. B. Cooke reported that while there had been some reports of water pipe breaks in homes, there had been no breaks in main lines and that city services had been carried on as usual during the cold wave.

Monetary System Jeopardized

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Between $10 and $20 million is missing from the National Bank of Katanga in the Congo, authoritative sources said Saturday.

They said the multi-million loss—in Congolese and Katanga Francs from the bank in Elisabethville — has jeopardized the country's monetary system.

National Bank Of Katanga Is Missing $10 To $20 Millions

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Between $10 and $20 million is missing from the National Bank of Katanga in the Congo, authoritative sources said Saturday.

They said the multi-million loss—in Congolese and Katanga Francs from the bank in Elisabethville — has jeopardized the country's monetary system. One source called it "the great Katanga bank robbery."

However, U. S. sources were careful not to accuse Katanga President Moïse Tshombe of theft. It was noted that when Tshombe left Elisabethville earlier this week, he had "an unusual ly large amount of baggage."

There was speculation, but no authoritative confirmation, that the money might be in Kolwezi, where Tshombe might be heading.

Discovery that the cash was missing from the bank vault (See NATIONAL, Page 3)

French May Want The 'Skybolt'

PARIS (UPI)—The air-launched Skybolt missile, abandoned by France, clear deterrent system over the United States and Britain, may find a new champion in President Charles de Gaulle, reliable reports said Saturday.

Qualified military sources said that from a purely military view

Red Chinese Say They Executed 5 U.S.-Chiang Kai-Shek Agents

LONDON (UPI)—The Communist New China News Agency said Saturday Communist China had executed five "U. S.-Chiang Kai-shek special agents" for attempted sabotage.

The agency, broadcasting from Canton and monitored in London, said the five were executed Friday in towns where they had been caught and tried as saboteurs.

Peking usually refers to Chinese Nationalist agents on the mainland as "U. S. - Chiang" agents and insists the United States has backed Nationalist espionage activities.

New China said the men were five of "15 U. S.-Chiang Kai-shek special agents who plotted to engage in demolition by explosives, arson and activities of sabotage."

It said three other men were sentenced to death but their sentence was suspended for two years during which "they will undergo corrective labor."

The agency said five men received penalties ranging from seven years to life imprisonment. Two men who surrendered voluntarily were not prosecuted, the agency said.

Crutch Sale Is Cancelled Here

Sale of plastic crutches and microscopes in downtown Pampa was cancelled yesterday because of the bitter cold, according to Joe Fischer, city-campaign chairman for the March of Dimes.

Fischer said the project, to be carried out by three organizations of high school girls, has been rescheduled for January 26.

Two other projects are also scheduled in behalf of the March of Dimes, the Bucket Brigade, to be worked by members of various local civic clubs on Jan. 19, and the Mothers March, slated for Jan. 21st.

Travis Lively Jr. heads the Bucket Brigade project and Mrs. R. A. Mack is directing the Mothers March.

Foreign News Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Elisabethville, capital of secessionist Katanga, today lies as somber and forlorn as would appear to be the future of Katanga's president, Moise Tshombe.

Bullet scars pock the walls of villas and apartment houses. The jingle of cash registers in the cabarets is stilled.

Elisabethville has been called a company town of the Union Miniere, whose tax funds lay at the root of Tshombe's power. The Union Miniere, Katanga's rich supply of minerals and Tshombe lavish spending for his Katanga troops and white mercenaries, made possible Elisabethville's continued existence as one of Central Africa's gayest cities.

There has been another turn of the wheel in the Congo, although it still may be too soon to say that Tshombe is nearing the end of his secessionist trail.

Military Solution
It is unfortunate that a military victory seemed finally the only solution to the Katanga problem, an unhappy milestone in the history of an Independent Congo in which neither the Katangese nor the central government always have acted with honor.

If it is to be a victory of the U.N., it also will have exposed U. N. weaknesses. U. N. resolutions, vaguely worded to avoid a veto, forced upon the secretary general independent decisions which were debated only after the fact.

Tshombe faces limited alternatives:
He can attempt to make a stand at the mining town of Kilwezi with his remaining forces against United Nations troops advancing from Jadotville, some 80 miles to the south.

He can attempt to carry out his previous threat of jungle warfare — "with traps, with poisoned arrows and spears"—and scorched earth.

He can attempt, as he successfully has in the past, to talk his way out of his present jam.

Welcome to U.N.?
He can invite U. N. forces into Katanga without the necessity of fighting, and perhaps retain a status of provincial president answerable to the central government of Leopoldville.

For Tshombe, none of these is attractive.

In black Africa there is not a single leader to whom Tshombe can turn. They regard him as having sold out to white mining interests and are angered that he hired, white mercenaries to kill blacks.

His strongest African supporter has been Sir Roy Welensky, white prime minister of the Central African Federation whose white supremacy policies have made him a special object of hatred for black nationalists.

'Surveyor' Given Highest Priority For Moon Shot

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Surveyor space craft has been given highest priority to take television pictures of the moon and pave the way for landing U.S. astronauts on its surface.

Dr. Abe Silverstein, director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's (NASA) Lewis Research Center at Cleveland, Ohio, said Thursday the government feels it is "very urgent" to get the unmanned spacecraft on its moon mission—set for early 1968.

Silverstein said the Surveyor project, now under development, had been given "DX" priority, "the most urgent priority that exists in the nation's aerospace programs."

"Ground testing on Surveyor engines will begin next year with flight expected early in 1965," Silverstein told a news conference in reporting on NASA's stepped up space efforts for the coming year.

He said "much heavier ground tests" would be given Centaur, designed as the upper stage of the Atlas rocket that will launch Surveyor.

"These ground tests will be the most intensive ever used in any space program before," the NASA official said.

Silverstein said Centaur is important to the nation not only as the vehicle which, along with Atlas, will carry the Surveyor spacecraft to the moon, but also as a pioneering effort in liquid hydrogen fuel technology.

Liquid hydrogen fuel offers a higher thrust value than present rocket fuels, and is needed for later interplanetary manned flights.

Silverstein also said thrust was being increased on the M-1 engine, being developed to power future astronomical vehicles beyond the moon, from 1 million pounds to 1.5 million pounds.

The M-1 engine burns a high energy hydrogen-oxygen combination.

In 1953, a Moscow report said nine doctors had been arrested for plotting the deaths of Soviet political and military leaders.

Former Pampan Dies Tuesday

Frank K. Harris, former resident of Pampa during the 1930s, passed away on January 8 at his home, 240 Drake Street, San Francisco 24, California.

While in Pampa, Mr. Harris was Panhandle representative for the Lee C. Moore Company of Tulsa, Okla. He and Mrs. Harris moved to San Francisco in 1942, where he was a member of the Masonic Lodge and the California Consistory.

He is survived by his wife, Adeline, of the home, and by a brother, Charles W. Harris of Dallas.

These concessions, they said, would be announced at the caucus.

Democratic House leaders argued privately that if Landrum were defeated, it would be a serious blow to President Kennedy's program. They said the net result would be to make it difficult, if not impossible, for them to gain broad support needed from Southern Democratic moderates and conservatives to win approval of closely-contested Kennedy bills.

They warned that Kennedy's program would be hit with a backlash of resentment by Landrum's supporters.

McCormack was trying to put Landrum on the committee as a reward for the vote supplied by Georgia Democrats in the administration's victory over conservatives who had sought to capture control of the legislative machinery of the House.

Landrum is one of three contenders for two vacant Democratic seats on the ways and means committee. The other two, who have labor and liberal backing as well as support from some conservatives, are Reps. Ross Bass, Tenn., and W. Pat Jennings, Va. McCormack was backing a slate of Landrum and Bass.

Officials were known to be concerned about the possibility of inflation if the money is not located.

Although the sources referred to it as a "robbery," they said it was conceivable there might be another explanation.

"The money is supposed to be in the vault according to books of the bank," one source said "the money may turn up some other place but it certainly is not in the bank where it is supposed to be."

The United Nations earlier took over the bank. An audit found that one billion Congolese francs and a large amount of Katanga francs were missing. One source said "hundreds of thousands" of the latter were unaccounted for.

'Fantasy' Picked Best Of 4 Plays By Pampa Sophs

"Fantasy On An Empty Stage" last night was selected by the drama judges as best of four one-act plays presented in the High School Auditorium by casts picked from Sophomore classes.

"Fantasy" was directed by Senior Theatians Sally Paden, Sheri Walker and Suzie Fillman.

Honors for best actress and best actor in the four plays went to Pat Ludeman as Mrs. Stevenson in "Sorry, Wrong Number," and Sam Bryan as Nero in "Nero Fiddles."

Fourth one-act play presented last night was "The Lottery," which boasted the largest cast of the evening.

Mrs. Helen Schaefer, sponsor of Theatians Troupe No. 1019, announced the decision of the judges. Directors of all four plays were from the Theatians.

Mike Maguire and Janis Lively, directed "The Lottery." "Sorry, Wrong Number" was directed by Sue Price, Johnlyn Mitchell and Jan Adams, and directors of "Nero Fiddles" were Billy Mangham and Don Sears, who also staged a comedy act while the packed house was awaiting decision of the judges on the one-act plays.

Members of the cast of "Fantasy" will have the privilege of taking their play to the Drama Festival to be held at Eastern New Mexico University in Portales, N. M., in March. Members of the winning cast were: virtually where it was, as far as determining whether he was rightly or wrongly fired.

Phillip Smith, Carol Akst, Bill Hayes, Jimmy Jamieson, Bill Henry and Jim Shelhamer.

Board to Decide

These sources said that if the hospital board decides, after a hearing, that the firing should stick, Dunn undoubtedly will go back to district court to get a decision on whether the board had sufficient reason.

The odds are on the side of the board's voting to make the firing stick because the hospital's medical staff voted last December that Dunn ought to go. Harrison Beauchamp, president of the hospital board, told about the poll on the witness stand Friday.

Beauchamp admitted that the board ignored the hospital's by-laws by firing Dunn without consulting the medical staff. The secret ballots by which the staff voted in December were not considered consultation.

Beauchamp testified that the board fired Dunn for malpractice and harassing the help. Dunn admitted under cross-examination Friday that enough women to fill the courtroom had kissed him in gratitude at the hospital. One was a Negro.

Testimony Ruled Out

The testimony about the kissing was ruled inadmissible Friday night. Judge Ward sat in temporarily for Judge J. H. Starley, who disqualified himself at Dunn's demand.

Another part of Judge Ward's ruling Saturday put Dunn under $1,000 bond. This was said to be automatic in an injunction case to prevent the person with the injunction from injuring the other party in the legal action.

"The court's action restores Dr. Dunn to full hospital privileges and he is entitled to continue his practice at Memorial Hospital as he has for the past eight years," Fred Benners, one of Dunn's lawyers, said he will demand an open hearing of the hospital board. The board's lawyers want to keep the hearing private.

in Pampa during the week end than Mr. Frost had painted here in the past ten years.

Stores had an unusual demand for heavy coats, sweaters and even insulated underwear.

The taxicab business was thriving to the point where the demand was far greater than the supply of cabs. P. G. McElroy, owner of the Yellow Cab Co., said the heaviest demand came Saturday. It started early yesterday morning and was running strong late last night. At many times, McElroy stated, the cabs were running 40 to 50 calls behind.

The U.S. Weather Bureau forecast up to three inches of snow in Southwest Texas, sleet and freezing rain along the Gulf Coast and in South Texas and scattered snow flurries in the northern half of the state.

Rio Grande Valley farmers resigned themselves to heavy damage to citrus and vegetable crops from the north.

The bitter arctic air lowered the mercury far below zero throughout the Panhandle and spread snow and sleet into the southern half of the state.

15 Below

Lows to 15 degrees below zero were expected in the Panhandle by this morning.

The Texas Highway Department issued hazardous driving warnings for much of West and North-west Texas.

A seven-year-old boy burned to death Saturday in a fire in an apartment in Dallas, where there were nine fires in a 12-hour period.

Power went off for several hours in Garland with the temperature at 12 degrees. Amarillo recorded nine degrees below zero. It was the third coldest January day in Amarillo weather bureau records and just 2 degrees above the all-time January low.

But the coldest was 12-below at Dalhart.

Dalhart Police Dispatcher Othella Chandler said it was so cold there "it was like breathing razor blades."

The Austin water department got more than 100 complaints of broken water mains or frozen plumbing.

Snow mixed with sleet covered the ground at Henderson in East Texas with the mercury at 15 degrees.

Rio Grande Valley farmers' only hope to escape crop-ruining temperatures was a possible cloud cover.

Sharp Drops Reported

Temperatures fell as much as 65 degrees from Friday's heat-wave, where highs in the 90's were recorded.

The Valley's crops suffered a $50 million loss just a year ago. Brownsville recorded a low of 38 degrees early Saturday, a drop of 50 degrees from Friday's high. At McAllen, the temperature plunged from 91 to 36.

Lone Star Gas Co. said it was curtailing gas deliveries by 50 percent to all large industrial users in an effort to insure proper line pressure to residents of most of Texas and southern Oklahoma.

Lone star said it delivered 1.5 billion cubic feet of gas in the 24 hours ended at midnight Friday.

light damage to one of the walls.

The home of Henry Bergl was also slightly damaged when fire ignited as the owner was thawing frozen water lines.

The garage of Bill Gregory, 3½ miles south of Pampa, caught on fire Saturday morning as the owner was attempting to thaw out a frozen water line. The hot water heater was believed to be the origin of the blaze which caused heavy damage to the garage.

Southerners Say Liberal Republican Candidate In '64 Would Hurt GOP

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two Southern Republicans said Saturday that nomination of a liberal Republican candidate for president in 1964 would raise problems for the GOP in the South.

The two were Alabama Republican chairman John Grenier and Bob James, who almost unseated the veteran Democratic Rep. Clifford Davis in the Memphis district of Tennessee last November. They addressed sessions of a conference sponsored by "human events," a conservative Washington newsletter.

To a question about what would happen to the GOP in the South if a liberal presidential nominee were chosen next year, Grenier replied that "the South is not going to buy it." In such a case, he said, Southern Republicans would have to concentrate on electing candidates for other offices.

James agreed a liberal presidential nominee would "be a problem" but said he would not worry about it. He said the "hope of this country" is a conservative House of Representatives.

Both were asked about a recent poll indicating that GOP Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York was much stronger among Southern Republicans than conservative Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona. Grenier said he knew of no Alabama Republicans who favored Rockefeller. James said if there were any Rockefeller supporters in Memphis, "they are in hiding."

Lefors School Census Is Now Being Conducted

LEFORS (Sp) — The annual school census in Lefors School District is now being conducted, by Mrs. Virginia Archer, Business Manager of Lefors Schools.

All parents in the district who will have a child due to enter the first grade in 1963-64 school term are asked to notify Mrs. Archer if they have not been contacted.

School children will be bringing forms home to parents to fill out in the enumeration and they are urged to return them as soon as possible. Parents who have recently moved to Lefors, or who have not had children in Lefors Schools before, especially should contact Mrs. Archer at the school business office or phone her at TE 4-2533.

State law requires that children who will be six years of age on or before Aug. 31 and not over 18 on the same date be enumerated annually.

The amount of state aid received by the Lefors school district is determined by the number of school-age children.

Hold McLean High School Annual Banquet

McLEAN (Sp) — The annual banquet honoring the McLean High School gradsters was held Tuesday evening in the American Legion Hall. The affair was sponsored by the local Lions Club, and Jim Hasfaway, the club president, made the welcoming address.

R. D. Back was master of ceremonies and Chuck Karsakoff, assistant football coach at the University of Wisconsin was the guest speaker.

A film of the McLean-Lefors game was shown, the queen of the 1962 season, Miss Barbara John Evans and Don Woods, and various players were honored for outstanding performances during the playing season.

Cobb Rites Set Monday

Funeral services for N. A. Cobb will be held Monday at 2 p.m. in the Harvester and Mary Ellen Streets Church of Christ with Guy Caskey, minister, officiating. Mr. Cobb died at 8:10 p.m. Thursday in Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Lewis Cox of Amarillo and Mrs. Jerome Schmidt of Pampa; one son, Sug Cobb of Pampa; one sister, Mrs. Doris Maness, Altus, Okla.; five grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery under the direction of Duengel-Carmichael Funeral Home. Pallbearers will be Bob Perkins, Clifford Searl, T. C. Carter, Winford Swain, Jimmy Massa and Elmer Dalch.

Automobile Demolished By Train

A 1953 Chevrolet coach was demolished at 6:15 p.m. Saturday when it was struck by an east bound Santa Fe freight train at the crossing on Price Rd. Highway Patrolman Vernon Cawthon said the driver of the car, William O. McDaniel, 63, of 1321 Garland, was not injured. McDaniel left the car after a tire blew out and he had pulled off the road onto the tracks.

Patrolman Cawthon said the train carried the automobile for 174 feet before it stopped. Engineer of the train was V. C. Davis and the conductor was J. C. Duling, both of Amarillo.

McDaniel was headed north on Price Rd. when the tire blew out, according to Patrolman Cawthon.

5 Indictments Returned By Grand Jury

Phelps and McNelly are being held for trial. Mary Lou Stewart and Ruby Doris Howard both of Oklahoma City, Okla., waived the two-day waiting period and were tried and sentenced by Judge Lewis Goodrich, and each received a three-year sentence.

In the four counts of forgery, the two women were charged with forging the name of an Amarillo resident, Mrs. Orville L. Bunyan, on checks, one for $45 to Bentley's, one for $59.95 to Behrman's, one for $35.70 to Field's Mens Wear and one cashed at Sears for $35.

Eve Arden Is Taking Children On Europe Tour

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Eve Arden is taking her children on an extended tour of Europe, hoping to spare the youngsters problems which offspring of famous stars sometimes face in an insular Hollywood life.

Miss Arden, her husband, actor Brooks West, and the children, Liza, 17, Connie, 15, Duncan, 9 and Douglas 5, plan to leave the country next month.

"We've been wanting to do this for some time," said Miss Arden on the set of Red Skelton's CBS-TV show in which she guest stars.

"In a way, the children have been a little too protected," she continued. "We want to get them out of the Hollywood thing where kids go trick or treating in a limousine.

"It's a bit of a never never land here, too comfortable. You can tell youngsters how kids in other lands live but it doesn't become a reality until they see it."

To Live In Rome

The Ardens plan to headquarter near Rome, tanning out there on various European excursions.

"That seems the most convenient spot for the planes we want to go," she explained. "We're buying a Volkswagen bus and will go from Rome to Greece and possibly Yugoslavia."

"I'll only work if something good comes along. I'd love to do a British comedy and possibly something in Rome. We'll be staying over for six months or a year. You never know how the kids are going to feel. That's one reason we want a headquarters. If the kids have a home base then it becomes like a real home to them."

"Eve and her clan will try to be unlike stereotyped tourists who spend time with travelers from their own country, evading the natives."

"We don't want to get into a large colony of Americans," she said. "We are going to be with people of a certain country and get to know them and their culture. We'll have books to read and a chance to learn about a country."

Spurgeon explained the latest changes in income tax laws, with emphasis on the new seven per cent investment credit which will save farmers thousands of dollars each year. Murphy discussed and showed them the necessity of keeping a good set of records due to the IRS going to electronic checking machines where each return will be checked, while in the past only a few have been checked. ## Shorter Work Week... Blessing Or Boondoggie?

EDITOR'S NOTE: The shorter work week—blessing or boondoggie? The AFL-CIO says it is necessary to spread prosperity among all Americans. Business sees it as a backhanded way of raising wages. The following dispatch deals with prospects for action on the thorny proposal at this session of Congress.

Act of 1938. This act requires at least time-and-one-half pay for work in excess of 40 hours a week.

However, Meany is expected to win one skirmish in his battle this year: Congress will take official note of organized labor's demand for a shorter work week in the form of full hearings on the issue.

A House labor subcommittee headed by Rep. Elmer Holland, D-Pa., is expected to begin a complete inquiry into the shorter work week question this year.

"We will ask everyone who has an interest in this subject for testimony," Holland told a reporter.

"Labor, industry and government agencies all will be invited," Holland, author of the 1962 manpower retraining law, feels the shorter work week is related to the problem that led to establishment of that program.

Holland, a former union official last year conducted hearings on the impact of automation. Out of the hearings grew the legislation providing a big federal program to retrain workers whose skills have become obsolete because of new automatic machinery.

Organized labor and some sections of management supported retraining as the long-pull answer to automation. But Holland is far less likely to find agreement over the shorter work week as an immediate method of spreading out available work among more men and women.

Meany, backed by a strong resolution of his AFL-CIO executive council last August, argues that the present unemployment rate is too high to permit the country to wait for long-term solutions.

"Clearly the nation can brook no further delay," the executive council said. "The time has come for a basic change in the fundamental terms of employment in the United States. One certain answer to the problem is to spread the work by reducing the hours each worker devotes to his job, measured either by the week or the year, while maintaining his total earnings.

"A shorter work period without a reduction in take-home pay is the answer America needs; an answer that is more urgent since alternative solutions have been shelved."

The other side of the argument that will be made before the Holland subcommittee came recently from the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

In a special edition of its "Washington Report," the chamber discussed the issue under the title: "Shorter work week—a disguise for wage raise."

"Proposals to shorten the work week based on a share-the-work philosophy do not come to grips with the fundamental causes of unemployment, and will, in the absence of lowered costs, contribute to higher unemployment," the chamber said.

It said the result of a lower standard work week would be to give employees the same hours, only with more premium overtime pay.

"If higher wages are sought, the issue should be resolved without its being disguised in the form of an artificially lowered standard work week," it said.

The AFL-CIO will have Holland as an ally in its campaign. The Pennsylvanian introduced a bill in 1961 to lower the standard work week for businesses in interstate commerce from 40 to 32 hours. The bill died without hearings. But Holland plans to submit it again this year as the legislative vehicle for the new inquiry, even though the federation's call is for 35 hours.

Holland concedes that the attitude of the White House is the key to any real progress on the shorter work week. If called for his views now, Holland said, the administration doubtless would oppose any change in the 40 hour standard work week.

"But it depends upon what the unemployment situation is later this year," he said. Holland feels a continuation or worsening of present joblessness might bring the President and his advisers around to the AFL-CIO view.

The Lighter Side Opening Day Of Congress

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — My mental impressions are not always as reliable as plaster of paris, but the opening of the 88th Congress in some ways reminded me of a gangster's funeral.

Among other things, there were gatherings of relatives dressed to the nines, profuse sproutings of hot house flowers and lines of curious onlookers.

Such trappings are associated in my mind with the last rites of a prohibition era crime czar. I half expected to see a horseshoe wreath with a streamer reading "So long, pal."

But if the background was somewhat funeral, the spirit that prevailed was more like old home week. There is no warmer camaraderie than the reunion of politicians who have survived an election.

Fully 30 minutes before the session began at noon, senators and congressmen were assembling in their respective chambers to catch up on their handshaking.

Group Handshaking Noted
They shook hands with each other individually, and then they shook hands with each other in groups, ring-around-the-rosy style. Occasionally, they even shook hands with themselves.

Then began the ceremonial opening, which is as highly stylized as the mating dance of the whooping crane. But each chamber does it differently.

The Senate, being a continuing body, knew in advance who its presiding officer would be—Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, as stipulated in the Constitution.

The Constitution doesn't stipulate Johnson exclusively, however. Any vice president will do.

The Senate proceeded swiftly to the swearing in of new members, most of whom actually were old members. Among the returnees was the 84-year-old dean of the Senate, Sen. Carl Hayden, D-Ariz.

Among the newcomers was a 20-year-old Massachusetts Democrat whose name I didn't catch—Cannady, or something like that.

The House knew in advance who its presiding officer would be, too, but it had to pretend that it didn't. It must elect a speaker every two years.

The 88th Congress

The convening of the 88th Congress will bring a flood of proposals for changes in the Constitution and laws of this country. Some good, some bad.

Contrary to the thinking of many, the passage of a bill through the Congress is not an easy undertaking. The legislative gauntlet through which it must pass provides for a most exhaustive examination of its contents. This should result in practically no mistakes being made; however, many are made, which is proof of the fact that it is "human to err."

All measures introduced during one Congress which do not become law within the two-year term of that Congress, die with its adjournment. Hence, it is necessary to re-introduce them. Several measures which I have long advocated and have submitted in prior Congresses but which have not yet been adopted will be re-introduced. One of these will be a Joint Resolution to amend the Constitution as follows:

"No treaty with respect to which the advice and consent of the Senate is required by section 2 of article II of this Constitution may be made without the advice and consent of the House of Representatives."

Another is a Resolution providing for a special subcommittee to investigate and study the problem of obscenity, lewdness, salaciousness, and immorality in connection with the production, distribution, and exhibition in the United States of motion pictures and in connection with advertising related thereto.

I will also re-introduce a Resolution to amend the Constitution of the United States to limit the power of the Courts of the United States to determine that statutes of the United States or of any State are repugnant to the Constitution. This proposal would make it possible for the Congress, by a two-thirds vote, to overrule a decision by the Supreme Court declaring a statute enacted by the Congress of the United States or any State unconstitutional.

Another Resolution will be the one calling for a complete investigation of the State Department with relation to personnel, practices and procedures of choosing and assigning personnel, background and capabilities of personnel, including those employed directly by the Department of State as well as by other departments having duties or assignments directly or indirectly connected with the operations of the Department of State. In my opinion, this is a matter of prime importance and should be acted upon with the least possible delay.

Another measure will be a Resolution designed to commence the procedure for the establishment of a diplomatic academy in this country similar to West Point, Annapolis, and the Air Force Academy. Such a procedure, if properly conducted, would make it possible for the foreign service of this country to be open and available to the boys and girls from the main streets of the small towns of this nation. Many feel that the foreign service of our country has been dominated by the influences of the Ivy League colleges.

Another Resolution will be directed toward a full investigation and inventory of the real property owned by the United States, with the thought in mind of making it possible to dispose of much of the property now held in public ownership.

Among the bills I will re-introduce will be the measure that I introduced shortly after I came to Congress and which I have re-introduced in each succeeding Congress. This is a bill "To increase the personal income tax exemption of a taxpayer and the additional exemption for his spouse from $600 to $1,000, and to increase the exemption for a dependent from $600 to $1,000." This has been a long, hard fight, but it now seems possible that favorable action can be taken on this or a similar measure this year.

Another measure I expect to re-introduce is a bill I have long advocated. It would require that all decisions of the Supreme Court shall be participated in by the full Court and that any vacancies or absences in the membership of the Court shall be temporarily filled by circuit judges.

There are a number of others, but lack of space will not permit me to discuss these in full at this time. I expect to treat them in a subsequent newsletter.

Handwriting Should Not Be Neglected

By DAVID NYDICK
UPI Education Specialist
Handwriting has been open to much criticism and should not be neglected. It is a mechanical skill which can be learned with reasonable effort and practice.

Age plays a major role in learning to write. This is due to the importance of muscular development and coordination. The ability to hold a pencil and move the hand properly for regular writing (cursive) develops in about the third grade. Thus you find that most schools teach a form of printing (manuscript) in the early grades. Manuscript generally is easier than cursive writing.

Research has shown that most difficulties in handwriting occur in relatively few letters. This seems to indicate that efforts for improvement should be mainly concentrated on the specific problem. In the junior and senior high school, there is often a decrease in quality. This probably is due to the pressure for speed and the absence of specific practice and teaching.

At the same time that the school is teaching your child to write, you can follow through at home. You should be sure to use

IRS Studying An Unusual 'Cheat' Case

CHICAGO (UPI)—The Internal Revenue Service pondered today what to do about a $90-a-week spinster stenographer who said she has cheated on her income tax for 20 years because of a grudge against the government.

Olga Hobeck, 57, said she never has filed a return because the Veterans Administration had "terribly wronged" her ailing brother.

"I suppose I shall be thrown in jail," she wrote in confession letters to the IRS and Sens. Everett M. Dirksen and Paul Douglas of Illinois.

"Well, I am ready. I have decided...that my brother's case is so unjust that something had to be done to bring it to the attention of the people."

The Chicago office of the revenue service said she had never filed a return in this district. A spokesman said he could not discuss the case but he admitted "information about it has come to our attention through the press."

Miss Hobeck, a stenographer in a law office, said her brother should have been allowed disability compensation after he was discharged from the Army in 1941, several months before the United States' entry into World War II.

The brother, who was drafted, was discharged after two months' hospitalization for a nervous condition diagnosed as schizophrenia.

"Apparently the Army didn't think he was insane when they drafted him," Miss Hobeck said. She said she had been caring for her brother, Arthur, 50, ever since and has waged a continual battle with the Veterans Administration.

the same letter formations the school teaches in order to avoid confusion.

When a child's handwriting skills are developing normally, your assistance should consist of supplying encouragement and practice. An effort must be put into maintaining and improving handwriting. Periodic evaluation is important. Practice at the primary level can be achieved through such activities as writing one's name, making labels or signs, and writing notes or greeting cards.

The high school child might profit from helping you with business-type letters or other useful items.

Perhaps your child is having difficulty. The previous suggestions should be combined with additional instruction. The first step is to help the child understand the need for a neat legible handwriting. You can check samples of his writing. This will clarify the problem which may be poor letter formation, slant, size, etc. Explanation of correct methods should be followed by practice. Short and frequent sessions are the most effective. Remember that his chair, writing surface, and implements must be proper in order to have correct posture and grip.

Special attention should be given to left handed children. Unfortunately, some will have problems. In most situations, materials are made and arranged for right handed people.

Do not attempt to change handedness as the results may be more serious than those of being left handed. The child will need consideration and patience. His instructions should be generally the opposite of the right handed child. The "upside down" technique can be avoided by proper early instruction. The writing tool should be held a bit higher to avoid puncturing the paper. Light should come over his right shoulder to avoid shadows. Discuss this problem with his teachers. Perhaps you can obtain an instruction booklet.

Pay close attention to handwriting. Careful instruction and practice produces excellent results.

Harvesters Rally Past Bulldogs, 59-51

By LEE WHITE
 Pampa News Sports Editor

The district race as Lubbock pounded the Sandies, 71-57. Monterey and Tascosa both tasted defeat for the fourth time in district play — Monterey clipped Tascosa, 38-32, and Plainview edged Palo Duro, 66-64.

The victory, boosting the Pampa winning streak to 14 and giving the Harvesters an impressive 19-1 season mark, was hard come by as the Pampans hit 2 of 14 field goal attempts in the first quarter for 21 per cent. Pampa missed its first nine shots from the floor. Borger jumped into a seven-point lead while Pampa's shots went astray in the game.

Swanson Sparkles

Keith Swanson, Pampa's spark-in-the-last two games, pushed the Harvesters into the scoring column with a 25-foot field goal with four minutes left. Swanson scored 11 points the first half compared to his 15 points in the initial half of the Lubbock game.

Free throws were plentiful in the fracas as Pampa scored 21 and Borger 23 points on charity tosses.

With Pampa trailing 10-12 at the start of the second quarter, Randy Matson tied the score 12-12 after pulling down a rebound and stuffing the basketball through the hoop. From then on the tussle turned into a see-saw battle until Pampa's rally in the final quarter.

For the first time in district play, Pampa was on the short end of the score at intermission time, 27-29. It was the fourth straight game in which Borger led at half only to taste defeat in the second half.

The score was knotted four times in the second quarter with the lead changing hands three times. Pampa came back strong after the intermission scoring five straight points while holding the Bulldogs intact to go ahead, 32-29. In the surge of the opening minute of the first half, Matson and Swanson added field goals and Kreis a free throw.

Free Throws

Borger, depending on free throws to stay in the tussle, scored five charity tosses while Matson scored a field goal, knotting the score, 34-34. Pampa, never trailing after taking over the lead in the opening minute of the second half, bounced back with a free throw by Gordon Balch and a basket by Matson, pulling to a two-point lead. Pampa stayed in the lead with the victory-starved Bulldogs snapping at Pampa's heels.

Two-Point Lead

With Pampa enjoying a scant two-point lead at the end of three quarters of a battle, Kreis turned in three quick baskets pulling Pampa out of danger of the growing Bulldogs. Pampa stayed 6-10 points ahead of Borger throughout the fourth period.

With 0:39 left in the tussle, Pampa's lead swelled to 10 points (the biggest lead of the game by either team) as Kreis hit a free throw. Kreis turned nine free throw attempts into Pampa points in the contest.

45 Per Cent

Pampa shot 45 per cent in the game after getting off to a poor start from the floor the first half. The Harvesters shot only 47 times in the fracas as compared to the 70 or more shots the Pampans have been averaging getting away most of the season.

Borger, hitting only one field goal the entire third quarter, made 14 of 37 field goal attempts for 38 per cent.

Pampa hosts Monterey Tuesday night in a 7 p.m. game while Borger hosts Tascosa in its next out-of-the-first-half, Matson and Swanson.

Pampa's Shockers dropped their fourth district game in four starts, 58-55, in the first game of the double header. David McDaniel and Carl Harnsburger shared high point honors with 14.

Overflow Crowd Treated To Pampa Golden Gloves Meet

By LEE WHITE
 Pampa News Sports Editor

A standing-room-only crowd was treated to 21 championship bouts in the finals of the Pampa District Golden Gloves Tournament Saturday night with the top amateur boxers in the Panhandle providing the fireworks.

One of the largest crowds (over 600) ever to attend the annual Golden Gloves Tournament, sponsored by the Pampa Optimist Club, braved the sub zero temperatures to watch leather slingers from all over the Panhandle compete for 60 trophies and district crews entitle the fighters to advance to the Golden Gloves Regionals to be held in Amarillo next month.

The scrappers fought three 1 1/2 minute rounds.

Pettit vs. Thresher

In one of the top battles in the high school division, Pampa's Pete Pettit won a slug fest over Canyon's Neal Thresher. The fighters, competing in the 112-pound division, slugged it out for three rounds with Pettit carrying the Wilhelm's bomb, and allowed Wilhelm to get in several punches. Arrendondo, switching from the defense to the offense in the final round, made his move too late as Wilhelm carried the first two rounds, winning the 147-pound contest.

The knockout fever spread to other Pampa open boxers with Dickie Wills trying to deliver the big blow to the chin of Guymon's Dennis Kirk. Kirk stayed out of Wills' grasp the first two rounds, scoring with hard punches of his own. Kirk took several hard punches delivered by Wills without showing signs of grogginess. Wills won a close decision in the 160-pound battle.

In a battle matching Pampa open fighters in the 175-pound class, Charles Snider scored a knockout in the second round over Dean Henderson. Snider floored Henderson twice in the first round, and landed the finishing punch in 1:67 of the second round.

Two young coaches, Elmer Clements, Canyon, and Jerry Cline, Liberal, met in the Heavyweight match. The experienced boxers showed ring savvy in one of the best bouts of the tournament. Clements won a close decision. (See results of Friday fights on page 10.)

SATURDAY NIGHT RESULTS:

Pee wee — 85—like Shipman, Shamrock, over Jimmy Wilson, Liberal, 90—Alfred Brown, Pampa, over Gary McFarland, Liberal, by default, 95—Phillip Long, Pampa, over Richard Dismuke, Pampa, 100—H. D. LaRue over Robert Cameron, Canyon, High School — 105—Raymond

Aspromonte Is Aiming For .300 Mark This Year

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bob Aspromonte, who established himself as one of the best fielding third basemen in the National League during the 1962 season, figures some added weight and shortening of his swing will help him hit near .300 this year.

Given his first shot at a regular job by the Houston Colts last season, the 24-year-old Aspromonte came through in brilliant style by setting a NL record of 57 consecutive errorless games at the hot corner. This broke the mark of 54 games set by Stan Hack of the Chicago Cubs in 1942.

"I really wasn't glad when I made the error that ended my streak," Aspromonte said at his Brooklyn home recently. "But it sure was a big relief when it was over. I believe the pressure of the streak as I was nearing the record affected my hitting."

Starts Losing Weight

"I was going good around the middle of the summer, hitting around .297 and getting my share of home runs," Aspromonte recalled. "But then I started losing weight, felt tired and was under tension because of the streak."

The 6-foot, 3-inch Aspromonte finished the season with a .266 batting average, 11 homers and 59 runs batted in for 149 games.

COME TO ME — Borger's Joe Robinson (54) seems to be trying to talk the basketball into coming into his outstretched arms, but Pampa's Gary Sikes (51) bats the ball away from the Borger player. Pampa won the game in Borger Friday night, 59-51.

Attorney General Reports Need For Gambling Controls

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy reported to the President Saturday that new legislation may be necessary to give the government greater powers to crack down on gamblers who attempt to fix professional and amateur sports events.

In a report to the White House on the 1962 Justice Department fight against organized crime, the attorney general said betting on sports events remained a major problem in combatting racketeering.

He said his department had investigated reported "fix" attempts but that federal responsibility in this area was limited. "Further legislation might well be necessary," he said. "We will continue, however, to take action under present authority, should it be required."

The attorney general thought the overall record of combating crime in 1962 was "an encouraging one," with significant progress, but "no one believes the

NFL All-Stars Battle In LA

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The National Football League's greatest performers go into action again Sunday afternoon, in the coliseum for a final showdown of ability and rivalry in the 13th annual all-star Pro Bowl game.

The 33 top performers of the Western conference, bulwarked by eight members of the champion Green Bay Packers, were favored to bring the West its fourth straight win and ninth of the series.

The fact that Vince Lombardi of the Packers is coaching the West did not hurt his team's chances and may have been responsible for the team being installed as a 3 1/2-point choice.

But Alie Sherman of the New York Giants wants revenge on several scores. His team provided eight men for the Eastern conference squad and all eight took part in the championship game which Green Bay won.

Quarterback Y. A. Title also wants another chance to demonstrate his passing ability against Green Bay's Bart Starr who alternates with John Unitas in the signal-calling for the West.

Pampa, Plainview Face Tough Foes This Week

After two weeks of Dist. 3-AAAA play, the leadership in the torrid pace for the district crown rests with two red hot ball clubs, Pampa and Plainview.

Both teams have identical 4-0 records in conference action.

The two teams will meet stiff opposition this week as they play the other two teams in the upper division of the league. Amarillo and Monterey. Pampa hosts Monterey Tuesday night in a 7 p.m. game while Plainview hosts Amarillo Friday night. The league leaders will switch opponents with Pampa playing Amarillo and Plainview meeting Monterey. Pampa and Plainview will square off against each other on Jan. 22 in Pampa climaxing the first half of the 14-game league in which each team plays each other twice.

Pampa's Wayne Kreis, 5-9 guard, is the leading scorer at the end of the two weeks of play. Kreis, averaging 22.0 points per game, enjoys a five-point lead over his nearest competitor, Jim Hill of Amarillo, who owns a 17.0 average.

AFL Stars Meet In San Diego

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — The American Football League presents its second annual glamour show Sunday, featuring a 61 per cent completion passer, three 1,000-yard ground gainers, possibly the best rookie ball carrier in professional football and a 321-pound defensive lineman.

Junior Chamber of Commerce officials said they expected 25,000 fans to be at Balboa Stadium for the game which will be televised nationally by the American Broadcasting Company.

The passer is Len Dawson of Dallas, who was named by the players as the league's premier performer this season.

Gary Player Holding Lead In San Diego Tournament

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — Gary Player's birdie production dropped off Saturday but he still fired a one under par 70 to retain his lead at the end of 54 holes in the San Diego Open Golf tournament.

Player posted a score of 200, one shot ahead of Billy Casper and the fast-closing longshot, Miller Barber of Rye, N. Y.

The little South African star had checked in with identical 65s on the first two rounds but had a bit of trouble Saturday as the course played longer and tougher. And he had to settle for a 36-34, getting two birdies on the back nine to hold the lead he had established at the halfway mark Friday.

Casper, recovering from an illness that nearly sidelined him Friday, checked in with a 69 to gain a stroke. He had nines of 36-33 for a 201 total. Barber, a 31-year-old part-time touring pro, had a five 66 on nines of 35-31.

Tied for fourth place were Negro champion Charley Sifford who had a 67 and Fred Hawkins of El Paso who blew to a par 71 after two straight 65s.

The course played much longer Saturday due to a light breeze, and practically all the par four holes required long iron or wood approaches.

"I had to use a wood or a three or four iron on nearly every par hole on the whole round," said Art Wall, who finished with a 68 for a total of 205.

Jacky Cupit, who had started the day one stroke off the pace, found the going tough and came in with a 73 for 204. That tied him with Julius Boros who had a 68 and Tony Lema who had a 71.

George Bayer, the former football player, disqualified for the illegal lifting of his ball. He had shot a 73 and was far back at 215.

Player said that he still thinks the touney record of 269 will be broken.

"The wind came up today and hurt my chances for a good score," he said.

"And the puts didn't go down quite as well as they have been. But I still hit my irons good."

Tied with Wall at 205 were Butch Baird, Gay Brewer, Bobby Nichols and Stan Leonard.

Jay Hebert had a good chance to pick up a lot of ground but three putted the 13th, 15th and 16th greens. Still he came in with a 69 for a 211.

At 206 came Wes Ellis and Phil Rodgers, while Don January had a 207.

GIVEN AMBITION

All-Star Bowling Shows Anyone Can Reach Top

By BILL MCCORMICK Newspaper Enterprise Assn. The All-Star Championship Tournament offers living proof that almost anyone, given the ambition, can become a top bowler.

Dick Weber, defending champion in this most exacting of all bowling competitions, to be held in the Kansas City Auditorium Jan. 16-26, is so tiny he barely outweighs his ball.

Six-foot-four, 200-pound Billy Welu, who won in 1952, would look more at home as an end in professional football.

Shirley Garms, the current women's champion, manages a housing project with her husband when not toppling tenpins.

That new talent is constantly developed is shown by the fact that 145 men are making their first appearance in the All-Star, while only 143 have rolled in it from two to 17 times.

Mrs. Ladewig has been in the tournament each of the 14 times since it was opened to women.

The eight regulars include backs Jerry Cook, Johnny Gering, Ray Poage and Pat Culpepper; end Tommy Lucas, guards Marvin Rubin and Johnny Freadwell and center Perry McWilliams.

Other senior lettermen are end Buddy Fults, backs Gene Gifford, Brett Morris and Bobby Nunis, and tackle Tommy Phillips.

RE-ELECTS EXECUTIVES NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Jockey Club has re-elected George D. Widener as its chairman.

ingly good. He was burning up the lanes when he went into the All-Star last year with a bad index finger on his right hand.

Welu, a strong contender, took a year out to readjust his game. He abandoned the figure eight loop on the backswing that was his trademark and started rolling an entirely different kind of ball.

Carter, of course, will be a favorite to take the title for the fifth time. Ray Bluth, perhaps technically the best of them all, figures to be strong.

More than 16,000 men and women tried to qualify in sectional eliminations for a shot at the $100,000 prize money.

The finalists reach the moment of truth with the Peterson point system, a cumbersome method, but the best.

Weber will be attempting to join one of the most exclusive clubs in sports — the men who have repeated in the All-Star.

Cincinnati's Secret Is Team Balance

By HARRY GRAYSON Newspaper Enterprise

CINCINNATI (NEA)—It strikes a lot of old basketball pundits that many teams — professional and college — could take a lesson or two from the University of Cincinnati's two-time national collegiate champions.

In three swift years the Bearcats have clearly demonstrated that basketball, despite the trend to stratospheric scoring, is considerably more than swishing the ball through the hoop.

Cincinnati repelled the Ohio State wonder team the past two springs to win the National Collegiate Athletic Association title. This is something the Bearcats failed to do with Oscar Robertson, now the Big O of the pro Cincinnati Royals, hogging the headlines by tossing the ball in the bucket.

What is the answer? "Team balance," said Ed Jucker.

Thailand Boxer Gets World Title

BANGKOK, Thailand (UPI) — Pone Kingpetch of Thailand, a skinny little man with a long left jab, made an unprecedented recapture of the world flyweight crown Saturday night by outpointing Japan's Masahiko (Fighting) Harada in their return fight.

Never previously in the 112-pound division's 53-year history had anyone regained the title.

Before 20,000 jammed but jubilant fans — including King Phumipol Adulyade — in the National Stadium Gymnasium, clever Kingpetch gave a boxing lesson to the stocky, muscular Harada who had knocked out Pone in the 11th round of their Tokyo bout on Oct. 10.

Nevertheless, Pone had to be content with a 15-round majority decision in which a judge from Japan called the bout even. The other two officials voted for Pone. Harada said afterwards "Pone deserved the decision because he landed the most punches."

er, a personable and bouncy coach of 45, in the Field House-Armory on Cincinnati's north side, as he applied finishing touches to the varsity for the big game with Wichita. "All games are won on defense. Our idea is to attack while defending."

When Jucker took over three years ago as George Smith moved up to athletic director, Robertson had just been graduated. Alumnus and former assistant-Jucker's position was comparable to that of Ralph Houk assuming command of the New York Yankees after the inimitable Casey Stengel had bagged 10 pennants in 12 years.

Or to that of someone replacing Vince Lombardi with the Green Bay Packers next fall.

"When we lost Robertson and Ralph Davis we lost 80 per cent of our scoring threat," recalled Jucker. "So the goal had to be to get all five kids into the act."

The result is that Cincinnati remains the top college team with Ron Bonham, its scoring leader, ranked 32nd in the nation with a modest 20-point average.

The difference is that the Bearcats are first in team defense and in fewest personal fouls committed. They are masters of ball control.

Cincinnati went into the Wichita engagement with a consecutive victory skein of 28. The Bearcats had copped 27 in a row when Wichita broke the string early last year.

You would suspect that college boys would be extremely sensitive to a record like that, but Jucker says that his poised lads are not. "Winning has become a way of life to these kids," he said. "Our seniors have been beaten only five times in three years while winning 86, so, you see, they are not used to losing."

How about the coach? "Well, I'm human," smiled Jucker. "There are no setups these nights, especially in the Missouri Valley Conference, which is as tough as they come—basketball-wise. I feel the pressure on the day of a game. The old stomach does flipflops."

Superior basketball players now gravitate to Cincinnati. Ed Jucker gets the horses, of course.

The point is that he knows what to do with them.

Brown Contends "Breach Of Contract"

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI) — Paul Brown contended Saturday his firing as coach and general manager of the Cleveland Browns was a breach of contract on the part of club president Arthur Modell.

Modell, who admitted he made a settlement offer to Brown on the remaining years of his contract with the club, said he was "shocked at the report" that Brown was taking the matter up with his attorneys.

"The contract has been breached," Brown told reporters, "and the matter is in the hands of my attorney. It all depends upon what my attorney decides." The club president, who fired the long-time coach from the National Football League club that bears his name, said, "I don't want to make any further comment until I have a chance to find out if the report is true."

He said the statement attributed to Brown was in violation of an agreement made during an all-day meeting between Modell, Brown and their attorneys Jan. 9.

Brown was fired by Modell late Wednesday "for the best interest of the club" following a mediocre

7-6-1 campaign. It was the second worst season in the Browns' 17-year history.

It was known that Brown had in his contract a provision to give him a free hand in running the club and that Modell wanted more to say about what went on.

Meanwhile, Modell denied he had contacted Otto Graham, a former Cleveland quarterback, about succeeding Brown as head coach.

"I have not approached Graham about the job. I have four men in mind — three assistant coaches in pro football and one college coach," Modell said. He said the list included at least one assistant coach on the Browns.

Mentioned most prominently as the next coach of the Browns have been Graham, now coach of the Coast Guard Academy; Blanton Collier, formerly of Kentucky and last season the Browns' backfield coach; Ara Parseghian, head coach at Northwestern and a former Browns player; Bill Austin, assistant at Green Bay, and Tom Landry, head coach of the Dallas Cowboys of the NFL.

Modell's statement would appear to eliminate Landry.

Coffee Break....

WONDERFUL, BEAUTIFUL Panhandle weather! At least, the first three days of the week were. Who needs Florida or California, when you can live in Pampa, where, at least three days out of the week in the dead of winter, it is balmy and windless with bright blue skies studded with fleecy-white clouds. Sunsets and sunrises defy oral description of their beauty. Just can't beat Top o' Texas weather variety; three days of summer in winter; three days of winter in summer; one day a mixture of both winter and summer, and then 9 below zero all of a sudden, and... all in one week, too! It was marvelous walking weather for those school census-takers, who were out counting noses early in the week. We had a most pleasant one in our neighborhood, Mrs. Clifford J. Davenport Jr.; she's Marilyn's mom. And she seemed to be enjoying her work and most appreciative of the friendly cooperation she received from those upon whom she called.

WE HAD A COFFEE and Coke break with Georgia Mack (Mrs. R. A.), whom we cornered one afternoon this week in the Coffee Shop of the Coronado Inn. We talked of the Mothers' March, which will be conducted here between six and eight o'clock on the evening of January 21. Georgia is heading up the Mothers' March for her sixth consecutive year and each year the Moms have reached their quota or gone over it. There's an old saying "if you want a thing done well, do it yourself." Personalized with a local touch, it might be added "And if you can't do it yourself, ask Georgia Mack if she will." Georgia has retained all of the enthusiasm she captured last October while attending the March of Dimes Pre-Campaign Planning workshop in Dallas. Her plans for the Mothers' March began by dividing the city up according to the school districts. Then she found the most energetic workers in the eight districts and asked them to serve as captains. The captains, in turn, ask their friends and neighbors to serve as block-workers. Evidencing a great deal of confidence in their ability to get the job done, Georgia told us her captains are Mrs. Ernest Pulse from the Lamar district, Mrs. Orvel Ferguson from Baker district, Mrs. Calvin Hogan from Woodrow Wilson, Mrs. Earl O'Neal from Horace Mann, Mrs. Charles Lanehart, Stephen F. Austin; Mrs. Bob Karr, Sam Houston; Mrs. Bill Martin, Traivs and Mrs. Lottie Morgan from Carver. The diminutive drive chairman is confident that these women, with their block workers, will put the Mothers' March $4,000 quota well over the top in this, the Silver Anniversary of the MoD Drive. Block-workers will be carrying official green, blue and white workers' envelopes and will be identified with name tags and equipped with "Thank You" receipts for each donor.

THERE'S ANOTHER GAL, Mrs. B. E. Tidwell, who has been working side by side with Georgia on drives for the past six years and who acts as the comptroller. On the night of the drive, after block-workers have completed their door-to-door calling, collected funds will be turned into captains and they will take them to the temporary Mothers' March headquarters in the First National Bank Annex. Bank tellers will count the monies and turn sub-totals to Mrs. Tidwell, who may be able to report the success of the drive within hours after its completion, if everyone follows through. There's to be a Coffee on January 18 at 9:30 a.m. in the Pampa Hotel, where the drive chairman, captains and block workers will meet with Joe Fischer, city MoD chairman, and Clyde Carruth, county MoD chairman. Last minute instructions and information will be given at that time.

THERE'S TALK OF re-organizing the League of Women Voters. The League was in the process of dis-organizing about the time we began writing of women's activities, so we are not too well-informed about it. From what we hear, it was a most beneficial and informative group for those who were interested in hearing the pros and cons of political issues on a non-partisan basis. And in the manner of a dear, departed friend of ours, whatever else we hear of its progress we will let you know.

PAMPA LITTLE THEATRE got its playbill for March 1-2 underway this week with try-outs for "Manana Is Another Day" written by Theodore Apstein and to be directed locally by Jack O. Miller. Mr. Apstein wrote the play, while attending Texas University, which is also Jack's alma mater. They were personal friends there and worked together on the first presentation of the play in the USA at TU. We wanted to say that a Texan would direct a play written in Texas by a Texan. Loyal though Jack is to his home state, he foiled this idea and would have none of that for it seems Me. Apstein lived in Mexico while attending TU. The playwright is now a successfully established writer, dividing his time between the east and west coast theater and television house. Just this week, we noted his authorship credit on the Ben Casey Show. In addition to interest and love of the theater, Jack is bringing with him, into the directorship, years of experience. While not a drama major at TU, he was active before and behind the footlight in the Curtain Club and university theater. During summer vacations, he worked professionally in Dallas and with touring shows in Norfolk, Portsmouth and New York. Sometime, you must get him to tell you about his stint in burlesque and with the "Toby-Type Theater." Homer and Anita Kreuger are working on original music. Assistant directorship has been assigned to Glennalea Miller, a relative of Jack's who directed "Arsenic and Old Lace". Publicity assignments are being planned by John McCausland. Jewel Walker who directed "George Washington Slept Here," has been named choreographer and Marie Jones is the stage manager. Seems PLT has picked a winner for its March production, "Manana Is Another Day," a sparkling comedy with music and colorfully gay scenes and costumes.

SIGMA DELTA SUB DEBS ushered its summer pledges royally into membership in a formal ball held last Saturday night in the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn. A "Royal Court" scene was formed with lush purple and gold drapes and a purple valance fringed with gold. This formed a backdrop for the Best Pledge's throne, which was surrounded with gossamer cloth sprinkled with gold-dust. Heard that Cecelia McDonald, Sub Deb president, capably introduced each new member with a clever, descriptive verse. Working nearly all day long last Saturday in the ballroom on decorations and arrangements were, in addition to Cecelia, Sharon Haight, who was 1961 Best Pledge, Karen Warner, Linda Holt, Sub Deb vice president; Carol Enloe and Mary Martin. Mr. and Mrs. Freddie Brown were the Younger-set chaperones along with Mr. and Mrs. Jim Arndt, Mr. and Mrs. Max Campbell, Mrs. Bill McDonald, who is one of the adult sponsors. Marian Neslage was hostess for a pre-ball party and after the dance was over Teresa Mack, who was named Best Pledge from the 1962 summer rush, invited Sub Debs over to her house for breakfast and a slumber party. The next social event planned by Sub Debs is their annual "Ship Wreck Dance" in April.

BY THIS TIME next week, we should know what the new Spring Hair Trend is going to be. There is a Hair Styling Show and Workshop in Amarillo today and several local hairstylists were planning to attend. Hope the new style will be something elegantly simple and easy to manage... don't you? See you around, d. e. w.

'Enchanted Court' Is Setting For Sub Deb Ball

Miss Teresa Mack Named Best Pledge At Sub Deb Club Presentation Ball

MISS PATSY VAUGHN Bobby Ashby, Escort

MISS ANITA GUTHRIE Raymond Nance, Escort

MISS SUSAN FOSTER Charles Snuggs, Escort

The Starlight Room at the Coronado Inn was the setting for the Sigma Delta Sub Deb Club Presentation Ball. "Enchanted Court" Saturday evening, Jan. 5. Pledges of the 1962-63 season were honored in a court setting. The front of the ballroom featured a background of deep purple and gold satin curtains with gold tassels bordering the edges. In front of the curtain was a large platform with graduating steps leading to a gold throne. The steps were covered with fluffy white cheesecloth, sprinkled with gold glitter. Large baskets of yellow and white gladiolas were placed on each side of the steps. A white satin carpet flowed down the aisle and covered a pathway up the steps. In the foreground were small gold wrought iron chairs with gold cushions. On each side of the chairs were smaller baskets of gladiolas.

Miss Cecelia McDonald, president introduced each pledge. They were all gowned in full-length white formalis. Miss Teresa Mack, daughter of Robert Mack, escorted by Bill Neslage, was presented as Best Pledge with this verse: Teresa is friendly and oh, so sweet; Beautifully poised and oh, so neat; She radiates charm and beauty supreme; And looks just like a golden-haired dream. Miss Susan Foster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Foster, escorted by Charles Snuggs was presented with: Her warm smile and ways so so sweet; Precise, delicate, and oh, so neat. Always laughing and full of fun; That's Susan, a most captivating one. Miss Anita Guthrie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Jeffers, escorted by Raymond Nance: An adorable, charming doll of delight; Warm and friendly as a moonlit night; A most precious little coquette, One whose charms you can never forget. Miss Marion Neslage, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Neslage, escorted by Richard Organ: Her smile is as bright as the sun; Sweet and pretty, that's our Marion; Splendid, shining, a priceless treasure; One who fills our hearts with pleasure. Miss Brenda Nickens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Nickens, escorted by Dee Allen: A most pleasant personality; And so much fun to know; A smile that beams and a heart that sings; Brenda imparts a shimmering glow. Miss Linda Simpson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Slate, escorted by Jay Followell: Twinkling Eyes, pleasing smile; A gladsome personality, beaming all the while; A face that glows with sunlight's rays from above; Looking on all with admiration and love. Miss Patsy Vaughn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Vaughn, escorted by Bobby Ashby: Dark, mysterious, as a tropical night; An exquisite, exotic doll of delight; She's friendly, agreeable, the favorite of all; Presenting Miss Vaughn, the belle of the ball. Miss Judy Pemberton and Miss Joyce Prock provided entertainment for the Best Pledge and her court with a song, "Because of You."

Each of the sponsors, Mrs. Jim Arndt, Mrs. Max Campbell and Mrs. Bill McDonald were presented with a white carnation corsage by the club's vice-president, Miss Linda Holt. Assisting with the presentation were Miss Janice Arndt and Master Tommy McDonald. Presiding over the court was Miss Sharon Haight, Best Pledge of 1961. Each pledge was presented a tiara and a white Bible, inscribed in gold, with their names. (Photos on the page by Kenneth Butler.)

Rev. West Gives Program At Meeting Of The Wesleyan Service Guild Here

Rev. Russell West, pastor of the Church of The Brethren, Pampa, was featured as program speaker on Monday evening, Jan. 7th, when the Wesleyan Service Guild met in the home of Mrs. Emma Ogden, with her mother, Mrs. Matie Fountain, as assisting hostesses. Mrs. Grace Boston arranged this special feature program with Rev. West, who illustrated his talk with slides on "The Creation" as based on a folk sermon by a colored minister who in home town language gave his version of the creation of the earth, skies and man, ending with the recitation of the 8th Psalm.

Following this, Rev. West showed slides of his family at James Cagney ranch in California, a place he and Mrs. West visited during the Christmas season. The Parkway in Virginia, a beauty spot of the nation, was used to show the beauty of nature created by God, closing with a recording of "How Great Thou Art," illustrated by ingenious slides acquired by Rev. and Mrs. West. This was a most inspiring program and shows much thought and work on the part of Rev. and Mrs. West. During the business session it was decided as the culminating event of the study "The Dimensions of Prayer," by Douglas V. Steele, the Guild would send literature to a related church to help fill their needs.

The next meeting of the Guild will be in the home of Mrs. Margaret Wells, 915 N. Gray St., Jan. 21st, 1963.

Attending were: guests, Rev. and Mrs. R. West, members, Matie Fountain, Emma Ogden, Margaret Wilkerson, Ethel Stilwell, Ivo Denson, Rechael Jones, Lillie Mae Fowler, Gladys Turner, Lalar Wilkerson, Grace Boston, Maggie Smith, Laura Penick, Ila Pool, Lillian Mullinax, Diana Wood, and Frankie White.

Miss Campbell Says Wedding Vows With Billy Tom Townsend

Miss Janet Campbell became the bride of Billy Tom Townsend, in a ceremony performed by the Rev. Earl Maddox, pastor of the Fellowship Baptist Church at 6 p.m. Dec. 22 in the home of Ray Keelin, 501 E. Foster.

The bride made her home in Amarillo with her sister, Mrs. Weldon Strawbridge. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Townsend, White Deer.

The bride wore a street length white gown of lace over taffeta featuring a fitted bodice and flaired skirt. She carried a cascade of pink carnations tied with pink streamers and seed pearls atop a white Bible.

Mrs. Ray Keelin attended the bride as matron of honor and only attendant.

Rickey Townsend served his brother as best man.

A reception followed the ceremony. The bridal table was laid with a pink linen cloth featuring a centerpiece of pink carnations and candelabra.

Guests attending were relatives of the couple.

The couple is making their home in San Diego, Calif., where he is serving with the U.S. Navy.

Dear Abby...
Give Her A Practical Lesson!!!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: The growing trend toward teenage marriages didn't worry me until my 17-year-old daughter told me that she and her 19-year-old boy friend wanted to get married. They have gone steady for two years and he is a nice enough fellow, but I'm sure they don't know what they are letting themselves in for. How should I handle this?

MRS. G.
DEAR MRS. G.: Say, "Fine, but first I want to give you a little sample of married life. You manage this home for the next two weeks. That means getting up in time to prepare Dad's breakfast... fix his lunch (if he carries one), do the dishes, make the beds, vacuum, sweep, scrub the bathroom, prepare all the meals, do the laundry and ironing, wash the windows and Venetian blinds and do all the marketing. Mean while, I'll get up at the time you usually do and spend the day as you spend it (including an hour on the phone.) Then I'll borrow some soiled diapers so you will be prepared for the chores of early motherhood." If daughter understands what will be expected of her in marriage, and still wants it in a hurry, give her your blessings.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell me if you have ever heard of anything like this, and explain it to me. I am of one religion and my husband of another. We have a 15-month-old baby girl who has never been baptized because my husband wanted her baptized in his religion, and I said I would rather see her not baptized at all than agree to that. Now my husband says he wants to take her and get her baptized—but not in any special religion; she will just be baptized. It's a no-religion baptism. Have you ever heard of such a thing? My mother says she thinks he is trying to pull a fast one.

YOUNG MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: The mode or rite of administering baptism in the Christian churches is fixed by the discipline or doctrine of each church. There is no such thing as a "no-religion" baptism since baptism is a religious ceremony.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is 16. She is very attractive and mature for her age. She has fallen in love with her teacher and he is in love with her. He is 30, married and has children. He has told his wife he loves my daughter and his wife won't give him a divorce. Why should she want to hang on to a man who doesn't love her? Don't you think this man and my daughter have a right to happiness together? Abby, if you could see them together you would know it is true love and not infatuation. What can be done?

QUESTION MARK
DEAR QUESTION: It is conceivable that a 16-year-old girl could have a crush on her teacher, but how her MOTHER could condone, encourage and permit such relationship to grow is beyond me. Your daughter has no business going with a married man. Consult a professional counselor for your daughter's sake. You, too, need to have some twisted notions straightened out before you can give your daughter proper guidance.

DEAR ABBY: I always thought a girl should confide in her mother and I used to until I found out she was telling all my business to my aunt who has the biggest mouth in Philadelphia. Please, Abby, tell parents that the young people deserve to have their secrets kept, and if their parents

BETRAYED
DEAR BETRAYED: I know you are right and I hope this inspires thoughtful adults to think twice before betraying the confidences their children have entrusted them with.

Don't use ammonia on glasses. Three out of every four new or glass fruit dishes with metal homeowners have ceramic tile in their homes; the Tile Council of America reports.

Take It From Kathy

by Kathy Peterson

Dear Kathy: I'm almost 16, and I date the same boy about three times a week. My parents think I should be home by 10 o'clock, and earlier on Sunday nights. Do you agree? Also, the boy I'm going with is always teasing me. It gets aggravating. What should I do?—Sherry K.

Dear Sherry: I'm willing to bet that you are permitted to stay out later on a special occasion. If not, how about a compromise? When a special event will finish later than 10, ask your parents if they will permit you to stay later providing you forfeit one date for the week. Let them know exactly what your schedule will be, so they'll know where you are and what you are doing.

It reads as if your parents are fairly broadminded. There are some girls your age who are disturbed because they aren't allowed to date and very, very few are allowed three dates a week, especially during school. You're lucky!

As to the teasing, figure out why he does it and then frustrate him by not responding with embarrassment, anger or attention. Most boys use teasing to get attention from a girl they especially like. Try a new response and he'll alter his attitude.

Boham-Walker Say Vows In Oklahoma Church

Miss Judy Kay Boham and James Lee Walker pledged double ring vows at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Dec. 21 in the First Baptist Church, Alva, Okla. Rev. McCracken officiated for the ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Boham, 813 1st St., Alva, Okla.; and Mrs. Art Stewart and the late Earl Walker. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white satin brocade street-length sheath with a short over jacket fashioned with long sleeves. Her shoulder length veil fell from a white satin pill box hat and she carried a nosegay of white carnations and red rose buds.

Mrs. Glen Ward, sister of the bridegroom attended as matron of honor. She wore a red taffeta dress with red satin accessories and carried a cascade of white carnations.

Glen Ward served his brother-in-law as best man and Bobby Stephens and Jim Boham, brothers of the bride, were ushers.

The church was decorated with red poinsettias that formed a Christmas background. Mrs. James Brakebill, organist, played traditional wedding music and accompanied Miss Kay Bicknell as she sang, "Because, 'The Lord's Prayer.'" The bride's mother wore a beige knit dress with brown accessories and the bridegroom's mother wore a navy blue silk shantung suit with white accessories. Both wore white carnation corsages.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES LEE WALKER

Miss Marilyn and Marideth Dunn, twin sisters, lighted the candles. They were dressed identically to that of the matron of honor.

A reception followed the ceremony in Fellowship Hall of the church. Mrs. Kyle Patterson and Jean Graham assisted at the punch bowl and coffee service and Miss Nancy Egner served cake. Mrs. Bill Dobbs assisted at registering the guests. Other members of the houseparty were: Lynn Hammer, Karen Roby and Fieta Mercer.

The couple will be at home at 810 1/2 5th St., Alva, Okla., where the bride is a student at Northwestern State College. Her husband is a Junior at Northwestern.

Danger was a way of life they bore with dignity and quiet courage. Here they made their homes and raised their families. HERE they toiled and fought to win a free life for themselves and a brighter future for their children, and here they built a great state. The Texas State Historical Survey Committee has a program designed to restore and preserve 1,175 historic buildings in Texas. All over the area there is an awakening of the historical importance of this section of Texas. The story of Texas has been unique in the annals of state history," Mrs. Cole said.

Civic Culture Club Studies Texas Heritage

The Civic Culture Club met in the home of Mrs. W. J. Morris Tuesday.

Mrs. Carl Axelson, president, presided over a short business session.

"We build upon our heritage," was the topic Mrs. Irvin Cole brought as she discussed "Texas Today."

"History is not hard to find in Texas. Wherever one goes, there is not far away some fort or shrine, some weathered building, some battlefield or brooding monument where history hangs with an almost visible presence," she said. She showed many pictures and maps to emphasize these facts. "Such a place brings back memories of the spirit and high resolve of a people who cherished freedom enough to fight and die for it," she said.

She added, "The pioneers came this way in a turbulent time, and here they built a great state.

B&PW Club Has Report Given By Mrs. Harmon

The Pampa Business and Professional Women's Club met in the Club Room at City Hall Tuesday.

The president, Flossie Anderson, was in the chair and Laura Bell Cornelison opened the meeting with the club collect.

Gay Lynn Smith of Abilene State School was adopted for the remainder of the club year.

The project for the year was a scholarship of $200 which went to Barbara Lunsford, who is attending a college in Abilene.

Hattie Harmon reported on the Welfare Index Clothing Room, located at the Plainsman Motel on the Amarillo Highway, and stressed the need for good used clothing and furniture. Anything that is usable is badly needed, she said. The club voted to work one day a month at the room.

Georgia Mack urged everyone to help on the March of Dimes Mothers March Jan. 21.

President Flossie Anderson suggested everyone try to attend the district B&PW meeting to be held at the Frist National Bank in Borger Sunday at 2 p.m. There will be a luncheon at the Borger Hotel at 12 noon for those who wish to attend.

Some 40 persons attended the Tuesday meeting of the club here, including 10 new members.

tie and Richard of California. All except Richard were present. They also have 19 grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren. Aileen Childers presided at the guest register. Mrs. Lancaster was presented a yellow rose bud corsage and her husband received a yellow rose bud.

Edith and Glenna Zell provided the entertainment, by singing songs.

The table was laid with a white lace cloth and centered with a fall arrangement in tones of yellow.

Refreshments of cake and fruit punch were served the guests attending between the hours of 2 to 3 p.m.

Emily Washington and Ola Mae Lancaster, granddaughters, assisted at the punch bowl and Betty Haines and Inez Loveday served the decorated cake. Others assisting were Laura Watson and Sidney Lynch.

Approximately 65 attended. Out of town guests were: from Pampa: Mr. and Mrs. Bob Childers and children, Mr. and Mrs. Bill

Washington and children; Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Lynch and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Lancaster and children; Mr. and Mrs. Doyce Watson and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Reynolds and daughter; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Sims and children, and Mr. James Washington Sr.

From Amarillo: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Haines and children, Mr. and Mrs. Burl Loveday and children, and Miss Annie Mae Gudgeon.

From Wheeler: Mr. and Mrs. Gady Vise, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Vise, Mr. and Mrs. Lafoy Vise and children, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wofford.

From Sand Springs, Okla. were Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Zell and children and from Perryton were Mr. and Mrs. James Lancaster and son.

After each washing, rub paraffin on the heels of white crew socks. You'll have less heel mending to do.

Use a few drops of acid in a bowl full of water.

Garden Club Seeks Plants For Project At Highland General Hospital Grounds

Trees, shrubs and plants are needed by the Mr. and Mrs. Garden Club for landscaping the Highland General Hospital courtyard, according to the president, Mrs. W. A. Spoonemore.

Plans are underway to begin work on the project soon after it has been approved by the hospital board. Contributions of plant material or a donation of money toward the project will be welcomed by the club. Contributors may contact members of the club or the hospital office.

The regular meeting of the club was held in the home of Mr. and

Mrs. J. A. Mitchell, 1529 Williston, Tuesday evening. Plans were discussed for a spring flower show. Conservation chairman, Ira Carlton, urged the members to keep bird feeders and waterers stocked and to plan soil conservation practices in their own gardens. Projects chairman, J. A. Mitchell, reported over one hundred tulip bulbs had been planted in the hospital courtyard.

Officers for the ensuing term beginning in June were elected. Ira Carlton will serve as president with Mrs. John Hall, vice president; Mrs. John Kelley, recording secretary; Mrs. Dick Higginbotham, corresponding secretary; J. A. Mitchell, treasurer; and Mrs. W. A. Spoonemore, parliamentary and historian.

A five-minute talk on horticulture tips and January planting dates was given by Mrs. Ira Carlton. Colored slides and movies of flowers and gardens were shown by the members.

The club had a Christmas dinner party and garden gift exchange in the W. A. Spoonemore home in December instead of the regular monthly meeting. A Fun Night will be held February 5th in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Ruff.

55TH YEAR

Cibola Room Setting For PEWS Meeting

The Petroleum Engineers' Wives Society met Jan. 8, at 11:30 a.m. in the Cibola Room of the Coronado Inn. Preceding a luncheon, a short business meeting was conducted by Mrs. N. E. Turnbo, president. Mrs. Don Stephens and Mrs. J. A. Thurmond were welcomed as new members.

Following luncheon, members were seated at quartet tables for an afternoon of bridge. High prize was won by Mrs. W. A. Thiens, and Mrs. Ray Jordan won low.

The next meeting will be held Feb. 12 at 11:30 a.m. at the Coronado Inn, with Dr. Emilio Cabellero, West Texas State College, as guest speaker. Dr. Cabellero will speak on art and may also exhibit some of his works.

ABWA Holds Its Monthly Meeting

The American Business Women's Association held its monthly dinner meeting Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the Cibola Room, Coronado Inn, with Mrs. Glen Ritter, president, presiding. The invocation was given by Mrs. Kenneth Butler. The guest speaker, Bill Haynes, was introduced by Mrs. Billy Wright. Haynes, a history teacher at Pampa High School, entertained the group with slides taken in Salsburg, Austria, where he was stationed during World War II, with explanations of the use of the different buildings shown. Slides were also shown of Rome, Greece, Athens, however, the most colorful were the beautiful flowers of Holland. The minutes of the last meeting, and communications from headquarters were read by Mrs. Ed Wylie. The Standards of Achievement for the Year were read by Mrs. Kenneth Butler. Mrs. Glen Ritter announced the District Convention would be held in Odessa on April 20-21. She also stated that Feb. 7 was the date set for the Boss Night Banquet which is a highlight of the year. Members were reminded of the Hand of Friendship Tea on March 17, and committees were appointed for each of these occasions. The group voted to meet at Coronado Inn for an indefinite period. Old and new business was discussed. Benediction was given by Mrs. Kenneth Butler. Members attending were Meses. Glen Ritter, Kenneth Butler, Ed Wylie, Tony Smith, H. F. Trimble, Lloyd Laramore, Clemon Herd, O. E. Payne, Bobby Davis, John Killian, Ann Pitcock, Billy Wright, and Misses Maxine Nabors and Novis Parker. Guests attending were Mrs. O. G. ## Seminar Is Held By Pampa Deanery Council Of Catholic Women This Week

His Excellency Bishop John L. Morkovsky, of Amarillo addressed the Pampa Deanery Council of Catholic Women at a seminar held Thursday in St. Vincent de Paul School Auditorium.

Bishop Morkovsky, who recently returned from the 1962 meeting of the Second Vatican Council in Rome, showed films taken of the Council in session, and related the progress which it had made up to the time of its recess in December.

According to Bishop Morkovsky, the Ecumenical Council continues its work in committee form, although the meeting of the prelates from all over the world will not convene again in formal session until October, 1963. He described the work of the Council as a rejuvenation within the Catholic Church. One of the possible results now foreseen, he said, would be a simplification of the Liturgy and use of the vernacular language instead of the traditional Latin.

Conducting the Seminar was Mrs. J. R. Carney, of Groom, Pampa Deanery President. For discussion were the proposed revisions in the programming of the committee system of the Council of Catholic Women, as recommended by the national convention in Detroit last November.

Here, too, a simplified approach is being studied throughout the CCW.

Addressing the group during the morning session, was the Very Rev. Msgr. Francis A. Smyer, DCCW Moderator. Msgr. Smyer spoke of the increasing responsibility of the Lay Apostolate.

POLLY'S POINTERS

This Is A... Slick Job!!!

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—A good way to keep children quiet, particularly during convalescence, is to give them a piece of freezer wrapping paper and an old spoon. They love to use this as a comic transfer paper by placing the glossy side of the paper against the funnies and rubbing the plain side with a spoon.

H. R. O. Some funny papers, freezer paper and a spoon are already in my play suitcase waiting for my grandchildren's next visit.

POLLY DEAR POLLY—Weary of a clothes iron? Try wearing a right-handed golf glove when ironing. This leaves fingers free for handling the garments, yet protects the palm of the hand.

M. Baker would be at 9:15 a.m. Friday, Jan. 18 over radio station KPND.

A pie baked by Mrs. Branscum was won by Mrs. Jarvis Johnson as door prize.

Room count was won by Mrs. B. G. Gordon's fourth grade room.

The back is open for ventilation. A small pad of cotton tucked inside the palm of the glove provides additional cushioning.

L. F. DEAR POLLY—When going on a first visit to the new baby in a house where there are one or two older toddlers, deduct 50 cents or a dollar from the cost of the wee one's gift and spend it on something to take the others. This will delight them and help the mother deal with the problem of any resentment toward the new baby. Can't you hear them say, "I have a new baby brother or sister and people bring me presents, too?"

M. L. GIRLS: I think this is a wonderful idea, don't you? It reminded me of a tactful and thoughtful thing my daughter-in-law's mother did when a new baby brother was being brought home from the hospital. That grandmother bought a baby doll, all done up in its own blanket. It came home from the hospital with little brother as Kit's own baby. She loved it.

DEAR POLLY—Would you please ask the readers for some help for me? I recently purchased an antique painting on canvas that is rather dull in color. I would like to know how to brighten the colors. Any help will be appreciated.

MRS. J. E. DEAR POLLY—Last week we "made" our little son a sand box from a big old tractor tire that we got for nothing. We laid it in the back yard and filled it with a dollar's worth of sand. This kind of sandbox has no rough or sharp corners or splinters. It never needs paint though it can be painted if desired. There was no work except hauling it home and it will be easy to move when the time comes. Our 16-month-old loves it.

JIM BAKER JIM: One shiny silver dollar is on its way as a reward for sharing your ingenious idea with us. It will pay for the sand that went in your box so it's all clear.

POLLY Share your favorite homemaking ideas. Send them to Polly in care of The Pampa News. You'll receive a bright, new silver dollar if Polly uses your ideas in Polly's Pointers.

'Communism' Is Theme For Baker PTA Meet

Mrs. Lia Wills was the guest speaker for the B. M. Baker PTA unit when it met on Thursday, Jan. 10 at 2:15 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Mrs. Wills, in her message on communism, stated that, "In order for us to fight communism, we must know what it means. People who have fallen under communist rule, do not understand it and do not know what they are getting out of it, until it is too late. We of the United States do not fully realize the value of the freedoms we enjoy because we have never been without them."

Mrs. Wills further stated that the communist believe, in using force. The people are forced to attend school and to do whatever is asked of them. They sleep on cold concrete floors and usually get only one meal a day. Water is scarce and they had to walk 2 miles to bathe a little in the same water cattle use. They cannot shop in the stores as we do because there is nothing to buy and little money to buy with. The simple things and luxuries we take for granted are not theirs to enjoy.

Mrs. Wills further stated that, "Communism is spreading in the United States. They are using every means of force and propaganda they can devise to spread the communistic beliefs. We are to only what things they want us to know. If we are to keep our freedom, we must, each of us, make it our business to study their aims, learn the truths about communism and then fight it. Only by helping ourselves, can we hope to protect our nation and our children."

Mrs. Rufe Jordan used "A Recipe for Peace" as the theme of her devotional. She said, "that if we are to find the inner peace for which we are searching, we must look to the word of God."

Mrs. O. G. Ferguson, president, presided over the business portion of the meeting. Reports were given by Mrs. H. L. Engle, secretary and Lawton Branscum, treasurer.

It was announced that the next radio program to be given by B.

"Even when I remove a plate from my wall there's no mark. This proves to me the cleanliness of ELECTRIC HEATING!"

says MRS. CHARLES J. BLACK, 300 W. Cherry, Amarillo, Texas

Sandy and Candy are inseparable pals. That is, except when Sandy, 6 years old, is playing with her dolls. You can tell by her smile that she's happy in her electrically heated home.

Mr. Black, an avid hunter, is passing the benefit of his experience on to son, Chuck, age 9. Here, he instructs him in safety handling of firearms.

The den of the Black home is lined with exciting trophies, ranging from elk to antelope. Here he admires a 1958 deer that field-dressed 250 pounds, placing it in the trophy class.

Mrs. Black, and her family, are completely happy with their electric heating. Their home is, not only heated, but is also cooled by an electric heat pump. They are impressed with the over-all warmth throughout the house. Mrs. Black is particularly happy with the cleanliness of electric heating and the "wall" test she is making in the top photograph proves it. You, too, can now enjoy electric heating in your new home or you can convert your existing home with little inconvenience.

AN INDEPENDENT FREEDOM NEWSPAPER

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by any government, with the right of freedom, and that it is every man's duty to God to preserve his own liberty and respect the liberty of others. Freedom is self-control, no more, no less.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guides expressed in the Ten Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. For only when man understands freedom and is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities in harmony with the above moral principles.

Good, Hard Work

The personal stock-taking that is supposed to accompany the average American's plunge into a new year might well include the question:

Is the individual's capacity — or willingness — to do hard work, even to endure hardship if necessary in performance of duty, diminishing in this country?

As to the matter of capacity to endure hardship, Albert Biderman of the Bureau of Social Science Research, Washington, says the evidence indicates the ordinary American has plenty of it.

In a paper given before the American Association for the Advancement of Science at a Philadelphia meeting, Biderman said United States prisoners' behavior in the Korean war offers proof.

Despite highly publicized instances of American captives succumbing to suffering and to the pressures of their captors, most United States soldiers, said Biderman, showed a great ability to take it. The wonder may be that so many survived.

Any one of us can perhaps find ample evidence, too, that hard work has not exactly gone out of fashion in the United States.

Dedicated workers abound in our space and defense efforts, in many less spectacular channels of government, in professions, like the law and journalism and medicine, in industry, on the farms. The 18-hour day is still a reality in many places.

Yet there are in our life today many, many manifestations of a vastly different attitude toward work and hardship.

As scientific progress has steadily freed us from the back-breaking physical labor once necessary for the barest existence, more and more of us seem to have seized upon this liberation as a kind of permanent pass through life.

Thus some Americans have moved from the excessive ease granted by parental indulgence, to snap courses in school, to soft jobs stressing security but not challenge and responsibility.

Crime has many causes — some of them different in different periods of history. Yet one enduring cause is the desire of some to gain the fruits of labor without working. With our great material abundance providing more "fruits" than ever, this particular soft approach appeals to increasing numbers.

What many of the nonworkers seem to want is not only the material benefit but the status that, in this country, goes with having things.

The new commissioner of United States education, Francis Keppel, aimed a shaft at such people when a newsman asked him whether teachers in America deserved a higher status. He replied:

"I hold to the old-fashioned view that status should be earned."

Such a comment ought to touch a delicate nerve among Americans who think it can be bought, or stolen, or faked, or achieved by a variety of other shortcuts.

Generally speaking, we Americans no longer need to labor in the salt mines to gain the necessities. But we will be on the downhill road if really large numbers of us should ever conclude that status need not be earned, that men can live well without goals of achievement which require hard, testing, challenging work.

Multiple Printings —

Every day the FBI receives thousands of fingerprints of persons in the United States who have been newly arrested for some crime.

Altogether its files hold the prints of some 14 million individual Americans. There are, of course, many millions more from persons involved in civil offenses.

In the FBI's view the striking fact that stands out in this flood of prints is this: Of the prints coming in on criminal arrests, 8 out of 10 show "identity." That means the person involved has been arrested one or more times before on criminal charges.

Much of this country's crime, then, is the work of repeaters. Reliable general studies on how courts treat them are lacking. But a good many law enforcement officials believe they are dealt with more like pranksters than like practicing criminals.

Price Of The Option —

Nearly two-thirds of United States workers use their cars for job commuting. Only a sixth as many use various public means of transport.

These are fairly shattering figures for the advocates of increased mass transit facilities in the urban centers. On the other hand, these percentages — from the Census Bureau — give comfort to those who say we must build for the motor car today. One big argument of the latter group is that most Americans insist on having the "individual option" that goes with driving their own cars.

Anyone looking at the incredible rush-hour jams on the nation's "expressways" must wonder, however, how much that option is worth in daily annoyance and frustration.

Down South By THURMAN SENSING Nashville, Tenn.

'Big unionism' contempt for the national interest was clearly exposed late last month when the International Assn. of Machinists called a strike at the Lockheed Aircraft Co. The walkout had halted work on the Polaris missile, the nation's first line of atomic defense, and other weapons vital to American security.

The strike occurred in the same week that naval experts disclosed that the Soviet submarine strength now stands at 465 undersea craft, a number considerably in excess of the United States figure for that type. Even with this very serious fact on the record, the union persisted in its determination to disrupt defense production.

Fortunately, the country had the Taft-Hartley law (once called a "slave labor law" by union bosses) to get this vital defense operation back in business. But President Kennedy, who used this legal machinery, had himself to blame for this outrageous union action. The machinists walked out at Lockheed after they had been given support by the President's Aerospace Board — and after the Department of Defense had threatened that it would withdraw military contracts, including work on the Polaris missile, from the company. He had placed his prestige and influence behind a recommendation that the aerospace industries accept compulsory unionism.

The International Assn. of Machinists had demanded that 14,000 workers in two Lockheed divisions be polled in order to determine whether or not a majority wanted a union shop. Under the law, a union shop, once it is established, means that all workers and those employed in the future are required to join the union, whether they wish to do so or not.

Three of the major aerospace companies submitted the union shop question to a vote. In each case, the employees rejected the plan by refusing to give it the two-thirds majority specified.

Lockheed, however, declined to poll its employees. The company's management said that since the union shop was wrong in principle, it would not be a party to delivering the unwilling minority to the union. Therefore, it said they would not join in any action to determine whether any part of their work force wanted this kind of compulsion. The company said that its employees were free to join a union if they wished. But it refused to take part in an arrangement that would lock non-union members out of a job, regardless of their feelings and their skills — skills greatly needed for national defense production.

This was a stand of great integrity and courage, for which Lockheed deserves the thanks of its employees and the country at large. It should be recognized that agreement to the poll would have been easy for the company, as non-union members were likely to win out. But the company took the hard road — the road that means standing up for principle. It was industrial statesmanship of the highest order, the kind of action that is needed to hold back superstatism in this country.

The public also should be aware that the pressures on Lockheed and the non-union employees were twofold — from Big Unionism and the New Frontier. It was a typical bit of cynical ultra-liberal political action, using the prestige and influence of Big Government in an attempt to deny individual citizens rights to which they are entitled — to impose a new measure of collectivism in their lives. What we see in the Kennedy administration's support for the union stand is an attempt to curtail political favor even in a time of maximum defense needs. Obviously, the Kennedy administration puts defense second after politics.

The cooling-off period under the Taft-Hartley law means that defense production will not be halted. It also should provide time for the American people to appreciate the company's honorable stand to realize that the New Frontier is interested in rights only when these are the rights of highly organized minorities who can deliver blocks of votes on election day.

Now You Know By United Press International The earliest reference to golf in Scotland, where it is believed the game originated, is found in a decree of parliament dated March, 1457, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica. It states the government was concerned because the people were so interested in golf that the more important pursuit of archery was being neglected.

"But I Only Have Two Hands!"

Pull Up A Chair By Frank J. Markey

Now that Mistletoe has retired to the dictionary until next Christmas, it is interesting to note that its origin goes back to ancient times when its display was believed to insure good crops. Later its charms became associated with young lovers, hence kissing under the Mistletoe. The ancient Druids of Gaul in France first used it as a symbolic role in their rites, but for over 500 years the western world has used it for the Christmas-New Year holidays as a decoration.

About 40,000 people in the United States lose their sight every year thru disease and accidents. Millions of dollars are spent on eye research, says the Associated Blind, Inc., to find a cure to eradicate the various diseases that cause blindness. The parents of small children are especially warned to protect them from playing with pencils, scissors, and other sharp pointed objects. Also bottles or cans of lye, ammonia, and other strong detergents. A run or fall with these dangerous fluids and disaster often results. Adults should wear unbreakable goggles when using tools for chipping, grinding or drilling.

Headline in the Montgomery Advertiser-Journal: "New Pool-rooms Playing to Women With Pastel Walls, Music & Rugs." We hope they have installed sufficient looking glasses so the ladies can take care of their makeup, and check on their form.

Herbert Hoover was popularly credited with having called prohibition "a noble experiment," but those were not his exact words. What he did say, back in 1928, a few months before he was nominated for President, was that prohibition was "a great social and economic experiment, noble in motive and far-reaching in purpose." Today's favorite gag: MRS. NEWLYWED — "I'm worried about my dinner tomorrow night." NEIGHBOR — "What's the matter?" MRS. NEWLYWED — "Well, John said he was going out to shoot crabs tonight and I don't know the first thing about cooking them." Some gallant guy in ancient Greece once observed: "Jupiter made women beautiful and dumb—beautiful so men would love them, and dumb so they would love men."

Catch of the season: At the tender age of 29, George Washington was reputedly the richest resident of America.

A word in common usage some 30 years ago, but seldom heard today, is "gigolo." (Don't tell us they've gone out of business! Or do they have a different name for them now?) By the way, we wonder why Henry called his first mass-produced car the Model T. No one seemed to know what the "T" stood for. In the mid-1920s when Ford made the big change-over and came out with a somewhat different car, it was called Model A.

'PROTECTION'

To Keep Control, All Government Needs Enemies

By GEORGE BOARDMAN, Ph. D.

At the end of the second world war our government found itself in a superior position. True, the war had cost too much but the other belligerents were in much worse shape. The demand for consumer goods was real. If the government was willing to climb off the backs of the people business would soon be rolling in high gear. Government, of course, preferred to hang on.

Unfortunately, for government, the enemies had been dispatched. No new enemies of any real importance appeared on the horizon. Then government became busy. American tax dollars were confiscated for the support of foreign governments in every corner of the globe. A potential enemy can't do much until he is provided with the funds and the tools with which to make war. The challenges to create enemies was met by government with vim and a great deal of vigor—it inaugurated plans to help potential enemies help themselves to the earnings of decent, self respecting Americans, lawfully.

Government found it inadvisable to invite foreign governments to walk right in and help themselves — the earners might oppose such tactics, invaders might run into a little opposition and government would be passing up a good opportunity to create and staff more and more bureaus and agencies.

So, our government became Robin Hood for all of the foreign governments. Our form of government was designed as a protective device for the benefit of all of the people and it was the duty of government to create enemies from which it could protect the people. The success of this venture provides contemporary government with its only real claim to fame. No other set of rulers in the history of the world ever did such a fine job of creating enemies while working overtime at killing the will to resist in the minds and hearts of its own employees.

Never before has government created anything. Our government has achieved outstanding success in creating and arming enemies. It has achieved the ultimate in softening up the citizenry in order to create a sitting duck for any or all of the enemies of freedom, the socialist conglomerate.

Government, year after fire-some year, has conned the people into turning over to government more and more of their own responsibilities. In this month of December, 1962, government could surrender all of the people and all of the wealth of the nation to a combination of enemies and the vast majority of a once proud people would sit and watch the events on TV and tell themselves that their government probably knew what would be best for all concerned.

You see it's like this, Sir and Ma'am; Your employees in government do not need to obtain your permission or the permission of your representatives in government or the Governors of your states, to surrender your lives and your property to an enemy or to an international organization composed of the enemies created by your government. An enemy need not invade and conquer all of the people state by state and from border to border. If it was necessary for any enemy or combination of enemies to contemplate such an impossible feat, we would have no enemies.

Imagine, if you will, the consternation which would ensue if all of our enemies suddenly admitted they had no intention of trying to invade and conquer our country by force of arms, atomic, nuclear and otherwise. Think of the bureaus and agencies and government subsidized enterprises which would become unnecessary. Do you imagine for an instant that your government, your employees, those who steal, you blind and dumb have any intention of ending the cold war?

Let us be practical in the same way politicians are practical — a crisis in their bread and butter, the key to power and to election and to re-election. Have you ever known of any politician who would voluntarily give up from 20 per cent to 40 per cent of his votes for the benefit of either you or the country?

Certainly there is an answer. You will find it when you decide to stand for freedom, when you give up your share of the plunder and stand on your own two feet. When you, as an individual, begin your boycott of government.

Good luck and good health to you, in Freedom.

LOSING TEN TO ONE (Christian Economics)

During the 1950's, United States citizens invested about $250 million a year in the Latin American countries. With the coming of the socialist program of the Alliance for Progress, plus the establishment of the strong Communist base in Cuba, American investing in Latin America has declined almost to zero and Latin American capital is leaving something like ten times faster than the Alliance for Progress can pour it in.

Socialism and capitalism are opposites. They do not permanently mix. Sooner or later one will drive out the other. The policy of our government seems to be directed both in our own country and abroad, toward putting an end to the era of capitalism and bringing in a socialist economy. History shows that this will mean the end of freedom and self-government.

There is nothing in the record of socialism to make it appear attractive to intelligent people. Nevertheless, because ambitious men propagate socialism in false but easy terms, its essential principles appear to have been accepted in Washington. Even so, the people are still in control and they can correct this situation if they will arouse themselves to action. It must be prompt and decisive, however, for the zero hour is rapidly approaching.

ROBERT ALLEN

WASHINGTON — Fidel Castro is ambitiously after another big shakedown.

Apparently spurred by his resounding success in obtaining some $63 million in ransom for the Bay of Pigs prisoners, the Cuban Communist puppet ruler now has come up with a scheme to wrangle upwards of $12 million in so-called economic aid from the United Nations.

Following is what Castro has proposed in an unannounced plan submitted to Secretary General U Thant:

—$10 million to develop Cuban industry. According to the Castro proposal, Cuba is an undeveloped country and this aid would be used to "broaden its industrial base."

—$2 million from the UN Food & Agricultural Organization to provide urgently needed bolstering for Cuba's sorely lagging agriculture, which has severely deteriorated as a result of Castro regime bungling, incompetence, gross waste and mismanagement.

—UN to pay for hundreds of Soviet bloc industrial and agricultural technicians, a large number of whom already are in Cuba.

Under the prevailing UN fiscal set-up, the U.S. would finance as much as 40 per cent of this Castro program if approved.

Vigorous U.S. opposition to that is expected.

However, this has not yet been definitely decided on. President Kennedy and his advisers have discussed this backstage Cuban move, but Ambassador Adlai Stevenson is still awaiting instructions regarding it.

In transmitting it to Secretary Rusk, Stevenson took a firm stand against it.

The Cuban delegate to the UN is dropping hints Castro may personally come to New York to press his scheme. According to the delegate, Castro would like to confer with U Thant "and others."

The delegate is intimating the latter might include U.S. officials.

SCRATCH ONE — The new session of Congress has just started, but already one of President Kennedy's major legislative proposals is a lost cause.

House Democratic leaders have bluntly told him there is no chance of enacting the plan for an Urban Affairs Department if he sticks by his announced intention to name as its head Robert Weaver, director of the Housing & Home Finance Agency.

The President has indicated he will not back down on that. As a result, that means fims for his legislative project.

It was killed in the House last year, largely because of opposition to Weaver. Despite that, the President is renewing the Urban Affairs Department proposal in his State of the Union message — against the strong advice of House Democratic leaders.

Speaker McCormack, who favors the new department and voted for it, frankly told the President the votes can't be mustered to put it over. McCormack said virtually all Southern Democrats would oppose it, as they did last year.

The President was urged to announce the new department would be headed by someone other than Weaver, a Negro. Foremost among those suggested was Richardson Dilworth, former Mayor of Philadelphia who was defeated for the Senate last fall. But the President has not agreed to that.

So his long-pending plan appears dead even before being formally launched in Congress.

UNDER THE CAPITOL DOME — Senator Ted Kennedy, under the stern counseling of his brothers, the President and the Attorney General, is determinedly shying away from newsmen — with the exception of one group. These are correspondents from his home state. Young Kennedy is zealously courting them; has arranged to hold a weekly press conference for them alone. But other reporters are being kept at a cautious distance. House Republican Leader Charles Halleck, Ind., spelled out his policy for this session as follows: "We Republicans are not going to abdicate congressional responsibilities. Also, we are not going to take dictation from anyone. We are going to do what we think is best for the country."

Senator John McClellan, D-Ark., veteran head of the Rackets Investigating Committee, has his staff working on two far-reaching labor measures. One would outlaw strikes in defense industries, and the other would include all transportation unions under the provisions of the anti-trust laws. Four of the new Republican congress-

Assistant Senate Republican Leader Thomas Kuchel, Calif., brought down the house with the following quip when asked to make a one-minute speech: "After 10 years in the Senate, it's very difficult for me to make a talk of such short duration."

Capitol Hill, always intensely political, is buzzing over a widely-circulated story in the Tampa, Fla., Tribune. Written by its well-known political correspondent, Vernon Bradford, the article pointedly infers that Senator George Smathers, Fla., may be President Kennedy's choice for running mate in 1964. Wrote Bradford: "The President and his advisers are asking whether Lyndon Johnson or George Smathers would be the most helpful in wooing votes in the deep South. Smathers' friends say it is no secret that he would like to be Vice President, and that dropping Johnson from the ticket would not bring animosity from him."

Question Box

(We invite questions on economics and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

Question: "Can unnatural division of labor be harmful?"

Since we realize that division of labor that benefits both parties in the division greatly increases production and benefits everybody, it is possible that we overlooked the fact that some kinds of division of labor can be unnatural and harmful. And by "unnatural" we mean division of labor that retards and confuses and frustrates the development of either party. It might be thought, for the moment, that it is beneficial, but a real division of labor that is beneficial must be accumulative and help both parties develop their faculties to the utmost.

Now let's mention a few cases of division of labor that are harmful.

It is harmful for the parents to divide labor and do things for their children that their children could do for themselves. It is harmful for them to give their children too much, that is, to try to give them an education, because no one can give another person an education, any more than one can breathe for another person or digest another person's food or think for another person. All they can do is try to stimulate them and call their attention to things that will be useful to them. But the individual will have to use his own mind if he is to develop.

The most harmful kind of division of labor is where one party decides to let the other party do his thinking for him.

Employers, parents and governments can be paternalistic and interfere with the development of the child or the adult or the employee. The employer is largely responsible for a lot of our improper division of labor. In order for the employers to attempt to plan the lives for their employees and take care of them indefinitely, they have to reduce what they should be paying them. They, thus, interfere with the men using their own minds and developing their own faculties.

Such things as pensions, unemployment insurance and severance pay are paternalistic and are harmful to both parties. Both parties in any agreement must believe that they are benefited, and they must be benefited by using their faculties to the utmost.

As the late Isabel Paterson said, most of our trouble comes from good, conscientious people. A good people who try to divide labor, where one of the parties is relieved of self reliance, are hunting those they want to help instead of helping them.

Yes, labor can be divided unnaturally. And one of our troubles is that we have divided it unnaturally too often.

Austrian Actress Maria Perschy Latest Hollywood Foreign Import

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Austrian actress Maria Perschy is the latest foreign import to reach Hollywood and if there's more where she came from filmland's scouts will be Europe bound shortly after seeing her. Miss Perschy is here under contract to producer Howard Hawks, a man whose last name implies a sharp eye. In Howard's case, his eyes are always on the lookout for movie queens. Over the years the veteran filmmaker has been associated with such glamorous actresses as Lauren Bacall, Rita Hayworth, Jon Collins, Angie Dickinson, Elsa Martinelli and the late Carole Lombard. Having produced pictures starring leading ladies, Hawks has a good idea about what constitutes a film beauty. Miss Perschy was born in Eisenstadt, Austria, studied in Vienna and later made her motion picture debut in a German film, one which fell far short of making her an overnight sensation. Audiences were led to expect too much from her, the outspoken Maria said. Hudson, Her Costar For her first American film, Maria has been cast in Hawks' production of 'Man's Favorite Sport,' in which she costars with Rock Hudson. There are few leading men like Hudson around Hollywood and Miss Perschy's appearance with him is certain to put her in front of a large audience. Maria is a blonde girl with blue eyes, one who dresses in bright, colorful clothes. Sitting in the dressing room at Universal International before work, she wore green ski style slacks, a red knit sweater and pink and white blouse. But despite her smiling and happy demeanor, she admits to being somewhat frightened of Hollywood. Her main fear centers around a false star buildup such as the one which accompanied her first German film. Roy Rogers Cancelled But He May Be Back Next Fall

By JOSEPH FINNIGAN UPI Hollywood Correspondent HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Roy Rogers' television show has been cancelled but the popular cowboy star may be restored to vido's western ranges next fall. 'They cancelled us after only four or five shows,' Roy said. 'Then the show kept crawling up and we ended with a high rating. Roy's show was on ABC's Saturday night schedule against such formidable opposition as CBS-TV's Jackie Gleason series. Against such opposition, Rogers and anybody else would have trouble. Rogers said his high ratings, unfortunately recorded after the cancellation gate had closed, impressed network bosses and they want him back next fall. 'ABC called us and want to repeat the shows for this summer,' he said. 'They also want to talk about another show for the fall.' Uncertain About Future Rogers is not certain about future plans, or whether he will do another weekly show. 'I'm going to think about that,' said Roy. 'Nobody likes to be cancelled. We're not signing for 13 weeks in a row. The western star feels that a long network commitment would have given his show more of a chance to prove itself. Rogers' producer and agent for 23 years, Art Rush, said Roy's fans were quick to respond to their cowboy's cancellation. 'We've had a tremendous amount of mail flowing into this office,' Rush said. 'We just got 17 boxes of mail, thousands of letters protesting the cancellation. This is happening on the show's own merits.' Rogers, a religious man who is active in church work, had a family-type show, one which occasionally contained a message. 'If we can't get up and speak our piece, I'd just as soon not go on television,' Roy said before the show went on. 'I just believe in God bless America. 'We really need something and I know what it is. People are so wrapped up in making a fast buck that they have gotten away from God.' Should Rogers return to television, he doesn't intend to change his attitude in that regard. 'If we go on next year that message will be in there,' he said. 'People get so far away from what our country was founded on that they don't know what's going on. 'We're not preaching to anybody we're just telling people the way we feel about it. We can stand a lot more flag waving.'

'Go Away Little Girl' Still Tops

CHICAGO (UPI) — Steve Lawrence's recording of 'Go Away Little Girl' this week continued in the top spot in United Press International's ratings of the nation's top 20 tunes. 'Telstar' by the Tornados still held down the second position despite the surge of the Rooftop Singers' rendition of 'Walk Right In.' The latter leaped from 14th last week to third place in the latest poll. 'The Night Has A Thousand Eyes' by Bobbie Vee moved up from sixth place to fourth. Paul Peterson and 'My Dad' slumped from third to fifth, and 'Hey Paula' and Paul was sixth this week. 'It's Up To You' by Rick Nelson was seventh, Marcia Blaine's 'Bobby's Girl,' eighth, the Drifters' 'Up on the Roof,' ninth, and Chubby Checker's 'Limbo Rock and Popeye' 10th. Here are this week's top 20 tunes, with their standings last week and the number of weeks in the top 20: 1. (1-5) Go Away Little Girl. Steve Lawrence. Columbia. 2. (2-9) Telstar. Tornados. London. 3. Amarillo LT Selects Its Next Play

AMARILLO (Spl) — A merry, mad comedy about a wacky Manhattan family whose members do exactly as they please, has been chosen by the Amarillo Little Theatre, as their next presentation, to open at the Amarillo Little Theatre for a performance engagement January 23 through January 26. This is "You Can't Take It With You," the Broadway hit by George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart, which presents the world's most rugged individualists... the daffy Sycamore family. A double prize winner, "You Can't Take It With You" captured the Pulitzer Prize as the best play of its season, and won the Academy Award when it was converted into a movie. It is being repeated by the Amarillo Little Theatre by popular request, and is the first of two Kaufman and Hart comedies being presented by the local theatre this season, the second being, "George Washington Slept Here," which will be presented in March. George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart have collaborated on many of the great American stage comedies hits, including "The Man Who Came to Dinner" and "Once in a Lifetime." The Amarillo Little Theatre's presentation of "You Can't Take It With You" is being directed by Neil Hess, assisted by Betty Jane Husted, who have cast Dolly Lynch as Penelope; Celia Gaines as Essie; Darleen Russell as Rhelba; Dalton B. Myers as Paul; James M. Bailey as Mr. de Pinna; Chuck Everett as Ed; C. E. Colgate as Martin Vanderhof; Camille Hess as Alice; Dan Butz as Henderson; Bill Harkins as Tony Kirby; Hugh Baird as Boris Kolonkhov; Jeanne Hirsch as Gay Wellington; Jack Rich as Mr. Kirby; Nita Krupp as Mrs. Kirby; Doc Stewart, Hank Hughes and Dan Butz as the Three Men; Margaret Baird as Olga.

J. R. Martin Suggestion Given Award

James R. Martin, Instrument Mechanic at the Cabot Corporation, Pampa Plant, is the first employee to receive an award for a suggestion submitted under the new Plant Value Analysis Suggestion System.

His suggestion covered the development of a new type alarm switch for a flow meter which will be used on plant pneumatic conveyors. Awards under the new program are based on their value to the company as well as merit. As the switch has many possibilities, James may receive an additional award should it prove beneficial in its adaptation to other uses. The amount of the second award will be based on the value of the suggestion to the Company.

Martin is a seventeen year veteran with Cabot and resides with his wife Rosetta and their two daughters, Pamela and Karla, at 408 North Nelson in Pampa.

FPC Is Investigating Natural Gas Refunds

By HARRY WILSON SHARPE
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's 34 million natural gas consumers should know soon whether they are getting a fair shake on millions of dollars of rate refunds ordered by the Federal Power Commission.

The answer will be provided by replies to a questionnaire the commission sent to 674 gas companies in 38 states and the District of Columbia early last month. The responses are due next week. Some already have been received. But there will be no report on the result until the FPC staff thoroughly analyzes them.

Among things the commission wants to know is whether some local distributors are keeping the refunds instead of passing them on; whether interstate rate cuts ordered by the FPC are being reflected in the local distributor's current rates; and what happens to refunds for consumers who have died, moved away, or can't be located.

The composite answer could influence some of the commission's future rate decisions. A spokesman told UPI that a pipeline company whose customers have been derelict in making refunds could not expect too sympathetic treatment when it applies for a rate increase.

Refunds Refund Procedure

As another part of the project, the FPC staff is reviewing to what extent pipelines under commission jurisdiction are passing along to state distributors the refunds which the commission ordered gas producers to make to them.

Cooperating in the extraordinary venture is the National Association of Railroad and Utilities Commissioners (NARUC). This organization is composed primarily

Attorneys To Study Oil, Gas And Taxation

Attorneys from six states and the District of Columbia will address the fourteenth annual institute on the law of oil, gas and taxation at the Southwestern Legal Center during February, according to Boyd Taylor, Pampa attorney.

Taylor, Foundation resident representative, said that the institute will be held February 6-8 and will be presented by the International Oil and Gas Educational Center.

Subjects to be reviewed are: Proration of gas—the gordian knot; FPC excursion into new regulatory fields; effect of Natural Gas Act upon gas sales contracts; legal problems in connection with gas processing; oil well or gas well — what difference does it make? and oil pipe lines — significant laws, regulations and legal problems.

Informal oil and gas deals—unjust enrichment; status of joint venturing business combinations short of actual mergers under the antitrust laws; the lessor, lessee, and the income tax; tax problems related to unitizations; tax and financial aspects of equipment leasing — relative true costs of purchase vs. leasing; charitable foundations and their oil and gas transactions and recent federal income tax developments relating to oil and gas.

A panel discussion regarding professional consideration of the tax advisor will also be held.

JACK E. CUMMINGS ... fallout consultant

Cummings Will Be Speaker For Engineer Meet

Jack E. Cummings, Civil Engineer on the Plant Design Staff of Mason & Hanger-Silas Mason Co., Inc., will be the featured speaker of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, Panhandle Chapter, on January 21, at the Top-O-Village in Amarillo. The social hour is scheduled to begin at 6:30 p.m. with dinner at 7:15 p.m., followed by Cummings' address.

Cummings graduated from the University of Texas in 1954 with a Bachelor of Science Engineering degree. He is a registered professional engineer; a member of Tau Beta Pi, honorary engineering fraternity, and Chi Epsilon, honorary civil engineering fraternity.

Immediately following his graduation from the University of Texas in 1954 he was employed by the Gulf Oil Company at its Port Arthur refinery. From there he was appointed director of design and construction for the Venezuela Gulf Refining Co. at Puerto la Cruz. Cummings has been employed by Mason & Hanger-Silas Mason Co., Inc., engineers and contractors, since 1961.

Cummings attended the Department of Defense Fallout Shelter Analysis School at Port Hueneme, Calif., for a two-week course sanctioned by the Atomic Energy Commission. He is presently fallout consultant to all plants of the Mason & Hanger-Silas Mason Co., Inc., complex.

Cummings, his wife Elizabeth, and three children — Cheryl, 7, Linda, 6, and Frank, 3 — reside in Amarillo and are members of the First Baptist Church there.

Story About Pampans In Magazine

Reprinted here is a story which appeared in the Humble Energy Marketer concerning Enco distributors, Mr. and Mrs. Sharon Haralson of Pampa:

Haralson Prospers
In Pampa
Sharon Haralson, 20-year veteran with another company, switched to Humble products almost a year ago. He is continuing to support the fine reputation already established by Humble in the Pampa, Texas area.

Here again, a good chunk of business came along with the man. Haralson makes heavy sales to machine shops, military ordnance, pumping units, a carbon black plant, a celanese plant, and other industry. Oil and big volumes of gasoline, Rust-Ban, Corxit and Brexite, are profitable items.

A good farming business, backed by strong service station sales, rounds out the picture. Haralson is convinced that this diversified sales pattern is necessary to a strong economy.

With some of the nation's finest wheat land in the area, the outlook can see dollar marks everywhere he looks. This balanced selling effort is also blessed with a stable price picture. Farming and industrial sales, combined, just about match retail sales.

Prospects for growth are excellent. With the Canadian River Dam near Borger scheduled to furnish industrial use water for Borger, Amarillo, Lubbock and Pampa by 1967, business should keep improving steadily.

Long time residence in the area (Haralson has lived there since 1935) has given ample opportunity for becoming acquainted with people. Haralson's wife, Martha, who keeps his books for him, has lived there nearly as long.

Texas Oil Info Group Sets Meet

DALLAS — Oil men and women who provide leadership for the Texas oil and gas industry's public information and service program will meet in Dallas, Jan. 17, at the annual meeting of the Texas Oil Information Committee.

OIC state chairman A. O. Saenger, Houston, said approximately 80 OIC leaders from over Texas would be present for the one-day session, including those who have primary responsibility for the community, school, and employee information phases of the industry's public relations program.

OIC, which functions through the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association, will explore methods of providing more effective services to Texas communities and examine major issues that have a bearing on the oil and gas industry's governmental and public affairs, Saenger said.

A highlight of the meeting will be the presentation of Outstanding Performance Awards to 10 committees for their work in carrying out the industry's public relations program. Awards will be presented by OIC executive vice-chairman, J. A. Horner, Houston, president, Shell Pipe Line Corporation.

Headquarters for the OIC gathering will be the Statler Hilton Hotel.

of state regulatory agencies which keep intra-state gas rates in line. Only four states don't have such agencies but distributors within their borders, also were queried by the FPC.

The questionnaire applies to refunds dating from July 1, 1961. Since then, the commission has ordered pipelines to rebate to their customers more than $240 million, including interest.

But do the ultimate consumers benefit fully, as provided by law?

FPC Chairman Joseph C. Swidler and his four commission colleagues want the answer.

One of their major concerns is what becomes of money which can't be refunded because the consumer has died or moved to another city. Because of big population shifts, this alone involves many millions of dollars.

Flight Rate Pyramiding

It also is one reason why the commission has fought so-called rate pyramiding under which a pipeline company collects millions of dollars subject to refund, until the commission has approved or rejected its rate increases.

Some of these cases have required years for disposal. By the time they are acted upon finally, thousands of consumers who had to pay the higher rates have died, moved, or vanished.

In ordering the inquiry, Swidler said: "The study will provide the FPC with information relating to the discharge of its statutory obligation to regulate transportation and sale for resale of natural gas in interstate commerce in a manner consistent with the congressional purpose of protecting the ultimate consumer."

The questionnaire also asked the distributors what method they use in making refunds, the amounts passed on by either credits to gas bills or through purchased gas adjustment clause, other type of refunds, and the scheduled date of completion of refunds still being made.

States where refunds have been made are Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, North Carolina, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Nebraska, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, West Virginia, Wisconsin, and Wyoming.

There is no state regulation in Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska and South Dakota.

Railroaders Seeing A 'Ray Of Hope' Now

Railroads — A Ray of Hope?

EDITOR'S Note: The famed "Iron Horse," once the backbone of U.S. transportation, has become a self-described sickly giant. Nevertheless, the railroads now profess to see a ray of light in the financial overcast. The following story tells why.

By JOHN HERBERS
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite growing financial problems, America's railroads appear to be winning a labor-management struggle which they hope will bring dividends in the future.

The railroads have chalked up preliminary victories over the opposition of organized labor in three important areas:

— Through a series of rulings by the courts and presidential emergency boards, they are slowly gaining the right to lay off workers they say are no longer needed because of automation, consolidations and abandonment of service.

Rail Mergers Okeyed

— The Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) has approved the first of a series of requests for major rail mergers and is expected to go along with others.

— The railroads' pooling of their resources against strikes, begun in 1959, is paying off and was recently upheld in a court decision.

The railroads say all three steps are necessary for their survival in a rapidly changing society. More than 20 railroad unions formally opposing these steps say the railroads are better off than they will admit and are being short sighted in seeking to reduce operations.

"Strike Insurance" Upheld

Last month, the U.S. District Court in New York upheld the "strike insurance" plan adopted in 1959 by the American Association of Railroaders. The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen chal-

Drilling In Fall Below Last Year

AUSTIN (UPI)—Regular drillers fell below last year's pace with only 123 oil and 33 gas well completions reported for the week, the Texas Railroad Commission said Saturday.

For the new year's early totals, regular drillers have to date 240 oil and 60 gas completions compared with 366 oil and 82 gas completions at this time in 1952.

Wildcaters had a sluggish week also with only one oil find and six gas finds. The oil find was in the San Angelo district. Gas finds were two each in the Houston and Corpus Christi districts and one each in the Refugio and Kilgore districts.

Regular drillers had 140 dry holes for the week, wildcaters had 59.

The average calendar allowable increased 1,751 barrels to 2,729,360. A total of 7,629 fields was reported.

A drilling crew is sinking a wildcat well into an 11,000-foot mountain in Colorado and if it strikes oil, according to Oil Facts, it will be the world's highest producing well. Oil Facts, published by the American Petroleum Institute, reports that current plans call for the well to reach 9,500 feet into the mountain. At that point, the bottom of the well would still be more than 1,000 feet above sea level.

OSCAR ROLE? — Peter O'Toole, Ireland's talented contribution to the silver screen, plays the greatest role of his career in the new film, "Lawrence of Arabia." The stature of his work, it is considered, will place him in the forefront of Oscar candidates.

SAFE DRIVERS — J. L. Best, area engineer, left, and M. W. Shumate, a gathering system operator in the Pampa area of Phillips Petroleum Company's natural gas department, Panhandle district, were presented with safe driving awards recently for driving a company vehicle 100,000 miles without an accident. Best resides at 2231 Mary Ellen, Pampa. Shumate is a resident of Pampa Camp, Rt. 2, Pampa.

Organization Is Forming After 'Ole Miss' Case

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — Mrs. James Peaster, president of Mississippi Women for Constitutional Government, announced today that this conservative, non-partisan organization will organize on a national scale at a meeting to be held Thursday, January 17 in Montgomery.

Mrs. Russell H. Carter of Montgomery is General Chairman for the meeting.

Mrs. Florence Sillers Ogden of Rosedale, Mississippi, widely known columnist whose newspaper appeal sparked the origin of Women for Constitutional Government, will be the featured speaker.

Women for Constitutional Government began at a spontaneous indignation meeting in Jackson following the use of Federal troops at the University of Mississippi. At this meeting a Bill of Grievances was read and enthusiastically adopted by more than 1500 women who attended, representing nine different states.

Now She Can Walk

Diane Hayes, 6, can run and play today even though at one time she could not walk because of crippling rheumatoid arthritis. Improvement was brought about by treatment supervised by Dr. Jane Borges shown examining Diane at the March of Dimes-financed Arthritis Special Treatment Center at the Home for Crippled Children, Pittsburgh, Pa. Now marking its 25th anniversary, The National Foundation-March of Dimes nationwide program is dedicated to aiding victims of crippling birth defects, arthritis and polio through the best in scientific research and medical care.

Kennedy's Press Secretary, The Press 'Cross Swords'

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Since President Kennedy won the 1960 election, there has been a theory in certain schools of opposition political thought that some reporters assigned to the White House are admirers of the administration.

Holders of this theory would have been rudely jolted last week to have heard snatches of conversation in the office of press secretary Pierre Salinger. There were times when journalists seemed to apply forceps rather than questions to the normally jolly Salinger. At intervals, starting about noon and extending until dusk, the press secretary turned gray of face, sputtered, defended or slumped resignedly. In short, Salinger was a detectably unhappy man.

His problem was this: British newspapers, apparently with encouragement if not permission from a policy-level official within the White House, had printed verbatim quotations from President Kennedy's theoretically quotable, non-attributable Dec. 31 "background" conference in Palm Beach, Fla. There were 35 reporters at the Palm Beach meeting, including representatives of two British newspapers who got in by virtue of their American citizenship.

The Times of London and the Sunday Times, two different British publications of immense prestige in the United Kingdom, were not represented in Palm Beach.

Their Washington men, however, along with an undetermined number of other foreign reporters, were shown transcripts of Kennedy's Palm Beach remarks at the State Department.

The State Department was moved to widen the scope of Kennedy's semi-private remarks because of undesirable European reaction to certain dispatches from Florida.

These European versions resulted from second-hand knowledge of what had been said at Palm Beach, and apparently overly free interpretation of original accounts in American newspapers.

It was after such European stories which made Kennedy seem determined to boss the Western alliance that the State Department, with White House assent, decided to call in selected foreign reporters. The Palm Beach admonition applied—not direct quotation, no direct attribution.

Kennedy Quotes
One of the men, representing the daily Times of London, used two paragraphs of actual Kennedy quotes.

Henry Brandon of the Sunday Times, so the British reporters say, rang up his friend, McGeorge Bundy, at the White House. McBundy is special assistant to the President for national security matters.

What Brandon wanted was permission to quote directly from sections of the President's remarks having to do with Kennedy's views of U. S. leadership in the Western alliance and the President's determination to forge ahead with the realization that U. S. policies might not always be popular with old friends overseas.

Brandon heard no objections from his White House contact, but was asked to check back with the State Department. In any case, when the Daily Times, without permission, quoted the President directly on Jan. 5, Brandon said "I then queried and got the okay."

When copies of the Jan. 5 story and Brandon's Jan. 6 column arrived here Thursday, they angered regular White House reporters who were at Palm Beach and who had obeyed Salinger's request that the President's remarks be attributed without quotation to "friends and associates."

Reporters Angry
There was one rather long and sometimes acrid session in Salinger's office. He was without publishable reaction to this simple inquiry: Why should the American people have to learn from President said to American re-

British newspapers what the President said to American reporters?

There was no immediate answer from Salinger, but he busied himself. Then, in the early afternoon, he released a section of the Dec. 31 transcript which had been covered in the Brandon column.

Reporters for Agence France Presse, the French news agency, then had an idea. Since Salinger was releasing the verbatim Kennedy remarks dealing extensively with Britain and the alliance, the French also wanted to print what Kennedy said about France and President Charles de Gaulle.

Salinger denied their request. This put the French down on the curious level of American reporters who could quote the President directly only to the extent that the British had done it: several days before.

There was keen displeasure at the White House about the London stories of Jan. 5 and 6; even greater displeasure that American reporters had the temerity to bring up the subject.

Furthermore, the President was happy about his year-end review on television in mid-December: his favored and only vehicle for summing up.

Real Estate Board Sets Installation

The annual installation banquet of the Pampa Real Estate Board will be held at the Pampa Country Club January 17 at 7:30 p.m. Hugo H. Loewenstern, realtor in Amarillo and the 1962 Realtor of the year in Texas, will be guest speaker. Anyone wanting reservations to this night meeting should call Velma Lewter at MO 9-9865. The next regular business meeting of the board will be held Monday, Jan. 21, at noon in the Coronado Inn.

Mrs. Genevieve Henderson was elected president of the Pampa Real Estate Board for 1963 at the annual meeting on December 3, 1962. Mrs. Henderson will be the first woman ever elected president in the history of the board. Mrs. Henderson is associated with Quentin Williams, Realtor, and has been connected with the real estate business for about eight years.

Other officers elected for 1963 are: First Vice President, Jim Brown of Panhandle Insurance Agency; Second Vice President, Joe Fischer of Joe Fischer Insurance Agency; Secretary, Mrs. Mary Clyburn of John Lee Bell Realty Co.; and Treasurer, Mrs. Velma Lewter of Quentin Williams Realtor. Elected to the Board of Directors for 1963 are Jim Dailey, Roy Sparkman, and past president Bill Duncan.

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI) — R. E. Buchsbaum of W. E. Hutton & Co. says early 1963 is shaping up as a stock market stalemate. The most sought after issues have been bid up to prices where they are no longer outstandingly attractive on a price-earnings basis and the majority of the laggards still involve a large question mark, he says.

Assuming nothing unforeseen is injected, the next major move could be determined by what takes place in the first two or three weeks of the new year. Buchsbaum says. "It is always a good sign if the December high can be bettered in January. On the other hand, there is discouragement if it is not."

Bache & Co. now interprets the failure of the industrial average to join with rails and utilities in establishing new recovery peaks as "a distinct technical warning signal." However, as long as the industrial average stays above 640.14 the house says it cannot completely rule out the possibility of a new recovery high being achieved by the senior average and this would change the picture.
