Hauptmann's Appeal Carried To U.S. Supreme Court

WILL FIGHT MANDAMUS PLEA, JUDGE ASSERTS

Matter of Employing Counsel Is Debated

County Judge J. S. Garlington, against whom a mandamus suit is pending, will fight the case when it comes up for hearing Friday before the 11th District Court of Civil Appeals in Eastland.

He said as much Monday. Just what course his defense will take, he could not say, adding that such matters would be left up to his counsel.

To the question of whether he would be present for the hearing he answered emphatically: "You bet I will."

Monday, when the regular meeting of the commissioners court was convened, Judge Garlington asked the court if it would advance money to employ counsel for the county judge and to pay expenses. The matter was tabled after a brief discussion and was to be brought before the court again Tuesday afternoon for a decision.

Inquiries by the commissioners indicated the issue upon which they would decide the matter was whether the mandamus was public or private business.

Judge Garlington declined to say what his defense against the mandamus petition would be, preferring to leave that up to his attorney when one is retained. "If I am sick," he illustrated, "I get a doctor and I either take the medicine he prescribes or fire him."

He reaffirmed his position as concerns the condemnation proceedings against L. E. Coleman at all out of which the mandamus petition grew when he refused to appoint three special commissioners to appraise damages occurring to Coleman, et al by reason of Highway No. 1 passing through property just east inside the city limits.

The judge said he objected to paying too great a price for the right-of-way, since to do so would "take all the money we want to put on lateral or farm-to-market roads." He went on to say that Big Spring must have farm-to-market roads if it is to be a greater city.

As concerns his request for funds with which to employ counsel, he argued that was watching out for the county's interest and was therefore engaged in public business.

A unique angle to the case is that the county, according to a prior understanding, had agreed to reimburse the city of Big Spring for expenses incurred in procuring the small strip of right-of-way involved. The mandamus suit, of course, is considered as part of the expense.

Youth Killed Under Train Near Stanton

Falls Off Freight Car, Companion Narrowly Escapes Mishap

Jack Alloy, about 19, Houston, was killed instantly at 5 a. m. Tuesday, 2 1/4 miles east of Stanton when he fell between two cars underneath the wheels of a west-bound Texas & Pacific freight train.

His head and a portion of his left shoulder were severed from his body.

Mitt Yater, Martin county sheriff, investigating the mishap, found the head and shoulders on the tracks and the body on the grade embankment.

George Emory, Oklahoma City, and Bernard Swatek, Chicago, Ill., who were with Alloy at the time he fell, said they were riding between two freight cars. Swatek said that he was nearly pulled under the train by Alloy when he fell.

Sheriff Yater said that he believed the heavy frost covering this area Monday night had numbed Alloy, and he finally lost his grip. The trio was riding on the coupling.

Alloy's companions notified the train crew of the accident and the train was stopped in Stanton and Yater notified.

Emory and Swatek said they were en route to California. They had boarded the train in Big Spring.

The victim's father was reached Tuesday morning and told Sheriff Yater that he would start immediately for Big Spring where the body was to be brought Tuesday afternoon.

Italy Warns Of A Battle On Sanctions

Penalties Constitute A True Act Of Hostility, Duce Says

(By The Associated Press) Italy Tuesday implied a threat to withdraw from the league of nations and warned all nations participating in sanctions against her that such participation constitutes a "true act of hostility, amply justifying in inevitable Italian counter-measures."

The warning was included in a lengthy protest against the economic sanctions, which also included demands for information regarding the nature of measures intended to make the penalties effective.

Premier Mussolini ordered an embargo on the importation of 197 products except under government supervision.

A copy of the order was given the United States for information. The attitude of France and England toward the sanctions program was reported unchanged, and the nations were thought to be drafting similar replies to the protest.

On the war front, Italian scouts reported that Ethiopians have a quarter-million warriors ready for battle.

Preparing to drive from Maleale, the Italians moved more divisions to the front line. Adis Ababa expected a major battle on the northern front this week-end. Ras Seyoum's northern army was in readiness for an attempt to halt the invasion.

Decision On Case Seen By December 23

If Review Granted, Arguments Would Be Heard Early Next Year

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—Bruno Richard Hauptmann today appealed to the United States supreme court to save him from the electric chair for the kidnaping and murder of the Lindbergh baby.

Trial A "Circus"

Egbert Rosenkrans, Hauptmann's counsel, asked a new trial, claiming that the conviction after a trial resembling a "circus" was in violation of the German carpenter's constitutional rights.

The appeal alleged the presence of Col. Charles Lindbergh, the "inflammatory summation" presented by state's attorneys and the "hysterical mob spirit" unduly influenced the Flemington, N. J., jury.

Ruling Dec. 23

It was believed probable that the court would announce on Dec. 23 whether it would review the New Jersey conviction. If a review is granted, arguments probably would be heard in February or March, and final decision would come a few weeks thereafter.

The appeal was based largely on the same arguments which had been presented to the New Jersey court of errors and appeals, which on Oct. 9 upheld the Hauptmann death sentence. That court held that the claim Hauptmann's constitutional rights were violated was without merit.

Meeting Called For Tonight On Cubbing Program

Parents of boys from 9 to 11 years are invited to a meeting to be held tonight at 7:30 at the East Ward school building for the purpose of explaining cubbing, a program for boys of pre-scout age.

The cubbing idea centers around the natural backyard gang and attempts to give this play proper supervision and to avoid dangers that can arise at this age.

A good representation of parents is necessary if the program is to become a success, and all parents of boys of this age are urged to attend. Plans will then be made for a training school to start at an early date.

The service was attended by members of the congregations from Loraine, Midland, and Sparenberg, as well as the local flock.

The Midland, Loraine, Hymen and Wink congregations are also in charge of Mr. Graalmann.

Mr. Graalmann arrived in Big Spring last week from his home at Fort Dodge, Iowa, to accept the pastorate of the church, left vacant by the resignation of the Rev. W. G. Buchsacher who went to Temple in September.

The service was attended by members of the congregations from Loraine, Midland, and Sparenberg, as well as the local flock.

Officials Here To Explain Operation Of Securities Act

B'Spring Men Given Terms

D. Leon Harp, securities commissioner for the state of Texas, and E. B. Bynum, Jr., field representative for the securities commission, will be in Big Spring all this week to contact oil lease and royalty dealers and to acquaint them with their status under the new state securities act.

Headquarters are being maintained at the Sottles hotel.

Under the state securities law, Harp explained Tuesday, an oil instrument is held as a security, and that all dealers in oil instruments must apply for registration with the state commission. Applications will be received here by the two officials.

"The securities commission states," said Harp, "that the definition of securities includes any certificate or any instrument representing any interest in or under an oil, gas or mining lease, fee or title. This includes unit interest, development contracts, leases, deeds, assignments, and any other form of oil instrument."

Harp said that owing to the fact that the securities law is new and no representatives of the commission have been in this territory heretofore, no criminal prosecutions will be started until after all dealers are well acquainted with their status under the act. However, any report of fraudulent practice or unethical dealings will be prosecuted, the official said.

Investigators already are in this immediate territory, Harp said, and as the different oil lease dealers are contacted, "cease and desist" restraining orders will be issued against those dealers who fail to register.

Senate Votes Income And Sales Levies

Must Concur In Action Of The House Or Benefits Delayed 90 Days

AUSTIN, Nov. 12. (AP)—The Texas house today adopted a resolution to the old age pension bill effective immediately on approval by the governor, but the senate delayed action. Failure of the measure to get a two-thirds majority in the senate on adoption of the conference report means delaying operation of the program for 90 days after the session ends.

One Per Cent Sales Tax

Senators passed a one per cent selective sales tax which must be passed directly to the purchaser, and adopted an income tax last night. These measures replaced the house omnibus tax bill.

The sales tax would be levied on all purchases of over 50 cents except some "necessities" like cheap clothing, food and life insurance.

The income tax measure was voted 21 to 9. Senator Gordon Burns, the author, estimated it would yield between $7,000,000 and $10,000,000 for old age pensions exclusively.

Money As Pensions

Senator Clint Small of Amarillo, author of the sales tax, estimated it would raise $10,000,000 annually and that occupation tax increases also contained in it would raise $3,000,000 more.

It would also re-assign proceeds from cigarette, oil, sulphur, beer and liquor taxes, giving a larger portion to the general fund.

Small estimated about $7,500,000 would be provided for payment of pensions.

The levy on incomes of individuals would range from one per cent on $1,000 and one and one-fourth per cent on $2,000 to six per cent on $11,000 and seven per cent in excess of that amount.

Corporations would be required to pay two per cent on $1,000, graduated upward to five per cent on $5,000 and six per cent in excess of that figure.

A single individual's income of $1,000 would be exempt; married person, $2,000, and $200 for each dependent. Burns said other exemptions for individuals and corporations were similar to those in the federal income tax law.

Cold Damages Much Of Crop

Full Extent Of Freeze Loss Can Not Be Determined Now

Just how much damage was caused by the freezing temperatures of Monday and the heavy frost Tuesday morning remained a matter of conjecture Tuesday afternoon as the weather continued fair and warmer.

W. H. Cardwell, 3 miles north of Big Spring, brought in several bolls which appeared to be ruined by the heavy frost. He estimated that 25 per cent of the cotton had been damaged.

While some said the Carwell estimate held good on their farms, most farmers believed that the damage had not been so heavy on their places.

County Agent O. P. Griffin admitted that the frost and freeze had ruined seedless, sappy bolls but expressed the opinion that weather for the next three weeks would tell the tale for cotton. He believed that most of the cotton apparently ruined by the cold snap likely would not have made regardless.

Late feed, said Griffin, after talking to several farmers, was laid low by the frost while older stuff would stand for several days. Most of the earlier feed has already been cut.

Should estimates of a 25 per cent damage hold good for a county average, it is possible that the Howard county 1935 cotton crop may be reduced to about 12,000 bales.

STEERS, CATS WAGE DESPERATE BATTLE TO SCORELESS TIE

Around And About

The Sports Circuit

By Tom Beasley

IF THE Steers get another shot at the Bobcats, and at this writing (Tuesday morning) it appears that they will, it will be a great relief to the boys who wagered even money.

BIG SPRING should stand a good chance of taking the Bobcats on their own field. The Bobcats now feel that they can take the Steers into camp by at least two touch-down margins on the Concho gridiron. The local contingent is due a better game. Offensively, they failed to get to first base yesterday. Cordill, who called the first half, realized that the team wasn't making much headway and put Flowers to work chanting the signals. But Sam did little better.

THE CLUBS showed some real defensive football. What we need now is a spark to get the kids going down the field. Blocking was far from being what it should have been.

CORDILL, WHO wore a special pad to protect his injured side, never got started. He was not in peak condition, and won't likely be a wonder boy if the Cats and Steers meet again Saturday. But Cordill was well marked. Coach Taylor had been drilling those Bobcats to stop Olie.

LOCAL TEAM OUTPLAYED IN FRACAS

Over Five Thousand Shivering Fans On Hand For Tussle

The Bobcats of San Angelo high school and the Big Spring Steers waged a desperate defensive battle here Monday afternoon before five thousand shivering fans, winding up in a scoreless tie.

The invading Cats outplayed the Herd in first downs, yardage and penetrations, but made only one scoring threat. It was the only time during the game the visitors got close to the Steer pay-off stripe. The Steers never reached the Bobcat twenty.

San Angelo made two penetrations of the Big Spring twenty yard line, once in the second period and again in the fourth stanza.

A fumble saved the Big Spring team in the second period. With Ray as the spearhead of the attack, the Bobcats started a drive from deep in their own territory. Ray, the smallest back on the field but one of the best, made one gain of fifteen yards but most of the yardage was made a little bit at a time on off-tackle plays.

A Steer miscue on the Big Spring 25 let the Bobcats keep possession of the ball and Ray finally made a first down on the Steer thirteen. Hays had fumbled once or twice for the Bobcats on the drive but managed to recover.

On the first attempt to carry the ball from the thirteen, Ray was hit hard and fumbled, Flowers pouncing on the ball for Big Spring. Cordill kicked to Ray on the fifty. Most of the game was played in Big Spring territory, and the Cats made six first downs to one by the Big Spring boys. San Angelo made 150 yards from scrimmage to 50 by the Steers. Big Spring tried twelve passes, completing only two.

The Bobcats' expected attack of laterals did not materialize, the Cats trying only one during the game.

Neither team reached first base offensively. It was one of those very unsatisfactory scoreless ties. Cordill called half of the game for Big Spring and Flowers half. Quarterbacking was not exceptionally good on either team.

"Sleepy" Jones, Big Spring wingman, and ordinarily a very erratic player, was the best man on the field. "Sleepy" played his best game, and no doubt earned an all-district berth yesterday. Whisenhunt also played a bang-up game, as did Harris. The Bobcats did a lot of gaining near Coburn but he had his good moments.

Hack Smith, San Angelo, end, caused the Steers a lot of trouble. Baker was erratic at the Steer pivot position and Big Spring fumbled several times during the game, as did the Bobcats. Most of the fumbling, however, was probably caused by the intense cold. Cordill's punting was alternately good and bad. Olie made a beautiful 79 yard punt late in the second period.

As the last period started a punting duel got under way, and for the first time the Bobcats evened things up in that department. The feature of the stanza was a beautiful 25-yard run by Ray which gave the visitors their second 20-yard penetration. Ray ran through most of the Steer team and was almost in the open.

The Steers wiggled out of a tight spot late in the game when Cordill tried a pass from behind his own goal line. He was rushed and had to throw the ball out of bounds. A fifteen yard penalty, caused by Coach Bristow sauntering out on the field, put the Bobcats back near their goal line.

First Quarter
Harris kicked off to Bowden who returned 19 yards to the Angelo 39-yard line. Grey got a yard off tackle, being tackled by Coburn. Reese hit left guard for a yard. Ray kicked out of bounds on the Big Spring 14-yard line. A substitution, Baker for Bullock. Cordill picked up 7 yards off tackle. Cordill went through the center of the line for 2 yards. Big Olie kicked out of bounds on Angelo's 47-yard line.

Ray got a yard off right tackle. Coots nabbed Ray for a 7-yard loss when he broke through the interference. Ray kicked to Cordill who returned to his own 36, where he was tackled by Smith. A spinner, finally taken by Grey, gained 2 yards. Cordill swept right end for 4 yards. On another spinner, Grey was stopped for no gain. Cordill punted to Ray on the 24 who returned to the 40, tackled by Harris. Cordill intercepted Ray's pass and was downed on his own 47.

Olie went over tackle into Angelo territory, making 4 yards. Smith smeared him on the next play for no gain. Cordill kicked out on Angelo's 26.

Ray, from deep punt formation, hit tackle for one yard. Young Sammy kicked out of bounds on Big Spring's 25.

Coots was stopped at left guard for no gain but picked up one on his next try. Cordill then kicked out on the enemy's 48.
Ray dove into right tackle for 4, then hit left tackle for 2, being tackled by Flowers. Ray handed the ball to Hays but Whisenhunt broke through and threw him for a seven-yard loss. Ray kicked 34

School Officials Squabble Over Decision On Game

MAY PLAY GAME OVER AT ANGELO

District Executive Committee To Discuss Case In Sweetwater

Big Spring school officials refused yesterday afternoon to agree to the awarding to San Angelo on penetrations the 0-0 game played here.

After a heated three hour session late yesterday afternoon with San Angelo school authorities, in which George Gentry, Big Spring committee representative steadfastly maintained that the game should be declared a tie and not be awarded on twenty-yard penetrations, it was decided to call a meeting of the district executive committee in Sweetwater this afternoon. Sweetwater was taken as a neutral spot.

Gentry based his claim on the fact that Referee Ben Lee Boynton was not notified prior to game time that in case of a tie the game would be awarded on penetrations. There is a ruling in district 3 that in case of a tie a decision shall be rendered on penetrations or first downs. However, an Inter-scholastic League ruling states that in case a game is to be awarded on penetrations or first downs should there be a tie, the referee must be notified ahead of time to keep the figures, and his decisions shall be final.

Referee Boynton said he was not notified of any such arrangement and did not keep the figures. He made a signed statement to that effect, which was signed by the other officials. All agreed that the game should be declared a tie.

There are only three schools in district three. Sweetwater is the other member. Unable to contact Prin. R. S. Covey of Sweetwater for a meeting last night, arrangements were made for the party to meet in Sweetwater.

SETUPS HAVE BEEN A PERIL TO LOUIS

By GEORGE KIRKSEY United Press Staff Correspondent NEW YORK, Nov. 12. (U.P.)

Boxing fans who have been wondering how long before defeat will catch up with Joe Louis, magnificent fighting machine who hammered his way to 25 straight professional victories in 16 months, may find a clue by examining the musty pages of ring history.

Delving into the records of champions and near champions of the past, it is found that some of the greatest fighters have been trounced by opponents picked at setups.

When a boxer catapults to the top in a few short months as did Louis, he usually tries to pick up some loose change taking on soft touches. They all did it—John L. Sullivan, Jim Corbett, James J. Jeffries, Bob Fitzsimmons, Jack Dempsey and the rest.

Sullivan Lost Prestige
Sullivan toured the country, appearing against all comers and offering $5,000 to an one who stayed four rounds with him. In 1882 he was on one of his tours and found himself matched against Tug Wilson, an Englishman without a ring record. The great John L. thought he had a soft touch, but Wilson stayed the limit by a ruse. He dropped to the floor several times without being hit, but Sullivan had plenty of good shots at times and was never able to knock him out. Wilson collected his $5,000 and went back to England and was never heard from again. Sullivan suffered a big loss in prestige.

Shortly after Jim Jeffries won the heavyweight title he sought to make some easy money in a bout with Jim Munroe, a clumsy novice. Munroe knocked Jeffries down and gave him a tough battle. In a return bout Jeffries knocked out Munroe.

Sharkey Tested Corbett
When Jim Corbett was champion, he caught Tom Sharkey for an opponent. Sharkey proved to be one of the toughest customers in the prize ring, and but for intervention of police Corbett might have been beaten. Jack Dempsey picked on a fat boy named Willie Meehan in a 4-round no-decision bout in San Francisco during his heyday. Meehan not only gained a newspaper decision over Dempsey but continued to exert a jinx over Dempsey which the Manassa Mauler was never able to chase in later bouts.

Louis Bars No One
Louis is following in the path of other great fighters by agreeing to take on all comers. He already has five bouts booked for the winter season, and no one is barred. His handlers feel that Louis is so good that no one has a chance to defeat him. If ring history repeats itself, Louis will be beaten when least expected.

Louis will open his winter campaign against Paulino Uzcudun at Madison Square Garden Dec. 13. He next meets Isador Gastanaga at Havana New Year's Day. On Jan. 10 he will meet Charley Retzlaff in the Chicago stadium. He will meet an opponent to be named later at the Detroit Olympia in February and return for another bout in Madison Square Garden in March if Mike Jacobs can find anyone to meet him.

Much Interest Being Shown TCU Frosh Squad
FORT WORTH, Nov. 12.—The T.C.U. Freshmen—North Texas Aggies, who meet here Thursday night under the lights, are developing more interest in Fort Worth and on the T.C.U. campus than any contest in which the Polliwogs have engaged for years.

Coach Howard Grubbs has one of the strongest first-year clubs that T.C.U. has had for four or five seasons. And the Junior Aggies, undefeated in competition this season, will certainly furnish ample competition for any eleven.

The Polliwogs have displayed particular strength in the line this season. They have played but one game, winning from the Baylor Cubs 28 to 14, but in scrimmage with the varsity each week they have flashed power on both offense and defense that has given the Horned Frogs plenty of trouble.

Five Thousand!

There were 5,063 paid admissions at the Steer-Bobcat game here yesterday afternoon, school officials announced after a check up. The total gate amounted to $4,012.35. Total expense was $656.75 which left a split of $1,677.81.

The 'Customers' Stand By Francis Schmidt In Loss

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 12. (U.P.)—Here's important news: Coach Francis Schmidt of Ohio State is not in danger of losing his job because his team lost to Notre Dame. Instead of starting the awful chorus of the so-called "downtown" coaches, of whom there are upwards of 100 members in good standing here, sent Schmidt an expression of absolute confidence in him and the team.

As for Schmidt, he says: "I've touched me in a tender spot." He knows what excellent pickers to pieces there are in Columbus.

THE TREND TOWARD SOCIAL SECURITY
The most striking recent trend in life insurance is the increasing popularity of policies of the guaranteed future income type.
A generation ago the great bulk of all life insurance was of the pure protection type. It guaranteed that the policy or other dependents of the policyholder would have certain sum in the event of his death. Relatively little attention was paid to the investment side of life insurance, and the industry did not offer, as it does today, an exceedingly varied assortment of policies designed to fit almost any conceivable case.
At present, life insurance buyers want protection for dependents, as in the past. But they want more. They now that the majority of men are penniless in their old age, and must obtain subsistence from relatives or organized charity. They know that many of these men were wealthy, that many more had good jobs and seemingly good investment. They passed the age when they could work—their estates or their investments were destroyed through some unlooked-for happening—and old-age poverty was the tragic result.
So these modern life insurance buyers, in constantly increasing numbers, are obtaining policies that will assure them living incomes in their declining years, as well as money to leave their dependents. Millions of Americans are thus, through their own foresight and thrift, achieving social security.

PAYING RELIEF PROJECT
At least one federal relief project seems to be paying its own way in fine style.
Recently a group of white collar relief clients was put to work investigating federal tax delinquencies. Some 1,800 men were employed, and their labors to date have cost Uncle Sam a little less than $195,000, including office rent; but their investigation has made possible the collection of $918,000 in delinquent taxes. In other words, they brought in approximately five times as much money as was spent on them.
At a time when relief authorities are obliged to spend large sums on projects of doubtful utility, this is indeed a refreshing note. If only all federal relief projects could prove equally lucrative!

Man About Manhattan
By George Tucker
NEW YORK—One of the more persistent legends about New York concerns the hickory qualities of our Irish cops. One understands that velvet gloves are no good with the mad dog variety of thugs, and one admits that no cop enjoys bouncing a shillalah across the crotch of a tough guy more than a New York cop, but the situation must call for some measures before your Irish copper really goes into a boil.
Your eager correspondent recalls an incident in point the evening Senator Dutch Schultz was rubbed out by parties unknown. A few hours earlier Herr "Pretty" Amberg had been whittled into thin strips. The town was acutely gang-war conscious.
As I say (or did I?) your reporter was ambling through Times Square when a growing assemblage at 42nd and Broadway began to blot out the rest of the landscape. From it emerged two figures, a faintly annoyed cop and a very fuligant and protesting fellow being led by the ear.
The crowd tittered and fell to heel until the officer, waving his cudgel, sent them back. Still retaining a firm clench on the ear of the prisoner, who by this time had lapsed into utterances of a most uncouth nature, the cop led his man across Broadway and around to the Seventh avenue side of the Times building.
He gave the guy a kick in the pants. He growled, "Get along, witcha."
As I ranged alongside the cop gave the bum a final glare and turned, with a sly wink, towards his regular beat. "I thought you had one of the Big Boys," I told him. "Harmless, eh?"
"Yeah, he's tight and probably hungry, poor lad. I could take him in on one or several counts, but to what end?"
Then the cop sauntered on back to his beat and I went around to see what the derelict was doing. There stood he, shaking his fist (in the wrong direction) at what he fancied was the "mean" cop. "I'm gonna gitcha. . . I'll gitcha. . . Wanna make it personal!"
The crowd, now reassembled, began pestering him as small boys pester a village idiot, pointing fingers and laughing. The cop kept on following his beat. The drunk stumbled and fell into the gutter. Two men came out of a newsstand and carried him away somewhere.
One of them told me next day that the cop had instructed them to take care of him and see that he had cash fare home—if he had a home.
"Sure, our cops are so tough they belt you on the bean if you even look like you want to get hard-boiled."
In 14th street recently I spied a lonely figure. Not long out of the west, his softly flowing drawl was reminiscent of a fictional character out of Zane Grey. "My brother's a big shot in insurance," he confided. "I want to be a big

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND
By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—The spectre of inflation, standing grimly behind the scenes, has begun seriously to disturb the peace of mind of the Administration.
Obnoxious signs of a strong inflationary undertow are unmistakable. Real estate values are booming, commodity prices are on the wing, and the stock market is as restless as a boy with the hive. Added to these is the presence of an unprecedented total of $3,000,000,000 in bank reserves.
The situation is as explosive as a cache of TNT, and so that Administration master minds are worried is putting it mildly.
Reason for their uneasiness is that they are undecided just what policy to pursue. They can clamp down at the start and risk nipping the briskly blooming prosperity roots in the bud. Or they can let matters take their course, with the danger of a run-away market and a crash just as the presidential campaign is getting underway.
The temptation to keep hands off is very strong. A lively stock market, active real estate values and commodity prices on the upgrade are potent electioneering medicine. But on the other hand, a boom followed by a crash in the midst of the campaign would have disastrous political repercussions.
So the New Dealers are scratching their heads in perplexity—torn between the tempting urge to take a flyer and gnawing fear that if their luck falls they will be caught short in the very vortex of the 1936 campaign.
Whip Hand
The unique factor in the situation is that the New Dealers can take either course they choose. The Government now has the complete whip hand to crack down on an inflationary trend.
The 1933 and 1935 banking laws, plus the securities and stock exchange acts, give it power to exercise full control—provided there is the will and courage to do so.
The securities and exchange commission can stop stock manipulation by suspending suspected speculators.
It has already taken such action against one prominent Wall street broker, Michael J. Meehan. It has sought confidential orders to its eight branch offices to be on guard for signs of stock-rigging. SEC insiders whisper that certain market movements recently had all the earmarks of "forced pressure stocking."
The new banking statutes supplement the SEC with other powerful measures. They prohibit corporations from lending their surplus funds for stock market operations. In 1928-29 millions of dollars from this source stimulated the frenzied gambling of the Coolidge bull market. The banking statutes also provide for strict curbs on loans by banks to brokers.
In addition, the federal reserve board now has the power to fix marginal requirements. By the stroke of a pen it can raise them so high as to break the back of a run-away market instantly. This authority is so sweeping that the board may, if it sees fit, completely eliminate marginal trading.
Finally, the reserve board has the means at hand to cope with the trouble-brewing problem of excessive bank reserves. Although the banks are free to lend to any borrower for stock market operations, or to buy securities themselves, the reserve board still has two mighty levers to bring the banks to heel.
First, it can double reserve requirements, thus wiping out most of the banks' lending power. Second, the board can sell its $2,430,000,000 of government securities in the open market. Either operation if fully carried through would practically mop up excess bank reserves.
Such a drastic dosage would almost certainly be enough to cut the heart out of any inflation move. But if even this surgery did not suffice, the treasury is in a position to throw its tremendous restraining weight into the balance.
By transferring its deposits in ordinary banks to the federal reserve banks, thus depriving the former of huge chunks of excess reserves; by using its $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund as a brake; and through other technical devices, the treasury could dial out knock-out drops that no inflation could withstand.
In short, the means and power to control inflation are in the hands of the administration. What it must decide is when and how to use them.
Fan Dance
To illustrate his belief that the danger of a land boom was threatening but not imminent, Henry Wallace recently told a fan-dance story.
He said he was reminded of a cartoon on inflation. It showed the bald-headed row in a theater ogling a fan dancer labeled Inflation. But her form was effectively covered with a large fan.
The bald-headed row was saying,

Liquor Sales May Be Prohibited In Juarez On Sunday
JUAREZ, Mex., Nov. 12 (U.P.)—Owners of pleasure resorts in this city which cater to thirsty Americans were startled when they learned that the Chihuahua state legislature in Chihuahua city has passed a bill prohibiting the sale of beverages of high alcoholic content on Saturdays, Sundays and on national holidays. Sales of beer and light wine would be permitted.
The bill has been sent to Gov. Rodrigo M. Quevedo for his signature.
Saloon owners say the bill will be disastrous for the big places which are patronized by thousands of Americans from El Paso, Tex., over the week-ends.
Passage of the bill was inspired by peasant and workers' unions of the state who complained that many poor persons spend their entire weekly earnings in saloons during week-ends and holidays.

HIGH COURAGE

Chapter 15
CHARLOTTE'S FURY
"And Yvonne, it might be well to keep the doors locked while you are packing. Call Judge Kellogg if you have any trouble. Goodbye, my dear."
She bent and kissed the little maid, who had crumpled into a chair, and picking up the two bags, walked out of the room without a backward glance.
Buttons from the hall, saw her appear on the balcony, and hastened to relieve her of the bags, then together they went down to the servants' quarters where Anne repeated her little ceremony, the others protesting at accepting anything from her.
"And now, if you'll bring my car around, Carl," she said to the ruddy-cheeked chauffeur, "I'll be on my way."
A few moments later she heard the purr of the motor. With the servants clustered about her she started for the door.
"Just where do you think you're going, young lady?" came a sharp voice from the inner door, and Charlotte Farnsworth appeared. "Sneaking out the back way, were you? What have you got in those bags?"
Anne turned and gave the woman which had she known it, contained all the elements of the look John Neuman had given Rob Crocker. "You don't leave this house until I search those bags," declared Mrs. Farnsworth positively.
Anne looked at her bags, at the servants, waiting only a word from her, and then at Mrs. Farnsworth. "Oh, Aunt Charlotte," she began in exasperation.
"Don't you Aunt Charlotte me," answered the woman. "I'm not your aunt."
Anne's clear laugh rang out, much to her own surprise. "I knew I'd find something to be grateful for," she replied.
"You feel that way about us, do you Anne?" came in quiet tones from the door.
Anne looked back and saw Lee Farnsworth standing there. "Do you blame me?" she asked Lee.
"Of course not," he answered. "I'll take care of this affair, Lee Farnsworth," interposed his wife.
Anne looked at her bags, at the servants, waiting only a word from her, and then at Mrs. Farnsworth. "Oh, Aunt Charlotte," she began in exasperation.
"Please!" Anne, who had been frantically starting her motor, didn't realize she had screamed until she saw the figure beneath the toner edge as she scrambled out. "Good heavens!" came a voice from the oil stained countenance. Anne jammed her gears, wrenched them back into low, into second, into high. She shot out of the station, careened onto the highway and roared away from the woman who stood, mouth agape, staring after her.
From behind the car Anne heard shouts, but she couldn't stop. She had to go on—Did the woman mean Dad had screamed, or shouted, or was it the crash? What was it she would never forget? "I can't go on," Anne's foot slid back from the gas feed as the hill loomed ahead.
A car honked demanding. Anne looked at the road; she was as near the edge as she could get. She started again. If she had to cross that grade she'd do it.
The other car ran alongside and in the gleam of lights, Anne saw that the man in the seat beside the driver was holding something in his hand which glittered. The cap lo her gas tank.
"Put it up on for you," offered the man.
Anne stopped her car. "If you will, please," she said in reply.
A moment later he stepped up to the side of the coupe. "It's all right now," he ventured.
"Thank you," Anne murmured. "At anaisis," came the cheerful rejoinder.
"Mr. Neuman!" Anne couldn't say for the moment whether she was glad or sorry to see the young fisherman.

Olds Styles Draw Praise

Company Expects Year To Be The Biggest In Its History
NEW YORK, Nov. 12—Popularity of the style originated by Oldsmobile and developed in the 1936 Oldsmobile models to new smartness and distinction has resulted in a large influx of retail orders, according to D. E. Ralston, vice president and general sales manager.
"The great interest shown in our two new lines of cars, and in their low prices, has convinced us that 1936 will be the biggest year in Oldsmobile's long history," he said.
"From visitors at the showings we find that both men and women motorists today are intensely interested in all those features which contribute to safety, comfort, performance and economy. The 1936 Oldsmobiles, the cars that have everything, are attracting particular interest because they are so complete—in all the things people want.
"Oldsmobile's advanced streamline styling has been received with great public favor, as have the smart luxury of interior appointments and the marked roominess and comfort of the body interiors."

Officials

Should that decision be reached, it is very probable that the game will be played over in San Angelo Saturday of this week. That would be permissible under league rules. Then the Bobcats would be forced to play here again next year.

C. A. Wilkins, principal at Colorado, a former member of the Class A district 3 circuit, was to take part in the conference this afternoon. Wilkins was with Gentry, according to reports, when the Big Spring principal made a statement to Chester Kenley of San Angelo about a month ago that he would not agree to the awarding of a decision on penetrations or first downs.

Harry Taylor, San Angelo coach, told a Herald reporter a short time after the game that Bristow had told him just before the encounter that it would be OK to award the game on penetrations in case of a tie. Obie, however, told a different story. He said that he did not make any such statement and could produce witnesses. He said his only reply was that he understood such things were covered in the rules.

If the game is played over it must be played this week-end. San Angelo does not have a game matched, but the Steers were scheduled to meet the Brownwood

BIG SPRING BOYS IN ADVERTISING PICTURE

This photograph showing effective lighting was not posed by professional models, as are most pictures used in advertising. Perhaps you'll recognize the young cowboys as Big Spring lads, John and Harry Blomsheld, 15-year-old twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Blomsheld. over the goal line. Jones downed Ray for a two-yard reversal, but on the next play the little Bobcat back got into the Steer secondary for a three-yard pickup before being dragged down. Big Spring penalized five yards and Hays went through center for three more. Madison substituted in the Steer secondary for Grey. Ray slid off tackle for two more and then kicked badly to his own 32 in a punt that bounded back toward him. Cordill attempting to pass to Jones, flipped the aerial out of bounds. He attempted another toss to Jones but Bowden knocked it down on his own 12. Bruce Phillips went in for Hildreath in the Longhorn line. Cordill attempted a field goal but the ball bounded straight into the mass of players and Strom recovered the ball on his own 33. Ray was stopped at the line of scrimmage as the quarter ended.

Fourth Quarter Ray punted to Cordill who fumbled and recovered on his own 38. Grey was stopped at the line of scrimmage. Cordill's pass to Coots slipped through his hands. Cordill punted to Ray who returned to his own 46 after getting away nicely from several would-be tacklers. Ray's pass to Bowden was incomplete. Young Sammy hit a stone wall but picked up a yard and then tried another pass to Bowden, but Cordill was under it and knocked it down. Ray kicked out of bounds on the Big Spring twenty. Coots gained three yards off tackle but fumbled after making three more on another lunge. Baker, however, recovered. Cordill kicked to the Bobcat 45 where it was downed by Coburn. Ray gained five yards on a line plunge and then attempted to pass to Bowden, but it was knocked down by Baker. Bowden made two off tackle. Ray kicked to Cordill on the 25 and he brought it back out to the 38 before being stopped.

Cordill drove off right tackle before being tackled, but the Steers received a five-yard penalty for off-sides. Cordill's pass was knocked down by Hays. Coots, sweeping wide, was pulled down from behind after making a yard and Cordill picked up four on a spread, before being tackled by Mercer. Cordill then booted out on Angelo's 38. Ray hit center for two yards but Flowers broke through on the next play to down him for a three-yard loss. Ray kicked out of bounds on the Big Spring 23. On a quick opening play, Cordill cracked over left guard for two and then kicked out of bounds on the 50. Ray spun off tackle for a pair but fumbled and recovered on the next play for a three-yard loss. The little Angelo back then quick-kicked out of bounds and away from Cordill on the 12-yard stripe. Coots made three on an end sweep before Hays got him, and Grey was stopped for no gain. The Steers received a 5-yard penalty for off-sides, however. Ray was tackled by Whisenhunt in his tracks after he had received Cordill's kick on his own 43. Reese made a yard through center. Hays fumbled and recovered on the 40 and then made two on an end sweep. Ray kicked over the Big Spring goal line. Cordill's pass to Jones was good for seven yards, but his attempt to Flowers fell to earth. Grey tried the line for no gain and then Cordill kicked to Ray on the San Angelo 49-yard marker and he was downed in his tracks. Ray turned in a brilliant run when he whipped off tackle, slipped into the secondary and got up to the 26-yard line before Cordill whipped him to the ground and out

First Vocational Training Class May Be Started Early Next Week

Efforts are being made by the Lions club to launch the first of a series of vocational training courses it will sponsor by the first part of next week.

After a conference with club officials, Pascal Buckner, member of the education committee, announced that Mrs. Thomas E. Pierce had been appointed teacher of the first course offered for household employees—that of home hygiene.

Mrs. Pierce, with many years teaching experience, holds her bachelor's degree from NTSTC and has completed half her masters work at Columbia university in New York. For five years she was head of the home economics department in Abilene.

Persons interested in enrolling their household employees in the class can do so by notifying H. H. Hannah, club secretary, by calling Postal. It was asked that this be done as quickly as possible in order that the course can be started immediately.

Members of the club education committee believe that the training will have a double benefit. It will be of great help to the employees and to the homes in which these employees work, they pointed out.

Later this year the club plans to offer courses in food care. The home hygiene course requires 30 clock hours class work. It will be run off in 2-hour periods twice a week until completed.

Buckner has just returned from Austin where he conferred with officials in the state department of education concerning the work.

If the first courses prove successful, the club intends to offer another series next year. Upon completion of the series, those taking the courses will be given a diploma in recognition of their special training.

Mahon Is Due Back Dec. 20

Congressman Having A Profitable Trip In The Orient

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—According to word received in his Washington office, Congressman George Mahon feels that he is having an unusually profitable trip to the Far East. He arrived in Manila on Nov. 8 with the official United States delegation attending the celebration of the opening of independence for the Philippine Islands. Mr. Mahon is making the trip because of his membership on the Insular Affairs committee of the house.

The trip is giving him a first hand picture of industrial conditions in the Orient. He is particularly interested in studying and observing conditions in the cotton and textile industries and the relationship of these industries to trade between the United States and the countries of the Far East. He feels that the future of the cotton industry, and correspondingly the economic welfare of West Texas and the entire south, depends to a large extent upon world trade and foreign markets. Developments in the Far East will be focal points of interest in this problem in the next decade. The trade relations and tariff agreements between the United States and the Philippine Islands will have a different aspect after their independence actually begins and this alone constitutes an important problem that must be worked out by congress.

The trip has afforded Mr. Mahon an opportunity to become more intimately acquainted with such outstanding leaders of congress as Vice-President Garner and Senator Connally of Texas, and Representative Joseph R. Byrnes of Tennessee, who is speaker of the house.

The congressman will return to his home in Colorado, Tex., on Dec. 20. He will spend the time before

"He was told by the commission, after an interview, that his services were not wanted, that he was not deemed suitable and that the commission would accept his resignation."

Bond Vote In 2 Towns Today

Colorado Deciding On Water Project, Pecos On School Issue

Two West Texas towns, Colorado and Pecos, were voting Tuesday on bond issues that would provide financing of projects with aid from government agencies.

Before voters at Colorado is a proposed $10,000 issue which would go toward financing of lake and pipeline projects. This sum would be matched by a direct PWA grant of $2,636. If the bonds are authorized as Colorado's share of the improvement cost, work is to be started soon. The PWA office at Fort Worth has plans complete.

A heavy vote was forecast at Pecos, where a $16,000 school issue was before the electorate. If the bonds are approved, the fund would be supplemented by a government grant of $3,091, and the whole would be used in making extensive repairs and improvements on the Pecos schools.

Lambert Smith has charge of the work. He may be reached through the Big Spring chamber of commerce, or by writing box 875, and all matters concerning the directory should be referred to him.

This will be the fifth edition of the Big Spring city directory to be issued by the Hudspeth company.

Fire Extinguished Without Damage In P. H. Coburn Home

Firemen Tuesday morning answered a call to the home of P. H. Coburn, 610 Nolan, when a gas stove flared up. The blaze had been brought under control before firemen arrived.

In the past two months firemen have had no calls of consequence. The Tuesday run was the first which was not on a false alarm. The alarm was sounded twice recently when a boy mistook the siren control for a light switch and when a policeman pulled the switch when attempting to blink the signal lights.

Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Federman of Cleveland, Ohio, who have been detained here on account of Mr. Federman's illness, left Tuesday morning for Los Angeles, where they will visit relatives and friends. Mr. Federman developed pneumonia, and had been confined to Big Spring hospital.

Ethiopia's main railway, connecting Addis Ababa with the sea, appeared to be the destination of both the Italian northern and southern armies.

Press dispatches from Africa said Gen. Rudolfo Graziani's southern forces, after strengthening its position at Gorrabel, had pressed farther on to Daggah Bur, 30 miles northwest of Sasa Baneh and only a little over 150 miles from the railway between the capital and Djibouti, French Somaliland.

These reports said the troops already had taken Sasa Baneh after their success at Gorrabel.

Mrs. W. B. Francis underwent a major operation Sunday at Big Spring hospital. She was reported as doing nicely today.

Jap Warfare On China Is Hinted In Some Quarters

TOKYO, Nov. 12 (U.P.)—Japanese authorities today indicated that some sections of the Tokyo government envisioned the possibility of armed pressure on China as a result of the anti-Japanese incidents in Shanghai.

The government requested punishment of persons responsible for the incidents that climaxed in the shooting of a Japanese marine Saturday. The foreign office said that no military action was contemplated immediately.
