Governor Daniel Makes Farewell Address To Texas Legislature

Leaves Office Next Wednesday

AUSTIN (UPI) — Gov. Price Daniel told lawmakers today in his final speech to the Texas Legislature that the state is in excellent financial condition. He urged the enactment of stronger law enforcement measures.

Daniel, who will be succeeded next Tuesday by John Connally in the state's highest office, reviewed his six years' administration by saying he had yielded to the temptation to boast of progress made in education, water conservation, highways and others.

The governor presented each member of the legislature a 189-page attractively bound book covering his six years in office. Daniel was invited by the 88th Legislature in its opening day Tuesday to address today's joint session.

The legislature convened Tuesday with the election of Rep. Byron Tunnell of Tyler as speaker of the House by the greatest majority ever given a speaker in a contested race.

Liberals Soundly Beaten

A liberal protest movement never got off the ground. Tunnell defeated Rep. John Alaniz of San Antonio by 141-9, after many liberals shunned the attempt to weld a liberal coalition.

Senators named Sen. Martin Dies Jr. of Lufkin as president pro tem. Dies will preside over the Senate when the lieutenant governor is absent and will act as governor when the two top men are out of the state.

In his farewell address to the legislature today, Daniel said none of the accomplishments in the past six years would have been possible without cooperation of the legislature.

While pointing out that there had been progress in many fields of government during his administration, Daniel said there also was unfavorable action on some of his recommendations.

88th Congress Convenes; Demos See JFK Victory

Expect Liberal Win In Rules Committee

By FRANK ELEAZER
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The 88th Congress convened today with Democrats confident of handing President Kennedy at least an opening victory in what promises to be a bruising two-year battle over his New Frontier programs.

Overshadowing opening day activities — most of them largely ceremonial — was a crucial battle in the House where the administration hoped to keep the Rules Committee at its enlarged total of 15 members and thereby assure favorable treatment of the President's proposals.

Kennedy was told at a breakfast meeting with top Democratic congressional leaders that prospects were good for an administration victory in the rules fight.

This would be encouraging to the administration. But even so, such key Kennedy proposals as a tax cut, Social Security-financed health care for the aged and federal aid to education still face a hard pull in the new Congress.

The Rules Committee controls the flow of legislation to the House floor. Kennedy has said his program will be virtually dead if the committee returns to its pre-1961 12-man status. This would return control of the group to conservative hands.

Showdown Today

The showdown over the Rules Committee was scheduled for late afternoon.

Republican leaders indicated they had rounded up almost solid support against the administration efforts to keep three additional members on the committee. But apparent defections among Democrats in the South, who solidly voted against the expansion two years ago, prompted McCormack and other leaders to predict victory.

An expected record-high federal budget of $99 billion, new plans for foreign aid spending including extra arms outlays for India, and assorted foreign policy issues in both hemispheres added fuel to the political fires.

While House and Senate members gathered for the noon, EST, opening of the session, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., sought to round up support for a vacation recess next August — a sure sign that nobody really expects Congress to get through with its work before late in the year.

The opening-day political lineup in the House stood at 258 Democrats and 176 Republicans. The Senate had 67 Democrats to 33 Republicans. Despite these heavy Democratic majorities, President Kennedy's list of "must" bills still to be disclosed in his State of the Union Message next Monday — was manifestly in trouble.

Faces First Test

Administration leaders appeared confident, however, they had the votes to win the President's first congressional test, a House vote late today on continued administration (See CONGRESS, Page 3)

The Mona Lisa May Just Have Been Smirking

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two thousand enthusiastic dignitaries gathered to behold the Mona Lisa Tuesday night, and in the hubbub that ensued the famous lady's smile might almost have been a smirk.

The microphones went dead, forcing President Kennedy to shout his barbed witticisms: the elevator failed, forcing him and his family to walk, and glaring glasses obscured the painting.

Most of the elegantly clad congressmen, cabinet members and diplomats who attended the American debut of Da Vinci's masterpiece — by invitation only — neither saw the painting nor heard what was said about it.

Miss Great Deal

They missed a great deal. The officials on the platforms by the painting didn't miss too much, though. When the restive art lovers began whispering amongst themselves, Secretary of State Dean Rusk rose by the painting to announce apologetically that "the acoustics in the room are so good that the private remarks made in the rear are amplified in the front."

But the acoustics apparently worked one way only. With the microphones dead, French Minister of Culture Andre Malraux's poetic tribute to the Mona Lisa was altogether lost.

Christopher Tells Of His Adventures

Robert Christopher, a "modern day Marco Polo," told members of the Top O' Texas Knife and Fork Club about his many adventurous experiences when the club met last night in Robert E. Lee cafeteria.

Christopher explained how he had managed to swing the trick of traveling around the world on $50 provided by a national magazine and gave interesting answers to questions posed for him during a lively question-and-answer period.

Christopher, who has travelled over a million miles by almost every possible type of conveyance, touched on his adventures in Africa and other "parts of call" during his just over 35 years of adventurous life.

Christopher, whose adventuring started when he was at the tender age of 14 (he ran away from home), has sailed the Atlantic as a stowaway, crossed the United States in the uniform of a Russian soldier to prove how wide open our country is for attack, went on a rescue mission by glider and parachute to save three Air Force men downed in the jungles of New Guinea, was an in-and-out member of the French Foreign Legion and has written a number of books about his adventures.

He was enjoyed by a "full house" at his session here last night.

Hazlewood Gets Four-Year Term

AUSTIN (UPI) — Texas senators today drew "black beans" to determine which members will serve two-year or four-year terms.

The drawing was forced by legislative redistricting last session. All 31 senators had to stand for election. The drawing settled the length of their terms in office.

The constitution requires that one-half of the membership of the Senate stand for election every two years.

Those drawing four-year terms included Sen. Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo.

The drawing for terms is held every 10 years in the session following the census and redistricting.

U.S. DEFENSES PIERCED? — Four London, England newspapers have reported that British Vulcan jet bombers pierced U.S. defenses and "attacked" New York, Washington, and other key cities after flying to the U.S. over the north pole and Canada, "a few weeks ago." The newspaper above shows three U.S. defense lines and an artist's conception of the Vulcans' route. Both British and American officials have denied the reports but the newspapers still maintain the stories were accurate. (NEA Telephoto)

Tshombe Says He's Ready For Peace In The Congo

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga, The Congo (UPI) — Katanga President Moise Tshombe called a halt in his war against the United Nations today and said he was ready to make peace with the Congo's central government.

In a statement prepared Tuesday night and issued this morning, Tshombe said:

"I have returned to Elisabethville with the sole purpose of restoring necessary calm and peace in Katanga and its people. This consists essentially in swift application of (U.N. Secretary General) U Thant's plan without further bloodshed and without useless destruction.

"It follows from this I shall abstain in these circumstances from any declarations against the United Nations."

Follows War Threat

The Katangese leader had threatened to blow up mining and power installations in his copper-rich province and conduct a guerrilla war against the United Nations.

But he returned to his capital Tuesday from Kolwezi — one of his last strongholds in Katanga — and went immediately to his presidential residence.

Hundreds of Belgian civilians called on Tshombe Tuesday night to shake his hand and reiterate their confidence in his leadership. The lights of the residence burned late as a procession of cars made a constant round through the palace grounds.

There was no immediate indication whether Tshombe had told his troops in Kolwezi to remove demolition charges they were reported to have placed at key mining and power installations. Kolwezi supplies 75 per cent of Katanga's hydro-electric power.

Back In Fold

It began to look as if there now would be an early settlement that would bring Katanga back

Fire Rages In Empire State Building

NEW YORK (UPI) — Fires of undetermined origin traveled upward through a pipe shaft in the Empire State Building today, creating dense smoke conditions in the world's tallest building.

Firemen carrying rolled-up sections of hose traveled a quarter of a mile skyward in the building's elevators to reach flames and smoke on the upper floors. Engines below pumped up water under high pressure.

After fires on floors in the 20s and 60s had been declared under control at about 8 a.m., flames and thick smoke suddenly erupted anew on floors in the 30s. The building was closed to all but emergency personnel until 9 a.m.

Television Affected

There were no injuries but operations of two of seven major television stations — WNBC and WNEW — operating in the building were disrupted.

The huge skyscraper on Fifth Avenue and 34th Street towers 1,500 feet and is normally populated by 60,000 office workers and maintenance people.

The flames traveled as high as the 84th floor. Asst. Fire Chief Joseph Contrastino said the flames kept "cropping out" at various locations in the huge structure.

The pipe shaft carrying the flames travels the entire height of the building, housing water and steam pipes, compressed air and a ventilating duct. Firemen backed into it at various levels to trace the flames.

Thousands Watch

Thousands of the 60,000 tenants arrived between 8 and 9 a.m. to find the building temporarily closed to them. Police set up barriers and some 10,000 persons crowded behind them.

Some tenants were allowed to return to their offices shortly after 8:30 a.m. When the flames broke out anew, they were directed to leave again. They were allowed to return about 9 a.m.

The fire fighting operation was vast. Firemen embarked on a check of the entire building to find and quell flames. They reported difficulty in communicating with each other with walkie-talkie radios because of the great amount of steel in the building.

800 Poll Tax Receipts Issued

Only about 800 poll tax receipts for 1963 have been issued so far in Gray County, according to Bill Steger of the county tax assessor-collector's office.

Jan. 31 will be the deadline for poll taxes, Steger said.

"We expect the payments to increase within the next week or two," Steger said, "although the number may be lighter this year because it is an off-election year."

Of the approximately 800 poll tax receipts issued so far, 408 were paid and 391 were exemptions.

A total of 8,755 poll tax receipts were issued in Gray County in 1962. Validity of these expires on Jan. 31.

Ordinance Being Drawn Up

Graham Seeks To Stop Jan. 31 Vote

City Commissioner Will Graham last night asked the city attorney to prepare an emergency ordinance to halt Pampa's charter amendment election called for Jan. 31.

The commissioner made his request in a statement issued just before the close of the regular weekly meeting of the City Commission in City Hall.

City Atty. Bob Gordon said he would comply with Commissioner Graham's request and have the ordinance ready for introduction at next week's meeting of the commission.

The charter election was called by a 3 to 2 vote of the city commission on Wednesday, Dec. 26, and two subsequent readings of the ordinance at special meetings on Dec. 28 and Dec. 31.

At the Dec. 28 meeting it was learned that a petition had been circulated asking that any charter election include voting on an amendment to the effect that all qualified voters in the city would ballot on the commissioner in each of the city's four wards. The petition, carrying 814 signatures, also asked for the establishment of a mayor pro tem and outlined methods through which the mayor pro tem would be named.

The two amendments proposed in the election called by the city commission call for a vote on an amendment to provide methods of extending the city limits and for the election of a mayor pro tem.

The petitions were formally presented to the city secretary on the afternoon of Friday, Dec. 28, and were in turn presented and read at a special meeting of the commission that night.

The original ordinance calling the Jan. 31 election was passed with Commissioner Graham and Lloyd Simpson dissenting and a Commissioner L. P. Fort, Leon Holmes and Mayor E. C. Sidwell voting for it.

In his statement at last night's meeting, Commissioner Graham said:

"I am deeply concerned about the manner in which the recent petition by more than 800 citizens was handled by the city commission.

"The Constitution of our nation guarantees to the people the right to petition government for relief of their grievances. The manner of treatment by the commission of the petition seems to me a denial of the people's Constitutional right.

"I am offended, along with many others, that such an authoritarian and dictatorial action should be taken by my city government. The petitioners, so far as I know, were not even given a polite answer to their reasonable request.

"I am asking the city attorney to prepare an ordinance declaring an emergency and repealing the ordinance which has called the election for charter amendment Jan. 31 of this year.

"I appeal to the members of the commission to reconsider their action and allow the people some voice in the decision as to the issues on which they shall vote.

Commissioner Holmes said before he could take any definite action on the ordinance proposed by Graham he would like to have a hand-writing expert go over the petition signatures for validity.

Commissioner Fort said he was in agreement with the right of petition, but stated he thought diligence should be used.

"This was a last-minute attempt on the part of a group to try to pick the most controversial issue in the charter and insert it in an election which already had been called," Fort said. "I seriously doubt the good intentions of the petition."

Commissioner Graham said he thought that the commission's action in calling the election on Jan. 31 had abridged the rights of the people.

"It is my contention that the Jan. 31 date was too soon for proper consideration of what issues should be included in a charter amendment election," Graham said. "The advisory committee's recommendation on this point was ignored and I am dissatisfied with the action taken by the commission in the face of this."

Mayor Sidwell was not present at last night's commission meeting. He has been out of the city for several days and was not expected to return until tomorrow or Friday.

Commissioner Graham sat in the mayor's chair last night after having been elected mayor pro tem at the outset of the meeting.

In other action:

The commission passed two resolutions providing preliminary steps for an ordinance to pave S. Barnes St. from the Fort Worth & Denver Railroad underpass to the south city limits.

The 48-foot wide paving project would tie in with the state and a county's paving project on Hwy. 273 from the South Loop to Mc-

Civil Appeals Court Hears Oral Arguments On 'Recall'

The Seventh Court of Civil Appeals in Amarillo today had under advisement oral arguments presented yesterday afternoon by both sides in Pampa's recall election controversy.

The case was carried up from Gray County 31st Judicial Court after Judge Lewis M. Goodrich last April had ordered a recall election on Pampa's four city commissioners as sought in petitions which had been circulated by the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Only three of the four commissioners still are in office. They are L. P. Fort, Leon Holmes and Lloyd Simpson. Newt Seest, a defendant in the action, resigned a short time after the case was heard in district court here.

Plaintiffs in the action are Herman Whitley, A. C. Troop, Claude Wilson, W. C. Fry and A. W. Lunsford, who protested the city commission's action in not setting a date for a recall election as demanded in the petitions.

At yesterday's hearing in Amarillo, Atty. Clayton Heare of Amarillo represented the three city commissioners and Atty. Walter Norman of Borger appeared for the plaintiffs.

Each of the attorneys was allotted 30 minutes for oral arguments and 15 minutes for rejoinder presentation.

Sitting on the court as the oral arguments were presented were Judge James G. Denton of Lubbock, chief justice; Judge Ernest O. Northcutt of Amarillo, associate justice, and Judge Alton B. Chapman of Floydada, associate justice.

No indication was given when the court will hand down its decision. The court rulings on cases usually are made on Mondays.

Absentee Voting To Start Friday

Absentee balloting for the Jan. 31 charter amendment election will start Friday at the city secretary's office in City Hall.

Absentee balloting, City Secretary Edwin Vicars stated, will continue through Friday, Jan. 25.

Election day, Jan. 31, falls on the following Thursday.

Absentee ballots may be cast at the secretary's office daily between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. from Jan. 11 through Jan. 25.

GOP's Hoeven Ousted In Upset

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House Republicans went into the new session today with one "new usage" leader in the saddle and the oldtimer he unseated warning of more political bloodshed to come.

The House Republican Conference, a caucus of all GOP members, Tuesday ousted 67-year-old Rep. Charles B. Hoeven of Iowa as its chairman. It gave the job to 49-year-old Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, a House member since 1949.

The vote was 86-78. Two members voted present and 10 of the 178 House Republicans were absent.

Hoeven's downfall after six years as conference chairman and 20 years in the House came suddenly and for reasons subject to widely differing explanation.

Deny Revolt

The relatively junior Republican who engineered it said the change was made to put "a little bit more aggressive, dynamic leadership" in the GOP. They insisted it was an attempt to strengthen, rather than undercut, House GOP Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana and Whip Leslie Arends of Illinois.

Hoeven said it was a lot more than that.

"I was picked as the lamb for the slaughter," he told newsmen. "This should serve as notice to Mr. Arends and Mr. Halleck that something is brewing."

Ford denied that Halleck, who unseated former Speaker Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts in a similar surprise revolt in 1959, was the next target. The same denials came from Reps. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., and Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., who spoke for the insurgents.

Discuss Arends Ouster

Proposals to try to oust Arends were discussed at a closed meeting Monday of recently elected GOP congressmen. But only the decisions to try to beat Hoeven and to give Republicans with relatively short House service a louder voice in party affairs came out of that meeting.

The insurgents headed by Goodell and Griffin won a complete victory. Not only did they put over Ford, but they won larger representation and votes for recently elected Republicans on the important House GOP Policy Committee.

The policy committee considers Republican strategy on day-to-day legislative issues. While its decisions are not binding, they obviously help set the party's public image.

Spring Hats Have High Style, Low Price Tag

By HELEN HENNESSY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA) — There's head start on spring hat fashions in new designs at very modest prices by Sally Victor.

This designer has long felt that here was a need for high fashion hats for the girl who has good taste, sound fashion sense and not much money.

Consequently, her sure touch is seen in this new group for spring. Included are the cloche, the sailor, the beret, a dashing black straw Spanish sailor (inspired by the Spanish Cordovan hat), the draped turban and a dome hat in rough straw.

Strawcloth, straw in both rough and smooth versions, and twill are just some of the materials used. Colors range from white to beige to blue, gold and black.

These are hat fashions carrying the touch of a great designer. The girl who knows line and what is chic will appreciate them. And this takes in many across the country who learned to dress incredibly well on small salaries.

It's entirely possible that even women who can afford to pay just a bit more may be tempted to buy two hats instead of one. After all, to a woman who dotes on hats, this is a marvelous buy.

A new line of hats has been designed for the girl who appreciates high style but doesn't have a custom-order income. Gold strawcloth twill draped turban (top left) has black velvet bow. A bow and a tiny frog trim the light blue strawcloth twill beret (top center). Sailor of gold strawcloth twill (top right) has a red velvet band and red tassels. Black licorice straw Spanish sailor (lower left) has grosgrain trim and tiny tassels. Twist of grosgrain turban (top left) has black velvet bow. A bow and a tiny frog trim the light blue strawcloth twill beret (top center). Sailor of gold strawcloth twill buttons adorn white cloche (lower right). All designs are by Sally Victor.

Dear Abby....

Better Step
On It, Lady! !!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: A very well-to-do, retired gentleman has been dating me off and on for three years. He finally asked me to marry him. I didn't want to seem to anxious although I am no spring chicken myself. I went to my fortune teller and told her all about him. She said my horoscope was not in favor of marrying a redhead and also my stars warned me against marrying this year. She said my stars would be different next year and I should wait. I told this man what my fortune teller told me and I haven't heard from him since. I really should have grabbed him. What should I do now?

DEAR GEMINI: Call HIM. Maybe you can still get another crack at him—if he isn't already married to your fortune teller.

DEAR ABBY: My husband has been making a habit of taking his secretary to lunch every day. She is a young married woman with marriage problems and has been crying on my husband's shoulder. Now I am not saying there is anything going on between them, but I do not like the talk it's been causing. I told my husband I wanted him to stop this, but he says she pays for her own lunch so there is nothing wrong with it. Can you advise me?

DEAR NEEDS: The way to a man's heart is not always through his stomach. It can be through his shoulder, moistened with tears. Tell your husband that he is neither a Dear Abby nor a Father Confessor to his secretary. If you value your marriage, Madam, break up the luncheon dates. They can result in marital indigestion.

DEAR ABBY: I am 11 years old and have been going steady with a girl on my block. She is 9. She gave me her telescope and I gave her my frog. She's got aw-

McCaugh-Reed Wed In Clovis Rites

GROOM (Spl) — Miss Linda Claudette McCaugh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin McCaugh of Ralls, exchanged wedding vows at 7 p.m., Thursday, Dec. 27, with Robert Cleveland Reed, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Reed of Groom.

Joe Wilson, Church of Christ minister, performed the double-ring ceremony in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Moorman at Clovis, N. M.

The bride wore a white Italian knit suit accented with pink embroidered sweetheart roses. A corsage of pink sweetheart roses and rose accessories complemented the bride's attire.

Miss Amelia Parks and Danny Abell, both of Ralls, served as attendants for the couple.

Following a wedding trip to Ruidoso, N. M., the bride will complete the current semester at Texas Tech, Lubbock, and the bridegroom will complete his basic training with the U. S. Army at Ft. Polk, La. The couple plan to make their future residence in Albuquerque, N. M.

Girl Scout Leadership Training School Set For Pampa In January-February

Girl Scout leaders are going back to school! In the greatest training effort ever undertaken by the Girl Scout Organization, all troop leaders, assistant troop leaders, and committee members in the Quivira Council will polish up their present knowledge of Girl Scouting and learn some new ways of doing things along with Girl Scout Leaders all over the United States.

Purpose of the training is to prepare Girl Scout volunteers for a change that will become effective in September 1963. "We have known for some time," says Mrs. Eugene Turner, Girl Scout district chairman for Pampa and surrounding area, "that new handbooks were being written for four Girl Scout age levels instead of the three we now have. Our leaders are excited about the training course that will prepare them for Program Change."

Local leaders, assistant leaders and committee members will attend sessions at the Pampa Girl Scout Little House, 718 E. Kingsmill, Jan. 7 and 8, and Feb. 5 and 7 from 9 to 11:30 a.m. The trainers in charge are Mrs. R. C. Heaton Jr., Skellytown, and Mrs. Howard Martin, Pampa. Both are active volunteer workers in the Quivira Council and have taken special training in preparation for this course.

Each leader, according to Mrs. Turner, will be introduced to the program design for all four age levels before receiving special instruction on the one she will be leading next fall. This is being done because one main purpose of the program change is to establish better continuity from beginning to end of the 7-through-17 age range in Girl Scouting. Mrs. Turner adds that the Quivira Council is ready and eager to train new volunteers, as well as experienced ones, for leadership of troops in the new age levels. "We believe that Girl Scouting will be more fun than ever before, for leaders as well as girls," she says. "I hope that women who are interested in joining us will call Miss Celia Fowler, District Advisor, at the council office, MO 4-6882 for information on requirements for Girl Scout Leadership!"

Water District Voters Okay Annexation

Gray County voters of precincts 2, 3 and 4 of Ground Water Conservation District 3 yesterday voted to elect directors and decide on annexation issues.

In the annexation the designated area of Potter county voted unanimously to come into the district and the district unanimously voted to accept the new area, according to Felix Ryals of White Deer, manager of the water conservation district.

Ryals also reported that a nine square-mile area in the southwestern part of Carson County voted against coming into District 3.

In the precinct directors voting, for Precinct 2, the central portion of Carson County, Phil H. Hawkins was elected director. In Precinct 3, White Deer, Groom and the eastern part of Carson County, C. Russell McConnell was elected director, and in Precinct 4, Fred Vanderburg, Pampa, went in as director unopposed.

Commissioner

Cullough St. The action was taken, commissioners said, after a suggestion from the county that the city participate in the paving program to complete the project.

City Manager Harold Schmitzer explained that total cost of the project would be $21,143. Total cost of paving would be $14,829 with property owners paying $12,117 and the city paying $2,711.

The city, Schmitzer said, would pay $6,314, the entire cost of the storm sewer, with no assessments to property owners.

A public hearing will be held on the ordinance when it is introduced for final action on the project.

The commission approved three bills presented last night by International Harvester Co. for $3,489.12, Motor Inn Auto Supply for $218.54, and H. R. Thompson Parts and Supply for $367.65.

Also approved by the commission was renewal of a contract with the Pampa Independent School District for use of city tax documents and records on property valuations for school tax purposes.

The school district will pay the city $3,600 a year for the services.

Plans were discussed regarding the Jaycees' annual Bosses Night Banquet to be held January 24th at the Coronado Inn. Club President A. J. Carubbi Jr. announced that the Distinguished Service Award will be presented to Pampa's outstanding young man at the banquet.

It was also reported that Gene Hollar, Pampa Jaycee, and also a state vice president, will participate in the Five Outstanding Young Texans Banquet to be held in Brownsville January 17.

Harvester Basketball coach Terry Culley introduced the Hustling Harvester, special guest of the club, who was Gary Sikes.

Genealogical Society Sets Meeting Here

The Pampa Genealogical and Historical Society will conduct its January forum Thursday at 8 p.m. in Lovett Memorial Library.

The meeting is to commemorate the anniversary of the battle of New Orleans which closed the war of 1812.

David Grayson, recording secretary of the society and a member of the history faculty of White Deer High School, will present a review of American-British activities during the War of 1812.

An open forum will follow during which members and guests attending will read examples of family history or humorous anecdotes gleaned from old letters.

All attending are asked to bring any unusual historical letters or correspondence in their possession.

Mexico Is Putting Teeth In Order

CHIHUAHUA CITY, Mexico (UPI)—Four hundred federal troops were rushed into Chihuahua state Tuesday to back up orders telling Mexican squatters to get off ranches peacefully.

Officials in Chihuahua City, the state capital, said President Adolfo Lopez Mateos personally ordered Army Gen. Manuel Mendosa Dominguez to evict the peasants forcefully if he has to. Some of the federal troops carried machine guns.

Sources in Chihuahua City said the squatters moved onto the Las Baras, El Encino and Agua Nuevo ranches in the Casas Grandes area Tuesday. They were already reported on the 200,000-acre Santa Anita ranch in the same area.

Workers on the ranches said they recognized many of the squatters as mechanics, barbers and workmen from nearby cities. They said the squatters are camping out in style, with new tents, trucks and army cots.

Mexico City newspapers said the attempts to take over the lands were part of an international Communist plot directed from Moscow.

Quotes In The News

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga — U.N. Undersecretary Dr. Ralph Bunche, quashing rumors that he would try to reopen negotiations with Katangese President Moise Tshombe:

"I have nothing to say to Mr. Tshombe. The time for negotiations passed for him a long time ago."

MIAMI — Hulking Pittsburgh Steeler defenseman Big Daddy Lipscomb, commenting on the professional football game with the Detroit Lions which saw two men sent to the hospital and a number of others knocked cold:

Daniel

makers enact law enforcement measures "with special emphasis on the need for small loan regulation, enactment of the law enforcement study commission proposals, general improvements in the criminal code and code of criminal procedure, improved election laws and appropriations for an adequate juvenile parole system."

He told lawmakers Texas has one of the "most economically administered state governments" in the nation.

"The condition of state finances is far better than I have been able to report to a legislature in the past four years," Daniel said.

"The state comptroller's office estimate shows that we will end this fiscal year with a $10 million balance in the general fund," the governor added. "There is a total of net cash balances in other state funds of over $161 million, and invested special funds exceed $1.5 billion."

Current Spending Followed Daniel noted that in his $3 billion budget recommendations, all state agencies except higher education and state parks will operate basically under current appropriations levels.

Daniel recommended increasing state park funds by $2,856,000 for badly needed improvements and recommended an increase of $83.6 million for higher education.

Of the total increase in higher education, about $65.2 million will be necessary from the general fund revenue, he said. The rest can be made up by a tuition raise, suggested by the commission on higher education, he said.

Building Needs Cited "One other matter has become most urgent," Daniel told the legislature. "It relates to our state building program within the capitol area."

He pointed out that a proposed multi-storied apartment and office building on the western edge of the capitol would spoil the "view, the beauty and the spaciousness of our state capitol grounds."

He recommended lawmakers authorize the State Building Commission, which opposes erection of the tall building, to purchase the ground where the building is to be erected.

On their opening day Tuesday, House members wasted little time before getting into their first floor fight. It came on a resolution to adopt temporary rules in the chamber.

Reos. C. W. Pearcey of Temple and Bob Eckhardt of Houston led the opposition. Tunnell's forces won 113-34. The rules adopted are the same as those used in past sessions. They give Tunnell a free hand in selecting committees.

Tunnell, who has pledged a business-like session, said he may have his committee assignments ready by Thursday.

Senate committees won't be named until after Lt. Gov. Preston Smith is inaugurated next Tuesday.

Once committees are selected bills can be introduced and lawmakers can get down to work.

Tickets Still Available For Demo Dinner

AUSTIN — The supply of tickets to the Democratic Victory Dinner in Texas by the State Democratic Executive Committee, will be held Monday evening preceding Tuesday's Inauguration Day activities.

The Victory Dinner, the first such fund-raising event ever held in Texas by the State Democratic Executive Committee, will be held Monday evening preceding Tuesday's Inauguration Day activities.

All elected state officials will be introduced at the dinner.

There will be very few speeches and entertainment will be the highlight of the evening.

Vic Damone and his troupe of stars will interrupt their engagement at the Sands to entertain those attending.

All proceeds from the dinner will be used to help build a stronger Democratic party in Texas.

Congress

They said they had to win, or risk later loss of many of the President's controversial bills by default, through rules committee refusal to clear them for a vote in the House. They minimized the significance of a solid stand against their rules position taken Tuesday by House Republicans in preparation for today's showdown vote.

Senators agreed, meantime, to put off until next week the start of their perennial donnybrook on liberal efforts to change Senate rules to curb filibusters. Once it starts, this battle seems likely to tie up the talkative Senate for days.

Formal organization of both houses for the start of actual legislative work was being delayed by the separate rules fights at each end of the newly refurbished Capitol Building.

Meets With Leaders Kennedy called leaders of both parties to the White House Tuesday night for a pre-session run-down on world trouble spots from Cuba to the Congo. He invited Democratic leaders to return to the White House for a breakfast meeting today and an advance look at the problems he will dump in their laps in his address to a joint House-Senate session at 12:30 p.m., EST, Monday.

Despite last November's election returns, hailed by Democrats then as good news for the White House, much of what the President wants written into law this year and next faces a rough going-over.

The 88th Congress, with its 67 new House members and 12 new senators, shaped up as considerably different from the 87th in which he won and lost his main battles by a handful of votes.

Prowler Flees After Raising Window Of Home

A prowler who may have been frightened away after raising a window was reported to police last night by Mrs. Tom Elbright, 1081 Varnon.

Patrolman William Seawright, who investigated the call, said he found a rear window had been raised but could find no one in the vicinity.

Mrs. Elbright said she had heard a noise in the back yard and that dogs in the neighborhood were barking.

The Rev. Earl Pruitt, pastor of Immanuel Temple, reported yesterday that several Christmas packages were stolen from the church sometime between Dec. 23 and Dec. 28.

Jaycees See Film On MoD

Don Losher and Harold Miller, volunteer workers with the 1963 March of Dimes, presented the program at the meeting of the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce in the basement of the First Methodist Church at noon yesterday.

The program was the official MoD film for the year.

Special guests for the luncheon meeting included E. O. "Red" Wedgworth, manager of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, and John Wortman, chairman of the CoC's Merchants Activities Committee, who presented the club with a check for $150 for its work on the Christmas street decorations.

Also on hand at the meeting were Fred Hackett, president of the Amarillo Jaycees, and Miles Brown of Fort Worth, state Jaycee vice president, who gave a short "pep talk" to the club.

Plans were discussed regarding the Jaycees' annual Bosses Night Banquet to be held January 24th at the Coronado Inn. Club President A. J. Carubbi Jr. announced that the Distinguished Service Award will be presented to Pampa's outstanding young man at the banquet.

It was also reported that Gene Hollar, Pampa Jaycee, and also a state vice president, will participate in the Five Outstanding Young Texans Banquet to be held in Brownsville January 17.

Harvester Basketball coach Terry Culley introduced the Hustling Harvester, special guest of the club, who was Gary Sikes.

Two Check Cases Are Handled Here

In county court this morning Mrs. Elaine Myers of 2130 Dogwood, Pampa, pleaded guilty to a charge of swindling with worthless check. She was fined $5 and court costs. Restitution to the Minute Mart No. 3 was made on a $5 check she had given.

In Justice of the Peace court yesterday, J. W. Graham set bond at $500 for Mrs. W. B. Smith of 312 N. Faulkner on a charge of obtaining things of value with intent to defraud by passing a worthless check at the Iliom & Gee grocery store.

Dorman Is Injured In Accident

RHOME (Sp) — Sheriff Bud Dorman of Wheeler County suffered a sprained back and gashed forehead yesterday in a collision of his car and an automobile driven by a Fort Worth clothing salesman.

Texas Ranger Bill Baten, 41, of Pampa, who was riding with Dorman, escaped injury. The clothing salesman, Charles Howard Rusman, 28, was cited by highway patrolman Edward B. Sanders with "turning left not in safety." The accident occurred in Rhome on U.S. Highway 81.

The two Top O' Texas residents were on their way to Ft. Worth to question a burglary suspect.

Serious bleeding resulted from Dorman's head injury and he was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital, Ft. Worth, and released.

A highway patrolman from Mineral Wells is bringing the car back to this area.

Both cars had to be towed away following the accident.

THE BIG LIE

A PRIVATE CITIZEN CAN'T DO ANYTHING ABOUT COMMUNISM

Of course you can! Thousands of American citizens already have. Where? Communism's weakest spot—Eastern Europe. Here 80,000,000 people still resist Red domination. Here many Russian divisions are tied down.

You can get into the fight, by backing up one of our major weapons in the cold war—Radio Free Europe.

In daily broadcasts, Radio Free Europe's 28 powerful transmitters send messages of truth and hope to captive people... messages that expose Red lies.

Radio Free Europe is supported by private donations. It needs your help to keep the Communists off balance.

So stand up and be counted. Give now—whatever you can.

NCAA Threats Withdrawn

President Kennedy Asks For Settlement Of NCAA-AAU Feud

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The first dove of peace made a preliminary pass over the battle lines between the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) and the Amateur Athletic Union today, prompted by President Kennedy's efforts to settle the fight.

The conciliatory move was made by the NCAA at its 57th annual convention. An announcement of an exchange of telegrams between the President and the collegiate group was followed with the statement that NCAA threats of ineligibility against athletes would be withdrawn.

The convention call had included a proposed amendment to the by-laws under which any athlete who participated in a track and field meet not sanctioned by the NCAA-sponsored U.S. Track-and-Field Federation would be ineligible for collegiate national championship competition.

An NCAA spokesman, after reading the President's telegram to the convention and the NCAA reply Tuesday, announced plans to withdraw the controversial amendment, which had drawn the fire of the AAU and the apparent retaliatory suspension of Jim Dupree of Southern Illinois University for participating in a track federation open meet.

But NCAA stalwarts, including Asa Bushnell, commissioner of the vast Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference, were quick to point out the move did not mean the colleges were opening the doors for their athletes to compete in AAU meets, including the big indoor events about to get underway in the East.

Back Federation
Bushnell said the ECAC would stand firm behind the track federation until assured the arbitration requested by President Kennedy was certain to take place. Bushnell, however, said the boycott of the indoor meets carried no threats of punishment against violators in his conference and was the result of a vote by members.

Other major business scheduled at the NCAA convention's final session included consideration of reports of committees.

In his message to the NCAA, President Kennedy said: "Plans for arbitration are progressing. The AAU and the U.S. Track and Field Federation have agreed to arbitrate. General (Douglas) MacArthur is ready to begin. Is the NCAA agreeable to arbitration as suggested by the AAU?"

Endorses Efforts
The NCAA's statement of reply to the President declared its council unanimously endorse and commend the President's efforts and those of the attorney general to settle the breach in amateur athletics. But it was careful to say that the negotiations were between the Track and Field Federation and the AAU.

Bud Wilkinson Running In 1966 For Governor?

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Bud Wilkinson might be the next football coach of Stanford University. Or, he might be the next governor of Oklahoma.

It all depends on what he wants to do.

Wilkinson, one of the nation's most successful coaches while at the University of Oklahoma definitely is considering taking the Stanford job, which became available when Jack Curtice was fired at the close of the 1962 season.

However, a close associate who is with Wilkinson for the NCAA convention here, said the coach is being pressured to run for governor of Oklahoma in 1966 on the Democratic ticket—and Wilkinson does want to get into politics.

Wilkinson already is President Kennedy's advisor on physical fitness.

Of course, should Wilkinson leave for Stanford his Oklahoma political future would be about as bright as General Custer's at the Little Big Horn.

The associate told United Press International: "Bud has said that if he ever left Oklahoma he would like to coach at Stanford, one of the real pure football schools."

Texas Crushes Baylor; Aggies Rip Rice Owls

By PHILIP L. NEWMAN
United Press International

Two bitter rivals—Texas A&M and the University of Texas—remained atop the Southwest Conference basketball scramble today with unblemished records.

It was a breeze for the Longhorns Tuesday night, but the Aggies had to work.

Both have now won three and lost none.

Arkansas' Razorbacks were almost killed at the free throw line, whipping Texas Christian 81-59. Texas A&M beat Rice 71-61.

Southern Methodist also had to earn its 70-61 victory over Texas Tech.

Humphrey Stars

Center Mike Humphrey led Texas to a 76-38 victory over a cold Baylor team with the Longhorns hitting 58 per cent from the field. The 38-points by which Texas won was the most since 1955 when Texas beat another Baylor team by the same margin.

Arkansas' Jim Bane was the goat if there was one in the Hogs' 81-59 victory over TCU. Up to four seconds left in the game, the Razorbacks had bucketed 19 free throws without a miss.

Bane missed both of his.

The Razorbacks also hit 48.4 per cent of their field goals.

Larry Woolford led the Hogs with 23 points and his 6-6 teammate Tommy Boyer added 20.

After Arkansas broke a 19-19 deadlock with 10 minutes gone, it was the end for the Horned Ringers. Texas grabbed the advantage midway in the first half when Lou Fisher canned a driving layup and were never behind after that.

Humphrey, besides scoring 21 points, pulled down 15 rebounds, Winston Moore led Baylor with 12.

DISTRICT HOPEFUL — Pampa's Johnny Ironmonger is hopeful of winning another Golden Gloves District Championship. The hard-hitting Pampian knocked out his opponent in the first round in a match between Pampa and Wichita, Kan. last Saturday night. Ironmonger will be one of many experienced open fighters on hand for the district tournament, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

District Golden Gloves Start Tomorrow Night

Over 70 boxers are anticipated to enter the Pampa District Golden Gloves Tournament this Thursday, Friday, and Saturday nights.

The tournament, sponsored by the Pampa Optimist Clubs, is open to any boy wishing to enter the fights.

Shula New Colt Boss

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Don Shula, the 33-year-old defensive backfield specialist named to succeed Web Ewbank as head coach of the Baltimore Colts, faces at least one potential psychological hurdle in his new job.

The man who coached the Detroit Lions' defensive backfield before being elevated to his first head-coaching job Tuesday by Colt owner Carroll Rosenbloom will be joining a club that still has 11 players who were his teammates when he played with the Colts from 1953 to 1957.

The question cropped up in Baltimore earlier this week when Shula was reported the likely successor: "How will these veterans accept taking orders from a former teammate, one who was cut in fact while many of them remained with the club?"

The answer, of course, remains to be seen. Nonetheless, this could be a source of friction in a sport known for fraying nerves.

are scheduled to get underway at 8 p.m. all three days.

Weigh-in will be held tomorrow from the hours 12-1 and 4-6 p.m. The fighters must weigh in at these times.

Pampa's team shows promise of being the strongest in this region this year, especially in the open division. The Optimist boxers are favored to win many of the district trophies.

Among Pampa's top open division fighters expected to enter the tournament, are Johnny Ironmonger, Trent Olsen, Weylon Holtman, Jim Murray, Kenneth Wood, Gary Wilhelm, Dean Henderson, Dickie Wills, Charles Snider, and Bruce Topper.

One of the top matches of the tournament could well be a battle between Pampa's Gary Wilhelm and Amarillo's Ronnie Morgan in the 147-pound division. Both boys are top hands in the boxing game with impressive records.

Finals Slate
The pairings for the regional championships in the pee wee division are:

- 50 — Willie Harris, Skellytown, vs. Glen Davis, Borger.
- 55 — David White, Lefors, vs. Freddie Romines, Lefors.
- 60 — Earnie Fanning, Skellytown, vs. Gary Sims, Lefors.
- 65 — Kyle Saunderman, Canyon, vs. Mike Robbins, Lefors.
- 70 — Jerry Ledford, Skellytown, vs. Raymond Moore, Borger.
- 75 — Vince Stracener, Pampa, vs. Ricky Allen, Skellytown.
- 80 — J. T. Harris, Skellytown, vs. Kevin Romines, Lefors.
- 85 — Ike Shipman, Shamrock, vs. Jimmy Wilson, Liberal.
- 90 — Alfred Brown, Pampa, vs. Gary McFarland, Liberal.
- 95 — Phillip Long, Pampa, vs. Richard Dismuke, Pampa.
- 100 — H. D. LaRue, Pampa, vs. Robert Cameron, Canyon.

Rebels Win Two Battles

R. E. Lee's eighth and ninth graders downed Perryton teams yesterday in junior high basketball games.

Winning 40-18, 20 eighth graders played in the victory. High point honors went to Jack Thompson, 12, James Matney, 9, and 5 mission Goodlet, 9. The eighth-grade Rebels are 3-0 for the season and play Dumas there Thursday.

The ninth graders, 3-2 for the season, out-scored Perryton, 54-37, Gary Crossland scored 12 points in the Rebel victory and Steve Swanson 11. The ninth graders also play in Dumas tomorrow.

Long Jail Term Faces Molinas

NEW YORK (UPI) — Impressive Jack Molinas faced a possible 36-year jail term today after being convicted as the "master fixer" in a bribery scandal that took in 49 college basketball players in 51 different cities.

Unable to raise $25,000 bail after being found guilty on a five-count indictment in the criminal part of New York's Supreme Court Tuesday night, Molinas was taken to the city jail.

SKILL TO SPARE
by Dick Weber

13-Big 4
Most bowlers have faced the 4-6-7-10 spare, called the Big 4. They usually shake their heads and promise to do better next time. And they're right. It is practically impossible to make this, so concentrate on picking off the two easiest pins — usually the 4-7 for a righthanded bowler.

There usually are two reasons for this horror spare.

The ball hit the head pin head on and did not mix, created no pin action.

ALMOST impossible to make.

LONE JUNIOR — Pampa's Gary Sikes is the lone junior starting for the Harvesters this year. Sikes, 6-3 1/2 forward, is the "Hustling Harvester" this week. Sikes was honored at the weekly luncheon of the Jaycees yesterday. Sikes is the second leading Pampa scorer this year in season play and the third leading scorer in district play. Sikes is not only a top scorer for the Harvesters, but he is a rugged rebounder. (Photo by Smith Studio.)

Lubbock's Westerners came to town last night with both barrels loaded, but the red-hot guns cooled under Pampa's defense in the closing minutes of the 72-69 Harvesters victory.

Free throws saved Pampa's winning streak and the Harvesters perfect record in District 3-AAAA play. The Harvesters, connecting on 22 of 25 charity tosses, were out gunned from the floor, 30 to 25 field goals. The visitors hit 9 of 12 free throws.

Pampa, owning a 3-0 district record and an 18-1 season mark, has lined up 13 victories in a row.

counting the close shave last night in Harvester Fieldhouse.

In other Dist. 3-AAAA games played last night, Amarillo pounded Berger, 71-53; Monterey out-scored Palo Duro, 84-45; and Plainview battered Tascosa, 72-52.

Pampa, Amarillo, and Plainview are tied for the conference lead with identical records, 3-0 in district action.

Pampa travels to Berger for a tussle with the rival Bulldogs Friday night.

The loss gives Lubbock a 1-4 season mark and a 1-2 district record.

The Westerners came to town to shoot down the "Giant of the North", but the death-dealing ammunition went astray in the closing minutes.

Peaky Westerners

The Harvesters, with a definite height advantage, found the pesky Lubbockites rugged rebounders and sharp shooters from the floor. The Westerners were especially deadly at shooting from behind screens.

Both teams shot blazing 52 per cent in the first half with the Westerners getting more shots off. Pampa hit 13 of 25 attempts with Lubbock hitting 16 of 31.

The Westerners cooled in the second half, hitting 14 of 31 field goal attempts for 45 per cent.

Pampa getting away only 26 shots to Lubbock's 31 in the second half, shot 46 per cent the second half.

The taller Harvesters had their hands full battling the scrappy Westerners on the boards, but Randy Matson and Gary Sikes snatched the rebounds when they counted most for Pampa.

Keith Swanson turned in one of his better performances in the battle as the 6-6 guard paced the Pampans in the first half with 15 points.

Swanson scored seven straight points in the closing minutes of the initial period helping the Pampans overcome a 9-11 deficit.

Swanson Ties Score

Swanson tied the score at 11-11 with his second basket of his seven-point surge, and gave his teammates a 14-11 lead before guard Wayne Kreis zeroed in on the bucket to take over the scoring honors.

Pampa started off on the right foot with Sikes tipping in a shot to get the Harvester scoring machine rolling, but the Westerners quickly took over the lead and held it until Swanson's outbreak with three minutes left in the first quarter.

The game, knotted on seven occasions the first half and on three the final half, thrilled the large crowd throughout. The lead changed hands four times the first half with the determined Westerners staying within one to three points most of the second half.

Tight Game

Pampa threatened to break the tight game wide open in the third frame. In the opening four minutes of the third period, Pampa came alive scoring 16 points while limiting Lubbock to four.

The Westerners showed that the Harvesters weren't the only team well versed in the technique of scoring as Lubbock pulled within four points of Pampa at the end of the period, 56-62.

Lubbock plugged away at the Harvesters lead in the final period, pulling even with the Pampans, 63-63 midway in the final stanza. Kreis completed a three-point play giving the hard pressed Harvesters more breathing room.

However, Lubbock refused to be discouraged and kept snapping at Pampa's heels throughout. The biggest lead the Harvesters were able to muster in the final quarter was nine points and the Westerners kept within one point most of the way.

Blocked Shot

With 50 seconds left, Pampa's Matson batted down a shot by Danny Davis. The Lubbockites took the ball out of bounds. Larry Christian put the ball into flight for Lubbock. As the shot veered off course, Matson pulled the rebound down and Davis fouled him. The 6-6 1/2 Pampans hit two free throws putting the game on ice for Pampa, 72-67 with 40 seconds left. Lubbock connected on one more shot to move within three points as the game ended, 72-69.

Scoring in double figures for Pampa were Kreis, 23 points; Sikes, 15; Swanson, 17; and Matson, 13.

Kreis moved into the top scoring position in the district with his 23-point production. The other starting guard for Pampa, Swanson, has moved up to the number six spot in district scoring.

Lakers, Boston Start To Move Away From NBA Pack

By United Press International.

Syracuse's Hal Greer scoring 31 points and Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson meshing 27. Jack Twyman of the Royals hit 35.

The win gave Syracuse a three-game edge over the Royals in their battle for second place in the Eastern Division. Boston leads Syracuse by three and a half games.

Boston took its fifth straight from San Francisco with a 118-112 decision at the Cow Palace as Bob Cousy tanked 19. Los Angeles broke a St. Louis Hawks 13-game home court win streak with a 99-96 victory.

In other action it was: Detroit 109, New York 93; and Syracuse 119, Cincinnati 116.

San Francisco moved out to an 87-55 lead over Boston late in the third period, but then the Celtics put on a 12-0 spurt that shot them ahead.

Wilt Chamberlain hit 45 for the losers as 8,623 sat in at the Cow Palace.

Elgin Baylor was the difference at St. Louis. His two field goals in the last 30 seconds decided the issue and he had 28 altogether. Jerry West added 27 while Bob Pettit had 23 for the Hawks.

Detroit's win was its third straight and moved the Pistons past San Francisco into third place in the Western Division. Los Angeles leads second-place St. Louis by five and a half games.

The Detroit-New York game was played at Toledo, Ohio, and Bailey Howell of the winners led the scoring parade with 28 points. John Green had 18 for New York before leaving in the third period with an eye injury. There was no report on the extent of the injury.

Syracuse and Cincinnati also played on a neutral court at Dayton, Ohio.

Layne's Arm "Strong As Ever"

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI) — Pittsburgh Steeler quarterback Bobby Layne, who says his arm is as strong as ever, will think about it awhile before making any decision on his future.

The blond former University of Texas quarterback seemed a bit settled Tuesday at suggestion made by Steeler coach Buddy Parker that he (Layne) had "played long enough." Parker said Layne's arm "is not as strong as it used to be."

"They don't say anything about Tittle (Y.A. Tittle, 35, New York Giants quarterback), and I'm only one year older than Brown (Ed Brown, the other Steeler quarterback)," Layne said. National Football League records show Layne as 34 and Brown as 31.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
United Press International

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Gregory Peck's manner Tuesday night as the first guest of the late Dick Powell's television show was terse and professional, appropriate in keeping with the qualities of the producer-star who founded the anthology.

Before Powell's death last week, the cancer that had rendered him unable to continue in his work had resulted in the choosing of Peck and other stars to fill in as hosts of the NBC-TV program in the future.

Peck was the first thing on camera Tuesday night, with no introduction. Though a certain amount of feeling is only human, his extremely brief remarks avoided excessive theatricality.

"I'm speaking for a man who was a great and good friend to our industry," he said. He added that it was a privilege for the guest hosts to carry on with the show "as a memorial to Dick Powell."

Seconds later, the program, now known as "The Dick Powell Theatre" instead of "The Dick Powell Show," began in straight-forward fashion. The next three hosts are Bob Mitchum, Frank Sinatra and Glenn Ford.

Allan Sherman, whose record album "My Son, The Folk Singer" has sold more than one million copies, performed some of his satirical songs on CBS-TV's Garry Moore show Tuesday night, and behind that appearance—and, indeed, his entire sudden success—is a unique television story.

Years ago, in New York, Sherman helped create Moore's panel program, "I've Got A Secret," and was its producer. After some success as a comedy writer with a few of the better New York shows, he came to Hollywood and had a quiz program titled "Surprise Package." After a while, it seemed he had really landed on his feet when he was named producer of Steve Allen's new nightly syndicated program—before it was on the air.

As a Hollywoodian, Sherman's parodies of well-known songs, from Broadway hits and elsewhere, made him much sought after for parties, and resulted in the cutting of his album as sort of a lark. But before the album made him a sudden star, Sherman and the Allen show parted company, apparently quite bitterly, though Sherman said Allen was not involved.

The Hollywood trade press gave prominent play to Sherman's exit from the Allen program, and he was a very depressed fellow. We had some mutual friends, and at a series of week-hours breakfasts about that time at P.J.'s Club here, he left little doubt his career was at low-point.

Then, all at once, the record bun, "The First Family," came along, it was the hottest record in the nation. For example: Sherman's burlesque of Harry Belafonte's "Matilda," called "My Zeld," was so devastating that Belafonte had to play it down in his act for fear of getting laughs. At any rate, the offers poured in to Sherman. With Allen's help he worked up an act. He played Carnegie Hall and elsewhere. He is now at the Sands Hotel in Las Vegas. He was even named producer-director of the Writers Guild annual awards show Dec. 6.

The offers still come. He has a new album, "My Son, The Celebrity." Tonight an episode of ABC-TV's "Going My Way" is entitled "My Son, The Social Worker." And the last time I saw Sherman, he told me he was depressed, so he called up and ordered a gold Lincoln Continental. He did.

Triple A Motors Can Fix You Up With The Car Of Your Choice

Got the new car fever? Or the used car fever? Just the car fever? Triple A Motors, 811 W. Wilks, has the "car fever" doctors to help you cure those ills in short order and in a very pleasant, highly economical way.

Jimmie McBroom, owner, and John McGuire Jr., sales manager, can fix you up in the new car of your choice, as you order it, or they can sell you an Above Average Auto which has been used before but which can still provide plenty of first-rate transportation for you and your family.

The new and used cars at Triple A Motors are always above average. Why? Well, Jimmie McBroom is on the road every week buying cars which have had extra special good care during their short-lifetime. Jimmie and John want their customers to be satisfied completely with the car they purchase through Triple A Motors, whether it be a brand new week looking for good, clean, above average used cars to offer to the public in Pampa and surrounding area. You can select the car of your choice at Triple A Motors, and have BANK RATE FINANCING, too! (News Photo) one or one of the Above Average Autos which are used.

Triple A Motors used cars carry a 30 days or 1,000 mile guarantee as Triple A Motors will stand behind any car it sells.

They also will do custom buying for you... you come in, order the car you want, and the boys at Triple A Motors will trade with you, getting you the car you want in a hurry.

All that and BANK RATE FINANCING, too!

Also on hand at Triple A Motors are Frank Hooper, who helps to keep the cars cleaned up and in tip-top shape; Bob Marstella, a part-time salesman; and Joe Honeycutt, who helps in the Clean-Up Shop.

The Clean-Up Shop, by the way, is run by Wallace Jouett and offers custom cleaning of automobiles, to your order. You don't have to buy your car at Triple A

The Pampa Daily News

AN INDEPENDENT FREEDOM NEWSPAPER

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by any government, with the right of freedom, and that it is every man's duty to God to preserve his own liberty and respect the liberty of others.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guides expressed in the Ten Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. For only when man understands Freedom and is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities in harmony with the above moral principles.

The Overlooked Solution To Our Labor Problems

The fearful and dangerous powers amassed by labor unions have prompted many demands for reform. There is good reason to be alarmed, of course, when all New York newspapers can be closed at the whim of one union — or when a Jimmy Hoffa can turn off all transportation in the nation.

Recently-enacted laws and new proposals to correct these abuses all follow a central theme: new powers to government to regulate union activities. They include barring ex-convicts from holding union office, limitations on union size, prohibitions on strikes in certain situations, etc.

Although these reforms appear worthy on the surface, they are only attempts to regulate symptoms — while ignoring the cause of union abuses. That cause is the artificial protection of unions by government. Unions have been literally exempted from the natural laws of supply and demand — as well as from the legal laws against riot and violence.

To illustrate this exemption, let's look at a hypothetical — but typical — strike. We find pickets massed on private property against the owner's will — while employees loyal to the company are prevented, by force, from going to work. Local police frequently remain "neutral" and the employer is then required to seek a court injunction just to protect the natural rights of private property and freedom of movement.

In the middle of the strike the NLRB — National Labor Relations Board — may decide to step in and voice its opinion. The employer finds himself subjected to a high-pressure campaign by the NLRB to settle the dispute on the union's terms, or to force all employees to join the union, or to hold an election — supervised by the NLRB, of course. When the strike ends, those who have quit their jobs to join the strike — a basic American right — demand their jobs back. If the employer refuses them — another basic American right — the NLRB decides who should be rehired. Through these and many, many other artificial props, all created by government, the unions have obtained powers far beyond any they would have acquired naturally. Why then should we compound these past mistakes by creating more government controls in our attempts to restore justice?

We need less government — not more government. We need to repeal the unfair legislation of the past, abolish the NLRB, and enforce normal laws against violence.

A union is no different from any other business. It sells a service to workers — a bargaining representative service — for which it receives a monthly fee. It should therefore pay all the taxes that any other business pays, be subject to the same laws as any business, and receive no special privileges from government.

Let's not lose sight of our principles in seeking reform. If in trying to equalize matters, we heap more governmental controls on top of the monstrosities we have already created, we will be one long step closer to the all-powerful socialist state we are trying so hard to avoid.

Instead, let's end the union-government partnership. Then unions will have to clean their own houses and provide real services — or go out of business. The natural laws will operate freely, labor union domination by racketeers will no longer be a threat, and our economy can flourish again.

Borrowing Is Big Temptation

Going into debt is always a great temptation. Even when one must borrow to pay interest, the temptation to have what we want now and to pay for it later, is great.

There are always legitimate reasons to run into debt. These reasons principally apply to business and industry. A business man who borrows $1,000 because by his use of the money he can earn $2,000 is well advised to borrow, even if he has to pay a percentage on his earnings.

But the practice of borrowing for consumer items is risky. In most cases, except in the purchase of very large items, such as homes, automobiles, and so on, it is unnecessary.

But the real problem arising from debt comes from governments. For governments find it to their advantage to operate in debt. This is true wherever governments have gained monopoly control over money and credit.

When governments control not merely the taxing facility, but the actual media of exchange, it is to the advantage of the government to borrow. This is true because government is always in a position of borrowing good dollars and then paying back those dollars with other dollars which are not worth as much as those it has borrowed.

This practice is the principal reason for creeping inflation and, can, and frequently does, head into a run-away inflation.

No one but a government may do this. If any other person or agency attempted it, we could stop dealing with such a dishonest person or agency. But we cannot stop dealing with government, for government before it has anything else acquires a monopoly of force.

Our federal government has followed the practice of all governments of the past in this regard. Today, our federal debt is so large that interest on it alone is costing us one million dollars per hour.

Government obligations add up to approximately $6,642 for every man, woman and child in the United States. This totals $26,568 per family of four. Government invariably uses one of two principal reasons for running into debt. Reason No. 1 is that there are foreign enemies. Actually, these enemies are always made by the government. Private persons who may live in other countries are rarely if ever angry enough to go to war. But governments make policies which are inimical to the policies of other governments. And then, to make certain we are "safe" the government taxes us for defensive purposes.

The second reason is welfare. Government gets out its crying towel and tells us how poor many people are and how much they need help. It forgets to remind us that it has assisted in creating this poverty by taxing many people into a condition of financial insolvency.

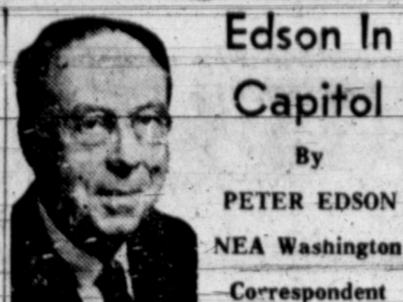

Thomas Jefferson once said: "Place economy among the most important virtues and public debt as the greatest danger to be feared. To preserve our independence we must not let our leaders load us with perpetual debt."

"We must endeavor to reduce the government to the practice of rigid economy, to avoid burdening the people and arming the magistrate with a patronage of money which might be used to corrupt the principle of government."

"The multiplication of public offices, increase of expenses beyond income, growth of the public debt, are indications soliciting the employment of the pruning knife. It is incumbent on every generation to pay its own debt as it goes."

Of course every government expenditure is defended on the argument of public safety. We must be protected, the government claims, both from foreign enemies and from poverty. But how are we to protect ourselves in these places, government fails to make clear. For it isn't the government that protects us. It is we who protect the government in each instance.

Maybe we had better begin to look after ourselves.

Edson In Capitol By PETER EDSON NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — President Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk have made a complete reversal on past foreign service policy in putting their O.K. on a National Academy of Foreign Affairs. The big idea is that it will train personnel from all government departments in the conduct of foreign policy.

Such an idea has been kicking around Washington for years but it has always been rejected. Trying to establish a government foreign policy trade school, it was felt, would narrow the outlook of diplomats. It would set up too rigid a curriculum and put too many fixed ideas into official training. It was considered better to send rising government officials for postgraduate research and training in existing universities.

The new enthusiasm for doing the twist on this past policy and establishing a National Academy of Foreign Affairs comes from three principal sources.

A presidential advisory panel headed by Vice President James A. Perkins of the Carnegie Corp. has recommended it. A Committee on Personnel for the New Diplomacy, headed by former Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, has recommended it as one point in a much broader report on foreign service reorganization requested by Rusk. Incidentally, Perkins was a member of the Herter committee, too.

But the principal impetus for this comes from a heterogeneous group of 12 senators and seven congressmen from left, right and center. For three years they have been advocating establishment of a "U.S. Freedom Academy" to educate government officials and private citizens on international communism and how to combat it. Their idea was to create a U.S. counterpart to the Russian political warfare schools. In short, it was to train government officials how to fight the cold war and win it.

One of the prime movers of this idea was Alan Grant Jr., of Orlando, Fla. Through the Council on Communist Aggression, which has considerable labor and liberal backing, Grant interested Rep. Walter Judd, R-Minn., in the idea. He interested Sen. Karl Mundt, R-S.D., and he got Sen. Paul Douglas, D-Ill., to co-sponsor it. Together they got senators like Dodd, D-Conn.; Goldwater, R-Ariz.; Case, R-N.J., and others.

They got their Freedom Academy bill through the Senate at the end of 1960, but it died in the House. It got no place in the last Congress, but it will come alive in the next one. A Gallup poll shows 69 per cent support, 14 per cent opposed.

So Kennedy has assigned Rusk to prepare legislation and he has assigned Under Secretary for Administration William H. Orrick Jr., formerly an assistant attorney general, Yale whiz kid and Stanford lawyer, to organize an inter-departmental group to work it out. The administration idea is to set it up on a somewhat broader basis than the Mundt-Douglas Freedom Academy bill. The National Academy of Foreign Affairs would not do away with the War College, Annapolis, West Point or the Air Force academies. It would not even replace the State Department Foreign Service Institute or other specialist schools which have been training government officials for overseas service for some years. It is Congress which will really write the ticket on this.

"That Man's Here Again!"

The Doctor Says (The American Way)

Fresh Air Helps Remove Airborne Germs

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT Q—My wife has sinusitis. A friend has recommended that I treat her with vapor containing triethylene glycol because he claims that this will kill air-borne germs. Do you agree?

A—Of all the vapors used to kill airborne germs triethylene glycol is probably the best. It finds its greatest usefulness in preventing the spread of airborne disease from patient to patient in a hospital. Even here, however, it has serious limitations.

The simplest and best measure for removing air contaminants in the home is ventilation from open windows. Unfortunately there is much more to the treatment of sinusitis than providing a supply of fresh air.

If the condition has persisted for more than two or three weeks it is necessary to make sure proper drainage from the sinuses has been established. Obstructions to normal breathing through the nose must be removed and allergy must be ruled out or, if it is present, treated. Before you consider buying a vaporizer to sterilize the air in your home, your wife should have a thorough check-up by a nose and throat specialist.

Q—Does the strontium chloride in a certain brand of toothpaste have any connection with the strontium-90 in radioactive fallout?

A—Strontium is a metal that is similar to calcium. It is harmless, but according to the American Dental Assn. it is doubtful that it has any useful action on the teeth or gums. Its radioactive isotope is not used in the manufacture of any article for sale to the public. Q—I have been cured of a duodenal ulcer. Must I continue indefinitely on an "ulcer diet"?

A—The food eaten does not cause the ulcer in the first place, so when the ulcer is healed a gradual return to a less restricted diet can be made. Nevertheless, foods that have coarse indigestible skins should be peeled because of the generally irritating effect. Another reader asks whether after having a peptic ulcer for three months he may have a bottle of beer. Alcohol in any form will aggravate an ulcer that has not completely healed. If it is known that complete healing has taken place one beer would not cause a recurrence. "Moderation in all things," however, applies with added force to persons who have had ulcers.

Q—When a woman has had her uterus and one ovary removed does this throw her into the change of life or will she have the change in her forties as she normally would without the operation?

A—When both ovaries are removed the menopause or change starts in at once but if only one ovary is removed and a functioning ovary remains the change will not occur until the usual time.

Q—What is the oldest recorded age that a woman has given birth to a child?

A—Although this is a most unusual case, a woman gave birth to her 23rd child when she was 63, then kept right on menstruating. With the cessation of menstruation the child-bearing period is over. But, because the menopause is a gradual process often with gaps of three or four months between periods, many a woman who thought her menopause was complete has given birth to a "change-of-life baby."

Please send your questions and comments to Dr. Wayne Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

Question: "Is a means of success in spiritual and material things, knowing who to believe?" Success means using your talents as near to 100 per cent as you are capable of doing. With that interpretation of success, everybody can be a success.

Then, knowing whom to believe and have confidence in and trust is very important. This is true because no individual has the time or energy to analyze every question. He has to take the word of someone else. He cannot go back to the beginning of time and try to figure everything out. For this reason, whom you trust and whom you believe will determine largely what the individual will develop into, whether he will be useful to himself and useful to all mankind and add to the happiness and well-being of all mankind, or whether he will subtract from the well-being of mankind as a whole.

Knowing who is your friend is one of the most important things to know. There is nothing that comes into your home that is more important to your success than knowing whom your friends are and whom you can trust. And if you cannot trust a man, he is certainly anything but your friend.

Yes, the means you use determines the results you'll get. This is true because the means predetermine the results.

GET US OUT! By Harry Browne

The United Nations has finally won a victory!

After years of failures, the UN has succeeded in something: It was unable to stop India's invasion of Goa, or confiscation of American overseas property, or the Communist rape of Hungary. But now it has won a victory—it has apparently conquered the free enterprise, pro-American province of Katanga.

Why conquer Katanga? Because it refused to be ruled by a pro-Communist Congo government. So the "peace-keeping" UN initiated three wars against Katanga — and now appears to have won one.

At the same time, many voices in the U.S. are being raised to suggest that the UN be given the police power to control us, too. Sound inviting?

Isn't it time we took off our blinders and faced the realities of the UN? Isn't it time we acknowledged its vices and questioned its virtues?

We cling to the UN because of a few time-worn clichés that are never challenged. Isn't it time to face them?

For instance, it's argued that the UN has given food and medicine to needy people all over the world. That's true — and so has the American foreign aid program. But neither one has done half the job that's been done for decades by American churches and charitable groups — on a voluntary basis.

It's also argued that the UN has prevented war. This is not true. Since the founding of the UN, there has been war in China, Korea, Algeria, Goa, the Congo, Hungary, Laos, Tibet and Vietnam. And the UN itself started the war in Katanga!

Lastly, it's argued that the UN provides a forum where nations can exchange views. But diplomatic relations between nations have always existed. We don't need a UN to make our views known to others.

The UN simply does not live up to any of its propaganda claims and promises. And yet we pay dearly just to keep it alive.

Many of our gifts to the UN have been channeled directly into Communist hands. In fact, the Communists' ability to make the UN do its bidding is obvious to all.

The only cure is obvious to all. The only cure is to get the U.S. out of the UN — and quick!

And now with the UN's vices in the Congo currently exposed for all to see — our opportunity to influence Congress has never been greater.

Write your Congressman and Senators right now — ask them to promote Congressman Uti's bill, H.R. 9567, to withdraw the U.S. from the UN. Add your voice to the growing battle cry: "Get US out!"

ROBERT ALLEN ALLEN-SCOTT Report New Kennedy 3-Group Cuban Policy Based On Unconfirmed 'Line' Planted by Brazilian Left PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy's new approach of looking for an "acceptable" Castro replacement from within the Cuban government is based on policy estimates as strange as the one that misled him into believing Russia would never send "offensive" weapons to Cuba.

The new estimates, originating from a branch of the Central Intelligence Agency headed by Sherman Kent, portrayed the Cuban leadership as sharply divided into three groups, including one favoring a Tito-type Red regime, one pro-Soviet, and the other pro-Red China.

One of the estimates being widely leaked by the State Department suggests a Sino-Soviet struggle among the conflicting leadership groups for allegiance of the Cuban government.

According to reliable officials whose Cuban information has been accurate in the past, the U.S. has no "hard" intelligence to support these assumptions on which the President's new policy — hinted in his Miami speech — is based.

Instead, these veteran intelligence experts say that the most reliable information clearly shows that a "united" six-man National Directorate is now ruling Cuba. Headed by Premier Castro, this directorate takes its policy guidance from Moscow and includes Raul Castro, Ernesto "Che" Guevara, President Dorticos, Blas Roca and Emilio Aragonés.

All of these officials are reported as "dedicated" Communists who proved their loyalty to Moscow during the recent Cuban crisis. The directorate, without a single dissenting vote, endorsed the withdrawal of the Soviet missiles and IL-28 bombers from Cuba.

The latter action came after Deputy Premier Mikoyan brought word from Premier Khrushchev that he had definite assurances there would be no U.S. invasion. CHAIN OF COMMAND — As exclusively reported in this column on December 26, the Kremlin is exercising increasing control over these Cuban officials through Soviet General C. Slazenko, commander-in-chief of an estimated 28,000 to 33,000 Russian troops in Cuba.

General Slazenko issues direct orders to the directorate. Significantly, these orders usually are based on messages received from the Kremlin via the new Soviet Communications Center.

Located outside of Havana, this center is one of the most advanced in the world. It contains some of the most modern radio transmission and intercept equipment in existence.

There are other signs of increased Russian influence in Cuba. The Soviet Army Command areas are still growing in size despite the departure of a few hundred Russian technicians in recent weeks. Also, the estimated 1,200 Chinese Communist technicians in Cuba are now quartered in one of the Soviet areas near Banes.

THE BRAZILIAN PLAN — The only Latin American support for the President's new Cuban tactic comes from Brazil's left-leaning President Goulart, whose agents have planted the unconfirmed stories about the three conflicting groups in Cuba.

In behalf of the new Kennedy policy, Goulart has told U.S. officials that he will make a concentrated effort to get Castro to follow what could be called a Yugoslav position, with special emphasis on a new brand of "Latin American socialism." No time limit has been set for this Goulart move, but he believes there is enough support in the Cuban government to influence Castro to consider becoming a Caribbean-Tito — minimizing his link with Russia.

President Goulart, with Russian support, has been trying to work out a negotiated settlement to permit Cuba to return to the Organization of American States ever since the withdrawal of Soviet rockets from the island. Cuba was expelled from the OAS a year ago after the hemispheric foreign ministers found its "Marxist-Leninist" regime "incompatible" with the ideals of democracy.

Under Goulart's plan, Castro would be offered hemispheric economic aid in exchange for his pledge not to export his style of communism and not to use Cuba as a base for medium range Soviet missiles or bombers.

The Goulart concept is carefully being studied by presidential assistant McGeorge Bundy, who also serves as secretary to the National Security Council, highest U.S. policy-making body.

AROUND THE WORLD — India is planning to increase its army's combat strength by almost 50 per cent in the next 15 months. Although his long-range goal still is to triple India's 600,000-man army, Prime Minister Nehru has asked the U.S. for military equipment to add six combat divisions plus the necessary supporting troops by March 1964. India now has 11 divisions. Nehru will ask his parliament in February for a military budget equivalent to $1.47 billion for the coming fiscal year — or about double the present budget.

Russia is sending considerable quantities of new military equipment to North Korea. The Soviet weapons range from a new light-weight sub-machinegun to the latest Soviet tank. Latest U.S. intelligence estimates give Russia 75,000 tanks of all types, or about seven times more than the U.S. Army has in operation and reserve.

The moon is full. The morning stars are Mars and Venus.

The evening stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history: In 1788, Connecticut ratified the Constitution.

In 1793, the first successful balloon flight in the U.S. was made by Jean Pierre Blanchard over Philadelphia.

In 1861, Mississippi seceded from the Union.

In 1945, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's promise "I shall return" was fulfilled as American soldiers invaded Luzon in the Philippine Islands.

A thought for the day — English poet and essayist John Addington Symonds said: "No seed shall perish which the soul hath sown."
