MARCH OF DIMES

MARCH OF DIMES VOLUNTEERS — Clyde Carruth of Pampa, left, Gray County March of Dimes Campaign Director, is shown here with Jimmy Bogness, 5, of Coy, Ark., the 1963 National March of Dimes Boy who was born with an open spine and water on the brain, and his mother, Mrs. Shirley Bogness. All three attended a planning meeting in Dallas for the 25th Anniversary MoD campaign currently underway through the month of January. The voluntary health organization, using the theme, "Give for the Life of a Child," is raising funds for aid to victims of birth defects, arthritis and polio, and for research into those crippling diseases.

Carruth Explains Campaign

"The goal of the 25th Anniversary March of Dimes this January is to provide the best of medical care, right in their own communities, to the hundreds of thousands of American children disabled by birth defects and arthritis," said Clyde Carruth, Gray County MoD Campaign director.

The necessity for voluntary assistance of this scope was emphasized by Carruth, who announced that the March of Dimes campaign would run throughout the month of January.

"However," he added, "most of our activities will be concluded by the 22nd if the weather is favorable for the Bucket Brigade and the Mothers' March, which will be held on the 19th and 21st, respectively. We are asking everyone to 'Give for the Life of a Child,' because here are so many communities that just don't have adequate facilities to care for the disabled child. In addition, millions of dollars must still be developed."

Home For Aged Fund Drive To Start Here Soon

Preliminary plans for the fund drive to be conducted by the Top O' Texas Foundation for a convalescent nursing home for the aged in Pampa are expected to take shape next week.

Arthur Teed, foundation president, announced today that Larry Lidstrom, treasurer of the Hockenbury System, Inc., which will conduct the financial campaign, will arrive in Pampa sometime during the week to assume direction of the fund raising effort.

Teed said Lidstrom is an outstanding campaign director and was one of the directors of the financial drive for Pampa's Coronado Inn.

In a letter to Teed, Myron D. Hockenbury, president of the Hockenbury System, said: "It has been determined that the need is evident and we believe Pampa citizens will respond as they have in the past."

UN Plan Would Give Cuba $480,000 In US Tax Money

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UPI) — The United States is fighting a U.N. plan to give Castro Cuba $1.2 million, $480,000 of which probably would come out of the U.S. taxpayer's pocket.

U.S. sources said that, leaving political differences aside, Fidel Castro's revolutionary regime has not fulfilled the technical requirements which would qualify it for the grant.

They pointed out that the Castroites have refused admittance to Cuba to representatives of the U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization, the agency charged with supervision of the proposed farm experiment station at Santiago de las Vegas which is supposed to be built with the U.N. funds.

The project was approved by the council of the U.N. special fund despite U.S. objections. The United States ordinarily pays 40 per cent of such grants.

But Split Develops Among Liberal Demos

Conservatives Are Routed In Rules Fight

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Administration Democrats in the House began feuding among themselves today after routing President Kennedy's conservative foes in the first struggle of the new Congress.

The intra-party strife erupted over the filing of Democratic vacancies on the House Ways & Means Committee. The outcome could determine the fate of Kennedy's controversial medicare program for the aged.

The issue will be settled at a caucus of the 258 House Democrats Monday, a few hours before the President delivers his State of the Union address. Kennedy's speech before a joint meeting of the House and Senate at 12:30 p.m. EST Monday will be carried to the nation by radio and television.

Traffic Accidents Down In 1962, Police Chief Says

There were 34 fewer traffic accidents in Pampa in 1962 than in 1961, Police Chief Jim Conner said today.

Chief Conner said he was working on the annual report to the National Safety Association, but that complete breakdowns had not yet been completed.

Wednesday when the House by a surprisingly wide margin of 39 votes beat down an attempt by conservatives to seize control of its legislative machinery.

Slight Vote Increase

GOP-Dixie Coalition Is Ripped

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A massive shift in Southern sentiment made a shambles of the House Rules Committee fight and ripped apart the Republican-Dixie coalition on the opening day of Congress.

Fifty congressmen from the old Confederacy lined up with the administration and Speaker John McCormack to insure a liberalized Rules Committee.

Only 44 followed Judge Howard W. Smith, D-Va., chairman of the committee.

Two years ago, 62 Southern congressmen rallied behind Smith and with the GOP. Only 36 voted against him.

The big change came in Georgia, a state where politicians have long been known as party men. The entire 10-man delegation voted to increase the size of the vital committee. Two years ago only the dean, Rep. Carl Vinson, and Rep. J. L. Pitcher, risked it.

The roll call vote was 235-196. That compares with the 217-212 margin by which administration forces squeaked to victory in the same fight two years ago.

Texas Delegation Split, 14-9

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Texas delegation split 14-9 Wednesday in favor of making permanent a temporary expansion of the House Rules Committee from 12 to 15 members.

Fourteen Texas Democratic congressmen voted for the move while seven Democrats and two Republicans from Texas voted against it.

Democrats voting for the plan were Reps. Brooks, Gonzalez, Ma-drum, D-Ga., to one of the two vacancies.

There were major defections from the conservative cause in Florida and North Carolina.

But a pro-administration shift by Southern Democrats accounted for most of the difference from the 1961 vote. Southern

Tshombe Free From UN 'Erroneous' House Arrest

Cold Wave Due In Area

The Pampa and Top O' Texas area this noon was bracing itself for what has been given advance billing as the first real onslaught of winter.

The official weatherman at Amarillo said this forenoon that a windy, icy blast out of Canada barged into the northern Panhandle this morning and was due locally this afternoon and tonight.

He said it probably will be accompanied by snow and wind up to 25 to 35 miles an hour and will send the mercury plunging to a low of around 10 above zero in Pampa tonight.

A 10-above reading would be a far cry from yesterday's high in the mid-70s and the balmy spring-like weather that has been prevalent in Pampa during the past week.

Skies were clear in Pampa at dawn today and a bright sun shone until about 10:30 a.m. when a cloud cover moved in and the temperature began to drop.

Weathermen say the new front moving in today is so deep its bitterest cold is hundreds of miles behind its leading edge and promise a shocking, frigid end to the sunny skies and warmth of the past week. Tomorrow's high is expected to be in the mid-20s.

By daybreak tomorrow the front is expected to thrust its icy fingers of freezing rain and snow far southward into Central Texas.

By the time the full effects of the storm reach deep into the state, temperatures are expected to plummet to around zero in the northern Panhandle and to sub-freezing levels over all but the southern-most sections.

Dalhart Reports 24

The front left a 6 a.m. reading of 24 degrees at Dalhart, while only a few miles to the south Amarillo had a reading of 39 and Lubbock 42.

At the same time, the full force of the cold air mass was still in Nebraska and Colorado and was not expected to push on into Texas until late today and tonight.

Cold wave and livestock warnings were issued for the northern and upper western sections of the state tonight and for the remainder of the state Friday.

The snowfall, expected to be concentrated mostly in Northwest Texas, was not expected to be heavy. But, it will be whipped by strong winds.

Sub-zero Readings

The huge cold air mass stretched far north into Arctic Canada where readings were 50 and 60 degrees below zero and weathermen said they expected the wintry weather would pay a prolonged visit to Texas.

Judge Disqualifies Self In Dunn Case

PECOS, Tex. (UPI) — Dist. Judge J. H. Starley disqualified himself today in a hearing to determine whether Dr. John Dunn, the first man to blow the whistle on Billie Sol Estes, was properly dismissed from the staff of Reeves County Hospital.

The hearing was continued until Friday.

Dunn, a member of the John Birch Society, turned Estes in to the FBI almost two years ago. He charged that he was dismissed from the hospital staff two weeks ago because of politics.

The hospital board said it dismissed Dunn because he could not get along with the staff. Dunn demanded late Wednesday that Judge Starley disqualify himself.

Starley disqualified himself at the start of the hearing, without ever entering the courtroom.

Judge W. E. Ward of 34th District Court, El Paso, took over for Starley. Judge Ward then continued the hearing until Friday.

Dunn filed three legal motions Wednesday. One demanded the disqualification of Starley. Another asked that the hearing be delayed until Jan. 17 so he could get more lawyers.

Katanga President In Victorious Drive

By PETER LYNCH
United Press International

MOKAMBO, Katanga, The Congo (UPI) — Katanga President Moise Tshombe, freed from United Nations house arrest, drove to this border town today to meet his aides and greet thousands of wildly cheering Katangese citizens.

Tshombe's motorcade swept past a U.N. armored column and drove in triumph down the Elisabethville-Northern Rhodesia road to a meeting with his interior minister, Godefroid Munongo, said to be leading a large Katangese military force massed on the border.

The U. N. armored column trundled down the road after Tshombe. It was believed to be bent on mopping up the remaining pockets of Katangese resistance.

Officials said Tshombe tried to persuade Munongo and the other ministers present—Justice Minister Valentine Ilunga, Education Minister Albert Nyenbo and presidential attache Odilon Mwenda—to return to Elisabethville to govern from there.

The officials said Munongo opposed this and said he wanted to stay in Mokambo or Kolwezi, Tshombe's last major stronghold in Katanga.

Sabotage Reported
The U. N. column pushed to within three miles of the border. Reports from Elisabethville said the Katangese had blown up another bridge on the road between Jadotville and Kiweri and had sabotaged an electric railway line by exploding a transformer.

The drive was an amazing triumph for Tshombe. It followed a morning of intense confusion surrounding the house arrest.

Tunisian U. N. troops, responding to an order from Secretary General Thant to keep Tshombe from "further irresponsible acts," surrounded his presidential palace Wednesday night and refused to let him leave.

Six hours later after an intercession by the British and Belgian consuls, the troop cordon was removed amid U. N. protestations that the whole thing had been a "slight misunderstanding."

A half-hour later Tshombe's motorcade, spearheaded by a police jeep with siren wailing and pursued by a convoy of press cars, drove past the U. N. armor, which had massed on the road to Mokambo.

At the first village he reached, hundreds of Africans surged into the road and swarmed over his car, shouting, "Tshombe! Tshombe!"

At other points along the road, rag-tag remnants of Tshombe's scattered army stood at attention, presenting arms with a wide variety of weapons—most of them unloaded.

Denial of Arrest
Almost no one seemed to know what really happened concerning the house arrest. U. N. officials, in fact, flatly denied it ever happened.

But early Wednesday evening, Tunisian soldiers moved around the palace and set up machine-guns. When Tshombe tried to leave the palace with a carload of luggage to drive to his home with British consul Derek Dodson, he was turned back by the armed Tunisians.

Belgian Consul Van de Walle telephoned U. N. headquarters and told them he intended to return to his home whether the United Nations let him or not.

"If the Tunisians shoot," he said, "you will have a dead Belgian consul general to add to your list."

Six hours later the guard was withdrawn, and U.N. aide George Sherry, an American, said the arrest was due to a "slight misunderstanding."

Informed sources said the U.N. troops following Tshombe toward the border apparently would carry out an operation to open communications between Elisabethville and Rhodesia.

Police Seeking 'Ceiling Peeper'

Police today were investigating the case of a prowler and "ceiling peeper" at the Connelly Apartments, 722 W. Kingsmill, last night.

G. C. Dunham, manager, called police at 8:35 p.m. and said a woman tenant had just notified him that while she was looking through a dresser drawer in the bedroom she heard a noise above her head.

When she looked up, according to Dunham, the woman saw the ceiling bulge and then a knife blade was plunged through it.

She immediately notified the manager who called police. Patrolman Lorin Pigg, investigating the report, said he found four holes punched in the ceiling. One of them was in the bathroom and three in the living and bedroom area.

Further investigation, Patrolman Pigg said, showed that the prowler had climbed on a car in the apartment house carport and crawled through a hole leading into the attic. He said the intruder apparently left the same way.

Mrs. R. F. Utzman reported to police that her son, Raymond, who delivers newspapers in the mornings, was stopped about 6:30 o'clock yesterday morning by a man in a car who told the youth he was a Texas Ranger and asked what he was doing and where he was going. Young Utzman said the man left him at Rosewood and Juniper Sts. and then followed

Uncle Billy Frost Is Honored By Pampa Friends

This was Uncle Billy Frost's day. Pampa was paying tribute to him between 3 and 5 p.m. today at a reception in Coronado Inn honoring his 100th birthday.

Hundreds of persons were expected to drop by and extend congratulations to Uncle Billy. He also was to be the honored guest at a dinner scheduled later in the day with close friends and relatives.

Uncle Billy's only living brother, 87-year-old Burt Frost, is in Pampa for today's reception, as is his only living child, 73-year-old Charley Frost of Chaney, Kan.

Jerry Sims was to act as master of ceremonies and host for Uncle Billy at this afternoon's open house reception at the Coronado.

Born in Tiney, Pa., on Jan. 10 1863, Mr. Frost came to Pampa in 1927 and had been connected with the oil industry up until his retirement in the 40s.

Uncle Billy, a member of the First Christian Church, lives by himself at 1105 N. Charles St., where he does his own house-keeping, cooking and yard work.

He was for many years a superintendent for the Dunigan Brothers Oil Co. here and E. J. Dunigan Jr. was the principal organizer of today's reception and open house for Uncle Billy.

A special request was made that Pampans not call at Uncle Billy's home before the reception.

If it comes from a hardware store we have it. Lewis Hdw. Adv.

Former McLean Man Honored At Abilene College

McLEAN (Sp) — Leslie G. Huff Sr. of Austin and a 1926 graduate of McLean High School, has been named Abilene Christian College's Outstanding Alumnus of the Year for 1962. He is now president of American Founders Life Insurance Co.

Huff's selection was announced Friday night at a meeting of former students held in Catchings Cafeteria on the ACC campus. He was chosen by the Alumni Association's executive committee from nominations received from members of the association.

Huff was chosen because of the success of American Founders, now one of the fastest-growing insurance companies in the nation.

In April that company gave ACC through its educational foundation, 3,500 shares of the stock of a pledge totaling 5,000 shares. At that time, value of the 5,000 shares was estimated at $250,000 but the price of the share has increased considerably since.

Huff is a 1930 graduate of Abilene Christian College, and his wife, the former Eunice Swape, is a 1931 graduate. They have four children: Norma, now Mrs. Clyde Gordon of New Orleans, of the ACC class of '33; Lynn, a missionary to Brazil, and a 1938 graduate of the college; David of Dexter, Mich., a 1951 graduate of ACC; and Leslie Jr., Austin High School.

Huff was born in Harmon County, Okla., on March 23, 1909, but was graduated from McLean High School in 1926. After his graduation from ACC he went on to earn the master's degree at the University of Texas in 1936.

He has been a member of the Abilene Christian College board of trustees since 1949.

Huff is the son of A. C. Huff of McLean and a brother of Mrs. Pete Fulbright, also of McLean.

Strontium 90 Is Still In Safe Range

WASHINGTON (UPI)— Even 19-year-old boys, the nation's heaviest eaters, are consuming only tiny amounts of strontium 90 despite continued nuclear weapons tests.

Based on studies of "market basket" samples taken in Atlanta, Minneapolis, San Francisco, St. Louis and Washington, the Food and Drug Administration said that age group still was consuming in its food only a fraction of the maximum amount of strontium 90 considered safe.

An FDA spokesman said the food samples actually contained about twice as much strontium 90 as was consumed. Half of the radioactive material was discarded in peelings, bones and other waste material.

The food was selected from the agriculture department's "moderate income plan" as nutritionally adequate for 19-year-old boys, whose average consumption of about 55 pounds of food and drink a week is higher than any other age and sex group.

The food tested was bought at two large chain stores in each city. Samples were taken every three months for 15 months until last August in Washington, and during last May and August in the other cities.

The average daily intake of strontium 90 in the Washington sample was 25.9 micromicrocuries which is about 13 per cent of the protection guide of the Radiation Council; Atlanta, 19.6 mmc, 9.8 per cent; Minneapolis, 31.6 mmc, 15.8 per cent; San Francisco, 12.8 mmc, 6.4 per cent; and St. Louis, 33 mmc, 16.5 per cent.

Good Vitamin C Sources

Q—If the price of oranges and grapefruit, or canned orange or grapefruit juice, go very high because of the recent freeze in Florida, what other sources of vitamin C can I use—sources not too expensive?

A—Tomatoes, canned or juice, are excellent sources of vitamin C. But you must use about twice as much of them as you would of orange or grapefruit juice to get the same amount of vitamin C, according to Dr. Horace L. Sipple, executive director of the Nutrition Foundation.

Potatoes are a fair source. But as they are served in such large quantities, they add up to a good source, he explains. To get the most vitamin C from potatoes, bake them or boil with their skins on. Mashed, fried or scalloped, they lose much of the valuable vitamin.

Cabbage is another fairly good source. Don't overcook it and select the greenest you can find. Q—Aren't apples a good source of vitamin C? Can't I give them to my children in place of the fruit or juice of oranges and grapefruit?

A—Apples, peaches, pears and apricots are delicious and valuable in a balanced diet, but they are poor sources of vitamin C, unless ascorbic acid has been added when canned.

This molded vegetable salad with cottage cheese goes well with glazed ham for a buffet supper.

6 tablespoons lemon juice
1 cup grated carrot
1/2 cup finely chopped green pepper
1/2 cup diced celery
Watercress or lettuce
2 cups (1 pint) creamed cottage cheese
1/4 cup minced onion
Few grains pepper

Soften gelatin in cold water; add hot water and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Add sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt and lemon juice. Chill until partially set. Fold in carrots, green pepper, and celery. Pour into a buttered ring mold; chill until firm. Unmold on lettuce or watercress. Combine cottage cheese, onion and remaining salt and pepper. Place in center of ring mold.

MUSTARD CREAM DRESSING

1 cup dairy sour cream
1 1/2 to 2 tablespoons Dijon mustard
1/2 teaspoon lemon juice
Salt to taste

Combine ingredients and chill. Serve on grilled peach halves or pineapple rings with baked ham. Makes 1 cup of dressing.

Table cloths folded lengthwise and hung on hangers with clothespins will have fewer folds. Cover with a plastic garment bag until needed. Use a piece of aluminum foil around the bottom of a soft drink bottle or can. It will act as an insulator to keep the drink cold and also will serve as a coaster.

The Lighter Side Self-Flattering Legislators

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Just before the opening of a new congressional session, I customarily make a tour of the legislative premises to see if everything is shipshape.

The shape of the ship is coming more and more to resemble a yacht. If our lawmakers won't exactly be sitting in the lap of luxury, they certainly have moved a long way above the knee of necessity.

Each year I find that the interior of the Capitol has undergone further refinement or the comfort and convenience of those who must bear the burdens of statecraft.

Eventually, I suppose, they will install an automatic statecraft burden bearer. Meantime, here are some of the improvements I noted on this year's tour:

All cars on the Senate's branch line subway have now been equipped with rubber wheels. This will enable the Senators to glide along in swanlike serenity. The original steel wheels, being somewhat rough and noisy, were deemed unsuitable for vehicles christened "swift chariots of democracy." They made the cars more like "bumpy buggies of bureaucracy."

The expensive marble floor in a corridor of the new east front has been covered with a carpet so thick and springy that walking on it makes me feel like I'm on a pogo stick.

This presumably is for the benefit of congressmen who have tender feet. The next step, I assume, will be to cover the carpet with plastic.

The signal lights in all of the Capitol elevators have been changed. They previously marked the floors by letters (F, P and G). Now the floors are numbered (1, 2 and 3). The elevators, however, still go up and down.

The bell system used to summon members of Congress for quorum calls and such has been augmented by panels of starry lights. For each bell that rings, a star shines. This presumably is for the benefit of congressmen who are hard of hearing.

The panels have so many stars they resemble the shoulder board of an admiral in the Panamanian navy. For example, when a congressman sees five stars in the east, he knows the House has recessed.

Tshombe

(Continued From Page 1) imposed Tshombe had told newsmen he would go to Mokoambo today. Mokoambo is near Sakania, where Munongo was last reported. Both towns are about 100 miles south of Elisabethville.

Tshombe was put under house arrest about 9 p.m. Shortly afterwards, the British and Belgian diplomats rushed to U.N. headquarters to discuss the situation. Six hours later the Tunisian troops were withdrawn.

Wednesday Tshombe said he was ready to make peace with the Central Congolese government in Leopoldville, but he warned that he would implement a "scorched earth" policy if U.N. troops attacked Kolwezi, his last stronghold. Kolwezi is a key industrial town and air base 160 miles northwest of here.

Tshombe told a news conference that his forces had mined valuable mining installations at

"With adequate public support, we will move fast to increase help to the victims of birth defects and arthritis while at the same time meeting the responsibilities in the field of polio. There are now more than 50 March of Dimes treatment centers in many parts of the nation, two of which are located in Texas, one in Dallas and one in Houston. These 50 centers are affiliated with nearly half of the nation's medical schools," he said.

"The March of Dimes has contributed some $73,000,000 to the development of these centers, some of which are for birth defects while others are for arthritis or polio. They make it possible for those afflicted to have early diagnosis, along with expert treatment and therapy, by teams of medical specialists, which is essential and can often prevent or correct progressive crippling of young limbs and bodies.

"While the Salk and Sabin vaccines are the best known results of March of Dimes-supported research," Carruth pointed out, "the 25-year fight against polio had also opened up many promising lines of inquiry into birth defects, arthritis and other diseases.

"Many of these research leads will be followed up by March of Dimes research grantees here and abroad as well as by scientists at the Salk Institute for Biological Studies, which is now being built at San Diego, California," Carruth said.

"This is a vast program of tremendous promise, and it will require large amounts of money. I'm confident the American people will continue to support the March of Dimes in its historic role of advancing the well-being of mankind. 5 Directors Named To United Fund

Five new directors were elected at the annual meeting of the Pampa-Lefors United Fund yesterday afternoon in the Citizens Hospitality Room.

Named to serve three-year terms were Travis Lively Sr., Ralph Thomas, McHenry Lane, George Scott and George Newberry.

They will succeed E. E. Sheltner, Kirk Duncan, J. B. Massa, Floyd Watson and Sam Begert, whose terms expired.

Five new directors are elected each year to the 15-man Fund board. Those continuing to serve on the board are Floyd E. Imel, E. L. Green Jr., Loyal Davies, Frank Smith, Mrs. Dona Cornutt, H. V. Wilks, Melvin Jayroe, J. C. Roberts and Mrs. Mack Harmon.

It was announced at the meeting that the Fund fell short of its $73,000 goal in 1962. A total of $60,541 was raised.

Fund officials said this will necessitate a 15 per cent reduction in the distribution of funds to the participating agencies.

"The annual election of officers was postponed until a later meeting, according to Mrs. Elsie Gee, Fund secretary.

Scout officials urged all Cubbers who have not participated in the basic training experience to attend. It will be beneficial even if the Tuesday night session was missed, they stated.

Ernest Clark Rites Today

CANADIAN (Sp.)—Ernest Clark, 78-year-old retired farmer and early-day Panhandle school teacher, died Tuesday afternoon in Hemphill County Hospital after a brief illness.

Interment will be in Edith Ford Memorial Cemetery.

Mr. Clark was a native Texan, born at Rising Star, March 18, 1884. He came to the Panhandle in 1910, teaching in the school at McLean. He taught later in Canadian, Miami, Dumas and Mobeetie, and elsewhere.

He retired from teaching in 1929 and had farmed near Canadian since then.

Survivors include his wife, of Canadian; two daughters, Mrs. Mary Jean Jones of Oklahoma City, Okla., and Mrs. Betty Savage of Perryton; five grandchildren, two great-grandchildren, six brothers and sisters.

Grand Jury To Reconvene Here

The Gray County grand jury will go back into a short session tomorrow morning, Dist. Atty. Bill Waters said today.

The jury has been summoned for 10 a.m. Friday. Waters stated to consider two or three forgery cases. The accused persons, he said, were not in custody when the grand jury met Monday.

"The suspects have been arrested," Waters said, "and we want to dispose of the cases now."

Lady's 'Retreat' Can Be Orderly

Bringing order to the busy homemaker's desk is in the opinion of many, about as likely as getting a leopard to change his spots.

The habit of hanging onto miscellaneous paper can be sharply criticized by the family. I have reason to know I'm not the only homemaker to suffer criticism or to strive sincerely for improvement.

So I sought the advice of a homemaker whose desk is a monument to tidiness. Get a filing cabinet, she advised, and file everything in labeled folders. The filing cabinet wouldn't fit near the desk and had to be put on an unheated porch. Because of the difficulty of filing with furnished gloves on, this system is ineffective from November to April.

Into this sticky dilemma burst a bright ray of hope when a girl who shares this problem sent me a picture and description of a "lady retreat" area in a model room designed by Elisabeth Draper. In this gracefully decorated area, what catches my eye at once is the use of individual file boxes to store a range of miscellany. The imaginary lady in this household has really far-flung interests because the numerous boxes ranged from one for "Quotations" to several for pet charities. To lift these boxes out of the office category, the backs had been covered or painted to match the wall and the content subject matter smartly penned above the pull tab. The file boxes fit on standard shelves.

restful with a birdseye maple desk and an upholstered tub chair. Desk is placed at right angles to a window shaded by drapes and Venetian blinds laminated with the same fabric used on the chair and a chaise longue.

Overall Solution
STORRS, Conn. (UPI) — How a 3-year-old can do two things at once—hold up his pants and button them—is suggested by an extension clothing specialist at the University of Connecticut.

When making the child's overalls, cut the shoulder straps long enough to reach the child's waist. Then, put a buttonhole at the end of each strap and sew extra buttons inside the waistband. The child merely steps into the overall, pulls it up and slips an arm under each of the shoulder straps.

The organization woman maintains order at her home desk with the help of individual file boxes in which a wide range of papers can be stored.

Dear Abby...

Tell Him...
You're Not Available!!!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: About a year ago I met a man. I'll call him Paul. We went together constantly and I learned to care for him deeply. He said the feeling was mutual. Then I found out from a friend that Paul was getting married. In September he married a very respectable girl. He has called me since his marriage and has begged me to see him again. So far I have refused although my feelings for him have not changed. I want to know two things: (1) Why would a man with a young, attractive and newly acquired wife want to see someone else? (2) What should I do?

MIXED UP
DEAR MIXED UP: (1) Some men are more interested in the chase than in the prize. Once they've caught it, they seek the excitement of the chase again. Your friend is such a man. (2) Tell him the only married man you'd have time for would be your own husband. And hang up!

Mrs. Hasse Gives "A Step In Time" To Church Women

The Presbyterian Women's Association met Wednesday morning in the Educational Building with Mrs. Homer Johnson, president, presiding.

The meeting was opened by Mrs. Harvey Nienstiel with prayer for the Presbyterian Missionaries listed in the Year Book of Prayer. Following the reading of annual reports by officers of the association, a devotional was conducted by Mrs. Robert Doley, who gave excerpts from Peter Marshall's sermon, "Gather Ye Christians."

Mrs. Warren Hasse, program chairman, using visual aids, presented "A Step In Time." She was assisted by Mrs. Fred Brown and Mrs. Vernon Miner, teachers in the Primary Department, who described ways in which children may be encouraged in spiritual growth.

Church year books were distributed. Mrs. Hasse announced that programs for Circle meetings would be the Bible study from the book, "One People of God" from January through June, followed by a study of Asia, starting in September.

Hostesses during the coffee hour were Mrs. Harvey Nienstiel and Mrs. W. B. Lemmons.

Pour a cup of bleach in the diaper pail with soaking diapers to keep them white, and to prevent diaper-pail odor.

To keep from burning fingers when reaching for the muffin pan in the oven, keep a pair of ice tongs handy. They also can be used when lifting macaroni from hot water.

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who has travelled a lot and thinks she knows everything. She says that in the Middle East, the traditional bridal dress is RED. I have been unable to find this in any book. Is it true?

CHECKING UP
DEAR CHECKING: Yes. In East Pakistan. And the groom's face is covered with gilt (not guilt) to complete the picture.

DEAR ABBY: Where do I start if I want to check the character and background of a person? A young woman with a child comes to my home uninvited and stays for weeks at a time. She is trying to capture my 33-year-old son. He is a very smart man in some ways, but he's never been married and is stupid when it comes to women. Please, before he marries her, tell me how to get some information on her.

BOX 443
DEAR BOX 443: You could hire a private detective to check up on her, but it seems to me that a "smart" man of 33 should be smart enough in all matters to take care of himself. The woman is not "uninvited" if she visits you on your son's invitation. Why don't you have a talk with your son and get the facts, ma'am?

DEAR ABBY: I am an interior designer and freelance artist and sometimes I work from 6 p.m. until 4 a.m. My work requires light. My next door neighbor threatens to call the police because she claims my light keeps her awake. What if her window opened on a street light or neon sign? Is there any law against keeping one's lights on 24 hours if necessary? I don't want to make trouble, but I want your opinion on this.

NIGHT WORKER
DEAR WORKER: It is your privilege to keep your light on all night if you wish. If the light bothers your neighbor, SHE should get herself a heavy shade.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Hate to write letters? Send one dollar to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., for Abby's new booklet, "How to Write Letters For All Occasions."

The Mature Parent

Distance Isn't Independence!!

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Dear Mrs. Lawrence: I'm 26 years old and have lived with my mother and aunt since my parents were divorced years ago. There's a girl I want to marry, but though my mother knows this she doesn't seem to understand that I want to leave home. She is a good woman; she has worked hard to educate me. I don't want you to think I have anything against her. It's this house I can't stand. Sometimes I feel it is strangling me. ANSWER: But mother thinks this house of hers is perfectly satisfying to you, doesn't she? O.K., you disagree with her. It is now your obligation to know that you disagree with her on even more important matters.

A young adult struggling for independence from mother often imagines that he is struggling for physical distance from her. This is not the case.

What he is struggling for is the self-trust that will enable him to hold different opinions from hers—the freedom to question her views of right and wrong, of loyalty and disloyalty. If he doesn't get this clear in his head, he may never win true independence from mother. Though he leaves her, marries and has children, he will remain secretly chained to her power to declare him wrong or disloyal whenever he offends her.

Are you brave enough to walk out on your mother's certainties of right and wrong? That's always the test, you know. It's the test because the young person who has rejected mother's certainties has none of his own to guide him. The test is endurance of uncertainty—until we have developed our own views of right and wrong.

In this trying time of chaos and suspense, a young man like you may need support of his right to question mother. So, instead of rushing out to take a place of your

Mrs. J. Connally's Inauguration Gown

AUSTIN (UPI) — Here are a few fashion notes for next week's gubernatorial inauguration.

Mrs. John Connally, wife of the governor-elect, has bought two gowns. One is for the $25-a-plate "Victory Dinner" in Austin's Municipal Auditorium Monday night. The other is for the public reception in the capitol Tuesday night, following the inauguration at noon.

Traditional white gowns are passed this year because the customary inaugural ball has been dispensed with.

At the Monday night dinner, Mrs. Connally will wear blue silk chiffon, an original two-piece ensemble designed by Patullo-Copeland. The sleeveless overblouse is encrusted with pearls and crystals, and falls gently into scallops at the hipline. The long, slim skirt features gentle fullness in the front and a slight train in the back.

For the inaugural reception, Mrs. Connally chose a long gown of handloomed medallion tapestry brocade in deep tones of red, subtly touched with deep green and combined with frosted green chiffon.

Pampa Meets Rival Borger Friday

By LEE WHITE
Pampa News Sports Editor

Pampa's Harvesters will dangle a 13-game winning streak and a 3-0 district mark before a victory starved pack of Bulldogs in Borger Friday night.

The growing Bulldogs, a long-time rival of Pampa for basketball supremacy in the Panhandle, have gone hungry in the early part of district action.

Pampa owns an 18-1 season mark as compared to Borger's 9-5 season record.

Humiliation has been dealt the Bulldogs by neighbors from the southlands, Plainview and Monterey. Both teams have whipped the Bulldogs soundly in the Borger High gym. Never before had the Bulldogs from Plainview out-grown Borger in its own ken. Plainview battered Borger, 63-45, and Monterey out-scored the Bulldogs, 98-50.

The Sandies of Amarillo handed Borger its third loss in district action in as many games Tuesday night, 71-53.

Hungry Bulldogs
The hungry Bulldogs will be on the prowl for victory — a tasty meal at the expense of Pampa.

Zephyrs Topple Boston Celtics

By United Press International
General Manager Frank Lane claims the Chicago Zephyrs have a "good chance" of making the playoffs and they must feel the same way today after beating the Boston Celtics for the first time this season.

Not only did the Zephyrs down the Celtics, 131-123, Wednesday night but they also beat them at their own game by controlling the defensive backboard.

Previous to Wednesday night, the Celtics had defeated the Zephyrs three times this season and their only other loss to Chicago occurred exactly a year ago when the Zephyrs were known as the Packers.

Charlie Hardnett paced the winners with 35 points and teammate Walt Bellamy netted 29. John Havlicek, with 20 points, was high man for the Celtics, who obviously missed Bill Russell, out with an injured back.

The victory moved the Zephyrs within three games of the fourth-place-Detroit Pistons in the Western Division and four-and-a-half games from the third-place San Francisco Warriors.

The Los Angeles Lakers, leaders in the division, won their seventh straight game by clipping the Detroit Pistons, 123-115, as Jerry West led the way with 40 points. Elgin Baylor scored 25 points to help the Lakers along while Ray Scott led the Pistons with 29.

Veteran Bob Pettit poured in 29 points and rookie Zelmo Beaty hit for 27 to help the St. Louis Hawks maul the New York Knickerbockers, 110-95, and the Cincinnati Royals rallied from a 14-point deficit in the third period to down the Syracuse Nationals, 116-112.

Oscar Robertson was high scorer for the Royals with 29 points. Hal Greer's 25 points made him high man for the Nats.

Basketeers Hold Practice

The Kiwanis — Optimist Basketball Program for fifth and sixth graders gets underway tonight with the first practice sessions.

The practice sessions will be held at the respective elementary schools from six-eight p.m.

The schedule for this week includes practice periods today and Saturday morning.

Teams from Austin, Baker, Horace Mann, Lamar, and Travis elementary schools are participating in the program.

First games in league play will be on Saturday, Jan. 19, with a full slate of contests scheduled.

tall man or the experience necessary to keep up with the scorching race in Dist. 3-AAA this year.

Hanna is expected to use Joe Robinson and Roland Franklin at post positions and will go with Royce Barron, Robert Tillman, and Raymond Burns outside. All but Tillman are 6-2. The smallest member of the quintet is 5-9.

Top Borger Scorer
Franklin is the top Borger scorer in district play this year with a 16.3 average, the fifth best in the conference. Burns owns an 11.7 average and Tillman a 8.0 average in district play.

Coch Terry Culley can be expected to leave his highly successful combination of Randy Matson, 6-6½; Keith Swanson, 6-9; Wayne Kreis, 5-9; Gary Sikes, 6-3½; and Gordon Balch, 6-1 intact for tomorrow night's battle.

The Harvesters were hard-pressed Tuesday night by a determined Lubbock quintet. Pampa, suffering its only loss of the season due to poor free throw shooting, cashed in on 22 of 25 charity tosses to sink Lubbock, 72-66. The loss was at the hands of Thomas Jefferson, 55-52, in the sixth game of the season.

In games played last year between the two schools, Borger handed Pampa two losses, one a 62-60 overtime fracas. In the second encounter, the Bulldogs won handily, 57-45.

Offensive Thrust
Pampa's offensive thrust is well-rounded this year with all five starters capable of scoring in the double figures. Pampa's guard combination of Kreis and Swanson is the highest scoring in the district. Kreis is the top scorer at the end of three games with a 22.3 average. Swanson is no. 1 in conference play, scoring at a 15.7 clip.

Pampa is the highest scoring team in the district this season, 71.3 points per game, with Plainview in the second spot, 67.3. The brand of basketball played by the Pampagers allows point-making as exhibited by the 60 points a game allowed by Pampa's defense.

Lions Volunteer For Truth Tests

DETROIT (UPI) — Four Detroit Lions players have volunteered to take lie detector tests to prove that acquaintanceship with known gamblers did not affect their play.

William Clay Ford, Lion's president, said that Darris McCord, John Gordy, Alex Karras and Wayne Walker all volunteered to take the tests.

Three of the players — Karras, Gordy and Walker — were named in a report made by Detroit Police Commissioner George Edwards to the Lions management and National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

The report linked the three players with known gamblers but no criminal actions were discovered in the associations.

Ford said Wednesday it had been his understanding that Rozelle was coming to Detroit early next week to take personal charge of the investigation.

In New York, however, Rozelle denied he planned to question the four players and said he did not have any plans to come to Detroit. Rozelle said only that the investigation was continuing and he will make a statement when it is concluded.

Ford said he was convinced all the Lions players were in the clear but he conceded some of them may have used "poor judgment."

McCord, a defensive end, was not mentioned by name in the report.

The Lions became involved in the football investigation when it was reported that the management was unhappy with Karras' partnership in a Detroit bar, where police said known gamblers congregated.

NCAA Looks To MacArthur For Solution To Problem

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Delegates to the 57th annual National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) convention today looked to Gen. Douglas MacArthur for a solution of the bitter fight for control of amateur athletics in the United States.

The three-day convention ended Wednesday with the schism between the Amateur Athletic Union and the NCAA-sponsored sports federations having virtually excluded all other major business.

The convention opened under the cloud of threats by some schools to participate in AAU indoor track meets in defiance of the federations and the proposed NCAA retaliatory measure of declaring defectors ineligible for championship competition.

But supporters of the NCAA program backing the U.S. Track and Field Federation held the line, forced the insurgents to abide by the federation programs and then in a conciliatory move withdrew the ineligibility threat.

Arbitration also moved a step closer during the convention under the prodding of President Kennedy and the track federation. The NCAA apparently satisfied AAU demands that the collegiate association should be a party by informing the President that it was behind the track federation's participation in arbitration.

Robert F. Ray of the University of Iowa was installed as NCAA president, succeeding Henry B. Hardt of Texas Christian University, and Everett D.

Paul Brown Dismissed From Cleveland Browns

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Paul Brown's sudden dismissal after 17 years as coach of the Cleveland Browns ended a fantastic football era today and immediately gave rise to speculation that Otto Graham, his former star pupil, might succeed him.

PAUL BROWN ... gets walking papers

Blanton Collier, Cleveland's offensive backfield coach and a close personal friend of Brown, also appeared to be in the running to replace the man whose whip-cracking methods helped the Browns win seven National Football League division titles and three world championships.

The 34-year-old Brown, who also was relieved of his general manager duties, apparently was so shocked by the suddenness of his firing that he went into seclusion Wednesday night.

Arthur Modell, president of the club which bears Brown's name, said "I have several men in mind as a possible successor and I hope to have an announcement within 10 days." He said he has talked to no one about the job.

Modell, who described the firing as "a simple reorganization," denied reports of friction between him and Brown.

"Pretty Well Floored"
Collier said, "I heard there were problems, but nobody thought this would happen." He said he was "pretty well floored" by the firing.

"It happened so fast, I've had no time to make any plans," Collier said. "I don't know what's going to happen. I haven't talked to Paul."

Brown apparently went into hiding.

Even Collier, a close friend of Brown since their World War II days at the Great Lakes Naval Training Center, did not know where Brown had gone.

Brown, according to Modell, will finish the six years remaining in his 10-year contract as vice president, "with the same compensation," an estimated $50,000 per year.

Collier was with the Browns when they were organized as part of the old All-America Conference in 1946. He left the team in 1954 to take over as head coach of the University of Kentucky where he stayed until last season.

Brown Signed Graham
Graham, one of the greatest pro quarterbacks, was the first player signed by Brown when he organized the team. Brown developed Graham as a formidable T quarterback. Graham has been coaching at the Coast Guard Academy for four years.

The firing has ended, at least temporarily, a brilliant 33-year coaching career which included 296 victories, 76 losses and 15 ties. Among these are a 52-4-3 record in the All-America Conference from 1946 to 1949 and an 18-1 record as head coach at Ohio State University from 1941 to 1943.

SKILL TO SPARE

by Dick Weber

14-The 1-5-8-9

On the 1-5-8-9 leave, it looks as though the bowler had rolled not one, but two bad balls—one on each side.

To make this monstrosity, take the strike position and roll for the 1-3 pocket, slightly more to the left than for a strike. The ball takes the 5 and 9. The 3 takes the 8. Sometimes it works the other way, the ball driving through to down the 5, going on to remove the 8. The 5 nabs the 9.

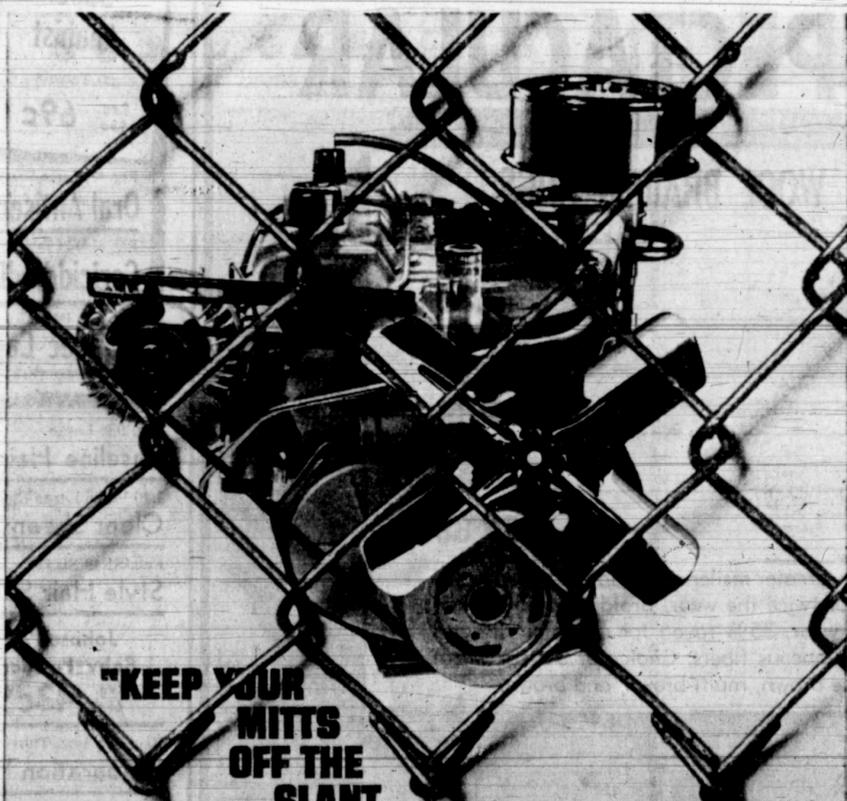

This leave results from the bowler losing control, dropping the ball at the line instead of laying it down like a plane making a good landing.

HOW did pins fall this way?

The ball probably hit the 3-6 pocket, the 3 skidded across and nipped the 2 from behind and that pin took out the 4 and 7. The ball got the 6-10.

EXPERIENCED BOXER — Pampa's Kenneth Wood will be one of many experienced boxers fighting from Pampa's corner in the District Golden Gloves which start tonight in Optimist Boys Club Building at 8 p.m. The bouts will also be held Friday and Saturday nights.

Bell time is 8 p.m. tonight as the annual Pampa District Golden Gloves get underway with plenty of boxers expected to pit their skills in the ring.

The tournament, to be held in the Optimist Boys Club Building, will last three days — Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of this week.

Along with the district bouts, the Regional Golden Gloves Tournament for pee wees will be held on the same nights. The elimination bouts were held last Thursday and Friday nights narrowing the field of pee wees down to 22 finalists.

Among the district champs from last year expected to be on hand for the leather-slugging contests are Paul Garcia, Dumas; Johnny Ironmonger, Pampa; Gary Wilhelm, Pampa; and Dickie Wills, Pampa.

Pairings for the fights will be made after all the contestants have weighed in.

Weigh in periods for fighters were 12-1 p.m. and 4-6 p.m. today. Admission prices for the bouts the first two nights are: children under 12, 50 cents; general, $1.25; and ringside, $1.50. Prices for the final night, Saturday, are children under 12, 50 cents; general, $1.50; and ringside, $2.00.

Approximately 20 bouts will be held each night of the tournament. The tourney is a single round affair in which one loss by a boxer automatically drops him from contention.

Some of the towns entering teams and boxers are: B o r g e r, Stinnett, Skellytown, L e f o r s, S h a m r o c k, Hereford, Liberal, Kan., Guymon, Okla., C a n y o n, Perryton, and Amarillo along with the Pampa Optimist team.

TL President Offers Changes

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—Texas League president Dick Butler would like to see pitchers use a little less time in trying to get batters out. This will be discussed at the TL meeting Jan. 19-20 at El Paso.

Butler's proposed changes would limit pitchers to five warm up throws between innings, instead of eight. Another change would limit the pitcher to 20 seconds between tosses.

Texas League baseball clubs also will discuss the 1963 schedule and pick a site for the 1963 game between the Texas League All-Stars and the National League Houston Colts. The TL All-stars whipped the Colts last year.

Those scheduled to attend the meeting will be John McMullan and Elton Schiller of Albuquerque; W. S. Eakins and Jack Caro, Amarillo; Art Kowalski, Austin; Hugh Finnelly, Tulsa; John Ferraris, San Antonio and John Phelan and Bob Morris of El Paso.

annual affair.

Some of the people helping out with the district tournament are Cliff Dunham, director; ticket sales, ushering, Al Green, Cliff Hill, Cliff Scott, Charlie Hammon and Homer Miller; ringside announcer, Jerry Coley; time-keeper, J. D. Roth; referees and judges, Jim Arndt, Floyd Watson, and Dunham; equipment men, Gene Tollison, Ray Blummer; and dressing rooms, Eddie Lowrance and Ray Browning.

The teams for Pampa and their coaches are: First National Bank, O'ie Wilhelm; Citizen's Bank, Don Riley, Mickey White; Parsley's Roofing, Cecil Stracener; and Richard Drug, Bo Brown, Charles Snider.

Westminster No. 1 Again

NEW YORK (UPI)—Westminster of Pennsylvania lost more of its lead in the United Press International small college basketball ratings today as Wittenberg of Ohio and Tennessee State moved up into challenging positions and Southeast Missouri joined the top 10 for the first time.

Westminster, the defending small college champion which now has led this season's ratings all six weeks, was named No. 1 by only 13 of the 35 coaches who comprise the UPI rating board.

Wittenberg, which defeated Westminster two weeks ago, was picked by nine coaches for the top spot. Only one named Tennessee State, but that school obtained enough second and third place support to rank right behind Westminster and Wittenberg.

With points distributed on a basis of 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 for votes from first through 10th places, Westminster had 281 points; Wittenberg 259 and Tennessee State 225.

Westminster was idle last week and that apparently caused a few coaches to switch their support. Two weeks ago — before the loss to Wittenberg — the Titans were the top pick of 21 coaches.

Wittenberg, which has lost one of eight games, defeated Muskingum in its only start last week, while Tennessee State added two more victories for a 10-2 record.

Southern Illinois, second a week ago, was idle and slipped to fourth this week, while Evansville defeated DePauw for its seventh victory in 10 games and moved up two places to fifth.

Prarie View A&M, fourth last week, was sixth this time after splitting a pair of games: Grambling boosted its record to 12-1 but dropped from sixth to seventh; Hofstra (10-3) remained eighth; Southeastern Oklahoma (9-3) held ninth and Southeast Missouri (9-0) advanced from 13th to 10th, replacing Mt. St. Mary's (Md.) which slipped out of the top 20.

Liston Says "Fight's Off"

CHICAGO (UPI)—Heavyweight champion Sonny Liston announced today that his proposed return title defense against Floyd Patterson at Miami Beach on April 4 is "definitely off."

Big Sonny declared: "If Patterson wants to fight me it will have to be at Baltimore in May and after Championship Sports pays me the money I got due me from our first fight."

The first Liston-Patterson fight was staged at Comiskey Park last Sept. 25 when Sonny won the championship from Floyd on a first round knockout.

"I still got more than $200,000 coming from that fight," explained Liston. "Championship Sports broke our return bout contract when they didn't pay me my first $50,000 within 24 hours. So now they can't hold up the rest of my money in escrow (sic) on the broken contract."

Talks With Lawyers — "And Championship Sports won't promote my first defense."

Asked if he had taken this stand after talking it over with his advisor, Jack Nilon of Chester, Pa., Liston stated, "I've talked it over with lawyers."

Liston bellowed even louder Wednesday when he heard premature disclosures about the proposed Miami Beach fight. "Nobody contacted me about the fight, and whoever is making noises about it better talk to me before they get into this too deep," the champion said.

Meanwhile, Tom Bolan, president of Championship Sports, Inc., insisted in New York that Liston and Patterson will sign formal contracts there next week for their return bout.

At Miami Beach Wednesday night, Chairman Fred Aaronson of the Beach Commission, said the commission had not been officially approached for approval of the fight.

MCKAY HONORED

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—Coach John McKay of top-ranked Southern California will receive the Robert Zupke Trophy at the annual banquet of the Columbus Touchdown Club Jan. 18.

The trophy, given in memory of the late Illinois coach, is awarded to the college football coach who has faced "the most demanding schedule."

RUSSELL SUCCEEDS BLAKE — LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Fred Russell, sports editor of the Nashville, Tenn., Banner, has been named to succeed Earl Blaik as chairman of the National Football Foundation Honors Court.

What It Means To Own Stock

There still seems to be a great aura of mystery about how the American business and financial edifices function.

Principal temple of mystery seems to be the stock exchange. There is a popular myth that giant corporations are owned by multimillionaires, control billions of dollars worth of tools and equipment, rake in dollars by the bushel and otherwise sit on top of a great horde of people, dominating them at will.

This is pure fiction. It happens that there are 17,010,000 stockholders in this nation. The ownership of the bulk of our businesses and industries is in their hands. This means that one out of every six adult Americans is an owner of anywhere from one share of stock up to several thousands of shares.

When you purchase a share of stock, what does it mean? It means that you have actually purchased a small piece of America's industrial might. Because the market value of stocks fluctuates, sometimes rising rapidly, sometimes falling rapidly, people get the impression that to buy stocks is to gamble. That's true. But not like Reno. It's gambling like when you buy a house.

Many people do buy stocks to "play" the market. Sometimes people buy houses the same way. They confidently hope and expect that the market value of these things they have purchased will go up, and that they can sell out at a profit.

In this sense, any investment is a form of gambling; for there is no assurance that the market value of anything will go up. But there is another and more widespread reason for buying stock. Most people who are wise in the way of the market buy a stock because it is an income producer. If it can put a few hundred dollars or a few thousand dollars into a good income-producing company, they will receive dividends so long as that company makes a profit.

Stockholders, then, are the real owners of American business. If the businesses they own make a profit, they will receive dividends.

Of course, if the stock they have bought happens to be in companies which do not make a profit, then it will follow, of necessity, that they will not receive dividends.

Exactly the same situation might develop if you bought an apartment house. If all the apartments in the building were rented, and if the tenants paid all their rental fees promptly, then the owner of the apartment house could expect to make some profits. But if some of the apartments are empty and if some of the tenants don't pay, or do some kind of damage which the owner is compelled to repair, then the fact that he owns an apartment house might result in a loss.

Remember this about stocks. The company is not obliged to redeem the stock you have purchased. You, not the company, are the owner. The purchase is permanent and the company does not have to redeem anything. If you want to get your money out of the stock you have to sell it to someone who is willing to buy it.

In this country the average stockholder is 43. The average total income of most persons who own stock is $8,600 per year.

The average total income most of these persons receive in dividends comes to about $500 per year.

Eighty per cent of all stockholders are high school graduates. Thirty-three and six-tenths per cent of all stockholders are women who do not hold outside jobs.

Indirectly about 126 million Americans own a stock because much of the stock that is sold is sold to banking, security and savings institutions which invest the money you have deposited.

Curbing Expression By Taxation

The right to speak one's mind, within the limitations imposed by reasonable laws concerning libel, slander, perjury and kindred matters, is a primary right in any free society. It distinguishes, with absolute clarity, the dictatorships from the democracies.

In this country it is guaranteed by the federal constitution and by all the state constitutions. Yet that right is being abridged, and seriously so, by administrative fiat. In many instances, to come to the point, one can speak one's mind only by paying a heavy tax penalty for the privilege. The Internal Revenue Service, aided and abetted by at least one other major government agency, is responsible.

It is held, for example, that if a concern runs an advertisement attempting to sell its product or service, that advertisement is a legitimate business expense, and hence is deductible when the income tax report is made out. But it is also held that an advertisement — or other means of expression — which is designed to influence a government policy or a proposed law or a regulatory principle, is not deductible. So, in effect, the ruling is that selling goods and services is one thing, while controversies over problems which may determine the very existence of the enterprise in question are a different thing. This, when the federal tax alone on corporations of any size is 52 per cent, is of no small significance.

The right of free speech becomes an empty shell when the power to tax is used to levy a heavy burden upon the groups and enterprises which wish to speak their minds on issues that, in their opinion, affect their own future, and the future of the nation as a whole.

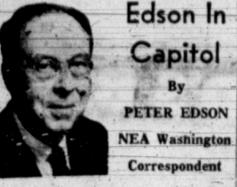

Weapons Follow The Oil

"The Cuban situation... indicates that wherever there is an unrestricted flow of Soviet oil, Communist tanks, guns, and even nuclear missiles will follow." That was recently said by the head of a leading American oil company in the course of an address in which he declared that free world nations must halt the inroads of Soviet oil and restrict the exports of strategic materials and technology to the Communists as a security measure.

Oil is a weapon — and it is one of the principal weapons in the implacable economic war the Soviets are waging against the West, particularly in their efforts to woo new and uncommitted nations, and to make their influence felt to maximum degree in nations in which there is unrest and irresolution. To meet these goals, as the spokesman added, "the Soviets have depended heavily on the free world for their oil drilling, producing, pipe line, and tanker operations, and must continue to seek free world assistance."

One can understand the desire of nations and enterprises to conduct profitable commercial operations. But there can be a point where the dangers are infinitely greater than the momentary advantages — and that is certainly the case with the Soviet "oil offensive." Self-defense, if nothing else, should cause the free world to do everything it can to meet and block the inroads the Soviets are making with oil. And, as a corollary, the American government should rigorously pursue policies that will enable American oil companies to most effectively deal with this grave threat.

Edson In Capitol By PETER EDSON NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and American Farm Bureau Federation President Charles B. Shuman started a little argument the other day which is worth keeping alive for a little further research and analysis.

At AFB's annual convention in Atlanta, Shuman delivered a denunciation of organized labor. There is nothing new in this: Because the unions have made numerous attempts to organize farm labor, the big commercial farmers are against them.

Also, organized workers in farm food and fiber-processing plants, demanding and getting higher wages and better working conditions, are believed by farm operators to be responsible for raising consumer prices, while higher wages in industry raise the prices of things farmers buy.

The AFB convention then went on record in a series of resolutions against industry-wide bargaining, the union shop, secondary boycotts, featherbedding and all the other things the National Association of Manufacturers have been against for years.

Farm Bureau resolutions also asked for repeal of the wage-hour laws, opposed further liberalization of minimum wage laws, unemployment insurance benefits and railroad retirement. Finally, they asked that unions be brought under the anti-trust laws.

But the Farm Bureau did invite Labor Secretary Wirtz to address them, to get his measure. Three days later he told Shuman and his convention that, "Surely, those interests which unite American labor and American agriculture are much stronger than those which divide them." He went on to say that while there was little possibility of quickly reconciling their conflicting views, the subject should be explored.

One of the first fields which might be explored profitably is who gets the most out of government — the farmers or labor?

From the Farm Bureau's resolutions, there are too many laws on the books favoring labor. But a look at United States budget analyses indicates that there are far more laws on the books benefiting agriculture than benefiting labor — industrial, organized labor, that is.

If you take everything that the 1963 budget classifies as Agricultural and Agricultural Resources, funds requested by the President for the fiscal year total $5.5 billion dollars, or 6.3 per cent of the total budget.

The big item here is $4.5 billion for farm income stabilization and the Food for Peace subsidies, which benefit farm producers. Other items are $435 million for land and water resources, $234 million for rural electrification loans, $198 for farm ownership loans and $380 million for research.

If you look at everything which the Budget Bureau classifies as Health, Labor and Welfare, the total comes to $5.1 billion, or only 5.5 per cent of the total budget.

But $2.8 billion of this is for public assistance, which goes to rural as well as urban people, $1.4 billion for health services and research, which also benefit all the people. The total here is $4.2 billion not chargeable just to labor.

There is also an item of $291 million for the school lunch program. City and country children both benefit from this, but farmers get paid for producing the food that goes into it. So this item should probably be charged to the agriculture budget.

What is left is $354 million for labor and manpower services and $25 million for vocational rehabilitation — a total of only $379 million or a little over 1/2 of 1 per cent of the budget, and about a tenth of what goes for agriculture.

The Budget Bureau makes another special analysis of expenditures which provide aids or services to special groups. It estimates aids to agriculture for this year at $5.35 billion. It estimates aids to labor at $31 million, mostly for extended unemployment compensation and $60 million for manpower training for a total of $91 million.

Department of Labor also points out that its Employment Service, which places several million farm workers a year, is really paid for by a tax on industrial employers, not by farmers.

Stamp of Approval NEW YORK (UPI) — Even the government is profiting from the growing private business of philately. McGraw-Hill says the post office estimates it made a 1961 profit of $2.7 million from the sale of stamps that went into collections and were never used for mailing.

Pull Up A Chair By Frank J. Markey

Almost every city and town in the United States has streets and avenues named after thoroughfares in London. This is especially true of Boston and other New England cities. But a number of London's quaint and distinctive named streets never crossed the sea. Here are a few: Birdcage Walk, Blackfriars Road, Tottenham Court, Lambeth Palace and Ludbrook Grove.

The average American eats a much lighter variety of food than 25 years ago and compared to the meals of his grandfathers' day, he is really eating on the dainty side. This also goes for desserts. Plum pudding, an old-time favorite, has dropped in popularity.

The 187th year of the Independence of the United States begins on July 4th 1963. Hudson County, New Jersey, across the Hudson and comprising of Jersey City, Hoboken, Union City, North Bergen and other towns, was purchased from the Indians in 1658 for three times the price their brother Indians received for the island of Manhattan. The Hudson redskins exchanged the land for a sizable collection of wampum, cloth, brass kettles and many barrels of beer.

Following "Marriage Licenses," the Albuquerque Tribune always lists those who have filed for divorce. The largest brewer in this country reported sales of more than $300 million last year. But they did not satisfy our curiosity and tell us how much that means in bottles or individual glasses of our favorite beverage.

We completed a difficult crossword puzzle the other day with the word ZUFF. We came across that unusual word some months ago in our daily look in the dictionary. It's a metallic cuplike holder they place around your ice cream glass for easy handling.

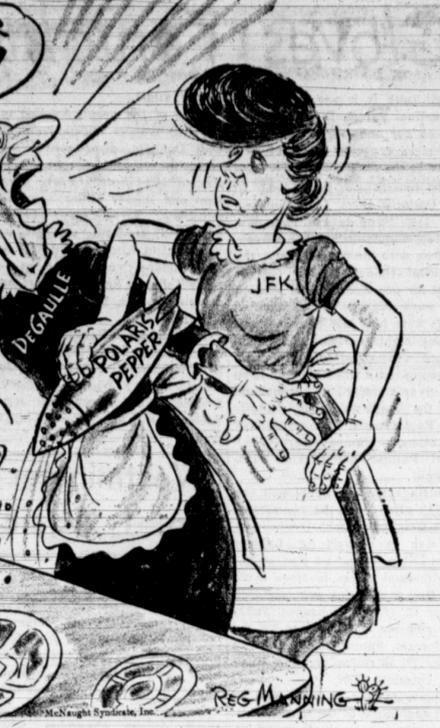

Hey, girls! This isn't a substitute for basking on tropical beaches but the fastidious women of ancient Rome used walnut juice as a synthetic sun-tan. A medical story in the Sacramento Bee stated: "A smoker shortens his life by six hours — every time he goes through a pack of cigarettes." And the headline over an adjacent story read: "Chain Smoker Finally Succumbs At 108."

Just when to use a hyphen to connect two words has produced two schools of thought. And the futility of arguing about so delicate a matter is well summed up by John Renbow of the Oxford University Press thus: "If you take the hyphen seriously you will surely go mad..." But an excellent description of a hyphen's function is this, offered by the scholarly Roy H. Copperud: "The first thing to remember about the hyphen is that it is a joiner — not like George Babbitt, the super-Rotarian, but like a Gretna Green parson."

'Message For America' Based on Ideals of Freedom

Most Americans appear to be concerned about the growth of government and the problems resulting from it. Yet the only solutions they hear proposed for those problems usually involve still more government.

For that reason, a new book by Robert Dilley could very well become a best seller. Entitled "Message For America," it relates to today's issues to the basic American principles of individual freedom. And its proposals are aimed at reducing government, instead of increasing it.

Dilley — a successful young businessman — qualifies as one of the American free enterprise system. He comes to grips with nearly every imaginable argument for big government — and refutes each one honestly and completely.

He points out that it was the lack of government — not the presence of it — that made America great and prosperous. Every comparison with foreign systems is properly focused by his observation that "The American Free Enterprise system has subsidized every form of government by direct money gifts since 1917 until it now appears that all of the various 'isms' are legitimate economic systems."

He goes on to show that if it were not for American foreign aid and other help, "it is very doubtful that a single communist or socialist nation could have survived to cause trouble in the world today."

After laying the foundation, he relates the principles to various national issues — inflation, taxes, foreign policy, etc. He then proposes a positive program of action to restore our lost liberties.

Key parts of his program include passage of the Liberty Amendment — to cut government spending and end the income tax — as well as enactment of restrictions on executive orders and treaties.

United Nations He summarizes his suggestions for the United Nations with: "Get the United States out of the United Nations and get the United Nations out of the United States."

"Message For America" provides valuable insight into the American system, a realistic appraisal of our present state, and a practical program for repairing our mistakes. It deserves to be ranked among the top books for 1963. (Published by Independence Press, Box 258, Des Moines 1, Iowa — $4.00 cloth, $2.50 paperback).

Six youngsters have organized a teen-age band. Since school work keeps them home week nights, the teen-agers have devised their own method of getting together — by telephone.

The band's head man, eighth grader Don Friedsam, will call a member of the band and they test chords and rhythms until a party line or a mother halts the session.

FOR FREEDOM

Man Must Be Able To Accept, Reject

By GEORGE BOARDMAN, Ph. D.

During a period of time, covering two decades, we did portrait work for politicians on only three occasions. In each instance the declared purpose of the office seeker involved reducing the size and cost and power of government and in each case we made no charge for our work. The political creed of each of these people was compatible with our own beliefs. During the same period of time we avoided portrait work for a good many political figures.

Our discrimination did not end with politicians. Our discrimination did not end in our portrait studio. We discouraged more prospective photographic students than we accepted and for a variety of reasons. We turned down commercial work and baby photography in many instances. At an early age I decided that anyone engaged in private enterprise must retain the right to accept or reject prospective clients or recognize the fact of his business being something less than private enterprise.

If a man is not free to accept or reject clients for any reason or no reason at all he is, in no sense a free man, a free agent in his own business. When government forces him to accept clients he prefers not to serve, government becomes his master. If the merchant continues in business after government has issued its tyrannical edict, he leaves the door wide open for government to become even more despotic.

Government violates civil rights when it enslaves merchants as tax collectors. When government forces a business to act as tax collector the action is as immoral as if the publisher of this newspaper forced his employees to work without compensation at the point of a gun.

You would not willingly and knowingly give up your earnings for the support of the communist dictatorship of the USSR but you are forced to subsidize the Bolshevik and other communist performers, whether you like it or not.

When government becomes the ruler of the people instead of the employe of the people, conversation about civil rights becomes just so much hypocritical hog wash.

When government presumes to the right to license private business, government is in a position to revoke the license and to prohibit the operation of the business. As a tyrant, government is limited only by the imagination of the rulers. How far will I be able to push before the people refuse to be pushed? How much can I impose my will upon the professional man or woman or this business or that, before the people walk away from their business or profession?

Politicians balance votes. No sincere concern for the rights of anyone exists in fact in the minds of politicians. A politician who is admittedly addicted to the philosophy of majority rule, screams his concern over a minority group. When a minority becomes critical over his performance as a public servant, he tells the minority about the will of the majority and when the majority becomes critical he emits veiled references to small but vocal pressure groups. Contemporary political figures are not concerned with freedom for any individual or any group, with right or wrong. They are concerned with votes!

When government tells any private citizen engaged in business he must photograph green-eyed blondes as well as blue-eyed red heads, government is not protecting green-eyed blondes in any sense of the word. It is telling the green-eyed blondes they may not engage in business except under the control of government. If government tells you that my business will be compelled to serve you, it is also telling you that if you go into business, you must serve me, whether you want to or not.

But if you are willing to accept government controls so you can stand in line for the doles, don't fool yourselves because you will not be able to control the controls, either.

Good luck and good health to you, in Freedom.

Earliest libraries in this country were private. Toward the end of the 17th century the so-called Bray Parish libraries began to appear. These were collections designed particularly for the use of the clergy, but were open to the public. The first subscription library in the colonies was projected by Benjamin Franklin in 1731 in Philadelphia.

Washington Window

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UPI) — ADA's annual love letter to the President was no love letter at all this time. Rather, it was an abrupt instruction to "get off it young fella, and fight."

ADA is America's for Democratic Action, a loosely organized political lodge of new New Dealers with encampments scattered around the nation, like the Eagles or the Elks. The old New Dealers mostly are dead or politically inactive. The new New Dealers are motivated by nostalgia, an aggressive homesickness for the Washington that was when FDR was in the White House.

Those were the good old days for the egghead cell within FDR's New Deal community. A casual idea from a Georgetown think-party could spark an executive order or new legislation, almost overnight. But those days have passed from the Washington scene along with Harry Hopkins and FDR. Times have changed.

So it is that the annual appearance of the ADA hierarchy in Washington with ADA's annual message on the state of the union no longer is reckoned a political event in terms of megatons. Decibels are more accurate for this measurement. This message for the information of the President instructs what should be his administration's objectives in the new Congress.

whimsy and of frustration. There was a certain whimsy in ADA's annoyed insistence that President Kennedy make good on certain promises in the 1960 Democratic platform. ADA's special emphasis was on the civil rights promises of 1960.

ADA implied that the President lacked courage in that area of legislation. There was whimsy, too, in ADA's instruction on tax reduction and government spending. Kennedy's intentions now are pretty well known—corporate and personal income tax cuts across the board and hold-the-line on spending except for national defense, space and for the interest on the public debt. Kennedy also wants tax reform but tax reduction appears to have priority if there must be a choice.

ADA objects. The ADAers want lower and middle bracket tax reductions and a big boost in federal spending. Really big. ADA opposes top bracket reductions pending tax reform to close loopholes. In view of Kennedy's known position on taxes and spending, ADA had lost that argument before it was put on paper. And, if that isn't political whimsy, it's worse.

Pillow Fighting?
Kennedy was accused of pillow fighting on the issue of the House Rules Committee and of running out altogether on the issue of Senate filibusters. In these areas, ADA's annual message was more a peevish show of dissatisfaction than a serious political document.

The frustration of ADA seems to lie in its inability to shape or much modify Kennedy administration policy. The good politician in the White House isn't listening. ADA, in fact, is a captive lodge of a President who won't listen. ADA has no one else to go to.

The organization would be much happier, perhaps, with Adlai E. Stevenson, a first love, or, maybe, with anyone. To these new New Dealers, Kennedy has been suspect ever since he put Lyndon Johnson on the 1960 ticket. ADA regarded Johnson as a disaster. Still does.

Auto Industry Sold Most Since 1955

DETROIT (UPI)—The American auto industry sold more new cars in 1962 than in any other year except 1955.

The industry sold 6,752,644 cars last year, making it second best to the record 7,370,000 cars delivered in 1955.

The 1962 total was a gain of 21 per cent over the 5,555,820 cars sold in 1961.

The statistical agency, Ward's Reports, said the industry ended its second best year with a sales tempo that was the strongest in history.

Ward's said December car sales of 560,329 averaged 22,413 per day, 11 per cent above a year ago, and topped the 22,100 daily record set in December, 1955.

The surge climaxed the industry's best fourth quarter in history. Sales totaled 1,946,009—19.8 per cent above the 1,624,000 record for the period set in 1961.

General Motors took 54.7 per cent of 1962 industry sales, Ford 27.4 per cent, Chrysler 10.3 per cent, American Motors 6.4 per cent, and Studebaker 1.2 per cent.

Ward's said compact car sales totaled 2,258,571 units, for a 33.4 per cent share of the market.

Rambler led the field with 434,788 sales.

The new car inventory at last year's end was the lowest for the period since 1958 and averaged to a 36.9 day's supply versus 41 days a year ago, Ward's added. The backlog totaled 827,300 cars.

On Writing Your Congressman

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The current issue of a house organ magazine published by the Humble Oil Co. offers some suggestions on how to write to a member of Congress.

This is a timely topic. A new session of Congress is underway so it shouldn't be long before you have a lot to write your congressman about.

Not all oil companies are in a position to offer advice on congressional correspondence. Several years ago, you may recall, one company wrote a letter that was credited with killing a natural gas bill favored by the industry.

Divides Suggestions
I think we may assume, however, that Humble is fully qualified in this field. It divides its suggestions into "do's" and "don't's," and I would imagine it has had quite a bit of experience composing letters of the "don't" variety.

"Don't repeat the depletion allowance" has been the theme of many an oil company message to Congress.

As befits a company bearing its name, Humble advises against taking a pretentious approach in corresponding with a congressman.

"Don't pretend to represent more political influence than you have," it says.

I interpret this to mean that you shouldn't threaten a congressman with defeat in the next election unless you are eligible to vote.

Write In Time
Humble also recommends that you "communicate with your senator or representative on issues while there is still time for him to take effective action."

In other words, don't wait until after Congress has adjourned.

Humble feels that a "thoughtful" letter from an individual constituent is more "meaningful" than "a sheaf of identical telegrams or postcards" sent by pressure groups.

I believe this is true, particularly if the individual constituent encloses a campaign contribution, which is the most meaningful form of thoughtfulness there is.

Anyone who wants to become a pen pal with his congressman should benefit from Humble's suggestions, but it seems to me the company omitted the most important thing of all. It is: certain it has the proper stamp. A congressman's franking privilege doesn't include postage due

Do-It-Yourself Mexia Hospital To Open Sunday

MEXIA, Tex. (Sp) — The General Mexia Hospital will celebrate its completion with an open-house Sunday, Jan. 13, from 2:30 to 5:30 p.m.

Mexia residents, who built and financed the free enterprise hospital all by themselves at a cost of $400,000, are proudly inviting all Texas to come inspect the results.

They raised the money by local sale of over a quarter million dollars' stock, plus a first mortgage loan made through regular financial channels. Every fourth Mexia person owns a piece of the new 40-bed hospital, which can double up to care for 47. Using an older hospital as a 20-bed annex, that provides 67 beds altogether to serve the trade area of 17,000 residents.

The whole do-it-yourself project was organized, promoted, and carried out by unpaid volunteer workers within a span of 18 months.

The results is a patient oriented, first-class brick hospital built around a central patio. Window walls provide two-way views of the outdoors from most beds. Its $80,000 worth of latest equipment includes individual room climate control, electronic communications from patients to nurses, explosion proof operating and delivery rooms and such conveniences as sit-down showers and food plates that will stay hot for an hour.

Operating the hospital will be a stockholder elected board of businessmen. All six Mexia doctors are supporting the project.
