AEC Group Has Talk With JFK

By JOHN A. GOLDSMITH
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy called in the Senate Atomic Energy Committee today for a discussion expected to center on his plans for a NATO nuclear force equipped with Polaris missiles.

The committee has been extremely cautious in the past about any arrangements for sharing U.S. nuclear know-how with other countries.

The President was expected to stress that no new powers were needed and the plan developed at Nassau in December would be implemented under authority already voted by Congress.

The White House did not specify the Nassau pact as the topic for discussion in announcing that 14 committee members had been invited to call on the President. It was clear, however, that committee members were ready to raise the question.

The committee was scheduled to meet at 10 a.m. EST.

"We want to know just what he has in mind," said Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa.

Commenting that the committee always has exercised "extreme caution" in such matters, Hickenlooper said the Nassau arrangement was "almost unique—a rather unusual procedure."

He said the proposed equipping of NATO forces with nuclear-tipped Polaris missiles was unveiled without any prior consultation with congressional leaders.

As outlined after the talks in Nassau between President Kennedy and British Prime Minister Macmillan, the plan involves supplying Britain — and France, if she will accept — with the Polaris weapons system.

Under present law, the United States could give Britain nuclear reactors, certain classified data

New Club To Promote Safe Driving

The Torquesters of Pampa met last night and elected officers for the newly-established organization which has as its main purpose the promotion of safety in city and country driving.

The club, affiliated with the National Hot Rod Association, has as one of its goals the reducing of traffic violations committed by teen-agers.

Ken Milton was elected president of the Torquesters with Johnny Luedcke elected vice-pres. Eddie Edwards elected secretary-treasurer, and Gordon Miller elected parliamentarian in the meeting last night.

The newly elected officers framed a constitution and by-laws to be presented for ratification to the members in the club's next meeting, this Sunday, at 401 N. Wells starting at 2 p.m.

The club is open for membership and has 50 members at the present time.

The theme for the safe-driving club is "Dedicated to safety and the Gentlemen of the highways," according to club officers.

Bill Broxson is the reporter for the organization.

ToT Show Gets Consignments Of 61 Cattle

Sixty-one head of cattle have been consigned to the Top O' Texas Hereford Breeders Association show and sale scheduled for Pampa March 4, 5 and 6.

Association officials said today that is the largest offering of cattle ever to be made at the annual show.

The Hereford exhibits and sale is held each year in conjunction with the Top O' Texas Junior Livestock Show, scheduled on the same dates.

Ralph Thomas, chairman in charge of the Hereford Breeders' catalogue this year, said it will be ready for distribution about the middle of February.

and non-nuclear parts of nuclear weapons — in short, all that is needed in the Polaris system except for warheads which the British could make for themselves.

France, upon negotiation of a nuclear sharing agreement, presumably could get similar treatment from the United States when and if Gen. Charles de Gaulle wants to go along with the nuclear NATO force. For the present at least, he is not so inclined.

Challenge Boosts Tomorrow's MoD 'Bucket Brigade'

A "Bucket Brigade" for the March of Dimes will be held on the streets of downtown Pampa tomorrow as various local civic clubs plan street intersections soliciting contributions to the MoD.

Nine local organizations will be working the project and two of them, the Lions Club and the Rotary Club, are engaged in a challenge to see which can raise the most cash.

J. C. Roberts, who claimed to be representing the Lions Club, called up R. D. Wilkerson, Rotary president, and challenged "the old men's club" to a money-raising contest for the MoD. Wilkerson readily accepted, so the race is on.

Here are the intersections to be manned by personnel of the various clubs, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. tomorrow.

Morning Optimists, Lindy Houch in charge, Ballard and Foster.

Jaycees, A. J. Carubbi Jr. in charge, Cuyler and Kingsmill.

Kiwanis Club, Tom Beard in charge, Hobart and Alcock.

Noon Lions (the challenging club), Tom Beard in charge, Ballard and Browning.

Evening Lions, Odie Calote in charge, Brown and Cuyler.

Esquire Club, Jim Brashears in charge, Cuyler and Foster.

Key Club, Don Sears in charge, Cuyler and Francis.

Rotary Club, Bill Atkinson in charge, Kingsmill and Frost.

LONDON (UPI) — Friends of Sir Winston Churchill said today they are certain he would accept honorary citizenship in the United States if it is offered him.

Sir Winston is proud of the American blood of his mother, the beautiful Jennie Jerome of New York. He once laughingly described himself as an "Anglo-American alliance."

The 88-year-old statesman read about the resolution introduced in Congress by Sen. Stephen Young, D-Ohio, in his London home where he has been spending most of his time since he broke his thigh in a fall on the Riviera a year ago.

He made no comment. Friends said he would naturally not discuss a matter which is the sole concern at this point of the American Congress.

Young's resolution is co-sponsored by Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, and Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn. Several years ago the Senate passed a resolution lauding Churchill for his long career as a world statesman.

If Sir Winston is made an honorary American citizen it will add another distinction to his fantastic career as the world's most honored man.

He already has a number of American awards including honorary citizenship of Jacksonville, Fla., the gold medal of the city of New York, the Franklin medal of the city of Philadelphia and honorary life membership of the Friendship Veterans Fire Engine Company of Alexandria, Va.

US Rockets May Be Taken Out Of Italian And Turkish Positions

Polaris Missiles To Replace The Jupiters

By CHARLES W. CORDDRY
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A strategic shift was reported in the works for the Mediterranean today, with U.S.-built Jupiter rockets in Italy and Turkey to be replaced by Polaris missiles at sea.

When the switch is made, it is expected to be described as furthering the Kennedy-Macmillan concept of a NATO nuclear force as outlined in the agreement they reached at the Nassau conference.

No part of the plan being developed has been spelled out officially. As recently as last summer the Defense Department denied that any withdrawal of Jupiter missiles was contemplated.

During the Cuban crisis in October, President Kennedy ignored a proposal from Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev that the Turkish bases be dismantled in return for Russia's withdrawing missiles from Cuba.

It is apparent, however, that plans for "modernizing" NATO weapons have been discussed and that the Jupiters in northern Italy and near the Turkish Black Sea coast likely will be casualties.

Fanfani Stirs Thinking
There are 30 Jupiters in Italy and 15 in Turkey.

Latest thinking came to the surface during the visit here this week of Italian Premier, Amintore Fanfani. The Italian leader himself spoke "the most serious consideration" of the Nassau pact envisioning a submarine-based Polaris force under some kind of still unspecified NATO control.

All U.S. officials said that modernization of weapons systems was a matter of continuing concern to NATO and it could be assumed that the subject of modernization is being discussed with the Italians.

It was made clear unofficially that the matter of withdrawing the Jupiter missiles from Italy and deploying Polaris submarines in the Mediterranean was part of the modernization process under discussion.

There were intimations that a similar arrangement at the other end of the Mediterranean would be discussed.

How either Italy or Turkey would participate in a submarine force has not been explained. They have an equal say with America on the launching of Jupiter missiles on their territory.

Nine Sixes Afloat
The U.S. Navy now has nine Polaris submarines afloat and soon will begin to organize a second squadron to comprise nine subs, which it may deploy in the Mediterranean and base at the huge U.S. naval facility at Rota, Spain, if suitable arrangements are worked out with Madrid.

The Jupiter missile and the Thor, which is being dismantled in England, are the only major weapons that America has developed and supplied to foreign powers but not deployed itself.

Sixty Thors, which like the Jupiter have a 1,500-mile range, were sent to England under a 1957 agreement between President Dwight D. Eisenhower and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

The action reflected the biggest increase in oil production allowable in Texas in several months. Commissioner William Murray, however, was plainly angered that his instructions to producers to make firm nominations had not been carried out.

The estimated February allowable was set at 2,901,607 barrels daily, compared with allowable for the current month of 2,729,360 barrels daily.

Only three of 13 producers at today's monthly allowable hearing asked for a 29 per cent level. Most of the producers wanted production set on a 26 per cent basis or lower.

The commission changed its system of setting allowable last month from a daily basis to a percentage of monthly potential basis, so that it could make smaller increases or decreases to reflect market demand.

French In Campaign To Halt Britain's Entry Into European Common Market

BRUSSELS (UPI)—French diplomats, acting on orders from President Charles de Gaulle, pressed their campaign today to cut off Britain's bid to enter the European Common Market.

Negotiations on Britain's membership application were on the brink of collapse because of the French opposition.

French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville met with his counterparts from the other five community nations in a showdown session to determine whether France's view would prevail.

There was no indication that France would yield under pressure from the five partners and Britain. A French spokesman said "there is no change."

Stubborn British
"We see no progress in 15 months," he said. "Each time a vital British issue is at stake, they give nothing away."

De Gaulle contends that Britain is not ready for membership and continuation of the negotiations is useless.

West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg disagreed. They argued that some progress has been made over the past 15 months of negotiations and that a way can be found to add Britain to the group.

As a means of keeping the talks alive, the five proposed a committee under Italian Industry Minister Emilio Colombo draw up a progress report. Prior to today's meeting, France had neither accepted nor rejected the proposal.

Special Terms
The British have been trying to work out special terms to protect their own farms and their heavy trade with their commonwealth partners. It is these special terms which De Gaulle rejects.

At that meeting the membership will be presented with an amendment to the chamber's charter calling for "deletion of the term 'Board of City Development' from the organization's name."

Reservations for the luncheon now are being taken for the luncheon and may be telephoned to the chamber office at MO 4-32-41.

Matson, Wallace Catch Burglars In Salvage Firm

Alertness of Patrolmen Charles Matson and C. L. Wallace resulted in the red-handed capture last night of two burglars in the Pampa Garage and Salvage Co., 511 Huff Rd.

The patrolmen were cruising the Huff Rd. area shortly before 11 p.m. when they noticed a car parked near the garage building.

Upon investigating they discovered the ignition key had been left in the car. The officers considered the possibility of a burglary in progress inside the garage.

They found the door had been pulled open to gain entrance. Once inside they started a search and found two young men hiding behind a parts bin.

The pair gave up without offering resistance. Police said they already had stacked a pile of automobile parts on the floor ready for removal. These included two transmissions, one starter, one generator, two camshafts, one dipstick and two floor gear shifts.

The pair was taken to the police station where they later admitted they had forced their way into the place with intent to steal the automobile parts.

One of the men arrested was a 25-year-old Pampa man and the other was his 22-year-old cousin from Borger.

Police Chief Jim Conner said the men were scheduled to be charged with burglary with intent to commit theft. The charges were scheduled for Friday.

ADN said Wu praised the "economic and political successes" of East Germany and said they were a valuable contribution to the common cause of communism and socialism.

But Drowned Out By Boos, Catcalls, Stomping

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
United Press International

BERLIN (UPI) — Communist Chinese delegation Wu Hsi-chuan launched a bitter attack against the Soviet Union at the East German Communist congress today but was drowned out by a storm of boos, stomping and catcalling.

East Berlin Communist boss Paul Verner, who was presiding, ordered Wu to stop his diatribe, saying it "did not correspond to the norms of relations between Marxist-Leninist parties."

Most Western newsmen were barred from the congress during the Wu speech but details of the stormy session leaked out.

The East German radio and ADN news agency at first carried only a bare summary of Wu's speech, deleting references to attacks against Russia.

Later, after West Berlin radio stations broadcast reports of the Chinese speech, ADN said he later, "During his speech, Wu directed attacks against brother parties and guests of the congress. As a result, disturbances resulted in the hall."

Red Chinese In Verbal Attack On Russia

Wu was reported to have attacked Yugoslavia by name as a "revisionist" — meaning a Communist regime which changes policies laid down by Marx and Lenin.

Just as the Soviet bloc attacks Albania when it means Red China, so the Chinese Communists use Yugoslavia to mask their criticisms of the Soviet Union.

Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev was not in the hall to hear Wu. Whether by design or not, he kept away from the congress to visit a television electronics factory in East Berlin.

ADN said Wu praised the "economic and political successes" of East Germany and said they were a valuable contribution to the common cause of communism and socialism.

Brandt Invited
In West Berlin, Mayor Willy Brandt was considering whether to take up Khrushchev's suggestion for a meeting in East Berlin.

Brandt turned down such a meeting Thursday because the Christian Democratic party members of his coalition city government threatened to walk out.

Twentieth Century Allegro met recently in the home of Mrs. George Cree Jr. with Mrs. Curt Beck as co-hostess.

Mrs. Jack Reeve, president, conducted the business meeting. It was announced there will be an informal coffee held Monday Jan. 14 at 10 a.m. in the Citizens Hospitality Room. Mrs. Bill Braly was presented a going-away gift by the club members.

Members present were Mmes. Curt Beck, Bill Braly, Bill Bridges, George Cree Jr., John Cundith, John Gentry, Robert A. Johnson, John Horn, Bratley Hudson Jr., Jack Miller, J. R. Reeve, Raymond Reid, Charles Walsh and Le Roi Ogden.

Mrs. John Cundith presented the program on Colorado, and its great Bonanza King, Horace Austin Warner Tabor.

The Centennial State so called because Colorado became a state in 1876, one hundred years after the Declaration of Independence. Colorado was named from the Spanish word meaning "colored red". Early Spaniards first gave the name to the Colorado River. This big, wide state straddles the widest part of the great Rocky Mountains. Very high ranges in the Rockies run north and south in Central Colorado. The western part of the state is a rough, dry plateau. Eastern Colorado is a part of the Great Plains. Colorado is a state of extremes. The United States bought part of the land of Colorado from France, in the Louisiana Purchase of 1803, and part of it from Spain in 1848. American pioneers were in no hurry to settle that land until after men found gold in it late in the 1850's. Gold rush days brought miners and prospectors to Colorado in 1859—Discovery of gold along the Platte River and later at Gregory Diggins, near Central City, opened up a new life for the region.

Silver mining, smelting, and coal digging took the place of trapping and trading and Bonanza Kings flourished where Mountain men had stood. From end to end the country was swept by gold fever. During 1859 more than one hundred thousand persons abandoned their homes to join the rush for gold.

In a mounting flood they converged upon the Missouri River towns. Long lines of prairie schooners came wallowing axle deep in mud across Iowa and Missouri with Pikes Peak or Bust on every canvas top. Gold hunters from every walk of life crowded the wagons. And up the Republican River Trail came one Horace Austin Warner Tabor, with his wife and year old baby. Although quite undistinguished at the moment and destined to remain so till late in life, Tabor was a man to mark with his large head and great handle-bar mustache, slow fumbling habits of thought and speech. After long bitter years of failure and defeat in the mountains he will awaken one morning to find himself, thanks to a piffling jug of whiskey, Colorado's first great Bonanza King, a man of vast influence and power. He will become a banker, patron of the arts, and on to the United States Senate, trailing involved matrimonial troubles that boiled up into a national scandal, altogether a fantastic career that, with its high tragedy and low comedy, has become legend in the West.

Civic Culture Club Elects Officers

Mrs. Stanley Brandt was elected president of Civic Culture Club for 1963-64 at a recent meeting of the club when members convened 221 East Kingsmill.

Others elected to office include Mrs. K. A. Sorenson, vice president; Mrs. George Neef, recording secretary; Mrs. A. D. Hills, corresponding secretary; Mrs. H. W. Waters, treasurer; Mrs. Katia Vincent, parliamentarian; Mrs. W. J. Morris, reporter; and Mrs. Irwin Cole, membership chairman.

The business session was conducted by Mrs. Carl Axelsson, president.

Mrs. Irwin Cole presented a program on "Texas Today" and refreshments were served by the hostess to 13 members.

POLLY'S POINTERS

This Is... 'Comic Relief'

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — Tired of listening to the Top Man of our Totem Pole gripe and snort every spring and fall when it was time to change our double-track aluminum storm windows, I used a small point brush to coat the slides with floor wax last spring. This fall they worked like a charm. Instead of griping, he whistled his way through 12 storm windows. I am sure this would work on any type aluminum window.

MRS. N. B. B.

GIRLS — Hang on to those old plastic tablecloths; here is another use for them—

POLLY

DEAR POLLY — Steel on a windshield can be hard to remove if the car is outside for several hours. Cut a strip of old plastic tablecloth and carry it in your trunk. When icy weather threatens, stretch the plastic across the windshield and hold in place by tucking it in the front doors. When you return to the car, remove the plastic cloth and enjoy a clean windshield.

H. N. W.

DEAR POLLY — For those washcloths for baby, in just the size you like, fold old diapers and sew the edges together with bright-colored thread.

MRS. L. H. G.

DEAR POLLY — I hope some of the girls will find this helpful. When my chrome dinette chair backs started to show wear, I bought some small-terry cloth towels, some eyelets and white shoe laces. I folded the towels in the middle and punched eyelets along the side seams, about three inches apart, laced them and then placed them over the backs of the chairs. In attractive colors and with fringe across the bottom, they look quite attractive, are easy to launder and change and very inexpensive. I first planned to sew the sides together but found the towels too narrow. The laces were the solution and are really more attractive.

B. C.

GIRLS — As I started to read B. C.'s letter, I wondered why she didn't sew the sides together (less work). Some of you may have chair backs narrow enough that this would be possible.

POLLY

DEAR POLLY — When in a hurry to iron some clothes that have not been dampened, I thoroughly wring out a wet Turkish towel and lay the article to be ironed in the towel and roll tightly. The dampness distributes evenly.

In the words of no less a personage than Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, the moment of truth is approaching for Britain's bid to join the European Common Market.

Unless a change can be brought about in French President Charles de Gaulle's attitude the chances appear no better than even, and perhaps less than even.

Much depends on these protracted negotiations, as can be seen in a flurry of conferences—Macmillan to Rome, Italian Premier Amintore Fanfani to Washington, German Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder to London.

Until the issue is settled, perhaps within the next 60 to 90 days, the question of a common European defense policy must be held in abeyance, as most European political unity and negotiations toward a free world trade agreement under the United States trade expansion act.

Future in Doubt
Without a final decision, British businessmen have no way to forecast the future and British foreign and domestic policy must remain at a standstill.

At the center of this is de Gaulle, and to a lesser extent Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany.

This week De Gaulle rejected both President Kennedy's offer of Polaris missiles for France and the Nassau agreement on a multinational nuclear arsenal for NATO.

De Gaulle's strategy has been aimed at ever closer ties with West Germany, and Adenauer has gone along, including De Gaulle's tough terms for British common market membership.

Red labor tactics: Observers in Frankfurt, West Germany, expect the Communists to try to stir up labor trouble in West Germany's still-booming industries with the hope of damaging the national economy.

Atomics in Japan: Japan's "peace constitution" bans atomic development for any but peaceful purposes. However, Japan intends shortly to start intensive research on atomic submarines.

Real Estate Boards Hold Installation

The Pampa and Borger Real Estate Boards held a joint installation banquet last night at the Pampa Country Club, with Mrs. Genevieve Henderson going in as president of the Pampa Board. Hugo Loewenstern of Amarillo was the guest speaker.

The new president, Mrs. Henderson, is the first woman ever elected to the post in the history of the board.

Loewenstern, who is a past president of the Texas Real Estate Association, was selected Texas Realtor of the year in 1961 for "outstanding service to the Real Estate profession." He has also served as a tax consultant for the governor.

The speaker told of Amarillo's Industrial Plan and said that the city was working constantly to attract new business.

He said that he believed that the future of the entire Panhandle is good and added that industries look for good labor, transportation and community spirit, and not necessarily tax advantages.

Bill Willard was installed as president of the Borger Board.

The new first vice-president of the Pampa Board is Jim Brown, with Joe Fischer as second vice-president. Mrs. Mary Clyburn is secretary and the treasurer is Mrs. Velma Lewter.

New Directors are Jim Dailey, Roy Sparkman and Bill Duncan. Installing officer was Quentin Williams.

Bill Duncan, immediate past president of the Pampa Board, served as master of ceremonies. Musical entertainment was furnished by Mrs. Louise Richardson who sang several numbers. She was accompanied by Wanda Hill. Rev. J. B. Caldwell gave the invocation.

Burglars Hit Liquor Store
Burglars with a taste for wine and gin, plus a little spending money, broke into the Owl Liquor Store, 108 E. Craven, last night.

Police Captain Denny Roan, who investigated the case this morning, said the burglars threw a piece of concrete to break a glass in the front door and crawled through the hole.

Virgil Romack, owner and proprietor, said $12 in change and a key were taken from the cash register. Also reported missing were two gallons of Swiss Colony wine and a pint of gin. However, the thieves dropped the gin bottle and it broke, apparently as they were leaving the place.

Three cartons of cigarettes also were taken. The burglars didn't care for Scotch whiskey or Japanese rice liquor. A bottle of each was set aside on the floor and left there.

Only other loss was reported in a case of wine. There was one broken bottle, caused by the piece of concrete when it was thrown through the front door.

Burglars

NFL Gambling Probe Spreads To Baltimore

By TIM MORIARTY
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI)—The owner of the Baltimore Colts wound up in the middle of the National Football League's fast-spreading gambling investigation today while Commissioner Pete Rozelle presumably was considering fines or suspensions against the Detroit Lions' organization. The Miami Herald said in a

MacArthur Talks With NCAA, AAU

NEW YORK (UPI)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur, backed by the prestige of the White House and the threat of congressional action, meets with AAU and NCAA leaders today in an attempt to mediate the differences that have rocked amateur sports in this country.

The 82-year-old five-star general was scheduled to meet with leaders of the two warring associations at 10 a.m., EST, in his suite at the Waldorf Tower. A press conference will be held later after which more talks presumably will be held if no agreement has been reached.

Behind the high-level conference is the desire of President Kennedy and congressional leaders to settle a dispute which threatens the United States' performance in two great international sporting events — the Pan American Games this year and the 1964 Olympics.

Both sides expressed confidence in Gen. MacArthur's ability to find a solution but AAU President Louis J. Fischer pointed out, "there is a limit to what we can accept — it must meet our international requirements."

The threat of congressional action was implied in Washington, D.C., Thursday by Rep. Horace R. Kornegay, D-N.C., who urged both organizations "to place individual whims, jealousy and personal prestige in the background" in the talks with Gen. MacArthur.

The AAU is recognized by in-front-page story that sealed testimony in an ex-gambler's unsuccessful lawsuit against Carroll D. Rosenbloom, owner of the Colts, has been turned over to Rozelle by federal court order.

Michael J. McLaney, one time casino owner in Havana and now an investment broker in Miami, brought the suit against Rosenbloom in 1960 and it was subsequently dismissed.

In his suit, McLaney made certain charges against Rosenbloom pertaining to his betting on football games.

Confirms Questioning
The Herald said that Rosenbloom's lawyer in New York, Jerome Doyle, confirmed that the Colts' owner had been questioned about betting on Baltimore games.

Doyle added, however, that "under oath, he (Rosenbloom) denied it (betting) categorically."

Rosenbloom's attorney added that the Colt owner needed the testimony, which he turned over to Rozelle, according to the Herald, to protect himself against charges "which, if unanswered, will jeopardize" the Colts' football franchise.

McLaney originally brought the suit against Rosenbloom over a business venture and the testimony was sealed by federal Judge Joseph A. Lieb on Jan. 5, 1961.

Rozelle summoned teammates Alex Karras and Wayne Walker of the Lions to his office for a top-secret hearing here Thursday. Although the commissioner declined even to admit he met with the players, Karras and Walker confirmed they had been called on the carpet shortly before flying back to Detroit. "Yes, we did meet with the commissioner," Karras said, in answer to a direct question. Walker nodded affirmatively also. "I think the investigation is just about over as far as we're concerned," said the 260-pound Walker, a linebacker and placekicker with the Lions. "But is it?" A Detroit newspaper said Thursday night that Rozelle was "considering" fining the Lions' management, or head coach George Wilson, for failure to enforce player contract clauses dealing with off-field activities. This report naturally led to another question. If the Detroit club and-or Wilson is facing a possible fine, what sort of punishment is being prepared for Karras and Walker? Rozelle wasn't talking — aside from repeating his now timeworn statement that "an announcement will be made when the entire investigation of rumors has been completed."

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

LOS ANGELES (NEA) — This is how Joe Schmidt, one of the most respected players in professional football, reacts to the gambling rumors that have spread through the National League.

Particularly those that have involved his team, the Detroit Lions. "I'd sue somebody, I don't know exactly who," said Schmidt heatedly. "If the same things happened to me as happened to Alex Karras, here's a guy who has contributed plenty to our team the last three years. And they crucify him. For what? Strictly through association."

Karras is the all-pro defensive tackle of the Lions who owns an interest in a bar that has been frequented by "undesirables." Schmidt, the all-pro middle linebacker, has an interest in a Detroit restaurant.

"You own a place," continued Schmidt, "you have to let anybody come in. You don't always know at first what business these people are in. They want to talk football, so you talk it with them. There's so much interest in the game it's almost impossible to avoid."

Schmidt and Karras had just finished competing in the Pro Bowl, with the finest players in the game, and despite a veneer of kidding about the investigations into gambling activities, they were perturbed.

"What's come out so far is ridiculous," said Schmidt. "It's all hearsay. Since it first started, every news release is the same as all the others. They haven't pinpointed a thing. I'd like to have them come out with something specific or forget it."

Schmidt was incensed by the thought of subjecting players to lie detectors because he felt it automatically implied guilt.

"I'll take a lie detector test," he specified, "only if everybody else will — that means every player on the team, plus all the coaches and the general manager."

"I don't want my reputation tarnished. I've spent several years establishing myself and I take pride in it. I have a family and obligations. I don't want them hurt and I don't want my reputation destroyed by careless accusations."

"Professional football has become so big there are so many close finishes and so many upsets that people are anxious to throw mud."

He admitted it's conceivable some players may have bet on themselves to win.

"But," he added, "I don't see how they can fix a game or shave points. And I have no indication that it's ever been done. Frankly, I don't know how one individual can control it. If he continues to get beat, no matter what position he plays, they're going to pull him out of there."

Schmidt pointed to the scores of Lion games this year as a meter of the difficulty in controlling results: 12-3, 9-7, 3-0, 17-13.

Joe Schmidt felt that the gambling investigations will blow over without sensational revelations. But that doesn't assuage him.

Oldtimer's Tips For Outdoors

Picking Ticks Off Dogs
When picking ticks off dogs, be careful not to leave the tick head buried in the animal's skin. It may cause severe irritation.

Before trying to pick off the ticks, cover each tick with a gob of grease or petroleum jelly.

Deprived of air the ticks will let go. You can then remove them whole by picking them off with a pair of tweezers.

Clip Dog's Nails
Unless a hunting dog gets all the exercise nature intended, his nails will grow too long.

This is most likely to occur during the summer months.

When you notice his nails are getting too long, take time to cut off the dead ends with ordinary nail clippers. Otherwise the pooch may be badly crippled by the time hunting season rolls around.

Removing Skunk Odor

Sportsmen often have the misfortune to run over a skunk, or come so near to it that the animal sprays the car.

If the noxious odor is not removed soon, the odor will stay on the car for months.

Should this misfortune happen to you, dissolve a couple of cups of mustard powder in a bucket of hot water. Use an old mop, or an old rag tied around a broom, to swab car body, wheels, and other parts that may have been sprayed.

The sooner the cleaning operation is done, the more effective it will be.

Chasing Skunks From Camp

When skunks are hanging around camp, they can be chased away by throwing several handfuls of mothballs around the camp area.

Toss balls in every direction, and use as many as possible. If the job is well done the skunks will leave the vicinity.

Long-Billed Cap

One of the biggest problems duck and goose hunters must overcome is covering the white of their faces turned to the sky.

Incoming ducks and geese almost invariably flare away when they catch sight of a face down below.

Try wearing a long-billed fisherman's cap next time you are in a blind. It will help shield your face when you look up to shoot.

But be sure to dull any shine the long visor may have by scraping the visor cloth either with a penknife or a piece of broken glass.

Cincinnati 'Cats Shake Bradley University Jinx

By MARTIN LADER
UPI Sports Writer

The University of Cincinnati is celebrating its biggest victory of the year today and it could be all downhill now for the Bearcats to gain their first unbeaten basketball season in 55 years.

Merely winning a basketball game isn't much of an item at Cincinnati, which has captured 32 in a row, but the Bearcats also defied an awesome jinx in registering their latest success when they shook off Bradley, 52-46, at Peoria Thursday night.

Cincinnati has lost only 14 times over a span of six seasons, but five of those reversals were suffered against the Braves, and all in Peoria. So it was understandable that the Bearcats approached

Stanford Waits For Top Coach

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI)—Stanford's policy-shapers wrestled today with the problem of agreeing on a new football coach and it was anybody's guess when he would be unveiled.

John Ralston of Utah State apparently had the job cinched Thursday. Then it was disclosed that Bob Reynolds, former Indian grid star who heads a special committee advising President J. E. Wallace Sterling on the selection, hadn't given up on the prospect of landing Wayne Hardin.

The latter announced on Wednesday that he had signed a new two-year pact to coach Navy. But Reynolds went to the Crosby golf tournament at Pebble Beach in an effort to make the former University of the Pacific star change his mind.

Reynolds, president of the Los Angeles Angels baseball club, reportedly represents a strong group of alumni from that part of the state who are opposed to hiring Ralston because he played — and later was assistant coach — at the arch-rival University of California.

Leon McLaughlin, a comparative unknown, remained very much in the running. He was a member of Jack Curtice's staff and has been in the race since the folksy Curtice got the axe last Nov. 26.

Thursday night's affair with some misgivings.

The doubts were turned to reality when Bradley jumped off to an early lead before an appreciative home audience and fought the Bearcats to a 44-all tie with less than seven minutes to play.

Thacker Sparks Team

Tom Thacker, a 6-foot-2 senior guard who has been a key figure in Cincinnati's two straight NCAA championships, provided the answer once again with five straight points to provide the Bearcats with their winning margin.

The Bearcats, who are ranked No. 1 among the nation's colleges, now boast a 14-0 record this season with 10 games remaining on the regular schedule. They still have several formidable opponents to contend with, including third-ranked Illinois in their next start Jan. 26, but the feeling among the Cincinnati players is that they can overcome anything now that they have beaten the Peoria jinx.

The last time the Bearcats had a perfect basketball record was in 1907-08, when they showed a 9-0 slate.

Thacker and Ron Bonham led all scorers against Bradley with 18 points each while Mack Herndon, who went into the contest with a 26-point average, topped the Braves with a mere 12.

Arizona St. Wins

Fourth-ranked Arizona State University, the only other member of the top 10 to get into action Thursday night, defeated New Mexico, 59-47, to take over undisputed possession of first place in the Western Athletic Conference.

The Sun Devils, who now have a 15-1 overall record, used a sagging zone defense which prevented New Mexico from working the ball near the basket. As a result, the Lobos were forced to do most of their shooting from the outside and they couldn't connect too often.

Art Becker of Arizona State led all scorers with 23 points, including nine in the final two minutes. Also playing a large factor in the Sun Devils' success was the floor play of Joe Caldwell.

Harlem Stars Here Monday

The Harlem All-Stars are slated to appear in the Harvester Fieldhouse this Monday night with advance tickets now on sale.

The comical basketball team will play a group of Pampans in the 8 p.m. clash. The Pampa Optimist Clubs are sponsoring the basketball show.

Tickets for the game are now on sale at Richard Drug with admission $1.25, adults, 75 cents students, and 50 cents children under 12. Each ticket will be 25 cents higher if purchased at the gate Monday night except for the children under 12 tickets.

In addition to the basketball game, a juggling exhibition will be presented by Joe Mays, Macy, Ind., at halftime.

Pampa Puts District Lead On Line Against AHS

Pampa's Harvesters, owning a 15-game winning streak and a 29-1 season mark, risk their District 3-AAAA lead tonight in the hostile confines of the AHS Armory as the Pampans square off against the Sandies at 8 o'clock.

Starting at 6:15, a "B" game between the two schools will precede the varsity tilt.

Amarillo, fresh from upsetting Plainview Tuesday night, 73-72 in double overtime, is tied for second place in the district race with Plainview, both owning 4-1 conference records.

Palo Duro and Tascosa meet in Amarillo; Borger hosts Lubbock; and Monterey visits Plainview in other Dist. 3-AAAA contests slated for tonight.

Favorites for tonight's game are Pampa, Tascosa, Lubbock, and Plainview.

Coach Terry Culley's starting quintet — Wayne Kreis, Keith Swanson, Randy Matson, Gary Sikes, and Gordon Balch — will be intact for tonight's tussle.

Pampa's offensive thrust may be too much for the Sandies as the Harvesters are the most well-rounded scoring outfit in the district. Although Kreis owns the best scoring clip in Dist. 3-AAAA, a 21.8 average, the other four starters are capable of scoring in double figures as well.

Swanson owns the seventh best average, 14.2, with Sikes, 6.2, ranking number 11 with a 12.0 average.

In the second and third spots in district scoring are Sandies Leslie Lovett and Jim Hill with 17.8 and 17.2 averages respectively.

In district action this season, Amarillo has dropped Monterey, 51-34; Palo Duro, 73-54; and Borger, 71-53 besides the Tuesday victory over Plainview. Amarillo was upset by Lubbock, 71-57, in Amarillo's dreaded Armory. The Sandies own a 13-5 season record.

Pampa, riding a 15-game winning streak that extends back to Dec. 15, has downed five district foes this season—Palo Duro, 70-42; Tascosa, 72-59; Lubbock, 72-63; Borger, 59-51; and Monterey, 56-48. Along with Kreis in the top 20 scorers in the district so far are Keith Swanson and Gary Sikes. Swanson holds the No. 7 spot with a 14.2 average for the five district games. Sikes ranks 12th with a 12.0 average.

Randy Matson is averaging 9.2 in district play and Gordon Balch 6.0.

Despite being beaten Tuesday night, the Bulldogs of Plainview are the leading offensive team in the district, averaging 68.0 a game as compared to Amarillo's 65.0 and Pampa's 65.8.

Monterey has allowed the fewest points this year, holding its opponents to a 46.4 average.

Pampa hosts Plainview this Tuesday night in Harvester Fieldhouse in perhaps the most important game of district play this season.

Andrews Violates TIL Rules

ANDREWS, Tex. (UPI)—The Andrews Mustangs have violated a Texas interscholastic rule against playing more than two basketball games in one week and automatically have become ineligible for the District 2-AAA cage title.

Supt. T. A. Roach said a check of the team's records, requested by TIL headquarters in Austin, showed that the team had violated the rule twice this season and that he had notified the district executive committee.

The question of whether the team will be allowed to complete its schedule and whether, if so, the games will be counted in the

Signings Continue In Baseball Circles

By MILTON RICHMAN UPI Sports Writer

Ted Williams, Joe DiMaggio and Hank Aaron, three pretty fair country outfielders, popped up simultaneously today—not on the field but in the news.

Williams, the retired 44-year-old Red Sox slugger, predicted Dick Stuart would hit 35 to 40 homers for Boston this year, then really raised some eyebrows by saying he gets along swell with baseball writers.

The 48-year-old DiMaggio, also retired, cheerfully agreed to serve as special batting instructor at the New York Yankees' advance training camp in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., for the third straight spring.

And Aaron, 28, and still plenty active, signed the 10th contract of his career with Milwaukee for an estimated $55,000.

Williams, speaking at the New England Sportsman's show in Boston, said he missed baseball "and writers." Ted said, "I'm a likeable, ethical guy. I only got hot under the collar when someone body tried to put me on the spot."

In addition to their announcement on DiMaggio, the Yankees also revealed veteran Yogi Berra will serve as a combination player-coach next season and that he signed for the same salary.

Boros Surges Ahead In Crosby Pro-Am Tourney

By HAL WOOD UPI Sports Writer

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (UPI)—There are horses for courses and toughen—like Julius Boros—for tough golf courses.

So big Julie, one-time National Open and world champion, rolled into the second round of the complex $50,000 Bing Crosby National Pro-Amateur golf tournament today holding a comfortable two-stroke lead over the field.

"I just happened to play pretty good," said the quiet man from Midpines, N.C.

Little Blew Up
While Boros was having his fine day, another former National Open champion, Gene Littler, blew to a big 83—possibly the highest score he ever has taken in a PGA tournament.

And he wasn't the only one having trouble. Duff Lawrence, considered a fine young prospect on the tour had an 87; and Bob Bruno, a club pro from Illinois, had a 90. Bob Goalby, a big winner every year on the tour had an 82.

Close to Boros came big George Bayer, longhitting Paul Harney, and little Davey Hill, each with 88. And at 89s came Phil Rodgers and Gene Bone.

The three courses on which this tournament is played are Pebble Beach, Cypress Point and Monterey Peninsula Country Club. The weather was comfortably warm and there was very little wind.

Julius Boros

What happened was that Julius, off to a mediocre start and one over par after eight holes, caught fire and went seven under par on the next 10 holes. He closed out with a six-under-par 66 for the day—two strokes ahead of everybody, and more than that ahead of the favorites.

Six Broke Par
But only six players were able to break 70 compared with 43 who cracked into the sixties during the first round of the San Diego Open last week.

Favored Arnold Palmer came in with a 70, after taking a double-bogey five on the famous 222 yard 18th at Cypress Point. National Open champion Jack Nicklaus had a 71 and Gary Player, who won at San Diego, had a 73. All played at Cypress Point.

Defending champion Doug Ford had a 75 and former National Open champion Jack Fleck had to settle for a 79.

In the pro-amateur division, there was a four-way tie for the lead, featuring Mike Souchak and his brother, Frank, from Pittsburgh; Ernie Vossler and Bill Higgins, Orinda, Calif.; Hill and comedian Phil Harris; and Australian Bruce Crampton and Joe Fennelly, San Francisco.

They each came in with a 63.

Robert E. Lee Wins 2 Games
Robert E. Lee's Rebels won two games yesterday afternoon from White Deer's ninth grade.

The Rebel eighth graders downed White Deer's ninth grade "B" team, 28-26, with Jack Thompson scoring 10 and Myron Porter seven for the winners.

The Lee ninth graders upended White Deer's ninth graders, 71-39, in a high-scoring battle. High for the Rebels was David Cain with 14. Gary Crossland scored 10 and Teddy Bird, 12, in the win.

Both Rebel-teams play Pampa Jr. High this Tuesday.

Boyd, Dismuke Post GG Wins
In the Canyon District Golden Gloves, two Pampa pee wees posted first night victories in the three night tournament.

Danny Boyd decisively Mike Young, Borger, in the 90-pound pee wee division with teammate Richard Dismuke defeating Levelland's John Rodela in the 95-pound class.

Many other Pampa fighters swung into action tonight in the second round of the tournament.

Other Pampans fighting last night were: Larry Jones dec. by Brad Hollingsworth, Canyon, in 50-pound class; and Ronnie Watson dec. by Bruce Thomas, Canyon, in the 55-pound class.

Knicks Batter San Francisco

By United Press International

Richie Guerin and Johnny Green scored the points, but it was Gene Conley who brought the New York Knicks their first win of the year over the San Francisco Warriors Thursday night.

The basketball-baseball ace put the clamps on giant Wilt Chamberlain and held him to a single point in the fourth quarter.

The game was tied 76-76 after three stanzas, but New York breezed to a 113-100 win thanks to Conley's work on Wilt and the gunning of Guerin and Green.

Chamberlain ended the night with 28 points while Guerin and Green tossed in 27 and 25 respectively.

In the night's only other National Basketball Association action, Boston bounced Chicago 110-93 in a game at Baltimore before a crowd of 7,752.

Tom Heinsohn led the winners' well-balanced attack with 18, as Chicago's Walt Bellamy clicked for 33 points. Maurice King, recently acquired from the defunct American Basketball League, added 15 for the Zephyrs.

A Week Of Prayer For Christian Unity

REV. AND MRS. JAMES W. COMSTOCK

Missionary Comstock Skellytown Speaker

Rev. James W. Comstock, recently returned to this country from Sao Paulo, Brazil, South America, will speak at Skellytown Community Church on Sunday, January 20, both morning and evening services.

James Comstock brings a unique account of Christian foreign missions in Latin America, of a term of service in Colombia and his recently completed term in Brazil. This knowledge of both Spanish-speaking and Portuguese-speaking peoples, equips him to recount the progress being made in gospel advance in these nations.

Comstock will tell of the work of The Oriental Missionary Society located in the coffee mountains in the city of Medellin, Colombia, where the Society operates its Bible Seminary for the training of Colombian youth.

Also, he will present a set of colored pictures depicting the progress in the River Bible Institute. Hundreds of young people with no other opportunity for an education, are taught here as well as learning a trade. This is a new effort in training young men and women to take the Christian message to their own people.

Comstock is presently the regional secretary of the Society, speaking in churches, conventions, men's and prayer groups, etc., through the Midwest. His insight into missionary enterprise gives him the message on the importance of missionary advance in the world today in face of explosive crises.

Comstock and family have been recently appointed to return to Colombia, South America, in January, 1963. He will take up duties in the country's only Bible Seminary as well as in administrative capacity. Rev. Comstock was formerly a resident of Skellytown and pastor of the Community Church during 1944-45.

The public is cordially invited to hear this capable young missionary speaker, as he reveals the potential of the great southern nation of Colombia.

Graham Says It's Bible Or Jungle

DALLAS (UPI)—Evangelist Billy Graham said Wednesday the time may come "when our President will take the vows of his office with his hand on the Constitution instead of the Bible."

"It is back to the Bible or it is back to the jungle," Graham said in a speech at the annual Texas-Baptist-Evangelists Conference.

"There is growing in America today a movement to take God out of this country, but when the Bible goes down, anarchy will raise its ugly head," Graham said. "There may come a time when the words 'In God We Trust' will cease to be our nation's motto."

Religion in America By LOUIS CASSELS United Press International

Christians of every communion—Protestants, Catholics, Anglicans and Orthodox—will join Jan. 18-25 in a week of prayer for Christian unity.

This has become an annual observance. When it began on a small scale in 1940, it seemed like a very far-fetched idea for Christians of different confessions to pray for unity. Their relations were so strained by centuries of mutual distrust and animosity that was hard to see how they could even achieve a truce, let alone reunion.

But a tremendous change has taken place during the past two decades. How far and fast events have moved is witnessed by the fact that in 1963, it does not seem particularly remarkable—perhaps not even newsworthy—that all of the branches of Christendom will be praying during the next seven days for God to lead them into that "oneness" which is the expressed will of Christ.

"In our lifetime," says the Rev. Dr. W. A. Visser 't Hooft, secretary-general of the World Council of Churches, "we have witnessed developments that one would have considered almost impossible only a few years ago."

The World Council of Churches itself is one of those developments. Before its establishment 15 years ago, there was little cooperation, and still less understanding, among the non-Roman Catholic churches of the world. Today more than 200 Protestant, Anglican and Orthodox denominations are working together amicably in the World Council.

Although they have found practical cooperation easier to achieve than doctrinal unity, they are working on the latter, too. Next July, more than 500 of the world's leading theologians will meet in Montreal to spend two weeks exploring the differences in "faith and order" which exist between member churches of the World Council.

Long after non-Catholic Christians began to draw together, in what ecclesiastics call the "ecumenical movement," the Church of Rome remained aloof. It did not even formally recognize the existence of the World Council of Churches.

Then, four years ago, Pope John XXIII ascended to the chair of St. Peter.

Pope Changes Pattern

Almost immediately, unprecedented things began to happen. Protestant, Catholic and Orthodox Christians became "separated brethren" rather than "schismatics and heretics." The Vatican established formal liaison with the World Council of Churches, and sent official observers to its 1961 assembly in New Delhi. The Archbishop of Canterbury called on the Pope—blazing a trail which many Protestant leaders were to follow—and was warmly received. Protestant bodies were invited to send observers to the Vatican Council. They accepted and their delegates were treated with a cordial hospitality which made a profound impression on all of protestantism.

It is no exaggeration to say that more barriers between Catholics and Protestants have fallen during the four years of Pope John's reign than in all of the preceding four centuries since the Reformation.

Reunion Far Off

Despite the swift movement of events, nearly all leaders of the ecumenical movement agree that full reunion of the Christian family is still a very long way off. In fact, it may be said to be so far off as to be presently out of sight, since no human eye can discern solutions of the deep and sincere theological differences which divide Catholics and Protestants.

The Sunday School hour begins at 9:45 at the Highland Baptist Church. There is a class for every age group and a well supervised nursery for small children. The teachers in all adult departments will be teaching the lesson, "Jesus Meets Hostility." In this lesson students will study the fact that Jesus was firm in His convictions, and that they must be, too.

For the 11 a.m. worship service, Rev. Joe Allison has chosen to speak on the subject, "The Message Men Must Hear." He will read the scripture as found in Revelation 13:1-10. Revelation 13:9 will be used as his text.

The Training Union hour begins at 8:30 p.m. and the lesson "Who Needs My Witness?" will be discussed. Training Union will be followed by the evening worship service at 7:30 p.m., during which time Rev. Allison will read Romans 12:1-3 from the Bible and speak on the subject, "Fringe Edge Benefits."

Roy Harper, minister of music, will lead the junior and adult choirs and the congregation in the song services. He will be assisted by Mrs. Don Stafford at the piano.

Prayer meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday with all youth organizations and officers and teachers meeting at 6:45 p.m. The pastor will use as his topic for the Prayer Service, "Be No Responder of Persons."

Central Baptist Places Emphasis On Bible Study

Central Baptist Church gives major emphasis to Bible Study at the Mid-Week Services. In the Teachers' and Officers Meeting at 7 p.m., the pastor spends approximately 30 minutes in discussing the Sunday School lesson for the coming Sunday. This study is designed for teachers but is open to all.

During this hour all youth are participating in Mission organizations designed to increase their knowledge of the Bible. They also study the work of the World-Wide Mission endeavor of Southern Baptists.

During the prayer meeting hour, Rev. Upshaw is teaching the "Gospel of Matthew." The study is entitled "The King and the Kingdom." This study shall continue through the month of February.

Services Sunday will begin with Sunday School at 9:45 and the morning worship hour at 11:00. A trained staff of dedicated teachers, in 31 departments are ready to help you study the Bible. The evening service begins with the Training Union hour at 6:00 and the evening worship service at 7:00. The Sanctuary Choir will sing "The Earth is the Lord's" by Warren Angell at the 11:00 o'clock hour. The pastor, Rev. T. O. Upshaw, will be in the pulpit for both services. You are cordially invited to worship at Central Baptist Church.

Sunday Sermon At Lamar Christian "The Value Of Life"

During the evening worship, communion and Bible study and informal song service led by Richard Kennedy, accompanied by Linda Hubbard on the piano, will lead into the sermon. The Bible study led by Dr. Hunter will be "The Book of Jonah."

The official board of the Church will meet at 8:00 p.m., following the evening service.

Seek 650,000 Blankets In Drive For Algerians

An urgent need for blankets to give warmth to shivering men, women and children in Algeria has prompted an emergency appeal to Methodist women and their societies to help provide 650,000 blankets for shipment to North Africa.

The appeal for blankets is being made by the Methodist Committee for Overseas Relief, whose general secretary is the Rev. Dr. Gaiter P. Warfield.

The appeal was approved by the Methodist Council of Bishops. Each bishop will give leadership to the appeal in his area.

The blankets needed from Methodists are a part of a total of 650,000 being sought from all of American Protestantism. The blankets are to be distributed through the facilities of Church World Service.

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

Attend The Church Of Your Choice

GLYN B. ADSIT, MINISTER
FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

"PARTNERSHIP OR WISFUL THINKING"

Most Christians sincerely hope that the will of God may be done on earth — by others. In the Sunday morning prayer most of us repeat with fervency and intended sincerity, "Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be done."

It is right and proper that both individuals and congregations should pray that all men become obedient unto God through Christ. We should pray, "Thy Kingdom come." The basic question which each of us should face, however, is whether the repetition of the words constitutes prayer or wishful thinking. There is a difference.

Prayer is the dedication of self to a cause. Wishful thinking is the hope that everything will turn out all right without involvement or cost of any kind. Prayer is a conscious offering of self to God with the knowledge that the heavenly Father knows best and nothing need be held back. Wishful thinking expects the fruits of the father's love without paying the price of identification as a son of God. Prayer issues in partnership. Wishful thinking ends in self-delusion.

There is a little poem that I do not remember the writer or the exact wording but it goes something like the following:

"I knelt before the Father's throne, Thy Kingdom come, I'd said.
And then as if my task were done I calmly went to bed.
'Thy Kingdom come,' each day I pray, But spend my time and gold
As if I did not mean the prayer I uttered as of old.
Now tell me, you who pray with me, Say, do we really care?
'Or, if we give not time no gold, then is it really prayer?'"

The essence of prayer is partnership with the divine. It is a conscious identification of the one offering the prayer with Him to whom the prayer is offered. For the Christian, prayer in the name of Christ is identification of self with Him and His revelation of the Father's will. Prayer, therefore, is basically witness.

Without the element of witness and the identification of self with the purposes of God, prayer becomes more pious incantation. Then the phrases of hope are rather empty wishful thinking.

It is at this very point that the church needs to reassess its concept of the stewardship of the gospel. The stewardship of money and the stewardship of things are of real significance only because they reflect the basic reality of our lives with respect to prayer and to the stewardship of the gospel.

Credit Union Schedules Meeting

LEFORS (Spl) — The Columbian Carbon Federal Credit Union will hold its annual meeting Friday night, Jan. 25th, at 7:30 p.m. in the Lefors Civic Center.

Wayne Hilton, Field representative, will be the featured speaker of the evening.

Carson Co. Farmer Is Milo Winner

PANHANDLE (Spl) — Carson County farmer A. J. Labus of Panhandle has received word that his yield per acre of 10,249 pounds of milo was tops in the state among farmers using DeKalb seeds, according to Oren James of James Feed Store, 522 S. Cuyler.

Musical talent from Lefors High School will furnish the entertainment for the evening.

A short business meeting will be conducted, officers will be elected to fulfill those whose terms expire.

Refreshments of coffee and donuts will be served.

A cash door prize will be given to some lucky credit union member.

83rd Division Looking For Ex-Members

The average yield of milo on irrigated land is 6,746 pounds to the acre. Participants in the five-acre yield contest will attend a banquet at the Holiday-Vic Man in Amarillo on Thursday, Feb. 7 at noon. Guest speaker for the event will be Dr. Jim Wilson, DeKalb wheat breeder, who will explain the merits of a new hybrid wheat developed by DeKalb.

The 83rd Infantry Division, famed Thunderbolt Division of World War II, again is conducting an extensive search for some 30,000 former members.

That is the number of men on their roster who have not been contacted since the end of the war. The men are scattered all over the nation. Many are from Texas, according to Victor E. Landis, of Dayton, Ohio, who is publicity director for the Division.

Every year the 83rd holds a reunion. This year the 17th annual convalesce will be staged in Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 15, 16 and 17, at the Hotel Claypool. That is the old stamping grounds for the 83rd. It was reactivated in August, 1942, at Camp Atterbury, near Indianapolis and spent one year in training there.

Landis says all former members of the old 83rd are urged to contact the national secretary, Harry Lockwood, 43 Oakland Ave., Jersey City, N.J.

Swine Sires
Hogs on American farms are descended from the wild swine of Europe and are probably mixed with the Chinese pig. The wild swine of China were perhaps the earliest to be tamed and used by man.
