Much Of Nation Is 'Icebox'

70-Inch Snow In New York State

By United Press International
A heavy snow storm swung through New York state today, leaving up to 70 inches of snow in its tracks and creating emergency conditions. Elsewhere, much of the nation was an icebox.

It was below freezing from Atlanta, Ga., to Dallas, Tex. Chicago's Midway Airport registered 12 below to break the 1885 low for this date. Moline, Ill., had 23 below, the coldest since 1933.

High winds whipped and churned the heavy snowfall into near impassable highway conditions north of Utica, N.Y., as the storm spun south of Watertown into Rome and New York's Mohawk Valley. Roads were hazardous throughout western New York.

Rochester police set up a special parking lot for scores of stalled cars which had to be towed from the streets. In Watertown, N.Y., almost all vehicles flew red flags at the top of aerials so they could be spotted over snow banks at intersections.

Food Stocks Dwindle
"Major food outlets' stocks ran low in Watertown, and the blizzard conditions hampered shipping in of milk, eggs and other staples from Syracuse 70 miles to the south.

Plows had a problem in disposing of the latest snow. They built up 8- to 12-foot piles in Watertown, where 70 inches of snow was on the ground. Buffalo, N.Y., had 23 inches on the ground and Rochester 13 inches. Michael McCabe, 9, Hamburg, N.Y., was hospitalized in good condition after a snow tunnel he dug collapsed on him. A neighbor saw his feet in the snow.

A roof over the Lake Ontario Marina at Henderson Harbor collapsed under the weight of three to four feet of snow. Twenty boats were destroyed.

Three to six inches of snow fell in New Jersey and four persons died Sunday from shoveling snow. Part of a four-inch snowfall thawed in New York City Sunday, but 1,200 Sanitation Department workers manned sanders and salt spreaders in the city's streets.

South Carolina Admits Negro To Clemson College

CLEMSON S.C. (UPI) — South Carolina becomes the last state of the Union to lower public school racial barriers with the admission today of Negro Harvey Gantt to Clemson College.

More than 100 armed law enforcement officers were on hand to bolster the one-man police force of this sleepy college town which does not even have a jail, and assure that the court-ordered admission of Gantt is not met with violence.

Entrance of the 20-year-old high school honor student will mark an end to South Carolina's distinction as the only state which has never allowed a Negro student in a white school.

State officials, determined to maintain order without help from federal officers, have been close-mouthed about security regulations.

Patrol Entrances
But non-sense highway patrolmen took up posts at all entrances to the campus early today and gave close scrutiny to all persons entering or leaving.

They were reinforced by plainclothesmen from South Carolina's crack State Law Enforcement Division (SLED), who patrolled the almost deserted campus in unmarked cars.

A light airplane was poised at the airport of this town of 1,500, ready to whisk Gantt away in the event of rioting.

Gantt was scheduled to arrive about 2 p.m. EST accompanied by Negro lawyer Matthew J. Perry and his father, Charleston shipyard mechanic Christopher Gantt.

The youth and his father began the 235-mile automobile trip from Charleston at about 7 a.m. this morning and drove to Columbia to meet Perry.

Ends Resistance
State officials, who have presented a united front in urging that South Carolina accept the "distasteful" transition with grace were joined Sunday by one of the state's most outspoken segregationists.

New Cold Blast Due For Texas

By United Press International
A new mass of Arctic air was poised to move into the Panhandle today, bringing sub-freezing temperatures, snow and freezing conditions to North Texas by tonight.

Sub-freezing temperatures gripped most of Texas today. The US Weather Bureau said it would get much colder tonight and Tuesday. Texans were in for a brief daytime respite from bitter cold today, however.

The new cold air mass, the fourth major winter storm for the state in 2-1/2 weeks, was to move into the Panhandle tonight, bringing snow, freezing rain, drizzle and near-zero temperatures.

Nine at Dalhart
Early morning temperatures were freezing or below from the Panhandle to Houston and Cotulla. Dalhart's 9 degree reading was the lowest. Beaumont had the warmest temperature with 39 degrees.

Readings in the Lower Rio Grande Valley were in the high 30s.

The Weather Bureau said the cold front would engulf the state Tuesday, bringing snow, freezing rain and drizzle to North Texas. In five-day forecasts the bureau predicted the bitter cold would persist.

Filibuster Showdown Due

Senators Had To Go To Work Early Today

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate was called into session two hours earlier than usual today in Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield's push for a showdown this week in the anti-filibuster rule fight.

Mansfield said 10 a.m. sessions would be the practice all week unless some agreement could be reached to end the rules battle which has stymied all other business for two weeks.

But there were few indications the issue could be settled before late in the week.

Sen. Clinton P. Anderson D-N.M., said he would try today to make some form of parliamentary motion that could lead the way to a showdown of one kind or another this week.

Anderson has the backing of the Senate's liberal bloc in his effort to force a vote on the constitutional question of whether a majority can adopt new rules at the beginning of a session, thus bypassing the hard-to-invoke filibuster curb.

The New Mexico Democrat is sponsoring a change to allow limitation of debate by three-fifths of senators voting. The present rule requires two-thirds of those voting.

Although they are supporting Anderson's move for a test on the constitutional question, the hard core pro-civil rights liberals still want the rule modified to let a simple majority — 51 — of all senators curb debate.

Mansfield urged senators over the weekend to settle the issue "so we can get on with the nation's business."

Mineral Rights On 6,000 Acres In Area Purchased By Oil Firm

Extensive Drilling Planned This Year

A multi-million dollar deal involving the development of a comparatively new Gray County oil field between Lefors and Alanreed was consummated in Pampa during the week end.

The Western Petroleum Co. of San Francisco and the Megargel Drilling Co. of Megargel, Texas, purchased all the mineral rights under approximately 6,000 acres, located nine miles southeast of Lefors, from Coley Parker of Fort Worth and Harry Parker of Wichita Falls.

Present at the closing of the deal Friday afternoon in the First National Bank here were J. F. Helms, San Francisco, vice president and treasurer; Ernest Reiff, vice president, Long Beach Calif., representing Western Petroleum Co.; W. C. Bradford, manager of Western Petroleum's Texas office in Abilene; and the Parker Brothers.

The Megargel Drilling Co. was represented by F. L. Livingston and Vincent Murphy of Megargel. Legal counsel assisting in the transaction included the firm of Braly & Braly of Pampa, representing the Parkers, and Atty. P. M. Britton of Amarillo, representing Western Petroleum and the Megargel Drilling Co.

Reiff, Western Petroleum vice president, said today the deal becomes effective Feb. 1, and the company plans to begin drilling new wells around the first of April.

Plans call for drilling 12 oil wells this year. Reiff said there already are 17 new oil wells and 24 gas wells on the 6,000-acre tract.

"It is our plan to start these wells into production," Reiff said. "They are virgin wells and some of them have not been placed into production except for part-time."

Reiff said they believe there is a possibility for 40 new wells on the land.

He said the company plans to begin immediately laying of flow lines and installation of heater treaters and separators.

Western Petroleum, Reiff said, has producing fields in a number of other North Central Texas counties.

The announcement by Western Petroleum and Megargel Drilling companies was heralded as good news for Pampa and Gray County.

The active development of this new field is added to the water-flood activities expected to bring increased production to wells in the old fields in the Pampa and Top O' Texas area.

In City Election Defeat Of All Issues Is Urged

Defeat of all three issues proposed in Pampa's Jan. 31 charter amendment election was urged at a breakfast meeting held in the Coronado Inn this morning.

The meeting was presided over by Jack Vaughn, former city commissioner. Vaughn and Ott Shewmaker explained why they thought the charter proposals should not be adopted.

Printed sheets and sample ballots were distributed which placed emphasis on defeat of the proposed charter changes.

Plans were discussed for a house-to-house canvass by workers assigned to certain city districts. Approximately 30 persons attended this morning's meeting.

City Secretary Edwin V. Cars said 15 absentee ballots had been cast in the Thursday election. Deadline for absentee balloting was Friday midnight.

The charter election Thursday deals with two methods of extending the city limits. One would be by petition of property owners outside the city asking to be brought within the city limits, and the other would give the city commission power to fix the city limits by ordinance.

The third issue on the Thursday ballot would give the city commission authority at the first meeting following each city election to elect from among its members one to serve as mayor or to term during the absence or illness of the elected mayor.

The polls will be open Thursday from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. in each of the city's four wards.

Fidel Claims Bust-Up Of 2 'American Spy Rings'

HAVANA (UPI) — The Castro government claimed Sunday it had broken up two American spy rings plotting to kill Raul Castro and foment internal uprisings as distraction for a massive invasion.

A government communique charged the espionage networks were operated by the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) from Miami and the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay.

The CIA in Washington declined to comment on the report, and the Department of Defense said it knew of no CIA operations from Guantanamo.

A large number of persons were arrested and a cache of weapons and explosives buried near the naval base was confiscated, the government said. Those arrested apparently were all Cubans except for four Jamaicans.

The communique said four "main links" with the CIA were among those captured. It gave the names of 12 persons arrested, including two women. In addition it said the government seized a list with the names of 36 other persons involved in the plots.

The total number of arrests was not specified.

The government release said two of the prisoners were in on the "frustrated attempt to kill Raul Castro," armed forces minister and brother of Premier Fidel Castro. It did not make clear whether the assassination actually had been attempted or was caught in the planning stage.

The separate spy networks operated in Oriente Province at Cuba's eastern end, according to the communique. It said the immediate objective of the groups was to "get all available information about military installations, troop movements, the arrival and departure of all ships

Nursing Care Home Slates Dinner Feb. 5

Rev. Don R. Davidson, executive director of the Texas Methodist Homes for the Aged, will be guest speaker at the first public Informational Dinner of the Pampa Community Nursing Care Home, at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, February 5, in Coronado Inn, according to Arthur M. Teed, president of the non-profit Top O' Texas Foundation.

Plans call for a 30-bed facility to be constructed on a 10-acre site owned by the Foundation, located just west of the Highland General Hospital.

Teed said, "The type of facility planned will be such that patients who receive old age benefits may also enter under the state vendor plan which pays for their nursing care."

"There is a pressing need for a geriatric hospital and nursing care facility in the Pampa area and I am confident the people of this community will welcome the chance to participate."

He stated further that the construction of the facility will be completed without the use of Federal or State funds. "—this is strictly a community project and although a non-profit enterprise, it will nevertheless be self-sustaining in its operation," he said.

Teed added, "We are fortunate to have Dr. Davidson come to Pampa. He is not only an inspirational speaker but he has a wealth of knowledge concerning convalescent nursing care homes."

More Than Russians US Claims Progress In Space During '62

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States said today it made more space progress than Russia in 1962.

The claim was made in a report to Congress by President Kennedy which said 1962's achievements "a record of even greater net advance" this year.

A section of the report summarized by Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, chairman of the National Aeronautics and Space Council, had this to say about the U. S. Russian space race:

"The United States generated a greater rate of space progress than did the U. S. S. R. (in 1962) . . . The United States was successful in putting more than 30 satellite payloads into earth orbit, the U. S. S. R. more than 15."

The report went on to say, however, that the Russians wound up the year "still ahead in size and total weights placed into orbit, in the thrust of their rocket engines, and in the development of the art of rendezvousing (coupling of craft) in space."

This was a reference to the Soviet achievement last August of putting two astronauts, in separate launchings, into orbits which brought them within a few miles of each other.

The report conceded a number of U. S. launch failures during the year. It disclosed no specific information about similar Russian failures, a subject on which the U. S. military space trackers are reluctant to talk. But it said:

"Based upon available information, it can be concluded that the records of the two countries were closely similar in regard to the ratios of space successes to space failures."

In the case of the United States, the report said, the ratio of successful to unsuccessful space shots was better than 3 to 1.

Common Market Is Considering End To Talks With The British

BRUSSELS (UPI) — The Common Market Council of Ministers gathered today to decide whether to break off negotiations with Britain — a move that would have a major impact on economic relationships in the Western world.

A series of top-level meetings among officials of the countries involved was under way this morning in an effort to find some way to keep the talks going.

A French source said, however, there had been "no change" so far in the French demand that the talks be adjourned.

French President Charles de Gaulle said Jan. 14 that Britain is not ready to accept the Common Market's membership conditions and really not ready to take part in Europe.

Seeks Special Terms
Britain, supported by the United States, is trying to join the six-nation market on terms that will protect its agricultural interests and trade relations with its Commonwealth partners.

Three of the Common Market nations — Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg — made it clear they believe Britain should join and that obstacles can be overcome.

They even were talking about blocking associate membership for former French African colonies, duty-free Algerian imports and agricultural compromises France wants unless De Gaulle agrees to Britain's entry.

Germany and Italy, the two other members, were trying to find a compromise.

British Papers Angry
The British press was in an uproar.

"One of the classical diplomatic double-crosses of the century," said the Sunday Telegraph about De Gaulle's opposition.

The Sunday Times urged British negotiator Donald Heath to "stand firm" and not give in to the French.

The Daily Herald accused De Gaulle of taking a "mad gamble" that would destroy the Common Market if it succeeded.

"Britain must be excluded (in the French view) because to have her it would mean a common market linked with America and turned outwards to the world," the Herald said.

Heath, Britain's lord privy seal, said on his arrival here Sunday night that the negotiations "must continue."

"What is important is that the future of Europe will be decided," he said; "it must be a stable and strong Europe and we want to help in its construction."

Two Major Disputes Settled

Stevedores, Machinists On The Job

By United Press International
Atlantic and Gulf Coast stevedores and Lockheed machinists were on the job today after settlement of two major disputes in the nation's worst outbreak of labor unrests in months.

Court orders kept Boeing machinists and Monon Railroad trainmen at work. The mayors of New York and Cleveland scheduled talks to attempt settlement of their long newspaper strikes in their cities.

The Philadelphia transit strike, believed near settlement, reached another impasse.

LONGSHOREMEN:
Dock workers in the South Atlantic region, the last to end their walkout in the lengthy longshoremen dispute, signed a new contract Sunday. It called for a 39-cent pay increase similar to raises obtained by other dock workers who had struck from Maine to Texas.

A controversial issue involving the size of work gangs—the shipping firms have sought to reduce them because of automation—was to be studied by the International Longshoremen's Association (ILA) and the shipping interests with the Labor Department as a mediator.

The strike, which came after an 80-day Taff-Hartley cooling-off period expired, began Dec. 23. More than 100,000 longshoremen and maritime workers were idled. Its cost was placed at nearly $900 million.

In New York, 12,600 longshoremen were called in Sunday on doubletime pay rates to work

US Ambassador Reports To JFK

MOSCOW (UPI) — U.S. Ambassador Foy D. Kohler flew off for Washington today to report to President Kennedy on his first four months in America's most sensitive diplomatic post.

There was speculation he was carrying a message from Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev on the nuclear test ban question and other cold war issues.

Merrill Here For Concert Tonight

The Pampa Junior High School Auditorium is expected to be filled tonight for the appearance of Robert Merrill, Metropolitan Opera star.

Merrill will appear in concert at 8 p.m. as third in a series sponsored by the Pampa Community Concert Association.

The opera star slept late this morning after arriving in the city last night.

No seats will be on sale at the door for tonight's performance. Admission will be by membership ticket only, association officials said.

7 Below Zero And No Heat

SEDALIA, Mo. (UPI) — Two gas-main breaks left this community of 25,000 persons without heat today as temperatures plunged to 7 below zero.

With more than 300 workmen laboring to repair the ruptured pipelines, utility officials said they hoped to restore service by late afternoon, possibly sooner.

Meanwhile, schools, restaurants, many stores and most offices closed. Hotels advised guests arriving by automobile to drive on to the next town. For those who remained extra blankets made a poor substitute for steam heat.

Dear Abby... Established Firms Do Better Business

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN DEAR ABBY: Statistics show that widows and divorcees have a 70 per cent better chance of getting a husband than an unmarried woman. WHY? Why do men want two and three-times divorced women? What do these common re-treads and was-med-over-has-beens have that we respectable never-married girls don't?

BACHELOR GIRL, AGE 32 DEAR BACHELOR GIRL: Respectable, never-married girls are saying "I do" every day. Don't snipe at one who has loved and lost — just because she gets another chance. Some men prefer to do business with old, established firms.

DEAR ABBY: When I had my first child (a boy), my mother-in-law adored him and still does. When I had my second (a little girl) she said she had never seen such a homely baby. She told me she'd take care of my oldest child any time but not the little girl. I am ashamed to admit this to anyone but you, Abby, but she hates my daughter. She brings gifts for the boy and fusses over him, and ignores the little girl. It hurts me terribly. How can I get her to like my daughter?

SLEEPLESS NIGHTS DEAR SLEEPLESS: You can't get her to "like" your daughter—but you can tell her if she doesn't stop showing favoritism she is not welcome to see either of the children. Perhaps your husband can straighten her out. She's HIS mother.

DEAR ABBY: The other day my husband and I received an invitation to attend a party at the home of some friends. They said, "Bring your own bottle and we will fix a midnight supper for $2 a couple."

We couldn't go because we had already made other plans, but we were shocked. We are all young-marrieds in our late twenties and most of us are not well-to-do, but when we invite people to our home we expect to feed them. Is this something new?

PUZZLED DEAR PUZZLED: "BYOB" (bring your own bottle) parties are not uncommon among young-marrieds, but in my opinion that doesn't make it right. The $2 supper is pure chintz — and I don't mean a slipcover.

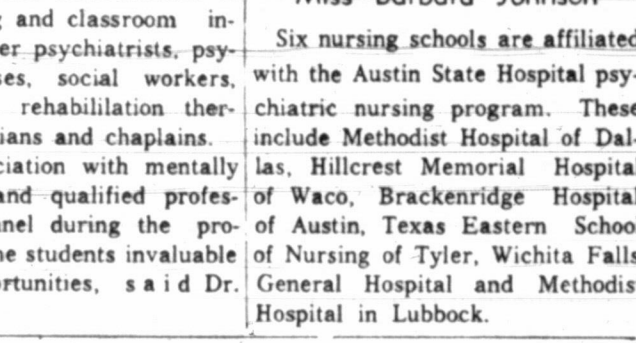

CONFIDENTIAL TO "LUCKLESS": Learn how to refuse favors. It is a very useful art.

Miss Barbara Johnson Completes Psychiatric Training In Austin

AUSTIN — Miss Barbara Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Johnson of Pampa, has completed three months of training under the Austin State Hospital Psychiatric Nursing Program, reports, Dr. Sam A. Hoerster Jr., superintendent. Miss Johnson, a graduate of Pampa High School, is a student of Methodist Hospital School of Nursing in Lubbock. The psychiatric nursing program is designed to train nurses in the recognition of psychiatric disorders, techniques useful in caring for emotionally ill patients and of community agencies established for dealing with social problems arising out of mental illness, Dr. Hoerster said. Students spend three months in ward training and classroom instruction under psychiatrists, psychiatric nurses, social workers, psychologists, rehabilitation therapists, dietitians and chaplains. Their association with mentally ill patients and qualified professional personnel during the program gives the students invaluable training opportunities, said Dr. Hoerster.

Six nursing schools are affiliated with the Austin State Hospital psychiatric nursing program. MATURE PARENT

Dear Mrs. Lawrence: I am separated from my husband. As he usually forgets to send support money for our 8-year-old boy, I work to make sure that we eat. Yesterday, when I got home a neighbor telephoned me to say that if I couldn't take better care of him I shouldn't have had him. She said it was shameful the way he had to hang around her yard with her kids after school because I wasn't home. I can give up my apartment and go home to my parents, if you think it would be a good thing.

ANSWER: Stop trying to qualify yourself for somebody's best-mother-of-the-year award.

You're doing the best you can by your child, so stop belittling your best. It's a good best with me—and I bet it might look like a pretty good best to this critical neighbor if she were told about the kind of care you are giving your boy by working all day to earn him the primitive essentials of food, shelter and winter clothing.

Why don't you tell her about it? And when you've enlightened her, how about offering to pay her for supervising your youngster between the time he gets home from school and the time you get home from work?

She might refuse, of course, just as you might realize that she is not the person with whom you want to leave your son.

I would like to see you consider this critical lady because her criticism of you may derive from genuine concern for your boy. If you straighten her out on this suspicion of your neglect, it is possible that her understanding will reach out to embrace you as well as him. And you will have made yourself a special kind of friend.

The idea of retreating to your parents' home is part of your distrust of the kind of care you are giving your boy. This distrust is the besetting problem of mothers in your situation. It derives from their insistence on measuring their motherhood against the kind provided by women whose husbands fulfill their fatherhood. As they don't possess such husbands, they get a false measurement. They are so intent on what they are unable to give their children that they lose all sight of the value of what they are able to give. It isn't fair to anyone.

Take It From Kathy

by Kathy Peterson Dear Kathy: I'm 13 and dateless. My mother thinks basketball games are wild, and I can't even go to a dance if there are boys older than me.

All my girl friends date and some are only 12. I am popular at school, but what good is that if you can't even go to a basketball game? — Dateless 12.

Dear 13: Reading between the lines makes me think you are making things sound a little worse than they really are. Some dances ARE allowed, but your parents are selective.

Normally, athletic events are acceptable entertainment for teenagers. They are an opportunity to be sociable and to develop school spirit. But, do games finish so late that they are beyond curfew? Perhaps your parents know that some of your friends use them as an excuse to sneak dates.

"Everyone else does it" usually means that a few are allowed the privilege in question, and the rest wish they had permission.

The friends who are 12 aren't too young for boy-girl parties and group activity, but they ARE too young for dates.

If you are popular at school, you must have "some fun." It's insurance that the dating kind of fun will come within the next couple of years.

Better Storage Cometh

The pressure of holiday entertainment can expose the weak links in kitchen equipment. The refrigerator that fails to refrigerate properly. The oven that is too small for the bird. The steamy fumes that cling on clothes and hair. These are nuisances a're time but especially when we're anxious for the dinner to go smoothly.

Such weakness does show up, the experienced homemaker will not yield to despair and frustration. He will use the failure as graphic evidence that her kitchen needs updating. I state this positively to keep up my courage in my own campaign to get a new refrigerator. The old white behemoth I've had more years than I care to remember recently let me down drastically. In order to chill dinner party foods I turned up the cold dial but this didn't work. The relishes were frost-bitten, the jellied cranberry mold soupy and the freezer-stored ice cream was soft—a 24-carat disaster with six guests. I am bolstering my contention that the old refrigerator has got to go by drawing attention to new models which have a high potential for trouble-free performance. There have been radical improvements made in refrigeration in the last five to 10 years — thinner, more effective insulation, no frost formation, better distribution of cold. These are old enough now so that most of the mechanical "bugs" have been erased. The major companies have worked to improve quality and reliability. One company, for example, says that the need for service on products manufactured five years ago was 66 per cent greater than on today's models.

Many of the choice features which used to be limited to the most expensive model are available on lower priced ones. No matter which model, the styling has improved so impressively that the refrigerator is no longer an eyesore. Flush doors, colored feature strips, and design that permits a back-to-the-wall installation contribute to the smart appearance. Inside are such refinements as roll — out shelves, ice cube ejectors, and door racks where a half gallon bottle of milk stands safely.

DEAR POLLY — Most of us hate to see the Christmas poinsettia plants fade. I found a way to save them for another year. After the blossoms are faded, cut down the stalk and put in a semidark, dry place. About the middle of April, repot the poinsettia in fresh, rich soil and place it in a window where there is plenty of sun. Water regularly and you soon will have vigorous new growth. During the summer, you may sink the plant (pot and all) in the garden but do not disturb the roots. Bring the pot back in the house as soon as the nights get cool again. Next Christmas you will once more have a beautiful blooming poinsettia.

DEAR POLLY — When sending a letter to a friend who is away from home, give her (or his) name and address for the return in the corner, instead of your own. Then if the letter is not delivered because of lateness of arrival, it will be forwarded to the proper person at the proper place instead of being returned to you.

GIRLS — This is particularly good for letters sent to people traveling from place to place or on vacation. Whether or not the news in the letter is world-shaking, at least the friend knows you remembered and wrote.

DEAR POLLY — When sanding scrollwork, back your sandpaper with adhesive tape. The tape will reinforce the sandpaper allowing you to work in tight places and around curves without tearing the sandpaper. Makes it easier to use the paper in rolled form, when desired.

Here is another one of our smart boys.

DEAR POLLY — In icy weather, always carry along a book of matches in your purse. When the lock on the car door freezes, just heat the tip of the door key with a lighted match. It just slips right in the lock when slightly heated.

I was amazed when trying your recent tip for boiling unmatched hose for a few minutes in salt water. I even experimented a little further and found this also works: If you want your hose a little darker than they are, just boil a tea bag with them and you will be surprised. Also use a tea bag in the same manner with old nylon underclothes that are not so white anymore. You will have lovely beige lingerie.

I personally want to thank Mrs. J. C. Some dingy white underthings I was about to discard now are back in good standing since being tinted with tea to the beige shade I like for winter.

Keep lemons from shriveling or becoming hard by wrapping each one in dark paper and then packing them loosely in a paper bag. Store in a cool place.

3 Break-Ins In Pampa Over Week End

Three unsuccessful break-in attempts occurred in Pampa over the week end with only a box of candy stolen.

Window panes of a grocery store at 838 E. Frederic were smashed as someone attempted to enter the establishment.

The violator smashed in a window pane on the front door and then went around to the east window, breaking over more glass and taking a box of candy by reaching through the window.

Some of the candy was found in the yard at 1000 E. Frederic.

John Gikas, 1301 Mary Ellen, reported to police that while he and his family were away from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m. Sunday, someone attempted to force open the back door of his home.

The break-in was the third in the 1200 block of Charles and Mary Ellen, neighboring streets.

Patrolman Loren Pigg discovered the back door panel pushed in at the Club Bar, 1210 S. Barnes, at 4:15 Sunday morning as the officer made his rounds.

No one gained entry into the building, however.

Bill Frye, Black Gold Motel, reported that Saturday he lost a 200-pound tool off a Schlumberger Co. truck on Highway 30. The tool was 12-15 feet long and six inches in diameter.

Littlefield Officer In Local Hospital

Lamb County Sheriff Dick Dyer of Littlefield is in a local hospital today recuperating from a heart attack he suffered Sunday morning just north of Pampa on Highway 70.

Sheriff Dyer radioed the local police department at about 11:30 a.m. Sunday and told the dispatcher he was having a heart attack and needed help. He was in his car about three miles north of town.

Patrolman Pat Patterson went out to assist the sheriff, who had been enroute to Perryton. He was admitted to a local hospital shortly before noon, after his wife drove their car back into Pampa to the hospital.

The attending physician reported Dyer's condition as "fair" this morning. He is expected to be confined to a hospital for sometime, the doctor said.

General Motors In Biggest Year

DETROIT (UPI)—General Motors Corp. announced today record 1962 sales of $14.6 billion and earnings of $1.459 billion.

It was the most money ever made by an American manufacturing firm.

GM chairman Frederic G. Donner and president John F. Gordon released the preliminary year-end figures. The final 1963 financial statement will be released next month.

The preliminary report showed the world's largest manufacturer set new records in virtually every area—sales, earnings, dividends, payroll and car and truck deliveries.

Last year's sales of $14.6 billion compared with $11.4 billion in 1961 and broke the 1960 record of $12.7 billion.

Net income of $1.459 billion topped 1961's $893 million and broke the old record of $1.189 billion set in 1955.

Earnings on common stock amounted to $5.10 per share in 1962, compared with $3.11 in 1961 and topping the old record of $4.30 per share in 1955.

Record dividends of $3 per share were paid to stockholders. The old record was $2.50 last year.

GM's worldwide payrolls last year were estimated at $3.9 billion, compared with $3.2 billion last year and breaking the old record of $3.5 billion in 1960.

Sales of cars and trucks from GM plants throughout the world in 1962 were 3,239,000 units, 4 per cent above the 1955 record of 3,030,994 units and 30 per cent higher than the 4,037,000 units sold in 1961.

European Autos

NEW YORK (UPI)—Europe's automobile industry is facing a "moment of truth," the magazine American Machinists says. Declining sales to the United States in 1961 and tougher competition developing in the Common Market have cast doubt as to whether Europe can ever approach the auto production capacity of the United States, the magazine said.

Death Toll Mounts

At least 260 persons were dead in weather-related mishaps since the record-breaking cold and snow, the worst of the century in some respects, first struck 10 days ago.

Indiana counted 46 persons dead and Illinois 25. There were 22 deaths each in New England and Ohio, 19 in Michigan and 16 in Texas. Minnesota counted 11, New York and Wisconsin 10 each, Pennsylvania and Georgia 9 each, Oklahoma 8, Kentucky 7, Missouri and Iowa 6 each, Alabama and New Jersey 4.

The Weather Bureau said the core of the cold air was located over the Mississippi Valley from St. Louis, Mo., to Duluth, Minn. Rochester, Minn., set a new record today with its 17th consecutive day of sub-zero weather.

Light Damage In Fire

Light damage occurred to the L-Ranch Motel, 1111 E. Frederic, Sunday afternoon as a hot water heater in a closet caught fire.

The attic suffered slight damage.

John Law's scheme for exploiting the resources of French Louisiana was known as the Mississippi Bubble.

Sub-Freezing

(Continued From Page 1) drop temperatures to below-freezing over the entire state by late Tuesday, with freezing rain and snow possible for all sections.

South Texas Cloudy

Moist southerly winds cloaked most of South Texas with a heavy cloud cover today.

The Weather Bureau said occasional rain and drizzle would develop over Southeast Texas and spread across the eastern quarter of the state tonight.

It predicted 50 degree highs in South Texas today.

The Gulf clouds held temperatures well above freezing in the Valley Sunday night and early today. The Brownsville Weather Bureau said readings early today were in the high 30s and rising. The bureau predicted 50 degree maximums before the new cold front hits.

Settlements

Publishers have proposed a $10 weekly package increase, while the union wants a $34.23 package over a two-year contract period. The disputed items also include use of automatic typesetting equipment, setting of unused material and contract expiration dates.

The 52-day-old strike has idled 20,000 employes at a cost of more than $41 million. Others have estimated the loss to the city's economy at $3 million daily—or more than $150 million.

Mayor Ralph Locher was to meet today with representatives of 11 unions and the Cleveland Press and Cleveland Plain Dealer in an effort to end their strike, which has been going on since Thanksgiving.

The key issue was union security for the American Newspaper Guild.

Locher has been meeting for the past few weeks with representatives of the publishers and the striking Guild and the Teamsters. But the contract of the last of the 11 unions expires this week, and not a single new agreement has been signed.

The 200 striking members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen returned to work at the Monon Railroad under court order.

The strike began at midnight Saturday and more than 1,000 employes were affected. The issue was the firing of several men in April, 1962, for refusing to ride in privately owned vehicles on public roads in the course of their duties. The line runs between Chicago and Louisville, Ky.

Eleven non-operating unions continued their walkout against the Florida East Coast Railway, which serves, among other points, Cape Canaveral and Florida resort cities.

The union is asking a 10.28-cent wage increase. The railway said it was hurt by the Cuban crisis and cannot afford the increase.

TRANSIT:

Union negotiators questioned the status of a court-appointed receiver of the Philadelphia Transportation Co. in the 13-day transit strike.

Michael J. Quill, international president of the Transport Workers Union, said former Chief Justice Horace Stern of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court was not a legally appointed receiver and could not sign a "continuing contract."

Negotiations broke up Sunday and no time was set for resumption.

About 5,600 employes were on strike, affecting a million Philadelphia commuters. It was believed the strike was over when the union accepted an agreement for a 33-cent hourly wage and benefit package and retention of the controversial no-layoff clause.

The company turned down the agreement, and the union said it would have to return to its original demands for a 75-cent-per-hour package.

Two Guards Escape To West Berlin

BERLIN (UPI)—Two East German border guards in uniform and carrying their weapons fled to West Berlin across the snow-blanketed death strip today, West Berlin police reported.

The Communists send their border guards to duty in pairs, so each can keep an eye on the other. Hence one guard rarely trusts his companion enough to admit he wants to flee.

The two who reached West Berlin today apparently had agreed to flee together. They made their way across the wide strip which the Communists had cleared to give guards a field of fire at refugees, and then crawled through barbed wire into a northern district of West Berlin.

The Communist version of the "buddy system" also failed a few days ago. Two peoples police agreed to jump together from the roof of a border house into West Berlin.

Both made their escape successfully but were injured in the fall and still are in a West Berlin hospital.

Race Driver Is Killed

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—Tragedy roared down the dirt track at Arizona State Fairgrounds again Sunday. Another racing driver was killed.

M. D. (Red) Sefton, a 27-year-old father of two from Ontario, Calif., who drove only as a hobby, was killed during time trials for the 100-mile California Racing Association Western States Championship.

His car hit the crash wall on the backstretch, flipped over and over, and landed upside down across the track near the infield. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Good Samaritan Hospital. Billy Cantrell of San Gabriel, Calif., won the 100-mile race, which was marred by other accidents.

Last November, during the Bobby Ball Memorial Race—which except for this CRA event is the only race at the Fairgrounds each year—a car rammed through a fence into the crowd, injuring about two dozen spectators.

And during the 1961 Bobby Ball race, the previous year, driver Al Keller was injured fatally.

So three of the last four events at the mile-long dirt track have produced accidents that ended in injury or death.

ing and won the $50,000 Lucky International golf tournament Sunday.

Burke and runnerup Don January, a pair of talented Texans, headed for the $50,000, 90-hole marathon Desert Classic at Palm Springs today with $13,500 in their pockets after finishing one-two.

Burke, closing with a great four-under-par 67 on the final round, had a 276 score and collected $9,000. January, who had started the final round one shot in front of the field, had a closing 71 for 279 and $4,500.

"And we needed the money," cracked Jackie after the victory. "Between us we have eight kids to feed."

Burke, who will be 40 years old Tuesday, has been haunted by a hand injury for years. It finally forced him to give up the tour for about half of each year.

"It's so bad that I can't practice at all or it gets sore," said Jackie. "So I just quit practicing and take my chances in the tournaments."

He hasn't won since capturing the Buick Open at Flint, Mich., in 1961, when he also picked up a $9,000 first prize. But he played in only 21 tournaments last year, and he plans to play in even less this year.

Arnold Palmer, in a rut of pars, didn't get a birdie for 30 holes until the 18th Sunday. Even the fabled "Arnie's Army" deserted him and he finished with a 74 for a 285 and $800—far back of the leaders.

Charley Sifford, who four-putted the first green, George Knudson and Paul Harney each wound up with 280 and each collected $2,633. Dave Marr finished with a 65 for 281 to tie with Miller Barber, who had a 69, and they each collected $2,000.

Gary Player, who finished with a hot 64 for 283, won $1,262 and retained his lead as the tour's leading money winner with $10,702 to his credit.

Dick Weber Wins All-Star Meet

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Dick Weber of St. Louis, 126 pounds of bowling skill, and Marion Ladewig, the grandest-grandmother in Grand Rapids, Mich., relaxed today and counted their first place winnings from the $100,000 All-Star tournament.

(Weber writes a column on bowling. Skill To Spare, that appears daily in the Pampa Daily News. See elsewhere on this page.)

Weber repeated Saturday night as champion in the 22nd annual Bowling Proprietors Association of America (BPAA) classic and won $15,000. Mrs. Ladewig, 48, took home $5,000 as her share of the record purse. It was her eighth All-Star crown.

The 33-year-old Weber, who hopes to replace Don Carter of St. Louis as the unofficial "Arnold Palmer of Bowling," this year has pocketed $20,000 on the BPAA pro circuit.

Weber now holds the record for All-Star winnings—$40,195. He has finished in the money eight of the 11 times he has entered the tourney.

Mrs. Ladewig, who has finished in the chips in each tournament since the All-Star women's division was established 14 years ago, has pocketed $19,640 from the event.

Yang vaults over 16 feet.

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—C. G. Yang, who decided only a few weeks ago that the pole vault was his best event, proved it here Saturday night by propelling himself 16 feet, 3/4 inches into the air for a world indoor record.

The 29-year-old UCLA student from Formosa brought a record crowd of 8,905 at the Oregon invitational indoor track meet to its feet with the highest vault in the history of track and field.

question of Hoyt Wilhelm will mean a lot.

Nellie Fox during the second half of last season was the Fox of old. Joe Cunningham gave us the best first basing we have had in a long time.

In reserve we have Al Weis, a flashy glove man who stole 31 bases for Indianapolis and hit 296 in his first outing as a switch hitter. Charlie Smith is back and young Don Buford, a little switch hitter with Savannah last season, could help.

The outfield is solid and young with Floyd Robinson, Landis and Mike Hershberger. Charlie Maxwell gives us a veteran replacement. Nicholson has tremendous power. Ken Berry and Brian McColl, up from the minors, will make the others hustle.

Off his Winter League record, J. C. Martin seems ready to share the catching with Camille Carreon, with Sherm Lollar still available.

I expect Dave DeBusschere and Mike Joyce to become starting pitchers. Others are Ray Herbert, Pizarro, Joe Horlen, Johnny Buzhardt, Eddie Fisher and Frank Baumann. Frank Kreutzer, a young left-hander, shows promise and I haven't given up on Herb Score.

I look for Jim Landis and Juan Pizarro to come back.

With young pitching and an increase in power all the way down the line the White Sox should come back too.

So, you see, the transaction with the Orioles gives us a badly needed third baseman, added power and the bull pen stopper we haven't possessed since Gerry Staley had his fine years. The ac-

Celtics, Lakers Start Big Runaway In NBA

By United Press International

There's a new "sixth man" in the Boston Celtic lineup and he's filling in handsomely for the ailing Frank Ramsey.

John Havlicek, who helped Ohio State to two national college championships, scored 26 points for Boston Sunday as the Eastern Division pace-setters defeated the New York Knickerbockers, 123-110.

Havlicek netted 10 field goals and hit six for six from the foul line. The victory was the sixth in eight meetings with New York and enabled Boston to maintain a seven-game lead over second-place Syracuse.

The Nats toppled San Francisco, 119-110, Los Angeles beat St. Louis, 105-101, and Cincinnati whipped Chicago, 143-126, in other league play.

Lee Shaffer and Hal Greer each tallied 26 points for Syracuse to hand the Warriors their sixth loss in seven outings. The Nats' outburst of 40 points in the third quarter overcame San Francisco's 51-42 halftime lead. Wilt Chamberlain scored 40 points for the wilting Warriors.

Los Angeles opened an eight-game bulge over runnerup St. Louis in the Western Division as Elgin Baylor and Dick Barnett tallied 30 points apiece for the Lakers. Bob Pettit of the Hawks outscored everybody with 34 points.

Cincinnati went on a 15-0 spree during a 48-point fourth period that took all the starch out of the Zephyrs, who had led, 64-63, at halftime. Oscar Robertson scored 31 points for the Royals, but he was overshadowed by the losers' Walt Bellamy, who had 39 points, and Terry Dischinger, who tallied 37.

Hogue lost to NY Knicks

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Knickerbockers apparently have lost the services of their star rookie, Paul Hogue, for the remainder of the National Basketball Association season.

Hogue underwent an appendectomy at St. Clare's Hospital Sunday night and is expected to be sidelined five weeks. The NBA season ends March 17.

The former University of Cincinnati star was stricken earlier Sunday in Boston as he was dressing for a game against the Celtics. He flew back to New York in the company of club trainer Don Fredericks and underwent the operation a few hours later.

Boat-Ski Loses Close Contest

Pampa Boat and Ski basketball team lost a close game to the Shamrock Jaycees Saturday night, 55-56, after leading 38-26 at half. Roy Pool bucketed 26 points and James Lee 18 for the losers. The Boat and Ski players meet the Pampa Independents Wednesday night in Pampa Jr. High Gym at 8 o'clock.

SWC Challengers Chase Texas

By ED FITE
UPI Sports Writer

The Texas Aggies and four other would-be challengers resume the chase of front-running Texas in the Southwest Conference basketball title hunt this week.

There are still 10 big games to go before the hunt ends March 5, but the Longhorns return from the mid-semester exam vacation with a one-game lead and might easily emerge from this week's action with that margin doubled.

For, while Coach Harold Bradley's tall and deep Longhorns return to league activity against weak Texas Christian with a 4-0 record and the home court advantage, the Aggies (3-1) must make the always-dangerous trek into the Ozarks for a tilt against in-and-out Arkansas.

Arkansas is one of four teams deadlocked at 2-2 and none of this quarter can afford to lose another game if it hopes to remain among the close contenders.

Two of the others — Southern Methodist and Rice — meet each other at Houston, while the fourth one — Baylor — entertains Texas Tech (1-3) at Waco.

The Aggie-Razorback game will be played Saturday afternoon, while the others will be unreeled that night.

Before then, however, Texas, the Aggies, Arkansas and TCU will engage outsiders in "warmup" games — TCU at Houston and Texas at Trinity Tuesday night, the Aggies at Houston Wednesday night and Arkansas at Tulsa Thursday night.

The other four league teams engaged in their warmup play last week and only Rice managed to come away with a victory.

The Owls jumped on inept Trinity (2-12) and walloped the Tigers 104-75 at Houston.

SMU and Baylor both fell before an improved Oklahoma City Chief quintet. The Chiefs edged SMU 94-90 in overtime at Dallas, while Baylor was scalped 78-55 at Oklahoma City.

Texas Tech was mauled twice by the UCLA Bruins at Lubbock, 83-63 and 103-80.

There were no major changes in the individual scoring race except that SMU's Jim Thompson rode a 25-point performance against the Chiefs into fourth place among the scorers with a 15.5 average — the same owned by Arkansas' Tommy Boyer.

Oldtimers Voted To Hall of Fame

NEW YORK (UPI)—Sam Rice and Eppa Rixey displayed happiness mixed with bitterness and

87-year-old Elmer Flick said, "I figured I was too old for anybody to remember-me."

That was the reaction of three of baseball's old-timers who were elected Sunday to the Hall of Fame along with John Clarkson, a National League pitcher before the turn of the century who died 53 years ago.

Rice, repeatedly passed over in past balloting by the main body of the Baseball Writers' Association of America, finally won the nod from the Hall of Fame's 12-man veterans committee. He and Rixey were elected from a category of players who retired between 1931 and 1943.

Clarkson and Flick were chosen from another category of old-timers who retired before 1931.

Finally Make It

Rice and Rixey both admitted they were "very happy" over their selection. However, they wondered out loud why they didn't rate entry to the Hall years ago.

"I was disappointed at the number of times I had lost out in the voting," declared Rice, 70, a star outfielder with the Washington Senators from 1916 to 1933 who had a lifetime batting average of .322. During his 19 seasons in the American League, he collected 2,987 hits but hit only 34 home runs.

Rixey, 71, former National League pitcher, also admitted he "was getting a little discouraged" after past rebuffs.

In addition to his advanced age, Flick attributed his failure to gain the Hall of Fame earlier to the fact that "I never had anybody pulling for me in these elections." The former outfielder said he was informed of his selection by Branch Rickey, a member of 13 selection committees and a one-time American League rival.

"Rickey remembers me when I was good," Flick said, "and I'm sure he's the one responsible for getting me in. I honestly didn't think I had a chance."

Plays Both Leagues

Flick, who broke into the majors with Philadelphia of the National League in 1898 and later was sold to Cleveland of the American League, compiled a lifetime batting average of .311.

Although Rice possessed the best credentials of the four new members, Rixey wasn't exactly a slouch. The six-foot-five southpaw, who was the tallest major league player of his time, pitched in the National League for 21 years, winning 266 games and losing 251.

Clarkson, a rubber-armed right-handed pitcher, won 53 games and lost 16 for Chicago of the National League in 1884. He pitched a no-hitter against Providence of the old NL the following year and retired in 1894 with a lifetime record of 328 victories against 178 losses. He died at the age of 47 in 1909.

SKILL TO SPARE by Dick Weber

28-The 5-10

The 5-10 is a spare you don't see too often.

Thank goodness for that. It's tough. And there's really only one way to make it. Roll the ball to the left side of the 5-in., shaving it so it slides over to take the 10.

Give yourself an advantage by moving to the right a few boards. Like all these difficult ones, if you don't really need both pins to stay in the match, you'd do better by going after one sure pin — whichever one you feel is easiest for you.

The 5-10 leave results from a thin Jersey hit with the ball going into the 1-3 pocket, but a little flat. It just set in the pocket then went straight through without taking the 5.

ONLY one way to make it.

Lopez Says New Left Side Of Infield Pulls Up Chisox

By AL LOPEZ

Chicago White Sox Manager As told to HARRY GRAYSON

There was mild criticism in Chicago when the White Sox traded Luis Aparicio and Al Smith to the Baltimore Orioles for Ron Hansen, Hoyt Wilhelm, Dave Nicholson and Pete Ward.

The adverse comment subsided, however, when the fans and baseball writers thought things over and I am certain that they'll like our New Frontier before the 1963 season is very old. The departure of Aparicio and Smith means that the left side of our infield will be brand new. And there will be new faces on the pitching staff and maybe in the outfield.

It was off-years by Aparicio, Jim Landis in center field and Juan Pizarro in the pitcher's box that prevented the White Sox from making a run in 1962.

Hansen was good enough in 1960 to beat out Aparicio as the All-Star shortstop. Military service has deprived this willowy six-foot-three, 195-pound Californian of spring training for two years in a row. Last season he spent days in the Army and nights and weekends with the Orioles, which didn't do him any good in baseball.

Hansen may not be as flashy as Aparicio, but he is sound defensively with good range and hits with power which Luis lacks. He will be in full stride when the nifty Venezuelan is passing out there being four years difference in their ages.

We have been weak at third base for years, so insisted that Ward be included in the six-man deal with Baltimore. Charley Metzger, our new head scout, believes Ward will not only play third base satisfactorily, but will be the No. 4 hitter we have been seeking.

In five minor league years there hasn't been a season in which Ward, 23, hasn't batted more than .300. He hit .328, had 22 home runs and drove in 90 runs for Rochester of the International League last trip.

So, you see, the transaction with the Orioles gives us a badly needed third baseman, added power and the bull pen stopper we haven't possessed since Gerry Staley had his fine years. The ac-

You Can't Do Business With The Communists

Despite the praises of the political pundits, most Americans apparently feel that we finished second best to the Soviets in the recent Cuban crisis.

But after all, we always finish second best. A brief look at our cold war record supplies ample evidence of that. Every attempt to deal with the Communists has ended in failure.

The coalition governments we forced on Eastern Europe rapidly became Communist governments — yet we made the same mistakes again later in China and Laos.

We picked the wrong man in the Congo struggle — just as we supported Communists in Yugoslavia and Cuba.

Our foreign aid to Poland winds up in North Vietnam where it is used to kill American soldiers in South Vietnam. Even some of our ransom goods to Castro are now reported to be on their way to Russia.

Every negotiation brings an agreement favorable to the Communists — and even then they break it while we obey it.

Summit meetings discuss only how much free world territory will be given up — while the Communist status quo remains unthreatened.

Our foreign policy "experts" have proven their inability to cope with the Communists. And yet they still try.

When a child repeatedly burns himself with matches, even the most dense parent will finally take the matches away from him. And yet we still let our "experts" play at fighting Communism.

The "matches" must be put away. To stop the loss of free world rights, we must stop trying to do business with communism.

We should break off all diplomatic, aid and trade relations with all Communist countries. Let them carry on without our resources and gullibility. And let us quit pursuing a policy that is doomed from the start.

American interests, the cause of freedom, and our chances for peace will all be strengthened by our refusal to play craps with loaded Soviet dice.

It's true that such a policy is not likely to be enacted by our State Department. No child willingly gives up his matches. But the principle is still correct.

We must let our government know that we want nothing less than a complete break with communism. Then the State Department will at least be on the defensive, and less likely to jump headlong into parleys with the Soviets.

If we've voiced such a policy loudly before the Cuban affair, it's likely that the President would have felt compelled to pursue much stronger steps.

So let's make sure that the President, the Congress, and everyone else now understand our feelings about foreign policy. No matter what issue may be raised, let's voice the same answer:

"You can't do business with communism!"

Youth Needs To Know

For the first time in American history, our Government has taken a hand in manipulating the news we are allowed to have and arrogantly tells us so. This can only be because the heads of that Government — like the masters of the Kremlin, like Mao and Tito and Castro — do not trust the people with the facts.

A single shocking example is the report of the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee entitled "Visa Procedures of Department of State: The Strouss Case," unanimously approved by the nine members on August 6, 1962 and withheld from public view until December 17.

Even then, this damning indictment of the executive branch of our Government for its management of news by distortion, slander, misrepresentation and censorship, was published in limited quantity by the Senate itself.

Photographic reprints of the 78 page report in which four Republicans: Scott, Keating, Dirksen and Hruska; and five Democrats:

Eastland, Dodd, Johnston, McClellan and Ervin charge the Department of State with "a performance unworthy of the government of a great nation dedicated to the principles of freedom and justice" have now been made available by a private publisher.

Through the generosity of a patron, America's Future, of New Rochelle, N. Y., a non-profit, tax-exempt foundation dedicated to the preservation of our traditional freedoms, is mailing copies of this document to the librarians of 20,000 high schools over the nation.

This patriot is thus making it possible for millions of our young people preparing for the responsibilities of citizenship to read what representatives elected by the people have to say about the terrible sickness that has assailed the executive branch of our government.

It is a heartening and wonderful thing that there still are such page reports in which four Republicans: Scott, Keating, Dirksen and Hruska; and five Democrats:

Pull Up A Chair.

As parents know only too well, healthy new babies usually stage a crying marathon for the first 12 weeks. Dr. T. Berry Brazelton of Cambridge, Mass., checked on 80 infants and came up with these facts: The first week home from the hospital they cry about one hour and 45 minutes. For the next six weeks they cry about two hours and 45 minutes and then thankfully decline to about one hour at the age of 12 weeks. The Doctor said by that time they become adjusted to sociability and physical action instead of fussing.

The first Negro to become a United States Senator was Hiram Rhodes Revel of Mississippi, who served from February 1870 to March 1871. Of course that was in the days of the Carpetbagger rule in the south. . . More than 1300 Michigan State students confirmed the old maxim that "An apple a day keeps the doctor away." They volunteered in a three-year study and records at the university health center showed fewer calls for the doctor's services. The Vitamin C on the fruit is believed to account for the volunteers' good health. Apparently the apple also has a tranquilizing effect which reduces tension.

If you are on a Caribbean cruise this winter your ship will usually call for a day at colorful Port-au-Prince, the capital of Haiti, the Negro republic. It's a mixture of poverty and luxury, automobiles and burros. Negro women carrying heavy baskets on their head add color and charm to the scene. It's our favorite "free market" bargain port although some tourists like to shop for their French perfumes. Swiss watches and other money-saving gifts at Willemstad on the Dutch West Indies island of Curacao. If you are a hardy soul you can get a good sightseeing view of Port-au-Prince for 10 cents by riding in a taxi carrying a flag or large ribbon displayed on the radio antenna.

The cab will continue to pick up passengers until all seats are full and then deliver the passengers in the order they enter. You will probably cross-city the city four or five times before you reach your destination. But in the meanwhile you will get a good native view of this city of primitiveness and modernity.

The other morning Hugh Downs asked his listeners to mail him editorials from their home town papers that were interesting so he could re-read them to New Yorkers who were news hungry because of the newspaper printers' strike. "I want to read them to New Yorkers," Hugh said. "Because America stretches beyond the East River." Downs should have told his electronic audience that most of the successful men in Manhattan, come from the mid-west plains, the mountains of Tennessee, the hamlets of New England and the far west. Of course it is not "status," but New Yorkers should take a trans-continental motor trip and know their country instead of those "educational summer tours" of Europe.

Meredith's Crusade at Ole Miss to End in Book, Condensation, Possible Movie

WASHINGTON — James Meredith is undertaking to cash in on his hectic experience at the University of Mississippi.

The first Negro student at Ole Miss has signed a contract with a leading New York publisher for a book to be released in the spring. Under the agreement, Meredith is to be provided with "professional assistance" (ghost-writer) in preparing the manuscript.

Sources connected with the publisher indicate Meredith has received $10,000 advance payment.

A condensed version of the book is to be published in a national magazine. Also, Meredith is endeavoring to tell his story to a movie producer either in the U.S. or abroad.

Friends intimate he would like to be cast in the leading role.

Attorney General Robert Kennedy has been apprized of this latest development and isn't happy about it.

Justice Department aides say he feels the Negro student's impending withdrawal from Ole Miss and money-making publishing venture are a dismal conclusion to the effort, that cost two lives, a number injured and hundreds of thousands of dollars, to enter him in the University and protect him there.

Meredith and his wife are considering going abroad this summer, apparently to Africa. Inquiries regarding passports and other requirements have been made on their behalf at the State Department.

SENATORIAL CRACKDOWN — A well-known syndicated columnist, a film supervisor of a TV network, and an author have been subpoenaed by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee for questioning in its forthcoming investigation of foreign lobbyists.

At least six attorneys, most of them in Washington, also have been subpoenaed for grilling.

Primary purpose in summoning the columnist, film supervisor and author is to air foreign propaganda operations in the U.S. The columnist will be interrogated about his activities in behalf of the late Dominican Dictator Rafael Trujillo; the film supervisor concerning his "planting" of foreign propaganda movies in U.S. theaters and on TV networks, and the author on an effusive biography of a one-time government head who subsequently was forced to flee his country.

The investigators have ascertained this store gets a high commission on all Russian publications, and half its advertising costs are paid by the latter.

Hearings are slated to get underway early in February.

IN NAPOLEON'S FOOTSTEPS — General de Gaulle is apparently deadly serious about following in the footsteps of General Napoleon Bonaparte.

Like the latter, who began his imperial career by invading Egypt, De Gaulle is planning a modern-day "invasion" of Africa. It is to be in the form of an extensive goodwill tour of a number of African countries; most of them former French colonies.

De Gaulle will be accompanied by Culture Minister Andre Malraux, and their trip will be preceded by a massive propaganda drive that will stress French desire to supply economic, military and technical aid. This policy is aimed directly at the U.S., which has been in the forefront in providing such assistance.

Assistant Secretary of State G. Mennen Williams, former Michigan governor, has specialized in African aid. A major purpose of De Gaulle's tour is to counter Williams' activities.

The contemplated junket also is another instance of the French President's militant policy of trying to undermine U.S. and British dominance in strategic areas. He is now openly fighting them in Europe on entrance to the Common Market, and it is De Gaulle's intention to extend this deepening conflict to Africa, where France was a leading power prior to World War II.

POLITICALS — Former Vice President Nixon has signed up to appear on a nationwide TV show in March. The Kennedys aren't the only ones in Massachusetts who believe in keeping everything in the family. It seems to be a general practice there. John Powers, head of the state senate, has named his brother Richard to a $7,609-a-year job as a doorkeeper of the chamber. When Powers was asked why he engaged in this bald nepotism, he explained, "Dick was about to be laid off from his railroad work, and if I didn't take care of him, who would?" Obviously, the answer is — the taxpayers. . . Senator Vance Hartke, Ind., has decided to hold on to the chairmanship of the Senate Democratic Campaign Committee, even though he is up for election next year. The established practice is for senators who have to run to step down from this office. But Hartke is disregarding that because of a hot backstage scramble over his successor. Assistant Senate Democratic Leader Hubert Humphrey, Minn., is very eager to get this strategic political job, and has seniority to back him up. But the White House favors Senator Claiborne Pell, R.I., who has just passed the "rookie stage," while Senator Frank Church, Idaho, starting his second term, is putting in a strong bid. There is considerable inner party muttering over Hartke's stand, and some talk of forcing a Democratic caucus for a showdown on the issue. Whether anything comes of that remains to be seen. Hartke's backers claim he has the support of Vice President Johnson, which is not endearing the latter to friends of Humphrey, Church and Pell.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economics and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

Question: "Would you please explain how it would be possible to stop the complete socialistic takeover of the United States when our country is in the control of the international bankers? Don't they own most of our major industries, TV, radio, movies and a great majority of the newspapers, etc.?"

With their power and money (due mainly to our stupid banking laws and gold swindle can't and don't they control Congress and the Supreme Court? Look at all the successful smear attacks against anyone who tries to inform the public. What a hold they must have over our gold reserve — they could bankrupt us immediately if they wished to demand payments. Of course we could change a few laws, but how is it possible to alert the public?" Signed: Puzzled Reader.

Answer: Puzzled Reader starts with an assumption that the country is in the control of "international bankers." We have been hearing that sort of statement for many, many years, even from socialists who seem to be pleased with the trend toward government takeover of control of the means of production.

The industries, television, radio and newspapers are owned by their stockholders, large and small. And some of them may be international bankers.

The question is asked how it is possible to stop the complete socialistic takeover. If it is possible, it will come from a return to individual responsibility by the millions of individuals. If each individual assumes his or her responsibilities and refuses to seek government intervention, there can come a change in the whole attitude. It will not come from collective action, in our estimation, but from individual self-education.

Now, let's also take a look at

'DO SOMETHING'

Why Can't We All Get Together?

By GEORGE BOARDMAN, Ph. D.

A dozen times a month or more I am asked that question "Why Can't We All Get Together And Do Something?" With several years of experience working for me, I have no trouble with that question. I write a letter full of courtesy and good cheer and ask, "What do you suggest?" This discourages 90 per cent of the people who ask the first question. The other 10 per cent ask for more.

To this 10 per cent I make a simple suggestion: Untie yourself from the apron strings of government, then get in touch with me again and we'll talk things over. Of course, I mention a few of the strings: Government-financed loans, social security, socialized schools, socialized power or water or defense plant job, socialized medicine, socialized libraries, socialized garbage pickups, government owned and controlled police and fire protection and this takes care of 90 per cent of the 10 per cent.

After a few months of this, inevitably I encounter an intelligent person who writes to tell me they are in the process of getting rid of a few of the apron strings and have discovered they haven't time to set together with anyone because they are very busy trying to get their own affairs in order and I am content. I know another self-responsible man is working hard at finding the road to freedom, and it's usually a man and his good wife, with or without children.

What about the others who wanted to do something about the loss of their freedom, the confiscatory taxation, the intrusion of government into every facet of their lives?

The son of one of them just joined the Peace Corps, a case of the blind leading the blind. Another is actually in the process of buying some acreage in order to obtain government checks for not growing cotton. Still another has found employment on a government subsidized research project. Several are employed in government subsidized defense plants. Another has accepted an appointment to a government commission.

Now, let's also take a look at a condition which prevails in the family of one of these men who has three quite small, pre-school age children. The children are undisciplined and noisy beyond imagination. The mother of the children, the wife of the research scientist, has found a solution to what she calls her low noise level tolerance. She wears plugs in her ears and — you guessed exactly right — they live in an apartment house and she has not purchased ear plugs for the other tenants. Here is a classic example of socialist irresponsibility, from government owned and controlled theoretical research projects to potential juvenile delinquency and the mother can hardly wait until the "kids are in school."

I can't guess and I really don't want to know how many times this behavior pattern is repeated throughout the country. I do know that none of the parents or children who fit into this category, with mild exceptions, are either happy or pleased with themselves or their lives. If the kids draw on the walls, buy them soap type crayons and hope they don't get into the wrong box of crayons by mistake.

No, Mr. Doe, I don't think there should be a law. We have a few laws right now or hadn't you noticed?

A few weeks ago I became involved in making about three dozen photographs to go with a story of this immediate area and this ghost town. My daughter and 13-year-old granddaughter were models and I used quite a few flash bulbs. As I ejected flash bulbs from the gun in locations where no one else might prowl until next gale season, where the next house was five miles distant, my granddaughter picked up the used flash bulbs and put them in my carrying case because she learned before she was five years old that her father and her grandfather just didn't leave a mess when they went out to do a little photography.

The philosophy of freedom effects every aspect of human behavior. Only self-responsible human beings will ever find the road to freedom.

Good luck and good health to you, in Freedom.

Kennedy's Address to Cuban Fighters

By ED DELANEY

A new peak of political sophistry was achieved by President Kennedy when he addressed a rally of the ransomed freedom fighters and their families in Miami, Fla., in the dying days of 1962. The President said, in part, "we support the right of free people to freely transform the economic and political institutions of society so that they serve the welfare of all."

Did he support those gallant Cuban patriots who risked their lives and suffered some 20 months in Castro's prisons, because they made a futile effort "to transform the economic and political institutions" in their communist controlled home land? He did not.

That Miami rally was the proper opportunity for the President to again admit his responsibility for the hardships those exiled freedom fighters were forced to endure and to publicly ask their forgiveness. He did not do so. He has in the past made such admission of guilt so it is a matter of record.

Following some hundreds of words of verbal camouflage to divert the minds of those Cuban patriots from the colossal audacity in presuming to give them advice, the President said their conduct "made a great impression not only upon the people of this country but all the people of this hemisphere. Even in prison you served in the strongest possible way the cause of freedom as you do today."

That was an oblique manner of telling those who survived the rigors of a Communist prison, that it was a blessing in disguise. By their example and the opportunity given them to be prisoners of Castro, they had magnificently served the cause of freedom. They could therefore be grateful to our President for the sagacity he had displayed in permitting them to become prisoners and thereby heroes in the cause of Cuba. How hollow, cruel and mendacious for the President of this great nation to take advantage of his position and, in effect, insult the intelligence of those Cuban patriots. Being guests in this country and under obligations to individual Americans as well as the government for having been ransomed—the same government that permitted them to be taken prisoner they cannot express the thoughts they might have.

Although the President made ambiguous reference to the "wish of this country" that the people of Cuba shall again be free, there was no mention of support for their struggle against the forces of Castro. That could be construed as confirming the assertion of Khrushchev that Mr. Kennedy gave him a promise there will be no official benediction of the United States for an invasion of Cuba by anti-communist Cubans.

Singularly enough on the very day Mr. Kennedy was beguiling those unfortunate and disillusioned Cuban patriots with political platitudes, he was being publicly denounced by angry demonstrators in Belgium, in Katanga and elsewhere for his inexplicable and inexcusable support of the United Nations forces in their war of aggression against the strongly anti-Communist government of Moise Tshombe in Katanga. A cordon of police surrounded the American embassy in Brussels to protect it from damage by the angry Belgians. Barbed wire was finally strung around the building to deter those who apparently were bent on expressing their regard for Mr. Kennedy in a violent manner.

A typical communist coalition government has been imposed on the Congo by the U.N. with the ardent assistance of U.Thant the Sec. General of the U.N. and the tacit approval of Moscow. The U.N., we have been told repeatedly, is "man's hope for peace."

On the contrary it is waging a brutal war against Katanga because its government head, Tshombe, will not bow to the dictates of the U.N. and President Kennedy. For when stripped to bare facts, the U.N. forces would not be in Katanga without the financial and official support of the Washington administration. Yet the President told the Cubans that his administration supports the aims of free people to freely establish their political institutions. His actions and foreign policies belie his words.

When men make fun of women for constantly changing their hair styles, they should remember that men, themselves, originated additions and changes in the natural mode of wearing hair. Women from early days have worn their hair long as it grew naturally while men cut their hair or shaved their heads.

Foreign News Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Quite a long time ago now, a man named Dr. Juan Jose Arvalo wrote a treatise entitled "Fable of the Shark and the Sardines."

It was violently anti-United States and was in general an attack on U. S. business practices in the Caribbean and on U. S. policy in the same area.

Arvalo has been described as a rather fussy-minded leftist with his own brand of "spiritual socialism," and he was president of Guatemala from the end of 1944 through 1950.

He was, in fact, the man who first opened the door to communism in Guatemala, a trend which reached its peak under his successor, Jacobo Arbenz Guzman. Under Arbenz, Guatemala became the Cuba of its day, and with the help of Poland, became the most heavily armed of all the Central American states.

All this is by way of remarking that the good Dr. Arvalo again is becoming prominent on the Guatemalan political scene, even though at present in absentia.

Exiled in Mexico

Arvalo has been living in exile in Mexico for the last several years, but hopes to return soon to campaign in the presidential elections scheduled for the end of this year.

Arvalo now says he would like to cooperate with the United States in a "more enlightened" Alliance for Progress.

But the Guatemalan army, well recalling Arvalo's previous administration, has said repeatedly that he will not be allowed to campaign.

That brings us to the present, and the reason for fears that another Latin American military revolt may be in the making.

President Ydigoras, whose term expires in March 1964, has survived assassination attempts and small scale revolts before.

Could Force Coup

Arvalo's re-entry on the political scene could decide the army to move in before the legal expiration of Ydigoras' six-year term.

Adding impetus to such a move would be Guatemala's limping economy and resentment of the wealthier classes and the extreme right against reforms instituted by Ydigoras, who has tried to be a good president for Guatemala despite some fairly wide personal gyrations.

The outspoken Ydigoras has quarreled with Mexico over fishing rights, with Britain over British Honduras and has demanded that the U. S. show "more guts" against Communist Cuba. But he also has set up schools, distributed publicly owned land and set up social and health services commanding U. S. respect.

Agriculture Is In Good Health, Says ERS Report

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A strictly unofficial but reasonably apt description of the role of the Economic Research Service ERS is "examining physician to American agriculture."

This Agriculture Department doctor reported at the end of 1962 that the patient was "generally sound, very active, still growing, but with some aches and pains and with a few symptoms that might be warnings of trouble in the future."

ERS reports are contained in more than 100 outlook and situation reports and in publications issued when a specific piece of research is completed.

The reports deal with the dollars and cents of U.S. agriculture, food costs to consumers; farming methods, production and trade in Sorinam or the Philippines or Ceylon.

As to present health and vigor, ERS reported the value of all farm assets in the United States at the beginning of 1962 was more than $207 billion, an increase from the $200 billion a year earlier. Annual sales of farm products were more than $35 billion and net return to producers, after expenses, almost $13 billion. Exports of U. S. farm products in the fiscal year ending last June 30 were valued at $5.1 billion, slightly above the year before and the highest of record.

The average farm worker, including farm operators, produces food and fiber for himself and 26 other persons, including a bout four persons overseas. The 27 persons fed and clothed today compares with 20 persons in 1953 and 11 in 1940.

Although the number of farms continues to drop the "adequate" family farm is more than holding its own. "Adequate," in this case, means a farm that sells at least $10,000 worth of products per year. In the last decade, the number of small farms has decreased by about 42 per cent. The percentage of farms using more hired labor also decreased.

In 1963, ERS predicts, U. S. farmers will provide consumers with more beef and pork than in 1962; more chicken and turkey and more milk. Farm marketings may increase slightly over 1962 and gross farm income may be slightly higher, but so will production expenses, leaving farmers with net income about the same as in 1962 and 1961.

The cost of marketing food, which had climbed steadily for a dozen years, seemed to level off in 1962 and farmers received about 38 cents out of each consumer food dollar.

Weekly Report To Texans

By SEN. JOHN TOWER

Senator John G. Tower (R. Texas) today, in his report to Texans, comments on the "ruthless suppression of Katanga by the United Nations," and called for a Congressional investigation of the United Nations. The text of his report follows:

So far in the Senate there is a debate on whether or not the Senate is a continuing body, whether or not the rules of the Senate can be amended, at the beginning of a new Congress. This all centers around an attempt by a number of Senators to amend rule 22 which allows for unlimited debate in the Senate. I expect this debate to go on into next week.

I would like to talk to you today about the United Nations and the Congo. In light of the fact that it now appears that all the Katangese forces have capitulated to the United Nations forces in the Congo, I think that we should take note of this situation.

Action of the Congress in the past session, with the passage of legislation to purchase United Nations bonds, shows the administration's determination to bail out United Nations financial deficits, brought about by nonpayment by other nations of its assessments—and thus establishes, for our country, at least, the power to tax in behalf of the United Nations. An international government that can wage war, with powers to tax, by indirection, should certainly be scrutinized, examined, and investigated, in its fundamental concepts and its operations, by the Congress.

I note that Senator Dodd from Connecticut, has suggested an "impartial examination" to Sir Leslie Munro, Secretary General of the International Commission of Jurist. I am in accord with this objective, but favor a thorough investigation of the United Nations by the Congress, and especially by the Senate, and have proposed this, in letters to the chairmen of the Senate Foreign Relations and Appropriations Committees.

Arthur Krock, columnist of the New York Times, in recent comment on the prospects for an "impartial inquiry," said that this would be a "novelty in the Congo postindependence record of battle, massacre, official factual distortion, downright lies, and controversies dealt with in the spirit of savage tribal warfare."

I do not know whether we can ever wash from our hands the blood of the innocent people who have been slaughtered in the Congo. I do not know whether we can ever make amends to the people who sought only to determine their own political destinies. When the facts are known, I do not know whether we can convince the historians that we acted in good faith and with good intent when we supported that highhanded action, unprecedented in our history, in destroying an autonomous government which was pro-Western, and which was relatively popular, when we consider the fact that so many of the new emerging nations do not really have popular governments. Actually, usually when a colonial administration is taken away, there is merely substituted some sort of domestic dictatorship which is oriented toward the Socialist nations, not toward the Western, capitalist nations. I do not know whether we can ever make amends for what we have done. But it is my fervent hope that eventually the U. S. Congress will try to get at the facts, and eventually will develop a policy and a position based on what is right and what is just, and based on what the facts merit.

It is my hope that we shall attempt to get past the screen thrown over the entire matter by the United Nations, that we shall go beyond the controlled and filtered news which emanates from the United Nations, and that we shall discover just what we have really done.

In my opinion, we have ruthlessly suppressed an autonomous government of a people; the people in Katanga had a right to establish their own government. The Congo has never been a nation in the sense of racial or cultural or linguistic common grounds. It was united under Belgian colonial rule. This was an internal matter, one that the UN should not have been involved in. Indeed, the ruthless suppression of Katanga by the UN violates the spirit and the charter of that organization and it is high time that the Congress investigated the United Nations.

Construction Up In Texas In '62

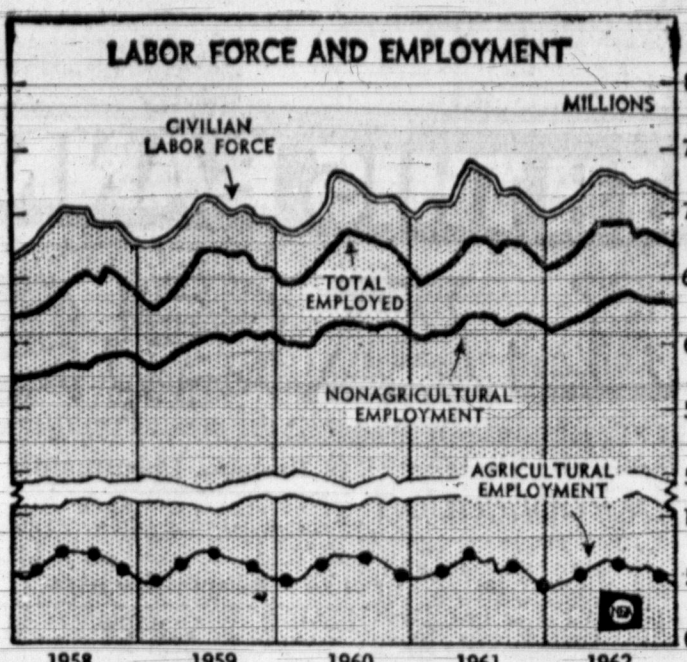

AUSTIN (UPI)—Texas construction in 1962 climbed to a record level for the third straight year, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reported Saturday.

Construction activity last year totaled an estimated $1.5 billion, 12 per cent over the total valuation for 1961.

Residential valuations continued their dominance of the Texas construction scene in 1962, accounting for $892 million of the construction total—53 per cent of the total dollar volume.

Lost 30 Pounds With Barconrate

Here is a letter from Mrs. Martha Hill, 1500 Hunter Drive, El Paso, Texas. "I lost 30 pounds taking Barconrate, a weight level I have been trying to obtain for years. All of my friends commented on my loss of weight and trimmed down figure, many of them trying Barconrate themselves. Many received as marvelous results as I, all of them being very pleased with Barconrate as a tonic and weight reducer. Barconrate is a wonderful tonic. It makes you feel more energetic and you never get that tired feeling." Barconrate is sold at all Texas drug counters. Money back guarantee on very first bottle.

WHY...

Should the Citizens of Pampa be asked to vote a 3rd time within 92 days?

Because of the dictatorial attitude of the city commission.

Why Such Waste

This election could have been held April 2 along with our regular city election and save all the expense of a SPECIAL ELECTION.

Health and Sanitation

It is claimed that the annexation ordinance would eliminate these problems. Why do we still have a great many outdoor toilets and cess pools inside our present city limits? How would annexing an area with many more such hazards help? If our present city ordinances are not sufficient to eliminate these already existing conditions, how would just annexing more of them solve our problem?

Water

It is charged that there is danger of pollution to our Water Wells. Presently Pampa has 5 wells inside the city limits and 10 wells outside, some as far as 4 miles. Do you think we should annex all the territory between and adjacent to them? "CONSISTENCY WHERE ART THOU"?

Taxes

The annexation provisions as submitted would hamper the economic growth of our community. Property is rendered for taxes as of January 1 each year. Property annexed now would be rendered for taxes as of January 1, 1964 and NO revenue therefrom before October 1, 1964 when the next taxable year begins. However, the city would be immediately under obligation to furnish all services, such as water and sewer lines, street maintenance and police protection, it now supplies other part of Pampa. Would this not cost unestimated THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS? HASTE MAKES WASTE.

Industrial Sections

Our charter and state law prohibits certain businesses on Price Road and other areas from operating inside our city — because of their cattle, horses, hogs, radio active materials, dynamite and other explosives. These businesses are an asset to our economy. Hundreds of these employees live in Pampa, supporting our schools, businesses, churches and paying their just and equitable taxes to our city. Why force these industries to leave Pampa?

We are going to spend the rest of our days in the future, therefore, vote for the future of Pampa.

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM

UPI Foreign News Analyst
When Venezuelans this week observed the fifth anniversary of the fall of dictator Marcos Perez Jimenez, it was in a manner which almost has become a way of life.

Constitutional guarantees had been suspended since last October, and in the streets of Caracas gunfire crackled as police battled leftists intent upon bringing down President Romulo Betancourt.

As Betancourt has sought to lead Venezuela down a middle course toward practicing democracy and economic stability, he has incurred enmities on both right and left.

That he has thus far survived nearly four of his five elected years in office may be considered a near-miracle.

Dangerous Position
Once while in office he escaped an assassination attempt. Five military uprisings have been attempted against him.

Serious riots, with scores killed and hundreds injured, have occurred at least 20 times in Caracas alone.

Five times, with one action often overlapping another, he has felt forced to suspend Venezuelans' constitutional guarantees.

Even as certain liberties have been restored, restrictions have been maintained on freedom of the press, radio and television and on the right of assembly. Complaints have come even from members of his own party.

But while Betancourt's methods may be debatable, the nature of the war being waged against him cannot be.

In Caracas it is being fought by young Reds and Castroites from the privileged sanctuary of Venezuela's Central University which enjoys the unwritten law of autonomy giving Latin American universities protection from government authorities.

Communist Program
Venezuela's estimated 35,000 Communists know they have no immediate chance of taking over the government.

Their announced objective is to create enough civil strife to thro the country into anarchy, and finally goad military officers into establishing a military dictatorship.

"Then," they say, "the people will rise in revolution."

With this in the background, it is amazing that Venezuela has been able to show a slow recovery from the excesses and corruption of the Perez Jimenez dictatorship.

The budget is balanced, private investment has increased, a new steel mill is in operation and thousands of previously landless farmers have been placed on land of their own.

If Betancourt can complete this last year of his term and hand his office peacefully over to his successor, he will be the first in 150 years of independence to do so.
