TEX'S TOPICS

A load has been lifted here in the NEWS office since Pa Pampa came back to town. . . Staff members found it difficult to go about their duties with the usual vigor because of the mental worries over Pa's welfare 'way up there in the North.

But, he came back and brought Santa Claus with him, even if they did have rocket ship trouble and come down in a heap just as they got within a few miles of Pampa.

Pa hoped to be on the float with Santa Claus, but he and the mated pilot agreed they had better stay out of the weather, so they decided to forego the open air ride on Santa's float. . . Instead they kept to their promise to be in the parade and rode in private cars.

The masked pilot said he was glad it turned out that way, because he held out to the last in a refusal to reveal his identity. . . Pa Pampa expressed regret that he was unable to make more of a public appearance than he did, but under the circumstances thought he was lucky to be in the parade at all.

PAMPAN IS SHOT AT NIGHT CLUB

Allied Against Mrs. Simpson

The struggle between the Church, Cabinet and King Edward VIII over the British ruler's apparent intention to marry Mrs. Wallis Simpson, American divorcee, was brought into the open by the statement of Rev. A. W. F. Blunt, the Bishop of Bradford, that the "King needs the grace of God for his office." The development precipitated a crisis in which Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin (left) is reported to have announced the Cabinet would resign rather than approve the marriage.

Cruel Torture Claimed

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 (AP)—A tale of torture with lighted matches, razor strap and burning cigar stubs put Alfred Mansfield, round-faced 290-pound auto wrecker, in jail today, to await grand jury action on a charge of assaulting his 98-pound wife, Ruth.

Police Detective Bert Bedell, of Baldwin, L. I., said Mansfield admitted thrusting lighted matches beneath his wife's finger-nails and beating her.

Bedell quoted Mrs. Mansfield as saying her husband accused her unjustly of misbehavior with other men.

Bedell found the woman limping near her North Baldwin home yesterday, a few hours after Mansfield reported her as missing.

She had fled from the house Friday night, she told the doctor. She had lingers and feet had been burned and she had been forced to stand with heavy books on her outstretched hands, while her husband stood by flailing her with a razor strap at the slightest relaxation of her tense posture.

After upholding the Illinois law, Sutherland said the questions presented by the California cases were substantially the same and upon the authority of that decision the decree by the California court was affirmed.

The California law, enacted in 1933, was an amendment to a 1931 measure.

Known as section 1 1/2 of the "fair trade" act, the amendment reads: "Willfully and knowingly advertising, offering for sale or selling any commodity at less than the price stipulated in any contract entered into pursuant to the provisions of section one of this act, whether the person so advertising, offering for sale or selling is or is not a party to such contract, is unfair competition and is actionable at the suit of any person damaged thereby."

2 CONFLICTING STORIES TOLD OF SHOOTING

J. D. WHITE CHARGED; VICTIM SAYS HE WAS SHOT

Harry Lemmons, 26, of Pampa, late this afternoon was fighting what was believed to be a losing battle for his life in Worley Hospital.

Lemmons' condition was reported to be gradually growing worse 32 hours after he had been shot during an altercation at the Southern Club, a mile south of Pampa, at 5 a. m., Sunday.

As an outgrowth of the shooting J. D. White, one of the owners of the night club, was under $1,000 bond today awaiting action of the grand jury on a charge of assault with intent to murder.

White voluntarily gave up to sheriff's officers Sunday afternoon and waived examining when he appeared before Justice of the Peace E. P. Young at 4 o'clock.

Two widely conflicting stories are told of how the shooting happened.

According to Sheriff Earl Talley's interpretation of the two stories the trouble which ended in the shooting began at the Southern club bar about 5 a. m. Sunday.

Witnesses told the sheriff that Lemmons first pulled a gun and threatened Earl Hickman, of Miami, when they became engaged in an argument. Hickman was accompanied by Martin Wykoff, also of Miami. Sheriff Talley stated:

When this incident took place, White was notified of what was happening and came onto the scene to order Lemmons from the night club.

Lemmons protested and the men argued on the way out and continued to wrangle on the grounds in front of the club.

One word led to another and then the shooting occurred inside the club.

White, Scott Vincent and Curley Wade, Pampa taxi driver, told the sheriff that Lemmons again reached for the gun in his overcoat pocket and that when he made this move White grabbed for the coat pocket while reaching inside his pocket, pressed the gun to Lemmons' side and pulled the trigger.

The bullet, from the 38 automatic pistol, pierced Lemmons' right side and tore away part of his intestines.

Although the bullet victim was given blood transfusion Sunday afternoon at the hospital, little hope was held today for his recovery.

Sheriff Talley was notified of the shooting between 5:30 and 6 a. m. and went to the Southern Club with Deputy Sheriff O. T. Lindsey.

District Attorney Lewis Goodrich also was notified and came to Pampa from Shamrock to assist Sheriff Talley and Deputy Lindsey in the investigation.

After questioning all available witnesses and taking the statement of the wounded Lemmons, Goodrich decided to file a charge of assault with intent to murder against White who had come to the sheriff's office to tell his side of the story and to offer to assist in the officer's investigation.

Sheriff Talley said today that in the event of Lemmons' death, the charge against White would be changed to one of murder.

LEON TROTZKY OFFERED HOME IN OLD MEXICO

NORWEGIANS LIKELY TO EXPEL HIM IN NEAR FUTURE

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 7 (AP)—Mexico's government opened its doors to Leon Trotsky, the modern Marx, without a country.

Granting asylum to the oft-exiled former Bolshevik leader was "in line with Mexico's traditional policy of giving refuge, without questions, to all political refugees," Eduardo Hay, Mexican foreign minister, declared.

It had no political significance, Hay said, confirming reports current here for 10 days that friends of Trotsky, who soon must leave his exile in Norway, had sought permission for him to live in Mexico.

Asylum for Trotsky, Hay asserted, did not presuppose of itself, affinity of thought, of purposes, or of tendencies between the country which concedes it and the individual who benefits by it.

By granting a haven to Trotsky, the government disregarded the powerful confederation of workers of Mexico, openly sympathetic to the regime of Joseph Stalin in Russia. The confederation announced last week it would use "every means" at its command to keep the exiled leader out.

OSLO, Dec. 7 (AP)—Leon Trotsky's attorney said today the exiled revolutionary was "doubtful" about the advisability of accepting Mexico's offer of a haven.

"He must have guarantees," the attorney said, "that his enemies will not secretly behind the arrangement."

The attorney said the Norwegian government last week warned Trotsky to seek admission to some other country, indicating his permit to live in Norway would not be renewed.

Even if the revolutionary is unwilling to leave the government may expel him now that Mexico is willing to receive him.

TURKEY TO BE SERVED AT CHAMBER MEETING

Arch Booth of Wichita, Kan., able speaker and veteran chamber of commerce official, will be the chief speaker at the regular monthly Chamber of commerce membership luncheon tomorrow noon in the basement at First Methodist church. The meeting will begin promptly at 12 o'clock and will be open to the public.

A turkey dinner will be served by the Clara Hill class of the church for 50 cents.

Besides the excellent meal, Pampans will have an opportunity to hear Mr. Booth, who is assistant manager of the Wichita chamber of commerce, speak on the field of activity of a chamber of commerce and its civic duties. Mr. Booth has addressed gatherings in many southwestern cities.

Brief reports and announcements will be the only other business transacted at the luncheon meeting. President John Roby will preside.

YOUNGSTERS URGED TO BE CAREFUL WITH GUNS

Young Pampans are again becoming careless with their "shootin' irons," Chief Ar. Hurst has been notified and he plans to take immediate steps to remind the offenders that it is against the law to shoot on or around city property.

Chief complaints come from fair park and from the garbage sterilization headquarters, where boys with .22 caliber rifles have been shooting holes in the tin roof of the stables and in garbage cans being sterilized.

Younger boys with air rifles have been finding amusement in shooting out light globes at fair park.

Both the park and the garbage disposal plant are city property. Offenders will be arrested and fined on first offense, Chief Hurst warns.

Mrs. Mildred Marsh, nurse at Pampa-Jarvis hospital, left today on a two-month leave of absence to California.

Huge Fake Coin Ring Is Smashed In West Texas

DALLAS, Dec. 7 (AP)—Secret service agents here announced today the breakup of West Texas' largest coin counterfeiting ring in five years.

Agent-in-charge Leo J. Williams said ten persons had been arrested and three outfits for counterfeiting bogus quarters and nickels confiscated. He said all defendants would probably be brought to trial at Lubbock this week.

Williams said the ring first was discovered when Policeman J. A. Bland and Roger McMillan arrested Alexander J. Sellers and John C. Chaney at Sweetwater Nov. 29. The agent said both men pleaded guilty to passing and possessing counterfeit quarters and were held under bonds of $1,000.

"I assigned Agent Tom H. Hanson to the case," Williams said, "for it was apparent these two men were not the only ones involved in passing a flood of bad money in West Texas."

Hanson's investigations led him to Brownfield where with Sheriff Jess Smith and Deputy Sheriff A. A. Green he arrested Jackson C. Burgess and Ernest T. Seitz and charged them with making, possessing and passing counterfeit nickels and quarters. Both pleaded guilty and were held under $1,000 bonds.

"The trail then led to Falmore Decker and his son, Willie at Cisco. They were arrested Dec. 4 and held under the same bonds. Chief of Police M. L. Perdue helped Hanson in the arrest."

ACCUSES KING OF STARTING WHOLE CRISIS

CAREFUL STATEMENT IS READ BY PRIME MINISTER

BY FRANK H. KING. LONDON, Dec. 7 (AP)—Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin openly gave King Edward time to "weigh" his decision between heart and throne today and declared the sovereign, himself, had precipitated the whole crisis by informing Mrs. Simpson whenever she should be free.

In a remarkable statement to the House of Commons, Britain's first minister also said the king "will no doubt" communicate his decision in good time "to the governments in this country and the dominions."

"It will seem to the government to be their duty to advise, if any, they would feel it their duty to tender him," he added.

It was the first time the plain-spoken Baldwin had so much as mentioned in public the name of Wallis Simpson, whose "wedding" with the king's guardmaster, becomes final next April 27.

A tense, breathless, chamber heard the prime minister declare "it has always been, and remains, the earnest desire of the government to afford his majesty the fullest opportunity of weighing the decision which involves his own future happiness and the welfare of all his subjects."

That was Baldwin's answer to the brilliant Winston Churchill, who has warned the government against trying to "extort" abdication from the sovereign.

Thus he pushed farther into the background the prospect of abdication for the world's mightiest throne—yet at the same time, declared both the government and the king were aware that "considerable prolongation of the present state of suspense and uncertainty would involve the risk of gravest injury to the national and imperial interests."

Baldwin, again in direct reply to Churchill, asserted the king himself had advised the king only on the question of morganatic marriage, and then, in a "strictly personal and informal" manner.

Previously, the first minister had told commons that anyone the king married would become queen under the present laws; that the government was not prepared to introduce legislation which would permit morganatic marriage.

He did not say directly that the government was opposed to making Mrs. Simpson queen. That, everything indicated, is not the king's intention.

Concerning the American divorcee, Baldwin's careful statement, read from a manuscript, was this:

"These matters were not raised first by the government, but by his majesty himself in conversation with me several weeks ago, when he first informed me of his intention to marry Mrs. Simpson."

It was uproarious, partisan throng in the dimly-lighted old chamber which received Baldwin's long-awaited words.

Churchill, the man who might head the government if Baldwin and his ministers resign, struggled in vain to get an answer to his repeated demand that the prime minister assure the house he will take no "irrevocable step" from all parts.

Candidate for Mama's Beauty Title

Miss America of 1935, who was Miss Henrietta Leaver of McKeesport, Pa., presents a candidate to succeed her in the beauty ranks—her own new baby daughter, Patricia Lee. LECTURER TO GIVE ANOTHER TALK TONIGHT

Hearers Requested Second Pictured Address

A crowd packed the auditorium at First Christian church last night to hear Lieut. C. Vincent Hall, world traveler, author, lecturer, and missionary in his lecture on Egypt.

Preceding the lecture was a short musical program with devotional exercises in charge of Mrs. R. L. Allston. Mrs. C. E. Hutchings gave the devotional talk. Mrs. C. C. Dodd and Mrs. Chafin gave a vocal duet, accompanied by Mrs. Mel Davis.

The lecture was illustrated with colored slides, taken by Lieut. Hall and his personal photographer and showed many unusual views of things that are seldom or never seen in this country. Lieut. Hall was present at the opening of King Tut's tomb, and he gave a graphic account of this interesting event, illustrating it with pictures showing each step in the actual opening of the tomb. He also showed a shroud said to be 500 years older than King Tut, a beautiful alabaster vase and a strand of beads and other things of interest.

Because of the great interest displayed, Lieut. Hall was asked to remain over for tonight and give his lecture on Palestine. This lecture will also be illustrated with scores of beautiful pictures and relics, and no one interested in the Bible or Bible lands should miss it. There will be no charge. The lecture will begin at 7:30 at First Christian church.

HOW LONG CAN A THREE-QUARTER WIFE HOLD HER HUSBAND?

YOU have to work at marriage to make a success of it. Men may be selfish, unsympathetic, but that's the way they're made and you might as well accept it.

When your back aches and your nerves scream, don't take it out on your husband. He can't possibly know how you feel.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with a husband. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three orders of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Don't be a three-quarter wife, take LYON'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and Go "Smiling Through." Adv.

LARGE CROWDS EXPECTED TO SEE 1937 TEAMS CLASH HERE TOMORROW

SIX REGULARS WILL PLAY ON BORGER TEAM

GORILLAS AND REAPERS WILL GRADUATE TO HARVESTERS

Pampa's 1936 football season will draw to a close tomorrow afternoon when the 1937 Harvesters meet the Borger Bulldogs of next year at Harvester field. Game time will be 3 o'clock with admission 25 cents for students and 50 cents for adults.

Sale of tickets has been brisk and a large crowd is expected to give the future Harvesters a big boost. Tickets can be bought at Pampa Drug, Fatheree Drug, Cretney Drug and Harvester Drug. Members of the high school pep squad and the staff for the annual are also selling tickets. Proceeds from the game will be divided three ways, with the two teams and the annual participating.

Thirty-five Harvester prospects have been working hard for the past week in preparation for the invasion of a scrapping band of Bulldogs with bright prospects of upsetting the hope bucket next season. Six of the boys who will start for Borger played in the Armistice Day classic against the Harvesters.

The Bulldog backfield will be particularly effective, it is believed, with Allen, quarterback, Conner, halfback, and White, halfback, all veterans in the starting quartet. Simmons will be a new fullback. Kendrick, Sullivan and Raber are first string linemen who will face the Harvesters.

Coaches Odus Mitchell and J. C. Prejean of the Harvesters have not announced a definite starting lineup. A big practice was scheduled for this afternoon when final decisions were to be made.

Harvester starters will probably be selected from among the following boys:

Ends—Cox, Reynolds, McMahan, Tackles—Nelson, Coshov, Solomon, Wisley.

Guards—Stiles, Mathews, Watt. Center—Harding, Chandler. Backs—Graham, Smith, Williams, Turner, Wear, Carr, Esslinger.

Across the line the Borger starters will probably be:

Ends—Kendrick and Raber. Tackles—Sullivan and Shanks. Guards—Gillman and Baldwin. Center—Bomar.

Backs—Allen, Conner, White, Simmons.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN GOULD

For three months Johnny Risko, the veteran Cleveland Baker Boy, worked to whip himself into shape for his proposed meeting with the Brown Bomber. It meant a lot to Johnny—this getting back into ring harness. It was a comeback, an opportunity to test Joe Louis' vaunted punch. The Rubber Man insisted that he was far from thru as a top-flight fighter when he last encountered him. He would outsmart and outlast Louis, he argued.

The dream of facing the Bomber inspired Risko to work harder than ever, with the result that he whipped himself into the fine shape. Then he was rudely awakened from his dream. He is not going to fight Louis. Not for a while, at least.

One of giant Ed Selby's rights to the body cracked one of Johnny's ribs. At first Risko thought it was a mild attack of pleurisy, but an x-ray examination disclosed a nasty Z-shaped crack in the eighth rib on the left side. It didn't particularly bother the Baker boy at first, but, as the days passed, Johnny felt the pain increasing until one morning he could not reach over to tie his shoes. It was then he went to the doctor who discovered the damaged rib.

Rubber John pleaded with the doctor in vain to have the side taped so that he could get through with the Louis bout. But the medic wisely frowned on the idea. Perhaps it was just as well for Johnny that the injury showed up in training for it is unlikely he would have been able to stand up under the Bomber's blasts if one of his sparring mates, wearing the big gloves, could crack a rib.

Risko has not been very active in the ring of late. Perhaps it would be better for him to go into permanent retirement. After all, Johnny has been around quite some time, and at best he has little more than an annoying style and the ability to assimilate an unusual amount of punishment and keep on carrying the fight to his opponent.

Simms Replaces Risko.

Risko's plan of going through with the Louis bout might have resulted in serious injury had not the promoters wisely decided to find someone to replace Johnny. Allowing a fighter who is anything less than 100 per cent fit to go in against Louis would be inviting disaster.

The promoters signed Eddie Simms, another Cleveland boxer, to substitute for Risko against Louis in a bout December 14. Simms is a capable young heavyweight, who, not as rugged as the Baker Boy, might well make it an interesting evening inasmuch as he is a mighty stiff right-handed puncher. He has mixed it with a flock of red heavies

Daffy Southwest Season Is Called 'Nightmare Of 1936'

Almost Every Game Turned Out To Be Upset

By FELIX R. MCKNIGHT

DALLAS, Dec. 7 (AP)—Upsets, freakish comebacks and a chilling stretch finish today lay buried in a daffy Southwest Conference season that will go down as the "nightmare of 1936."

After a scrambled bunch of evenly-balanced eleven tottered the University of Arkansas, weakly waving its first championship banner. It took the final game of the season to decide a race that developed into a "dog-eat-dog" affair in early October.

Plagued by muddy fields in many of their games, the Arkansans kept up an amazing record of passing attack throughout the season and polished off their claim to being the country's most air-minded eleven by slinging a soaked football for a touchdown and a 6-0 championship triumph over the University of Texas Longhorns at Little Rock Saturday.

Texas Christian lagged in second place by a game and a half. Texas could have helped them to a tie by tying Arkansas or presented them with the title by upsetting the Porkers.

Arkansas, pre-season favorites with Texas Christian and Texas A. and M. whom, incidentally, finished one-two-three, came in for its share of upsets and comebacks. It was their famous splurge with four minutes to play that netted two touchdowns and a 14 to 10 victory over Baylor that started a dizzy year critics dared not attempt to dope.

Most spectacular of all upsets was Baylor's last-period rush against Texas that bagged three touchdowns and a 21-8 victory after having trailed by 18 points going into the last 14 minutes of play.

The Aggies staggered all with a 22-6 slaughter of Southern Methodist that started the Methodists, regarded as possible repeaters for the title, on a last-minute comeback.

Seven points behind and being played off their feet, Baylor pulled the rabbit from the hat against Rice's Owls. "Bubba" Gerard snatched a long, desperate pass to score a touchdown with three minutes left, booted a 26-yard placement kick into a stiff wind for the winning points.

The unpredictable business carried right into the conference's traditional Thanksgiving day clash between Texas A. and M. and the University of Texas. A Longhorn eleven that had been roped and tied all season coming back to beat down a highly favored cadet team, 7-0.

Punch drunk after three consecutive losses, Southern Methodist rose up on a muddy field and knocked Texas Christian out of championship contention by battling them to a scoreless tie.

And not even a somnambulist having one of his worst dreams would have guessed Arkansas would plaster the Aggies, until then one of the nation's major undefeated teams 18-0.

Only one conference team, Texas Christian, has failed to close up shop until 1937. The Horned Progs meet Santa Clara, undefeated and untied Sugar Bowl nominee, at San Francisco next Saturday.

Dwight Sloan's running and passing carried the Porkers to their triumph over Texas. He intercepted a pass, lugged the ball into scoring position and passed to Jim Benton for the score.

Kenyon Goodson, Johnny Stidger and Bob Finley got together to fasten a 9-0 Southern Methodist victory over Rice. Goodson's running and passing produced the touchdown. Stidger kicked a 22-yard field goal and Finley's astounding out-of-control kicking kept Rice on the spot through the end of the game.

A 76-yard sprint by sophomore Dick Todd and a series of runs by Bob Nerstra gave Texas A. and M. a 13-6 decision over Chick Meehan's Manhattan Jaspers of New York and hand up the best Aggie season in a decade.

Dean of Men Joseph A. Park—his associate credit him with thinking up the year round use for the football plant while seeking quarters for a cooperative student dormitory—estimated that more than 2,000 students could live within the concrete walls if all available space were used.

MAHONEY, NEW AAU PRESIDENT, HITS 'ATHLETIC NATIONALISM'

Signs Contract

HAROLD GREGORY
Pictured above is Harold Gregory, local boy, who has signed a contract to play baseball with one of the Cincinnati Reds farms next season. Gregory, an outfielder, was signed to go to either Nashville or Tyler following a baseball school conducted at Tyler in October. Gregory started his baseball career with the Pampa-Busby Indians, local junior team.

HOUSTON, Dec. 7 (AP)—Jeremiah Titus Mahoney of New York, newly-elected president of the Amateur Athletic Union, followed up his decisive victory over the forces led by Chicago's Avery Brundage with a strong attack today upon "Athletic Nationalism."

"Personally, I believe we have been fooled very much in believing that any great lessons can be learned from the Olympic games," said Mahoney, who lost his battle with Brundage a year ago in an attempt to have the A. A. U. boycott the 1936 games in Berlin as an anti-Nazi protest.

"The moral concepts and ideals of the Olympics are splendid if they are not so much internationalism as very little international harmony or understanding has been accomplished. I believe the Olympics should be awarded only to nations adhering to these ideals in their national or international relationships."

"I am strongly against nationalism in sport in any country. I am just as strongly opposed to having the Olympic games taken over by any country which surrenders its athletic functions and prerogatives to its government, as did the German Olympic committee."

Mahoney decisively defeated his Brundage-supported opponent, Major Patrick J. Walsh, president of the Metropolitan Association of the A. A. U.

Mahoney won 199 3-7 to 127 47 at yesterday's closing session.

One of Mahoney's first official acts was to name a delegate-at-large to the 1937 meeting Commodore Ernest Lee Janke of New Orleans, dropped from membership on the international Olympic committee last summer at Berlin after coming out against holding the games under Nazi auspices. Janke's place on the I. O. C. had been filled by Brundage.

The new administration's six-point program, as outlined by Mahoney to the Associated Press, follows:

1. Change the constitution and by-laws to eliminate time wasted at conventions, removing ambiguity that leads to wrangling, and clearly defining duties of officers and committees.
2. Provide more encouragement for the "average athlete," place less emphasis upon the development of national or Olympic champions, and give the individual athletes more voice in actual conduct of affairs.
3. Co-operate with colleges and affiliated athletic organizations to achieve harmonious relations and prevent exploitation of athletes for personal gain or commercial purposes.
4. Invite organized labor, industrial concerns, fraternal organizations, as well as church and social groups, to join directly with the A. A. U. in promoting large-scale participation in athletics.
5. Encourage athletic competition as an aid to crime prevention.
6. Weed out the influence of so-called "paper" or inactive clubs within the A. A. U.

OHIO STATE'S STADIUM USED AS DORMITORY

HUNDREDS OF MEN TO LIVE UNDER THE SEATS

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Dec. 7 (AP)—From touchdowns to elderdom, all in the same stadium.

That's the system of Ohio State university, and officials said today that the stadium's dormitory use is being tried out on a trial basis.

Dean of Men Joseph A. Park—his associate credit him with thinking up the year round use for the football plant while seeking quarters for a cooperative student dormitory—estimated that more than 2,000 students could live within the concrete walls if all available space were used.

Sports Roundup

BY EDDIE BRIEZE.

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 (AP)—Football Dept.: Looks like the same old set-up: The Sugar Bowl will have the football teams, the Orange Bowl the basketball, and the Rose Bowl the crowd. Frank Thomas, Alabama coach (and a darned good sport) said: "We really didn't rate an invitation but Louisiana State did."

Baseball: When Casey Stengel heard Ed Brandt or Limu they had been traded by the Dodgers, he wired each: "They couldn't have pardoned a better man. . . . The baseball circle moved into the big town Saturday. . . . So that the overworked scribes might have a bit of home life, managers and club owners promised to check off buying and trading from Friday to Monday. . . . Thanks, gents. . . . They are betting even money Bob Feller stays with Cleveland."

Odds and ends: Riley Smith, star quarterback of the Boston Redskins, is half Irish and half Indian. . . . Best laugh of the week was furnished by Madison Square Garden, which accused Joe Louis of running out of a match with—of all persons—Bob Pastor. . . . Reason this bout wasn't made was because Mike Jacobs, one of the big moments of his career, was likely to overshadow any business transacted inside the meeting rooms. . . . Manager Mickey Cochrane of Detroit said he has made a cash offer for pitcher John Whitehead of the White Sox. But Jimmy Dykes of Chicago wanted Rudy York, slated for first base duty at Detroit if Hank Greenberg goes to the outfield. They may compromise on Jack Burns instead of York. . . . Both Bill Terry, Giants' manager, and owner P. K. Wrigley of the Cubs said they expect to do some trading this week, but they're at a standstill now. Wrigley gave a cool reception to Terry's offer of Hank

AMARILLO TO PLAY ABILENE ON SATURDAY

SANDIES RULE HEAVY FAVORITE OVER EAGLES

DALLAS, Dec. 7 (AP)—Eight teams, survivors in the campaign for the Texas Interscholastic league football championship, called on all their reserve power today as they prepared for quarter-final games Saturday.

Amarillo plays at Abilene, Gainesville at North Side (Fort Worth), Lufkin meets Kerrville on a neutral field—Waco—and Port Arthur clashes with Corpus Christi at Port Arthur.

Forecasters of gridiron fortunes wrote that Amarillo, North Side, Kerrville and Port Arthur would remain in the race, but the dope bucket has been kicked with abandon during the hectic season.

In bi-district games, Amarillo defeated Childress 46-0, Abilene smashed El Paso 34-7, Gainesville downed McKinney 26-7, North Side won over North Dallas 7-0, Lufkin eliminated Longview 12-0, Kerrville trounced Hillsboro 25-6, Port Arthur beat Jeff Davis (Houston) 20-6 and Corpus Christi took out Edinburg 25-0.

Amarillo, with one of the finest records ever made by a Texas high school team, rules a heavy favorite over Abilene.

There is a direct comparison between North Side and Gainesville. The Steers played the Leopards in the season's opening game for both teams, an inter-district affair, and North Side won 13-0.

The Kerrville Antlers are undefeated and untied and have run up a sensational record whereas Lufkin fell before Ball High (Galveston) which did not win its district title.

The Port Arthur-Corpus Christi game looms as a close one. Port Arthur beat San Jacinto (Houston) 27-0, South Park (Beaumont) 54-0 and Galveston 19-6. Corpus Christi won over these 6-0, 61-0 and 13-7 respectively.

HIGHLIGHTS OF AAU

Flomot And Panhandle Will Play In McLean On Friday

Invitation To Play Here Extended To Teams

The Panhandle Panthers and the Flomot Longhorns will play for the Class B championship of Region 1 at McLean Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Location of the important game was decided at a meeting of officials of the two schools yesterday afternoon in Memphis.

Use of Harvester park at Pampa was extended by Garnet Reeves, manager of the Board of City Development, and Harry E. Hoare of the Pampa Daily News, who told the officials that Pampa would welcome the visitors in the same manner it entertained the Panhandle-Perryton game. Similar invitations were extended by McLean, Shamrock, Memphis, Childress, and Plainview.

After about four hours of discussions, the school officials agreed to play the game at McLean where Tiger field will be available. A large delegation of McLean citizens, headed by Witt Springer, president of the Board of City Development, and Vester Smith, attended the meeting. McLean will "close up shop" for the big game and Tiger field will be filled to overflowing, it was predicted. The new football plant at McLean is one of the most modern in the country. A covered grandstand with a seating capacity of nearly 2,000 is located on the east side of the field while on the west side is an open stand. Steam heated dressing rooms are available under the east grandstand.

Bad weather should not hurt the crowd because McLean can be reached from every direction on paved highways. McLean will begin an active ticket selling campaign immediately.

Flomot, unknown until three weeks ago, raced into the championship picture by winning a 33 to 0 game from Paducah for a district title. Last week the Longhorns held the great Wheeler Mustangs to a 6 to 6 tie and then won the game on first downs.

Panhandle has gone through a tough season untied and undefeated, winning bi-district honors by a 46 to 0 victory over Tulsa last week.

An effort to secure a block of tickets for Pampa will be made so that fans desiring to attend the game will be assured of getting seats. An announcement regarding tickets will be made tomorrow or Wednesday.

POPOVICH AND PARKER STAR IN LONG RUNS

EACH RAN 105 YARDS FOR TOUCHDOWNS THIS FALL

By HERBERT BARKER

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 (AP)—Credit Ace Parker, Duke's all-america halfback, and Milton Popovich of Montana with the longest of the football season's long gains.

Parker saved the best of his 1936 long runs for the objective game with North Carolina, grabbing a kickoff five yards back of his own goal and running 105 yards to a touchdown. Popovich did the same thing against Oregon State.

These were the outstanding sprints of the campaign but an Associated Press roundup of long runs, long passes and long kicks developed scores of other sensational plays.

Byron White of Colorado University, for instance, ran 102 yards with a kickoff against Denver and Dexter Staphill of Seawac grabbed a Florida fumble in mid-air on his own goal line and sprinted 100 yards to score. Bud Langley of Southern California made a 100-yard run to tie Notre Dame Saturday after intercepting a pass.

Credit for the longest pass goes to Bert Johnson of Kentucky who passed 66 yards to Bob Davis against Maryland.

The longest gain reported on a forward passing play was 85 yards. Cella of New York university passed 90 yards to Milliner who ran 55 yards to score against Rutgers. A Larue-Goldberg lateral was good for 87 yards when Pitt trounced Carnegie Tech.

College kickers produced some astounding feats. Larke Suber of Baldwin-Wallace was credited with one punt that covered 85 yards, 70 in the air. Sam Francis, All-America fullback from Nebraska, kicked one 82 yards against Pitt. Bush Lamb of Iowa sent a punt bowing 80 yards against Temple.

Among outstanding long runs were:

Bob Masters, Baylor, 95 yards against Oklahoma City.

Hugh Wolfe, Texas, 93 yards against Minnesota.

John Locke, Fordham, 76 yards with intercepted pass to beat Southern Methodist.

BOWLING NOW HAS INTEREST OF GRID FANS

SANTA CLARA TO PLAY L. S. U. IN SUGAR BOWL

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 (AP)—Except for a couple of games next weekend and the California-Georgia clash at Atlanta Dec. 26, football from now on paradoxically turns into bowling.

The interest in the 1936 gridiron campaign, which virtually ended with last Saturday's final flourish of surprises, is concentrated almost entirely on post-season "bowl" games. Washington and Pittsburgh meet in the Rose Bowl battle, oldest of the New Year's Day contests; Louisiana State and Santa Clara meet in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans while Duquesne is slated to meet a still unselected southern opponent in the Orange Bowl at Miami.

All these teams except Santa Clara have concluded their regular seasons. The Bronchos clash with Texas Christian in their final regular-season game next Saturday. The University of Miami, surprise competitor in the Orange Bowl at Miami.

Only one of last Saturday's contests, Arkansas' 6-0 victory over Texas, had any bearing on a conference race, but the others, mostly inter-sectional, provided a fitting finale for a "dizzy" football season.

Notre Dame, one of the year's most erratic teams, wound up by playing a 13-13 tie against Southern California.

A 76-yard run by Dick Todd featured the Texas Aggies' 13-6 triumph over Manhattan while two punt punts by the easterners enabled St. Mary's to defeat Temple 13-7.

The south's biggest surprise came when Mississippi held the highly regarded Tennessee Volunteers to a scoreless tie. Mississippi State took a 7-0 decision over Florida Western Maryland conquered Maryland of the southern conference 12-0 to win the state title. Southern Methodist defeated Rice 9-0 while Texas Tech surprised by tying Arizona 7-7.

BASEBALL'S ANNUAL WINTER MEETINGS TO OPEN TOMORROW

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 (AP)—Moving from Montreal to New York, slated for tomorrow, the annual winter meetings of the major baseball clubs are expected to get underway today as they gathered for tomorrow's opening of the annual winter meetings.

Since their big bartering session in Canada they haven't come up with any new deals, but according to the best reports the trading has continued likely to overshadow any business transacted inside the meeting rooms.

Manager Mickey Cochrane of Detroit said he has made a cash offer for pitcher John Whitehead of the White Sox. But Jimmy Dykes of Chicago wanted Rudy York, slated for first base duty at Detroit if Hank Greenberg goes to the outfield. They may compromise on Jack Burns instead of York.

Both Bill Terry, Giants' manager, and owner P. K. Wrigley of the Cubs said they expect to do some trading this week, but they're at a standstill now. Wrigley gave a cool reception to Terry's offer of Hank

AMERICA SHOULD PREPARE TO FIGHT—FOR PEACE

One gets the impression, reading the news from Europe these days, that the world is standing on the threshold of great and terrible changes; that European civilization is taking the social fabric which it has woven with such pains from the days of Charlemagne and is preparing to rend it down the middle, bringing to a close a whole cycle of human progress and making way for something new, chaotic, and utterly unpredictable.

Is that too dark a picture? Then how else can the dispatches from overseas be read?

Already the civil war in Spain is more than a civil war, and is rapidly becoming an actual conflict between two opposing concepts of social organization, stemming directly from Rome, Berlin, and Moscow.

Germany and Japan form an anti-Communist alliance, and it is openly hinted that they will go to war in the spring. Britain arms with feverish haste, Moscow boasts of 7000 war planes, and every correspondent agrees that the only reason a new world war has not yet begun is that the nations are not quite ready for it.

No American can contemplate that prospect without prayerfully asking what his own country's course should be when the break-up begins. What must we do, when the rest of the world resorts to violence to make earth-shaking changes? Can we keep out of it—and, if we can, should we?

We can, if we insist upon it; we should if we can.

In 1916 we heard a great deal of hifalutin talk to the effect that we owed a high duty to the rest of the world, that it was somehow ignoble and unworthy for us to sit peacefully at home when great issues were being settled by the sword overseas. If and when this new European bust-up comes, we shall certainly hear more of that kind of talk.

We ought to prepare our defenses ahead of time. Let us get it clearly in our heads that if Europe goes to war again, we can best serve the world by staying at peace—by preserving, on one continent at least, an oasis of sanity in a world gone mad.

If we can put ourselves in shape to resist the war propaganda, the material part of the job ought to be easier.

We can resolve not to let our land be turned into a source of supply for either side—for the last war taught us how perilous that is. We can follow the lead of the Buenos Aires conference and cement the trade and political relations of the new world.

We can make ourselves see that no matter how painful might be the industrial depression which a European war would create in America, the remedy of a war-made boom would be a cure worse than the disease.

It is not too soon for us to begin thinking earnestly about these things. The European catastrophe may take shape overnight. The time to make our desire for peace effective is now, before the passions of a great war drown out the voice of reason.

DAILY WASHINGTON LETTER

By Rodney Dutcher

WASHINGTON.—Present New Deal strategy is to undermine the prestige of the U. S. Supreme Court, to prepare the public mind for whatever Roosevelt decides to do about curbing the court—if and when he decides to do anything at all.

The court, not for the first time, has helped the administration by a performance at which its critics point a finger of scorn.

Just before the political conventions, when it appeared that Republicans would make preservation of the court's powers a campaign issue, the justices handed down a 5 to 4 decision against the New York minimum wage law, a ruling so unpopular that the Republican candidate thereafter publicly suggested a possible constitutional amendment. Court and Constitution faded away as big political issues.

Now the court is on the pan again because it split even, four justices against four, on the New York unemployment insurance act, approving as if by default a favorable decision of the lower court.

If the lower court had held the act invalid, the supreme court deadlock would have had the effect of denying states the right to provide for unemployment insurance, tearing away a New Deal cornerstone.

And the fact that no opinion was written on either side gave the critics additional opportunity for ridicule.

Chief Justice Hughes once said: "The Constitution is what the judges say it is." Thus, when the judges of the highest bench fail to say anything at all on a vitally important constitutional issue, New Dealers are given a chance to say that the court's procedure in the unemployment insurance case marks the ultimate in absurdity.

Of course it is assumed that if Justice Harlan F. Stone hadn't been ill, the decision would have been 5 to 4 in favor of the New York law. General supposition is that Justices Hughes and Roberts moved over from the conservative side to join the two other liberals Brandeis and Cardozo.

There is no assurance at all in this decision—as some writers seem to think—that the court will uphold the federal Social Security Act. The Hughes-Roberts shift came in the easiest possible kind of a case for a justice who wanted to be temporarily liberal.

The "no-decision decision" proved that there are still four die-hard justices—VanDevanter, McReynolds, Sutherland, and Butler—who not only refuse to "follow the election returns," but flout them.

The attitude of this quartet is in interesting contrast with the recent conciliatory attitude of Big Business, which heretofore has regarded the court as its bulwark against social-economic change.

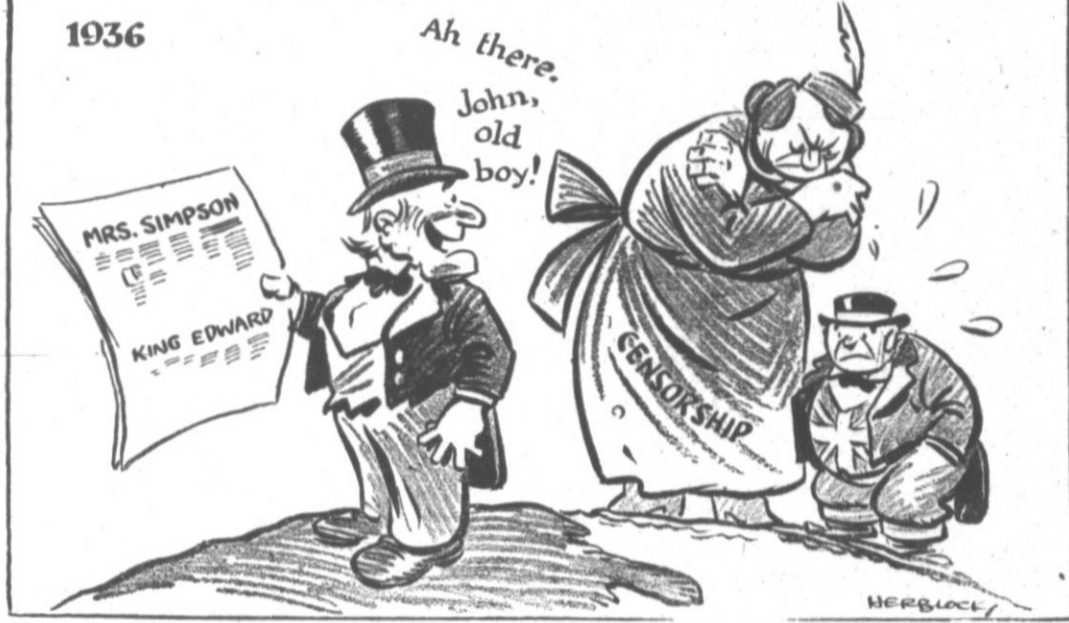

Another extremely important phase of the New York decision is the fact that it again makes clear how the future policies of the nation may hang on the beliefs of one man who has a life job and is not subject to censure by the electorate.

Right out in the spotlight is Justice Roberts, who has been known to vote with the three liberal justices, but has done so less frequently than has Hughes. Assuming that Hughes were to "follow the election returns" at all times, you would have Roberts as a one-man balance of power on the court, in a position to validate or invalidate all legislation passed by Congress and endorsed by the president.

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

NEW YORK—Somewhere off Cape Hatteras on a blustery afternoon a big air liner was winging towards New York. The sky was clear and the sea empty with the exception of a few smudges that marked a freighter so far below. We were about 8,000 feet up.

"Well," said the trim little hostess, "how did you like it?" "Great," I said. We weren't talking about the trip, or about the weather. We were talking about a motion picture, with sound, which had just been screened while we roared along a mile in the air.

The picture was "The Flying Hostess," a thrilling melodrama about the trials young girls have to go through before they are accepted as hostesses on the big transport planes. It was an exciting occasion and I asked the hostess if the action of the picture could be duplicated in real life. I mean, in the film the star takes command of the plane after the pilots have been shot, and while an operator 500 miles away feeds her instructions via radio, she brings the ship safely to port.

I was surprised and gratified to learn that the feat was perfectly feasible. "After all, in an emergency like that, it's a chance one has to take. Then, too, everybody on the ship is familiar with the controls. This picture is technically 100 per cent correct."

Sparkling Heroine This was the real heroine talking to motion picture operators. I When she went to talk with one of glauced up at the make-believe hostess, who played the part in the picture. But there wasn't any make-believe about Judith Barrett, of whom you know little now but of whom you'll know a lot later on. She sat there, eyes flaming with excitement, heroine of the party, heroine of the picture, and, I hope, a heroine to herself. Judith Barrett is a Texas girl, very slim and dark and with a wonderful smile and a fine sense of humor.

She was on a whirlwind journey to New York for a fortnight of plays and campaigning. Then she departed for quick personal appearances, flying of course, in key cities between here and the coast.

She told me: "The only time I ever flew before I made this picture was something of a tragedy. I became air-ill. But that was a long time ago. You won't catch that happening to me again. I guess I'm air minded. My company has another story with flying in it and I'd give anything for a ride under steam pressure over Honolulu. It's about those big clipper ships. Oh, oh, how I'd love to play it!"

And So To Earth Miss Barrett is about five feet two and just 22. She is, above all, one of those persons who you tell good-bye and then say to yourself: "What a pretty girl; I'm sorry she isn't going to be here longer."

Then we were circling over Newark airport like a lazy condor. We settled comfortably into the airplane and taxied up to the administration building. Everybody got out and rushed to an al fresco party at the Robert Treat hotel. Later, we bid adieu to the Flying Hostess and motored to Manhattan.

its tributary, both of which empty into the Colorado. In Coke county, 10 miles above Robert Lee, the authority contemplates a Colorado dam, costing about $2,000,000, to create a 275,000-acre-foot reservoir, provide needed water for pasture and forage crop irrigation and stabilize flow of the river below the dam. Farther down the river is the Central Colorado River Authority, embracing Coleman county, which had two small dams, one of which planned some 20 additional ones on tributary creeks to the Colorado. These were for irrigation and water supply primarily, but by holding back the force of suddenly rising streams the Colorado will bear less flood waters. The small reservoirs would cost from $10,000 to $20,000 each while four larger ones would range in cost from $48,000 to $200,000.

Demands Jewels

To recover $40,000 in jewelry she alleged Samuel Insull gave her when he was a fugitive in Greece, Mrs. Helene Coyimzoglou, above, 38, wife of a Bagdad date merchant, threatened suit if Insull refused to relinquish the gems. Insull, she said, gave her the jewels after she had sheltered him in Athens, but she was forced to return them at Mrs. Insull's insistence. Now Mrs. Coyimzoglou wants them back. But the jewels, Insull claims, are in a safe deposit box in Paris.

Talks to parents

WICKED FAIRY No matter how careful and intelligent a parent may be, no matter how hard fathers and mothers struggle to do what's best for their children, in they end they are bound to find that they have done or left undone something essential that should have been changed. It is as though a bad fairy were present at the birth of every child.

The Smiths were determined that their children should never be jealous of one another. They read books on the subject, and never broke any of the rules that the books prescribed. When a baby was expected they took every opportunity to interest the older children in the new arrival. Sally could not have felt left out when Susan came. She looked forward to the new baby, and helped to tend it when it arrived. In later years, looking back, Sally traced her very real dislike for Susan to early jealousy of the baby. Tommy was never to be afraid of anything, and his parents did everything in their power to develop fearlessness in him. All their well-meant efforts did was to develop in Tommy the fear of being afraid. In later life he was haunted by the dread of cowardice to such an extent that when he was tired or under nervous strain he lay awake at night, worrying lest in some crisis he had failed to come up to his ideal of courage.

The Wrong Murderer

By HUGH CLEVELY

Elsa's interview with Basset was arranged with an ease that surprised her. The interview took place in the small front sitting-room of a house in Brighton. Acting on her instruction from Lawson, Elsa would tell Basset nothing except that she had a communication of the greatest importance to make to Mahony.

"What's it about?" asked Basset. "I can't tell anybody except him," answered Elsa. "I must see him myself. If I can't see him I sha'n't tell anyone what I have to say."

She looked at Basset defiantly. She hated the thought that Mahony was banding himself with people like the man in front of her.

"All I'm asking you is to give my message to him—tell him that I want to see him," she went on unyieldingly. "Still pay you for doing it if you like. How much do you want?"

Fatty Basset did not answer for a moment. He merely looked at her. Then he spoke.

"I'm a crook," he said. "I make my living dishonestly. I expect you know that, don't you?"

Elsa hesitated for a moment. She was not sure how to answer. And Basset's cold unsmiling glance, fixed on her face, made her feel a trifle uncomfortable.

"Well . . . I suspected you were," she answered rather weakly. "An' now I'm tellin' you I am," went on Basset. "An' now you know you've come to the right person, don't you? Because when one of you society people wants something dirty done, they always pay a crook to do it for them."

Elsa flushed indignantly. "But I don't want anything dirty done," she burst out. "How dare you suggest such a thing. My only reason for wanting to get into touch with Mr. Mahony is to help him."

Basset went on staring at her with wide, hard eyes. He did not want the same thing to happen as when Mahony had last met her.

"Of course, money is money," he went on in a business-like tone.

Chapter 42 "Wot was you thinkin' of offerin'?" Basset asked.

"I'll pay you anything you like if you'll arrange for me to see him," protested Elsa earnestly. "And I'm not thinking of trying to harm him. I want to help him."

Her sincerity was evident; so Basset abandoned his suspicions. He smiled, and suddenly his fat, cunning face became astonishingly genial and human.

"Or right, miss; I was only tryin' you out," he said. "If Mr. Mahony is willin' to see yer, I'll fix up a meetin'." An' there's no question of any money between you an' me. I'm out to 'elp Mr. Mahony just as much as you are."

His face hardened suddenly. "But if anything's to 'appen to Mr. Mahony through this meetin' with you, I'll tell yer plain. I wouldn't be in your shoes afterwards for all the gold in the Bank of England."

That concluded the interview between them, and they parted. Elsa felt somewhat guilty after she had left Basset. She had no doubt that after Mahony had been kidnaped, Basset would think that she had betrayed him, and, in spite of the fact that Basset was a self-confessed crook, she did not want him to think that of her. Yet, in a way, she was undoubtedly planning to betray Mahony as she had betrayed him before.

But Lawson soon banished all her qualms and doubts. He did it very cleverly.

"So Basset threatened you, did he?" he said. "Well, then, if you take my tip you'll abandon the whole idea."

Problems of Glamor Girl Jean Muir is having a tough time, what with her "glamor campaign" and her conflicting desire to talk about serious things like labor problems, economics and politics. A glamor girl is supposed to be aloof from such mundane affairs; to talk about her art and her amours, and most particularly about herself.

Jean does such unglamorous things as telling the real reason she changed from blonde to brunette, i. e. "My hair wouldn't take the bleach any more; it was too much trouble, and it cost $12.50 a treatment. I'm going to like the natural shade better, anyway."

Moreover, she goes to night school, once a week, for an economics course. Probably as a concession to glamor, however, she attended a movie premiere the other evening—her first in three years in Hollywood.

VIOLENT WINDS WRECK HOMES AT LONGVIEW

CYCLONES ACCOMPANY FREEZING NORTHERN IN EAST TEXAS

(By The Associated Press.)
The incongruous picture of tornadoes accompanying a freezing "norther" confronted Texas today.

Tornadoic winds, out of season, spread destruction through a wide area of East Texas, injuring several persons, while a stinging cold wave was sweeping the Gulf.

The discomfort of families whose roofs were ripped from over their heads by the violent winds was increased by temperatures skidding down as low as 25 degrees in East Texas.

Sub-freezing figures were reported over the northern half of the state, with Wichita Falls registering a seasonal low of 24. Skies were clearing after days of drizzling rain throughout the state.

At Longview, where the temperature sagged to 26 after a weekend of abnormally warm weather, a swift check-up on tornado damage disclosed several negroes hurt but no deaths.

A tornado slashing in from slightly north of Greggton, five miles west of Longview, extended through the northern part of Longview proper. Telephone and light wires were torn down, huge trees and limbs broken and ripped up by the roots and some 20 flimsy houses demolished. It was estimated the damage would amount to around $50,000.

A negro settlement north of Greggton was nearly destroyed. At Christmas cheer is in the making at the Dionne nursery as the quins bring up a newly cut Christmas tree on their toboggan. It's a real adventure for them, and they look quite grave as they peer out of their heavy woolen snow suits. Left to right are Cecile, Annette, Marie, Yvonne, and Emilie.

King Is 'Silly Middle-Aged Boy' Asserts H. L. Mencken

Says Edward Has Not Followed Rules In Playing

(Editor's Note: H. L. Mencken, noted man of letters of Baltimore where Wallis Simpson spent her early life, has written exclusively for the Associated Press the following article on the situation precipitated by King Edward VIII's apparent determination to marry the former Baltimore belle.)

BY H. L. MENCKEN
BALTIMORE, Dec. 7 (AP)—The natural sympathy which all us poor fools have for one another should not be allowed to obscure the fact that, in the comedy now sinking so miserably into farce, his Britannic majesty has acted very badly. The conflict in that comedy has not been between a romantic hero on the one hand and a cruel ogre on the other, but one between a silly middle-aged boy and a pedagogue trying to recall him to his duty. The strength of the king's case, such as it is, lies in the circumstance that everyone loves a lover, even and perhaps especially when his love affair is ridiculous. Its weakness lies in the fact that the respect of the world is reserved for him who plays the game according to the rules.

Has Edward done so? It must be manifest that he has not. There is between him and his lieges a definite contract, no less explicit because it is mainly only implied. They agree on their side to yield him certain valuable deferences, honors, prerogatives and powers, the widest and most glorious that any man on earth enjoys today. And he agrees on his part to conduct himself according to certain precise patterns, many of them out of harmony with the normal inclinations of man.

Some of the articles that bind him are well known. He has no vote, and may not woo for this or that candidate at election time. He may not accept an engagement in the moving pictures. He may not open a cocktail lounge in Piccadilly, or even a haberdashery shop or insurance office in the Strand. He may not become a Roman Catholic, or a Moslem, or a Christian Scientist, though many millions of his subject subscribe to those faiths. The list of such obligations is very long, and some of them are undoubtedly onerous. But he took them on when he took the oath as king, and he can no more evade them without dishonor than he could evade his obligation to be decently dutiful to his mother.

It must be plain, that the marriage he proposes is not suitable to kingly status. I am quite willing and indeed eager, as a fellow Baltimorean, to admit the lady of his choice is a model of grace and virtue. She would add greatly to the joys of human existence at his court. But the fact remains that the king of England simply cannot have a couple of Morganatic brothers-in-law hanging about the back door of the palace. He may not marry a woman whose previous adventures in connubial bliss have gone beyond the point held to be seemly by his people. He may not flout a prejudice that is as deep, if perhaps as irrational, as the sturdy English prejudices against steam heat, thin underwear and edible cooking.

The cheers of the London mob need not detain us. It is made up in part of malicious persons, eager only to afflict the government, and in part of mere idiots. Its opinion is not the sober and considerate opinion of the British people. For good or for evil, the true Britons are opposed irrevocably to the innocent, artless polygamies of Hollywood and Long Island. And despite their natural human sympathy for a man fighting desperately for his girl, they are also irrevocably in favor of playing every game according to its rules.

In that field Edward has fallen them, and hence shocked them. Will his majesty throw off the cabinet and marry the lady? I do not undertake to answer, for I retired formally from prophecy on the first Monday of last November. But whether he fights his way to the altar or falls by the way it must be obvious that he has brought himself to ruin, and that he'll be lucky if he doesn't involve in that ruin all the other members of his family.

The cold of a Canadian winter has little chance to nip the quins' ears through these helmets, which top their winter play suits. Snuggled warmly in their outfits, the quins are ready for any outdoor sport, from coasting to snowballing. But best of all, they can stay outside to reconnoiter every day for signs of Santa Claus or the reindeer they're hearing about so much.

CAPITOL JIGSAW
By HOWARD C. MARSHALL

AUSTIN, Dec. 7 (AP)—A new member of the legislature tries to introduce as many bills as possible, says Rep. Penrose Metcalfe, and an old one takes the opposition course.

"When I first came to the legislature," he says, "I signed almost every bill they put in front of me, but I don't any more."

In Metcalfe's opinion, the next legislature should concern itself chiefly with economizing, instead of enacting new taxes. There are plenty of places, especially in departments, he says, where a little judicial operating will reduce the cost of government.

Gov. Allred recently made several appointments to the board of regents of the University of Texas and there is discussion as to other appointments in the near future. Someone asked about the highway commission.

"Why not a good railroad man on the commission, for example, a vice-president of the Katy or the Missouri Pacific?" was the question.

The governor joined others present in laughter.

to be broken up, the governor remarked recently, recalling that in his inaugural speech two years ago he said "vicious, violent lawlessness must cease."

He gave much credit to "the marvelous work" of the Public Safety Department, to the national government's drive against criminals, and to the awakened interest of law enforcement authorities everywhere.

Some he took to himself, asserting his policy of allowing murderers to go to the electric chair and leaving the world criminals in the penitentiary played a part in improving conditions.

In direct charge of Texas Rangers patrolling the waterfront at Houston is Capt. Harvey B. Purvis. Houston is in his district of the Ranger administration.

Purvis joined the Ranger force in 1927 but left it in 1933. He re-enlisted in 1935 and was made a captain last May. Before becoming a Ranger, he was a deputy sheriff for 14 years.

"They don't make better officers," said Albert Sydney Johnson, chairman of the public safety commission. The only thing possibly wrong is that he talks so much like a gentleman some men think he doesn't mean business. They soon find out."

Col. H. H. Carmichael, director of the public safety department, says any old jealousies between the Rangers and the Highway Patrol have disappeared.

They are working hand in hand in the marine and truck strike along Texas' Gulf coast without a rift, he says.

"Cooperation couldn't be better," he says. "This what the law making them divisions in the same department intended, and I think is getting results."

About 20 Rangers and a larger number of highway patrolmen were drawn to strike duty from various districts, the whole being supervised by Carmichael.

HASKELL, Dec. 7 (AP)—Coroner Bruce L. Cliff investigated today the death of R. F. Glenn, constable here for the past four years. Glenn was found dead with a bullet wound in his right side late Sunday when his wife returned home from a visit. Officers said Glenn, partly clad, was lying in bed. A pistol, with two fired shells, was found in a chair. The coroner withheld a verdict.

Christmas buying is gaining—shoppers are crowding stores in all sections of the country. Seasonal goods and gifts are to continue in largest demand. Business and industrial activity is reducing unemployment rolls—reports show that workers on WPA projects are leaving for other permanent jobs. Bank clearances are higher—seasonal. Carloadings running against trend of this time of year. There's no indication of declines in heavy industry. Wool market in boom conditions—further price advances anticipated. New building contracts holding regardless of weather conditions but construction work is being hampered. Electric power production to continue high. Steel production to hold this week. Apparel accessories moving fastest in merchandising demand. Credits expansion continues which is a danger signal not receiving attention these boom days. Packing houses quite active. Motor car sales not as good as might be expected. The tobacco industry is about to close a most successful year. Wholesale buying big—demand is for better grades of merchandise. Public buying greater than merchant buying which shows goods being actually consumed. There are strikes in various sections of country—so all isn't as well as appears on the surface. Textile industry outlook bullish—shortage likely. Household equipment will do better. Furniture demand continues high. Real estate activity better considering time of year. Coal output at best levels since 1929—same goes for coke. Foodstuffs sales volume big. Hardware and building materials lines to continue active this week. Strong stock market prices give John Q. Public a better feeling—administration officials urging caution. Retail trade sales at new peak levels—all due to holiday buying spirit.

COMMODITIES

The demand for cotton goods is impressively high but textile prices are jumping sharply which may end in a drop in demand for cotton. Long pull egg contracts being taken—speculators see profits on January futures. Cottonseed oil outlook mixed but traders bullish. Wheat prices to do better due to foreign war talk. But-ter options meet buying on dips but takers accepting profits on rallies. Corn interests favor the long side of the market. Low stocks of crude add considerably to attractiveness of rubber futures. Lumber shipments higher. Copper demand continues with even foreign nations taking in preference to African supplies. With both the world's cocoa crops seriously short and with world consumption high outlook is bullish regardless of recent price advances. Trade claims that outlook for all is constructive due to low statistical position. Rayon demand high—shortage likely next spring. Wool prices to be lifted. Consumers prefer to await the announcement of quotas before becoming bullish on raw sugar. Coffee market to hold strength. Hide market looks strong with few

FLASHES OF LIFE

(By The Associated Press.)

MIND IF WE FISH, CONDUCTOR? LOS ANGELES—Police men studying a newly compiled volume of all city ordinances found that it is illegal to:

Shoot jack rabbits from moving street cars.

Sell snakes on city streets.

Ascertain the tenderness of a Christmas turkey at market by poking it.

Drive more than 50 cattle or mules through the city at a time.

No arrests for these offenses have been reported yet.

CONTRARY MARY.

SAN FRANCISCO—Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Anderson were astonished when their infant daughter, Mary, took her first steps alone. She was only seven months old.

They called a newspaper. A reporter and photographer came rushing out to publicize the prodigy. But Mary wouldn't walk for them. Her picture appeared in the paper—doggedly holding onto her crib.

HASTE MAKES TROUBLE.

OMAHA, Neb.—The short cut Oscar Nielsen took on his way home proved quite circuitous.

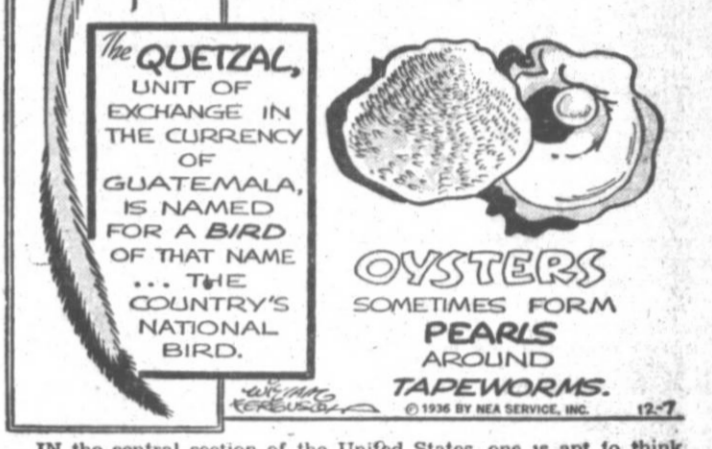

Nielsen drove his car down the railroad tracks because, he told police, it was the shortest way home. His car stalled, however, blocking a train from each direction for 15 minutes.

Nielsen's short-cut eventually led to the police station.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

IN the central section of the United States, one is apt to think that most of the vegetation of the world sheds its leaves when winter comes. However, the vast evergreen forests of the north, and practically all of the vegetation of the tropical regions hold leaves all the year.

MOSCOW PAINED. MOSCOW, Dec. 7 (AP)—Mexico's action in granting Leon Troitzky a refuge, if he desires it, caused pained surprise here today, but brought no immediate official comment. MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 (AP)—A few specialties tilted forward in today's stock market while many of the leaders either stood still or backed into the losing column for fractions to a point or so.

Both buying and selling were extremely light, however, with transfers approximately 1,700,000 shares, the smallest full day's volume in more than a month.

LITTLE GIRL WANTS QUINTS FOR PRESENT

NORTH BAY, Ont., Dec. 7 (AP)—A little girl wants Santa Claus to give her the Dionne quintuplets for a Christmas present.

She is Rose Dionne, the 8-year-old member of the family who lives just across the road from the nursery which the famous five occupy.

She wrote Santa in French: "Dear Santa: I am the quintuplets' older sister. I am eight years old. I was well pleased with what I got last year. This time I would like a skit suit, some nuts and candies. "But what I would like best of all, Santa, if you could bring my little quintuplet sisters back, then I wouldn't want the suit, as when I leave my little sisters they always cry to come home with me. "I don't think you could bring me anything else in the world to please me as well as my little quintuplet sisters. Then I would be the happiest child on earth."

Fascist Artillery Trained on Suburbs

MADRID, Dec. 7 (AP)—Fascist artillery blasted a path through the capital's suburbs today in what Socialist commanders feared was the rumbling thunder of an effort to storm the city.

Insurgent batteries crumpled blocks of bomb-weakened apartments with a smoking barrage in the Arguelles sector, hardest hit by recent Fascist air raids.

Some defense officers foresaw an insurgent drive also from the northeast, after 23 tri-motored bombers rained explosives in the vicinity of Guadalajara.

of the chamber created a bedlam. A liberal and a laborite pressed the prime minister with barbed, supplementary questions, the latter on whether Baldwin would accept the opinion of the house on morganatic marriage.

Cries of "order!" from the government benches broke up the debate as Baldwin refused to deal with "hypothetical" situations.

Even before the prime minister spoke, Col. Josiah Wedgwood, laborite-supporter of the monarch, had created a scene by shouting: "What about the fateful, final step of abdication?" after Baldwin had refused to permit a discussion of Wedgwood's motion of unequal confidence for the king.

Churchill, who earlier in the day had assured cheering guests at an Anglo-French luncheon that the king never would act "contrary to the British constitution," sought to demand a "full statement" from Baldwin on the constitutional issues involved.

However, he got no reply.

ORDER FOR STRIKE IS RESCINDED BY MATES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP)—National officers of the Marine Engineers Beneficial Association and the Masters, Mates and Pilots today rescinded their order for a strike in support of the Pacific coast maritime walk-out.

Captain James J. Delaney, president of the Masters, Mates and Pilots, told reporters the two unions originally had voted to strike Nov. 25 in hope that support of the walk-out would bring together the regular International Seamen's Union and its rank-and-file element.

The strike, he added, had failed to have that effect.

The two unions were influenced also by the American Federation of Labor's vote at its Tampa, Fla., convention, to lend "moral support" to the seamen's union against insurgent strikers, Delaney said.

The convention found that insurgent strikes on the east coast, in sympathy with the west coast, were the working of communists.

William Brown, president of the Marine Engineers Beneficial Association, said Delaney was authorized to speak for the engineers.

MAY HIRE COACH

AUSTIN, Dec. 7 (AP)—The University of Texas athletic council tonight will take up the problem of a Longhorn coaching staff for next year with a view to making recommendations to the board of regents.

J. C. Dolley, chairman of the council, said 28 applications for the head coaching position had been received since Coach Jack Chevigny's announcement a month ago to the effect he will not be a candidate for reappointment Feb. 1. The entire staff's contracts expire at that time. All applications were confidential.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 7 (AP)—There was little activity during the morning. A decline in London has been adopted by most operators until the government's crop estimate is out of the way.

Two private estimates were issued this morning, one for 12,268,000 bales and the other for 12,250,000 bales. Another report was that the cotton crop was out with an estimate of 12,464,000 bales.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Dec. 7 (AP)—About two cents a bushel late jump of corn values did much to put backbone into all grains today at the last.

Cold weather and dearth of arrivals of offerings of corn were largely responsible for corn strength, which lifted, and soy beans to new high price records for the season.

Corn closed strong 3/4-1 1/2; above Saturday's finish, Dec. 1.09-09 1/2, May new 1.03 1/2-3/4, wheat 3/4-1 1/4 up, Dec. 1.25 1/2, May 1.23 1/2-22, oats 1/2 cent advance, and provisions unchanged to a bulge of 25 cents.

I tumble to 'em—

Buddy,

I can't pay a higher compliment than that.

Girl or cigarette . . . when I tumble that means I'm for 'em.

Chesterfield's my cigarette. And I'll tell all hands they've got a hearty good taste that makes a sailor happy. And listen, they're milder.

. . . for the good things a cigarette can give a sailor

I'll sign up with Chesterfields
