50-Mile Hike Set Sunday

Local Women To Join Walk Fad

The physical fitness fad through the medium of the 50-mile walk bit spread to Pampa today.

And, not only that — but it spread into the ranks of the so-called "weaker sex" as three Pampa women announced plans to try a 50-mile walk to Panhandle and back next Sunday.

They are the two members of the Pampa police department meter maid corps, Doris Sims, 204 Tignor, and Jewel Thompson 435 N. Starkweather, who will be accompanied by June Galbreath, KHHH newscaster, 2204 Coffee.

The trio announced today that they will begin their hike at 6 a.m. Sunday.

The whole thing blossomed from the various walks and strolls that have grown out of President Kennedy's physical fitness program.

Quite a few men have been proving their stamina during the past week by walking 50 miles in 15 to 20 hours.

A group of Congressional secretaries in Washington tried their hand at it yesterday.

Pierre Salinger, White House presidential secretary, was going to take a crack at it but declined at the last minute on advice from his doctor who said persons not in the best of physical shape should not attempt such a long walk.

The President's brother, Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy, walked 50 miles in 17 hours last Saturday.

Lt. Donald Bernath, a trim marine from Wauseon, Ohio, led a group of leathernecks from Camp Lejeune, N. C., across the line in a 50-mile hike in 11 hours, 44 minutes.

In case would-be athletes, planning 50-mile hikes in line with the President's program, are interested in figures, the American record for the 50-mile walk was set 84 years ago at 9 hours, 29 minutes, 22 seconds, in New York City.

The man who established it was G. B. Gillie who took the stroll on May 10, 1878.

"We don't expect to set any records," Mrs. Galbreath said today, "but we do want to prove that women are just as physically fit as the men."

And, there are a lot of men who probably will agree that the women are in better shape.

The Sunday morning hike by the three Pampa women is scheduled to start from the Fleetwood Truck Center at the edge of town on U. S. Hwy. 60.

Persons who think they can make it are welcome to join in the 50-mile walk attempt, Mrs. Galbreath said.

Youth Conservation Corps Is Proposed By President

Would Provide Work For 15,000 Youths

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy asked Congress today to set up a youth conservation corps with 15,000 members and create a national service corps similar to the Peace Corps operating abroad.

In a special youth message keyed to the theme of serving young people better so "they will serve their nation better" Kennedy also proposed an expansion in the overseas Peace Corps.

The proposed conservation corps would provide work and training for 15,000 youths in national forests and recreation areas. It would resemble the Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC) of the 1930s.

The national service corps would be a domestic peace corps, composed of volunteers of all ages willing to serve in hospitals, mental health centers, schools, on Indian reservations, and in city slums or poor rural areas.

Kennedy said his proposals were designed to reduce unemployment among younger Americans, boost the economy and permit citizens of any age to help meet the need for home front services.

"Chronic world tensions have tended to distract our attention from those problems which have long-range rather than immediate consequences," he said. "But each passing month makes it clearer that our past failures to identify, understand and meet the many problems relating to our nation's youth cannot be countenanced any longer."

The President called for early congressional passage of his proposed youth employment act. This would set up a $100 million program for establishment of the youth conservation corps and also provide for federal payment of half of the wages and related costs of youths employed on non-profit, community services.

These local projects would include hospitals, schools, parks, settlement houses and similar establishments. Asking $100 million for the first year of the program, Kennedy estimated it could employ 40,000 youths.

As for the domestic peace corps, the President recommended starting with "a small carefully selected volunteer corps of men and women of all areas working under local direction and professional personnel."

The subcommittee on communications and power holds legislative control over oil and gas pipeline lines in the nation. The subcommittee and the main Interstate and Foreign Commerce committee are expected to make joint studies of oil and gas tax proposals.

Rogers was quoted as saying that the tax proposals of the Treasury "are going to raise a fight, because the depletion allowance of 27 1/2 per cent may be left in, but the Treasury Department has indicated it will be taken out."

His proposal to enlarge the overseas Peace Corps would bring its strength to 13,000 volunteers by September, 1964. It started this year with 4,350 members in training or in service in 44 countries and Kennedy estimated it would have 9,000 by the end of this summer.

The President also requested extension of the juvenile delinquency act for another three years, and reiterated his recommendations for increased family welfare appropriations, education, child care and a supplemental appropriation.

Under this arrangement there would be one general manager's office of the operating department in Texas at Amarillo, he said. "The four operating division headquarters would continue at Amarillo, Slayton, Temple and Fort Worth."

US Plans To Withdraw Overseas Atom-Bombers

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Defense Department plans to start withdrawing U. S. nuclear bombers from overseas bases during the next 16 months, it was learned today.

Barring some new emergency, plans call for reducing the number of Strategic Air Command B47 jets that now are kept on constant alert at bases circling the Soviet Union.

The cutback in B47 operations at European and other bases will follow the dismantling of Thor missile sites in England and Jupiter missile sites in Italy and Turkey.

The meeting was originally requested for Thursday night but was slated for tomorrow at noon instead.

It will coincide with the rapid increase in Minuteman and Polaris missiles based respectively in the United States and in submarines in the North Atlantic. Submarines also are slated to go to the Mediterranean this spring.

Bombers now are stationed at bases in England, Spain, Morocco, Alaska and Guam — nuclear armed and ready to take off on six to 15 minutes' notice.

The U. S. Army is also planning further cuts in its manpower in Europe. A Pentagon spokesman said "something less than" 25,000 troops may be pulled out under plans now being studied, which would raise total withdrawals since the Berlin crisis subsided to about 40,000.

Rogers May Head House I&FC Group

Reports from Washington today stated that Rep. Walter Rogers of Pampa is a probable choice for chairman of the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce subcommittee on communications and power.

The appointment is expected to be made in March.

The subcommittee on communications and power holds legislative control over oil and gas pipeline lines in the nation. The subcommittee and the main Interstate and Foreign Commerce committee are expected to make joint studies of oil and gas tax proposals.

City Commission Planning Special Meet Tomorrow

The Pampa City Commission will meet at a special luncheon session in the Pampa Hotel tomorrow noon to study a proposed increase in city water rates.

The meeting was called at the request of City Commissioner Will Graham to study the various proposals in advance of the regular commission meeting next Tuesday night.

The meeting was originally requested for Thursday night but was slated for tomorrow at noon instead.

Another Abe?

Jesse Vick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Vick, 922 Campbell and a Pampa News street salesman, was "caught" by the News' photographer yesterday as he waited for his brothers, John and Melvin, to come in from their street sales route. As he often does, Jesse was intently studying his reading lesson in the newspaper office oblivious to the hustle and bustle of his surroundings; so deeply engrossed was he that he was unaware that he had been "snapped" by the photographer. He Wanted To Impeach The President

Man Captured Following Bomb Threat

WASHINGTON (UPI) — For nearly two tension-filled hours Wednesday Washington police wrestled with the dilemma of what to do about a man who threatened to blow up the Justice Department.

They cleared one block of Pennsylvania Avenue of all pedestrians and automotive traffic, and removed everyone from the first two floors of the five-story building.

Finally, they resorted to tear gas and flushed 33-year-old Nathan Wise of Phoenix, Ariz., from underneath the 1956 Oldsmobile sedan he had driven up three concrete steps to the doorway. Wise, who calmly kept demanding to see FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover to start impeachment proceedings against President Kennedy and the cabinet, was hustled off, struggling, in a police wagon.

He was being held today in District of Columbia General Hospital for mental observation. Authorities said the psychiatric examinations usually took three days. Find Empty Cans There was no bomb. What police had been led to believe was an explosive turned out to be a suitcase filled with newspapers that had been wired to the bottom of the car. Gasoline cans inside the car were empty.

The two-hour bomb scare began shortly after high noon, when Wise suddenly veered his auto off Pennsylvania Avenue and up the steps. He got out and lay down on his stomach beneath the vehicle.

To startled building guards and bewildered pedestrians who rushed up, he said, "I am demanding to see J. Edgar Hoover to initiate impeachment proceedings against John F. Kennedy, President of the United States."

Leonard Rosen of Brockton, Mass., who was leaving the building, told reporters Wise gave him a little smile and said, "I'm not crazy."

Police were summoned after Wise told the building guards that he had a bomb in the suitcase. Deputy Police Chief George R. Wallrodt said Wise told him "he would die right there if we laid a hand on him."

More than 30 police and detectives arrived on the scene. They ordered persons in buildings across the street to remain inside. Police cars, patrol wagons, motorcycles, an ambulance, and a bomb disposal unit stood by. Hook Up Hose

Policemen took turns trying to coax Wise to come out. When they made no progress, two fire trucks drove up and firemen hooked up a hose in an apparent move to wash him out.

Suddenly, a tear gas barrage was fired from a clump of bushes near the building entrance. A squad of policemen rushed up, throwing more tear gas grenades under the automobile.

Foreign News Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

In Baghdad, in early March 1959, sand hung in layers in the air.

The U. S. embassy was under virtual state of siege by members of the Iraqi army encamped upon its lawn.

In the streets, loudspeakers blared the praises of Premier Abdel Karim Kassem, and mobs carried out the "will of the people" against hapless victims who met death at the end of a rope attached to a careening truck or automobile.

At night, in the Hotel Khyam, news correspondents — banned from the streets by a curfew — closed their windows against the street sounds and the howls of roaming dog packs, and watched television.

Star of the show always was Col. Fadil El Mahdawy, a cousin of Kassem and head of the Baghdad Peoples' Court.

Mahdawy, a grim, heavy-set man ruled over a court with a unique sense of justice.

Verdicts Certain
Guilt was assumed, evidence usually by hearsay and its presentation frequently interrupted for long diatribes by Mahdawy against imperialism (the United States) and the United Arab Republic (President Nasser).

In many hours of watching, this correspondent never saw an acquittal.

In jail, awaiting execution of the death sentence, was Kassem's one-time partner in revolution, Brig. Abdul Salam Mohammed Aref. Aref had advocated close ties with Nasser.

These were the days immediately following the abortive Mosul revolt in the north of Iraq and there Kassem's Communist supporters were continuing their blood bath against reported or suspected Nasser sympathizers.

In Baghdad, the mobs were thirsty, too, UPI correspondent Zaki Salama, a towering Egyptian, was there then, and he risked death from the mobs every time he ventured to the cable office to file a dispatch.

Over this, sublimely aloof, ruled Kassem.

Once each day he rode in his station wagon through crowded Rashid Street and then the mobs would ease their blood-letting to clasp and cheer.

Political Tightrope
It didn't stay that way, for Kassem even then was walking a tightrope. He had promised much, delivered little.

If there was a central factor in his rule, it was his hatred for Nasser. In any event, at the end, he had lost affection from all sides.

When, in 1961, Syria broke from the U.A.R. and it seemed the threat from Nasser had lessened, Kassem released Aref from jail and reinstated him in the army. He earlier had reduced Aref's death sentence to a prison term.

But, for Kassem, it was a fatal mistake. For today Aref is in the driver's seat and Kassem reportedly is dead. So is Mahdawy, television star, spokesman for communism and Kassem's cousin.

Search For US Tanker Is Shifted

MIAMI (UPI)—The search for a tanker missing for 10 days with 39 men aboard shifted eastward today to the north coast of Cuba.

The Coast Guard planned to use two planes today in its search for the Marine Sulphur Queen, the 524-foot vessel which mysteriously dropped from sight on a routine run between Beaumont, Tex., and Norfolk, Va.

In its hold the ship carried a cargo of molten sulphur, which—if exposed to sea water—could have touched off an explosion that would have blown up the ship.

Authorities became convinced Tuesday that clues were not to be found in the Atlantic, and ordered searchers to concentrate on the Gulf from the Yucatan peninsula eastward along the north coast of Cuba.

The planes, flying out of Coast Guard stations at Miami and St. Petersburg, Fla., were directed to stay 30 miles offshore of Fidel Castro's island.

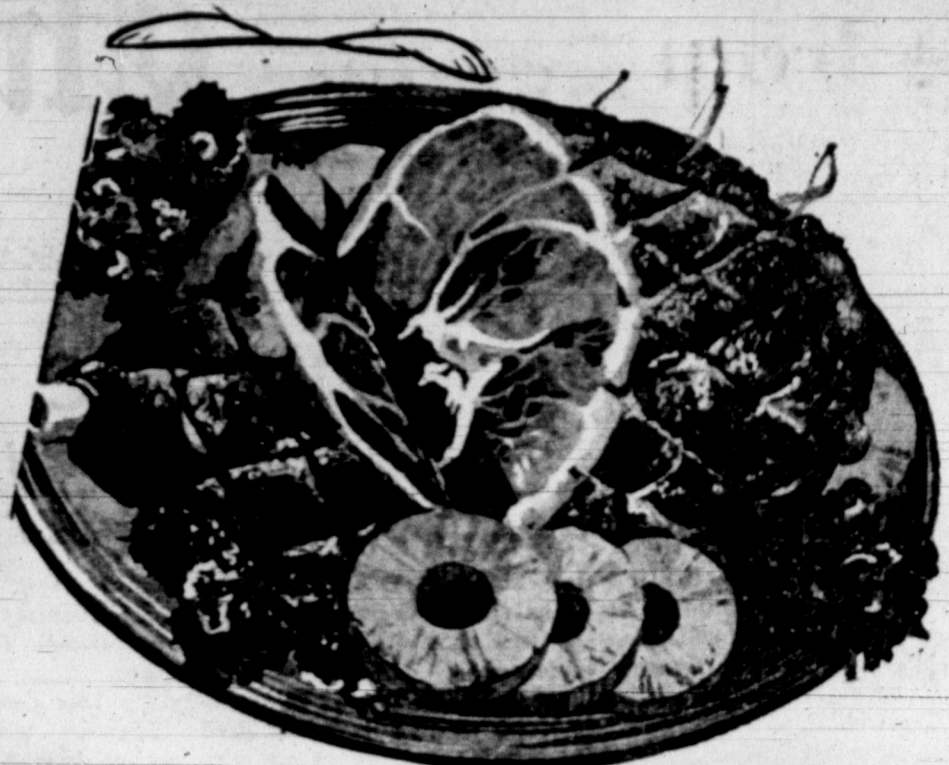

State Department spokesman Lincoln White repeated that Cuba has promised to forward any information it gets on the ship.

Fighting Erupts In The Iraqi Capital

United Press International BAGHDAD, Iraq (UPI)—The first serious outbreak of fighting since Sunday erupted today on both sides of the Tigris River which runs through the heart of this Iraqi capital. Newsmen could not check details of the fighting because of a curfew which restricted their movements, but it was believed to be between the newly-installed revolutionary forces and diehard Communists who oppose them. Bursts of automatic weapons fire and the crack of rifles could be heard distinctly on both sides of the Tigris in what appeared to be a renewal of the bloody conflict that started last Friday. The outbreak came shortly after Col. Abdel Salam Aref, the revolutionary government's provisional president, held his first news conference—a session that ended in a near riot.

Highway Patrol Investigates 12 Rural Accidents

The Highway Patrol investigated 12 rural accidents in Gray County during the month of January, according to Sergeant J. W. Wilson, patrol supervisor of the Pampa area.

These wrecks accounted for five persons injured and an estimated property damage of $4,330.

The highway patrol supervisor pointed out that rural motor vehicle traffic deaths, injuries and accidents slightly decreased in the 31 county Panhandle district during January, 1963, as compared with the same month for 1962. Five deaths were tallied last month as compared to seven in January, 1962, 61 injuries as compared to 81 for January, 1962. A total of 132 rural traffic accidents were investigated as compared to 162 for January, 1962.

"This slight over-all decrease of deaths, injuries and accidents is encouraging, but these figures must be greatly reduced for each of the following months of 1963 if we are to have a safe year in motor vehicle travel," Sergeant Wilson stated.

The veteran patrol supervisor reminded motorists that the law requires all Texas registered motor vehicles to have valid inspection stickers displayed by midnight April 15. The best way to avoid the long line expected in the last minute rush is to have your vehicle inspected now.

Youth Corps

(Continued From Page 1) tion for a comprehensive nationwide medical immunization program. Underlying Kennedy's recommendations was his concern for the status of millions of young Americans, particularly those between the ages of 16 and 21. Unemployment among younger workers is two and a half times the national average. During the school months of 1962 there were on the average 700,000 persons in the 16-21 age group out of school and out of work.

The President also was displeased that juvenile delinquency cases brought to court more than doubled in the past decade; that too many children were not as physically fit as they should be; that while infant mortality has leveled off in the past 10 years, it still runs higher than that of other countries such as Sweden. Kennedy said it behooved "the world's most powerful and economically advanced nation" to join at every level of government—federal, state and local—in promoting the interests of children and youth.

"If we serve them better now," he said, "they will serve their nation better when the burdens are theirs alone."

Betty Blake of Amarillo, who thought her car had been burglarized while parked in front of the post office here, learned yesterday that it hadn't happened at all. Miss Blake reported to police that someone stole a box of motion picture film while she was absent from her car for five minutes.

Yesterday, she learned that she had taken the box of film into the post office with her and left it on a lobby desk when she departed.

The film was turned into postal employees who in turn notified police that it had been found.

Notes From Wall Street

NEW YORK (UPI) — Recent action indicates underlying bullishness particularly since the downside hardly gathers momentum while the upside shows the ability to attract both an investment and a speculative following, notes Martin Gilbert of Van Alstyne, Noel & Co.

The pattern to date reflects an even broader stock market advance and the possibility that the overhead barrier may not offer as great a stumbling block as had been expected generally. This could well be forecasting a vigorous economy in the period ahead, leading to highly favorable business conditions, Gilbert said.

Renewed public interest in the market, existence of a still large short interest and reports of sizable institutional funds awaiting investment at price concessions indicate that any market correction from around this level should prove limited relative to good quality, carefully selected common stocks, says the Alexander Hamilton Institute.

L. O. Hooper of W. E. Hutton & Co. says that certainly it is more "healthy" for the market to go "routine" at this point than it would be for it to continue the fast upward pace of the last three months. Barring some unexpected bearish development, something that no one is thinking about now, the list does not seem "ripe" for any major correction.

Oppenheimer, Newberg & Neumann sees indications that rough weather may be ahead. Its belief has been strengthened recently that "we are seeing the high of the market for the next few months and that gold shares should do better than the general market."

SECOND GENERATION PAST "STEAM"—New line of diesel-electric locomotives in the 2,000-2,400-h.p. range is going into production. They will outdate typical 1,600-h.p. units built in the 1948-1952 period—the diesels which put the Iron Horse out to pasture. Some 5,000 to 6,000 of the now "ancient" diesels are expected to be replaced within the next five years, according to Alco Products president William G. Miller, shown with model of the new locomotive, above.

Weekly Report To Texans

By SEN. JOHN TOWER

Senator John Tower (R. Texas) today commented in his weekly report to Texans on the International Situations of Concern to the American People. The Text of Senator Tower's remarks:

"You've been reading in the papers and hearing over the radio and on television lately about our strained relations with our neighbor to the north, Canada. This led me to thinking about the whole state of our relationship with other countries. What's happened in our foreign policy over the past two years?"

"A few years back, President Eisenhower was rather severely criticized for the alleged lowebb of American prestige; our friends were mad at us and we were not asserting the leadership that we should. These problems are continuing. Any President has to deal with them, and no President is going to be entirely successful in dealing with them. Let's review some of the things that are of current concern to the American people, in the field of Foreign Relations."

"We've noted recently that our relationship with Canada is a very strained relationship because of misunderstandings over defense policy. It has affected the internal politics of Canada."

"In the past two years Laos has been taken over by a Communist-controlled coalition. It was our idea that this would be a neutralist coalition, but it is certainly dominated by the Communists and Laos is, for all practical purposes, under the effective military control of the Communists."

"You've heard a lot about the Alliance for Progress program that was designed to help foster progress in Latin America. I think that it has been a failure. Some of the conditions laid down for participation in the Alliance for Progress whereby we would give grants and loans to Latin American Countries have actually been tantamount to requiring that some countries expropriate private property. The agricultural reform that has been insisted upon has been unrealistic. There has been no insistence upon creating political stability or monetary stability that would encourage private investment of money in Latin America. We can't solve Latin America's problems until we can stop the flow of capital out of Latin America and encourage increased investment in Latin America."

vestment in Latin America. Recently, too, is the matter of warfare in the Congo, the former Belgian Congo, and its effect on American and Belgian relations; indeed, its effect on our relations with a lot of our European friends. The United States was very wrong in supporting the United Nations actions in the Congo, which brought Katanga to heel, which destroyed the autonomous government in Katanga and which resulted in the integration of Katanga and the rest of the Congo. There was no warrant for this American action in supporting the UN. What they did was in my estimation, aggression. We violated both the spirit and the letter of the United Nations charter in that instance."

"Our relations now with Pakistan are strained. Without considering the peculiar problems of Pakistan, which has been one of our staunchest and best allies in Asia, we have proffered aid to India without appropriate and adequate assurances that military aid given to India in her war with Red China would not be used against Pakistan."

"President de Gaulle's veto of British entry into the Common Market has presented some problems for us. We were looking for economic unity in Europe in an effort to strengthen the free world, in an effort to strengthen the British economy and in an effort to increase British influence on the European continent. This has failed and one of the reasons it has failed is because the United States has pushed too hard on an affair which should be a matter between European nations and Britain."

"There is the fiasco in the Bay of Pigs. There is the fact that the military build-up still goes on in Cuba. There is the fact that we are still fighting an undeclared war in Vietnam and Americans are being killed over there. There's considerable deterioration of United States relations with Portugal and other European nations. All of these add up to a dim picture for American foreign affairs."

Offshore Wells Costly
NEW YORK (UPI) — It costs an average of $385,700 to drill an offshore oil well compared to $52,100 for an oil well on land, the American Petroleum Institute estimates.

Royal Almond Duck Recipe Treats Hubby's Captured Fowl Regally

Several readers have asked for a very special duck recipe. Here is one of the best.

- ROYAL ALMOND DUCK
1 (5-pound) duckling
Salt
Mushroom Almond Stuffing
Royal Almond Glaze
Mushroom Almond Stuffing
1-3 cup butter or margarine
½ pound sliced fresh mushrooms
1 cup sliced celery
½ cup toasted slivered almonds
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
3 cups cooked wild or brown rice
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash freshly ground pepper
½ teaspoon crushed basil leaves
¼ teaspoon crushed thyme
¼ teaspoon garlic powder
3 tablespoons dry sherry or water
- ROYAL ALMOND GLAZE
½ cup slivered almonds
1-3 cup dark corn syrup
½ cup dark brown sugar, packed
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Dash salt

Wash duckling well. Salt inside cavity and fill with Mushroom Almond Stuffing. Truss duck and place on rack in a shallow roasting pan. Roast in 325-degree (moderately slow) oven 2½ to 3 hours. During last half hour of roasting brush with Royal Almond Glaze. Mushroom Almond Stuffing: Melt butter in a large skillet. Sauté mushrooms until golden. Combine with all remaining ingredients, tossing lightly.

Royal Almond Glaze: Crush almonds by putting ¼ cup slivers in blender at a time and turning. Right Temperature For Mayonnaise

Q—How long is it safe to keep mayonnaise or salad dressing in the refrigerator?

A—Mayonnaise or salad dressings may be kept a relatively long period of time in a refrigerator providing the temperature is below 50 degrees F. and above the freezing of 32 degrees F. If the refrigerator is too cold, the mayonnaise may separate. This is not dangerous but does make the texture less acceptable. If mayonnaise or salad dressing is removed from the refrigerator for extended periods of time and left in a warm room, it may also separate.

Also, at warm temperatures, germs may grow in it and it could be dangerous. This is true especially if the mayonnaise is combined with meat or fish mixtures. Mayonnaise which has not been opened is kept on the grocery shelf without refrigeration; it may also be kept without refrigeration at home before the jar is opened. Once it has been opened, it should be kept in the refrigerator at a temperature of about 40 degrees F., according to Dr. Isabel Patterson, Boston University School of Nursing.

Q—Won't the combination of cherries and milk at the same meal make me sick?

A—No. There is no experimental or clinical experience that they will.

Economy Steak

Tomatoes and onion slices enhance an economy beef steak, making a pleasing entree to serve your family this month to cut food costs.

Spanish Steak Offers Economical Answer To February's Food Budget

The keynote for meals in most homes during February is economy. As the tax bills arrive, the food budget feels the squeeze.

Take heart, for thrifty meat cuts can come to your aid. This doesn't mean drab meals either. Because many economy meats are braised, exciting flavor blends can result.

Spanish Steak is an example. Budget beef arm or blade steak slowly cooks with tomatoes and onion slices to yield a zesty dish adapted from the cookery of Spain.

Meat cookery expert Reb A Staggs states that arm and blade steaks, like arm and blade pot-roasts, are braised to be deliciously tender when served.

- SPANISH STEAK
1 arm or blade steak, cut 1½ inches thick
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt

- ¼ teaspoon pepper
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 large onion, sliced
1 can (16 ounces) tomatoes
Flour for gravy
Combine flour, salt and pepper. Dredge meat with seasoned flour and brown in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add onion and tomatoes. Cover tightly and cook slowly about 2 hours or until tender. Thicken cooking liquid for gravy. Additional seasoning may be added, if desired. 4 to 6 servings.

"Ma washes, Pa wipes"—it says on a matched set of terry-cloth kitchen towels. The "Pa" on the towel has a handlebar mustache. "Ma" looks quaint with mutton-leg sleeves and a neat apron.

Slightly Offbeat Touch Can Give Winter Weather Menus Interest

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
A slightly offbeat touch can give our cold winter weather menus more interest. Novelty can take our minds off bad weather. So try these two novel recipes for plentiful winter lamb.

- HAWAIIAN RACK OF LAMB
2½ pounds lamb rack
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
½ cup orange marmalade
½ cup orange juice
¼ cup water
½ teaspoon ginger

Sprinkle lamb rack with salt and pepper; place in roasting pan. Roast in slow oven (325 degrees) about 1½ hours or until meat thermometer reads 175 to 180 degrees. Meanwhile, combine in saucepan marmalade, orange juice, water and ginger. Cook and stir over low heat until thoroughly blended, about 10 minutes. Baste lamb with orange sauce during last half hour of roasting. Garnish with orange slices and maraschino cherries if desired.

- CHIVE LAMB PINWHEELS
(Makes 3 dozen appetizers)
1 package (10 ounces) pie crust mix
1 envelope (1½ ounces) sour cream sauce mix
2 tablespoons chopped chives
1 pound ground lamb

Prepare pie crust mix following package directions. Roll out to 12-x18-inch rectangle. Prepare sour cream sauce mix following package directions; add chives and lamb; mix lightly. Spread lamb mixture evenly over top of dough; roll up jelly roll fashion, starting at longest side. Cut into ½-inch slices. Bake on ungreased baking sheet in 425-degree (hot) oven 15 minutes or until lightly browned. Serve immediately.

Stepping ahead, look for patents and textures to edge out smooth leather shoes for spring. There are two trends, the first for one all color, and the second for color as a sparkling accent.

Something Special On Valentine's Day

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Valentine's Day, The Feast of Love, calls for something tender and lovely to look at with, perhaps, a bit of spice.

- BAKED CHICKEN BREASTS WITH PLUM SAUCE
(Makes 6 servings)
¼ cup butter
2 tablespoons instant mineral onion
1 can (1-pound, 14-ounce) purple plums in extra heavy syrup
3 cups seasoned stuffing
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
½ cup water
6 whole chicken breasts, boned
Seasoned salt
2 teaspoons vinegar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 bay leaf
4 or 5 whole allspice berries

Melt butter in saucepan; add onion and cook until lightly toasted. Drain plums, saving syrup. Pit plums; chop 4 plums. Combine chopped plums, stuffing mix, parsley, water, butter and onion. Fill chicken breasts with stuffing and skewer. Sprinkle with seasoned salt and place, skewered side down, in baking pan. Bake in 375-degree (moderately hot) oven 1 hour. Combine plum syrup, vinegar, cornstarch, bay leaf, all-spice and remaining plums. Cook and stir until thickened. Pour plum sauce over chicken breasts and continue baking 15 minutes.

WAX INGENIOUS
A bit of indoor greenery helps keeps spirits up. If you like to shift your potted plants around the house, don't be afraid of putting them on finished tables. You can avoid scratching by applying a coating of paraffin to the vase bottom.

Vacation In The Rio Grande Valley At A Modest Price

By PRESTON MCGRAW
BROWNSVILLE (UPI)— The Lower Rio Grande Valley of Texas probably affords the cheapest wintertime view of palm trees in the United States.

For $8 a day one person can live in a motel or hotel with swimming pool and eat well. For a couple, the cost is $14 or $15. Across the Rio Grande is Mexico, where for a $2.25 a tourist can find a dinner that would delight a gourmet.

It starts with a big plate of radishes, spring onions, celery hearts, olives and lettuce. There is a choice of two meats, including choice venison, quail, baked cabrito (young goat), white wing dove and wild duck, potatoes, french fried onions and refried beans.

The dessert is usually some kind of native fruit—mango or papaya. Good American Bourbon runs about $1.10 a drink because of import duty. But a good tequila sour is about 35 cents in U. S. money, a quart of tequila less than a dollar.

A well-known U. S. brand of filter-tip cigarettes, manufactured in Mexico, cost 12 cents across the border. A lesser-known brand sells for a dime a pack.

Bargains like this have brought 20,000-30,000 tourists to the Lower Rio Grande this winter. Most of them are retired couples from the Midwest. Altogether, the tourist industry brings $50 million - $60 million a year to the Valley.

One thing the Valley needs to gain more tourists and probably to attract younger tourists is a direct air connection to a big mid-western city like Chicago.

It now takes about four hours to get from Dallas to the Valley by plane. Good, direct train service also would help.

Another thing the Valley needs is more promotional money to tell its story in the north and even in Texas.

The old folks have known about the valley a long time and thousands come back year after year, staying two or three months. They can live even more cheaply than a couple coming down to stay a week or two.

If a couple travels by trailer, they can stay in a trailer park for $10-$15 a month. They can rent an apartment, if they do not have a trailer for $100-$125 a month, and live on the lush fruit and vegetables grown in the Valley.

A good hotel in Brownsville rents large rooms to couples for $80-$120 a month.

It is true that the Valley does not have the entertainment that Florida and West Coast resorts offer. There are no open bars or gambling, no big nightclubs, but across the line in Mexico, some places rarely close.

There is some of the finest fishing in the country on the coast and on Padre Island, some of the country's most beautiful natural beaches.

It gets hot in the Lower Rio Grande Valley in summer during the day but there is a cool Gulf breeze at night. The tourists keep coming, summer as well as winter.

On Padre Island, at least, the kind of tourist changes from summer to winter. During the summer, tourists from Texas pack the island's motels. During the winter, the Texans stay at home and motel rates are cut almost 50 per cent for the modest flow of northern tourists who visit the island.

NEW GIANT OF THE AIR—The total distance flown by Orville Wright—120 feet—on his first flight at Kitty Hawk in 1903 would not have quite traveled the length of America's new jet aircraft giant, the C-141 Starlifter. The C-141's fuselage, shown being assembled by Lockheed-Georgia workers at Marietta, Ga., is approximately 125 feet long. When nose and tail are added, it will stretch 143 feet. The Starlifter will see service in the Military Air Transport Fleet and also as a domestic cargo carrier.

Be Sure You Check On Your Social Security

Many people lose money because they don't check on their social security when they reach retirement age, according to Hal Geldon, Amarillo Social Security District Manager. In many cases, these people are still working and believe they cannot get any benefit payments unless they are completely retired.

Geldon said that workers who earn over $1200 yearly may still get some social security payments depending on the amount of their earnings. He cited as an example, a 65-year-old worker eligible for $100 a month from social security. In this case, the worker could get some benefits even if his yearly earnings were as high as $2600. If a wife or child were eligible for benefits on his account, the worker could earn more than $2600 and still collect some social security benefits for himself and his family.

For information about social security provisions, contact your Amarillo Social Security Office, or meet with a Field Representative* from this office when he is in your locality.

Women In Politics

The American Woman - 2
By HARRY FERGUSON
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — American women started fighting for political equality in 1848. They were denounced, insulted, spat upon and arrested before their hour of triumph on Aug. 26, 1920, when the 19th Amendment to the Constitution was proclaimed.

It was short and got right to the point: "The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex."

The intervention of women in political matters was nothing new. But in the old days the ladies did it by indirect action. Helen of Troy did it by walking out on her husband, King Menelaus of Sparta, and joining forces with Paris in Troy, thereby igniting a war that launched a thousand ships and lasted ten years. Madame Pompadour became the virtual ruler of France for 19 years as the mistress of King Louis XV.

In theory the American woman today is the absolute political equal of man. In practice she has not won equality. Of the 100 members of the U.S. Senate, only two are women—Margaret Chase Smith, Republican from Maine, and Maurine Neuberger, Democrat from Oregon. Of the 435 members of the House of Representatives, only 11 are women. Predicted Movie Star Congress Many were the dire predictions when women got the vote. It was freely forecast that John Barrymore and his notable profile would become president of the United States and that Congress would be filled with handsome male movie stars. Actually nothing much happened although it seems certain the female vote has been decisive occasionally.

For instance, professional politicians in both parties agree that Dwight D. Eisenhower was unbeatable at the polls because of his strong appeal to women. Not because he was handsome but because the women were convinced he knew all about war and how to keep the country out of it. No woman raises her boy to be a soldier if she can help it.

American women have an easy—and logically sensible—answer for their failure to achieve equality in town, state and federal governments. They haven't got time to campaign. The first thing on the lifetime agenda of woman is her family and to that she devotes the best years of her life.

Another reason is that millions of American husbands are opposed to their wives getting into politics. When a woman tries to swim against that tide, she is asking for trouble as Mrs. Coya Knutson discovered when she was elected to Congress from Minnesota.

Miss Rankin voted nay and burst into tears.

When President Roosevelt asked for a declaration of war against Japan in 1941, Miss Rankin again voted nay—the only negative vote in either House or Senate. Sen. Hattie Caraway and Rep. Caroline O'Day were recorded as not voting. There were a total of nine women in Congress, one in the Senate and eight in the House.

Many Women Helped

The solid work was done by a long list of women starting with Lucretia Mott and Elizabeth Cady Stanton who convoked a woman's rights conference in 1848. Susan B. Anthony precipitated the first court test of women's suffrage by going to the polls in Rochester, N.Y. in 1872 and demanding a ballot. She was arrested, fined, refused to pay the fine and carried her fight up to the Supreme Court where she lost.

It was Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, head of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, who led the fight for a constitutional amendment giving women the right to vote.

She was an organizational genius and knew exactly how and when to turn the heat on senators and congressmen. Her campaign began in 1915 and in five years the battle was over.

Women's suffrage monopolized the conversation in most American living rooms in the early years of the 20th Century and even the servants got into it.

Mary Foulke Morrison says her Italian cook inquired one day what all the excitement was about and when it was explained the cook asked: "You mean I am now the equal of my husband?" Assured that she was, the cook departed for home that night with a gleam in her eye. She returned the next morning with a black eye and her faith in the equality of women shaken forever.

FORMER PAMPAN HONORED — Sid Patterson Jr., grandson of B. G. Harris of Pampa, was honored with a visit from Oklahoma's new governor, Henry Bellmon, right, during the governor's tour of the campus at Oklahoma Military Academy, Claremore. Patterson, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sid Patterson, now live in Norman, Okla., is the OMA cadet corps commander and has the rank of cadet lieutenant colonel, the highest rank attainable by a student at the academy.

Husband Releases Statement

She was an attractive blonde in her early forties and married to Andy Knutson, owner of a small hotel in Okla. Minn. On May 4, 1958, while Mrs. Knutson was serving her second term in Congress, Andy signed his name to a manifesto and released it to the public. It said that during his wife's absence in Washington their "home life has deteriorated to the point where it is practically non-existent." He urged her not to run for re-election and concluded with this ringing appeal: "Coya, come home."

Mrs. Knutson charged the letter was inspired by her political opponents. Mrs. Knutson was defeated in the 1958 election and some time thereafter sued Andy for divorce and won.

Women began agitating for political equality and more freedom in general in the middle of the 19th Century. They won the right to vote and hold office in some of the states before their national triumph in 1920. Thus in 1917 Miss Jeanette Rankin was a member of Congress from Montana. When President Wilson asked for a declaration of war against Germany,

Employe Thieves

NEW YORK (UPI) — The average employe thief during 1961 helped to steal an estimated $2 billion from U.S. companies, according to a case-history study made recently by one of the nation's major business security and research organizations.

Only 25 per cent of these thefts are cash, the other 75 per cent in merchandise. The average thief is in his early thirties, father of two children and a member of two or more social organizations, the survey disclosed.

Free Gaslight Club Membership

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—In one of his last acts as a member of Congress, former Rep. Victor L. Anfuso sent out letters to his colleagues inviting them to join the local Gaslight Club.

Congressmen, he confided, could get membership keys without paying the $100 initiation fee required of less august personages. Thus the letter appealed to both their egos and their pocketbooks, which comes close to being an unbeatable combination.

I am told that Anfuso, a New York Democrat who was dealt out of the last election by the reshuffling of congressional districts, acted from the purest of motives.

He was merely using his good offices to accommodate a friend who had an interest in the Gaslight Club and felt that its membership would be enriched by the addition of more congressmen.

Certain parties, however, did not regard the letter as necessarily the quintessence of statesmanship. They included:

1. Congressmen who had already shelled out $100 for a Gaslight key and resented the tendering of gratis status unless it were made retroactive.
2. Wives of congressmen who had seen pictures of scantily clad girls frolicking about the premises.
3. Taxpayers who got the impression that Anfuso had mailed the letters under his congressional frank, or free postage privilege.

I heard about all of this from a Gaslight emissary who came down from New York recently to endeavor to soothe any ruffled feelings and calm the troubled waters.

He had answers from all three types of complaints, but I was only interested in No. 2.

"Our members take personal pride in the fact that there is no bawdy atmosphere in the clubs, and that the girls who serve drinks are beautiful and personable and their demeanor is beyond reproach," the Gaslighter said.

So saying, he invited me to visit the club, which also has branches in New York, Chicago and Paris, to observe their behavior at close range.

"Observe," he said when we were seated at a table, "that the costumes provide more covering than many bathing suits."

"They certainly do," I observed.

"Yes, indeed."

"Some key-clubs emphasize sex," he continued, "but here we are trying to recreate an era."

"They certainly do," I agreed.

"Yes, indeed."

"Any member who tries to pinch one of these girls or make a date is drummed out of the club," he added.

"They certainly do," I said.

"Yes, indeed."

RUTH MILLETT

A designer of women's clothes advises women to take their husbands along when they go shopping—because "men have good taste."

That's sound advice, of course. And the reason why men have good taste in selecting clothes that look well on a woman is because they don't know anything about fashion, and what is "good" this season and what isn't.

Keeping close tabs on fashion is what runs many a woman's instinctive good taste.

If a fashion magazine says a particular style is good, or if Mrs. Kennedy is photographed wearing it, or if a local style-setter makes a splash in it—a woman is sorely tempted to try out the fashion, whether it suits her or not.

She ignores her reflection in the mirror and goes happily on her way, wearing an unbecoming dress or hat or hairdo, simply because she is wearing something she has been told is "high style."

So the average woman needs a man who doesn't know or give a hoot about what's "in" and what's "out" to take a critical look—and tell her what style is becoming.

The man won't be misled by a label, a saleswoman's assurance that a dress is just right if it isn't or by the latest word from fashion authorities.

So he can look with a clear eye at a style and judge it by just one thing—is it becoming? Not to some fashion model, but to the woman who is asking his opinion.

And to think that a woman can get that kind of help all for free—just by asking her husband's opinion.

Some at-home suggestions: "How to Have a Happy Husband." Send 25 cents to Ruth Millett Reader Service, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 489, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19, N.Y.

Dear Abby...

Is Illicit Love A Decent Love?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Sixteen years ago I married a man I did not love. I knew I didn't love him but I was lonely. Now I have met a man I love dearly. He loves me, too. It is a decent love and not a dirty one. There are children on both sides. What should I do? Go on living with a man I don't love or go to the one I love with all my heart? Please help me.

accepts such an invitation.

DEAR ABBY: When you read this you will know why I can't sign my name or ask for a personal reply, so please give me advice through your column. I am a trusted employee, and have handled the cash for several years. The bookkeeper showed me a fool-proof way to steal small amounts of money, and we have been doing this for two years. We don't take great amounts, but it is now adding up to more than I had intended to take. I have been having nightmares about getting caught and being sent to prison. I want to quit stealing, but the bookkeeper does not want to quit and we have to work together. How can I confess and make things right without involving the bookkeeper? We are both family men. If I don't start living right I am afraid I will do something desperate. What is the answer?

SO IN LOVE
DEAR SO: How can an illicit "love" between two married parties be a "decent" love? That "love" didn't flower all by itself. It was born in impulse and cultivated by stealth. If that is "love," then love is a dirty word (which it isn't)! Stay with your husband and tell your "love" to stay with his wife. No one finds real happiness stepping on the hearts of others.

DEAR ABBY: Our office is in an uproar this week. Every girl here received a post card invitation with the following message: "Bridal shower for Minnie. Please call the above number for gift suggestions." It's Minnie's number, so apparently she is giving it herself. Minnie was married once, had three children and was divorced. She married again last January. Now, five weeks later, this bride is giving herself a "bridal" shower. Who's crazy?

DEAR VIRGINIA: Anyone who

DEAR IN DEEP: Tell your colleague in crime you're going to confess the amount you have taken, and would like to work out restitution, with interest. If he won't do likewise, it's his neck.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "L": Drop that pill, Grandpa, and get yourself a Valentine!

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Unhappy Truth: We Have Too Many Farmers

By JOHN STROHM

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. WASHINGTON (NEA) — If ignorance paid profits, politicians could get rich from what they don't know about the farm problems. That spells bad news for city folks and progressive farmers again in 1963 — another $4 billion tax bite.

Misguided attempts to "help" the farmer over the last 30 years have:

- Drained away $48.5 billion in taxes.
- Amassed a $7.5 billion hoard of food and fiber which has the fantastic rent bill of more than $1 billion a day.
- Tended to blunt the farmer's hard-earned efficiency.
- Threatened to sap our food-producing strength in the cold war.

Intentions of government planners — Democratic and Republican alike — are admirable, but a mile off base. They try to legislate farm income for three reasons:

1. Safety in Numbers. Politicians mistakenly believe a declining number of farms means farmers need handouts to assure you food in the future. Since 1925 the number of farms has dropped 42 per cent; each year more than 100,000 farms "disappear."

- Only eight per cent of the population is now on the farm. But in a short 20 years the farmer has tripled output per man hour—the most fantastic increase in productivity for any big industry for any period.

- Today 39 per cent of the country's 3,700,000 "farmers" produce 87 per cent of the total output and could easily produce the remaining 13 per cent. Over 97 per cent of these operations are family farms, run with family labor and family money.

"The fact that the number of farmers is decreasing is a sign of progress and economic growth — not stagnation and decline," says Arthur Mauch, Michigan State University economist.

2. Save the Soil. Conservation has been another goal of farm

COMMERCIAL FARMERS like this grain farmer comprise only 39 per cent of the farm census, but grow 87 per cent of the total produce. Modern machines and know-how allow them to net $7,700 per year, and produce plentiful food and fiber for your family.

programs for the last 20 years. We need conservation to insure "abundance for our children as well as ourselves," Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman told the House Committee on Agriculture just a year ago.

But soil scientists say using the land does not weaken it. G. W. Hedlund, head of the department of agricultural economics at Cornell University, explains it this way:

"If soil is properly handled it can become even more productive with time, so that there is no case for periodic resting. Although some will not agree, most of our government payments programs were designed for something other than soil improvement."

3. Preserve the virtues of self-reliance. A lofty aim — but do we really preserve self-reliance when we hand government payments to farmers for NOT planting their grain. . . NOT using their initiative to produce food as efficiently as they know how? Not according to 9 out of every 10 farmers I interviewed around the country!

They accepted government payments last year, and will do so again in 1963. "But what can I do?" an Iowa corn grower asked me. "If I don't sign up for Freeman's program I have to sell on a rigged market."

Legislative errors bogged in murky logic will continue to cost us heavily until voters—city and country alike — understand the mixed-up mess enough to prod government planners. Herrel DeGraff, former food economist at Cornell University, warns grimly: "If we don't quit shrugging off the farm problem, we'll wake up with higher food prices. . . higher taxes. . . and controlled agriculture headed into the mediocrity of socialism."

WHAT IS THE FARM PROBLEM?
The farm problem is not, surpluses, or government payments, or the Billie Sol Estes scandal. These are results, not causes.

The problem boils down to low farm income — for some farmers. Divide $13 billion net income from farming among all 3,700,000 farmers and they get less than a fair return for investment, labor and management. Department of Agriculture figures show "average" per capita personal income of the farm population from all sources is about $1,400 a year compared with a national average of about $2,300. Legislators mistakenly think this means all agriculture is "sick."

They disregard the fact that the top 1,500,000 commercial farmers, who produce 87 per cent of our food and fiber, net about $7,700 per farm.

The "problem" is with the more than 2,200,000 others who produce the remaining 13 per cent and gross only $3,800 per farm (only $500 from sales of farm products). Many of these farmers need some kind of help badly. They were left in the dust of a technological revolution that brought more changes to the farm in the last 40 years than in the previous 400. This is a social problem — not a farm problem. The hard and unhappy face is too many farmers, not too many bushels of corn.

WHICH FARMERS ARE IN TROUBLE?

Politicians' ideas about today's farmers are off by a costly country mile. Here's the true picture of who's producing your food and clothes:

Top Commercial Farmers: Ronald Erickson, who farms 400 acres near Woodland, Mich., is one of the million and a half farmers who comprise only 39 per cent of the total, but grow 87 per cent of our farm products.

Erickson's net income is close to the $7,700 average of this group. Not a very high return, considering he has $100,000 invested, and often works a 60-hour week. Erickson's confidence in what's ahead for his family farm is starkly simple: "People have to eat. There'll always be a future in agriculture."

Erickson is one of the farmers you must depend on in the years ahead. His biggest worry: "Government controls — and the surpluses they've caused."

Part-Time Farmers: A factory worker in Denver is one of 885,000 part-timers or 24 per cent of what the census calls "farmers." Two years ago he bought a home and 10 acres outside the city. "I love animals," this city worker told me, "so I bought five Angus steers — for fun, and to earn a little side cash."

He wasn't aware that the government calls him a "farmer" because he sells more than $50 of "farm" produce a year. "Doesn't make much difference to me one way or the other," he shrugs. But he helps load the statistics.

Other part-time farmers used to farm full time, until low incomes forced them to hunt jobs in town. Part-time farmers now spend more time working away from their farms, or get more income from non-farm jobs than from farming.

Net farm income for all 3,700,000 farmers was about $3,400 in 1961. When you add non-farm income, income for all farmers was over $5,000 net.

Farmers over 65: There are 404,000 farmers — 11 per cent of the total in the census — who are over 65. On the average, they sell less than $1,000 worth of farm produce a year. Few farmers over 65 I talked with farm full time any more, and that's the way they want it.

Underemployed Farmers: Here's the real farm problem. A million farmers sell less than $5,000 worth of farm products a year. They have no off-farm jobs, and can't make a decent living from the land.

They are greatly underemployed, lacking volume, capital, and in many cases, the know-how to profit from today's farming. Their lack of income is the farm problem.

New machines, feeds and seeds were a bountiful boon to some farmers, but a curse to others. A 55-year-old Tennessee told me he hasn't earned enough from his 180 acres to pay any income tax in six of the last eight years.

Too old to hunt a job in town, he'll try to produce enough to eke out a living. Brutal fact is that the country no longer needs this farmer—and at least 1 million farmers like him, says the Committee for Economic Development. Progress is passing him by, as it did the harness maker and buggy whip manufacturer.

World War II prodded farmers to gear up to produce enough to fill the bellies of the world's hungry. When the war ended, the floods of higher yields and faster gains continued. Government planners tried to legislate inflexible land and machinery resources back to peacetime demand, but they had a bear-by-the-tail.

Farm specialists are a mile apart on the function of farm legislation today. I recently surveyed leading economists in 30 states — men with no political axe to grind — asking: "Can legislation solve the farm problem?"

(Next: How they answered. The findings are important to every citizen.)

Bufs Are Bi-District Foe

Harvesters Out For Loop Sweep

Only the tall Plainview Bulldogs, Pampa's opponent Friday night, stand in the way of the Harvesters running the gamut of Dist. 3-AAAA schools undefeated.

Pampa, the only school ever to turn the trick, will take a 28-1 season mark and a 13-0 district record into tomorrow night's fracas in Plainview.

RICKY STEWART "Hustling Harvester"

Pampa will put a 23-game winning streak on the line in tomorrow night's encounter with Plainview. A "B" game will precede the varsity tilt starting at 6:15.

Plainview, still stunned from the 81-55 trouncing handed the Bulldogs in Harvester Fieldhouse earlier this season, has to down the Harvesters in order to finish as high as third place.

Providing Lubbock topples Monterey, the Plainview quintet could tie for the second spot in the district race.

The Bulldogs, 8-5 for district and 21-4 for the season, have a height advantage over Pampa in that the Plainview school has three big men to Pampa's one. However, in the first encounter between the two schools, Pampa's center, Randy Matson, 6-6½, yanked down 27 rebounds — as many as the entire Plainview team led by 6-8 Ronnie Peret, 6-5½ Burt Couch, and 6-5 Mike Graham.

The two top scorers in Dist. 3-AAAA will collide Friday with Pampa's Wayne Kreis, 5-10 guard, owning a big lead over Peret, partially due to Kreis' 35-point output in Pampa's last tussle Tuesday night in which the Harvesters routed Amarillo, 92-52.

The 35-point spree pulled Kreis' average above the 20-point mark to 20.1 Peret, with 17 points Tuesday night, is far behind Kreis with a 17.4 average. Peret trails Kreis by 24 points going into the final game.

In other Dist. 3-AAAA games slated for tomorrow, Borger hosts Palo Duro, Tascosa at Amarillo, and Lubbock at Monterey.

Monterey must down the Lubbock Westerners tonight to finish in second place untied. The Westerners, tied for third place with Plainview, would finish in a tie for second place if they upended Monterey.

The Harvesters, the only basketball team winning the schoolboy Class AAAA State Championship four times in a decade, is threatening again this year.

Pampa copped the state crown in 1953, 1954, 1958, and 1959 and is the only cage team ever to run the gauntlet of Dist. 3-AAAA schools undefeated.

Dallas' Thomas Jefferson, defending Class AAAA state champions, blemished Pampa's record this season with a 55-52 victory as the Harvesters blew a seven-point lead in the fourth quarter.

Winning streaks and state tournaments are old hat for the Pampa school. The Harvesters appeared in six state tournaments in seven years, 1953-1959, and have owned two of the longest winning streaks ever in high school basketball—strings of 72 and 53 games.

Asleep for the past three years, Pampa's growl is loud and clear this year as Coach Terry Culley's cautions make no bones about having their hats set on another state championship for the Pampa High trophy case.

Coach Culley, Clifton McNeely's assistant during the seven fabulous years of Pampa's basketball history, 1953-59, is at the helm this year in a bid to prove his ability is longer than McNeely's shadow.

Haltom City Goes For 10th

HALTOM CITY (Sp)—Haltom City basketball coach Ronnie Stephenson, whose Buffaloes locked up the District 4-AAAA basketball title with a 69-55 victory over Arlington Tuesday, said that he and Pampa cage coach Terry Culley would get together this weekend and decide the date and site of the bi-district playoffs.

"We play our final district game tonight at home against Richland Hills," said Stephenson. "If coach Culley comes over tonight, we will probably work it out then, if not I probably will go to Pampa's last game tomorrow and discuss it with him. If for any reason, we can't get together at one of the games, we'll meet Saturday."

Although the Buffaloes took only a nine win, six loss record into district play, they swept through their first nine opponents unscathed, and hope that they can finish with a perfect slate tonight.

Stephenson, who moved up from the junior high ranks to take over the Buffs' cage fortunes this season upon the retirement of coach Moe Dowler, inherited a team that had finished second in district in 1961-62, losing the title in their final game with Wichita Falls, which won the league championship by virtue of that game.

However, only one starter and two lettermen remained from last year's team, so Stephenson practically had to start all over again. Biassed with some outstanding juniors and sophomores, and tremendous overall height, Stephenson deliberately took on the toughest teams he could find and entered the strongest tournaments he could to give his youngsters the vital experience they needed.

Their six losses were all to North Central or West Texas powerhouses. In the Jacksboro Tournament, the Buffs lost the opening game to Graham by two points in overtime, then went on to win the consolation as they downed Bell and Wichita Falls.

In the Garland Tournament, Haltom dropped their opener to Kimball by one point, lost to powerful Dallas Jesuit by five points, and then defeated Richardson.

The Buffs played Fort Worth Arlington Heights three times, splitting home-and-home games with them, and losing a second time in the Top of Texas Tournament, which saw Pampa win the tourney by defeating Arlington Heights. Pampa played the Yellow Jackets in another game and again took a victory over them.

The other two losses were to mighty Graham, which has lost only one game this season; and to strong Fort Worth Tech.

Seasoned by the hardened campaign, the Buffs then went through nine district victories with only three close calls. Irving, their toughest competitor, lost both games by a three-point margin, while the Buffaloes squeezed out a two-point win over Grand Prairie in their first encounter, but took the return match by seven points. Wichita Falls, Arlington and Richland all received double gorings from the horns of the Buffs in the rest of the district tilts.

Although the Buffs do not have anyone to match the height of 6'6½" Randy Matson, their overall team height averages better than 6'2½". Their three big men are pulling down 36 rebounds a game between them, and four of Haltom's starters are consistent double figure scorers. The Buffs also have good depth, with a pair of tall men on the bench in reserve.

Tallest man on the team is sophomore Barry Williams, 6-4½, who is averaging 12 points and 15 rebounds a game in district play. Junior forward Larry Lake, 6-3½, is also hitting at a 12-point-per-game clip and gobbling up a dozen rebounds a tilt. Lake was named to the Jacksboro All-Tournament team.

Six-three Dicky Lanier, the only returning starter, is hitting 11 points a game and is good for nine rebounds a game.

Heart of the Buff offense is 6-1 junior Billy Arnold, Arnold, who hits with precision accuracy from anywhere on the court, is the district's second leading scorer with a 19 point average, and made both the Jacksboro and Garland All-Tourney teams.

the other guard position, all experienced, all good ballhandlers, and all six-footers. Robby McBride, six-foot senior and a returning letterman, is generally the fifth man on the team; but is often spelled by 6-1 Sandy Peterson, another senior letterman, and by six-foot junior Eddie Driggs who also see action if the Buffs get into foul trouble.

With height, speed, good shooting and a strong bench, the Buffs appear to be anything but a push-over for the Harvesters on their way up the title trail.

DOUG SANDERS keeps the blade close to the ground.

6 - Putting

The putting stroke is like no other. It is nothing more than stroking the ball smoothly, evenly. My style is fairly standard, but it may not be entirely to your liking. I face a bit toward the target, feet close together in a slightly open stance. I keep my head back of the ball, and with the right elbow inside, take the club back with the left arm. I hit through with the right.

Keeping the forefinger of the right hand extended down the back side of the grip helps me keep the blade square to the line of flight. Vary your style as you wish, but bring the club directly back from the ball and as close to the ground as possible. Hit through the same way. Never lift the putter. The club face must be square to the line of flight if the ball is to travel in the proper direction.

Do these things and you can pretty well forget direction and concentrate on distance. Keep the head fixed in relation to the ball. Even though there is less inclination to move the head while putting than there is in shots requiring fuller and more vigorous swings, you'd be surprised how many of the better golfers fall into the habit.

It is always one of their check points when they go astray on the greens.

Oiler Coach Ivy To Montreal?

HOUSTON (UPI)—Frank (Pop) Ivy, head coach, and K. S. (Bud) Adams, principal owner of the Houston Oilers, scheduled their third talk about Ivy's future with the American Football League team today.

There was speculation that Ivy, armed with an offer from the Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian League, was holding out for more authority within the Oiler organization.

Ivy talked to Adams briefly late Tuesday after returning from New York where he held "exploratory talks" with owner Ted Workman and three directors of the Alouettes. Then the Oiler coach and owner talked for two hours Wednesday after Ivy waited in Adams' office for two hours past the time of his appointment.

Golden Gloves Begin FW Action Tonight

Pairings were made this afternoon and the State Golden Gloves Tournament will begin four nights of action this evening. Weigh-ins were made between noon and 1 p.m. today, with the pairings scheduled to be made following the first weigh-ins, beginning with the lighter weight-flyweights, featherweights and bantamweights, and continuing up to the "big boys."

The Amarillo contingent, headed by four top-notch Pampans as the Pampa Optimist Club won the open regional GG title in Amarillo last week, will be as equally well represented as any of the other 15 regional finalist squads which will be competing for individual and team championships and the right to go to the Tournament of Champions in Chicago.

Experience and championship-caliber wise, the regional team will be spearheaded by lightweight Gary Wilhelm, light-heavy Charles Snider and middleweight Dickie Wills, of Pampa, and bantamweight Eddie Gonzales of Plainview, with Roy Rogers rated as a good dark horse threat for the heavy crown.

Wilhelm and G. B. White of Fort worth are rated by the experts as the probable finalists in the lightweight class. Wilhelm was state runner-up in 1957, and was NCAA welterweight runner-up in 1960 while a student at the University of Wisconsin. Wilhelm will also be shooting for a goal twice achieved by his brother Bobby, two-time state champion. White was the 147-pound runner-up last year.

Snider has won three fights in his bid to go to state, each by a second-round knockout, wearing his foes down with his pressing attack in the first round and decking them for a ten-count in the second each time. Snider went to state meet in 1957, came back in 1961 to go to the semifinals where he lost to teammate Bobby Wilhelm, two-time champ, on a TKO due to a cut eye.

The middleweight division is loaded with talent, with Wills and Frank Pryor of Fort Worth as the experts' picks, but with strong opposition expected from Mike DeFee of Beaumont, David Harmon of Waco and Jesse Joyner of Wichita Falls.

Wills is picked as the number one man after his one-sided win over last year's state welter champion, Manny Perez in the regionals. Wills led all the way, decking Perez in the second round. Power-punching Pryor, who will represent Brownwood, will be trying for his third straight shot at the title. He lost in the finals last year on a first round TKO because of a cut eye.

Other outstanding heavy contenders include All-Odesa football player Phil Paris, who lost last year in the semifinals to his older brother Tex, last year's champ. Charles Wilson of Fort Worth has been in the state tourney as a middleweight and a lighthheavy, and has now grown into the heavy class.

The eight-man Amarillo squad will be officially led by the Canyon coaches, with Ollie Wilhelm and Cliff Dunham of the Pampa Optimist Club handling the local boxers.

The other top threat from this area is bantamweight Eddie Gonzales of Amarillo, who lost an unpopular decision in the flyweight finals last year. In addition to Wills and Wilhelm, Johnny Ironmonger will be fighting in the 126-pound class. Flyweight Rodela and Manuel Gonzales of Plainview at 135 pounds, will round out the area team.

After a slow start this season, the Hawks are flying high and Wednesday won again with a 103-102 decision at New York.

Cliff Hagan's jumper with one second to go decided the nip and tuck battle. Bob Pettit hopped 25 for the winners and Hagan 20, while Al Butler had 27 for the Knicks.

The other Western Division playoff berth seems destined to go to Detroit.

The Pistons moved 2½ games out in front of San Francisco with a 124-122 overtime decision over the Warriors at the Cow Palace.

Another jump-shooter, Don Ohl, was the difference at this one, too. He had 35 points including six straight in the extra stanza. It was the Warriors' fifth straight loss.

Warrior Wilt Chamberlain blitzed for 51 points, but did not get much help as usual.

The two teams which will join Boston in the Eastern Division playoff, Cincinnati and Syracuse, fought it out at Indianapolis Wednesday night.

Cincinnati took a 124-122 decision with Oscar Robertson of the Royals hitting on 12 of 16 shots for 34 points. Lee Shaffer scored 31 for Syracuse.

Laker Sub Leads Win

By United Press International The great Los Angeles guard Jerry West may be sidelined by injuries, but the Lakers have a pretty good man to take his place in Dick Barnett.

The jump-shooting Barnett hit 38 points and mighty Elgin Baylor 50 as the Lakers defeated Boston 134-128 at the Celts Arena Wednesday night. Celts Tom Sanders and Tom Heinsohn meshed 25 and 23 for Boston.

The Lakers, who trailed until the last four minutes of the game, outscored the Celts 15-2 in the final quarter spurt. The win enabled Los Angeles to hold a 3½ game lead in the won-lost column against Boston.

NBA rules stipulate that the team with the best won-lost percentage gets the crucial home court advantage in the playoff finals.

Of course, both teams will first have to win their division playoffs and Los Angeles may yet get trouble from the tough St. Louis squad.

After a slow start this season, the Hawks are flying high and Wednesday won again with a 103-102 decision at New York.

Carver At State Tourney

Carver High School of Pampa, probably the shortest team in the colored high school basketball playoffs, will meet Stamford of Italy, Tex., at 3:30 tomorrow afternoon in their first game in the state colored Class B cage tournament held at Prairie View A&M College.

The Wildcats left Pampa Wednesday, so as to get a good rest after the trip, and also to view the Class A playoffs, which began at 8:30 this morning. The six Class B teams will open the action tomorrow morning, with the Carver-Stamford game being one of the last on the opening round bill.

Despite their lack of height, with the Wildcats ranging from tiny ballhawk Derrell Cash, 5-0 to their "big man," 6-0 James Tucker, the 'Cats had a 19-6 season record going into the tourney, and had won District One with a 10-2 mark.

The Wildcats took double victories over Shamrock, Wellington, Paducah and Childress, and split decisions with Memphis and Olanah to emerge atop the loop heap. Due to the team's lack of height, coach Ernest Sylva's squad has depended upon deadly shooting accuracy and tight defense to take over for their weakness in rebounding.

Tucker and 5-11 Jesse Washington are the team's top scorers. Both are consistent double figure shooters, averaging close to 20 points a ball game. Washington is the team's ballhandler and the outside sharpshooter. Tucker is also a 20-point-per-game man, hitting both from the outside and the inside, with him and 5-11 R. L. Harris fighting the backboards for the 'Cats.

The quarter-pint Cash is a ballhawking demon and picks up plenty of fouls as bigger men try in vain to stop him. James Mathis, 5-8, is the team's leading defensive ace. Top reserve for the Wildcats, who generally sees plenty of action both at guard and forward, is 5-9 Harmon Waite.

CHEVROLET TRUCK QUALITY. You can see the difference wherever you look. If you believe various makes of trucks are pretty much alike, you aren't doing justice to your pocket-book. There are differences. A Chevrolet truck welcomes comparison. Look at the little things on it—latches, hinges, stitching in the upholstery. Notice how strong the taiglate is, the rubber encased chains that keep it from sagging. The body floor is made of select wood to eliminate the rust problem and give you better footing. The lower side panels are double-walled; you might dent the inside but it won't show through. Chevrolet designs suspension systems to fit your need. The light-duty type is strong on comfort. Another kind for heavier trucks stiffens up as you increase your load and vice versa. Make sense? If you are going to need a new truck this year, you should look at the quality Chevrolet has to offer. May we bring over a new '63 so you can examine it?

Unsure Footing

Walking on quicksand might be easy, compared to doing business under federal government control. A perfect example is the plight of the nation's natural gas producers and pipeline operators. For years they have been entangled in a seemingly endless maze of bureaucratic red tape, reversed court decisions and conflicting federal orders.

The trouble began when the US Supreme Court, in a controversial 1954 decision, gave the Federal Power Commission authority to control prices of gas producers as well as those of interstate gas pipelines.

As an aftermath of that decision, the FPC became so swamped in details that business firms found it impossible to get rulings on price changes they felt were necessary. In some cases, years went by without a decision.

Even more frustrating, however, was the experience of one gas producing company. It negotiated sales contracts with pipeline companies at competitive rates which received "permanent" and "unconditioned" approval by the FPC.

Six years later, the contracts have been overturned. The original price has been cut, retroactive to the beginning of operations. The company has had to refund $839,000, including $48,000 worth of interest.

As if this were not confusing enough, the company still has no assurance that the settlement price will remain unchanged. It could be altered by future FPC rulings - which may come in a few months or a few years.

Thus, a company charging government-approved prices for its product, in good faith, finds itself penalized.

It is no wonder that this and other firms are uncertain how to plan for the future, knowing that even today's rulings may be torn up and rewritten tomorrow.

Mirage

The inkle of Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon that the debt ceiling must be raised from the present $308 billion to $320 billion confirms the judgment of such sound and informed statesmen as Senator Harry Byrd that the proposed Kennedy budget will rack up a deficit close to such an increase.

This also suggests that the Administration cherishes little confidence that its obviously political tax cut program will - in spite of brave promises - spur the economy to a level that will offset the consequences.

Freeing a million or so bottom-bracket taxpayers from the Federal bite while continuing to clobber the middle and upper income earners - by a tax-cut mirage of balancing reductions with a curtailment of deductions - will not release the "brakes" on business. Such a program will not create "risk" capital nor reward extra effort to "get the economy moving." It will produce "not bread, but a stone"; not jobs, but inflation.

CIA in Cuba Acted Like RFE in Hungarian Revolt

By ED DELANEY

The Central Intelligence Agency of the federal government, usually referred to as the CIA, is that sacrosanct and secret adjunct of the State Department which expends hundreds of millions of your tax dollars for dubious purposes. It is so super-hush-hush that even congressional committees are denied any accounting or information as to how or where its millions are scattered. To disclose any such details, so the high moguls of the CIA contend, would jeopardize our national security. Presumably such an agency would concern itself, primarily, with obtaining information from all parts of the world which is vital when planning strategy in the cold war or for any military action in which the United States might ultimately be involved perhaps by the CIA. We are now learning that the CIA plans and carries out military operations. Authority for that seemingly fantastic statement is Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy. In an approved and published interview, the attorney general said the CIA was responsible for the planning and carrying out of the abortive and disastrous Cuban invasion in April 1961.

There is striking similarity in the way the CIA broadcast to the Cuban patriots by radio spokesmen of the CIA, at the time of the Bay of Pigs invasion, and the identical kind of falsehoods that were put on the air by communist-aided broadcasters of Radio Free Europe in 1960, when the Hungarian freedom fighters were battling for their lives in Budapest.

In a published report of Manuel Penabaz, one of the ransomed Cuban fighters, he said, the U.S. "Swan" kept telling the invaders that Castro's forces were surrendering in droves; that the underground rebels against the communists were joining with the invading army; that victory was virtually assured and they were to keep on advancing. Everything that was broadcast simply turned out to be a lie.

tered Cuban, who rightly asserts they were betrayed.

When the heroic Hungarians were fighting Soviet tanks with cobble stones and home made bombs, Radio Free Europe, from its station in Munich, was exhorting them to continue the battle. Those desperately fighting men, women, youths and girls were lied to by Radio Free Europe broadcasters. They assured the Hungarians that urgently needed material help was being sent them. There was even mention of the kind of war materials they could expect. Believing that RFE station, which unfortunately is identified with the United States of America, the Hungarians fought on, when all hope had faded. Even after the directors of RFE knew our State Department had sent a disgraceful message to communist Josip Broz Tito, in Belgrade, that the United States would not give aid to the Hungarians, RFE continued its deceitful broadcasts, urging the fighters to resist. Thousands who otherwise would not have continued fighting, were liquidated. The message to Tito, was of course, immediately relayed to Moscow as our State Department knew would be done. The result is history.

The betrayal of the Hungarians and the lying to them by broadcaster of RFE, was duplicated when the Cubans were betrayed.

Day after day, night after night radio and TV stations in this country carry announcements, often by well known screen stars or persons of prominence, all parroting the palpable falsehood that RFE is maintained wholly by voluntary contributions from the gullible public.

The public relations men who arrange for that dissemination of falsehood are either abysmally ignorant of communist collaboration by identified ones at RFE - and dislike admitting they have been duped, or they themselves are furthering the aims of the enemy. There is no middle road for them to take as an unconvincing excuse.

All 13 local passenger airlines in the United States are subsidized. This is done because many of the smaller communities do not provide many passengers, so it would not be profitable for the carrier to land there. But the CAB often permits these "feeders" to cut off service to towns that do not board at least 3 passengers a day, because that would be a further drain on the U.S. taxpayers. A good example is the Allegheny Airline which serves 37 cities and towns, 27 are subsidized and only flights to 10 cities are profitable. Cumberland, Md., lost its only scheduled air service when it did not generate the CAB minimum for Allegheny.

Florida is not only noted for its occasional sunny winters but history - wise it is known as the first part of North America to be discovered and the last eastern section of the United States to be developed. It had some schools when New England was unknown to the Eastern World. It had missions before California had been discovered. It had a name before any other state or province in North America. In fact, old maps show the peninsula where the first explorers were locating the boundaries of the Western Hemisphere.

Before the introduction of this remarkable instrument we always dreaded going to the dentist. But now the excavation work usually is completed within a minute or so. When a Briton goes into one of London's famous stores, Fortnum & Mason's, and orders a pound of tea, he's asked what section of Great Britain he comes from, and given the tea that brews best in the area of London, Birmingham, Liverpool, Edinburgh, etc. It makes quite a difference, they say.

CASES IN POINT

Individuals Pulling Up Roots in Self-Defense

By GEORGE BOARDMAN, Ph. D.

A couple of years ago a young Kansas architect was doing very well in his profession. His income taxes were extremely high and he decided to try to get some of his tax money back by working on government jobs. From this point on his life became complicated and unhappy, as he tried to play both ends and both political parties against the middle. His earnings increased, his taxes soared and his cost of doing business climbed to the point of diminishing returns, on a net profit basis. On a particular day, a particular bureaucrat began to throw his weight around at the wrong time and at that instant the architect went out of business and government lost its cut out of his high earnings.

For the past couple of years, the owners of a factory have been on the verge of trying to sell their business. A few months ago, a bureaucrat picked the wrong day to say the wrong thing to the operators of the factory. They are now in the process of liquidating their holdings.

Quite recently we heard of another manufacturer who was planning to move into the Kingman area to spend about $100,000 to get a new plant on the road. Fortunately the government of the small city acted before and not after the manufacturer's plans had matured. The city government passed a set of building ordinances and the potential new business will not materialize. The man says he will not get mixed up with bureaucrats who want to tell him what to build and how to build it, so his $100,000 remains on deposit in building and loan associations which provide him with almost $5,000 a year for the use of his money.

The county tax assessor has stated he intends to ask the county board of supervisors to enact a law which will force property owners to obtain a license or permit before they build. His reason: The permits will provide him with information concerning improvement of property and to this I must add - while he sits on his fat, thinking about his self-assumed proprietary interest in the property of others.

If the county supervisors are so short-sighted and foolish as to enact such a law, they will immediately discourage at least 20 per cent of the people who have bought land in this vast county because government seemed willing to let them breathe.

I could recite a hundred or more such cases without stopping to take a deep breath but there's a point to be made. The individuals mentioned here were deeply rooted in their communities before government went one step too far. The uprooting was painful. In the midst of the uprooting, the people involved arrived at a conclusion - the next time they'd move the instant government began to get out of line instead of waiting and trying to fight off the encroachments.

From personal experience and personal contacts, I know exactly how serious these people are and just how quickly they will move and move again and again. Politicians, blind to everything but their own fight for more and

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

Question: "Would I receive any metal (such as gold, silver, etc.) for the redemption of the paper money that I have in my billfold? How can I get it?"

Answer: If you were a foreigner in a foreign land, you could demand and receive gold in payment for your paper money, but not if you are a citizen of the United States.

In the United States, Gold certificates no longer are redeemable in gold. Silver certificates are, and one may take a silver certificate to a bank and demand payment in silver dollars.

Federal Reserve notes, bear the notation that they are "redeemable in lawful money at the United States Treasury, or at any Federal Reserve bank." This means they are redeemable in whatever Congress says is money, whether it is paper, metal or dross.

THE ENEMY'S REAL FACE By Rosalie M. Gordon Editor, America's Future

No one can be blamed, surely, for wishing to see an end or an easing of the nuclear arms race, for some release from the tensions of living in a nuclear age. But these wishes can become father to the hope that perhaps the communists are becoming reasonable men and that therefore we can negotiate, conciliate, compromise with them as we would with civilized men who live by standards we understand. These wishes and hopes, however, have in them the seeds of our greatest peril - that we could let down our guard and forget that it is we who have given the world communist conspiracy so many of its past victories. It is therefore necessary to remind ourselves frequently and severely of the nature of the monster we nurtured and fed in the vain desire for peaceful coexistence, lest we hand it through agreements it always breaks, the final means to destroy us.

Consider, for example, a young man named Harry Seidel, 24 years old. He is a German, but his story could be any free man's story should the Red conspirators gain their ends.

Not quite two years ago young Seidel escaped from Communist East Germany to West Berlin. A few weeks later he managed to get his wife and child to free West Berlin too. But when he did, his wife's mother and four of her sisters and brothers in the communist zone were arrested. The charge against them was that they knew about Mrs. Seidel's planned escape. Harry Seidel's own mother also tried to escape, was caught and sentenced to 18 months in jail.

Little Hope Held For New Talks On Atomic Test Ban

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA) - William C. Foster, director of the U.S. Disarmament Agency in the State Department, is going to Geneva as temporary chief negotiator for the 18-nation talks on a nuclear test ban agreement scheduled to reopen Feb. 12. He will take over the first round of disarmament talks, then turn the job over to mission chief Charles Stelle, pending President Kennedy's appointment of a successor to Arthur Dean, recently resigned.

Not too much hope is held that anything definite will come out of these talks, following Russia's abrupt withdrawal from the Washington and New York negotiations with Britain and America - just when everybody had been led to believe that the Russians were in a mood to sign.

American officials still believe the Russians will sign ultimately, after they have given their acceptance of on-site inspection a good propaganda ride with the eight smaller nations at Geneva.

One major difficulty in the present situation on the test ban talks is that the Russian position is always completely flexible to the point of being fluid or even gaseous, while the American-British position is almost always frozen to the point of being immobile.

The Americans and British, after careful research and thorough study, prepare position papers on every phase of disarmament, including the ban on nuclear testing which is an all-important preliminary step. The principles set forth in these plans are always considered fair, workable and, of course, right.

Having announced these policies to the world, the western powers are stuck with them even though it is made clear they are open to negotiation.

The Russians never put themselves in any such strait-jacket. Starting from a broad principle of being for general and complete disarmament which they vacillate all over the conference rooms with the greatest of ease.

For nearly two months, American and British negotiators had been convinced the Russians were at last serious about wanting to sign a test-ban agreement. Russian Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko accepted on-site inspection in principle. Only the question of the number of inspections remained to be resolved.

The negotiations were being conducted responsibly, in secret, without news releases or speeches in open conference for propaganda purposes. Then all of a sudden, like a groundhog ducking before its shadow, the Russians broke off the talks.

In one sense, the negotiations may have been considered shadowboxing to the point of being futile. For being considered in the test ban agreement was an escape clause big enough for all the missiles in the world to be launched.

It was provided that if a fourth or a fifth power - France and Red China, for instance - began extensive nuclear testing that threatened their national security, signatories to the ban could pull out and resume testing on their own at will. There was also, of course, provision that other powers could be brought under the ban if they wanted to come in. But there was no way to force them in.

Why the Russians broke off the talks even with all these provisions remains a mystery. And the pursuit of Communist motives in any situation is always futile.

While the talks were in progress the speculation was that the Russians were at last being realistic over their setback in Cuba and their growing ideological split with Red China. Also, the Russians had just completed their own series of tests and they wanted to reduce tensions for a while.

In the past, when the Russians have broken off disarmament and nuclear test ban talks, they have followed with a resumption of their own testing. President Kennedy's quick order to prepare for a resumption of U.S. underground tests in Nevada, after announcing their suspension, may have anticipated some such Russian move once again.

SHE'S MODEL OF A PILOT—Neta Black, part-time model and secretary for an aircraft sales firm at Houston's International Airport, shows up for work as she appears at left. Un-American Activities

The House Committee on Un-American Activities again seems assured of adequate financial support for its work in the coming year. I expect a resolution to be introduced in the House soon calling for a $350,000 appropriation, the same sum as granted to the committee last year. There is only spotty opposition around the country to the work of this committee, and the overwhelming majority of House Members supports it. The committee again will have the money it needs.

I've always been a strong supporter of the Committee on Un-American Activities. Not only does it stand as a watchdog against subversive influences at work in this nation, but the investigations it has conducted have produced much worthwhile legislation. In the years 1941 through 1952, the committee made a total of 142 legislative recommendations to the Congress, of which 42 were enacted into law, including six in the last session.

Already in this session, the chairman of the committee, the Hon. Francis P. Walter of Pennsylvania, has introduced a set of bills to tighten provisions of the Internal Security Act of 1950. One of his bills provides that any federal officer or employee who willfully fails to answer, or falsely answers, certain questions relating to Communist activities or national security, when summoned to appear before any federal agency, shall be removed from office or employment. A bill I first introduced in 1961 has been referred to the Judiciary Committee. It would require loyalty declarations from employees of government suppliers and contractors and from labor organizations representing the employees of these contractors and suppliers. I re-introduced the bill (H.R. 122) because it seems to me that it is inconsistent for only Federal employees to be bound by a loyalty oath. Officers and employees of private corporations contracting with the government also should be bound by an oath; our defense program needs that protection.

Another bill before the committee is by the Hon. A. S. Herlong of Florida. He seeks to establish a Freedom Academy to train government workers, private citizens and foreign students in carrying on the counter offensive against the total political war being waged against the United States and the Free World by International Communism.

The Hon. Joe Pool of Dallas was named to serve on the committee in this new Congress, the first Texan appointed to the committee since Martin Dies. Because Rep. Pool was elected as Congressman-at-Large, Texans of every District can feel he is serving them directly.

WASHINGTON ROUNDUP

The Interior and Insular Affairs Committee, on which I serve as third ranking majority member and chairman of the subcommittee on Irrigation and Reclamation, soon will receive from the Interior Department a proposal for landmark legislation to provide outdoor recreation facilities. When he briefed the committee recently, Secretary Udall said the proposal would serve "to preserve the face of this country and the outdoor recreational opportunities our people have always prized so highly." How Congress will greet it remains to be seen.

When all of the facts are known initial excitement over General Accounting Office criticism of the helium conservation program will die away. I had a major part in formulating this program, designed to give private enterprise corporations the job of conserving the vital natural resources for which our Panhandle gas fields are famous. The tip-off as to the reason behind criticism, based on unjustified claims that participating companies are taking profits not due them, came in a Washington Post editorial. "If the helium reserves are a genuine national need," said the Post, "Congress should reconsider this program and set up a nonprofit public corporation to acquire gas used principally in government-supported missile and atomic industries." A nonprofit public corporation is precisely

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—Analyst Arthur Wiesenberger says stock prices have hesitated at levels regarded by many as "resistance," but "early resumption of the intermediate and long-term upward trends seems probable."

He says earnings and dividends are proving much better than had been expected and are thereby further bolstering sentiment.

Contrary to popular belief stocks move through "congestion" areas very rapidly and with little difficulty when they are ready to do so, Wiesenberger says. "Thus a further early rise could prove sharp."

NEW YORK (UPI)—International statistical bureau reports a selling signal being given by it "market timer" which has been saying "buy" for months.

The bureau says it is recommending some profit-taking, "but we are not advising heavy liquidation since new highs are likely before the end of the year. We would remain fairly well invested."

what those of us who set up this program were trying to avoid. In my view, the mood of the Congress is against placing the government into any industrial activity that could better be handled by private enterprise companies equipped to work in the field.

The President's tax revision proposal for oil and gas amounts to an end run to avoid a head-on collision with the 27½ per cent depletion allowance. The tax program submitted by the President would leave the 27½ per cent rate intact, but it would in effect cut the allowance by tightening reporting and computation procedures. The Treasury Department estimates the effect would be the same as a drop of up to one-fourth on the oil and gas depletion allowance. The Independent Petroleum Association of America estimates that the effect would be a drop in the allowance to 17.5 per cent. In my opinion, a tough battle is coming over this proposal, avoiding as it does a direct clash with the long-standing 27½ per cent rate.

Again last year our exports exceeded our imports. The gap is narrowing. In 1962, the value of imports reached $16.4 billion, up from $14.7 billion in 1961. The 1962 export total was $20.8 billion, compared with $20.1 billion in 1961. We must continue efforts to see that the balance of our exports remains well ahead to assure our continued agricultural and industrial strength.

Contract Change Is Planned For Plant At Pantex

The U.S. Atomic Energy Commission and Department of Defense release the following statement yesterday.

Effective next October 1, the Atomic Energy Commission plans to take over from the Army the administration of a contract with Mason & Hanger-Silas Mason Company, Inc., covering the operations of Commission facilities at the Iowa Ordnance Plant, Burlington, Iowa, and the Pantex Ordnance Plant, near Amarillo, Texas.

The Commission-owned facilities at both locations are for the manufacture and assembly of conventional explosives used in nuclear weapons. It also has offices at both places for production scheduling and product acceptance.

Purpose of the change is to simplify administration and concentrate responsibilities. Little or no effect on total employment for operating programs is expected.

Mason & Hanger-Silas Mason Company, Inc., employment will not be affected. While there will be minor adjustments in the Army and AEC employment to meet the shift in functions, total employment should remain about the same at both places.

The Almanac

By United Press International
Today is Thursday, Feb. 14, the 45th day of 1963 with 320 to follow. Today is St. Valentine's Day. The moon is approaching its last quarter.

The morning star is Venus. The evening stars are Mars, Saturn and Jupiter.

On this day in history: In 1888, the West Coast citrus industry was born as the first trainload of oranges left Los Angeles for Western markets.

In 1903, President Theodore Roosevelt signed into law an act creating the Department of Commerce and Labor.

In 1933, fifty million dollars was rushed to Detroit to bolster banking assets as Michigan's governor declared an eight-day bank holiday.

In 1945, thousands of Allied planes staged a devastating air raid on Dresden, Germany.

Minds Over Matter
MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)—The success of Project Apollo will depend largely on the brainpower of three astronauts. Minneapolis-Honeywell engineers here say, a computer duplicating the 14 billion cells in each human brain would be impossible to build for the moon flight.
