Jittery West Eyeing Skies

United Press International
SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Jittery residents of the flood-battered Far West watched turbulent skies in grim frustration today, not sure whether to stand by what remained of their homes amid threats of new floods.

Several hundred families were moved to safety as a precautionary measure in northern California, as rivers inched higher and caused minor flooding along the northern Pacific coast as a result of nearly three weeks of constant storms.

But chances of a recurrence of the disastrous Christmas week onslaught which claimed 42 lives and caused damage estimated at $700 million were a matter of "if." It won't happen — if cold weather continues, if the heavy snow pack holds the incessant rain, and if dams hold.

"The water is moving fast," said George Grace, area director of the Office of Emergency Planning in Eureka, Calif. "If it warms up in the hills behind the valley, we are going to have more trouble."

Orders to leave were given residents along the Eel and Mad rivers in Humboldt County and Toms Creek in Tehama County, where heavy damage was suffered two weeks ago. Fifteen Army helicopters, diverted from supply missions, moved 183 persons from along the Eel and Mad rivers Tuesday.

Residents of the Mad River Valley below Ruth Dam were ordered out although officials said the dam appeared safe. However, a great deal of debris collected behind the dam in the recent flooding and it could cause trouble if it started going over the spillway.

Helicopters also removed families from starvation flats, south of Fortuna, and from the Blue Lake area below Mackintosh lumber mill, where officials said a huge pile of logs could be torn loose if the levees break.

"The Mad River is bank-full and those two levees took a beating from the last go-round," said civil defense Director Norman Robertson.

The Humboldt County board of supervisors urged residents of the Eel Valley to head for high ground in the face of a predicted crest of 40 feet, 10 feet above flood stage. The river crested at 70 feet during the Christmas disaster.

Russians' Charge Military Foray In Union Message

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union charged today that President Johnson's State of the Union message while urging peace with Russia, advocates "military adventure" elsewhere in the world.

The Newspaper Pravda, official organ of the Soviet Communist party, said Johnson's stand on the war in South Viet Nam "arouses serious alarm."

Johnson's speech, Pravda said, demonstrated the "contrary motivations" typical of "imperialist countries" and their "ruling circles."

"On the one hand, one can find in this message assurances of the fact the United States is looking for peaceful, mutual understanding with the Soviet Union," Pravda said.

"On the other hand, contrary motivations clearly sound in the President's message: Reluctance to give up the means of military adventure and direct intervention in the affairs of other countries . . . barely concealed claims for special rights of the U.S.A. throughout the world."

"Johnson's statement that the U.S.A. would continue the aggression in South Viet Nam, wage a bloody war against the liberation movement of her people, arouses serious alarm," the newspaper said.

The attack on Johnson was contained in an article entitled "The Tactics of Imperialism in the Class Conflict," by Y. Arbatov. The Soviet press previously had refrained from comment on the State of the Union address, although it published summaries of the speech.

Diplomatic sources here reacted positively to Johnson's suggestion that Soviet leaders get to know America better, by visiting it.

The sources said that Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin probably would be eager to visit the United States, but not during the current year.

School Administrative Office Hit for $800

By RAY RODGERS JR.

Burglars, using a stolen welding torch, cut their way into the safe at Pampa High School last night and made off with nearly $800 in cash.

Police this morning sifted through meager clues left by the thieves.

One thing was left behind, though, the torch used to cut a hole in the huge walk-in steel safe. Police said the torch was stolen sometime last night during a burglary of the Pampa Auto Center, 126 S. Houston.

Police theorize the thieves broke into the auto center and loaded the torch into a car or truck. They drove to the high school, where they used it on the safe.

The break-in was discovered at 6:15 a.m. today when Bill Smith, custodian, arrived for work.

Police Chief Jim Conner said, "They knew exactly what they were looking for and exactly where to find it. Conner said that nothing else in the school was bothered nor was any of the offices ransacked.

"Other than the safe," Conner said, the burglars pried open a small desk drawer, adjacent to the safe, apparently looking for a cash box, but closed it after finding nothing.

Conner said several valuable items were left untouched.

Investigators said the building was entered when the thieves crawled through an unlocked boiler room window.

The chief theorized the burglars then opened the main north door and carried the torch inside.

The safe was located in the registrars' office on the first floor of the school.

Conner said the lock on the assistant principal's office was pried open to gain access to the registrars' office and the safe.

The burglars apparently had no trouble in cutting open the door of the huge safe.

Inside, the thieves found a total of $970.27 in cash, $425 in bills and $365.27 in change.

School officials said the money consisted primarily of cafeteria receipts for the week, along with petty cash and receipts from other departments of the school.

Over $300 in cash from ticket sales for Thursday night's band concert had been taken from the safe just yesterday. Fred Stockdale, band director, said, "The money has been in the safe every night, except last night, when I took it out."

School officials said the money was not insured. Damage to the safe is expected to total not more than $50.

Assistant Chief Denny Roan said the burglars were not "highly professional" but they did know what they were doing. Conner said that he did not think last night's safe job had any connection with the recent safe burglary of Gibson Discount Center, 2211 Perryton Parkway. The discount center was hit last October for over $1,600 in cash.

Police said it was hard to pinpoint the exact time the school was entered last night, but figured it was sometime between midnight and 6 a.m. today.

Officers said that the burglars attempted to steal a cutting torch from Hawkins' Radio Lab, 917 S. Barnes Monday night.

Conner said the building was broken into Monday night, but nothing turned up missing.

Today, officers learned that the burglars tried to cart off the welding torch, but when they couldn't get it out the door, left it behind.

Police also said that the safe job was well planned.

Binh Gia Battle Seen As Commie Experiment

SAIGON (UPI)—A U.S. military spokesman said today Communist Viet Cong rebels have apparently launched a long-dreaded "experiment" by fighting bigger and longer battles against Vietnamese government forces.

He said the week-long Binh Gia battle that ended Sunday southeast of Saigon was the largest, longest, toughest and best coordinated Communist campaign he could recall in the South Vietnamese war.

Some of the Communist units fighting in South Viet Nam now are larger in size and more heavily armed than their counterparts in the government forces, an American spokesman admitted.

At the same time it was disclosed a U.S. Army enlisted man was wounded by ground fire in Phuoc Tuy Province Tuesday. He was flying in one of 30 helicopters combing the province for Red troops that withdrew after the Binh Gia battle.

Nineteen other Americans were killed, wounded or missing in last week's Binh Gia battle.

Note Infiltration
—In other developments: —Vietnamese sources said Communist North Viet Nam is infiltrating political commissars into South Viet Nam to ensure its domination of the so-called "national liberation front" here.

—Deputy U.S. Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson met twice today with South Viet Nam's deputy prime minister, Nguyen Xuan Quah. It was believed they discussed the political crisis stemming from the overthrow by military officers last month of the High National Council, South Viet Nam's interim legislature.

The U.S. military spokesman said the Binh Gia conflict was the fourth prolonged battle, tending to confirm captured documents that expressed Communist hopes for stepping up the war beyond the hit-and-run guerrilla stage.

"We are not yet sure if they are ahead," the spokesman said. "They've won a few and they've lost a few."

Postal Receipts Set New Record

Postal revenue at the Pampa post office hit a new all-time high during the last six months of 1964, Postmaster O. K. Gaylor said today.

The post office fiscal year begins on July 1 and runs through Dec. 31. For that period in the Pampa office the 1964 six-month total of receipts was $219,557 compared with $203,311 for the same period of 1963.

This is an increase of $16,246 or 7.45 per cent. Postal receipts are considered one of the best business barometers in any community.

Postmaster Gaylor said the receipts reported do not include business done through the sale of money orders. These records, he said, are kept in the regional office at Dallas.

Indonesian Guerrilla War Step-Up Expected

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (UPI)—Military officials expect stepped-up Indonesian guerrilla attacks against Malaysia Borneo, informed sources said today.

They said increased activity was expected along the border of Sarawak, which covers the southwestern tip of Malaysian Borneo and is considered the best entry point from Indonesia. Malaysia and Indonesia share the island of Borneo.

Band Is Ready For Pop Concert

Carl (Doc) Severinsen, leading trumpet player with the television "Tonight Show" on NBC, will arrive in Pampa tomorrow for his concert appearance with the Pampa High School band Thursday and Friday nights in Robert E. Lee Junior High School.

Severinsen will be met at the Amarillo airport tomorrow forenoon by E. L. Henderson, president of the Band Boosters Club, band director.

The New Yorker will hold a rehearsal with the band at 4 p.m. tomorrow prior to the opening curtain at 8 p.m.

Seats for both nights are available at Richard Drug and the high school. Ticket sale proceeds from the concert will be used to finance the school band's annual trip to the Tri-State Music Festival in Enid, Okla.

Severinsen will be in New York tonight appearing on the "Tonight Show." Henderson said today the Pampa concert is expected to get a plug during tonight's program.

First half of the concert program will feature numbers by the high school band and special-ally numbers by Severinsen.

The second half will highlight Severinsen as guest soloist with the high school "Swing Kings" in a pops and jazz session.

Rogers Releases His Proposals For '65 Congress

Rep. Walter Rogers of Pampa today released a list of legislative proposals which the congressman says he will introduce in the upcoming 89th Congress.

In his weekly letter, Rogers states he is doubtful if any quick action will be taken on President Johnson's requests for legislation to accomplish results he seeks.

The Pampa congressman's list of legislative proposals which will go before the new 1965 Congress will be found on Page 7 of today's Pampa News.

One Known Dead In Truck Crash

An oil truck fire, 3 miles west of Miami, about 12:30 p.m. today has claimed the life of at least one person.

Witnesses at the scene said one person was trapped inside the burning wreckage. They said it appeared it would be some time before the fire could be extinguished and the body reached.

Firemen and investigators were standing by the scene.

Witnesses said at 1:25 p.m. that it was almost impossible to get close to the wreckage due to the intense heat.

U.S. Reluctant to Cut off UAR Aid

By DONALD H. MAY
WASHINGTON (UPI)—U.S. officials are reluctant to take any hasty action to cut off aid to the United Arab Republic because of recent quarrels.

A series of incidents over the past few months has plunged U.S. relations with Cairo into another downward spiral and has brought some congressional murmurs about U.S. aid to the Egyptians.

The U.S. Information Library in Cairo was burned by a mob last November. In December, a U.S. oil company's plane was shot down or forced down by Egyptian jets.

The most serious dispute has been over U.A.R. aid to rebels in the Congo. Finally, U.A.R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser openly acknowledged aid to the Congolese insurgents and told the United States in effect to "go jump in the lake."

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., suggested in a television interview last Sunday that the United States should consider halting aid to countries which make such statements.

Administration officials contend, however, that the decision is not that simple.

They view the U.A.R. as a major part of the Middle East area which is of vast logistic and commercial interest to the free world.

The Suez Canal and Middle East pipelines supply oil to Europe. Half of the $4.5 billion oil investment in the area is American. The United States has Military Air Transport facilities in the region.

Officials also are aware that the Soviet Union has been competing with Red China for influence in the Middle East. The Russians began penetration efforts in the early 1950s. They met setbacks in the early 1960s, but are again increasing activities.

U.S. officials do not believe Arab nationalists want their countries to become outright Communist satellites. Instead, it is believed, they would rather maintain a middle course, playing both sides for as much as they can get.

Former Paratrooper Rescued From Sea

MIAMI (UPI)—Donald McNeal, a 28-year-old former paratrooper and father of four, today told how he was swept from his small sailboat 20 miles off shore and spent 18 hours in the stormy Atlantic Ocean before being rescued.

Exhausted, nearly delirious, his eyes swollen shut, McNeal was pulled from the water Tuesday and given emergency aid. McNeal was unconscious when help arrived but came to as fishermen aboard the charter boat Prowler plucked him from the water.

A 12-foot wave knocked McNeal into the Gulfstream from the cockpit of a 21-sloop about 7:30 p.m. Monday as he and Miami dentist Charles T. Spencer fought through rough seas to return to port. Spencer managed to hang on when the wave struck and then could not find his companion.

Spencer put over a life raft for McNeal, then headed for the nearest land for help.

Was Not Afraid
"I didn't have any fears," said McNeal. "I thought possibly I could catch up to the boat, but then my foul weather gear almost pulled me under."

He stripped to a T-shirt and then started swimming. Spencer guessed the location was about 15 miles off Fowey Light or nearly 20 miles from land. He never saw the life raft Spencer put overboard.

McNeal tried to swim into the shipping lanes. I had freighters all around me. I yelled and whistled but they didn't see me," McNeal said.

A Coast Guard cutter reported hearing what might have been yells in the area, but was unable to locate anyone during the night.

"I wasn't tired so I kept on swimming until daybreak. I was watching the Fowey Rock lighthouse," McNeal said.

"Finally I think I just passed out. I dreamed of being rescued. I can remember waking up now and then, looking around and going back to sleep."

Swallows Water
"I was always getting a mouthful of water. The waves were very large."

When the boat spotted his head, bobbing in the waves I did when we started sailing," about 11:30 a.m., Tuesday, he said.

Judge Wants Law to Stop Wife Beating
CARDIFF, Wales (UPI)—Judge Owen T. Temple-Morris, in granting a divorce to Mrs. Leonard Andrews on the ground of cruelty, said Tuesday there ought to be a law to prevent husbands who mistreat their wives from remarrying. The judge said Andrews' behavior was "dreadful."

Auto Sales for '64 Total 8.1 Million
DETROIT (UPI)—More than eight million new cars were sold in the United States last year, the first time the milestone has been reached. Ward's Reports said 7,614,000 domestic-made and 486,000 imports were sold last year to push combined sales to 8.1 million units.

Electoral Votes Due Count Today
WASHINGTON (UPI)—A joint session of Congress meets today to give "sufficient declaration" to what everyone already knows—the winners of the 1964 presidential election. The meeting of the House and Senate was the second in three days. The first was to hear President Johnson's State of the Union message Monday night. The meeting is scheduled for 12 p.m. CST. Today's session is required by the Constitution; its purpose is to tally the certificates of each state's electors and declare Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota the nation's President and vice president, respectively.

Its Ev and Jerry With Charlie Gone

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Republican leaders of the Senate and House plan to resume their joint policy meetings early next week with an aftershow now starring "Ev and Jerry." Their first conference is expected to recommend creation of an over-all GOP coordinating committee—representing governors and other leaders—to frame policy through task forces dealing with key issues. Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., the "Ev" of the old "Ev and Jerry" news conference production, will team up with House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford, Mich., as the party spokesmen. Rep. Charles A. Halleck, Ind., who was deposed by Ford Monday, is off the billing.

Horned Rabbit Shot in State

JACKSON, Tenn. (UPI)—A fish and game official said Tuesday a rabbit with three horns had been brought to his office. Rabbits ordinarily have no horns at all, not even Texas jackrabbits. Claude Rheams described the cottontail, shot on New Year's Day by a 12-year-old hunter near Trezevant, Tenn., as having horns "curved like sheep horns, spread across its head." "I've never seen anything like this," Rheams said. The bite of a copperhead rarely is fatal.

Dear Abby.... Don't Hesitate; Accompany Husband When Visiting 'Ex'

DEAR ABBY: My husband (whom I'll call Paul) was formerly married to a shrew who bore him a handsome son. She wanted the divorce (another man) so, rather than create a scandal, Paul let her divorce him on phony grounds (mental cruelty). She was given custody of the boy and moved to another state where Paul supports them in grand style. (I heard that the "other man" changed his mind and left her waiting at the church.) I also heard that she is still kicking herself for divorcing Paul.

Paul and I have been married for six years. No children yet, but we desperately want one. My problem: Every Christmas Paul's "ex" brings her son here to spend the holidays with my mother-in-law. Paul's family wines and dines her and the boy, and I must witness it all because my husband insists that I be with him whenever he sees her. I can't stand the sight of her. Would it be better if I sent Paul to these family get-togethers alone?

STICKY SITUATION
DEAR STICKY: Yours is the penalty most "subsequent" wives must pay when their husbands have a family by a previous marriage. Don't send him alone. Go with him and try to be compassionate. If Paul's "ex" can stand the sight of you (whom she probably envies), you should be able to stand the sight of her, who deserves to be pitied. P.S. Have you ever considered adoption?

DEAR ABBY: My neighbor across the way hangs a lot of towels out on her line, and I must have counted 50 different towels represented already. Her husband travels. With a thief like this loose in the neighborhood, do you think it is safe for me to leave my laundry out overnight?

WONDERING
DEAR WONDERING: Your laundry is probably safe. People who carry off hotel towels rationalize their stealing (and it is stealing) with the mistaken assumption that the price of the room covers some anticipated thievery.

DEAR ABBY: How can a person choose a reliable doctor when he moves from town to town? Looking in the yellow pages for a doctor when you need one in an emergency scares me half to death.

ON-THE-GO
DEAR ON: Before you leave your home community, ask your physician (and dentist, too!) to recommend a good person in his field in the community where you're headed. And before you leave that city, ask again.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "LITTLE GIRL BLUE" IN SHREVEPORT: Don't leave your husband to "teach him a lesson." You might learn the lesson—that he can live without you.

Woman Suggests Four out of Five Remodeling Jobs

Four out of five home improvements are suggested by the women of the house, according to a national publication.

Tops on the list of remodeling projects are new kitchens and bathrooms.

Easy maintenance is one of the most important considerations of a housewife planning to remodel. That's why she usually insists upon proved materials such as ceramic tile.

Real tile is ideal for kitchen counters and backsplashes because it can't be burned or scratched. That it's water and stainproof makes it the logical material for bathroom walls and floors. No matter where it's used, ceramic tile never needs to be painted or polished.

Anyone who has started a feeding program for the birds should not neglect it for a day because the birds begin to depend on the food being provided. A 25 pound sack of chicken scratch feed can be bought for about $1.10 and will go a long way. Water and suet should be provided every day also.

At this columnist's home the birds dining area is a redwood picnic table near a flowering peach tree which is very convenient for the birds. Other methods of feeding can be used. If the birds don't seem to find the food at first be patient. Once it is discovered the little creatures will become a special part of each day.

People who love the big old trees of our country will be interested in The Live Oak Society which was activated recently by the Louisiana Garden Club Federation. Registered in this Society are 124 Live Oak Trees: 95 from Louisiana; Mississippi 19, Alabama four, Florida two, Texas two, Georgia one and South Carolina one.

Anyone having a live oak tree that is 100 years old or more can register the tree with this society and receive a very attractive printed certificate of membership. One rule of the society is that no member can be desecrated by a coat of whitewash on its trunk or by advertising signs.

Anyone interested in this society is urged to write to the chairman, Mrs. Harry W. Brown, 220 Carroll Street, Mandeville, La.

Over 75 delegates recently attended in Dallas a long-range city planning and beautification conference sponsored by Sears Roebuck and Company. Attending the conference were eight state garden club presidents. Mrs. J. Gordon Gose, president of the National Council of State Garden Clubs, Inc., spoke on the subject "A Gardener Looks at Her Community."

Harry N. Osgood, a national authority on community planning, gave a keynote address on "The Citizen and the Community From the Viewpoint of a Business Man." Allen Seed Jr., vice-president of Keep America Beautiful, Inc. of New York, also spoke to the conference.

GARDENING TIPS
Poisonous plants that have finished flowering should be dried completely and laid on their sides under a bench in the greenhouse or in a cellar where the temperature is 55-60 degrees. Cut them back only lightly at this time.

House plants face rather difficult conditions during January when winters are cold and the air indoors is likely to be excessively dry due to use of much artificial heat. Foliage of plants that are not very hairy may be sprayed with clear water from an atomizer syringe.

Take care that no plants suffer from lack of water. In warm rooms plants often need frequent watering. In nearly all cases, the object is to keep the soil evenly moist but not constantly saturated.

Branches of pussy willow, forsythia, spirea and other early-blooming shrubs may be brought indoors now and stood in containers of water in a warm, light room. In no time at all, it seems, they will be in full bloom, providing a foretaste of spring.

Young Moderns Like Granddaughter of Walnut Furnishings Groom Resident Weds in Amarillo
"Down to earth" is the latest word on seating arrangements. Solid walnut benches, topped with bright cushions, double as tables. For casual entertainment place the cushions on the floor and presto — you have seating and serving accommodations. The walnut benches come with or without shelves and armrests, so you can add to them or arrange them any way you like.
Cover the food chopper with a clear plastic bag to keep it clean and ready for use.
GROOM (Sp) — Miss Paula Marie Townsend, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nunn of Amarillo and Gary Richard Hedgecoke, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hedgecoke, also of Amarillo, were united in marriage Dec. 18 in First Baptist Church in Amarillo.
The bride is the granddaughter of William Frederiksen of Groom.

ARE YOU PAYING TOO MUCH INCOME TAX?
If you are under 65 you are legally permitted to deduct the cost of all prescriptions and certain medical supplies and medicines after subtracting from their costs 1% of your adjusted gross income. You are also able to deduct the cost of all fees for physicians, dentists, hospitals, health and accident insurance premiums after subtracting from their costs 3% of your adjusted gross income.

IF YOU ARE MORE THAN 65 YEARS OLD.
You can legally deduct everything mentioned above in full without reduction.

HERE ARE SOME DEDUCTIBLE ITEMS.
Everything prescribed or advised by a physician or dentist is deductible. Also, every home remedy you buy for relieving pain or discomfort, whether for internal or external use is allowable. But, remember that vitamins or tonics are only deductible when you are advised by your physician or dentist to take them.

MEDICAL SUPPLIES ARE DEDUCTIBLE.
They include such products as heating pads, elastic stockings, vaporizers, surgical supports, insulin equipment, first aid supplies, atomizers, orthopedic braces and wheelchairs.

IT WILL PAY YOU TO KEEP RECORDS.
It may be more profitable to take your separate allowable deductions than the general deduction which takes in everything.

WE WILL BE GLAD TO HELP.
We can give you receipted itemized bills for everything we supply. All our charge accounts get them each month. We are not accountants, but we can tell you what is deductible.

Last Session of Vatican Council Set September 14

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope Paul VI has decided the fourth and final session of the second Vatican Ecumenical Council shall begin Sept. 14, 1965, the Vatican announced.

The pontiff informed Vatican Secretary of State Amleto Cardinal Cicognani Monday of the session's starting date, the Vatican press office said.

"The Pope also laid down that the council is to end with the close of the fourth session," the announcement said. No closing date was set for the council, although it is expected to wind up late in November or early in December.

Alaska comprises almost one-sixth the entire area of the U.S.

Automotive Industry Has Good Year

DETROIT (UPI)—The automotive industry, plagued by strikes by the United Auto Workers Union, was forced to settle for the second best production year in history during 1964.

Figures from the four major U.S. manufacturers showed they produced a total of 7,738,764 cars during the calendar year. The figures surpassed the 1963 total of 7,569,228 cars, but failed to top the record posted in 1955 of 7,942,132 cars.

Court Fails to Halt Case Workers Strike

NEW YORK (UPI)—Welfare services for a half-million needy in the nation's largest city were put on an emergency-only basis today because of the continuing strike of thousands of welfare workers in defiance of a court order and moves to dismiss them.

The city and leaders of two unions representing 11,600 social workers negotiated for 14 hours until early today without any apparent success in resolving the dispute over pay and working conditions.

Opinions Vary on Britain's Pound Sterling

By JESSE BOGUE

 NEW YORK (UPI)—Banker, what of the pound? Sterling, that is.

As the world phases out one year and goes into another, there remain several shades of opinion on what will happen to one of the free world's basic currencies, Britain's pound sterling.

Congressman Lists His 1965 Proposals

The convening of the 89th Congress closes one phase and begins another in the dramatic and fascinating process of our American governmental system. With the election over, and having determined the priorities of his program and policies, the President turns to the Congress with a series of requests for legislation to accomplish results he seeks. Public attention will be shifting to Capitol Hill, to the actions of the House and Senate. But it is doubtful that any quick action will come on any substantial legislative matters. The organization of the new Congress must be completed. Committees must prepare their agendas and begin hearings. New Members of Congress — 92 in the House and eight in the Senate — must settle into harness. And the great ceremony of a Presidential inauguration will command the spotlight through January 20.

Along with new proposals to be introduced, those backed by the President and his administration as well as those offered by House and Senate members on their own, many legislative measures not acted upon in the 85th Congress of 1957-64 will be reintroduced in the 89th Congress. If they are to receive consideration, these measures must be introduced again because all measures not acted upon in the 85th Congress died upon its adjournment.

These are among the measures which I introduced in past sessions of the Congress and which I am preparing to submit again:

1. An amendment to the tax laws to increase personal and dependents' income tax exemption from $500 to $1,000.
2. A bill requiring that all decisions of the U. S. Supreme Court be participated in by the full Court, and that any vacancies or absences in the membership of the Court shall be temporarily filled by circuit judges.
3. An amendment to the Interstate Commerce Act to insure the adequacy of the national railroad freight car supply.

4. Amendments to the Communications Act to prohibit the rule-making powers of an independent agency from being used for changing basic law and policy. It is my belief that changes in basic law and governmental policy should be made only by the people through their duly elected representatives.
5. A bill to authorize establishment of the Alibates Flint Quarries and Texas Panhandle Pueblo Culture National Monument near the site of the Canadian River Dam.
6. A resolution providing for a thorough Congressional investigation of State Department personnel and policies.
7. An amendment to the Constitution to permit Congress, by a two-thirds vote of both houses, to overturn decisions of the Supreme Court declaring Federal or State laws to be unconstitutional.
8. An amendment to the Constitution to permit the House of Representatives to have a voice, with the Senate, in ratifying treaties.
9. A bill to close ports of the United States to all ships engaged in trade or commerce with Communist Cuba.
10. A resolution providing for an investigation of the production, distribution, and exhibition of obscene motion pictures and their advertising.

These are a few of the measures I have introduced in the past. I will continue to advocate their adoption. All will be reintroduced so that the appropriate committees of the House may give them consideration.

Recent Visitors: Mr. and Mrs. Howard Lynch of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cantine (formerly of Amarillo and now of Juneau, Alaska); Lt. Col. and Mrs. R. C. Dacus and children, of White Deer.

The Income That Is Income Taxable; Cut Your Own Taxes

By RAY DE CRANE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
"Just what income do I report on my income tax return?"
The answer is far more complicated than appears on the surface and whole books have been written on the subject.

In a broad sense every dollar of income you receive is taxable unless it is expressly exempt by law.

Your salary or wages is naturally the starting point in determining your income for the year. But how about life insurance dividends, stock dividends, savings account interest, jury duty fees, gains realized on the sale of stock or any of your property, tips, gifts, pensions, prizes, awards, bonuses?

Some items of income are specifically exempt from tax either wholly or in part. Fully tax exempt are such things as Social Security payments, unemployment benefits paid to you by a state (but supplemental unemployment benefits paid from a company-financed fund and strike benefits paid by a union are taxable), gifts, bequests and inheritances, life insurance paid upon the death of the insured, accident and health insurance proceeds, casualty insurance proceeds, interest on tax-free securities (such as municipal bonds).

None of the foregoing need be reported on your income tax return.

But here are some items which must be reported: tips received by waiters, waitresses, cab drivers and other service employees; commissions for steering business to a company or to a salesman; jury duty fees; gambling winnings; hobby income.

Interest received from banks, savings and loan and life insurance companies have been a big source of nonreported income for many years. Internal Revenue Service officials have taken steps in recent years to plug this hole in the dike.

That is the reason your banks and insurance companies have requested your Social Security number. They are now required by law to inform Internal Revenue of all interest payments or credits of $10 or more.

Disregard the advice of well-meaning but misinformed friends that interest must be more than a certain figure before it need be reported. All savings account and life insurance interest is taxable.

savings and you have the right to make deposits and withdrawals, the interest earned on these deposits should appear on your tax return.

In certain carefully established accounts where the minor child is the sole custodian of the funds and the parent may not make withdrawals, the interest is taxable only to the minor. Of course, he has to have at least $500 in total income (including the interest) before he is required to pay a tax.

Dividends receive special treatment. Dividends on life insurance policies are not taxable. They are considered to be a return of a portion of your own payment. However, if the dividends are permitted to accrue with your insurance companies the interest earned on them is taxable.

Speaking of dividends, the so-called dividends credited to your account by a savings and loan or a credit union are treated as ordinary interest on your tax form.

Interest earned on your "E" bonds is also reportable. You may elect to report the interest annually or to wait until the bonds are redeemed and then treat as interest the increase over the purchase price.

Dividends received from fully taxable domestic corporations (this includes most dividends received from U.S. companies) are only partially taxable. Beginning in 1964 a husband and wife are each entitled to exclude the first $100 in dividends received. The full amount of the dividends must be reported but $100 per person is then deducted and only the remainder is subject to tax.

If the stock is jointly owned the exclusion on a joint return is $200. Where stock is held separately only the first $100 received by each is excluded. For instance, if the husband received $250 in dividends on his stock and the wife $35 on stock held in her name, their total exclusion is $135. One partner's unused exclusion may not be used by the other.

There is still a second break in the accounting of dividends. After the exclusion has been taken, a dividend credit may be applied. This credit for 1964 returns is 2 per cent. This had been 4 per cent in former years. In 1965 the credit is eliminated entirely.

The Amarillo Sandies beat the Pampa Harvesters at their own game of free throws last night to squeeze to a 58-56 upset victory and throw the district 3-4A race into a four-way tie.

games, gives them a 5-1 record as have the Sandies, coupled with Monterey's upset loss to Tascosa and Lubbock's win over Plainview last night.

WD Takes Pair at Mustangs

By ROGER SIMMONS
News Sports Correspondent
WHITE DEER — The Does and Bucks of White Deer rocked Claude twice Tuesday, the Does winning, 60-37 and the Bucks taking a 55-54 victory.

The game went back and forth in the opening minutes until Roper got three fouls late in the period, and Mike Burkett and David Jackson dominated the boards to push Amarillo to a six-point lead. Lanny Lewis proceeded to drive in for a bucket, turn right around and steal the ball back and drive for another in the last 10 seconds to cut the margin to 16-14.

Tech Topples Texas As Southwest Race Begins

By United Press International
Southwest Conference basketball play opened in earnest Tuesday night, highlighted by a fierce back-and-forth battle between Texas and Texas Tech and a nasty surprise for Texas A&M.

A&M came from Baylor, who beat the Aggies for the first time in five years, 80-77, and for the first time in 10 years did it on the Aggie home court. In other conference contests, the Arkansas Razorbacks trotted to an easy 88-70 triumph over Texas Christian in Fort Worth.

Groom Freezes Out McLean

GROOM — The Groom Tigers stalled out the last three minutes of the game to pull out a 53-51 victory over visiting McLean last night, although the McLean gals made it a split with a 45-30 win.

Harold Jennings hit five straight points to give the Sandies a six-point margin, but Curlee and Roper led the Harvesters back to within one point. Roper fouled out and it was Curlee against Sandie free throws from that point on; as he put Pampa into the lead twice, only to have the Sandies come right back. Vaclav's bucket with 40 seconds gave Amarillo the final go-ahead margin, 55-54, after which Falk hit his free throws to offset McDaniel's basket, and with two seconds left, Harp, shortest man on the court at 6'0", missed the first but hit the second of two foul tries. Curlee shot from past midcourt as the buzzer sounded, but it bounced off the rim.

BACK AGAIN — Amarillo's Mickey Vaclav is back at his favorite spot last night, the Pampa basket, as teammate David Jackson backs him up and Davy McDaniel poises for a rebound.

Lee Leads Vanderbilt Over Kentucky Wildcats

By United Press International
Lee is marching through Dixie again.
Clyde Lee scored 41 points Tuesday night to lead Vanderbilt to a 97-79 triumph at Lexington over defending Southeastern Conference champion Kentucky. The victory was the second SEC win without a loss for the Commodores, who defeated conference foe Tennessee last Saturday, 77-72.

The 6-foot-9 pivotman's 41 points were the most ever recorded against the Kentuckians, which goes back a long way. Vandy led 30-46 at the half but a torrid 60.7 per cent shooting mark after intermission enabled the Commodores to pull steadily away from the Wildcats. St. John's, which won the Holiday Festival last week by a point over Michigan, proved again it can win the close ones with an overtime 72-70 squeaker over George Washington. Sonny Dove, a 6-foot-8 sophomore, led the eighth-ranked Redmen with 22 points and 23 rebounds but it was substitute Henry Clues who provided the winning basket in the final three seconds when he tipped in teammate Ken McIntyre's missed jump shot.

Markham Stops Lefors

By KEITH GEISLER
News Sports Correspondent
ALLISON — George Markham was as hot as a two-dollar pistol in a pawnshop window last night as he led the Allison Antelopes to a 71-61 victory over the Lefors Pirates, while the host gals made it a twin win with a 38-27 victory.

Markham led the basket like a grandmother coaching doties, smashing home 32 points to offset one of Lefors' best games of the season. It was Markham at the bucket and Punk Childress on the boards for a narrow 11-10 quarter lead and 23-19 haltime margin. Lefors rattled the nets in the third quarter for 22 rallies, but burly George never cooled off as the Antelopes' hit 25 to carry a 50-41 bulge into the final frame.

Three Bucs hit in double figures, Larry Pruett with 17, Ace Roberts 15 and Danny Hill 12 points. Allison outthrust Lefors in the fourth quarter to pull away to the gals win. The hostesses had led 64, 16-10 and 23-19 at the quarter stops. Little Linda Miller led the winners with 19, Kathy Gatlin had 12 for the Pirates. Lefors is at McLean Friday night.

Lee Takes Two

Robert E. Lee romped to a pair of cage victories over visiting Amarillo Highland Park yesterday, the Rebels rapping the ninth grade 62-19 and the Johnny Rebs taking their first triumph of the season, 45-13.

Fourteen players scored for the Rebels, with Carl Lang hitting 10, Johnny Marsh eight and Will Walls seven. Everyone on the Johnny's saw action also as Gary Parrish racked up 16 and Lee Hollis 10 points.

SOX SIGN DROTT

CHICAGO (UPI)—Dick Drott, former pitcher for the Chicago Cubs and Houston Astros, was signed Tuesday by the Chicago White Sox for their Indianapolis farm club. The 28-year-old right-hander, who claims his sore arm has been cured, will be with the parent club Feb. 24 at Sarasota, Fla., for spring training.

49ERS SIGN FRKETCHI

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The San Francisco Forty Niners signed their 17th draft choice Tuesday, Len Frketchi of Oregon State, a punter who averaged 40.9 yards a kick this season.

Sports Parade

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI)—At 24, Dave DeBusschere ranks as the youngest coach in the National Basketball Association, but he's growing old in a hurry.

Seemingly, DeBusschere is in a spot that makes him the envy of every red-blooded American boy.

He has a pair of well-paying jobs as player-coach of the Detroit Pistons during the winter and as a highly regarded pitcher with the Chicago White Sox in the summer. Both teams paid him handsome bonuses for signing with them.

DeBusschere has been coaching the Pistons for two months now and they've played just a shade under .500 ball for him.

"My job, coaching and playing at the same time, might seem like a lot of fun to some people," he said. "It's not to me. I consider it exactly what it is—a job."

Playing Hasn't Suffered

The six-foot-five Piston pilot feels his playing hasn't suffered since he took over as the team's coach in early November. When DeBusschere is on the floor, Dennis Butcher looks after things on the bench.

"Sometimes my performance on the floor satisfies the coach," DeBusschere said, "and sometimes it doesn't. Coaching and playing at the same time makes you appreciate everyone's problems. I honestly don't know whether coaching affects my own play. I do know it changes it to some extent." Coaching has brought about still another change in DeBusschere. He now has to decide which players to keep and which to let go.

DeBusschere had to make his first cut shortly before New Year's Day and the player he lopped from the roster was Willie Jones, a five-year man in the league.

"It was uncomfortable for me," he confessed. "I never did anything like that before."

Similar Situation

For DeBusschere, the shoe was on the other foot because White Sox Manager Al Lopez called him in last April and told him he was going back to Indianapolis.

"I remember how I felt," he recalled. "It was one day before the season started and I was the last man to be cut. I didn't like it, but what could I say?"

DeBusschere is slated for a much better shot with the White Sox this year. He reported to them on the first day of spring training last February but already has notified General Manager Ed Short he'll be tardy this time if his Pistons make the NBA playoffs.

Any attempt to elicit from DeBusschere which sport he prefers, baseball or basketball, is a waste of time.

"That's a loaded question," he said. "I like 'em both. Each is an entirely separate game and I don't think there is any real way to compare them."

Rentzel Sounds Off About Pro Signing

MOBILE, Ala. (UPI)—Opinion is divided among a number of top Senior Bowl players about controversy over the way professional football teams recruit college athletes.

One of the most outspoken is Lance Rentzel, the 6-foot-2, 220-pound halfback who gained nearly 500 yards during the regular season for Oklahoma.

Rentzel was one of four players prevented from playing in the Gator Bowl last weekend against Florida State when Sooner Coach Gomer Jones learned they had signed undated pro contracts.

"It's a shame and it's unfair that we were prevented from playing," said Rentzel. "I am positive there were other players in that game and in other bowl games who had signed contracts and just weren't talking about it."

Rentzel told UPI he was sorry he let his team down—FSU beat Oklahoma 36-19—but said when he signed an undated contract with the Minnesota Vikings he did not realize he was doing anything wrong.

A heated dispute has erupted recently involving tactics of pro clubs to attain the services of college players before the season ended.

"I don't hold any grudges," said Rentzel. "I do believe some changes should be made—maybe a deadline so there wouldn't be all this pressure on us players."

"Maybe this would cut down on some of this recruiting," he said.

Ag Cage Boss Coach of Year

DALLAS (UPI)—The Texas Sportswriters Association Tuesday announced the selection of Texas A&M basketball coach Shelby Metcalf as its senior college coach of the year for 1964.

Metcalf led the A&M squad to a Southwest Conference basketball championship in his first season as a head coach. He won out in closing balloting over J. T. King, who piloted Texas Tech to its best football season since it joined the Southwest Conference.

Metcalf got 46 first-place votes to 35 for King. On the preferential ballot in which first-place counts 1 point, second 2 and so on, Metcalf had 244 points to King's 256.

Darrell Royal of Texas has made a habit of getting sports-writers' awards in recent years, but he finished third with 24 first place votes and 370 points.

Red Barr, the SMU swimming coach; Dave Williams, Houston's golf coach and Emmett Brunson, Rice track coach, trailed in the voting.

HIRES PARTNER

Investigate Death Car

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Racing experts were investigating the cause today of a skidding crash which fatally injured Billy Wade, one of the nation's leading stock car drivers, during a test run.

The 34-year-old Wade, who was not thought seriously injured at first, died of apparent internal injuries a short time after he was lifted from the car Tuesday.

The Spartanburg, S. C., native was driving a 1964 Mercury in a fire test for Goodyear when the crackup occurred at Daytona International Speedway. The car slammed into a wall on the west turn and spun several times before stopping.

Last year Wade won four of 35 National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing (NASCAR) contests, and finished among the top 10 in 25 of the events. He was named rookie of the year in 1963 by NASCAR. Wade finished fourth last year in grand national point standings, winning $29,710. He was the fourth grand national driver to die within a year.

Joe Weatherly died last January at Riverside, Calif., and Glenn (Fireball) Roberts and Jimmy Pardue were killed in separate crashes at Charlotte, N. C.

TAKE TWO — And Mac McWilliams does as he lays a pair of points up for Pampa, past Amarillo's David Jackson, while Jeff Harp gets out of the way in a hurry. Mike Burkett and Sugar Cain back up the action. The Sandies won, 58-56, to throw the district into a four-way tie.

Western Adds to Coaches

EL PASO (UPI)—Texas Western College today hired Cliff Speegle from the Canadian professional ranks as top assistant to new head football coach Bobby Dobbs.

Speegle spent the last two seasons as a line coach with Toronto of the professional Canadian Football League. He and Dobbs were rivals of sorts until the former Calgary head coach was named to succeed former head coach Warren Harper at Texas Western at the end of the school's winter season.

Tuesday, Texas Western reached into the de-commissioned football machinery of Detroit University to hire Dave Nusz, a defensive backfield coach at Detroit. Dobbs will reveal Nusz' coaching assignment when spring training starts.

Speegle, a 1939 Oklahoma State graduate, coached with Bacone (Calif.) Jr. College, Colgate University and Edmonon in the Canadian pro lineup. He finished eight years as Oklahoma State's head coach before going to Toronto.

Nusz played on the Maryland national championship team of 1953 and its undefeated 1955 squad. Later, he became an assistant coach at William and Mary.

Wellington Whips Wheeler

WHEELER — Visiting Wellington put the brakes on Wheeler's win streak last night with a double triumph, the Skyrockets flaring, 60-47 and the Rockettes soaring to a 49-35 triumph.

A tremendous first quarter gave Wellington the eventual winning bulge, as they shot off to a 23-8 quarter lead. Wheeler immediately put on a press and held the visitors to one point in the second frame, cutting it to 24-16 at the half. The Mustangs had to open up to catch up however, and the hot-handed Rockettes broke it to 40-28 and kept rolling in the final frame.

Peters had 22 points and Weems 12 for Wellington. Richard Wallace 18, Dunk Porter 11, Danny Dorman 10 for Wheeler.

Wellington's tall and talented girls broke the game open in the third quarter as all three Wheeler guards fouled out. Wellington took a narrow 8-5 quarter lead as Linda Hall and Judy Tucker led Wheeler's defense and Nancy Holton headed the Rockettes, and it was 21-13 at the half.

Wellington went wild at the charity stripe as Wheeler's guards heard the whistle and broke it to 35-17. Betty Courtney had 28, Jo Holton 17 points for the winners. Donna Sue Ford 13, Sherry Barnes 11, Bev Clark 10 for the Mustangettes.

Wheeler goes to the Canadian Tournament. The fight in Chicago is billed as a title match by the World Boxing Association, to fill the vacancy created when it stripped Cassius Clay of his crown.

Top O' Texas Teams On Tournament Trail

Top O' Texas basketball teams get in one last weekend of hot and heavy tournament action before going into district play with Canadian, Miami, Mobeetie, Groom, White Deer and Wheeler in tourney play.

Canadian, of course, will host the eight-team Canadian Tournament, one of the oldest in the area, with Wheeler among the entries, while Miami switches from that tourney to the Darrouzett Tournament instead, joining Mobeetie and White Deer and Groom will play in the Claude Tournament.

Briscoe rates the favorite's nod in the Canadian Tournament, host coach Jerry Estep figures, with Allison a strong threat and Wheeler the dark horse. Briscoe girls also get the "favorites" nod, with Allison and Canadian girls the threats and Wheeler again the dark horse.

Briscoe, featuring 6-2 1/2 jumping jack Orville Atherton and ballhawk Tommy Hays, won the recent Miami Tournament over powerhouse Panhandle Allison and Miami. Allison will again give the Brones a rugged battle behind 6-2 Punk Childress and 6-1 George Markham. Wheeler, with plenty of height including 6-4 1/2 Mike Gandy and experience as well as seen very little action due to football, so is a question mark among the cage veterans. Host Canadian, handicapped by a lack of height and ballhandling still features red-hot scoring led by Butcher-boy Bennie Eckles, ad will have the home court advantage.

Briscoe girls, finalists in the Miami Tourney, are led by 5-9 do-it-all Marvellous Mickie Fulks and deadshot Lou Meadows. Allison gals will be a threat, as will Canadian's kittens on their own court.

Wheeler girls have shooting depth, and height, but like the boys, lack experience.

Action opens at 11:30 Thursday morning, with Briscoe vs. Higgins girls, followed by the boys Wheeler-Morse teams tangle beginning at 2:10 p.m., Follett-Kelton at 5:50 and Allison-Canadian at 8:30.

Consolation action begins Friday at 11:30 a.m., with winner's bracket gals starting at 5:50 and boys at 7:10.

The Darrouzett Tournament will feature four teams from Texas and four from Oklahoma. Host Darrouzett, Fort Supply and Bal'ko all return district champions from last year and must be rated the top choices with Miami and Booker strong threats. Port gets the nod in girls play, with Miami the chief threat. Port girls went to the state finals last year in Oklahoma, and return five starters.

Action begins at noon Thursday with Bal'ko vs. Fort Supply girls, followed by the boys at 1:15. Next on tap is Beaver, Darrouzett girls, followed by Mobeetie-Darrouzett boys. Booker-Miami girls open the evening round at 6 p.m., followed by the boys, with Port-Mobeetie girls following and Port-Darrouzett B boys closing out the action that night.

Legal Eagles Mull Baseball Suit By Lane

CHICAGO (UPI)—Frank C. Lane's $144,166.66 breach of contract suit against Charles O. Finley and his Kansas City Athletics apparently was reduced to one legal issue today and could be completed shortly.

Lane testified at length before Judge James B. Parsons in U.S. District Court Tuesday and presented only one other witness, Bill Veeck, a former owner of three major league baseball teams.

But when testimony was ended and the jury excluded, Judge Parsons declared that apparently "the only real legal problem is what happens on the next four years" of the eight-year contract Lane charged Finley with breaking.

Lane signed the contract providing for him to serve as general manager of the Athletics for four years and as "consultant" for four more years, for $25,000 per year.

Finley's attorney, Thomas A. Reynolds, Jr., executive vice president of the Milwaukee Braves, told the court he could not deny that the contract was broken when Finley discharged Lane on Aug. 22, 1961. But, he said, "no damage flows" from the breach, if Lane is paid for his term as general manager.

Lane's suit alleged that Finley owned him $44,166.66 in salary for the period to Jan. 1, 1965, and $100,000 for the next four years.

New York Nixes Bout

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York State Athletic Commission has exercised its right as a non-member of the world Boxing Association in refusing to recognize the winner of the March 5 Ernie Terrell-Eddie Machen fight as the heavyweight champion.

The fight in Chicago is billed as a title match by the World Boxing Association, to fill the vacancy created when it stripped Cassius Clay of his crown.

New York, instead, still deems Clay the world champion and has its own elimination tournament to provide a challenger for the heavyweight king.

Briscoe Batters Mobeetie

MOBEETIE—Briscoe smashed the nets hot and heavy for a pair of high-scoring district wins over Mobeetie last night, 71-47 in boys play and 77-49 in girls.

The Brones led all the way after the opening minute as Orville Atherton completely dominated the boards and Tommy Hays hawked the ball. The Hornets couldn't seem to hang on to the ball as they fell behind 16-9, 34-18 and 58-30 at the quarter stops.

Atherton had 29 points to top the scoring, followed by Mike Sides with 18 and Hays with 13. For Mobeetie, it was Billy Whitten with 19 and Eddie Hodges with 11.

Briscoe girls followed Marvellous Mickie Fulks to a romp as they opened a 24-11 quarter lead and then went crazy for a 55-22 halftime margin. Mickie had 27 points, Diane Dodd 19, Melody Zybach 13, Judy Howell had 29 and Judy Bailey 16 for the Hornets.

Mobeetie goes to the Darrouzett Tournament Thursday.

Brodie Leads Gridiron Golf

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (UPI)—A consistent game, and maybe his experience as a former golf pro, combined to give San Francisco quarterback John Brodie a one-stroke lead today entering the final round in the National Football League golf tournament.

Brodie, who played the pro circuit four years ago, shot a seven-over-par 77 on the Hollywood Beach Hotel course Tuesday, giving him a two-round total of 156.

Washington Redskins linebacker John Reger blew his probabilities of winning when he turned in a 94 to ruin his first round 75, which had him in the lead for a short time after the first round.

Jessie Whittington, Green Bay defensive halfback, held down second place, one stroke behind Brodie. He fired the lowest round Tuesday, a 76.

Two players were tied for third place at 158. They were King Hill, Philadelphia quarterback and defending champ, and Jim Bakken, kicking specialist

Sen Stock Sold

WASHINGTON (UPI)—James M. Johnston and James H. Lemon, investment partners with a penchant for post-Christmas bargains, found one in the basement of the American League—the Washington Senators.

The two investors Tuesday purchased an additional 40 per cent of the Senators' stock for an undisclosed price to gain complete control of the club.

Johnston and Lemon originally acquired some shares at the time the American League team was established in 1961 when the original club moved to Minnesota and increased their holdings to 60 per cent two years ago.

North-South Pick Kickers

MOBILE, Ala. (UPI)—North and South all-stars continued twice-a-day workouts today getting in shape for Saturday's 16th annual Senior Bowl football game.

Kicking assignments for both teams were made Monday. Fullback Tom Nowatzke of Indiana, a 6-foot-3, 228-pounder, was picked by Coach George Wilson to do the place kicking for the North.

Nowatzke booted only one field goal during the regular season but it was a 51-yarder. South Coach Tom Landry of the Dallas Cowboys chose Justin Canale of Mississippi State to handle placements.

Doing the North's punting will be Len Friklich of Oregon State, an end, who averaged more than 40 yards during the season. Virginia Tech quarterback Bob Schweickert will punt for the South, backed by Jimmy Sidle of Auburn.

TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

So We Have It Tough?

Anyone who is inclined to feel sorry for himself or to bemoan lack of "breaks" might well consider the case of Roger W. Irving of St. Petersburg, Fla. Irving, who has been named Handicapped American of the Year for 1964 by the President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped, is 72 years old. He has been handicapped since an accident resulted in the amputation of the lower portion of his right arm when he was 17. Undaunted, the young man rehabilitated himself by returning to school. When funds ran out, he got a job as a salesman to help his family, and also sang professionally. Some years later he was forced to give up his singing career and his sales job when his voice began to fail as a result of cancer of the vocal chords. His larynx was removed and he was given a mechanical voice. Still undaunted, Irving took a course in esophageal speech, then a postgraduate course in that subject and in organic voice problems. Then he lost the sight of his right eye when a cataract operation was unsuccessful. Did Roger Irving give up? He did not. He turned his afflictions into a business asset and has made a living by serving as a consultant to the U. S. Veterans Administration and by other work in vocational rehabilitation. But his self-support has been only incidental to dedicating his life to helping other laryngectomies learn to speak. He has taught more than 100 of them, and has traveled all over the world at his own expense to study, lecture and promote esophageal speech. He also has been active in a number of humanitarian organizations, including the Boy Scouts of America and groups which aid the handicapped. It is suggested that this account of Roger Irving's career be kept in a handy place, and that when any of us feel that things are too tough to handle, we get it out and read it over.

Simplifying Knowledge

We hear a lot about the "information explosion" — how knowledge is piling on top of knowledge at such a rate that we are in danger of being buried under mountains of information. It's enough to make a kindergarten want to turn in his scissors and craft paper right now. It's refreshing then to hear an optimistic view, especially from someone who has done his own share of adding to mankind's store of knowledge. Biochemist Albert Szent-Gyorgyi, winner of the 1937 Nobel Prize for medicine, is optimistic because "science tends to generalize, and generalization means simplification." He points to his own field, biology, which is very much richer than in his student days. "But it is simpler, too. Then it was horribly complex, being fragmented into a great number of isolated principles. Today these are all fused into one single complex with the atomic model in its center." According to Szent-Gyorgyi, we have the wrong idea about the function of books. We think of them as something whose contents have to be crammed into our heads — or our children's. Just the opposite, he says. "Books are there to keep the knowledge in while we use our heads for something better." Another widely held opinion is that memorizing of facts is good mental training and that knowledge does no harm. But, he says, the mind is not a bottomless pit, "and if we put in one thing we might have to leave out another." So what the schools have to do, he says, "is to make us learn how to learn, to whet our appetites for knowledge, to teach us the delight of doing a job well and the excitement of creativity, to teach us to love what we do, and to help us to find what we love to do." A tall order, but one well worth attempting to fill.

Science — A Common Bond

At the same time as Egyptian jets were shooting down an American oil company plane, Egyptian and American scientists were co-operating in measuring the moon's temperature during a lunar eclipse. While their government takes economic assistance from the United States with one hand and encourages the senseless destruction of a valuable American library with the other, the scientists of Egypt have given another demonstration of the truth that the question for knowledge removes some men far above the petty barbarisms and ambitions of other men who call themselves leaders. Perhaps human government will become a science someday, too. Anita — And if I refuse you, Alfred, will you kill yourself? Alfred that has been my usual custom.

WASHINGTON:

Flaws in Security Revealed

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA)—There has now been time for experts to make a thorough study of the operations of Swedish Soviet agent Col. Stig Wennerstrom. These studies are alarming. They reveal an unexpectedly high degree of Soviet "professionalism" (competence) in sophisticated agent operations. They also disclose weaknesses in American military-industrial security.

It was made abundantly clear from the Wennerstrom operations that the Soviets have come a long way from the spying techniques of the Whittaker Chambers and Alger Hiss days. These common American security weaknesses were disclosed by the Wennerstrom testimony: First — Wennerstrom and his Soviet chiefs noted a tendency by Americans to highly classify many items of little or no use to the Russians and to under-classify or leave in the clear many items the Reds considered of prime intelligence interest. This less-than-perfect system of classification, of course, makes life easier for Soviet agents. Wennerstrom took full advantage of it. Second — Wennerstrom noted that in many places men handling secret information tended to take his word that he was entitled to have access to secret material. Apparently he was not asked for documentary proof. Seemingly, some of these men gave him information without checking with Pentagon or State Department security men. Third — There seems to be a tendency among higher governmental and company officials to be more lax in security than lower officials. If a top man met Wennerstrom under the right circumstances socially, he frequently was automatically considered O.K. Fourth — Among the men and women Wennerstrom met, there seemed to be a tendency to believe that if a man wasn't a Communist, then he couldn't be a spy. There apparently have been so many stories about the kind of people who supposedly spy for the Russians that it is difficult for some Americans to conceive of a socially acceptable, conservative — appearing colonel from a fine country like Sweden actually being a spy. Wennerstrom apparently was spying for excitement, for money or in revenge for having been passed over for promotion — or for a combination of all three of these reasons. Fifth — There seems to be a weakness in the way that U.S. and Allied officers transport classified material in foreign countries. It seems from the Wennerstrom testimony that if the Russians know a particular man is carrying a document they want, they have good techniques for securing that document, copying and returning it without the officer-courier knowing about it. The Reds seemed in cases cited by Wennerstrom to be able to accomplish this theft whether the document on his person or in a diplomatic pouch. How they did this is not disclosed in the Wennerstrom unclassified testimony. Some experts in the security field now favor classifying less material, then making certain that security precautions are tightened on what's left.

WASHINGTON — The sharp dispute behind Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz' effort to oust Undersecretary John F. Henning is spilling over into Congress, but in another form. The congressional fight will center around the use of federal funds to push birth control projects in the Johnson administration's war against poverty. This highly controversial proposal, scheduled to be included in the President's legislative program to expand the anti-poverty war, was vigorously opposed by Henning, a devout Catholic and one of the best-liked members of the sub-cabinet. Secretary Wirtz, a key adviser to the President on domestic problems, not only favors this use of federal money but in recent weeks has become the chief advocate of government action to curb births among the poor and under-privileged. In a little-publicized speech to a national negro group here, Wirtz specifically called for the earmarking of anti-poverty funds to promote birth control studies and planning in distressed areas. According to labor friends of Henning, Wirtz has privately cited their "conflict of view" as one of the major reasons he feels he cannot work with the former director of the California Industrial Relations Board. While Henning's congressional and labor supporters have frankly been told by White House aides he has little chance of retaining his sub-cabinet post, they intend to make a final fight in Congress by highlighting the basic issues behind the dispute. MAJOR SHOWDOWN — Under arrangements proposed by AFL-CIO president George Meany, chief Henning backer, the two Labor Department officials will be summoned before the House Labor Committee this month for their views on the controversial birth control issue. Outcome of this Wirtz-Henning confrontation could importantly affect two of President Johnson's biggest spending proposals — war on poverty and foreign aid. In both programs, the President will seek authority from Congress to use federal funds to promote birth control studies and planning projects, despite warnings by Speaker John McCormack, Mass., and Representative Thomas Morgan, D. Pa., chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee, that injecting this disputed issue could turn many legislators against the foreign aid and anti-poverty spending bills. Representative Morgan, with McCormack's backing, defeated a State Department-sponsored move in 1964 to obtain authority to spend foreign aid funds on birth control programs in undeveloped nations. The authority was put into the foreign aid authorization bill in the Senate but eliminated by Morgan when House-Senate conferees met to iron out differences. SAVED BY THE BELL — Undersecretary Henning probably would already have been out of the sub-cabinet except for an unrelated telephone call received by President Johnson. During a White House meeting attended by AFL-CIO president Meany, Secretary Wirtz raised the question of replacing Henning just as the phone on the President's desk rang, stating: "Mr. President, I believe this is as good a time as any to take up with George that matter of replacing Secretary Henning we previously discussed." As the President picked up the phone, Meany leaned over to Wirtz and said: "I am shocked that you would even make such a suggestion. John (Henning) has been one of labor's best supporters in government. He has labor's full backing and confidence. If you are really serious about this, I believe the President should have the full views of the labor movement before there is a final action." President Johnson, who apparently had been listening, immediately changed the subject after hanging up the phone. Completely ignoring both Wirtz and Meany's statements, he asked the AFL-CIO chief about labor's plans to help push his Medicare bill. When Meany called the White House later to urge that Henning be retained, the President told him, "My mind is open. I heard every word you said to Secretary Wirtz." The President also said he would take no action without discussing the matter further with the 70-year-old labor leader. CHANGING THE SYSTEM — President Johnson is going to recommend to Congress major changes in both the electoral college system and laws on succession to the presidency. That's the private report Senator Birch Bayh, D-Ind., is circulating among members of the Senate Judiciary Committee, which must pass on all changes. Senator Bayh, who succeeded in getting a new succession bill through the Senate only to see it die in the House last year, says the President personally alerted him to be prepared to hold hearings, but didn't give any details of the changes he will propose. The President and the Vice President are the only elected federal officials not elected by direct vote of the people. They are elected by members of the electoral college, an institution that has survived the founding of the nation despite more than 100 attempts in Congress to alter and abolish it. While in recent years the electoral college has always followed the mandate of the voters, they are under no legal obligation to do so.

DON'T WAIT FOR GOVERNMENT (Industrial News Review)
President Carey of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States has some good advice for businessmen. As he sees it, they should display more initiative and self-reliance in their role as community leaders. "The economy will be much better off," he says, "if we do not wait around for government subsidies when it comes to providing what is needed in the home community — be it slum clearance, mass transportation, education or providing more jobs. "If we take thought—and then take united action—we can make it unnecessary for the federal government to move in upon our lives and decisions." Waiting for the central government to act on local matters is the surest road there is to the all-embracing welfare state.

You know it's the start of a new year when your mailman delivers a missive from Uncle Sam — your income tax form. . . . Incidentally, the month of January was named by the Romans for one of their gods, Janus, who presided over the entrance to the year and having two faces could look back to the year past and forward to the current one. . . . When a young girl marries an older man you sometimes hear the wedding mentioned as being "a case of January and May." The phrase has nothing to do with the months so named, but refers to Chaucer's "Canterbury Tales" in which the poet recounts the romance of a young girl, May, who married January, a Lombard baron then 60 years of age.

Today's smile: A teacher asked one of her young pupils to spell the word "Straight." When he had spelled it correctly she asked if he could give the meaning of the word. "Well," said the youngster, "when my father says 'straight' it means without water." The next thing your health insurance plan will offer is a pre-paid prescription service. It's already being tried in California and will be nationwide within a year. It's designed to help you pay medical bills for drugs and medicines at your local pharmacy. . . . Anyone who has ever been frustrated at being unable to unscrew a tight bottle cap or cover will be delighted to know we came across one of the most satisfying of all inventions and it sells for less than $1. It's a circular piece of flexible, corrugated rubber. Just hold it on a tight cover and turn. It's that easy. Thoughts while shaving: Although ice hockey is considered one of the fastest sports, serious injuries are far less frequent than in other sports such as basketball, football and soccer. Even lacrosse, which many consider "very rough," is safer than the last three mentioned, according to a recent survey of collegiate athletics. . . . If you can't read little Johnny's writing and if he holds his pen in an unorthodox way don't give up on him yet. Leonardo da Vinci wrote with his left hand, backhanded from right to left, almost upside down, and exactly opposite to the usual way of writing. It didn't stop him from painting the "Mona Lisa," one of the world's greatest portraits, or from doing a dozen other things in art and science in the 15th century which showed he was an inspired genius. . . . Labor leaders have been shouting for a shorter work week for years and now due to automation the 20-hour work week will be a reality in the not too distant future. A business analyst friend tells us within the next 25 years most factories will be completely automated so that a few employees can do the work of hundreds by throwing switches and pushing buttons. . . . That House Committee Again. A few years ago I was asked to lecture in England on the role of the Congressional Committees in the United States. While there, I had a most revealing interview with a prominent editor who acknowledged that he had earlier been a Communist and, therefore, was in a position to assess the strength of the publishing industry in England. He said it was extensive, that it was poisoning the whole intellectual climate of the country, and that no solution to the blight was in sight.

Of course, there is no counterpart to the Congressional Committee in the English system, and virtually everyone there admitted that public opinion, long moulded, would not tolerate the existence of one. I thought of this episode when I read of the annual drive to eliminate our own House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Most people do not understand the basic role of the fact-finding committees of Congress. Fact-finding is probably the most important element in the legislative process. There must be a fact-finding body of the Congress, with authority to subpoena witnesses and compel public testimony, if intelligent laws are to come into being. The uncovered facts could impel to the conclusion that existing laws are not stringent enough — or, conversely, unnecessary, and therefore should be repealed or amended. But the facts, whatever they are, have to be learned, and only an advocate of literal know-nothingism can take the position that the Committee should be abolished.

Actually, every presumption works in favor of continuance, particularly in the sensitive area of Soviet activity in the United States. We see Soviet power subverting governments all over the world. Those people who contend the problem does not exist here must hold the untenable position that only in the United States, the prime target of Communist thrusts, does the Soviet not maintain a well-conceived, well-staffed plan of infiltration and subversion. But, every year we witness this campaign against the House Committee. No one seems to take the position that the House of Representatives should actually strengthen the hand of its Un-American Activities Committee.

Because of the heavy restrictions imposed upon it, I suppose, the Committee is not as active as it should be. Last month, we saw a direct challenge to the authority of the administration of a great West Coast university, with academic anarchy prevailing for a few days. I have seen pictures of the daughter of one of the long-time leaders of the Communist Party haranguing the assembled students. Yet Congress is allowed only to guess and surmise that Communists had a hand in the riots. Restricted activity by the IIR-AC gives rise, understandably, to vigilante committees trying to do the job. Vigilantes against Communism cannot do the job. They do not have the legal authority, the know-how, or the tools to do so.

The whole spectacle is fast becoming far off course. A strengthened, sophisticated House Committee, dedicated to the highest ideals of civil liberties, is much needed at this time of reassessment. will violate violence with violence." That's telling 'em. Country Editor speaking: "You can gain security by doing good work. Someone will appreciate it."

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

Question: "Is foreign aid in the form of an outright gift or a loan?"
Answer: "Has our nation any control over foreign aid once it leaves our hands?"

Who decides which nations are to receive foreign aid and in what amount?
"What size vote is needed in Congress to pass a foreign aid bill?"

Answer: Some foreign aid is in outright grants. Some is in the form of long-term loans at low interest rates.

There appears to be no control exercised over the aid funds, once they are authorized.

The administration submits its budget to the Congress for approval, listing specific items, Congress then approves or rejects the budget. Sometimes it attempts to set conditions on the grants and loans, but these seem to be broad enough that the administration dispenses the funds as it wishes.

As with most other legislation, foreign aid bills and appropriations are passed by majority votes in both houses of Congress.

Patient — Doctor, I am feeling much better now, and I want you to let me have you bill.
Doctor — Nonsense, sir, do be calm; you are not strong enough for that yet!

May a smooth face proclaim a smooth heart.

It's stupid to talk nonsense solemnly.

An English tourist who was telling an Irish peasant about the immense size of the British Empire said:

Englishman — Well, Pat, and do you know that the sun never sets on the King's dominion?
Pat — No, your honor.

Englishman — Well, such is the case. But do you know the reason why?

Pat immediately answered, "Pat — I suppose it is because Heaven is afraid to trust an Englishman."

Mr. Jones — Smith has left his umbrella again. I do believe he would leave his head if it were not fastened to him.

Mr. Brown — Yes, I guess you're right. I heard him say only yesterday that he was going to Colorado for his lungs.

The American Heart — Quick and strong in its generous impulses, firm in its attachments, sound to the core.

He (showing his new girl around the city) — See that loving couple in that parked car? They've been married for ten years.

She — Really.
He — Yes, but not to each other.

Jungle Boys Seen in India

NEW DELHI, India (UPI) — Naked, hairy "jungle boys" are reported to be competing with the Yetis — abominable snowmen — in the lower reaches of the western Himalayas.

According to reports reaching Chamoli, the district headquarters 200 miles northeast of New Delhi, three "wild" boys were seen on the outskirts of Taleb Malkoti village, about 25 miles north of Chamoli.

The reports said the three "naked, hairy wild boys" were too quick for the villagers and disappeared in the dense forest nearby when the latter tried to capture them.

Reports of the jungle boys appeared in a local language weekly — Garhwal Samachar. According to the weekly, the jungle boys had been seen several times near the Malkoti village.

Chamoli, inhabited by about 650,000 sturdy hillfolk, is a thickly forested, mountainous country, nestling close to Chinese-ruled Tibet. It has been better known for its man-eating tigers, kingsized orchids and fine soldiers.

This, however, was not the first time "jungle boys" have been reported from this part of the Himalayas. From time immemorial, the locals have maintained the existence of wicked, wild men, called the "vanamanushas," who often raid the villages to kidnap women.

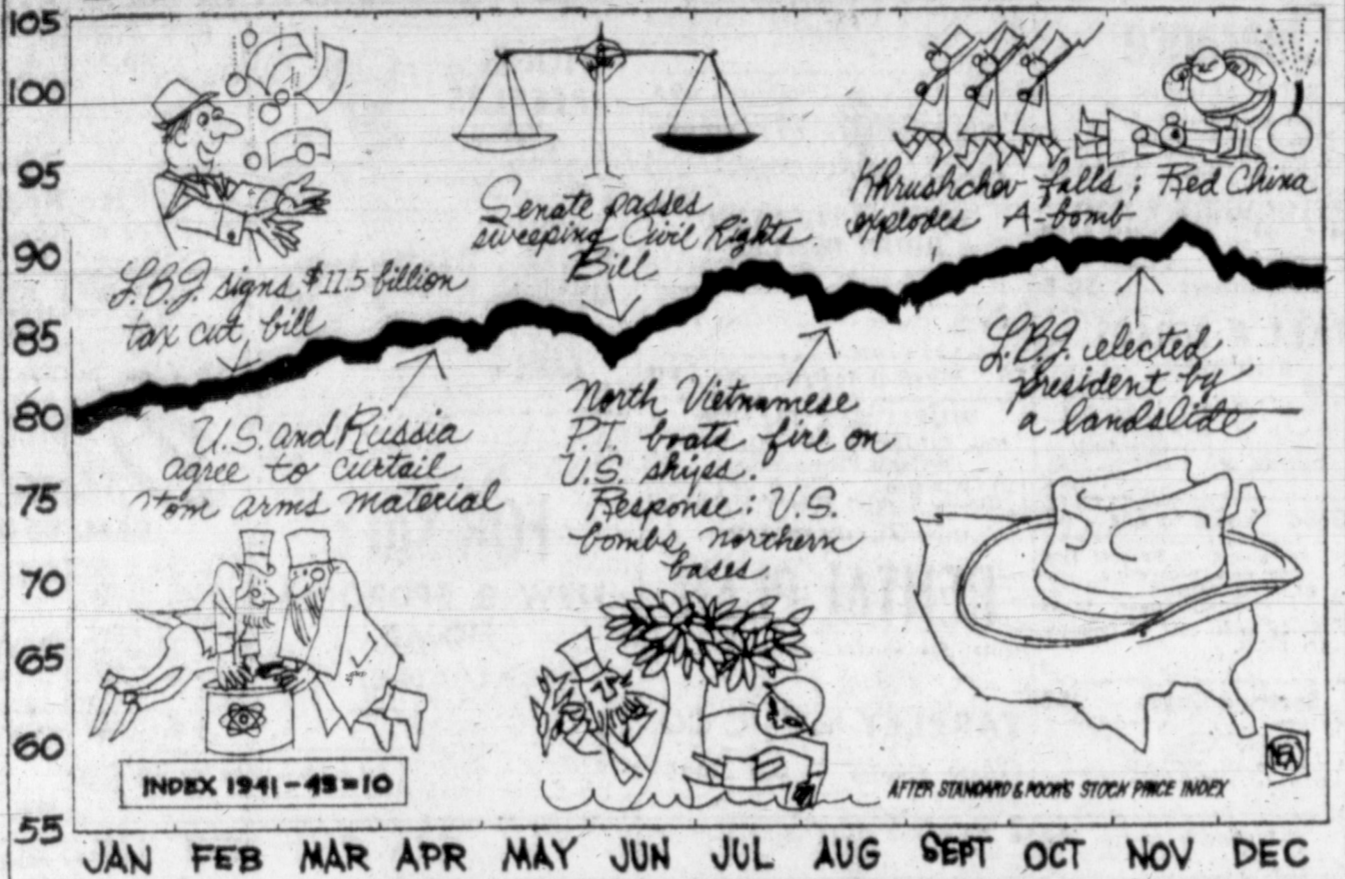

According to the villagers, these jungle men often haunt their villages to demand — by gestures — their share of the crops. In return for the grain, salt and sugar, they are said to leave behind "claw-carved" wooden bowls and blackberries for the obliging villagers.

Villagers who swear to have seen the jungle boys closely describe the species to be well-built, hairy creatures with flat noses and long arms touching the knees.

The villagers also think their jungle men aren't as bashful as the reputed abominable snowmen of the Nepa, Himalayas.

State's First Job Corps Ready

AUSTIN (UPI)—The first Job Corps training camp in the administration's war on poverty opens for business Feb. 1, only six miles from the small college where a student named Lyndon Johnson studied to be a teacher 35 years ago.

The training center will be set up at Camp Gary, a shuttered World War II Army post near San Marcos, Tex., home of Southwest Texas State College, President Johnson's alma mater.

J. Warren Hitt, deputy Texas commissioner of education, announced Tuesday that a group of 300 will arrive Feb. 1, for training as teachers in the Job Corps program.
