EYE ON SPACE DESTROYER — Flames consume the $30-million "eye on space" radar installation at Elgin AFB, Fla. The new radar system, only one of its type, was used to detect, identify, and track space satellites and missiles. There were no injuries, but a spokesman said the installation was a total loss.

President Asks Congress To Approve Health Bill

Vietnamese Told To Attack With Fighter Planes

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson asked Congress today to approve a health care plan for the aged and provide federal grants for regional centers to combat heart disease, cancer and stroke.

Johnson called again for a hospital insurance program for the elderly financed under the Social Security system to provide basic protection against the costs of serious illness.

"I consider this measure to be of utmost urgency," the President said in a 5,100 word health message to Congress.

Johnson also requested: An increase in federal funds for maternal and child health and crippled children's services (See PRESIDENT, Page 3)

In this way, the spectre of catastrophic hospital bills can be lifted from the lives of our older citizens," he said.

In a wide-ranging message, Johnson also requested:

Compassion and reason dictate that this logical extension of our proven Social Security system will supply the prudent, feasible and dignified way to free the aged from the fear of financial hardship in the event of illness.

He said it should be financed by regular, modest contributions during an individual's working years. It would provide protection against costs of hospital and post-hospital extended care, home nursing services and outpatient diagnostic services.

The plan as envisioned by Johnson also would provide protection to those not now covered by Social Security. He said the health care legislation should clearly indicate that the plan would not interfere with a patient's freedom to choose a doctor or hospital.

The money in Texas banks now is billions more than the deposits a year ago, in nearly every case a new record. Bankers say 1965 could be another record-breaking year.

The bank call was made by Joseph W. Barr, chairman of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation in Washington.

A typical city was Waco, where banks had an all-time high of $157.1 million a year ago and $78 million Dec. 31.

Spokesmen for Waco banks say they see "no reason to believe 1965 will not be as good or better" than last year.

Over Two Billion Houston's four biggest banks reported deposits of $2.35 billion and the first City National Bank with $900.31 million.

Dallas County banks reported total deposits of almost $3.9 billion—their highest total in history.

The deposits of the county's 65 banks compared with the December, 1963 total of $3,262,789,051.

The new peak in Dallas marked the seventh consecutive bank call in which Dallas set new highs for bank deposits.

Austin ended 1964 with a record high deposits of $365,634,748 in its eight banks, compared with the previous record of $384,596,403 as of last April 15.

San Antonio bank deposits were up $23 million over the Oct. 1, 1964 total with a new total of $927,524,107.

The Dec. 20, 1963 deposits were $864,406,002 for the county's 27 banks.

El Paso's 11 banks had on deposit $34 million more than a year ago with a total of $359,035,817.

Amarillo banks had a total of $263,182,172 on deposit, an increase of $22 million over Dec. 20, 1963. The seven banks had $18.3 million more than on last Oct. 1.

Lubbock banks had a record $22,281,050, exceeding by $15.6 million last year's total and area bankers and businessmen

Ruby Lawyers Start Long Legal Journey

DALLAS (UPI)—The legal baggage of the Jack Ruby case—600 pounds of it—was ceremoniously trucked out of the Dallas courthouse Wednesday, starting a journey that may take it eventually to the U. S. Supreme Court.

The legal documents that formed the basis of appeals by Ruby's lawyers headed for Austin, the state capital. Ruby sat in his cell five floors above, apparently unaware of the "moving day" that may decide whether he lives or dies. His defense attorneys say he is insane—perhaps hopelessly.

The move was part of the lawyers' plans to appeal the death sentence given Ruby for shooting Lee Harvey Oswald, assassin of President Kennedy. The 21 volumes of court records, newspapers, statements and other legal material will wind up in the hands of the state Court of Criminal Appeals.

Next Step Next step in the lengthy process will be oral arguments before the three judges of the Court of Criminal Appeals.

Phil Burleson was the only defense representative at the formal transfer of records in the court of Criminal Dist. Judge Joe Brown. Only he and Joe Tomahill still remain on the Ruby defense team that has seen eight lawyers come and go, including trial chief Melvin Belli of San Francisco.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Bill Alexander represented the prosecution and County Clerk Bill Shaw supervised the record session.

Oral arguments are expected to be set for sometime in April before the Court of Criminal Appeals. Burleson, a former appeals specialist for Dist. Atty. Henry Wade, will be one of those spreading on Ruby's behalf. A key defense point is that Judge Brown refused to move the trial from Dallas, where the assassination and slaying of Oswald were highly publicized. The newspapers including a full-page photo of Ruby shooting Oswald, were introduced to show news coverage when defense attorneys sought a change of venue.

Argue In Favor Two of three prosecutors, led by Wade, are expected to argue in favor of affirming the conviction. (See RUBY, Page 3)

Negroes to Protest Wallace Appearance

By United Press International Negroes threatened to demonstrate in Nashville, Tenn., today in protest against an appearance by Alabama Gov. George Wallace.

Wallace was scheduled to address the annual convention of the Tennessee School Board Association this morning despite the threat by officials of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Mrs. C. E. McGruder, president of the Nashville NAACP, had appealed to association authorities to cancel Wallace's speech. The association refused and Mrs. McGruder said "we have no alternative but to demonstrate."

Another Negro leader, Rev. Kelly Miller Smith, said Negroes felt that Wallace was "not of the caliber that should speak before a school board association."

Ernest W. Cotten, executive secretary of the association, said Wallace was invited because he had a "brilliant" record as governor and had done much to further education in Alabama. He said police protection had been provided for the governor.

In Jackson, Miss., Gov. Paul Johnson said Wednesday he might call the legislature into emergency session to consider federal desegregation mandates on public schools receiving federal funds. But Johnson said there was no immediate prospect of such a session. The 1964 civil rights law requires that each school district, in addition to the state school board, sign desegregation pledges as a prerequisite to federal aid.

The Georgia Board of Education will hold the first of a series of three meetings Friday to acquaint school superintendents with the civil rights law.

Elsewhere: Atlanta: New Criminal Court Solicitor William Spence Wednesday signed an accusation charging restaurant owner Lester Maddox with threatening Negroes with a pistol.

Bogalusa, La.: Mayor Jesse H. Cutler Jr. Wednesday deplored the publicity given the cancellation of a speech by former Congressman Brooks Hays following pressure by the Ku Klux Klan.

Atlanta: Negro leader Martin Luther King Jr. was to be honored at Morehouse College today for receiving the 1964 Nobel Prize.

Detroit: A group of white families "very happy with our integration neighborhood" has invoked a new city ordinance to stop real estate firms from pressuring them to move.

Under the new law, if a broker persists, a citizen can start legal action which could result in misdemeanor penalties against the real estate man.

series of five special messages being sent to Capitol Hill from the White House over a period of just eight days.

Speaking of the plan commonly referred to as "medicare" during previous legislative battles, Johnson said:

Compassion and reason dictate that this logical extension of our proven Social Security system will supply the prudent, feasible and dignified way to free the aged from the fear of financial hardship in the event of illness.

He said it should be financed by regular, modest contributions during an individual's working years. It would provide protection against costs of hospital and post-hospital extended care, home nursing services and outpatient diagnostic services.

Severinsen Here For Pop Concert

First performance of the two-night Pampa High School Pop Concert is scheduled for 8 p.m. tonight in Robert E. Lee Junior High School.

A feature of the program will be the appearance of Carl (Doc) Severinsen, lead trumpet player with Skitch Henderson's band on NBC television's "Tonight Show."

The high school band will carry the first half of the program with two guest numbers by Severinsen. The guest artist then will appear as soloist with the school band's "Swing Kings" in the second half of the program.

The concert, which will be repeated tomorrow night, is being held to raise money to finance the band's annual trip to the Tri-State Music Festival in Enid, Okla.

All seats are reserved and tickets may be purchased at Richard Drug and at the High School. Tickets also will be available at the door at Robert E. Lee school tonight.

Severinsen arrived in Pampa around noon today and made his first rehearsal appearance during the regular band class period from 12:30 until 1:30 p.m. He also was scheduled for a rehearsal at Robert E. Lee at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Newsboys Play Misprints Tonight

Sweet charity may receive a punch in the eye tonight when the Pampa Newsboys meet the Berger Misprints in a benefit basketball game at the Houston Junior High Fieldhouse in Berger tonight at 8.

Coach Jeff Cohane's Pampa Couleats and coach John Shields' Fumble-Fingered Fives are expected to give a horrible display of basketball, but an uproarious hour of comedy, in return for the 50 cent admission price which goes to benefit the Berger Boys Club.

Excuse Pays Off; Sheriff Exempt

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Mrs. Barbara Landes, a clerk in the Superior Court jury heard a lot of reasons for jury duty, but the one she got Wednesday was a sure winner.

A man summoned for jury duty told her he was the sheriff of Los Angeles County. Sure enough, it was Sheriff Peter J. Pitchess.

Three Seek Post As GOP Whip

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Two authors of the 1964 Republican platform and a man whose family has been in Congress since revolutionary days were rated top contenders today for the post of House GOP whip.

Although the names of many House Republicans are being tossed about as possible successors to incumbent Whip Leslie Arends, the three men being mentioned most were Reps. Charles E. Goodell, N. Y., Glenard P. Lipscomb, Calif., and Peter H. B. Frelinghuysen, N. J.

Newly elected House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford, Mich., is expected to decide on his top assistant in the next few days. Although Ford has given no sign that he will ask the GOP Committee on Committees to renounce Arends, the veteran Illinois Republican was a supporter of deposed House GOP Leader Charles Halleck and is expected to follow Halleck out.

Goodell, 38, and Lipscomb, 49, were Rep. Melvin R. Laird's top aides last summer in drafting the national GOP platform. Goodell was a leader in Ford's campaign to unseat Halleck and in Ford's 1962 drive to win the House Republican caucus chairmanship.

Frelinghuysen, 48, who has the most seniority of the three prospects, opposed Laird Monday for the caucus chairmanship being vacated by Ford. He lost by only 13 votes, even though he had not entered the race until the night before the election.

Pampa Deposits Hit Highest Peak

Cash deposits in Pampa's two banks and one savings and loan association reached an all-time high at the close of 1964.

Cash deposits at First National and Citizens Bank and Security Federal Savings and Loan Association as of Dec. 31 totaled $85,129,000. This compares with $73,026,000 on deposit at the three institutions at the close of 1963. The figures represent a $12,103,000 increase in Pampa bank deposits during 1964.

The figures were compiled Wednesday as the institutions answered a call by the comptroller of currency and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. for conditions as of the close of business at the year's end.

Loans at the three institutions totaled $65,104,000 at the close of 1964 as compared with $55,026,000 at the end of 1963. This represented a $10,078,000 increase in loans at the three institutions during 1964.

Figures for the 1964 and 1963 calls:

Date	Citizens Bank and Trust	First National Bank	Security Federal
1964	Deposits $12,568,000	Deposits $53,516,000	Deposits $8,045,000
1963	Deposits $11,500,000	Deposits $45,251,000	Deposits $6,275,000
1964	Loans $18,438,000	Loans $46,666,000	Loans $10,000,000

Wing Test of TFX Fighter Success Ahead of Schedule

FORT WORTH (UPI)—The controversial TFX fighter-bomber tried out its now-you-see-them-now-you-don't wings Wednesday. Test pilots said the plane was virtually perfect.

Making its second test flight, the warplane that set off a year-long Congressional investigation soared aloft from the Carswell Air Force Base runways and flew for one hour and two minutes.

The main purpose of the test was to try out its unusual moving wings.

The wings stick straight out for takeoffs from short runways, landings on carrier decks, and slow flights at low altitudes. The pilot can fold them back into the fuselage to give the plane a slipper arrowhead shape for high-altitude dashes at twice the speed of sound, or pick swept-wing positions in between for other flights.

The plane was able to manipulate its variable wings in flight 24 days ahead of schedule," said a spokesman for General Dynamics Corp.

It was the selection of General Dynamics to build the plane, instead of the Boeing Corporation of Seattle, that set off a furor.

Police Check Out Safe Burglar Clues

Pampa police were continuing their investigation today of the $800 safe burglary Tuesday night at Pampa High School.

Sgt. George Wallace said several new clues and leads are being probed in the break-in. Wallace said they have several suspects in mind, but had not questioned anyone yet.

The burglars broke into the school sometime Tuesday night by climbing through an unlocked boiler room window and opening the main north door.

The cutting torch used to open the huge walk-in safe had been stolen from the Pampa Auto Center just prior to the burglary.

The burglars made off with exactly $790.27 in cash. Most of the money was cafeteria receipts from the past week.

WORLD BIRTH EXPLOSION CURB ASKED

$100 Million Program Wanted

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson was urged today to order a five year $100 million crash program of fertility research to perfect a variety of birth-control methods acceptable to all faiths.

The proposal came from the Planned Parenthood Federation in response to the President's State of the Union message pledge to "seek new ways to use our knowledge to help deal with the explosion in world population and the growing scarcity in world resources."

"We attach great importance to the President's statement," said a Planned Parenthood spokesman. "This is the faithiest any President has ever gone publicly acknowledging the seriousness of the population explosion, and the U.S. government's responsibility to do something about it."

The spokesman said a good first step would be for the President to order a sharp step-up in the fertility research programs of the National Institutes of Health (NIH).

He said NIH expenditures for research in any way related to population control now total about $2 million a year — "a minuscule effort, not at all commensurate with the magnitude of the problem."

"We and Catholic leaders have repeatedly urged the NIH to launch a crash program of research to perfect a variety of fertility control methods acceptable to all faiths," he said.

The spokesman said an outlay of $20 million a year would be "the absolute minimum" for an effective research program.

White House officials said Johnson had not yet decided upon any specific measures to implement his expression of concern about population growth. They said that his statement was a deliberate and carefully considered move to focus public attention on the question and stimulate "constructive" proposals for government action.

Foreign News Commentary

By RICHARD C. LONGWORTH
United Press International
LONDON (UPI)—Prime Minister Harold Wilson began the new year at a more measured political pace than he may have planned.

With 80 of his "first 100 days" behind him, most of Wilson's basic aims—to remake Britain's industry and society in the image of the Labor party—remain the same. But Wilson and his supporters already have learned that they'll have to make haste more slowly than they may have bargained for.

Wilson came to power in the Oct. 15 election proclaiming his plans for a "first 100 days of dynamic action to get Britain moving again." It was a spirit that demanded fast progress. But applied to Britain's tradition-minded society, it caused perhaps more trouble than progress.

Stressed Economic Situation
Two weeks after taking office, the Labor government moved to close Britain's trade gap by imposing a 15 per cent surcharge on imports. Her trading partners, who had not been told in advance of the move, complained loudly. In explanation the government stressed that Britain's economic situation was serious. This alarmed some foreign investors into starting a run on the pound. Rumors of devaluation flew before $3 billion in international credit poured in to shore up the currency.

Wilson unveiled a new model for Western defense only two months after taking office, but the haste produced a fuzzy outline. Until now it has gotten a cool reception everywhere among Britain's allies.

Wilson's press and political critics—and even some members of his own Labor party—have charged that, while his ideas may be sound, he stepped on too many toes in trying to go too fast.

Needs Full Diplomacy
There are signs now that the new prime minister is taking this criticism to heart. With a wispy majority of only five seats in the House of Commons, he must muster every ounce of parliamentary diplomacy to see his trail-blazing program become law.

The Wilson program includes such controversial items as the nationalization of steel, an inflationary policy controlling all incomes and prices and the selective seizure of prime building land to keep it out of the hands of speculators.

In addition, the April budget will bring new capital gains and corporation taxes, and probable new measures for industrial and export expansion.

Any unforeseen circumstance—a revolt by Labor's left wing, the loss of three seats through by-elections (unlikely) or the departure of liberal party support—could throw this whole program into jeopardy.

This danger has spawned rumors of a snap election sometime this spring to give the government a more solid base. But government officials are spreading the word that Wilson plans no election unless forced to—and certainly, they said, not early this year.

In other business, advertising and industrial promotion in the Texas Parade Magazine was approved and active participation during Texas Industrial Week, April 1-7, was discussed. The week would be highlighted by exhibits displayed in local industries.

Flaming Crash Kills Trucker

A 39-year-old Amarillo truck driver died in the flaming wreckage of his fully-loaded gasoline transport truck shortly after noon yesterday.

Killed instantly when he lost control of his truck and careened into a ditch was Robert Henry Boatman, 1605 Williams. The accident occurred 19 miles east of Pampa on U. S. 80.

According to Highway Patrolman Paul Geiser, Boatman lost control of the truck and careened into a ditch. He said the truck stayed upright until Boatman attempted to pull back onto the highway. "The truck then overturned and exploded," Geiser said.

Witnesses said heat from the burning gasoline was so intense that Boatman's body could not be reached for almost three hours. The fire completely disintegrated the aluminum trailer of the truck.

Funeral arrangements for Boatman are pending with an Amarillo funeral home.

Ruby's presence will not be required in court during the appeals process, unless the defense turns to U.S. District Court for a plea of habeas corpus—another step down the line after state remedies are exhausted.

Burleson told newsmen Ruby is losing touch with reality. The defense attorney said he tried to tell Ruby about the appeal, but couldn't make the convicted killer believe there was any appeal possible. A sanity hearing is likely in the case, but for the moment the defense is concentrating on the appeal to the Austin court.

Army Staff Sergeant Fred J. Neslage Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Neslage, 2005 Charles St., recently was promoted to his present rank while serving as the pay supervisor for Headquarters, United States Army Support Command, at Tau Sou Nhut in Viet Nam.

Sgt. Neslage attended West Texas State University from 1959 to 1961, prior to entering the Army in August of 1961. His wife, Judy, is now in her last year at West Texas State with a major in Elementary Education. She resides at W. T. Station in Canyon.

The Support Command consists of all army aviation as well as Special Forces, Medical, Signal, Military Police, and other Army support units at Tau Sou Nhut.

Applications Pour In for Nudist Sponsored Lady Godiva Contest

DELRAY BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Nudist John Dawson who last spring staged a nudist wedding with his 16-year-old daughter, Sissy as the bride, said Wednesday he is promoting a "Miss Lady Godiva" beauty contest.

Dawson said the contest, which he hopes to stage in about two months, is to "dramatically demonstrate that nudity is nice."

Dawson said more than a score of applications already have been received, including one from an Atlanta girl who "told me she has everything but the horse."

Dawson said the American Nudist Association, of which he is secretary-treasurer, is sponsoring the contest which will be held at his nudist camp. He said first prize in the contest will be a trip to Conventry, England where the original Lady Godiva rode naked through the streets astride a white charger to protest taxes.

A second prize will be the main role in a film called "Miss Godiva."

Dawson invited newsmen and photographers to his daughter's wedding last spring. He confirmed Wednesday that Sissy has since divorced and wed another man.

Her first husband, Charles D. Narrow, alleged that Sissy was "cold and indifferent" and charged extreme cruelty.

Sickness No Longer Pays Well

By RAY DE CRANE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

It's still possible to say that you can make (and keep) more money while being home sick and drawing your pay than it is by going to work every day.

But possibly because of abuses of the sick pay credit in former years, this is one area where Congress made drastic changes in 1964.

Before sick pay becomes a factor in your tax return there must be present these elements: You were absent from work because of sickness or injury in 1964 and during this period of enforced absence from work you received compensation from your employer. (If you received payments under an insurance contract, the amounts so received are not reportable on your return.)

If you were off the payroll while you were absent from work, you have no sick pay credit and none of the following applies in your case.

The new sick pay rules will probably become known as the 75 per cent — $70-$100 formula. Here's how it works:

You were absent from work because of sickness or injury and your employer paid you your full rate or more than 75 per cent of your full rate while you were away. After you were away 30 days you would take a sick pay credit of the actual amount received weekly up to a maximum of $100 a week for the balance of the time you were away.

Contrary to the old rules in this situation, it makes no difference whether you were hospitalized or not. If you received more than 75 per cent of your normal salary while you were absent, you get no credit until you have been away more than 30 days.

For example, an employee was absent because of illness for 60 days in 1964. His employer continued to pay him during this time his full salary of $600 a month. Since his payment was greater than 75 per cent of his pay he would receive no credit for the first 30 days. For the remaining 30 days he would take a credit of the $100 weekly maximum.

Now take the case of a worker whose employer paid him 75 per cent or less of his normal pay while he was absent because of sickness. Unless he was hospitalized at least one day during the period of absence there is no credit for the first seven consecutive days.

Thereafter, for the remainder of the 30 days, he would deduct his full pay up to a maximum of $75 a week. After the 30th day the maximum deduction would be $100 a week, assuming the employee received that much or more.

Assume the same facts but the employee was hospitalized at least one day. He received a sick pay credit for the full period of absence. His maximum credit was $75 a week for the first 30 days. At the end of the 30-day period the maximum credit advances to the actual pay or $100 a week, whichever is lesser.

Notice the attempt to equalize the tax break between the employee who receives full pay while he is sick and the one who receives a reduced rate during such time. The former must wait 30 days before the credit begins; the latter waits only seven days. And if he is hospitalized any time during his period of absence he starts to get instant credit.

Wherever sick pay credit applies it presents an opportunity to make a substantial tax savings.

Take the time to give a full explanation of the circumstances and attach this statement to your return. Your statement should recite the date you first missed work, the date you returned, the amount of pay received as contrasted to your normal wages, nature of the illness, the name of the hospital and the date you were hospitalized.

New Lawmakers Get Good Advice

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. John F. Baldwin Jr., is not ordinarily given to rash comment. As congressmen go, he is generally restrained.

But just this week I overheard the California Republican make a statement that I regard as exceedingly unrealistic, if not downright extreme. It happened like this:

While passing by a door to the House gallery, I chanced to note that some sort of meeting was going on inside the chamber. Since the House was not then in session, I stopped to see what was up.

It turned out to be a seminar for new members of Congress. This year's crop of freshmen was listening to a series of orientation lectures given by knowledgeable upperclassmen.

Learn Rules

Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., admonished the newcomers to study hard so they could learn the rules and precedents, and to attend their committee meetings faithfully.

Another instructor stressed the importance of getting re-elected, and another spoke of the importance of lining up a good office staff.

It was all so commonplace I half expected someone to remind the novitiates to keep their noses clean and brush their teeth after every meal.

Much of Baldwin's talk also dealt with the prosaic side of being a congressman. Among other things, he pointed out that it was considered bad form to wear hats, smoke and hiss, boo or jeer on the floor of the House.

Then Baldwin discussed some of the rules and customs of congressional speechmaking, and it was here that the seminar suddenly took a rather unlikely turn.

Radical Suggestions

Baldwin, usually a man of moderation, put forth one of the most radical suggestions I have heard in all the years I have been observing the activities of Congress.

He advised the matriculating lawgivers that if they should ever feel they had to speak out make sure they knew what they were talking about.

Fancy that! In effect he was proposing that congressmen, at least during their first terms, refrain from discussing on subjects about which they are un-informed.

Since Baldwin is no impractical visionary, there must be some merit in this approach. But, frankly, if I were a new congressman I would cling to the traditional system. Which is:

Never form an opinion on any matter until you have had time to evaluate your own comment about it.

Hail to the conquering heroes! When the home basketball team is victorious, they and the fans who cheered them on deserve a celebration dinner. If you're hostess for this occasion, you'll need to plan a filling and generously portioned menu because the team and fans will have worked up mighty big appetites at the gym.

Most favored by guests and hostess alike is a casserole-type dish like this chili-cheese bake. To keep preparation time to a minimum, take advantage of easy-to-use canned chili as the base for this casserole. The meat-rich chili is layered with sharp Cheddar cheese, onion flakes and crisp crackers — then baked. The resulting flavor — delicious!

In addition to its grand flavor and hearty nature, this casserole is a star any team would cheer for because it can be made for six or twenty — six. It goes to a church social or P-T-A dinner with equal ease. All you need is an ample supply of canned chili. Such a dish is excellent to serve when kitchen facilities are limited, too, for the master ingredients can go direct from can or package to baking dish.

Canned meats will come to your assistance whenever you are called on to provide for a crowd. For instance, canned steaks that are already seasoned to perfection and need only be heated through to serve, may be poured into a casserole, topped with dairy sour cream and refrigerator biscuits and baked. Simply prepare as many casseroles as needed for the number of people attending the party. And don't forget the ready-to-serve, canned meat products like beef hash, beef and gravy, tamales or canned luncheon meat. Each of these can be dressed for a party appearance in scant minutes — each one so delicious that folks will be certain you had created the entree from scratch.

CHILI-CHEESE BAKE
2 15½-ounce cans chili
30 or 32 crisp round cheese crackers
1-3 pound sharp Cheddar cheese, grated (1½ cups)
1½ teaspoons onion flakes
3 or 4 slices bacon

Spoon 1-3 of the chili over the bottom of a 10x6x1½-inch baking dish. Arrange a layer of crackers over chili; sprinkle with cheese and onion. Repeat layers. Cook bacon until lightly browned. Arrange over casserole. Bake in a 400 degree oven for 15 to 20 minutes or until hot.

Note: Quick and easy for a crowd. Make as many casseroles as needed.

Air Turns Beef Red

B GAYNOR MADDOX - Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Q—Often, the round steak I buy turns red on the outside but stays brownish-gray on the inside. This worries me. Is that meat safe to eat?

A—Meat experts of the U. S. Department of Agriculture explain: Beef is always a dark, purplish red when first cut. After it is exposed to air for about 30 minutes, the color pigment becomes oxidized and turns red. This accounts for the red outside and the dark inside. Such a condition is perfectly normal.

Q—I like to cook enough beef to last several days at one time. It saves time and effort. Will you please tell me how many days I can keep cooked meat safely?

A—The same U. S. Department of Agriculture experts say: Cooked meat and meat dishes will keep high quality when covered or wrapped loosely 1 or 2 days in a household refrigerator if the temperature is 38 to 42 degrees.

Peppers, Carrots, Cabbages and Onions Combine for Jars of Colorful Relish

By GAYNOR MADDOX - Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Turn baskets of cabbage, peppers, onions and carrots from the garden into jars of brightly colored relish for family meals.

Chop the vegetables by hand or in an electric blender. Then follow this particularly good home style recipe.

GARDEN RELISH (2½ quarts)

- 1 medium head cabbage, cored and cut into wedges
- 6 medium large onions, peeled and coarsely cut
- 4 large red peppers, seeded and cut into strips
- 4 large carrots, coarsely cut
- 4 large stalks celery, cut into 1-inch pieces
- 4 cups vinegar
- 3 cups sugar
- 1 teaspoon celery seed
- 1 tablespoon salt

blender up to the 4-cup mark with vegetables. Add water just to cover vegetables. Cover container and blend on high speed for 1½ seconds. Drain in colander.

Repeat until all vegetables are chopped.

In preserving kettle, combine vinegar, sugar, mustard, celery seed and salt. Bring to a boil. Add drained vegetables and bring again to a boil. Simmer for 45 minutes, stirring occasionally. Pack while hot in clean jars and seal.

Apollo Systems Due New Test

WHITE SANDS N.M. (UPI) — A new consolidated computer and control center building, Apollo flight systems escape mechanism tests and the first use of LASER communications with orbiting space craft are scheduled to get underway at White Sands Missile Range sometime in 1963.

The control center will house under one roof range control and data functions now being performed in separate buildings.

The Apollo tests will be additional steps towards man's first moon flight and the experiments on the LASER communications system hopefully will provide tracking information for moon flight support tests.

While looking forward to an active 1963, White Sands officials can gaze back at a number of "firsts" which occurred at the range last year.

Included among these were the two all important "Little Joe" rocket flights. These successful flights tested the launch escape system of the Apollo moon flight vehicle.

There were also a number of successful air force Athena missile flights. These flights helped study the effect of re-entry upon ballistic missiles once inside the atmosphere.

Other "firsts" included the installation of tracking systems, completion and successful testing of multi-array radar—a highly advanced radar system, and opening of a laboratory containing the most integrated facility in the Army for testing of weapons and systems in a nuclear environment.

French Director Runs Own Show Despite Many Handicaps

By VERNON SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The dirty shirt, pseudo-intellectual European movie lay-it-in.

Bourguignon is a fiery 34-year-old Parisian who came to Hollywood to direct "The Reward" at 20th Century-Fox, his first major commercial movie.

The studio brought him here on the strength of his first feature length film, "Sundays and Cybele," which won an Oscar for the best foreign picture of 1962.

1963 in addition to a virtual torrent of awards at various world film festivals.

But if Fox expected a fey, hand-kissing, complaint French man, it was rudely disenchanted.

Small in stature and deceptively charming, Bourguignon is a giant. He demanded and got complete autonomy on the picture, driving his cast (Max Zimbalist and Yvette Mimieux) with fer-

UN Showdown Due Russians

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Afro-Asian nations have decided to press for a "confrontation" between the United States and Russia if the U. N. financial crisis is not solved by Jan. 18, it was reported today.

Informed sources said a 12-nation working group of the Afro-Asian bloc had decided if no solution to the problem posed by Russia's unpaid dues is forthcoming by Jan. 18, it would be better to bring the principals in the controversy face to face.

The General Assembly is due to resume its meeting on that date. There have been reports — so far unconfirmed — that some nations favor a postponement to allow more time for negotiations on Russia's $2 million dollar debt.

The U. N. secretariat and the U. S. mission were reported opposed to postponement.

This point of view was backed up Wednesday by the 12-nation Afro-Asian group, informed sources said. They said the 12 feel there is enough time between now and Jan. 18 to enable negotiations to take place.

If neither side budges in that time, the sources said, the 12 feel the assembly should face up to the crisis and seek a showdown.

Johnson Off to Flying Start With Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson is getting off to a flying start in his legislative proposals to Congress because he believes the lawmakers are in a mood to take quick action.

That is the answer supplied by White House sources when asked why the Chief Executive is departing from the custom to dispatch four messages to Capitol Hill on consecutive days next week.

EVALUATING TESTS

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Doctors today were trying to fully evaluate tests given to actor Edmund Lowe, 72, famed for his dapper detective roles in movies during the 1930s and 1940s.

Lowe underwent extensive electrocardiograph tests and diagnosis Tuesday for a serious heart condition.

Lowe's doctor said Lowe has a "third-degree heart block" and has had trouble with his heart for some time.

Legion Head Asks Unity

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Donald E. Johnson, national commander of the American Legion, has lashed out at American foreign policy and expressed concern at what is going on at home.

In a speech Tuesday to the civic lunch club and a news conference which preceded it in the Biltmore Hotel, Johnson said the United States should mend "the breakdown in relationships" with its Allies rather than negotiate directly with Soviet Russia to ease world tensions.

"The American Legion is very much concerned with the breakdown in relationships with our Allies," he said. "We are conscious of the criticism that we've gone over the heads of our Allies. Let's solidify the Atlantic Alliance first. Let's consult with our Allies before we consult with the Soviets."

Iowa, businessman who took over the reins of the 2.6-million-member legion last September, indicated he looks coldly on President Johnson's suggestions in his State of the Union speech that Soviet leaders should be invited to America to further East-West understanding.

"The American Legion does not believe we are going to make any substantial progress by further coddling of the international Communist conspiracy, and we do not believe that new concessions to the Reds will further the cause of world peace — certainly not peace with honor," the veterans' leader said.

He termed the administration's approach to Russia "mythful thinking."

Wage Law to Hurt Eateries

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Employes of hotels, motels and restaurants are expected to be among the beneficiaries of President Johnson's plan to expand federal minimum wage coverage.

Johnson said in his State of the Union message that he would recommend to Congress a broadening of the minimum wage law to embrace "more than 2 million unprotected workers."

He did not spell out what workers he had in mind, nor did he make any mention about whether he wanted to increase the minimum wage, now generally $1.25 an hour.

But observers expect Johnson to renew his request of a year ago. When he asked Congress to extend the wage-hour law to employes in hotels, motels, restaurants, large commercial laundries and to certain food processing workers, Congress did not act on that proposal.

Organized labor has pledged to fight for a $2 minimum wage. Johnson was silent on this. A government expert on the wage-hour law said no firm decision had been made on whether the administration would ask for an increase in the wage floor itself.

Third And Seventh Years are Most Dangerous in Marriage

By PAUL R. JESCHKE
 United Press International
 SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — If a marriage is going to fail, when is the failure most likely? A young law professor who moderates a YWCA course on the subject says that the "seven-year itch" notwithstanding, the third year is apt to be most dangerous.

"Many marriages don't last more than a month or two," said Prof. Mel Sager, of the University of California. "After the first couple of months the divorce rate drops off, begins to increase after the first year and hits its peak in the all-important third year."

"After that, the road appears to be much easier."

Sager, who is a bachelor, is deeply concerned over the fact that one out of four U.S. marriages ends in the divorce court.

He proposed a massive nationwide study by federal or private interests into the problems of marriage and the causes of divorce.

It should include a national census on the frequency of divorce, he said. There hasn't been such a count in 20 or 30 years, he added.

"It's the old story of preventive medicine," he said. "There are thousands of couples who obviously shouldn't have married. There are a good number of people who should never be married under any circumstances. Given that fact, it's fairly easy to see why marriages fail, but harder to see why these people get married in the first place."

"So they end up in a lawyer's office asking for a divorce. By that time it's too late. Some of these marriages might possibly be saved with proper marriage counseling, but the vast majority were doomed before the trip to the church."

"Look at our American tradition of early marriages. The average girl gets married at 20. If she reaches 24 and is still single, she's ready to grab the first man who comes along."

Sager pointed out that in Europe, less than one-quarter of the girls are married by 24. In Norway and Ireland, less than one-tenth are married by that age.

"Society is basically forcing our kids to marry before they are emotionally mature enough," said Sager.

U.S. divorce rates are the highest in the world, but Sweden, Finland, Switzerland and Denmark are rapidly catching up, he said.

"That's not because our divorces are declining," Sager said. "Those countries are fast reaching a level where they equal the United States in divorce, alcoholism, mental illness and suicide."

The answer, says Sager, lies in a "systematic education and philosophy of marriage."

"We're not savages," he said. "We can't simply decide to get married and assume that problems will take care of themselves."

A person contemplating marriage, according to Sager, ought to sit down with his potential mate and talk over what they want in life.

Sager plays down efforts to relate happy marriages to sexual compatibility. "Marriages are not really made or unmade in bed," he said. "After all, if there is a problem, that can usually be worked out by a physician or by a psychiatrist or social worker."

How about tougher divorce laws? Sager answered this way: "Even the American Bar Association realizes that, our divorce laws are ridiculous. It's impossible for a couple to go into court and simply admit that their marriage won't work. They have to lie to the court and about each other and claim cruelty, adultery, or some other wholesale fabrication."

"The minute one state tightens its divorce laws, the divorces in the surrounding states take an upward jump. They just go out of state."

It's The Law In Texas

A Kentucky judge, skeptical of the testimony of a scientific expert recalled a story he had once heard from a lecturer: "Take the bumblebee. Apply to him the recognized aerodynamic tests. From the size, shape and weight of his body, in relation to total wing area, he cannot possibly fly. But the bumblebee does not know this, and he goes ahead and flies anyway."

The story sheds light on a new legal troublemaker, the sonic boom. Experts, applying the recognized aerodynamic tests, predicted that the boom could not possibly cause extensive damage. But windows, not knowing this, went ahead and broke anyway. So did complaints about cracked plaster and shattered brick - a - brace. Rightly or wrongly, the boom was blamed for making a dog neurotic and a man arthritic, for rupturing a swimming pool and splitting a tect you against "explosions" b toilet bowl.

All this commotion raised some novel points of law that are still not settled. For example: When is it negligent for a pilot to break the sound barrier? Can you collect insurance for sonic boom damage if your policy properly for most claimants, the United States Air Force stands ready to pay for the damage it causes - without quibbling about such technicalities. Air Force bases have set up regular procedures for handling claims.

However, the Air Force has no desire - indeed, no right - to pay for damage it does not cause. This is no easy road to government money. Every claim is meticulously investigated by a team of specialists before it is paid.

No doubt the problem will get worse when a civilian airlines switch to supersonic jets. As an Air Force claims official put it to a group of insurance men: "You ain't seen nothin' yet."

But for the present, the problem has been kept within reasonable bounds. Pilots are carefully schooled in holding sonic booms to a minimum. And citizens are coming to realize that the booms are caused not by hot - rodders in the sky but by vital defense training.

Toward the end of the Civil War the Confederate dollar was worth two cents in gold.

SKY COPS' BEAT: Air Route Traffic control center in Leesburg, Va., is where order is made from the confusion of hundreds of planes in the air at once.

THE WORST: Mid-air collision over Brooklyn in December 1960 was worst air disaster, killing 134, including six on the ground, where wreckage was widely scattered.

Changes Made to Stop Air Crashes

By TOM NOLAN
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The chances of the plane in which you are flying actually hitting another in mid-air have been cut drastically in recent years. Still, however, there will be about 15 collisions in the skies this year — mostly involving private planes not protected by new traffic control systems.

Public attention was focused on the potentially deadly nature of air traffic by the collision four years ago of two airliners over Brooklyn, N. Y. It remains the world's worst plane disaster, with 134 deaths, including six persons killed on the ground.

Since the Brooklyn crash, the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) has made more than a dozen changes in its Air Traffic Control (ATC) regulations designed to reduce the danger of overcrowded air lanes.

The latest change, completion of the Area Positive Control (APC) separation center net work, is the most spectacular and far-reaching of these.

With the addition of the Boston and Great Falls, Mont., ATC centers late in 1964, virtually all airspace in the continental United States between 24,000 (minimum jet cruising altitude) and 60,000 feet is now controlled by APC.

Only properly equipped aircraft operating in accordance with an approved instrument flight rule (IFR) flight plan are permitted in APC airspace. These planes are under constant radar surveillance.

Most other commercial flight at lesser altitude is governed by IFR, but is not under constant radar surveillance except in the heavily traveled air routes.

In good weather, collision avoidance is on a "see and be seen" basis. In bad weather, planes not on IFR are grounded. More than 95 per cent of the small private planes in this category fly under 15,000 feet, and 90 per cent of them fly under 10,000 feet.

The 22 APC centers use a total of 76 long-range radar sets. This near-solid coverage permits two aircraft to be safely separated by as little as three miles, thus speeding up traffic.

Yet, despite precautions, officials still expect that mid-air collisions will continue to average about 15 a year in the near future.

In 1964, there were 17 mid-air collisions resulting in seven fatalities. In 15 of these both planes were private craft. Each of the remaining two involved a military plane and a private plane.

There has been no mid-air collision involving airline traffic since the Brooklyn crash.

Main reason for the belief that these accidents will continue to average roughly 15 a year is that the number of "near misses" — those mid-air collisions avoided only by pure chance or evasion action by a pilot — reported to FAA has remained constant over the last four years.

They average between 50 and 60 a month, roughly two a day. Their actual number could be considerably higher. FAA officials note that many pilots, fearing punishment which could ground them permanently, will not file a near-miss report under any circumstances.

How many of these potential collisions go unreported in a year is anybody's guess. In a 1956 study conducted anonymously among its own members, the Air Transport Association reported an average of over four per day in the United States.

In another anonymous study, the Flight Safety Foundation reported that over 2,500 near misses occurred between July 1961 and June 1962. This averages out to seven per day.

In both cases, these statistics were gleaned from confidential pilots' reports which were not submitted to FAA for investigation, evaluation and corrective action.

Of the 2,650 or so near misses reported to FAA in the last four years, about 12 per cent have been classified as "Critical; avoided by chance only." Another 40 per cent are classed as "Potential; averted by prompt evasive action." The remainder are judged "No collision hazard."

The best means of averting near misses under normal conditions are a pilot's eyes, says one FAA official. "But at sonic and supersonic speeds," he adds grimly, "you run out of eyeballs."

Only 10 per cent of the collisions at these high speeds are due to pilot errors. The rest are caused by controller and altitude errors, mainly the latter.

Present radar scopes have no way of estimating a plane's altitude. But a new system, called radar beacon, now being installed in an advanced test facility at Atlanta, may be able to.

The radar beacon screen, a simple instrument which looks like a horizontal bar, sends beams from the ground to the aircraft. Instead of bouncing off the plane as normal radar beams, they are received by a device called a transponder which turns them into coded symbols, passes them through the plane's altimeter, and returns them to the ground with height information.

Burch Wants Top Republican Heads To Attend GOP Committee Meeting

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republican National Chairman Dean Burch wants former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and four unsuccessful GOP presidential candidates to attend the party's national committee meeting at Chicago Jan. 22-23.

In addition to Eisenhower, Burch urged Barry M. Goldwater, Richard M. Nixon, Thomas E. Dewey and Alf M. Landon to take part in the discussions. A show-down decision is expected in Chicago on whether Burch will be retained in his post.

In a letter to the five candidates, Burch wrote: "Matters of great concern to the future success of our party will be discussed and I know the members of the national committee, as well as I, would sincerely appreciate an opportunity to discuss your views personally with you at that time."

Financial Gossip

By JESSE BOGUE
UPI Financial Editor
NEW YORK (UPI) — The men who make the nation's millions of automobiles and the mechanics who keep them in shape may find a cue to some of their future activities in a brief sentence in President Johnson's State of the Union message, taken in conjunction with a separate report to Congress.

Succession Gets Congress Study

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress is moving quickly to do something about three possible crises of the presidency — disability, succession and assassination.

The President, in proposals on a national agenda, suggested the nation work to end the poisoning "of the air we breathe." On the same day he delivered his message to Congress, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare reported that air pollution, or smog, is a growing problem "and is attributable largely to the operation of the motor vehicle."

There was no assurance that the answers to these problems — old as the republic — would be found in the 89th Congress. In the past lawmakers have talked much but done little about them.

It blamed traffic conditions in major cities for a share of the problem, because engines idling in creeping traffic emit more pollutants. It called for the development of congl devices to reduce exhaust hydrocarbons and carbon monoxide. It said additional research was necessary, and vehicle inspection programs "to insure appropriate maintenance of vehicle emission control systems."

But there were these signs that action might be taken: — Bills dealing with presidential succession and disability have been introduced in the Senate and House and are expected to receive administration endorsement.

Automobile manufacturers already are moving to meet the problem. In 1963, some began installing devices to route unburned gases from exhaust systems back into the engine to be burned. Other devices are undergoing tests.

Several bills have been introduced that would make the assassination of a president a federal crime. One sponsor is House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford, Mich., a member of the Warren Commission which investigated John F. Kennedy's assassination.

California among the states has moved the fastest to meet the traffic smog problem, but here has been dissatisfaction with some installations and the work required on some of the systems used on the cars of the state's motorists.

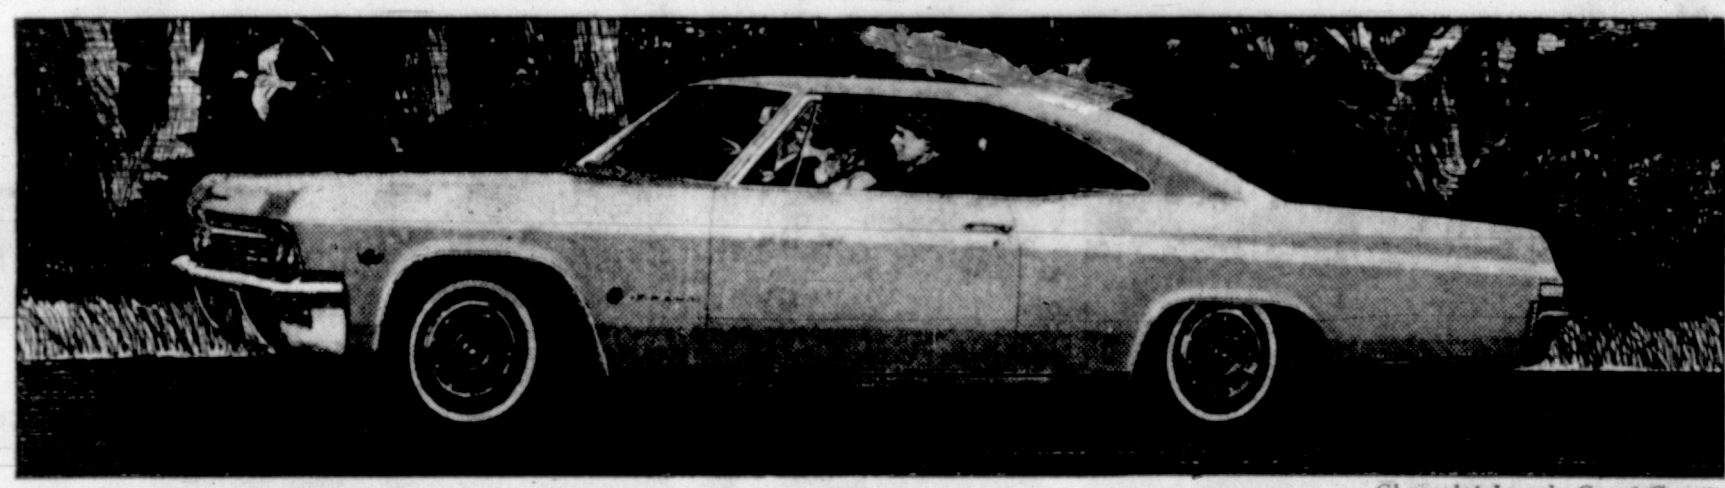

Legislation in both areas apparently will have bipartisan backing. Disability and succession are covered in constitutional amendments proposed by Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., of the House Judiciary Committee and Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind. Rep. William M. McCulloch, R-Ohio, ranking Republican on the judiciary committee, has introduced similar legislation and will work with Celler.

The HEW report said research on the problem was a job of both government and industry.

Dear Abby.... Poor Excuse Is Worse Than No Excuse at all

DEAR ABBY: I have been going with a man for two years. We love each other very much. I am a widow with two small children and he is divorced with three small children. He does not want to get married again because of the way his wife treated him. (She was really rotten.) He needs someone in his home 24 hours a day. He has tried older women, but they are not good with his children. He wants to hire me as his housekeeper. My family says if I take the job it will ruin my reputation as everyone in town knows we go together. Please help me make the right decision as so many people could get hurt if I made the wrong one.

TO BE OR NOT TO BE
DEAR TO BE: You may love him, but if he really loved you he would not punish you for his wife's "rotteness." I am afraid that his "reason" for not marrying you is only an excuse. And a poor one at that. Let him hire a housekeeper and tell him when he makes you his Missus, you'll share his home.

DEAR ABBY: My husband's father lives with us and he has a habit that is causing my nerves to fray. The old man drinks right from the refrigerator jug. I've caught him doing this time and again and I have told him it was very unsanitary. I didn't like it, and I wish he'd quit it! It's like talking to the wall.

I've asked my husband please to tell Grampa to cut it out, but he says he doesn't want to hurt the old man's feelings and I should skip it. Grampa is 78 and ought to know better. Is there a solution?

FRAYED NERVES
DEAR FRAYED: Get the old man his own personal refrigerator jug and label it "Granddad." And let him drink right from the jug to his heart's content. Stash the "family" jug in the rear of the refrigerator and alert all members.

DEAR ABBY: My mother is my problem. She is always picking on me. She doesn't like the way I wear my hair or any of my clothes. She is always hollering about my posture and telling me to go wash my face or it will break out. Every time I eat something fattening she yells, "You don't need that!" She is forever griping that my room is a mess. (Sometimes it is, but I always get around to cleaning it up.) I just can't seem to please her. Please help me.

FIFTEEN AND PICKED ON
DEAR FIFTEEN: Yours sounds like the typical wall of the teen-ager, and your mother's reaction is also typical. Just refrain from doing the things you know will irritate your mother, keep your room tidy, and stay out of her sight.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing this to try to keep some other girls from making the same mistake I made. I started going with a boy in high school. We were very much in love and had such wonderful plans. We were going to get married when we were through college. We even decided how many children we wanted and what kind of furniture we were going to have. Eventually he persuaded me to forget my moral standards because we were going to get married anyway and it would make the waiting easier. He went away to college and I got a job when we graduated. It has been three years now and when he came home for Christmas vacation he told me he wanted a girl with stronger "moral convictions." I don't think I have to say any more. Thank you.

By GAIL WILSON
GS TROOP TWO

Mrs. J. Holt Jr.'s Troop 15 really got into the wonderful Christmas spirit this year. The troop furnished a Christmas tree for the Scout Little House. The tree served two purposes: for parties of local troops and then was given to a family in Pampa.

Mrs. Virginia Belmont will be missed very much by Scout workers in Pampa. Mrs. Belmont is being replaced by Mrs. James (Mildred) Scholl as bookkeeper.

Marion Osborne Jamieson had a brunch on Dec. 26 for members of former Troop 22. Mrs. Jamieson has had the troop since they were Brownies, and just can't let them go.

On Dec. 26 Mrs. Margaret Wells entertained former Troop 17 with a tea. Mrs. Wells has been leader of this troop since they started in scouting.

Busy, busy... The Council meeting to be held on Jan. 22 at 7 p.m. in the Educational Building of First Baptist Church is requiring busy plans of various troops. Mrs. E. A. McLennan's Troop 14 is in charge of making name tags for the meeting, while Mrs. Richard Stowers' Troop 26 is furnishing table decorations. The deadline for the tickets for the meeting is Jan. 15.

The theme will be "Girl Scouting — A Bridge to the Future." Troop 38, led by Mrs. M. H. Taylor, had a slumber party at the Scout Little House on Dec. 28. Sure they didn't get much slumber.

Know one troop that has been working on badges. Mrs. J. H. Newman's Junior Troop 219 is planning a court of Awards ceremony on the evening of Jan. 8 at the Scout Little House.

MATURE PARENT

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: Our son is 11 months old. What I am writing about is the hysterics our 5-year-old girl gets when he cries and I don't run to him right off. They sleep in the same room. If he wakes up at night and cries, she gets so excited that it's harder to quiet her down than it is him. She adores the baby, but we do not think she should feel so responsible for him. She loves to feed him.

ANSWER: She does not feel responsible for her little brother. She feels responsible for controlling her resentment of him. If you are your parents' oldest child, you conclude that you are a disappointment to them when they have another one.

When, on top of this feeling of insufficiency, they expect you to "love" the baby who has displaced you, you can feel very insufficient indeed. And you'll grab for a sense of self-importance by treating him like another mother — by displays of devoted responsibility for him.

If your enemy starts crying and wakes you up at night, you will get overexcited, not because you "love" him, but because your scared to death your anger at him will slip its leash — and expose you as a bad, resentful sister instead of a good, adoring one.

Can you separate these children at night? Can you move the baby's crib to another room (not your own), to the hall? It will enable you to say to your little girl, "We are not going to let Buddy go on upsetting your sleep the way he does. You can't like it very much." Because in this situation you have permitted to develop, somebody will have to start speaking words which convey some sympathy for your overburdened little girl — words which grant permission to begin to feel that resentment of the baby that is now too dangerous to feel.

Jealousy in us or in children is a most painful emotion, born as it is of fear of disappointing other people. We don't like to admit our own jealousy — the humiliating, tortured contrast, for example, between our own attractions and those of another woman guest at a party to whom our husband won't stop talking. Instead of saying to him, "Don't talk to me now because I am angry and jealous," we find fault with his driving on the way home.

Association Lists Furniture Styles

If you are confused by the furniture style names in use today, you may find the American Walnut Manufacturers' version helpful.

The furniture trade normally lists eight categories: Colonial, commercial modern, contemporary American modern, French Provincial, Italian Provincial, Mediterranean, Scandinavian and traditional.

For its Classics Award program, the walnut association asked furniture dealers to nominate best-selling groups in only four categories with these comments:

Colonial - English. Based on country or village styles of Colonial American furniture, this dual category is identified by decorative flourishes, innovations and modifications.

Contemporary - Modern. This style compromise between modern and traditional features a graceful combination of straight lines and subdued curves to produce a soft outline. Commercial modern is bulky, massive and flashily ornamented.

Provincial, North French and Italian 18th century versions are combined here. Straight fluted legs identify the Italian design. Simplicity is the keynote of French Provincial.

Mediterranean - Traditional. This dual category includes Spanish Renaissance, Italian and French designs with strong Moorish influences. English, French and Georgian period styles also are included.

Hubert Looks Forward To Being Vice President

By WILLIAM THEIS
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Hubert H. Humphrey is looking forward with his customary zest to being Lyndon Johnson's vice president. He expects his life after the Jan. 20 inauguration to be different—and anything but dull.
For 16 years he was a U.S. senator from Minnesota. Now he has resigned, and when he did so "I felt as if I had just lost my best friend," he said.
In two weeks, he will start his new role.
"I intend to do all I can by deed, word or lack of word that will be helpful to the President and his program," the 53-year-old Humphrey told United Press International.
That "lack of word" may be the hardest part of the highly talkative Humphrey's assignment. But he is determined to serve Johnson in the precise ways that the Chief Executive wishes. When that calls for silence, Humphrey's lip will be buttoned.
Resigned Early
Humphrey resigned his Senate seat last month in order to give his appointed successor, Democrat Walter F. Mondale, a slight jump in seniority over other newly elected members. After Jan. 20, Mondale will be on the Senate floor. Humphrey's role will be the constitutional presiding officer of the chamber.

He does not intend to be far away from the Senate. He wants to be a "friend in court" in day-to-day contacts between the White House and the Senate leadership.
Humphrey is clearly aware that Congress wants no intrusion or dictation by the executive branch. But he expects to work closely with the legislators in helping to advance the President's program.
That objective is so important that no plans are being made for any early foreign travel which might take the new vice president far from the congressional arena.
Share Cultural Duties
Humphrey is looking forward to many aspects of his new post. One is the fact that some of his ceremonial duties will put him in touch with the world of art and culture for which he had little time as a Senate leader. Mrs. Humphrey will be able to share in much of that, too.

Humphrey is concerned about the fact that he has been unable to get adequate working office space in the Capitol Building. But he said he is not in the least worried about the fact that the vice president is not provided with an official residence—suitable for required entertaining.
He regards his suburban Maryland house as comfortable and adequate for his needs. As far as the one-time Minnesota pharmacist and professor is concerned, his official entertaining can be done in facilities of the State Department or at private clubs.
Humphrey will be making speeches for the Democratic party, probably taking on some that the President might otherwise feel compelled to deliver.
Heads Committees
He will sit in with the National Security Council, preside as chairman of the Space Council and head up the President's Committee on Equal Opportunity in Employment. Johnson last month gave him the additional duty of coordinating both the government's civil rights programs and its anti-poverty effort.
The President, fully aware of the frustrations suffered by any vice president, already has drawn Humphrey into the executive circle with pointed warmth. Johnson included Humphrey in conferences with British Prime Minister Harold Wilson as well as others dealing with Viet Nam, The Congo and the British pound sterling crisis. The Minnesotan feels that he has been treated as a "real friend."
"A vice president's role in government is designed, measured and activated by what the president wishes him to do and asks him to do," Humphrey emphasized. Johnson often made the same point while serving under President John F. Kennedy.
In anticipating his new role, Humphrey felt "let down" in any way?
"Heavens, no—Anyone around President Johnson will be active," is his answer.

Four Youths Die In Arizona Jail

PAYSON, Ariz. (UPI)—This colorful Arizona town portrayed in the novels of Zane Grey was saddened and embittered today because four teen-aged boys died in a jailhouse tragedy more shockingly personal than any of the blood and thunder of Grey's tales of the Old West.
The youths all lived in this Pine Valley town and were known to most of its 800 residents. They suffocated in jail there they had been left alone for 11 hours after their arrest on suspicion of stealing beer for a New Year's Eve party. The town wanted to know why. Why were they left alone? Why were they jailed at all on the petty theft charge? Who was to blame for the seemingly senseless deaths of Clifford Greenland, 18; Blaine Schroeder, 16; Kenneth Haught, 15, and John Watkins, 16?

New Year's Day. Both were released. Five were arrested Monday—the four victims and another boy who was released to his mother's custody because he was only 14.
The other four were booked for suspicion of burglary and jailed. No law officer was present in the jail until the next morning.
At 10:30 a.m., Deputy T. L. Meredith brought their breakfast to their cell. He was stunned at what he saw.
"I was never so shocked in all my life," he said. Three of the boys were lying dead on their cots. The fourth victim was lying off the bed, indicating he had started to get up before he collapsed and died. Meredith said.
Gila County Sheriff Elton Jones, in office only five days when the deaths were discovered, ordered the jail closed until the apparently defective heater is repaired. Jones said a number of other prisoners were housed in the jail in recent weeks with no apparent ill-effects.

At a meeting in the county administration building Wednesday night, the aroused populace and newsmen were told that an autopsy showed the boys died of asphyxiation from carbon monoxide, probably sometime early Tuesday morning. A defective heater was blamed for causing the fatal fumes.
"It's a terrible thing, but you can't really blame any one person for what happened," a longtime resident concluded after the briefing which in some measure served to calm the community. Most of the anger and suspicion apparently had grown from what had seemed like a cloud of secrecy which fell after the tragedy. The father of one of the victims was not told of his son's death for four hours.
It all began with the theft of four or five cases of beer from a resort lodge 20 miles from this town which lies in the shadow of Mogollon Rim, a landmark well-known to the readers of Grey.

Germans Start Carnival Season
FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI)—Germans today began a 58-day carnival season of drinking, kissing and poking fun at the government.
The "fasching" season ends March 3, Ash Wednesday.
German revelers are joyful this year, because the carnival season will last much longer than 1964's 36-day fasching.
One of the longest faschings of all time was the 66-day celebration two years ago, one of the most extended movable feasts in memory.
A thought for the day—President Wilson said: "The highest and best form of efficiency is the spontaneous cooperation of a free people."

NEW MATERIAL—In Frankfurt, West Germany, fashion designers have come up with a new material for bikinis. This one is made of leather.

Providence Sole Unbeaten Five

By United Press International
Call it an act of Providence or just some old-fashioned solid ball playing, but there still is an undefeated team in the topsy-turvy world of major college basketball.

Providence, the only major unbeaten team in the country, continued its winning streak the hard way, on foreign soil, with an 89-79 triumph over Boston College Wednesday night.

The Friars commanded a 51-32 halftime advantage and held it after intermission until coach Joe Mullaney began pulling his starters in the final five minutes. Jimmy Walker and Bill Blair scored 28 points apiece to lead Providence to its 10th straight win. John Austin of the Eagles took game honors with 29.

Rocke Calvelli's 15-foot jump shot at the buzzer gave Marquette a 71-69 overtime win over favored Loyola of Chicago after the Warriors had come back from a nine-point deficit in regulation time to tie the game at 68-all. Tom Flynn, who finished with 22 points, scored Marquette's last 10 points during the comeback.

West Virginia rallied from a 43-40 halftime deficit with a hot second half to defeat Virginia

Military Institute 87-79 behind the scoring of John Cavacini and Bill Ryczaj, who netted 21 points each. The Mountaineers outscored the Keydets 19-3 after intermission and ran up a commanding 69-46 lead within six minutes.

Louisville recorded its highest score of the season by defeating LaSalle 92-89 but had to withstand an Explorer second half rally. The Cardinals led 44-27 at the half but LaSalle fought back to within three points, 57-54, before Louisville drew away. Tommy Finnegan bucketed 20 points for Louisville.

Villanova defeated St. Francis of Brooklyn 78-49 behind Jim Washington's 18 points and 17 rebounds; North Carolina State led 43-32 at halftime but had to break two second half ties to defeat Virginia 73-67; Jim Williams scored 20 points to lead Temple to a 65-46 victory over Delaware; Miami of Ohio upped its record to 9-1 with a 68-47 walloping of Kent State; St. Bonaventure whipped Lawrence Tech 95-61; Evansville, the top-ranked small college team, knocked off Butler 79-71; Ohio University beat Western Michigan 91-70; Bowling Green edged Toledo 73-69; and Georgia Tech defeated Sewanee 84-71.

WesTex Tangles With OCU

CANYON — Having regained their winning ways Monday night against Panhandle A&M, the Buffaloes of West Texas State travel to Oklahoma City University for a Saturday night encounter with the Chiefs who, despite a 9-3 record, are nursing a two-game losing streak. Oklahoma City can lay just claim to the "tallest team in the world" title once held by West Texas State. If coach Abe Lemons chooses he can start a lineup averaging over 6-8 in height.

All this spells trouble for the Buffaloes. Three times this year WTSU has met a team with a good big man and three times the Buifs failed to contain him. In the season's opener, 6-5 Bill Dinwiddie of New Mexico Highlands scored 27 points, second highest total allowed to a Buff opponent this year, in a losing effort. The Holiday Doubleheaders in Canyon last week saw a pair of 6-8 centers riddle the Buffalo defense. Idaho State's DeWayne Cruse scored 25 points and only 65.5 per cent field goal shooting in the second half pulled it out for the Buffaloes, 99-88. Willie Davis, North Texas State sophomore, also scored 25 points and picked 17 rebounds as the Eagles held the Buffaloes scoreless during the last minute of play and won 75-70.

Arkansas Top Team, Texas Rated Third

NEW YORK (UPI) — Perseverance and an unblemished gridiron record have paid off for Arkansas.

The Razorbacks, who sported an 11-0 mark this season including a 10-7 Cotton Bowl victory over Nebraska, were named winners of the Grantland Rice Trophy Wednesday, awarded annually by the Football Writers Association to the team it considers No. 1 in the country.

"This is the greatest thing that has happened to me," said Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles, who is in Hawaii to attend the Hula Bowl, "and I am overwhelmed to say the least. I'm just thrilled for the squad who made up their minds to be a great team and worked hard at it."

The Razorbacks polled four first-place votes and one third-place ballot from the five-man committee appointed by the association.

Notre Dame, the nation's No. 1 ranked team until upset in its finale by Southern California, finished second in the association voting with all five second place votes. Texas, last season's national champion, was third on

Lubbock Doubleheader Key To District Crown

It will be showdown time in Lubbock tomorrow night when the top four teams in district 3-AAAA meet to decide the issue.

Finley On Stand, 'Rags To Riches'

CHICAGO (UPI) — Kansas City Athletics owner Charles O. Finley told his version of a Horatio Alger story in court Tuesday with the approval of a curious Federal District Court judge.

Finley took the stand in his own behalf in the $144,000 breach of contract suit brought against him by former Athletics General Manager Frank Lane.

Overruling defense objections to the presentation of Finley's autobiography, Judge James B. Parsons said:

"It's a natural curiosity of everybody as to how a man becomes a millionaire."

Lane is seeking salary due since he was fired on Aug. 22, 1961, plus enforcement of a provision he be paid as a special consultant to the American League team for the next four years.

The half-hour monologue that covered Finley's meanderings to multimillionaire career came after Judge Parsons denied a defense motion to obtain a directed verdict in favor of Finley.

Finley's attorneys made the bid for a directed verdict shortly after Lane's lawyers rested their case. During the motion for the directed verdict, the defense offered to settle out of court with Lane for $2,030.70.

Judge Parsons, in denying the motion said the low settlement might be viewed by the jury as "such an insult that they might return a verdict in favor of the plaintiff."

Winding up his life's story, Finley turned to the contract dispute and testified it was "almost an impossibility to communicate" with Lane.

According to Finley, Lane turned down a four-year contract as general manager at $30,000 a year in preference for an eight-year contract at $25,000 with the last four years served as a consultant.

Finley said he was against the idea, but Lane wanted it for tax purposes.

Lubbock dumped highly-ranked Plainview, which has suddenly become everybody's patsy. Monterey brings an impressive record and a tall and veteran team into the fray. The Plainsmen racked up the tournament hardware during the Christmas break, playing six games in as many days as they won the Hobbs, N. Mex. Holiday Tournament and went to the finals of the ABC Ciproack affair before falling to crosstown rival Lubbock.

Monterey is probably the tallest team overall in district, with a starting five averaging better than 6-3. Gary Hughes, 6-5 is the outstanding player, making all-tourney in both holiday meets, and is backed by 6-6 Bill Abernethy, 6-3 Ernie Gilkerson and 6-3 Charles Whitt, with 5-10 Johnny Beck or 6-0 Bobby Pierce bringing the ball down.

The Plainsmen two-plateau regularly, substituting 6-4 Steve Hardin, 6-3½ Craig Wright and 6-2 David Reed.

Lubbock's specialty is defense, as witnessed by the fact that they held the great Ronnie Peret of Plainview to 18 and 11 points in their two meetings, the 6-9 giant's lowest outputs of the season.

Spoonemore Resigns At Lubbock High

LUBBOCK — Carl Spoonemore resigned as head football coach at Lubbock High School Tuesday to accept the job as head grid mentor and athletic director at Harlingen.

Spoonemore made the announcement after the Harlingen school board voted unanimously to hire him to replace Jack Henry Tuesday night.

The 38-year-old Spoonemore, whose teams have notched a 102-33-1 record, said he was going to the District 14-AAAA school for a raise in salary. He will report to Harlingen for work on Feb. 1.

During Spoonemore's three-year tenure at Lubbock, the Westerners fared 15-14-1, defeating arch-rival Monterey twice.

Spoonemore came to Lubbock from Albany where his clubs won the Class A state championship twice during his five years at the reins of the Lions.

A native of Raymondville in the Rio Grande Valley, Spoonemore graduated from Texas A&I in 1950 and later received his masters degree from the same school. He served as assistant two years at Livingston before taking over head coaching posts at Carrizo Springs and McGregor.

Tully Helps 'Big 33'

LUBBOCK (UPI) — Bobby Layne Wednesday named Darrell Tully of Spring Branch High School as assistant coach for the "Big 33" football game next summer that will match the Texas high school all-stars against schoolboy greats from Pennsylvania.

Layne coached the Texans last year, when Pennsylvania won 12-6. His assistants then were Donk Walker and Harley Sewell.

Tully recently retired as an active coach to become athletic director of Spring Branch schools. His teams had a record of 113-61-4.

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mickey Mantle soon will sign another $100,000 contract and although that won't put him in Joe Namath's class, it will tie him with Joe DiMaggio for achieving that figure from the Yankees three years in a row.

Mantle's next contract will be his 15th with the Yankees, who like the Giants, intend to pay their "big man" the same money they did last year. The Giants already have said Willie Mays will receive the same amount he did last season, meaning $105,000.

Although his .303 batting average last year didn't match his .314 mark of the previous season, the 33-year-old Mantle had a much better year all around than he did in 1963 when an assortment of injuries enabled him to play in only 65 games.

Mickey appeared in 143 contests last summer, driving in 111 runs, contributing 35 homers and finishing with the fourth best batting percentage in the American League.

Means Little
With taxes and all that, a small raise or cut in the $100,000 bracket doesn't mean much. As a matter of fact, a boost can sometimes work out to a slice in take-home pay.

So Mantle will get the same salary and everyone will be happy.

Until Mickey came along, DiMaggio was the only other Yankee player to hit the $100,000 jackpot. He signed for that figure in 1949, 1950 and 1951, and the Yankees indicated they were ready to pay him the same figure in 1952 for playing only 75 games, but DiMaggio declined and hung up his mitt.

Ordinarily, the Yankees don't have too much trouble signing their players although they've had their moments just as any other club.

In his capacity as a Yankee executive, Dan Topping, Jr., handles the signings of a number of players. Young Dan recalls a day when he received 15 contracts back at one clip.

14 Unsigned
He opened the first 14 envelopes, each of which contained an unsigned contract and a letter offering for more money. In a bad mood by this time, he ripped open the 15th envelope and saw there wasn't even a letter with the contract.

Topping, who hadn't noticed the contract was signed, had a Yankee scout contact the player to ask why he didn't even have the courtesy to send along a letter.

Taken aback, the player replied: "I signed the contract, but I didn't know you had to write a letter, too."

Dan's face turns red every time he recalls the incident.

McVay Hired At Dayton

DAYTON, Ohio (UPI) — Young John McVay began the managed job today of trying to lift the University of Dayton out of the football doldrums.

The 34-year-old McVay, assistant backfield coach under Duffy Daughterty at Michigan State the past three seasons, was named head coach at Dayton. He was given a three-year contract and the privilege of selecting four assistants.

He became the second coach in two years to tackle the assignment of bringing a winning team to Dayton. William (Pete) Ankey gave up Dec. 11 after winning only four games while losing 14 and tying two in two seasons.

McVay began his duties immediately after his appointment, which was announced at a press conference Wednesday night.

Lewis Honored

DALLAS (UPI) — Red Lewis, who has made a habit of tutoring national junior college championship track teams at Howard County JC in Big Spring, today was announced as the Texas Sports Writers Association Junior College Coach of the Year for 1964.

It was the second time Lewis has been voted the honor by the sports writers. He polled 54 first place votes to 23 for San Angelo JC's basketball coach Phil George and 29 for Decatur Baptist's Dewey Walling, also a basketball coach.

Grandelius Gets Job?

DETROIT (UPI) — William Clay Ford, millionaire owner of the Detroit Lions, said today he had not reached a decision on who to hire as the Lions' new head coach, despite a report he already tapped fired assistant Sonny Grandelius for the job.

"I haven't hired him," Ford said. Indeed, he added, "I haven't even talked to him since he was released" last week, along with the other four assistants to George Wilson. Wilson quit two days after his coaching staff was fired out from under him by Ford.

Ford said he hadn't actually interviewed anyone for Wilson's post.

Grandelius himself refused comment when contacted in Miami. The former Michigan State University backfield ace said only that "I'm just here for a vacation and to get some sun."

Grandelius, 34, has been sent on several missions by the Lions since he was fired. All of the coaches will be on the payroll through 1965 because of their contracts.

Pampa Newsboys Tangle With Borger Misprints In Borger Tonight

A prime example of what NOT to do with a basketball will be on display at the Houston Junior High Fieldhouse in Borger tonight at 8, when the Pampa Newsboys meet the Borger Misprints in a basketball extravaganza.

Opeing their first (and probably their last) season, the two teams are composed of some of the finest specimens of out-of-shape, overweight, rusty ex-cagers ever seen, in the persons of the employees of the Pampa Daily News and the Borger News-Herald.

All proceeds of the 'game' will go to benefit the Borger Boys Club. A return match (if the players survive) has been scheduled as part of a double-header attraction at Harvester Fieldhouse Jan. 18, when the Pampa Stars meet Boyd Butte's Harlem Stars, the champions of the Optimist Boys Club of Pampa. The game will be under the watchful eyes of a pair of veteran umpire-batters now hiding behind whistles, coach Terry Cullen of Pampa and coach Tex Hanna of Borger, who are slated for a very busy evening as most of the players can't even get out of the way of their own feet.

Jeff "Deadeye" Cohane and John "Goose" Shields, sports editors of their respective papers, originators of the tussle, will act as respective coaches as soon as they get through reading the rulebook.

The Borger Misprints will have an overall height advantage, utilizing several "ringers" from Frank Phillips JC, including Ronnie "Stilt" Cooper, 6-3. Pampa turncoat Clyde Littlefield is also 6-3, with John Sikes and Gene "Moose" Lee each 6-2.

Gary Clifford is 6-1, and Johnny "Hoot" Gibson, Jimmy "Short" Lee, Jimmy Banks and the Ol' Goose are all six-footers. Fumble-fingered backcourt men include 5-8 Donnie "Tinker" Bell, 5-8 Skipper Howard, Terry Gifford 5-9, Robert Morris 5-11 and Dub Waldrop 5-8. Waldrop, at 32, is the oldest of the battered, beat and dissipated Misprints, most of whom have gone to seed in a comparatively short time.

Cohane's Dandies include a Borger Bulldog turncoat, Ray Rodgers, a "slim" 5-11½, who escaped to Pampa as soon as he got old enough. Long Larry Wingard and Marvin Spencer, the Newsboys' only "big men" at 6-4, and one genuine specimen of basketball player, Tricky Jim McClusky, 5-10, who performed for Southwestern.

The Newsboys, however, plan to two-platoon, using one crew of in-shape youngsters to run the Misprints to death and a puffed assortment of over-age veterans of World War I to play a "delay" game. Joining Rodgers, Wingard and McClusky on the "senior citizens" squad are Cohane, 5-7½ and Droopy Mike Velasquez, 6-0.

Running on the fast-breaking "Teenager" squad are Ron "Double" Cross, 5-8, Spencer, Ronnie Oler, 6-0, Corky Snow, 6-0, Bill Nichols, 5-9 and Chico "Midget" Ramirez, who claims 5-2.

Preliminary ceremonies will begin at 7:30 p.m. with Cohane chasing Shields around the floor, and will end when the last tank of oxygen has been used up.

When the Newsboys are recovered, they are slated to play the Wheeler High coaches and faculty at Wheeler Jan. 14. The Misprints are not expected to recover before the return game.

Admission is 50 cents per person and all the laughs you can bring.

SMU Produces Top Swimmers

By CARLTON WILSON
DALLAS (UPI)—Graduate 12 lettermen from a winning football team and next season the coach might be surprised at a high rating. When a championship swimming team also loses a dozen stars and is favored to renew, it's downright amazing. But not so if the coach is

A-R (Red) Barr and the swimmers splash in the Southern Methodist University tank.

Barr's talented guidance has developed champions out of men who would have been unable to qualify when they came to him.

A case in point is Chick Cullen, a senior backstrokeer from Greensboro, N. C. All he did was splash in the water as a freshman, and Barr had to teach him the fundamentals of competitive swimming. Cullen has won two letters and last year finished fourth in the Southwest Conference 100-yard backstroke.

Each morning at 6:30 Barr is at the SMU natatorium, a gym-turned-pool, to coach his 28 varsity men. They work out in two 45-minute shifts before breakfast, then come back in the afternoon for another 80 minutes of swimming—a total of two hours a day in the water.

"We get quite a few boys like Chick, who have no form at all," Barr said. "I always tell them the worst thing that can happen is that they will have a good stroke."

Coaching swimming began as a sideline for Barr, 56, who never swam competitively. He starred in basketball and baseball at Oberlin College in Ohio, and upon graduation in 1930 went to Connellsville, Pa. high school to teach physical education and coach football and track.

"The school had a pool and the boys wanted to get up a team," Barr recalled. "In six years we never lost a dual meet and won the district championship each time."

Navy duty in World War II acquainted Barr with sea survival training, and he came to SMU in 1946 as swimming coach and intramural director. The Dallas school had never won a swimming title.

"My biggest thrill was our first team championship in 1953," the red-haired coach said. "We won again in 1954, lost two years, and now have a string of eight consecutive championships going."

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Welcome Mat Out for Reds

We listened the other night as President Johnson delivered his state of the union message.

There is quite a chasm between the President's idea and our summation of the state the union is in today.

There are many who will question our right to differ with the wisdom of Lyndon B. Johnson and his Capitol Hill ghost writers.

But, getting back to the President's message. We were particularly impressed by the significance of the President's enthusiasm to bring the two-man team of new Soviet leaders to the United States for a red carpet welcome and tour of the nation.

Also, his proposal to arrange across-the-ocean television programs to bring the Russian leaders into millions of American homes on regularly scheduled programs. We in turn would get our leaders on Russian television. This would be in the guise of international goodwill.

Now, who do you think would win this television bout?

We still cannot believe that the Communists have changed their ultimate goal of world domination.

Policy on Juveniles' Names

Many, probably most newspapers generally have held to a policy of not printing the names of juveniles involved in skirmishes with the law.

This policy is being changed. It is being changed to the extent that not only will the names of juveniles involved be published, but also the names of parents or guardians when obtainable.

Acts of physical violence are none the less harmful when committed by a 15-year-old than by a 45-year-old.

Acts of destruction are not lessened when performed by one who is, in the eyes of the law, a juvenile.

That such an act may have been the effect of thoughtlessness rather than purpose in no way changes the result of the act.

Artistry in the Kitchen

A lovely young singing star of motion pictures and television made a statement the other day that can't help but interest housewives — and homemakers, too, if there is a difference between a housewife and a homemaker.

This young lady was explaining that she didn't like to cook and that fortunately she had so much dough she didn't have to. So far, so good. But then she said:

"I don't feel cooking is a challenge. If you can read and follow directions, you can cook."

That's what she thinks! Millions of homemakers and their lucky, well-fed families know better. They know that the magic touch which makes mom's meals something out of this world can't be found in a cookbook.

You couldn't blame these geniuses of the culinary arts if they were to retort to the young vocal artist:

"And if you can read and open your mouth real wide, you can sing."

But they won't do that, of course. For that would be just as nonsensical as what the young singer said.

So let her keep on singing and our favorite cook keep on cooking. And you know something? Even a beautiful young singer sounds better to a listener with a nice, full tummy.

Don't Be Too Hopeful

So much has been said and written about the great gains that have been made in life expectancy that it may come as somewhat of a shock to learn that we are not really much better off in this respect than Americans at the turn of the century.

True enough, average expected life span in 1900 was about 45 years. It is around 70 today, a gain of 25 years.

But this is the expectancy of a new-born child, the result of the conquest of childhood and childhood diseases that once took a heavy toll of babies and mothers and young children.

People who reached the age of 40 in 1964, however, can expect to live only a few years longer than their 1900 counterparts — eight years for women, only four years for men. That is, where a 40-year-old male in 1900 could look forward to another 28 years of life, his grand son can reasonably count on 32

WASHINGTON:

Maybe Your Brain Can't Handle It

By RAY CROMLEY Washington Correspondent

MONTREAL (NEA) — Some psychiatrists are coming to strange, tentative conclusions about the human mind.

They're now saying (privately) that things have changed since Sigmund Freud's day, or that Freud was wrong, and that down inside we're not all driven solely by hunger, thirst and sex.

Instead, some of these men are saying that these days we're living on a much higher plane — at least a lot of us are — and that it's not worry over sex, hunger or thirst that drives us to the psychiatrist's couch, but higher worries.

We're deviled more in the 1960s, these psychiatrists believe, about self-esteem, our personal worth as human beings, whether or not we're useful or important to the world or somebody.

There is no agreement among psychiatrists, of course, but some of these men are now saying that our thinking can get us into even more serious "nervous breakdowns" than our emotions. They seem to be saying, in fact, that perhaps thought — frustration can be more dangerous than sex or hunger frustration.

Thinking, it seems, can lead us into mental sickness when we try to solve problems we don't have the capacity to solve. It may be that our brain can take some of the mental steps. But then it reaches some steps it can't handle.

Perhaps it's because our particular brain hasn't been trained to handle these steps. Perhaps some accident, disease or emotion has blocked out our ability to take one or more steps in the thinking chain, and we bog down part way through and come up with a crazy nonsense answer. We become frustrated. These frustrations build up.

It seems that possessing a brilliant brain may not necessarily save a man from these mental frustrations. Physicists, mathematicians, bankers, psychiatrists, college professors may have highly trained minds. But their minds are highly specialized in one kind of logic or another. So they could run afoul of mental distress when they get out of their own fields.

What these psychiatrists are finding is that no one knows very much about thinking. They don't know how to think, what causes thinking to break down, how far thinking is determined by emotions and how much by computer-like logic.

They think that a study of mentally ill people will help determine the thinking processes of the mentally well. (Since the minds of the ill apparently break down somewhere along the thought process, the break may indicate or expose one or more steps in the thought process.)

But other things are worrying the psychiatrists. Are some people having breakdowns because they've been trained or educated too narrowly? Why is it that children seem to lose much of their creativity by the third or fourth grade in school? (Are we destroying some of our thinking ability by our training and schooling?)

Nature does make mistakes. Sometimes she puts all the bones in the head and none in the back.

It is for these reasons The News has adopted this policy in its news columns.

SERRY'S WORLD

This was the report of a panel of heart specialists to the recent Second National Conference on Cardiovascular Diseases held in Washington, D. C.

The reason: The chronic diseases, such as heart disease and cancer, which are the chief killers among the middle-aged and elderly, "persist today largely unabated."

It is in this area that medicine is stalemated. Until a breakthrough is achieved, comparable to that made in the treatment of childhood diseases, the predicted "Golden Age" when the average man will live to 100 to 125 or even longer — with all the problems that will bring — is one thing we need not worry about today.

A quick-thinking employe came up with a new alibi when his foreman said:

Foreman — How come you're sleeping on the job?

Employe — Goodness gracious, can't a man close his eyes for a minute of prayer,

Question Box

Question: "Recently the Pope asked that nationalism be ended. Would you please define nationalism and tell why it should be ended? (No slur is intended for the Pope or his followers—his speech puzzled me.)"

Answer: Nationalism is defined by Webster as loyalty and devotion to a nation; an attitude, feeling or belief characterized by a sense of national consciousness; an exaltation of one nation above all others. It is opposed to internationalism.

We do not know what the Pope meant by his statement and would not attempt to interpret it. It would be presumed that he was recommending against the people of one nation exalting that nation over all others.

One of the problems in the world is a failure to communicate, through failure of definition of terms.

Certainly we can see nothing to criticize about persons who are loyal and devoted to their homelands. The poet put it well when he wrote, "Breathes there the man with soul so dead, who never to himself has said, 'This is my land, my native land.'"

Of recent years, some people have contended there is something wrong with those who are loyal and patriotic to the principles of individual freedom which come nearer to realization in the United States than in any other land. We are not among those.

Most of those who seek to destroy local patriotism seem to be in favor of some massive government, which tends to destroy individual freedom. There is nothing wrong with having a broad international outlook either, if it tends to increase, rather than decrease individual freedom.

If the people of all nations once realize that through free trade and intercourse among free people they can have peace and more prosperity for more people, we believe there will be real internationalism which will be worth while.

Doctor — What? Troubled with sleeplessness? Eat something before going to bed.

Patient — Why doctor, you once told me never to eat anything before going to bed.

Doctor (with dignity) — Poooh! That was last January. Science has made enormous strides since then.

She — What do you mean by telling your boy friend that I was deaf and dumb?

Other She — I didn't say deaf.

Pull Up A Chair

By Frank J. Markey

No man should be lonesome in these United States, according to the Census Bureau, because there are 100 gals for every 96 guys. Excluding the armed forces abroad there were 3,500,000 more women in the country last year than men.

The magician's wife knew he was up to his old-tricks because she discovered a hare on his shoulder.

A man and wife went to the mountains for a vacation trip. One day he returned to their cabin from a hike all scratched and bruised and told her that he had met a snake on the trail.

Wife — But don't you remember the guide told us yesterday that the snakes up here are not poisonous.

Husband — They don't have to be when they can make you jump off a 50-foot cliff.

Where singleness is bliss 'tis folly to be married.

Jerry — What was the first thing the grasshopper said after it was created?

Terry — Oh, Lord! How you make me jump!

Bachelor (dreamily) — Sometimes I yearn for the peace and comfort of married life.

Married Friend — Well, you have nothing on me.

In the beginning the earth was made round, and it's never been square since.

There is an interesting anecdote connected with the way Aaron Sussman, the great advertising magnate, got his original start in life. According to the legend, Sussman was sitting in a restaurant one day when he heard a sporty-looking gent at the next table declare, "My wife's favorite Schnauzer died yesterday. I'd give $200 if I could find a good, thoroughbred Schnauzer to replace it."

Around the World

By ROBERT MORRIS Actually It's Very Easy

You Simply Divide 3 into 511,000 NEW YORK (NEA) — Having seen many times what happens to people who fall into an early anecdote, we are generally very careful not to get too close to the edge. And we are only reciting the following out of exasperation:

It seems this sweet young girl was just coming home from a high school dance when a frog jumped into her path and said: "I am really a handsome young prince and have been transformed into this ugly condition by a wicked witch. There is only one way to break the spell and return to my natural state. A pretty girl must take me home and put me on her pillow for one night. Will you help me?"

So she did. And sure enough, when she awoke the next morning, there was a handsome young prince on the bed beside her. But to this very day she madra aun no cree ese cuento.

Well, you can see for yourself from this story how easy it is to arouse people's interest in learning a foreign language. And the same, we are certain, is true for arithmetic, geography, history and all the other subjects young people seem to have such a hard time learning in school nowadays.

There is probably something terribly wrong with that theory because nobody has mentioned it to us although we have been out for several days inquiring as to what new the U.S. education system is trying out this year.

In fact, for all the Januarys we have been making this quest among the school yard sets, we have never yet heard anybody talk of school subjects as though they were in the slightest bit interesting or enlightening.

Last January, or maybe the one before, it was a new theory to try teaching economics to first graders. A January earlier it was either the new math or the new science. Before that it was audio-visual aids, algebra for the fifth grade, electronic laboratories, programmed instruction, teaching machines.

This year the new theories are to be found in the teachers colleges (less class study and more practice teaching) and in the high school (more class study and fewer years in college).

In any event, if there is any new hardware under the sun, or new theory on the human digestion of information, it is to be found first in the American school house. Or at least in the administrator's office.

But for all their method and transistors, we are quite certain we would have a hard time getting through school today. In fact, we have tried to pass a third grade arithmetic test based on the new math and could not do it without help from a teacher.

Now, we do not mean this as a criticism of education methods by the lights of our own school days. That sort of thing is the first step toward falling into an early dotage.

Besides, as we recall it, we could not pass third grade arithmetic even in those days without the help of a teacher.

To our mind, learning has always been an obstacle in the path. And if somebody wants to try an overnight method for making it into a handsome education, we certainly have no objection.

There is only one small problem we can see in teaching by magic, and that is you must keep your mind on your incantations and forget about everything else.

In that regard, we were struck by a news item from Paterson, N. J., the other week, where three bandits tied up four priests; ambushed two bank messengers and made off with $511,000.

In our Paterson school days, that would have been unthinkable. For today's school kids, it is doubtless the easiest kind of problem in short division.

really tough in China. Someone recently discovered that in all of Pekin no one owned a Pekingese dog. However, some kind-hearted Japanese did something about it. They sent two puppies to the Red China. And it was all accomplished without a ny speeches at the United Nations.

The Syracuse (N. Y.) HERALD-JOURNAL reported: "In fact, he had booked passage on a flight home for himself and spouse." Who knows? Maybe his spouse is a soue.

34 Radio & Television 34 Now, we do not mean this as a criticism of education methods by the lights of our own school days. That sort of thing is the first step toward falling into an early dotage.

Besides, as we recall it, we could not pass third grade arithmetic even in those days without the help of a teacher.

To our mind, learning has always been an obstacle in the path. And if somebody wants to try an overnight method for making it into a handsome education, we certainly have no objection.

There is only one small problem we can see in teaching by magic, and that is you must keep your mind on your incantations and forget about everything else.

In that regard, we were struck by a news item from Paterson, N. J., the other week, where three bandits tied up four priests; ambushed two bank messengers and made off with $511,000.

In our Paterson school days, that would have been unthinkable. For today's school kids, it is doubtless the easiest kind of problem in short division.

really tough in China. Someone recently discovered that in all of Pekin no one owned a Pekingese dog. However, some kind-hearted Japanese did something about it. They sent two puppies to the Red China. And it was all accomplished without a ny speeches at the United Nations.

LBJ, DeGaulle Showdown Cool

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
PARIS (UPI) — The long feared showdown between President Charles de Gaulle over an Allied nuclear force appears to have been put on ice — perhaps for good.

French officials are confident there no longer is danger of a confrontation over this in 1965. In fact, there is growing belief here that the entire project is dead.

Washington's recent announcement that the U.S. State Department's special office in charges of negotiations on an Allied nuclear fleet is being closed down was taken by French officials as final evidence that the nuclear force row that rocked the Atlantic alliance last summer and fall is past.

The dispute exploded after De Gaulle's return from his South American grand tour in October. It was touched off by a series of Washington and Bonn statements indicating the United States was determined, regardless of French objections, to ram through its project for a mixed-manned Allied force of ships (ME) by the end of 1964.

Feared U.S. Domination
De Gaulle interpreted these statements as a personal challenge. He feared if the project went through it would perpetuate what he described as "American domination" of Europe's defense.

It was at this point that De Gaulle unleashed vague threats through aides and members of his government that if MLF went into effect, France would quit the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) and denounce the 1963 French-German alliance.

Curiously, De Gaulle's biggest assist came from the new British Labor government.

British Prime Minister Harold Wilson went to Washington in November with a project for a so-called "Allied nuclear force" (ANF) as an alternative to MLF.

This would have watered down to almost unrecognizable proportions the original U.S. plan for a fleet of 25 surface ships with crews of mixed nationalities and equipped with Polaris missiles.

Mixed Surface Ships
In its place the ANF project would have put part of the British V-bomber force, some nuclear submarines, some land-based missiles and only a very few mixed-manned surface ships.

By tacit general consent the MLF-ANF controversy was kept from becoming a showdown issue at the Paris NATO council of ministers just before Christmas.

When the ministers left for home it was with a vague general agreement that representatives of the United States, Great Britain, West Germany, Italy and the Netherlands should meet somewhere some time this month to see if there is any possibility of marrying up MLF and ANF into a workable project.

But no time or place has yet been set.
