Two-Inch Showers Touch Off Minor Flooding In South Texas

By United Press International
Heavy rain showers of up to two inches or more soaked dry South Texas crop and rangelands today and touched off minor flooding at San Antonio.
At least one family had to be evacuated on the Alamo City west side in the wake of down-pours during the night.
Rainfall was general in the area south of a Tyler - Waco - Abilene-Midland line with the heaviest falls south and southwest of San Antonio where Coula recorded 2.32 inches in the 24-hour period ending at 6 a. m.
All but the extreme western tip of Texas and the extreme northern Panhandle was blanketed by clouds early today and the moisture was expected to move northward during the day before a drying up trend moves in from the west.

Other Rainfall Reports
Del Rio had recorded 1.79 inches. Laredo, Palacios and Galveston 95, College Station 84, Houston 77, Austin 69, Port Arthur 64, Corpus Christi 52, Victoria 48.

More Rain Expected
Northern sections of the state were expected to be a bit cooler today than Sunday and long-range forecasts indicated this section of the state would be in for frequent rain during the week.
Overnight temperatures were comparatively mild for the season, ranging from 25 degrees at Dalhart to 61 at Brownsville. The only other weather station reporting sub-freezing temperature was Wichita Falls with 29 degrees.
At daybreak, rain of varying intensity was reported at Corpus Christi, Victoria, San Antonio, Houston, Galveston, Beaumont, Austin, Waco, San Angelo and Abilene.

U.S. Rejects Soviet Ultimatum Tactics
GENEVA (UPI) — The United States today rejected Soviet ultimatum tactics and told the 17-nation disarmament conference it now has doubts whether the Kremlin really wants a nuclear test ban treaty.
U.S. chief negotiator William C. Foster said recent Soviet behavior here and in nuclear talks with Britain and America "has shaken our belief that the Soviet Union really desires agreement."
Foster said that when Russia first accepted the principle of on-site inspection for policing a test ban "we did not assume the number (two to three each year) mentioned by Chairman (Soviet Premier Nikita) Khrushchev to be an ultimatum which the U.S. had no choice but to accept."

CoC Workers In Home Stretch For Member Drive

Chamber of Commerce members were heading down the home stretch today in their 1963 Membership Roundup.
The half way mark on the road to the $40,000 goal was reached Friday, according to Loyal Davies, chamber finance director.
Team No. 4, headed by Dick Evans and Roy Webb, was in the lead today with 315 points. Other members of the leading team among the 24 groups working in the drive are Bill Newlin, Paul Musgrave and Bob Williams. Davies said Newlin had turned in nine new members.
Check-ins are scheduled for 10 a. m. Tuesday and Thursday. The final report will be made in the chamber offices at 5 p. m. Friday.
Davies said the financial campaign will end at that hour for contest purposes, but will continue through the year.
The chamber raised $21,500 last year, which means, Davies stated, that the amount needs to be almost doubled to take care of this year's needs.
A final budget for the year will be drawn after the results of the drive are known at the end of the official campaign Friday.
In addition to renewals, approximately 50 new members have been added to the membership rolls so far in the roundup which started one week ago today.

IN LIONS MINSTREL — Here is Jim Edminster, shown in last year's Pampa Noon Lions Club's Minstrel. Edminster will perform again this year with his specialty singing. Members of the Minstrel cast are in "dress rehearsals" now for the show, slated Thursday and Friday nights in the Junior High Auditorium, and will take off Wednesday night to "rest up" before the big performance. A $200 door prize is being offered on opening night, Thursday. The curtain will go up at 8 p. m. and a full evening of entertainment is in store for local and area fans of the annual event. Hereford Breeders To Make Final Livestock Show Plans

Final details for the livestock show March 5 and 6 and March 7 will be discussed at a meeting of the Top O' Texas Hereford Breeders Association Wednesday noon in the Coronado Inn.
Paul Dauer of Panhandle, association president, said practically all details have been worked out but Wednesday's session will be held to finalize all arrangements.
The Hereford Breeders show and sale is held annually in connection with the Top O' Texas Junior Livestock Show scheduled for next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at Recreation Park here.
The Junior Livestock judging of swine and calves is scheduled for next Monday morning and Monday afternoon and judging of the Hereford breeding cattle will be held Tuesday afternoon, March 5.
The Junior Livestock sale is set for 9:30 a. m. on Wednesday and the Hereford Breeders sale for 1 p. m. Wednesday.
Highlights of the three-day combined show will be the Top O' Texas (See HEREFORD, Page 3)

Brandt Pledges Continued Fight

BERLIN (UPI) — West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt, re-elected in an overwhelming personal victory that sent the Communists staggering today, pledged a continued fight with the Western Allies to keep the city free.
Brandt's Socialists gained support in Sunday's municipal election at the expense of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's Christian Democrats, reflecting apparent popular disapproval of Adenauer's new ties with French President Charles de Gaulle.
Political observers said the vote showed a general fear that Adenauer was drawing closer to France to the detriment of the alliance with the United States and Britain, which West Berliners consider vital to the city's defense. Despite snow and sleet 89.9 per cent of eligible voters went to the polls.

Authorities Promise Asylum To Offenders

By MARTIN McREYNOLDS
United Press International
Pro-Communist hijackers aboard the Venezuelan freighter Anzoategui offered today to surrender to Brazilian authorities at their obscure anchorage in Brazil's north coastal waters. Brazilian destroyers were expected to leave their base at Belem and head for a rendezvous with the hijacked ship 300 miles to the north and halfway between Devil's Island and the mouth of the Amazon River.
Brazilian authorities have promised the hijackers political asylum.

Budget Director Final JFK Witness In Tax Hearing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Budget Director Kermit Gordon was set today to wind up the administration's arguments before the House Ways & Means Committee for President Kennedy's proposed tax cut.
The committee, resuming hearings on the tax plan after a lapse of one week, scheduled Gordon as the final government witness. It will start hearing Tuesday from non-government witnesses.
Kennedy's proposal for a $10.3 billion tax reduction has become the target of increasing criticism. Tax Foundation Inc., a non-profit, research organization, was the latest to attack it.
The research group, whose stated purpose is to help develop more efficient government at less cost to taxpayers, said Sunday a major overhaul of the tax system was needed rather than any "shot-in-the-arm" tax-cut.

The foundation said in a report that tax cuts without matching spending reductions might stimulate the economy temporarily but would not justify big and endless deficits. Repeated deficits, it said, would discourage any progress toward tax modernization.
"If there were ever a vicious circle," the foundation said, "it would be one of rising federal expenditures which discourage the tax reduction that would help the economy grow."
In recent days various groups and members of Congress have taken shots at the Kennedy program, with Republicans generally aiming their fire at the President's record $98.8 billion spending proposals for the next fiscal year.

Senator Says 'Expose' On Powell Is Popular

WASHINGTON (UPI) — During his 14 years of sleuthing in government bureaucracy, Sen. John J. Williams has turned out a variety of exposes.
But none in recent years, the Delaware Republican said today, has brought as much favorable reaction — in and out of Congress — as his recent charge that the Kennedy administration is shoveling out questionable favors to Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y.
Only his disclosure of corruption in the Internal Revenue Service during the latter days of the Truman administration brought more accolades, Williams said in an interview.
Should anyone think at this point that the senator was out to build up a political issue for the Republicans, then hear this from him:
"We have just as many (wrongdoers) in the Republican party as the Democrats have. I believe it would have been the same thing if Nixon had been elected."
Such unusual frankness is one reason that Williams, despite 16 years of seniority, still is a "loner" in the Senate fraternity. His own party once turned down his request for a committee to as-

Subversion In Latin America Is Topic For Subcommittee Inquiry

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A House foreign affairs subcommittee launched an investigation today of Communist subversion in Latin America and what the United States intends to do about it.
Assistant Secretary of State Edwin M. Martin was called to testify at the inquiry, which followed a weekend of more congressional debate over U.S. policy toward Cuba.
Martin was scheduled to begin testifying at 10 a. m., EST.
Other developments included:
—Chairman John S. Stennis, D-Miss., of the Senate preparedness subcommittee said that if Soviet activities in Cuba were permitted to continue, U.S. troops might be fighting Communists in Latin America.
—Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said persistent political pressures could force the administration to take "very unwise" action on Cuba that might have dangerous repercussions elsewhere in the world.
—Allen W. Dulles, former director of the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA), said in an article made public Sunday that he saw no chance that the people of Cuba or any other Iron Curtain country would stage successful revolutions against their Red rulers.
—Senate Democratic Whip Hubert H. Humphrey, Minn., said the United States should make it clear now that a Castro-type Communist take-over in Venezuela "will not be tolerated."
—Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C.,

Sunday. The time was 10 hours and 45 minutes. Three others who started with them from Pampa had to drop out. Jewel Thompson and Doris Sims, police department meter checkers, fell by the wayside five miles east of Panhandle at 2:45 p. m. Mrs. Phyllis Brown, Pampa housewife, made it to within 3 1/2 miles of Panhandle, but gave up at 3:15 p. m. Mrs. Galbreath said they would have made better time but were stopped so many times along the way by motorists who were lending words of encouragement. (Daily News Photo)

Dear Abby.... How Come Cows ... Can Count?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Regarding the cat who won't eat meat on Friday. It's no mystery. Animals can count. If an animal is used to getting fish every seventh day, he is puzzled and uneasy if he doesn't get it. When my mother was a girl, she had a pony who knew when it was Sunday. Every other day the pony would take the road to school, but on Sundays the pony would head right for the church. Cows can count, too. Otherwise, when a herd enters the barn, no matter in which order they come in, why does each cow go to her own stall?

DEAR JEAN: All right, I'll agree — animals CAN count. But I am a Iowa girl who had to be told by an Illinois professor that cows could give milk before they calved, so please don't ask me how come a cow knows her own stall.

DEAR ABBY: As a former teacher and college dean, may I add a few words to the young man whose father refused to regard D as a passing grade. Though systems differ, D usually means "passing but unsatisfactory." A former Dean of Admissions at Harvard summed it up well. "D means 'just got by.' How would you like to eat an egg that 'just got by'?" Sincerely, John V. D. Southworth

DEAR ABBY: My 15-year-old son seems to be obsessed with those smutty girlie magazines (pictures of women) and I can't do anything about it. I have found

Plans For Spring African Violet Show Discussed At Society Meet

Pampa African Violet Society met Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Cecil Holmes with Mrs. Charles Glison as co-hostess.

During the program, Mrs. R. F. Dirksen in discussing "How And When To Transplant" stated, "Soil does wear out in time. Repotting is necessary to maintain plan vigor. When the entire ball of soil is a mass of roots, then it is time to shift to a larger pot." Cyclamen Mites and their damage to African Violets were discussed by Mrs. Marion Roberts. "Hungry Roots Tell Their Story" was the topic discussed by Miss Mary McKamy. "Garden and houseplants need a balanced diet just the same as you and I," she said.

Mrs. Norman Walberg, president, conducted the business meeting during which Mrs. Dan Giv-

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery. In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H. At all drug counters.

Mrs. Phillios Is Feted With Party

Farewells and Good Wishes for the future were the main topic of conversation at the Farewell Coffee given Thursday for Mrs. Wayne Phillips in the home of Mrs. Earl O'Neal, 700 N. Nelson. The Phillips and their three sons left Friday to make their home in Fresno, California, where Mr. Phillips will be engaged in raising miniature Shetland ponies. Attending the Coffee were Meses. H. E. Winegart, Nelse Robinson, George Hamlin, J. B. Jones, L. L. Johnson, Bena Harkrader, Forrest Cloyd, J. C. Longan, W. D. Kendree, Eugene Tollison, George Phillip, Roland Dauer and Margie Hausman. Most of the guests were members of the Metanet Quilting Club, which meets bi-monthly for an all-day quilting bee and luncheon in the homes of members.

Manners Make Friends

Models were Marge Penn and daughter, Rene; Hester Bowers, Bennie Hawley and daughters, Sara and Ann; Norma Lockwood, Margaret Wallace, Mabel Schmalp, Johnnie Spert, Stena Hatcher, Mabel West, Joann Carrubi, Dorothea Ward, all professional registered nurses of Pampa. Background music was provided throughout the fashion show by Mrs. Maxine Milliron. A brief business meeting was held during which plans were discussed for attending the state meeting to be held in Houston in April.

STOMACH TENSION
indigestion, gas, heartburn, before distress begins!
Because of today's fast, hectic living pace, we often suffer indigestion, gas, heartburn and other uncomfortable forms of painful stomach tension. But now, a new digestant enzyme capsule, called MIAZYME can help prevent these conditions before they begin.
If you properly digest the food you eat, chances are you will not suffer stomach distress. This is due to the action of enzymes, manufactured in the digestive process. But when these enzymes fall below par, you are apt to suffer indigestion, gas, bloating, heartburn, etc.
Why risk the distress of stomach tension? Just TWO MIAZYME capsules a day will help eliminate the discomforts of indigestion, heartburn, gas and open the door to new vistas in food enjoyment.
MIAZYME contains no narcotics! No habit forming drugs! Only digestant enzymes! No harmful side effects, taken as directed. So safe, no prescription is needed! Get MIAZYME today at your favorite drug store. Try it for 6 days on our money-back guarantee of satisfaction. Regular size, $1.50. Economy size, $3.00.

REMEMBER
HOW TELEPHONES USED TO LOOK?
Every old telephone here was once the last word in service. But times and telephones change.
Remember when phones needed fixing so often that each one had a door on the front for the repairman's convenience? Today's telephones give many years of trouble-free service.
Remember when you had to talk loud to be heard? Today you can talk on the phone as if the person were sitting next to you.
Remember when technology limited telephones to one color and one model? Today you can have colors and models to suit your own good taste.
Continued development of better styling and engineering of telephones is another improvement made with you in mind. Our never-ending goal is to improve your telephone service and make it more valuable to you.

Young Republicans In California Led By Conservatives

FRESNO, Calif. (UPI) — A group of young conservatives, who sought support of the John Birch Society, was in firm control of the 13,000-member California Young Republican organization today.

They smashed a victory Sunday by electing a full slate of state officers headed by Robert Gaston, a lawyer, at the organization's 1963 convention.

The GOP's regular party organization in California was shaken by the victory, representing a personal defeat for Caspar W. Weinberger of San Francisco, chairman of the state central committee.

Representative To Push Drive For Park Project

By KYLE THOMPSON

AUSTIN (UPI) — Rep. Menton Murray, Harlingen, planned today to press his drive in the House for the final step in turning Padre Island over to the federal government for a national seashore park.

The state Senate has approved a bill by Sen. Bruce Reagan, Corpus Christi, to turn the narrow, sandy island into a national seashore.

The House State Affairs Committee approved a similar proposal last week, and Murray reportedly was ready to run it through the House.

Should Murray get favorable passage in the House this week, there still remain some differences in House and Senate versions which would have to be worked out in conference committee.

Agreement Predicted

But the two bills differ only slightly, and proponents in both chambers predicted the differences could be worked out with little difficulty.

Lawmakers returned today facing another busy week of committee work. Among proposals up for early airing is Rep. Red Berry's bill to set up parimutuel betting in Bexar County only.

The San Antonio lawmaker is in the midst of his third attempt to get a horse racing bill through the legislature. Previous attempts failed and Berry this time is going for one for his home county only.

Sales Tax Change

Also on the week's schedule is the first major sales tax change bill of the session—one that would cost Texans some $20 million more a year.

The House Revenue and Taxation Committee will hear the bill by Rep. Ben Atwell, Dallas, on Tuesday. The biggest change would be to remove clothing under $10 from the 2 per cent sales tax exemption list.

sweeping that only the city's proportional representation electoral system kept them from winning all 134 seats in the city assembly.

In a victory statement, Brandt said the result was "a destructive rebuff for the wall party"—the Communists—and a "tremendous vote of confidence" for his anti-Communist policies.

Brandt promised that he would work hand-in-hand with the Western Allies to keep West Berlin from falling into the hands of the Communists.

West Berliners, turning out in record numbers, showed cold disdain for the campaign threats and promises of the Communists. They gave the Reds only 20,887 votes, or 1.3 per cent of the total, for their worst showing ever.

Senator

arises on the floor and begins talking, Washington listens.

Incident Unusual

Williams' blast at Powell was unusual in that it involved another member of Congress. Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., said he had violated common — a precedent against a personal attack on one member of Congress by another. Morse asked the Senate to tap Williams' wrist by striking his remarks from the permanent record.

What Morse objected to was not Williams' documented charges that federal agencies had been making grants and loans to organizations headed by Powell, but Williams' statement that Powell was an expert on "adult delinquency."

In the end Williams succeeded in inserting into the record even more charges against Powell—that the New York congressman has a record of absenteeism and padding of his payroll.

After it was over, Williams said, individual representatives and senators offered him their congratulations rather than censure.

Speaks Quietly

On the Senate floor, Williams, 38, resembles Calvin Coolidge, in a rural sort of way, and he speaks so low he can hardly be heard. In a private gathering he is more friendly.

"I don't think corruption is any more of a problem now than it used to be," said the tall, bald senator. "There may be more now because we have got a bigger government."

Crooks, he said, do not follow party lines.

"The men who are inclined to be crooked are not here as Democrats or Republicans. They change their party affiliation to suit the occasion," he said.

What is important, Williams said, is how an administration reacts once corruption is disclosed. Williams said his attack on Powell was not personal.

"If you start gunning for a single individual, chances are you will walk by a bigger rascal," he said.

Three Cases Of DWI Are Handled Here

Two men were arraigned in county court and one in justice court this forenoon on charges of driving while intoxicated.

Odie Steve Boles of Liberal, Kans., is being held under $1,500 bond for grand jury action after arraignment before Justice J. W. Graham on a second offense DWI charge.

Boles suffered facial cuts when the car he was driving hit a fire plug at Browning and N. Cuyler Sts. at 2:05 a.m. Sunday. He was arrested by Patrolman Charles LaFever.

Clyde Ray Hill, Rt. 1, Moreland, Okla., pleaded guilty to a DWI charge in County Judge Bill Craig's court. He was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to three days in county jail.

George Henry Oliver, 1034 S. Gray, arrested by city police early Sunday morning in the 800-block of S. Gray St., entered a plea of not guilty to a DWI charge. Bond was set at $500.

Soviet Hardline May Be Attempt At Reconciliation

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union's return to a hardline approach to the West may forecast a new Kremlin peace bid to Communist China, Western diplomatic sources said today.

The suddenly stiffer Soviet attitude at the 17-nation Geneva disarmament conference may indicate that a way is being sought for a reconciliation with the hard line Chinese leadership, they said.

The Chinese have no use for Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's peaceful coexistence policies. They take a dim view of the capitalistic West and of any Soviet effort to reach agreements with the United States.

The Moscow-Peking ideological struggle has been sharp but now the new Soviet hard-line has brought a change from Khrushchev's post-Cuba crisis position that there were needs for "peaceful compromises" with the West.

Western diplomats have noticed the tough stance in Geneva, an increase in anti-Western articles in the Soviet press, and the violent reaction here to last month's Franco-West German treaty of peace and cooperation.

Laos Facing New Threat Possibility

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI)—Tension between rival factions mounted toward the danger point in Laos today and officials warned that new fighting might break the county's uneasy peace.

Neutralist and pro-Communist Pathet Lao forces, on "alert" status, faced each other in defensive positions in the strategic Plain of Jars where they once fought as allies against the U.S. backed right-wing forces in the civil war.

The threat of renewed hostilities caught this tiny Himalayan kingdom with its key leaders out of the country. King Savang Vatthana and neutralist Premier Souvanna Phouma are on a tour of countries which participated in the Laos conference that ended the civil war last year.

The two vice premiers, Pathet Lao leader Prince Souphanouvong and right-wing leader Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, also are out of Laos

Thinclads Eye Meet

Pampa High School will open its track season at the Fort Stockton Invitational Meet this Saturday, reported coach Norman Phillips today.

Phillips and assistant Randy Roten are currently working out 29 boys, but plan to take four boys definitely to the initial meet, and possibly two more.

In addition to those currently working out, the Harvester track team will have four returning veterans after a basketball season ends, including Randy Matson, the state discus and shot put champion, and Kenny Hebert, a low-hurdles letterman, from the varsity, as well as Shockers Keith Griffith and David McDaniels.

Phillips will take four veterans of last year's squad, who will make up a mile relay team and participate in other track events, but no field men.

Topping the list will be senior Bill Martin, who competed in the regional high jump, with a top mark of 6 feet, who will also run the high hurdles. Senior Ralph Palmer is another top man returning, having set the Pampa high record for the 440-yard dash last year in 50.5 at the Lubbock Invitational.

Senior Travis Tucker will be in the low hurdles and Curtis Fletcher, a converted miler, in the 440. All will be members of the new mile relay team.

Two other possible entrants in the Fort Stockton meet will be sophomore Mark Westbrook in the half-mile and Wayland Bullard in the mile.

Dennis Ralston Cup Hope

NEW YORK (UPI) — United States Davis Cup hopes were brightened today by the emergence of 20-year-old Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., as a youth who can control both his shots and his temper.

Ralston became the youngest player ever to win the national indoor tennis championship when he downed hard-hitting Mike Sengster of England, 7-5, 4-6, 6-3, 10-8, Sunday. Ralston demonstrated a superior all-court game, particularly in his volleys and lobs, and also refrained from the emotional outbursts which often have proved his undoing in the past.

It was the first major singles title ever won by Ralston, who has been labelled a "comer" in amateur tennis since high school.

Gardner Mulloy, 48, of Miami, Fla., won his 26th national championship when he defeated Dr. Reginald Weir of Fairlawn, N.J., 6-4, 7-5, in the senior singles final. Mulloy and Billy Talbert of New York City also teamed to beat Morris Adelsberg, Fresh Meadow, N.Y., and George McCall, Los Angeles, Calif., 6-2, 6-2, in the senior doubles. Talbert has now won 28 national tournament titles.

Hearn Wins Baseball Golf Meet

MIAMI (UPI) — Former Giant pitcher Jim Hearn outlasted Boston Red Sox coach Billy Herman to win the 23rd annual national baseball players golf championship Sunday by one stroke with a total of 301.

The hefty Sox coach closed a four-stroke gap to one stroke with a 37-38-75 final round while big Jim shot 39-39-78 on the rain-soaked Miami Springs Golf Club course.

Defending champion Alvin Dark's efforts for a fifth win netted the Giant manager third place with a 303 total after a final round of 76.

Fourth place went to 1954 champ Freddie Hutchinson with a 307 total, which was one stroke better than Angel outfielder Albie Pearson, who fired a poor 81 final round.

both the high and low hurdles. "Although we didn't have a mile relay team last year," said Phillips, "I feel that with the clockings these boys have in the 440s, we might have a good relay squad this year. So far we've clocked Fletcher in 52.8, Palmer and Tucker both in 54 flat and Martin in 56."

The Harvesters placed in every meet they entered last year, mainly due to the prowess of Matson, who won the shot put in every meet up through the state championships.

Following Fort Stockton, the Pampa squad will compete in the Snyder Relays Mar. 2, the Possum Kingdom Relays Mar. 9, the West Texas Relays Mar. 15-16, Lubbock Mar. 23, the Amarillo Relays Mar. 29-30, with the district meet, also in Amarillo April 6, the Mustang Relays for regional qualifiers in Andrews April 13, the regional meet in Odessa April 20, the Red Raider Relays for state qualifiers in Lubbock April 27, and the state meet in Austin May 24.

Phillips said that he had high hopes for Martin and Palmer and the relay team, as well as Matson, to place high in track this year, with the possibility of some of the sophomores producing as well.

Dolph Schayes Near 20,000-Point Mark

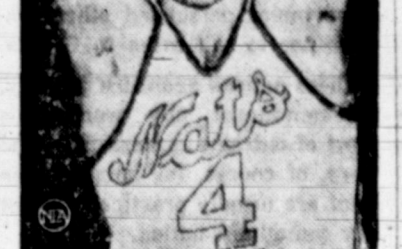

By United Press International

Dolph Schayes would like to be a 20,000-point man in the National Basketball Association before he calls it quits.

Schayes, whose 1963-64 NBA participation depends on the healing of a leg injury, reached a league career high of 18,958 Sunday when he scored 12 points in Syracuse's 143-124 victory over the Detroit Pistons.

The veteran pro has been limited in Syracuse action because of the injury sustained early in the season, and his game totals have been low.

Nine Nats hit in double figures against the Pistons, with Al Bianchi and Paul Neumann leading.

Don January Is Titlist In Tucson Tournament

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI)—If they drive for show and putt for dough, as all golfers claim, then Don January is in business.

He captured the $25,000 Tucson Open golf tournament Sunday with one of the most fantastic four-day putting displays on record — whipping a strong field by 11 big strokes.

So he picked up his $3,500 check and headed for a 10-day vacation today before reporting to New Orleans for the open tournament starting there March 1.

"The putting was phenomenal," Don—thought he'd play it cozy. "I've never seen anything like it."

Neither had most of the other touring professionals. January closed out the tournament by shooting a seven-under-par 65, posting a 72-hole score of 266 — 72 under par — for the distance on a tough golf course, the 45er's Country Club. He had rounds of 65-67-69-65 for the four rounds of play. He never three-putted a single green.

Former National Open champion Gene Littler finished in a deadlock for second place with defending champion Phil Rodgers, each with 276s, good for $2,050.

January was great off the tee, but he was fantastic on the greens. For the 72 holes he used only 119 putts, 25 under par on the 36 holes without taking a single bogey.

He had started Sunday's round holding a seven-shot advantage over the field. Everyone—except Don—thought he'd play it cozy. But on the first, third and sixth holes he rolled in birdie putts of 20 feet each.

"I knew it was all over then," he said. "I couldn't lose unless I did something awfully dumb." But he never let up. In fact, he turned right around and eagled the next hole, a par-five, 518-yarder, when he spanked his approach into the green and then tanked the six-foot putt. He had nines of 31-34.

Bob Gindorf Tops Raiders In Scoring

LUBBOCK (SpI) — Bobby Gindorf of Pampa, lone senior on the Texas Tech basketball team, leads the Red Raiders in Southwest Conference scoring.

Going into the Baylor game Saturday night, Gindorf led the Raiders with a 13.3 average, which he topped as TT won their fourth game against five losses, taking a 77-70 win as he hit for 16 points.

Gindorf also led the Raiders in free throw average, hitting 22 of 27 going into the game, and topped the field goal averages with 37.5 per cent as he made 42 of 73 attempts from the floor for a conference total of 106 points, until Bill Murren shaded him with an eight-for-eight night against Rice for a 57.8 mark.

Runner-up in conference scoring is sophomore Glen Hallum of Brownwood with a 12.8 average. Hallum hit 18 against Baylor to become the lone Raider in the top ten in SWC season scoring, with 230 points. Gindorf has a 10.7 average on the season, and shares the single game high for the Raiders with Sid Wall, each with 23 points.

Gindorf has been the high scorer in three of Tech's games, and led the rebounding the same number of times.

Miami Girls In District Playoff; Boys Win Title

MIAMI (SpI) — Basketball coach Lawrence Overcast reported today that the Miami girls basketball team will engage in a playoff for district 2B honors Friday night at Shamrock at 8 p.m., while the boys team will meet 1B champion Higgins Monday night at Canadian.

The boys swept through district play undefeated, rolling up 10 straight loop wins and then three more in the round-robin, compiling an overall season record of 26-3. Leading the Warriors this year have been 5-11 sharpshooter Jim Flowers, averaging 20 points per game, and 6-3 Mark Arrington, top rebounder and a 15-point-per-game shooter.

Higgins has compiled a 22-9 season record.

The Miami girls compiled a 9-1 district record and 21-7 season mark to the Wheeler 5-5 and 18-13, but the Wheeler girls won the district tournament to throw the championship into a one-game playoff.

The winner will meet District 1B champ Follett in bi-district, with the date and site as yet undetermined.

Leading Miami is 5-8 sophomore Connie Dodson with a 25-point average. The Wheeler aces are a pair of 5-9 twins, forward Estelle Fillingham and her sister Moselle at guard.

right-hander we obtained from the Cubs, in Los Angeles and Chicago and know he can pitch. At the proper playing weight, he could be the additional starter we will be in serious need of if Lary doesn't come back to his previous form.

I expect Jim Bunning and Aguirre to be as effective as they were last trip. Don Mossi still has mileage ahead of him. We have upgraded right-handers in Phil Regan and Paul Foytack and Terry Fox is the slickest relief pitcher in the American League.

We have an excellent crop of young pitchers headed by the left-handed Doug Gallagher and the right-handed Howard Kopplitz and Bob Humphreys. Dick Egan and Mickey Lolich are southpaws up from Hawaii and Denver, respectively, and Bob Dostal is a right-hander who had extraordinary control for Denver and was the most valuable player in the Puerto Rican Winter League.

No outfit is going to chase the Tigers out of the park.

I repeat that the main thing we have to do is stay well.

Cincinnati Win Streak Is Broken By Wichita 65-64

By DICK JOYCE UPI Sports Writer

Dave Stallworth for All-American.

That's the cry from Wichita, Kan., today for the 6-foot, 4-inch, 200-pound University of Wichita star who almost single-handedly ended top-ranked Cincinnati's 37-game winning streak Saturday night.

Stallworth, a junior from Dallas, Tex., scored two clutch free throws and wound up with 46 points to lead 17th-ranked Wichita to a 65-64 victory over the defense-minded Bearcats in a Missouri Valley Conference game at Wichita.

Second-ranked Loyola of Chicago also took it on the chin Saturday night, losing, 82-75, to Bowling Green at Bowling Green, Ohio, for its first defeat in 22 games this season. With Cincinnati and Loyola losing, the nation is without a major unbeaten college basketball team.

Four other teams in the top 10 lost Saturday while only third-ranked Duke, fifth-ranked Arizona State University, eighth-ranked Stanford and 10th-ranked Oregon State won.

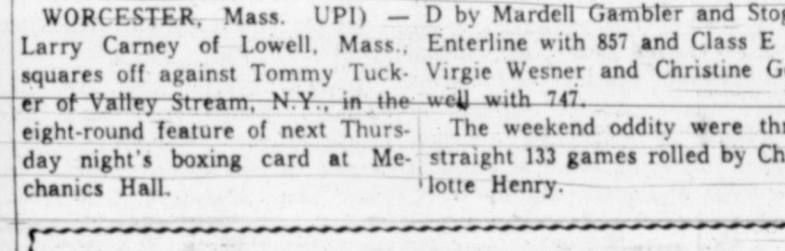

Illinois, ranked No. 4, sixth-ranked Colorado, seventh-ranked Mississippi State and ninth-ranked Georgia Tech fell by the wayside.

Cincinnati, two-time defending NCAA champion with a 19-game winning streak this season, led, 64-43, with 1:30 left to play before Stallworth converted two free throws in the final seconds. The Bearcats, who had held opposing teams to an average of 50.2 points a game — best in the nation — were unable to stop the lanky Stallworth, who entered the game with a 20.5 scoring average.

Bowling Green, the Mid-American Conference leader, used a full-court press and a tight home defense to stop Loyola. Howie Komives scored 32 points and

by ED FITE UPI Sports Writer

Only the Texas Aggies and Southern Methodist Mustangs stand in the way of the Texas Longhorns' clinching at least a tie for the Southwest Conference basketball championship during the coming week.

Thanks to an assist from SMU last Saturday night in the form of an 89-79 defeat of Rice, Texas goes into the final five games of the schedule with a three-game lead over Rice and the Aggies.

The Longhorns, 9-0 in league action and 14-5 for the season, play host to Texas A&M at Austin Tuesday night and can virtually eliminate the Aggies as a title threat then and there.

The Aggies, with a 6-3 record matching Rice's loop mark, would find themselves dormant — four down with four to play — if they lose. And, since Texas manhandled them at College Station there appeared little doubt A&M could expect any better treatment at Texas' Gregory Gym.

Troublesome Game

On Saturday night, Texas will journey north to Dallas for what could be a troublesome evening against SMU, whose 4-5 league record isn't a true indication of how tough the Mustangs can be at home. Texas will be favored there, too, if the Longhorns are to lose a league game this week, well be the spot.

While Texas can personally take care of Texas A&M's dim threat, Rice seems to have a fair chance of keeping its hopes alive a bit longer. The Owls entertain Baylor (2-7) at Houston Tuesday night and tackle Texas Tech (4-3) at Lubbock Saturday night before getting a face-to-face crack at Texas in Houston Feb. 26.

Aside from these games this week, SMU is at TCU and Tech at Arkansas Tuesday night, and TCU is at A&M and Arkansas at Baylor Saturday.

Texas trounced Tech 90-76 and then beat TCU 75-59 in league play last week, while the Aggies defeated SMU 76-70 and Arkansas 80-78, Rice downed Arkansas 69-65 before stumbling over SMU, and Baylor fell to TCU 66-64 and to Tech 77-70.

A down-to-the-wire race is shaping up for league individual scoring honors between Rice's Kendall Rhine and A&M's Bennie Lenox.

TEXAS BOATING BY KENNETH CARR

United Press International

Legislation to take some of the kinks out of the two-year-old state water safety act — and to keep lake authorities from charging users fees — has been introduced in the Texas Legislature.

The new bill, introduced by Rep. Ben Atwell, Dallas, makes some detailed changes in the safety act that he sponsored and got through the legislature in its 57th session two years ago.

The major change is that the 58th session bill would provide that registration fees it collects will take the place of any water use or similar fees by water authorities that operate lakes.

Separate Fees Opposed

Sportsmen have long opposed separate use fees by lake authorities.

Atwell said the authorities could still charge for such services as launching and maintenance, but cannot charge for simply using the lake, under his new bill.

The new bill adjusts the water safety act's equipment requirements to conform with the Coast Guard standards, for more uniformity, Atwell said.

"This way, a boater can comply with both at once," Atwell explained.

U. N. 'Peace-Keeping'

If anything has served to show the United Nations one-world government is not a peace-keeping agency as it claims but is warlike, it is the action of the U. N. in the Congo. And there is a growing sentiment in this case, not alone from the "right-wing extremists" but from some of those who might even be considered "liberals."

National Review, under the title "The Voices of Sanity" quotes a few of the more prominent. Here are portions of the statements:

William S. White, Washington news commentator: "If the United Nations, without the slightest right except the sanction of force backed by a massive propaganda, can intervene in the internal affairs of any country in the world — in theory not excluding the United States."

"But even the argument of expediency is open to grave question. The ugly truth is that deceit and evasiveness and incredible arrogance have marked the U. N.'s course in the Congo, from first to last. Men of good will toward the U. N. have been compelled to conclude, long since, that its word in this affair could not be trusted."

Dr. Albert Schweitzer: The policy of the U. N. in the former Belgian Congo causes me great anxiety because it proceeds from a total ignorance of the country's problems. It is a grave error to try and unite by force people so profoundly divided among themselves. If Katanga is unwilling to be reunited with the Congo, the U. N. should respect its wishes and not try to impose its own will at any cost."

Sen. Barry Goldwater: "It is an unspeakable tragedy that the world organization which was set up to present war and preserve peace, should now be starting wars and massacring innocent civilians at the behest of an extremist war faction within the U. N., which has, apparently achieved control over the policy and actions of the world organizations."

Barron's: "By word and deed alike the U. N. has flouted what the Founding Fathers called 'a decent respect to the opinions of man kind.' The same contempt for Western values has spawned the naked aggression against Katanga, a lawless act to which the government of the United States, to its enduring shame, has become an accomplice."

Arthur Korkk, Washington news commentator: "This is the strategy of creating what is known in the history of war as an 'incident.' The United Nations secretary had conditioned its reiterated statement that no military aggression was contemplated unless its forces were 'attacked.' If the authors of these moves did not foresee that they most probably would be provocative of such an 'attack,' they must have completely lost contact with reality in their determination to unify that geographical and historical fiction — the former Belgian Congo."

Dean Acheson: "At every session of the United Nations General Assembly some issue arises between a nationalist group in a colonial area and one of our European allies. These issues are rarely resolved, they are usually exacerbated, by the debates and resolutions of the General Assembly."

"If one is interested in making orderly progress toward movement from a dependent position toward responsible and, possibly, competent government by the consent and choice of these peoples, one must look elsewhere."

Rep. Donald Bruce of Indiana some months ago told the Congress there was a possible conflict of interest "of staggering proportions" involving some of those in power in Washington and the U. N. and a Swedish-American syndicate engaged in African mining. The Wonderer, Catholic weekly of St. Paul, Minn., says in part: "There is reason to believe that this syndicate would profit enormously by the neutralization, or control, of the vast copper mines operated by Union Miniere in Katanga."

We are in no position to judge this matter. But, an administration which has made great issue of "conflict of interest" of men in government and industry, certainly should welcome a full fledged investigation into Congressman Bruce's charges.

Pull Up A Chair

Science is optimistic in its reports that by new discoveries it may soon be possible for man to live to be 100. But according to no less a source than the Bible, almost every man before the Deluge lived some 900 years. Methuselah took the prize with 969 years. Noah lived to be 950 and Adam was quite healthy until 930. But no mention is made of Eve's age—the earliest possible recording of the agelessness of woman.

A friend in Arizona told us how his car was rammed from behind and while awaiting for the local police, he discovered the offender was a deaf mute. When the officer reached the scene he had the mute fill out a sheet of questions. Then he checked the questionnaire and seriously told him "You forgot to write down your phone number."

Economists are pointing out that during the past 20 years as the nation recovers from each recession the unemployment averages are not as low as the rate shown before the recession. This apparently is caused by increasing automation, affecting the hard core of unskilled laborers, who are the first to lose jobs, when economic trouble slows down industry.

We have decided to call off our interplanetary vacation tour of the Solar System, since the spaceship Mariner 11 reported back by radio about the temperature of Venus. We just could not stand the heat of 800 degrees Fahrenheit on our nearest solar neighbor. And, after all, the hot-blooded Venusians would probably kill the crew of our spaceship and we would be stranded. So we will spend our holidays at Death Valley Inn, Calif., and settle for a cool 134 temperature. Death Valley is 282 feet below sea level.

Despite all you read about the inscrutability of the Kremlin gang and the conjectures as to Red plots and plans, anyone can be an expert on the Soviets merely by reading the works of Lenin. He not only spells out the definite aims of his ruthless brand of communism, but states the methods by which those aims are to be achieved. "It was the same with Hitler, in 'Mein Kampf,' which he wrote while in Landsburg prison, he stated specifically what he would do, once in power. And step by step he proceeded to do it, until he was cut down. Yet there were statesmen who thought 'Mein Kampf' was only a volume of Adolf's ravings.

Reform Part of President's Tax Bill Called 'Dead'; Prospects for Cut Good

WASHINGTON — The tax reform portion of President Kennedy's controversial package bill is dead as a doornail so far as this session of Congress is concerned.

There is no chance the numerous tightening-up changes will be enacted. Prospects for tax reduction do appear promising, although what Congress finally votes on months hence is likely to vary considerably from what the President is advocating. But that's as far as Congress will go this year.

It definitely will not act on his numerous recommendations for plugging loopholes and other revisions. A majority of the House Ways and Means Committee, which is considering this major legislation, is against tackling the proposed reforms this session. Representative Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., chairman, does favor that, but he is in the minority in this crucial committee.

That's what the President has been told by the top Democratic congressional leaders. At his weekly meeting with them, they were unanimous in frankly conveying this gloomy report. In the course of it, they also made it clear they have no stomach to try to ram through the so-called reform part of his package tax bill. They consider such an effort futile and doomed to failure.

The President listened to this bad news in silence. Finally, he indicated he would discuss the matter with Treasury Secretary Dillon, who is leading the fight for the package bill. "I am extremely anxious to get a tax cut this year," the President said. "That's vital to stimulate our lagging economy. We've got to have it. While I'm not wedded to the method of obtaining it, I do feel that many of the changes I have recommended should be passed at this session. They go hand-in-hand with a tax cut."

None of the congressional leaders challenged this view. But they also gave no sign of doing anything about it. They included Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, Mont.; Assistant Leader Hubert Humphrey, Minn.; Senator George Smathers, Fla., a ranking member of the Finance Committee which has jurisdiction over tax legislation; Speaker John McCormack, Mass.; House Majority Leader Carl Albert, Okla., and House Whip Hale Boggs, La.

SPPELLING IT OUT—One member of the Ways and Means Committee is telling colleagues that he figured out he would have to pay more taxes under the President's package bill than now. House Whip Boggs, who is also a member of this key committee, bluntly told the President he can't get both tax reduction and reform this year. "If you want tax legislation this session," said Boggs, "we are going to have to split up your package and try to pass your recommendations in two different bills.

That's the only way out."

Congress Moves To Update Creaking Machinery On Hill

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Fed up with their own inability to get things done under outmoded rules and traditions that have been considered almost sacred, more and more congressmen are lining up this year behind proposals for reform and reorganization of Congress.

The ease with which the House of Representatives put through permanent enlargement of its Rules Committee to 15 members on opening day indicates the change in sentiment.

An effort to make it a little easier to curb Senate debate by majority vote after 15 days of filibustering may have tougher sledding. With bipartisan backing from 10 senators the new proposal was given a chance until Sen. Everett Dirksen, Republican minority leader, called for a quick end of debate on the subject, saying there was no steam behind it.

These reforms, intended to let Congress work instead of preventing it from acting on legislative proposals blocked by minorities are just a beginning—straws in the wind.

Twenty-two senators from both parties have already signed up as cosponsors of Pennsylvania Democrat Joseph S. Clark's plan to set up a new Joint Committee on Organization of Congress. They have staked out billing for it as Concurrent Resolution No. 1.

It will be open for 10 days to receive signatures from other senators who may wish to sponsor it before it is referred to the Rules Committee for consideration. A similar resolution is being introduced in the House by Rep. John Lindsay, R-N.Y.

It has been 16 years since Congress was last reorganized. But there is some feeling in both houses that, since the earlier reorganization didn't do all that was expected of it, another reform drive won't do any more.

A principal feature of the LaFollette-Monroney Reorganization Act of 1947 was simplification of the committee structure. While the number of standing committees was reduced, subcommittees multiplied. This made the machinery as complex as it was before.

Senior congressmen who want things left as they are argue that while congressional practices may be cumbersome and slow-moving, they have served the country well, so why change?

But the last session of Congress did not adjourn until Oct. 13. This was only three weeks before election. There was a tie-up of money bills caused by a personal prestige feud between House and Senate Appropriations Committees. That tied up many government agencies and disgusted even some of the oldest members.

This has resulted in a number of new proposals for congressional reorganization this year. One of the most promising has come from Sen. Clifford Case, R-N.J. He is a cosponsor of the Clark resolution, and its other backers are also sponsoring the Case proposal. Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., is introducing a similar proposal in the House.

Case calls for creation of a new Commission on Congressional Reorganization. It would be modeled on former President Herbert Hoover's Commission on Organization of Government. Its membership would be three senators, three representatives and six private citizens qualified to make studies and recommendations on improving the functioning of the legislative processes.

Specifically, the Case plan would require the bipartisan commission to report on 12 of the most frequently criticized congressional procedures: Obsolete rules. Staffing and operation of committees. The congressional work load. Floor procedures. Conflicts of interest of congressmen. Senate and House terms of office. Conflicts of interest of congressmen. Senate and House terms of office. Congressional expense accounting. Financing of congressional duties on executive appointments. Legislative oversight. Congressional power over appropriations. Operation and regulation of lobbies.

Other "reforms" which have been widely discussed without receiving open backing include increasing representatives' terms from two years to four and increasing all congressmen's salaries by $7,500 a year to a total of $30,000 — because they work so hard.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

Question: "Robert Kennedy in an interview with 'U.S. News and World Report' Jan. 28, 1963 issue stated that '...there are fewer employees in the federal government than there were ten years ago.'" "Human Events" Jan. 26, 1963 issue states that since Kennedy came into office two years ago there have been added a total of 145,342 federal jobs. Someone is not telling the truth. Who?"

E.F.W. Answer: Apparently both are telling the truth. According to Tax Foundation, Inc., there were approximately 160,000 more federal civilian employees in the executive department in 1953 than there were in 1960. We do not have the 1963 figures at hand, but it has been reported that the number of federal civilian employees has been increased during the past two years, approximately 145,000. Thus, there would be an increase in the number of federal employees since Kennedy took office. But the number still would be lower than the total of 10 years before.

Apparently the higher number in 1953 was due to the Korean war, which was just ending. During this time there was an upswing in federal civilian workers in the executive branch.

THE CUBAN STORY: HOW TO DEFEAT AN ALLY

"The American public was led to believe through false propaganda that the basic problems of Cuba were economic and social. This was not so. The basic problems were political." These are the words of a man who saw and attempted to prevent the entire rise of Fidel Castro and his revolutionary takeover of Cuba. The man is Earl E. T. Smith, United States Ambassador to Cuba from 1957 to 1959. The words are from Smith's book, "The Fourth Floor" (published by Random House, 457 Madison Ave., New York 22, N.Y.; $5.00). The title identifies the State Department offices of secondary officials who determine our Latin American policy.

Aid And Comfort The book shows how some in authority in the United States, and some newspapermen, were so fanatically bound to the revolutionary concept that they were willing to risk the prospect of communist control of Cuba. Again in Smith's own words: "I could see the slanting of reports, and always the slanting was in favor of Castro."

Without in any way passing judgment on the actions of the Batista government, Smith points out how the State Department hampered Batista's efforts to maintain the army of Cuba — by actually preventing deliveries of arms Batista had already paid for. At the very same time, in direct violation of United States neutrality laws, revolutionary aides on United States soil were sending arms and supplies through Florida to Castro. In addition, certain fourth floor officers of the State

Who Spends Your Money?

This business of federal aid actually simmers down to one central question: Do you want to spend your own money, or do you want someone else to spend it for you?

The only way the federal government gets money is to take it from you. If you want to know how much it takes, look at the part of your pay check that you never touch — federal income tax and social security tax. Add them up over a period of a year and then figure out what you would like to do with that same amount of money. See what you might have done for yourself and your family, if you could have kept even half of those taxes. If you think the federal government will do a better job of spending that money than you can do, you're interested in federal aid and government dictation of your life.

The Doctor Says:

Shortness of Breath Is Emphysema Symptom

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT

Emphysema is a condition in which the air enters the lungs more easily than it is expelled. The disease is steadily increasing. This is in part due to the fact that a larger proportion of our population is passing the half century mark when they are more likely to get this ailment.

A valve-like obstruction in the minute terminal air passages causes a slowly progressive ballooning of these air sacs. In later stages of the disease they may rupture and produce scarring. Although the exact cause is not known it is seen most commonly in men (10 times more men than women) who smoke more than one pack of cigarettes a day, who have frequent colds and attacks of bronchitis, and who live in industrial areas with air pollution.

In the early stages of this insidious process there are no symptoms and the diagnosis can be made only at autopsy when a person has died of something else. As the disease progresses there is shortness of breath but it comes on so gradually that most sufferers can't tell exactly how many months or years they had it. Many of them become alarmed and blame their shortness of breath on asthma, overweight, or heart disease. Because exertion aggravates the shortness of breath they may cut down on their outdoor activity but this is likely to add to their difficulty. Meanwhile they may develop a cough which does not accomplish its purpose of ridding them of their sputum because the secretions from the lungs are thick and gluey.

Because the air in the lungs is dammed back, the chest may become enlarged, a condition known as barrel chest. And because the lungs are filled with old air that cannot escape, there is less room for fresh air. As a consequence the blood coursing through the lungs does not pick up enough oxygen to nourish the tissues and in the late stages the face, hands, and feet may assume a bluish tinge and the ends of the fingers may become bulbous.

Since we doctors do not know the exact cause of this disease we do not know how to prevent it and, when much scarring has occurred, the unhealthy lung tissue cannot be replaced by new tissue. However, much can be done if treatment is started in the early stages. A person with beginning emphysema should report to his doctor whenever a cold or other acute respiratory disease is starting.

He will be well advised to give up smoking or, if he can't do this, to smoke less than a pack a day.

UP IN THE VALLEY—The Europa Bridge, destined to be the biggest bridge in Europe, inches its way across the Wipp Valley near Innsbruck, Austria. To be completed in time for the 1964 Winter Olympic games at Innsbruck, the 2,000-foot-long bridge will carry five lanes of traffic 600 feet above the valley floor. In background are peaks of the Nordketten Range.

Our Food Bargain And How To Protect It

By JOHN STROHM
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
CHICAGO (NEA) — Your food is the biggest bargain the earth has ever seen.

Never have people been able to buy so much food, of such a variety, for such a reasonable price as they can today in the U.S.A. Thanks go to America's No. 1 Success Story, the American Farmer.

Mrs. America, after taxes, pays out on the average only 20 per cent of her income for food. By contrast, the Russian family must spend 56 per cent; the Chinese family nearly 75 per cent; in Italy, 38 per cent; Nigeria, 70 per cent; Peru, 40 per cent.

This means Americans can have guns and butter too. You have more money left for the so-called good things of life—education, recreation, television sets, two cars.

The real pay-off is the little time it takes a worker to win the daily bread. The average American industrial worker works only 38 hours to earn the monthly market basket, but the Russian works three times as long for less food. To earn a pound of butter, the

THE AMERICAN housewife has the biggest food bargain in history. In early 1900s, Granddad shopped at a general store such as this one (left) in New York. He spent 50 per cent of his income buying food for his family. Today his grandchildren shop in modern supermarkets offering over 6,000 different items, and the average housewife spends only 20 per cent of the paycheck for food.

MEN PAST 40

Troubled with GETTING UP NIGHTS
Pains in BACK, HIPS, LEGS
Tiredness, LOSS OF VIGOR

If you are a victim of these symptoms then your troubles may be traced to Glandular Inflammation. Glandular Inflammation is a constitutional disease and medicines that merely give temporary relief cannot be expected to remove the causes of your troubles.

Neglect of Glandular Inflammation often leads to premature senility and to incurable conditions.

The past year men from 1,000 communities have been successfully treated here at Excelsior Springs. They have found soothing relief and improved health.

The Excelsior Medical Clinic, devoted to the treatment of diseases peculiar to older men, has a New FREE BOOK that tells how these troubles may be corrected by proven NON-SURGICAL TREATMENTS. This book may prove of utmost importance in your life. No obligation.

average American works less than 20 minutes; the Russian, 193 minutes. A pound of rice costs an American 5 minutes of work; a Japanese, 25 minutes. A pound of sugar costs an American worker 3 minutes of work; a Russian 75 minutes.

In the U.S. 8 per cent of the people live on the land and each farm worker produces enough food to feed himself and 26 others. In Russia, with 45 per cent of the people on the land, one farmer has a hard time feeding three or four others.

This is the true significance of the American farm accomplishment.

It means we can race Russia to the moon, without giving up luxuries or necessities. Yet the Russians have not been able to provide sufficient food, clothing or housing for their people. Fifty-five per cent of their farm workers are women who work in the fields to produce food.

In the U.S. we have an average 80 per cent of every dollar of the highest wages in the world to spend for other things besides food. Russia has only 45 cents of a smaller number of dollars to spend for other things.

No wonder Russian housing is tremendously short by our standards. No wonder only one Russian family in 100 has an automobile. That's why the American food story has vast significance for the rest of the world.

Food is cheaper than in the "good old days" when beef was 14 cents a pound and bread two loaves for a nickel. The real cost adds up like this: Granddad worked for $10 a week in 1912, and spent $5 or 50 per cent for food. His industrial worker grandson earns $100 and spends only $25 or 25 per cent for more and better food.

For one hour of labor your dad bought 1.2 pounds of round steak—and you can buy 2.2 pounds. He bought 7.8 pints of milk and you can buy 18.4 pints. He bought 15 oranges, while you buy 36 oranges. "But I spend more," protests the homemaker. One answer to that is that $3 out of every $20 spent in the supermarket where you have 6,000 items to choose from goes for a wide variety of non-food items—from basketballs to hobby pins. Actually the food price index since 1947-49 has gone up only 23 per cent, compared to 34 per cent for housing, 33 per cent for transportation, 46 per cent for rent.

The housewife's can opener and other built-in maid services have been the butt of jokesters and cartoonists whom we suspect are nostalgic men longing for the kitchen virtues of their mothers. The U.S. homemaker does buy time in the form of "instant" and produces 94 per cent more. Farm labor efficiency increased 5.5 per cent per year in the 1950s compared with a 2.2 per cent increase for U.S. industry. And since we'll need much more food by 1975, and we have no more land—our farmers must be more efficient in the years ahead.

Why are our farmers more efficient? Why are our processors doing a better job? The answer lies, I believe, in our free enterprise system, based on incentive. In our over-all government business climate those who render the most service to the most people at the most reasonable rate get the biggest rewards.

But a free market economy is a strict disciplinarian. We may shed tears at the passing of the corner grocery or the one-horse farm, but we know that the cheaper and chev would give their eye teeth for. Let's not fritter away our food success with government "farm program help" that really hurts. (End Series) better way of doing the job spells good for the citizens—and progress for the country.

A RUSSIAN works 75 minutes to buy a pound of sugar. An American works just three minutes.

The Soviet dictators arbitrarily raised the prices of basic foods like butter and meat by 25 to 30 per cent recently. In the U.S. the citizen-consumer is king and sets the price by his vote at the market place.

Are there any clouds on the horizon to this continued progress? Frankly, yes!

Farm efficiency is threatened by strict government controls. Proposed farm laws would put a ceiling on our abundance and variety of food. It would tend to freeze farmers. The reason: An attempt to shore up the farmer's income, despite opposition by most of the farmers who produce most of the food.

In summary: What does the "food and farm" problem mean to you?

To the housewife, who is now getting the biggest food bargain on earth: She must hope that agriculture continues to be free—and progressive, or she no longer will have that bargain.

To the taxpayer, who is now paying towards a $8 billion farm budget annually: He must hope that sanity returns to Congress before we standardize all our farms into mediocrity, trying to keep farmers on the farm.

To the citizens concerned about the world's battle against communism: Let's not blunt one of the most useful weapons we have—a free agriculture that can produce prodigiously!

The American system has produced more food, more variety, and higher quality at a decreasing real cost to the consumer. This has been man's dream since creation. It's what billions on earth now long for. It's what Communist dictators like Khrushchev would give their eye teeth for. Let's not fritter away our food success with government "farm program help" that really hurts. (End Series)

MEMORY GARDENS CHAPEL INTERIOR — With the Spectrum in the center provided for services, the beautiful interior of the Chapel is carpeted and furnished in a manner that offers comfort, quiet and peace for those who come to meditate or for terminating services. Inside services are held here during inclement weather or at any other time the family may choose. (Daily News Photo)

BUSINESS REVIEW Rosel Adds Laboratory

PERRYTON (Spl) — Rosel Well Perforators, Inc., a Texas Corporation, with stations in Perryton, Woodward, Okla., and Liberal, Kans., is adding a new electronic laboratory and manufacturing center for fabrication of trucks and electronic equipment. It has also recently added several new trucks and now has 22 radio dispatched units operating throughout Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas and Colorado. Future plans call for stations in central Oklahoma and west Texas with headquarters remaining in Liberal, Kansas.

The electronics department will be headed by James R. Hargrave, graduate physicist from Southern Illinois University, with 20 years experience in electrical logging, primarily in research and development. Hargrave moves to Liberal, Kans., from Odessa, Texas, where he was in field development on sonic and nuclear logging. The recently opened district office in Woodward, Okla., has as district manager, W. C. Cormack, who has 13 years experience with the oil industry, 11 of which were spent on the Gulf Coast working on off-shore operations. Cormack also heads up the sales office in Oklahoma City.

Pampa's Memorial Gardens Offer Reverent, Memorable Services

The kindlier, more reverent way is the theme of Memorial Gardens of Pampa.

With the beautiful sanctuary of memories chapel and mausoleum, interment services in one of their three fully developed religious floral gardens is less of an ordeal for the family who lays a loved one to rest here knowing that the care given this cemetery will be perpetual.

The three floral gardens are easily identified by the visitor to Memorial Gardens. The Garden of Peace, located in the center of the cemetery, may be identified by the life size statue of Christ. The Garden of the Good Shepherd is identified by the large carving of Christ in Granite as the Good Shepherd and the Garden of Devotion is identified by the huge ornate carved out of Granite with the words of the Lord's Prayer showing.

The beautiful chapel and memorial building is a monument in itself. It is a greater, more enduring monument than would be possible for any one individual or any one family to create. This chapel and mausoleum was built to stand forever. Not one piece of perishable material is used. It is built for the greatest preservation and most reverent burial of the earthly remains of our loved ones.

This chapel's interior is of mosaic marble forming continuous patterns. Full carpeting on the floor with room for almost 200 people who attend the last services of their friends or loved ones.

One of the many advantages of the chapel is that no open grave ceremony is necessary during inclement weather. It is the choice of the survivors to hold all or any part of the terminating service inside the chapel. It is a more dignified service and there is no need to go to graveside as the casket is transported by a mobil pallbearer to its respective interment space.

Many people have experienced a long graveside terminating service in freezing, zero and sub-zero weather, with the winds blowing, and maybe rain, snow or sleet falling.

Inside this chapel the final services may be carried out with proper dignity, unburied and in comfort.

Later, on visitations by friends, relatives and loved ones are made more inviting by the quiet and peace of this chapel. A place for solace and meditation, the chapel is always available to those who request this service.

Carl Akeley, the American explorer, was buried on Mount Mikeno in Belgian Congo, Africa.
