Activities Planned Here for Public Schools Week

Open house at Pampa's 11 public schools plus several special banquets and activities have been scheduled as part of the city's observance of Texas Public Schools Week, March 1 through 5.

Activities will not get underway at respective schools until later in the week, Begert said. A stag dinner for male teachers and administrators is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. March 3 at Pampa Junior High School. The big event at Pampa High School during the week will be the opening of the annual All-School Science Fair March 5. The fair will be open Friday and Saturday, March 5 and 6. Teacher Appreciation Week will be observed in the city's seven elementary schools in connection with Public School Week. Other activities at the elementary schools include a P-TA meeting March 4 at Stephen F. Austin. Austin will also host the Downtown Kiwanis Club for a luncheon March 5. Special open house ceremonies have been scheduled at Baker Elementary School between 7 and 8 p.m. March 4. Also, a P-TA meeting will be held at 8:10 p.m. on that date. A band assembly March 2 and

Teacher Appreciation Dinner March 5 highlight public schools week observance at Houston Elementary School. At Lamar Elementary School, a P-TA Teacher Appreciation meeting is planned for 2:35 p.m. March 4. An all-School assembly at 1:15 p.m. March 3 will kick off activities at Horace Mann. Also, the school will host the Noon Lions Club March 4 for a luncheon. A Dad's Night has been planned at 7 p.m. March 4. Three special activities are set at Travis Elementary School. The Pampa Rotary Club will be guests at a luncheon on March 3. A P-TA meeting is planned for 2:15 p.m. March 4 and an all-school assembly at 9:30 a.m.

March 5. Other than visitation, no special activities are planned for the week at Woodrow Wilson Elementary School. However, the school will stage its annual Fathers' Night on March 9. A secondary school band concert will highlight the week's observance at Robert E. Lee Junior High School at 7:30 p.m.

Parents are urged to visit schools anytime during Public Schools Week and are asked to note the day and time of any special program which they wish to attend. Public Schools Week was designated by a special proclamation from Governor John Connally.

Khanh Reported Out in Viet Coup

SAIGON (UPI)—Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh appeared to be on the way out as South Vietnam's strongman Saturday despite the crushing of an armed coup against his regime. In Washington, Vietnamese Ambassador Tran Thien Khiem said Khanh already has been ousted as armed forces commander-in-chief. He said Maj. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu had been named acting commander-in-chief.

"Khanh is, definitely out of power," Khiem told UPI. "I expect he will leave the country. I suggest that he does." Doubt was cast on the fate of Khanh only hours after loyal paratroopers swept the last rebel resistance out of the capital to complete a bloodless route of insurgents who had seized strongpoints in Saigon less than 24 hours earlier.

U.S. Peace Corps Worker Killed, Another Wounded in Shooting

CARACAS (UPI)—A U.S. Peace Corps worker was killed and a second wounded Friday night when their jeep was fired on by jittery police in a Communist-troubled area, it was reported Saturday.

Two other corpsmen in the jeep who escaped injury said their companions were cut down when they emerged from their bullet-riddled jeep with their hands up. Killed was Joseph R. Rupley, a 24-year-old staff officer of Orinda, Calif., assigned here since last September. David G. Glover, of Grosse Ile, Mich., was shot in the stomach but was reported out of danger by Peace Corps Doctor Richard Villaseor.

Spacecraft's Camera Shots Are Successful

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)—Closeup photographs of the moon taken Saturday by the Ranger 8 spacecraft showed clearly that the surface is terrain pockmarked with craters and hardened lava flows.

Scientists at Caltech's Jet Propulsion Laboratory (JPL) came to that conclusion after studying 7,500 pictures sent back to earth before the Ranger 8 destroyed itself by crashing into the moon.

In addition to the high quality of the pictures, the scientists also were delighted at the accuracy of Ranger 8. "We hit within 15 miles of our target point," said Dr. William Pickering, director of JPL. The scientists said that the photographs indicated the surface of the moon was either hardened lava or a substance having the consistency of crunchy snow.

Burglary Loot Found Buried

Gray County Sheriff's deputies early Saturday recovered more rare coins and a set of silverware taken during the past couple of months in a string of thefts by two Pampa men.

The silverware had been taken during a burglary of the home of John Bowers, 1009 Christine and the coins during a burglary at the home of David Caldwell, 2209 Aspen. Both burglaries had been admitted by C. J. Phelps and Leslie R. Keelin. However, up until Saturday the men had refused or given false statements concerning the whereabouts of the stolen merchandise.

ON THE WAY — Lanny Lewis starts to step into the bus as the Pampa Harvesters lined up for their trip to Fort Worth at noon yesterday. The district 3-AAAB champs worked out last night in TCU Fieldhouse, where they will meet the Haltom City Buffaloes in the bi-district basketball playoff tomorrow night.

Senate OK's Pooling

The House last week approved Connally's plan for an 18-member higher education coordinating board and the Senate has passed the pooling bill, which allows the Railroad Commission to order pooling of small oil and gas tracts if voluntary efforts to pool fail.

Petroleum Pooling, Remap Bills Scheduled for Floor Action

AUSTIN (UPI)—Two key bills—a petroleum pooling and general appropriations—are scheduled to get floor action this week in the Texas Legislature. The $3.574 billion financing bill drafted by Rep. Bill Healy's House Appropriations Committee is set as the special order of business in the House at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday. The House sponsor of the forced pooling bill, Rep. Wayne Gibbons of Breckenridge, said he wants floor consideration of the once-controversial measure Wednesday or Thursday.

CRUCIAL TEST FACING STEELWORKERS

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—The million-member United Steelworkers of America (USW), a still young union with a memory of bloody strikes, comes to a crucial fork in the road this week.

Tabulation Starts Monday in USW Election

The answer will begin unfolding Monday in a padlocked room on the 20th floor of the Commonwealth Trust Building in downtown Pittsburgh, five floors above the USW's international headquarters. In that room the Honest Ballot Association (HBA) will begin tabulating the returns from the union's Feb. 9 elections, in which McDonald was opposed by Abel. The count may take three to four days.

No Sympathy From Treasury On Income Tax

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Treasury Department offered facts instead of sympathy Saturday to thousands of wage earners who have just begun to realize they will owe more income taxes this year despite an $11.2 billion income tax cut.

Lowering of World Trade Barriers Have Now Reached Critical Stage

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The most comprehensive negotiations in history to lower world trade barriers have reached a critical stage — how to bargain on agricultural tariff reductions.

The success of the Kennedy round of talks which has begun in Geneva hinges essentially on the ability of participating nations to surmount the difficulties posed by the thorny question of farm products.

They have made a gingerly but positive approach in the industrial field. But the ground rules for dickering on agricultural products remain undetermined.

Reset By Problems

The Kennedy round — known officially as the sixth round of International Trade Negotiations under the auspices of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT) — is beset by other problems, too. Growing nationalism in many countries, including some of the big traders in the six-nation European Common Market, has produced pressure for retaining protective tariff barriers to safeguard inefficient home industries.

Problems posed by gold and dollar imbalances, plus plain old political considerations, have a disruptive effect on efforts to achieve genuine trade liberalization.

For the moment, however, these factors pale into insignificance alongside the perils posed by the continuing reluctance of some countries to proceed with a comprehensive exchange of specific offers of duty reductions on farm products to accompany those already made on industrial items.

The basis for the Kennedy round of talks was laid when the U. S. Congress overwhelmingly approved the 1962 Trade Expansion Act. This gave the President full authority to slash existing tariffs by as much as 5 per cent on a reciprocal basis.

Agriculture And Industry

The United States has insisted, however, that the negotiations cover agricultural as well as industrial items. It does not intend to give nations such as the booming Common Market bloc increased opportunities to exploit the lucrative American market without securing for U. S. farmers an equal opportunity to at least retain, and possibly improve, their overseas markets.

The Geneva negotiations began with the listing by participating Gatt countries, which comprise virtually all the non-Communist world, of the items they wished to exempt from the broad bargaining because of specific circumstances.

However, the European countries, including those of the Common Market which occupies a key trade position, have not agreed to a similar start on agricultural products.

Plagued by pressure from their relatively inefficient small farmers for maintenance of high protective tariffs, they have dragged their feet on this issue.

Progress Disappointing

President Johnson's special trade negotiator, Christian A. Herter, said a few days ago after talks with European officials that some progress was being made but that the rate was disappointing.

But despite all barriers and setbacks, the United States must continue efforts to liberalize the flow of world trade by reducing tariffs and eliminating other restrictions. Its stake in this is immense.

The United States is the major world exporter, and has been since World War II. Much of its prosperity stems from heavy sales abroad.

In 1963, "Free World" nations exported $134 billion worth of goods. The United States led with shipments valued at $22.7 billion. U.S. imports were valued at $16.9 billion, leaving a favorable trade balance of $5.8 billion.

The fact that the overall U.S. balance of exchange was unfavorable was due to this country's expenditures abroad to maintain U.S. troops, foreign aid and tourism. It did not stem from a trade deficit.

Important Export

United States farm products account for about one-quarter of all American exports. They add up to 15 per cent of the total farm production of the United States.

The determination of the United States to see that its farm products get fair treatment abroad is eminently understandable.

The vital importance of coming to terms with European countries on the trade negotiations — agricultural as well as industrial — is illustrated by the fact that they, with Canada and Japan, take about one-half of all U.S. exports.

The six-nation Common Market is the most important single cash market for U.S. farm products. In 1963 it took $1.2 billion of U.S. agricultural exports.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk recently acknowledged the "special social and political factors" which make it difficult for countries such as West Germany, France and Italy to lower agricultural tariffs. But he has asserted these special factors do not apply exclusively to Europe.

In less diplomatic terms, he was saying that the world will not continue indefinitely to subsidize inefficiency in agriculture and those trying to hide behind tariff barriers had better realize it now.

Rusk has said that "A Kennedy round failure would be more than a disappointment. It would signify that the industrial nations were unready to abandon the economic parochialism that was so costly to us all in the past. It would be a concession to narrow reaction in the international community."

Herter put it more bluntly in his Amsterdam speech. He said that "if by any chance we fail, I fear that we may leave the Atlantic nations dangerously divided into rival trade blocs, and we may gravely and perilously disappoint the developing nations in their desire to earn, through expanded trade, more of the resources they urgently need for their development."

The political fate of mankind has usually been directed largely by economic factors and considerations. In that sense, the world obviously stands at a crossroads.

WHO GETS IT? — Connie "Patches" Dodson, left, of Miami, and Marvellous Mickie Fulks of Briscoe, two of the outstanding girl basketball players in the state, each take hold of the district 2-B basketball trophy, to be won by one of their teams in a playoff Monday night at Canadian.

Miami Gals Force District Playoff

By BILL NICHOLS
News Sports Correspondent
WHEELER—The Miami Warriorettes forced a girls district 2-B playoff for the third straight year Friday night by edging the Briscoe Bronettes, 42-40, while the Briscoe Brones won their 22nd straight game and the undisputed boys title with a 65-30 crushing of the Miami Warriorettes.

Miami and Briscoe girls will play off for the title Monday night at Canadian at 7:30. Briscoe boys will meet Darrouzett in the bi-district clash Tuesday at 7:30 at Miami.

For the third straight year it was Connie "Patches" Dodson clinching the game and pulling out a post-season chance for the Warriorettes. Miami beat Wheeler girls the past two years in a playoff for the crown, going on to regional play last year.

Although the 5-8½ three-time all-district was badly off in her shooting, her sparkling ball-handling and clutch free throw shooting won the game as she dribbled out the last 1:38 of the contest.

Patches hit eight field goals and 11 of 16 free throws for 27 points and the difference. The Miami defense did a tremendous job on Marvellous Mickie Fulks, holding the 5-10 four-time all-loop to only five field goals, but picked up numerous fouls trying to keep her from the bucket, and the dead-eyed blonde canned 20 of 24 free throws for 30 points.

Miami jumped off to a 7-2 lead as Bev Weiss and Connie Ratliff hit the bucket, and maintained a four-to-six point lead as Patches stole the ball from the guards and Witch Anderson from the forwards. Martha Paris got two quick fouls against Mickie however, and she started hitting, while little Lou Meadows couldn't miss on 20-foot set shots, hitting a 30-footer to cut the edge to 11-9 at the quarter.

Martha got her third foul early in the second frame, and Mickie pulled Briscoe ahead, 17-16 on both ends of a one-and-one with 4:45 left in the half.

Cindy Coffey took the boards away from Mickie however, and Miami took the lead. Mickie tied it up at 19-all on charities, but Patches hit a three-point play to put Miami back in a lead they never lost again, taking a 25-21 halftime bulge.

Miami kept working the ball in very slowly, making sure passes didn't miss and hitting only the sure shots, moving to a six-point bulge. Martha got her fourth and fifth fouls midway in the third period and left for the bench, but Mopsy Kivlen took over on Mickie, and the Warriorettes held a 32-28 lead going into the last quarter.

Using a modified stall in the final frame, with Patches doing the front-court ballhandling and The Witch in the backcourt, the Warriorettes ate up the clock and added it up at the free throw line, keeping a two-to-four

Buffaloes Rated Pick On Height

By RONNIE OLER
News Sports Reporter
FORT WORTH — P a m p a Harvester spirits are high, although they are rated from five to seven points underdog to Haltom City in their bi-district game here tomorrow night.

Local observers rated the Buffaloes as the choice because of their height advantage, although figuring little or no home-court advantage to the local team in TCU's Coliseum, site of the game.

The Harvesters arrived in Fort Worth shortly before 7 p.m. last night, and after checking in at the Forest Hills Motor Hotel, headed for the Coliseum for a workout.

Texas Southern Cops Track Win

HOUSTON (UPI)— Texas Southern University trackmen defeated rivals from Grambling of Louisiana Saturday in both key relay races of the 3rd Annual Gulf Federation Relays, which saw records set or tied in every open event.

The meet's competitive edge was dulled by the absence of Southern of Louisiana, whose team entered but never showed up.

The Texas Southern runners, competing at the Wheeler Street Track Club, took the 440-yard relay in 40.5 seconds, shading Grambling's 40.6, and won the mile relay in 3:12, a strong early-season showing that beat Grambling by one second.

Both Wheeler times were meet records, the mile by 4.1 seconds and the 440 relay by .3 of a second.

Fourteen meet records were broken in open, high school, junior high and girls divisions. Seven marks were broken in open events, which also had nine record tied and standards established in four new events.

Prairie View A&M took the freshman-junior college mile relay in 3:24, edging Victoria junior college's 3:24.4. Prairie View's team shaved the meet record for 4.2 seconds held by Victoria.

Samnorwood girls also led all

The Coliseum is reminiscent of Lubbock's, with a fine court and tremendous seating capacity.

The Harvesters worked out for nearly two hours last night, working a scrimmage under game conditions, with the starters finding the TCU baskets as easy to hit as all the others they have aimed for this year. Another workout is scheduled for this evening at 5 p.m.

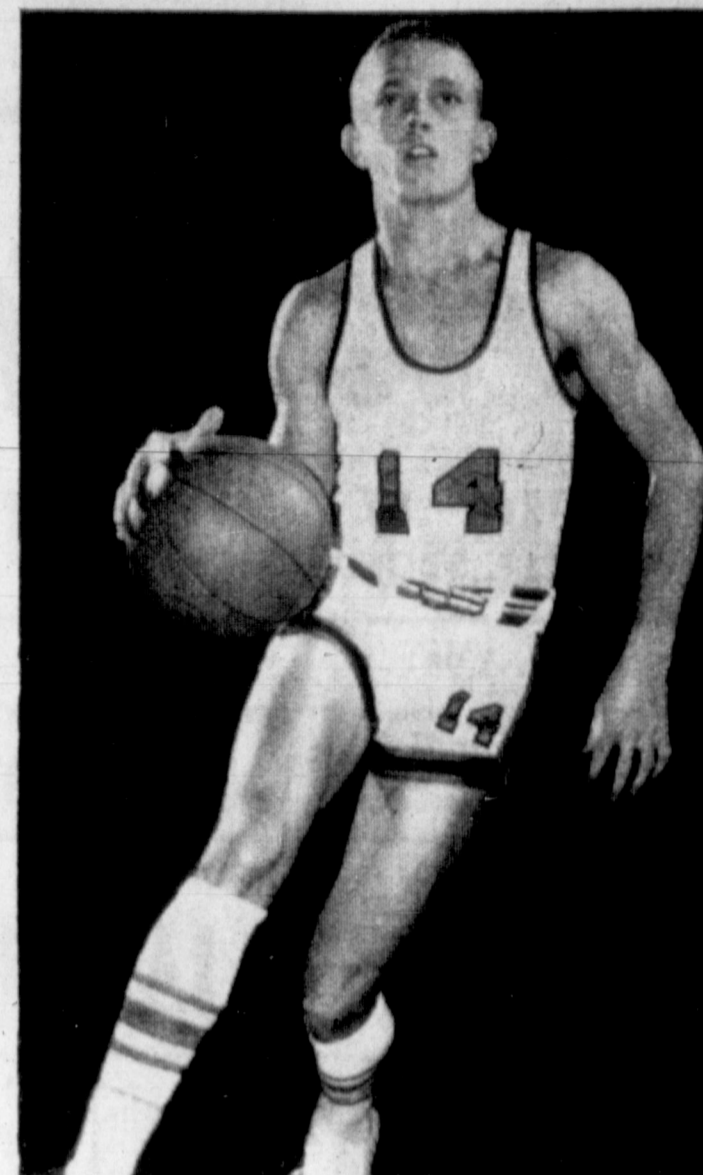

The trip down was uneventful, the bus leaving at 12:30 from Pampa, and stopping for lunch outside Jacksboro. The Harvesters exuded confidence, despite the foreign court and Haltom City's height advantage and reported superiority.

The Harvesters were cheered by the appearance in Fort Worth of their first fan, former Pampa Jack Thompson, now living in Wichita Falls, who arrived with his family for the game.

The Fort Worth papers had nothing on the game or either team yesterday, but a big write-up is expected both in Sunday's Press and Star-Telegram.

Tulia Nips Perryton In District Playoff

By RON CROSS
A screaming mob of students never got a chance to test the Harvester bleacher seats Friday night as Tulia and Perryton staged a real donnybrook for the District 1-AAA title before the Hornets edged out a 54-51 victory.

Tulia claimed the district semifinals with an 8-3 record while Perryton finished the season at 7-4 in a game that saw the lead change hands 18 times.

Tulia played Dumas last night in Canyon for the right to represent the loop in the regional playoff in Lubbock.

Tulia led by as much as nine points in the first half and by five in the second 15 minutes but the stubborn Rangers kept hammering away and had two chances to pull out a possible victory with 15 seconds left.

The Rangers trailed only 52-51 with 14 seconds left and went to the charity line twice with eight seconds in the one and one. But both shots were missed.

A basket and free toss by Jack Brooks, Tulia postman, who led both clubs with an even 20 points, gave the Hornets a 45-42 lead with 11 seconds left.

But Ranger forward Mike Mitchell added a three-point play of his own and the quarter closed at 45-45.

Both teams went into a semi-stall in the final stanza and the score was knotted at 47-47, and 52-50 and the Hornets led 47-45 and 50-49.

Wolfe hit the front end of a one and one with six minutes showing to tie it at 50-50 then Tulia's Brooks pushed one in from the corner to give the Hornets all the margin they needed.

Quail Holds Off Groom for Loop 9-B Title, Jerry Roberts Scores 45

CLARENDON — Quail's stall held off a fourth-quarter Groom rally and a fantastic performance by Jerry Roberts for a 76-72 victory in the district 9-B finals Friday night.

Samnorwood girls also led all the way, but had to hold off a similar last-frame rally by Hedley for the girls honors, 37-35.

Quail will play Quitaque in bi-district, with the site and date not yet determined.

Roberts, the 6-5 junior who has averaged 24 points and 15 rebounds a game this season, again rose to the heights in the playoffs with 45 points, completely dominating both backboards. The shorter Quails fouled the big boy constantly, with Roberts making 17 of 19 free throws good.

Roberts put Groom into a first quarter lead, despite the shooting of Deadly Dale Morris, Bob Ward and Don Harris, 19-16.

Quail used a full-court press throughout the game, but wrecked the Tigers with it in the second quarter, as Morris went to work. The 5'8" jumping jack, who can go high enough to cram the ball, could not miss on 20-30 feet jump shots, canning 12 points to lead the Quails to a 41-35 halftime lead.

Quail stretched it to 61-48 after three quarters, but the Tigers put on the press in turn as Roberts grabbed everything in sight and stuffed it into the basket.

With one minute to go, Groom cut the edge to 74-72 and then Roberts grabbed a Quail rebound, driving down court for the would-be tying bucket.

The big boy was called for charging and lost the chance, and Quail went into a stall. The frantic Tigers fouled, and Morris calmly canned a pair of charities to clinch the win.

Morris finished with 28 points, Ward with 15 and Harris 12. Larry Lamberson backed Roberts with 13 markers.

Borger Hires Coach

BORGER — The Borger School Board announced yesterday the signing of Jimmy Keeling, 29, head coach of Class AAA Tulia to a three-year contract as head football coach of Borger High School. Keeling replaces Gene Mayfield, seven-year coach who resigned in January to become head coach at Odessa Permian.

Keeling is possibly the youngest man to become head coach at a district 3-AAAA school. Keeling will receive an annual salary of $9250. Mayfield had been receiving $10,000 before he left.

Keeling has been head coach at Tulia for the past four years, and was head coach at Dublin (Class A) for two years before that. His overall record in six years is 42-20. He won a district title once at Tulia, in 1963, and once at Dublin.

Keeling takes over March 1. He will bring one, and possibly two assistants with him. Connie Rudd, his line coach, will also be line coach at Borger. Mayfield took two of his assistants from Borger when he left.

ROPES ROPER

Peret, Roper Lead All-3-AAAA

An all-senior starting unit that averages over 6'4" in height and scores at the rate of 97.6 points per game, and an equally veteran second team that averages better than 6-2½ and scores at the rate of 74.7 per tilt, makes up one of the most potent all-district teams ever selected by the coaches of District 3-AAAA.

The team was chosen by vote of Terry Culley of Lubbock, Ace Parker of Tascosa, Gerald Myers of Monterey, Tex Hanna of Borger, Max O'Banion of Lubbock, Cliff Mehrrens of Caprock, Tom Gilley of Palo Duro, Bob Clindaniels of Plainview and John Etheredge of Amarillo, and compiled this year by John Shields, sports editor of the Borger News Herald.

Each coach votes for three inside men and two outside men on first and second team, with a 10-point vote for first team and a five-point vote for second team. Coaches do not vote for their own players.

Three repeaters are on the first team, Ronnie Peret of Plainview, Bill Bogan of Tascosa and Gary Washington of Lubbock.

Peret, second team all-state last year and rated the finest high school cager in Texas this year, was a unanimous choice again this year.

Pampa's Ropes Roper missed being a unanimous selection when coach John Etheredge of second-place Amarillo voted the leader of the district champs only for second place.

A four-way tie occurred after that, with each player getting 65 points. Caprock center Gary Day was assigned a forward post along with Lubbock forward Washington, while Mickey Vaclav of Amarillo, who played both outside and inside, went to guard-with Bogan.

Jerry Cooper, Borger's big man, just missed first team by five points, and went to second team center, with Gary Hughes and David Milburn at the forwards and Pampa's Lanny Lewis and Palo Duro's Mike Echols at the guards.

Two Pampa players were among those receiving honorable mention, Davy McDaniel and Kenneth "Mac" McWilliams. McWilliams and Bobby Pierce of Monterey are the only juniors who received a vote.

Pampa players making the team will be awarded certificates by the Daily News.

Motor Quits On TT Cage Team's Plane

LUBBOCK (UPI)—An engine quit Saturday on a two-engine chartered airplane carrying the Texas Tech varsity and freshman basketball players, their coaches and sports writers. The plane managed to limp back to the Lubbock airport.

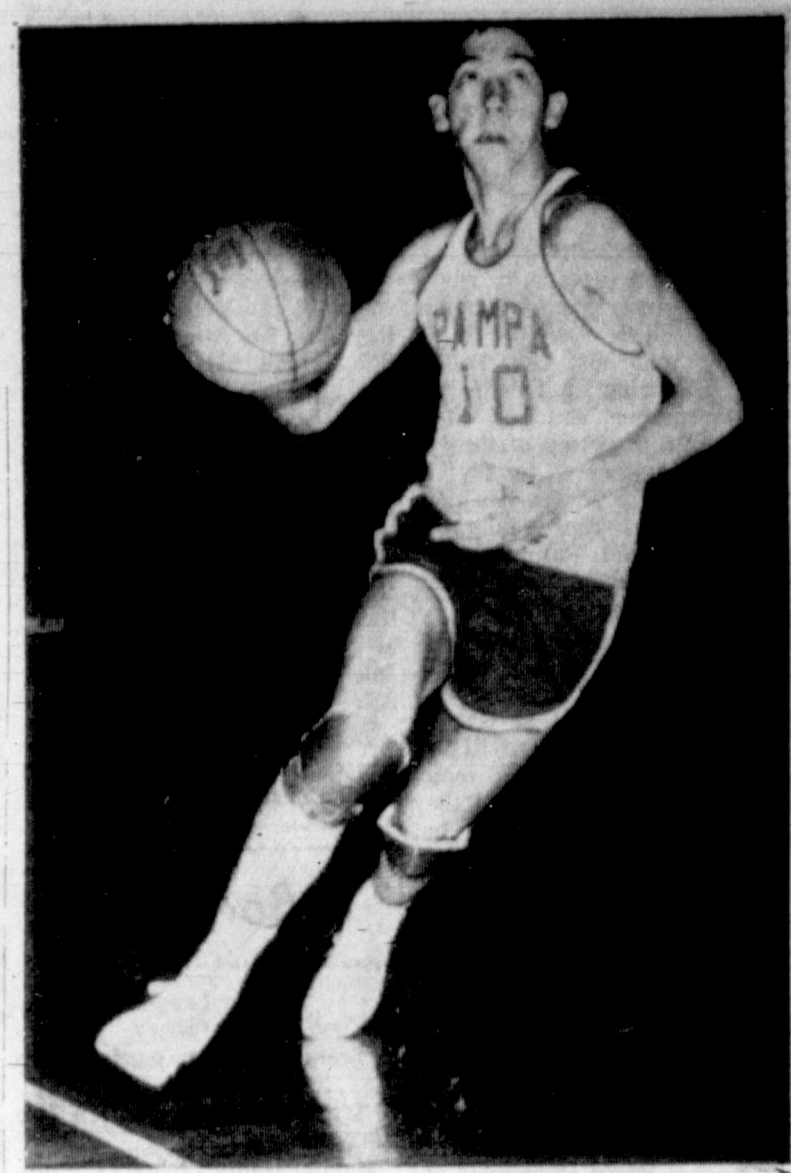

A Tech party of 28 persons was aboard the plane. The Red Raiders varsity squad of 11 players, plus two coaches, a trainer, a student manager, sports publicist Bill Holmes, Lubbock sports writer Burle Pettit, and the freshman squad were aboard the craft bound for Houston.

Tech met Rice Saturday night in a Southwest Conference basketball game. The Red Raiders later caught a commercial flight for Houston. There was no room for the freshman team and the Rice-Tech frosh game was cancelled. Tech finally arrived in Houston shortly after 3 p. m.

Tech coach Gene Gibson said the American Flyers plane, based at Ardmore, Okla., was about 15 miles out of Lubbock when "one engine of the plane froze up. It just quit."

"We came back in good shape, there were no complications," Gibson said.

Texas Tech is leading the SWC race.

Miami, Briscoe Dominate All-District 2-B Teams

MOBEETIE — A 10-man boys team and a 12-man girls team has been selected for all-district honors in 2-B, and was announced Friday night at the District Tournament in Wheeler.

With a seven-team loop, coaches decided to name double first teams instead of first and second teams in both boys and girls brackets.

Three players from Miami, and two each from Briscoe and Allison topped the boys team, which ranges in height from 6' 4½" down to 5' 7" and consists strictly of double figure scorers.

Big man on the team is Big Ray Guerrero of Miami, 6' 4½" and rated one of the top defensive players in the state. Guerrero is averaging 14 points a game and was an all-state nominee last year and this year.

Backing him up are Miami's ball-hawking twins, 5-10 Lloyd Seitz and 5-8 Dave Bowers, whose fast-breaking, ball-stealing tactics sparked the Tribe this year.

From district champ Briscoe come 6-2½ Orville Atherton and 5-7 Tommy Hays. Hays, another tremendous ballhawk despite being hampered by injuries this year, averages 18 points a game and is an all-state nominee.

Atherton has fantastic jumping ability and is up with Guerrero as a rebounder.

Wheeler places guard Richard Wallace, 6-0, a consistent double-figure scorer. Lefors features Dave "Ace" Roberts, 6-0, top scorer on the Pirate squad. Kelton puts their one-man team, 6-0 Ken Abernathy on the squad, who has averaged better than half of Kelton's season points.

Two players from Allison, the defending bi-district champs, George Markham, 6-0 and Everett "Punk" Childress, 6-2 round out the team.

The girls team is featured by three girls each from champ Briscoe and defending champ Miami, and is made up of old veterans and top scorers in the frontcourt.

Briscoe's Marvellous Mickie Fuiks, averaging 30 points per game and standing 5'10", makes the team for the fourth straight time. Miami's Connie "Patches" Dodson, 5-8½, averaging 25 points a game, makes it for the third-straight time.

Wheeler places high-scoring Sherry Barnes, 5-6, averaging 20 points a game. Linda Miller, 5-7 of Allison, hits at a 25-point clip. Vicki Stone of Lefors, 5-7, hits for 23 points a game. Judy Rowell of Mobeetie is the tallest forward at 5-10½ and averages 24 points a contest.

Briscoe places another forward, tiny Lou Meadows, 5-4. Although plagued with illness this year, Lou is considered the top outside shooter and ball-handler in the loop.

Tallest guard is 5-11 Judy Finsterwald of Briscoe. Adeline Dukes is Allison's guard honoree. Linda Hall is Wheeler's.

Two Miami guards win the honor, all-regional Cindy Coffe, 5-7 and slick ballhandler Judy "Witch" Anderson, 5-7, who also saw action as a forward.

Mobeetie is the only team not represented on the boys all-district, Kelton on the girls.

NBC Meeting Held at Borger

WICHITA, Kan. — The National Baseball Congress today announced that the sanctioned Texas district tournament at Borger will start July 19. The set-up was approved by Bennie C. Hill of Borger, NBC district commissioner.

This is one of a series of district tournaments to take place throughout Texas to qualify leading teams into the 30th annual Texas state tournament at Lubbock starting July 31.

The Texas state champions will qualify into the 31st annual National Tournament in Wichita starting August 13; Congress president Ray Dumont said.

Lubbock Hubbers are the defending Texas state champions.

Bowling

By GIL BURGUND

Tournament practice is in the air right about now. A familiar scene at either alley is R. K. Parsley and his Odd Fellow team practicing up for the big City tournament and then off to Dallas and St. Louis to the big IOOF tournaments, to try to bring home the honors like they did last year. They really did themselves and Pampa proud. Good luck again, and bring back some more trophies.

The Women's city tournament is in full swing this weekend. Team events at Harvester and doubles and singles at Garden Lanes. This will be the first time in tournaments for many of our newer bowlers, and they are shaking in their boots, but will overcome their stage fright, as soon as they roll the first ball and find it hits a big strike. Good luck to all! And good bowling!

We may see some real hot scores—you never can tell. It wasn't too long ago that the question was asked, "Who is Randy Matson, when his picture was in the High School Annual. Now he is world famous.

Another familiar deal is Mrs. Cutley, wearing her track shoes these days, rounding up all the PE girls, and bringing them in bowling session (about 200 a three times a week for their future bowlers! And some day). Watch it — here come some of them pretty good, too. Mary Lou Copeland is the efficient teacher's aid, and official money grabber for these classes.

Billie Johnson, after bowling a 100 came back with a nice a triplicate 115-114-114. Kent Olson tried his darndest for one with a 154-154-164. Vesta Parker on her 161 average had consistent games of 165-169-167. Dee Watson on her 186 average had 177-173-176 — 526 and a 212-556. Maude Mynard turkeyed out in the tenth frame — a feat we'd all like to accomplish. Julia Davis picked the 2-7-10 split.

Our Junior Twins have hit a new idea to help us tell who is bowling. They wore different colors today. Not so with the Bate Darlings, who were here visiting while Mama Pat was bowling with the Celanese ladies' Thursday. One in red and one in blue. The young Parsleys — Nita and Rita really decided on the same dresses this time. The Armstrongs are easy — one wears glasses and one is red headed.

We really had a lot of good scores this week: Travis Johnson, 235, 201, 615; Dennis Huntley, 225, 606; Joe Wells, 203, 207, 597; G. W. Crumrine, 232, 592; Ray Chastain, 215, 576; Darrell Linn, 551; R. K. Parsley, 553; Larry Parsley, 222, 578; Bryant Nail, 222-577; Jim Butcher, 213, 569; John Snuggs, 229, 556, 572; Wilburn Nail, 220, 570, B. J. Richardson, 566; James Brown, 221; Sargeant, 220; Charles St. Clair, 224; Ted Erickson, 222, 598; Howard Buckingham, 551; Wag Wagonner, 540; Ted Givens, 540; Ron Havens, 540; Roy Ray, 530; Art Aftergut, 214, 563; Bob Farrell, 541.

Intellectual Quarterback Sparks Browns

By STEVE SNIDER
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI)—Take a look at quarterback Frank Ryan in his street clothes and you'd have to wash out the Cleveland Browns as a potential title repeater in the National Football League next fall.

His right shoulder is sagging under the pressure of a hidden body harness and there's a surprising amount of grey in his hair for a man of 28.

"Don't worry," says Frank in his easy drawl. "I'll be ready when the time comes."

But right now he looks like an egghead mathematical wizard who had some 800 pounds of football players fall on him. "To a certain extent," he admits, "that's true."

Frank had quite a few people fall on him and he is a wizard at math.

What's Up Doc?

The nifty passer, who flipped three to Gary Collins for touchdowns in the NFL title winner against Baltimore, is so much of a mathematician, in fact, he may be the only player in the league next season entitled to be called "Doctor."

Ryan's current interest is "The Boundary Behavior of Analytic Functions," which makes about as much sense to the layman as Casey Stengel. Ryan is going for his doctorate in June at Rice University.

And he also is about to apply some of that higher mathematics to contract dealings for 1965 with the champion Browns confident his injury will be healed in time for next season's title repeat.

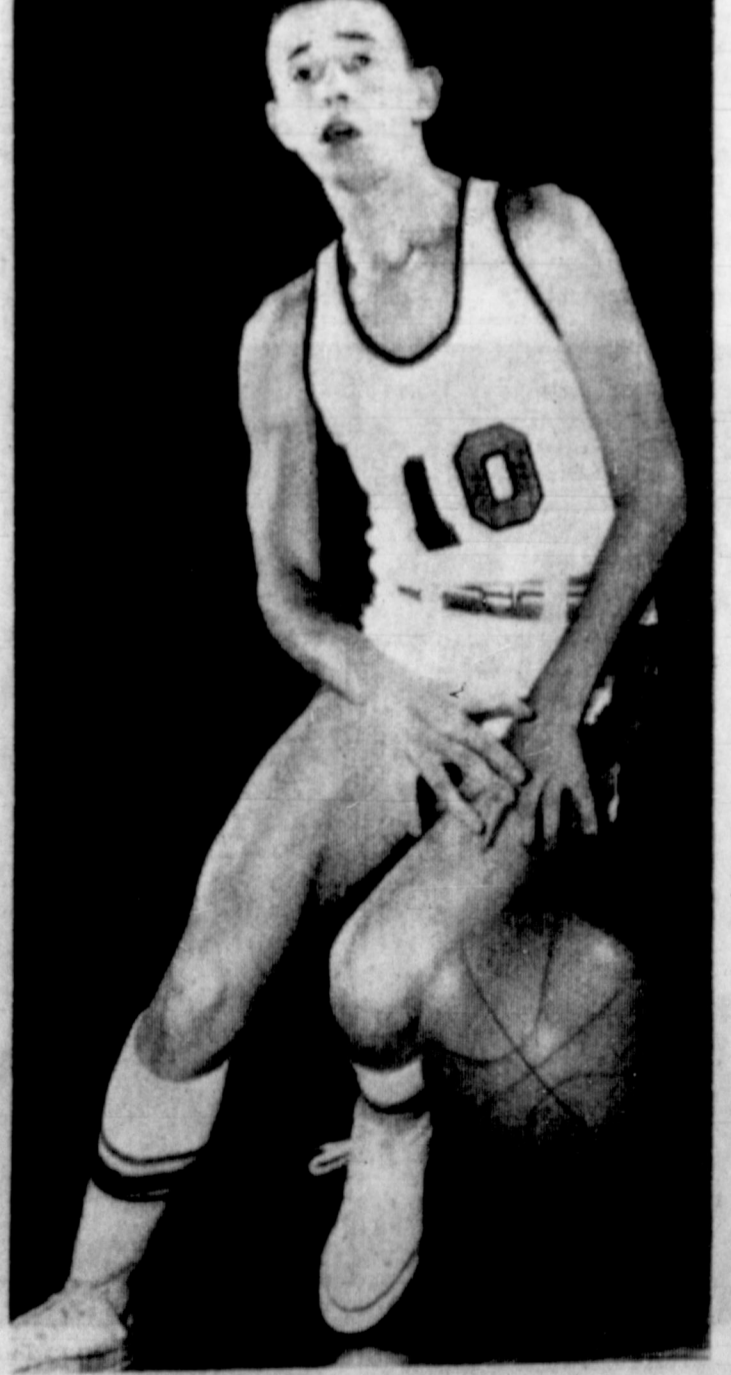

Frank suffered a shoulder separation in the NFL's All-Star game at Los Angeles Jan. 10, when assorted behemoths such as Merlin Olsen of the Los Angeles Rams, Roger Brown of the Detroit Lions, Willie Davis of the Green Bay Packers and Gino Marchetti of the Baltimore Colts combined to rack him up on a pass play.

Ryan was too busy at the time to compute how much weight was pinning him at any one time but he is well aware he came down on the elbow of his high-priced passing arm.

"I'm wearing a harness to put pressure on the shoulder so it will knit," Ryan says. "It stays on 24 hours a day, in the shower and in-bed. It's kind of tough sleeping."

"Within two weeks we should know whether surgery is needed to complete the cure. Either way, I'm sure it will be as good as new."

Without Ryan in tip-top shape the Browns could be sunk. He threw 25 touchdown passes en route to the title game last fall. His replacement would be Jim Ninowski, neat but not gaudy.

TOUGH BUFF — Another member of the Haltom City basketball team, district 4-4A champs who clash with Pampa in bi-district Monday night is guard Rick Bleivins, who sees plenty of action.

Groom Crybaby Hosts Pampa 5

GROOM — "We're going to beat the Pampa Newsboys if we have to use School Board members as referees," coach Sobbin' Jack York of Groom promised today as he prepared for Tuesday night's basketball game between his Groom Crybabies and the Pampa club.

"I guarantee our referees will be worse than Wheeler," York threatened as his crew of overage has-beens recruited furiously in an attempt to get talent to topple the former high school and junior college cage stars which make up the Newsboys team.

"That ol' Jeff Cohane has heckled me too long, now it's gonna be my turn," sneered the shiny-domed West Texas-ex, admitting that he had been trying to lure some of the Buff cagers away from school for the game.

The clash between the two teams will take place at 8 p.m. Tuesday, with all proceeds going to the benefit of the Groom High School athletic fund.

Despite his cries, Sobbin' Jack's crew of cagers, although averaging close to ninety years of age, also averaged close to 20 points apiece when they played high school and college ball.

Heading the team will be Groom High superintendent C. J. Roberts. The 6'6" father of all-state Jerry Roberts was a cage great at TCU and is figured to dominate the rebounds until old age catches up with him.

Top scorer for the team figures to be the "Corn Kid," basketball coach Bill Dalton, 6-1 rated the greatest player ever to come out of Corn, Okla. (population 76). York, football coach and junior high cage coach, 5-10, was a top ballhandler while at Shamrock High School in the early 1920's, and girls cage coach Don Hunt, 5-11 was a star for Wheeler before the War (Spanish-American).

To round out the team, York is recruiting a crew of former Groom and college players from the area, and also promises ringers for refs. "I got two School Board members who will cheat for us," the Sobbin' One bragged through his crocodile tears as he booked bets on the game.

LONE STAR STATE 4-H AWARD WINNERS

Miss Eldridge
Sharon Hand, 17, of Paducah, and Linda Eldridge, 16, of Forestburg, are among the Texas girls who have been awarded trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, Nov. 29 to Dec. 3. They will stay at the Conrad Hilton, the world's largest hotel, as part of the delegation of 1,500 who will be attending.

Gene Wilson, 17, of Fort Worth, and Brenda Dalby, 17, of Aspermont, also won state 4-H honors. Wilson receives an engraved wrist watch from the Pure Oil Company for his work in public speaking.
Miss Dalby accepted a $150 scholarship from Eli Lilly and Company in recognition of her outstanding projects.

Miss Hand, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Hand, has been a 4-H member for seven years. She is sponsored by Hercules Powder Company for her work in entomology.
Interested in Insects
Her interest in insects stems from a workshop in entomology she attended in a 4-H district camp in 1962. The following year Miss Hand taught entomology at the Cottle County 4-H camp.
Her high school biology class further stimulated her interest in bugs. Soon Miss Hand had her whole family bringing home specimens. She has given demonstrations on cattle grub before groups of Jaycees, Farm Bureau members and area ranchers. She explained to them how loss from cattle grub comes about and what can be done to control them.
Miss Hand also has given talks to ranchers explaining a new method of controlling screw worms by releasing millions of sterile flies.

Miss Hand
Wilson, the son of Mrs. Lady-mae Wilson, hopes to enter the public relations field eventually. He defines public relations as "doing a good job and telling others about it." He took second place in his first speech contest in 1962 and won a week's trip to the National Auction Institute in Bryan, Texas.

Wilson has organized 4-H gavel clubs in other Southwestern states besides Texas. This year he ran for Lieutenant Governor at the mock Texas Boys State sponsored by the American Legion.

Miss Dalby, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Dalby, plans to enter the elementary education field. Her father is a rancher.

She has been selected as assistant to the county nurse at her high school and has been chairman of the polio and cancer fund raising drives in Aspermont.
She also watches out after the health of her family, making sure her parents, brothers and sisters have regular medical and dental checkups.
Miss Dalby has learned how to apply first aid and basic medication to wounds, and fill out health charts.

Agriculturally Speaking

By FOSTER WHALEY
Wheat Disease

There have been so many questions asked about the sample of wheat sent in that we thought you would like to read the reply from Dr. Berry, our Plant Pathologist. I quote:

"In the past few days I have received three wheat specimens from your farm. They came from three separate sources, but I assume that they originated in the same field as they all contained similar information and had a similar appearance upon examination. I have carefully examined each plant for some indication of root rot or other wheat disease which would cause the symptoms which have been described. I could find no evidence of disease on the roots. All three specimens contained information indicating a green or gray mold on the plants near the seed, but I was not able to find this on a single plant. I can only speculate as to the nature of this mold. In the growth of a wheat plant the seed germinates and grows to the soil surface, secondary roots develop in the first joint and the original root from the seed to the plants eventually perishes as the nutrients from the seed are used. The seed and primary root are then attacked by many different fungi since they are dead, it would not be possible to guess which fungus is present here but it is a safe guess that the green mold has nothing to do with the yellow color and dying leaves on the seedlings.

"I believe that the stunting on the two rows on the bed is due to slow emergence of the seeds which were planted deeper. Most of the plants which I examined had two to three inches or better from the seed to the first node indicating deep planting. The yellowing and dying of the leaves is probably due to cold weather. There is no sign of leaf diseases on the specimens which I examined. I think that the plants will grow and assume a normal appearance if they get enough moisture and warm weather so that the root system can develop more fully.

This and That
Thanks to Hoover Oil for the barbecue lunch they served to the 90 Gray County Farmers at the Bushland Field Day.

There is no advantage according to Dr. Wendell Robertson, Bushland Experiment Station, to split application of fertilizer on milo or wheat.

The best bet is apply all-needed fertilizer based on a soil test before you plant. Elmer McLaughlin called last week to find out where he could get an analysis run on some feed he had formulated himself. I obtained a list of commercial laboratories for him.
Frank Thomas made application for some windbreak seedlings.

Kenneth Porter, Agronomist at Bushland Station, says two pounds of milo per acre is all you should ever plant on dryland. He also says fertilizing dryland is a big gamble. If wheat was $3.00 per bushel I might take the gamble this year and top dress. At the $1.30 per bushel for wheat better save your money. I would apply the maximum recommendation if I were an irrigation farmer.

Keep an eye peeled for winter weeds. It will soon be time to spray them. This should be done after full tiller and long before the booting stage. Use one-half pound 2, 4-D ester per acre in 5 to 10 gallons of water. There is a very critical and short time you have to get this job done. Drop by the office, I have got an excellent publication on this.

Coming Events: Director Meeting, Top O' Texas Rodeo Association, 7:30 p.m., Monday, Feb. 22, Chamber of Commerce Office; Agriculture Committee Meeting, Chamber of Commerce at Black Gold Cafe, 12 noon, Tuesday, Feb. 23; International Harvester Co. Farm Field Day, Thurs., Feb. 25—all day at their place of business on Price Road. For farmers and their families free pancakes and sausage; at Holiday Inn West Motel, Amarillo, Stephen Maddox and Bill Skaggs, local 4-H Club Boys will give their state winning Field Crops demonstration on "Keys to Growing Dryland Milo." Jerry Harland, Assistant County Agent, and yours truly will accompany the team.

A&M Economist Reviews 1965 Cotton Outlook

COLLEGE STATION (SpI) — Cotton growers of Texas and the nation will add an estimated 600,000 bales to the carryover on Aug. 1, 1965. This, points out John G. McHaney, Extension economist, Texas A&M University, will bring the national carryover to an estimated 13 million bales, the largest since the record carryover of 14.5 million bales in 1956.

And, continues the economist, the large 1964 crop will likely offset the high disappearance expected during the period from Aug. 1964 to July 31, 1965.

Lower net costs of upland cotton to domestic users, resulting from legislation enacted last April, were cited as contributors to the expected domestic use of 9.7 million bales during the present crop year of 1964-65. This is 1.1 million more bales than were used in 1963-65 and the largest domestic usage since 1950-51.

Per capita mill consumption of cotton for 1964 was up about 5 per cent from 1963. But, points out McHaney, cotton's share of the total fiber consumption showed a slight decline to a low of 55 per cent. U. S. exports of upland cotton for the 1964-65 season are expected to total 5.2 million bales, compared with 5.7 million for the 1963-64 season but above the average for the past four years. McHaney believes export will hold at the high level due to the continued up-swing in foreign free world consumption. But, he adds, foreign free world cotton production for 1964-65 set a new record and thus, will make more competition for U.S. producers.

Farm prices for cotton in recent months have been trending downward to reflect the 2.5 cents per pound reduction in the 1964 support price. For the 1965 crop, the basic support price for middling 1-inch cotton, gross weight, at average location is 29 cents per pound. Farmers who plant within their domestic allotment will be eligible to receive an additional payment of 4.35 cents per pound on their farm's normal cotton yield, as determined by the county ASCS committee.

The national acreage allotment for the 1965 crop of upland cotton has been set at the statutory minimum of 16 million acres.

Root rot can be controlled by soil treatment to save expensive plants.

SOLDIER WOUNDED
ADEN (UPI) — A British soldier was wounded seriously in a terrorist bomb attack on a British patrol.

BOYCOTT YANK SHIPS
JAKARTA, Indonesia (UPI) — The Communist-dominated Harbor Workers Union has instructed its members to refuse service to any American-flag ships docking anywhere in Indonesia, according to the official news agency Antara.

Antara said the union issued orders for an anti-American boycott today.

Commemoration Tea Set for Today

By BILL TRELOGGEN

Commemorating the 233rd birthday anniversary of George Washington, the Pampa Genealogical and Historical Society will host a Historical Tea at 3 p.m. today in Lovett Library Auditorium honoring individuals and firms that have contributed to the restoration of the Pioneer Cottage Museum and Park, Starkweather and Yeager Sts.

Certificates of appreciation will be presented by Tracy D. Cary, society president, to more than 80 persons in recognition of their promotion of Gray County's Historical projects. Presenting the program for the tea will be the Borger Chamber Music Ensemble consisting of Mrs. John Price, Mrs. Dell Fagan, Mrs. Esther Brooks, Rev. Wilber Aten and Mrs. Shirley Wyatt. A vocal solo will be presented by Mrs. Betty Garcia.

Typical of the society's work is the restoration of the Pioneer Cottage. It was built in 1903, a year after Gray County was organized, and displays the style of homes erected by the Panhandle pioneers.

The cottage has been awarded the Historical Medallion by the Texas State Historical Survey Commission and is the only medallion site in the county. Upon completion it will be open to the public as a museum, displaying a Panhandle pioneer home from the 1875 to 1900 period.

Area artists will have an exhibit of contemporary paintings in connection with the afternoon tea.

RECORDS — Members of the society have undertaken a project to catalog all burial markers in Gray County cemeteries to provide a historical record which will be the only one of its kind for the county. Copying information as they move down the rows of markers, top left photo, are Mrs. Clayton Persons, left, and Mrs. L. J. Barker. Burial records in the county are incomplete for some cemeteries and do not go back beyond 1930 for others. Births, deaths, veterans and epitaphs are recorded by the society.

PANHANDLE HOME — Restoring one of the early Panhandle homes has highlighted society work during the past year. Surveying the work, top right photo, on the porch of Pampa's pioneer home, from left are Mrs. George Ingram, Mrs. Katie Crawford and Mrs. Willie Palmer Guill. The posts supporting the porch are from the home of Mrs. Ingram's grandparents and the house itself was the home of Mrs. Crawford during the early 1900s at its present location. Mrs. Guill and Mrs. Ingram are co-chairman for restoration.

RESEARCH — Society members research books of family history, lower right photo, from the society's collection of donated books at Lovett Memorial Library. Seated is Mrs. W. R. Ewing who came to the Panhandle with her parents more than 70 year ago. Standing is T. Jeff Earp, who is second vice-president of the society, and his wife. The Earps came to the Panhandle shortly after 1900.

Sunday Passing Show

By PEGGY CORMSON

OUR TOWN SEEMS to have become a place of continual entertainment with the closing last night of Beta Sigma Phi's "Red Stocking Revue," tomorrow night's presentation in Robert E. Lee Junior High School Auditorium of "Hello Dolly," starring Mollie Lee Beresford, sponsored by St. Vincent de Paul Altar Society, and the up-coming Lions Minstrel. Congenial Max Presnell is directing the minstrel show, which will become a traveling production for the first time this year by treating Miami residents to a presentation on March 5. Need talent for a program? Contact Mrs. Sherman (Frankie) White, Mrs. John (Irene) Hessey and Mrs. Irvin (Nona) Cole. These three gave a clever program for the First Methodist Church Friendship Class Sweetheart banquet. Meet Pampa's new city manager, Jim White, this past week. He has such a pleasant personality and cheerful smile, know he will be an asset to the community.

MRS. BOB (Albertine) Triplehorn and Mrs. Maude Schulkey gave a lovely brunch a week ago yesterday at Coronado Inn's Pampa Club for a group of Valentine friends. Lucky guests who found a small red heart pasted to the bottom of their saucers were given individual table centerpieces of red and white flowers in dainty milk glass vases as gifts. A few of those attending were Mrs. John B. (Louise) McCree, Mrs. R. E. (Gladys) Batson, Mrs. G. C. (Mary) Walstad, Mrs. T. F. (Mina) Smalling, Mrs. Frank (Pebble) Carter, Mrs. George (Lulu) Casey, Mrs. Hank (Grace) Henry, Mrs. Malcolm (Penny) Hinkle and Mrs. Elmo (Ruth) Wright. Mrs. Darrel (Barbara) Hoss has all the best wishes of her friends when she returns to Parkland Hospital in Dallas Tuesday to undergo tests and possible eye surgery. Barbara returned home from Parkland Monday following a series of tests to spend a few days before going back to Dallas. Mrs. Verl (Carmel) Hagaman went to Denver to see daughter Joan. Carmel only intended to spend the weekend there but a snowstorm extended her visit through Wednesday. Mrs. W. R. (Jenkie) Campbell has returned from a Dallas visit.

MRS. RAYMOND (Icie) Harrah has been asked to represent Pampa on the Southwestern Hospitality Board for the Metropolitan Opera Week in Dallas. She will participate in special events during the opera season, May 12-16, and act as liaison between residents of our community and the Dallas Grand Opera Association, which sponsors the annual visit of the Metropolitan Opera to the southwest. Brochures outlining the Metropolitan season in detail may be secured from Icie or the Dallas Grand Opera Association, 1924 Elm St., Dallas. Ben and Dorothy Faulkner gave one of their frequent neighborhood parties last week. At the parties, which are greatly enjoyed by friends of the Faulknors, Dorothy serves one of her unusual recipes gathered from different countries where the couple has lived. At this party an unusual hamburger dish was served. Know our spies only named a few of those attending, but the names given were Doris and Felix Vendrell, Will and Talley Hunt, Tom and Linda Webb, Buddy and Pat Brazier and Dudley and Katherine Steele.

TWENTIETH CENTURY Culture Club will have its annual luncheon in the home of Mrs. Joe (Johnny) Donaldson, Tuesday. Members will bring to the luncheon, which is one of the club's highlights of the year, a favorite dish and Mrs. Otto (Greta) Specht will bring the meat dish which will be prepared from one of Greta's special German recipes. Charles Duenkel Jr. and wife, Mary Lou, were out Tuesday evening celebrating Charles' birthday. The Duenkels made a double occasion of the celebration since their wedding anniversary fell on the preceding Sunday. Frances and Jake Garmon of Newport Beach, Calif., are visiting here with their many friends. The Garmons were Pampa residents for 25 years before moving away about 10 years ago. Saw Mrs. Johnny (Mary) Hopkins out the other day looking chic in a winter white sweater and slack suit. Ann and Joe Steede and sons, Kevin and Craig, are in Red River, N.M., for a week of skiing. Know those telephoning the Schneider-Bernet-Hickman, Inc., office miss hearing Ann's pleasant voice.

MRS. RUBY CAPPS, Pampa High School counselor, looked lovely dressed in powder blue and wearing an upswep hairdo while attending to background duties at Wednesday's PHS Career Clinic. Understand Mrs. Jean Moore from Clarendon Junior College was quite impressive to parents attending the clinic. Some of those attending stated that the attractive and charming Mrs. Moore was an outstanding speaker. Mrs. Dewey (Hazel) Parker of Rosemond, Calif., spent last week in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Bruce (Ruth) Riehart helping her get settled in the Riehart's new home on Fir. Mrs. Bob (Doris) Johnson has been a busy mother the past few days caring for son Grant, who has the chicken pox, and daughter Laura, who was bitten by the flu bug. Friends of Mrs. Greeley (Janet) Warner are happy to have her home again from McBride Hospital in Oklahoma City, and especially happy to hear of the good report received by Janet following leg surgery at the hospital. Mrs. Glen (Mildred) Stafford has returned from Kermit where she took her mother, Mrs. Vivian Pearce, to visit a month or so with another daughter, Mrs. Oscar (Maurene) Theisen.

NOTHING LIKE A blizzard warning to fill the local grocery stores with shoppers. Last Monday, following the weather report, saw Mrs. Jimmy (Lucille) Massa dressed in blue from head to toe, and Mrs. Bob (Angela) Sanford looking gay in bright red, stocking up their food supplies. Also saw Mrs. Bonnie Hutchinson and Mrs. Jack Merchant getting set for the storm that didn't develop. Dr. Felix and Doris Vendrell have Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Deal of Dallas, Doris's parents, visiting in their home. The V. N. Osborns are in Leesburg, Fla., enjoying a three-week winter vacation visiting with their daughter, Juanita Gregg and family, which includes husband, Browne, and children Jean, Gail and Fred. 4-H Club girls of the area, who have taken a Food Unit course, are busily working toward the Favorite Food Show to be held March 20 in Gray County Court House Annex. Some 50 girls are expected to display an exhibit of favorite dishes accompanied by the proper table setting. Judges for the show will be out-of-town home demonstration agents. Girls entering exhibits will be on hand to explain the nutritional value of the food displayed as well as the accompanying menu, color scheme and all the other details that go into making a meal delicious and attractive. Serving as hosts and hostesses for the Historical Tea to be held this afternoon in Lovett Memorial Library commemorating the 233rd birthday anniversary of George Washington are Pampa Genealogical and Historical Society officers Tracy D. Cary, Luther R. Pruitt, T. Jeff Earp, Mrs. Clifford Drake, Mrs. J. C. Pattillo, Mrs. Willie A. Gull, Mrs. George Ingram, Mrs. L. J. Barker, Mrs. Corinda Haffin, Miss Lou Ella Patterson and Mrs. Clayton Parnore.

Program Is Given By Mrs. Dingman

Mrs. Charles Lanehart was a hostess to El Progresso Study Club when the group met recently in Pampa Country Club. Mrs. V. J. Drew, president, presided over the business meeting at which time the roll was called, minutes of the previous meeting read and club correspondence was presented. Those present voted to send a donation to the Care Education Program in Peru.

Mrs. Lonnie Richardson introduced Mrs. Joan Dingman of the personnel department of Celanese, who presented the program, "Interior Decorating via Celanese." Mrs. Dingman gave a brief history of Celanese and many facts about the local plant stating "The Pampa Celanese Plant is the largest single producer of acetic acid in the world."

To embark on her program of interior decorating, Mrs. Dingman showed slides of the interior of many rooms, commenting on each one as to designing effect achieved with Celanese fabrics.

Articles of clothing, draperies, bedspreads, and material from local stores were on display, showing what is available in Pampa made from Celanese fabrics. In conclusion, Mrs. Dingman presented each member with a Celanese purse-mending kit.

A door prize of a dress length of Celanese material was presented to Mrs. J. F. Curtis.

Members present were Mmes. D. V. Burton, J. F. Curtis, V. J. Drew, Ben Hamilton, Mack Hiatt, Charles Lanehart, Kermit Lawson, Bob McCoy, J. G. Morrison, Glenn Radcliff, Lonnie Richardson, Bruce Riehart, F. R. Speaks, John Gill and George Walstad.

MARRIAGE ANNOUNCED -- Mr. and Mrs. W. G. McComas, 2244 Christine, announce the marriage of their daughter, Mary Jane, to Jerry Frank Taintor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aubra Nooncaster, 2318 Aspen. The couple was married at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 1 in the First Methodist Church of Kansas City, Mo. The bride, a graduate of Pampa High School, attended the University of Missouri at Kansas City. The bridegroom, a graduate of Pampa High School and Oklahoma University, is attending dental college in Kansas City. The newlyweds are making their home at 4112 Locust, Kansas City, Mo.

Pampa City Panhellenic Will Have Guest Speaker from Lubbock at March Meeting

Earnestine Watson Lockhart of Lubbock will be the featured speaker at a meeting of Pampa City Panhellenic on March 1 at 8 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Robert Vail, 2016 Mary Ellen. Mrs. Watson is an authority on the status of the fraternity system (both men's and women's) in the college world today. As long-time chairman of the research and advisory committee of Lubbock City Panhellenic she has made a study of the devices employed by pressure groups on boards of regents to question the rights of fraternities to select membership and conduct ritual.

Mrs. Watson will illustrate how social and civil rights are being confused by small pressure groups on and off campus, and will point up how the larger aims of fraternities such as scholarship, personal growth and character building are being completely overshadowed in well-publicized agitation over racial and religious issues with the ultimate intent of pushing the established national groups off the campuses.

In addition to describing conditions at the large colleges and universities over the nation, Mrs. Watson will report on areas where fraternities are favored and encouraged as a means of a more total development of the student. She will also outline means at hand by which local alumnae may help to halt unfavorable legislation. Seeing no reason why fraternities need have any political involvement whatsoever, Mrs. Watson will emphasize that she is speaking not so much for fraternities as for freedom.

Mrs. Watson is a past president of Lubbock City Panhellenic and past president of Delta Delta Delta alumnae in Lubbock. She is the mother of four daughters, two of whom are in college.

Pampa City Panhellenic is composed of 95 women who are alumnae of college national social sororities. Fifteen sororities are represented in the group, and of them Alpha Chi Omega, Alpha Delta Pi, Chi Omega, Delta Delta Delta, Delta Gamma, Gamma Phi Beta, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Pi Beta Phi, Sigma Sigma Sigma, and Zeta Tau Alpha are one hundred per cent members. Other women of the area who are eligible are invited to join the Pampa group.

Amarillo City Panhellenic will host the Texas State Convention of Panhellenic Associations on April 28 and 29 at Holiday Inn West. A delegation of Pampa women will attend, some of them planning to spend the night in order to be present at the social functions during the evening. Any members interested in attending are asked to contact their sorority council representative.

Miss Shirley Bonner Becomes Bride Of Glenn Branch in Home Ceremony

Mrs. Glenn Branch
nee Shirley Bonner

Miss Shirley Bonner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Bonner, 1122 Starkweather, became the bride of Glenn Branch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Houston Branch, when they exchanged vows in a home ceremony at 7 o'clock Friday evening.

Milo Carlson Gives Program to Society

Pampa-Rose Society met in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Carruth with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. A. Bennick as co-hosts Tuesday evening with Mrs. Raymond Darsey, club president, presiding. The club prayer was given by William A. Bennick, the minutes of the previous meeting read and approved, and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Glaxner were welcomed as new members.

Milo Carlson spoke on "Shrub Roses." His opening remarks, a summary of the origin and development of roses were "The rose appeared on coins as far back as 4000 B.C. and was a featured flower in the Hanging Gardens of Babylon. The Chinese, French, Persians and Spaniards adorned their gardens with many varieties in the early days and there were 2000 known varieties by 1829. Fossilized blossoms found in Oregon and Texas have been identified as being 70 million years old.

the home of the bride's parents before a wedding scene appointed with urns filled with white gladioli.

For her wedding the bride chose a three-piece street-length suit fashioned of blue linen. The neckline of the suit jacket was lace trimmed. She wore a white hat with lace veil and a corsage of white roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held. The bride's table, covered with a white linen cloth, was centered with an arrangement of blue flowers. Miss Judy Bonner, bride's sister, presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Kayleen Tuttle served the wedding cake while Miss Karen Jordan attended the guest register.

The bride, a 1962 graduate of Pampa High School, attended West Texas State University. She was employed by H. Price Dosier, CPA, previous to her marriage. The bridegroom, a 1962 graduate of Pampa High School, is a junior at West Texas State University, Canyon, where the couple will make their home.

PE Wives Society Entertain Husbands

Petroleum Engineers' Wives Society entertained their husbands with a Valentines dinner, Feb. 12, at Sutphens in Borger.

Following the dinner, games and bridge were played at the Gold Room in the Páhandle Bank Building. Mrs. Billy Gillman, hostess for the month, provided cake, coffee and punch.

The centerpiece, an ivy surrounded by red carnations and hearts, was won by R. R. Jordan, as the door prize.

A hat style show will be the program for the March 9 luncheon at the Coronado Inn. "Guest Day" will also be featured at that date, with each member being urged to bring a guest.

Attending the dinner were Messrs. and Mrs. Paul Davis, Jack Dennis, Henry Frazer, Billy Gillman, R. R. Jordan, Paul McLaughlin, John Smith, Leonard White and Russell Talley.

Guests present were Messrs. and Mrs. Don DeGeer, Vernon Franklin, Orville Pierboom, Glen Westall, Duane Reddin, Al Knox, Leman Holley, R. S. Allison and Arnold Hensley.

Burrell-Brannon Vows Are Exchanged

MCLEAN (Sp) —Miss Louise Burrell, daughter of Mrs. R. R. Burrell and the late Mr. Burrell of Kelton, became the bride of Billy Wayne Brannon of Pampa, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Brannon of Vernon on Jan. 31.

Wedding vows were exchanged in the home of the bride's uncle, Johnnie Craig, of the Twitty community. The Rev. A. G. Roberts, Baptist minister of Lefors, officiated in the double ring ceremony.

The nuptial scene was decorated with two tall white baskets of white mums and white carnations.

Mrs. Frank Dismuke of Pampa was the bride's attendant, wearing a blue tailored suit complemented with black accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Alicia Burrell of Kelton was ring bearer.

Frank Dismuke of Pampa served the bridegroom as best man.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Johnny Craig, was attired in a dress of blue chiffon styled with a fitted bodice with high neckline and long sleeves. The full skirt was street length with a net overskirt. She wore a small blue hat with a veil and matching accessories and carried a white Bible topped with white carnations.

4-H Cooking Class Given Instructions

4-H junior leaders, Cathy Wilkie and Phyllis Atwood, and adult leader, Mrs. Mildred Prince, met recently with their junior girls at Southwestern Public Service Company. These girls are working on Unit One Foods.

At this meeting they baked cookies and were given instructions in measuring liquid and dry ingredients.

Those present were Sharon Newman, Diane Nicholl, Cindy Richter, Brenda Richter, Angela Wingart, Susan Higginbotham, Kathy Parsley; junior leaders, Cathy Wilkie and Phyllis Atwood, and adult leader, Mrs. Mildred Prince.

Peter Kaddoum Presents Program for Twentieth Century Cotillion Club Meet

Twentieth Century Cotillion met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. James Campbell at 1330 Williston. The president, Mrs. Don Morrison presided and welcomed a new club member, Mrs. Raymond Barrett. Mrs. Tom Snow led the reading of the club collect.

Mrs. Morrison turned the program over to Mrs. J. B. Veale Jr., American Field Service representative, who introduced Peter Kaddoum, Pampa's foreign exchange student this year. Peter, from Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, entertained the club members with an account of life and activities in his country. Kaddoum lives in suburban Rio de Janeiro with his father, a cardboard box manufacturer, his mother and a seven year old brother. Rio de Janeiro is the second largest city in Brazil being 725 square miles in size and having a population of 4 million people. It has a warm climate, never going below 40 degrees in temperature, and the citizens enjoy many water sports.

Kaddoum explained that although there are many men's organizations in his country, there are few women's clubs and no boys' clubs like there are in the United States. His mother's hobbies are sewing and cooking and she prepares the country's principal foods of black beans, rice, beef and French-fried potatoes. "Brazil's school system is co-educational and requires thirteen years of study in preparation for its government-owned universities. These universities are expense-free and have very difficult entrance exams," the speaker explained. He said that he will take the exams next February, and if he passes, will then study to be a physician for six years with hopes of returning to the United States to specialize.

Continuing, Kaddoum said, "There was much Communist infiltration in the universities and among the working class of people with even the government being controlled by Communist until March 31 and April 1 of 1964 when there was a 'Bloodless Revolution' in Brazil and the Communist were cleansed from the government. There is now a terrible inflation in Brazil due to government spending, and the present president is attempting to curb the inflation. The Brazilian government is like the government of the United States in that it has three branches of government, executive, legislative, and judicial. Brazilians are required to vote after passing a literacy test." The speaker explained that his country always seemed to be in political turmoil because there are thirteen political parties and the president and vice-president of Brazil can be of different parties.

"There are 80 million people in my country which occupies one-half of South America," Peter continued. "Portuguese is the national language. Brazil has twenty-two states headed by elected governors. Brazil is now the capital city of Brazil and is the most modern city in the world and has a population of 200,000. The Brazil project was begun 100 years ago and was completed 5 years ago with

Founder's Day Is Observed at Tea

Woodrow Wilson P-T-A met in the school auditorium to observe Founder's Day with a tea.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Jerry Davis. Several past presidents of Woodrow Wilson P-T-A were introduced.

Cub Scout Pack 109 presented the American Flag. Following a short business meeting, a program was presented by the Woodrow Wilson Grade-School Band under the direction of Charles Meech. Program was closed with a film "Our American Heritage."

government money having no gold or silver backing, and this was a major cause of Brazil's present inflation. St. Paulo is the industrial center of Brazil; then there are other principal cities along the Atlantic coast, but there are many parts of my country which are unexplored." Members attending were Mmes. W. B. Adair, J. F. Alexander, James T. Brown, Mac V. Christner, Buddy Cockrell, Harold Cox, Lee Fraser, James Gallimore, Edward Greenlee, Don Morrison, Kenneth Royle, Tom Snow, Bob Rogers, Raymond Barrett and the hostess.

John Rust, 'Foothill Filosopher,' to Be Speaker for Banquet Honoring Bosses

John Rust Banquet Speaker

Annual "Bosses" Night Banquet of the American Business Women of Pampa, set for the Coronado Inn at 7 p.m. Tuesday, will be featured by an address by John Rust, known on the banquet circuit as the "Foothill Filosopher." Rust is a newspaperman in Borger where he has been on the staff of the Borger News-Herald the past 16 years. He has also been a weekly newspaper editor. He has been much in demand the past quarter of a century as an after-dinner speaker. Primarily a humorist, Rust usually manages to use the last few minutes of a speech in giving his audience something serious to consider.

Carlson (Continued From Page 18) was a good time to start miniature roses from seed. The hostesses served cherry pie-alamode, coffee and salted nuts during the social hours. Members present were Dr. and Mrs. W. L. Campbell, Dr. and Mrs. Weldon Adair, Messers. and Mmes. William A. Bennink, H. H. Boynton, Milo Carlson, A. B. Carruth, R. E. Darsey and Glen Radcliffe.

Hobart Baptist Circle Meetings

WMS Circles of Hobart Baptist Church met last week in the home of members for study programs.

JOY RUSSELL CIRCLE met in the home of Mrs. Bill Simpson. The meeting was opened by the prayer calendar and Mrs. Jimmy Clark leading the group in prayer.

Mrs. Merl Smith, circle chairman, was in charge of the business meeting. Plans were made for visitation. Mrs. Bill Simpson read the minutes of the previous meeting. Mrs. Merl Smith was in charge of the program titled, "Applying Christian Principles." Closing prayer was led by Mrs. Jimmy Clark. One new member, Mrs. Ronald Sims, was welcomed to the circle. There were five members present in addition to Mrs. Sims. They were the Mmes. Jimmy Clark, Fred Bridges, Merl Smith, Bill Simpson, and Carl McAnally. Mrs. Jerry Stephens was a visitor at the meeting. VADA WALDRON CIRCLE met at the home of Mrs. Bobby Marlar for Bible Study. The meeting was opened with prayer led by Mrs. Delmer Barefoot. The Bible study was led by Mrs. W. R. Brown. The group participated in the discussion of the Bible lesson, which was taken from Genesis, chapters 37 through 50. Mrs. J. N. Tackett worded the closing prayer. Refreshments were served to five members. Read the News Classified Ads

The Robert E. Lee Band and the Ninth Grade Choir furnished the program for the annual P-TA Fathers' Night held Thursday evening in the school auditorium.

J. A. DiCosimo, band director, led both groups in the first selection "The Sound of Music." The ninth grade girls then sang "It's A Good Day" by Peggy Lee and Dave Barbour, and "Young Lubin" by James Hook and were joined by the boys' section of the choir for "O Western Mind" by Joseph W. Clokey, "Psallite" written by Praetorius, and "Wagon Wheels". Mike Phillips and Debbie Allen served as piano accompanists.

The band then presented "Thunder West March" by Kenneth Farrell, "A Study in Lavender" by Eric Osterling and featuring Michael Ruff, cornetist, and "Granada" by Buler. "America the Beautiful" was the encore and was furnished by the combined band and choir.

Jim Cornutt gave the meditation and offered the opening prayer.

Judge William L. Craig served as presiding officer for the short business meeting which followed. The minutes of the previous meeting were read by Bob Parks, assistant principal of Robert E. Lee. Paul N. Brown gave the treasurer's report, showing a balance on hand of $229.54.

Recommendations of the executive board included the forwarding of $2.50 to the State P-TA Congress in observance of National Founders' Day and the giving of $25 to the Robert E. Lee Student Council to be added to their project fund.

Jack Nichols, principal, invited parents and others who might care to, to visit the school during Texas Public School Week, which is also Teacher Appreciation Week, March 15.

Nichols, Mrs. H. B. Taylor and Mrs. Bus Lee Benton served as the nominating committee to present the following slate of officers, who were elected by acclamation: president, Mrs. M. McDaniel; vice president, Mrs. R. M. Hampton; secretary, Mrs. W. T. Fain; treasurer, Mrs. Leon Dougherty; parliamentarian, Mrs. Charles Lanehart; historian, Mrs. J. L. Chose, and P-TA city council representatives, Mrs. Earl L. O'Neal and Mrs. S. T. Friend.

Judge Craig announced that Mrs. W. J. Danforth, state P-TA president, will be in Borger on March 16. The District 19 Spring Conference will be held in Shamrock on April 13. April 15 is the date of the next P-TA meeting at Robert E. Lee.

Refreshments of cookies and punch were served to the members of the band, choir and P-TA following the meeting. Mrs. Earl O'Neal was in charge of hospitality arrangements.

Twentieth Century Allegro Club Hears Mrs. Reid Discuss 'The Lost Pharaohs'

Twentieth Century Allegro met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Jack Miller, Mrs. George Cree Jr. was co-hostess.

The program, "The Lost Pharaohs," was presented by Mrs. R. E. Reid. The speaker prefaced her remarks with the quotation, "Egypt is the gift of the Nile, and the Nile is the gift of the good God."

"Why did the earliest civilization on earth grow up beside this great river? Because civilization can only flourish where it can live together in one spot over a long period of time. The Ancient Egyptians found a valley of the most fertile soil in the world," Mrs. Reid began.

"The Egyptians seemed to have been a happy, somewhat materialistic race, loving life and hating to leave it. The scenes painted on the walls of their tombs and monuments were to assure them of the same pleasures in their next life. Their belief in the necessity for material preservation is at the very heart of Egyptian religion. Since the body had to continue in their next life, so must its material needs for food, clothing and other earthly necessities."

Mrs. Reid explained that many people still believe that the purpose of archaeology is to dig up valuable objects for collections. However, to a modern excavator in search of facts, a piece of broken pot may establish a vital date and cause the rewriting of a whole chapter of history.

The speaker continued "There were three types of pyramids. The mastaba of the first and second dynasties were conceived as eternal homes of their owners. The builders of the step pyramids had a different conception of an after life, lived with the Sun God. Re believed that a staircase to heaven must be laid. It is believed that the third, or slant-sided pyramids, were built to represent the rays of the sun to the earth. Therefore, one could ascend to heaven on the rays."

"The Great Pyramid on Giza Plateau was built by Cheops, a tyrant who exhausted the manpower of the kingdom in building his colossal monument. It is believed that 100,000 men constructed it."

Mrs. Reid talked of the great PATENTLY CLEAR

It's open season on patent leather shoes these days. No need to hold off until spring. They are considered smart and in good taste right now and all year round.

"The sacred right of Italian husbands to have their breakfast served in bed is not threatened," says a news story out of Turin, Italy.

The story goes on to say that an Italian newspaper printed a letter from an indignant wife who said, although the Italian breakfast is generally just a cup of black coffee, serving it to them in bed gave husbands tyrannical habits.

The newspaper expected to be deluged with letters from wives also fed-up with serving their husbands breakfast in bed.

The avalanche of letters did come — but they were all in favor of continuing the breakfast-in-bed service.

Probably most of those wives had long ago found out that getting up and having a cup of hot coffee ready to hand their husbands when they awakened them is an easy price to pay for a husband who faces the day cheerfully, rather than with a frown.

And if such a small service makes a husband feel like a king — or even a tyrant — well, let him feel like that for a few happy moments each day.

It really isn't too surprising that Italian women have voted in favor of a husband's right to have his morning coffee in bed.

The only surprising thing is that at least a few of them didn't suggest that just one day a week the Italian husband get up and make the coffee and bring it to his wife, so that on one day a week she could feel like a queen.

That would seem to be only fair to the wife.

Too, it ought to make those other six mornings seem more special.

A service that is performed every single day without fail is not nearly as appreciated as the service that is skipped occasionally.

It takes a bit of doing without to make doing-with feel like pure luxury.

Clothes Poll

By HELEN HENNESSY
Newspaper Enterprise
Women's Editor

One message from Paris came through clearly season after season—the couturiers were engaged in a perennial battle with nature. They believed girls look better when they looked like boys. And they industriously sketched and stitched away to achieve that end.

Every seam for daytime wear was designed with an aim to hide the bosom, the waistline, the hips. In fact, the only two places where it wasn't stylish to be shapeless were the beach and the ballroom.

This year the quarrel ended, with nature the big winner. The boyish look and all the loose, straight-up and -down dresses will disappear from the Paris fashion scene come spring. We won't have to run around in disguise any more. It will be fashionable to be girlish with a vengeance.

The body will shape the clothes. Everyone's waistline will be wherever nature has seen fit to place it and skirts will be mobile and flirty.

Since this rash of femininity must naturally spell the end of boots and purses the size of satchels, accessories from the city of haute couture will go girlish, too.

Shoes, it is reported, will be airy and open with low heels and half-round toes. And a new sandal will bare the foot and be supported by straps that wind up the leg. Pastel colors will be favored. This sounds a bit like having one's legs gift wrapped in baby blue. But you can bet your boots (you won't need them anyway) that someone will wear them.

Big purses will disappear from the scene as the small elegant bag takes over for daytime. And evening bags will be tinier than ever and embroidered in sparkling stones.

With everyone once more acknowledging there is such a thing as a waist, belts will be back in a big way. Most will be narrow and many jeweled.

Eva Gabor's Favorite Topic For Conversation Is Men

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — Eva Gabor's range of conversation topics goes like this—food, men, fashion, men, movies, men, travel, men, cosmetics, men.

So lately, it's no surprise. Miss Gabor speaks with authority about something close to the heart of thinking men: pipes, ranging from corncob to clay, with every other type in between.

"I like the smoke from a pipe when it comes my way," she says.

When she talks about pipe smoking, Miss Gabor reels off facts historical, hysterical, and practical. She even has a survey to fall back on to make the lore about pipe smoking that much sounder.

An old Dutch custom about pipe smoking warms her ticker the most. It goes like this:

At courting time, a bashful beau twines garlands of flowers around their pipes to signify honorable intentions. Then he knocks on the sweetheart's door and asks for a light.

If the girls lit them up once or twice then they obviously had a fire going. But if they lit the pipes a third time, that was it. The girl grabbed the pipe, puffed a bit and the match was consummated.

"That was a wonderful custom," Miss Gabor said. "I want to know, darling, why can't we revive this custom inasmuch as pipe smoking is back in favor both with men and women."

The actress has boned up on pipe smoking in connection with her participation in advertisements for Masterpiece Tobacco, a new one.

"People say it seems odd that I should be an expert on tobacco," she said. "But, darling, why should I have to know anything about it? I always say I don't know anything about the mining or cutting of diamonds but it doesn't stop me from recommending them. See?"

The survey Miss Gabor referred to frequently found that pipe smokers are mostly doctors, lawyers, philosophers, writers.

"Fifty per cent of pipe smokers," she said, "are executives. The other 50 per cent are not. Aren't surveys wonderful, darling?"

The survey also showed: —Most women think of a pipe smoker as a dependable man.

—Many pipe smokers have wavy grey hair and keen eyes. —Most pipe smokers are talented.

Director of 'Revue' Makes New Friends

By PEGGY JO ORMON
Women's Editor

The life of a traveling musical show director must be a lonely one but if Craig Atkinson, representative of Jerome H. Cargill Producing Organization, Inc., of New York, director of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority's "Red Stocking Revue," is a lonely man, it is not noticeable. This young man with winning ways made many new found-friends in Pampa the last three weeks while working with cast members, and even though Atkinson's new-found friends probably will never see him again, since a director is rarely, if ever, sent to the same town twice, he will be long remembered for his patience and ready smile.

Craig Atkinson

Atkinson was born in Ocala, Fla., the son of a civil engineer. As a boy his summers were spent in Manhattan, New York, and winters in Florida. He lived part of his childhood in England, France and Colombia, South America, where his father built airports. He started taking tap dance lessons at six and began ballet instructions when a high school student. One of Atkinson's dance instructors was Betty Mayo, aunt of Elizabeth Ashley who starred in the movie "The Carpetbaggers." Miss Ashley was born in the same town as Atkinson and he taught her dancing as a child.

The Pampa show was the 22nd directed by Atkinson in his three years with the producing organization.

There is hardly a musical Atkinson hasn't done in summer stock in Connecticut, Massachusetts and with the Starlight Musicals in Indianapolis, Ind. He has done the choreography for such musicals as "South Pacific," "Guys and Dolls," "Lil' Abner" and "Dam Yankee," and danced leading parts in "Fanny," "Red Head" and "Kismet."

Martha Ray, Gypsy Rose Lee, Pat O'Brien, Brian Donlevy, Joe E. Brown, Barbara Britton, Sheryl Conway and Victor Jory are just a few of the many stars he has worked with.

He has directed "Auntie Mame" and "The Women" in stock and little theaters, and has had acting jobs in many shows. He danced "Curly" in "Oklahoma" and the lead in "Pal Joey."

Atkinson will be seen next June in Lafayette, La., dancing the part of "Tulsa" in "Gypsy." He also is doing the choreography for the production.

"Friday and Saturday nights" presentation of the "Red Stocking Revue" was well received by the audiences. The opening number of couples singing and dancing set the pace for the fast moving and colorful show.

Among the numbers that were particularly crowd pleasers were Carol Gates vocal rendition of "You Can't Get a Man With a Gun" and "I Can't Say No," sung by Suzie Benton; the "Cutting Out Party" skit featuring Don Pope as Dr. Trent, the Spanish section starring Charlie Beard singing "Granada," Glennette Dawkins dancing a Spanish number to "Lady of Spain" and Danny Turner singing the same song, and the Charleston dance number by 12 girls.

Even though the audience greatly enjoyed the show, the enjoyment of the cast in presenting the production was greater. Cast members will long remember Atkinson and each time he is thought of his voice will be heard somewhere in the background saying "One two three four, five six seven eight," eight.

Members Present Program for Club

Pampa Garden Club met in the home of Mrs. James McCune 811 N. Frost, with Mrs. Joe Weaver as co-hostess.

Mrs. Lee Moore led the club collect. The business session was conducted by Mrs. Milo Carlson and she suggested that the next tea be held at an earlier hour. Mrs. Thelma Bray gave a report on the new lights for Aspen Park. It was also mentioned that the walnut tree was planted in memory of Paul Skidmore.

"Horticulture Tips" were made by Mrs. Ira Carlton who stated that all bare-root plants may be set out at this time and that fruit trees can be pruned now.

Mrs. Lee Harrah presented the "Iris Tips," stating that animal fertilizer should not be used in iris beds and to be very careful of any sprays used for killing grass along the beds as they can kill the iris plants.

The minutes from the previous meeting were read by Mrs. Owen Gee, secretary. Treasurer's report was made by Mrs. Floyd Watson.

The program entitled "Control vs. Organic Fertilization and Chemical Control," was given by Mrs. Floyd Watson with Mrs. Carlos Grissom, Mrs. Joe Shelton and Mrs. Melvin Bailey Jr. taking part in the program. Following the program Mrs. Myron Droman Jr. gave a report on the district meeting to be held in Amarillo April 8-9 and that a Flower Show School will be held in Amarillo April 21-22-23.

Mrs. C. C. Matheny requested all newspaper clippings be turned over to her for the scrapbook.

Members present were Mmes. Carlos Grissom, Ira Carlton, Lee Moore, Lee Harrah, Joe Shelton, Fred Cary, Fred Hart, Myron Dorman, Milo Carlson, W. L. What goes under the new, soft looking ready-to-wear clothes for spring is the minimum in weight. As Mrs. Beatrice Coleman, vice-president in charge of design for Maidenform, puts it, "Brief, bare and beautiful is the way we describe our spring collection of bras and girdles. They have been pared down to a minimum to show a natural, round figure..."

Dear Abby.... Cash and Carry Decision Is up to the Widow

DEAR ABBY: I am a widower, 54, well-groomed, gray-haired, tall, slender, and some people say I'm handsome. I earn $15,000 a year and have no dependents or ties. I've had to run fast from many women, rich and prominent, and I don't say that to boast.

I recently met an attractive widow about my age. She is cultured, refined and well-traveled. She has no dependents and we enjoy each other's company. I have reason to believe we could care for each other. She has an income of about $20,000 a year, but she has stated emphatically that she would never contribute to the support of any man. I cannot support her in her present style, but I would be willing to sign a pre-nuptial waiver to all rights of her estate. Would I be wrong to insist that if we married, our incomes should be joined for our mutual benefit? Don't you think this widow had better grab me quick or lose me fast?

A GENTLEMAN: DEAR GENTLEMAN: That's up to the lady. It is obvious that you are not out to take advantage of this woman, but she was not born yesterday, either. If she will marry you and continue to support herself (but not you), all that stands between you is her $5,000 edge. Waive that and you'll have made yourself a good deal.

DEAR ABBY: What do you do with a husband who, when he gets mad at his wife, refuses to talk to her, refuses to sleep with her, refuses to come to the table and eat with his family, and refuses to get up at 10 o'clock on Sunday morning to go to Church with his family even though his wife turned Catholic for him? If he has no respect for his own religion, how can a wife and children have respect for it? Last Sunday our eldest said she wasn't going to church because "Daddy wasn't going." I certainly didn't have any argument to give her, so I let her stay home. In fact, I stayed home, too. If I don't have a nervous breakdown over that man, it will be a miracle. What should I do?

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE: DEAR HIGH: Your husband needs a pacifier or a physician or maybe both. Such tantrums are not for grown-ups or the emotionally healthy. Ask your priest to guide him toward professional help.

DEAR ABBY: I know you mean well when you advise childless couples to "look into" adoption. But I think you should urge such couples to find out definitely first whether they are infertile or not. At the present time it is estimated that almost half the couples who believe themselves to be infertile could, with the proper treatment, have children. However, the treatment for infertility is a highly specialized field, and should be left to the specialists who are up to date on the newest techniques. Sincerely,

BEEN HELPED: DEAR ONE: Thank you for bringing this little-known fact to my attention. The names of fertility specialists are available through The Planned Parenthood Federation, 515 Madison Avenue, New York 22, N.Y.

Fathers' Night Is Observed at Lamar

Lamar P-TA observed Fathers' Night in the school auditorium Thursday evening.

Presiding was N. L. Nicholl with Troop 40 giving the flag ceremony and the invocation was given by Austin Ruddick.

David Green gave the secretary report and Riley Walters gave the treasury report. The City Council report was given by Dick Sierman.

The nominating committee for the officers for the following year were elected. They were: Mr. Page, Mrs. Bill Prock and Mrs. Lawrence Paronto.

Mrs. Dennis Stafford baked the cake that was given as door prize which was won by Elaine Faught.

The winner of the most parents present was Mrs. Maddox' 6th grade room which will be served ice cream.

Ernie Pulse acted as program director and presented the Lamar Band under the direction of Mrs. Harris Brinson.

At the conclusion of the program refreshments were served in the school cafeteria.

W. L. Lards Mark 50th Wedding Date

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Lard
... Celebrate Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. William Lee Lard celebrated their golden wedding anniversary last Sunday afternoon from 2 to 4 p.m. with a tea in the Fellowship Hall of the First Christian Church in Miami. Hosts for the occasion were their children, B. W. Lard, Mrs. Wayne Greenhouse both of Miami, and Mrs. Geo F. Welch of Orange, Calif.

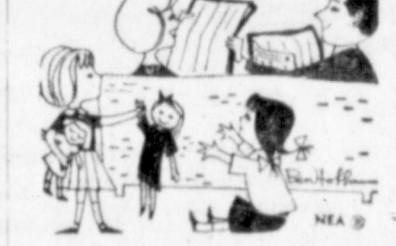

William Lee Lard and Miss Addie Mae Talley were married by Rev. J. W. Whalley in the Ben F. Talley home in Miami Feb. 17, 1915. Both young people had spent all their lives in Miami and in the 50 years they have been married, they have lived in or near Miami and have been active in the civic and church life of the community. The couple has three children, eight grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren. Mrs. D. W. Stribling and Mrs. R. B. Mathers registered the guests and presented them to the receiving line, composed of the honorees and the host and hostesses. Guests were then escorted to the serving table, presided over by the honoree's grand-daughters, Mrs. Glenda Strey of Pampa, Patricia Lard of Chino, Calif., and Patsy Lard of Dumas.

The table was covered with a hand crocheted cloth over gold. A decorated three-tiered wedding cake with a miniature bride and groom and a large "50" centered the table. The cakes which were served were topped with small yellow roses.

During the afternoon Rev. Thurman Boswell gave a humorous reading he had composed of a marriage ceremony. A host of Miami friends and many out-of-town friends called during the afternoon to help the couple mark the occasion.

Joan Wallace Is Honored at Party

SKELLYTOWN (Sp) — Mrs. M. C. Dunivin's Young People's Sunday School Class of Skellytown First Baptist Church met Tuesday evening in Fellowship Hall at the church honoring Miss Joan Wallace with a going away party. Gifts were presented to the honoree from the class members.

Refreshments of sandwiches, chips and cokes were served to Nan Harmon, Linda Clark, Reva Gail Barnett, Sally Banks, Ruth Giesler, Karen Mathews, Joan Jarvis, Carol Kliebrink, Linda Cone, Eddie Kliebrink, Larry Simmons, Jack Dunivin and the honoree, Miss Joan Wallace, who is moving with her family to Anchorage, Alaska this week.

Furs should be cleaned at least once a season. Dirt, dust and grime are a menace to furs.

The Mature Parent

Getting the Kids Awake Problem Can Be Trying

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: Can you recommend some incentive to make my 8-year-old boy get up in the morning in time for school? Though he gets a good 10 hours of sleep every night, he has to be roused four and five times before he finally gets up. I have done everything I can think of to help him, even to feeding breakfast to his little brother in his pajamas to avoid fighting in the bathroom. I am worn out by the time I get him off in the morning.

ANSWER: Would you be able to withdraw all this helpfulness of yours? Could you say to him, "I am not going to wake you up for school ever again. Instead, here's your own alarm clock. You know school's rules about getting there on time just as well as I do. I hope you'll obey them because teachers get mad at children who are late. But from here on you'll have to make up your own mind about obeying them and getting up when this clock tells you it's time to get up."

If you can just live through the anxiety you feel the first morning you entrust him with his own responsibility for school promptness, the chances are excellent that he will assume it. Children can get very resentful of our pushing them to get up in the morning. Interest in frustrating us gets substituted for getting to school on time. They roll over in their beds away from our reminders that it's a quarter to eight, not because they want to be late for school but because their resentment at our pushiness enjoys our worry and helplessness. As we overprotective parents are also sentimental ones, we reject this evidence of the child's satisfaction in our helplessness since it offends our notion of the beautiful "love" existing between us. So eager are we to do our loving duty by him that we can't see it is actually saying to him: "You are so incompetent in comparison with me that I can't credit you with the sense to know you'll get in trouble if you are late for school — and so must operate on my knowledge of this as though were a nitwit."

It is, of course, soothing to imagine that we are doing our loving duty by a child when we assume his obligation to get up in time for school. But from his point of view, it is a belittling

POLLY'S POINTERS

Dyeing Old Dark Woolens Is Now Easy

By POLLY CRAMER

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR POLLY—I am answering Carolyn's question about dyeing old dark woolen garments for making braided or hooked rugs. After trying many ways this seemed the best. Cut off any collars and cuffs. Rip the seams open so all the pieces are flat and then cut out any worn or threadbare spots. Place in a large tub or metal dishpan with color remover and follow the directions on the package. As the color is being removed any dirt will also come out of the fabric. After the color is out, I rinse the material in fabric softener and dry. Then dye to the exact color desired. Dyeing is not the chore it used to be if it is done in the washing machine.

—JAYNE
GIRLS—Jayne's procedure and my own are very similar but I do not dry the woolens to be dyed as damp fabric seems to absorb the dye better. After such dyeing be sure to clean the washing machine promptly by filling with water and detergent and going through the complete washing and rinsing cycle.

—POLLY
DEAR POLLY—The set cover to a bathroom set always seems to look fresh and new when the bath mat is worn out. I fold mine in half, lengthwise, and stitch together the curved side to make a new scrubbing mitt. Elastic can be inserted at the wrist part if the drawstring is awkward to handle. The heavy parts of worn throw rugs can be made up the same way, but larger, to be experience and his feeling becomes, "O.K. See where you get by treating me like a nitwit."

used for washing the car. The fuzzy ones are very good for this.

—SALLY
GIRLS—Another reader has another use for a sill-good seat cover.

—POLLY
DEAR POLLY—I use the good seat cover left from a bathroom set to make a shoulder cover for home beauty care. It is excellent to put on for a shampoo as it is absorbent and stays in place. I criss-cross the ends in front.

—MRS. A. W. B.

The Doctor Says

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Chicken pox is usually seen in late winter or early spring. It gets its name from the chickpea which the lesions are said to resemble, not from the barnyard fowl.

Although it is not severe in children, it can make an adult very sick for a few days.

The cause is a virus, the same one that causes shingles. Since an attack almost always confers a lifetime immunity, if you get chicken pox you need never fear an attack of shingles.

This is one reason some doctors advocate exposing a child to chicken pox when he is young—not under 1 year, however.

Once exposed, there is an incubation period of 12 to 21 days. Since you may get this disease from close contact with a person four or five days before he himself comes down with it you are never quite sure whom you should avoid.

This is true of most of the so-called diseases of childhood, and this fact is a tremendous help in keeping them going.

In the first two or three days of the disease the victim appears to have a cold. No one can say for sure it is chicken pox.

Then, a rash of little blisters starts to appear and the diagnosis is clear. The lesions usually itch intensely.

Although they won't leave any scar unless they become secondarily infected with pus-forming germs, it is hard to keep this from happening.

There are rarely any other complications and your doctor can help you prevent your child from getting these scars.

It is important to keep the child clean and to ally the itching. A daily tub bath using baking soda or a starch that dissolves in warm water will help.

This can be followed by an application of calamine lotion. You should also keep the child's fingernails cut short and, if necessary, tie mittens on his hands. Every scratch may result in a scar.

During the acute stage, it helps to spend as much time with your child as possible so that you can keep him occupied and keep his mind off the itching. Antihistamines given by mouth may help to check the itching.

As the lesions dry, scales form. Later they fall off or are brushed off. These scales are harmless and will not spread the disease.

Q—Is it true that if a baby is born two months ahead of time he may be perfectly formed and weigh 7 pounds at birth?

A—Since estimating the exact length of pregnancy is subject to a variety of errors, we no longer define prematurity in terms of birth weight. The arbitrary dividing line is 5½ pounds. Any baby that weighs more is not premature.

Although a premature baby may appear to be perfectly formed, we know that its respiratory, digestive and muscular systems are not as well developed as those of a full-term baby.

Canadian Church To Sponsor Fiesta

CANADIAN (Sp) — The annual Mexican Fiesta sponsored by the Sacred Heart Catholic Church of Canadian will be held Feb. 27 at the City Hall.

The market place will be open from noon until 7 o'clock and will feature the continuous serving of Mexican dinners, a dart throw and other games, a fancy work booth, photo booth and a surprise package booth.

Miss Dolores Gutierrez will be crowned Fiesta Queen by Mayor Glenn Riley in a colorful coronation program at 8 o'clock in the evening. Miss Gutierrez will be attended by the following princesses and escorts: Norene Carr and Dee Alvin Haines, Margaret Miller and Ronnie Briggs, Carol Ann Carr and Harold Haines, Mary Ann Ortega and Robert-Ezell.

Both the coronation ceremony and the program is free to the public and everyone is cordially invited to attend. The program Dixie Flowers and Bob Hext will be followed by a public and Dora Mae Hext and Bill dance.

Muir. The princesses will be escorted by Steve Guerrero to their escorts. Connie Ann Sessions will be crown bearer and Robert Carr and Robert Gutierrez will be page boys.

Besides the coronation ceremony there will be a program of dance and vocal numbers. Glennette Dawkins of Pampa and Donna Glass of McLean will dance "Chicago." Mrs. Majaunta Hills of Pampa will present two novelty vocal numbers. Miss Dawkins will dance "Gitanerias" and the "Mexican Hat Dance." Miss Glass will do a tap dance, "Terrido." Frances Lopez of Canadian and Joe Mark Ybarra of Shattuck, Okla., will be featured in some Mexican dance numbers. Mrs. Jack Edwards of Pampa will be the pianist.

Both the coronation ceremony and the program is free to the public and everyone is cordially invited to attend. The program Dixie Flowers and Bob Hext will be followed by a public and Dora Mae Hext and Bill dance.

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities. We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Stamp Them 'Cancelled'

The folks living in Mud Lick, Kentucky; Homy Falls, West Virginia; and Honey Grove, Pennsylvania, all have one thing in common—a fourth-class post office.

The days as well as the Zip Codes of these offices may be numbered. The Post Office Department is studying the possibility of eliminating some of the 9,900 fourth-class facilities in country stores, crossroads garages, and old railroad stations. The Department promises that the small offices will be closed only when patrons can be offered equivalent of better services.

But nothing really can replace the atmosphere of a post office in a corner of a rural store. Patrons call to pick up their mail—and the latest gossip. Idlers gather around a pot-bellied stove or, in recent years, an electric heater. Small boys tentatively study "wanted" posters, hoping. Day-old chicks peep from perforated cartons. A bank of brass lock boxes creates an air of inviolable security.

The postmaster is a man of standing in his town—officially certified by the United States Government for ability, integrity, and prudence. Moreover, he is the kind of man who when asked, "What's your price on five-cent stamps today?" will respond, "Ten for fifty cents today. You want to take 'em with you or lick 'em here?"

Young Abraham Lincoln, with his fund of stories and unassailable honesty, was eminent-ly qualified for the postmaster-ship he held in New Salem, Illinois, from 1833 to 1836. Lincoln supposedly got the position because his predecessor was more interested in selling liquor than distributing mail.

Lincoln ran the office informally. He kept the postal cash in an old blue sock hidden in a wooden chest beneath the counter, and used his hat as a mail pouch when he personally delivered important letters.

Lincoln's home state, Kentucky, has some 1,080 fourth-class post offices, more than any other state. Typical of the stations is the one in Cropper, Kentucky, a village of some 200 in Shelby County. A partitioned section of a one-room store, heated by a coal stove, serves as the office.

"No problem in keeping busy," said Mrs. Robert Christie, the postmistress for 22 years. "The folks are real good about picking up their mail every day, but sometimes folks will get some chicks and forget to come after them."

Some marginal fourth class offices already have been closed. They include facilities serving 40 families at Jollytown, Pennsylvania, once an oil boom town, and Chauncey, New York, where the Government paid $6.13 a month rent for a ramshackle, 19th-century railroad station.

The now-closed fourth-class office at Kinestra, Mississippi, was in a weathered shack aboard a cypress log raft on the Mississippi River. A line attached to a huge oak secured the Government's floating asset.

A postal inspector recalled that it was "a real adventure a safari" to inspect the raft. Even a light rain converted the land approach to impassable gumbo, and a boat was needed to reach the hut. Once there, inspectors often found it sticky-business to fulfill one vital duty—counting the stamps. They were usually stuck together by the humidity.

Suppose There Was A Choice

Playing the numbers game with medicare—or which would you choose if you had a choice?

A few more facts on medicare—that misnamed plan for hospital insurance for the aged under Social Security—continue to filter out of Washington as congressional hearings approach on this No. 1 plank in the Great Society.

It's now reported that a wage earner drawing $5,600 a year or more will pay $25.10 annually into a special Social Security medicare fund. His employer will pay a like amount. Since the employer has to pass this amount on to his employee, either in lower wages or inflated prices for his product, let's be honest and say it will cost the employee $50.20 a year. Barring increases in the deduction rate, (Who ever heard of such a thing?) a young man starting to work at 21 will pay into the SS medicare fund a total of $2,208 before he reaches the age of 65 and become eligible for any benefits.

Suppose (dreamer!) that he had a choice of what to do with this $50 a year for 44 years. Local life insurance people tell us that amount of money would buy the holder an endowment policy that would pay him $2,807 in cash at age 65 as well as protecting him with that amount of insurance during the life of the policy.

Or, he might stash it away in a savings & loan each year. We're told that this, at 4 1/2 percent interest compounded semi-annually, would leave him with $6,685 on deposit at age 65.

So, which would you prefer:

1. Social Security hospital insurance that provides benefits only if you live to be 65 and require hospitalization after that.

2. Life insurance that protects you throughout your working life and leaves you with a cash nest egg of $2,807 at 65.

3. A sort of extended Christmas Savings plan that would provide you with $6,685 to do with as you like at the age of 65.

As we said before, the intimate details of a medicare plan that provides no medical care—only hospital or nursing home care for limited periods—are beginning to filter out of Washington.

Texas Sen. Ralph Yarborough, in trying to explain the bill in his newsletter recently only succeeded in mystifying us further.

After writing about the limited benefits provided for those over 65, the senator inserts this most lucid paragraph:

"To provide coverage for medical expenses NOT INCLUDED IN THE PLAN (the caps are ours), the bill authorizes the creation of an association of private insurance carriers to sell, ON A NON-PROFIT BASIS, approved policies covering these additional health costs. This provision should be a real boon to the private insurance industry, in addition to fulfilling a necessary and valuable role supplementary to the main program."

Now just how, we'd like to ask the senator, are the insurance people going to enjoy a "real boon" out of selling something on a non-profit basis that they've already been selling at a profit for many years?

Typing—Boon to Study

Any idea that may help children learn more, learn it faster and like it is worth looking into in this day of "exploding knowledge."

Back in 1959, three major universities — Columbia University Teachers College, Boston University and the University of Illinois — tested what effect typewriters might have on the educational achievement of elementary school students.

With a grant from a typewriter manufacturing firm (Royal), which provided manual portable machines, studies were conducted with 900 fourth and fifth grade pupils in 36 classrooms in seven cities. The results showed that the kids took to the typewriters eagerly, that the quality and quantity of their work improved and that their reading, spelling and vocabulary achievement was greater than that of pupils without typewriters.

A recent follow-up study of some of the children who were matched with a control group of nontyping children indicates that this generally superior achievement has been maintained over the past five years.

One surprising bonus that may allay the fears of traditionalists: Handwriting of the students actually improved because of the typing experiment.

Editor:

In announcing as a candidate for City Commissioner for a third term, I think the people are entitled to know what my platform will be, if elected.

1—I believe it would be wise to defer building any water filtration plant for the Canadian River project until water is available, and particularly until we have a sale for such water.

Your question may be, do we not have to buy the water to pay our part on the project? No, we are going to have to pay, water or no water, ONCE the water is ready. Another question. What if we should suddenly have a demand for water in the millions of gallons, and did not have a filter plant? We can supply millions of gallons of water from our existing wells, for a long time, at least until we could see that happy day when some customers apply for more than "many" millions.

A comparison could be that merchants are stocking few items of clothing to be worn on Mars, at this time.

2—Harvester St. should be surfaced to enable our equipment to get to the City dump grounds and the new disposal plant to be constructed soon. Our city equipment is costing lots of money in travel, and many man hours are wasted in routing back thru town.

A summer water ordinance probably will be passed before the present commission retires. I think it will provide more water at the same cost to the home user. Big users would not feel any benefits. It may provide, for example, getting six or more thousand gallons, for the present price of three thousand.

3—The highway program is of the utmost importance. If we do not take care of this matter soon, we are going to be hurt, badly. Also something must be done to make North Hobart St. safe.

4—Much re-working of our unpaved streets is needed in all four wards, and particularly in Wards three and four. We now have a good supply of gravel, and perhaps, can get along with more of this work.

5—The City should do its own paving. We have had only one bidder on all paving jobs for a long time. That way we can have the City crew pave smaller amounts, and do it much cheaper. The initial cost would not be great, and would soon pay for itself. This has been a difficult problem. Bidders are not interested in small amounts, and the way we have been doing it, leaves the City holding the financial "sack," anyway.

So actually we are in the business financially but not operationally. If we were really growing and had a great deal of paving going, we naturally could depend on private industry better. Private industry in Pampa does not seem to care for "piecework" or perhaps we should say "patchwork."

6—The City should investigate the possibility of "salvaging" the tin cans at the dumpgrounds. We cannot get a bidder, so far. There is a source of some good revenue there, if handled right.

Comment — I honestly believe that this and more can be done, without a raise in taxes, except for highways. I know of some place where money will be available by cutting down on some unneeded matters, which I am sure the City Manager can locate in the next budget. Who ever serves on that commission will surely be willing to help.

I can't promise that I will be less troublesome in the future than in the past. I want to know what is going on, and if I think it is right I will help. If I think it is wrong, I will protest.

I will always be trying to do my best, and will perhaps make some more mistakes. For better or worse, this is what I believe. The next two years are going to be crucial ones. The City is "pulling out" and any commission will need the help of all the people. We hope the Commission will deserve such help.

McNamara Faces Critical Congressional Quizzing On Viet Nam Statements on Defending Bases, Retaliation

ROBERT ALLEN

WASHINGTON — Defense Secretary McNamara is facing sharp congressional grilling on two increasingly controversial questions:

—His contention that U. S. bases, barracks and other installations in South Viet Nam cannot be effectively protected from Communist attacks.

—The value and still-to-be fully-revealed results of "controlled" retaliatory air strikes at North Viet Nam targets.

Both policies are under mounting criticism, particularly in military quarters. Members of the powerful House Armed Services Committee have received numerous letters caustically challenging McNamara's views and pronouncements.

As a consequence, Representative Mendel Rivers, D-S. C., chairman, has summoned McNamara for comprehensive questioning on South Viet Nam operations.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff also will be interrogated. They will be heard after McNamara testifies. The military leaders reportedly are at variance with him on these and other South Viet Nam issues, and will be asked about that.

Representative Rivers also is deliberating sending a special subcommittee to South Viet Nam for a first-hand study of security and "controlled" air strikes.

Decision on this awaits the outcome of the forthcoming hearings. However, considerable sentiment already exists among committeemen for an on-the-spot survey in addition to ascertaining the positions of McNamara and the Joint Chiefs.

One important reason for this is his soft-pedaled announcement that 500 combat troops are being sent to South Viet Nam expressly for guard purposes.

This is a slight reversal from his previous stand. The Joint Chiefs have repeatedly urged that a Marine division be assigned this function. McNamara is still turning a deaf ear to that. But he is airlifting the equivalent of a battalion of Army military police to act as guards, principally for the HAWK ground-to-air missiles being installed at U.S. bases.

UNANSWERED QUERY — President Johnson himself was pointedly questioned at a meeting with top congressional leaders, about McNamara's controversial security views.

"Secretary McNamara characterized the attack at Pleiku as a sneak attack," said Senate Republican Leader Everett Dirksen, Ill. "What baffles me is how there can be a surprise sneak attack if the troops are on the alert."

"Our forces are stretched pretty thin in South Viet Nam," replied the President slowly, "and it's difficult to protect them. That's what McNamara tells me."

"Mr. President," remarked another leader coolly, "maybe this is a job for the Joint Chiefs of Staff rather than the Secre-

The Almanac

Today is Sunday, Feb. 21, the 12nd day of 1964 with 313 to follow.

The moon is approaching its last phase.

The morning star is Mars.

American educator Alice Freeman Palmer was born on this date in 1852.

On this day in history:

In 1848, Congressman John Quincy Adams, former president, collapsed on the floor of the House of Representatives. He died two days later.

In 1868, President Andrew Johnson ordered Secretary of War Edwin Stanton to vacate his office.

In 1885, the Washington Monument was dedicated after 37 years of construction.

In 1963, 250 persons were an earthquake rocked north-east Libya.

A thought for the day — President Theodore Roosevelt once said: "No man is justified in doing evil on the ground of expediency."

correctness of McNamara's answers are based upon 37 years of military experience in the Army, some of which was acquired as a corps commander directing anti-guerrilla operations in South Korea in January and February of 1951. There are many high-ranking officers in the Pentagon today who were with me on those occasions who could testify to the correctness of my opinions.

"Not only do I not believe the analysis of Mr. McNamara, but I am convinced by the examples we saw of his methods, and the answers he gave, that the leaders of the armed services are captive to the secretary of defense in giving to the public what these officers actually believe.

"Also I urge that your committee insist that the President, who orders our military advisers to South Viet Nam, provide the defensive fire protection which Secretary McNamara considers so impossible."

NO LET-UP—Justice Department insiders are hinting there is bad news for teamster boss James Hoffa in President Johnson's elevation of Nicholas Katzenbach to Attorney General. They are saying he firmly intends to pursue the policy of his former boss, "Bobby" Kennedy, in pressing prosecution against the often-tried Hoffa. . . . Also being pointed out as significant on that is Katzenbach is retaining Kennedy's lieutenants in his vigorous anti-Hoffa drive, and that President Johnson drove to the Justice Department to personally attend Katzenbach's swearing-in. . . . Hoffa agents have been putting out reports that Johnson would put the quietus on the anti-Hoffa drive, that he disapproved of it and would end it. Instead, he not only installed Katzenbach as Attorney General but went out of the way to personally witness his taking the oath. It looks like Hoffa is in for more legal battling.

Memoirs of a Superfluous Man (The republication is by Regency Co., 114 W. Illinois St., Chicago 10, Ill.; $5.95.)

"Our Enemy, The State"—published during the early thirties—ranks as one of history's most penetrating studies of the tyranny of political power. Less known—but equally penetrating—is Nock's last work, "Memoirs of a Superfluous Man."

Originally published in 1943, "The Memoirs" reveal Nock's brilliant insight into natural law which runs as a historical current through civilizations. Nock saw clearly where the collectivist trend was taking us. It is fortunate that he cared little who agreed with him, for few did.

Order Beneath Confusion Now "The Memoirs" have been republished and civilization has a second opportunity to heed Albert J. Nock's insight. Beneath today's incredible confusion and absurdity, Nock saw "a spectacle of majestic and necessary order . . . there never was, never is, and never shall be, any disorder in nature."

Gullible Citizens "Aside from this negative result, I saw that our system had achieved a positive result. If it had done nothing to raise the general level of intelligence, it had succeeded in making our citizenry much more easily gullible. . . . By being inured to taking as true whatever he read in his schoolbooks and whatever his teachers told him, he is bred to a habit of unthinking acquiescence, rather than to an exercise of such intelligence as he may have.

"One would have to go a long way to find a boy or girl of twenty who does not automatically take for granted that the citizen exists for the State, not the State for the citizen; that the individual has no rights which the State is bound to respect; that all rights are State-created. . . . Such is the power of conditioning inherent in a State-controlled system of compulsory nomenclature."

For those who find exhilaration in fresh thinking, Albert J. Nock's "Memoirs of a Superfluous Man" are tailor-made.

At Bay By Ward Cannel

The Ad Is Great But Is There A Product For It? NEW YORK (NEA) — One of the things about going anywhere, we have found, is that you must always be telling people the name of the place you come from.

Nobody ever seems to care what you did there, or what you intend to do here, or where you expect to go later and what you plan to do there. So if you want to get along, it seems to us, the wisest plan is to find out the best places and then try to come from one of them.

We have no idea why this plan works so well. But it does indeed work. And we mention it because President Johnson is presently trying to get Congress to revise the U. S. Immigration Act, taking it off the basis of where people come from and putting it on the basis of what people can do for this country if admitted.

To our way of thinking, it is a pretty good idea. But it also appears to defy public sentiment. And as Mr. Johnson has never done that before, we have the distinct feeling that public sentiment will have to change. And pretty quick, too, because Mr. Johnson has a very busy week coming up.

The scene is the Gibson 1 Vulpine advertising agency. The gorge rises, Fred Vulpine is seated at his desk, deep in a brown study with white wainscoting, when Charley Gibson enters triumphantly.

GIBSON: Well Fred, I think we've got the account.

VULPINE: But Charley, what do we know about merchandising immigrants?

GIBSON: Easiest thing in the world. No brand names. No interstate regulations. Nothing but a straight image job. Billboards. Car cards. A barrage of 30-second television spots. All we need is an earthy gimmick.

VULPINE: Earthy gimmick? GIBSON: You know, something that stands for the courage and indomitable spirit that made this country what it is. Maybe a head shot of the Statue of Liberty with some words coming out of her mouth.

VULPINE: (Thinking) How about, "Give me your huddled masses yearning to breathe free."

GIBSON: Come on Fred. Be serious. What kind of an image is that for an immigrant? We are selling the kind of people who made this country great.

VULPINE: But Charley, everybody knows that line about the huddled masses yearning to breathe free. . . .

GIBSON: Of course they do. We used it on that anti-histamine account for two years. Besides, this is a foreign product we're dealing with. You can't sell it on just the basis of utility. Maybe we ought to give it the same campaign we used on the "Dachau."

VULPINE: The "Dachau"? That was a sportscar.

GIBSON: Exactly. We'll make it exciting and chic to be an immigrant. Give me a slogan that makes it chic to be an immigrant.

VULPINE: (Thinking) How about, "It's in to be out."

GIBSON: (Trying it on for size) It's in to be out. Say, that's pretty good. Order some art work while I run it up Pennsylvania Avenue and see if it catches a cold. If they don't like it in Washington, we can always pitch it in Phoenix.

The Nation's Press

FORCED IDLENESS (Christian Economics)

Wherever one goes in this land of the free and home of the brave he hears over and over the same sad story of boys and girls who are eager to work and earn some extra money but are prevented from doing so by a variety of reasons.

(1) Any employer who hired them would be violating the child labor laws.

(2) They have not sufficient skill and experience to earn the minimum hourly wage and no employer dare offer them less.

(3) Payroll deductions for state and federal taxes, Social Security, unemployment benefits and others make it impractical for a would-be employer to hire these boys and girls on a short-time basis.

The result is that millions of young Americans who want to work and for whom jobs are available are prevented from taking them by the several actions of the federal and state governments.

Not being able to find work in or on to college, or to found a family, many of these youngsters are driven into delinquency, vice and crime.

"Satan finds some mischief still for idle hands to do."

Who can say how much of the problems of unemployment and juvenile delinquency are due to the government policy of refusing to allow these young people to work at such wages as might be offered to them by would-be employers? In this case as in nearly all others, government intervention in the economic activities of the people is the main reason for the rising crime rate and the stubborn problems of delinquency, poverty, and unemployment.

matter of fact

The ducking stool was a chair for the punishment of scolds, witches and prostitutes, used in England at the beginning of the 19th Century. A strongly made wooden armchair, in which the culprit was seated, was fastened to a long wooden beam fixed as a saw upon the edge of a pond or a river.
