SHOOTING SUSPECT — Thomas Hagan, 22, is carried away by police who rescued him from savage beating following the murder of black nationalist leader Malcolm X in New York. Hagan was attacked by some of Malcolm's followers moments after the latter was shot down as he addressed a rally. Hagan was charged with homicide.

Muslim Mosque Guttered by Fire

NEW YORK (UPI)—A three-alarm fire early today gutted the Black Muslim mosque in Harlem's Negro ghetto which once served as a headquarters for assassinated Black Nationalist leader Malcolm X.

Police said one fireman was injured seriously and four other firemen and one civilian were also hurt.

The blaze shattered the fourth-floor mosque at Lexox Avenue and 116th Street about 1:25 a.m. CST — 10 minutes after four policemen guarding the building said they heard "an explosion" and "saw an orange glow" reflected off the fourth-floor ceiling.

The patrolmen summoned assistance and quickly searched the surrounding area. They saw nothing, they reported. By then flames had engulfed the top floor of the building.

Ambulances were rushed to the scene, which was under police guard because of Sunday's gunning-down of Malcolm in a ballroom not far from the mosque. Police suspect the Black Muslims, whom Malcolm led in New York before severing ties with them last March, are responsible for the assassination.

Strong Winds Kick Up Snow, Dust in Panhandle

A vicious blast of arctic air exploded out of the Midwest early today bringing blizzard-like conditions to Pampa and the Panhandle.

The Amarillo weather bureau issued hazardous driving warnings for the Panhandle and said Pampans could expect two inches of snow to accumulate by tomorrow morning.

Light snow began falling early today in Pampa and over most of the Panhandle, and winds which gusted up to 50 miles an hour kicked up dust and sliced visibility to one-half mile.

The fast-moving frigid mass of air quickly suspended the spring-like temperatures in Pampa. The mercury rose to a high of 61 degrees yesterday afternoon.

The overnight minimum was 12 degrees—which was the reading at dawn.

By tomorrow the cold air was expected to cover all the state, but warmer weather was in sight for the end of the week.

The weather bureau predicted a high in the mid 20s today and a low tonight in the upper teens.

The front did not take long to reduce temperatures. The thermometer read 46 degrees in Pampa at 2 a.m., but three hours later it was 26.

The storm slammed into Texas after dumping snow from the Great Lakes to Oklahoma. The front knocked temperatures down to as low as 15 degrees below zero over the Dakotas, Minnesota and extreme northern Nebraska.

Snow, Fog and Dust

Winds gusting to 53 miles an hour whipped snow, fog and dust into a stinging, blinding mixture that cut visibility to a half-mile at Amarillo. Dust cut Children's visibility to one-mile. Reese Air Force Base west of Lubbock reported two-mile visibility.

South of the front, skies were cloudy and temperatures mild with some light drizzle in central sections. But there was no rainfall of consequence, the U.S. Weather Bureau said.

Forecasters said the cold front would continue steadily southward with scattered rain ahead of it changing to a mixture of rain and snow behind the front in northern sections. The snow was expected to diminish tonight in the Panhandle and come to an end tomorrow morning.

Trustees Are Asked To Consider Request By C of C Directors

Trustees of the M. K. Brown Foundation, Inc., were requested yesterday in an official resolution by Chamber of Commerce directors to "give serious consideration" to use of Foundation funds for construction of a community auditorium in Pampa.

The resolution was adopted during the monthly directors' meeting yesterday in Coronado Inn.

It was officially presented to the three foundation trustees by E. L. Green, chamber president, yesterday afternoon.

After discussing the resolution with the trustees, Green said, "They appeared very enthusiastic about such a project and indicated a favorable attitude."

Green said he also was told by the trustees that an answer to the resolution would be forthcoming within the near future.

The M. K. Brown Foundation, Inc., was set up in the will of the late Pampa pioneer, M. K. Brown. Named as trustees were Pampa attorneys, Thomas L. Wade, Arthur M. Teed and William J. Smith.

The resolution reads:

"The Pampa Chamber of Commerce, acting through official resolution of its board of directors, requests that you, in your capacity as trustees of the M. K. Brown Foundation, Inc., give serious consideration to the use of the Foundation funds to construct a community auditorium in the city of Pampa."

"As you are aware, there is a great need in this community for such an auditorium. No present facilities exist in Pampa or in Gray County which adequately substitute for such a building and frequent resort must be made to public school auditoriums, church buildings and similar meeting places for all types of public meetings, cultural functions and public entertainment. None of these facilities were designed for, nor can they be expected to fulfill, these functions.

"We believe that by using Foundation funds to construct a community auditorium that more people over a longer period of time will derive a direct benefit from such an auditorium than through any comparable use of such funds in some other project. Based on our personal acquaintance with an observation of the late M. K. Brown, we know that he had expressed an interest in a community auditorium and we feel that such a project would be in full accord with his wishes. We

Dodd Says U.S. Must Maintain Forces in Viet

WASHINGTON (UPI)— Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., said today that an American defeat in South Viet Nam would mean a Communist "massacre of innocents" throughout Southeast Asia.

Dodd, a close friend of President Johnson, sharply criticized proposals for U.S. withdrawal from Viet Nam in a 30-page speech prepared for Senate delivery. It seemed certain to fire up the Senate's Viet Nam policy debate.

Sens. Frank Church, D-Idaho, and George S. McGovern, D-S.D., triggered the first round of the policy discussion last week when they urged consideration of a negotiated settlement in Viet Nam.

Dodd labeled such proposals part of a "new isolationism" stemming from a "national weariness with cold war burdens." He called, instead, for steps to win the anti-Communist war in Viet Nam without major escalation and said suggestions of a pull-back amounted to appeasement.

For the Vietnamese people, Dodd said, the first consequence of an American defeat would be "a bloodletting on a genocidal scale." He said the 1-million refugees from Red North Viet Nam and the peasants who have resisted the Viet Cong guerrillas would be at the mercy of the Communists.

"And the massacre of innocents in Viet Nam will be repeated in every Southeast Asian country that falls to communism in its wake, in a gigantic bloodletting that will dwarf the agony and suffering of the war in Viet Nam," he said.

"Whether we decide to abandon Southeast Asia to try to draw another line outside Viet Nam, the loss of Viet Nam will result in a dozen more Viet Nams in different parts of the world.

"If we cannot cope with this type of warfare in Viet Nam, the Chinese Communists will be encouraged in the belief that we cannot cope with it anywhere else."

Forced Pooling Bill Gets Tentative Okay by House

AUSTIN (UPI)—The Texas House of Representatives tackled the ticklish subject of women's rights today after a day-long hassle Monday resulting in tentative passage of the "forced pooling" bill for oil and gas.

House members were prepared to debate a constitutional amendment which would grant women certain rights which they presently are denied in business transactions.

A similar measure in the Senate, sponsored by Sen. Bill Moore of Bryan, met floor opposition and was tabled, apparently permanently.

Tonight, the Senate Committee on Constitutional Amendments holds hearings on amendments which would:

—Take the state out of the ad valorem tax field, approved by Gov. John Connally and authored by Sen. Franklin Spears of San Antonio.

—Create a Texas industrial loan fund to encourage new industrial development in Texas, by Sen. Martin Dies Jr. of Lufkin.

—Extend and expand the veteran's loan program, by Sen. Criss Cole of Houston.

The forced pooling debate Monday in the house lasted all day, mostly centering around 12 proposed amendments. Rep. Wayne Gibbons of Breckenridge, sponsoring the bill, said it assures that every landowner "shall have the opportunity to produce or receive his fair share of the oil or gas in that reservoir."

Rep. Bill Hollowell of Grand Saline voiced disapproval of the measure. He called it "a bill authorizing the stealing of mineral rights, concurring diety on the railroad commission, providing for the confiscation of property, providing for the distribution of campaign funds and... an absurdity."

The measure already has passed the Senate. If the House gives it a final approving vote, as expected later this week, all that will remain will be for Gov. John Connally to sign it into law.

Retired Justice Frankfurter Dies At Age of 82

WASHINGTON (UPI)— Retired Supreme Court Justice Felix Frankfurter, the diminutive immigrant who became one of the giants of American jurisprudence, died Monday at the age of 82.

Frankfurter died at 4:05 p.m. CST at George Washington University Hospital. He was taken there Sunday after the last of a series of heart seizures which forced his reluctant retirement from the bench Aug. 28, 1962. The hospital said death was caused by an acute heart attack.

Mrs. Frankfurter, the former Marion Denman of Longmeadow, Mass., has been an invalid for a number of years and was unable to be at her husband's side when the end came. She was told of his death at their home by hospital physicians. The couple had no children.

President Johnson expressed sorrow at the death of Frankfurter, who he said "did so much to preserve freedom through wise interpretation of the law." Chief Justice Earl Warren called Frankfurter "a great man of the law" who left an indelible stamp on the Supreme Court and on the Constitution.

Frankfurter was a Harvard Law School professor when he was named an associate justice of the Supreme Court by President Franklin D. Roosevelt in (See FRANKFURTER, Page 3)

Work Laws Change Sought by AFL-CIO

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)— The AFL-CIO is about to ask Congress for a second major change in Taft-Hartley law provisions that have irritated unions for many years.

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, says he is confident that Congress will act this year to repeal the federal authorization for state "right to work" laws.

President Johnson has endorsed this change. Now, the union leaders seem determined to push for another revision.

Leaders of building trades and industrial unions appeared close to agreement on legislation to broaden the power to picket construction sites.

The measure would revise Taft-Hartley secondary boycott provisions to ease the present restrictions on picketing where workers in many unions are employed at the same job site.

The newfound unity, achieved quietly behind the scenes at labor meetings here, raised chances of getting the picketing bill through Congress.

The administration has refused to endorse the legislation first advanced a decade ago by the building trades, because of squabbles over its provisions inside the big labor federation.

Industrial unions, under the generalship of auto workers' President Walter Reuther, have been insisting on a broader measure to widen picketing privileges at manufacturing plants, too.

But informed sources said C. J. Haggerty, head of the AFL-CIO Building Trades Department, has worked out a tentative agreement with Reuther so organized labor can present a united front to Congress.

If the agreement is approved finally, the sources said, the AFL-CIO is sure to revive its campaign for the picketing amendment and probably will get Johnson's backing.

U.S. Launches Space Glider

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)— The Air Force rocketed a polka-dot speckled space glider into the sky today for a scorching 13,300 mile an hour flight to an ocean recovery force 2,700 miles away.

The mission, last of six in an Air Force research program called Asset, was designed to help lay the groundwork for future manned space ships that will be able to glide back from space and land at jetports.

The Delta-winged spacecraft began its 30 minute flight atop a Thor-Delta rocket that blasted into a rainy sky at 8:36 a.m. CST.

The rocket's first stage was expected to boost the experimental craft about 39 miles high in nearly three minutes then the second stage was programmed to nose the glider over and give it a push back into earth's atmosphere.

Two recovery ships were standing by in the choppy Atlantic ready to retrieve the 1,100-pound craft after a parachute softens its landing. Four planes carrying paratroopers were expected to fly to the scene once the glider is located.

Council Gives Works Director Salary Hike

Any general salary adjustment for Pampa city employees will have to await action, if any, by the new city commission to be elected April 6.

This was made clear at today's city commission meeting when the matter came up during discussion of the city manager's proposal to raise the salary of the director of public works from $630 to $750 a month.

City Manager Jim White recommended the salary increase for Public Works Director R. B. Cooke when he said he learned that Cooke was making the same money as others working for him and in two instances less money than his employees.

The council approved the salary increase and returned Cooke to his post of public works director retroactive to Feb. 15. Cooke has been acting city manager since the retirement of Harold Schmitzer Jan. 1.

The vote for the change was 2 to 1 in favor of the increase.

MARCHES CALLED OFF

King Plans Legal Stand in Selma

By United Press International

Negro leaders at Selma, Ala., have decided to make a legal rather than physical stand against a state ban on night marches.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. made the decision Monday night following a long meeting with attorneys. About 800 Negroes waited in a church, prepared to march if King had so ordered. Thirty-five carloads of state troopers stood ready to enforce the ban.

King said, however, he would lead a march just before dusk Wednesday, and that demonstrations would be held at the capitol in Montgomery, Ala., within a few days to tell Gov. George Wallace "we aren't going to take it anymore."

Wallace slapped a ban on night marches as a result of a march in Marion, Ala., last Thursday night in which a Negro was critically shot and 10 others injured.

Earlier Monday, King led about 200 Negroes on a march to the Dallas County Courthouse in Selma in another protest of voter registration procedures.

While King was meeting with his lawyers Monday night, former Mississippi Gov. Ross Barnett told a citizens council meeting in Selma that the goal of integration was to "diffuse our blood, confuse our minds and degrade our character as a people."

In New York City, extra police details moved into Harlem Monday to avert possible violence. There were reports that followers of assassinated Negro extremist Malcolm X were setting up ambush executions for Black Muslim leaders they blame for his death. Malcolm X was shot to death by at least three Negroes while he addressed a rally in Harlem Sunday. One of the accused assassins was captured.

Malcolm's half sister, Mrs. Ella Mae Collins, vowed in Boston that "he will be avenged."

In Chicago, Black Muslim leader Elijah Muhammad said his followers were innocent of the slaying of Malcolm X, whom, Muhammad said, preached war and "died according to his preaching."

Elsewhere:

Atlanta: The new Gateway Cafeteria, formerly operated by segregationist Lester Maddox as the Pickrick served a Negro customer without incident Monday. Maddox leased the place rather than integrate it.

Birmingham, Ala.: Dr. Lucius Pitts, president of Miles (Negro) College, Monday, called on Negroes and whites to join to end racial discrimination so the southland could progress in all directions.

McDonald Hopes for Early Steel Talks

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—David J. McDonald, whose future as president of the United Steelworkers union (USW) is being determined by a ballot count this week, hoped today for an early resumption of contract negotiations with the steel industry.

But he discounted any discussion of extending the present basic steel contracts as "premature and prejudicial."

McDonald's remarks were prompted by a statement issued at Miami Beach Monday by AFL-CIO President George Meany at a news conference. The labor leader said an extension of the contract beyond the May 1 deadline "makes sense."

The steel industry had expressed a similar sentiment earlier. It had appealed to the USW twice for a contract extension in view of a recess called for the union elections. But each time the request was ignored by the union.

Informed of Meany's remarks, McDonald said he "intended to contact the steel industry leaders in the very near future to arrange for the resumption of collective bargaining."

The vote tally in the election contest between McDonald and USW Secretary-Treasurer I. W. Abel began Monday. Results of the Feb. 9 election may not be known for weeks.

Wayne Antrim, of Hammond, Ind., chairman of the three-member International Teller Committee which is supervising the tabulation at the downtown headquarters of the union, said the counting was progressing slowly and may take a "number of weeks."

Latin America Pleased With Mann Selection

By JACK BRANNON
BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—Latin American governments appear generally pleased with the promotion of Thomas C. Mann to the No. 3 job in the State Department.
 Mann, a native of Laredo, was promoted last week to undersecretary of state for economic affairs, replacing W. Averell Harriman who became an ambassador-at-large.
 President Johnson chose Jack Hood Vaughn, the ambassador to Panama, as Mann's replacement in the dual role of assistant secretary of state for Inter-American affairs and U. S. coordinator for the Alliance for Progress.
Ex-Peace Corps Aide
 Vaughn was previously assistant director of the Peace Corps in Latin America.

All Latin American governments have refrained from official comment on the State Department changes. But high representatives in several governments replied unofficially to a United Press International survey.

Many of the officials had never heard of Vaughn. A reaction typical of those who had, was that of a Peruvian who said he doubted that Vaughn would ever have the influence that Mann had with Johnson.

In Brazil, the promotions of both men were loudly applauded after six days of silence. "Vaughn should be a good man for the job," a Foreign Ministry spokesman said, "and we think that Mann's experience in Latin American affairs will be of great use to him in his new post."

One Critical
 In Chile, officials did not know Vaughn, but one was critical of Mann.

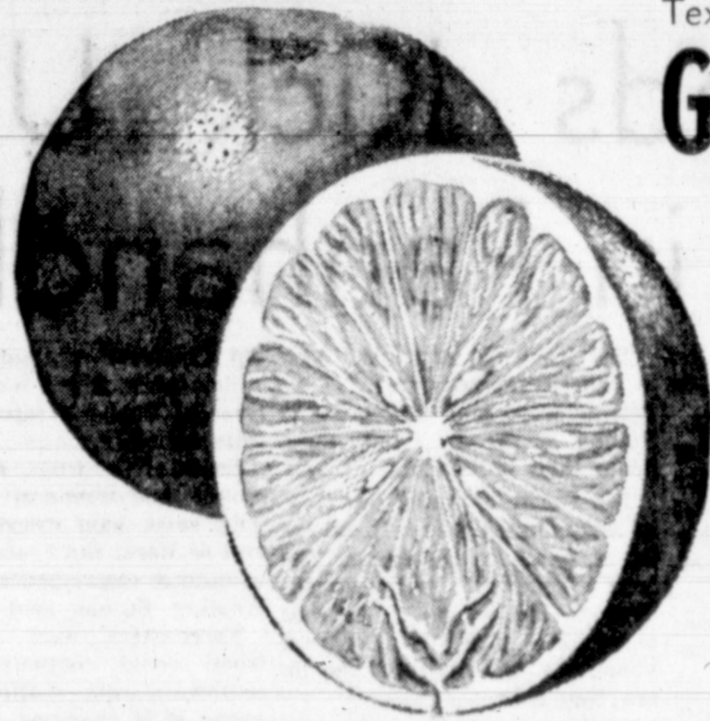

"He considers all Latin America as one big Mexico," the official said. Mexico is where Mann had most of his Latin American experience.

One Latin American diplomatic source summed up the opinion. "Many did not like Mann but all respected him," he said. "Vaughn, however, must remain a question mark for us for the time being."

Mrs. D'Way Wilson
Funeral services for Mrs. D'Way Wilson, 77, of 1325 Coffee, will be conducted at 3 p.m. tomorrow from the First Baptist Church in Chillicothe. Interment will follow in Chillicothe Cemetery.

Mrs. Wilson was born Sept. 26, 1887, in Cleburne. She died at 5:05 p.m. yesterday in a local hospital.

Mrs. Wilson moved to Pampa in 1960 from Vernon. She was a member of Pampa First Baptist Church and was a past patron of the Order of Eastern Star in Chillicothe.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Jim Poole of Pampa and Mrs. Lloyd Russell of Waco; one son, Quincy Wilson Jr. of Alvin; one sister, Mrs. Maude Schulkey of Pampa; three brothers, Blair Williams of El Cajon, Calif., W. E. Williams and Kirby Williams, both of Chillicothe, three grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Ovie Faye Porterfield
Funeral services for Mrs. Ovie Faye Porterfield, 19, 618 Carr, will be held at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow from First Baptist Church with Rev. E. Douglas Carver officiating. Interment will follow in Groom Cemetery under direction of Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home.

Mrs. Porterfield was born Nov. 11, 1945, in Woodward, Okla. She died as the result of injuries received in an automobile accident early yesterday morning on the Freeway in Wichita Falls.

Mrs. Porterfield had lived most of her life in Pampa. She married Clifford Porterfield Jr. Dec. 26, 1964. Mrs. Porterfield was a member of First Baptist Church.

Survivors include her husband, Clifford Porterfield Jr. of the home; her mother, Mrs. J. E. Smith of Pampa; two sisters, Mrs. Ella Long of Pampa and Mrs. Catherine S. Chambers of Longview, and one brother, Jack Smith of Pampa.

Mrs. Ella G. Haley
Rosary will be said at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church for Mrs. Ella G. Haley, 80.

Mrs. Haley was born Oct. 2, 1884, in Cleveland, Ohio. She died at 7:40 a.m. today in her home at 1013 Mary Ellen.

Funeral mass will be said by Rev. William Brennan, C.M., at 10 a.m. Thursday in St. Vincent de Paul.

Mrs. Haley moved to Pampa from Okmulgee, Okla., in 1935. She was a member of St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church, Altar Society, Parish Council of Catholic Women and Household of Martha.

Interment, under direction of Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home, will be in Fairview Cemetery beside her husband, William J. Haley, who preceded her in death in 1957. Mr. Haley was a retired pumper for Bill Kelley Oil Co.

Survivors include one son, Bill Haley of Pampa; one daughter, Mrs. Roger F. Williams of Tulsa, Okla., and three grandchildren.

Palbearers will be Ed Daley, Tom Wade, Ham Waddell, Bob Sanford, O. E. Chenoweth, Paul Keim, Joe Gribbon and Tom Braly.

PROTEST REGULATIONS
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Drug manufacturers have protested new government regulations to prevent penicillin "contamination" of other drugs.

Dr. Austin Smith, president of the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association, said in a letter to the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) its order could not be enforced practically.

In issuing the order, the FDA said that traces of penicillin which get into other drugs when they are manufactured in the same plant could have serious consequences for persons who suffer severe reactions to the antibiotic. Smith said he knew of no such case on record.

Police Maintaining Tight Guard Around Home of Sect's Leader

CHICAGO (UPI)—Police maintained a tight guard around the home of Black Muslim "prophet" Elijah Muhammad today even though the aging leader of the black supremacy cult shrugged off any danger to his life.

Black Muslim leaders could not be reached for comment about the fire in one of their New York City mosques early today which injured several persons.

It was the assassination in New York Sunday of Malcolm X, one-time heir apparent to Muhammad, that touched off reports that some of Malcolm's followers were headed for Chicago to avenge their leader's death.

New York police said the Black Muslims had a hand in the assassination, but Muhammad, in a rare news conference Monday, denied his sect had any connection with the shooting of the former Muslim leader.

"We are innocent of his death," Muhammad said. "Therefore I don't care whether 600 to 6,000 are on their way here to get revenge. It is an unjust thing even to think about."

He did say, however, the Muslims "already are taking steps" to investigate the shooting of Malcolm. "So far we have gotten nowhere," he said. Muhammad was dressed in a navy blue suit and black velvet skull cap for the interview. He sat in a French provincial stuffed chair and answered questions in a soft, controlled voice.

"Malcolm died according to his preaching," Muhammad said. "He seems to have taken weapons as his god. He preached war. We preach peace. We couldn't tolerate a man like that."

Malcolm, the headliner at several national Black Muslim meetings and the No. 2 man in the cult, split with the Muslims late in 1963 and founded his own Black Nationalist group last year.

Frankfurter
1939. When he retired 23 years later, the then secretary of labor, Arthur J. Goldberg, succeeded him.

Born in Vienna, Nov. 15, 1892, Frankfurter spoke no English when he came to the United States with his parents in 1894. Bill he managed to work his way through the College of the City of New York (CCNY) and Harvard Law School a few years later.

After graduation from Harvard, he served for a time as an assistant U. S. attorney for New York City, legal trouble-shooter for the Interior Department and Harvard law professor before becoming chairman of the War Labor Board during World War I. He accompanied President Woodrow Wilson to the Versailles peace conference in 1919.

During the 1920s, Frankfurter, back at Harvard, was regarded as a flaming liberal. He fought bitterly but unsuccessfully to prevent the execution of Sacco and Vanzetti.

Mayor H. R. Thompson said he thought the present commission should not go into any general salary adjustment project.

"This would require a great deal of study," Thompson said. "I don't think we should saddle the next commission with any controversial problems."

Mayor Thompson said he thought the present commission should carry on just its routine work during the remainder of its term.

The council approved a trade of land on N. Hobart St. with C. P. Buckler. The city accepted approximately three acres just south of Highland Hospital and agreed to deed to Buckler a small triangular plot on the east side of N. Hobart just west of the N. Somerville dead-end.

The commission also voted to advertise for bids to sell lots 8, 9, 10, 11 and 12 in Block 6 of the North Addition.

An easement was granted to Ray Duncan to use 6 inches of city sidewalk for construction of a stone front to one of his buildings in the 100-block of E. Kingsmill St.

Commissioners Leon Holmes and Dr. M. McDaniel were absent.

Police Seek Clues to Missing Merchandise
Jim Johnson, 1830 N. Faulkner, reported to Pampa police late yesterday that someone had taken $100 worth of merchandise from a building at 1945 N. Hobart.

Johnson told police the merchandise, which included fishing tackle, carpenter tools and camping equipment was taken between 2:30 p.m. Friday and 8 a.m. Monday.

with numerous civic leaders, called the civic auditorium. "One of the greatest needs of Pampa today."

Green said if the trustees give the project their endorsement the next step would be setting into motion preliminary construction plans and selection of a possible site.

At the present time, Pampa's Robert E. Lee Junior High School cafeteria is the largest seating facility in Pampa. It has a capacity of nearly 400.

Any meeting or gathering that requires more than 400 seats, Pampa cannot accommodate it. In 1964, almost 400 persons were on hand for the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet alone.

Duggan Smith, president of the Pampa Jaycees, said last year that Pampa lost a Jaycee convention simply because it did not have an adequate meeting place.

C-C Directors Hear Reports

The regular February directors' meeting of the Chamber of Commerce was held yesterday in the Cibola Room of the Coronado Inn.

Wiley Reynolds, chairman of the agriculture and livestock committee, reported on plans for the Top O' Texas Stock Show scheduled March 8, 9, and 10.

Tom Snow, reporting for the sports committee, said the annual sports banquet will be held March 16, in the High School Fieldhouse. Berl Huffman, member of the coaching staff of Texas Tech, will be the main speaker.

Mack Hiatt, chairman of the retail trade committee, reported plans for a bus trip to Shamrock on St. Patrick's Day, March 17. Local business and civic men were urged to make arrangements to make the trip. A special float carrying Pampa's colleen in the parade is being prepared by the retail trade committee.

Fred Thompson, reporting for the highways and transportation committee, said his group would meet with the city commission Wednesday noon to discuss needed developments within the city on Highways 60, 273, and 152.

Pampa Firemen Answer 3 Calls

Three separate fires yesterday afternoon and evening kept Pampa firemen busy.

The first blaze was reported at 1:45 p.m. at the home of Morris O'Neal, 517 Elm. Firemen said an open flame heater had ignited a baby bed mattress. Damage was confined to the mattress.

At 8:20 p.m., firemen were called 23 miles north of Pampa on Highway 70 when a stack of fence posts caught fire. The blaze started from an unknown cause and destroyed about one-half acre of grassland in addition to the posts.

Slight damage was reported to a boat motor owned by Bobby Shupman from a small blaze. Pampa firemen quickly extinguished the blaze at 9:20 p.m., which started from an unknown cause.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain—without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation 129. At all drug counters.

Foreign News Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM

When the European Common Market came into being on Jan. 1, 1959, the goal of its six founding nations was to weld 100 million people into a powerful economic and political bloc which later would be extended to the whole of Western Europe and 500 million people.

The economic boom which spread through the six nations—West Germany, France, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg—now is established as one of the brightest spots in post World War II history.

No Political Unity

Other goals proved more difficult. Political unity, if it ever is to come, still is years away.

On Jan. 14, 1963, President Charles de Gaulle of France vetoed British entry into the common market and so far as the British were concerned the issue seemed dead, at least for as long as De Gaulle remained alive or in power.

It seemed doubly so after the British Labor party election victory last October. The Laborites had led the opposition at home to British participation in the common market without specific guarantees to British commonwealth nations.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson had said Britain could build a new economy within the framework of the commonwealth.

Talk Revived

It was something of a surprise then that within Britain talk of the common market suddenly revived.

At the common market headquarters in Brussels, the new British Foreign Minister Michael Stewart delivered a strong defense of Britain's right to a place in Europe, coupled with a warning against a "closed shop" among the six which eventually would accentuate Europe's economic and political differences.

Sir Alec Douglas-Home suggested that the Conservatives may make a chief election issue out of another bid for common market entry.

The British are looking hopefully toward the scheduled De Gaulle-Wilson meeting April 1-3. De Gaulle is said to be anxious to remove the chill from French-British relations and to regard increased technical and financial cooperation as a first step.

Putting pressure on De Gaulle is the fact that the French economic surge is losing some of its power and employment is rising.

Financial Gossip

By JESSE BOGUE, UPI Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—While for sheer size, the tax receipts and the expenditures of the federal government overshadow all others, state governments have not been lagging in upping the amount of levies on the taxpayer in the past 15 years.

The Tax Foundation, Inc. in its latest edition of "Facts and figures on government finance," shows that while federal tax receipts have gone up by slightly less than 300 per cent in the 15-year span beginning in 1950 and including 1964, state tax receipts increases have exceeded 300 per cent. Local taxes have kept about the same pace.

Fuel Taxes Jump

A growing automobile population, and the vast spread of truck transportation routes, have made a substantial contribution to coffers of the various state units.

In 1950, according to figures assembled by the foundation from reports to the Department of Commerce and the Bureau of the Census, total state motor fuel sales tax collections (at that time not including Alaska and Hawaii) were $1,544,436,000. By 1964, according to preliminary data, these collections had risen more than 260 per cent to $4,056,665,000.

California Leads

California led all states in collections both at the beginning and the end of the period, and the percentage of increase reflected the western giant's growth in population. Her collections were $137,826,000 in 1950, and are estimated at $448,875,000 for 1964, an increase of more than 325 per cent.

New York's collections rose from $90,095,000 in 1950 to $243,211,000 in 1964 and Pennsylvania went from $100,400,000 in 1950 to $277,302,000 in 1964. Out of the 50 states, 37 reported on collections of general sales taxes, and receipts from this source have risen at the same general level as all taxes.

The states collected $6,113,761,000 in 1964, compared with $1,670,028,000 in 1950.

Six Confederate generals attended the funeral of Gen. U. S. Grant in 1885.

The 'Imp Look' Is Now Bowing In

FOR PETITE GIRLS -- The "Imp Look" for spring puts emphasis on the petite, charm-size girls who wear sizes 3 to 5. Every young lady can imp it up in these fashions designed by Young Naturals. NEW YORK (NEA) -- Last season there were lots of "looks" as fashion knows the word--raffine, ye-ye, discotheque. Some of these will continue into spring, but a fresh new look coming up is the "imp look." What does it mean? Well, it's young, coquettish, pert and playful. Yet it's chic.

(center) is worn over Jamaica shorts. Even the colors have an imp glow--yellow, green, red and white. Single-breasted, multistriped jacket (right) tops smooth fitting slacks. The idea for the whole "Imp Look" was inspired by a new sports car.

There's more behind it than just a look. In fact, it's an exciting new way of dressing that both the young and the young at heart will be eager to try. Most looks come from Paris. But in the case of the Imp, it's strictly American with a dash of the British. A new small car (Rootes Sunbeam Imp) started the whole trend. The name got the nod from fashion designers to nominate the look as an im-

Fathers' Night Is Marked at Austin

Austin P-TA met Thursday at 7 p.m. for Fathers' Night with Mrs. Charles Lanehart, president, presiding. Troop 219 Junior Girl Scouts opened the program for the evening. John McCausland brought the spiritual thought for the evening. Mrs. Robert Corey introduced the program for the evening, the topic being "Together We Help a Child by Stressing the Values of Our American Heritage." The program consisted of a panel discussion by John Brewer, Travis Lively Sr. and Rev. Donald Houck. Business meeting followed the program.

Mrs. Danforth, state P-TA President, will be in Borger March 16. Spring Conference will be held in Shamrock in April. A nominating committee consisting of Mrs. W. C. Puryear, Mrs. Don Nensiel, D. V. Biggers, Mrs. Little was elected. March 15 is Texas Public Schools Week. Everyone was invited to visit school during that week. The new Pro-school Service chairman is Mrs. Bob Price. Room Count was won by the 4th grade. Door prize was won by Mrs. Bob Spert. Announcement was made of the Annual Science Fair to be held March 5 and 6 in the Girls Gymnasium in Pampa High School.

Skellytown P-TA To Elect Officers

SKELLYTOWN (Spl) -- A meeting of Skellytown Parent-Teachers Association was held recently in the school cafeteria. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. C. D. McCloud, who led the group in giving the pledge of Allegiance to the Flag. Mrs. Bill Campbell gave the invocation. Those present voted for send two delegates, Mrs. C. D. McCloud and Mrs. Leroy Snodgrass, to the spring conference which will be held in Shamrock April 13.

A committee was elected to obtain nominations for the 1965-1966 officers. Those on the committee were E. A. McCreary, chairman, Mrs. Billy Stephenson, Buddy Biggers, W. M. Brame and Mrs. Forest Lilly. Several women offered their time and services to stay with the pre-school children during Public Schools Week, March 1-5 from 8:30 a.m. until noon each day, so that the mothers will be free to spend their time in the class rooms with the students. Buddy Biggers, program chairman, introduced the program and the meeting was adjourned while the group went to the gymnasium for the program. Arlin Kaiser, in charge of the second, third and fourth grades as they went through their routine physical education classes.

Moseley spent Wednesday and Thursday with old friends and neighbors. Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Tidwell in Guymon, Okla. Missed Mrs. Ollie Staton this week and understand she was not feeling well. R. W. Tucker was back with us after spending two weeks in Truth or Consequences, N. M. Frank Carter came to the Center this week for the first time and enjoyed a game of forty-two so much we feel sure he will become a regular. Carter's daughter, Mrs. Gladys Hallon, of China Lake, Calif. is here for a visit and visited the Center. Mrs. Hallon's husband is an employee of the research at China Lake, which is located in the desert. Mrs. O. N. Moore was also a visitor from DeLeon, and is visiting Mrs. John Barnes, and always comes when she is in town. J. E. Chayne was also a visitor this week from Chow Chilla, Calif., and is visiting his sister, Mrs. Jessie Fields. Mrs. C. W. Thompson is happy now that Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Jackson and children, Gary and Patricia, have moved over from Amarillo. Mrs. Jackson is Mrs. Thompson's daughter. Congratulations to J. E. Adair who received his 50 year pin from Masonic Lodge NO. 36, at Port Lavaca presented by the Masonic Lodge in Pampa. Adair told us that Port Lavaca is the oldest port in Texas. Guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Adams Sunday were Mrs. Robinson and Mr. Daley of Borger. Guest of Mrs. Lucy Whaley last week was her brother, Dennis Cleveland of Memphis. Mrs. Luda Corruth of Lefors is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Bill Taylor, and other relatives for a few days and took the opportunity to visit the Center this week, as she does occasionally. Always glad to have her, and all the other guests. A birthday card was signed by the Centerites and sent to Mrs. Oscar Frazier. Am sure it will be quite a surprise. Have been thinking for some time of mentioning the careless parking of cars on the west side of the Library where we meet each Thursday and this week it was the worst ever. The cars were parked so far apart, but not quite room for a car between blouses, cropovers in tiers of ruffles in pastel colors. Then there are zip-front jackets over skinny skirts, multistriped single-breasted jackets, wrap-around skirts, sleeveless shifts and a jaunty jumper with box-pleated front and back. Every girl can imp it up in the new fresh sun and fun fashions. They are ready, bright and fresh-looking for any active day. Important one for fashion prominence for spring '65. There will be imp-like fashions cropping up everywhere this season. But the first manufacturer to create an entire collection called "The Imps" designed a handsome group of perky coordinates in an easy-care cotton and polyester blend. There are slacks, short shorts, Jamaicas, loose sleeveless over-

DEAR ABBY: I would like to know what the punishment is for a man and woman who are caught posing as Mr. and Mrs. in California hotels and motels. My husband and his girl friend (who is also married) posed as man and wife in Sacramento, La Jolla and Palo Alto. We have three children. Two are teenagers, and my husband had the nerve to tell our teen-aged boys to stay away from a certain girl because she wasn't "nice." Meanwhile, he travels all over the state of California committing adultery with this tramp. I know I have grounds for divorce, but I would rather stay married to him and put her in prison. Can this be arranged?
NOT FOOLED
DEAR NOT: Unmarried couples posing as man and wife in hotel and motel rooms are law-breakers in every state. The punishment varies, but the publicity and fallout on family and friends is always regrettable. Unless the girl friend kidnapped your husband, the guilt must be equally shared.

DEAR ABBY: I pray that the 14-year-old, "Can't sign my name," heeds your advice and tells her mother or the police before it's too late. I was a widow with two daughters, 8 and 10, when I married what I thought was a fine and honorable man. I found out too late that he had molested my 10-year-old since and if parked properly would have been room for three or four cars. There has been several complaints. Please be more careful.

Mrs. W. R. Hamilton visited her daughter and family in Lubbock. Wayside Club was hostess this week. Serving home made pie and coffee were Mmes. Andy Smith, president, L. H. Green, J. S. Fuqua, Jack Sloan, Jim Green, W. A. Green, Homer Taylor, W. F. Taylor, Clem Reeves and Gus Green. Altrusans present were Mmes. Marie Fitzgerald, chairman, Jay Flannigan, Mabel Hukill and Louise Sewell. Gray Ladies furnishing transportation were Mmes. George Benham, Naoma Gill, Chris Byerly and Jess Hatcher. Door prizes went to Mrs. Garland and Mr. Wolfors.

Buried cable:
$10,000,000 in new life insurance for your telephone this year

Put telephone wires underground and you've put them in a safe place. Safe from wind, rain, hot weather, cold weather, stormy weather. Safer from the slow death of ordinary weathering. Safer from man-caused damage, too. All around safer from the kinds of trouble which most often affect the talkability, hearability and dependability of your phone service. That's why this year Southwestern Bell is spending $10 million buying hundreds of additional miles of telephone cable underground. In effect, buying life insurance for your telephone service. There's another tangible benefit, too. Because of this buried cable construction program, new jobs will be created. Some in the telephone business (which already has 52,179 persons on the payroll), but most important, an estimated 500 new jobs among the hundreds of firms which sell supplies, services and materials to the telephone company. This is a 1965 communications bonus from Southwestern Bell. Part of a massive construction effort (our biggest ever) to make the world's best telephone service even more useful, dependable, convenient and valuable seven days a week, good weather and bad.

SHADES OF THE VINAIGRETTE
Even the most expensive perfume fades after it has been worn for a few hours. It's wise to carry a purse flacon of your favorite perfume when you go out for an evening. Since perfume is your most feminine accessory, it should always be with you.

Now Many Wear FALSE TEETH With Little Worry
Don't walk around in shame without fear of insecure false teeth dropping, slipping or wobbling. FALSE TEETH holds false teeth firmly and more comfortably. This pleasant powder has no lumpy, gooey, nasty taste or feeling. Doesn't cause pain, it's alkaline (non-acid). Checks false teeth odor. Identifies breath. Car Theft Biggest Offense of Juvenile Delinquents

EDITOR'S NOTE: Some experts say if a child can pass age 15 without getting into trouble law and order have scored a triumph. Many youngsters don't and UPI's national reporter discusses them in the following dispatch, second in a series of three.)

By HARRY FERGUSON
UPI National Reporter
WASHINGTON (UPI)—There are some 217,000 persons confined in state and federal prisons and reformatories. Outside there are about a million teenagers who, unless they change their ways, are going to be streaming into prison in the next decade. Juvenile delinquency forms a vast recruiting pool for the criminal population of the United States. Boys go into crime as a career as early as 14 years of age. The U.S. Children's Bureau says if a child can pass age 15 without getting into trouble it is a triumph for law and order. Some 14,000 children under 15 are arrested each year for stealing automobiles. Sixty-three per cent of all persons arrested for auto theft are under 18. Some of the offenses are completely senseless. The Children's Bureau tells about a teenager in Baltimore who got a new sports car as a birthday present. He drove it down the street and spotted an abandoned jalopy parked in an abandoned driveway. He got out of his new sports car and stole the jalopy.

steadily to it. We are not marking time, because in the last decade juvenile delinquency has increased twice as fast as the child population. Shoveling snow and mowing lawns once were popular means for boys to earn pocket money. Too many of them have learned that a blackjack and dark street provide an easier way to do it and with more profitable returns. Who is the juvenile delinquent? In a strict sense of the word almost all of us have been at one time or another. Public nudity is widely held to be an offense, but most boys at some time have plunged unclothed into the old swimming hole. Both boys and girls on Hallows' eve have committed acts that constituted defacement or destruction of property.

Deliberate Choice
Law enforcement officers would be glad to settle for that type of offense. What discourages them is that more children every day deliberately choose crime as a career and apply themselves eagerly to self-education on how to get something for nothing. The FBI statistics: —Persons under age 18 are responsible for 24 per cent of the arrests for aggravated assault. —They are responsible for 18 per cent of the arrests for rape (persons under 21 are responsible for 41 per cent of it). —Persons under 18 are responsible for 11 per cent of the arrests for robbery. —Persons under 18 are responsible for 24 per cent of the arrests for aggravated assault. One form of this is mugging, an offense which is growing and which is frightening citizens in many cities off the streets after dark. And daylight, too, so far as that is concerned. The other day between 8:30 and 9 a. m. a woman was raped in an automobile here in Washington. She said she had screamed for help from passing motorists who ignored her. About a year ago Katherine Genovese was attacked near her home in Kew Gardens, N.Y. About 38 persons heard her crying for help and some of them watched a man stab her several times. Nobody came to her assistance and nobody telephoned for the police until Miss Genovese was dead and her assailant had fled.

Frightening Aspect
Whether the public is frightened or callous is a question we shall leave to the psychologists. The facts are that while juvenile crime is the most frightening aspect of the problem, some progress is being made in other fields of law enforcement. The Justice Department, operating in a comparatively narrow field, has just reported 546 convictions in 1964 in its anti-racketeering campaign. This is an attack on big time gangsters; many of whom have been caught trying to muscle their way into legitimate business. The rate of convictions in 1964 was 100 per cent higher than in the previous year. But that is not the basic problem. Big-time racketeers are a plague to the business community, but they almost never spend time breaking into your house or raping your daughter. And those are the things that have stirred up the nation. (Next: The President calls for action.)

The End of the Large Bomber-Missile Flight

By TOM NOLAN
WASHINGTON (NEA)—Though Defense Secretary Robert McNamara left the door ajar, his decision to phase out the earlier models of the B52 heavy bomber has ended the missile vs. manned bomber controversy — in favor of the missiles.

But the decision to cut the size of the B52 force — once the symbol and most of the muscle of American nuclear power — has virtually ended the ball game. There is no administration plan for a new bomber to replace the B52. And as Defense Department officials bluntly note, "there is not likely to ever be one."

McNamara's decision is not yet iron-clad. Included in the new Defense budget is a $50-million request to develop a powerful jet engine, sophisticated navigation and bombing equipment and a new nuclear tipped air-to-ground missile.

There still will be thousands of pages of testimony taken in the next several years, for the final "Moment of Truth" for the manned bomber won't come until 1967 or 1968. But as one missile expert puts it, the proponents of the bomber "will be just going through the motions."

However, these bomber components could be easily adapted to existing aircraft, such as the B52 or the F111 (TFX) fighter. These components also could be incorporated into a new manned bomber — the only solution satisfactory to the Air Force. It eagerly desires a completely new "advanced manned strategic aircraft" (AMSA) with a range of 10,000 miles and a speed 2½ times that of sound. It is estimated that a fleet of 200 new bombers could be developed in about six years.

McNamara's opposition to a new bomber system is based principally on his belief that missiles are superior to planes in most missions, particularly the "time urgent" and "assured destruction" target categories.

"Time urgent" targets are the enemy's strike forces — missile sites, airfields and submarine pens. In a fast-escalating war, U.S. missiles could reach these targets in about 30 minutes. A long-range bomber's flight time is measured in hours.

"Destruction assured" targets are the enemy's major cities. Nuclear warfare strategists believe the enemy must be made to realize that if he chooses to wage an all-out war he's going to lose his population centers.

The Air Force, acknowledging the potency of missiles, nevertheless contends that the ideal nuclear system should contain bombers, too.

Should the enemy develop an effective anti-missile missile, they argue, the U.S. would need the best possible bombers to survive.

"A bomber force gives us additional insurance that the enemy will not attack us," says an Air Force general. McNamara's answer: "The price of an insurance policy should be less than its face value. Missiles have a substantial cost advantage any way you slice it."

Final decision on the future of manned bombers must come from President Johnson, but present indications are that his views concur perfectly with those of McNamara.

Vatican Library Proves Interesting

ROME (NEA) — The Vatican Library, founded around 1450, is probably the only library in the world where if you ask for a book, they will hand you a parchment scroll.

It is also probably the only library where ball-point pens are forbidden. The ball-point might accidentally fall on a scroll and damage it.

Ball-point pens aren't the only useful objects the Vatican Library frown on. There are plastics, for example. "We were going to use plastic laminations to preserve some of our ancient manuscripts that are falling to pieces," explains Father Guy Ferrari, an American who is in charge of the Vatican museums. "And then the thought struck us, how long will the plastic last? After all, the plastics industry is only about 20 years old, whereas we have to think in terms of centuries."

Thinking in terms of centuries is second nature to Father Ferrari, a Benedictine monk from Fort Smith, Ark. Right now Father Ferrari, with four assistants, is engaged in making an inventory of all the Vatican manuscripts, the beautiful illustrations with which manuscripts are illuminated.

"We figure that this work will take 100 years at least," he says nonchalantly.

The Benedictine showed me the laboratories where crumbling manuscripts are being restored. "The first thing we do is to try to stop the rot. Then we build up the damaged page by adding bits of parchment, or sometimes very thin gauze."

A useful rule in dealing with Father Ferrari's department would be: If you are going to try to palm off a fake, make sure that it is a good one.

For Father Ferrari, a burly 6-footer, is expert at detecting fakes. The museum's director showed me a glass bowl such as was found in the Rome catacombs in the 3rd century A. D. These bowls were embedded in mortar over the tombs of early Christians partly to identify them and partly for ornamentation.

With the passage of time the sides of the bowl would be cracked off, leaving only the bottom on which exquisite designs were etched in gold leaf still embedded in the plaster. These "gold glasses," as the medallions are called, are priceless. The Vatican has 205 of the 260 that are known to exist.

And here's a helpful rule for monarchs with an eye to Vatican history: If you are tempted to put it in writing, don't — otherwise your love letters may end up on display in the Vatican Library.

This happened to Henry VIII. The Vatican has 16 of the love letters which Henry penned to Anne Boleyn, some in old English, some in French.

Other Vatican Library treasures on display are the autographs of Martin Luther, Galileo, Savonarola and Thomas Aquinas. Pride of place goes to Codex Vaticanus B, which is the world's oldest copy of the Bible written in Greek.

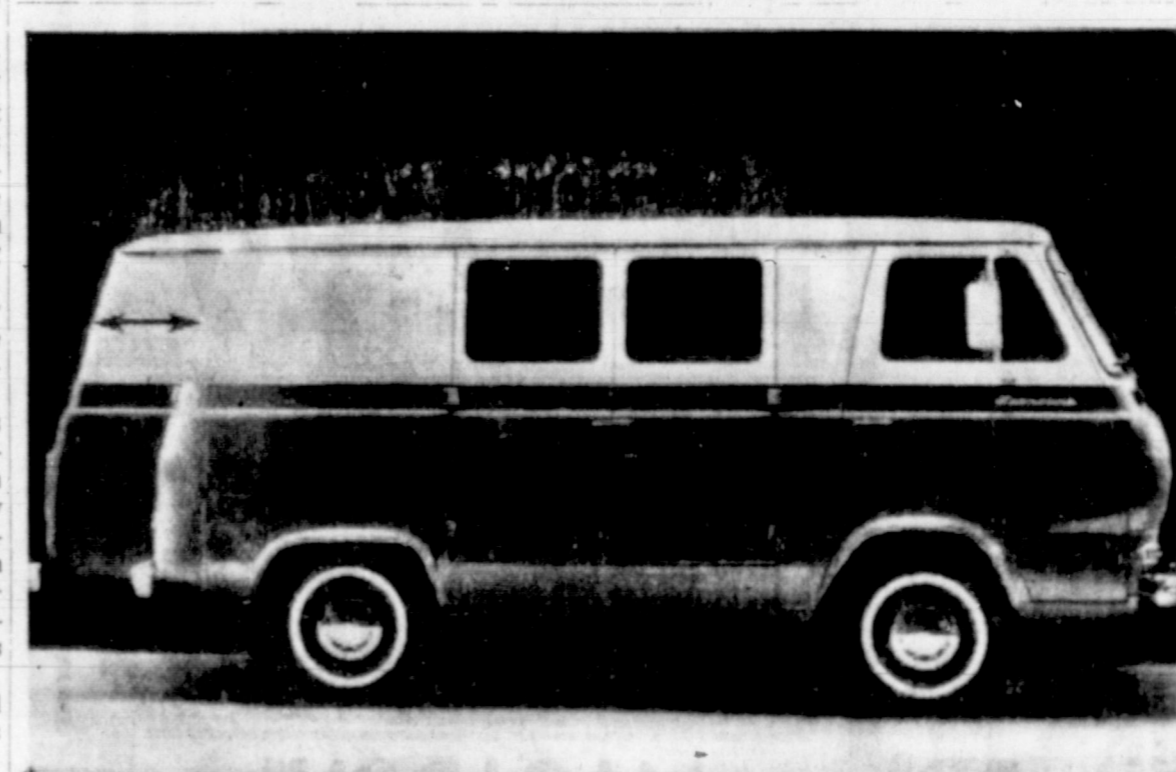

It is not clear what would happen to a reader who pulled out a ball-point pen in the Vatican Library, but the penalty is clear for whoever steals, mutilates or tears a book or scroll: "with evil intent."

Such a person will be promptly excommunicated, according to a marble plaque in the library signed by Sixtus V. (1585-1590).

NEW YOUTH PROGRAMS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Proposals for 17 new neighborhood youth corps projects, aimed at providing work for 6,764 jobless youths and school dropouts, have been submitted for review to the governors of 14 states.

The governors will review the projects before final action is taken, according to a Labor Department announcement.

ECONOLINE VAN — Ford Division's Econoline Van, sales leader in teen compact truck sales field, has a new "big brother"—the Econoline SuperVan. As shown in a comparison photo, the new truck is 18 inches longer (arrow) than the regular Econoline Van and has 23 per cent more loadspace with 251-cubic-foot capacity. The extra space gives the SuperVan added dimension as a utility and "fun" vehicle. The roomier interior permits carrying of extra-long items up to 14 feet. Extra racks and shelves also can be installed while retaining interior work room. Equipped with a camper conversion, the SuperVan offers the recreation-minded more living space and extra storage capacity, yet provides the same handling and economy features that have made Econoline the most popular truck of its kind. It will be on display in Ford dealer showrooms in March.

Harvesters Edge Haltom City in Bi-District

Briscoe Gals Nip Miami for Crown

CANADIAN — Briscoe held off a last-minute Miami rally to take a heart-stopping 36-35 victory here last night and the girls' championship of district 2-B basketball.

The Bronettes will meet Booker girls in the bi-district game in Canadian next Monday night at 7:30.

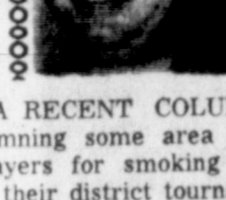

Briscoe pulled the game out on free throws, as Marvellous Mickey Fulks and her mates couldn't miss from the charity line while the Warriorettes were stone-cold on their one-point attempts. Mickey made eight of 10 free throw attempts and the Bronettes 12 of 16 as a whole, while Miami could hit only five of 16 attempts, although out-shooting Briscoe from the floor.

Patches Dodson closed out her high school career with 26 points, as she hit 10 of 25 field goal attempts. Mickey made 24 points, but hit eight of 17 from the floor, making good on three of four shots in the final quarter for the win. Diane Dodd came down more for Briscoe's edge.

The biggest lead ever held by either team was four points as the lead changed hands eight times and the score was tied five times before the fatal fourth quarter.

Briscoe jumped into a 6-2 lead to open the game as Judy Finsterwald dominated the defensive boards, with Briscoe working the ball in very slowly for the sure shot. Miami came right back on the offensive and de-

A RECENT COLUMN concerning some area basketball players for smoking in public at their district tournament has brought a host of replies and opinions, most of them agreeing with this reporter.

Although this column did not name the team concerned, our readers have taken for granted that it was Mobeetie, and the letters have replied in kind.

One letter defended the Hornets, and was from a pair of Mobeetie exes, one of them, Big Ray Corcoran, probably the finest all-around athlete Mobeetie ever produced. Their letter follows:

"Dear Mr. Cohane:

"While visiting our hometown for a weekend we read your column. Thus we are writing concerning the column printed February 18, 1965 in the Pampa Daily News.

"We being two former students and participating athletics we felt it our duty to inform you. You are definitely mistaken about the school in district 2B who NEVER had a winning team in ANY sport.

"Please for your readers sake check the records of this 'so condemned' school. Check a 11 years especially previous to 1958 for football and basketball. While checking records also look at the girls' team's past.

"Of course this team has had good and bad years as all teams do. But the thing that makes us angry is for them to receive 'public kicks' like yours when they are already down.

"There are people who always fight back and some may misunderstand their real meaning. Such as the players, who's team had just lost in the basketball tournament who said 'But we WILL get them in track.'

"We do not necessarily approve smoking but we can't see your condemning our small schools, who have the same few students participating in each sport, when the same takes place in EVERY SCHOOL. If we are mistaken in this point please advise us. (Editor's note: You certainly are mistaken. Although it is entirely possible that athletes SECRETLY smoke in other schools, possibly even in our schools, NEVER have I or the coaches who also observed this seen a group of high school athletes publicly smoking inside a high school gymnasium where everyone in their district could see them... and bragging about it too!)

"We are truly sorry to hear 'that rivals show this school scant respect.' We personally think you are mistaken in this, but if you feel otherwise that is only your opinion.

"Mr. Cohane, we write this in sincerity only backing our school, that has been known to never give up but to keep fighting.

Yours Truly,
Arica Lancaster
and Ray Corcoran"

"P.S. You might look at the little 'pee-wee team' they are certainly looking bright as for the future athletics of Mobeetie High School."

Roper Hits Winning Basket With Two Seconds Left In Game

By RONNIE OLER

News Sports Reporter

Game Postponed

GROOM — Tonight's scheduled basketball game between the Groom Crybabies and the Pampa Newsboys has been postponed due to the sudden storm. The game will be played March 9 instead, at 8 p.m., said Crybaby coach Sobbin' Jack York.

game here last night before 5,500 near-hysterical fans.

Pampa will play El Paso High in their next game, after El Paso's upset win over Midland Lee School officials will try to meet today to decide the date and site. The Harvesters were to return home this afternoon, weather permitting.

Both sides had blown tremendous leads, the Harvesters holding an eight-point margin in the first quarter and a nine-point bulge in the second frame; while Haltom City had led throughout the half, with a 10-point margin late in the third quarter and a 54-47 lead going into the last period.

Fouls and free throws told the story as the Harvesters, although off their usual accuracy, hit 20 of 30 charity attempts while Haltom City, could make only eight of 14. Pampa hit five of five free throws in the crucial fourth quarter, while the Buffaloes missed two clutch free throws in the final seconds.

Despite Haltom City's huge height advantage, the Harvesters outscored them, with Roper leading the way, followed closely by Mac McWilliams and Davy McDaniels. Larry Messer, HC's 4-4½ postman and John Gloeckler, their high scorer, both fouled out in the final frame, while three Harvesters went down to the wire with four fouls apiece.

McDaniel opened the game with a basket and Roper followed with two more as the Buffs were missing badly. Barry Williams got HC's first bucket with 6:15 left. Ron Curlee hit a free throw to make it 7-2 and following a basket by Larry Shafer, Curlee hit a bucket and McDaniel a charity for a 10-4 edge. McDaniel fed Lewis on a fast break to build the lead to eight points. Williams and Roper matched jump shots, but Messer, Gloeckler and Shafer hit in succession to slice it to 14-12. Curlee made a three-point play and McDaniel hit a jumper to move it back to 17-12 Pampa, going into the second quarter.

Shafer got his third foul and Roper hit two one-pointers for a nine-point edge. Gloeckler hit a basket and followed with a free throw, but McDaniels hit for 23-15. Gloeckler hit two in a row, with McWilliams getting a basket for 25-19, but also a charging foul, his third infraction.

Messer got four quick points to cut the lead to two, McDaniel hit again for 27-23. Williams and Gloeckler scored in succession to tie the score at 27-27 with 2:40 to go, and after Roper missed a pair of free throws, Gloeckler made a three-point play to give Haltom City their first lead, 30-27. Messer's two one-pointers gave Haltom a five-point bulge. Roper and Messer matched buckets and McDaniel's free throws matched Gloeckler's two-pointers. McDaniel then hit again to cut to 36-33 and Lewis hit with 28 seconds to go in the half and Haltom City had a slim 36-35 margin.

McDaniel opened with a tying free throw and Curlee hit two more to give Pampa back the lead, 38-36. Haltom City then put on a press and forced wild passes, with Gloeckler stealing, and the Buffaloes ran off 10 straight points in a minute-and-one-half for a 48-38 lead. Roper and Lewis broke it up with a pair of scores, but Messer and Williams hit back-to-back, moving it up to 52-42 with 1:55 left. Lewis hit three points, although getting his third charging foul, Gloeckler scored, but Roper hit and it was 54-47 going into the finale.

Roper opened with a one-and-one, but Williams bucketed to offset it. Lewis, McDaniel and McWilliams ran off a six-point string to come within two, 56-54. Williams scored, but Messer fouled McWilliams, who made both tries.

Gloeckler scored to make it 60-56 with three minutes left and Haltom went into a stall. McWilliams got his fourth foul but Haltom missed the first chance and the Big Green grabbed the rebound. McDaniels got a basket and the Harvesters grabbed the ball again, with Curlee tying the score at 60-all with 1:40 left on a fluke shot. Buffalo aided, as the defense hit his hand and pushed the ball into the basket.

Messer fouled out and Roper made a free throw for a 61-60 lead. Lewis stole the ball and Pampa went into a stall with one minute left. Gloeckler tried to steal and fouled out and McDaniel made the free throw.

With 35 seconds left, Shafer tied the score. Williams stole the ball. Lewis fouled out trying to recover it, but Williams missed the big charity chance. Curlee grabbed the rebound, fired it to McWilliams, who fed Roper on the right-hand side of the key for the winning basket just before the final buzzer went off.

Vanderbilt-Alabama For NCAA Cage Bid

By United Press International

The Vanderbilt Commodores, gunning for their first Southeastern Conference title, must cool off the hottest team in the league before they start handing out NCAA tournament duets.

The Commodores, who belted Georgia 89-72 Monday night, must face Alabama, currently riding a five-game winning streak, on Saturday. Vanderbilt, 11-1 in the conference, holds a one game edge over runner-up Tennessee, which was upset by the Crimson Tide last weekend. Alabama notched No. 5 with a 75-71 win over Kentucky while Tennessee stayed in contention by pasting Auburn 69-38.

Vandy stretched a 38-35 half-time advantage to a 10-point margin after intermission behind the scoring of forward Bob Grace.

The Vols held Auburn to only 15 points in the second half while hitting the nets for 43 points themselves after intermission. A. W. Davis led the outburst and collected 21 points to take game honors.

Alabama handed the Wildcats their 10th loss of the season, their worst record since Adolph Rupp became head coach in 1932. Harry Hammonds poured in 26 points and pulled down 16 rebounds to spark the Crimson Tide, which had to come back three times from eight-point Kentucky advantages.

Purdue dimmed whatever hopes Indiana had for a Big Ten crown with a decisive 82-70 victory over the ninth-ranked Hoosiers despite 40-points from Dave Van Arsdale twin brothers. Dave Schellhase netted 32 points to lead the Boilermaker attack while brother Tom collected 21 and brother Dick 19.

Ohio State handed Michigan State its 10th straight loss with a 101-90 thumping behind Capt. Dick Ricketts' 27 points. Game honors went to the Spartans' Stan Washington, who had 28.

Ohio University, tied for the Mid-American Conference lead with Miami of Ohio, beat non-league foe Loyola (Chicago) for the Bobcats 24th consecutive home court decision. Ohio's Don Hill accounted for 25 points and 24 rebounds but the Ramblers' Jim Coleman was high scorer with 28.

Missouri upset Big Eight title contender Colorado, 80-75; Wake Forest needed an overtime to beat Virginia, 74-72; Utah State nipped Seattle, 71-67; Louisiana State defeated Mississippi, 60-56; and Bowling Green blasted Marshall, 114-93.

"I think it is a crying shame the school officials didn't have the intestinal fortitude to back up this coach. You can't really blame the boys when things like this are allowed. It shows only lack of interest by the parents and school officials of the boys. It also may hinder the chances of the coach in getting on with another school.

I think you were wise in the stand you took and are to be congratulated on the article appearing on Feb. 18, 1965 in your paper.

Michigan Maintains First Place Rating

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Michigan Wolverines maintained their first place standing in the weekly United Press International college basketball ratings today, but one couldn't blame them for being envious of second-ranked UCLA.

The Wolverines must tackle Minnesota, the fastest rising team in the ratings tonight at Minneapolis where the Gophers have been invincible this season. The Gophers, who ranked as high as third early in the season, returned to the top 10 in seventh place after a two-month absence. Two weeks ago they ranked only 18th.

Saturday, Michigan must journey to Illinois where the 13th ranked Illini are unbeaten. Meanwhile, UCLA visits Stanford (12-7) and California (8-11) this weekend. Neither team is ranked and both fell easily to the Bruins earlier this season.

The first six teams — Michigan, UCLA, St. Joseph's (Pa.), Providence, Duke and Davidson, in order — held their positions from the previous week as did eighth-ranked Vanderbilt and ninth-ranked Indiana.

Wichita dropped from seventh to 10th and bumped Tennessee from 10th to 12th.

Michigan gathered 26 first place votes from the 35 coaches on the UPI rating board, the other nine being distributed among UCLA (6), St. Joseph's (2) and Providence (1).

San Francisco climbed back into 11th place, Tennessee fell to 12th.

Plainview Pair Wins GG Titles

FORT WORTH (UPI) — Eight battles won state Golden Gloves boxing titles Monday night and earned the right to represent their state in the Tournament of Champions in Chicago.

Three fighters from Houston and two from Plainview won titles in the final night of action at the Will Rogers Coliseum. Other champs came from San Antonio, Fort Worth and Corpus Christi.

The evening's highlight was a double win by former national flyweight champion Fred Garcia of Plainview.

Garcia defeated Rudy Benitz of Odessa in an early-evening semifinal bout and then came back later to whip Ronald Hernandez of San Antonio for the crown.

The night's biggest upset came in the final fight when bantamweight Jesse Avalos Jr. of Corpus Christi defeated Manuel Navarro. Navarro was last year's national bantamweight champ.

The heavyweight division battle as usual was a rugged fight. The judges handed Lynn Farr of Fort Worth a split decision over David Zygliewicz of Houston. Despite Zygliewicz' loss, Houston easily retained the team title.

Keeling Turns Down Borger

TULIA — Borger High School officials are still in quest of a head football coach after Jimmy Keeling decided to remain at Tulia instead of moving to Borger as was announced Sunday.

Keeling, announced as filling the job vacated when Gene Mayfield took over as head football coach at Odessa Permian recently, said he thought it over and decided to remain at Tulia.

"I'm sorry that it was announced, but I feel it is best for me to stay at Tulia, Keeling said. "The members of the school board in Borger and Dr. A. L. Little, superintendent of schools, were very kind to me. I hope they can find someone to do a good job for them."

Keeling's teams have faced 31-16 during his four-year tenure as head coach at Tulia. He had guided Tulia to a District championship before coming to Tulia.

Doctor Under the Gun

A welcome visitor to the United States is the Reverend Bernard Druetto, brought to our country for the first time by the American Medical Association to address its convention in Phoenix, Arizona. Father Druetto is a medical doctor who built (with his own hands and the help of his parishioners) a hospital, a church and a compound for patients on Quemoy Island, only a machine-gun bullet distance from mainland China.

Each odd-numbered day on the calendar, Communist guns bombard Quemoy. On even-numbered days, the guns are wearily silent. Father Druetto's hospital has been hit exactly 53 times by Communist shells. Each time, it has been repaired and enlarged. Father, or Doctor Druetto, if you wish, has been a China veteran for more than three decades. When the Communists overran his hospital in Central China in 1949, he was imprisoned and sentenced to death. His captors reported him executed to his family in France. He stood trial 28 times for treason against "the people's government." When his tormentors had reduced him to less than 80 pounds, they expelled him to Hong Kong to die. Die, he didn't. He headed, instead, for Quemoy, with all that he owned wrapped in an army blanket. Today, he ministers to the spiritual and medical needs of Quemoy's almost 50,000 civilian farmers, fishermen, shopkeepers and children. His hospital will accommodate sixty patients. Several hundred attend Sunday Mass at his church. A few days ago, he roused his mobile patients for breakfast in the dining room. Minutes later, a Communist shell blasted through the dormitory roof and directly through the vacated bed of one of his patients.

In New York, someone asked him about the Soviet-Chinese rift. "Who dreamed that dream?" he snorted, and then noted that of the Communist shells which hit Quemoy, eighty percent of the duds are Soviet manufactured. By the time you read this, he will be en route back to Quemoy. But he left behind a lesson in courage — and reality.

Want a Job? Take a Test

Once upon a time — and not so long ago — a young man could walk into a place of business and announce he was looking for a job. The prospective employer would ask him a few questions — his name, his age, how much education he had had, and, of course, how much money he wanted.

The employer would then take another look at the applicant and either turn him down or hire him.

It was that simple. But no longer. Nowadays, a college senior takes as many tests from industrial employment experts as he does from his own professors.

Intelligence tests. Aptitude and attitude tests. Personality tests. Hours and hours of them. Hundreds and hundreds of questions, many of them in areas that once would have been regarded as strictly private.

And these tests are no longer confined to executive jobs. They are now being given to all sorts of job seekers, including aspiring truck drivers.

At least one company is said to ask almost 500 questions of the eager applicant. Real blockbusters, some of them. Such as, does he prefer a tub bath or a shower? Is he afraid of deep water? What does he think of women being allowed in bars?

Some companies not only are giving these tests to new applicants for jobs but also are tossing them at employees who have been working there for years — including even senior executives.

It's all part of space age efficiency. Sometimes you have to wonder where efficiency leaves off and invasion of privacy begins. On the other hand, if it helps the applicant and the company find what each is looking for, how can you fight it?

You can't help hoping, however, that among all those questions there is one which asks: "By the way, what do you think of being courteous to other people, including the customer?"

If the answer to that question were weighted heavily, the whole testing machinery might be well worth while.

The Press and the Public

President Johnson's dislike for the press and his contempt for the public are problems of grave concern to both the Fourth Estate and the people who have a right to know what the man in the White House is thinking and planning.

LBJ's treatment of the reporters assigned to the White House is nothing short of abominable. He has brushed aside the Democratic concept that the public has a right to know and that the press is the proper transmission belt.

LBJ has consistently avoided the televised press conference, and for two reasons: (1) He doesn't sparkle on television, and (2) Reporters fire questions he is averse to answering; not necessarily for security reasons, but because he simply does not know the real answers, or knowing them, is afraid they may show up his jerry-built "Great Society," or reveal a policy of appeasement of the Communists.

A recent example of the President's contempt for press and public came on Feb. 4 when he gave 45 minutes notice of a conference in the theatre of the White House, where seating facilities for 30 or 40 were jammed by about 150 newspapermen, radio-TV reporters and their cameramen.

Mr. Johnson then further discomfited the newsmen through the discourtesy of being 20 minutes late. There was no apology for the delay, but there was a caustic criticism of the Fourth Estate for its speculation and criticism of the President for not sending the Vice-President to represent the US at the Churchill funeral.

This problem has more serious implications than the President's personal dislike of an alert press, and vice versa. Its significance is whether the American public is to have accurate and factual news coverage of the nation's Chief Executive, or depend on the whims of a thin-skinned man, far too sensitive to press and other criticism, to permit accurate reporting of facts.

We must have direct and accurate reports on Administration policies that bear directly on the American pocketbook or the American family whose son may be drafted to fight in a face-saving retreat or a real war in far-off Southeast Asia.

And if we don't, we can look forward to one-man government — dictatorship, it is called.

Wit and Whimsy

An adolescent boy, going on a school picnic, asked his father for a dollar for spending money. The father sighed as he handed over the money.

Father — Make it go as far as you can.

Boy — I'll make it go so far you'll never see any of it again.

The haggard-looking man got into conversation with the happy, carefree bachelor on their train journey to the North.

Man — Yes, I'm the father of six daughters.

Bachelor — Then you and your wife have six mouths to feed.

Man (shook his head) — No, we have twelve. They are all

WASHINGTON:

Reds Not Ready for All-Out War

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Despite Russian and Red Chinese promises of support to North Viet Nam and shouts against "imperialistic" U. S. bombings, the evidence here is:

1. Peking's Mao Tse-tung isn't prepared to get into another Korea in Viet Nam.

2. Moscow's Brezhnev and Kossygin are not ready to jump into a Cuba-type showdown in Asia.

Moscow statements after the raids were milder than Premier Kossygin's speeches beforehand. Translated out of the peculiar code language used by the Communist powers, Peking's reactions have been equally cautious.

Neither Red China nor Soviet Russia can afford economically or militarily to commit ground forces to action in South Viet Nam.

The Red Chinese today can't be certain of the safe-haven arrangement they had during the Korean war of the 1950s. Then they had received assurances that China wouldn't be bombed. Peking has received no such assurances in this war. In fact, hints have been dropped to Mao that in case his Chinese do enter the Viet Nam war with Korea-type "volunteers," he can expect bombing raids on mainland China's industrial and military installations, including her nuclear plants in the northwest.

The Russians can't risk getting bogged down in Viet Nam, so far from home logistically. Neither can they risk now an open confrontation with the U.S. military in view of defense and economic weaknesses at home. Nevertheless, reports reaching government analysts here indicate the Communists will step up the war in South Viet Nam.

These step-up decisions were made before the Kossygin visit to Asia — and before the U.S.-South Vietnamese attacks on Dong Hoi and Vinh Linh.

Some time back, U. S. government analysts had deduced from the composition of the Kossygin delegation to Hanoi that Moscow was getting ready to give North Viet Nam anti-aircraft weapons and possibly fighter planes.

As in Cuba, the Russians may well put in modern ground-to-air (anti-aircraft) missiles and provide Russian troops to train North Vietnamese in missile use. It is even possible the Russians will temporarily man some of the anti-aircraft installations around Hanoi.

There is also evidence the Russians have offered the North Vietnamese a variety of technicians, including a limited number of advisers for the Viet Cong.

For additional effect, it is conceivable Brezhnev and Kossygin could cancel out President Johnson's projected visit to the Soviet Union and a possible return visit by one or another of the Soviet leaders.

Captured documents and prisoner interrogations indicate the Red Chinese some months ago committed themselves to stepped-up aid for North Viet Nam.

The number of Chinese advisers serving with the Viet Cong has increased sharply. There are reportedly a growing number of Chinese technical advisers in Hanoi.

But these step-ups will be a far cry from another Korea invasion by Chinese "volunteers" and far less than the Soviet missile crisis in Cuba.

According to the committee's findings, the U.S. has furnished General Ne Win's government more than $5 million in arms and equipment to improve and strengthen its 46,000 para-military force.

Since the initiation of the secret arms deal in 1960, more than 1,000 motor vehicles and motorcycles, 1,700 bicycles and 50 small patrol craft have been turned over to the Burmese troops.

As in the Cambodia aid program, a country-wide communications system was set up with U.S. equipment, linking all of Burma's military forces with a central headquarters in Rangoon.

Another $4 million worth of supplies are either enroute or being programmed for shipment to Burma this year. Its paramilitary troops are being trained in the latest counterinsurgency methods both in the U.S. and at U.S. installations in the Pacific.

OTHER AID — In addition to this military assistance, the U.S. is helping finance General Ne Win's "road to socialism" with a number of major economic programs.

One of the largest is the construction of a 132 mile, two-lane highway from Rangoon to Mandalay. When finished, this road will connect with one leading all the way to the border of Communist China. The U.S. is providing $10 million for this controversial project.

Another $4 million is going to improve Burma's inland waterways fleet. The U.S. already has turned over 47 barges and 13 other vessels to the Burmese, with more coming.

An additional $4.8 million is for the expansion of the govern-

Congressional Probers Question Arms Aid to Burma, Demand Guarantees Against Use in Thailand

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Congressional probers are adding Burma to their growing list of foreign aid programs they want President Johnson to review carefully.

With the government of General Ne Win moving closer to Communist China, members of the House Foreign Affairs Committee are questioning the wisdom of continuing a secret $9 million arms program to that socialist regime.

The legislators, headed by Representative H. R. Gross, R-Ia., are demanding that the weapons be halted until the U. S. obtains a written guarantee from Burma that they won't be used against the U. S. or to help Communist subversion in Thailand.

Although the State Department has refused to publish details of the Burma arms aid program, its confidential documents show it is very similar to the aid given neighboring Cambodia, which is now using the U.S. arms to help the Communist Viet Cong in South Viet Nam.

Since Burma borders Thailand, now being threatened by Peking, Representative Gross and the other lawmakers want to make sure the mistake made in Cambodia won't be repeated in Burma.

According to the committee's findings, the U.S. has furnished General Ne Win's government more than $5 million in arms and equipment to improve and strengthen its 46,000 para-military force.

The Propaganda War

Americans should learn much from the eruption of anti-United States riots and protests around the world, and within this country, following our government's decision to strike back in retaliation against communist North Viet Nam.

What is to be learned is the speed and efficiency of the international leftist apparatus which can mount a worldwide hate-America campaign within a matter of hours. In the Soviet Union, Communist Hungary and other countries, mobs stormed United States embassies. In New York City, two thousand chanting demonstrators marched to protest America's defense moves. Meanwhile U. Thant, Secretary General of the U. N., had taken up this same global line in urging that the United States refrain from further attacks.

The campaign began, in this country, with leaders of the Communist Party USA firing off protest telegrams to President Johnson only minutes after the White House announced the initial air raid. But the campaign also sucked in many innocent dupes, who have fallen for the propaganda line that the United States has no business intervening in Viet Nam. A clergyman, writing to The New York Times, wrote what he called "an angry protest over our 'illegal' involvement in Latin America, Africa and Asia."

While on a visit to Colombia, he learned that six employees listed on the AID mission roster there were not in the country. Inquiries brought the admission from U.S. embassy officials that the employees were working in the Washington office.

Returning to the capital, Hays discovered that none of the workers had ever been assigned to Colombia; also that there were no plans to send them to Latin America.

Several similar cases have been uncovered by other committee members in their travels abroad. One AID official whose job includes policing the program has indicated to the committee that the number of these "unlisted" employees runs into the hundreds.

The committee intends to find out. Secretary of State Rusk and AID Director Daniel Bell have been told to make a full report before the legislators begin voting on the administration's $3.3 billion foreign aid program next month.

FOREIGN FLASHES — Despite the seizure and destruction of U. S. libraries by the Sukarno government, President Johnson has authorized the State Department to continue aid to Indonesia at the rate of approximately $1 million a month. Some $6 million is still slated for the Indonesia aid pipeline.

The U. S. Army Signal Corps has given Thailand two portable radio transmitters to counter Communist propaganda broadcasts beamed from Hanoi and Peking. The U. S. is spending $12 million in South Korea to increase the country's coal and iron ore production.

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

Taxes Necessary and Evil; Necessity Can Be Removed

Editor's note: This is the first of a series of five articles in which the business editor sets forth a method other than taxes for the financing of government. The series is titled "Government Without Taxation."

By SAM CAMPBELL
Register Business Editor
Today you are taxed 35 percent of your income for the support of what are commonly called governmental activities.

This means that, if the total amount of your annual taxation were withheld from each paycheck in the beginning months of the year, you would draw your first take-home pay some time after May 1.

You may say, as some have said, that you like to pay taxes. On the other hand, you may say that you deplore taxes, but that you regard them as a necessary evil. I have no argument with either attitude.

No Argument
To the person who enjoys paying taxes, I say "Pay on, you have abundant joy awaiting you." To him who regards taxes as a necessary evil, I agree taxation is both necessary and evil. However, I would add one further thought. Evil that is necessary under a given set of circumstances, need not be necessary when those circumstances are changed.

I propose to show that such a change is possible. I propose to show that the circumstances now requiring taxation are alterable. I propose to show that government and taxation not only are inseparable but — in essence — are incompatible. In short, I propose that a burden which now exhausts a third of your energies be lifted from you — so that you may walk upright in full possession of your earning power.

You can have government that you pay for, not because you are compelled to pay, but because it is profitable for you to pay. The establishment of such a government requires no drastic disruption of the existing order, but rather only a gentle wooing of thoughtful men to correct principles.

Of course, you will want proof that this happy condition is possible. Your requirement is prudent. Let us then consider the nature of the proof that is required. For "proof" is not strictly an objective matter. "Proof" is enough evidence to convince you. There is, in other words, an element of attitude or subjectivity in it.

Experience Teaches
Examine the past to see if this is not so. Has there not been in your experience an occasion in which the evidence that was overwhelming in the electric hours of evening appeared woefully deficient in the cold light of dawn? Similarly, opportunities have been missed for a similar reason.

Great things are possible to men who desire great things. The same would be impossible to those who lack desire. The famous physicist Max Planck wrote, "Over the gates of science is this inscription, 'Ye must have faith.'" This is also the U.S. has no legal right to intervene against Castro. Now, in the case of Viet Nam, the Red line is that the United States has no legal right to intervene in behalf of the anti-communist South Vietnamese government. Now, the fact of the matter is that our succession of stupid mistakes — in China, in Korea, and in Laos — have allowed the Communists to overrun Asia to such an extent that our own safety is threatened. If we don't defeat the Reds in anti-communist South Viet Nam, then attacks will be made — in time — close to or on our own national territory.

But the United States has to contend not only with armed enemies overseas but with the vicious forces of leftist propaganda within. Thus far the Johnson administration has not taken any steps against the internal friends of the Viet Cong. But these groups exist and should be dealt with in accordance with law.

To be specific, some leftist groups are urging U.S. servicemen not to serve in Viet Nam and not to help forward munitions. This urging goes beyond traditional freedom of speech — it amounts to aiding and abetting an enemy who is killing Americans. This urging also is in direct violation of Selective Service and other laws, which make it a crime to attempt to persuade men not to serve their country. It is time that President Johnson cracked down on the enemy's allies within this country.

Question Box

Question: "Reference is made to your statement on tariffs in which you state 'If goods do not cross borders, armies will.' Before World War Two, I remember many trucks passing by my house loaded with scrap metal which was put on ships and sold to Japan only to be made into weapons of war and used against us. Should we freely trade with our enemies? And with no tariffs, what about the age-old practice of dumping?"

Answer: "If there is truly free trade between free people, nations will become so interdependent they will not want to go to war, because it would not be economically feasible. This does not mean the government should intervene by guaranteeing loans on shipments. It is doubtful that a manufacturer or shipper would sell on credit to a nation whose credit was not good. If he did, it would be his own loss and not the loss of all the taxpayers of his nation."

As to trading with the enemy, Dr. W. M. Curtis, former professor of marketing at Cornell University, wrote: "If American citizens were allowed to conduct themselves according to sound economic principles rather than political controls, a startling thing would happen. People of other nations, instead of the American taxpayers, would be paying for our current preparedness program. The cost of our war plants and experimentation in the development of war tools would be financed by sales of war materials — to our potential enemies. We can produce these things more efficiently than they, for we have the capital and the skill. And if our potential enemies could be induced to become dependent upon us for their armaments, they could easily be defeated if they were ever so stupid as to declare war on us. Since they would have developed no armament factories of their own, they would be doomed as soon as their stockpiles were exhausted or become obsolete. Would any people be so misguided as to attempt to destroy the source of their supplies?"

"In return for our armaments, potential enemy nations would have to offer us something more valuable than these war goods. Of course, such a plan of free trade does not conform to traditional military strategy. It isn't 'practical' from a military point of view — you can't start a war by means of free trade. Military strategy deals with the subject of war; sound economics calls for peaceful trade. Until the people themselves recognize that these ideas are hopelessly opposed to each other, political and military strategists will keep right on leading nations into wars."

As to the practice of "dumping," no economic group will long survive if it disposes of its resources at less than cost. If someone or some group or some nation gives away its product, or sells it at a loss, that party will suffer, not the agency getting the bargain. The recipient will increase its standard of living. If the shipping nation subsequently raises the price, there is no loss. The buying party need only to quit buying until the price is reduced; or until a new source of supply can be located.

The United States is the best example of peaceful solution to problems. Many economists contend the reason for the great prosperity of the people of this nation is that there are no tariff and immigration restrictions between the various states.
