Influenza Strikes Wide Area Of US

By United Press International
An outbreak of pneumonia and influenza felled thousands across the nation today, closing schools and cutting into the work force. Asian flu was detected in at least a dozen states.

The Baltimore, Md., Public Health Service said it did not foresee any immediate decline in a four-week epidemic. At its peak, 300 men in Baltimore's 3,740-man police force were stricken.

Kentucky State Health Commissioner Dr. Russell Teague said it appeared the state was in the "beginning of a good epidemic. He said he was fairly sure it was the Asian flu strain.

Trigg County schools in Kentucky were closed Tuesday when 18 per cent of 2,000 enrolled students failed to show up for classes. About 400 patients jammed the emergency rooms at the Louisville, Ky., General Hospital.

The "Sweetheart Dance" at Beaver, Mo., tonight was called off along with all scheduled basketball games after 86 students and 7 of 17 teachers became ill. School was dismissed for the rest of the week.

A wave of absenteeism swept Indiana's Floyd, Clark and Harrison counties. Health Officer Dr. Sam Adair said the wave in Clark County was the worst in 30 years. The flu reached epidemic proportions in Floyd County.

Hundreds of students were absent in Corvado, Ind., alone.

The U.S. Public Health Service (PHS) in Washington and the Federal Communicable Disease Center in Atlanta, Ga., confirmed

CoC Membership Drive Going Good

Excellent reports were turned in today at the first check-in reports on the Pampa Chamber of Commerce Membership Roundup, according to Lovell Davies, chamber finance director.

The financial drive to raise $40,000 for the chamber started Monday and will continue through Feb. 22.

Next check-in of the 110 workers engaged in the financial drive will be at 10 a.m. Friday.

At that time, Davies said, it is hoped to have first progress figures available.

Baghdad Bristles With Armor As Search For Communists Continues

BAGHDAD, Iraq (UPI)—Baghdad bristled today with heavy armor, including Soviet-made tanks, while troops and trigger-happy "national guards" pressed a relentless house-to-house search for Communist foes of the new rebel regime.

The hunt for Communists also was reported going on elsewhere in this strategic oil-rich Middle East nation where pro-Nasser forces rebelled and overthrew the regime of Premier Abdel Karim Kassem six days ago.

English-language newspapers in Tehran today reported continued fighting in Baghdad, the oil

Director Says Minstrel Is 'Shaping Up'

Director Max Presnell reported today that the Lions Club Minstrel show rehearsals are "shaping up in fine fashion" for the big events to be staged at the Pampa Junior High Auditorium on the nights of Feb. 21 and 22.

The Pampa Noon Lions Club has staged a similar show for many years, this being the twentieth production. Numerous specialty acts, all presenting local talent, with an outstanding chorus and six comical end men promise an entertaining evening.

The show, "Rockin' In The Cotton," features songs of the South with a Dixieland band, "Hank" Gruben and "all the trimmings," Presnell said.

Tickets are now on sale by all club members and at Richard's Drug. Proceeds of the show are dedicated to support the club's many civic services and charities, among which are the Crippled Children's Camp at Kerrville and Pampa scholarship programs.

that Asian flu had broken out, and there were rushes of other respiratory ailments.

The PHS also said the overall pneumonia-influenza death rate of 156 cities checked weekly has been higher than normal for the past four weeks.

The PHS said Asian flu had been confirmed in Maine, Vermont, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Illinois and Kansas. Arizona, New Jersey and Kentucky also reported definite cases of Asian flu.

UN Publication Says Reds Show Way To Freedom

PARIS (UPI) — A United Nations body, whose largest financial support is given by the U. S. government, has published a booklet denouncing "colonialist oppression" by Western nations and describing the Soviet Union as "a brotherhood of free and equal peoples," it was learned today.

"It was the Communist party which showed the peoples of Russia the true way to free themselves from social and national oppression," the booklet asserted.

The booklet entitled "Equality of Rights Between Races and Nationalities in the U.S.S.R." was published recently by the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (Unesco), with headquarters in Paris.

Unesco has an annual budget of $39 million, of which the United States pays nearly one-third. The Soviet Union pays about 15 per cent.

The booklet, bearing a Unesco symbol on its front cover, was written by two Russians, I. P. Tsamarian, identified as a "doctor of philosophy," and S. L. Ronin, identified as a "doctor of law."

Edmund Rehak, Czech-born secretary general of the Assembly of Captive Nations of Europe, denounced the booklet as "a brochure of the worst kind of lying Soviet propaganda."

The British Broadcasting Corp. in London reported monitoring a clandestine radio station which claimed to be the voice of the Communist party of Iraq. BBC said the station called on all Communists in Iraq to rise against the "bloodthirsty and reactionary clique of the revolutionary regime."

The new government of provisional president Abdul Salam Aref appeared firmly in control, however, and was winning diplomatic recognition from more and more countries. Communist China recognized his regime Tuesday. The Soviet Union and the United States granted recognition on Monday.

But tanks and armored cars, infantry units, still lined major squares and streets in Baghdad. Six heavy Russian-made tanks were spaced along a half-mile section on a main street in the downtown area.

Soviet Munitions
The Soviet tanks were obtained by Kassem as were the MIG jet fighters which blasted his Defense Ministry headquarters into rubble during the early hours of the revolt.

James Howard, UPI photo-reporter, was told that casualties totaled about 650 by the time the army and air force crushed pro-Kassem resistance at the ministry. Howard was the first American news agency correspondent to file an eyewitness report from Baghdad since Friday.

Humor Mixed With Serious Thoughts In K&F Address

"I'm Only Kidding" was the title of the speech delivered last night by "Bob" Ringer, well-known West Coast after-dinner speaker, at the Top of Texas Knife and Fork Club meeting held in the Robert E. Lee Junior High Auditorium.

Frederick W. Brook introduced the speaker and Ringer took the lecture like the veteran he is and went immediately into his philosophy of life, bringing out that people ease themselves into mediocrity because it is the easy way out, that they console themselves with what they have, because it is too much trouble to work for something big.

'Butterball' Admits They're In Better Shape

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Seven congressional secretaries began a dawn-to-dusk hike in freezing weather today to show up White House press secretary Pierre Salinger. The leader of the group became a casualty in the first mile but refused to drop out.

Salinger, whose top-to-bottom measurements are 43-40-43, conceded defeat in advance to the secretaries who fall more in the 36-27-37 class, by admitting "my shape is not good." Late Tuesday he canceled plans for his own marathon hike Friday along the same route taken by the girls.

Jacqueline MacDonald, 23, a secretary to Rep. Richard H. Ichord, D-O., leader of the Capitol Hill group that challenged Salinger, suffered an injured foot when she stepped on some glass.

However, Miss MacDonald insisted on going on after receiving first aid from a medical corpsman who followed in a jeep. "It would have to happen to me," she lamented.

Legislators Set Tourism Study

AUSTIN (UPI)—A proposal to allow Texas to cash in on billions spent annually by tourists, described by Gov. John Connally as one of the state's most vital issues, goes before the House State Affairs Committee tonight.

Connally placed tourism in his "three vital issues" in his address to the legislature last month. He urged speedy approval of a bill to set up a Texas tourist agency.

His recommendation was sponsored as House Bill No. 11 by Rep. Bill Walker of Cleveland. This proposal would set up the agency with an administrator appointed by the governor.

The agency would promote and advertise tourism both in this country and abroad, and would encourage Texans to see the attractions of their own state first.

Asks for $250,000
Connally suggested the legislature appropriate $250,000 a year from the general revenue fund for the tourist agency.

Committee action continued picking up in both the House and Senate, although the Senate appeared to have an edge on the House in passing bills out for floor debate.

The Senate Constitutional Amendments Committee, for example, gave speedy approval Tuesday to proposals to make more persons eligible for medical care for the aged and for totally disabled.

Proposals by Sens. William Moore of Bryan and Martin Dies of Lufkin would lift the ceiling on old age assistance and aid to totally and permanently disabled, and extend medical aid to persons over 65 not now covered in old age assistance programs.

Wants Limits Set
Sen. Galloway Calhoun of Tyler protested that some limits should be placed on qualifications for the aid, saying the proposals would "just open the gates."

New Photographs May Be Shown In Cuba Dispute

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Defense Department may make public additional reconnaissance photographs of Cuba in response to assertions there was a "blank space" in U.S. intelligence on the Soviet arms buildup.

The reported "blank space" was between Sept. 5, when there were no Cuban missile bases, and Oct. 14, when the bases were in an advanced state of construction and within two weeks of becoming operational.

No photographs made during that five and one-half weeks ever have been released. Columnist Walter Lippmann asked Tuesday where was the U.S. photographic intelligence during this period.

The Pentagon had no immediate comment, but it was learned that officials are considering a reply which may or may not be accompanied by some of the missing photographs.

Flights Take Place
September and early October included some bad weather in the area — Hurricane Ella howled off of the Caribbean. It is known that U.S. reconnaissance flights were conducted over Cuba, with the expectation of obtaining photographs, on four widely separated dates during the period.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara said last week at his radio-television news conference that such flights were conducted on Sept. 6, Sept. 29, Oct. 5 and Oct. 10.

McNamara said that "simply for lack of time" only a small percentage of the thousands of photographs made of Cuba were shown during his radio-television appearance.

Avoids Blank Period
But the defense secretary also avoided the "blank" period later when he sent "before and after" photographs of nine Cuban missile bases to Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y.

The Defense Department said previously that the first "conclusive" evidence of the Soviet missile buildup was obtained on Oct. 14. McNamara said he first saw these photographs on Oct. 16.

American people still have their freedom but they may not have it long if they don't speak out and oppose arbitrary authority. Wes Izzard, Amarillo editor and publisher, told a Lincoln Day dinner audience of 175 persons at the Pampa Country Club last night.

Investigators Probe Mysterious Crash

By JAMES CAZALAS
United Press International

MIAMI (UPI) — A Chicago-bound jetliner which crashed and burned in Florida's vast Everglades swampland, killing all 43 persons aboard, was inspected today by experts in an attempt to explain its mysterious plunge.

Helicopters flew to the remote site at dawn and a team of a dozen government aviation authorities started the painstaking task of examining the scattered wreckage.

UPI newsmen at the scene saw wreckage scattered over an area about two square miles.

There was no furrow to indicate that the pilot of the ill-fated Northwest Orient airliner which disappeared minutes after takeoff Tuesday had attempted any sort of emergency landing.

Other witnesses reported small broken pieces of wreckage scattered in a path for eight miles leading to the major portion of the fuselage that lay crumpled like a cigar ground underfoot.

Removal of Bodies
A helicopter hoarse service was set up to move the burned and broken bodies of the 35 passengers, many of them prominent Midwesterners returning from vacations in Florida, and eight crewmen.

A makeshift morgue was opened in a little two-room Indian school house, 15 miles from the crash scene.

Radio newsmen Dan Millott of Naples, Fla., flew over the scene early today and reported that "small bits of wreckage are scattered in a path about eight miles long."

A shattered piece of tail section stuck grotesquely from the charred sawgrass and part of the wreckage was still smoking.

Five Civil Aeronautics Board investigators from Miami and seven specialists from Washington went to the scene to review all possible causes of the crash, including sabotage.

Seven Minutes Out
The flight, which was to continue on to Seattle and Portland after its Chicago stop, took off at 1:35 p.m. Tuesday. Seven minutes later it sent its last radio message, the pilot's report that he was starting to climb from 17,000 to 25,000 feet. Then there was silence.

The plane took off into a squall line, part of a thunderstorm front that raked the Florida peninsula. Witnesses reported seeing a "fireball" and debris raining from the sky shortly after the plane's last radio message.

A Coast Guard helicopter pilot found the wreckage of the four-engine Northwest Orient Airliner Boeing 720B about five hours after the plane lost radio contact with Miami International Airport.

Lt. Cmdr. James Dillon, Akron, Ohio, located the wreckage 43 miles west of Miami.

"There are no survivors," Dillon reported. "I saw one body that appeared to be intact. Luggage was strewn everywhere."

Skies Clear But New Cold Front Headed Our Way

By United Press International
Skies cleared across most of Texas today, and two-day snow accumulation in West Texas and the Panhandle began melting. Cloudiness in the Rio Grande Valley again averted a major freeze.

Another cold front may reach the state by Thursday.

Sub-freezing temperatures gripped all of Texas but the Valley again today, ranging down to 8 degrees at Lubbock and 9 at Alpine. Early-morning-lows were mostly in the teens in the Panhandle.

The U.S. Weather Bureau predicted a warming trend would set in today. However, forecasts called for temperatures to dip below freezing again tonight.

Overnight lows included 34s at Corpus Christi, McAllen and Brownsville. Laredo reported a low of 31.

Colder temperatures were expected in northern sections Thursday.

In extended five-day forecasts the Weather Bureau predicted snow for North Texas over the weekend, with temperatures well below normal.

The five-day forecast held out the prospect for a warmup in all sections, with bitter cold returning by the weekend. Badly needed precipitation was in prospect for the entire state.

The extended outlook indicated readings would plunge to the teens or below in the Panhandle.

Party Unity Is Given To Macmillan

LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan moved quickly from a fresh parliamentary vote of confidence today into new efforts to spur Britain's lagging economy.

Backed by the best display of party unity since the Common Market crisis broke, Macmillan ordered full steam ahead on his plans for a new wage policy, world commodity pacts and increased trade with the United States, Europe, and the Commonwealth.

The first step was talks today with Walter Scheel, the West German minister for economic cooperation.

Macmillan's Conservative government weathered harsh attacks from the opposition Labor party Tuesday night to win another vote of confidence in the House of Commons. The vote on Macmillan's Common Market policy was 333-227.

The 106-vote majority was the biggest Conservative edge in 15 months and it indicated the ruling party, badly split over the Common Market issue, was lined up solidly behind its leader. It was the third Conservative victory in Commons in recent weeks.

Macmillan's task was to find alternative ways to bolster Britain's economy now that France has vetoed British membership in the six-nation European Common Market.

A Famous Newsmen And Farm Expert Asks How Can There Be ...

Too Much Food In A Hungry World?

EDITOR'S NOTE: John Strohm has been farming, talking to farmers or writing about farming since just about the day he was born 50 years ago on a farm in the horseweed bottoms of the Wash. As an agricultural expert and reporter he has seen all of the U. S. (including Washington where he has served as a presidential adviser), Russia, Red China (the only accredited U. S. newspaper correspondent to gain admission), India, Southeast Asia and Latin America. In these travels, he has been struck by the cruel paradox of America trying to cut its food production while most of the world is hungry. This is the first of five articles in which Strohm tells how we got into such a dilemma and suggests some solutions.

By JOHN STROHM
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA) — The No. 1 fear in the world today is man's dread of not getting enough food to fill family stomachs.

If you could poll all persons on earth, you would find the threat of quick extinction in atomic war lagging far behind the fear of slow starvation.

"How am I going to feed my family?" is a plaintive wail I've heard in four continents. Yet the U. S. has spent billions of dollars to hold down food production — and threatens farmers with heavy fines if they grow too much. Does this make sense?

The brutal world facts are these: Two out of three persons on earth are not getting enough food to work efficiently. I've seen bloated stomachs of malnourished children in the Middle East. . . diseased, disabled, hopeless people in Latin America. . . the dull eyes of apathetic Chinese who have been living on wild roots.

Fanning the hunger fire is a death race between the feeders and the breeders to determine if man can produce as fast as he can reproduce. Every hour 5,000 more new mouths are crying to be fed.

It's a crazy world. While most nations hear wails of hunger, while the Iron Curtain countries desperately try to cope with food shortages, we wallow in surpluses and spend $4 billion a year to bribe farmers not to grow too much.

Food is a problem in three great areas of the world and each is of profound significance to us all as consumers, citizens, and taxpayers. The areas are the have-not nations, the Iron Curtain countries, and the United States.

1. Have-not countries in Asia, Latin America and Africa are underdeveloped because they are underfed. Hungry people are listless people. Without fuel, the human body hits on only a couple of cylinders. What we criticize as a lazy "manana" attitude is often no more than malnutrition.

Few of these countries are holding their own in the life and death struggle between production and reproduction. Take Egypt, one of the cradles of civilization, where an advanced agriculture was carried on 5,000 years ago. In 1875 Egypt had 5.7 million acres of cultivated land, and 5 million people barely getting by. Today, she has 6 million acres and 25 million people—five times as many to be fed from about the same land. Egypt hopes that the Aswan Dam will irrigate 30 per cent more land over the next 10 years. But by that time she also will have 30 per cent more people.

"Two thirds of all mankind are on a treadmill — the age-old struggle against chronic malnutrition," Dr. B. R. Sen, Director General of the Food and Agricultural Organization of the United Nations, told me recently in his Rome headquarters.

Many of these people are desperately hungry. Many more suffer a debilitation that stunts the desire to help themselves. When a man and his family must devote all their time to growing food for survival, all thoughts and desire for self-help are crowded out of their lives.

"For most of the 70 less developed countries containing 1.9 billion persons," says our Department of Agriculture, "diets are nutritionally inadequate, malnutrition is widespread and persistent, and there is no likelihood the food problems soon will be solved."

These people live on the ragged edge of starvation: a pound of rice or corn a day is a typical ration. They have only one acre of land per person to produce food, and they use a scant 1.5 pounds of fertilizer per person.

In the U. S., we have about 2.5

acres and use about 270 pounds of commercial fertilizer per person. No wonder there have been marches in Mexico that had to be quelled with troops, food riots in Brazil and other nations around the globe.

"Is U. S. surplus the answer to the world's food problem?" "No," says Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman. "If all our stored up abundance of food were made available abroad to people with inadequate diets, it would not close the food gap for even one year."

The most our food can provide is a temporary shot in the arm for nations such as India and Egypt — while they get set to help themselves.

The No. 1 hope of the world's hungry is self-help. In Mexico I have just seen how a handful of Americans, with a small budget from the Rockefeller Foundation, have sparked a chain reaction that has doubled Mexico's food production in the last 10 years. As a result, her people today get 2,700 calories to eat — compared with a near starvation 1,700 calories only 25 years ago.

And this despite the fact that her population is the fastest rising in Latin America. Many have no nations have the resources to do likewise.

Significance: Underdeveloped areas will remain underdeveloped so long as they cannot get enough to eat. Pouring money and food into these countries is like pouring it down a rathole — unless it helps them get on their feet. The U. S. almost alone has the knowledge to do the job.

2. Food is the Achilles' heel of Iron Curtain countries who force their farmers to work collectively. They hope a little private enterprise will produce more food.

(Recent Russian reports reveal food rioting that had to be smashed with Soviet troops. In 1958, as I toured Soviet farms, I saw Khrushchev's boasts on catching up with U. S. food production. They were plastered on signs in potato patches, cow barns, pig pens and collective farm headquarters. These wild promises now have been replaced by bitter complaints of failure. The situation would be worse except for the fact that a big share of Russia's food comes from the tiny private plots each farmer has. Russia has nearly half of her people on the land. A farmer can feed himself and 3 or 4 others.

(In the U. S., under private enterprise, only 8 per cent of the population is on the land, and one farmer produces enough to feed himself and 26 others.)

Red China is on the verge of collapse today primarily due to the mishandling of 500 million peasants. I was in Red China during the formation of the communes—the only accredited American newspaper correspondent to penetrate the Bamboo Curtain. I saw the Communists destroying all vestiges of private enterprise — such as private farms, private vegetable gardens, even private pigs. More recently, I talked with gaunt refugees who had been eating weeks, leaves and wild roots. From her neighbor, I learned of a mother who threw her three children into a river to drown and then jumped in to drown with them — rather than see them die of slow starvation.

It's a grim fact that 40 million Chinese would have starved last winter if China had not bought grain from Australia and Canada. Unless they can buy more surplus grain, an equally desperate situation faces the Chinese this winter.

(The U. S. taxpayers now pay more than $1 million a day to store surplus crops we don't need.)

It is not mere coincidence that the best fed Communist countries are Yugoslavia and Poland—where Red authorities reluctantly gave up trying to herd farmers into collectives. Red Chinese officials have seen a little light. They now promise peasants their own private pigs and garden plots, in the hopes a little private enterprise will produce more food.

BLAST KILLS CAPTAIN
NEW YORK (UPI)—An explosion apparently caused by a propane gas leak blasted away the superstructure of a tugboat Monday killing its captain.

Authorities said Capt. John V. Hanson, 46, Cliffwood Beach, N. J., triggered the fatal blast when he turned on the ignition and pressed the starter button of his craft.

(In the U. S. government planners want stricter controls so farmers will produce less.)

Significance: We are not doing enough to exploit our food superiority. The developing nations should be told that the Communist way leads to less food and rationing. If they want to hitch their wagon to the star of plenty—that's the U. S. Our gift is not food, but know-how and system.

3. The U. S. also has a food problem—too much. It has cost the taxpayers $48.6 billion the last 26 years as we tried to limit food production.

We have the best fed nation on earth. We eat 4.66 lbs. of food daily in a wide variety of vegetables, meats and dairy products, according to the Food and Agricultural Organization. An Indian eats 1.23 lbs., and 85 per cent of that is rice. We eat 10 times as much animal protein as the Far East, and our children are bigger, healthier, stronger.

No farmers on earth ever produced so much food. . . to feed so many. . . such a high quality diet. . . at such a reasonable price.

But government controls threaten the farmer's efficiency. And does it make any earthly sense in a world of want to threaten farmers with jail if they grow too much food?

(Next: The ABCs of the Crazy Farm Problem.)

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI) — So far as the near and intermediate term outlook is concerned, investors and traders would probably do well to exercise some degree of caution, says Shearson, Ham-mill & Co.

In view of the sharp advance which the market has enjoyed in recent months, the relatively high level of stock prices in relation to current earnings, and the likelihood that the tax issue will not be resolved for awhile, the upward trend in equity prices may well come to a temporary halt.

Harris, Upham & Co. places on its list of favored stock groups: Autos, chemicals, electric utilities, oils, paper containers, radio and television, rails, rayons, shipping, sugar and textile weavers.

Walter K. Gutman of Stearns & Co. believes the technical situation is weaker than it was at the time of Cuba. "The market is in a position where it could react to disillusion and uncertainty," he says. Possibilities of disillusion lie in the area of taxes, of general business progress, of Cuba and now of how unified is Europe really going to be.

Indicator Digest, Inc. notes that technical signs of a coming secondary downswing have been remarkably absent thus far. However, the rails until now have consistently refused to go through their 1961 high of 152.98 every time they approached it and there is also the time element itself. Any secondary upswing in its fourth month is just living on borrowed time, the Digest says.

Many Penny Cards

OWENSBORO, Ky. (UPI)—You may have a small fortune lying around your house in the form of General Electric advertising postal cards hanging on line cords of repaired radios and television sets. They are standard government two-cent printed postal cards which were "over-printed" by the Chicago Post Office when the postage rate rose to three cents in 1958 — and now worth up to $250 to stamp collectors.

Sir Gordon Richards, English jockey, holds the world's record for winners.

This Home Recipe Takes Off Ugly Fat

Mrs. Ann Purcell, 110 N. Adams Ave., Dallas, Texas, is one of the many who have found Barcentrate the ideal way to take off ugly fat. Mrs. Purcell writes as follows: "I have lost 15 pounds taking Barcentrate. It reduced my waist line and relieved me of bloating and gas, as well as constipation." Barcentrate has been sold in Texas for over 20 years. Obtainable at all Texas drug counters. Money back guarantee on very first bottle.

FORTY MILLION CHINESE would have starved this winter without imported grain. Average Chinese lives on 10-15 ounces of rice a day.

Izzard
 er are. He listed among these agriculture, finance, labor, welfare, etc.
 "The move is on for government controlled education," he said, "and when it comes we will be raising a race of robots."
 The speaker said the people are being conditioned day by day to control by the top and the pity of it is we are growing accustomed to centralization.
 "Our Constitution is a unique document. If we ever let this system go, we will never get anything like it."
 Izzard declared that socialistic forces are at work in the country in a thousand different ways and it is up to individuals to take action to stop them.
 "Freedom is the thing," he said, "not comfort or security. Ask yourself, am I letting others plan for me, or am I being an individual?"
 Also on last night's program was Mrs. Lia Wills, who formerly lived under communist control in Yugoslavia.
 She told her listeners that Americans take too many of their freedoms for granted. She warned of the Communist propaganda that is being spread throughout the world and called on the people of America to take heed of what is happening all around them and to take immediate steps to see that it doesn't happen here.
 Mrs. Wills was introduced by Jack Skelly. Joe Cree Jr. acted as master of ceremonies and introduced the main speaker.
 He also acknowledged the work being done in the Republican cause by Clayton Husted, Gray County Republican chairman. Mrs. Warren Fatheree, district G.O.P. committeewoman and Mrs. Betty Brown, vice chairman of the county committee. The invocation was given by James Brown.

Speaker Says Soviet Churches All 'Controlled'

TULSA, Okla. (UPI)—An Illinois physician told the second annual Christian Crusade Anti-Communist Leadership School Tuesday night that churches were allowed to exist in Russia solely for propaganda purposes.
 Dr. George Hess, a past president of the Association of American Physicians and Surgeons and a practicing physician in Bunker Hill, Ill., recently completed a tour of churches in Russia.
 Hess was the principal speaker Tuesday night at the school which will close Friday.
 "I went to Russia last year to attempt to find out from personal observation about the freedom of churches," he said. "And I found the church is completely controlled."
 "Many government leaders and church leaders from our country attend the Moscow Baptist Church and are apparently favorably impressed because they find that church packed to capacity with hundreds of people every Sunday.
 "I would like to ask them this question: How do you explain the fact that in this city of seven million people there is only one Baptist Church?"
 "Everyone knows it is traditional with Baptists when the church reaches any size at all to 'divide and multiply'.
 Officials of the school said 178 persons from 14 states and Canada were registered for the classes.
 Other speakers scheduled to appear at the week-long sessions include Enrique Llaca Jr., a Bay of Pigs prisoner and former Cuban lawyer; Bryton Barron, a retired State Department official and Dr. Bill James Hargis, founder of the Christian Crusade.

Speech

 strong desire for it, when something small and less expensive will do just as well, and be a lot less trouble to get," he said.
 With his quips mostly on the lighter side, Ringer proceeded to hold the attention of the audience with interesting remarks and anecdotes of a moderate variety.
 "Everyone," he said, "wonders why some people, who seem to have so little on the ball, are successful, while others who seem to be more intelligent are constantly driving and working toward success. It is something that is difficult to put your finger on. Success is 95 per cent mental attitude and 5 per cent know how," he related.
 He stated that industry is not looking for the "A" students anymore like it has in the past. "These people have a tendency to drive in one direction while the students with lesser grades are more in demand because they have imagination and dreams and the desire to fulfill these dreams using their imagination and skills benefitting more people," he said.
 And for success, he said, "age is no problem." He told the story of a little old lady, who at the age of 78 had been successful in the real estate business, starting with $15,000 nine years previously, money which she received from a pecan grove left her by her husband's death. During the nine years in the real estate business she multiplied the $15,000 into $3 million.
 Glenn Nichols, one of those attending, said, in his opinion, Ringer is the best speaker he has heard to date, mentioning that Ringer's speech being intermingled with remarks on the lighter side caused it to be refreshing to most of those attending.

Dear Abby... Silly Goose Should Take Another Gander

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: I am a 58-year-old widow who was left well-off financially. I wrote and asked you if I should marry a charming, fine-looking gentleman who claimed he loved me. I explained that although he had no money I wanted to marry him. But if I were to die first, I wanted my children to inherit my money, not him or his children. You told me to have my lawyer draw up a prenuptial agreement (stating the terms) and to have my fiancé sign it. He is now arguing that if he were to give me the best years of his life and I died first, he should be entitled to something. He says if HE had the money he wouldn't leave ME penniless. In other words, "what's good for the goose is good for the gander." What do you say?"

WONDERING
DEAR WONDERING: I say he might be a goose, but YOU don't have to be. Tell him to take a gander around at other widows and if he sees a better deal to grab it. And if he heads for the door, open it for him.

DEAR ABBY: I have a husband who said, "Honey, you work 7 days a week, so from now on I

Wild Flowers Are Program For Club

Mrs. Stanley Brandt presented a program on wild flowers of Texas at a recent meeting of the Pampa Garden Club held in the home of Mrs. Milo Carlson.

The program, titled "Call of the Wild" was illustrated with color pictures of wild flowers. Wild flowers, and particularly Blue Bonnets are a hobby of Mrs. Brandt, who recently received a commendation from the state on her slides of Texas Blue Bonnets.

Mrs. Herman Hanks, president, conducted the business meeting during which announcement was made of the program to be presented in the near future by Ben J. Lednicki, landscape advisor for the Texas Highway Department. Members approved joining with the Pampa Council of Garden Clubs for a flower show in May.

Refreshments were served from an attractive table appointed in the Valentine motif with a white branch hung with red valentines. Mrs. Lee Moore assisted Mrs. Carlson with hostess duties.

High School Students Present DKG Program

The Beta Delta Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma honored future teachers from a five county area with a Coke Party Saturday in the City Club room.

Luisa Prieto of Madrid, Spain and Turan Soylemez of Istanbul Turkey, American Field Service students, were the key participants on a panel, "Opening Doors to Better Understanding". Panel moderator was Keith Swanson, Pampa High School Student Council president. Other panel members were Janie Thompson, vice-president of the student council and Gordon Bayless, the American Field Service student representative.

Gordon Bayless gave the history and operation of the American Field Service. "At the present time there are 2,563 foreign exchange students studying in the United States," he said. vides $750; the American Field Service gives $750; the foreign exchange student's family contributes; and private donations are accepted."

Miss Prieto reported that she had been advised before coming to the United States "that Texas was the biggest and best". After having lived in Texas, she endorses that statement because of the friendliness and warmth that she has received.

Luisa emphasized the differences between schools in the United States with those in Spain. "The students in Spain take a prescribed course of study with no choice of student preference, have no student representation in the government of the school, and do not share the enthusiasm for sports with cheer leaders and pep rallies," she stated. "Most schools are private and not coeducational in Spain."

Turan Soylemez, who is a Moslem, gave a comparison of his religion with Christianity. He has also noticed a remarkable difference between the methods of education in the United States and Turkey. "In Turkey there are thirteen or fourteen prescribed courses every year," he said, Turan is deriving pleasure from learning the numerous American dances and seeing the "cowboy life". Janie Thompson remarked that "young people in all nations had the same desires, beliefs, and problems. Through close association countries merged into people of countries."

In conclusion Keith Swanson said, "No matter what type government, people are people wherever you find them".

Mrs. George Howard of Shamrock presented "Women on the Way Up", a regular program feature. She gave a biographical sketch of Mrs. Audrey Sanders of Canyon, who is the incoming District IX President of Texas State Teachers Association.

"Mrs. Sanders is a typical woman educator of this area," she stated. "She has combined the fields of teaching, home making, and active civic worker. She served on the Canyon school board with the distinction of being the first woman school board member in this area."

Miss Melbie Bird Richey, program chairman, introduced the program. Miss Mary Reeve, president, conducted the business meeting.

New members introduced were Mmes. Mary E. Bledsoe of Shamrock, Calvin Murray, Panhandle, Dale Prescott, Lefors, Otis Holladay, Ruth Watson, Pampa; Misses Lurline Bowman, Pampa; Shirley Kelley, White Deer.

Pampa Boxers State Bound

BEST PUNCH — Dickie Wills slams the punching bag with a vicious right as he gets in a last minute workout before the Ft. Worth Golden Gloves Tournament that starts tomorrow. Wills is one of four Pampa fighters who will compete in the state tournament. (Daily News Photo)

One of the most experienced teams ever to represent the Panhandle will compete in the Ft. Worth Golden Gloves Tournament tomorrow.

Pampa, with four fighters on the Amarillo region team, heads an eight-man delegation to the state meet.

The four Pampans — Johnny Ironmonger, Gary Wilhelm, Dickie Wills, and Charles Snider—have had over 900 fights between them.

Both Snider and Wilhelm are no strangers to the state meet as Wilhelm competed in the tournament in 1957 and 1958 with Snider making the trip in 1959.

All four fighters have been in the Pampa boxing program, fighting under the tutelage of Ollie Wilhelm, since they were peewees.

Amarillo, the defending team champion at the state boxing tournament, will field one of the more formidable teams ever to represent this area in the meet.

The fighters to represent the Amarillo area are:

112 — Jesse Rodela, Levelland; 118 — Eddie Gonzales, Plainview; 126 — Ironmonger, Pampa; 135 — Manuel Gonzales, Plainview; 147 — Wilhelm, Pampa; 160 — Wills, Pampa; 175 — Snider, Pampa; and Hwt. — Roy Rogers, Levelland.

Winners in the Ft. Worth tourney advance to the nationals at Chicago.

The state tournament is nothing new for the Pampa Optimist Boxing Club, as Pampa has sent a flock of fighters to the tourney ever since 1948.

Pampa fighters in years past have copped state trophies at the tournament, but no more than one title in any year has been snared by a local ringman. Pampa, with four boxers of championship caliber, hopes to break this jinx.

The Pampa fighters will stay at the Worth Hotel in Ft. Worth.

With a bee's help

Arnold Palmer Cops Phoenix Golf Meet

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—Arnold Palmer headed for a little vacation today with the idea that a bee can be a man's best friend.

Emperor Arnie won the $35,000 Phoenix Open golf tournament Tuesday after sweating out a decision by the USGA that a bee that landed on his golf ball and moved it a fraction of an inch toward the hole was not illegal help.

If it had been, Palmer could have been penalized at least a stroke and the tournament could have wound up in a dead-lock with Gary Player. As it was, Arnie won the event for the third consecutive time, a feat comparable to a no-hitter in baseball, and picked up a check for $5,300.

To get the victory, Arnie shot a two-under-par 70, the same as Player, and wound up with a 273 total. Player, winning $3,400, finished second shooting a 70 also, for 274.

The bee incident occurred on the sixth green. As Palmer was about to putt, a bee landed on his golf ball. Arnie walked away and then as he prepared to address the ball again, the bee flew away and the ball moved.

Palmer immediately called for a ruling. PGA tournament supervisor Joe Black decided to telephone USGA headquarters in New York, explaining he had never encountered this type of incident before. After a long delay, the ruling was made — in Palmer's favor.

"I'm playing such good golf," said Palmer after the victory. "That it's too bad that my putting has gone to pot. I used 34 putts to make the round. Maybe a rest will help."

Arnie still is searching for the grand slam in golf — winning the United States National Open, the Masters, the PGA and the British Open. At one time or another he has captured them all except the PGA.

"But I'm still going for that grand slam," he said. "And I will as long as I can play."

Player Sensational

Palmer this year already has won the Los Angeles Open and the Phoenix. But it is doubtful that is as sensational as the performance of little Player, the South African health fanatic.

Gary now has finished second in four tournaments, won one and tied for 11th in another in his six starts this year.

Like Palmer, Player will take a couple weeks vacation before returning to action in the New Orleans Open.

Player still is the leading money-winner of the year with $18,702 to his credit against $17,100 for Palmer.

Lee Rebels Halter Bucks

Robert E. Lee's ninth graders slaughtered the White Deer nines in a basketball tilt, 78-23.

Steve Swanson, scoring 20 points in the victory, hit a season high to lead the Pampa scorers.

Both the eighth and ninth grade Rebels play Pampa Jr. High this Thursday.

Rifle Meet This Saturday

Several teams from the Panhandle of Texas will be on hand for the 10th Invitational Junior Rifle Tournament to be held this Saturday at Pampa's indoor range located at Fair Park.

The meet, scheduled to start at nine a.m., is sponsored by the Pampa Rifle and Pistol Club.

Youngsters under 19 years of age may compete in the meet providing the shooters are sponsored by an organization or a responsible adult, according to Paul Edwards, Pampa range officer.

The competition will be in prone, kneeling, sitting, and standing positions with a .22 caliber rifle.

Officials for the meet are Edwards, R. R. Jordan, Bob McCann, and John Schoolfield.

Trophies and ribbons will be presented to the winners.

Lopat Seeks Something To Put In Athletics' New Suits

By ED LOPAT

Kansas City Athletics' Manager As told to HARRY GRAYSON

The Athletics are going to be decked out in pretty new gold and Kelly green uniforms this season. My job is to find something to put in them and I want to start by saying that the overall Kansas City picture has improved.

Look at it this way. A year ago we started without one established major league pitcher. Now we have seven or eight. We carried 11 recruits in 1962. They were not sure that they belonged in the American League. Now they know.

These guys figure to improve. So, you see, I have reason to be optimistic. We're going to be a running club with Dick Howser, Ed Charles and Jose Tartabull showing the way. Howser is a stickout base stealer and we are going to work extra hard with Charles and Tartabull. Between them they could swipe 100 bases and their exceptional speed strengthens our defense.

The infield is our strength without the slightest question. If the other departments measure up to it, we'll whack a few outis. Our second base combination of Howser and Jerry Lumpe is one of the best in the wheel. Norm Siebern played better at first base than ever before in 1962 and Charles did well at third. Wayne Causey is a fine swing man.

We have experienced outfielders and others who could come a long way. You know about Gino Cimoli and Bobby Del Greco and that Manny Jimenez was a find last trip. Tartabull can fly, as mentioned in the foregoing. George Alusk is better than a green hand.

John Wojcik, a 21-year-old who finished with us last fall, is going to be given every opportunity. Bill Kern drove in 97 runs and had 27 home runs batting .315 for Portland of the Pacific Coast League. We're high on Ken Harrelson, who broke the Eastern League "runsbatted-in" mark with 137.

The catching problem will be resolved early. Bill Bryan is a standout prospect and Joe Azcue is a holdover. Haywood Sullivan's experience will aid young pitchers.

In the pitching department, Ed Rakow, Diego Segui, Dave Wickersham and Orlando F. Na made a lot of progress in 1962. Segui, who turned in good performances for us before he suffered an arm injury, did extremely well this winter.

I would like to have a couple of left-handers to go with Ted Bowsfield and we'll do our utmost to uncover or obtain one during the training season. We received glowing reports from the Puerto Rican Winter League on Jose Santiago, who bagged 16 games for Albuquerque last season.

Bill Fischer should be a big help to John Wyatt in the bull pen. We'll have plenty of flexibility on the staff.

The Athletics have a club spirit equal to the Yankees.

If they get off to a good start, there's no telling where they might finish.

NEXT: Bob Scheffing on the Detroit Tigers.

Celts Scatter Lakers; Hawks Trip Warriors

By United Press International

Most National Basketball Association fans figure the Boston Celtics and the Los Angeles Lakers will wind up in the playoff finals again this season.

They are leading their respective divisions by healthy margins, so it's a logical assumption. However, don't overlook the St. Louis Hawks.

Harry Gallatin's men never looked stronger Tuesday night, rolling up 78 points in the first half en route to a 128-109 victory over the Syracuse Nationals at St. Louis.

Cliff Hagan led the Hawks with 34 points, although he played less than half the game. Teammates John Barnhill and Mike Farmer added 18 each in helping snap the Nats' five-game winning streak.

In a doubleheader at Detroit, the Pistons turned back the San Francisco Warriors, 120-115, after the Celtics rolled to a 120-93 victory over the Lakers.

SKILL TO SPARE by Dick Weber

41-The 1-3-6-9

The 1-3-6-9 leave is rare. To make it, follow the Spare-maker and roll right into the 1-3 pocket. Either the ball will be de-

ONE you don't see very often, flected into taking the 9 or the falling 3 and 6 will topple it. This spare results from a thin hit on the Brooklyn side that almost misses the 1 pin completely. The bowler who leaves this one has made a mistake in fundamentals.

5-What Putter?

Almost anything goes in a putter. The rules allow all sorts of designs and variations in shafts, grips and heads. The main thing is to find one that feels good and gives you complete confidence.

The angle of the shaft in relation to the head is important. A stand-up putter probably will find an almost straight-up shaft best, a stooper may need one at a greater angle. A putter with the shaft at the inside end of the blade is called center-shafted. Heel-shafted clubs have the shaft nearer the center of the blade. Straight shafts break straight from the blade while goosenecked shafts curve away from the face of the blade.

Blades can be either standard, flanged at the bottom or mallet type. Generally speaking, the mallet type blade-shaped something like a driver—is best for those who don't tap the ball too hard.

Billy Casper, a master mechanic on the greens, uses a mallet. So does Bob Goalby.

While willing away the winter, try to find a putter that suits you.

NEXT: Practice.

BOB CHARLES, New Zealand's great left-handed golfer, putts with heel-shafted blade. Different shaft angles are for different postures.

Fool around with all types. Try golfing companions' putters. When you've matched the proper putter to your proper stance for the green, you're ready for winter practice.

NEXT: Practice.

Harvesters Rip Sandies

Pampa's Harvesters came one step closer last night in running the gamut of Dist. 3-AAAA teams undefeated as the Harvesters trounced the Amarillo Sandies, 92-63.

Wayne Kreis, in a shooting exhibition that left the Sandies breathless, bucketed 38 points in the tussle played in Harvester Fieldhouse. The 5-10 guard came within one point of tying the Pampa High school record of most points in one game.

Gene Brown in 1956 set the Pampa scoring record with 39 points in a bi-district game against Odessa which the Harvesters lost, 73-72.

Former Harvester Gary Griffin also came within one point of the standard in 1956 as he tallied 38 points against Childress.

With the 92-63 victory, Pampa became the first team this year to score over 90 points in Dist. 3-AAAA action.

The Sandies, playing Pampa a close game, 63-60, in Amarillo earlier this season, were able to stay in range of knocking off the district champs for one quarter, 17-14, but faded further behind as the Harvester scoring machine ignited in the second period.

Pull Away

Dropping six points behind in the opening minute of the second quarter, Amarillo was able to put fresh air into the Sandies' attack narrowing the hosts' lead to 22-20.

Pampa, led by two quick field goals by Kreis and one by Gordon Balch, pulled away from the rival Sandies to stay.

Amarillo, playing without the services of Leslie Lovett, was no match for Pampa as the Harvesters routed the Sandies with ease the last three quarters.

The Harvesters, in turning in a 52-point second half, took over the lead as the top offensive team in the district from Lubbock, 878 to 875 points.

Kreis, shooting 65 per cent on field goals, padded his district scoring lead with 38 points, almost clinching the title for the Pampa. The second leading scorer in district, Ronnie Peret, Plainview, scored 17 points last night, falling 31 points behind Kreis with one game left.

Kreis On Bench

Kreis, in scoring his 38 points, spent two minutes on the bench in the fourth quarter. The sharpshooter went back into the game for the final two minutes, adding eight more points to his near record performance. He scored the last points of the fracas with two seconds left on the clock.

The Pampa gunner set a scoring high for Dist. 3-AAAA this year with his 38 points.

Pampa's lead swelled to 32 points with 1:10 left on a layup by Kenny Hebert, making the score 88-56.

The Harvesters were deadly from the free throw line as the Pampans cashed in on 22 of 25 charity tosses.

In other games played last night, Monterey belted Plainview, 73-50; Lubbock ripped Borger, 55-45; and Tascosa edged Palo Duro, 54-46.

Pampa's Shockers won a "B" game preceding the varsity tilt as Carl Harnsberger bucketed a long field goal with seconds left for the 43-41 victory.

The Harvesters close out the regular season in Plainview Friday night.

TWO FOR SIKES — Pampa's Gary Sikes buckets a field goal for the Harvesters as the Pampans romped to a 92-63 victory over rival Amarillo Sandies. The Harvesters meet Plainview there Friday night in the regular season finale. (Daily News Photo)

Los Angeles Gains Ground In Bid For 1968 Olympics

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Los Angeles bolted to the forefront today in a behind-the-scenes struggle for the 1968 Olympic Games despite anguished protests by Detroit, which had been assured it was "in" but may wind up being eased out.

Los Angeles' chances were appreciably strengthened Tuesday and Detroit's proportionately weakened when the United States Olympic Committee was urged by its executive committee to reconsider the five cities bidding for the 1968 Olympics.

Theoretically, San Francisco, Philadelphia and Portland, Ore., also have been invited to present their cases before the committee on March 18 and 19 but officials from those three cities may not even show up because the competition actually has narrowed to Los Angeles and Detroit.

"We are anxious to put our best foot forward," said Arthur Lentz, assistant executive director of the U.S. Olympic Committee.

"Our decision to reconsider the cities involved was made because we feel a moral responsibility to

Longhorns Rampage Past Red Raiders

By MICHAEL RABUN
United Press International

The Texas Longhorns continued along their unbeaten path toward the Southwest Conference basketball championship Tuesday night, but couldn't shake their shadow, the Rice Owls.

Both Texas and Rice won conference games thus keeping a two-game margin between the first and second place teams.

Texas hit a torrid 56 per cent of its shots from the field to down the Texas Tech Red Raiders 90-76 at Austin.

Rice overcame a five-point halftime deficit to beat the Arkansas Razorbacks 69-65 at Fayetteville.

The win gave Texas an 8-0 conference record while Rice has a 6-2 mark. Six conference games remain for each club.

In other action, Texas A&M rallied in the second half to down Southern Methodist 76-70 at College Station and Texas Christian edged Baylor 66-64 in Waco.

The Aggies had to fight to keep from losing their second straight home game. An unbroken string of home-court wins by A&M dating back to 1960 was broken last week by Texas.

SMU led at halftime 37-32, but the game turned into a see-saw battle in the second half. The victory was the Aggies' fifth against three losses in league play. SMU's conference mark now stands at 3-5.

TCU's win boosted its league record to 1-7. Baylor's record is now 2-6.

Curvis Wants Griffith Fight

LONDON (UPI)—Brian Curvis, the battling Welsh southpaw, today was pleased with the way he "buried" gravedigger Tony Smith—and now he'd like that promised shot at world welterweight champion Emile Griffith.

Curvis successfully defended his British and Empire welter crown Tuesday night by flooring Smith six times before being awarded a technical knockout over the outclassed Englishman in the 10th round at Albert Hall.

Referee Eugene Henderson halted the scheduled 15-rounder at 1:51 of the 10th with Smith, who had been down four times in the 9th and th, unable to defend himself.

Curvis, who weighed 145 pounds to Smith's 144, has a tentative date to fight Griffith for the world title in Wales during May or June subject to Griffith successfully defending against Cuban Luis Rodriguez at Los Angeles March 3.

Los Angeles Gains Ground In Bid For 1968 Olympics

make the best presentation possible to the International Olympic Committee (IOC).

Result of Agitation

Detroit already had been designated as the city whose bid for the games would be supported by the U.S. Olympic Committee and the sudden turn-around came because of "agitation by minority groups."

Douglas F. Roby of Detroit, who is vice president of the U.S. Olympic Committee, was present at Tuesday's session.

"We're going to have to play the whole ball game over again," he said, referring to Detroit.

"We thought we had it won. Now we're not so sure."

Meanwhile, Los Angeles interests, led by Gov. Edmund Brown, were making a strong pitch for the games which were held there last in the Coliseum in 1932. The Los Angeles delegation pointed out that if the games were held there again in 1968 they would be sure to show a substantial profit.

In East Lansing, Mich., Gov. George Romney angrily accused Los Angeles of piracy. He was promptly joined by Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh.

May Be Wasted

Actually, the entire hassle between Los Angeles and Detroit may be a waste of time.

No matter which U.S. city is selected, it will have to apply before the IOC this summer or fall, and the IOC, which has the final say, could award the games to France, the Soviet Union or even little Madagascar—if it could build a stadium in a hurry.

AN INDEPENDENT FREEDOM NEWSPAPER

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by any government, with the gift of freedom, and that it is every man's duty to God to preserve his own liberty and respect the liberty of others. Freedom is self-control, no more, no less.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guides expressed in the Ten Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. For only when man understands Freedom and is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities in harmony with the above moral principles.

Move Out, Peasants We're Taking Your Home

The Bureaucrats have a new idea, and if they can persuade Congress to approve it, your home someday may be nationalized.

The Redevelopment Land Agency of the District of Columbia wants the power to take homes away from their owners.

The idea boils down to this. Urban renewal authorities would choose homes at random around the city of Washington, in which they wish to house applicants for public housing subsidies. They would then give the owners a limited time in which to "renew" the house to the government's satisfaction, at the cost of owners, of course.

If the homeowners failed to alter their homes to suit the government, the RIA would then condemn the properties, seize them, alter them at your (the taxpayer's) expense, and install tax-subsidized tenants.

Low-income families don't live in the high-income neighborhoods, and the government explains that's unfair. The government has not commented on the fairness of ousting people from the houses they have saved for, bought, furnished, paid taxes on and turned into homes.

Bear in mind, while you mull this, that the plan would create new homes—whatsoever. It would merely oust home-owners and allocate the homes to those who won't even pay full rent.

We keep hearing that "this is a free country," but our rights as citizens seem constantly to dwindle as the "rights" of government grow. One of the most cherished rights we have is the right to own our homes and be secure in them. Our early patriots were incensed about the government's presumption even to quarter soldiers in them.

And William Pitt, the elder, commented on the security of this right even in Britain, considered so oppressive of human rights by the Colonists. He said:

"The poorest man may in his cottage bid defiance to all the forces of the Crown. It may be frail — it may shake — it may be blown through it — the storm may enter — the rain may enter — but the King of England may not enter."

Now government seeks a power beyond that of a tyrannical king.

Legalized Piracy

The American flag, the proudest on the seas when the United States was young and poor and struggling, is soon to disappear from all but Naval vessels — unless the greed and ruthlessness of 18 competing seafaring unions can be brought under control. For 15 strike-studded years Congress has sought by larger and larger subsidies to purchase peace on the high seas only to prove there is no saturation point for avarice.

"The direct weekly pay of an unlicensed seaman aboard US flag ships working 40 hours, with the 16 hours overtime required by the unions," writes Robert S. Strother in the February Reader's Digest, "runs about $175. . . Benefits—60 day annual vacations, retirement allowances, etc.—can raise the 'keep' of a seaman to $10,000 a year. Masters get around $1,500 a month, or almost as much as a four-star Navy admiral. Chief engineers get $1,300."

But this is not all. "Overmanning," at these ruinous costs and by as much as 50 percent above reasonable need, is a widespread union practice, says Mr. Strother. Since any union can strike at any time without penalty and delay sailings at will—and there are four to six unions represented on every ship—the shippers send their cargoes to foreign flag ships.

As Mr. Strother calls the score on "Our Strike-Strangled Merchant Marine," US flag ships carried two-thirds of our trade in 1946, and only 10.5 percent of it by 1960. While the total of the world's ships over 1,000 deadweight tons rose from 15,615 to 17,426 in the past five years, our own dropped 25 percent—to a total of 900 ships, most of which were about ready for scrapping. And only 45 percent of this US tonnage is in use, while 350 US-owned vessels have sought economic sanctuary under "flags of necessity"—the colors of Panama and Liberia. All this at a time when our foreign trade has been expanding.

Plainly, our "fourth arm of national defense" is rotting away. And, Congress has failed to stop the infection with transfusions of tax money — currently at the rate of about $300 million a year—and the crisis is at hand. Will Congress or the Executive Department have the stomach for sterner measures?

Secret Target

Another attempt will be made in the 58th Legislature to make it unlawful for governing bodies of political subdivisions to hold secret meetings, with certain exceptions.

Similar measures have been introduced in the House by Rep. Bill Rapp of Raymondville and Rep. Chet Brooks of Houston, both of whom are newspapermen and who probably have a personal knowledge of the inherent danger of closed-door meetings.

Rapp is making his second attempt to get the law passed. He presented the same bill in the 57th Legislature two years ago, but it died in committee. Rapp said at the time that the chairman of a sub-committee considering the measure told him the bill would never be reported to the floor, that he was afraid it might pass. And that's exactly what happened.

The Brooks-Rapp bills also would require that all public records be made available for inspection "at all reasonable hours."

Exceptions provided for in the bills are public proceedings of records classified as confidential under existing law (such things as grand juries) and when negotiations for the acquisition of property are being conducted.

Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic society, has actively supported better freedom-of-information laws for the last 11 years and has had a measure of success. Twenty-five states have open-records laws. Press associations and newspaper publishers also had a hand in getting the statutes on the books.

The men and women elected to governing bodies of political entities have no moral right to close the door on any meeting where public business is being discussed or acted on. They serve as representatives of the people and the people should not be excluded from the proceedings. Altogether too many shenanigans are pulled in secret meetings.

The Brooks-Rapp bills would not eliminate altogether the suppression of news at its source. Coffee-shop meetings and informal get-togethers in homes would continue, but a restrictive law would help do away with the evil practice.

Pull Up A Chair

The first contingent of major league baseball players will be leaving within a week for their spring training camps in Florida and Arizona. These early birds are usually pitchers, catchers and a few promising rookies, who need extra time to get into good condition. Spring training costs each of the majors between $50,000 and $100,000 with the exception of the New York Yankees who draw better in exhibition games. The old days of barnstorming have been over for some years. When the teams finish training they usually drop off for about three exhibition games en route to open the season. Each of the 20 American and National league teams use about 950 dozen baseballs at $15 a dozen and break about 1200 baseball bats at $3 per fracture during their regular scheduled season.

After a slow start, resulting from the Cuban crisis, the Caribbean cruise ship business is enjoying a prosperous season, with the exception of our American cruise liners who were out of this lucrative trade for some time because of the East Coast shipping strike. About 75 per cent of all cruise ship business originates out of New York. The strike did not seriously affect the foreign flag operators. The passengers, however, carried their own baggage and the vessels secured fuel, food and other supplies at other ports of call.

Wonder who first called the principal actor in a theatrical performance a "star"? I'm show biz, that's a mighty important designation, and one not precisely known by many of the general public. You're a star only if your name precedes that of the show in the advertisements and on the marquee. If the billing reads "Joe Blow in 'Uncle Tom's Cabin,'" Joe Blow is a star. But if it reads "Uncle Tom's Cabin with Joe Blow," Joe is only a featured player.

It sounds just like the old cuss, but this anecdote is new to us: The late George Bernard Shaw received a formal invitation reading, "Lady So-and-so will be at home on Thursday afternoon next, at four o'clock, R. S. V. P." "So will George Bernard Shaw," was Old Whiskers' reply.

Allen-Scott Report

Despite President's Disclaimers, ONI Report Indicates Continuing Soviet Offensive Plans in Cuba

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy's soothing claim of the defensive nature of the Russian military build-up in Cuba is flatly contradicted by a Naval intelligence estimate.

Prepared for the Defense Department and sent to the White House, the alarming ONI estimate frankly reports:

"Retention of these (Soviet) military units in Cuba after the withdrawal of MRBMs (medium range ballistic missiles) would indicate that Moscow has not abandoned the concept of developing Cuba as a strategic Soviet military base."

This intelligence report, based on the Navy's close surveillance of Cuba 'from the air, the sea, and the Guantanamo Naval Base, warns of the offensive nature of the Russian military construction at Holguin, in Eastern Cuba, stating: "Soviet units are all in areas containing sensitive military installations of prime interest to the Soviets. Three are near the former offensive missile bases, and the fourth is adjacent to the strategically significant airfield at Holguin in Eastern Cuba."

"Runs over 10,000 feet long and underground hangars and storage facilities are being built at this field, suggesting the Soviets planned to base long-range aviation bombers and store nuclear weapons there."

In striking contrast to Defense Secretary Robert McNamara's disclaimer that "we do not know why Soviet combat troops are in Cuba," the Navy report clearly outlines the sinister mission of these units.

"The introduction into Cuba of Soviet ground combat forces is consistent with a capability not only to defend their sensitive installations against invasion, but also to secure them against 'counter-revolutionary' activity," according to the report.

According to the Navy. Pointing out the strategic locations of the four "elite" Soviet motorized units on the island, the report contends: "Their presence also provides the Soviets a potent source of influence on the internal Cuban scene."

THE MISSILE MYSTERY—Significantly, the Navy report highlights in minute detail the existing gap between the supporting Russian missile equipment that was photographed on the island and what actually was observed on Soviet ships leaving Cuba.

For example: In the case of the IRBM launch rings, which are absolutely necessary for the actual firing of the missiles, the Navy states bluntly that six were photographed in Cuba but none on ships leaving Cuba. These launch rings, next to the missiles, are considered the most important part of a Soviet IRBM missile complex.

The Navy's unpublished summary of Russian IRBM-supporting missile equipment photographed by U.S. surveillance planes in Cuba and the comparison of equipment photographed on Soviet ships leaving Cuba is as follows:

	Before	After
IRBM Launch Rings	6	none
IRBM Erectors	24	4
IRBM Launch Stands	24	1
Military Transporters	33	42
Fuel Trailers	31	8
Oiler (missile fuel)	71	2
Trailers	33	28
Generators	13	1
IRBM Propellant Trailers	4	2

In pointing out that more missile vans and military transporters were photographed on Soviet ships leaving Cuba than observed on the island, the Navy revealed the fallibility of air surveillance to locate all missile equipment clandestinely brought to the island by the Russians.

REPORTING THE FACTS — In his testimony before the Senate Armed Services Preparedness Subcommittee, Central Intelligence Director John McCone revealed to Congress for the first time that "the Soviets have brought in approximately 150 coastal defense missiles." He added: "A large number of these cruise missiles are still in storage, which suggests that the Cuban crisis interrupted a Soviet program to construct several more sites. There are probably missiles enough to establish 15 more sites." At present, the Russians have a total of six sites. . . U.S. measure to discourage foreign flag vessels from trading with Cuba have not taken the Soviets by surprise. Comecon, the Communist bloc's Council for Mutual Economic Aid, called a maritime conference to set up a regular shipping service between Cuba and Baltic ports. One meeting took place on November 30 aboard the East German cruise ship Fritz Heckert. Representatives of Cuba, Czechoslovakia, East Germany, Hungary and the USSR attended. . . Cuba's foreign trade with Communist countries during 1962 totaled $345 million; with the free world, $245 million.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

Question: "After reading information from Dr. Fied Schwarz, Major Bundy, Dan Smoot, Donald Jackson and Edward Hunter about government news control, how accurate is the United Press International wire service news reported in The News?"

Answer: The reports are as accurate as the individuals involved are able, considering their backgrounds and their ability and willingness to pierce behind the cloak of secrecy which most men in government seem to cherish.

The greatest handicap which reporters and editors face is the fact that most of them have been brainwashed into believing that the government ethically can do things that the individuals cannot ethically do. This starts at an early age, when they are taught that the government has the authority to take from some to provide schooling for others. We learn by example, and when they see the adults ganging up to use force against others to do something the adults as individuals would not do, they assume this is a proper course of action.

Having been told that the government can "educate," it is a simple step for them to believe the government can feed, clothe, shelter and provide medical care for the people with funds taken from all Government (that is those holding political office) soon become looked upon as superior to others.

An aura of infallibility is attached to an individual as soon as he assumes political office, although he is the same man he was before he took office. There is too little of the one-time attitude that a politician is the same as anyone else — "he puits on his pants one leg at a time." There is too little remembrance of the statement of Thomas Jefferson: "I know of but one code of morality, whether it be for men or for nations."

With this sort of background, reporters are assigned to report on the activities of those in political office. Constant association with the politicians who are promoting more and more government causes most reporters to assume the officials are sincere and to be trusted.

One of the most difficult jobs for a newspaperman is to hold himself aloof and detached from those with whom he associates. Unless he is able to do this and to reject the false importance which attaches to those "on the inside," he will find himself accepting as "gospel" that which is handed him by the officials.

Unless he can achieve this detachment, his reporting will be biased, unconsciously or consciously.

Loot Is Aim of U.N. Moves Against Katanga

By ED DELANEY

Some sage said that morals are a matter of geography. The un-moral United Nations, with the collusion of our State Department and the tacit approval of the President has been perpetrating a series of major crimes in Africa which would bring maximum penalties if committed in this or any other civilized country. Banditry, murder, pillaging and bank robbery are commonplace in Katanga. The crimes are committed with immunity and seeming impunity, because the U.N. is not subject to the law of any land. By being party to those crimes, the prestige of the United States has been dragged in the mire, to placate certain pressure groups in this country.

The whole aggressive "peace" operation of the U.N. troops in Katanga is for loot. The capital prize they hoped to capture is the wealth of that province. The copper and cobalt deposits there, plus the mining and smelting facilities that were built by the Belgians decades ago, are the loot which the U.N. "peace" army has been seeking to acquire. Spokesmen for the U.N., both in Africa and in New York, announced they had taken the Bank of Elizabethville with the funds of Katanga. That news item should have been captioned, "Successful Bank Robbery by U.N." — for that is what it was.

Katanga is not part of the devastated and pauperized Congo, where U.N. troops have been engaged in "peaceful" aggression for over two years. The operations are costing in excess of $11.5 million monthly. Almost the entire amount of this cost for feeding and mudding is being paid by the United States. France, Belgium, Portugal, South Africa, the Soviet and all the communist countries refuse to pay a penny toward that war of the U.N.

Recent killings of civilians in the Katanga area by Indian mercenaries in the U.N. forces drew some mild murmurs of disapproval from a small segment of the American press. But it did not arouse them to angry denunciations of the warring actions by U.N. forces in Africa and demand that the United States wash its hands of the whole disgraceful affair. Millions have been poured into the Congo and it is bankrupt. Dr. H. F. Verwoerd, prime minister of South Africa put it correctly when he said in a New Year's message that so much trouble developed in some of those newly formed "states" in Africa, that work disappeared. There is no income for the people, employment deteriorated and even if chaos and civil war is avoided the "state" are totally dependent on loans or gifts from other nations. The reason amateur political leaders in those pauperized little "states" attack South Africa, is because of jealousy. They do not want their own "state" coming to be so garishly apparent, in comparison with South Africa, where the Bantu people earn more, live in better houses, have opportunities for schooling such as is unheard of in these new states that exist in the largest of other countries — mainly the United States.

Michel Struelens, chief of the Katanga Information Service in New York and personal representative of President Moise Tshombe has been exposing the collusion of our administration with the hired bandits, killers and bank robbers of the U.N. A Senate Internal Security subcommittee headed by Sen. McCarthy will lams, Assistant Secretary of State for African Affairs and Carl T. Rowan, deputy assistant to an assistant secretary of state for false accusations against Struelens. The State Dept., even took action to deport Struelens because he has been getting facts to our people which contradict the misinformation emanating from the U.N. and our State Dept.

The Doctor Says:

Raynaud's Disease Changes Color of Fingers

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT Q—I have been told that I have Raynaud's disease. What is it? I am taking nicotinic acid for it and no other drug.

A—Raynaud's disease is a relatively uncommon condition in which exposure to cold and sometimes emotional stress brings on a change in the color of the fingers. In the more severe form the toes and other parts may be involved. First there is a blanching of the fingers, then they turn blue or red or they may turn blue and later turn red. The initial stage or pallor is caused by a spasm of the arteries that send blood to the fingers. This is associated with a feeling of coldness or numbness. The blue tinge results when the spasm relaxes a little and allows only a small trickle of blood to get to the fingers. The fact that the oxygen supply of this trickle of blood is rapidly reduced makes the blood turn blue.

On complete release of the spasm there is a rapid widening of the arteries and a rush of blood to the fingers causing them to become red. This is associated with a burning, tingling, or throbbing sensation. The process starts in the tips of the fingers and may extend to the middle joints or even to the joints nearest the hand. The more severe forms of the disease may result in gangrene or loss of the finger tips.

In many persons the cause of this condition cannot be found. In others it may be due to certain types of injury, disorders that cause permanent narrowing of the arteries, severe prolonged exposure to cold, heredity or other factors. It is sometimes seen in persons with lupus erythematosus, rheumatic fever and other generalized diseases.

Attacks may be brought on in some persons by anger or frustration. Anyone who has this condition must be especially careful to avoid exposure to cold. An attack may be relieved by taking a hot drink or a hot bath.

If the disease has been present for a long time, reserpine or related drugs may be required. Some doctors in France recently reported marked improvement of this disease in persons who also had a deficiency of vitamin B-6 when this deficiency was corrected. Nicotinic acid is another of the vitamins in the B group. Sympathectomy (the severing of some of the sympathetic nerve roots as they come out of the spinal column) has been used with good effect on some sufferers when simpler measures have failed.
