Water Rate Study Slated

Reduction In Operating Expense Of City Sought

A project to cut city operational expenses is "hanging fire" here, it was learned at last night's meeting of the City Commission.

Mayor E. C. Sidwell, in a meeting a couple of weeks ago, had instructed City Manager Harold Schmitzer to trim the budget or study ways of doing that and established a goal of $12,000 per month average of reduction in expenditures.

Schmitzer reported on his progress to date toward that goal at last night's commission meeting. The possibility of an increase in water rates will be studied by the commission in a meeting with the city manager, city attorney and water superintendent, Wednesday night. The meeting will be for the purpose of studying water rates and planning for the meeting of future city financial obligations. The session will not be an official commission meeting.

City Manager Schmitzer requested the session in last night's meeting of the commission and urged that it follow the recommendations of the engineering firm, Forrest and Cotton, Dallas, in regard to any increase in water rates.

In other action, the commission:

(A) Accepted the bid of Plains Machinery Co. of Amarillo for a Gallion Motor Grader at a cost of $14,900.

(B) Authorized payment of the last half of the current year's budget to the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority in the amount of $1,044.94.

(C) Approved payment to Caprock Machinery Co. on its statement of $5,200 for tractor and back hoe.

(D) Tabled action on a contract between the City of Pampa and Gray County covering Tax Service.

(E) Authorized the installation of mercury vapor lights on Brown Street and Frederic Street from Hobart Street to Tignor Street.

(F) Canvassed returns of the Charter Amendment election of January 31, 1963, confirming the defeat of all three proposals.

(G) Accepted the work as completed and authorized payment from Escrow Funds for the following projects: sewer lines to serve Behune Heights, $1,584.20; water lines to serve Behune Heights $2,649.59; water lines to serve 760 block of N. Magnolia, $909.78; sewer lines to serve lot one, Block 3, Simonton Addition, $365.61.

(H) Authorized payment of election officials for January 21, 1963, Charter Amendment election in amount of $287.

(I) Accepted renewal of the Public Official Bond for Edwin S. Vicars, city secretary, in the amount of $10,000.

(J) Passed ordinances 508 (pertaining to a four-way stop sign at Browning and Starkweather), 590 (pertaining to the elimination of parking in a small area on N. Cuyler), and 591 (pertaining to paving of S. Barnes Street).

(K) Tabled payment of bills submitted by Continental Oil Company, Motor Inn Auto Supply and E. R. Thompson Parts and Supply.

President JFK Presents Mental Health Program

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Radical new plans for cutting the nation's mental hospital population in half and preventing thousands of new mental retardation cases were submitted to Congress today by President Kennedy.

The program, built around hundreds of new, comprehensive community mental health centers, would be costly—running into hundreds of millions of dollars when fully implemented by the states. But the President said in a special message, "We can procrastinate no more."

Overall costs for beginning operations were included in the Chief Executive's $58.8 billion budget submitted last month for fiscal 1964. With his message today the administration proposed four pieces of new legislation which would involve $2.1 billion in new obligatory authority from Congress at this session.

Kennedy pointed out that mental ailments now cost the taxpayers more than $2.4 billion yearly in direct public outlays for services—about $1.8 billion for mental illnesses and $600 million for mental retardation. On top of these public costs are even higher indirect public outlays in welfare costs and wasted human resources, he noted.

"The time has come for a bold new approach," the President said.

He conceded the need for postponing new domestic programs and reducing government expenditures if possible at a time when he is attempting to get Congress to cut taxes.

"But we cannot afford to postpone any longer reversal in our approach to mental affliction," he added.

The President asked prompt congressional action on a broad national mental health program involving new legislation.

—To authorize grants to the states beginning in fiscal 1965 for establishment of comprehensive community mental health centers with the federal government providing from 45 to 75 per cent of the project costs and short-term grants for initial staffing costs. The federal government would provide up to 75 per cent of costs in early months and phase out such support in about four years. For this proposed system of community centers with facilities and staffs for all types of mental therapy the President asked no funds in fiscal 1964 beyond the $4.2 million in planning grants requested earlier for the National Institute of Mental Health.

—To set up a five-year program, starting with $5 million in the next fiscal year, for project grants to stimulate state and local health departments in planning, initiating and developing comprehensive maternity and health care service programs. This was the heart of his plan to prevent mental retardation. Government officials estimated that half of the current 126,000 mentally handicapped children born each year could have been brought into the world as normal human beings with proper prenatal and post-partum care for mothers.

—To establish project grants to states to promote public planning for comprehensive state and community action on retardation, plus provision of federal funds for up to 75 per cent of the construction costs of mental retardation research centers.

—To amend the Vocational Rehabilitation Act to provide additional federal financial assistance for services to the mentally retarded and others whose vocational rehabilitation potential is difficult to determine. The President wants legislation to permit rehabilitation services to a mentally retarded person for up to 18 months.

The depth of Kennedy's feeling about retardation obviously stemmed partly from the fact that he has a sister who has long been under private care for a handicap suffered at birth.

Official Claims Safeguards Stop Berserk Firings

SAN ANTONIO (UPI)—An Air Force expert on psychological problems says there are too many safeguards for a command officer who controls America's nuclear intercontinental missiles to start a war if he suddenly goes mad.

Maj. Harold W. Dietz of Vandenberg AFB, Calif., spoke Monday to delegates at a conference at the school of aerospace medicine.

Dietz explained that it takes two officers to activate the apparatus that fires a missile. The controls are so far apart that neither could be operated at the same time by one man.

The two officers cannot fire the missile until another crew remote from the firing position activates it, he said.

Unsuitables Weeded Out

Dietz said the Air Force attempts to weed out unsuitable missile crew prospects while they are training. He said he had no idea whether the Russians watch the mental health of their missile crews as closely as the U. S. Air Force in its day-to-day surveillance of American missile crews.

He said boredom is the worst enemy of morale and nerves in missile crews.

Dietz said he thought U. S. missile crews probably had better morale during the Cuban crisis when they were on the alert and their weapons operational.

Certain Standards Fixed

Dietz, who is both a physician and a pilot, said that first there were no special standards set up for Air Force missile crews. However, there have been standards for the past two years.

A man would not be admitted to a missile crew if he were color blind, had a difficulty with an arm or leg that would prevent his getting about rapidly in a missile silo, had a history of anxiety or tension or ulcers, suffered any chronic disease, or had any condition that required special medication or diet.

Less than 1 per cent of men in training for missile work are weeded out as undesirable.

Mayor E. C. Sidwell declared that he was sorry that voters in Ward One (City Hall) had to climb to the third floor of City Hall to cast their ballots in the January 21st Charter Amendment election and said he thought the city employes or employees who were responsible for having the election in the new City Commission Room should make a public apology for causing the inconvenience to voters.

City Manager Schmitzer said the election was held in the new City Commission room because the resolution calling the election specified that it be held in the Commission Room.

Mayor Sidwell urged that the next election, April 2, 1963, be held in the old voting place, the old City Commission Room on the second floor of City Hall.

Hobart Fatheree appeared before the commission to report the condition of sewage from the Pampa Sewage Disposal Plant when it enters the Fatheree Ranch some 4 1/2 to 5 miles "downstream" from the plant. Fatheree said the sewage was "unbelievably dirty."

Mayor Sidwell asked the City Manager to check into the problem. (See REDUCTION, Page 3)

Date Announced For Livestock Judging Contest

The Annual FFA Livestock Judging Contest will be held on Tuesday, March 5, according to the executive committee for the contest, which met this morning in a planning session for the event.

The judging contest, to be held at the show grounds of the recreation park, will be climaxed with a banquet on the night of March 5 following the day's judging of livestock.

Charles Smartwood, head of the agriculture department of West Texas State, will be the official judge for the event with members of his livestock judging team at WTSC as section leaders.

The judging will be in five classes — two divisions of beef cattle, two classes of hogs, and a lamb division.

The annual Frank M. Carter Scholarship to Texas Tech will be presented to the outstanding FFA member of Region 1 at the banquet. Prizes will also be awarded at that time.

The banquet will be jointly sponsored by the Citizens and First National banks of Pampa. (See CONTEST, Page 3)

Senators Set Hearings Today On Poll Tax Abolishment

AUSTIN (UPI)—The Senate Constitutional Committee, faced with a mandate from the people to abolish the poll tax, scheduled hearings today on a proposal to get rid of the requirement for voter registration system in Texas.

Registration Bill Pending

The House Committee on Privileges, Suffrage and Elections already held its hearing on the registration bill, and sent the proposal to subcommittee. Rep. Menton Murray of Harington also sponsored a constitutional amendment in the House to abolish the poll tax, but this proposal has not been set for committee hearing.

The Senate constitutional amendment committee will hear arguments on the poll tax elimination proposal tonight. This proposal is being sponsored by Sen. Abraham Kazen of Laredo.

Rep. John Allen of Longview introduced the constitutional amendment that would place a limit of 2 per cent on state sales and use taxes. Hearings on this proposal were scheduled by the House Constitutional Amendments committee tonight.

Proposes Sulphur Tax

Rep. Bill Walker of Cleveland and others sponsored legislation set for an afternoon hearing by the Revenue and Taxation Committee to place a tax on sulphur products.

The House in a routine session Monday passed unanimously a bill to put Goliad County under regulation of the Game and Fish Commission regarding permits to hunt deer and wild turkey.

Rep. Paul Haring of Goliad said the bill was needed "to do something about our doe population which has gotten out of hand."

The Senate session Monday saw senators use one of their seldom-used powers of checks and balances and reject one of former Gov. Price Daniel's appointments in a lengthy closed door debate.

Nomination Rejected

Senators rejected the nomination of 71-year-old former state Rep. Joe Ed Winfree of Houston to the State Board of Control. But they approved more than 150 other appointments.

Senators would not comment on the refusal, but it was felt Winfree's age and the fact that he was named by an outgoing government.

Thurmond, Keating Get 'Counter-Attack'

By NORMAN G. CORNISH
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara has angrily denounced statements by lawmakers questioning Defense Department figures on Soviet forces in Cuba, it was reported today.

Although not referring to anyone by name, McNamara was said to have told the House Armed Services Committee such statements were "irresponsible" and "disgraceful."

Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., charged today that Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., "has been guilty of disgraceful irresponsibility in his frantic efforts to get headlines by pretending he knows more about what is going on in Cuba today than do the properly designated intelligence agencies of our Department of Defense."

Stratton said that on the basis of top-level briefings by McNamara and Lt. Gen. Joseph Carroll, defense intelligence chief, "I can say without qualification that the senator is talking through his hat."

Battle Pentagon

Keating and Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., have been waging a hot verbal battle with the Pentagon over the Cuban military situation. Both have charged that the Defense Department has underestimated the Red buildup in its public disclosures.

As McNamara cracked back at his critics during a closed session with the armed services committee Monday, Rep. Don J. C. Bruce, R-Ind., charged in a House speech that the Russians actually sent 82 to 88 offensive missiles to Cuba, rather than the 42 removed at U.S. insistence.

This means there are 40 or more such rockets still hidden on the island, he said.

Lawmaker Says 40 Missiles Still On Island, Cuba

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. Donald C. Bruce, R-Ind., has charged on the House floor that the Russians sent 82 to 88 offensive missiles to Cuba rather than the 42 which the Soviets removed after the October crisis.

Bruce told the House that the larger number had been reported by diplomats of friendly nations stationed on the Communist island.

"I challenge the State Department to deny that it has been given this information," he declared.

Bruce said reports of the larger total meant that there were still "40 or more" offensive Soviet missiles hidden on the island.

"And the highest officials in the United States government know it," Bruce told the house.

Bruce asked to know, "How long will the State Department continue hiding the facts from the American people?"

The island, Bruce said.

Bruce said the information had been given to the State Department by diplomats of friendly nations stationed in Cuba, but the American people had not been told of it.

Issues Denial

The Pentagon issued a denial terming Bruce's statements "incorrect."

"No friendly government has so informed the United States," the Pentagon said. "There remains no credible evidence that there are offensive Soviet weapons in Cuba."

Stratton said that Keating, "and others like him," should "put up or shut up on Cuba."

"Under ordinary circumstances no one would begrudge the senator his little fun and another chance at publicity," Stratton said. "But when a high public official undertakes to undermine public confidence in our defense officials at a time of serious military threat then he is doing a grave disservice to his nation's security."

Macmillan Uses Confidence Vote In Economy Push

LONDON (UPI)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan used a parliamentary vote of confidence today to help pump new life into Britain's sagging economy.

Macmillan's Conservative government, in a pre-election move, announced Monday that it would spend $57.4 million during the coming months to boost employment in the work-starved North-East and Scotland.

The announcement was made in the House of Commons where the Conservatives easily defeated a censure motion by the Labor party on Macmillan's economic policies. The vote, along party lines, was 317 to 236.

The victory was the second for the Conservatives in recent days. Last week they defeated a labor motion attacking the Nassau agreement—by which Britain scrapped skybolt missiles in favor of U. S.-supplied Polaris missiles.

In the face of a commanding government majority, the Laborites had no hope of winning the votes. The motions were part of a series of pre-election gestures by which they hope to regain control of the government.

There have been indications that Macmillan will call a general election before the year is out even though he is not compelled by law to do so before the autumn of 1964. The Laborites, riding a crest of popular support, were doing their utmost to exploit the confusion created by Macmillan's failure to get Britain into the common market.

Five Hacked To Death In South Africa

ENGCOBO, South Africa (UPI)—Terrorists hacked to death five white persons today as they lay sleeping in their house trailers on a lonely road near Engcobo. The victims included four members of one family, two of them young girls.

Police immediately spread a dragnet over the area for the killers, believe to be members of the dreaded African underground "Poqo" organization which recently staged riots in Queenstown and Paarl.

The victims were identified as Norman Grobelaar; his wife, Natalie; and their two daughters, Edna, 14, and Dawn, 11. The fifth victim was Derrick Thompson, 19, a mechanic.

The bodies of the Grobelaar family were badly mutilated. They had been slashed with such native weapons as pangas, assegais and axes. Thompson's body was found lying half out of his trailer. It was badly charred when the trailer caught fire.

Grobelaar and his family had been camping on the road for about a month. He was a contractor supplying material for a new road being built.

First word of the murders came when a terrified African guard roused construction gang foreman Douglas Bridger, an uncle of Grobelaar, who was asleep in a house trailer about 500 yards up the road.

Canada Government Collapsing

OTTAWA (UPI)—Prime Minister John Diefenbaker, his Conservative government collapsing under the strain of a nuclear defense crisis, was believed ready to dissolve parliament today and take his case to the people.

Diefenbaker was expected to make his move shortly after the House of Commons convenes at 2:30 p.m., EST. However, if the prime minister should hesitate to act, there is no doubt that his opponents will.

All three opposition parties were united in their intention to support a "no confidence" vote at the Commons which would force Diefenbaker to break up the 25th parliament and sound the call for a general election.

Since he would face almost certain defeat in the no-confidence showdown, it would be politically advantageous for Diefenbaker to dissolve parliament on his own initiative.

Minister Resigns

The prime minister's hopes of avoiding a national election suffered a shattering blow Monday when his defense minister, Douglas Harkness, resigned from the cabinet in protest of Diefenbaker's refusal to commit Canada to nuclear arms.

The resignation, the first by a federal minister in circumstances of discord since a conscription crisis during World War II, confirmed speculation of a cabinet split on the nuclear issue and left a gaping hole in Diefenbaker's crumbling government.

The nuclear controversy, smoldering in the background for several months, erupted into an international crisis last week when the U.S. State Department sharply criticized Diefenbaker for refusing to arm Canadian rockets and planes with U.S. nuclear warheads.

Charges Interference

The prime minister lashed back at the United States, accusing the State Department of "unwarranted interference in Canadian affairs."

The election, to be held early in April, would be the nation's second in nine months. The campaign shapes up as one of the roughest in recent history with

BALLOON ROOM—The need for a super-clean room for assembly of guidance and control systems at the Salt Lake City, Utah, plant of Litton Industries, was solved by draping a plastic swimming pool cover over the entire 24 x 45-foot assembly area. Weekly Report To Texans

By SEN. JOHN TOWER

Senator John Tower (R. Texas) commented in his weekly report to Texans, on the recent long-shoreman strike settlement and the desirability of applying anti-trust laws to labor unions in order to prevent future costly strikes of this nature. The text of his remarks follows:

In the light of the recent long-shoreman strike that tied up the unloading of ships all over the East Coast and the Gulf Coast of the country, a strike that affected Texas considerably, a strike that resulted in a loss of millions of dollars, not only to the shippers and the workers in the shipping industry but to workers in many other industries as well, the railroads for example. It affected many businesses. It was a very costly strike indeed. It has finally been settled. It was a forced settlement. It was a forced settlement by the government. The shippers came off with the worst end of it.

Therefore, it makes it important today that we discuss some pending legislation on restricting strikes of this sort that are harmful to the nation's economy.

Such a bill is S287. S287 is a bill to amend the anti-trust laws to prohibit certain activities of the labor unions of the transportation industry. Primarily, the restrictions are on such activities as are in "restraint of trade," and those in which the monopolistic nature of unions is all powerful.

The main unions to which this bill would apply are the longshoremen, the railway brotherhoods, the teamsters and airline pilots and their crews.

No phase of our industrial economy is so sensitive as transportation. Every strike in transportation, even the most insignificant strike, has far reaching side effects. Every strike in transportation burdens people who are not a party to the dispute. There is no such thing as a harmless strike in transportation.

The vital importance of our nation's transportation system is readily appreciated when we stop to realize that today our modern industrial society is so complex and its activities are so inter-related and inter-dependent that we are dependent for the necessities of life upon the continuing operation of our transportation system. It is upon continuous and uninterrupted transportation that every community must depend for food, fuel, and getting to work in the morning and for coming home at night, for the operation of factories and business establishments and for the dispensing of essential health and sanitation services.

Clearly it is in the public interest to legislate in such a way as to prevent crippling disaster from strikes in transportation. The problem is to accomplish this without placing unnecessary burdens on the industries involved and on the unions and workers, for this is a free society and the right to strike is a vital privilege in a free enterprise system. Businessmen, workers, and union bosses are all aware that in the Soviet Union, one of the first acts of the Communist dictators was to deny the right to strike. That right must be preserved.

I am a co-sponsor of Senator John McClellan's bill, S287, the details of which I won't discuss because it is highly technical in character. The immediate problem is to secure a Congressional Committee hearing on this subject. This would open up the whole area of anti-trust legislation for examination as to the desirability of applying anti-trust laws to labor unions. The first problem is to get a hearing on this bill. This bill should be heard, it should be deliberated on and considered. Despite the fact that the general public favors legislation of this type, there has been very little manifestation of this sentiment to Congress. Senator McClellan told me earlier this week that he has received relatively few requests for a Congressional hearing on this bill. He told me that unless we see such a manifestation of public opinion on this bill, it will be impossible to get such a hearing.

So it is my hope that all you good citizens who are interested in the passage of this legislation will write Senator McClellan and tell him that you hope that a hearing is held on this important measure. I am sure that he will appreciate hearing from you and I will appreciate hearing from you on it, too.

Student Council Talks Victory Flag For School

The Student Council of Pampa High School met in the study hall this morning and took action on a variety of subjects, including buying a victory flag for the school.

The flag manufacturer has been contacted and it was learned that the victory flag will cost approximately $135. The company will send a proposed design to the Student Council for approval and any changes the council sees fit to make may be made.

On the foreign exchange student subject, the council will have an assembly of these students on February 13 at the high school and those from Amarillo, Tascosa and possibly Palo Duro will attend.

On the lighter side, it was determined that "Twirl Week" will be from February 10 through 16. There will be a party from 7 p.m. until 9:30 p.m. at the school cafeteria on the 16th. Licenses (for the girls) will cost 15 cents and for party admission 25 cents. Stags are admitted for 15 cents each.

Refreshments will be served consisting of cakes and cookies. The cookies will be furnished by the sophomore girls.

On March 6 the student body will have an election of the 1963-64 student body president. Nominations must be in by February 22. Nominations for president must be by petition. Seniors, Juniors and Sophomores may sign on the petition, but only Juniors and Sophomores may vote for the president.

In other action taken by the council, it was brought out that pictures of past foreign exchange students had been made and hung in the library. Today the council voted to have pictures made of Luisa Prieto and Turan Soylemez, foreign exchange students from Spain and Turkey, so that they may be placed beside the others.

The council also announced that the High School Red Cross is sponsoring a first aid class for students. Anyone wishing to enroll is requested to contact Howard Graham, history teacher.

Judge Handles Two Cases Here

Two cases were heard in County Court Monday afternoon by Judge Bill Craig.

Stachia G. Locke of Pampa changed her plea from not guilty to guilty on the charge of driving while intoxicated and was fined $50, and costs of court and sentenced to three days in jail.

Virgil Smith, Pampa, pleaded guilty to the charge of swindling with worthless checks and was fined $5 and costs of court and sentenced to 30 days in county jail.

Winfree said after his nomination was rejected, "I'm too mad to talk about it now—I think they just want to get some of those young fellows in there." Winfree served 18 years in the legislature.

The House State Affairs Committee met four hours Monday night to hear measures that would stiffen requirements to become cosmologists and hairdressers, change the state song from "Texas Our Texas" to "The Eyes of Texas," and designate Memorial Day a legal holiday.

All the measures were referred to subcommittees for further study.

Here are some more facts to add to the growing knowledge about the once dark continent. In the early 1960s Africa had about 26 per cent of the world's goats, 15 per cent of the sheep and 11 per cent of the cattle on 23 per cent of the earth's surface.

Are You A Victim Of Mattress Hangover?

By PAT McCORMACK
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — In most every family there's one victim of mattress hangover.

The mattress hangover sufferers usually need a crane to get them out of bed at sunrise. They get little benefit from sleep.

Worse yet, mattress hangover has been known to lead to fallout — which causes bumps and bruises.

The snoozing malady stems from progress of an anatomical sort. Improvements in diet and nutrition, you see, have combined to produce a breed of Americans taller and broader than their ancestors.

Mattress hangover becomes apparent when you take an inventory of common, ordinary mattresses. They haven't kept pace with the growth of physiques.

As a result, many settle down for a long night's sleep on a mattress that's not ample enough. Feet hang over; ditto for arms.

Sets Up Possible Injury

Those sleeping on beds right for mattress hangover often fall out and injure themselves — especially on nights when the nightmares are violent.

A bedding buyer's guide, full of facts supporting these points, notes further that psychologists have a hunch insomniacs will become less numerous when given a chance to snooze on a mattress that allows for longer arms and legs.

The statisticians probing mattresses report also that people who share a standard double bed today sleep on the same width as they did in their infancy.

The mathematics: A baby's crib measures 27 inches across; the standard double bed is 54 inches wide. Divide the 54 by two and you're right back where you started — on snoozing space just 27 inches wide.

How big should a bed be to prevent mattress hangover? Experts say the bed should be from six to 10 inches longer than the sleeper.

A good size for a king-size bed: six feet, three inches wide and almost seven feet long. This grandiose mattress has 52 per cent more sleeping area than the normal double bed.

Should Help Hangover

It's practically guaranteed to end mattress hangover — and fall-out.

The mattress people aren't the only ones feeling the weight of bigger Americans. In work clothing there's also king-sized trouble.

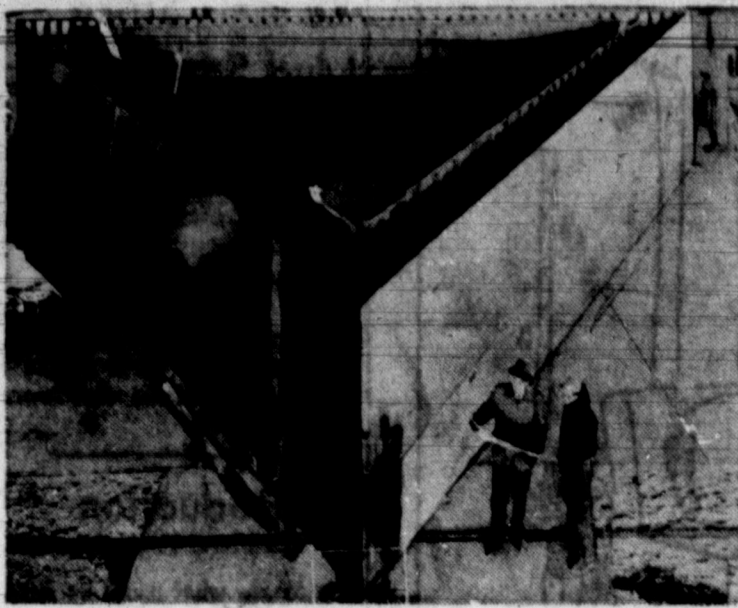

One manufacturer reports that since 1940 the average waist size in work clothing has gone from 34 to 36 inches — and the average inseam has grown from 31 to 32 inches.

In studying young women, sports-wear buyers report that today's girls are not only taller but rounder.

But to see the real impact of the king-sized American, look down to earth. For many years, retailers felt that size nine was the largest woman's shoe size they had to carry in stock.

Today, 10 is the size — and 11 is available in some assortments. Men's sizes have advanced with a 13 now available in most collections. Work and service shoes are offered up to size 14.

Three successive Presidents occupied the White House within 30 days. They were: Presidents Martin Van Buren, William Henry Harrison and John Tyler.

ST. LOUIS ARCH—First 42-ton section of a stainless steel arch that will soar 650 feet above St. Louis, Mo., was completed in Pittsburgh, Pa. It is one of two sections that will form the bases of the towering arch being erected as a monument to America's westward expansion. Model of the St. Louis Arch, right, shows how crane will ride platform up each leg to lift its huge steel sections into place. Tram railway capsule cars, elevators and stairs will be installed in the core of the arch and observation portholes at the top will afford a dramatic view of the city and the Mississippi River. Arch is scheduled for completion in the fall of 1964.

Get Your Child Off To A Good Start As He Leaves For School Each Day

By DAVID NYDICK
UPI Education Specialist

Many parents allow young children to prepare themselves for school. Neglect is not the intention, but unfortunately it often is the result. A child who is sent to school with proper preparation and a friendly good-bye is likely to have a good step toward a successful day.

A child develops secure feelings from an interested parent. A chat with your child while he is having breakfast will be helpful. Your attention will help the child overcome the natural fear of leaving the security of his home. You may think these suggestions apply only to young children. But many teen-agers are not as confident as they try to make you believe.

Proper Clothing Important

Appropriate clothing is important to participation in school activities as well as to your child's health. The choice of clothing can be developed into a valuable learning experience. Although you may allow your child some choice he will need guidance. Of course, the younger your child, the more supervision he will need. You should be aware of his program so that you can help him. Some factors to consider are physical education classes, outdoor recess, active class programs, school temperature, and special events.

As an adult, you are aware of the feelings of confidence and enthusiasm connected with dressing up. Children also experience these feelings. A child who is dressed in appropriate, neat, and clean attire naturally has an edge. He just feels better.

A good breakfast contributes much to health. A child who is healthy has the energy and enthusiasm so necessary for the day's responsibilities.

Interest Major Factor

Needless to say, your presence will give you the opportunity to see that your child remembers to take all the books and equipment he needs. Children forget things. This is not always a lack of responsibility. He needs help in organizing himself. He is a child. You may feel that these suggestions tend to remove the responsibility from the child. Perhaps, all the responsibility is not his. You will find that your guidance and supervision will be most helpful in developing a child who is able to handle responsibility. He needs knowledge in order to make adequate choices. As he grows you will probably find less need for direct supervision.

Your interest as shown by your presence is the major factor. Administrators, supervisors and leaders in all fields know that they must be available for consultation. They know that a word of encouragement and guidance is necessary for the development of a successful organization. This approach applies in many ways to a parent-child relationship.

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI)—The Taft (Calif.) Junior College basketball coach made a 280-mile, six hour mistake Saturday night. The coach turned down an offer to play in an improvised double-header and drove his team 130 miles back to their hometown.

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—At present the stock market looks vulnerable, says Bradbury K. Thurlow of Winslow, Cohn & Stetson.

Whether it proves to be so only time will tell but Thurlow believes current prices provide an attractive inducement to raise and hold cash. In short, he says, the market has looked and acted tired at a time when it would have been expected to show buoyancy and enthusiasm.

The airlines' financial health is improving a little, says the Value Line Investment Survey. In fact, some of the carriers are obtaining excellent results with their new equipment. Thus, the industry may have reached a turning point. While over-all statistics were still depressed by unfavorable results of the "big four," the immediate problems of adjustment to the jet age appear to have been overcome. Even the largest airlines are expected to show much better earnings this year.

The lessening of volume on the downside is an encouraging factor, Bache & Co. points out, but the widespread weakness in many groups may be an indication that the correction has a little more to go.

Building Your Home

When you are ready to build, you will find that the law helps in many ways to make your home enjoyable and secure.

Have you decided on the type house you want and the amount you want to spend? If so, then let's go into details!

1. Your Lot: Junior's school or your church may be nearby, but find out.

(a) Whether they are planning to run a highway through the area or nearby, or make any improvement for which you can be assessed.

(b) What "Covenants" or restrictions run with the land? To protect residents, the plats or basic deeds of some neighborhoods call on you to build a certain size or type of house. Do you want to and can you afford to?

(c) Easements: Either you or your neighbors may need to run pipes, or string wires over each other's land or to share a driveway. Have the abstract checked carefully to disclose any easements.

The Lighter Side

New I.D. For Congressmen

By DICK WEST
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Shortly before the opening of Congress, when the pundits and soothsayers were making predictions concerning the new session, I climbed out on a limb with a forecast of my own.

I predicted that it was going to be difficult to learn to recognize all of the newly elected senators and representatives who were then arriving to claim their seats.

I based this daring prophecy on the fact that the photographs submitted by members of Congress for publication in the pocket congressional directory frequently are misleading.

The photographs might show luxurious tresses cascading from pates that actually had since become bereft of foliage. Or they might gloss over such distinguishing features as dewlaps, crow's feet, bifocals, porcelain dentures and other marks of maturity.

Prediction Proves Accurate

It turned out that my prediction was more accurate than I had anticipated.

This year we had 68 new House members and 12 new senators. To the average newsmen who covers the Capitol, only about six were familiar figures, give or take Ted Kennedy.

During the opening exercises and at subsequent meetings, a number of my colleagues in the press galleries kept copies of the pocket directory at hand to aid in identifying the newcomers.

Some of them nearly went batty trying to match up the faces they saw in the chambers with the images depicted in the directory.

This led to suggestions that Congress should publish a new type of directory which would index the members by physical characteristics as they already are indexed by alphabet, states, terms of service and committee assignments.

Could-Check-Nose

Suppose, for example, that you were trying to identify a representative with a rather prominent proboscis. Rather than having to thumb through the directory to find his likeness, you would turn to the index and locate "Roman noses."

There you would find listed all of the congressmen who are blessed with this patrician feature. There might be a hundred or so, but only a few would be first-termers, which would narrow the search.

Then you would look in the index under "far ears," and that would narrow it still further. Then you would go on through the listings for "double chins," "thin lips," "heavy beards," "receding hair lines," "shifty eyes" and so forth.

This way, by the process of elimination, you would finally find your man. He would be the congressman whose handsome portrait you had missed in the photographic section.

Washington Window

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—When a New Frontiersman discusses presidential politics, the political urgency of President Kennedy's tax program is brightly illuminated. Kennedy gave his tax bill legislative priority No. 1.

In general terms, the political purpose of the tax program is to make good on Kennedy's basic 1960 campaign pledge—to get the country moving again. Kennedy has found it much easier to campaign on that pledge than to redeem it.

Theodore Sorensen, Kennedy's special counsel, spelled out the political implications of tax reduction in a speech here to Democratic leaders. His listeners included members of the Democratic National Committee and Democratic state chairmen and vice chairmen.

High-Level Warning

Sorensen warned the politicians that the Democratic party dare not go into the 1964 campaign with unemployment at its present high level. He said enactment of the tax bill would:

- Reduce unemployment and assist depressed areas.
- Reduce pressure for a 35-hour work week.
- Dissipate the present atmosphere of business hostility.

"The tax bill," he said, "is essential to all of these gains. If we can get action this year on a tax bill that we can take to the people as a party in 1964, and not simply to the special interest groups, then I think we will have gone a long way to solving many other problems."

Sorensen especially emphasized

"Old at 40, 50, 60?"
Man, Get Wise! Pep Up

Thousands are peppy at 70! So, if you feel weak, low in energy, "old" at 40, 50 or 60, quit blaming it on age. If you want to feel younger, try Otrine Tonic Tablets at once. Also for debility due just to rundown body's lack of iron, the "below-par" feelings you may call "being old." Tonic pep in both sexes. Try Otrine to feel peppy, years younger. 8-day "get-acquainted" size costs little. At all drugstores.

Dear Abby... Can't Cover Up An Office Romance

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My best friend had a few dates with a young man who recently came to work in our office. She flipped for him. He then stopped dating her and started to date me. I tried to fight it, but I couldn't help falling for him. Now he says he is in love with me and wants to marry me! I love him, too, Abby. We have been sneaking around like two thieves so my girl friend's feelings won't be hurt. He swears he never told her he loved her, and I believe him. I hate to lose this girl's friendship and don't know how to break the news to her. Can you help me?

HAPPY BUT SAD
DEAR HAPPY: Attempting to cover up an office romance is like trying to smuggle down past a rooster. You and your young man should tell "Miss Also Ran" the facts as soon as possible. But be kind!

DEAR ABBY: When dining in a first-class restaurant, have you ever asked the waiter to wrap up the left-over steak for you to take home to the dog?

BOSTONIAN
DEAR BOSTONIAN: Certainly. And it was delicious!

DEAR ABBY: We have been married 27 years and have 4 grown children. Please tell me how long does a wife have to wait to get hot water? He got me the bathroom set six years ago, brand new. Also the hot water tank. All he has to do is haul it upstairs and connect it up. He tells me to be patient. He isn't working. All he does is watch TV and work crossword puzzles.

COLD WATER WIFE
DEAR WIFE: Say the magic words, "Either do it today or I'll hire someone to do it." This works.

DEAR ABBY: I just came from a dentist who told me it would cost me $600 for a complete set of dentures. He is considered a very good dentist and my friends tell me the price is right. He does not do anything "on time," which means I will have to scare up the cash. Does a bank finance things like that?

NEEDS DENTURES
DEAR NEEDS: Call your local bank and find out. It sounds like a legitimate reason for a loan. (Then the bite is on YOU every month.)

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Hate to write letters? Send one dollar to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., for Abby's new booklet, "How To Write Letters For All Occasions."

Spring-Summer City Beautification Discussed By Committee At Meeting

The Civic Beautification Committee of the Pampa Garden Club met Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Floyd Watson, 2320 Aspen, to discuss projects being planned by the club for spring and summer.

Mrs. Ira Carlton reported on contracts made pertaining to making Pampa a "Flower Box City." Colored slides are being ordered for showing to interested groups during the month of April.

Mrs. Thelma Bray, chairman, announced that the Jaycees expect to complete the shelter-in-Aspen Park by April 1.

Plans are incomplete at this time as to the building of the footbridge across the creek in Aspen Park.

The need was discussed for 40 or more trees to be planted on the creek bank in Aspen Park. The committee approved the use of Willow, Hackberry, Black Walnut and Cottonless Cottonwood.

Due to the fact that several Pampans have indicated a desire to contribute money to Civic Beautification projects, even though they are not members of a garden club, the committee approved the formation of a patron's group and invite anyone interested to contact Mrs. A. J. Mitchell, phone 4-7218, who will serve as chairman.

The possibility of starting a Community Forest for Pampa was discussed, but details will be considered at a later date.

Approval was made for ordering 270 trees of eight varieties to be planted in Pampa.

Plans were completed for the meeting to be held Feb. 12 at 9:30 a.m. in Lovett Memorial Library at which time, Ben Lednicki, landscape advisor for the Texas Highway Department, will speak on the subject of "Roadside Parks and Highway Beautification."

Special guests will be city officials, chamber of commerce officials. Anyone who is interested in

Harvesters Host Borger Tonight

Pampa, going after a win that would clinch at least part of the Dist. 3-AAAAA crown, hosts Borger, the Cinderella team of the second half of the cage race.

The Harvesters face for tonight's 8 o'clock game in Harvesters Fieldhouse has downed three of its last four opponents after losing its first six district tussles.

Weldon Trice, Pampa Athletic Director, reports that he called Borger's coach, Tex Hanna, to confirm the officials after one official canceled out to call a SWC game.

"It doesn't matter who the other official is. We're going to beat you anyway," Hanna told Trice.

Trice cautioned this morning to buy tickets early because a large crowd is anticipated for tonight's game.

In games last week, Borger pounded on Monterey, 48-39, and Amarillo, 60-46.

Pampa, trailing 27-29 at half in the first encounter between the two schools this season, rallied the second half keeping its perfect record in district play intact, 59-51.

The Harvesters, 25-1 for the season, will dangle a 10-0 district mark and a 20-game winning streak before the rival Bulldogs.

The Bulldogs, learning the sweet taste of district victory since the earlier skirmish between the old rivals for basketball supremacy in the Panhandle, is the team most likely to upend the Harvesters in the four games remaining.

The Harvesters have several assets on their side in the rivalry that will make the Bulldogs' work all up hill tonight.

Pampa's one-two punch, Wayne Kreis and Keith Swanson, has dealt every team in the district misery from the outside with the array of shots the two guards bucket.

Another Pampa advantage is Randy Matson, the second tallest player in the district and the leading defensive player. Matson, who blocks several shots a contest, is one of the toughest rebounders in the state this year. Matson is also among the top 15 scorers in district with a 11.3 average.

Forwards Gary Sikes and Gordon Balch are both talented rebounders and point-makers for the Harvesters.

Monterey Wins
Tascosa, tied for the cellar spot

Clay Elevated To Number Two

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — Cocky Cassius Clay was moved into a challenging position today by the World Boxing Association, which boosted him from third to second among heavyweight contenders.

That elevation placed Clay, of Louisville, Ky., in the slot from which he can challenge the winner of the return April title fight between champion Sonny Liston and top contender Floyd Patterson.

Liston took the crown from Floyd on a first-round knockout at Chicago Sept. 25, and if he beats Patterson again at Miami Beach on April 4 or 10 big Sonny will be looking for a challenger who can draw important money.

in the district race, almost handed Pampa the district crown last night as the Rebels played Monterey a close game, losing 51-45.

Regardless of how Pampa comes out with rival Borger tonight, the Harvesters could win the district crown with a victory over Monterey Friday night. Monterey, 8-3, has three games remaining and would be out of the running if Pampa won as the Plainsmen would have four losses and Pampa only three if the Harvesters were to lose three of its remaining four battles which is highly unlikely.

The winner of Dist. 3-AAAAA will play the victor of Dist. 4-AAAA, which at mid-way point appears to be Haltom City of Ft. Worth.

Borger's top scorer is Roland Franklin, 6-3. Franklin is tied with Swanson, Pampa, for the fourth spot in the district scoring race with a 16.0 average.

Wayne Kreis, Pampa, is in first place in the district scoring standings with a 19.0 average.

A "B" game between the two schools will start at 6:15 tonight.

Bailey's Ability Will Carry Pirates' Load

By DANNY MURTAUGH
Pittsburgh Pirates' Manager As told to HARRY GRAYSON

It may well be said that a lot of courage was required to trade three-quarters of the Pittsburgh infield, especially when it was composed of the illustrious Dick Groat and Don Hoak and a slugger like Dick Stuart.

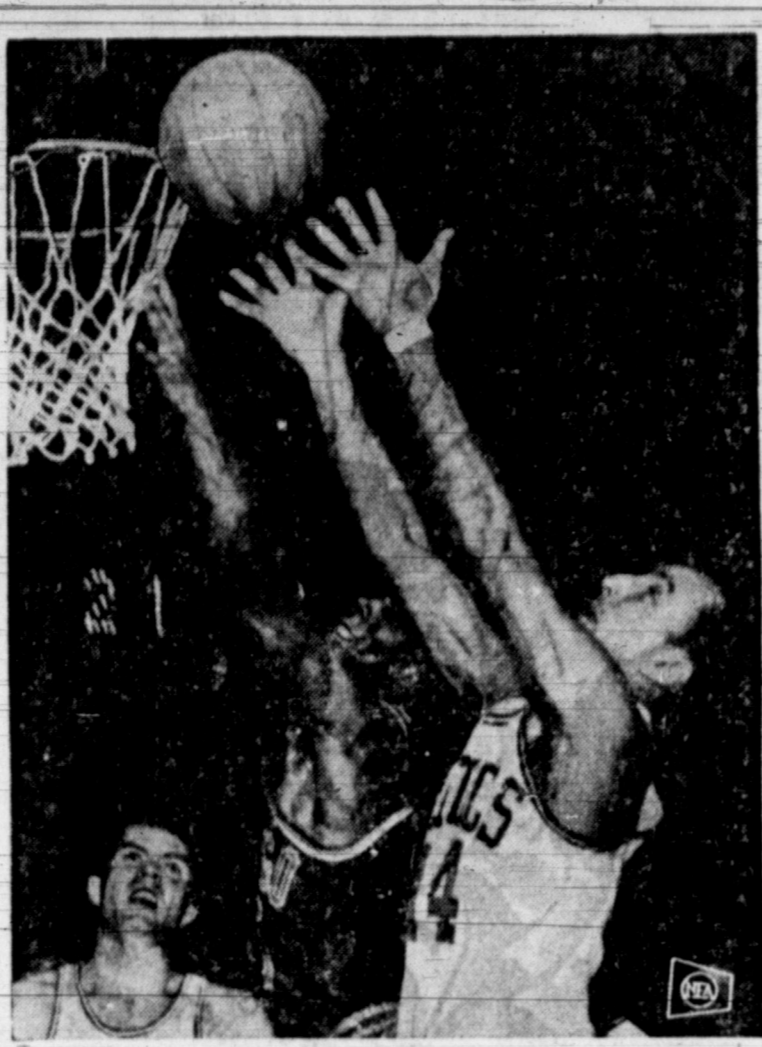

Yet I must feel that the swaps give the Pirates more speed, tightened the infield defense and added strength and depth in pitching.

We had to make room for Bob Bailey at third base and not because the club has a chunk of money invested in this remarkable boy out of Long Beach, Calif., who hit 38 home runs and led the International League in runs-batted-in with 108 while hitting .299.

There isn't any question but that young Bailey is the key to our success in 1963. That's a tremendous burden to put on a lad of 20, but competent baseball men tell me he'll carry it on natural ability and instinct.

Dick Schofield demonstrated that he can do the job at short-stop and has hit when played regularly. Having Bill Mazeroski beside him at second base won't hurt. Donn Clendenon, a big first baseman who can move, batted .302 in 222 times at bat for the Pirates last season. Julio Gotay and the veteran Johnny Logan are capable reserve infielders.

The outfield is set with Roberto Clemente, Bill Virdon and Bob Skinner and Jim Pagliaroni comes from the Boston Red Sox to help Smokey Burgess with the catching. Having obtained Don Cardwell from the Chicago Cubs and Don Schwall from the Boston Red Sox

Cincinnati Bearcats Rated No. 1 Again

NEW YORK (UPI)—Cincinnati, Loyola of Chicago, Duke and Illinois dominated the United Press International major-college basketball ratings today, with the unbeaten Bearcats unanimous first-place choices for the seven straight week.

Cincinnati, which has won 18 games this season and 36 in a row over the last two campaigns, was the No. 1 pick of all 35 coaches who comprise the UPI rating board. Loyola, unbeaten in 20 games, held the second spot for the seventh straight week.

Duke, which has lost two of 17 games and Illinois, beaten twice in 15 starts, remained third and fourth, respectively, while Arizona State U. held on to fifth place and Georgia Tech remained sixth.

Colorado moved from eighth into seventh place, swapping positions with Stanford, while Mississippi State advanced from 11th to ninth and Oregon State slipped from ninth to 10th.

(The ratings are based on games played through Saturday, Feb. 2, and do not take into account Monday night action involving Cincinnati, Illinois, Arizona State U., Georgia Tech, Colorado and Mississippi State.)

Midwestern Indians Top Texas Independent Team

By United Press International
Midwestern University's Indians, whose 14-3 mark shares with Lamar Tech the honor of the season's best basketball record, get two chances to improve on that mark this week.

The Indians visit Sherman Tuesday night to meet Austin College (4-13) and on Saturday night will be in Plainview against Wyland (5-13).

Texas Western, boasting a 12-5 record through last week's action, plays rugged Utah State at El Paso Friday night in another of the week's feature games involving Texas independent teams.

Pan American (12-6) hosts Monterey (Mexico) Tech Wednesday night and again will be at home Saturday night when Tarleton (6-11) visits Edinburg.

East Texas Baptist (11-7) plays at Dallas, (7-14) Tuesday night in its only start, while McMurry (11-7) plays at Arlington State Tuesday night and entertains Austin College at Abilene Saturday night.

Houston (12-8) slows down to a one-game pace this week—Saturday night at home against Tulsa—after winning three big victories last week against Texas A&M, Texas Christian and North Texas.

Hardin-Simmons, which won a pair last week to bring its record up to 8-11, entertains strong Oklahoma City University at Abilene Thursday night following its tilt Monday night against North Texas. West Texas (6-12) also will play Oklahoma City this week—Saturday night in the Sooner capital.

Boat-Ski Club Holds Ping Pong Tournament

The Pampa Boat-Ski Club sponsored a ping pong tournament recently with 34 people entering the meet held at the Spec-Winbornes, 446 Hill St.

Winners were: men's singles—Ray Duncan. Roy Pool. Women's singles—Shirley Winborne, Jean Cromer. Men's doubles—Roy Pool and Jim Keel, David and Jimmy Enloe. Women's doubles—Shirley Winborne and Lynette Keel, LaJuana Pool and Pat Enloe.

Trophies were presented to first and second place winners.

Houston Holds Spring Drills

HOUSTON (UPI)—The largest Rice Owl spring training squad in the history of the school went through their second day of drills today.

Coach Jess Neeley put the 90-man squad through a brisk two-hour workout Monday. He concentrated mostly on punt coverage to give his charges good exercise for their legs.

Neeley is beginning his 24th year as head coach of the Owls. The coach will have one of his most experienced teams this year with 18 of 26 lettermen returning.

Nicklaus Singes Course Winning Playoff Round

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) — Jack Nicklaus and other members of golf's "big five" left the California gold rush today heading for Arizona in the hope of striking another bonanza.

The National Open king subdued Gary Player with such ease in the playoff for the Palm Springs Golf Classic championship Monday that he automatically takes on the mantle of favorite to win the Phoenix Open starting Thursday.

With five tournaments under their belts, the touring professionals have watched members of the "big five" win four of them: Arnold Palmer won at Los Angeles, Player at San Diego, Billy Casper the Crosby at Pebble Beach, and then Nicklaus here. The only title to escape them was the San Francisco Lucky International, won by veteran Jackie Burke.

The other member of the "big five," Gene Littler, hasn't won yet. But he finished off the Palm Springs event by shooting the lowest round of the tourney, a 64—and appears ready to step into title competition in Arizona.

Pocket The Purse
The five men, in addition to winning four or five titles, have captured $54,023 of the $210,000 in purses offered. With nearly 100 pros on the winter tour, that leaves slim pickings for the rest of the crew.

Nicklaus, who at one time had decided to skip Palm Springs because of bursters in his hip, had been having a rough year for him.

When Gary blew out of contention by taking a triple-bogey seven on the 12th hole as he battled the palm trees, Jack just coasted in.

"It's easy when you have a six-stroke lead," said Nicklaus. "I sank three long putts and after that I was just trying to get close."

Wilt Dunks Winning Goal

By United Press International
Big Wilt Chamberlain's dunker with a minute to go gave the San Francisco Warriors a 109-107 decision over Chicago in Monday night's only National Basketball Association action.

On Sunday, Chicago had taken a 110-108 battle and Monday night's game at the San Jose, Calif., auditorium was the same type of game.

The lead changed hands five times and was knotted on six occasions until Chamberlain's basket and Guy Rodgers' free throw decided it. Chicago answered with one free throw but could not catch up.

Chamberlain led scorers with 35 points as all five Warrior starters hit in double figures. Chicago's Terry Dischinger had 24.

The win moved the Warriors to within a half-game of Detroit in their battle for third place and a playoff berth in the Western Division.

Bob Bailey
"Ability and instinct"

we should be well fortified in pitching.

Bob Friend, Joe Gibbon and Earl Francis are potential 20-game winners. Then there are Alvin McBean, Harvey Haddix and Tom Sturdivant and always the possibility that Vernon Law will come back. Fireballing Bob Veale probably will team with Roy Face in the bullpen.

It was time for a change in Pittsburgh.

All I can hope is that the Pirates moved in the right direction.

TEXAS AGGIES, Longhorns Play

By United Press International—
Two bitter-Southwest Conference basketball rivals—Texas A&M and Texas—tangle Tuesday night at College Station in their own version of World War III.

Texas, rolling along under the steam of five SWC wins without a loss, collides head-on with the Aggies, who haven't lost a home game since Jan. 12, 1960. They have won 30 games without a defeat since SMU beat them 66-64.

The contest is a must game for the Aggies, who are 3-2 in conference play. Another loss would severely cripple their chances for a title.

In other games, Arkansas (3-2) plays Texas Tech (2-3) at Lubbock, SMU (2-3) hosts TCU (0-5) at Dallas, and Baylor meets Rice (3-2) at Houston. The Bears are 2-3.

SKILL TO SPARE
by Dick Weber

35 - The 6-8

The 6-8 is a fairly common spare for a left-hander.

To make it, move to the left, follow the Sparemaker, nipping the 6 pin on the outside so it shoots across and takes the 8. This goes for either a right or a left-handed bowler. Be sure to angle the body toward the pin rather than standing parallel to the foul line as you would when delivering a strike ball.

The southpaw who leaves the 6-8 had better reevaluate his game. He left this one because of the kind of ball he rolled.

It finished too strong, driving right through the pocket.

ANGLE body toward the pin.

AN INDEPENDENT FREEDOM NEWSPAPER

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by any government, with the gift of freedom, and that it is every man's duty to God to preserve his own liberty and respect the liberty of others. Freedom is self-control, no more, no less.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guides expressed in the Ten Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. For only when man understands Freedom and is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities in harmony with the above moral principles.

The Roof Blows Off Again

The President's $98.8 billion budget proposal is not only the world's all-time largest in peace or war, but certainly the most fantastic. The anticipated $11.9 billion deficit, however, falls a little behind breaking the record, being half a billion below the Eisenhower deficit of '59.

A year ago the President warned us that deficit spending could cause inflation. Today, his fear is of "a chronic deficit of inertia due to inadequate economic growth", which is apparently to be overcome by cutting taxes, paying Government workers still more money and hiring 36,500 more of them!

In his message, the President reported specific progress in improving worker efficiency in Government bureaus: Three thousand employees now do the work of 17,000 in the Veterans' Bureau, a single Treasury employee now issues nearly three times as many checks and bonds as in 1953, another group processes a third more loans per worker, and so it goes. Millions have been saved, thousands of jobs eliminated. But we need 36,500 more Federal workers and a share of the $4.5 billion increase sought for the year beginning July 1st to fill their fatter pay envelopes!

Few Americans will be bold enough to question the record-breaking peacetime defense request of $52.2 billion, but there should be serious question of whether we should spend the better part of $4.2 billion next year in trying to get to the moon before 1970. And it is high time for drastic cuts, instead of further increases in foreign aid, and the controversial, paternalistic programs incubated and inflated in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

A budget calculated on confining spending to the limits of income would restore much of the sagging confidence in the Administration. Better yet, a budget that allowed a margin of the $2.4 billion first-year cost of the President's tax cut program, would have greatly improved chances of passage and inspired business with new hope and enthusiasm. And this could have been done.

But it was not to be. It remains for the Congress to protect those it represents from the clinging conviction of the White House gang that practically everything has a price - and that you can buy prosperity if you just spend enough.

and even dying." Business in downtown stores, he learned, has slipped from four to 20 per cent, with the large department stores the hardest hit. Florists are hurt by the lack of obituary columns, since people can't read of the demise of friends. If you die in New York nowadays, it's likely to be a lonely trip to the grave.

As of the 41st day, says The Star's man, the strike had "cost the newspaper industry over $60 million in lost wages, advertising and circulation. Some 20,000 employees at nine New York dailies have lost their jobs. Many are unable to find temporary work."

That the strikers will lose also, in the long run, should be obvious. Thus, all are losing, there are no winners. And the growing uneasiness of New Yorkers at being out of touch with the world and their own community threatens not only morale but the city government and the public safety.

The newspaper is indispensable to order and progress - as well as enlightenment.

Pull Up A Chair

By Frank J. Markey

This dispatch is written as New Yorkers go into their second month without their favorite newspapers, resulting from the printers' strike. Friends and even relatives often fail to know that certain people die, others are born and marriage ceremonies take place. You can even pick up choice seats at the box offices for smash Broadway shows, previously sold out. Auto dealers, used car operators, florists, merchants and all parts of the community have been hurt by the newspaper blackout.

Today's Smile: At a committee hearing of the Maryland General Assembly in Annapolis, a State official was asked what he was doing about unemployed pregnant women on the welfare lists. "Well," he answered, "we're trying to get them into the labor market."

Many popular - priced restaurants throughout the United States are now listing on their menus "delicious grilled chopped steak." Until a few years ago this dish was known as hamburger. It was a purely psychological switch.

Marcus Apicius founded the first school for cooks. Living in the era of the Roman Empire, he left many recipes which still bear his name. Many nationally known professional prize fighters, baseball players and football stars operate restaurants, saloons and hot dog spots in some of the nation's largest cities. Stan Musial has an establishment in St. Louis. Marchetti of the Baltimore Colts has a chain of ice cream shops in the Monumental City and Jack Dempsey is usually around a Broadway cafe - restaurant that bears his name.

British and Americans don't agree in the use of "s" or "z" in certain verbs. Over here, for instance, we "advertise," but in England they "advertize." Over here, we "criticize," but in England they "criticise." And it's fairly common for the British to spell it "sceptical" while we spell it "skeptical." Also, we Americans refer to the floor level of a building as a "story," but over there it's always a "storey."

County editor speaking: "The fellow who barks at his wife is entitled to lead a dog's life."

The American Way

By Raymond C. Baker
American Way Features

In these days of too much fear of controversy by business, it is refreshing when a David comes forward to do battle with a Goliath of the television networks in defense of sound business principles and American fair play.

The protagonists are James S. Kemper, board chairman of the Kemper group of insurance companies, and the American Broadcasting Corporation. The villain is convicted perjurer Alger Hiss, who used his exalted position in the State Department to act as agent for a communist spy ring.

Mr. Kemper is being sued by ABC for $452,000 as a result of his decision to cancel his companies' show, ABC-Evening Report, because the network put Hiss on the air last November to sing out "The Political Obituary of Richard Nixon" following the former Vice President's defeat in the California gubernatorial race.

Distasteful Verbiage
Hiss also used the nation's air waves to leave the impression that he was innocent and that Nixon, then an aggressive young member of the House Un-American Activities Committee, was "motivated by ambition, by personal self-serving." ABC pre-empted prime evening time, on which a Veterans Day tribute titled "The Fighting Man" had been scheduled, to air the distasteful Hiss verbiage.

As should have been expected protests by the thousands flooded ABC. Even former President Dwight D. Eisenhower expressed his "astonishment" to ABC Vice President James Hagerty, his former White House press secretary. In spite of the half million dollar suit, Mr. Kemper iterated that "we are standing by our position. We must preserve the good name of an insurance group on which two million policyholders depend for their security."

Bad Taste, Not Censorship
It is obvious that bad taste, not censorship, motivated the decision since the commentator on ABC-Evening Report, Ron Cochrane, noted news reporter and analyst, had absolute freedom of expression under the Kemper contract.

On the other hand, it was liberal commentator Howard K. Smith, whose reputation was built on anti-business commentaries, who allowed Hiss to use the air to vent his spleen over the political defeat of his arch enemy.

Thousands of tons of Communist propaganda are still pouring into our country through the United States mails. It comes from Russia, Poland, Czechoslovakia and other Communist countries and from Mexico. Still worse, it is being produced in enormous quantity by Communist-controlled organizations operating in our own country.

Some of this propaganda is individually addressed to students and others in the United States and is delivered to them at the expense of the American taxpayer. Much of it is very clever but false propaganda.

Some of this propaganda comes first class and some comes second and third or at book rates. But we pay whether it is mailed to our citizens or passes through our country in transit to other countries.

Much of this material is cleverly designed to influence immature minds and uninformed persons. The Soviet presses and those of their satellites are turning out literally billions of pieces of literature designed to deceive and soften the minds of the public in most of the countries of the world preparatory to the violent mopping up which the Communists are planning after these preparatory operations are completed.

Various efforts are being made to stem the tide of this subversive, false propaganda. Unfortunately, little encouragement is given to those engaged in such efforts either by the so-called liberals of our country or by our government officials. Too many of our clerical leaders, columnists and editors of the liberal press decry such efforts. We are literally paying for our own destruction—carrying our own cross—imposing oppressive postal charges upon our own mail in order that we may continue this free service for those whose purpose is our destruction.

On January 7th postal rate increases took effect bringing in a little more than $600,000,000 of revenue. Postal workers also got an increase in pay amounting to about 2 1/2 times that amount. This is going to throw the Federal budget out of balance to the extent of nearly another billion dollars.

Government Officials

Don't Spend Their Money

By GEORGE BOARDMAN, Ph. D.

A few years ago I received a letter from a general. The general explained how government was intent upon spending its money in the small business community to the best possible advantage.

Recently I listened to a government official voice a similar thought. He said, "Government will spend its own money to provide the people with this service."

We will hear more and more of this during the coming year as government tries to figure out how much of its money it will permit those who earn the money to keep for themselves.

Government owns nothing! When government refers to spending its own money, government lies!

Unfortunately, there are a great many people connected with government who actually believe that government is the proprietor of our lives, our property and our earnings. They believe they are being generous when they issue licenses to do certain things and when they permit us to hold a token interest in property and a percentage of our own earnings.

Among these are state legislators who honestly believe they are granting a "privilege" when they permit us to drive the cars we pay for on the roads and highways we pay for, using gasoline and oil we pay for.

A couple of years ago I talked with a former state legislator who proudly announced that he introduced the bill making driving a privilege in his state. I suggested to him that many of us have skeletons in our closets and that I felt sorry for his troubles.

The other day, I read an editorial in a minor league weekly newspaper in which the editor used a great deal of space trying to build up an aura of respectability for politicians and office holders. As I read the dull plea, I could only think, "Man-you protest too much!"

Since government has nothing but what it takes from the people, I believe the employees of the people should be reminded of this fact of life as frequently as possible.

Politicians who use the big lie technique, and which one does not begin to believe the lie is truth. They become hurt and indignant if their penchants for the big lie is pointed out to them. I become equally hurt and indignant at their insensate lust for power.

Of course the best way to combat the big lie is to institute a personal boycott against government and politicians in an entirely lawabiding manner. We know people, nodding acquaintances, who go out of their way to stop at state checking stations to pass the time of day with the bureaucrats. One of these people said, "We'll never know when one of those fellows can do something for you so it's a good idea to stay in good with them."

Since we do not intend to become involved with any unlawful activity we prefer to boycott bureaucrats socially, personally and politically. If we have any spare sweetness and light to spread around, we will do the spreading among self-respecting, self-responsible people and not worry about bureaucrats who apparently believe they are not capable of earning an honest living.

For the next two years tremendous effort will be expended by politicians who will continue to promote the same big lies in hopes of arousing our interest in the next Presidential election. We can say with great certainty that our big ears will remain deaf to the old lies and that we will vote for no one. We will also say this frequently!

When a sufficient number of people refuse to vote for those who spread the big lies, politicians will begin to realize their "liars' licenses" have expired. When a large percentage of the people become so engrossed with their own fight for their own freedom, with the business of earning their own living without let or hindrance from government, as to have no time to spare to political tyrants, the people will be well on their way to fending the road to freedom, self-responsibility and self-government. Good luck and good health to you, in Freedom.

How High Labor Costs Affect U.S. Economy

By ED DELANEY

The Southern Pacific Railway has placed an order with an engineering firm in Munich, West Germany, for 15 giant 4,000-horsepower Diesel locomotives, said to be the most powerful in the world. During the past year the same concern in Munich delivered similar locomotives to other buyers in this country. The purchase of such equipment from Europe should cause some reflection on the part of the profligate spenders in Congress. They might take time out from chit-chat about how many additional millions should be appropriated for giveaway programs and a domestic "Peace Corps" (does President Kennedy have another brother-in-law to head the domestic troupe?) and ascertain why American railroads are obliged to obtain their motive units from Europe.

The Southern Pacific, with lines extending from Portland, Ore., to Houston, Tex., is one of the major transportation systems in United States. Undoubtedly the directors of Southern Pacific asked for bids from locomotive builders in this country before placing that large order with a German firm. The Diesel engine originated in Germany and takes its name from its inventor. However there are far more of that type of locomotive hauling trains in America than in the entire continent of Europe, where the steam engine has not yet been discarded.

Big business such as railways, must purchase equipment in the most favorable market. While it is possible that no American locomotive builder is able to supply the giants that are made by the German concern, it is more than likely that cost was the factor in determining where the order should be placed. And when computing costs, the principal item is labor. In many industries the American manufacturer is finding it increasingly difficult to meet foreign competition. What is to be the future of our foreign trade if inordinate labor demands price our products out of the market?

It is not alone the manufacturing costs that are rising to prohibitive heights, but the handling of the products. All overseas shipments have been at a standstill due to the strike of the longshoremen. Shipping was tied up from Maine to Texas. If the demands of the striking longshoremen are met, it will have to be passed along to shippers of American products and of course, in incoming freight, it will be added to the cost of what you and I purchase in the markets. The demands of the strikers would add another $300 million to the handling of incoming and outgoing cargo.

These are the threats to the nation's economy which the President and the practicing politicians endeavor to shrug off as being relatively unimportant. On the contrary, they are vitally important. The prices of what we sell abroad will be increased with every extortionate demand of arbitrary labor czars and out competitive position in world markets will suffer accordingly. If our export trade declines, the balance of trade affects the value of the dollar and eventually it will shrink in buying power — as it has diminished during the past 15 years.

The striking dock workers get an approximate average of $24 for an 8-hour day with time and a half for work after 5 p.m. and on Saturdays and Sundays. They are not skilled labor in any sense of the word. They do not even need grade-school training or pass examinations that would be required to get a driving license. Natives in Africa or Asian ports, wholly uneducated do the same work just as efficiently as these card-carrying dock workers who are paralyzing United States shipping and our national economy.

President Kennedy's optimistic predictions as to the continuing improvement in the nation's business are just political camouflage. Until he and his advisors demand and get legislation that will prohibit despotic, power-conscious union bosses from being able to jeopardize our foreign trade and our national economy, he is still at the mercy of such predatory parasites.

The Clearing House

Articles for this column are preferred to be 300 words or less in length. However, longer articles may be printed. All letters must be signed.

Dear Editor:
No individual, group of people, or political party can guarantee you or me absolute economic security. The only people who have complete economic security are prisoners in the penitentiary. That seems to be a law of life. When ever we as individuals place ourselves in a position where we depend upon others to do what we are capable of doing for ourselves, then in reality we become prisoners of those whom we depend upon. Emerson said, "The best lightning rod for your protection is your own spine."

Perhaps, more than anything else, we as citizens today need to stand up and be counted as men, strong individuals who will suffer to be in bondage to no man. Men who will ask nothing of our leaders but to lead with prudence and frugality. If we can return to this way of life then, we can march proudly with those brave men of yesterday who pledged their lives and all they owned to make this a free land. They did not ask for any guarantee of security. The attitude of the world at that time, was that those fool hardy individuals would soon be swinging from a rope on an English gallows.

If men will give careful thought to the situation they will realize that the only thing a government can really control is men. A can of beans does not care what it costs, a factory does not care whether wages are high or low, a newspaper does not care what is printed on its pages. If the price of a can of beans is controlled, if wages are set at a certain price, if a newspaper is told what can be printed on its sheets, then it is men who are controlled, not things. It has become a habit with many citizens, whenever a problem arises, to think and say, "The government should do something." The government can settle no disputes among people without the government itself becoming a tyrant in the case. William Pitt, the younger, said, "Necessity is the argument of tyrants; it is the creed of slaves."
We the people have locked within our own bosom, the answer to this dragon of government spending. We must quit asking for benefits and demand of our elected leaders that they quit trying to support the whole world with our citizens tax money. They cannot stay in office without our vote.

Seven Months Of His Life Are 'A Blank' Now

LUBBOCK (UPI)—The night of Dec. 18, 1961, R. B. Dobbins walked from his home to attend a meeting. He woke up seven months later at Warm Springs Rehabilitation Center in Gonzales.

Dobbins, very active at 63, knows nothing of what happened to him during those seven months. He was a victim of cerebral hemorrhage.

He left his home with a packet of Christmas cards that last night he remembers in 1961. He drove to a post office and mailed them before attending a meeting of credit union directors. Near the meeting site, Dobbins felt a pain at the back of his head.

The pain became intense and he stopped at a grocery to buy some aspirin. He never made the purchase, and his mind is a blank from that point.

Two Days to Live
Somehow, Dobbins drove home, parked his car and managed to knock on the door. His wife found him there. A short time later, a doctor gave Dobbins two days—at the most—to live.

But, today Dobbins is home. He is walking, talking and thinking for himself. His big worry today: "Seven months of my life is a blank."

He remembers nothing of the 11 weeks in Methodist Hospital, Lubbock. He doesn't recall going home March 6, he has no memory of moving into a rest home on July 13, and he knows nothing of his transfer to the Gonzales center 17 days later.

It was only due to Mrs. Dobbins' refusal to face reality that her husband entered the center. Most of her medical advisers gave her little or no encouragement.

Told, Wasn't Hope
Dobbins was sent home from the hospital after intensive treatment and Mrs. Dobbins was told there was no hope—that it was only a matter of time.

Some said he would never walk. Others told her he would walk only with assistance. Mrs. Dobbins refused to believe and today she is thankful she had faith.

At Warm Springs, weights were used to straighten the patient's legs. A therapist massaged him. She also required him to read sentences on cards, slowly and then faster.

Gradually, Dobbins regained his memory. He remembered the headache that started his trouble, and even events at the hospital late in his treatment. Everything else is a blank, however, and Dobbins tries only to think of the challenges ahead.

Walks in Alamo
"I visited the Alamo on my way home," he said. "The Alamo has an uneven rock floor. Anyone with a good sense of balance would hardly notice it. For me, walking on that floor was quite a

Southeast Asia Pressures:

Indonesia is stepping up its pressure against the British dependencies in Borneo. The dependencies of North Borneo, Sarawak and Brunei are scheduled to join the Federation of Malaysia at the end of August. The same areas are claimed by Indonesia as Kalimantan-Utara, a part of Indonesian Indonesian Army Staff Chief Majgen Achman Jani said during the weekend that Indonesia was giving the "fullest moral support to our friends struggling for independence in Kalimantan Utara. The army is merely awaiting orders. If they come, we will carry them out."

EEC Repercussions:
Japanese Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda's regime is under attack from both right and left as result of the collapse of Britain's bid to join the European Economic Community. Ikeda has based his policy on the "three pillars"—the United States, Western Europe and Japan. The Socialists are asking how Ikeda could have travelled through Europe last fall without foreseeing the French booby trap in the way of Britain's Common Market aspirations. The editor of the conservative English language Japan Times said Ikeda's three pillar policy had lost "some of its luster."

South Vietnam tactics:
The helicopter probably will continue as the United States' chief weapon for moving troops quickly from place to place in the battle against South Vietnam's Communist Viet Cong guerrillas. But the Viet Cong triumph." The Alamo was just the start. Dobbins has big plans for the future.

"In a day or two," he said, "I'm going to walk across the street and down the other side of the block. After that, I'll walk around the block. Maybe that does not sound like much, but to me it's more than a beginning. It's something to look forward to with expectancy, with confidence."

have adopted their own defensive tactics, melting into the swamps and jungle at the first sound of the big choppers. In addition, at week's end 60 of the U. S. Army's 120 H21 Shawnee helicopters in Vietnam were grounded by mechanical breakdowns, spare parts shortages and the need for maintenance checks.

Britain vs. EEC:

U. S. Ambassador Walter Dowling will report to President Kennedy that West Germany wants Common Market negotiations with Britain resumed but that Bonn sees little hope for the immediate future. Bonn insiders say the only chance for getting the talks on the rails again is for Chancellor Konrad Adenauer to persuade French President Charles de Gaulle to change his mind. Such an undertaking, these sources say, will almost certainly be unsuccessful.

Gaitskell's Widow:
Some Socialist Party sources in Britain say that leaders of the South Leeds Labor Party plan to ask the widow of party leader Hugh Gaitskell to run in the by-election race for his parliamentary seat. They say she is admirably suited for the job, including a university degree in economics.

LONDON (UPI)—Czech Ambassador M. Zdenik Trhlik recently complained to the British Foreign Office because he found a microphone hidden in his desk, the Sunday Telegraph reported.

The paper said the microphone wires were traced to the office next door, occupied by Trhlik's own private detective.
