Syrian Quits; Soviet Spy Draws Death; Successor Englishman Gets 8 Years May Fail

DAMASCUS, Syria (UPI) — Syrian Premier Salah Bitar quit Saturday after a week of cabinet resignations and pro-Nasser rioting, but the men who replaced him apparently failed to form a government.

Culture Minister Sam Al-Jard was pulled to head a government by the National Revolutionary Council, but United Arab Emirates and Arab Socialist members failed to cooperate with him, announced Syrian officials.

The speaker said Bitar had little prospect of success because the two parties put great pressure on the men he appointed and convinced them they should not join the cabinet.

Observers were skeptical from the start of Bitar's efforts to solve the crisis that brought to an end much dominance Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser should have in the proposed United Arab Republic of Syria, Egypt, and Iraq.

Political circles here were stunned by the news today of the resignation of the 57-year-old Bitar. Opponents of Bitar believed a coalition front on the Egyptian side would be formed in Damascus, making it impossible for Bitar to carry out his duties.

Bitar's party, the Syrian Socialist Front, would have to be formed in Syria too.

Military Government
The speaker said the only possible course of action here might be a military government under anti-Nasser Interior Minister Brig. Amin Hafez Hafez, 57, who was responsible for ousting pro-Nasser officers from the Egyptian army last week, touching off the rioting and the cabinet crisis.

Trinity Belle Makes Her Point

ARLINGTON, Tex. (UPI) — The jet propelled barge Trinity Belle docked under a highway bridge Saturday after a 24-mile trip up the Trinity River from Anahuac, proving that the river is commercially navigable, if barely.

It took the 4,000-pound, 24-foot barge five days, four hours and five minutes to make it from Anahuac, on Galveston Bay, to a rough dock under the highway 260 bridge where three meyers were waiting for it.

The meyers — Earle Cabell of Dallas, C. P. Waggoner of Grand Prairie, and Tom Vandergriff of Arlington — all took rides on the Trinity Belle.

About 200 persons watched Freeman Gross, a 31-year-old businessman and his crew of five dock the craft.

ARLINGTON, Tex. (UPI) — The Texas Chamber of Commerce will hold its 43rd annual convention in Wichita Falls May 24-25. E. H. Danner of San Antonio, president of the WTCC, announced Saturday.

Danner said top ranking speakers will discuss industrial promotion, graduate education with space-related needs, tourist promotion, agricultural problems in West Texas, the latest in stock feeding, problems in water pollution, federal taxation and expenditures.

The names of several lifetime WTCC directors will be announced at a dinner on the 24th.

Need for Small City Air Service Cited by Rogers

Rep. Walter Rogers of Pampa said today that a solution to small community air transport problems in an address before the American Association of Airport Executives in Fort Worth Friday night.

Rogers has been one of the leaders in the Pampa Chamber of Commerce's American Communities for a Better Airline program. He has been instrumental in the establishment of the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

So far, the CAB has turned down Pampa's application on the grounds that the area receives sufficient trunkline service through the Amarillo airport.

Rogers was the principal speaker at the closing banquet of the two-day AIAA meeting in Fort Worth. It was the consensus that out of the meeting there has been renewed vitality in the search for a suitable short-haul airplane.

Pampa's proposal for regional airline service has been under considerable study in recent weeks by the chamber's aviation committee in conferences with officials of local carrier service airlines.

Rogers, in his Fort Worth speech, reviewed the progress that has been made toward getting air service for smaller communities.

"Some say that there are no available craft on the market today to meet short-haul requirements, others contradict this," Rogers said. "Frankly, I do not know."

"I will say, however, that I have not yet seen the plane that I think is a substantial answer to the problem," he said.

"I would hope that you would keep the Congress fully advised as to your views on this subject, because I think that it is in this area that we might find a breakthrough."

"It would certainly not be out of line for Congress to provide funds for experimental and developmental work in this area if it can not be done otherwise," Rogers said.

"This is not a new difficulty but one that has been anticipated several years ago. It is a difficulty about which nothing concrete has been done," said Rogers, who served on an investigation made in 1955 by the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee.

The committee toured the airfield service has been under considerable study in recent weeks by the chamber's aviation committee in conferences with officials of local carrier service airlines.

Wheat Program Discussion Held

Six speakers discussed various aspects of the administration's proposed 1964 wheat referendum at a meeting last night attended by representatives from 11 counties in the Panhandle and western Oklahoma area. The meeting was held at the Coronado Inn.

In a speech on "The Economics of Agriculture," Lewis David, state ASFC executive director, discussed the surplus of wheat, and the expense to the government for handling these surpluses.

A resume of the proposed program was presented in chief form by Lavern Edwards of Panhandle, a member of Secretary Freeman's Wheat Advisory Committee. He cited statistics on incomes under the mandatory and voluntary program, based on an average yield of 25 bushels per acre.

All of the speakers quoted wheat prices during the depression in the '30s as examples of non-supported prices. Other speakers cited the need for the program included:

"A Rural Elevator Manager's View of the Wheat Program," by L. S. Robertson, manager, Booker Equity Elevator, Booker; "The Effect of the Farm Program on Business," by Morris Lemon, president, First Bank and Trust Co., Booker; "The Impact of the 1964 Wheat Program on the Banking Business," by Zook Thomas, vice-president, City State Bank, Wellington; and "The Farm Program and the Farmer," by J. R. Rough, Carson County farmer.

Texas Rejection Is Predicted

DALLAS (UPI) — Wheat farmers will reject the administration's proposed wheat control program at a national referendum May 21, the national farm magazine Progressive Farmer predicted Saturday.

The magazine, a backer of the proposed program, said it conducted an extensive survey of wheat farmers and found that even if all those who have not yet made up their minds vote for the program, it still will fail.

Most farmers object to the program as representing further unwanted government management of agriculture and said it would result in substituting a planned socialist system for the free market system, the magazine said.

Although most farmers said they probably would make more money if the program were approved, they still will vote it down.

If the proposal is rejected, wheat production will increase, the farmers questioned said. But a large majority said they believe the supply-and-demand production basis would straighten out market problems within a few years.

The Progressive Farmer said one possible cause of rejection of the plan would be lack of knowledge about the proposal among the farmers.

More than 70 per cent of the farmers surveyed said they had not received enough unbiased information on the program to make a decision.

Conditions Are Still 'Go' On Cooper Space Flight

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — Project Mercury officials met for three hours Saturday with astronaut L. Gordon Cooper Jr. and announced all operations for the space man's marathon 22-orbit flight Tuesday were in a "go" condition.

Walter C. Williams, Mercury flight director, sounded the good word in an advisory issued after the meeting. Cooper went from the meeting to the beach for exercises and later began another detailed study of the scheduled flight.

Williams' statement followed an earlier advisory which also said that operations for the flight were proceeding smoothly. Today the 36-year-old astronaut will simulate his flight with a countdown starting between 6 a.m. and 8:30 a.m. est. and ending some 12 hours later.

"There are no abnormal problems," a spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) said. "Everything seems to be going all right."

Even the weather, a constant thorn in the side of planners, seemed to be cooperating.

"Conditions are about as good as normal for this time of year," a weather bureau spokesman said. A high pressure system was reported kicking up some rather heavy swells in the eastern Atlantic, but these were expected to subside by the time of the flight.

Cooper is slated to ride a gleaming Atlas rocket into space between 9 a.m. and 11:30 a.m. EDT Tuesday. If all goes well, he will cover 57,000 miles during his mission.

Reds Planning Rocket Tests

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union Saturday announced plans for new rocket tests in the Pacific, possibly as a prelude to the flight of the first woman cosmonaut.

The official Tass news agency said the tests would be conducted between May 25 and July 31 "with the aim of furthering the conquest of space."

Soviet scientists will test "perfected variants of carrier rockets for space flight purposes," the announcement said.

Western observers in Moscow speculated that the Russians might be planning to check flaws in current models of their space rockets as well as to seek development of new ones for future manned space flights. The Soviets have halted several times earlier this year that they will seek to place a woman in orbit.

Tass said the rockets would be launched without their final stages.

Texas Woman May be Victim Of Highwayman

LAGRANGE, Ga. (UPI) — A Texas woman was found badly beaten beside U.S. 29 near here Saturday and the sheriff said he feared she was the victim of a highwayman.

Troup County Sheriff L. W. Bailey said he also suspects that her missing husband may have been kidnaped.

The woman was identified as Mrs. Maxine Burghbacher, about 47, of Lufkin, Tex.

400 Die in Huge Cuban Rebellion

MIAMI (UPI) — Cuban Premier Fidel Castro's ground and air forces fought a massive action against anti-Castro rebels in Cuba's Matanzas Province in recent weeks which left 400 dead on both sides, exile sources reported Saturday night.

The sources said the reports were received from "freedom sentinels" in Cuba who communicated them to Luis Conte Aguiro, a former Castro radio commentator living in exile here since his defection.

The fighting took place in Matanzas province in March and April, the sources said. Thousands were reported arrested in its aftermath.

Bosch Urges OAS To Desert Idea of Non-Intervention

SANTO DOMINGO, D. R. (UPI) — President Juan Bosch Saturday urged the Organization of American States to discard blind adherence to the principle of non-intervention when democracy and human rights are at stake.

Bosch spoke at an interview here as a statement mounted in the Dominican Republic against OAS failure to act on charges that President Francois Duvalier has established rule by terror in neighboring Haiti.

Bosch has thousands of troops poised on the border ready to strike into Haiti unless Duvalier grants safe conduct to all 22 political exiles who have taken asylum in the Dominican Republic in Port-au-Prince.

So far he has held back at the request of the OAS but he clearly is unhappy with the situation.

Bosch said the time has come for the inter-American system to make a basic change. He suggested a hemispheric foreign ministers conference to assert the priority of democratic principles over the traditional concept of non-intervention which such nations as Brazil and Mexico insist is the cornerstone of the OAS.

Iraqi Premier Resigns Post

CAIRO, U. A. R. (UPI) — Iraqi Premier Maj. Gen. Ahmed Hassan Bakr's cabinet has resigned and he is forming a new government dedicated to the formation of a new United Arab Republic with Egypt and Syria, Baghdad radio said Saturday.

The move was announced less than 12 hours after the resignation of Syrian Premier Salah Bitar in Damascus and the formation of a new cabinet there following pro-Nasser riots throughout the country.

Baghdad radio quoted Bakr as saying "the creation of a United Arab Republic (including Iraq and Syria) is a new phase of the Iraqi Revolution requiring the building of a unionist, socialist society."

"This requires new principles in electing a new government adequate and capable of carrying out this aim," said Bakr.

Tension Eases In Haiti

FORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (UPI) — Tension in this Haitian capital eased somewhat Saturday despite sporadic nighttime firing and the reported arrest of a Roman Catholic priest.

President Francois Duvalier's government was preparing to receive a five-nation fact-finding mission from the Organization of American States Monday.

The group, with its powers broadened since its first visit, met in Washington Saturday to complete plans for its visit.

The curfew was reduced from nine to six hours — 11 p.m. to 5 a.m. — although anti-government activity after dark has not been completely halted.

Rifle and pistol shots can be heard in various sections of the capital every night. On Thursday, the home of Col. Jacques Laroche, deputy chief of staff and former head of foreign press censorship, was bombed, but there were no casualties.

Arrangement Must Be 'Consistent' with Canadian Rulings

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (UPI) — Canadian Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson today agreed after a two-day conference with President Kennedy to proceed "without delay" toward fulfillment of existing Canadian defense commitments — meaning acceptance of U.S. nuclear warheads for Canada's Bomarc missiles.

The President and the Prime Minister made clear, however, that any arrangement with Canada would have to be "consistent with Canadian parliamentary procedures."

The two leaders began their meeting here Friday night and in a convivial mood, continued through early afternoon Saturday.

Pearson was scheduled to take off from Otis Air Force Base at around 3 p.m. (est.) for Ottawa after having lunch with the American chief executive at his home overlooking Nantuxet Sound.

The President was due back in Washington at 6:30 p.m. (EDT) after a side trip to Cambridge, Mass., to inspect several sites for a heavy which will later house his official papers.

The Canadian-American meeting ended in a gesture of unusual cord — the donation of a cottage at Campobello Island, once the summer home of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, to the Canadian province of New Brunswick. The old Roosevelt place at Campobello was bought in 1932 by New York and California industrialist Armand Hammer.

As the conference ended, the two leaders issued a 17-point communique in which they said a number of important matters pending between the two nations were "frankly discussed in a spirit of good will and understanding."

The communique said both men reaffirmed their faith in the North Atlantic Alliance and their conviction that, building upon the present foundation, a true community of American peoples will one day be realized.

Administration Encouraged by 'New Moderates'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Administration officials were particularly heartened Saturday by the role a new hard core of moderates played in settling the volatile racial dispute in Birmingham, Ala.

The threat of future business losses played a major role in the de-escalation pact finally agreed upon.

For a few Birmingham businessmen, the prospect that violence might make industry hesitant to locate in the South's steel center may have been the only reason they agreed to the settlement.

"But there also was a basic recognition by a lot of people down there that the Negroes were demanding something that wasn't so unreasonable," one responsible government source told United Press International.

That was the important fact to administration leaders who have been trying to develop a hard core of moderates in the South. They feel that the settlement definitely lessened the likelihood that Birmingham might become a powder keg again.

Still Problems
These officials admitted that there still are problems to be solved. But they pointed out that there were virtually no moderates in Birmingham until about a year and a half ago.

Dobrynin, Rusk Talk on Arms

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin called on Secretary of State Dean Rusk Saturday to deliver a new Russian memorandum on the general subject of disarmament.

State Department Press Officer Robert McCloskey said the "informal memorandum" did not include anything on nuclear testing.

Showers Still Possibility In Panhandle

By United Press International
Temperatures zoomed in the 100s in the South Plains of Texas Saturday. Forecasters said no relief from the stifling heat was in sight for most of the state.

The U. S. Weather Bureau said there was a possibility of scattered thundershowers in the Panhandle today.

Erratic thundershowers bolted over Pampa yesterday afternoon dumping small amounts of rain in isolated sections. The News Rain gauge measured .05 inches late Saturday night.

Afternoon high temperatures climbed to the 90s and 100s across the state.

It was coolest in the mid-section of the Panhandle, where Amarillo reported 71 degrees just before noon. Just to the south Lubbock had a reading of 89.

Tension Eases In Haiti

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (UPI)—Tension in this Haitian capital eased somewhat Saturday, despite sporadic nighttime rioting and reported arrest of a Roman Catholic priest.

President Francois Duvalier's government was preparing to receive a delegation of leading members from the Organization of American States Monday.

The group with its powers broadened since its last visit, met in Washington Saturday to complete plans for its visit.

The curfew was reduced from nine to six hours — 11 p. m. to 5 a. m. — although anti-government activity after dark has not been completely halted.

Rifle and pistol shots can be heard in various sections of the capital every night. On Thursday, the home of Col. Jacques Etienne, deputy chief of staff and former head of the army, was besieged by bandits, but there were no casualties.

Reports that the Rev. Etienne, a church priest, was arrested on Saturday was unverified.

The woman was identified as Mrs. Mary E. Babin, about 45, of Lufkin, Tex.

US Weapons Are Going to Laotian Neutralist Troops

VIENTIANE (UPI)—American weapons are being supplied to Laotian neutralist troops in the Communist-surrounded Plain of Jars region at the request of Premier Phoua Savanava Phoua, authoritative sources said Saturday.

The sources said the American weapons would replace the Russian arms and equipment made used by Gen. Kong Le's mutinous forces when they were attacked in recent weeks. In a report issued on a high scale, the sources reported Saturday night.

The reported American arms deliveries would be the first to Gen. Kong Le's forces since August 9, 1960, when he staged a coup de force and took over the government of Laos.

In December, 1960, Kong Le's troops were driven out of Vientiane by right-wing forces, and were then driven out of Laos by the pro-Communist Pathet Lao. He had a few hundred troops on the plain of Jars in the north.

Iraqi Premier Resigns Post

BAHJA, Iraq (UPI)—Iraqi Premier Maj. Gen. Ahmad Hassan al-Bakr's cabinet has resigned and he is forming a new government dedicated to the "defense of the new United Arab Republic with Egypt and Syria," he said Saturday.

The move was announced here 12 hours after the resignation of Syrian Premier Salah Bishr Amin Hafez and the formation of a new cabinet there following pro-Nasser riots throughout the country.

Bahja radio quoted Bakr as saying "the creation of a United Arab Republic (including Iraq and Syria) is a new phase of the Iraqi Revolution requiring the holding of a unionist, socialist society."

"This requires new principles in electing a new government and the necessity of carrying out its program," said Bakr.

Arrangement Must Be 'Consistent' with Canadian Rulings

QUYENHAI, Mass. (UPI)—Canadian Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson today said after a three-day conference with President Kennedy to proceed "without delay" toward fulfillment of existing Canadian defense commitments involving acceptance of U.S. nuclear warheads for Canada's Bomarc missile.

The President and the Prime Minister made it clear, however, that any arrangement with Canada "must have to be consistent with Canadian parliamentary prerogatives."

The two leaders began their morning here Friday, and in a formal meeting, they discussed the acceptance of Canadian nuclear warheads for Canada's Bomarc missile.

The Canadian government had announced a plan to purchase about 300 B-42 nuclear bombs for its Bomarc missile force in 1960.

The United States government had offered to supply the bombs on a lease basis, but the Canadian government had refused to accept the offer.

The two leaders discussed the matter in a formal meeting, and they agreed to proceed "without delay" toward fulfillment of existing Canadian defense commitments involving acceptance of U.S. nuclear warheads for Canada's Bomarc missile.

Administration Encouraged by 'New Moderates'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Administration officials were particularly encouraged Saturday by the move of a group of moderates to join the administration in the current phase of the fight against Communism.

The group, known as the "New Moderates," was formed by a group of moderates who had previously been active in the anti-Communist movement.

The group's formation was seen as a sign of growing support for the administration's anti-Communist policies.

Dobrynin, Rusk Talk on Arms

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin called on Secretary of State Dean Rusk Saturday to deliver a new Russian memorandum in the general subject of disarmament.

The memorandum, which was prepared by the Soviet government, was seen as a sign of growing support for the administration's anti-Communist policies.

Man Still Far from Understanding Nuclear Fission Says Scientist

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Nuclear fission, which can be used either to kill cities or light them, was discovered about a quarter of a century ago.

But though man has made atomic bombs in profusion and many a nuclear power plant, he still is a long way from complete understanding of the fission process, according to Dr. Lawrence Wilets.

Wilets, a physicist at the University of Washington in Seattle, discussed the current status of fission theories at a recent meeting of the American Physical Society. He said that although gaps remain, considerable progress has been made in refining the scientist's picture of the fissioning atom.

What used to be thought of as an electrically charged fluid droplet is now conceived as being more like something intermediate between a liquid and a gas, Wilets said.

This is the way scientists work. They erect models. The models may be no more like the real thing than a wire and a scrap iron sculpture is like a human being, but they seem to serve a purpose.

Pair Conceived Theory
The liquid droplet notion of the splitting atom was conceived in 1939 by the late Niels Bohr of Denmark and John A. Wheeler of the United States.

As described by Wilets, the 1933 picture of an act of fission, the reaction which destroyed Hiroshima and helps to light Shippingport, Pa., was as follows:

"The electrical charge of the droplet, which is due to positively charged protons, exerts a force which tends to disrupt or split the droplet, while the surface tension of the droplet tends to hold it together. The competition between these two forces (Bohr and Wheeler argued) governed the dynamical behavior of a nucleus."

This picture was good enough for the time being. But "the impact of a new and detailed experimental data," Wilets said, called for "further refinements in the theory."

"New insight into nuclear theory," he continued, "has shown us how to consider the motions of the individual neutrons and protons which comprise the nucleus."

Leads To Model
The new data and the new insight led to the liquid-gas nuclear model. According to this model, the nucleus is a gas in which neutrons and protons can move freely. At the same time it is a viscous liquid which becomes "heated on its path to fission."

This model may be better than the old one, but "a complete picture is still lacking," Wilets said. He said scientists know enough in principle to calculate "the complete history of a fissioning nucleus."

He Must Need That Typewriter

KANSAS CITY, MO. (UPI)—William Craig Whitney, 56, was arrested Thursday for allegedly trying to steal a typewriter from the Muehlbach Hotel. His capture occurred only 16 hours after he had been released from the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth Kan., to which he had been sentenced three years ago after trying to steal a typewriter from the Muehlbach Hotel. At the time Whitney had in his possession a stolen government-owned camera.

The Lighter Side Advice to Bachelors

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — There is a married woman out on the West Coast who has been cleaning up recently by dispensing advice to single women.

The lady, Helen Gurley Brown, wrote a highly successful book called "Sex and the Single Girl" and now she is conducting a syndicated column along similar lines.

Her qualifications include the fact that she used to be a single girl herself. Well, now, I used to be a single man myself and I have been wondering if there might not be market for someone to do for bachelors what she has done for spinsters.

I figure that bachelors must be just as confused about everything as single girls are and would welcome a chance to pour their troubles into a sympathetic ear.

I know that I was plenty confused when I was a bachelor and as far as I can tell things haven't changed a great deal since then.

I don't, however, want to be called a copycat, so I thought I would depart from Helen Gurley

Brown's format and offer my service under the title "Night Baseball and the Single Boy."

It seems to me that night baseball has become an even bigger problem than sex. At least, the attendance is larger.

Every wholesome, clean-cut, red-blooded, 100 per cent American unmarried male finds himself with divided instincts. He is a victim of what the psychiatrists refer to as the "Romeo-Casey-Stengel complex."

One half of him would like to ask his girl friend for a date to the movies, or a dance or a grouse hunt. The other half of him would rather go to the ball game.

Torn between these basic urges, many single men have sought to concentrate on either the game or the girl. Hence the evening becomes one of total frustration. He has failed to advance romantically and he has loused up the scorecard.

escape reality by taking their girl friends to the ball game. On paper, this would appear to be a logical solution. In practice, however, it has never worked out very well. The poor fellow is unable to

Commander To Be Here Next Week

Commander E. J. Case, U. S. Navy, officer in charge of the Seventh Navy Recruiting Area with headquarters in Albuquerque, N. M., will visit Pampa next Tuesday from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Commander Case will be at the Navy Recruiting Office in the Post Office building. He is on an inspection tour of the U. S. Navy Recruiting branch stations under his command. Commander Case is in charge of the Recruiting Area in the state of New Mexico and offices in Lubbock, Amarillo and Pampa in Texas.

Samuel Colt invented the revolver in 1815.

But the present state of mathematics and the present capabilities of electronic computers are still inadequate to make such a calculation practicable.

2 YEARS?  10 YEARS?
(ANSWER BELOW)

■ Whichever box you checked you're correct! Although Reddy "makes" electricity the instant you press a switch, it takes 2 years from the time we order a generating unit until it's ready to work. We plan 5 years ahead on a detailed basis and 10 years ahead on a general basis.

■ The important thing is that electricity is ready to work for you now 24 hours around the clock—for our part we'll always keep it so.

Judge Mary Lou Robinson Speaks to Honor Students

More than 225 students, parents and faculty members of Pampa High School assembled at the annual honor banquet Friday night at the PHS Cafeteria.

Guest speaker was Judge Mary Lou Robinson of the 10th Judicial District in Amarillo. Judge Robinson's topic was "The responsibility of the student to society."

Judge Robinson explained that the student owes something to the world, not the other way around, that he or she must give all he has to make a better world, that they must not shirk their duties and responsibilities to themselves, their families or mankind.

The honors program at Pampa High was established in 1957 and provided for a four-year program of advanced courses, primarily pre-college.

Students who maintain a grade of 90 or better in each course are graduated with honors, which entitles them to wear a gold tassel on their caps and gold cords on their gown upon graduation, and also gives them a head start on college scholarships.

craft centers of Western Europe but failed to find the answer. After returning to America, the committee continued its search and gave serious thought to the helicopter but several factors, including cost, ruled it out.

So the search continues and the urgency grows as trunklines increase their long-range runs, skipping the smaller cities, Rogers declared.

A step in the right direction, Rogers indicated, would be "for Congress to enunciate a policy to the effect that the national air transportation system is a national problem and a problem that must be treated as a single problem."

"I know of no member of Congress who does not have some direct or indirect concern with local service airlines and their associated industries," Rogers observed. "In my opinion this is a problem that can not be put off." He recommended that ALTA members get in touch with congressmen.

Swimming Class Slate Is Announced

Registration for the summer swim program to be given at the City Pool will be held Thursday at the VFW-American Legion Hall on Foster St. from 1 p.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Boys and girls to 18 years of age will pay $1.00 for the use of the pool during the two week sessions and adults will pay $2.00. Instructions will be free.

Registration will be for beginner swimming for both children and adults, and classes in advanced swimming, intermediate session Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 10 a.m., and from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m. June 10 through July 15.

The summer recreation is correlated with the swim program, and the boys and girls who attend the summer recreation program will have a free swim at 11 a.m. after the Red Cross classes have cleared the pool. Boys and girls need not register for the Summer Recreation period, according to Terry Culley, who is in charge of the program.

Aides who would like to work with the Red Cross Water Safety instructors are asked to contact the Red Cross office for the time they can work.

Boys, girls and adults who are not members of the Pampa Youth and Community Center will register May 20 at the Youth Center between 2:30 and 5 p.m. for the Red Cross classes.

The charge for the use of the pool will be the same as that at the City Pool. Plans are being made to teach a Polly-wog Class of the children under six years of age if enough children register for the classes.

The classes at the Youth Center will be smaller but they will be taught at the same time and by Red Cross instructors and aides.

The boys and girls at the Marcus Sanders Pool will register May 24 at the Carver School at 2:30 p.m. Children under 18 will pay 50 cents for the use of the pool and adults will pay $1.00. The instruction is free. Classes will run June 10 through July 19 if registration justifies them.

unspecified charges Tuesday night raised the possibility that Duvalier may be starting a campaign against the church.

Neighbors said they heard the policeman who arrested the priest say: "If you were white, you would be executed." He is believed to be the first churchman arrested during the current crisis.

A dozen more American dependents left Haiti Saturday, virtually completing evacuation of the families of U. S. diplomats and servicemen stationed here.

Regular or chartered planes carried 116 persons out of the country Friday including 29 refugees who had been living in asylum in Latin American embassies here.

Duvalier has told the OAS he will let 42 of about 100 embassy-sheltered refugees leave the country.

Youth Held for Breaking in Home

Juvenile authorities were holding a teenage Pampa youth for psychiatric examination following his being taken into custody for breaking into the home of John Bowers, 1009 Christine St.

According to police, the Bowers home was entered by breaking a basement window sometime between 3:30 p.m. Thursday and 3:30 p.m. Friday.

Women's wearing apparel was scattered about the room, investigating officers said, and two articles of lingerie which did not belong in the home were left by the intruder.

Police also stated that a pillow on one of the beds had been jabbed several times with a nail file which was left on the bed.

The youth, who had been in custody before for similar break-ins, admitted entering the Bowers home when picked up by police for questioning.

Police said on a previous occasion the boy had been caught in a Pampa home, attired in women's clothing which he had taken from an upstairs room.

Medical Requirements Before Going Abroad

NEW YORK (UPI) — A recent outbreak of typhoid fever at a Swiss Alpine resort should underscore for Americans the wisdom of taking proper health precautions before going abroad.

While immunization against typhoid is not required by the U.S. government of Americans heading overseas, it is recommended. Tetanus shots and immunization against polio also are generally recommended for the traveler.

The American planning a trip abroad can obtain information concerning health requirements in various countries from the U.S. Public Health Service, passport agency and other government offices, travel agents and air and sea transportation companies.

The U.S. Public Health Service issue four leaflets listing required and recommended vaccinations for travel in Europe, Latin America and the Caribbean, Africa, and Asia, Australia and New Zealand. The leaflets also include other health protection hints.

Copies may be obtained for five cents each by writing to the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D.C.

The United States, and many other countries, require vaccination against smallpox of all travelers. Proof of such immunity is necessary if you want to avoid delays and other complications in entering other countries or returning to the United States.

The regulation provides that all persons regardless of age must possess a valid certificate of vaccination against the disease within the past three years. Evidence of having had smallpox may be accepted in lieu of the certificate. Doctors or medical officers must record the smallpox vaccination on an authorized International Certificate of Vaccination form. But to be valid, the entry must be certified by the approved stamp of local or state health departments in the area where the doctor practices.

The vaccination forms may be obtained when application is made for the passport, or from U.S. public health service offices, local and state health departments, or travel agents and ticket offices. Other inoculations also should be entered on the certificate, although this is not mandatory. However, proof of vaccinations against yellow fever and cholera may be required if the American tourist has visited an infested area.

Start the necessary and recommended vaccinations well in advance of departure date. Some require only one inoculation, others as many as three spread over as much as six weeks. Some become effective in a few days, others require months.

Deck Pitches, Tourists Putt

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Golf, bowling, tennis and skeet shooting are sports which require skill and coordination anywhere, but for a real challenge, try them on the rolling deck of an ocean liner.

All four sports are popular with passengers who travel the Matson liners, Matsonia and Lurline, between the West Coast and Hawaii. The golfer tees his ball on one of the two mats on the stern of the vessel, selects his club, and plants his feet firmly for what he is sure will be a 250-yard drive. That's when he notices the difference.

As the ship rolls slightly from side to side, the body responds like an inverted pendulum. One minute the golfer is leaning toward the ball—and the next minute, he's leaning away from it. The idea is to time the swing with the roll of the ship so the body is at a 90-degree angle with the deck when the club-head makes contact.

There's no ball-shagging at sea, but there's still a chance for a "birdie." The albatross, which follows the vessels throughout the four and one-half day voyage to Hawaii, swing back and forth across the wake — well within driving range.

For the dedicated golfer there's a special 42-day golf cruise of the South Pacific in the fall. Former U.S. Open champion Tony Manero goes along to offer instructions, which are tested during stops at such exotic places as Tahiti, Fiji, Hawaii, New Zealand and Australia.

For the bowler, two lanes are set on an upper deck amidships, one on each side of the tennis court. Here, the roll of the vessel also

Advice to Travelers: Go Easy on Luggage

NEW YORK (UPI) — Whether you are heading overseas or cross-country, travel light if you would travel right.

Even if there is no question of weight restrictions, a cardinal rule of seasoned globetrotters is to never take more luggage than they can carry themselves if necessary. Porters and taxicabs are often as difficult to find overseas as at home.

Anyway, the veterans say most plays an important part in the eventual score, but a pendulum-like pointer sways back and forth, always perpendicular to the water.

The bowler's delivery has to correspond with the swinging of the pointer. A right-hander starts his delivery as the pointer begins its starboard-to-port movement, hoping to hook into the one-three pocket on a level lane.

An early delivery will force the ball to fight its way uphill, eliminating the effectiveness of the hook. But a delivery that's too late will emphasize the hook — and the bowler will be lucky to salvage the seven pin.

Sea-going tennis, played with a solid rubber ball and an over-sized table tennis paddle, is fast and furious. A sudden dash for a return may find the player overrunning the ball or failing to reach it — depending on whether he happens to be moving uphill or downhill at the time.

First-time travelers tend to take along more clothes than they will need on the usual two-week trip. This holds true for most men as well as women.

"What can I take" should be no problem for women, says Jane Kilbourne, travel-fashion consultant for Pan American World Airways.

Miss Kilbourne, who travels thousands of miles each year, says one 26-inch case for dresses and shoes and a 19-inch case for lingerie and other accessories should be ample and still be within the economy-weight baggage allotment of 44 pounds.

The secret, according to Miss Kilbourne, is in planning the wardrobe around a central color scheme — black, beige or other neutral shades, with which bright scarves and jewelry can be used as accessories.

Also important is the right kind of luggage. Cases should be lightweight but sturdy enough to resist the strain of rugged handling. (Recommended highly by travel sources are the new vinyl plastics such as Leeds Jet Cruiser Mold sets).

And remember two light cases are easier to manage than one heavy one.

For both men and women, the new synthetic materials are the best bet for saving weight and space and for easy care. Laundry and tailor services are available in the big European cities but are not so easy to find in the countryside.

Be selective in the choice of clothing. Most Americans are inclined to dress informally at home but wearing the same type of clothes abroad could offend some local citizens. In fact, some communities have gone so far as to forbid women from wearing slacks or shorts-and-halters on the streets and bikinis on the beaches. Rules also have been established for men's wear in public places.

If you plan to do a lot of sight-seeing, take along a pair of comfortable sturdy shoes. And don't forget your camera and a supply of film.

Here are some basic wardrobe suggestions which should provide variety and still meet the 44-pound weight limitations for economy flight passengers. (First class passengers have a 66 pound allowance.)

Women: Two afternoon dresses, two cocktail or short formal, one evening dress, one suit, one sweater set, two blouses, one robe, two nightgowns or pajamas, one pair of bedroom slippers, three pairs of shoes (one heavy-duty for walking, one pair of black after-dark sandals, one pair evening slippers), 6 pairs of nylon stockings, three sets of lingerie and an extra girdle, neckwear and scarves, hankies and gloves, soft crushable hat, veils, ribbon and flower hair arrangements, and one light raincoat which can double as a topcoat. Also an extra sweater, two pairs of shorts or slacks, a bathing suit and beach robe.

Men: Two suits, including a dark one for evening, a light sport jacket and two pairs of slacks, five dress shirts, three sport shirts, 6 ties, one pair of dress shoes, one pair of casual shoes, 6 pairs of socks, 6 sets of underwear, 2 pairs of pajamas, one bathrobe (which can double as a beachrobe), one pair bathroom-beach slippers, 2 pairs of shorts, bathing trunks, one sweater, and one light wind-breaker.

Toilet articles and accessories can be carried in a small soft-sided handbag if you plan an overnight stop before reaching your destination.

WINS DEFENSE AWARD
MONTREAL (UPI)—Pierre Pilote of the Chicago Black Hawks outpooled two members of the Stanley Cup champion Toronto Maple Leafs today in earning the designation of Best Defenseman in the National Hockey League for the 1962-63 season.

The 31-year-old captain of the Black Hawks totaled 53 points in the balloting for the James Norris Memorial Trophy, which is awarded annually to "the regular defense player who demonstrates throughout the season the greatest all-around ability in that position."

Toronto's Carl Brewer finished second with 31 points, and teammate Tim Horton was third with 37.

Flea Disaster Hits Junior Scientist

ALBUQUERQUE (UPI)—George Fargher, a Laporte, Ind., high school science student, had one of the most popular exhibits at the National Science Fair—an apparatus by which fair visitors could hear the heartbeats of fleas.

But Fargher was put out of business yesterday. A young woman accidentally knocked over his whole bottle of water fleas.

Two small and frisky-to-be-recaptured, the fleas hopped about the floor of the exhibit hall until they died—to the last flea. The fleas cannot live for long out of water.

But all was not lost. The accident happened after the fair judges had looked at the exhibits and interviewed the 411 student competitors for national honors. Fargher remains in the running for an award.

Fargher said his experiment obtained the first accurate record of the heart beats of the water flea. He concluded, from studying electrocardiograms, that flea hearts are "affected by stimulants and depressants in much the same way as human hearts."

His exhibit provided three telephones on a counter, through which visitors could hear the heartbeats of a bottled myriad of water fleas.

Fargher stepped away from his exhibit for a few minutes yesterday. While he was gone, a young woman tipped over the flea bottle as she reached for one of the telephones.

Spotlighting Servicemen

Everett M. Morgan, son of Mrs. Lottie M. Morgan of 334 Maple Ave., completed basic training, April 19, at the Naval Training Center, San Diego, Calif. The nine-week recruit training includes physical fitness, basic military law, military drill, customs and etiquette of the naval service, swimming and survival, first aid, ordnance and gunnery and a basic knowledge of ship-board routine.

During the training, recruits receive tests and interviews which determine future assignments in the Navy. Upon completion of the program, they attend service schools for technical training or are assigned to ship or shore stations for on-the-job training.

Donald L. Green, electrician's mate fireman apprentice, USN, son of Mrs. Sam Green of 433 Graham St., left Norfolk, Va., on May 1 aboard the guided missile cruiser USS Little Rock. She is bound for the Mediterranean.

The Little Rock is scheduled to become flagship for the Commander, Sixth Fleet. The cruiser carries the Talos missile as her main battery and before departing for the Mediterranean, the cruiser underwent extensive refresher training and missile tests in the Caribbean.

Donnie D. Bagnby, fireman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Bagnby of 847 East Malone, visits Concord, Calif., on May 18 aboard the destroyer USS McDermitt.

The visit is part of the McDermitt's Armed Forces Day activities. The ship will be open to visitors during the import period.

Early in June, the McDermitt will be in Vancouver, British Columbia, to take part in that city's Maritime Fair celebration. Upon leaving Vancouver, the destroyer will go to Portland, Oregon for the annual Rose Festival from June 12 to 16. In early August, the McDermitt will be in Seattle for the Sea Fair.

Army PFC Haywood S. Hullender Jr., whose parents live at 1322 Williston, took part in Exercise Grand Slam II May 2 through 7 with other members of the 18th Artillery in Germany.

Elements of the Canadian, French and German armed forces also participated in the exercise which was designed to test plans and procedures of NATO forces assigned to Central Europe.

Hullender, a clerk-typist in Headquarters Battery of the artillery's 2d Howitzer Battalion in Germany, entered the Army in January 1962 and received basic training at Fort Carson, Colo. He arrived overseas last March.

The 20-year-old soldier was graduated from Pampa High School in 1961 and was employed by Furr Food Store before entering the Army.

Exchange Student Says AFS Is Binding Countries Closer Together

American Field Service students attending high schools in foreign countries are doing their part to bind closer ties between the United States and other areas of the world. Vince Johnson, Pampa High School exchange student who returned this week from Berne, Switzerland, told downtown Kiwanians at their Friday luncheon in First Methodist church.

Johnson said 2,500 students from 28 countries attended high schools in the U. S. this year and some 500 American students attended schools in 14 foreign countries.

"This is one of the best methods to promote international understanding," Johnson said, "and I am happy to have been a part of the program."

Johnson said he had an opportunity to learn about the "real" Switzerland, something which he stated the average American tourist does not learn on his visits there.

He said the Swiss people have some strange ideas about America and the American people.

"All they have to go on are American movies, magazine articles and things of that type which do not tell the real story of our country," Johnson said.

"They get the idea from 'West Side Story,' for instance, that New York is made up of gangs and from our western pictures that all Texans wear a cowboy hat and carry guns."

Johnson said Swiss schools are advanced about two or three years over American high schools.

He said the schools there do not have the extra-curricular activities such as bands, athletic teams and the various school clubs.

"They go to school eight hours a day and have three or four hours of home work, all of it made up of academic work in mathematics, history, languages and science.

"The result is," Johnson said, "is that their schools are much more advanced than ours and an American student is required to go back two or three grades in order to start on a level where he can catch up with them."

McLean Youth Named to Jr. Hereford Assn.

McLean (Sp) — Joe Magee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Magee of McLean, has been named to junior membership in the American Hereford Association, the world's largest purebred registry organization, with headquarters in Kansas City.

Sixty-eight Hereford breeders were placed on the association's official roster during March. The association maintains active accounts for more than 80,000 breeders of registered Herefords over the nation.

The Hereford Association during the last fiscal year recorded 458,998 purebred calves. The year's total recordings were the 10th highest on record and almost twice the combined registrations of other major beef breeds.

Seniors In 30-14 Win Over Juniors

By JEFF COHANE
Pampa News Sports Editor
The Seniors downed the Juniors, 30-14, in a spring training game at Harvester Stadium last night...

yards for a touchdown. Jerry Garrison stopped Madrid as he tried to run the extra point. Ricky Stewart returned the kick 27 yards behind a nice block by Clive Seymour before Red Griffith brought him down on the Gold 48. On the first play from scrimmage, Hebert rolled out and passed to Kyle Vann, who took the pass on the 25 and galloped goalward untouched. Campaigne and Arthur broke through to block the try for an extra point.

stopped the Seniors on the 10. Hebert returned the second half kickoff 15 yards to the 40. Seymour went through a hole and then a piling on penalty put the Seniors on the enemy 36. Stewart, Seymour, Hebert, and then Seymour bulled to a first down on the 11. Ronnie Oler went to the five and Hebert cut right and then spun back for the score. Terry Criss stopped Oler's run for the extra points and it was 18-6.

Boros Pads Lead To Three Strokes

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI) — Thick-set Julius Boros, the soft-spoken Connecticut Yankee with a soft spot for Texas golf courses, methodically padded his Colonial National Invitation Golf Tournament lead to three strokes Saturday as most of his rivals faltered.

The bull-shouldered New Englander, who has won a third of his nine career tour triumphs on Lone Star State soil, cruised around the long, tricky Colonial par 35-35-70 layout in a 36-35-71 Saturday for a 54 hole total of 208. But he didn't shake off Doug Sanders.

An incomplete pass out of a fake kick position on fourth down lost the Juniors the ball on their own 20. On the first play, Hebert went straight up the middle, bouncing off four tacklers for the score. The PAT kick was no good. The Seniors marched 60 yards in 10 plays for their final score midway in the final frame, with Gler going the last five yards.

Indianapolis '500' Entries Prepare For Time Trials

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — "Battle for the pole" in the 300-mile speedway auto race loomed wide open Saturday, with at least half a dozen lead-footed pilots considered the front-runners in next weekend's time trials.

The Juniors came right back with a nine-play 88-yard march, climaxed by Johnson going around the left side. San Williams ran the only successful conversion of the evening. Time ran out as the Juniors tried to score once more, with Don Dison going 23 yards to the Senior seven before time ran out.

wind-aided. Texas Tech was seventh with 14 points and Texas Christian had 12. Eight defending individual champions all failed to win their events. The most disappointing failure was Rice's Fred Hansen who missed three attempts to clear 15 feet, six inches in the pole vault. Hansen, who also failed to defend his broadjump title, placed second to teammate Warren Brattolf's record vault of 15-6 1/4. Hansen is the only Southwest Conference pole vaulter to clear 16 feet.

WE RECEIVED a rather unusual letter in the mailbag this week end which we feel has a great deal of merit, and are printing in its entirety:

Dear Sir:
The following is an article which I am sending to TEXAS COACH magazine. It deals with something which Texas coaches are very unhappy about. As it mentions your great athlete, Randy Matson, I thought you might like to print it.
Sincerely,

THE DICTATORSHIP IN TEXAS INTERSCHOLASTIC LEAGUE

By Coach George T. Wright

What is a dictator? According to Webster's dictionary it is "one who dictates, one who exercises supreme authority in a state." This is exactly what Dr. Rhea Williams and his University of Texas athletic dictators are doing. A rash statement? I think not! The past few years have shown an increase in seemingly half thought-out ideas formulated into near ridiculous regulations by our supreme athletic governing body in Austin. Again and again new rules are added and old ones changed and tampered with, without the consent of a true representative body of Texas administrators, supervisors, and coaches. Evidently the opinions of the common coach, who has special training for his job, are not given much consideration by the state. To me this is the same as an intern not taking medical advice from the experienced M.D. However, Dr. Williams and his associates seemingly do not give us credit for much intelligence nor the ability to run our own athletics through a federation as most states in our nation do. (Texas is the only state where-by rules, regulations, and decisions are dictated from such an organization as we have in Austin. Virginia is the only other state with a similar situation.)

WE COACHES advise until we are blue in the face, show them where there is a fault or where the athletic program can be strengthened and what do they do? They give a luke-warm promise here and a blunt rejection there. This writer, just like the great majority of all Texas coaches, is ready for a change—not just in the personalities from the University of Texas who dictate but in the total athletic situation. Have you ever stopped to wonder why Texas is the ONLY state of the 50 which has this type of athletic ruling set up? How can the University of Texas honestly feel that it is the TRUE REPRESENTATIVE, law making, rules interpreting, and rules enforcing body over all Texas Interscholastic League Athletics when the coaches have no power or say-so about the various rules.

A PRIME example of what I am talking about occurred at the state meet in Austin this past May. Boys who had been using their own discus and shot in every meet this year were forced to use a new shot and discus which had to be used by every contestant. According to Dr. Williams this was because two percent of the contestants had scratches on their discus or shot.
First of all, would you penalize the other 98 percent by making them use a new state furnished shot or discus? Of course not—it's no different for the same reason that you would not penalize everyone in the classroom merely because you knew that someone was cheating in that class. A person with the honor of a Doctor's degree should know better. It's simply a basic rule of education.
Secondly, who ever heard of scratches on a shot adding distance to a boys put? Evidently Dr. Williams believes that it will. He must know a lot more about the ancient art than we coaches do.
Thirdly, there is supposed to be a competent judge at the discus and shot ring. Why couldn't he have merely inspected each individual shot or discus and thereby insured that each person was abiding by the standards, rules, and regulations. I have judged, coached, and participated in the shot and discus events and it is certainly no problem to make an on-the-spot check. Unless of course you want to make it a problem.

SOME PEOPLE may wonder why there should be any reason for a contestant not wanting to use the same shot or discus as everyone else. If you have thrown the discus or put the shot you would know the answer to that. First of all, some people's hands are smaller than others and therefore they need a smaller shot or discus; there are various sizes but, naturally, all weigh the same. Secondly, the psychological impact of using your own shot or months and then having to change within minutes is definitely a disadvantage to the participant. True, they all will then have the same disadvantage and therefore, no advantage over each other, but what about individual mental differences and the lessened chances of setting new records and the cutting of efficiency.

The newspapers quoted Randy Matson of Pampa as saying that it didn't bother him. Every coach knows that Matson was probably being modest. It had to affect his attitude in some manner. It would affect anyone who had the pressure which Matson had on him. He was slated to break the national record. As far as I'm concerned the ruling by Dr. Rhea Williams very well may have cost Randy Matson a national record in either the shot or the discus or possibly both. Isn't it interesting to note that in other meets it wouldn't have mattered whether Mason used his own shot or discus, someone else's, or a new one. If it was regulation size and weight it would still have counted as a national record. Since when has Texas become greater than the entire nation? Since when has Texas been right and the other 49 states wrong? When did a small group of dictators get the power to contribute to keeping a great athlete from achieving one of the greatest honors a high school athlete can get in this nation.

THE ABOVE is merely one of scores of examples I have collected from personal knowledge and from other coaches. I think it's time we stop closing our eyes to what is going on and do something for the improvement of our athletic governing body. One thing is certain: There is plenty of room for REAL improvement. The question is—are we strong enough in our convictions to fight for what we know is best and against that which we know is not as good as it could be?

CARDS OPTION JASTER

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Southpaw pitcher Larry Jaster has been optioned by the St. Louis Cardinals to Tulsa of the Texas League but will continue to count on the Cardinals' 25-man player limit this season.
Jaster thus replaces outfielder Jan Fierek as St. Louis' "designated player." Fierek was claimed Tuesday by Cincinnati.

Heard in the Dugouts: Umps Spiting Giles?

NEW YORK (UPI)—Heard in the dugouts:

"Some National League players are beginning to wonder whether the umpires are purposely spiting league President Warren Giles by continuing to call repeated balks even though they were instructed to go easy.

The players point out the umpires may have felt they were needlessly put on a spot and this is their way of getting back at Giles, nice and legal-like.

And speaking of rules, every NL pitcher claims to know the balk rule by heart. Maybe so, but there aren't a dozen players in the majors who can recite the first rule in the book. It is:

"Baseball is a game between two teams of nine players each, under direction of a manager, played on an enclosed field in accordance with the rules, under jurisdiction of one or more umpires."

The Kansas City A's may be surprising a lot of folks, but General Manager Pat Friday, he predicted they would crack the first division this year as far back as last August.

Every club in the majors tried to land Detroit bonus catcher Bill Freehan. The Red Sox tried especially hard, sending Ted Williams to his home in Ann Arbor, Mich., in an effort to have him sign with them.

Southpaw Bud Daley of the Yankees, now recuperating in his Orange, Calif., home from a recent arm operation, took a souvenir home with him from the hospital. The three bone chips removed from his arm were presented to him in a glass container.

Reliever Ken MacKenzie of the Mets quips he's the lowest paid man of Yale University's 1956 graduating class.

Harry Bright isn't complaining one bit about being with the Yankees but he's still somewhat puzzled over why the Reds let him go. He spoke with Cincinnati Manager Fred Hutchinson before he left and was told the club was going to go with first baseman Gordy Coleman against all types of pitching.

Detroit Manager Bob Scheffing hated to let go 38-year-old Vic Weritz.

"Not only was he a helluva ball-player in his day," Scheffing says, "but he also was one of the finest guys who ever put on a uniform."

The standard line for anyone who breaks curfew on the San Francisco Giants is a case of golf balls which runs about $120.

Maybe they won't admit it, but of all the winter deals the Pittsburgh Pirates made the one they're sorriest about is the sale of catcher Don Leppert to the Washington Senators.

Windsor Co. Sponsors Matson

Track coach Norman Phillips announced yesterday that Elmer Wilson of the Windsor Oil Well Servicing Co. of Pampa would sponsor Randy Matson's trip to the National Track Federation Meet at Abilene Christian College next Saturday.

This will give Matson another chance to break the national high school shot put and discus records.

Matson, who has the second highest high school shot put mark of 66'1", and the third highest discus mark of 192' 13/4", set a discus record of 199'4" at the regional meet, but it was not counted as a national mark due to a technicality. The present discus record is 195'4" set by Bob Stocker of Los Altos, Calif., in 1962, and the shot record is 69'3", set by Dallas Long in 1959.

The ACC meet will be one of the last track meets to be held during the current high school season. Although Matson is slated to go to a track meet in Houston next month, it will be after the high school year is officially over and would not count as a record. The ACC Meet, and one in California later this month are the only ones in which Matson could set a recognized high school mark. However, since Pampa High School had not scheduled the ACC meet officially, the trip would have to be sponsored by an individual or local civic group.

Wilson, a former member of the School Board, active in civic and church affairs and an ardent sports fan, told Phillips yesterday he would sponsor Randy and provide the expenses for both him and coach Phillips to go to the meet.

TEXAS OUTDOORS

By WILLIAM CLAYTON
United Press International

Probably as long as Texas streams continue to support industry and municipal uses as well as the fish and other wildlife that depend on them for life, there will be pollution problems.

But something that could best be called public awareness, plus a combination of laws and research, could push those problems to the background and keep the fishing good most of the time.

The Texas Pollution Control Board has been in existence for about a year and a half. While most of its work is dominated by permit-issuing duties, the board studies and inspections play a big part in pointing to solutions.

Permanent Problem

B. N. Walton of the State Health Department pollution section says that while fish kills caused by pollution make a big splash—you should pardon the pun—in the news, the underlying problem is a more permanent one.

"The fact that there are, fish there at all is a comment on anti-pollution work," Walton says.

Last year at Austin, a worker's washing of a chemical loading platform sent chemicals on a 40-mile death-dealing trip down the Colorado, killing thousands of fish.

More Fish Killed

Last week end at the Lake of the Pines, rains washed down over an old slag pile and the washings reached the lake, killing a number of fish.

Those are two examples of the varying problems that can arise. "These are sort of spectacular and get a lot of notice," Walton said, "but there are only a few areas that have gross pollution in a stream and fish cannot live there at all."

The Trinity River just below Dallas and Fort Worth and the San Antonio River just below the Alamo city are examples of chronic pollution areas, he said.

Foreign Champs

LONDON (UPI) — There have been five world heavyweight champions who were born outside the United States: Bob Fitzsimmons (England), Tommy Burns, (Canada), Max Schmeling (Germany), Primo Carnera (Italy) and Ingemar Johansson (Sweden).

PAMPA WINNER — Larry Bush of the Pampa Rifle & Pistol Club won the marksman class honors in last Sunday's six-team shoot.

STARTING STRONG

Club Holds Sunday Shoot

The first in a series of five summer high power rifle matches was conducted at Pampa by the High Plains League last Sunday. C. H. Leigh of Borger won the open class with a 244-25-250, despite varying strong, gusty winds and rain. Adrian Kunce, also of Borger, won the high master class with a 240-11V. Walter Robbins of Amarillo AFB topped expert class with 240-18V. Sharpshooter class went to another Amarillo entry, Wilbur Wismore, with a 235-11V. Larry Bush of Pampa won the marksman class with a 197-8V. Unclassified was taken by L. E. Gibbons of the AFB with a 226-10V.

Adobe Walls Gun Club of Borger took team honors over the other five clubs entered by posing a 949-65V-100. Pampa 'C' team edged out Amarillo AFB by one point, firing a 932-58V. Team scores were taken from the four high individual scores from each gun club participating.

The course of fire consisted of 10 shots standing at 200 yards, 10 shots rapid fire sitting at 200 yards, 10 shots prone rapid fire at 300 yards and 20 shots slow fire prone at 600 yards. All competitors used military or sporting rifles modified for target shooting and using 30-06 ammunition.

The next match is scheduled for June 16, again at the Pampa Rifle and Pistol Club's outdoor range.

TEXAS BOATING

Every year in Texas, boat shows are becoming more popular and breaking records of previous years. This is evidenced by shows this year in Houston, Fort Worth and Dallas.

Why do people go to boat shows? Are they looking or buying? Does the show influence any buying habits?

In this survey - conscious age, questions such as these don't go unanswered very long. In the recent New York show, the daddy of them all, 1,050 persons were surveyed, with the above questions in mind. Here are the answers:

Of the persons surveyed, 66.4 per cent were boat owners. Most of the 33.6 non-boat owners were avid boating enthusiasts who used boats owned by friends or relatives.

Leinsdorf Shows Dual Talents in New Releases

NEW YORK (UPI) — Co-incidence permits Erich Leinsdorf to display his conductorial mastery over opera and symphony simultaneously and if it weren't real in every sense such a dual display would be egotistic.

RCA Victor has released simultaneously the recording of Puccini's "Madame Butterfly" which he made with a bevy of Metropolitan Opera stars and an Italian orchestra and chorus (6160) and his performance of Mahler's 1st Symphony with the Boston Symphony Orchestra of which he now is music director (2642.)

Leinsdorf is conductor - effacing. Never is there an idiosyncrasy of interpretation ("individuality" as it is sometimes called) which reminds you that a man with a baton is having his way with a score. In fact you have no sense of interpretation being involved. Your sense is that the music is entirely right, the way the composer wanted it to be.

This applies equally to the Puccini and the Mahler. A conductor who has voices like Leontyne Price and Richard Tucker working for him in the big parts of Butterfly is well on his way to victory, of course, but there can be no victory unless the Puccinian essence is distilled both from the singers and the orchestra. In this reviewer's opinion there is not now nor has there been in recent years a "Madame Butterfly" recording that comes even close to this one.

In the Mahler, Leinsdorf is entitled to primary commendation for neither trying to make the score more supercharged and thrashing - about than it is or endeavoring to check its unabashed revelations of self-torment and self-pity. Mahler is projected objectively without even the suggestion of conductorial approval or disapproval.

It should be said Mahler's 1st is the most economical of his symphonic scores. It requires only a little less than an hour to perform. And it also is the least neurotic. There's an abundance of evocative emotional power in this composer. In the 1st symphony it is more concentrated than in his others.

Notes from the foreign news cables:

Kennedy Visit:
In Rome there is speculation that President Kennedy may cancel his scheduled June "working visit" to Italy as a result of last week's general elections which gave Italian Communists a record vote. The speculation is based on the belief that the opening of the new parliament on May 16 will be marked by the fall of Premier Amintore Fanfani's center-left government and that six to eight weeks might be needed to form a new government. In such an event, a Kennedy visit to Italy at that time would be wasted effort. In any case, Kennedy is scheduled to pay an official visit to Italy early in 1964 which should soothe any ruffled feelings caused by a cancellation now.

There has been talk in the party that Churchill's outspoken journalist son, Randolph, will be asked to run at Woodford. But a better bet is Mrs. Doris Moss, the constituency's conservative chairman and a good friend of Churchill's.

Campaign Fodder:
With Britain moving into gear for the next general election, look for Prime Minister Harold Macmillan to stage a cabinet shuffle to give his sorely-tried government a more efficient image. Two likely casualties are Home Secretary Henry Brooke and Transport Minister Ernest Marples. Both have muffed recent parliamentary appearances and Brooke's departure would give a high cabinet post to Edward Heath, Britain's chief Common Market negotiator. An Open Letter from an "adopted daughter" from across the seas to her "adopted mother" in the United States:
Dearest Pampans,

On May 12, you will be celebrating Mothers' Day. All of you will find a special way to tell your mother how much you appreciate all that she has meant and has done for you during your life.

However, among you there will probably be some whose mother is somewhere away. Even those, I am sure, will find a special way to express their love and appreciation to her. Perhaps, some will call her on the phone and express their feelings; some others will send her flowers or will wire a nice letter.

All of the above suggestions passed through my mind these days, as I was trying to figure out a way to express my love and appreciation not only to my mother here, but also to my other mother, who is far apart from me this year. Finally I came to the conclusion to write a letter and send it to your paper, so that everybody could see what and how much she has done for me. It is the least thing I can do from here to make her a little happy on her special day.

Dearest Pampans, most of you know what a wonderful person mother is. Nevertheless, I would like to tell you a few things that she did for me just to prove to you why I do love her so much and feel so honored to have her as my American mother.

First of all, she helped me tremendously at the beginning to overcome my difficulties with your language. Very often those first few days, we used to sit on the sofa together and she would let me talk about anything I wanted, correcting me every time I would say something wrong. She even used to ask me over and over any new words I was learning so that I couldn't forget them.

Later on, when school started, she was always at my side ready to answer all my questions or help me with any lesson I would need some extra help. There were nights during which she didn't go out just to study with me. I was so happy having her near me reading along with me my American literature, for example, so that she could explain to me any part that was difficult. Those nights are probably the ones that brought us so close to each other. Because after we were through with studying, we usually would start talking about a thousand other things concerning ourselves. This way, we came to know each other very well and to love each other deeply.

Mother was the one who guided me during the year. At times, when I didn't know what would be the right thing for me to do or the right attitude for me to take, she was always ready to give me her wonderful advice. No matter what kind of difficulties I was having, no matter what kind of problems, I had to face, I knew she would always understand me perfectly and afterwards help me in her wonderful ways.

Dearest Pampans, there are so many things I want to say about her, I could go on and on for hours describing her qualities.

Nevertheless I won't do it for two reasons. First, because most of you know them already and then because my letter would be too long for you to have it printed.

So far, I haven't said the name of my mother, who is away from me. Do you think I really need to say it? Of course, you all know that she is Katy Key. She is the one that my American Field Service papers, about two years ago, said that I was supposed to call "mother," because I was going to live in her home. How strange did that seem to me at that time, but how absolutely natural it was after I came to know her! "Mother," as I came to find out in a few days after my arrival in Pampa, was the only way I could call her. Sincerely yours, Cathy Papatheasopoulou, Patras Greece, American Field Service student 1962.

GAVEL EXCHANGE WEEK: Signs of regret intermingled with those of relief were sighed by outgoing presidents of clubs this week as they handed over their presidents' gavel to incoming presidents in pretty installation services held at Spring Luncheons around town. Betty Henderson used a lovely ceremony with the subtitle "Wisdom," for the new officers of Twentieth Century Culture Club at a luncheon held Tuesday in the Cibola Room of the Coronado Inn. Each incoming officer was presented with a small booklet "Golden Bible" verses. Barbara Dobbin relinquished her proxy's gavel to Viola Jordan after a luncheon that started off with the most delightful-looking, refreshingly cool salad served in stemmed goblets... the salad was surrounded by green-tinted ices!

Out in Betty Reid's lovely home on North Duncan, with its oriental decor, before a black and white stone living-room fountain, Evelyn Graham accepted a symbol of her office from Katherine Reeve, who is to serve as vice president next year! It was a gay luncheon with two of the gals, who came hatless, borrowing beautiful chapeaus for a picture from the hostess and then trying to get her to say she would give them as door prizes.

In Ann Heskew's home on North Somerville, which has traditionally been a spot for pretty luncheons, Betty Brown (have you noticed how many ex-presidents are named Betty?) handed over her well-done presidents' duties for Twentieth Century Cotillion to Ann Campbell.

Sally Davis has a clever installation service dreamed up for the Petroleum Engineers Wives' Society luncheon Tuesday in the Cibola Room of the Coronado Inn, when Barbara Turbno hands over the president's gavel to Vera Curzon of Borger. And to add spice and splendor to the afternoon, Kathryn Steele is giving one of her inimitable book reviews of "Travels With Charley" by John Steinbeck.

And how much we would love to go along with Twentieth Century Club members Tuesday, when they journey 40 miles out into the ranchlands to the lovely home of Mrs. Paul Harbaugh, for a spring luncheon and installation of new officers... and we almost did this year!

DEW TELL... saw Uncle Billy Frost out in his yard one afternoon this week raking up a few twigs. He was joined by his pretty, fluffy white cat, who has recently come to his home to stay and whom we hope will not be as fickle as "Strawberry" or "Snowball." As Uncle Billy raked and the cat nuzzled up against his leg, a group of boys on their way home from Sam Houston School stopped by to say "Hello" to Uncle Billy. Uncle Billy has been telling all his friends about the arrival of a great-great grandson... his first. Robert Cris arrived on Wednesday into the care of his parents, Robert and Lela Madeira and sister, Cindy in Richmond. Also saw Pat Elkins one day this week looking like a piece of peppermint candy... and just as sweet... in a red and white striped shirt-waist dress. Heard there were a lot of high school seniors, who spent a portion of their annual "sneak day" studying in Lovett Memorial Library... and it's true! It wasn't anyone's birthday nor anniversary... no one was going away or returning from a trip, it was "just for fun dinner party with friends" that brought the Floyd Imels, the Mark Heaths, the Fletcher Kennedys and the A. J. Beagles out to the Pampa Country Club one evening recently. This is sort of a weekly event for this quartet of couples... plus a few others who always seem to enjoy each others' company so much. Hope that all mothers everywhere are having a wonderful day and that if any were lucky enough to have breakfast in bed that the family left the kitchen spotless!... see you around... d.e.w.

Finkelstein-Ornsten Wed In Denever Ceremony

Mrs. Bruce Stephen Ornsten
...nee Rhona Finkelstein

Wedding vows of Miss Rhona Finkelstein and Bruce Stephen Ornsten of Denver, Colo., were solemnized in an eight o'clock service Saturday performed by Rabbi Robert Hammer in the Congregation Rodef Shalom in Denver, Colo.

Miss Finkelstein is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Finkelstein, 1901 N. Russell. Mr. Ornsten is the son of Mrs. Rose Ornsten of Denver, Colo.

BRIDE
Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length dress of white peau de soie accented with lace and pearls complemented with a white beaded pill box hat encircled with a veil. She carried a white orchid arranged with stephanotis atop a white Bible.

ATTENDANTS
Miss Glenda Finkelstein, bride's sister, attended as maid of honor.

Another sister, Mrs. Stanley Brown of Denver, was matron of honor. They wore identical dresses of white pique with the hemlines accented with varying shades of pink roses. Pink slippers and hats encircled with veils and pink rose nosegays completed their costumes.

Sid Glueck, bridegroom's brother-in-law, served as best man. Stan Kline was groomsman. Seating the wedding guests were Hub Finkelstein, bride's brother, Stanley Brown, bride's brother-in-law, Joe Kaufman and Mike Tucker.

Miss Nadene Tenenbaum was guest registrar. Wedding vows were repeated in the presence of the immediate family and close friends.

Immediately following the ceremony, the bride's parents were hosts for a dinner dance in the San Marco Room of the Brown Palace Hotel.

The bride's table carried out her chosen color scheme of pink and white. The table was appointed with a white Swiss organdy cloth centered with an arrangement of Pink Tea roses. Five-tiered wedding cake was decorated with pink roses and topped with a pink satin bell accented with pearls and lily-of-the-valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Ornsten left this morning for a wedding trip to Las Vegas, Nev. For travel, the bride wore an oyster-colored dress with matching shoes and bag.

Upon their return, they will make their home at 559 South Fairvax in Denver, Colo.

Included in the pre-nuptial courtesies was a rehearsal dinner given by the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Ornsten in the Quorum Room in the Argonaut Hotel. Mrs. Adolph Kaufman and Mrs. Hyman Brown entertained with a Sunday Morning Brunch today in the Kaufman home before the couple left for Las Vegas.

The bride was graduated from Pampa High School in 1957; attended Oklahoma University and was graduated from Texas University in 1961, where she majored in elementary education. For the past two years, she has been em-

Dear Abby

By Abigail
Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Don't mothers tell their daughters any more that it isn't proper to telephone boys? Our 16-year-old son happens to be liked by several girls. One called him at seven o'clock in the morning yesterday. Another one called him last night at midnight. (She said she just wanted to "talk" because she couldn't sleep.) Well, his father and I couldn't sleep very well after that, either. I know it isn't our son's fault that he gets these calls, but how do parents go about curbing them?

ONE BOY'S MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: If your son gets a telephone call from an Early Bird or a Night Owl QNCE, it is not his fault. But if he doesn't tell them to cut out the ill-timed calls, it IS his fault, in which case his parents are justified in "helping" him give the girls the message.

DEAR ABBY: When I was first married, I didn't know anything about bridge, but just to please my husband I took lessons, and now I'm better than he is. Although we are usually partners, he resents me. He seems so happy when we lose. I think he purposely overbids his hand so we can't make it. I just don't understand him. We get along very well otherwise. So why does he get so mean and ugly the moment we sit down to play bridge?

BRIDGE PLAYER
DEAR BRIDGE PLAYER: Insist on a heart-to-heart talk with your husband, and call a spade a spade. Find out what's gnawing at him. Whatever it is—it's probably not in the cards.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MISERABLE: Why, oh why does everyone put the blame on the dentist because dentures don't fit forever? Let's say you had a pair of shoes made—and they were perfect reproductions of your feet—curled toes, crooked toe-nails and all, but then you went barefooted for two years. If your feet broadened, or the arches fell, if you gained or lost weight and the shoes no longer fitted—they rubbed blisters and hurt—would it have been the shoemaker's fault? If one's eye muscles change with age, is it the fault of the ophthalmologist who prescribed two years ago? One must wear dentures to become accustomed to them. And periodic checkups are necessary to detect changes in the gums. Dentures are seldom a "one-shot" affair.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif. played by the Denver Public School system.

The bridegroom is employed by KBT in Denver, while attending Colorado University Extension.

SHADE MAGIC

You can modernize a vintage window with cleverly hung shades. For example, when two old-fashioned windows are close together, treat them as one picture window by hanging a single shade across both. You can create an illusion of height by hanging shades from the ceiling rather than from the top of a window. This is particularly effective with ceiling-to-floor draperies.

Take It From Kathy

by Kathy Peterson

Dear Kathy: I'm 17 and I can't get along with either of my parents. Everything I do seems to irritate them. Both seem to want to punish me. I lose the use of my car and can't go anywhere except to school because I failed algebra and was tardy at school just once. I can't live like this much longer.

My father said that if I didn't like it I could pack my clothes and get out. What can I do? I love them very much.

I have an uncle who said I could live with him but I couldn't make enough money to finish school and clothe myself, too. Please tell me what to do.—Disgusted.

I cannot tell you what to do, "Disgusted." You've got to tell yourself—and I realize it will take a lot of maturity for you to come up with the right answer.

How you meet this crisis in your life may determine in a large measure the kind of life you have from here on.

Let's see what the possibilities are. First, what would be the effect of leaving home? You would live with your uncle, who must be a good guy to offer to take you in. But he isn't a loving father and mother. And life without love can be very unpleasant — much more unpleasant than life under harsh discipline.

After all, why have your parents cracked down on you? Out of love and worry — a combination of both. When you are a father you'll appreciate that they go together in the lives of parents.

Sure, maybe the folks goofed when they took away your car and restricted your social life because you flunked algebra and were tardy. But maybe they felt that only shock treatment would get you back on the beam. Maybe they warned you repeatedly but you don't want to face the fact that your trouble is really your own fault, not theirs.

You be the judge: should you be tooting around in your car while flunking in school? It's tough to judge — one's self but, honestly, wouldn't it be best to face the music, buckle down to your studies and win back the confidence of your parents? Even if you don't, you'll always have their love. But love AND confidence are lots better than a car and free rein.

Cotillion Installs New Officers At Spring Luncheon

Mrs. Thelma Bray installed new officers for the Twentieth Century Cotillion Club at a spring luncheon held Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Ann Heskew, 1120 N. Somerville.

Heading up activities for the club next year will be Mmes. Jim Campbell, president; Don Morrison, vice president; Bob Williams, secretary; Buddy Cockrell, treasurer; Jim Brown, parliamentarian; Howard Greenlee, historian-reporter.

Mrs. Bray challenged the new officers and members with: "Let us take time for all good things; make us grow calm, serene, gentle. She asked that the club motto be remembered: "Time Wasted Is Existence, Time Used Is Life."

Mrs. Morrison, Antigue Show chairman, read a letter of appreciation from West Texas State College for Cotillion's five hundred dollar contribution to the Opportunity Plan at WTSC.

Members attending, not previously mentioned, were Mmes. W. B. Adair, Alvin Agan, Gene Barber, James Brown, Harbord Cox, Lee Fraser, James Gallimore, Ralph McKinney, W. D. Price Jr., Jack White, Buddy Cockrell and Frank Vitrano.

Can Face Any

Crisis, If ...

A woman can face any minor crisis in her life with more fortitude, if—— She knows while she is facing it that she can make the gruesome details-dramatic enough to hold the attention of her bridge club.

— She knows she has at least one friend who is a sympathetic listener, who will cluck comsionately once she can get on the phone to tell her what has happened.

— She is looking her best, instead of her worst, at the moment of crisis. Somehow, a woman gets courage and poise from knowing that she has her lipstick on, and that every hair is in place.

— She has a husband who can be counted on to respond with something soothing, rather than annoyance, when she tells him about the crisis.

— She has lived long enough to know the difference between a minor crisis and a major one — and so doesn't confuse the former with the latter.

— She has a sense of humor that is bound to show her the funny side of the situation, if there is one (and there usually is, to a minor catastrophe.)

— She is too busy to throw up her hands in despair over one setback, and must think of some common sense solution so that she can take up the next job at hand.

— She has survived enough minor crises in her life to know that she will also survive the present one.

— She refuses to give in to the temptation to feel sorry for herself, or to say, "This is just my luck," or to wonder "Why do these things always have to happen to ME?"

— She knows full well that life is full of minor crises for everyone, but that they never seem really unimportant except when they happen to someone else.

Dear Mother, so lovely And fair as the rose; As pure as the dew

And the lily that grows; Her hands have fashioned And guided my years. God must have known, When he made our land, He needed someone With a magical hand. So this tool he placed In the heart of no other, Than this wonderful friend, We all love to call Mother.

Wisdom Keynote In Culture Installation

Twentieth Century Culture Club installed new officers at a luncheon held Tuesday in the Cibola Room of the Coronado Inn with Mrs. E. L. Henderson as installing officer.

Mrs. Henderson used the Book of Proverbs for quotations on "Wisdom" in the ceremony that installed Mrs. Rufe Jordan as president; Mrs. Irene Osborne, vice president; Mrs. Michael Wilson, secretary; Mrs. L. J. Zachry, treasurer; Mrs. R. E. Dobbins, parliamentarian and Mrs. Henderson as reporter. Each officer was given a small booklet of Golden Bible verses and urged to follow the Golden Rule in all their activities.

During the business meeting, conducted by Mrs. Dobbins, outgoing president, Mrs. J. L. Chase was given the status of an inactive member. Mrs. Jordan made committee appointments for the next new club year and the budget was read by Mrs. Leslie Hart.

Luncheon plans were arranged by Mrs. Michael Wilson and Mrs. Vernon L. Hobbs.

Other members attending were Mrs. Phil Gates, D. W. Bond, Joe Donaldson, G. L. Craddock, E. E. Shelhamer, Bob Allen, Jeff Bearden, Ross Buzzard, H. H. Hahn, Jim Edminster and Dudley Steele.

Miss Carolyn Susan Peters of White Deer became the bride of Richard Paul Rouillard of Marblehead, Mass. in a double-ring ceremony solemnized by the Rev. Jerome Hancox on April 27 at 6:30 p.m. in the Sacred Heart Catholic Church of White Deer.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Peters, sister of White Deer. Mr. Rouillard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rouillard of Marblehead.

The church was decorated with large white mums bedecking the main altar and arrangements of white and blue daisies trimming the side altars.

Mrs. Laddie Kotara of White Deer provided the traditional wedding march and the accompaniment for the choir and soloists. Mr. David Dziuk of Hereford and Mrs. Betty Garcia of White Deer. The ceremony commenced as David sang "O Sanctissima." He also sang the Offertory hymn, "Panis Angelicus." Mrs. Garcia sang the closing hymn, "Mother At Your Feet are Kneeling" while the bride and groom placed a long stem red rose on the Blessed Virgin's altar.

Attending the couple were Miss Betty Louise Peters, sister of the bride, as maid of honor and Kenneth Betzen of Hereford as best man.

Bridesmaids were Miss Patsy Holloway and Miss Kay Stephenson, both of Skellytown. Their escorts were Dean Iribeck of Happy and Henry Nepper, a cousin of the bride, of Groom.

Miss Mary Beth Peters, sister of the bride, served the couple as Junior Bridesmaid. Miss Katrina Haiduk of White Deer was flower girl and Billy Don Kamphous, a cousin of the bride, of Canute, Oklahoma was ring bearer.

Ushers were James Dziuk of Hereford and Leon Steffe of Canute Oklahoma.

Miss Sweet Verrest of Amarillo greeted and registered the guests.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal-length gown of diamond white pure silk peau de soie. The molded bodice featured a high neckline with a single strand of pearls and long petal point sleeves. Tiny buttons down the front ornamented the bodice. The bell skirt gave a sheath effect at the center front and a burst of pleats at the side and back unfolded into a sweeping chapel train. Appliques of lace were scattered over the skirt front and edged the train.

Her bouffant fingertip veil of silk illusion fell in tiers from a pearl tiara accented with aurora crystals. The bride carried a bouquet of red roses atop a white prayerbook given to her by the bridegroom.

ATTENDANTS

Her attendants wore dresses of pale blue kitten satin fashioned with a bell skirt, fitted bodice, and a scooped neckline. The headpieces were hand-made and of matching blue fabric. They were designed with four leaves held in the center by a single rose from which fell a short circular veil. The attendants carried white lace fans topped with white carnations and accented with blue ribbon. White gloves and slippers completed their costume.

The flower girl was attired in a blue organza dress adorned with white lace. She carried a basket covered with lace and garnished with blue ribbon rosettes. Her white lace edged hat, white gloves and white slippers completed her doll-like costume.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Peters chose a blue lace sheath styled with a scooped neckline and surrounded in soft pleats. She complemented her costume with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

The groom's parents were unable to attend the wedding.

RECEPTION

A reception was held in the Parish Hall following the ceremony. The reception table was appointed with a white bouffant net skirt and centered with an arrangement of blue and white daisies. Crystal candelabras flanked the floral centerpiece. The four-tiered wedding cake decked with blue rosettes and the crystal punch service completed the table appointments.

Miss Phyllis Betzen of Hereford served the cake and Miss Joyce Kamphous of Canute, Oklahoma, served the punch.

A dance given in honor of the bride and bridegroom climaxed the evening.

LITTLE LIZ
It's easy to be a success at mind-ing your own business, because you have so little competition.

For a travel costume, the bride chose a white linen, silk suit, tailorly fashioned. A white straw bag, white slippers trimmed in white straw, white gloves, and a strand of pearls were her complementing accessories. A corsage of pink sweetheart roses adorned and completed her costume.

The bride is a graduate of White Deer High School and attended West Texas State University. She is now employed with a law firm in Amarillo. The groom-attended St. John's Atoneement Seminary in Montour Falls, New York and is now a junior at West Texas State College where he is a foreign language major.

The couple will make their home at 1616 Jackson, Amarillo. Nuptial courtesies extended the couple included a miscellaneous shower at White Deer.

United Press International
Forever Free, by Joy Adamson (Harcourt, Brace, & World, $5.95);
Simba, by C. A. W. Guggisberg (Chilton $6.50): Two authors who have spent many years observing lions and other wildlife in Africa have packed their books with information, stories, history and pictures about the lion in his natural habitat. Mrs. Adamson's pet lion Elsa needs no introduction. She was the subject of two earlier books, "Born Free" and "Living Free." Simba is the African name for lion. Guggisberg's book tells us more about lions in general. Mrs. Adamson is a personal account of how she and her husband faced the crisis brought on by Elsa's death and the need to care for her three cubs. From Simba, we learn that lions once roamed Europe until the growth of population forced them deeper and deeper into Africa.

Street Without Joy, by Bernard B. Fall (Stackpole $5.95): A revised edition of Dr. Fall's 1961 commentary on the hot war against Communism in Indochina. The French carried on the fight from the end of World War II until 1954, when the Americans began assuming responsibility. The author calls it "revolutionary warfare" and warns the United States must learn a great deal more about its theory and practice.

Ta Ta, Tan Tan, by Valentin Chu (Norton $4.95): The book's title (Fight Fight, Talk Talk) comes from the Chinese Communist cliché describing how the mainland was won and the world threatened. The author, now a U.S. citizen, was a Chinese journalist who lived his trade first in China, then in Hong Kong, and later in New York. He complains Americans have been fooled by "droneology" — the game of China-watchers. "The game is played by all kinds of observers who go to Red China and, upon emerging, issue reports that overestimate the power of Peking and underestimate its difficulties."

Rumbles Left And Right, by William F. Buckley Jr. (Putnam $4.95): Buckley Jr., editor of the weekly magazine National Review, is one of U. S. conservatism's most articulate spokesmen. This is a collection of short pieces, most of them originally speeches or magazine articles, setting forth his views on a variety of subjects. It is customary for Buckley's leftist opponents to represent him as an ogre guilty by association with a friend, the late Sen. Joseph P. McCarthy, and at least inferentially a pickler of rods for the John Birch Society. In fact, Buckley's opinions — at least as represented by this book — may be unpopular but they are scarcely reactionary. There are some bitter judgments of individuals in "Rumbles," but Buckley never becomes shrill.

Nickel Miseries: A Collection, by Ivan Gold (Viking $3.95): The five items which make up this collection of short and long stories are by no means small change. The title piece, "The Nickel Misery of George Washington Carver Brown," won its youthful, bearded author second prize in the 1961 O. Henry Awards. Ribald sex, the U. S. Army and the problems of the social outcast are Gold's themes. The plots often shock. But the vigorous, satiric humor which floods all of Gold's work rescues it from excessive morbidity or undue vulgarity.

How Dry We Were, by Henry Lee (Prentice - Hall $4.95): The roaring 1920's in the United States were ushered in by one of the most memorable of American experiments — prohibition. On January 16, 1920 the 18th Amendment went into effect by which it was forbidden to manufacture, sell, transport, import or export intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes. Drinking went underground but not very far, and with the help of gangsters, grit and the general public, which became increasingly adept at making its own hooch, disrespect for the law and finally open violation led to its repeal 13 years later. Lee tells the story of prohibition well and with considerable relish recalls some of the characters and situations which it spawned.

STARTS 40TH YEAR
 WASHINGTON (UPI)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover started his 40th year on the job today the same way he began his first — by working.
 Hoover's aides said he planned no special occasion to mark his 39th anniversary at head of the Justice Department's investigative arm.

It was on May 10, 1924, that Hoover walked into the office of Atty. Gen. Harlan Stone to accept appointment to the bureau.

Broadway

By JACK GAVER

NEW YORK (UPI) — There may be hope for the human race yet. Or at least for the Broadway theater chapter of this somewhat harassed fraternal organization.

This qualified expression of optimism is stirred by the success of a new musical comedy called "She Loves Me," presented by Harold Prince at the Eugene O'Neill Theater.

It is a charming, melodious, simple entertainment: just a simple love story.

That sounds pretty tame for these years, the sort of thing least likely to succeed. But it works in this case, and there is no more pleasing attraction in New York.

The small but versatile and talented cast is headed by Barbara Cook, who is just about everyone's sweetheart when it comes to musical leading ladies. Daniel Massey, Barbara Baxley, Ludwig Donath, Nathaniel Frey, Ralph Williams and Jack Cassidy, a top singing actor who has been away from here too long.

Dramatist Joe Masteroff has distilled a lean, plant script from an old play by Miklos L. Szabo dealing with romance in a Budapest perfume shop in the 1930's. A shy sort of clerk has been carrying on an ardent correspondence with a girl he doesn't know, and she replies in kind. She gets a job in the same shop, and the pen pals, still in the dark about their personal relationship, take an instant dislike to each other. You take it from there.

Obviously, this sort of tale isn't going to get anywhere these days without the greatest skill and loving care in all departments.

The score especially has to be melodic and sprightly, and Jerry Block (music) and Sheldon Harnick (words) have turned out a series of lovely musical numbers that have been imaginatively staged by Carol Haney.

Although there is no chorus to dance, and virtually no dancing of any kind, movements have been stylishly choreographed. De Walker's orchestrations are a big plus for the score.

Some of the songs that will become popular are "Days Gone By," "Tonight at Eight," "I Don't Know His Name," "Will He Love Me?" "Dear Friend," "Ice Cream," "She Loves Me" and "Grand Knowing You."

Princes staging is outstanding. An important factor in the success of the show is the fact that it has been laced with just the right amount of tongue-in-cheek treatment. This is not of the heavy-handed parody type, which would ruin everything, but consists of the players seeming to have fun and not taking anything too seriously. A sort of sophisticated sentimentality, if there is such a thing.

William and Jean Eckart have designed a marvelously intimate but intricate setting that permits of rapid scene changes, and the 1920's costumes designed by Patricia Zippard manage to be attractive rather than fun-provoking.

Natalie Wood Successful In Switch from Child to Adult

By JOSEPH FINNIGAN
 UPI Hollywood Correspondent -
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Natalie Wood, one of the few child performers who became an adult movie star, thought for a moment when asked recently about her success and answered: "I always hoped to last."

In a profession where hope is one of many elements in an actor's climb to stardom, Miss Wood has achieved success while many others have either quit or become idle on filmland's sidelines.

Some youngsters trying to adjust from child star to adult actor have met with tragedy in their personal lives. Even Miss Wood has suffered misfortune, as her divorce from handsome actor Robert Wagner attests.

Her professional career, however, is one of Hollywood's foremost. At the age of 24, she's sought after by top producers, has a choice of scripts and commands a salary estimated at more than $250,000 a picture.

"Acting in movies was something I wanted to do," Miss Wood said in her Paramount Studio dressing room. "Many child actors don't. Their mothers said 'Do it. That attitude didn't help many of the child actors. And I don't think the isolation in studios was good for them."

"My moment of decision came when I did 'Rebel Without a Cause' with James Dean in 1955. I was 16 years old at the time. That was the first film that I decided on my own to do. People thought of me as a girl-in-pigtails then. But that was an adult type of role for a teen-ager. This was no ingenue."

Miss Wood once fought with her bosses at Warner Bros. studio over contract commitments. She was placed on suspension, regarding to work only after her contract was rewritten to allow Miss Wood the right to do pictures for other studios.

"I think the strike paid off," she said after the 18-month hiatus. "I lost thousands of dollars in salary but got it all back in the first outside picture I made after signing my new contract."

Miss Wood now is co-starring in "Love With a Proper Stranger." It's her first film after a vacation of almost a year.

The Pampa Daily News

AN INDEPENDENT FREEDOM NEWSPAPER

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and that they have certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed. That whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness. Prudence in the long run will always oblige us to secure our freedom by a firm and judicious attachment to a particular Form of Government.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guides expressed in the Ten Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. For only when man understands freedom and is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities in harmony with the above moral principles.

Harvester Band Appreciation Night

One of the community assets of Pampa is the fine Senior High School Band which has made a name for itself and Pampa throughout the nation in this and other years.

Pampa will have an opportunity to salute and show their appreciation for the Harvester Band at the annual band banquet to be held at 7 p.m. Thursday in the high school cafeteria.

This is a banquet open to members of the public who wish to come out and help pay tribute to the nearly 100 members of the band who play for the football games, walk away with honors at band contests and get nationwide publicity for Pampa by being chosen to play at major professional football games, as they did during the last gridiron season at the Dallas Cowboys - New York Giant game in Dallas.

Only band parents, the band members and Fred Stockdale, band director, know the work that goes into the making of an excellent band like we have in Pampa.

That marching Harvester band works out each Fall in band parades that equal time put in by the football squad in its workouts.

Roll Call On Foreign Aid

President Kennedy, in agreeing with the poet Milton in his foreign message to Congress last month that: "Peace hath her victories, no less renowned than war," added: "And no peacetime victory in history has been as far-reaching in its impact, nor served the cause of freedom so well as the victories scored in the last 17 years by this Nation's mutual-defense and assistance programs."

Well, let's see — and before Congress votes that bargain-basement figure of only $4.5 billion. The survey that follows, compiled by Brig. Gen. Bonner Fellers, national chairman of the Citizens Foreign Aid Committee (to aid American taxpayers), forms another message that every Congressman and Senator should read. We quote:

Western Europe has prospered with Marshall Plan aid. But after 17 years and $41 billion in U.S. aid, Western Europe meets only a fraction of its defense obligation; except for commercial loans, its aid to less developed countries is negligible.

Argentina ($640 million aid), under indirect military domination, suffers from inflationary chaos.

Brazil ($1.9 billion aid) is on the brink of Communism.

Cuba ($52 million aid) once enjoyed immense sugar subsidy, has stolen $1 billion in U.S. private investments; her Red satellite status is now guaranteed.

Haiti ($100 million aid) writes under a murderous tyranny.

Indonesia ($670 million aid); her economy wrecked, is an armed dictatorship bent on conquest.

India ($3.9 billion aid) probably faces Red Chinese attack.

Iran ($1.3 billion aid) is a monarchy without a parliament.

Laos ($460 million aid) may soon fall to Communists.

Poland ($522 million aid) is Communist with full freedom gone.

South Korea ($5.4 billion aid) is ruled by its third military junta.

South Vietnam ($2.4 billion aid) ruled by a puppet dictator, proppped up by the U.S., is racked by a Red guerrilla war.

Turkey ($3.8 billion aid) is politically unstable and is economically weaker than before aid began.

Venezuela ($274 million aid), despite prodigious oil wealth, is a major target of the Russo-Cuban fifth column.

Yugoslavia ($2.4 billion aid) is Communist with full freedom gone. Gen. Fellers notes that these items add up to $65 billion and that the glowing reports to Congress and the dismal facts were never in sharper contrast. National self-respect, fully as much as budget balancing, demands healthy cuts in foreign aid.

The American Way

HOW TO GET AHEAD IN LIFE By HARRY BROWNE Editor, American Progress Magazine

Modern education apparently dwells more on "life adjustment" than on the three R's. With this in mind, the schools should be interested in a new course entitled, "How to Get Ahead In Life."

Its purpose is to show the child how to progress within our free enterprise system. Despite the many invasions of private property and curtailments of free choice, we still have — basically — a free enterprise system.

It would seem, then, to be the school's duty to equip the child with the basic understanding required to be a success in this system. The child should be taught the fundamental rule that underlies all individual success within our system:

KEY TO SUCCESS
That rule is: Your success in life depends directly upon the amount of service you give to others.

In the free enterprise system, a man must provide a product or service that others need or desire. If he wants to progress, he must be productive — and that production must be in areas desired by others. Otherwise, his only hope for existence is to live as a hermit.

This lesson applies whether you are a store clerk, steel tycoon, car mechanic, writer, doctor, salesman, production worker, architect, telephone repairman or anything else.

The rule is simple: the more service you provide, the greater your personal reward will be. Obviously, you can't command a bigger salary by doing something nobody wants. On the other hand, the more you satisfy the needs and wants of your community, the more in demand you'll be. This applies whether you own your own company or work for someone else.

Socialists always cry that they want "production for use instead of for profit." Strangely, they can't see the obvious: production for profit is production for use. You can't make a profit unless you provide things people can use.

The free enterprise system has created more good things for more people than any "ism" in history. This is because each man is the master of his own fate — each controls his own property. That means each decides for himself what he will do with that property — what it will be exchanged for.

So anyone who wants some of that property must produce a product or service that satisfies the owner's desires. Only then can the exchange be made.

NO SERVICE
In the various types of socialist systems, however, it is the state that makes such decisions. The government decides what you need or can have. So people don't serve each other — they serve the state.

If these facts could be brought out to our school children — and they certainly aren't hard to understand — think how much more productive future generations might be.

Admittedly, they might serve to prejudice the child on behalf of the free enterprise system — so we can't be too hopeful that these ideas will be taught.

But what's to stop you from passing these simple truths onto your own children?

THE DETAILS — After conferring with White House aides, Dillon decided to send all Cabinet members and agency heads a warning titled "Customs Entry of Articles Acquired Abroad by High Officials of the Executive Branch."

Its significant highlights are as follows: "A Customs regulation which has been in effect for many years has recently become a source of embarrassment to the government, and it has now become necessary to make certain changes in the practice thereunder."

"I refer to the regulation under which 'High Officials' of this government returning from special missions abroad are entitled to admission of their baggage and personal effects without paying any duty thereon."

"The pertinent provision is found in 19 CFR 10.29 (d), which provides that this privilege be accorded to certain officials on the basis of the official's credentials at the time when he enters the country and that it may be accorded to other officials if a prior request has been made to this Department by the department or agency of the official concerned."

"This privilege has been availed of by certain numbers of officials and there is the danger that even one bad case could become very embarrassing."

Mr. Webster further stated, "We must stop taking federal handouts." Perhaps what he really meant was, "everyone except Lone Star Steel Company should stop taking federal handouts."

New Frontiersmen Warned: No More Duty Free Purchases on Trips Overseas

WASHINGTON — Treasury Secretary Dillon, registered Republican and Undersecretary of State in the Eisenhower Administration, is cracking down on junketing New Frontiersmen who are using the duty-free privileges of their high offices to bring expensive gifts into the U.S.

Dillon has sent a diplomatically worded but unmistakable warning to the heads of all government agencies that henceforth the baggage of all "whiz kids" will be inspected, and they will be barred from bringing in duty-free purchases over the $100 limit.

In other words, from now on the law will be enforced on them as it is on ordinary U.S. travelers.

Under a law passed by Congress last year, at the behest of President Kennedy, American travelers are tightly limited on the amount of duty-free purchases they can bring home in order to save dollars in the growing balance-of-payments problem.

Government officials sent abroad on special assignments or missions have enjoyed the privilege of being able to have their baggage and personal effects passed through customs without inspection or payment of duty. This practice enabled them to bring in goods of any value duty-free as long as the purchases were transported in their luggage.

While this little-known Customs procedure did expedite official travel, it also opened the door wide to abuses, particularly in recent months when hundreds of free-wheeling New Frontiersmen began roaming the world and returning with expensive purchases ranging from diamonds to furs coats.

This mounting flood of "duty free" goods caused Customs officials to warn Secretary Dillon that if the press got wind of what was going on the disclosure could be very embarrassing to the administration.

Interestingly, copies of Dillon's memorandum were sent to congressional leaders and Chief Justice Earl Warren. A brief covering letter explained this was being done "for your information."

Aides of Dillon indicate he did this as a polite but pointed admonition to the legislative and judicial branches of government to follow the Treasury's lead and restrict use of their free-entry privileges.

So far, there has been no official Supreme Court.

FOREIGN FLASHES — The Swedish Red Cross is establishing an unusual emergency measure for use in the event of a catastrophe anywhere in the world. It's a supply of clothing, packed in small easy-to-handle bundles, ready to be flown wherever needed.

India's Agriculture Minister has told Parliament that country will need some 30,000 tractors in the next few years. Domestic production is only 4,250; the others will have to be obtained abroad.

So far this year 1,800 have been bought from Russia. West Berlin's militant Mayor Willy Brandt has been redesignated his party's candidate for Chancellor in the next election. Brandt ran against Chancellor Adenauer last time response from either Congress or and made a strong showing.

U.S. Aid Keep-'em Honest Clause Protects Investors

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA) — American investors looking for business opportunities in developing nations now have an assurance that debts contracted by the government of a foreign country will be paid by a succeeding administration which seizes power by revolution.

A four-year-old test case on this issue—involving Howard International, Inc., of New York and the government of Turkey—has just been approved by the Turkish parliament.

This action makes it unnecessary for the United States to threaten a cutoff of American aid to Turkey as a means of enforcing payment.

In view of President Kennedy's recent proposals to promote greater private investment overseas, settlement of the Howard case sets an important precedent for furthering the aid program.

Howard International, headed by Sidney A. Lowry, is an importing company that has brought large quantities of Turkish chrome into the United States.

In 1954 Howard officials were approached by Ahmet Oguz Akal who had large personal mining interests and also headed a government ministry for resource development. He wanted to find a small steel mill in the United States which could be brought to Turkey to make construction industry bars and shapes. Such a mill would cut down Turkish dollar purchases of steel products, conserve foreign exchange and reduce aid.

Howard located a 50,000-ton mill owned by a company in financial difficulty. Contracts were signed in July 1956 to export this mill to Turkey for sale to Akal at $2.4 million.

The Turkish government issued the necessary import permits and the Agricultural Bank of Turkey, Ziraat, issued a guarantee of payment letter to Chase Manhattan Bank of New York, for benefit of Howard.

The mill was shipped in August 1959 and Howard received payments in 1960 of approximately $1.5 million. The Ziraat bank acknowledged delivery of the mill in Istanbul and released Howard from its performance bond. The contract did not call for Howard to erect the mill.

All this happened during the regime of Turkey's Premier Adnan Menderes. But in May 1960, it will be recalled this government was overthrown by the Army under Lieut. Gen. Camal Gursel.

Parliament was dissolved, President Celal Bayar, Menderes and several hundred more officials and businessmen, including Akal, were arrested, tried and sentenced to prison for crimes against the Turkish constitution. Menderes and two cabinet officers were executed and President Bayar is still confined.

The new government soon found itself in strained financial condition. It was charged that purchase of the mill had been an extravagance of the old regime.

The mill was never erected and the $900,000 due Howard went unpaid. The Turkish press took up the case and it became a hot political issue.

The consequences of nonpayment could have been serious for Turkey. Section 620-C of the 1962 Foreign Aid Act provides that when a bank owned or controlled by a foreign government fails to honor a guaranty issued in favor of an American firm, further foreign aid will not be granted.

The U.S. State Department and Ambassador Raymond Hare in Ankara moved in to support Howard's claim. For over two years every diplomatic pressure was exerted to persuade the Turks to pay the debt.

The new government, now under Premier Ismet Inonu would not take responsibility for payment of the claim. Instead, after several cabinet meetings, Inonu introduced a bill in parliament, asking authorization for payment. It passed.

It is expected that Howard's claim soon will be paid, reestablishing Turkey's claim that its credit is good.

Between the Bookends

AMENDMENT PUBLISHED
The proposed Liberty Amendment to the federal Constitution has become an important issue in many parts of the country. As state legislatures weigh resolutions proposing this Amendment in Congress, a great deal of public interest and discussion is taking place.

Very timely then is the publication of the first book devoted solely to the Amendment. Entitled "Action For Americans — The Liberty Amendment," the book is an excellent study of the many ramifications of this important proposal. (Published by Operation America, 6421 Dix St., Los Angeles 28, Calif.)

Principles Reviewed
The authors, Lloyd G. Herbstreith and Gordon van R. King, make no attempt to hide their approval of the Amendment. But they present a more-than-sufficient case for such approval. They discuss the principles and reasons for the Amendment, the growth of federal intervention into American life, the history of taxes, and economic science — in their coverage of the Amendment and the effects it will have on our national life.

The two basic provisions of the Liberty Amendment are: (1) It will require the federal government to give up all economic enterprises not specified in the Constitution; and (2) It will utilize the budgetary allocations thus saved to repeal personal income, estate and gift taxes.

Since it is difficult to argue against the idea that the government should be limited to the authority granted it in the Constitution, most of the resistance to the Amendment has centered on the provision to repeal the income tax. It is only natural to want to be sure the government won't be bankrupted by such an action — alluring as it may be.

Amendment Practical
The authors, however, make it very clear that the Amendment is economically sound. They offer two entirely different studies of the federal budget in support. Both studies — approaching the budget from different angles — show that the budget will be reduced by more money than the income tax provides.

In other words, by forcing the government to give up its expensive habits — such as foreign aid, farm subsidies and other interventions into private life — enough money can be saved to allow the personal income tax to be repealed. The book demonstrates that Constitutional functions, such as national defense and foreign policy, will not be impaired by the Amendment.

In recent years, many good books have been written — showing how our American-free enterprise system has been weakened by continued government encroachment. Unfortunately, too few of these books have bothered to spell out solutions to the problems raised.

"Action For Americans" concentrates on a workable solution, the Liberty Amendment. It carefully points out a course of action that all of us may take to restore the great system that gave us so much.

It will undoubtedly be one of the most important books published in 1963.

Total Demand Expected To Hit Record in 1963

DALLAS — Adoption of the Administration's tax reform proposals likely will set off a new wave of mergers and sell-outs that will eliminate many more independent petroleum producers, J. Wesley Yarbro, chairman of the Independent Petroleum Association of America's tax study committee, says in an article written for the May PETROLEUM ENGINEER.

"Future operating costs of U. S. producers, independent and major firms alike, will be radically changed," Yarbro continues.

Yarbro, Texas Pacific Coal and Oil Co.'s Financial Vice President, sees the Administration's recommendations as a two-part package: rate reductions and structural revisions. Among the latter group are four suggested changes in the rules applicable to petroleum and other natural resources.

"Two of the four changes are aimed at reducing depletion deductions through changes in the mechanics of computation," Yarbro explains. "One is designed to recoup drilling and depletion deductions in the event of sale of mineral properties. The other proposes to add new restrictions on deductions and credits arising from foreign operations."

Commenting in detail in the Petroleum Engineer, on the effect of the reform proposals on foreign activity, Yarbro has this to say: "... Impact of the proposed changes would vary considerably between taxpayers depending upon circumstances.

Tax Reform Program Might Eliminate Many Independents

"Companies with established production and market outlets in foreign areas would be less harmed than those whose foreign exploration and development operations have not reached a profitable stage."

"... Any company which does not already have a foreign source of income will be barred economically from engaging in foreign exploration and development of mineral resources (and) ... would be unable to compete with established international companies and other foreign competitors."

Yarbro declares the Administration has "obviously attempted to beguile the independent segment of the industry into supporting its tax program or, at least, taking no stand against it," by offering the reform as a protective measure to strengthen the position of small producers in the mineral industries.

"The strategy seems clear," Yarbro concludes. "Divide the industry into opposing camps or at least discourage a unification of industry opposition."

"... The proposed changes would not benefit or protect producers of any size and would be detrimental to all."

Realtor Week To Be Marked Here

Today marks the opening of Realtor Week, which will continue through Saturday, Mrs. Genevieve Henderson, president of the Pampa Board of Realtors announced. A proclamation formally noting the week has been signed by Mayor H. Raeburn Thompson.

Realtors from this area will join with the more than 73,000 across the country this year under the slogan "A Home Means Happiness—Happiness with a Home Means a Realtor" in an effort to emphasize their services and to make clearer the distinction between a Realtor and others in the real estate business.

"A Realtor," Mrs. Henderson said, "is pledged to follow a strict code of ethics that is enforced through the local board of the National Association of Real Estate Boards of which he is a mem-

FFA Banquet Features 1963 Award Winners

Russell McConnell, president of the White Deer School Board, awarded the certificates of merit to the following boys: Ricky Butler, Ronald Alexander, Leroy Haiduk, Roy McClendon, James Keahy, Jerry Kovar, Kenneth Steward, Ricky Moore, Carlton Alexander, Tommy Buchanan, Ken Jackson, Larry Simmons, Ricky Townsend, Tommy Horner and Johnny Porter.

Presentation of Chapter awards were made by Donald Booth, chapter advisor, to Johnny Spence for shop work; Ken Jackson, crop production; James Keahy, hog production; Carlton Alexander, beef production; and Leroy Haiduk for home improvements.

Plaques were received by Tommy Buchanan and Carlton Alexander for outstanding achievements in Vocational Agriculture and the FFA Chapter.

The Star Chapter Farmer Award went to Jackson for being the outstanding FFA and agriculture student of the year.

WHITE DEER (Spl) — Presentation of awards highlighted the annual White Deer Future Farmers of America banquet held recently in the school cafeteria by the chapter members, dads and guests.

Ken Jackson, F.F.A. president, was toastmaster for the occasion. Tommy Buchanan, vice-president, was the main speaker for the evening. He spoke on the subject "What is a Farmer?" He told of the many traits a farmer must have to be a success in this day and time.

Virgil Moore and Don Vance received the Honorary Chapter Farmer degrees from Jackson and were cited for their interest and cooperation with the chapter.

President Jackson presented the chapter sweetheart, Miss Cherry Baker, with a sweetheart trophy. Miss Baker then presented her picture to the chapter to be hung on the wall of the agriculture classroom along with the other past FFA sweethearts.
