TFX Inquiry Only Does Harm McNamara Says

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Investigations subcommittee today called off a scheduled session of its TFX warplane investigation.

Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., told newsmen he was busy on other matters and would have to postpone the hearing until Wednesday. He assured reporters there was "no special significance" in the delay.

Witnesses for today's closed session were to have included the admirals and generals who made up the source selection board which recommended that the TFX contract go to the Boeing Co. It went instead to General Dynamics, touching off the present controversy.

Eventual cost of 1,700 of the supersonic Navy-Air Force fighter planes may exceed $6 billion.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara has said the TFX hearings would result only in "tremendous harm to many individuals."

The secretary was praised today by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield. He said, "I think we all recognize that the secretary of defense has done an outstanding job in his two years in office. We have all the confidence in the world in his discretion, his integrity and his ability."

In testimony released Monday by the Senate Investigations subcommittee, McNamara said the politically explosive inquiry had resulted in bitter accusations that have hurt people both in the Pentagon and on Capitol Hill.

"I assume that the committee staff has been irritated at times. God knows, we have been," he said. "I am not suggesting quitting. I am just being realistic. I think there is going to be tremendous harm done to many individuals as a result of this hearing."

The remarks were in the transcript of McNamara's testimony before the subcommittee Thursday afternoon. They were made public for the first time Monday night.

Describes Popular Image
The secretary said the investigation into his decision to award the contract to General Dynamics has left the impression "that I am either subject to political influence, self-interest or stupid, and I call that harm."

McNamara described his popular image as that of a cold, impersonal cabinet official who made decisions from electronic computer data.

Apparently upset over what he considered a challenge to his personal integrity, he said:

"Last night when I got home at midnight after preparing for today's hearing, my wife told me that my 12-year-old son had asked how long it would take for his father to prove his honesty."

Crying Called 'Nonsense'
The Pentagon later described as "nonsense" a claim by an anonymous source that McNamara shed tears at this point.

McNamara also told the Senate committee he tried to suppress a controversial Air Force memorandum "I e a k e d" to the press which accused subcommittee staff aides of "abusing" Pentagon witnesses in long interrogations.

Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said that the subcommittee believed that Col. Donald Paffel, an Air Force liaison officer, wrote the memo.

Loyalists Have Clashes With Red Guerrillas

GUATEMALA CITY (UPI) — Loyal troops battled Communist guerrillas in a number of minor clashes over the weekend, the army announced today. There was no report of casualties on either side.

The army announcement said a patrol from Pucito Barrios, eschanged fire for "several minutes" Sunday night with a band of gunmen on the Atlantic Highway. The gunmen fled.

A band of about nine men fired on a sentry at the Matias de Galvez naval base Sunday afternoon, the announcement said. Return fire by the sentry and troops who came to his aid scattered the attackers, who were chased into the hills.

Another band of about 150 persons surrendered peacefully to troops near Bananera in northeastern Guatemala, the army said. On Sunday night, anti-government forces cut telephone and telegraph wires near Montul.

President Miguel Ydigoras Fuentes Monday decreed a 30-day "state of siege"—national emergency—to counter what he described as a "vast (Communist) plan of agitation and violence" designed to overthrow the government.

Pampa Youth Questioned On Forgery Charge

A 16-year-old Pampa boy under further questioning by city police and juvenile authorities this forenoon following his confession to forging at least three checks and cashing them in Pampa stores.

Police Chief Jim Conner said the youth passed one of the checks for $24 on March 5 at the C. R. Anthony store, one for $9.50 on March 9 at Ward's Mini Mart, and another for $5.50 at Kar's Shoe Store on March 18.

In each instance, Chief Conner stated, the youth signed different names to the checks. Juvenile Officer Bill Leonard aided in questioning the youth today and final disposition will be made by juvenile authorities, he said.

Methodist Goose

HOUSTON (UPI) — Gabby the goose thinks he is a Methodist kindergarten pupil.

Since the day he was hatched in a science project at the University of Houston, Gabby has never seen another bird of any kind.

After Gabby's work for science was completed he became the pet of Mrs. Sidney Caffall, a church kindergarten director.

Gabby mimics the children in everything they do. He even tries to sing. He opens and closes his mouth when the music starts, but so far has not made a sound.

SHOT — Jane Langdon, daughter of state Judge Jack Langdon of Fort Worth, Tex., and a coed at Texas Christian University, was found shot to death in the entrance of a prospector's mine tunnel near Phoenix, Ariz. Officers believe a sexual assault may have been a prime motive in the slaying.

Fire Damages Preserve And Grass Area

Two sections of grassland and part of the Gene Howe Game Preserve northeast of Canadian suffered fire damage yesterday afternoon.

Included in the damaged area were about 80 acres of grass and a mile of fence on the ranch of Pampa Mayor E. C. Sidwell.

The fire is reported to have started about 2 p.m. on the Lester Urschel Ranch and then spread east from there to the Frank Hutson ranch, the game preserve and the Studer Ranch.

No wild life was reported destroyed. The fire was under control by nightfall. It covered approximately two sections. A number of trees were burned. The burned area is about eight or nine miles northeast of Canadian in the vicinity of Lake Marvin Rd. and the Santa Fe Ry. right-of-way.

Autopsy Report Indicates Coed Assault Victim

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — Sheriff's detectives today investigated the possibility Texas socialite Jane Langdon was sexually assaulted before she was shot to death and abandoned in a prospector's tunnel.

A medical examiner's report on an autopsy Monday said evidence indicated the 21-year-old Texas Christian University coed was assaulted and that the murder weapon may have been a 38-caliber revolver.

Such a weapon was sent to the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Washington for further ballistic tests. The revolver was found by Arthur Brown Jr., an Arizona State University student, a few miles from where Miss Langdon's body was found Saturday.

Miss Langdon, daughter of Judge Jack Langdon, was last seen Thursday by a taxicab driver who dropped her and the luggage off at a luxury apartment. She had come here to visit her mother, who underwent surgery Friday.

Jane's father, who said he had never felt "so helpless," said he could not think "of any motive other than sex or sadism."

Scuffle Breaks Between French Police, Miners

PARIS (UPI)—Police and striking coal miners clashed briefly today in the Lorraine town of Carling. Several miners were bruised in the scuffle.

The miners' central strike committee, however, fearing more serious trouble if the 26-day walk-out by 200,000 workers in France's nationalized pits continues, immediately renewed its plea to the strikers to maintain discipline.

The incident was one of very few that have taken place since the strike began in a bid to force the government to meet the miners' demands for an 11 per cent pay increase and reduced hours of work.

It was touched off when strike pickets were appealing to administrative workers in the town to stay away from work.

About 35 pickets intervened when they said, gendarmes began pushing women in the crowd. The police retaliated with their clubs.

The threat of a dwindling power supply, meanwhile, increased pressure on President Charles de Gaulle to find a way out of the worst labor crisis in France since he took office.

De Gaulle called a special cabinet meeting in an effort to avert a threatened walkout by the country's gas and electricity workers.

Cardinals Will Meet In Budapest

BUDAPEST, Hungary (UPI)—The U. S. legation here has received orders to arrange a meeting between Jozsef Cardinal Mindszenty and Austria's Franz Cardinal Koenig when Koenig comes to Budapest, an American spokesman said today.

"We have received orders from the State Department in Washington to grant Franz Cardinal Koenig immediate entry to Cardinal Mindszenty," the spokesman said.

Mindszenty, 71, was given asylum in the U. S. legation here on Nov. 4, 1956, when the Budapest uprising was crushed and he has been confined to the premises ever since.

It has been no secret that in recent years both the Communist regime here and the United States have been anxious to settle the question of the Hungarian prime minister.

The United States, in principle, does not recognize the right of asylum, but made the cardinal's case a special one.

Although the cardinal was condemned to life imprisonment as a traitor in 1949, it is considered certain that the Hungarian government would grant the cardinal safe conduct if Mindszenty himself agreed to leave Hungary.

Official sources here predict that Cardinal Koenig, who is said to be conveying a message from Pope John XXIII to Cardinal Mindszenty, will arrive here shortly after Easter.

Marines Testify To Being Abused By Drill Officer

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — Eight Marines testified Monday they were struck and abused by a drill instructor for such infractions as smiling in ranks and taking crackers from the mess hall.

The eight former recruits made the statements at the first day of the trial by general court-martial of Sgt. Carlton L. Slay, 33, of San Diego. Slay pleaded innocent to 18 specifications of maltreatment of 15 recruits during a five-week period in October and November.

Pfc. Donald Rathbone, 19, of Fresno, Calif., testified Slay hit him in the stomach nine times and humiliated him "for two hours," because he smiled in ranks.

Pvt. Harold Anthony, 18, of Greenville, Ill., said Slay forced a cellophane package containing three or four crackers which he had taken from the mess hall into his mouth, wrapper and all, causing his nose and lips to bleed. He said he violated rules by taking the crackers.

All testified they had not sought medical aid.

Slay is the last of five drill instructors to face charges of maltreatment of recruits at the training center. The other four pleaded guilty to charges brought against them and were given sentences ranging from non-judicial punishment to demotion and three months confinement at hard labor.

Stolen Auto Found Wrecked

An automobile stolen Saturday night from its parking place in the 500-block of S. Cuyler St., was found abandoned in the breaks on a Shell Oil Co. lease, seven miles southeast of Pampa yesterday afternoon.

The car, owned by F. E. Young, 405 N. Christy, had been driven to the edge of a bluff and dropped into a small canyon, according to Sheriff Rufe Jordan, who was notified of the find by a county road maintainer employe.

Dalhart Soldier Dies

TOKYO (UPI)—A Dalhart, Tex., man has died of injuries suffered in a car accident near Yokohama, Japan, March 19, the U. S. Army announced Monday. The Army identified the soldier as Pfc. Carlos F. Maldonado, 18, son of Feliciano Maldonado of Dalhart. Two other soldiers were killed in the accident.

'Hate' Congress Banned

House Plans Study Of War Censoring

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A congressional committee investigating government information policies made plans today to study official censorship operations which would be put into effect if the United States went to war.

The study is one of the next items on the agenda of a House subcommittee on government operations, headed by Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif.

In the past two weeks the committee looked into charges that the Kennedy administration "manages" the news. Monday they heard disclaimers from two of the government's top spokesmen. Assistant Secretary of Defense Arthur Sylvester and Assistant Secretary of State Robert Manning.

Both agreed to supply information for the subcommittee's check into the field of censorship policies. Sylvester said the Defense Department had plans "for armed forces censorship and field censorship in case of war."

Manning was less definite about what the State Department had in mind.

A subcommittee spokesman said Moss hoped to have the censorship guidelines made public. The spokesman said it might be two months before the subcommittee is ready to issue a final report on its inquiry into the government's news operations.

Moss said Monday that he believed the basic problem was not "news management" but "that of access to information, to facts."

As a result, both Manning and Sylvester were closely questioned about directives which ordered the substance of an official's conversations with a newsmen to be relayed to the public affairs office.

These reporting practices were put into operation during the Cuban crisis.

The State Department since has dropped them. The Defense Department has not. Sylvester said that despite complaints by newsmen, he knew of no specific instance when the controversial rule inhibited a reporter from getting the information he wanted.

Subcommittee questioning also centered around Sylvester's controversial remark last December that a government has an inherent right to lie to save itself when confronted with a nuclear disaster.

Keep Lip Buttoned
Manning, when asked about this, said a government official should either tell the truth or keep his lip buttoned.

Sylvester declined to back down on his remark made at a dinner meeting of Sigma-Delta Chi, the journalism fraternity. He said it was a "brutal answer to a brutal question," but insisted that he was talking just about the Cuban crisis and not overall government information policy.

"Obviously there is no right for a government to lie or for any member of that government to lie," he said. But he insisted that any government — as duly elected and representing the people — had the right to take whatever measures it thought necessary to save a nation from nuclear disaster.

He said he felt the government had this right "when faced with a nuclear holocaust, and that is what this government was facing in the Cuban crisis."

Calls It 'Hog Wash'
Sylvester, who like Manning spent two hours before the subcommittee, characterized talk about news management as "hog wash." Both he and Manning, however, agreed that the government faced a conflict of what information to release in times of great national peril.

Sylvester said that "the necessity for enlightenment of our people is tempered by the necessity to preserve our government and to protect our people. Our Communist adversaries are beneficiaries of our free institutions."

Cardinal Mindszenty Meeting Arranged

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U. S. legation here has received orders to arrange a meeting between Jozsef Cardinal Mindszenty and Austria's Franz Cardinal Koenig when Koenig comes to Budapest, an American spokesman said today.

CoC Legislative Group Recommends Changes In National Spending

Members of the Legislative and National Affairs Committee "carried the ball" at the Pampa Chamber of Commerce monthly general membership luncheon meeting yesterday afternoon at the Coronado Inn.

With committee chairman Roy Sparkman calling the signals, the group reported on major legislative matters pending before Congress, which were discussed at the U. S. Chamber of Commerce Aircade program held early this month in Oklahoma City.

Speaking on federal expenditure reductions, W. A. Morgan said that President Kennedy has asked Congress to approve a $99 - billion budget for the upcoming fiscal year. National income for the same period is expected to be $87-billion, leaving a deficit of $12-billion for the year. Over the next three years the deficit would increase by $27-billion.

Morgan added that the national Chamber of Commerce "as made recommendations for reductions in more than 100 items in the proposed budget which would trim the deficit spending by $6 billion for the coming year.

Sparkman talked on federal aid to education and said that the government is now spending $2-billion a year on public education. A proposed catch-all bill would increase expenditures to $6-billion over the next three to five year period. Warning that "with aid comes control," Sparkman said that 14 states would pay the bill for the rest of the country. That is, he explained, these states would pay more in tax monies than they would receive. The national chamber believes that education should gain more support on the state and local levels.

Dr. Bob Syper discussed agriculture and medicine.

"Farmers," he said, "would be much better off, if the federal government would get out of the farm program. A step in this direction, would be to reduce price supports and allow the farmer more planting acreage."

"Medicare," Syper said, "would cost the taxpayers $7-billion over the next five years. We must decide whether we want a compulsory or voluntary health program. Fifty-five per cent of our citizens over 65 years of age, now have private health insurance and it has been estimated that by 1970, 70 per cent of this group will have their own insurance."

Tax reforms were discussed by Melvin Jayroe. He said that the administration's proposals would reduce individual income taxes by $11-billion and corporate taxes would be reduced by $2.6 billion. The national Chamber of Commerce believes, he said, there are too many inequities in the proposed program, and as a result, business would lack the stimulus to expand. "The United States has the highest taxes in the world," (See COMMITTEE, Page 3)

Governor Charges Possible Rebellion

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI) — Gov. Carlos Lacerda ruled Monday that the Communists cannot hold a scheduled "hate America" meeting in Rio this week despite the willingness of the federal government to permit it.

Lacerda charged that the meeting had been organized with the help of foreign elements to incite the Brazilian people to rise against the government.

The ruling apparently took the organizers of the "solidarity with Cuba" convention by surprise. J. Conzaga Leite, principal promoter of the meeting, could not be reached immediately for comment.

Although no alert order had been issued to police Monday night, a government spokesman said authorities here are prepared to deal with "any agitation that might result" from Lacerda's order.

Celebrating Anniversary
When the governor's order was issued, Rio's leading Communists were at the headquarters of the Brazilian Press Association celebrating the 41st anniversary of communism in Brazil.

The convention was to have been operated on a "road show" basis, opening tonight in Rio and moving on to Sao Paulo and other Brazilian cities later in the week.

Although Lacerda presumably can prevent the holding of the meeting in Guanabara State — meaning Rio and an inner ring of suburbs—there was no indication that it would be banned in other cities.

Draws Few People
A preliminary meeting held Monday night in a burlesque theater in Sao Paulo drew only about 500 of the more than 13 million people who live in the southern state. It started 40 minutes late and ended nearly an hour early.

Political analysts were interested by a demand presented as part of the "theme" of the meeting, calling for the conversion of Latin America into a "union of soviet socialist states" similar to Russia.

Voluntarily Accepts Case
Drobny said he had decided to voluntarily accept Halford's case after visiting the ex-convict in his cell Sunday. He said Halford would not speak to him or Martin and covered under his bed while chewing on his hands.

Drobny said they wanted to get Halford, who has served time for a previous rape conviction, transferred by court order to a mental hospital so that he may stand trial or appear before a sanity hearing.

"We want to get him committed before a sanity hearing so that if he ever gets out of an asylum he will still have to stand trial for what he has done," Drobny said.

The attorney said that under present sanity laws, Halford "may or may not know right from wrong," but that he "isn't in condition to stand trial."

In Austin Monday, state Sen. George Parkhouse of Dallas introduced a bill that would put sexual psychopaths under strict control for observation and, if necessary, commitment in state institutions.

Tax Office Thief Moves To Jasper

The nonday tax office burglar has moved out of the Texas Panhandle into Southeast Texas, according to word received here late yesterday in a police broadcast from Austin.

The latest places to be hit are Jasper and Morris in Jasper County. The burglar, or burglars, broke into the Morris tax office between 12 noon and 12:30 p.m. yesterday while employes were at lunch. The Jasper office had been hit earlier. Amount of the loot was not stated in the broadcast information.

A description of at least one of the burglars was given as a white male about 30 to 35 years old, wearing dark, horn-rimmed glasses. Authorities said he may be driving a two-tone tan 1961 or 1962 convertible with Florida license plates.

Before moving to Jasper County, the burglars had robbed tax offices here in Pampa and at Memphis and Canadian within the past two weeks.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
 United Press International

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Though Congress is presently investigating the reliability of television ratings firms, there is a side issue that is in some ways more immediately practical and important:

The question of viewer devotion to a program; in other words, whether sheer quantity of watchers is as important as those who actually buy a sponsor's product out of loyalty to support a show.

The reason this is a key matter is that, unless the current probe can brand all the major ratings organizations as being guilty of shockingly heinous or highly illegal practices—which is unlikely—the networks will continue to depend heavily on this numbers game to keep or kill shows; they know of no alternative. Therefore the best practical use must be made of a bad situation.

Question More Primary
 The issue of audience loyalty has struck many intelligent viewers and industry people; and with Congress' spotlight this month on various ratings practices, the question of measuring this devotion, now secondary, becomes more primary. Sample comments:

—From a reader, William E. Franklin, Charleston, S.C.: "It would seem to me, a layman, that the intensity of viewer loyalty to a show is just as important as the quantity of viewers."

Very loyal viewers, grateful to a sponsor for keeping a good show on the air, would seem to me to be an ideal market, especially to a sponsor with a competitive, relatively inexpensive product that viewers could buy out of loyalty and thanks."

—From an editorial in the Winston-Salem (N.C.) Journal, lamenting the cancellation of "It's a Man's World" series by NBC-TV: "The biggest weakness of present ratings systems is that they do not measure depth of devotion to a program. A way should be found to give more consideration to quality of a program and to reaching a select audience which is extremely partial to a program."

Quotes Trade Paper

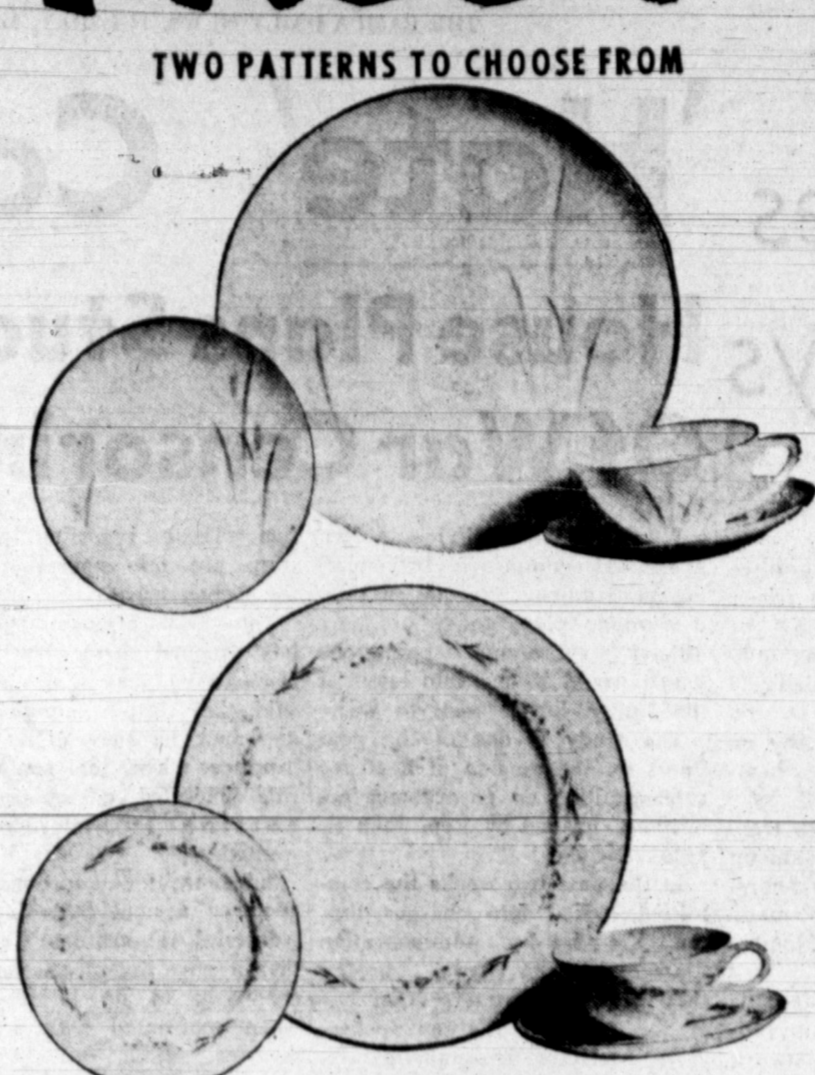

—From the daily show business trade paper, "The Hollywood Reporter": "Is it of more importance that 30 million people may be watching a show or is it of more importance that profits have soared or fallen because of an advertising investment in that show?...The advertiser gambles on an appreciable buy of his product; so long as he's gambling, what better gamble is there than that a good show with a low rating may engender more customer appreciation than a bad show with a high rating?"

It would be naive to think that the networks, the sponsors and others have not considered these points before. And thus far there have been few, if any, definitive studies of whether viewer loyalty is a major factor in buying—or if sheer numbers are the best try.

LOOKING AHEAD

LONDON (UPI)—Labor member of Parliament Edwin Wright said today he will ask the Ministry of Housing to make sure rooms in houses are not built too low for future generations, which he expects will grow taller than the present-day Briton.
 "In the years to come it is possible that they will be even taller still, the house should be built so that they are satisfactory for the whole of their useful life," Wright said.

PATCHWORK FOR TOMORROW—"Bald spots" seen from the air over the vast Douglas fir regions of Oregon and Washington are not pranks of nature. They are areas cut over according to plan, with tomorrow's forestry requirements in mind. (Note outlines of logging roads through patches.) Areas are then reseeded by nature from surrounding timber. The Douglas fir seedlings, which would not survive in shade of larger trees, grow up together as uniform stands of usable timber.

Dear Abby....

Keep Knitted Sweater Give Boy-Friend Needles

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I went steady with Harry for almost a year. Around Christmas I started knitting him a sweater. I bought yarn in his favorite colors and chose a style I knew he'd like. Some of my friends started telling me that Harry was hanging around another girl, but he denied it. Last Saturday night Harry called me, said he didn't feel well, and he broke our date for that night. My brother saw him out with this girl. We had a big fight over it and broke up for good. The sweater is now finished and I was going to give it to him for his birthday, which is in two weeks. Should I give it to him anyway?

spends all her time tracing pictures. Every time I see her she shows me a stack of pictures she has traced and colored. I compliment her because she needs approval, but I feel like a hypocrite. Tracing is not creative. It's a waste of time. I asked her what four times four was and she didn't know. I tried to stress the importance of using one's time for LEARNING things, but since she is not my child I couldn't be too firm with her. Should I point this out to her mother (my brother's wife) or would this be meddling?

DEAR AUNT: By all means talk to the child's mother. (And, if possible, be sure her father is present, too.) If no steps are taken to see that the child uses her time more constructively, you will at least know that you tried.

DEAR ABBY: Tell that woman who can't watch TV during the day because her husband takes out a tube to buy a tube she can use until just before he gets home. And nuts to him. Two can play that game.

DEAR HURT: Certainly not. Keep the sweater and give him the needles.

DEAR ABBY: I have a niece who is in the fifth grade. Her marks are very poor, but it doesn't seem to bother her. She

Mrs. Dorman To Represent Club At State Meeting

Plans for Garden Club Week in Pampa and the Spring Flower Show were discussed at a recent meeting of the Pampa Garden Club held in the home of Mrs. Fred Cary, 1922 Fir.

It was announced that the incoming president, Mrs. Myron Dorman will be delegate to the state convention of Garden Clubs, Inc. to be held in San Antonio March 26-28.

A report was given on the recent district meeting held March 5 in Lubbock during which Mrs. Waldon Moore was installed first vice governor and Mrs. Coy Palmer, second vice governor of District 9, Texas Garden Clubs, Inc. Both are immediate past presidents of the Pampa Garden Club.

The Pampa Garden Club won a first place blue ribbon for its scrapbook and a second place red ribbon for its yearbook at the district meeting.

Mrs. Ed Parsons presented a program on "Beautiful and Versatile Containers." Refreshments were served during the social hour by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Joe Weaver from a table appointed with an arrangement of Forsythia.

The April 1 meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Coy Palmer, 2117 Russell.

When cleaning washable wall coverings, be sure to rinse the sponge often, change the suds and rinse as soon as the water becomes dirty. This keeps dirt from being rubbed into the wall fabric or paper.

Old World hairstyles inspired by paintings are being borrowed for classic, 20th Century coiffures. Knowing how to comb the new styles is important. The tranquil look (left) from da Vinci's "Virgin of the Rocks" comes from smooth, unbroken sides, swept bang and two-layered front effect. The model (center) uses a rat-tail comb to lift bun to desired height complementing close-to-head look from Fragonard's "Girl Reading." Simplicity of headband style (right) from Fragonard's "The Letter" means smoothing back short hairs at hairline and neatly colling hair into large bun.

Mrs. Curtis Lee Is Club Hostess

WHITE DEER (Spl) — The Venado Blanco Study Club met in the home of Mrs. Curtis Lee recently.

Carl Blomqvist, as guest speaker, discussed "Is Speed Reading Really Reading?" in which he brought out the fact that "through instruction, one can greatly increase reading speed and still maintain the same level of reading comprehension."

Officers for the coming year were elected. Mmes. Finis Keeton, president; Roy Simmons, vice-president; Leon Nicholson, secretary; and Orville B. Craig S., parliamentarian.

Refreshments were served. Attending were one guest, Rev. Curtis Lee, and the following members: Mmes. Bob Eastham, Orville B. Craig Sr., H. H. Keahy, Finis Keeton, C. C. Kelly, Roy McCallie, Roy Simmons, Floyd Ulrich, Joe Wheeler and Ernest Russell.

Mrs. R. E. Warren, class teacher, gave the opening prayer following the class song.

Mrs. E. O. Etheredge, president, conducted a short business meeting with Mrs. W. G. Gooding giving the secretary's report.

Mrs. M. E. Tucker read the devotion from Ephesians with Mrs. Henry Taylor leading in prayer.

Mrs. Lelia Gomer was in charge of the entertainment. Refreshments were served to Mmes. R. E. Warren, Henry Taylor, W. G. Gooding, Myrtle Enloe, Pearl Erwin, Lelia Gomer, E. E. Garland, E. O. Etheredge, C. M. Tucker, Frank Young, Sam Bray, Maggie Deal, M. E. Tucker and C. G. Miller.

The class presented Mrs. Grace with a hostess gift. Mrs. Deal offered closing prayer.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture recommended one method of eliminating the hazards of open cabinet doors in the kitchen. Remove them and replace them with a pull shade. It's also a space saver.

Old World Hair Styles Inspire Modern Hairdo

By ALICIA HART
Newspaper Enterprise Beauty Editor

In the creation of new hair styles, all the glory does not belong to men.

Although men may head the list of leading stylists, women are the unsung inspirations. Note the influence of a Madame Pompadour or such current personalities as Brigitte Bardot, Elizabeth Taylor and Jacqueline Kennedy.

Professional stylists often turn to the art of the old masters to adapt new, flattering coiffures that will be exciting but equally at home in a penthouse or a cottage.

The current styles take a cue from the coiffures of women painted by artists such as Da Vinci or Fragonard. The hairdos often have a flatter appearance at the front or side while the back of the head is crowned with an upward sweep or coil of hair.

It is well to remember that painters used precise strokes in capturing on canvas beauties of earlier centuries. To maintain the hairdos their works have inspired, a precise job of combing is important, too.

You can learn to use your comb to the same advantage as an artist uses his paint brush. For example, in your wardrobe of combs should be a curl comb or rattail.

This type is perfect for parting your hair, separating areas before putting into rollers and lifting hair to achieve the new flattering height. Unlike the bouffant, teased hairdo with no parts, many of the newer coiffures rely upon one or more parts. Hairlines will tend to be smoother, as will the back of the hairdo.

Top O' Texas Contributions Honored At Cattlemen Meet

The Top O' Texas area's contributions to the development of the Southwest's cattle industry were recognized at the 86th annual convention of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association in San Antonio last week when the 31 past presidents of TSCRA, eleven of whom are living, were honored for their service to the Association.

President Leo Welder of Victoria presented a plaque to Fred Hobart, 215 N. Hobart, in memory of his father, Timothy D. Hobart of Pampa, who served as president of TSCRA from 1929-31.

In presenting the plaque, Welder called attention to the many men who have given and are giving unselfishly of their time and money toward building and keeping the livestock industry a moving force in the economy and culture of the Southwest.

"It is a tribute to courage, to perseverance, and to independence," Welder stated. "The plaques we are presenting today are a recognition of our past presidents, not only as outstanding cattlemen in their own right, but as leaders of men."

Welder also presented a booklet to each recipient which outlined the achievements of each president in meeting the challenges which faced him.

Timothy D. Hobart, who first came to Texas in 1882, was a transplanted Yankee who became the first citizen of Pampa and for all his work in developing that area might well be called "the father of the Panhandle."

Born in Vermont in 1855, Hobart was a schoolteacher before coming to Texas in 1882 to work for the New York and Texas Land Company. He surveyed, fenced, partitioned, leased and sold over one million acres of Company land. Through his work he became an expert on the terrain of Texas, as well as learning about the soil, climate and people. He witnessed the rise and fall of many cattle companies and was to learn by their mistakes in the operation of his own ranch.

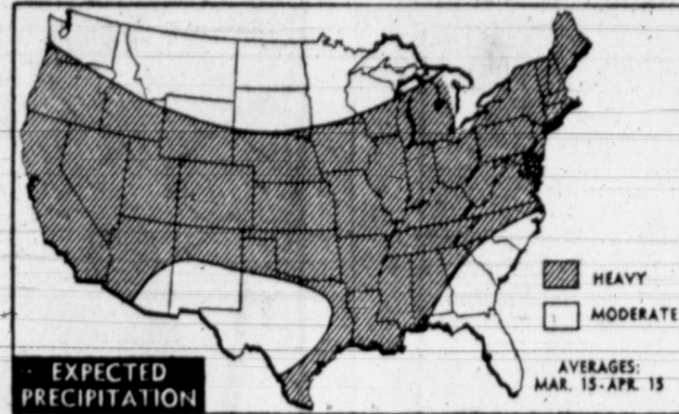

In 1887 Hobart went back to Vermont to marry his sweetheart. They made their first home in Mobeetie, a frontier village, but Hobart was interested in cattle and had faith in the Panhandle as a stock farming area. He bought land and built a home at the head of the Washita River in Hemphill County, developing this property into one of the best equipped and most picturesque ranches in the Panhandle.

In 1903 Hobart resigned from the New York and Texas Land Company and took a position with the White Deer Lands, a 1000 square mile tract in Carson, Gray, Hutchinson and Roberts Counties. Here he had his first opportunity to carry his colonization plans to completion, a project he had long dreamed about. He sold land cheap and on credit to colonists and helped develop the area into many productive stock farms.

In 1915 he assumed management of the JA Ranch for Mrs. Cornelia Adair, and continued to run it for the heirs after her death. Hobart became president of the Association when it was on the verge of one of the greatest crises in its history. There were many problems: tariff worries, increased taxes, cattle rustling, railroad rate discrimination, foot and mouth disease, competition with foreign beef, low prices for cattle. The fact that the cattle industry and

A BIT OF THIS AND A BIT OF THAT:

OUR QUERY as to the Class B high jump record holder apparently brought a large number of instant replies, as there were several telephone messages on the desk when we returned from the day's rounds. The calls started coming in when we returned, and the first one was from Jim Flowers himself. Jimmy, who like Randy Matson and most other really fine athletes, is both modest and honest, informed us that although the statement about a Booker boy holding the record was incorrect, as he had lost to Jimmy in the regionals last year, Jimmy was sure that an Aspermont boy held the Class B record.

The next call was from Richard Ulrich, our White Deer basketball correspondent and a walking sports encyclopedia. (If we could have Dick in the office, we'd never get a record wrong). He reported that the Class B record holder was W. L. Thornton of Aspermont, who set the record of 6-3 1/2 in 1955, which is only half an inch under the all-time state record of 6-6, set by Jackie Upton of Vernon in 1959. However, a Tyler boy jumped 6'7" this weekend, but that too, will not go in the record books. Coach Bill Hines of Miami called with the same information.

Every coach and athlete who discussed the matter yesterday however, agreed that the ruling of only records set in the state meet counting was unfair, not only to our own boys, but athletes all over the state. Several pointed out that in some of the major meets, with both high school and colleges participating, a high schooler could set a record which would mean nothing, while a college trackman in the same meet could set a record which would be upheld for state, national or world recognition. We repeat, if a track meet is under sanctioned UIL rules, any records set in it should be recognized for high school as well as college.

FOOTBALL COACH Otis Holladay reported that the first annual West Texas coaching clinic this weekend was "real good, one of the best I have attended. I feel sure that it will be an annual affair. I feel that all of us picked up some good ideas. I know my staff and I got some excellent defensive tips from coach Bob Blackburn of Dartmouth. The only drawback was that the clinic conflicted with spring sports, which meant that a lot of coaches had to miss some or all of the meeting, such as Eural Ramsey and Randy Ruten. Since that is the time allotted for "West Texas" spring training however, there doesn't seem to be much that can be done to overcome it. In any case, there were over 200 coaches present and I am sure all of them enjoyed it."

IN THE MAILBOX: Jeff: I personally, enjoyed and appreciated your coverage of the Lefors Track Meet. I have heard many favorable remarks since, about your stories from others here. Keep up the good work. If I can help you in any way, let me know.

Keith Geisler Lefors High School Thank you very, very much for those kind words, Mr. Geisler, that is what makes all the extra work worthwhile for a sportswriter. I would like to point out, however, that without the cooperation of Mr. Geisler, who was keeping the individual results, coach Danny Goode, track manager and a sports correspondent, Tommy Jackson and just about everyone at Lefors, the News could not have done half as good a job. The same applies to the area coaches, all of whom are most cooperative and friendly (except for Colie Huffman and he just heckles me deliberately to get my blood pressure up. He insists that he doesn't read what I write, but I've caught him too many times on something about him I've written to know he's kidding, and he finally broke down and admitted it.)

ONE OF MY biggest regrets since coming here is the fact that the Miami sports banquet is being held the same night as the Pampa basketball banquet. Even though Bill Hines is my worst heckler next to Colie, the Warriors are one of my favorite teams and Miami another school that goes all out for a sportswriter. Their chauffeur me to the regional tournament, feeding me and even wanting to put me up overnight, has established a deep feeling of gratitude and friendship for the folks down there, just as it has in Lefors, McLean and just about every area school, and I sincerely wish I were twins so I could honor the Harvesters and toast the Warriors at the same time.

JIM LEVERICH reported today that his champion Brittany bird dog, Way-Kan-Jill, who won the national Brittany trials a few weeks ago, had taken two titles at the South Plains Brittany Field Trials Association Meet this weekend, winning the Open All-Age title and the Best Amateur Gun Dog title. Jim said that Jill would be entered in three more spring meets, in Colorado, North Dakota and Nebraska. Jim also corrected a mistake that I and many other people have made. From the accompanying picture, you can see that Jill looks like a setter and that is what we have called her in previous stories. We thought "Brittany" was just a special breed of setter, a term used like Scotch terrier and Irish terrier or Boston Bull and English Bull.

Jim reported that Brittanies were not setters at all, but were spaniels! They are the only pointing spaniels known, said Jim, and get their name from the place where they were first bred, the province of Brittany in France. They were introduced into the U.S. in 1938, he explained, but have only caught on in popularity in the last 10 years. The big advantage of a Brittany, said Jim, is for the city man or the one-dog man. Being smaller, they can be kept in a house, they are very affectionate pets, wonderful with children, and can still go out and hunt pheasant and quail as well as a pointer or setter. Jim has promised to take me hunting with him and find out for myself, but it will take a lot of persuading to get me off pointers. However, as Jim said, the advantages of a hunting dog that is also a house pet and can be kept in a home seems almost ideal for the occasional hunter or the family man.

crushed Mangum, 28-1 Friday, but then had their win streak broken by another Oklahoma team, Granite, which took a 6-3 decision Saturday.

No-Hitter Robinson, the probable starting pitcher for the visitors today, was red-hot against Mangum as his blazing fast ball struck out 16 batters and walked only three, and gave up only one run on an infield error, two stolen bases and a wild pitch. The lone run came in the bottom of the sixth inning, after Borger had piled up a 16-0 lead, but the Bulldogs added insult to injury by getting 12 more runs in the final frame, with Robinson joining in the festivities with a home run and two doubles, while his mates got 25 more hits, seven of them by shortstop David Dillingham, including a double and triple.

In Robinson's last pitching performance, he struck out 21 Dumas Demons for a 5-3 victory.

Granite Wins The win streak was finally broken Saturday as the Dogs dropped a 6-3 decision to Granite. Granite got a run in the first, Borger came back with three in the third, two of them unearned, and Granite tied it up in the fourth and knocked David Parkhurst out of the box with three in the fifth. Parkhurst was more sinned against than sinning however, as although he had given up seven hits, his mates committed five errors behind him. Mike Hyatt went the rest of the way, setting down seven straight batters.

Borger's starting lineup will have Dillingham leading off, Shelton batting second and playing the same position, Wilson at third base, catcher Joe Colfer at cleanup, Langen left field, Connor first base, Grubbs right field, Barron centerfield and Big Joe on the mound.

Glover Or Arthur? Against Robinson, coach Ray Howard will send one of his two aces, Jerry Glover or sophomore Jim Arthur. Glover, all-district returnee, lost a 5-3 12-inning marathon in his first game of the season against Dumas, and then coasted to victory Saturday as his mates batted him to a 15-7 win over Dumas, only four of the runs earned. Arthur also has a 1-1 record, winning a four-hit 1-0 shutout against Hereford, and then losing another four-hitter on two unearned runs by Dumas in the opening game of Saturday's twin bill, 2-1.

Howard said that he was undecided about the pitching starter, as he wanted to use the pair in the two district openers next week, and would see who felt more rested by game time and also whether there would again be a strong wind at the park and in which direction.

Change Pitchers Howard said that he did not plan on either starting closer the distance as he wanted to give Carl Harnsberger and Dee Wright some action so as to decide on a third starter for the rotation. Harnsberger was hit hard in his start at Hereford, while Wright, who followed Jerry Garrison in relief, couldn't find the plate at first.

Howard felt that the pair still had definite promise, and at least one could join Glover and Arthur as a starting moundman. Garrison, another sophomore, has a lot of ability, said Howard, but he still lacked control, and could not be counted on as a starter. The youthful lefthander would keep practicing however, said Howard, and there was a good chance that he would see relief action, as well as playing in both the infield and outfield this year, and would probably be a starter by next season.

Borger Invades Pampa Diamond

The Pampa Harvesters, who split four games last week, will find it rough going as they try to get on the plus side of the column this afternoon when they host the Borger Bulldogs at 4 p.m. at Optimist Field.

The Harvesters and Bulldogs split a pair of practice games early in the season, which did not count in the records. The Bulldogs proceeded to win three straight games, with Big Joe Robinson pitching a no-hitter as the Bulldogs ventured into Oklahoma and performance, he struck out 21 Dumas Demons for a 5-3 victory.

Violent Reaction To Davey Moore's Death

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Reaction was immediate and vehement following the death Monday of boxer Davey Moore despite a coroner's report that the principal cause was a "one in a million accident."

The 29-year-old fighter died of injuries suffered when his head snapped against the bottom ring strand on a 10th round knockdown in his featherweight championship bout with Sugar Ramos Thursday.

Demands for bans on professional boxing were made throughout the world, including the Vatican Radio and legislators in California, Connecticut, New York and the U.S. House of Representatives.

But the sport was also defended by many leading figures in the sporting world—and by Moore's widow and mother of their five children.

Following an autopsy Monday Moore's body was taken to the Angelus Funeral Home where friends were invited to pay respects today.

Coroner Theodore Curphey and Dr. Cyril Courville, a prominent brain surgeon, told newsmen after the two-hour autopsy that the bruises Moore suffered from the ring strand were the major factor in his death. But Curphey withheld final judgment that the injury was solely responsible.

"I'm not prepared to rule out that blows on the jaw might be contributory," he said. "This is not contradictory to Dr. Courville's statement that the bruise from the rope was the major factor."

Curphey said he had never seen a death under such circumstances. The autopsy also revealed Moore took a severe beating to the head and suffered lacerations and contusions of the inner surface of the mouth after he lost his mouthpiece in the fifth round. There were other injuries including a small hemorrhage in the right side of the brain, not sufficient to cause death.

Moore Defended Boxing "In summary, his death was due to brain damage as a result of application of blunt force to the head," the coroner's report said.

Moore, a champion in the ring and a model of good conduct in private and public life, died three days after the knockout without emerging from a deep coma. He lost consciousness 40 minutes after the fight and after he had talked with newsmen.

Moore himself had defended boxing the day before his fatal fight, calling it "a good sport" and saying people who seek to outlaw it are "sick."

"There are a lot of sports that you get crippled and die in," Moore said in a radio interview. "A race driver—he can get killed... why don't they stop the 500 auto races?"

Moore's wife, who was told of her husband's death while in the same hospital for treatment of shock and fatigue, said "it was God's will."

"Davey had planned to quit this year and go into some kind of business," she said. "But we had no definite plans. This would have been his last year."

Fish Top Dolphins AMARILLO (Sp) — The Amarillo YMCA "Sailfish," led by area freestyle champ Rick McCauley, downed the Pampa YCC "Dolphins" here yesterday. Outstanding for the Dolphins were Don Rader in the 50-yard butterfly, Scott Rader in the 100-yard freestyle and Scott George in the 50-yard freestyle.

St. Louis finished 14 games ahead of Detroit in the Western Division's regular season race. The Celtics have won the NBA championship four straight years.

St. Louis Hawks and the Syracuse Nationals can move into the division finals of the National Basketball Association playoffs by winning tonight.

St. Louis, which holds a 2-1 lead over Detroit in the Western Division playoff, meets the Pistons at Detroit tonight while the Nats and the Cincinnati Royals, all even at 2-2 in the best-of-five Eastern Division series, play at Syracuse.

If the home court advantage holds true to form, Syracuse should advance into the Eastern Division finals against the Boston Celtics. In the seven first-round games so far, the home team has won each time.

The Los Angeles Lakers are awaiting the St. Louis-Detroit playoff winner. St. Louis led 2-0 in the series before the Pistons' 107-103 victory Sunday night. If a fifth game is necessary, it will be played at St. Louis Wednesday night.

Syracuse, which finished six games ahead of the Royals during the regular season, won the opening playoff game and the two teams have alternated winning in the next three games. Cincinnati won the last encounter Sunday, 123-118.

St. Louis finished 14 games ahead of Detroit in the Western Division's regular season race. The Celtics have won the NBA championship four straight years.

Amarillo High Leads In Hurling

(Editor's note: Second in a series on District 3-AAAA baseball teams.)

The Sandies, who finished fifth in last season's district 3-AAAA race, and were picked in the same spot this year by a poll of the loop coaches, have been playing hot-and-cold ball this season, holding a four won, five lost record going into today's game with Hereford.

The Sandies have been consistent in their wins, taking a double bill at El Paso, as they beat El Paso High, 5-0, and El Paso Jefferson, 7-3, in a morning-afternoon twin bill at El Paso, following an opening game loss to El Paso Austin.

On The Skids The Sandies then hit the skids as they lost in turn to Albuquerque Valley, Highland Valley again and then dropped a 4-3 decision to Lawton. Amarillo moved on from Lawton to Altus, and found an Oklahoma team they could beat, taking a 7-2 and 12-3 twin bill from their hosts.

Six returning lettermen are back from last year's squad that had a 6-8 district record and were 11-13 on the season. The Sandies had two outstanding pitchers returning, Jim Carrigan and Rusty Alexander. Coach Gus Hrcir stated that pitching would be the Sandies' strong point if Alexander's trick knee held up. To date, it has held up excellently, with Rusty pitching a one-hit shutout against EP High, and a three-hitter against Altus.

Strong Pitching Carrigan took a four-hit win over Altus, and Stanley Dodge pitched a three-hitter against Jefferson, although needing help from John Knightstep in the final frame. Harold Crawford, Ricky Hill, Gary McSwain and Jim Mitchell are also on the pitching rosters, which gives the Sandies the heaviest pitching strength in the loop.

Three-fourths of the infield are returning veterans, Gilbert Coats at first, Bob Pitts at short and Don Howell at third base. Both Pitts and Coats also saw pitching duty last year, which give the Sandies a total of 10 pitchers on the staff.

Long-Ball Hitters Hitting-wise, the Sandy standouts are Don Henry at second base, who has poled two home runs, left fielder Jim Berryman, who has come through with a triple and two doubles, right fielder Larry Tuolon, who has two triples and a double, and Coats, with three doubles. Larry Jasper is doing the bulk of the catching, with Henry relieving him in doubleheaders, while Phil Thermon, who also hits the long ball, has relieved in the infield when the catchers switch.

Amarillo plays a twin bill at Dumas Saturday and then opens district play next Tuesday, hosting Pampa.

Wally Butts Files $10-Million Suit ATLANTA (UPI)—Former University of Georgia athletic director Wally Butts charged in a $10 million libel suit Monday that the "sophisticated muckraking" of the Saturday Evening Post has ruined his 35-year football coaching career.

Butts accused the magazine of "wilfully, maliciously and falsely" publishing an article concerning him in the March 23 issue of the Post.

The article, entitled "The Story of a College Football Fix," said an Atlanta insurance man, George Burnett, accidentally overheard a long distance telephone conversation in which Butts gave valuable information to Alabama Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant before the 1962 Georgia-Alabama game. Both Butts and Bryant denied the accusation.

Atlanta attorney Pierre Howard said Monday that Burnett received $5,000 from the Post for information in the article.

United States Preparing To Deploy 'Doomsday' Missiles

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Without fanfare, and in fact with as much secrecy as possible, the Defense Department is preparing to deploy at U. S. bases 54 intercontinental missiles of the "doomsday" kind.

Many experts think civilization would not survive if they were ever used against Russia.

In terms of megatonnage—millions of tons of TNT equivalent—the missiles may pack only a fourth as much power as Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's vaunted 100-megaton bomb. But the experts said today that that is beside the point.

Either the American or the Soviet weapon could level the largest of cities and spew clouds of lethal radioactivity over thousands of square miles.

The experts think two of the U. S. missiles would probably do more damage than one 100-megatonner.

More Efficient

The missile is the Titan II. This is a more ample and much more efficient version of the Titan I. The only official hint of its destructive capacity came this week. After firing the missile successfully more than 600 miles down the Atlantic missile range from Cape Canaveral, Fla., the Air Force was permitted to say:

"Payload of the Titan II is double that of a Titan I, previously the nation's largest."

Even that single sentence probably was released only because the Titan II has been selected as the booster for the federal space agency's two-man "Gemini" space program. It was therefore bound to become known that the missile is capable of boosting more than four tons of payload into orbit around the earth.

A simple mathematical formula which was valid two years ago and has been improved upon in nuclear tests since, shows that a four-ton warhead would release an explosive force equal to at least 20 million tons of TNT.

This would indicate that the Titan II is capable of carrying the 24-megaton warhead which is believed to be the most powerful in the U. S. nuclear arsenal.

Could Carry Two

Authoritative sources have said repeatedly that the B52 bomber with its 10-ton bomb capacity could carry two of these devices.

By comparison, the warheads of the Polaris and Minuteman missiles—the nuclear part of the two nose cones is the same—release a force which is known to be less than a megaton. With recent improvements, it is believed to be close to 800,000 tons of TNT.

The Polaris and Minuteman warheads thus would be about 40 times more powerful than the 20,000-ton Hiroshima bomb, whereas the Titan II would be 1,200 times more powerful.

In addition to its far greater power, the 102-foot-high, two-stage Titan II has a decided military advantage over the smaller Titan

I in that it can be fired instantly. The fuel is still liquid but it is "storable." This means the missiles can be kept fueled at all times.

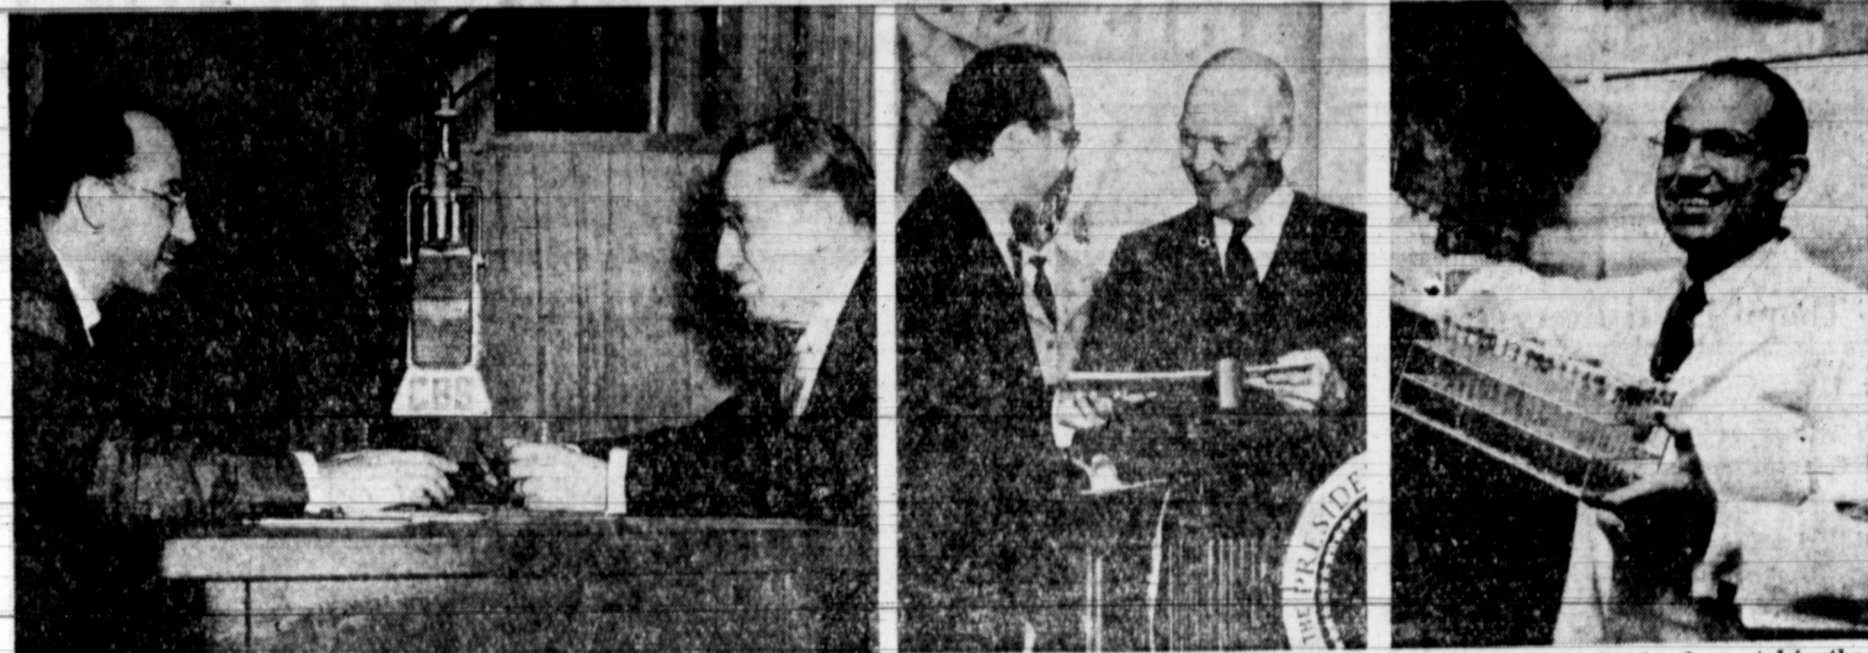

Present plans call for deploying 18 of the Titan II's in underground silos at each of the following three bases: Davis-Monthan, Tucson, Ariz.; McConnell, Wichita, Kan.; and Little Rock, at Little Rock, Ark.

STUDENTS DEMONSTRATE

ISTANBUL (UPI)—More than 3,000 student demonstrators stormed the Ankara headquarters of the opposition Justice party Sunday to protest the release from prison of former President Celal Bayar, a Justice party leader.

Six party officials, including a member of parliament, were injured in the fighting. The students stoned the headquarters and demonstrated outside the house where Bayar is staying. The ex-president was freed temporarily from a life sentence because of his health.

Polio's Master Sees New Medical Worlds to Conquer

Momentous broadcast by Dr. Salk, left, March 26, 1953, was first word to the world that an experimental vaccine gave promise that dread polio would be conquered. At right, Basil O'Connor, president, National Foundation-March of Dimes, which financed vaccine research program.

Proved safe in 1955, mass production of polio vaccine began. Here, Dr. Salk receives citation from President Eisenhower for his historic achievement.

Dr. Salk's "quest for fundamental truths about life, health and disease" goes on. He's director of the Salk Institute for Biological Studies in San Diego, Calif.

A decade ago, just about the quickest way to strike terror in a parent was to say that a poliomyelitis epidemic was brewing. Today, 10 scant years later, much of the terror has been banished—the end product of dedicated work by Dr. Jonas Salk, the applications of millions of March of Dimes dollars to research, and the widespread use—and availability—of the Salk polio vaccine, pioneer of polio preventives. Paralytic polio, though not wiped out, is no longer a major health problem in America. • However, Dr. Salk's work goes on. The Salk Institute for Biological Studies, now under construction at San Diego, Calif., is expected to open later this year. Under Salk's direction, the "quest for fundamental truths about life, health and disease" will go on. The institute is to be staffed by experts in many fields of medicine.
