

Churchill Quitting Parliament After 60 Years

Sir Winston Churchill

LONDON (UPI) — Sir Winston Churchill, 88, plagued by old age and an injured leg, has decided to call it quits in the House of Commons after 60 years.

The former prime minister announced his decision to leave politics Wednesday night. The sudden announcement virtually closed the pages of a remarkable epic that spanned two world wars and countless personal adventures.

It was not considered likely that Churchill, who dominated Commons and the government for many years, would enter the House of Lords. He declined an earldom when he stepped down as prime minister, the post in which he achieved his greatest glory during World War II.

Will Not Be Candidate
In a letter to the chairman of the Woodford Conservative Party

Association, Churchill said he would not be a candidate in the next elections. The elections must be held sometime within the next 18 months.

"I need not tell you with what sadness I feel constrained to take this step," he wrote the chairman, Mrs. Doris Moss, Woodford, is Churchill's constituency.

It also was felt that Sir Winston could not bear the thought of being wheeled into the House of Commons, the political arena he once dominated so effectively with his flashing wit and verve.

Churchill survived a lifetime of illness and injury—he contracted pneumonia at the age of 7—before he was physically and politically fit to have always been able to bounce back.

But now it is generally felt that the great man's days are getting shorter. A nation is grateful there were so many.

Committee Lines Up to Debate Hoffa on Labor-Management

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic and Republican congressmen lined up today to debate Teamsters chief James R. Hoffa on some of his family held views on labor-management relations.

The House Merchant Marine Committee prepared for a second day of questioning of the union president.

Hoffa said he was willing to put up a little reward and give to charity "to dispense the commissions of some businesses that they suffered some losses when never can be revised."

The teamsters' hours shall not be curtailed, Hoffa said, and the year after the strike would show there had been no permanent damage.

The union chief said the idea as he resented the second day of the compulsory arbitration bill.

Hoffa, as well as other union and management officials, is unalterably opposed to the legislation. He left no doubt about that Wednesday.

He also showed little reluctance to differ with committee members who questioned him on his stand.

Hoffa and Bonner conducted what could be called a polemic argument with Rep. Thomas L. Ashley, D-Ohio, however, Hoffa engaged in a shouting match.

He also showed little reluctance to differ with committee members who questioned him on his stand.

Hoffa also touched on the issue of Communist and Liberal protest votes, was expected to defend his resignation to Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey at the moment the new Parliament meets May 16.

This is normally a protocol gesture, but this time it was likely to be the real thing. Even if the Christian Democrats chose to continue in the eventuality they would still in all probability make Fanfani the scapegoat for the election defeat.

Mentioned most frequently as likely candidates to succeed Fanfani were Interior Minister Paolo Emilio Taviani, 51, and Minister of Industries Emilio Colombo, 41, they are Christian Democrats, but both are considered somewhat to the right of the premier.

Haitian Trouble
Nearer End Today

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (UPI)—Haiti and the Dominican Republic moved closer to ending their six-day-old crisis today with side-conduct passes granted to 15 political refugees in the Dominican embassy here.

The Haitian government agreed to transfer the care of seven other refugees in the embassy to the Colombian ambassador, who is taking charge of Dominican affairs, his resignation to Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey at the moment the new Parliament meets May 16.

A five-man peacemaking team from the Organization of American States was winding up its three-day assignment here and preparing to leave for Santo Domingo to confer with Dominican officials on one or two days.

In Santo Domingo, the Dominican Foreign Office confirmed that side-conduct passes had been received for 15 civilians in May 16 in the embassy but none for the seven military men.

Rains Wet Businessmen Warm To Romney Politics

By United Press International
Temperatures dipped to the low 40s in North Texas today and badly-needed rain wet parched farm and ranch lands in the Panhandle, South and West Texas.

A steady rain fell south of the Canadian River throughout the central and western portions of the Panhandle. Hereford reported 6.5 of an inch, 5.5 at Amarillo, 2.6 at Mulhouse and 2.1 at Lubbock.

The Panhandle rains last night help-skippped-and-jumped the Pampa area. A few drops fell here during the night but not enough to register on the Pampa News rain gauge.

The U. S. Weather Bureau observer at Marfa said that three inches of rain fell in the area during the night but not enough to register as quickly as it came.

The early-morning chill was blamed for fires that killed two children in the Dallas suburb of University Park.

Thunderstorms rumbled eastward on a north-south line through Central Texas. Scattered underdowns fell in extreme South Texas.

A thunderstorm rolled out of the mountains in Southeast Texas and dumped the heaviest hail and 1.20 inches of rain on El Paso.

Early-morning rainfall was heaviest along the coast and in Southwest Texas.

The U. S. Weather Bureau said the showers would move eastward today, to be replaced by more statewide showers Friday.

Cool at Daltari
Overnight lows ranged from 41 at Daltari to 22 at Brownsville and Corpus Christi.

Marfa, McAllen, 12, and Cindly Lake, 10, were killed early today in University Park.

They first believed to have been started by a faulty furnace, roared through their home. Two other children of the Thomas Fokerters (See WEATHER, Page 3)

Dry-Land Wheat Reported Poor in Immediate Area

Littlefield, Mulhouse, Dimmitt, Farwell and Hereford. Dry-land acreage is suffering from lack of moisture. Irrigated acreage is looking much better than expected.

considering the hard winter. Pecos, Plainview, Tula, Loxley, Floydada and Silverton. Dry-land wheat is suffering from high winds and is in need of moisture.

Stark's leading and from a "plow" an average yield of 10 to 15 bushels per acre is expected, the report stated.

The report says an average to above average yield is in prospect over most of the North Central Texas area, where the harvest will begin about May 15.

The following reflects the latest reports on area conditions received by the Amarillo office:

Pampa, Wheeler, Canyon, Milano and Lipscomb. Dry-land wheat is in extremely poor condition. Abandonment is estimated in some areas to be as high as 90 per cent.

Irrigated acreage in good condition and an average yield is expected.

Childress, Wellington, Paducah, Childress, Memphis, Gultine and Mclvor. Continued dry weather and high winds have caused further deterioration. A less than average yield is expected from wheat. Most other small grain acreage has been abandoned.

Burnside. An average yield is expected in this area.

Crosbyton, Dickens and Jayton. Irrigated acreage in good condition. Dry-land acreage in very poor condition due to drought.

Attending the meeting were right-wing leader Gen. Phnomi Novasorn, members of the National Control Commission and the British and Soviet ambassadors.

King Le did not attend the meeting. He was said to be concerned with his ill health.

Other Republicans also are queasy. One GOP leader, respected here for his political astuteness, tells that a Republican investigation would mean being "out of the loop" on the issue of age and older and would revive the religious issue which marred the 1960 campaign.

The GOP has expected Republican Catholics who voted for President Kennedy would return to the fold in 1964 and most of the Democrats who vote for the President because of his religion to drift back to their party.

Thant Making Effort in Geneva
GENEVA (UPI) — United Nations Secretary General Thant began a personal effort today to break the East-West deadlock on the nuclear issue at the 11-day disarmament conference.

Thant, here for a four-day visit, invited the leaders of the on-site delegations to dinner tonight.

Informed sources said Thant would appeal to the delegates for a positive action to end the stalemate on the vital question of a nuclear test ban treaty.

Women's Rights Closer to Reality
AUSTIN (UPI) — Equal rights for Texas women was an actual step closer to reality today, the House Wednesday agreed to its constitutional amendments committee to report a Senate-passed resolution to the House.

The proposal has been in the committee for almost two months. Chairman Rep. Jim Clayton of Weatherford shelved the proposal Tuesday.

Rep. J. C. Whitfield of Houston moved to instruct Cohen's committee to bring the bill out. He said it was his "private opinion" that Mr. Cohen is going to sit on the proposal as long as he can.

Cohen believes the measure would destroy the state's economy. He passed by the legislation, the amendment would be submitted to voters in the 1964 general elections. It states that "equality under the law shall not be denied or abridged because of sex."

It is expected sand for use in cement for the Aswan High Dam.

Report Indicates Reds Would Move Out Troops If

WASHINGTON (UPI) — W. Averell Harriman's Moscow talk with Nikita Khrushchev reinforced the high-level impression here that the Soviet leader is willing to pull more troops out of Cuba if he can do so without loss of face.

This was reported today by reliable sources familiar with those parts of the undersecretary of state's report to President Kennedy which he has not discussed in public.

Harriman persuaded Kennedy to let him visit Moscow to urge Soviet cooperation on Laos. That was the only subject on which he was empowered to negotiate. But last Friday's conversation in the Kremlin also touched on Cuba, Berlin and nuclear testing.

Informants said the impression Harriman got from Khrushchev's remarks on Cuba was that the Russian leader would like to take out more military personnel if the United States refrained from making a big issue of it so he would not appear to be giving in to American demands.

Khrushchev was understood to have indicated that he had been impressed by Kennedy's steps to halt refugee hit-and-run raids on Cuba and the moderate nature of the President's public comments on the continued Soviet presence there.

The theory here has been that after pulling out his medium range missiles, Khrushchev no longer feels the need of troops on the spot to guard against Cuban irresponsibility.

It is believed to feel the troops are being used as propaganda liability because they emphasize the truth of charges that Cuba is a completely controlled Soviet satellite.

Italy Expects Crisis After Commie Gain
ROME (UPI) — President Antonio Segni consulted today with political leaders on an expected government crisis in the wake of alarming Communist gains in this week's parliamentary elections.

Premier Amintore Fanfani, whose Christian Democrats were the main sufferers in the general elections, called on the silver-haired president Wednesday night.

Today it was the turn of outgoing Senate President Cesare Merzagora and outgoing Chamber Speaker Giovanni Leone to meet jointly with the chief of state.

The premier, whose "center-left" policy touched off an avalanche of Communist and Liberal protest votes, was expected to defend his resignation to Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey at the moment the new Parliament meets May 16.

This is normally a protocol gesture, but this time it was likely to be the real thing. Even if the Christian Democrats chose to continue in the eventuality they would still in all probability make Fanfani the scapegoat for the election defeat.

Pampa Girl Named Queen of Queens At Iowa State

Miss Kay Kolosha, 19-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Troy F. Teel, 1801 Grape, was crowned Queen of Queens at 1 p.m. today in the annual three-day Spring festival at Iowa State University, Ames, Iowa.

Miss Kolosha, a home economics major at the university, has the choice of a campus job as a junior plus she named a candidate for the honor.

A 1960 graduate of Pampa High School, Miss Kolosha also was honored as homecoming queen at the Iowa State-Kansas football game last fall.

State Lottery Suggested as Tax Reducer

DENVER (UPI) — The highest-ranking Democrat in the Colorado Senate has asked for a state study on the possibilities of adopting a lottery law to cut down on property taxes and sales taxes.

Sen. Sam T. Taylor of Walsby, Colo., said Wednesday he would submit a copy of a lottery law passed last year by New Hampshire and other states to the Senate and other state legislators in a special bill later this month.

Taylor, the Senate minority leader, said his act on should not be construed as his support of such a law, but "we ought to start kicking something like this around to take a look out of the property tax."

New Hampshire, the first state to take in 1964, has a $1 million a year by running two horse races with a lottery.

Taylor said if New Hampshire's precedent works, "You're going into a lot of states going into it. We might be driven to something like this in the future."

Los Crisis Now In 'Constructive' Phase Says Prince

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) — Neutralist Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma declared today the critical Laotian situation is "entering a constructive phase" for eventual restoration of peace.

Souvanna made his remark upon returning here from another conference with pro-Communist Pathet Lao leader Prince Souphannouvong on the Plain of Jars.

Four of neutralist Gen. Long Le's staff officers flew with Souvanna today for their first direct contact with Pathet Lao officers at Khang Khay in the plain area since fighting erupted early last month.

These military officers were believed to have discussed ways to bring about peace in the tense area.

Attending the meeting were right-wing leader Gen. Phnomi Novasorn, members of the National Control Commission and the British and Soviet ambassadors.

King Le did not attend the meeting. He was said to be concerned with his ill health.

Washington Window

United Press International
The prevailing humiliation and confusion of the United States invites some smart politician to ask a sharp question and to press for a clear answer. The question would be:

"How did this fellow, Castro, grab Cuba in the first place?" This question would not launch a witch hunt. Neither would it be asked in a maneuver to tag some witless State Department understrapper as a subversive character with Communist tendencies. But it just might provide some valuable guidance for the future.

Enough known of the State Department's attitude toward Fidel Castro when his revolution was developing to assure that it was not Communist subversion in the department that caused the United States to foster Castro's take-over of Cuba on Jan. 1, 1959.

It appears to have been stupidity. The Senate internal security subcommittee went through the motions of investigating the State Department and the events within it that led up to the tragedy of Castro's Cuban triumph.

Nothing but Words
Not much, if anything, came of that investigation, other than many thousands of words. No investigation was needed to establish that U. S. intelligence agencies had Castro's number long before his triumphal entry into Havana. Years before that our agents knew that the Beard was in cahoots with the Communists. Intelligence reports on Castro's Communist sympathies were submitted in detail to the White House, to the State Department and to the Pentagon. Another question, therefore, arises: did the President and top officials know of these intelligence reports or were the reports diverted or suppressed?

The answers to that double-track question would be interesting. If the reports were submitted and neither the President nor his top aides got them, who did get them? And why were they diverted from the top men. And, if so diverted, by whom?

Fair Questions
Those are fair questions. They should have been asked and answered long since. But these questions seem not even to have been asked.

The word in Washington is that intelligence reports on Castro's Communist affiliations were submitted regularly for the guidance of administration policymakers. All of this, of course, was during the Eisenhower administration.

The word is not so clear as to who actually received these reports. There is evidence, however, that these reports did not reach the top where the decision was made to encourage Castro and then to recognize him on his entry into Havana.

If it happened the way it seems to have happened, the guy responsible probably still is in Washington somewhere with a desk, a title and a salary from the taxpayers—ready, willing and able to do it again. This guy is no Communist. Just dumb.

The Lighter Side

Many Splendored Money

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The chap who first observed that "money talks" grossly underestimated its talents.

As we now know, money can also sing, dance, and, if the occasion demands, play the bagpipes.

One evening this week money played 95 instruments simultaneously, give or take the contrabassoon. The occasion was the first of a new series of "Music for Young America" concerts by the National Symphony Orchestra.

The cash that made the flutes toot, etc., came from Mrs. Herbert A. May, a very nice lady who as the former Marjorie Merriweather Post had connections in breakfast cereal.

Lotta Corn Flakes
For the past eight years, Mrs. May has been underwriting these concerts entirely out of her own purse. And, as you might imagine, the payroll of a symphony orchestra adds up to an awful lot of corn flakes.

On the evening of which I write Mrs. May received a citation from the American Federation of Musicians. As far as I know, Mrs. May herself can't play a note. This is what I mean by money being talented.

The concerts were arranged mainly for the benefit of the thousands of high school students who come to the capital each spring from all over the nation.

The theory is that exposing the youths to a little high class music will produce a "Johnny Appleseed" effect in spreading culture across the land.

First "Live" Concert
I attended the first concert this year mainly because of conductor Howard Mitchell's estimate that 60 per cent of the audience would be hearing "live" symphonic music for the first time.

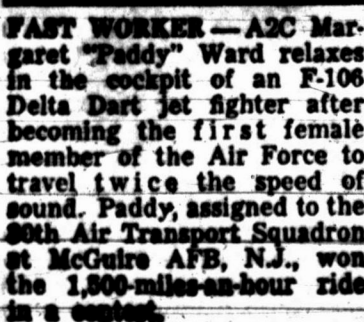

I thought it might be educational to sit among the students and observe their reactions during their long hair baptism. It certainly was. I learned things about classical music I had never even suspected.

Beethoven, I discovered, composed whispering music while Tchaikovsky is ideal accompaniment for opening compacts. On the other hand, Bartok, who took his themes from folk songs and dances, doesn't sound a thing like the Kingston Trio.

The reaction to an aria by Bach was especially interesting. As soon as the orchestra sounded the opening bars, I saw several students reach for their ballpoint pens.

Cultural curiosity caused me to learn over their shoulders to see what they were doing. What I saw suggested a way that classical music can be almost as profitable as corn flakes.

If some record-company wants to cash in on the teen-age trade it should bring out an album of Bach arias and label it "Music to Write Postcards By."

Report Meeting Slated Friday

Volunteer workers will meet Friday at 10 a.m. in the nursing home campaign headquarters to turn in their progress reports for the past week.

The grand total is $81,191 and workers are trying to increase it to $100,000 by the time of the report tomorrow.

"We have been keeping the campaign headquarters open in the evenings this week," said A. J. Carubbi Jr., general solicitation manager, "so that any workers who can't get away during the day may select their prospect cards after working hours."

Arthur Teed, campaign chairman, said, "It takes a long time to call on every family in Pampa, therefore, if those who are interested in contributing time or money to the Home will contact the campaign headquarters, we will be pleased to call on them immediately."

There will also be a board of trustee and advisory board meeting of the Top O' Texas Foundation members at 4 p.m., Friday, in the Court House Cafe.

Hoffa

with Rep. Bob Casey, D-Tex., a co-sponsor of the Bonner bill.

The Teamster president's main contention was that compulsory arbitration would do away with the basic right of a union to strike and the equally basic right of a company to lock out employees.

In addition, he said, attempts at compulsory arbitration here and abroad indicated that it had been a dismal failure.

Supports Free Enterprise
Hoffa said he was "one thousand per cent" behind the free enterprise system, and that unions and management — with some limited assistance from the Federal government — could solve the nation's labor problems without new legislation.

Hoffa said a compulsory arbitration law would make America "half slave and half free." He said such proposals were a "loaded stick of dynamite."

The demand for the legislation was whipped up by "the Madison Ave. boys," he said, after last year's East and Gulf Coast dock strike.

Hoffa disputed the theory that strikes in peacetime could create a national emergency. He said: "Primarily, a war is the only reason not to have a strike."

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — Foreign minister Eric Louw, deriding a threatened Algerian economic boycott of South Africa, said: "It is very easy for these loud mouths to make such statements. They have nothing to lose because there is no import-export trade between Algeria and South Africa."

Music Festival Slated Here By Combined Departments

The Music Departments of Pampa Schools will present the Annual Choral Festival on Friday at 7 p.m. in the high school fieldhouse.

Following a welcome by Jack Edmondson, superintendent of schools, the program will open with "Hymn to America" by the combined choruses of Pampa High School, Pampa and Robert E. Lee Junior High Schools, Travis, Horace Mann, Lamar, Woodrow Wilson, Stephen F. Austin, Sam Houston and B. M. Baker elementary schools.

Conductors for the selections will be Mrs. Jerry Ann Wells, Travis; Mrs. John Branham, Horace Mann; Miss Joan Graft, Lamar; Mrs. Lester Duke, Stephen F. Austin; Miss Eloise Lane of Sam Houston; Mrs. Flaudie Gailman, B. M. Baker; F. M. Bridges, Pampa Junior High; Mrs. Roy Sullivan and Mrs. Mary Cross, both of Robert E. Lee Junior High and Hugh Sanders of Pampa High School.

Accompanists for the choruses will be Mrs. Lester Duke, Miss

Boys Ranch Head Speaks to Rotary

Sherman Harriman, manager of Cal Farley's Boys Ranch, was the speaker at the Pampa Rotary Club's weekly luncheon meeting yesterday at the Coronado Inn.

Boys Ranch is made up of 312 boys and one girl, according to Harriman. The youngsters come from 37 states. The lone girl came to the Ranch from Ft. Wayne, Ind., where she and her two brothers had been orphaned.

"We've had 97 per cent success with the almost 1,500 boys who have been at Boys Ranch," Harriman said. "Forty-six boys have been 'lost' and only one youngster has been 'lost' in the past three years. Given the opportunity, under our present operation, we could have saved at least one-half of the 46 boys we 'lost'."

"Our success has been built on the 'little things,' such as a friendly greeting or pat on the back, and by giving each youngster as much personal attention as possible."

Harriman thanked the club for its contributions to Boys Ranch.

Appreciation Banquet Set For Tonight

The Pampa Desk and Derrick Club will hold its annual Bosses Appreciation Night banquet at 7 p.m. today in the Stratton Room of Coronado Inn.

Mrs. Lee W. Dunham, president of the Borger Desk and Derrick Club, will be the principal speaker. Her topic will be "A Seed Grows in Soil."

Presiding at the banquet will be Mrs. Selma Heard, president of the local club. Entertainment will be furnished by Bob Meredith, vocalist, accompanied by Mrs. Bernice Hatchey.

HELPING HAND

NEW YORK (UPI) — Pedestrians, forced off sidewalks by construction equipment, are getting a helping hand.

The city Wednesday began a crackdown on contractors obstructing streets and revoked the permit of a company whose parked crane impeded traffic and forced pedestrians into roadways.

Man, Wife Are Fined on Check Charge

Ted Wallace of Borger entered a plea of guilty in county court yesterday to a charge of swindling with worthless checks.

Wallace was fined $5 and costs by County Judge Bill Craig.

On the same afternoon, Mrs. Ted Wallace, also of Borger, was fined $5 and costs on a similar charge. Her sentence was also passed by Judge Craig.

George Washington Johnson of Sherman entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of wife and child desertion this morning in county court, Judge Craig presiding.

Johnson's bond was set at $500. Because of the ratified air, carrying 30 pounds at 19,600-foot elevation is as hard as toting 210 pounds at sea level.

Haitian President Is Kept In by Bogey-Men

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

President Francois Duvalier of Haiti is a physician-turned-dictator who keeps himself in office with the aid of a pistol-packing force called "tonton macoute."

Translated from the Creole, tonton macoute means "bogey-men" and it is a fair description of the bully boys who swagger in blue jeans and sports shirts and

Tribes Oppose Reform Program

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI)—Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi's land reform program is running into opposition from thousands of roving tribesmen who do not want to turn in their guns and give up their lawless way of life.

Most Iranians enthusiastically support the program, and since its introduction last winter many large estates already have been split up among the peasants who formerly worked on them.

But officials trying to carry out the land reform in some tribal areas have been greeted with gunfire, and troops sent to enforce the law have had serious clashes with the tribesmen. Eight gendarmes and 32 tribesmen were killed in one recent rifle battle.

Limited Ownership
For the average peasant, there can be no quarrel with the shah's unprecedented decision to restrict individual ownership to 75 acres, nationalize all forests, and offer the lands around religious shrines to peasants on 99-year leases.

The shah showed the way by giving the Ministry of Agriculture 3.5 million acres of his own forest land, valued at more than $200 million, to be split up among his peasants.

Land reforms were sorely needed. In the past, 90 per cent of Iranians working the land were tenant farmers who paid four-fifths of the harvest as rent and for seed, livestock and equipment.

But the migratory tribesmen do not have the same problems. They like their way of life and fiercely resist change. The tribal khans or chiefs own vast estates and command the firm allegiance of their men.

Live on Robbery
Many tribesmen rob travelers; others supplement their income by raising opium poppies.

To stamp out this lawlessness, the government decided to disarm and resettle the tribesmen as well as parcel out their chieftains' land.

For the average tribesman, the resettlement plan would be a better deal. But distrust of the government, loyalty to his chief, and attachment to his rifle seem to exert a stronger pull.

who reportedly are adept at all forms of persuasion from "voluntary" contributions for Duvalier's personal projects to torture for his enemies.

Altogether, they total about 10,000 as compared to Haiti's regular army of 5,000, a force which Duvalier systematically has stripped of its best officers since he took office on Oct. 22, 1957.

Duvalier currently is observing a "month of gratefulness" for a bit of political sleight of hand which he executed two years ago and by which he declared himself re-elected for a new six-year term two years before his old term was to have expired.

Two Weeks to Go
The old term would have expired this May 15.

Mounting violence in Port Au Prince, Haiti's capital, has accompanied the approach of that date.

An outfit calling itself the United-Revolutionary Forces has announced that on May 15 it will carry out a "dry cleaning" operation against the "tyrant-vooodoosist" Duvalier.

Haiti has charged Dominican Republic connivance in an assassination plot against Duvalier which failed but led to the deaths of a chauffeur and two bodyguards warring over Duvalier's children.

The U. S. embassy officially has warned some 1,500 Americans to store up food and water and stay off downtown streets.

And Haiti and the Dominican Republic came close to armed blows.

Campaign of Hate
The Haitian government has pressed a hate campaign against both the Dominican Republic and the United States and has threatened that any uprising against Duvalier would produce a "Himalaya of corpses."

U. S. aid to Haiti since 1946 has amounted to around $100 million and the most to show for it is a small dam, some road repair and progress in eliminating the tropical yaws.

While cutting off aid, the United States until this week continued a 55-man Marine training mission in Port Au Prince, partly on the theory that some of the best and most responsible men in Haiti were in its armed forces.

The U. S. remains in a dilemma in Haiti. But there also is the belief that eventually Duvalier must fall. The direction of that fall would determine the U. S. position—intervention if Communist support if there seems a chance for a new democratic rule.

Most of the U. S. national monuments have been set aside by presidential proclamation; a few have been created by Acts of Congress.

Boeing Head to Testify In Stormy TFX Hearings

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Boeing Co. President William Allen was called before Senate investigators today as the first industry witness to testify in the stormy TFX warplane contract hearings.

Allen was expected to outline Boeing's efforts in the year-long competitive struggle to get the contract for the jet fighter plane, one of the largest military procurement awards in U. S. history.

The investigations subcommittee, headed by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., is inquiring into whether favoritism or errors affected the award which went to General Dynamics Corp. instead of Boeing.

Allen was accompanied by Edward Wells, vice president in charge of engineering, and other Boeing officials.

Comptroller General Joseph Campbell said in testimony made public by the subcommittee that Air Force cost estimates "could not be used as a basis for comparing" the rival Boeing and General Dynamics bids.

Campbell said this left the possibility that other figures were used. "However," he said, "we have found no independent or additional cost estimates covering the TFX program as a whole, and the secretaries have advised us that none exists."

Lobbying: A fight appeared likely today between the House and Senate over how the United States should pay $73 million in war claims to the Philippines.

The Senate passed by voice vote a $1.5 billion supplemental appropriations bill which included a provision for making a lump sum payment to the Philippine government instead of paying the $73 million to individual claimants.

The measure now goes to a House-Senate conference committee. The chief House negotiator, Rep. Albert Thomas, D-Tex., said his thinking was that the claims money should be paid to the Philippine people and not the government.

new legislation today to regulate the sending of guns through the mail. Franklin L. Ronald Turini to Give Concert Here Sunday

The Pampa Community Concert Series is presenting a "bonus concert" Sunday afternoon for season ticket holders for the 1962-63 season, as well as the 1963-64 season.

Performing at the Pampa Junior High Auditorium at 2:30 p.m. will be Ronald Turini, pianist. Persons holding either last year's season tickets, or new membership stubs will be admitted.

Turini was the second prize winner in May, 1960, of the world's most respected and severely competitive Queen Elisabeth of Belgium International Competition.

He is presently the only pupil of keyboard master Vladimir Horowitz.

His repertoire includes not only the well-known, but also the lesser-known piano works of masters from the classic to the contemporary schools.

Turini, at 26, is a thoroughly seasoned performer, whose activities have been varied and rewarding. He made his professional debut with the Canadian Broadcasting Co. at the age of 10.

He became interested in music at the age of three when he received a record player as a gift, promptly went to the piano to pick out the melodies he heard.

His Danish-born mother, an avid enthusiast of music and painting, was quick to appreciate her son's innate abilities, gave him his first piano lessons when he was four.

His interest was also encouraged by his father, a commercial artist whose special interest is photography, and by a distinguished grandfather, Giovanni Turini, an Italian sculptor whose Garibaldi monument is presently a landmark in New York City's Washington Square.

The boy's rapid advancement prompted his family to enroll him for lessons with Dr. Frank Hanson at Montreal's McGill Conservatory.

At nine, he received a scholarship to the Provincial Conservatory there and was graduated, first prize with distinction, at sixteen. Through this phase of his development such leading musicians as Gilles Leleuvre, director and founder of Jeunesses Musicales du Canada, conductor Wilfred Pelletier, and teachers Isidor Philipp, Germaine Malepart, and Yvonne Hubert were among his mentors.

After graduation he was offered a scholarship for European study but declined in favor of study in the United States. A year later he went to New York and under the tutelage of Mme. Isabelle Vengerova and Mme. Olga Stroumillo who later introduced him to Vladimir Horowitz. So impressed was the famous pianist with the young man's exceptional gifts that he offered to become Turini's teacher.

His association with Horowitz and honors won overseas were sufficient reasons to arouse the curiosity of Manhattan's musical elite when Ronald Turini made his U.S. debut in Carnegie Hall the evening of January 23, 1961. Notable among the many celebrities who turned out to hear the pianist were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rubinstein, N. Y. Philharmonic musical director and conductor Leonard Bernstein and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Toscanini, Rudolf Firkusny, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Graffman, Gladys Swarthout and Rose Bampton.

FOR THE TOUGHEST ONES—Uncle Sam's newest maximum security penitentiary is nearing completion at Marion, Ill. The $12 million plant includes new developments in prison construction and security features, and an extensive rehabilitation program is planned.

Walter Rogers Reports

New Federal Role

Benjamin Disraeli said: "The health of the people is really the foundation upon which all their happiness and all their powers as a state depend." His words were quoted last week during two days of House debate culminating in the passage, by a vote of 288 to 112, of H. R. 12, the health professions educational assistance bill. It would provide, if also approved by the Senate, a three-year, $175 million program of grants for the construction of teaching facilities for medical, dental, osteopathic and professional public health personnel, as well as for pharmacists, optometrists, podiatrists and nurses. The bill also sets up a three-year, $30 million program of loans for students of medicine, dentistry and osteopathy. The American Medical Association supported that portion of H. R. 12 calling for construction grants but declined to support the provision for student loans. The American Dental Association supported both of these key provisions of the bill. Other smaller medical and dental organizations took varying positions.

I voted against H. R. 12. As constituents who have followed my record know, I have long opposed federal aid to education measures that seemed to me to be in conflict with State and local government responsibilities. H. R. 12 was labeled a health measure, not an aid to education measure. But the fact remained that it would establish a new program — amounting to approximately one-third of the program urged by the Administration — in which the Federal government would assume another role in education.

Were he alive today, Disraeli might also be concerned about the health of government, that of the United States as well as of his native England. The American system depends upon a separation of Federal, State and local authority. H. R. 12, in my opinion, constitutes one more invasion by the Federal government into a realm of activity that properly rests with States and private organizations supporting medical training.

The principal argument advanced by supporters of H. R. 12 during hearings conducted by the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee (on which I serve) and during the House debate was simply this: There is a growing shortage of doctors and dentists and other professional health care people in this country. I don't argue with the fact that a shortage exists. I do argue with the conclusion that the shortage should be remedied by legislation of this sort.

Why does the Federal government move into fields such as these? It is not alone because there are strong advocates in Congress of greater centralized government. I believe that Congress is generally responsive to what the country wants, to the desires expressed by the people. The responsiveness of Congress to the will of the people is at the core of our system of representative government. But Congress more and more often is called upon to provide solutions that individual citizens or other levels of government should provide. Many State legislatures are feeling the pinch for revenues and look to Washington for help, although I am strongly of the opinion that the fact States are pinched for funds does not justify offering solutions from Washington. Cities, too, are looking to the Federal government for help — as witness city pressure on the Congress to pass the Mass Transportation Bill. This measure, already approved by the Senate pending action in the House, would provide massive Federal funds to help metropolitan areas solve congestion problems — problems that have developed because the cities, delayed for too long to do anything about them. Now they are calling for help from Uncle Sam.

Abrogation of State and local responsibility — this attitude of "Let George (or Uncle Sam) Do It" — is one reason, a big one, for the increased centralization of power at the Federal level.

I have been deeply honored and pleased to represent the Panhandle of Texas in the Congress because of my conviction that the great majority of our fine citizens have a keen knowledge of fundamentals that made this country great. Our people take pride in doing things for themselves, in being financially responsible, in exercising initiative and resourcefulness. The independent spirit of the pioneer lives on in the hearts of the present generation of Texans of our area. Certainly there are differences of opinion among our Panhandle people, but I have found a heartening unanimity of support for the free enterprise system, for the Constitutional separation of governmental powers and States' rights, for self-reliance.

PAROLED FOR COLLEGE

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—A correspondence course coed was given a parole from prison Monday so she could attend the University of Tennessee.

The State Parole Board granted the freedom request of Sarah Jeanett Johns, 22, who was sentenced in 1959 to 10 years imprisonment for luring a man from a bar so two soldiers could rob him. Miss Johns said she had earned 12 college credits through correspondence courses in her cell and the university said it would accept her application if she could get a parole.

Farmers Offered Explanation of Referendum

EDITOR'S NOTE—Gray County wheat growers will vote in a nationwide referendum on marketing quotas on Tuesday, May 21. Evelyn Mason, county office manager for the Gray County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, Saturday released the following statement to explain the salient points on which farmers will be voting:

1964 WHEAT PROGRAM

From the standpoint of the wheat producer, the program is outlined as follows:

1. Price Support. $2.00 a bushel, national average, for wheat covered by marketing certificates; $1.30 national average, for non-certificate wheat. Certificates will cover 80 percent of the normal yield of the farmer's acreage allotment — but not more than the normal yield of his planted acres. Farmers will receive marketing cards as before for use in marketing certificate wheat. The first buyer of the wheat will pay the value of the certificate along with the marketing price of the wheat. A producer who does not produce enough wheat to match his marketing certificates can redeem them at the county ASCS office at 70 cents a bushel. Loans and purchase agreements will be available to cooperators, in the usual manner.

2. Marketing quota and acreage allotment. The producer will be able to plant about the same acreage as in the 1962 program. The farm's marketing quota for 1964 is the full production on the acreage allotment. The farm's acreage allotment is based on a national allotment of 49.5 million acres, 5.5 million below the previous 55-million-acre minimum. This 5.5 million is a reduction of 10 percent from the recent 55-million acre allotment. If a feed grain program is in effect for the 1964 crop, a producer may plant wheat on feed grain base acreage and still be a cooperator in the wheat program.

3. Payments. (a) For planting within the allotment, and putting the diverted acres to soil conserving uses, the diversion payment will be 30 percent of the county support price for wheat on the normal production of the acreage diverted (computed as 11.11 percent of the farm allotment for 1964). (b) For voluntary diversion to conserving uses, up to 20 percent of the allotment, the payment is computed by using 50 percent of the county support price. The 50 percent rate also applies where (a) the wheat allotment is 12.5 acres or less, and the (b) producer diverts the entire allotment, and grows no wheat on the farm. Advance payment of one-half the total farm diversion of acreage will be available on request.

4. Grazing of diverted acres. Grazing is permitted throughout the year, but grazing during the summer months would reduce diversion the payment one-half. Grazing is permitted during the winter months without loss of payment.

5. Referendum. The date: Tuesday May 21. The question: Whether the marketing quotas will be in effect for the 1964 wheat crop. The will be in effect only if the referendum is approved by at least two-thirds of the producers voting in the referendum. If quotas are not approved, the program provided by law is as follows:

The same acreage allotments will be in effect, and farmers who plant within their allotments will be eligible for price support at 50 percent of parity (at the current parity price, this support would be about $1.25). No payments would be available. Producers planting more than the allotment would not receive price support and would sell their wheat at the market program provisions listed above price. Present law and the wheat supply situation virtually assure that a referendum will be held in the spring of 1964 for the 1965 crop regardless of whether the 1964 quota is approved or rejected.

PREDICTS NEW JOBS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Commerce Secretary Luther H. Hodges said Tuesday that local projects approved under the federal aid program for distressed areas will create 39,000 new jobs.

Hodges told a Senate banking subcommittee that the Area Redevelopment Agency (ARA), created by Congress two years ago, has made "significant progress" toward solving critical unemployment problems in many sections of the nation.

GOING UP?—When an apartment building in Cleveland, Ohio, is ready for them, these stairs will become a part of it. At present, climbing them won't get very far. It's a new cost-saving technique.

Courts to Proceed 'With Speed' in Postman Slaying

GASDEN, Ala. (UPI)—A circuit judge has promised his court will proceed with deliberate speed in the ambush murder of a Baltimore postman crusading for civil rights in the South.

"There will be no delays" in grand jury action in the case, Judge Virgil Pittman said. "There will be no railroading."

Pittman said the grand jury will be called into session when the state's investigation is "properly developed."

Floyd L. Simpson, 40, a rural store operator charged with first degree murder in the death of William L. Moore, was released on $5,000 bond to await grand jury action.

Moore was fatally shot during his civil rights crusade march last Tuesday while walking from Chattanooga, Tenn., to Jackson, Miss.

Circuit Solicitor William Rayburn said bond was allowed because the state did not want a preliminary hearing in the case at this time. A hearing would force the state to disclose its evidence long before the actual trial.

Moore, 35, was taking a letter to Mississippi Gov. Ross Barnett urging moderation in civil rights matters. He was found shot to death by a 22-caliber rifle at a roadside park about 13 miles from here.

Simpson, a Korean War veteran and father of six, was picked up last Thursday. He operates a service station and grocery store at Colbran on U. S. 11, the route Moore took through neighboring DeKalb County.

Pittman said Monday, "The people of this community and Alabama are grieved and shocked by this tragedy. The court is closely following the developments in this case."

"This court will proceed with deliberate speed, having a conscious regard that the demands of a deeply offended community and state be met with and due and proper consideration given to the rights of any defendant under the law."

Negro leaders in Atlanta announced plans to take up Moore's ill-fated march Wednesday morning. A group of 10 to 15 white and Negro volunteer marchers plan to leave Chattanooga at 7 a.m. and will head through Tuscaloosa, Eutaw and Birmingham.

NEW FLEET COMMANDER

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI)—Adm. Harold Page Smith, 59, assumed command of the U.S. Atlantic Fleet Tuesday in ceremonies at this huge naval facility.

Smith, a veteran of the Pacific campaign in World War II, succeeded retiring Adm. Robert L. Dennison, 62, who directed President Kennedy's quarantine of Cuba during the Cuban crisis last fall.

In his new post, Smith also heads North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) naval forces.

DAMAGE $1 MILLION

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI)—State civil defense director Robert Crook Tuesday said that damage from Monday's tornadoes in Mississippi may total $1 million.

Crook made his estimate after touring the two hardest hit areas—Moon Lake in northwestern Mississippi and around Tupelo in northeastern Mississippi.

Seven persons were killed and 30 others injured by the twisters which left 40 families homeless.

Special Kitchen Treat With Frozen Foods

CHICKEN LASAGNE is a gourmet dish that takes a minimum of kitchen work when using frozen foods.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
You can prepare gourmet main dishes for special occasions easily with boil-in-bag frozen specialties. They are new, available in your market's frozen food department. They can produce really delicious special treats with minimum of kitchen work.

CHICKEN LASAGNE -CASSEROLE-

(Serves 4 to 6)
1/2 pound lasagne or very broad noodles
2 packages frozen broccoli au gratin
2 packages frozen breast of chicken cacciatore
3 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
Cook the lasagne or noodles in boiling salted water 1 minute less than the package directs. Drain well. While the lasagne or noodles are cooking, heat the frozen broccoli au gratin and the chicken cacciatore in their own boil-in-the-bag containers for 6 minutes or until just thawed. Empty into separate bowls. Remove the bones of the chicken and cut into bite-sized pieces. In a 1 1/2 quart soufflé or casserole dish, spread half the lasagne or noodles. Spread the broccoli over them, and cover with the remaining lasagne or noodles. Spoon the chicken and sauce over them; sprinkle with grated cheese. Bake in a pre-heated 425 degree oven 10 minutes.

CHICKEN HASH ARGENTEUIL

(Serves 2)
1 package frozen asparagus cuts and tips hollandaise
1 package frozen Delmonico potatoes
1/2 cups coarsely chopped cooked chicken
1/4 teaspoon crushed rosemary
Salt, pepper to taste

1/4 cup whipped cream
Defrost asparagus cuts and tips hollandaise style and Delmonico potatoes by boiling 6 minutes in their own boil-in-the-bag containers. Add chicken and seasonings to asparagus, fold in whipped cream. Put hash mixture into center of two individual casseroles. Season potatoes with salt and pepper, spoon around edges. Bake in a pre-heated oven (400 degrees) until potatoes are brown and hash hot. Brown potato top under broiler flame if desired.

Chicken livers fry to a golden brown if wrapped in aluminum foil and dropped in deep, hot-fat. Unwrap when done and serve immediately.

Green Salads Provide Important Contribution

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Green salads make important contributions to the well-balanced meal. They add crispness; flavor and eye appeal plus valuable amounts of essential vitamins and minerals. That is why they are an economy buy in health insurance for all the family and should be included at least once in each day's meals.

Shapes of the foods combined should be varied and interesting. For instance, cut some food into long pieces, some round, etc. Avoid cutting them in pieces too small, in order to prevent the hashed look. Add the dressing to leafy green salads and some fruit salads just before using. This prevents limp, watery salads. Also, always serve on chilled plates.

Ground black pepper to taste
1/4 cup Tarragon French Dressing
1 bunch green onions or scallions
Wash and thoroughly dry salad greens. Tear into bite-size pieces and place in a salad bowl that has been rubbed with a clove of fresh garlic. Toss lightly, making sure each piece of the salad greens is coated with dressing. Arrange over the top peeled onions or scallions.

TARRAGON FRENCH DRESSING (1 cup)

1/4 cup tarragon wine vinegar
1/2 cup salad or olive oil
1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
1 teaspoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon powdered mustard
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon ground black pepper
1/2 teaspoons finely chopped fresh onion
1/2 teaspoon crumbled tarragon leaves
Combine all ingredients and beat well with a rotary beater. Store in a covered jar or bottle in the refrigerator.

SALAD GREENS contain essential vitamins and minerals, should be eaten at least once a day. Learn them by name.

TOSSED SPRING SALAD (8 servings)
1/2 medium-head lettuce
1/4 head curly endive
1/4 head escarole
1/2 medium-head romaine
1 head Belgian endive, optional
2 cups raw spinach
Salt to taste

Manners Make Friends

Engaged couples should accept invitations that do not include both of them. Being "Siamese Twins" always can strain the closest relationships.

To give a perky look to baby dresses, use extra starch at the hems.

Aromatic Bitters Add New Interest To Flavorful, Inexpensive Cube Steaks

Inexpensive cube steak takes on added flavor and new interest when you cook it with aromatic bitters, green peppers and tomatoes. Really a budget delicacy.
CUBE STEAK AND PEPPERS (6 servings)
2 pounds cube steak
4 tablespoons shortening
2 onions, sliced
4 green peppers, quartered
1 cup canned tomatoes
2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons aromatic bitters
Cut cube steaks into strips. In large skillet, brown steak strips quickly in shortening. Add onions, green peppers and tomatoes. Stir in salt, pepper and aromatic bitters. Cover tightly and simmer 10 minutes or just until vegetables are tender-crisp.

You'll enjoy this excellent cold slaw recipe, too. It is "lively."
COLE SLAW (8 to 10 servings)
2 tablespoons cider vinegar
1 cup real mayonnaise
2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon grated onion
10 cups shredded cabbage (1 medium head)
2 carrots, shredded
1/4 green pepper, shredded
Stir vinegar into mayonnaise, then blend in salt, sugar, pepper and grated onion. Chill until just before serving. Combine cabbage, carrot and green pepper; toss with mayonnaise mixture until well-coated.

Quick Breakfast Treat Orange Coffee Cake

ORANGE COFFEE CAKE is a real breakfast treat. Serve it with orange juice instead of the usual beverage.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
For a quick breakfast treat, whip up an easy coffee cake mix with orange juice instead of the usual milk.

FLUFFY ORANGE COFFEE CAKE

(Makes 8 servings)
One 10 1/2-oz. pkg. easy coffee cake mix
1 egg unbeaten
1/4 cup orange juice
2 tablespoons sliced almonds
Heat oven to 375 degrees (moderate). Put egg, orange rind and orange juice into bag of mix. Squeeze upper part of bag to force air out. Close top of bag by holding tightly between thumb and index finger. With bag resting on table, mix by working bag vigorously with fingers. (Mix about 40 seconds or until egg is completely blended.) Squeeze bag to empty batter into special aluminum foil pan contained in package. (Do not grease pan) Combine topping contained in smaller bag with almonds. Sprinkle evenly over batter. Bake in preheated oven (375 degrees) about 25 minutes. Open corner folds of pan for easy cutting and serving.

MANDARIN ORANGE COFFEE CAKE

(Makes 8 servings)
One 10 1/2-oz. pkg. easy coffee cake mix
1 egg, unbeaten
1/2 cup milk
1-3 cup mandarin orange segments, drained
Put egg and milk into bag of mix. Follow mixing directions as in Fluffy Orange Coffee Cake. Arrange mandarin orange segments over batter. Sprinkle topping contained in smaller bag evenly over top. Bake in preheated 375-degree oven (moderate) about 25 minutes. Open corner folds of pan for easy cutting and serving.

SHRINES TO CIVIL WAR LEADERS—These Kentucky memorials honor Abraham Lincoln and Jefferson Davis, opposing Civil War presidents. The austere building of granite and marble, left, is a year-round tourist attraction to Abraham Lincoln Birthplace National Historical Site near Hodgenville, Ky. A replica of Lincoln's humble birth cabin is within the shrine. The 56 steps leading up to the entrance represent the life span of the Great Emancipator. A 351-foot obelisk, right, and a replica of the house in which Jefferson was born are located in Jefferson Davis Monument State Park, at Fairview.

1962 Bird Count Finally Completed

NEW YORK CITY—A wide-spread flight of hawk owls from the subarctic across southern Canada, the first record of cattle egrets in California, and evidence of a continuing movement of fulvous tree ducks up the Atlantic coast were among the remarkable findings in the 1962 Christmas Bird Count sponsored by the National Audubon Society.

Ornithologist Allan D. Cruickshank of Rockledge, Fla., who edits the Christmas Count reports for Audubon Field Notes, estimated that more than 15,000 persons took part. They spent one 8-hour day between last Dec. 19 and Jan. 1 in local teams scanning 672 census areas, each laid out ahead of time within a circle 15 miles in diameter. This was a new record: eleven more such areas checked than in 1961. It was the 63rd such inventory of bird life since the Christmas Count technique was started in 1900 by Dr. Frank M. Chapman, dean of American ornithologists.

Cruickshank's own team at Cocoa, Fla., again led in the number of species identified with 197. Tomales Bay, Calif., was runner-up with 168 species and Houston, Tex., was third with 165.

Others in the top ten were San Diego, Calif., 162; Freeport, Tex., 158; Sabine National Wildlife Refuge, La., 155; Coot Bay-Everglades National Park, Fla., 154; Oakland, Calif., 152; St. Marks, Fla., 152; and St. Petersburg, Fla., 152.

Reports were received from all fifty states, eight provinces of Canada, and the District of Columbia. New York led in number of census areas with 44.

Although reports of hawk owls came from as far west as Alberta and as far east as New Brunswick, the main invasion appeared to be in Ontario, Cruickshank said in his summary. At least ten of these rare northern birds were seen in Toronto.

It was, however, a poor year for snowy owls, goshawks, Bohemian waxwings, northern shrikes and the northern finches all across southern Canada and in the northern United States.

A cattle egret spotted by Irving Meyer in Orange County, California, is believed to be the first record of this Old World species in that state. A member of the heron family, the cattle egret is a native of Africa. It was reported to have been seen in Florida in 1942 but its permanent residence in North America was not established until 1952 when Audubon observers definitely identified the species in Massachusetts. It now nests in numbers in Florida, Texas, and other Atlantic and Gulf coastal states and has been seen in the Midwest and as far north as Maine. How it reached this continent in the first place is a mystery.

The fulvous tree duck, a Texan, created a stir in ornithological circles in 1961 when several were seen during an Audubon convention at Atlantic City and others were recorded in Rhode Island during the Christmas Count. Six seen on Martha's Vineyard last Christmas was the first record of the species in Massachusetts.

Some other unusual sightings noted by Cruickshank: An Oregon junco at the Bombay Hook National Wildlife Refuge in Delaware; evening grosbeaks at three Georgia points, Atlanta, Milledgeville, and Rome; a new, more southern concentration of Brewer's blackbirds, a prairie state species, in the Southeast, with an estimated 3,390,000 in one big roost near Rome, Ga.; a rare trumpeter swan at Tomales Bay, Calif.; 48 lesser prairie chickens seen at Fort Supply, Okla.; five clay-colored robins, a rare visitor from Mexico, at Bentons State Park in Texas; a northern waterthrush at Espanola, New Mexico; an unusual flight of American goldfinches in the Florida Keys; green-tailed towhees far outside their normal range in Massachusetts, New York and New Jersey; two mockingbirds and a brown thrasher at Denver; a Bullock's oriole and a phainopepla at Glacier National Park, the latter probably a "first" for Montana.

More than a million European starlings recorded at Portland, Ore., confirms that the population explosion of this generally unwelcome immigrant now extends to the West Coast.

ANNOUNCE PAPAL VISIT

VATICAN CITY, (UPI)—The Vatican Radio confirmed Thursday that Pope John XXIII will pay a state visit to Italian President Antonio Segni on May 11. It will be the first time a Pope has visited an Italian president, although the late Pope Pius XII called on King Victor Emmanuel III in 1939.

Electoral College Loaded Against Conservatism?

BROWNSVILLE (UPI)—Lyle C. Wilson, vice-president of United Press International and veteran Washington newsman, said the current "winner-take-all" system of electing U.S. presidents handicaps conservatives.

"Too few people realize that the electoral college is loaded against the conservative element," Wilson said.

He said that under the present system all electoral votes of a state go to the candidate who receives a simple majority.

"This system has come to mean a freeze-out of conservatism in the metropolitan states," he said.

Wilson spoke at the annual meeting of the Brownsville Chamber of Commerce.

He said U.S. Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., was handicapped in his aspirations for the presidency because his home state has so few electoral votes.

"The fact that Goldwater is not backed by a big state is one of the major disadvantages accompanying him into politics," Wilson said.

Wilson said that efforts have been underway for several years to reform the system and that a national electoral reform committee has been established to spearhead recent efforts.

Some 150-200 high school and college students were admitted free to the banquet. At the close of ceremonies, Wilson was presented an honorary membership in the local American Legion post.

Numbered Mail, Next

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. Post Office doesn't want its patrons to think it is neglecting them, so it has decided to issue each of them a number.

If its patrons observe reasonable orderliness, they ought to find room for the post office number right between the Social Security number and the bank account number.

Plans, of course, will mean seeing the new all-digital telephone number over a little, and might necessitate throwing out a few direct dialing area codes.

but a minimum of juggling ought to preserve the license tag number, the insurance number, the credit card number, the book club number, the record club number, and the dog's tag number in proper order.

The post office number will run to five digits and will facilitate the delivery of the U. S. mails through any adversity except a broken computer.

It is the first step, Postmaster General J. Edward Day said Tuesday, toward electronic mail sorting. The numbers will be given first to large volume mailers, such as insurance companies, magazine publishers and banks.

Seeds of the witch hazel plant are shot from their small woody capsules to a distance of several feet or yards.

Soviets Pushing Co-Existence Drive in Middle East Nations

CAIRO, U.A.R. (UPI) — The Soviet Union, despite recent severe repression of its satellite parties, appeared Monday to be pushing a determined co-existence drive with anti-Communist-nationalist regimes in the Middle East.

Informed sources said the Kremlin took the first step in its new approach by recently dissolving the central committees of the Arab Communist parties in Syria, Iraq and Lebanon.

New central committees will be formed to work along the lines of patient infiltration and outward co-operation with the ruling governments, the sources said.

The Kremlin's new plans were said to be aimed mainly at getting along with the members of the new United Arab Republic.

(U.A.R.), Egypt, Syria, and Iraq. All three nations are now led by nationalist regimes which support socialism but take a strong anti-Communist posture.

Pressure Heavy
Communists in Iraq and Syria have recently been under severe pressure. Many hundreds are reported to have been killed following the revolt in Baghdad Feb. 8.

Political sources here in Cairo said the new Soviet tactics were set up at a meeting last month in Moscow of Kremlin leaders and exiled Arab Communists.

The plans mark an apparent realization by Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev and his aides that a new path must be taken if they hope to retain influence in the Middle East.

The new moves came about two weeks after the Syrian revolution March 8 which put the anti-Communist B-Ath Arab Socialist Party in power, the sources said.

U.A.R., Syria and Iraq by J. Mayevski, Arab affairs editor of Moscow's Communist party newspaper Pravda, was partly to feel out the new political mood in the Arab world.

Selection of new central committee members will be based largely on his findings, the sources said.

Under the ill-fated regime of Iraqi Premier Abdel Karim Kassem the Communists saw their chance for a powerful new party apparatus and a resurgence of influence in the Middle East.

Syrian and Lebanese Communists, as well as those who had fled Egypt, moved to Baghdad.

But in Iraq the Communists committed disastrous errors. They savagely put down a 1959 nationalist revolt in Mosul. Hundreds of Iraqi nationalists were slain and dragged in the streets by armed Communist mobs in a campaign more barbaric than the suppression of the Hungarian revolt in 1956.

Trouble, Tension Brews Among Cubans

Editor's Note: A UPI team — Al Kuetner, Matthew T. Kenny and Miguel Alonso—reports on aspects of the Cuban colony in Miami.

MIAMI (UPI) — Assemble a crowd of 150,000, take away their country and deposit them in a strange land where most of them have no jobs. The result is likely to cause trouble and tension.

You can find both in Miami, which became the haven and temporary home for 150,000 Cubans who fled from the Communist island of Fidel Castro. But the remarkable thing here, according to both Cuban and U.S. observers, is that there has not been more difficulty in these massive immigrations.

Dr. Jose Morrell, former justice of the Cuban Supreme Court and now head of 80 judges in exile, views the situation here as a prime example of democracy in action.

Healthy Competition In American Schools

You, Your Child and School
By DAVID NYDICK

Team or individual sports involve competition and the nature of games encourages a desire to win.

The schools generally stress cooperation. Is this contradictory to the competitive nature of our society? The aim actually is to develop attitudes which stress fair play, sportsmanship, and team work along with an effort to win.

An individual should learn to be a good loser as well as a humble winner.

Writer Sheds Shawish Beard

By JOSEPH FINNIGAN
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Stanley Shapiro, one of Hollywood's best movie comedy writers, has come out from behind his beard—a shock of red hair which made him resemble George Bernard Shaw.

Stanley doesn't mind being compared to Shaw because the late Irish wit is one of his favorite authors. But some people, forgetting the image of Shaw, mistook Stanley at first glance for somebody who needed a shave.

For four years Stanley labored thoughtfully behind his beard. It was a good place to hide because Shapiro would just as soon nobody bothered him while he's working on funny scripts.

Shapiro has penned six money-making movies. His latest, "King of the Mountain," co-stars David Niven and the usually serious Marlon Brando.

Won Academy Award
During the five years Shapiro has been scriptwriting for pictures, the slender, soft spoken humorist has won one Academy Award, for "Pillow Talk," and been nominated four times. He now commands a salary in excess of $250,000 for a script.

In Hollywood, actors usually grow beards while writers pound typewriters in tiny office cubicles. Not so with Shapiro.

"I grew the beard because some girl asked me to," said Stanley in his office at Revue Studios. "Then I changed girls. The new one didn't like the beard so off it went."

Shapiro, 37, wrote for the late Fred Allen, George Burns and Gracie Allen and other comedians before he began picture-scripting.

"I took a cut in salary to come into movies," he said. "I had been writing and producing in television."

Sitting behind a desk in the office, Shapiro is a serious man when discussing his rib-tickling specialty. He exhibits little of the humor that flows from his pictures, insisting that such comedy is not spontaneous.

Tough Job

"There's no such thing as spontaneous writing that is any good," he said. "Many times we've sat five or six hours working on one line. We've gone weeks without getting a page. That's why television is so hard. There's no time."

Shapiro collaborates with other writers on films. His partner in "King of the Mountain" is Paul Henning, producer and creator of CBS-TV's "The Beverly Hillbillies."

Shapiro's list of hits includes "The Perfect Furlough," "Operation Petticoat," and "Come September." Besides writing, he is now producing movies, another reason the beard no longer adorns his face.

"You can be a writer or director and have a beard," he explained. "But a producer should not have a beard. It scares the bankers who put up money for the picture."

Citing his reason for becoming a producer, Shapiro said, "My psychiatrist thought it would be a good way to release all my savage instincts."

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
United Press International
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—"When a woman's bumped off, her husband is always the first suspect—which gives you a little side-glimpse of what people really think about marriage."

There is no evidence that this observation in George Orwell's novel, "Coming Up for Air," has prevented people from doing what comes naturally: and with the month of June inevitably impending, CBS-TV's droll daily morning show, "Calendar," is devoting all this week to the subject of weddings.

And it is a good thing that the hostess, Mary Fickett, is droll, because after three days of watching and listening, I am convinced that the only alternative in this subject, if you happen to be of the male gender, is to try. I give you Wednesday as an instance.

On Her Own
Miss Fickett was on her own, what with her usual co-host, Harry Reasoner, not being on hand to help her question two prospective mothers-in-law about preparations for weddings, the matter of how not to insult people, and so forth. I have the feeling that Mr. Reasoner didn't show up because he was afraid he wouldn't be able to keep a straight face.

One of the ladies said she has been planning for the big day since last September. Soon she is going to take the boys to buy their wedding clothes, and she hopes that by some time soon she can be finished so she can sit back and enjoy the whole thing.

In my panic, I forgot which of the ladies said of her husband, "As the time grows closer, he's getting quite excited about it." I only know I agreed with her with all my heart.

Four Forth Logistics
The whole thing, said one of the gals, is a "gigantic task." And the logistics poured forth along with the strategy—one of the pieces of advice in the latter field being that the larger the wedding the more people you offend, presumably by not inviting them.

Most interesting was the fact that when Miss Fickett asked her guests about their first thoughts when they found out their off-springs would soon get married, neither of them said much, as I remember, about wonder or anything like that. They both were concerned about the plans for the wedding. I guess they were just sticking to the subject.

"I'm really looking forward to having this wedding," said one of the ladies. Miss Fickett asked her how she had got married. The lady said she eloped.

Navy Testing To Discover Fate of Sub

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (UPI)—The Navy was scheduled to conduct tests today on simulated submarine compartments in an attempt to find the cause of the Thresher disaster.

Vice Adm. Bernard L. Austin, head of the court, said Wednesday the tests will be conducted at Portsmouth Naval Shipyard to show what a rush of water would do to submarine equipment. Officials said the tests may be private but a statement probably will be issued afterward.

The Navy apparently was trying to find out if a bursting pipe could have disabled the submarine's controls, causing it to drop to the ocean bottom.

Earlier testimony to the court indicated that similar tests had been conducted at Vallejo, Calif. The court of inquiry also was expected to go behind closed doors again today to gather classified evidence it hoped would solve the April 10 sinking of the submarine with 129 men aboard.

At sea, 220 miles off Cape Cod, a six-ship flotilla of Navy and oceanographic vessels resumed the search for the Thresher's watery grave.

Watching Your Weight Can Be Loads Of Fun

By ALICIA HART
Beauty Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Although the song says, "wishing will make it so," you can't wish away excess pounds.

The rocky road to reducing is lined with emotional obstacles. These you can remove, along with the weight, with patience and persistence. You may eat three meals a day but cut out all the unnecessary starches. Stick to high protein foods such as meat and eggs. Include greens with at least one meal.

If you cannot overcome a yen for desserts, sidetrack it. Try having one or two pieces of hard candy, which contain only 14 calories each, after a meal. Even a chocolate-covered mint contains only 20 calories, and can become part of your diet menu. But, treat yourself to only one or, at the most, two pieces. Your weight loss will be gradual on this type diet, but more permanent than if you had gone on a drastic fad diet. And, it is always wise to consult your doctor before you begin.

An important part of reducing is exercise. You don't want to look flabby as you begin to shed pounds. Select simple exercises that will help tighten and firm your waist, tummy and thighs.

What you wear also plays an important role in presenting a new image to your family and friends. Since summer is near, you probably will be shopping for sportswear. Choose clothes that do the most for you.

Contrary to popular belief, dark colors are not as slimming as lighter shades, according to a leading bathing suit designer. She points out that the contrast between a dark color and a light skin tends to make the figure look heavier than the unbroken flow of light colors. She also feels that black or other dark colors show off the "bumps".

When selecting a swimsuit, for example, avoid two-piece styles if you have a suggestion of a bulge through your middle. For full hips and thighs, shop for suits with little boy pants.

A cotton swimsuit with an overskirt is best for a full-blown figure; it tends to hide the bulges.

that's what she eats for breakfast. I have four other children and a husband to feed, so I can't make only non-fattening meals for her alone. If I cook spaghetti and meatball, I have to lock up the leftovers or this daughter will finish it. I've had her to doctors who put her on diets but she never sticks with any of them. She has no willpower. She is driving me crazy. What should I do?

Dear Abby... Don't Diagnose This Doctor's Case

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a nurse and I see things many other people don't see. For some time I have been watching the comings and goings of a young married woman. She "visits" the hospital frequently so that she can see a certain doctor, who is also married and has a family. This young woman has a fine husband and a lovely home. The entire hospital personnel is aware of the situation, and even the doctor tries his best to get rid of her. Don't you think someone should speak to this woman's husband so he can straighten her out? We'd appreciate your advice before something terrible comes about.

WONDERING
DEAR WONDERING: I have yet to see the doctor who wasn't able to "get rid" of a woman without my help. Leave the woman's husband alone. If you really feel that someone should "straighten out" the woman — suggest it to the doctor. And he might straighten YOU out.

DEAR ABBY: My 16-year-old daughter wears a size 20 dress. If I have pie or cake in the house,

TIED MOTHER
DEAR TIED: Your daughter should see a doctor who treats "emotional disorders." That is what's causing her to eat compulsively. Unless your daughter is treated for the CAUSE of her overeating, she will never stick with a diet.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for twelve years to a man who absolutely refuses to try anything new when it comes to food. When we are invited out to dinner, if it isn't meat and potatoes, he won't even touch it. I have tried to interest him in molds, fish, chicken, salads, casserole dishes and desserts, but it's futile. I finally threw away my cook book. What is wrong with a man like that, and how can I cope with it?

DEAR GAVE UP: His mother frightened him with a soufflé when he was young. Just keep on feeding him meat and potatoes at home. And when he dines out, let him sit in the corner and suck his thumb.

Stop worrying. Write to Abby. For a personal reply enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

The Mature Parent Mother's Disappointed With Herself!

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Dear Mrs. Lawrence: As my sister thinks a lot of what you write, please use your column to give her some comfort. She is very unhappy over her daughter's plan to marry as soon as she graduates from high school this June. The boy is only 20 and though he treats my niece well, he never finished high school. My niece is an honor student and we had every hope that she would continue her education. So this marriage to a boy with a poor education...

ANSWER: Were I your sister, I would feel sad, too. It is always sad to be the parent who has lost the power to safeguard a beloved child from making what we believe is a poor marriage with its possible consequences of disillusion, divorce and lonely parenthood.

But sadness is a feeling that does not require comfort. It is a quiet feeling containing the acceptance of our limitations.

As your sister requires comfort, perhaps her sadness is confused by self-condemnation that has little to do with self-acceptance. These can occur in a situation like hers. Though we have done the very best we could to teach our child good judgment, we are not satisfied with the best we could do, but condemn ourselves because we couldn't teach her perfect judgment. All the good we have been able to accomplish as a parent will lose its value to us because we have not accomplished perfectly.

We believe that we are disappointed in our child. But what we are working through is disappointment with ourselves.

"Acceptance of oneself is the essence of the moral problem," writes C. G. Jung, the great Swiss psychoanalyst. "That I should love my enemy is undoubtedly a great virtue. But what if I should discover that I am the enemy who must be loved — what then? Then there is no longer any question of love. We condemn and rage against ourselves..."

I hope that your sister will find the self-acceptance she now needs to let her child be. We're not here to always get our own way. There is always another person with a way he wants, too — a road he must take, an experience he must invite in order to emerge from it with the discovery that is required for his growth.

Silver Date To Be Noted By United Church Women

This year marks the silver anniversary of the United Church Women in Pampa. Special recognition of this occasion will be a keynote of the May Fellowship Day observance Friday, May 3rd at 9:30 a.m. in Lamar Christian Church.

Past presidents of the group will be honored guests. Mrs. Kermit Lawson, current president, will give recognition to each past officer and review some of the achievements of the group for the past 25 years.

Mrs. A. L. Burge was first president of United Church Women in 1938. She was followed in successive years by Mrs. Fred Roberts, Ewing Leech, S. A. Hurst, Edgar Henshaw, D. V. Burton, R. H. Nestiel, Walter Purviance, C. T. Hightower, A. D. Hills, Earl Sheig, B. M. Enloe, Lee Barrah, Forrest Taylor, H. J. Pickett, Earl Casey, Joe Autry, Dean Burger, Wm. E. West.

Clyde Carruth, a layman, will be guest speaker. Mrs. Kay Schoening will bring special music. Mrs. Dean Burger will conduct the worship service. A nursery will be provided.

Women are asked to bring trading stamps as part of their offering. These will be used as part of a state wide project to purchase a station wagon to be used in the

Take It From Kathy

by Kathy Peterson

Dear Kathy: I am a 13-year-old boy in the eighth grade. I watch television on Friday and Saturday nights only. On school nights I am not allowed to watch at all.

My problem is this: Every night I faithfully do my homework without being told and usually finish about an hour before bedtime. Why shouldn't I be allowed to watch television during this time? I will be watching your column for your answer. Yours truly — Misunderstood.

Why? Because it takes a lot of will power at 12:30 or 6:00 to pass up fun for work. Your parents have been exposed to the temptation themselves. They know you might cut corners for a special program or skip details when assignments were especially heavy and time-consuming.

Because teachers agree that setting a definite time and place for homework makes it easier to establish good study habits and produces the best results. College advisers say that extra reading is important for those who plan to continue school and should be fitted in when there's surplus time. Because brothers and sisters in the family could be distracted enough to ignore their assignments if you turned on the television set.

Because when there are exceptions just once, once more, and once again, the exceptions can build to become the usual routine. If your marks were REALLY TOPS and you didn't have to be pushed to keep them that way, I'd be inclined to allow some flexibility.

Mayor Is Interviewed On Alleged 'Roughing'

CRYSTAL CITY, Tex. (UPI)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation interviewed Crystal City Mayor Juan Carnejo Wednesday night about his complaint that a Texas Ranger captain roughed him up.

A masked man pulled up in front of the mayor's home after the interview, blared the horn on his car and shouted: "Remember the Alamo!" He then sped away.

Carnejo issued a statement earlier Wednesday night saying he disapproved of the 6 or 8 Texas Rangers who arrived in town Wednesday. "It (the Ranger arrival) is entirely unnecessary since there has been no bloodshed or violence."

Carnejo this week accused Texas Ranger Capt. Alfred Allee of shoving him around. Allee said Carnejo was a liar. Carnejo fired off letters to President Kennedy and Gov. John Connally.

Latin-American Council
Voters recently elected Carnejo along with an all-Latin-American city council, the first time anyone other than Anglos have held office in Crystal City.

In another development, Mario Hernandez, one of the new city councilmen, criticized Carnejo and asked for special police protection.

Hernandez, 25, a real estate agent and father of five, said Carnejo was a "pawn of outside interests now attempting to gain control of Crystal City."

He charged that Albert Fuentes Jr., state executive secretary for the Political Association of Spanish Speaking Organizations (PASO) and Teamsters Union organizer Ray Schaefer were the two men "calling the shots in Crystal City."

Claims Running Town
He said "they promised to leave us alone when we won the election, but they are running the town."

Claro Carreon, chairman of a splinter group of PASO, yesterday demanded Fuentes' resignation. He charged Fuentes with inciting "a state of near violence" in the city.

He said a motion demanding his ouster will be brought before the PASO state convention in San Antonio next month.

The town's Anglo city marshal and city manager James Dill have resigned since the new Latin-American council took office and been replaced with Latins.

Mideast Experts Uneasy Because Of 'No Policy'

By K. C. THALER
United Press International
LONDON (UPI)—Mideast experts are uneasy about the absence of an agreed Anglo-American policy for the Middle East. Some fear a sudden crisis may find the allies unprepared to deal with an emergency.

London and Washington are, according to government spokesmen, in constant contact on the situation in the explosive area. But to all appearances there is no concerted contingency plan for any immediate intervention if fighting were to break out in the Middle East.

The old tripartite declaration, drawn up by the United States, Britain and France guaranteeing the status quo in the Middle East between the Arabs and Israel has all but petered out in the wake of the Anglo-French Suez war in 1956.

Go Independent Ways
It has not been replaced by any new formal alignment and British and American policies have gone independent ways.

Some Mideast experts feel the time has come for fresh co-ordination of Allied policies in the light of threatening upheaval in the area.

The uneasy balance of power is seen threatened by the Arab unification move of Egypt, Syria and Iraq.

The projected Arab alignment provides for the unification of military commands which would unite the Russian-equipped Egyptians and Syrian armies with the British-trained Iraqi army and air force.

While Israel is held still to have the military edge over the Arabs the power balance is nevertheless seen to be shifting.

Britain and the United States appear here at odds on the evaluation of Mideast developments and some criticism has been leveled here against growing American support lately for President Abdel Gamal Nasser.

While Britain agrees with the United States that Nasser may provide a barrier against Communist penetration of the Middle East, the scope of American assistance is considered by some critics as over-large.

The scope of British Mideast policy, it is being pointed out, has been reduced considerably since Suez. Britain therefore is taking a back seat of necessity.

Against this background and in the light of the fast changing scene in the area British policy makers say they shy away from long-term commitments.

Winter Dips Back Into South, Midwest

By United Press International
Frost and freezing temperatures dipped into Tennessee and the brought sunny weather to most of the nation.

Spring crops in the Midwest and Ohio Valley were tested by the unseasonable temperature. Record cold covered the area Wednesday.

The cold weather forced enlisted men of the U.S. 3rd Naval District back into their winter blues today. The order affects all military installations along the Virginia coast. Navy men had been wearing summer whites since Monday.

The Weather Bureau reported a tornado and heavy thunderstorms but no damage or injuries were recorded.

A deep storm over south central Canada pulled warm air up the center of the country Wednesday, sending temperatures into the 70s from the Dakotas to Wisconsin.

But low temperature marks for May Day were shattered in many cities.

A 29-degree low at Indianapolis was the coldest May 1 recorded in 92 years of statistics and tied all existing cold marks for the entire month of May.

Evansville, Ind., had a 27 degree reading, new low for the date, new record for the month and coldest reading so late in the spring.

Other marks were set at Fort Wayne, Ind., Louisville, Ky., Milwaukee, Wis., St. Louis, Topeka, Kan.; Cincinnati, Nashville, Tenn.; and Flint, Mich.

LA Angels Beat Yanks, Red Rally Stops Braves

Bo Belinsky Takes First Win Over NY

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

Bo Belinsky beat the Yankees, so don't bother asking if he also managed to beat the carlew.

Bo had every right in the world to celebrate Wednesday night and even Manager Bill Rigney wouldn't deny him it.

The irrepressible 26-year-old southpaw not only defeated the Yankees for the first time in his first game of the season by pitching the Los Angeles Angels to a 3-1 victory.

Maybe you think of Bo wasn't happy in the clubhouse. He was so elated he wanted to buy champagne for the gang.

Belinsky, who had lost his first three games, really had it Wednesday night.

He held the Yankees hitless until Roger Maris singled with one out in the sixth, then pitched his way out of a ninth inning jam by getting pinch hitter Jack Reed on a grounder for the final out.

Allows Four Hits

Bo allowed only four hits, struck out nine, and was staked to a quick lead when George Thomas clipped loser Ralph Terry for a grand-slam homer in the first inning. Driven to the showers in that 29-minute first inning, Terry suffered his second loss against three victories.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Kansas City A's clung to first place with an 11-3 triumph over the Cleveland Indians, the Chicago White Sox swept a pair from the Baltimore Orioles, 7-0 and 6-4, the Boston Red Sox mauled the Minnesota Twins, 14-5, and the Washington Senators defeated the Detroit Tigers, 4-1.

Pena Wins Fourth

Orlando Pena of the A's won his fourth straight without a loss by limiting the Indians to four hits and striking out nine. John Romano's eighth inning homer ended Pena's string of 17 straight scoreless innings and Joe Adcock also homered for the Tribe in the ninth. Wayne Causey, the league leading hitter, had a homer and two singles for KC.

Jim Landis tripled and homered off Oriole loser Mike McCormick and Ray Herbert hurled a four-hitter in the White Sox' opening game victory, after which Joel Horlen earned Chicago a sweep in the nightcap with late-inning help from former Oriole Hoyt Wilhelm.

Players traded by the Orioles to the White Sox during the off season figured in both victories. Ron Hansen had a triple, double and a single during the two-nighter; Pete Ward drove in two runs in the opener and another in the nightcap, and Dave Nicholson collected four hits. Wilhelm limited Baltimore to one hit over the last 2-2-3 innings of the finale.

Ed Bressoud and Chuck Schilling each homered in the Red Sox' 16-hit onslaught against the Twins. Schilling had four of Boston's hits while Carl Yastrzemski and Dick Stuart had three apiece. Earl Wilson (2-2) was the winning pitcher and Jack Kralick (1-4) the loser.

Amazing Tom Cheney posted his fourth victory in a row without a loss for the Senators but yielded his first earned run of the season in the sixth inning when Gus Triandos doubled home the Tigers' only run of the game.

Cheney struck out 12 batters and allowed seven hits. Don Lepert homered off loser Hank Aguirre (3-2) and then drove in the winning run in the seventh with a wrong field double.

Jerry Lynch Hits 13th Pinch Homer

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

Jerry Lynch, baseball's highest-priced pinch hitter, operates on the theory of all or nothing at all.

That's the way he dickers at contract time and that's the manner he goes up to hit when Manager Fred Hutchinson tells him to grab a bat.

Always looking to "rip one downtown," Lynch did Wednesday night when he blasted the 13th pinch homer of his career to power the Cincinnati Reds to a come-from-behind 4-3 victory over the Milwaukee Braves.

The greying 32-year-old Lynch, who draws an estimated salary of $25,000 a year, now needs only one more pinch homer to tie the major league record of 14 held by George Crowe.

Has Two Hits

Lynch's homer off loser Lew Burdette with rookie Tom Harper on base in the seventh inning was only his second hit of the season in 10 times up. His only other hit also was a pinch homer that helped the Reds beat the San Francisco Giants, 7-4, on April 22.

Southpaw Jim O'Toole was the beneficiary of both blows, being the winner in the game against the Giants and again in Wednesday night's contest. O'Toole, now 5-1, gave up nine hits to the Braves before Lynch hit for him in the seventh. Al Worthington then wrapped it up by retiring the last six batters in order.

San Francisco snapped Pittsburgh's four-game winning streak, 5-1, and the Chicago Cubs came out of their batting slump with a 9-7 hit 13-8 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

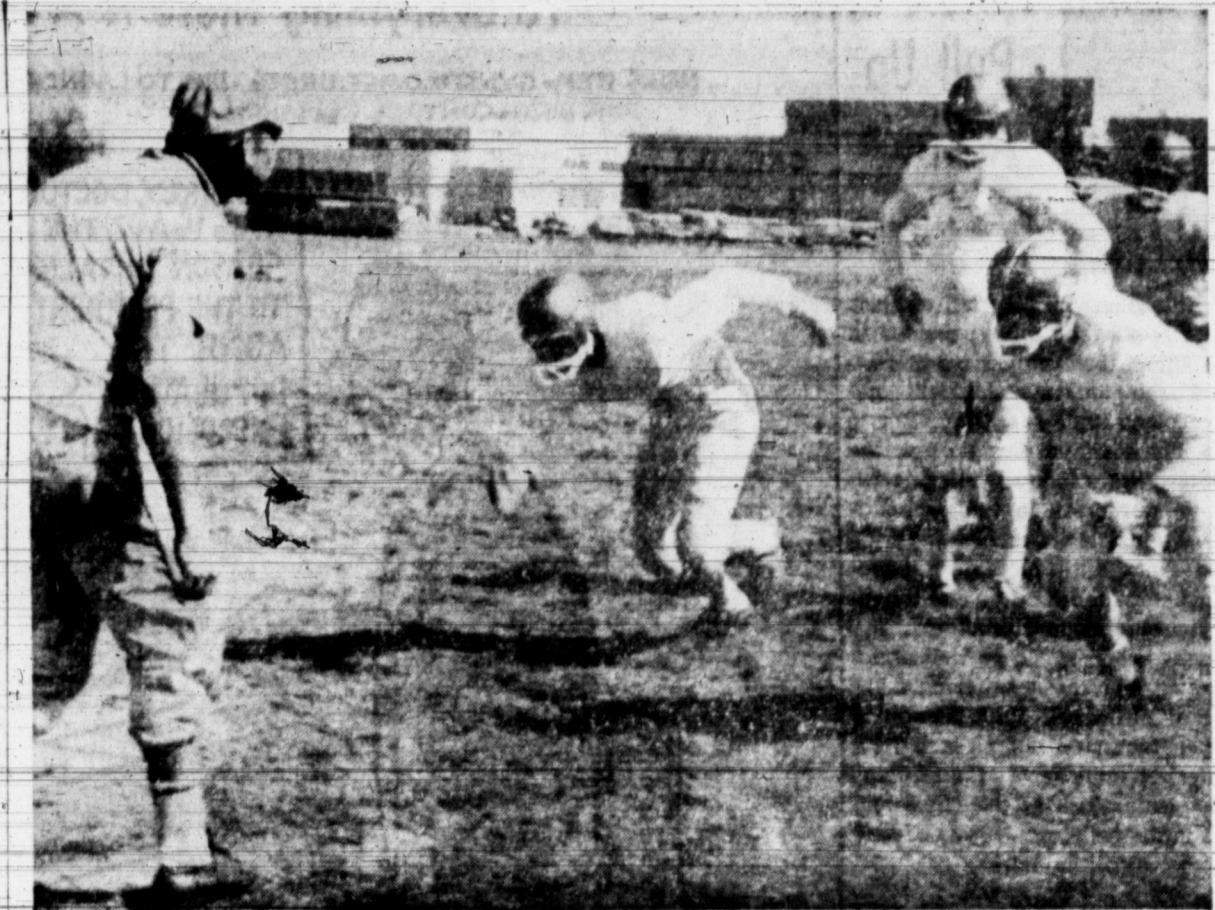

Rain washed out the game between the Los Angeles Dodgers and the Philadelphia Phillies and also postponed the Houston-Colts New York Mets game with the Colts leading, 1-0, after three innings.

Jack Sanford posted his fourth victory of the season for the Giants with a seven-hit over the Pirates. Bob Friend, victim of a three-run rally in the fourth, suffered his first loss after three victories. Willie McCovey drove in two runs with three of the Giants' 12 hits.

Ernie Banks blasted two three-run homers and drove in seven runs in all as the Cubs ended the Cardinals' four-game winning streak with a 17-hit barrage. Homers accounted for 11 of the Cubs' 13 runs, with Nellie Mathews, Dick Bertell and Kenzie Hubbs feaching the seats as well as Banks. Jim Brewer, fifth of six Cub pitchers, was credited with the victory while Harry Fanok was the loser.

Queens Tryouts

The Pampa Queens womens softball team will hold tryouts tonight and next week at 7:30 p.m. at the North Hobart park. All girls and women from 13 years old and up are eligible to play.

HARDER, HARDER! . . . urges line coach Norm Phillips as Drew Harvey and John Neslage come driving through in a spring training drill, while other Pampa tacklers wait their turn. Coach Otis Holladay and staff again expressed themselves as highly pleased with the way the team is shaping up, especially the work of some of the sophomores who may be giving the upperclassmen a battle for their jobs this Fall. Arnold Palmer, Nicklaus Against Field (As Usual)

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — It's defending champion Arnold Palmer and National Open and Masters king Jack Nicklaus against the star-packed field today as the first round of play gets under way in the $60,000 Tournament of Champions.

The crack group of 27 starts teeing off at 9 a.m. EDT at the Desert Inn Country Club course.

Palmer and Nicklaus, golf's one-two punch, are rated 4-1 favorites to capture the $13,000 first place jackpot. Billy Casper, Tony Lama and Gary Player are next in line at 6-1. Doug Sanders is rated at 10-1 and Gene Littler, who has won this coveted crown three times already in its 10-year history, is 12-1.

Course Is Easier

The course is supposed to play easier this year because the rough isn't as deep as usual due to frost. But the temperature has been up around the 85-90 mark for the past four days.

"That rough must have grown six inches in some places," said Billy Maxwell, a 20-1 shot.

None of the golfers has been able to do much with shattering par 72. Nicklaus and Palmer played a practice round Wednesday with Bo Winger and Bill Collins. Nicklaus and Collins had an "unofficial" meeting on Saturday to discuss future relations with the Colonial. The Colonial has indicated it's willing to back track and has told the PGA it could invite January to participate if it wishes.

But something of a boxout may come if the Colonial is kept on the "unofficial" status. Nicklaus, Lama and Doug Ford have announced they won't compete there unless it is an "official" tournament, where the money counts in the standings and there are points for the Ryder Cup and the Vardon Trophy.

Most of the others, including Palmer, say they expect to play in the Colonial regardless of the outcome of the Saturday meeting.

Had Levelled Criticism

January, while a member of the PGA tournament committee, had criticized the way the tournament was being handled.

Jim Gaglian, PGA tournament director, announced that the PGA tournament committee would hold

Americans Pile Up Wins in Pan Am

SAO PAULO, Brazil (UPI) — United States athletes, pausing only briefly to cheer spectacular upset victories in the 10,000-meter run and the decathlon, expect today to win Pan American gold medals in the pentathlon and fencing in addition to setting up a triumph in basketball.

With 76 gold medals already accumulated, Uncle Sam's athletes are a good bet to equal or surpass the Pan American record of 120 gold medals won at Chicago four years ago.

Rest Two Days

He'll rest for 48 hours and then compete in another event Saturday—the marathon.

Martin, a 6-foot, 4-inch, 200-pound teacher and former holder of the world pole vault record, won three of Wednesday's final five events in the decathlon to take the gold medal that earns him recognition as the best all-around athlete of the games.

Martin, in last place after Tuesday's first two events, won the 110-meter hurdles, the discus throw and the pole vault in succession and then finished third in the javelin and the 1500-meter run to finish with a Pan Am record of 7,325 points.

The crucial event was the pole vault in which Martin soared 14 feet, 11 1/2 inches to collect 1,122 points in one package. His 116 event point total broke the mark of 7,234 set by Dave Edstrom of the U.S. in 1959.

Vivian Brown Wins

Vivian Brown of Cleveland won the 200-meter women's run in 23.9 seconds. Army Pvt. Michael Desario of Brooklyn led a 1-2-3 American medal sweep in men's individual sabers, and Doris Fuchs of Rochester, N.Y., paced the U.S. to two gold medals in gymnastics. Miss Fuchs won the individual all-around gymnastics event with 77.21 points and thus led the U.S. team to the title with 383.18 points with Canada second at 375.67 and Cuba third at 345.87.

The U.S. picked up its seventh and eighth gold medals of the day-long competition when yachting judges, figuring out competition that ended Tuesday, announced victories in the lightning and star classes.

DOES MUD make you angry? Do roiled waters send you scurrying for home, blaming the elements for a ruined fishing trip? If so, you're missing out on a lot of potential action. For the fishing practitioners, say the waters are high and the color of a tea soup, aquatic creatures, such as perch, are easy to see and catch from visual control to "instruments" and carry on like usual.

The instruments in question are simply organs of smell and hearing, the senses that are just as important as sight to a fish's well-being. With visibility reduced, they'll carry the load.

BAIL IS the tried and proven prescription for curing the disabilities of mud blindness. Most any bait that gives off a tantalizing aroma will penetrate the visual barrier to entice any hungry fish within range.

The other sense, hearing, can be just as useful to the man who isn't appalled by silt and debris laden waters. He knows, for instance, that much of the success of night fishing depends on the fish's response to sounds. And the proof lies in the fact that the best lure on a black night is usually black.

SO IF you don't have a supply of bait handy, break out the noise-making underwater plug in your tackle box. Shapes or patterns are of secondary importance. The lure can be either a vibrating type or have spinners. If the fish are in a mind for feeding, they'll come a-runnin' like kids after the ice cream wagon on a hot summer afternoon.

Any fisherman can learn to live with mud and catch fish. The fish don't go "home," why should you?

WASHINGTON TRAINING SITE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Washington Redskins of the National Football League will open their pre-season training camp at Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pa., July 25. The Redskins have trained at Occidental College in Los Angeles the last 17 years.

WILLIE SHOEMAKER, who won the Kentucky Derby in 1955 with Swaps and in 1959 with Tommy Lee, rides Candy Spots, unbeaten in six races. But Shoemaker also pulled one of the biggest boners in sports when he misjudged Gallant Man and was rolled out by Iron Liege.

Ycaza an Never Bend

Manny Ycaza, one of the most talented of current jockeys, rides Never Bend, while Johnny Rotz, who has won just about all the stakes in New York this season, rides No Robbery. Neither ever has won the Kentucky Derby.

Other riding assignments put Ismael Valenzuela on Bonjour, Braulio Baeta on Chateaugay, Paul Frey on On My Honor, Avellino Gomez on Gray Pet, Gil Hernandez on Royal Tower, Frank Callico on Investor and Larney Hansman on Book Full if he does start in the Kentucky Derby.

The horses all were reported in tip-top condition for the racing classic and Stephens spoke for all the trainers when he said: "We are at the point of no return. It's everybody take their best hold and away we go."

No Robbery, Candy Spots Derby Choices

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — The closest guarded secrets at Churchill Downs today were the battle plans mapped out by trainers for Saturday's running of the $125,000 added Kentucky Derby.

The trainers will talk of their hopes and fears, the condition of their horses, how the animals can handle muddy or fast tracks and the trials and tribulations encountered in getting the horses to the post for America's greatest horse race.

But you couldn't torture out of them the instructions they intend to give the jockeys in the paddock prior to the 85th running of the Kentucky Derby.

"Are you going to let him run in front, come from behind or what?" innocently asked one reporter of Woddy Stephens, who trains Cam Hoy Stable's Never Bend.

Stephens just grinned. Then he said: "I wouldn't even tell that to my wife."

Past Races Set Pattern

The pattern of racing to be expected of starters in the probable field of nine, with the possibility that a tenth will join them when the entries close today, is indicated by past races.

This Greenree Stable's No Robbery, which never has been worse than second at any stage of its races and usually goes to the front at the start, is most likely to set the pace in the Kentucky Derby.

That was the way Greenree Stable's son-of-Swaps won the Wood-Memorial two weeks ago for his fifth victory without defeat.

Trainer John Gaver, however, insists that No Robbery does not have to go to the front at the start.

"This horse can be rated," he said. "But of course I wouldn't want the jockey to fight him if he insists on having his own way," he added.

No Robbery, wearing blinkers to keep him from running wide on the turns, also will be equipped with a special bit designed to hold down his tongue.

Hates Tongue Straps

"I hate tongue straps," said the man who saddled Shut Out for his Kentucky Derby victory in 1942. "If a horse will stand for this equipment I prefer to use it."

Other starters with a high turn of speed include favored Candy Spots, Never Bend, Bonjour, Chateaugay and Gray Pet. They can be expected to be close to the pace-maker.

On the other hand, On My Honor and Royal Tower strictly are stretch-runners.

Thus far this year Investor has not run very much at any stage of his races, while Book Full, the possible runner, went to the front early in the only race he won in four starts.

The best laid riding plans, however, often go astray and the jockeys are on their own once a race is under way.

Willie Shoemaker, who won the Kentucky Derby in 1955 with Swaps and in 1959 with Tommy Lee, rides Candy Spots, unbeaten in six races. But Shoemaker also pulled one of the biggest boners in sports when he misjudged Gallant Man and was rolled out by Iron Liege.

PGA Calls Session on Colonial Golf

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — The tournament committee of the PGA called an "unofficial" session Saturday to discuss its lingering problems with next week's Colonial Golf Tournament at Fort Worth, Jim Gaglian, PGA tournament director, said that several members of the committee would meet to consider what could be done about healing the breach with Colonial sponsors that erupted when Don January criticized the way the tournament was handled.

January, one of the country's outstanding pros and a big money winner every year, was not invited to compete in the tourney this year—presumably as a result of his remarks.

Since then, the tournament sponsors have relented and said January can play if the PGA wants to invite him.

"But I definitely won't be at the meeting," said January. "And I won't have any statement to make until after I hear what the committee has decided."

Meanwhile, the Colonial faced the possibility of at least a partial boycott. The PGA, after the January incident, made the Colonial an "unofficial" event—with the money offered not counting in the official standings.

If it stays on the "unofficial" list, National Open Champion Jack Nicklaus, Tony Lama and Doug Ford say they won't go there to play. Several others have indicated they'll take the "wait and see" attitude.

However, Arnold Palmer, Jacky Cupit and Al Gebberger said they planned to play no matter which way the decision went.

Ron Fisher Advances in Naples Tennis

NAPLES, Italy (UPI) — Ronnie Fisher of Houston, Tex., advanced to the third round of the men's singles in the Naples International Tennis Tournament with a 6-2, 8-6 victory over Sergio Jacobini of Italy Wednesday. However, Ed Rubinoff of Miami Beach, Fla., lost to Bob Hewitt of Australia, 6-0, 6-2.

Tory Fretz of Harrisburg, Pa., won her second round match in the women's singles, beating Maria Luisa De Luca of Italy, 6-1, 6-2, and Carol Prozen defeated Italy's Maria Teresa Lazzarino on a forfeit. However, Judy Alvarez of Tampa, Fla., was eliminated by Australia's Leslie Turner, 6-3, 6-1.

Check Violence To Cure Crime

The prevalence of violent behavior in this country is seriously disturbing. Places once cherished for their wholesome innocence—the park, the zoo, the baseball park, the picnic ground—today are often the scenes of fighting, of unprovoked attack upon the young, the old, anybody at all.

In some cities, Easter Monday outbreaks have become so much a "tradition" that extra police were assigned to zoo areas. Despite the precautions, Baltimore's zoo this year saw a battle involving 2,000 young people. Two were stabbed.

Many major league baseball teams have long encouraged youngsters to attend ball games free. These "knobole gangs" were a feature even decades ago. But in Washington on a recent Saturday, 15 to 20-knobolers swarmed through the stadium—in vicious, random assaults on other youngsters. Hardly good clean fun.

When the attackers were apprehended, one schoolmaster said that to those youngsters "playing is fighting." It is frightening that violence is either above or just below the surface in so many human beings today—especially the young.

Of even more concern is the seeming half-acceptance of this in many quarters as apparently inevitable. The Baltimore authorities who commented on the zoo riot explained it by saying "there were thousands of people milling around with nothing to do." Obviously, fighting was the only answer.

Occasionally, men in high places rationalize rising crime rates by noting the incidence of broken homes, joblessness, school dropouts in the affected areas. They stop just short of phrasing the question: "Wouldn't you steal under these circumstances?" Even if you should improperly answer such a query with "yes," the related matter of accompanying violence is left unanswered.

What element of economic need compels a boy or man not merely to steal a woman's purse, but to knock her down and kick her senseless? Rationalizations of crime which ignore the violent aspect are the purest rubbish. The truth is, as some scientists pointed out in a recent national meeting, violence is frequently the key element in the crimes of this age.

Scholars in human behavior may argue that violent instincts exist within us all. But is not the great wonder of man supposed to be his supreme talent for putting himself under the disciplined control of his mind? The real root of the problem is that, more and more and more, self-control is neither taught nor practiced.

This is a time of indulgence, laxity and high disorder. Worst of all, there are far too many among us who neither revere order and discipline nor perhaps even understand what these are.

Words The Lord's Prayer has 36 words. Lincoln's Gettysburg Address has 206. The Ten Commandments have 297. The Declaration of Independence 300. A government order setting the price of cabbage has 28,911 words.

A Great Dilemma Writing in Fortune, Lawrence Lessing deals at length with the problem of regulating the production and sale of drugs. The substance of his findings is in his opening paragraph: "In the wake of the thalidomide tragedy that hit headlines last summer, with its pitiful legacy of deformed babies, the U.S. enacted a whole new set of laws and regulations for the stricter control of drugs. Whatever its other virtues and defects, this legislation is hardly likely by itself to avert the recurrence of such tragedies. And it may impose such costs and burdens on pharmaceutical companies as to slow down the development of life-prolonging new products. Indeed, no set of regulations can get around the great dilemma that confronts medical science, the industry, and government in the testing and introduction of new drugs. It is impossible to determine definitely whether a drug is free from harmful effects unless it is tried widely on humans—and that inevitably means risking lives."

This makes the present danger clear. With the best will in the world, we can go so far in drug regulation that we seriously hamper and even prevent the tests and experiments which are absolutely essential to new developments. Had extreme regulations been in effect in the past, it is safe to say, numbers of valuable drugs now prescribed would not exist. And this is a great matter indeed. According to Mr. Lessing, about 90 per cent of all the prescriptions today are from drugs that were unknown to therapeutics some 15 years ago. He adds, "Formerly the pharmaceutical industry made only what the doctor prescribed; now the doctor prescribes what the industry makes."

There must be rules and regulations—a statement which the ethical drug companies completely agree with. But every care must be taken to see that they are not of a nature that will slow and perhaps stop the clock of progress.

Pull Up A Chair

Californians proudly tell us their State is now the most populous in the Union, but the Census Bureau at Washington says that will not take place until next July. But in one classification they do top the Empire State today by having over 40 murderers in the penitentiary against eight in New York's Sing Sing. With increasing population came more crime and tougher law enforcement problems. The prisons are crowded as well as institutions for those suffering from mental disorders. Slum clearance is being carried out on a huge scale but millions of Californians today only work in the cities and live in the bedroom-towns beyond the metropolitan limits.

In the Santa Clara Valley, near San Jose is Dick's Dragon Restaurant, the largest Chinese eating establishment outside of the Orient. Diners have the option of eating in several beautiful rooms or outside in a rock garden filled with colorful flowers and lights. The elaborate menu card, printed on parchment paper, costs $10 a copy. It's run by Die Tom Yee, known as the "Grocery King" of California, who also operates numerous other modern supermarket shopping centers. Most Chinese names fall into 400 categories and naturally all of them are found throughout the United States. The Smiths and Joneses of China are represented in this country by such common names as Lee, Chen, Chang and Tom.

The Grand Avenue district of San Francisco has the largest Chinese community outside of the Far East and is one of the "must" sights for visitors, because it is most picturesque. New York's Chinatown is really drab and run down by comparison.

Country Editor speaking: "They used to say that the average man worked until 11 a.m. for the tax collector, but I think today we can add another two hours." Nothing should be sneezed at, of course, but if you do sneeze, protect your family and neighbors with a handkerchief, because the moisture particles can travel at least 20 feet in a room. And a cough sprays the droplets from 12 to 15 feet. We received this information from Dr. Edward J. McCabe, an eminent New York physician. The names of old ships never die—they are passed on to new generations of passenger and freight liners. Canard tells us that new vessels now going into service carry the names of Media, Pathia, Carmania and Franconia, which have been known in the ports of the world for over 100 years.

Today's favorite gag: DINER—"Waiter, this is a rather smalt steak." WAITER—"Yes, sir, but you'll find it takes a long time to eat it." Allen-Scott Report

Proxmire and the High-Salaried Assistant—A Tale of 'Fiscal Responsibility' ROBERT ALLEN PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—Senator William Proxmire has been strikingly demonstrating an old occupational failing of politicians—preaching one thing and doing the reverse. While declaiming often and at length about economizing, fiscal responsibility (a favorite expression) and the need to balance the federal budget, the Wisconsin liberal Democrat, until Monday, had a strangely high-salaried employee on the government payroll.

The highest-paid assistant on a Proxmire's senatorial payroll was a full-time University of Wisconsin graduate student seeking a doctorate in English. This was Frank J. Campenni, 33, who was getting $14,596 as "legislative assistant," although he does not live in Washington and hadn't done a lick of work in Proxmire's office.

Proxmire's explanation for this extraordinary situation was that Campenni was laboring mightily arranging meetings between Wisconsin businessmen and Defense officials handling contracts. Proxmire solemnly averred he was highly satisfied with Campenni's efforts, claiming the latter was putting in at least 50 hours a week working for the government while carrying a full load as a graduate student at the university.

No details are available on exactly how Campenni, father of four, was performing this remarkable feat. But after this column started working on the story, the Senator's office got wind of the columnist's interest and Mrs. Proxmire called Bob Allen. He indicated he was interested in how Campenni was earning his high salary while also carrying his heavy study load, and she responded that the legislative assistant was putting in at least 50 hours weekly on valuable contact work.

Tuesday morning Senator Proxmire issued a statement saying that Campenni was being taken off his payroll as of Monday, April 22, and that he had paid back the government upwards of $9,000, all that Campenni had received from the government, Campenni, he said, will return to his employer after he is out of graduate school.

A curious item is an unpaid $500 no-interest student loan Campenni obtained from the university last August. In December this debt was extended to July 1, with interest at 8 per cent.

MORE MYSTERIES—How and why Campenni was originally hired by Proxmire as his highest-paid senatorial employee is a mystery. Previously he had been fired as $10,400-a-year research assistant on the staff of Milwaukee Mayor Henry Maier. This occurred several months after it was disclosed that Campenni had failed to file state and federal income tax returns for 1959 and 1960.

Shortly after this was revealed, he settled these tax claims. When Maier was asked if Campenni's tax difficulties were responsible for his dismissal, he replied, "No comment." Soon thereafter, Campenni resumed his job as instructor at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee from which he had been on leave.

As a $14,596 senatorial "legislative assistant" doing full-time graduate student work at the University of Wisconsin, Campenni was being paid about $1,000 a year more than the average full-professor there. With fringe benefits, their average is $13,338.

Associate professors average $9,922; assistant professors $8,331; instructors $6,644. Proxmire is noted in the Senate for his incessant talking—at a cost to taxpayers of $91 a page in the Congressional Record. It's a rare day in the Senate that the Wisconsinite is not on his feet, often a half-dozen times, pouring out rhetoric on just about everything and anything. His favorite topic is what he sonorously labels "fiscal responsibility." While never overlooking an opportunity to garner federal funds for Wisconsin, Proxmire is never at loss for breath to orate about the need for economy and balancing the budget.

Last year, he handily won a press gallery vote as the Senator who talked most and said the least. This session it's virtually a cinch he will retain this dubious title as he already has a runaway lead on his colleagues. UPSETTING UDALL—The State Department is going to continue handling cultural and scientific exchanges with Russia. A backstage attempt by Interior Secretary Stewart Udall to move into that field has been sharply blocked by Secretary Dean Rusk. Significantly, he was backed on that by the White House—which on other occasions has not been averse to taking over prerogatives of Rusk.

'EXPERTS'

Trying to Disprove Boom in Silver

By GEORGE BOARDMAN, Ph. D.

Fifty years ago an expert was usually a man or woman who had managed to acquire a rather respectable knowledge in connection with products or ideas or activities. In many instances they also became more than adequately proficient in the field which held their interest. Fortunately, a few experts are still living today, for instance, Racey Jordan can tell you a few things about gold, and Willis E. Stone has studied and investigated the evils and evil results of income taxes until he wonders why everyone is not equally concerned. There are many other experts, in many fields, but we have been bombarded by opinions expressed by inexperienced self-styled experts for the past two or three decades. This particular form of expertise is designed to act as an opinion former. One of the self-styled experts tells us we will act or react in a certain manner and hopes we will so act or react because of our reactions to his experting.

In 1940 I took a rather long look at the silver situation and discussed my opinions in a column. Shortly thereafter, I received a dozen or more critical comments in letters written by self-styled experts. After they acquired a scolding habit by jumping on me they continued scolding the population generally. A few of the more kindly experts decided to further my knowledge and sent me reams of facts and figures which proved I didn't know what I was writing about but among the facts and figures I discovered a few odd items which verified my own conclusions. Late in 1961, a propaganda drive began to take shape. One "expert" proclaimed that he believed in gold as a precious metal stemmed from ancient superstition and ignorance. He included silver in his theme and professed his own willingness to accept scrip as a medium for exchange. By the summer of 1962, other "experts" were trying to explain why silver certificates were being replaced by Federal Reserve Notes and used this statement to prove the expertness. "This will have no effect upon the average man on the street who will realize that his silver certificate or his heavy, clumsy silver dollar are worth just as much as the new Federal Reserve Notes and that he will receive full value in the exchange."

For a few days after seeing this bit of experting in public print, I waited for the storm of protest but nothing happened. The propaganda mill was successful—the man on the street had shown a willingness to exchange a paper dollar backed by a silver reserve, or a silver dollar which contained a bit in value, for a piece of paper, the worth of which would depend upon nothing but a superstitious and unthinking faith in government.

Just recently a couple of "silver experts" in Nevada began a new line of experting. After a little digging (not for precious metal), I discovered the "experts" are government experts, that is public servants. They announce that a move is under way to remove the silver backing for one-dollar bills. They also announced their opinion that there will be no silver boom. Let's take a look at the facts:

The move to remove the silver backing for currency has been under way for many months. Banks have been forwarding silver certificates to Federal Reserve agencies in exchange for Federal Reserve notes. It is gradually becoming more difficult to obtain silver dollars in many areas and a few of the gambling establishments in Nevada are substituting chips for the familiar silver dollars. When the price of silver reaches $1.299 an ounce, it will be profitable to exchange paper dollars for silver dollars and the price of silver on the New York market recently hit $1.275, $1.278 on the London market. From here it appears that the experts protest too much, as they attempt to prevent a boom which already exists.

Since I am not an expert on the subject of silver, I would, today, buy silver dollars if I had some money with which to buy silver dollars. If I had any money of the paper or bank variety left over, I would be out looking for silver-producing properties to buy and would suddenly become aware of much quiet activity in the field of silver mining. I am an ignorant, superstitious savage, not an expert.

Good luck and good health to you, in Freedom.

Passman Shows Foreign Aid Fund Not Needed

By ED DELANEY

Despite the shadow-boxing of the Washington administration to give the appearance of consistency opposing the encroachment of Soviet and communist influence in various parts of the world, we are actually financing such operations by our so-called foreign-aid program. The foreign-aid or misnamed "Mutual Security" program is one of the major drains on the American taxpayer. President Kennedy and Dwight Eisenhower before him, were insistent on pyramiding the foreign aid budget into billions each year. It has actually become a subsidy for expanding and solidifying communist control in some parts of the world.

Rep. Otto Passman, (D. La.) chairman of the House Foreign Operations subcommittee on Appropriations stated that the Gallup Poll shows 58 per cent of our people as favoring their foreign aid give-away. The "Passman poll" he says, indicates 98 per cent of the people strongly oppose it. One is inclined to question the accuracy of those Gallup polls. How many of the readers have ever been queried on any national issue by a pollster of Gallup? But the constituents of Passman and of many other members of Congress are beginning to display righteous wrath at the manner in which the present and past administrations in Washington have furthered the international communist conspiracy by supplying them with funds to acquire military equipment which may be used against us at some time in the not too distant future. We have even supplied the actual war materials, to the extent of hundreds of millions, as in the case of Marshal Tito, of Yugoslavia.

Passman points out that there is no need for any foreign-aid appropriation this year. As of June 30, there will be on hand foreign-aid funds in excess of $7 billion. This, he asserts, is sufficient to meet every legal commitment we have in respect to foreign aid. But the President and his supporters in the squandering of the New frontier insist on more billions to be poured down the foreign-aid drain.

Our admitted public debt is now approximately $303½ billion. The combined public of all "free" countries in the world is about $201½ billion. Our national debt is approximately $24 billion more than the debts of all the free and communist countries of the world combined. Yet the spenders in Washington, with pressure from the White House, continue to urge that more and more be handed to countries that are ridden by Reds. Some, such as Indonesia got $771 million from us since 1949 and $1 billion from the Soviet Union. Smart fellow that Sukarno, president of Indonesia, The Dutch East Indies, as it was known before our State Department supported the communist-collaborating Sukarno and helped to oust the Dutch and establish the present regime, is fabulously rich in natural resources. The Dutch developed Java, Sumatra, the Celebes and part of Borneo making it the most productive of any colonies in that part of the world. Having spent many weeks in those colonies when maintained by the Dutch, I can attest to their efficient administration. There was no political problem until the communist canaille got a foothold there following World War II. They were aided by our "experts" in the State Department. Now Indonesia, with Sukarno as head pooh-bah, is in financial difficulties but in the waiting line at the White House for more foreign aid.

We financed Tito of Yugoslavia to the tune of some $2 billion or more and even permitted officers of that communist country's army to attend our U.S. Army's General Staff School at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan. At about the same time, Yugoslavia was furnishing strategic materials to Russia. More recently we were training their fighter pilots in this country, after supplying Yugoslavia with jet fighter planes.

Our manner of combatting the communist menace becomes more curious each week. We finance communist-controlled countries so they can continue to hold millions of people in virtual slavery. At the same time we prate of our sympathy for the people in those captive nations.

In 1933, Adolf Hitler abolished labor unions throughout Germany and created a so-called "Labor Front" to control all German workers. In 1945, the Allies announced the unconditional surrender of Nazi troops in Italy and southern and western Austria. deems it very likely that Henry Ford II may oppose Senator Philip Hart, D-Mich. Ford has given no indication that he will run. Newly-named Commerce Undersecretary Franklin Roosevelt Jr. will shortly embark on an extensive tour of unemployment areas for the avowed purpose of studying this persistent problem first-hand.

... AND THE BAND PLAYED ON—The music of this Swiss Army band goes 'round and 'round in its Berne, Switzerland, outdoor concert despite the fact that a drummer has collapsed in the hot sun. The drums were at rest during this passage, giving one of the bandmen a chance to loosen the collapsed soldier's garments in an effort to make him as comfortable as possible, pending end of the number and arrival of first aid.

APPROVE NOMINATIONS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee Tuesday approved the nomination of Chester A. Bowles to be ambassador to India. It now goes to the Senate.

The committee also approved after brief hearings the nomination of E. Allan Lighner Jr., a career diplomat, to be ambassador to Libya, and retired Adm. Jerauld Wright to be ambassador to Nationalist China.

Religious Editor Says

Protestants and Catholics Need Birth Control Truce

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

The time has come for Protestants and Catholics to declare a truce in their rancorous quarrel over birth control. If they will do so, new methods of fertility regulation can be developed — perhaps "within a remarkably short period of time" — which will be safe, effective and morally acceptable to all religious groups.

So says Dr. John Rock, a man who has unique credentials for speaking on this subject. Dr. Rock is a Harvard University scientist who is world famous for his pioneering research in human reproduction. He is co-developer of the oral contraceptive pill. He also is a devoted member of the Roman Catholic Church.

Writes Book
He has written a book, entitled "The Time Has Come," (Knopf, $3.95), which ought to be read and pondered by every church leader, politician and plain citizen who is concerned about the problem of limiting population growth.

Dr. Rock says that Protestants and Catholics are now in "substantial agreement" about the objectives of family planning, and differ mainly about the methods which may be employed. Most Protestant bodies endorse the use of any medically approved contraceptive technique, but the Catholic Church condones only the so-called rhythm or "safe period" method.

Quotes In The News

By United Press International
ALBANY, N.Y. — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, after parrying questions from newsmen as to whether he plans to marry Mrs. Margaretta Fittler Murphy: "Can't we change to a more productive line of questioning?"

FREDERICKSBURG, Va. — Lawrence G. Hoes, president of the James Monroe Memorial Foundation, after telling Soviet diplomat Ignor Kolosovsky that the Monroe Doctrine had forced Russian missiles out of Cuba: "He (Kolosovsky) sort of recoiled as if I'd socked him."

WASHINGTON — Rep. Roman Pucinski, D-Ill., who interprets the New Hampshire lottery bill as starting a nation-wide trend: "Just imagine what fun this country could have waiting to hear who will be the nation's newest millionaire every 90 days."

ATLANTA — Jimmy Alexander Hood, a Negro, who will attempt to break the racial barrier at the Alabama State University in Tuscaloosa: "I feel there should be no need for a student, regardless of race, to leave Alabama to get a top education."

HAD ENOUGH
PROVIDENCE, R. I. (UPI) — David C. Sutherland, who began driving 60 years ago, surrendered his driver's license after being fined $3 for going through a stop sign. He is 97.

NOW YOU KNOW
By United Press International
About 4 per cent of all life insurance death payments in 1962 resulted from automobile fatalities, according to the Institute of Life Insurance.

Since this dispute is tied up with differing views of "natural law," Dr. Rock sees little hope of resolving it "within the limits of the family planning methods now available."

News Approaches Needed
"I envisage the eventual resolution of doctrinal differences only after the expansion of the argumentarium of birth control," he says. "This will include not merely refinements of current methods but also entirely new approaches which will fit into normal reproductive physiology."

Given an adequate research program, he says, "it is not unrealistic" to anticipate that science can come up with a variety of entirely new birth control techniques, far better, cheaper and more effective than those which are now most widely used (and which date back to the 19th century or earlier.)

Among these new techniques, he is confident, "will be effective methods which all religious groups can accept."

Take The Lead
"Since the Catholic Church is widely thought to bear special responsibility for the terror which grips politicians' hearts whenever birth control research is mentioned, Dr. Rock believes it would be "most appropriate" for Catholics to take the lead in achieving a religious truce on this subject.

"A public policy of tolerance can be evolved which will respect the deeply held convictions of all Americans and help to eliminate much of the animosity and rancor which this conflict has generated," he says.

"Such a policy, by freeing our medical research establishment for a concerted effort in fertility control, offers the only practical road to a solution of both the doctrinal differences between Catholics and non-Catholics on family planning methods, and the world's population explosion."

WATCHING HIS BABY—Sidewalk superintendent in the too-tight raincoat, too-big rubbers is Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Anthony J. Celebrezze. He's watching the construction of Erieview, multimillion-dollar downtown Cleveland, Ohio, development, begun under Celebrezze's administration when he was the city's mayor.
