Burris of Houston, center, executive vice president of the Texas Manufacturers' Assn., the effect on business and industry of bills now pending before the Texas legislature. TMA Speaker Says

Business Climate Must Be Appealing

Texas must have a business climate that appeals to manufacturers, Ed. Burris of Houston, executive vice president of the Texas Manufacturers' Assn., told his audience at a breakfast sponsored by the Legislative and National Affairs Committee of the Chamber of Commerce this morning in Coronado Inn.

"The business climate must appeal to manufacturers, not only from the industrial viewpoint," Burris said, "but also from the viewpoint of workers and employment."

Burris pointed out that Texas is dependent on three basic resources for its economic well-being. These three, he explained, are agriculture, mining and manufacturing.

To show the important role which manufacturing has taken in Texas in recent years, Burris said:

"Agriculture has been on the decline in our state since 1930. Mining, which in Texas is the oil and gas industry, has been on the decline since 1955. Only manufacturing has been increasing."

If Texas is to take the lead as a great manufacturing state, Burris declared, those who have the power to do so are going to have to make the business climate inviting to manufacturers who would like to locate in the state.

Burris also dwelt at some length on the necessity of having a healthy business climate for businesses and manufacturing concerns already located in Texas.

The speaker touched on bills now pending in the Texas legislature, including those having to do with unemployment compensation, workmen's compensation, and taxes.

Following his regular address, which also were the principals topics of discussion in a question and answer period. A great deal of interest was manifested in the unemployment and workmen's compensation legislation.

Burris said there are pending in the legislature 11 bills dealing with unemployment compensation which, if enacted, would eliminate abuses and save employers several million dollars each year.

Burris expressed the manufacturers' association opposition to the proposed extension of the Corporate 50-cent Temporary Franchise Surtax for one year, which would provide $11-million.

That bill, combined with Governor Connally's recommended revision of the State Sales Tax, would make available $34-million in new revenue.

"We now have a $2.25 per thousand and permanent franchise tax in Texas," Burris said. "This is the highest franchise tax in the United States and is collected from three sources — investor's money, or capital stock; the earned surplus of the company, and long-term debt of the company."

Burris said as recently as 1949 (See CLIMATE, Page 3)

Tornadoes Chew Through Midwest, Killing One

KANKAKEE, Ill. (UPI)—Killer tornadoes chewed a devastating path through the Midwest Wednesday, leaving a young mother dead and 70 persons injured.

A college campus was all but reduced to rubble.

In Indiana, two children were reported missing for a time in a small town where homes collapsed and survivors had to be dug out of the debris.

The five-story stone administration building of Olivet Nazarene College in the Kankakee suburb of Bourbonnais, was smashed by a twister spinning out of a line of thunderstorms west of here.

At least one student was hospitalized.

No Major Injuries

The college dining hall was damaged only 15 minutes before it was to be opened for the dinner period. School officials said it was "miraculous" there were no major injuries to the 1,000 students.

The tornado also destroyed the college's health offices, damaging the heating plant and gymnasium and toppled a smokestack.

Several students, and faculty members were injured before the twister moved on to damage the Bourbonnais village hall, tear up a trailer court and trigger a fire in an elementary school.

Msgr. DeFalco Named Bishop For Amarillo Diocese

Msgr. Lawrence DeFalco, pastor of St. Patrick Co. Cathedral in Fort Worth since January 1962, has been promoted to bishop for the Amarillo Diocese by Pope John XXIII.

The appointment was announced in Washington Wednesday by Archbishop Egidio Vagnozzi, apostolic delegate to the United States.

Announcement was made at the same time of the transfer of Bishop John L. Morkovsky of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Amarillo to the post of coadjutor in the Diocese of Galveston-Houston with the right of succession to Bishop Wendelin Nold there.

Monsignor DeFalco is a native of McKeesport, Pa., and received his training for the priesthood at St. John's Seminary in Little Rock, Ark.

His first service was as assistant to the late Msgr. Joseph G. O'Donohue.

Keating Says No Reduction Of Soviet Troops In Cuba

Group Pleas For Return To Sense

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — A civil rights state advisory committee said Wednesday there still was time for Mississippi to "return to common sense" on racial matters and avoid federal punishment but "the hour is very late."

The biracial advisory committee to the U. S. Civil Rights Commission said the federal government cannot ignore this state's "gross irresponsibility, not to say subversion" in refusing to insure Negro rights.

Two Schools Burglarized Wednesday

Two Pampa schools were burglarized last night, one to the tune of approximately $150 and the other for about $15.

Robert E. Lee Junior High school principal Jack Nichols reported to police this morning that the school vault had been broken into and more than $150 stored in metal boxes had been taken.

The burglar or burglars had entered by breaking a pane of glass in a northwest window, then broken the glass in the office window.

Using tools they had brought with them, the burglars cut a hole through the wall, then removed the mortar from around the bricks in the vault, making a hole through which they entered, according to officials.

They took the money stored in the various cash boxes, and apparently put it into one marked "cafeteria," which is also missing.

The burglars then took their tools, opened the principal's office window and left, officers theorized.

The other theft was reported by Sam Houston elementary school principal L. C. Davis.

In this case, the thieves had pried loose a pane in the cafeteria window, took approximately $10 in change from the principal's office, pried open a coke machine and about $2 more; and then some $3 in change when they pried open a cabinet in the cafeteria, police said.

Police chief Jim Conner said that although the two school burglaries had occurred on the same night, it could be coincidence.

"At Lee, the burglars knew what they were doing and what they were out for. At Houston, it could very possibly have been youngsters, since all they took was petty cash and made no attempt to take anything big."

Nearly 17,000 Men Estimated Remaining

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., said today "there has been no substantial reduction of Soviet military personnel in Cuba" since Russian missiles and bombers were removed last November.

"Several thousand personnel have left Cuba, several thousand have arrived," Keating said. He concluded that "there were and are in the neighborhood of 17,000 men there."

The senator made the statements in a speech prepared for delivery before the American Society of Newspaper Editors (ASNE). More than 500 editors from throughout the nation were on hand for the annual meeting.

Keating's figures conflicted with the last statement by President Kennedy on Soviet strength in Cuba. Kennedy gave figures at his news conference April 3 showing that there were roughly 12,000 to 13,000 Russian troops left on the island.

U.S. officials said later that the President's estimate took into account new Russian arrivals in Cuba as well as withdrawals of Soviet personnel.

Keating told the editors he understood "from naval personnel" that despite close surveillance of Cuban waters to prevent clandestine shipments of men and weapons, "some Navy ships have specific orders not to searchlight smaller vessels that are constantly moving in the Cuban and Caribbean waters at night."

"None of these ships are ever searched by U.S. patrols," he said. "How can we hope to get evidence of support of subversion if we don't investigate these small scale but very numerous operations? The only name I can think of for this policy is 'out of sight, out of mind.'"

Keating called for a "firm and realistic program" designed to get the Russians out of Cuba.

Steel Hikes May Pinch Americans' Pocketbooks

Steel users said today selective price increases by the nation's steel producers are likely to pinch family pocketbooks—a little.

One industry expert said most Americans wouldn't notice it unless they were told.

Retail prices might edge slightly upward, industry observers said in a United Press International survey.

But the cost to consumers was expected to be far below what it would have been had steel producers maintained their across-the-board price increases one year ago.

William Campbell, editor of Steel magazine, predicted "modest price increases," but said competition would be a sufficient damper to prevent drastic retail price boosts.

"I don't think there will be a great impact on the average consumer," Campbell said. "If the average American were not made aware of this I don't think he would know what was happening."

A Kansas City hardware executive said retail prices of "a pair of roller skates or a toaster" would go up only a few cents.

Detroit automotive sources predicted price tags on 1964 model cars would be boosted about 2 per cent. They said prices of 1963 models would not be affected.

In contrast, an appliance industry spokesman said the current round of steel price increases "will begin a price-wage spiral which will be reflected in the cost of all industries using steel."

Ross C. Siragusa, board chairman of Admiral Corp., said the appliance industry cannot absorb such cost increases and predicted "higher price tags on major appliances."

"They (the steel firms) call the prices selective," said Jack Meany, general manager of Thermador, an electric appliance manufacturer. "But they have selected one that affects appliances."

The steel hikes "could be a trigger which would increase announced prices," Meany said.

Woman Found Dead

Mrs. Sandra Rivard, 24, was found dead near the wreckage of her home north of Bradley, Ill. She clutched her injured baby in her arms.

The twister smashed eastward into Gifford, Ind., roaring "like a freight train." A state trooper said it left the town "handfuls of debris." At least 20 persons were hurt and 15 of them still were hospitalized today, two in critical condition.

"Barns and houses simply disappeared and were blown around," Chief Deputy Sheriff Bob Brooks said.

A twister caused an estimated $100,000 damage to a farm near Manchester, Ind., by demolishing a chicken shed and killing many of the 14,000 fowl in the structure.

Other tornadoes struck in Missouri and Michigan, and hail and high winds battered communities throughout the Midwest.

Turbulence Spawns Storm

By United Press International

A Pacific front cooled North Texas today. Weather turbulence spawned a violent spring storm Wednesday night at Wichita Falls and hail as big as baseballs pelted the area.

A large hailstone hit a highway patrolman on the head and knocked him down.

Temperatures were in the 50s in the Panhandle and far West Texas early today.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said the new air mass would bring cooler weather to Northwest Texas tonight and Friday, with other areas remaining hot.

Refugees Told Reds Profit

MIAMI (UPI) — A past president of Guatemala and a possible future president of Cuba warned Cuban refugee leader Jose Miro Cuban Wednesday night that the only people likely to profit from his feud with the U.S. government are Fidel Castro and his comrades in the Kremlin.

(The Costa Rican ambassador to the United States disclosed in Washington Wednesday that Miro has inquired about being able to take up permanent residence in the Central American nation. It was seen as a possible prelude to moving Cuban exile operations out of the United States.)

Guatemalan ex-President Miguel Ydigoras Fuentes, who was ousted and exiled by the army last month, urged Miro to drop plans to air his differences with the Kennedy administration at a meeting here tonight.

Plans Completed For Skelly Appreciation Day, April 25

Officials of the Skelly Oil Co. met with representatives of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon meeting yesterday at the Coronado Inn and completed plans for the "Skelly Appreciation Day" set for Thursday, April 25.

The Skelly group included H. H. Belew, vice president in charge of manufacturing; Tulsa, W. P. Whitmore, manager of production; Tulsa; Larry Newgaard, sales and promotion manager, Kansas City; and Merle Blakely, public relations coordinator, Tulsa.

Belew thanked the Chamber for their interest in Skelly Oil Co. and their employees, and "offered his company's services in completing arrangements for the special day."

The Skelly Appreciation Day program will include:

A general monthly Chamber membership luncheon at the Coronado Inn honoring Skelly officials and their wives. The Pampa Lions Club will hold their regular meeting in conjunction with the luncheon. C of C members wishing to attend are asked to make their reservations as soon as possible due to the limited capacity.

Immediately following the luncheon the public is invited to join in a tour of the Skelly Co.'s Kingsmill plant.

Gooding Child Dies Suddenly; Services Friday

Funeral rites for Christopher Casey Gooding, six-months-old son of Captain and Mrs. Ronald S. Gooding of Durham, N.C., will be held at 10:30 a.m. Friday in St. Matthews Episcopal Church with Fr. William E. West, rector, officiating.

The infant died unexpectedly at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday in Worley Hospital after a brief illness.

Mrs. Gooding and her family were visiting here during the Easter holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Carter, north of the city and with her grandparents, Mrs. Inez Carter and Mrs. Lulu Casey.

Christopher is also survived by a sister, Mary Ellen, one brother, Carter and grandmother, Mrs. Mary Ellen Gooding of Tucson, Ariz.

Interment will be in Fairview Cemetery under the direction of Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home.

Palbearers will be David Fatheree, Pat O'Connor, Charles Cook and Buster Carter.

The family requests that any memorials may be sent to a favored charity.

Youth Injured In Bike Mishap

Johnny Isbell, 17, of 204 S. Nelson, was treated and released at Highland General Hospital yesterday after a motor bike on which he had been riding was involved in an accident and fell over on his left leg.

The accident occurred at 4:15 p.m. at the intersection of Zimmers and Lincoln, between the bike, driven by Jimmy Andrews Johnson, 15, of 201 N. Nelson; and a car driven by Mrs. Margaret I. Howell, 62, of 525 N. Naida.

Approximately $25 damage was caused to each vehicle. Mrs. Howell was charged with failure to yield right of way at an intersection.

Methodist Safe Found In Creek

Pampa city officials on a routine check of a sewer creek yesterday found the safe that had been burglarized from the First Methodist Church on April 7.

The safe, 24"x18", containing approximately $10, had been taken bodily from the church on a Sunday night and had been missing ever since.

Yesterday afternoon, City Manager Harold Schmitzer, Water Superintendent E. S. Lowry and Department of Public Works employee Jiggs Cook were making a routine investigation of the sewer creek, two miles northeast of the dump, when they found the safe half buried in about a foot of water.

Police chief Jim Connor said that a car or truck had been driven on the bridge over the creek and at least two men had then lifted it over and dropped it in the creek.

The safe door was still missing, said the chief, and had apparently

HALF PENNY MYSTERY

LONDON (UPI) — Police didn't mind computer engineer Albert Rainer paying a $5.60 fine with British half pennies but they did object to finding he was a half penny short.

Rainer, 29, told a judge Wednesday he had sent 960 coins to the police and had no idea how the missing half penny got lost.

The judge dismissed a police summons demanding Rainer pay in full.

'SKELLY APPRECIATION DAY' PLANNING GROUP — The plans for the Skelly Appreciation Day were completed at a luncheon yesterday at the Coronado Inn. Directing the planning, are, left to right, C. W. Singleton, superintendent of production of Pampa; G. L. Craddock, district manager of Skellytown; W. P. Whitmore, manager of production of Tulsa; H. H. Arguments For Non-Stop Service Held Wednesday

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Civil Aeronautics Board scheduled oral arguments Wednesday on whether there should be non-stop air service between Tulsa, Okla., and Denver, Colo., and if so, whether Braniff or Continental Airlines should supply it.

New Navy Steel May Have Use In Civilian Lines

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Navy project aimed at developing a submarine twice as tough as any now at sea promises some side benefits for motorists, farmers, builders and miners.

The key to the project is the latest in a series of new, high-tensile steels. Tagged HY 150 by the Navy, the new steel has been produced so far only in laboratories. An alloy of the nickel-chromium-molybdenum type, Navy engineers are aiming at using it for submarine hulls that can withstand stresses of 150,000 pounds per square inch. Subs currently built with HY 80 steel can take stresses of 80,000 pounds per square inch.

Thomas J. Griffin, chief metals engineer of the Navy's Bureau of Ships, said the new steel could have great benefits in civilian applications.

"If successfully developed, HY 150 could dominate areas where high strength and light materials are essential," he said.

The most obvious civilian applications, he said, could be in further reducing the weight of steam shovels, earth movers, mining equipment, farm machinery, bridges — and even, perhaps automobiles.

R. C. Bassett, technical information officer, Bureau of Ships, said: "We would expect undersea craft built with this new material to stand up better to explosive charges and to run-ins with icebergs because they would have better resistance to impact and shock." He cautioned that the project was still a long way from the shipbuilding stage. So far, he said, no practical method has been found to weld or join the steel plates in the shipyards.

Griffin said civilian applications "invariably follow developments of better materials for military projects. Some soaring structural bridges were made possible by steels developed originally for military applications, he said.

Woman Admits 'Picking Up' Diamonds

HOUSTON (UPI) — A cleaning woman who, according to police, picked up $4,000 worth of diamonds while sweeping a jewelry company office, faced a felony theft charge today.

Mrs. Loma Perdue, 33, told police she had been picking up diamonds from the floor of Stuckey and Speer diamond wholesalers for 12 years. She admitted taking some diamonds from the top of desks and tables, officers said.

Mrs. Perdue said she gave the diamonds to her son, Henry, 22, who sold them.

Presently both airlines are certificated to fly the route, but with intermediate stops. Continental's authority calls for stops at Wichita, Kan., and Colorado Springs, Colo., but it has been overlying the latter. Braniff's certificate calls for stops at Colorado Springs, Amarillo, Tex., and Oklahoma City, although it may overfly Amarillo.

Hearing examiner Robert Park recommended in an initial decision that Continental's certificate be amended to permit it to fly non-stop between the Colorado and Oklahoma cities. Braniff does not object to Continental getting the authority, but also wants it. The CAB's bureau counsel agrees with Braniff.

Red River To Be Navigable By '70 Says Russell Long

SHREVEPORT, La. (UPI) — Sen. Russell B. Long said he feels sure boats will be plying the Red River as far north as Shreveport, by 1970.

He spoke at the closing session of the 39th annual Red River Valley Association meeting.

The association Monday set 1970 as the target date to make the river navigable from its mouth to Shreveport.

Red River boosters want the river to be eventually navigable all the way north to Denison, Tex. Long told the association the Red River Valley is in the best shape in its history.

He said Red River navigation and bank stabilization projects are being given top priority by the U. S. Corps of Engineers and the Mississippi River Commission.

The association re-elected all officers for the coming year. State executive vice presidents are E. B. Germany of Dallas, John Ford of Shreveport, James W. Campbell of Hugo, Okla., and Lloyd Spencer of Hope, Ark.

State Loses Thirty-Year Conviction

AUSTIN (UPI) — The state lost an attempt Wednesday to get a 30-year murder conviction upheld against Elvis T. Dalrymple, convicted Lubbock slayer.

Dalrymple was given the sentence by a district court jury for the gunshot murder of J. R. Castle, whose body was found Jan. 21, 1962, in a pit near Lubbock. A chief witness for the prosecution was an accomplice, Herman Talley.

The defense won a reversal of the sentence Feb. 27, 1962 on the contention that Talley's testimony was only corroborated by circumstantial evidence and that no other witness identified Dalrymple as being at the scene of the murder.

The state appealed unsuccessfully that the circumstantial evidence was sufficient to corroborate the accomplice's testimony.

Morris Named To District Office

Jimmie Don Morris, who has been the Southwestern Public Service Company's manager at McLean, has been named chief clerk in the Pampa district office. It was announced today by Gordon Lyons, district manager for the electric light and power company.

Morris replaces Melvin Jayroe, recently promoted to the post of district manager at Hereford.

The new chief clerk is a native of McLean, and a graduate of that community's school system. He joined Southwestern Public Service Company as a groundman in 1948, and after advancement to journeyman lineman, returned to McLean in 1951 as serviceman. He was named manager there in 1958.

Morris, his wife, Joyce and two sons, Jeffrey Don and Joe David, will move to Pampa in the near future.

Rayburn Found Guilty Of Robbery

The Petit Jury in District Court last night at 9:10 p.m. returned a verdict finding Haskell Lee Rayburn, 23 of Dallas, guilty of robbery, and assessed his punishment at 15 years in the penitentiary.

Rayburn was charged with the July 10, 1960 robbery of Ward's Mini Mart No. 4 in Prairie Village, according to District Attorney Bill Waters.

The sentence will be pronounced against Rayburn by District Judge Lewis Goodrich on Friday.

The Rayburn case concluded the work of the Petit Jury for the week in 31st District Court.

SENSITIVE ARTISTS

DERBY, England (UPI)—David Stocker and Gerry Smith, a pair of 4-year-old modern artists, have received apologies from the adults who hung two of their paintings upside down in a current exhibition.

Stocker painted a railway engine and Smith a little girl. The works however, were placed upside down and named a "petrol pump" and a "flower pot."

Psychological warfare is by no means a modern invention; it has been used in various guises throughout the ages. For example, in the 18th century, hats were used to deceive the enemy. The bear skin shako and jolly plumed hats were intended to increase the apparent height of the wearer and impress his foes.

60th Anniversary Muster Scheduled

Former students of the A&M College of Texas who live in Northeast Panhandle will gather at the O'Laughlins Barn, west of Miami at 7 p.m. Saturday to carry on a tradition that is 60 years old. They will attend the sixtieth anniversary Muster of Texas A&M men.

The Northeast Panhandle Club Muster will be one of more than 200 similar ceremonies held all over the world where Texas A&M College former students pay homage to their fellow classmates who have passed on, and humble tribute to the Texans who won the freedom of the state at the Battle of San Jacinto near Houston some 127 years ago.

Tommie Hennard, chairman of the Muster, urged all A&M men to attend the Saturday Muster program.

The April 21 Muster is one of the greatest traditions to be found in American colleges and universities, and thousands of A&M men participate in the program of tribute each year.

"However we find that the existing conditions under which our Negro citizens must live are in the main intolerable, with a continuing deprivation of rights, and an ever-present threat of police brutality."

"Racist Mythology"
The committee said Mississippi's government has "brazenly espoused racist mythology as official policy, thus serving notice on some 42 per cent of the population that they are inferior in the eyes of the state."

"It has encouraged the people of Mississippi to disregard laws and judicial decisions of the United States, and to place state loyalty above national loyalty. It has fostered a spirit of enmity towards our duly constituted national government, based on false ideas of federal-state relationships in our American system of government."
"Mississippi," the committee said, "should regard the commission's special report as a warning signal. If we react constructively, there may still be time to forestall the recommended federal action, although the hour is very late."

Texas had only a $1 franchise tax, and since 1956-57 it has been gradually increased.

"We are opposed to what we think is an unfair formula for the franchise tax," Burris said. "We think, at least, that debts should be taken out of the taxable category under the franchise tax."

Burris said he knew of instances where industry had by-passed Texas and others that still are avoiding Texas for a location because of what he termed "bad evidence in our business climate."

In his general discussion of legislative matters affecting business and manufacturing, Burris urged businessmen and employers to become familiar with pending legislation and express their views to legislators in both the House and Senate at Austin.

Burris was introduced to his breakfast audience by Reno Stinson of the Cabot Corp. and a member of the Legislative and National Affairs Committee of the chamber. Roy Sparkman, committee chairman, presided at the breakfast and the invocation was given by Jimmy Thompson.

A delegation from Pampa will attend the annual meeting, including Howard Buckingham, president; Preston Fowlkes and E. O. Wedgworth.

The program will consist of election of officers and directors for the new year.

Also the group will make plans for a Texas delegation to attend the national meeting to be held at Socorro, N.M. on April 27-28.

Red Cross Panhandle Association Meets

The Panhandle Association of Chapters of the American Red Cross met in Shamrock Tuesday for an all-day meeting at the Rambler's Cafe. Coffee and doughnuts were served to the guests during the registration period. Mrs. Mary Pace registered the guests.

Mr. A. E. Minton, President, of Berger, presided over the business session.

The group voted to appoint a committee to buy films for the Chapters' service programs during the year.

New officers elected for the coming year included Terry Thomas of Amarillo, president; Mrs. Mary Pace of Shamrock, vice president and Mrs. James S. Davis of Amarillo, secretary-treasurer.

The Field Director of the Amarillo Air Force Base asked the chapters present to donate small gifts for the parties held at the Base Hospital.

Mrs. Hicks Beech, Volunteer Nurses Aide, stated she needs puzzles, paper back novels, mens comfort articles and games. Persons in Pampa who wish to give books and puzzles should bring them to the R.C. office.

The morning program was on Water Safety by Mrs. Mary Louise Natho of Amarillo. Mrs. Natho said that chapters should use the good neighbor policy of sharing their Water Safety program with chapters who had no swimming facilities.

She urged all chapters to remember the Aquatic School at Ardmore June 2 and to have as many representatives at the school as possible.

The noon luncheon was served from a table decorated with a 100 year motif.

Sam Pakan, chapter chairman presided at the luncheon.

The dinner speaker was N. N. Caruthers, Director of the Chamber of Commerce at Shamrock. Caruthers spoke on "Public Relations. He said, "Let your neighbors and friends know what the Red Cross is doing." He stated the Radio, TV and Daily News are always interested in Human Interest stories and are glad to hear of the work of the Red Cross.

During the afternoon session, Bob Blackburn, field representative, spoke on the Disaster program.

He said, "We are in the disaster period for the Panhandle of Texas right now." He urged each chapter to go home and review their Disaster program and be ready if a disaster should strike tonight.

He told of the agreements between the chapter Red Cross and the National Organization.

Blackburn said, "We are designated by Congress to be the organization to be in charge of Natural Disasters to care for people."

He also stated, "Since it is our job to be in charge of disasters, it should be our job to take and distribute the money given in disasters."

Persons from Pampa attending the Panhandle Association of Chapters were: Mrs. A. D. Hills, Mrs. O. F. Kreimeyer, Mrs. Lee Harrah, Gray Ladies and Mrs. Libby Shotwell, executive secretary ARC.

The next meeting will be in Amarillo at the AAFB hospital, the second Tuesday in September.

ICC Schedules Railroad Transit Hearing April 29

CHICAGO (UPI)—The Rock Island Motor Transit Co. said Wednesday that the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) will open hearings April 29 at Hutchinson, Kan., on the railroad subsidiary's petition for permission to operate as a full-fledged truck line.

The company, a subsidiary of the Rock Island Lines, operates as a supplement to rail service in Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Texas. It wants to become a bonafide common carrier in those areas, L. L. Cole, general manager, said.

He said the company already has the right to operate as an unrestricted common carrier handling intrastate shipments within Kansas, by permission of the Kansas Corporation Commission.

Foreign Commentary

By ARTHUR J. DOMMEN
HONG KONG (UPI)—The significance to the American public of the fighting in Laos apparently is in danger of being overlooked amid all the hubbub about arranging a ceasefire.

Talk about putting a stop to the fighting and a return to the status quo agreed upon by 14 nations at Geneva implies that in the past nine months since the conference ended there has been some sort of stability to which a return should be made.

In fact, however, there has been nothing in the way of stability.

Consider the fact that the authority of Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma has never yet been extended to the full territory of Laos, and that those areas of the country which were under Pathet Lao control in July, 1962 are still under Pathet Lao control today.

Political Support Lags
Consider the fact that while Souvanna Phouma has been unable to generate support in the countryside at large for his Neutralist faction, which is in between the Communist-backed Pathet Lao and the American-backed faction of General Phouma No-savan, his political support in the capital itself has been eroded.

The culmination of this erosion has been the assassination of Foreign Minister Quinim Phisena. Whether Quinim actually defected a long time previous, his assassination is entirely academic. He is no longer there, and therefore he is one less man Louvanna Phouma can lean on.

Work Against Agreement
While the West, and perhaps the Russians, have been in favor of implementing the Geneva agreement, the Pathet Lao men on the scene have obviously not been in favor of this, and have instead worked to build up their own strength and organization.

With substantial North Vietnamese assistance, the Pathet Lao forces would be more than a match for General Phoumi.

General Phoumi would thus require immediate and considerable American help if the area under Communist control were not to come directly up to the exposed frontier of northeast Thailand, to which the United States has a very real defense commitment.

DO CEMENT REPAIRS NOW

Pre-mixed cement products like Sakrete make cement repairs as easy as baking a cake with cake mixes. All of the ingredients are pre-mixed in the bag in the proper proportions. Several different types of these cement mixes are available for different jobs. For large repair work, a gravel mix should be used, including sand, cement and gravel. For small repair jobs and building projects, Sakrete Sand Mix should be used. It is a scientifically mixed, high-strength cement guaranteed to meet 4,000 pounds per square inch test.

For brick laying and block laying jobs, mortar mix with fine mortar sand and mortar cement properly proportioned should be used.

Cement sidewalks with cracks and holes in them, as well as driveways and indoor jobs can be repaired in a matter of minutes. The crack or hole should be cleaned out and all loose material removed. The sides of the old concrete should be wet down to prevent the robbing of water from the Sakrete mix you will use. Add water according to instructions on the ready-mix bag, mix thoroughly, and work the mixture into the area being repaired. An inexpensive trowel, available at any hardware store, can be used, or in the case of small cracks an old kitchen knife will do the trick. With the Sakrete in place it should be smoothed off level with the walk by scraping the smooth edge of a board across the repaired area. Within an hour or two, the new cement work will be firm to the touch and can then be finished off smooth and hard by working a trowel back and forth across the hardened surface.

Sakrete is distributed locally through most lumber, hardware and building material dealers.

Italian Labor Protesting Striking Doctors In Rome

ROME (UPI)—Workers clashed with police in the southern port of Taranto and longshoremen walked out in Naples today as labor protested a strike by Italian doctors against state-sponsored public health insurance plans. The labor protests broke out as union leaders urged Italians to refuse to pay the country's 83,000 doctors who have canceled their agreements with Italy's multi-billion dollar complex of medical insurance companies. The doctors complained against the excessive paper work and low fees paid by the state-spon-

Billie Sol Quips With Newsmen

DALLAS (UPI)—Billie Sol Estes, wearing a navy blue suit, a red tie and scuffed shoes, stopped off in Dallas and exchanged a few quick quips with newsmen. A total of 22 cents slipped out of his pocket onto a chair when he got up at a friend's home and he said with a grin: "I was about to lose all my money." Estes was sentenced Monday to 15 years' imprisonment for mail fraud and conspiracy. He did not disclose his destination Tuesday night. "I have been through a lot but I can honestly say that the newspaper boys have been extremely fair and kind to me," he said. "I want you to know that I appreciate it."

Conference Slated On Increasing Offenses To Finance Institutions

Law enforcement officers, bankers and representatives of other banking-type institutions will get together throughout the country during April and May, 1963, to discuss means to stem the continued increase of offenses against the nation's financial institutions.

Curtis O. Lynam, special agent in charge of the Dallas Division, FBI, has announced the scheduling of conferences in his Division, at the Chamber of Commerce in Lubbock next Tuesday and at the County Courthouse in Wichita Falls, Wednesday, April 24.

Lynam stated that ranking law enforcement officers, officials of banks, Federal savings and loan associations, and Federal credit unions, will share the speaker's platform with FBI personnel each conference. Meetings will begin at 9 a.m., and end at 1 p.m. Those in attendance will be guests of banks for luncheon.

FBI Director Hoover, in a national press release, has advised that the scheduling of these conferences for the second time in less than two years is an unprecedented move for the FBI, but a necessary one in view of the sharp increase last year in violations of the Federal Bank Robbery and Incidental Crimes Statute. He noted that during 1962, a total of 1,250 violations were reported to the FBI, an increase of 30 percent over the 1961 total. The figure included 878 robberies, 352 burglaries and 220 larcenies of banks, savings and loan associations and credit unions. Monthly totals in October, November and December, 1962, exceeded all previous records.

Bringing statistics to the local level, Mr. Lynam advises a total of 51 offenses were reported in Texas during 1962, total loot $102,840 in cash, checks, stocks and bonds, of which a substantial amount has been recovered through the cooperative efforts of law enforcement on all levels. Texas offenses included 11 robberies, 17 burglaries, and 23 larcenies, Lynam said.

Foreign News Commentary

By K. C. THALER
United Press International

LONDON (UPI) — The Communist welcome for the papal "peace on earth" encyclical has revived diplomatic speculation that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev may be planning a visit to Rome.

Moscow has said nothing officially on the project so far, but a series of gestures in recent months has pointed to a deliberate Kremlin policy to ease relations with the pontiff.

Satellite countries, presumably with a go-ahead from the Russians, went out of their way to praise the Holy Week encyclical. Diplomatic reports have suggested the Kremlin aims at establishment of formal relations with the Vatican that would allow the Church of Rome to set up a number of consulate-type representations in Communist countries, including the U.S.S.R.

Going that Way
There has been speculation that Khrushchev, who plans a visit to Belgrade this spring or summer, may take that opportunity to go to Italy and return an official visit

Italian leaders paid him last year. He might call on the Pope. Whether Khrushchev makes such a trip depends on a series of major developments. One is the status of the conflict with Peking with which he is preoccupied presently and the outcome of projected Sino-Soviet talks in Moscow next month.

Another is whether the ground is sufficiently prepared for a Khrushchev pilgrimage to the Vatican.

The Communist press, in welcoming the papal encyclical, read into it a virtual endorsement of the concept of Moscow's so-called peaceful coexistence policy.

The Vatican quickly put the record straight by reminding the Communists that the cornerstone of the "peace-on-earth" pronouncement was the freedom and dignity of the individual which the Red reports ignored.

Dignity of Man
Vatican radio said the calls for settlement of international controversy through negotiations, for disarmament all constituted an important part of the encyclical. But, it told the Communists, the central nucleus of the encyclical was "constituted by the dignity of the human being, his rights, his duties."

The implication is that the basis for a Soviet-Vatican rapprochement has yet to be found.

Low Cost Hostels Urged To Spur Visits To U.S.

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UPI) — America's best ambassadors are foreigners who return home after a visit to the United States, according to a man who should know.

The man is Antony J. Stute, vice president of Augusta International Inc., a foreigner himself — but not for long.

Born in England of American parents and soon to become an American citizen, Stute has made an intensive study of world travel for his firm, which operates 1,200 motor coaches (buses) in Europe.

"The best ambassadors for America are people who have been here," Stute said. "If you could expose more Europeans to American efficiency it might wake them up, by the contrast to the fact that their system is antiquated."

He said the average European has an exaggerated fear of cost about coming to the United States.

"Europeans definitely have the idea that everything in the United States is abnormally high priced," he said. "The average European traveler is a shopkeeper or a retailer in the middle-income bracket. He's shrewd. He wants the most he can get for his money."

"We sell Europe to Americans for $14 or $15 a day, including transportation, meals, sightseeing and first class hotels. The equivalent cost to see America would be about 50 per cent higher."

Stute said things have been improving since 1962, when the U.S. Government launched a Visit the U.S.A. campaign and made it easier for foreign tourists to come here by easing restrictions.

But one phase of it drew near ridicule from the European press

GE WINS CONTRACT
ERIE, Pa. (UPI) — General Electric Co. won a contract to supply 40 diesel-electric locomotives to Thailand in the face of bids from about 30 other manufacturers, it was announced Wednesday. First of the $2-million locomotives, specially designed with operating cabs at each end, will be delivered in the second half of 1963.

and seasoned European travelers. Stute said.

"With true American enthusiasm, but with little finesse, the campaign was launched," he said. "It was good. But it was overdone by saving visitors could see America on $5 a day."

Stute noted that America's facilities are superb. "There are no finer in the world." But he suggested establishment by the U.S. Government of low cost hostels to house European travelers while in America.

MAY ADD STOPS
WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy may add Dublin and Frankfurt to his trip to West Germany and Italy in late June.

Government sources said Wednesday serious consideration was being given to the Frankfurt stop in addition to the scheduled ones in Bonn and Rome. Stops at Heidelberg and Munich also were said to be under consideration.

RUSSIA BEHIND U.S.
DURHAM, N.C. (UPI) — The commander of the U.S. Atlantic force said Wednesday that American missile firing subs are superior to their Soviet counterparts in firepower.

"The capability of Russian missile firing submarines is at present limited," said Vice Adm. Edmund B. Taylor. "Their missiles are not nearly as good as our Polaris, nor can they carry as many."

A German Problem

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — There has been some talk in the Senate this year about adopting a new rule of germaneness.

It occurred to me that many citizens may not have much trouble with germaneness and hence do not understand how it came to be a problem in the Senate.

If so, perhaps I can shed some light upon the subject. I have here a few illustrations, removed intact and still in mint condition from a recent edition of the Congressional Record.

On this particular day, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois favored this collection of short addresses, the topics of which included strip mining, rain making, inland waterways, uniform time standards, record falsification, dual rate contracts, anchor lights and fog signals, unfair commercial activities and air pollution.

More Short Addresses

These were followed by a series of other short addresses on human treatment of animals, conservation of anadromous fish, flying the flag over the wreckage of the USS Utah and honorary citizenship for Winston Churchill.

Then there was a brief tribute to Sen. A. Willis Robertson, D-Ve., on a speech on unnecessary expenses of the State Department, a speech on test ban negotiations and a speech on Seabee Day in Rhode Island.

Then there were speeches on tax office consolidation, the Bay of Pigs, the welfare of farmers, registration of foreign agents, the birthdays of Thomas Masaryk and Amerigo Vespucci, a visit to Madison, Wis., by Pro. John M. Gaus, the Edward P. Morgan es-senger contest the York, Pa., Airport, other topics included superficial changes in Russia, the birthdays of Johan Ludvig Runeberg and "Champ" Clark, the 50th anniversary of the Labor Department and a tribute to Mrs. Virginia L. Ma-

So You Think Uncle Sam's A Tough Tax Collector?

BITBURG, Germany (UPI) — If it's any consolation to anybody, people have had to pay taxes for at least 4,000 years, according to Dr. Alfons Pausch.

Pausch ought to know. The Bit-burg tax official is director of Germany's only tax museum.

The museum started as a private collection of the average taxpayer's constant cause of grumbles.

Last fall when Pausch was transferred to Bitburg, his private museum moved with him to find a new home in the former Benedictine Abbey of this town near Bonn. It now is appropriately lodged in the former tax barn of the Abbey.

Pausch proudly shows his collection. The oldest documentation of tax-paying is a replica of a bas-relief dating back to 2300 B.C. It shows the tomb of ancient Egyptian Vizier Mereruka in Sakkara near Memphis, with two men kneeling before the tax collector, while a third man, who refused to pay, is being clobbered by the tax collector's aides.

"You must agree that our methods have become more civil with the years of experience," said tax collector Pausch.

Among other documents, Pausch also displays a tax list of the medieval city of Trier, listing the habitans of Engelsasse (Angels Street) in 1363 A.D.

Another document proves tax exemption also was known for ages, although it was harder to get. The document states that fethers of 12 legitimate children were granted an exemption in 1628
 A.D.

A tax declaration form of 1784 undoubtedly would delight today's taxpayer. The form listed only four questions.

The museum also shows a picture of the last tax soldier of the Black Forest city of Freudenstadt.

JUDGE BURGLARIZED

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI)—When Essex County Judge James Guiliano entered his home here Sunday, he heard the back door slam and thought it was his son.

It wasn't. It was a burglar who got away with $1,200 in jewelry and $412 in cash after ransacking
 the house.

"This is the black sheep in my collection," Pausch said, pointing at the photograph of a Roman sculpture, showing Emperor Trajan announcing that the people of ancient Rome are tax-free.

"What would have happened to my museum if Trajan's example in 100 A.D. would have found more followers?" he asked.

BOLT HITS PLANE

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI)—A National Airlines plane carrying 44 persons was struck and damaged by lightning Wednesday but landed safely here for repairs.

The bolt of lightning struck the prop-jet Electra's plastic radar nose dome, according to a spokesman for the Federal Aviation Agency. Damage was "very minor," he said, and amounted to replacement of a plastic radar cover.

Don't Confuse Terms

His remarks, of course, had nothing to do with germaneness,
 They were concerned with Germanness. It is best not to get two terms confused.

Germaneness, as the term applies to the Senate, occurs when a senator says something that has some connection with the subject under discussion.

On the day that Dirksen memorialized the marigolds, the Senate session began with a prayer
 by the chaplain.

New Leather Shoes Have Open Look

By HELEN HENNESSY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA) — If you have a hankering to be in style, you'll get your feet into the open for spring and summer.

This doesn't mean you should go on a picnic or set aside time for a barefoot trek through the grass. But to be in the fashion running, you'll want shoes with the open look.

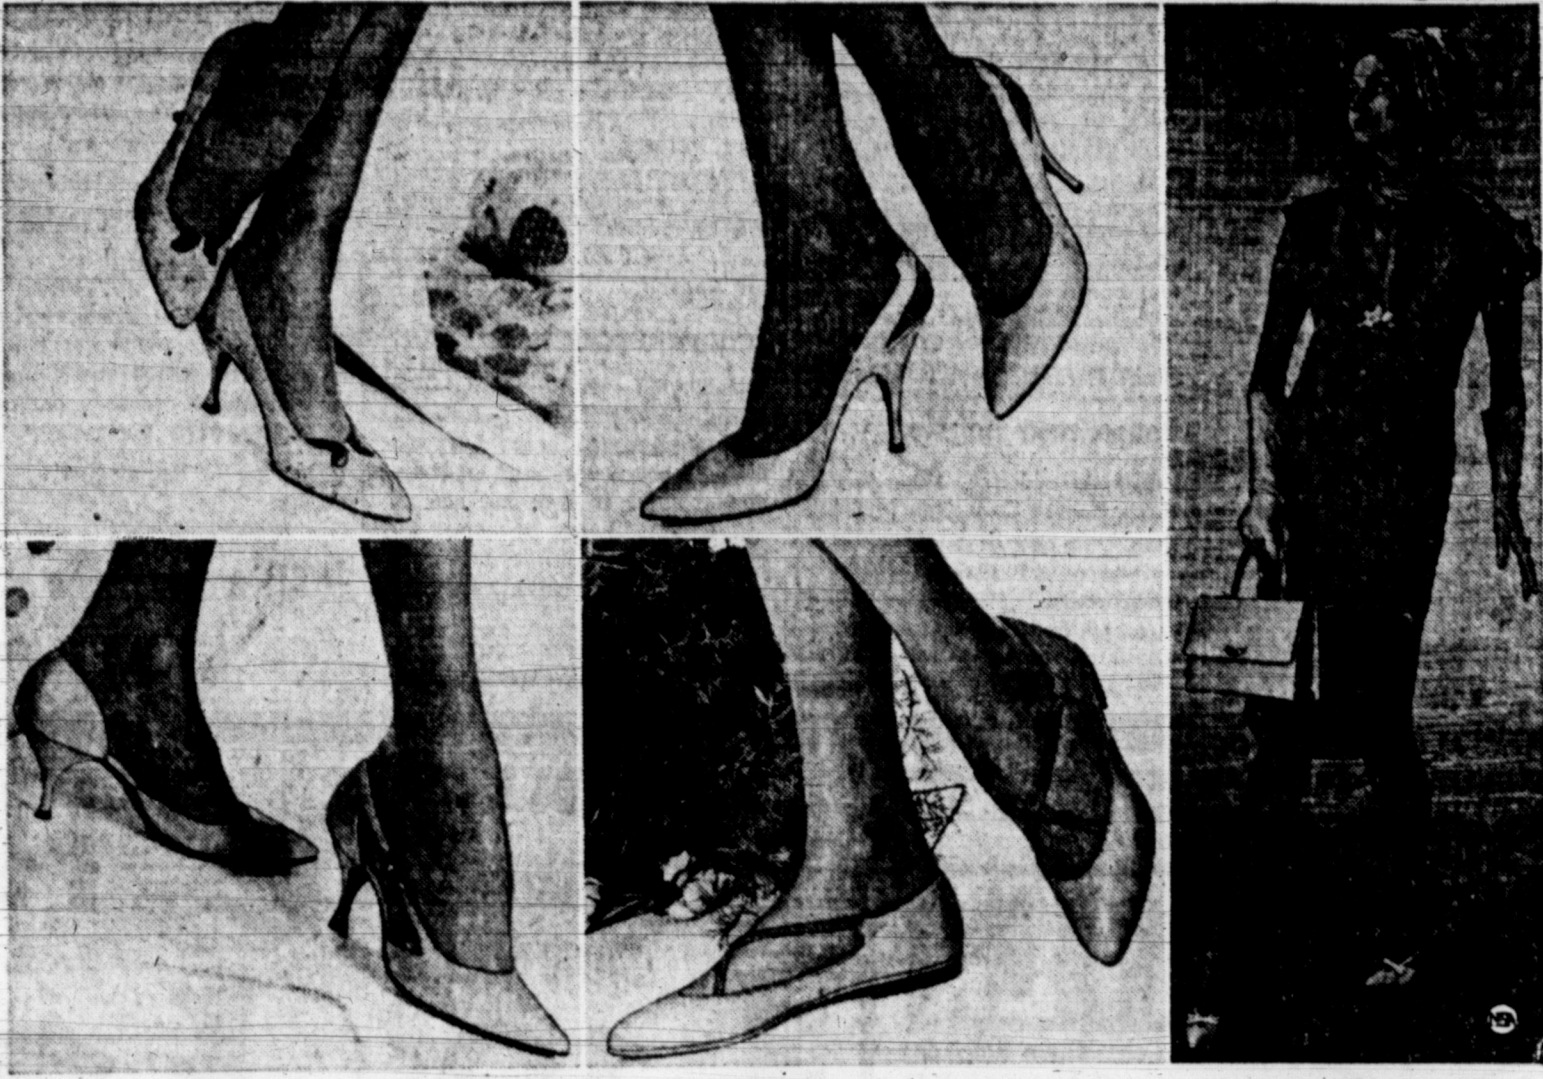

This look is achieved in many ways. Cutouts, with round, square or diagonal openings, shank openings, latticework, straps and sling backs are but a few of the new, airy silhouettes.

For daytime, the open-look shoe comes in smooth, grained and brushed leathers in pumps, spectators and open backs set on smaller, chunkier, set-back stacked heels. For evenings it's found in sling backs, shelled-out pumps and sandals in aniline calf, patent, lustered and suede leathers.

Toes keep their general slimsness, but gentle shaping gives them a shorter, flattened look. The crescent toe is strongest on mid and low heels. The snipped, square toe will be found on all types, from casual to formal. Needle-toes have tapered down, and even in their modified form are found mostly on high-heeled shoes for evening.

There's good news for the consumer who wants to be sure that the shoes she buys are leather. It's often difficult to tell from appearance. A new government ruling requires that shoe materials that look like, but are not, leather must be clearly and permanently labeled. This label must be on the upper, lining, sole, heel, inner sole and welt.

Be sure to check these points when you buy spring shoes so that you can be sure not only of good fashion, but good value, too.

The new look in shoes is open and airy. Squared toe, mid-heel pump (top left) has tiny openings at the throat line. For late day and evening, matte lustered leather pump (top right) has sling back and crescent toe. Front is pink, the sling is white. The open look is achieved in low-cut D'Orsay pump (lower left) in aniline calf leather in pale yellow. One side highlights a slender strap. Airy casual shoe (lower right) in lime grained leather has braided band to join front and back. The new look in pump accessories—the pale-melon-suede shift dress (far right).

Manners Make Friends

Be sure to check these points when you buy spring shoes so that you can be sure not only of good fashion, but good value, too.

Sunshine Club With Mrs. Mike German

WHITE DEER (Sp) — The Sunshine Club met recently in the home of Mrs. Mike German as hostess with Mrs. Gregory Rapstine, president, presiding.

Miss Sybil Stringer, county agent, gave a program on Wardrobe Planning and Selections. Mrs. Robert Bichsel reported on a THDA meeting in Panhandle recently.

After the business meeting the hostess served refreshments to Mmes. Bruce Martin, Melvin Kalka, Jerry Braddock, Robert Bichsel, Gregory Rapstine, Marvin Urbanczyk, Miss Stringer, and one new member, Mrs. John Kotara III.

Dear Abby....
Trifler Is Sweet
... As Apple Pie!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Last year, when I was hospitalized, my neighbor and "very dear friend" helped my husband care for our two youngsters. I thought I would never be able to repay her for her kindness—until several weeks ago when my husband confessed that their relationship had gone beyond what he ever thought it would. He said he was sorry and asked my forgiveness. The "friend" tries to act normal. She doesn't know my husband has told me. We own our home and I don't intend to move. I cannot bear the sight of this two-faced woman. What should I do when she comes knocking at my door with her sweet smile and her apple pies?

BETRAYED
DEAR BETRAYED: I presume your husband knows this woman well enough to speak to her. Ask HIM to tell her that he has confessed to you. I doubt if you'll be bothered again with either her sweet smile OR her apple pies. And if she sends anything else over, don't eat it.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell your women readers to be careful of a man who proposes marriage on condition that the "candidate" pass inspection of all his children first. A widower asked to marry me, but first I had to meet all his six married children separately before they would give him the go-ahead. I passed "inspection," but I wish I hadn't. When he was well, his children came first. Now he is sick, and he's all mine.

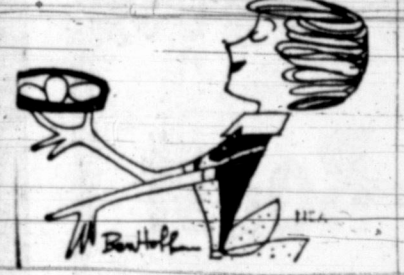

STUCK WITH AN W.K.

DEAR ABBY: I have an older friend who works with me. She wants me to break up her son and his "girl friend." The son is 29 and his "girl friend" is 22. I am 26 and have seen the son, and although he couldn't possibly mean anything to me, I am sure I could break them up. Should I?

"THE GIRL WHO HAS EVERYTHING"
DEAR GIRL: Don't attempt to destroy a relationship which could be very satisfactory for the two people involved. Your letter and your signature don't match.

Stop worrying. Write to Abby. For a personal reply enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50¢.

LONGEST PYTHON DIES

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Colossus, believed to be the longest python in captivity, died Sunday at the Highland Park Zoo of advanced age and pneumonia.

The snake was last measured in 1956. It stretched out to 28 feet 6 inches and weighed nearly 300 pounds. Officials said Colossus was about 30 years old.

Canadian Seniors Feted At Dinner

CANADIAN (Sp) — The Canadian High School Senior Classes were honored at a breakfast held in the Fellowship Hall of the First Methodist Church. The breakfast is hosted annually by the church.

Thirty-six seniors were present. Other guests were Rev. and Mrs. Lee Crouch, Superintendent Woodie Beene, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cullender and Mrs. Preston Hutton, class sponsor.

The welcome was given by Gordon Rivers and the response for the seniors by Thomas Campbell, class president. Rev. Crouch gave the invocation.

Following the breakfast a musical selection, "Easter Parade" was sung by Deena Shahan accompanied by Mary Crowell. After a brief talk by Mr. Crouch, Linda Moon presented the poem "One Solitary Life."

The message for the morning, "Be Your Best Self" was brought by Mr. Crouch who also gave the benediction.

The speakers table was centered with a small white tree from the branches of which hung decorative Easter eggs. More eggs were nestled in the champagne tulle which was arranged at the base of the tree. Lilies and flowering crabapple were arranged on the tables. Hand-painted place cards, the work of Mrs. James Gammill, which depicted the Cross and the Crown, marked the individual places. Place favors were brass book-markers which also were decorated with the Cross and Crown.

Scouting Scoops

EVEN during the Easter holidays, Girl Scouts in Pampa were far from inactive. In fact the season seemed to inspire more group activity than ever.

TROOP 72 wound up the holidays with a party in the Church of the Brethren on Monday evening. Patrol I was hostess for the party and Patrols II and III with the leader, Mrs. Gloria Martin, as guests. Upon arriving, guests were given paper bills, which served as money for games and refreshments. Prizes were awarded and a Talent Show climaxed the party.

BROWNIE TROOP 15 spent March meetings learning a little about sewing. The scouts first learned to hem tea towels and now are putting names and troop numbers in embroidery on them. This has been something of a job since sewing is new to most of the girls. They are being carefully instructed by Mrs. Julius Hollis and Mrs. J. K. Gann. After the girls finish the towels, they will be donated to Girl Scout Little House.

ASIDE FROM girl activities, adult leaders and board members have been making decisions important to us all at a recent board meeting in Borger during which Mrs. Vaden Fowler, president, presided.

Several neighborhood chairmen were appointed. Those named included Mrs. B. O. Bentley of White Deer and Mrs. Bob Andis of Pampa, who were named to the executive board.

Mrs. J. B. Maguire, Jr., vice president, reported that the re-zoning of Pampa's Neighborhood lines had been approved, which will give Pampa four neighborhoods instead of three.

Mrs. John Holt Program Services chairman, reported that there will be "dry runs" at 11 different camp sites throughout the United States conducted by the national organization. This will be done as a part of a plan to select a camp site for the 1963 Roundup.

she stated, "The chosen place will be announced at the national convention to be held in Miami, Fla. in October."

A Field Day is scheduled for October 5 at Camp Mel Davis for sixth grade Girl Scouts, who take part in competitive activities in outdoor skills. Awards will be given.

Attending the board meeting in Borger from Pampa were Mmes. John Holt, Bob Andis, J. B. Maguire Jr., J. P. Brumley, N. G. Kadingo.

THE GIRL SCOUT Little House, 716 E. Kingsmill, has been the scene of intensive programs to ready girls from Troops 50, 72 and 8 for a weekend camping trip this weekend.

Included in the activities has been the training of girls in arts of knot-tying (five basic knots); learning to fold, pitch and refold a tent; load trailers and other such requirements needed for an efficient camping party.

Committees have been set up for First Aid, equipment and menu planning.

These girls, under the direction of Mmes. Gloria Martin, Mary Kennedy, Loice Bond, Idela Giblin and Marilyn Butler, will see a climax to their months of preparation at the Primitive Campout this weekend. Wouldn't be surprised if some of the Senior girls couldn't learn a thing or two from these "trained campers." Results of this trip, and more next week.—Susan Davis.

J.U.G. Bridge Club With Mrs. Curnutt

CANADIAN (Sp) — Mrs. Orla Curnutt was hostess to the U.G. Club Thursday evening.

Present were Mmes. Jim Hutcheson, Tom Hill, J. T. Burnett, Troy Newton, Abe Haddock, Jack Williams, John Wilkinson and E. C. Payne.

High scorer in the bridge games was Mrs. Raddox and second high was Mrs. Williams.

The John Wilkinsons Win High In Bridge

CANADIAN (Sp) — The 40-50 Club met Tuesday evening with the Tom Hills.

Those present were the Warren Harringtons, the Harry Rathjens, the Pat Murphys, the Abe Haddoxs and the John Wilkinsons.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilkinson took high honors in the bridge games.

Bean Dishes Are Teen-Age Treat For That Serious Time Of Eating

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Easter vacation will give teenagers lots of time for some serious eating, so lay in a supply of one of their favorite foods, beans. But get some of the new canned beans and ground beef in barbecue sauce, barbecue beans, beans and franks in tomato sauce and pork and beans with tomato sauce. They come straight from your grocer's shelves to delight your wolfing teen-agers home from school.

BEANS AND FRANKS NEW ENGLAND STYLE.
(2 to 3 servings)
7/4 cup finely chopped onion
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 can (1-pound) beans and franks in tomato sauce
1 tablespoon maple syrup
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
3 thin slices lemon
In saucepan, cook onion in butter until tender. Add remaining ingredients except lemon. Heat, stirring now and then. Top with lemon slices.

BARBECUE BEANS LUNCH
(2 to 3 servings)
1/4 cup chopped celery
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1 tablespoon butter
1 pound can barbecue beans
In skillet, cook celery and onion in butter until tender. Add beans; heat, stir now and then.

BEANS AND BEEF BOWL
(2 to 3 servings)
1 (2-ounce) can sliced mushrooms, drained

2 tablespoons chopped green onion
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 pound can beans and ground beef in barbecue sauce
In saucepan, brown mushrooms with onion in butter. Add beans and ground beef. Heat, stirring now and then.

As Surprise Snack At Get-Together Splurge With Peanut Butter Pie

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Plan this rich, amazing pie for a big party. Or as a surprise treat for teen-agers.
Incidentally, stock up on peanut butter for vacation raids on the refrigerator and pantry. Teen-agers never seem to get enough to eat, they snack from sun-up to bedtime. So keep wholesome protein foods available for their snacks, such as peanut butter, cheese, cottage cheese, bologna and sliced ham.

Encourage them to snack on these foods rather than on high-calorie low-nutrition potato chips and French fries, candies and cola drinks. Keep a supply of fresh fruit available for them, too.

PEANUT-BUTTER CANDY PIE
1 9-inch unbaked pie shell
3 eggs
1/2 cup sugar
1 cup light corn syrup
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup smooth-peanut butter
1/2 cup semi-sweet chocolate chips
1/4 cup angel flake coconut

Make pie crust from 1/2 standard recipe or 1/2 package mix. Beat eggs, gradually beat in sugar mixing well. Mix in syrup, vanilla, salt and peanut butter, blending thoroughly.

Pour into pie shell. Bake in slow, 300-degree oven 40 to 45 minutes. While pie is still hot, put a circle of chocolate chips in center of pie and sprinkle remaining chips around outside edge. Fill in remainder of top with coconut. Cool before serving.

Vacation Breakfast Means Brunch!

The May Day Brunch—sliced oranges, butter crisped shredded wheat, creamed beef and sliced tomatoes, coffee or milk.

When something happens to jolt children out of their normal routine of life, some change seems to occur in their eating habits. This was one of the conclusions made in a nationwide study of influences and motives that determine cereal eating habits of children, 8 through 17 years old. It is mother who must watch. Medical and nutrition authorities have formulated a basic breakfast pattern consisting of fruit, cereal, milk, bread and butter. This meal can be served to an early riser because it provides one-fourth of the day's food requirement for most people; it can be supplemented with other foods, and served to late morning risers and called Brunch. Here is a well-liked cereal main dish:

Toasted Shredded Wheat Biscuits with Creamed Beef
Shredded wheat, 6 oblong biscuits or 6 round biscuits; or 2 1/2 cups spoon size biscuits, or
2 1/2 cups bite-size biscuits
6 thin sliced fresh tomatoes

Dot shredded wheat with butter and place with tomato slices on broiler rack. Broil about 3 inches from heat source until biscuits are toasted and tomatoes heated, 2 to 3 minutes. Keep warm. Sauté onion in butter or margarine until onion is soft. Sprinkle flour over onion and mix well. Stir in milk and pepper. Cook slowly, stirring constantly, until thickened. Stir in dried beef (if beef is very salty, rinse under hot water and drain); heat. Top shredded wheat with tomato slices and creamed beef.
Yield: 6 servings.

Peeled Potatoes In Frozen Foods

For convenience in a package it is hard to beat the new Birds Eye whole peeled potatoes in 1 1/2 lb. transparent bags, loose-frozen, all ready to use in any amount desired, and costing about 35 cents. These small, wonderfully fresh-tasting potatoes eliminate the tasks of washing and peeling. Another advantage is that the unused potatoes can be stored in the freezing compartment for future use without fear of their sprouting or going soft. Boil or mash these potatoes, cream or fry them, add them to stews and casseroles, or brown them around a roast.

Why You Eat What You Do

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UPI)—Some persons are actually seeking to satisfy their psychological needs rather than their stomachs when they buy food.

Harold E. Neigh, a specialist in consumer economics at the Pennsylvania State University, said this is true because there are two types of consumers.

One group buys food to satisfy biological needs and nourish their families and the other buys food because it may represent a status symbol or enhance their self-esteem. They take the physical attributes of food for granted, he said.

According to Neigh, that is one reason some persons buy steak instead of hamburger when both meats supply the same nourishment.

Fancy Sauce Dresses Up Plain Ice Cream

TOP TREAT FOR A TEEN GET-TOGETHER

A do-it-yourself dessert teens will love. Top crisp frozen baked waffles with ice cream and a Spiced Black Cherry Sauce.

If there's one thing teenagers and you can have it ready for like it's ice cream, and it there's them to put together. Do-it-yourself anything they like better than self foods are always fun.

plain ice cream, it's a new way. The vanilla ice cream can be to dress it up with a fancy sauce, scooped out in advance, then place. Here is the perfect choice for the ed-in-a-bowl-in-the-freezer. The next teen gathering at your house, simple black cherry sauce is made

1/2 cup sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon lemon juice
8 small (4 x 3-inch) frozen baked waffles
1 quart vanilla ice cream
Drain cherries, reserve juice (about 1 cup). In a saucepan mix together thoroughly sugar, cornstarch, cinnamon and nutmeg; stir in juice, then cherries. Over medium heat, stirring, bring to a boil. Boil 1 minute until thick and clear. Cool, scoop of ice cream on each waffle and spoon over cherry sauce.

When the kids are ready for their Waffles A La Mode, they can pop the waffles in the toaster, top each crisp waffle with a scoop of ice cream and spoon on lots of black cherry sauce. Better plan for seconds, this dessert is bound to be a hit.

It's a grand idea for family meals, too. As a variation, you could center the table with a Lazy Susan or any kind of tray, offering several different sauces. This Spiced Black Cherry Sauce is original, one you can't buy, but it can share the dessert spotlight with prepared sauces like fudge, strawberry, butterscotch and pineapple. Introduce this easy-to-serve to your teens, or serve it to the whole family soon.

KNOWS ANSWERS — Stewardess Ann Jacobsen has the questions—the push-button information “clerk” has the answers. Jukeboxlike device is one of 15 units at Los Angeles-International Airport. Impact Incorporation Is Upheld In Split Decision

AUSTIN (UPI)—The State Supreme Court, in a split decision, today upheld the incorporation of Impact, the wet suburb of the dry city of Abilene.

The Supreme Court decision reversed a civil-appeals court ruling.

Opponents of the city claimed it was formed solely for the purpose of legalizing the sale of alcoholic beverages.

The opinion, by Associate Justice Clyde E. Smith, said that an act of the legislature validated the incorporation of Impact, even though its original incorporation offer may have been void.

Impact is a 47.43-acre area nestled against Abilene in West Texas.

The legislative validation act upon which Smith's decision was based reads: “When a town or village contains more than 200 and less than 10,000 inhabitants, it may be incorporated as a town or village . . .”

Impact voters petitioned in February of 1960 to call an incorporation election. The leader in the movement was Dallas G. Perkins, now the mayor of Impact. The unanimous vote to incorporate was delivered Feb. 13, 1960.

This began a long series of court battles to uphold the incorporation against an attack by the attorney general's office.

Impact was declared incorporated Aug. 2, 1961, and Perkins won a write-in election as mayor 12 days later.

Cuban Red Cross To Return Body Of Bay Of Pigs Pilot

HAVANA (UPI)—Havana newspapers said today the Cuban Red Cross will return to his family the body of pilot Riley W. Shamburger, one of four Americans killed in the 1961 Bay of Pigs invasion.

The press reports added that the Cuban government had invited the mother of the pilot, Mrs. Riley W. Shamburger Sr. of Birmingham, Ala., to come to Cuba to identify the remains of her son.

In Birmingham, Mrs. Shamburger became hysterical on hearing the Havana report. A neighbor said the mother “would never accept” that he had been killed. “She's just in a terrible state,” the neighbor said.

Shamburger was flying with three other Birmingham area men when their plane crashed on or about April 19, 1961. The other men were later identified as Wade C. Gray, an electronics technician, Thomas Ray, and Lee F. Baker.

Shamburger, a test pilot, was apparently at the controls of the C-46 plane when it went down during the invasion.

Widows of the four men received $225 each every two weeks since the men were lost. The checks were drawn on Bankers Trust Co. of New York and an attorney said the money came from a Central American anti-Castro group.

Alex E. Carlson of Miami, the attorney, said the money was from a trust fund set up by Castro opponents after the men were given up for dead.

Carlson said a number of fliers were recruited to fly against Castro during the invasion and the four Birmingham area men were in a cargo plane converted for light strafing when it developed engine trouble.

The Garden of Eden is believed to have been in the valley of the Tigris and Euphrates Rivers, in what now is Iraq.

Commies Capture Third Key Town

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI)—Pro-Communist troops have captured a third key neutralist town on the Plain of Jars in a drive that has made a shambles of the Laotian cease-fire agreement, informed sources reported today.

The sources said neutralist troops were left surrounded and outnumbered in the strategic plain by the fall of three key towns in 72 hours to forces of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao.

They said the latest town to fall was Ban Ban, where two companies of neutralist troops had been holding out for days against overwhelming odds. The fate of the defenders was not known.

The other two villages seized were Ban Kosi and Dong Danh. All three towns are on the road from the leftist stronghold of Xieng Khouang to the plain.

The loss of the villages left neutralist Gen. Kong Le and his forces surrounded in Phon Savan, about a 20-mile drive from Xieng Khouang.

Higher Steel Likely To Mean Higher Autos

DETROIT (UPI)—An industry-wide steel price increase probably would result in higher prices for 1964 model cars.

The increase would not affect the prices of 1963 models, it was generally agreed here.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. (UPI)—The Paper products Co. of near-by Swarthmore, Pa., manufacturer of poly-cellulose wadding, has merged with Cellu-Products Co., manufacturers of cellulose wadding, used for interior packaging. Martin Doll, president of Cellu-Products, which is located in Patterson, N.C., said he contemplates no change in products, personnel or production methods.

Arguing against an immediate increase was the fact that the on hand to see the industry industry has been stockpiling through the start of 1964 production steel as a hedge against a possible shutdown in the steel industry. While enough steel is not the end of this model year.

Quotes In The News

By United Press International

NEW YORK — Alex Karras, star defensive tackle of football's Detroit Lions, following his indefinite suspension from play for betting on games:

“This is guilt by association and innuendo. I'm not guilty and I've done nothing to be ashamed of. Maybe I'll go into wrestling for the rest of my life. But I don't know what I'll do when my wife and kids need food.”

JACKSON, Miss. — Mrs. Wallis I. Schutt, head of a committee reporting on civil rights in Mississippi:

“We find the existing conditions under which our Negro citizens must live are in the main intolerable, with a continuing deprivation of rights, and an ever-present threat of police brutality.”

MIAMI — Jose Miro Cardona, Cuban refugee leader, after his scolding by administration officials for accusing President Kennedy of breaking promises:

“They are forcing me to defend myself, and I am going to do it with answers to all the charges they have made.”

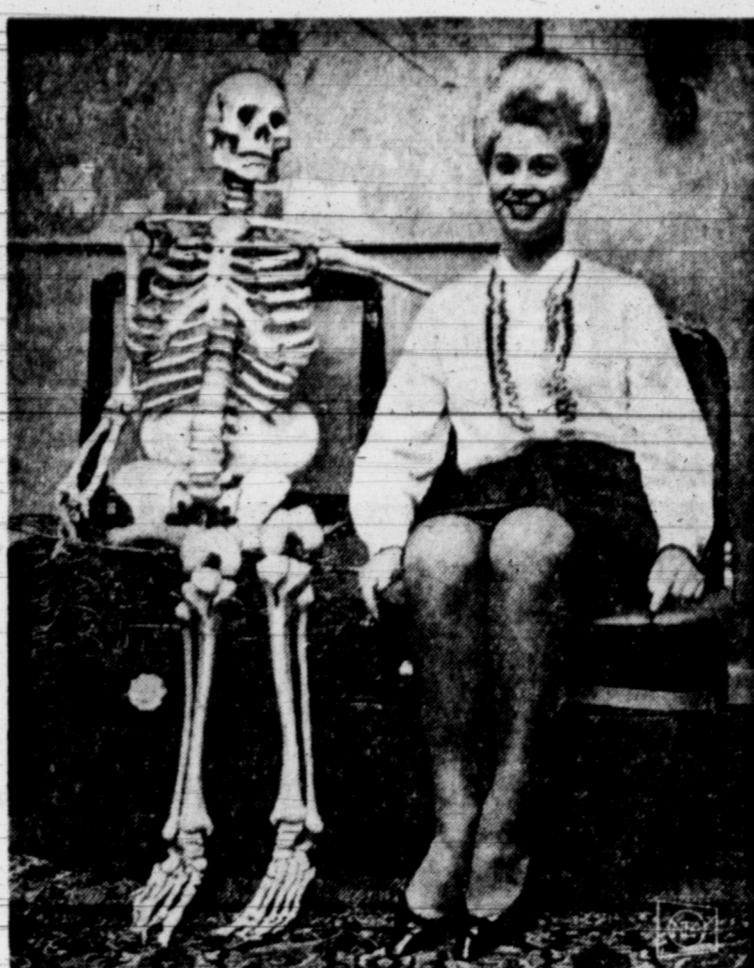

WASHINGTON — John L. Lewis, president-emeritus of the United Mine Workers, on the patience of the nearly 6 million unemployed:

“Put as long as their patience is maintained, the more violent will be the explosion when they reach the limit of their endurance.”

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy commenting on two recessions, high unemployment and a record peacetime deficit when Maurice Stans was budget director in the Eisenhower administration:

“That is not a record we plan to duplicate if we can help it.”

AROUND THE WORLD

ON THE FREEWAY—A pattern of curves, lights and underpasses creates a new route into Washington, D.C., from Virginia and National Airport. It's the recently opened 12th Street Freeway, viewed with the picturesque Capitol dome in the background. It offers motorists an impressive view of the city.

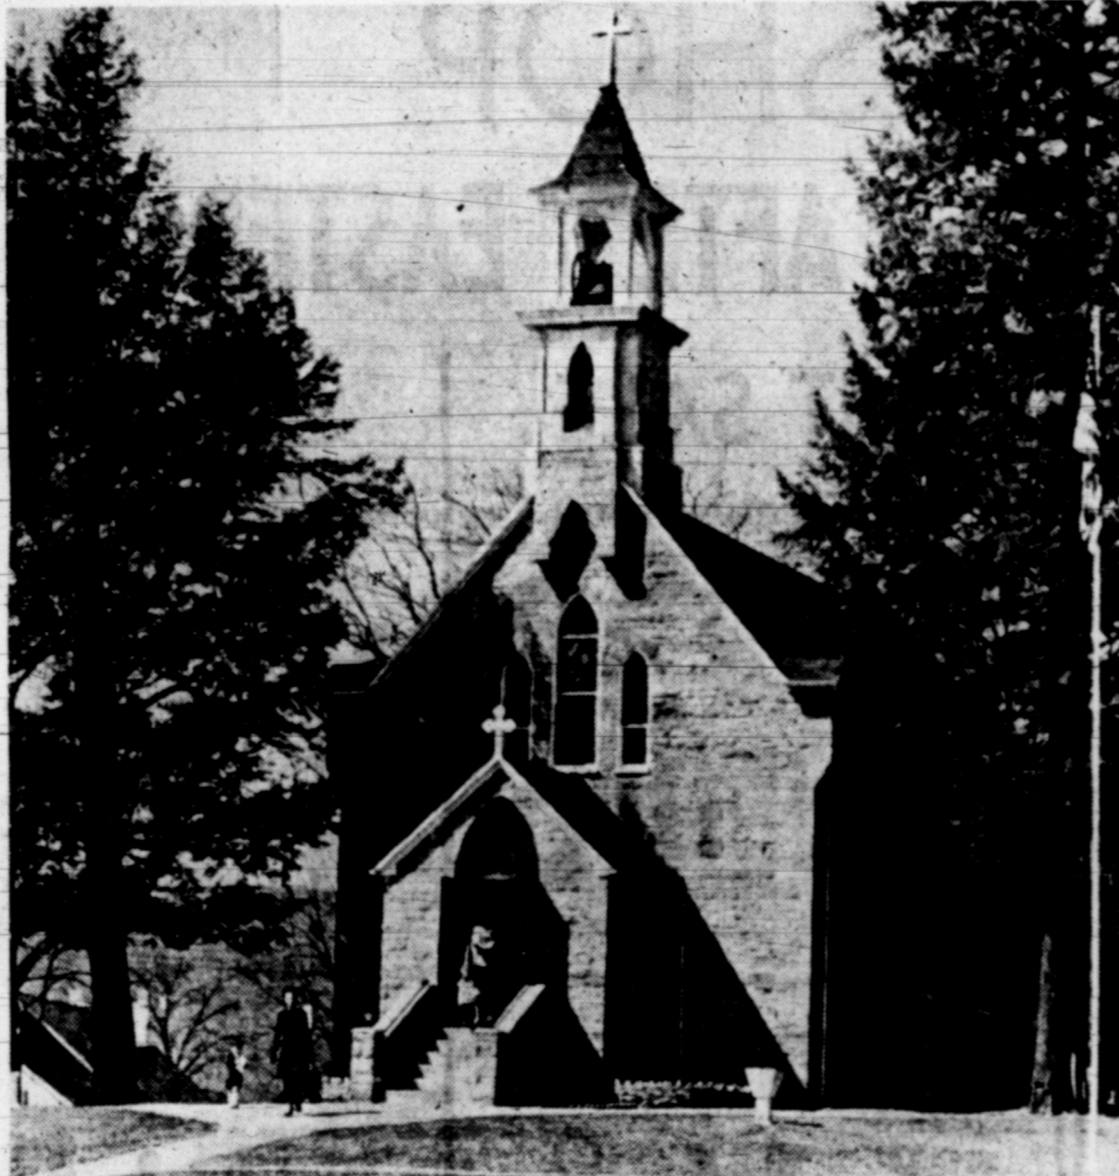

TEAM WORK—Mixed with modern day methods of canning, horse teams stand out like a sore thumb, but they are still found useful at a canning company in Kenyon, Minn. They haul silage to a large pit from the plant where cream-style corn is put in its metal packaging.

THIS IS ART?—Niki de St. Phalle stands next to her combined art and sharp-shooting creation in Munich, West Germany. She fills plastic containers with paint, beer and rotten eggs and then blasts them with a rifle.

TOP GATHERING—Designer Roberto Capucci adds a youthful halter top, gathered softly around the neckline, to this dress from his spring collection. Green surah silk dress is belted at waist with a slender matching green leather tie.

PEACEFUL PATTERNS—An atmosphere of peacefulness is created as light and shadow play on the small frame of Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church in Thurmont, Md. The little Roman Catholic church, built in 1856, has the capacity for 110 persons and is located near the Camp David presidential retreat.

FOND FAREWELL—Looking a little sad about the situation, Chaim Freund seems to be bidding his favorite girl a fond farewell. The youngster cuddled the life-like doll before boarding the S.S. Olympia in New York. Chaim and his parents sailed for a visit in Israel.

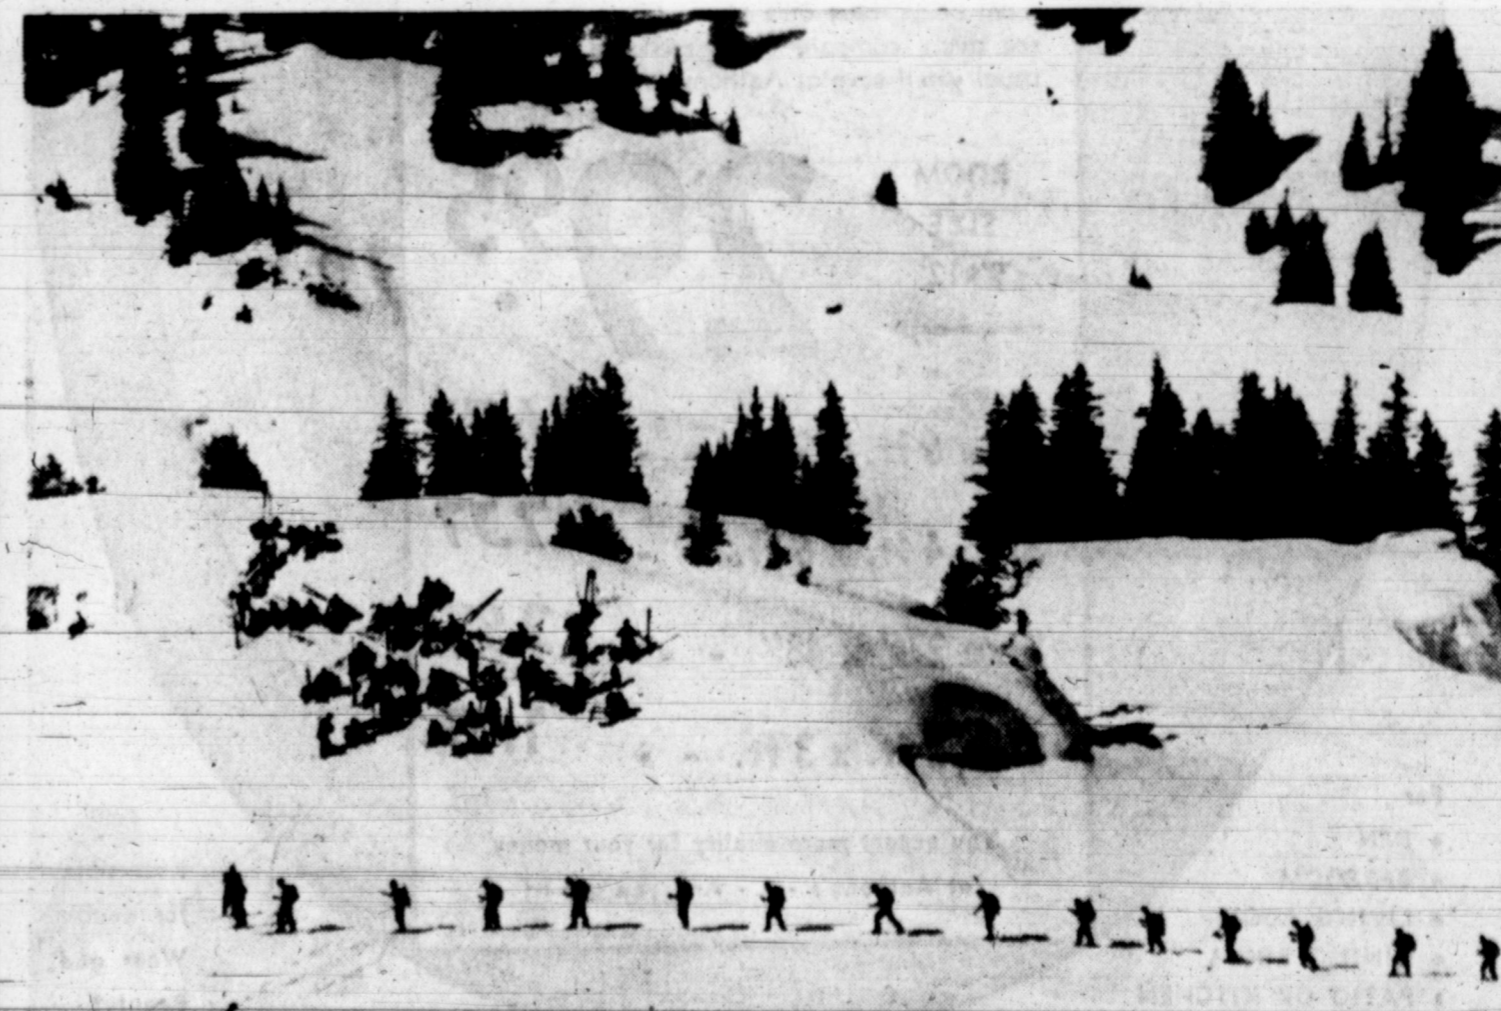

FINISHING TOUCH—Carefully draping an off-the-shoulder sleeve, Pierre Cardin puts the finishing touches to a costume he designed. The Paris couturier fitted outfits on models in his salon before sending them to New York where they were to be worn in a play on Broadway.

INSPIRED BY SPACE—Inspired by the space vehicle, Telstar, a West Berlin hair stylist created this soft flow of waves for a spring and summer coif. Hair is brushed back from forehead and gently combed around the sides.

CATCHING A TRAIN—Taking a brief rest on a railroad train is one thing, but when a cat decides to take on a wedding gown train it's another. This feline came upon the scene during a wedding at Leigh-On-Sea, England.

OPERATION 'COMRADESHIP'—Swiss soldiers rest (background) as another group climbs in military-like formation up the Letterli at Lenk, Berner Oberland, Switzerland. They were participating in a two-day skiing exercise to display good comradeship away from their official duties.

Scientists Observe For First Time, Storm On Venus

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Earth-bound scientists for the first time in man's history have observed a gigantic storm, 1,000 miles across, churning the dense clouds of ostensibly smiling Venus.

This was reported at the 4th annual meeting of the American Geophysical Union. Observation of the huge storm area was made possible by fitting an ultra-sensitive heat detector to the world's largest telescope, the 200-inch mirror atop Palomar Mountain in California.

Dr. Bruce Murray, space scientist at the California Institute of Technology, told the geophysical union that the observations were the most detailed ever made of the upper atmosphere of the brilliantly shining planet which is almost earth's twin in size.

object in the sky next to the sun, have shown no breaks and few variations in the structure of the thick cloud cover which perpetually hides the planet's surface from the view of man.

This disclosure is another item in the growing mass of evidence that Venus is inhospitable to the kind of life which exists on earth.

The Mariner 2 spacecraft which flew within 21,600 miles of Venus Dec. 14 reported that the surface temperature of the planet was around 800 degrees, hotter than molten lead.

Missile Strength

WHITE SANDS MISSILE RANGE, N.M. (UPI)—The Army has announced that a authorized military strength at White Sands Missile Range will be reduced by 922 before July 1.

A range spokesman said the reduction will be accomplished by not replacing men who complete their enlistments and who are transferred to other posts.

The reductions were ordered after a Department of the Army manpower survey team studied personnel assignments at White Sands, the spokesman said, and determined that reductions could be made without endangering the success of the range's various missions.

It was announced recently that about 325 civilians will be affected by job reductions at White Sands. New Mexico congressmen are seeking to have the order moderated or withdrawn.

The range spokesman said Tuesday that the reduction in military strength is not the result of a decrease in present or projected work loads at White Sands.

"The future of White Sands Missile Range is bright," Maj. Gen. J. Frederick Thorlin, the range commander, said.

Residents 'Spooked' By Sadistic Killer

WICHITA, Kan. (UPI) — Residents of two counties near here are "spooked" by the thought a sadistic killer may be at large, Sheriff Tommy Tolinson said Wednesday.

"Folks are nailing their windows shut," the Sedgewick County sheriff said. "If the husband is going to be away at night, wives spend the night with neighbors or relatives."

"They're spooked all right, and they have reason to be."

Sedgewick and Butler County deputies were intensifying the manhunt for James Otney, 34, a suspect in the slayings last Saturday of Earl Bolin, 52, and a detective a week ago.

old wife, Ruth. Bolin was found in his farm home with bullet holes in the head and back. The decapitated body of the woman was found just off a nearby road.

Because the body had been dismembered, authorities have not been able to identify the woman. Otney, sought in Texas on a forgery warrant, was arrested here but escaped from a Wichita

RECEIVES MERIT AWARD

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy arranged a White House ceremony today to present Mrs. Borden Harriman, 93-year-old former minister to Norway, a citation of merit for "singular and lasting contributions to the cause of peace and freedom."

Quotes In The News

WASHINGTON — Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., commenting on Republican chances in 1964:

"If the country doesn't start moving economically, it will be come obvious the people don't want Kennedy. I thought a few months ago that Kennedy would be impossible to defeat. I don't think so now."

MOSCOW — A Soviet newspaper, Capt. Vladimir Pavlov, quoted as saying that U.S. warships recently blocked his entrance into a Cuban port.

"The imperialist scum challenges peace and democracy and drives clouds on to the blue sky over the Caribbean Sea."

GREENWOOD, Miss. — Negro comic Dick Gregory, addressing a crowd of 1,000 cheering Negroes at a voter registration rally:

"I do not like the governor's (Gov. Ross Barnett) comments about outside agitators coming in here. Hitler could have said the same thing about Southern white boys."

Islet Ship

An uninhabited islet off Martinique was called HMB Diamond Rock during the Napoleonic wars. Here British sailors and marines held out for nearly 18 months before surrendering to a French naval squadron. Caves in its sheer cliffs sheltered barracks, coastal batteries and a hospital.

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Edmond O'Brien has been signed to star in MGM's new hour-long dramatic series "333 Montgomery Street" for NBC. The former Oscar winner will play a San Francisco lawyer in the series.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Television plans for next season and beyond indicate the emergence of high government departments in Washington, D.C., as a source of material for heroic images in mass entertainment series.

The adept use of television by President Kennedy, some of his family and a number of his administration aides, has been noted previously by this viewer and others. And of course, broadcasting in the past has had other fictional government heroes, including G-men, secret agents and those of the FBI.

But the new stirrings seem unique; and today's look at them here is the first of a number of articles that will examine from time to time in coming weeks some apparent trends in what the networks have in store for us now that this season is all but over and their new schedules are virtually locked in.

Most immediate among the plans for a top government department to have a romantic television hero is the autumn new, Robert Taylor series on NBC-TV, an hour-long weekly affair based on the field activities of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Taylor portrays a special assistant to the secretary.

It is now also reported that CBS-TV, for the season after next, is involved in another one-hour series, this one tentatively titled "Ambassador at Large," and having a State Department basis and background. It would be produced by Franklin Schaffner, who among other things happens to be a television advisor to the President.

In addition, there were reports not long ago that a top actor had been queried as to his interest in a possible series about the U.S. attorney general's office. And at

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI) — Kenneth Ward of Hayden Stone & Co. thinks it is logical to expect much heavier profit-taking in various leading stocks on any further strength.

On the other hand, he adds, the recent advance appears to have been due to improving business news as well as a background of further creeping inflation, and so far shows no sign of a top.

While it is clearly possible for the market to settle back a bit after such an abrupt rumup, Walt McKibben of Investgraphs Stock Survey thinks it will now consolidate for a while not far from 700. All this, the editor says, adds up to a picture of a market with considerable strength left—not one that has spent its energy in reaching current levels.

Shearson Hamphill's Walter Mintz says the steel situation in no way changes his optimistic views about intermediate-term prospects for the stock market. He says it is probable that the popular averages will rise in coming months, but that the advance will be uneven and fail to touch many industry groups and individual issues.

Walter Gutman of Stearns & Co. points out that a strong market in steels often has marked the end of a bull surge. He says it is now obvious that caution should be used in buying and that liquidation to build up buying power for the future is a rational move.

In entertainment again, ABC-TV's "McHale's Navy" is, of course, about a PT-boat skipper in World War II. And ABC also has a new series, "The Farmer's Daughter," with Inger Stevens as governess to a congressman's family, which should help make certain people feel nice and warm towards Washington as election time rolls around.

The Channel Swim: Ralph Bellamy is firm to replace Wendell Corey this fall as star of NBC-TV's "Eleventh Hour," which alleges to be about psychiatry.

Paul Hornung Suspended For Betting On Games

Al Karras Also Barred, Five Lions Get Fined

NEW YORK (UPI)—Most National Football League officials, including Vince Lombardi of the world champion Green Bay Packers, today agreed that the indefinite suspensions handed two of the pro game's greatest stars for betting on games were fully warranted.

Pete Rozelle, once labeled "a tool" of the pro league's club owners, proved to be an iron-fisted commissioner Wednesday when he barred Paul Hornung of the Packers, regarded as the most versatile player in football history, and Alex Karras, star defensive tackle of the Detroit Lions.

The 37-year-old NFL commissioner also fined five other Detroit players $2,000 each for betting on the 1962 league championship game and the Detroit club was fined $4,000 for failing to heed reports of its players' gambling activities.

Lombardi, coach and general manager of the Packers, was "shocked and hurt" when he learned of Hornung's suspension but he admitted Rozelle had no alternative.

"There is no evidence of criminal intent—that is, the shoving of points and so forth," Lombardi said. "However, there was a definite violation of the player contract and the constitution and by-laws of the league in regard to gambling, which is punishable by suspension."

Sees Stronger League
Art Modell, president of the Cleveland Browns, said the suspensions "mean that the NFL will be stronger than ever before because of Rozelle's decisions. It should serve as a strong deterrent in the future."

Other officials who praised the commissioner's decisions included Jack Mara, president of the New York Giants and George Halas, long-time owner-coach of the Chicago Bears.

Coach Buddy Parker of the Pittsburgh Steelers said he believed individual National Football League coaches should show more concern over the association players cultivate off the field and described the suspensions as "unfortunate."

William Clay Ford, president of the Lions, said Rozelle's ruling "was slow in coming and rough when it got here." He added, "we feel the ruling was harsh and assume the players feel it was harsh."

Hornung, the NFL's player-of-the-year in 1961 and a three-time league scoring champion, admitted he made "a foolish mistake" and said, "I just hope and pray the suspension will be lifted after next season."

Karras wasn't quite as gracious in accepting his penalty. "This is guilt by association and innuendo," said the 250-pound lineman, who is 28, a year older than Hornung. "I'm not guilty and I've done nothing to be ashamed of."

Both suspended players said they had no plans until 1964 when their cases will be reviewed by Rozelle. They had hoped to continue playing football elsewhere, but officials of the American Football League and the Canadian leagues said they would honor the NFL suspensions.

May Turn Wrestler
"Maybe I'll go into wrestling for the rest of my life," said Karras, who once wrestled professionally as "Killer Karras."

Rozelle, who revealed he "did much soul searching" before handing down his sweeping suspensions and fines, said all seven players involved "admitted the betting to us."

Hornung, an All-America quarterback at Notre Dame before he joined the pro ranks, was specifically charged with making bets on college and pro football games through a West Coast friend from 1959 through 1961. The wagers ranged from $100 to $500, a game.

That the whole picture of sports takes on a different aspect. We sportswriters have been lulled for many years by the late, great Judge Landis, who was so harsh he even kicked out the owner of the Philadelphia Phils for owning a race horse and virtually blackballed Rogers Hornsby, because he also likes to put a dollar on the nose of a nag. We thought he was overdoing it.

But since his death, everything is back the way it was. I would be allowed a Leo Durocher to remain in baseball after being caught in a crooked crap game? Would he have looked on a tolerant eye upon the machinations of the boxing world in which championships are bought and sold over the counter?

Yet we sportswriters have been among the worst. "Give him another chance," was our rallying cry. Give Durocher another chance, give Spivey another chance, give Liston another chance!

WELL, Yours Truly for one, has figured that the last chance has arrived. We'd like to see a new broom sweep everything clean starting right here in Pampa with the prospect of getting some of these college recruiters off Randy Matson's back. Moving over to Berger to get some of these pro-baseball scouts away from Big Joe Robinson until he finishes his education. Let's check them all out of the Panhandle. Let's sweep our own house clean. And then let's see if we can clean up the whole sports world!

If sports can't be kept as clean as it should be... if people can no longer root for their team without wondering whether it is their day to win or lose... then the heck with it, it isn't worth it any more!

WHEN, although unproved, evidence indicates that some of the finest coaches in the country are mixed up in gambling, who can blame a college or pro player if he wants to get a little for himself.

It happens to be particularly sickening to Yours Truly because I am a graduate of the same college as Alex Karras, and I am ashamed, as a sportswriter and an individual, to admit that I saw such all-out recruiting practices going on, and not only condoned them, but was glad to see my Alma Mater get these great players who could take them to the Rose Bowl.

THEREFORE, as a sportswriter, we feel that we are as much to blame as anyone else, maybe more. Instead of condoning the over-commercialization of everything from youth baseball on up; instead of publicizing boxing, which we know is as crooked as a dog's hind leg; instead of praising men like Leo Durocher who have been caught gambling and beating up on fans... instead of defending men like Sonny Gradelus and Bryant and Butts... instead of feeling sorry for the "pore li" college boys" all the way back to Bill Spivey and Wes Santee and Gene Melchiorre; we, the sportswriters should have been cracking down, or at least, leading the way in a campaign against gambling.

A dollar or a steak dinner can start out to be a joke, but the joke can blow so far out of proportion

PAUL HORNUNG

'Crown Prince Of Title Town' Through For At Least One Year

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI)—They called him the "crown prince of title town." But he may not be back anymore.

Paul Hornung, the "golden boy" of the world champion Green Bay Packers, is through in the National Football League for at least a year. He is through in the American and Canadian football leagues for at least the same period. He may be through in football — and through in Green Bay, the little big town where he was king.

"How could he do it to us?" moaned a comely young Green Bay stenographer Wednesday night. "He had everything to win and we were rooting for him."

"All the kids had faith in him. They wanted to be just like him. Now, I don't know," said warehouseman and part-time youth worker Roger Van Beaver.

"I am shocked and hurt," Vince Lombardi, Packers coach and general manager said. "I hate to see a good guy like him get fouled up," star Packer end Jerry Kramer said.

Play The Blues
At "Speed's" Bar, where Hornung often sang with the trio, making up his own words as he went along, they played only blues Wednesday night.

In the Lyric Lounge, another favorite Hornung hangout, the community sing boomed out, "Who's Sorry Now," and "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling." Hornung used to be the quarterback of a college football team known as the Fighting Irish.

"Everybody bets once in a while don't they," asked one patron. This is the way it was Wednesday night in this city of 62,888, smallest in the NFL, to which Hornung, Lombardi and the rest of the Packers brought back gridiron triumphs Green Bay had almost forgotten.

The Packers would go on without him. But teammates and townsmen were shocked and worried.

Hornung—big, blond, curly-haired, good-looking, friendly, extroverted—guy whose Irish charm was always able to calm belligerent barflies—was already being missed in "title town."

Green Bay fans would miss the sleek white Cadillac convertible and the white Thunderbird sports car he tooted through the streets.

They would miss the pretty girls who followed the 28-year-old bachelor about.

Has Playboy Reputation
Hornung had a reputation as a football playboy, some of it earned and some of it exaggerated. But on the gridiron he was all pro.

He joined the Packers in 1957 after winning the Heisman Trophy as a Notre Dame quarterback and starring in the East-West Shrine Game at San Francisco. That San Francisco appearance was eventually to lead to his downfall. It was there, according to NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle, he met the West Coast businessman with whom he began placing bets on games in the 1959 season.

Hornung got the news of his downfall Wednesday on the golf course at Louisville. His attorney, Chris Duval, said "Paul has gone to pieces over this."

The "golden boy" said, "I made a terrible mistake. I realize this now. I am truly sorry. What else is there to say?"

Sporting Sidelines

By JEFF COHANE

AS A lifelong lover of, believer in, and ardent advocate of organized sports in almost any form whatsoever, we feel a sudden sinking sickness inside, the sickness that a man must get when he finds his true love unfaithful to him.

First the Bryant - Butts mess and now the Hornung-Karras affair? Is the same thing happening to college and pro football, to major league baseball, to boxing, to racing?

Are the days of the Black Sox back again? Are the Frank Chases and Shoeless Joe Jacksons upon us again?

IF IT is, then let's make a clean sweep of the whole damned thing. Let's get another K. L. Landis and sweep out sports from the top to the bottom. Let's get rid of everyone who isn't playing sports for the love of it all the way from the athletic directors and coaches of the finest teams in the land... all the way down to the second-string subs who bet a dollar on a game.

And yet, we, the public, are as much to blame as anyone else... more in fact... When alumni of Texas HIGH SCHOOLS influence the parents of promising players from Class B schools to take a better job in a large city so their boys can play 4-A ball, isn't this the first step?

When that same boy is approached day in and day out, by college coaches who promise him everything under the sun if he will only sign on the dotted line, isn't this aiding and abetting the whole idea? When we so cheapen the value of a college education that every boy figures: What's in it for me?... when they see schools making money on their services, who is to blame if these young, impressionable boys figure they might as well make a buck out of it too?

WHEN, although unproved, evidence indicates that some of the finest coaches in the country are mixed up in gambling, who can blame a college or pro player if he wants to get a little for himself.

It happens to be particularly sickening to Yours Truly because I am a graduate of the same college as Alex Karras, and I am ashamed, as a sportswriter and an individual, to admit that I saw such all-out recruiting practices going on, and not only condoned them, but was glad to see my Alma Mater get these great players who could take them to the Rose Bowl.

Pennel Makes AFL Will Back Another Try NFL Suspensions At Vault Mark

NATCHITOCHEs, La. (UPI)—Pole vaulter John Pennel returns to Natchitoches Saturday for the 25th Annual Northwestern State College Relays and another shot at his pending world pole vault record of 16 feet 4 inches.

High school teams compete in the meet today and Friday. Pennel set the unofficial record at Natchitoches early this month. Last month Pennel vaulted 16'3" in the Memphis Relays to top the then existing world record of 16-2 1/2.

Pennel cleared 16 1/2 last Saturday in the Southwestern Relays at Lafayette, La. He complained of a "deep sprain" in his shoulder.

He will be shooting at his own relay record of 14-7, set in 1961. The University of Mississippi, Stephen F. Austin College of Nacogdoches, Tex., and Louisiana's six Gulf States Conference teams will compete Saturday.

Today's action sees Louisiana Class B and C high schools competing. Class A schools will compete on Friday.

Bobby Brezina May Get Post

HOUSTON (UPI)—Paul Hornung's suspension from the Green Bay Packers has caused Bobby Brezina of the University of Houston to look toward the starting halfback position for the Packers.

Brezina, was signed as a substitute for Hornung. The 195-pound halfback fullback led Houston in rushing last season with a 5-yard-per-carry average.

Y. A. Tittle Never Knew Of Betting

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Y. A. Tittle of Marshall, Tex., quarterback of the Eastern Division champion New York Giants, said Wednesday in all his 15 years of playing professional football in the National League he never heard of any player making bets.

"I know it must sound kind of naive," said Tittle after hearing of the suspensions plastered on Alex Karras and Paul Hornung for making bets on their own teams "but I never knew of anybody making bets."

"Of course, you don't know what happens on other ball clubs. But in the 10 years I played for the San Francisco Forty Niners and the two years with the Giants, there was no betting that I knew about."

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (UPI)

The Royal Birkdale Golf course near Southport on England's west coast will be the site of the 1365 Ryder Cup matches. The event will be staged probably in October but no date has yet been set.

HARMON GETS AWARD

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (UPI)—Senior Mike Harmon of New Hampton, Iowa will be awarded the U.S. Naval Academy's Weems' wrestling award for showing the "highest degree of the qualities of aggressiveness, determination, sportsmanship and team spirit."

Harmon, who won 17 of his 18 matches this past season, is a two-time 137-pound Eastern and intercollegiate champion.

White Deer To Face Strong Field In AA

LUBBOCK (Sp) — There's little doubt that Region One is the strongest in the state, yet the times are so good here that only a few of the records are in trouble this year.

But that won't take anything away from the meet and there's more power in this region overall than at anytime before.

Fort Stockton won the division last year, but come this Friday and Saturday, there'll be a new champion since the Panthers are now in Class AAA.

The general feeling among the coaches in the class is that either Denver City or Iowa Park will be the new champion about mid-afternoon Saturday, but Sonora, White Deer, Muleshoe, Winters, Haskell or Childress could win it, too.

Top Sprinter

Childress has the top sprinter in Charles Mitchell, who has run two 9.5 100-yard dashes and has a 1.5 in the 220. Haskell has the top discus thrower in John Kimbrough, son of the former Texas A&M-American.

James Cowell of Dimmitt won the 880 here last year and is back while Stanton's Bob Stephenson has the top time in the 440, 49.5. Jack Powell, who set a record in the shot put last year of 53 feet, is back, but the Granbury ace doesn't have much help when it comes to scoring points.

Mike Brockman, sophomore from Iowa Park, owns the best broad jump, 22-7/8, and Gerald Penney of Crane has the top pole vault, 12-4. Joe Link of Stamford is the top miler, while Louis Allred of Dalhart and George Mitchum of Cisco have run a 21.5 effort in the 220.

Hubbard is the only other record holder back from last year as he ran a 19.1 in the low hurdles.

Best chances for Area One contenders are in the 100-yard dash, where little Curtis Campbell of White Deer had the second best qualifying time in district, 10.1, and also ran a 9.7 in the Panhandle Relays; and in the 220, where Louie Allred of Dalhart is co-holder of the fastest time in his class, 21.5.

Carroll Russell, White Deer's "one-man gang," has a good chance of going to state in the high hurdles, as the 14.9 he registered this year is second only to Peters of Seymour, who blazed to a 14.4.

Ronnie Rainey of Shamrock has a fighting chance in the shot put, with his 50-6/8, heave the fourth best in his class, which is led by Powell of Granbury with 55-9/8.

Russell will have to get well above his 6-0 mark in the high jump as Seagraves of Muleshoe qualified with 6-2 and Fox of Denver City has leaped 6-4 1/2 this year. Larry Elliott of White Deer, who has posted an 11'6" vault at the Amarillo Relays, will have to keep flying for the clouds as Hubbard of Denver City qualified with that mark and Preney of Crane has vaulted 12'4" this season.

Prelims will get underway at 9:30 a.m. Friday at the Tech track in the field events, with the running prelims slated for 1 p.m. All finals will be held Saturday afternoon.

REGIONAL CONTENDERS — Big Randy Matson and little Ralph Palmer get ready to leave for the Class 4-A regional meet at Odessa. Matson, defending state champion in both the shot put and discus, has the second longest high school shotput throw in the nation and the longest discus throw in the state, while Palmer holds the Pampa High School record for the 440-yard dash.

Will Detroit Hold Lead

Tigers, Tigers burning bright; will they collapse in June fright? That's the question in the American League today after the Detroit Tigers let loose a couple of roars that shook even the sedate calm of the New York Yankee clubhouse.

Following Tuesday's 7-2 victory, the Tigers downed the world champions, 4-2, behind Don Mossi's 10-hit pitching Wednesday and completed a sweep of the two-game set. The two victories vaulted them into sole possession of first place and quieted talk that the Yankees could win the pennant this year without even trying.

The rub from the Tigers' point of view, of course, is that they accomplished the sweep against a Yankee team that had such T. J. Tamers as Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris on the bench. The two home run hitters were sorely missed against left-handers Hank Aguirre and Mossi.

Flowers Top Man In Regional Jump

LUBBOCK (Sp) — It's anybody's guess who'll win the team championship in Class B, but usually the winner doesn't score just a whole lot of points.

Booker and Rule tied for the championship last year with 74 points, the most scored by a winner in several seasons. Before that, Lazbuddie had won the crown for two straight years.

Booker is back again this time, but Rule is in a different region. Several teams qualified a lot of places for the preliminaries, slated to get underway at the Texas Tech track at 9:30 a.m. Friday. Field event finals are slated at the same time.

Vega qualified 17 individuals and two relay teams for the meet, while Jayton got 14 individual and one relay. Claude got 14 individuals and two relays and Bovina had 11 individuals and two relays qualify for the races.

Although these schools qualified a lot of persons, none has the best time in any event.

New Deal has the top discus throwers, but the Lions' chances for points in other events are slim. Southland has a top sprinter in John Haire and a good 880 runner in Webster Crawford, but after that, the points appear slim.

Pep's Doug Duke has the best time in the 440. Union's miler, Lupe Yzaguirre and Ronald Ledesma rank one-two, and Brack Shaver of Knox City has the best high hurdles time. Roger Sanchez of Weinert has the best low hurdles time.

Sloane Slovacek of Booker (10.2) in the 100; Jerry Lester of Miami (2:06.8) in the 880; Wheeler (45.7) in the sprint relay; and 13:38.0) in the mile relay are all good bests for places.

Best bets for area Class B schools however, are Miami's returning regionalists, Mark Arrington's 15.7 was not only the best qualifying time in the high hurdles, but matched the fastest time of any other hurdler in the meet, with Shaver of Knox City posting the same time.

Jimmy Flowers, who was fourth in the state last year, with a jump of 6'1", is a positive bet unless an accident should happen, as his jumps this year have been 6-1, 6-2, 6-3 and 6-2; while none else in Class B has even cracked the six-foot barrier.

Class B is the only division holding field event finals Friday morning. AA and A have theirs slated Saturday morning, but all running finals in all classes will be slated Saturday afternoon.

Junior High Golfers Play

Junior high golf coach Deck Woldt has announced that a ninth grade team from Lee and a mixed Lee and Pampa JHS eighth grade team will engage in a triangular meet at Borger today.

Hosts will be Houston and Austin of Borger, and the match will be at the Phillips Country Club.

The ninth graders going, on the basis of qualifying rounds, all of Lee, are Jim Deaton - 78, Richard Ellis - 80, Tom Warren - 90, Bobby Pritchard - 92, David Fain - 98 and Fred Tinsely - 104.

The eighth grade qualifiers were Troy Edwards - 92, Ricky Roach - 93, Charles McKinney - 93, Tommy Capps - 94, Mike Noblitt - 102 and Darrell Smith - 102. Edwards and Smith are from Pampa.

Woldt said he hoped to have a return match here next week, with both Pampa and Lee having teams in both brackets.

Braves Looking Great With Bragan, Spahn, Lew

A new manager and an old-for-help in the ninth from reliever out singles to win for the Dodgers. laughing it up like the glory years of 1957 and 1958.

The new manager is Bobby Bragan and the old formula to let Lew Burdette and Warren Spahn handle the bulk of the pitching and Hank Aaron and Ed Mathews take care of most of the hitting. It's a formula that paid off in National League pennants in 1957 and 1958 although it was as interesting as stale beer the last few years.

They say Bragan doesn't have an outfield and lacks pitching depth but Bobby says he'll get by if the old-timers get some occasional help — and the Braves have a six-game winning streak today to prove that it isn't one of those pixie-like Bob's jokes. Ori-streak is the longest in the National League this season and 5-4.

The Braves made it six in a row Wednesday night when they beat the Philadelphia Phillies 6-5 behind Lew Burdette who needed the third of three successive two-Burdette's win marked the second straight time he has followed Spahn with a triumph. The pitching heroes of 1957 and '58 have scored four of the Braves' six victories so far this year.

The Braves took over first place when the Houston Colts beat the San Francisco Giants, 2-1, in 13 innings. The Los Angeles Dodgers scored a 10-9 win over the Chicago Cubs, the St. Louis Cardinals beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 7-3, and the Cincinnati Reds defeated the New York Mets, 5-0, in other NL games.

In the American League, the Detroit Tigers beat the New York Yankees, 4-2, the Los Angeles Angels shut out the Minnesota Twins, 4-0, and the Baltimore Orioles topped the Boston Red Sox, 5-4.

Jim Campbell broke up the long struggle in San Francisco when he homered off Don Larsen with only one short of the best. The Braves were able to accomplish what they had tried to do last year.

Bill Skowron, only 2-for-23 when he homered off Don Larsen with only one short of the best. The Braves were able to accomplish what they had tried to do last year.

Lakers Win Playoff Tilt

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The Los Angeles Lakers trailed the Boston Celtics by one game today as the teams took a breather in the best-of-seven National Basketball Association (NBA) championship series.

The Lakers scored a 119-99 victory in the third game Wednesday night, leaving the Celtics ahead in the series by two games to one. Boston won the first two games on its home court Sunday and Tuesday.

The Pampa Daily News

AN INDEPENDENT FREEDOM NEWSPAPER

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by any government, with the gift of freedom, and that it is every man's duty to God to preserve his own liberty and respect the liberty of others. Freedom is self-control, no more, no less.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guides expressed in the Ten Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. For only when man understands Freedom and is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities in harmony with the above moral principles.

An Idea For The Ladies

Publisher Richard N. Hammell of The Daily Corinthian of Corinth, Miss., presents a letter-to-the-editor from a lady subscriber with a suggestion which he says "could really make the voice of local ladies felt in Washington." We think you will agree this is one of the ranking understatements of 1963.

The writer says it is the feeling of women all over the country that "each of us should be vitally interested in getting through to the Federal Government just what the people of the grass roots need and want." She goes on to report on a homemaker's movement called "Operation Coffee Cup" that appears to be as catching as measles.

"Key women in the community," she explains, "have a morning (or afternoon) coffee for neighbors and friends. Coffee and cookies are served, along with the bills of pending legislation. Card tables are set up, equipped with stationery, stamps and pens, also names and addresses of the Congressman and Senators. Everyone is asked to write in their own handwriting and their own words, their wishes to the men who represent them in our Government.

"Small neighborhood coffees of 10 to 15 get more done than large groups.

"Specific knowledge of the bills you are for or against, along with an admonition to hold the line on pending or other general trends bring more concrete results. Also a steady flow of mail throughout the Congressional year is more impressive than a big push, then nothing for another year."

Says Publisher Hammell: "Ladies who have been saying they want to do something to encourage better government, but have insisted they didn't know just what to do, could very well follow the 'Operation Coffee Cup' plan. We like it. We'd like to see dozens of such groups spring up throughout this community, and county, and continue to spread throughout the state, the South and the nation."

As we have said before, no young girl in the throes of her first love affair watches for the postman with more anxiety than our sterling statesmen in Washington. Furthermore, it should be apparent to every thoughtful citizen (male or female) that faced as they are with a discouraging number of grave decisions, the solons are entitled to all the guidance and support their constituents can give. Washington can be a mighty lonely place for the Congressman who can only wonder what they're thinking back home. This could work for our lawmakers in Austin, too.

If the coffee-cup girls will do their legislative homework — and then take pen in hand, that very hand (that used to rock the cradle) could well rule our part of the world at least.

Designed To Distract

A political campaign by design and cunning is intended to distract attention from the real issues and to befuddle the electorate so that it votes for the most assured tone of voice or the most handsome profile.

What Causes Cancer?

"That a cure will be found for cancer seems well-nigh inevitable," states a release from the American Medical Association on its recent clinical meeting in Los Angeles.

But despite all the years and the millions and the patience of eminent scientists employed in research, and which have produced more scientific articles on this subject than on any other, the AMA warns: "the disease remains largely an enigma. Nobody pretends to know when cancer will be cured, or even what causes it."

The broad picture emerging from the meeting, however, "is not as gloomy as some would have you believe. . . . We seem to be coming down to cases with the disease," says the report. It notes "a high degree of agreement on just what cancer is — a disease of the cells and growth gene haywire" — and while "we still can't say why cancer is," the search for a cure goes on.

These patient men have already started giving us the "cure". . . . Irradiation, certain drugs, and surgery have prevented death from cancer among thousands and enabled them to live until death caught up from other causes — including old age.

"In a sense, this is a cure — a cure for some cases of some forms of cancer.

"In other words," the release concludes, "the final 'cure' is already underway. But it is coming about through a slow series of steps rather than by means of a dramatic breakthrough."

We do not see how it could be stated more plainly that the best minds in medicine and medical research have no simple answers and do not expect any — despite their confidence in ultimate success. Let those less qualified, who are disposed to leap to easy judgments, remember: "Nobody pretends to know when cancer will be cured, or even what causes it."

Inconsistent Budget Making

This is budget time for fiscal 1964 for the Federal Government. Congress will have to decide by June 30 how much money to appropriate for the various public services rendered by the departments in Washington.

Most taxpayers believe that the same budget making rules apply to all departments and services. But that isn't true. One glaring example will illustrate a major inconsistency that should be corrected.

Consider the following list of federal services for a moment:

HOW TO ADDRESS OUR LAW MAKERS

You may wish to write your senators and representatives in Washington and Austin. Here are their addresses:

- (FEDERAL)
- Rep. Walter Rogers, House Office Bldg., Washington 25, D. C.
 - Sen. Ralph Yarborough, Senate Bldg., John Tower, Senate Office Bldg., Washington 25, D. C.
- (STATE)
- Rep. Granger McAllister, House of Representatives, Austin, Texas
 - Sen. Grady Hazelwood, State Senate Bldg., Austin, Texas.

Agriculture Extension Service
Post Office system
Federal Court system
Internal Revenue Service

All five agencies render day-by-day service to millions of Americans. All are financed by taxes. But only the Post Office is required to charge the users of its services rates high enough to balance expenditures. Is this fair?

One of the destructive side effects of this policy toward the Post Office is that rates have already been raised to levels where they may be out of reach for some mail users.

In the proposed study of postal costs and mechanization, due to start in 1963, a thorough inquiry should be made of the budgeting, accounting and cost-ascertainment methods of the Post Office.

Not only do all citizens pay taxes to support this monopoly public service, but on top of that, all of them are charged also ever higher postage rates to balance post office expenditures. No other Federal public service agency is operated in this manner. Each of us should ask our congressman:

What goes on in the strange accounting system of the Post Office Department?

Pull Up A Chair

People keep many things in telephone directories and sometimes forget to remove valuables when new directories are delivered and old ones collected. One physician used his book for a file, placing his patients' case histories at the pages where each patient's name was listed. Other items found in the books: Money, recipes, combinations to safes, wedding rings, photographs, diplomas, keys, neckties and uncashed checks. . . . The Bell Telephone System annually distributes 100 million copies of the directories to its subscribers, but directories in busy spots, such as large railroad stations, get such a big workout they must be replaced every three or four days. The first phone directory appeared in New Haven, Conn., and listed 50 names. Today it requires 120,000 tons of paper to print these books of listings for the nation.

Most of our Presidents, starting with George Washington, found relaxation in card playing and during the administration of Harry Truman he frequently played poker with news correspondents and members of his staff, particularly on long journeys. A recognized authority tells us that General Eisenhower is much better at Contract Bridge than he is at golf and his great friend, General Alfred Gruenther, President of the American Red Cross, is credited with having created the plan under which all major Duplicate Bridge tournaments are conducted today.

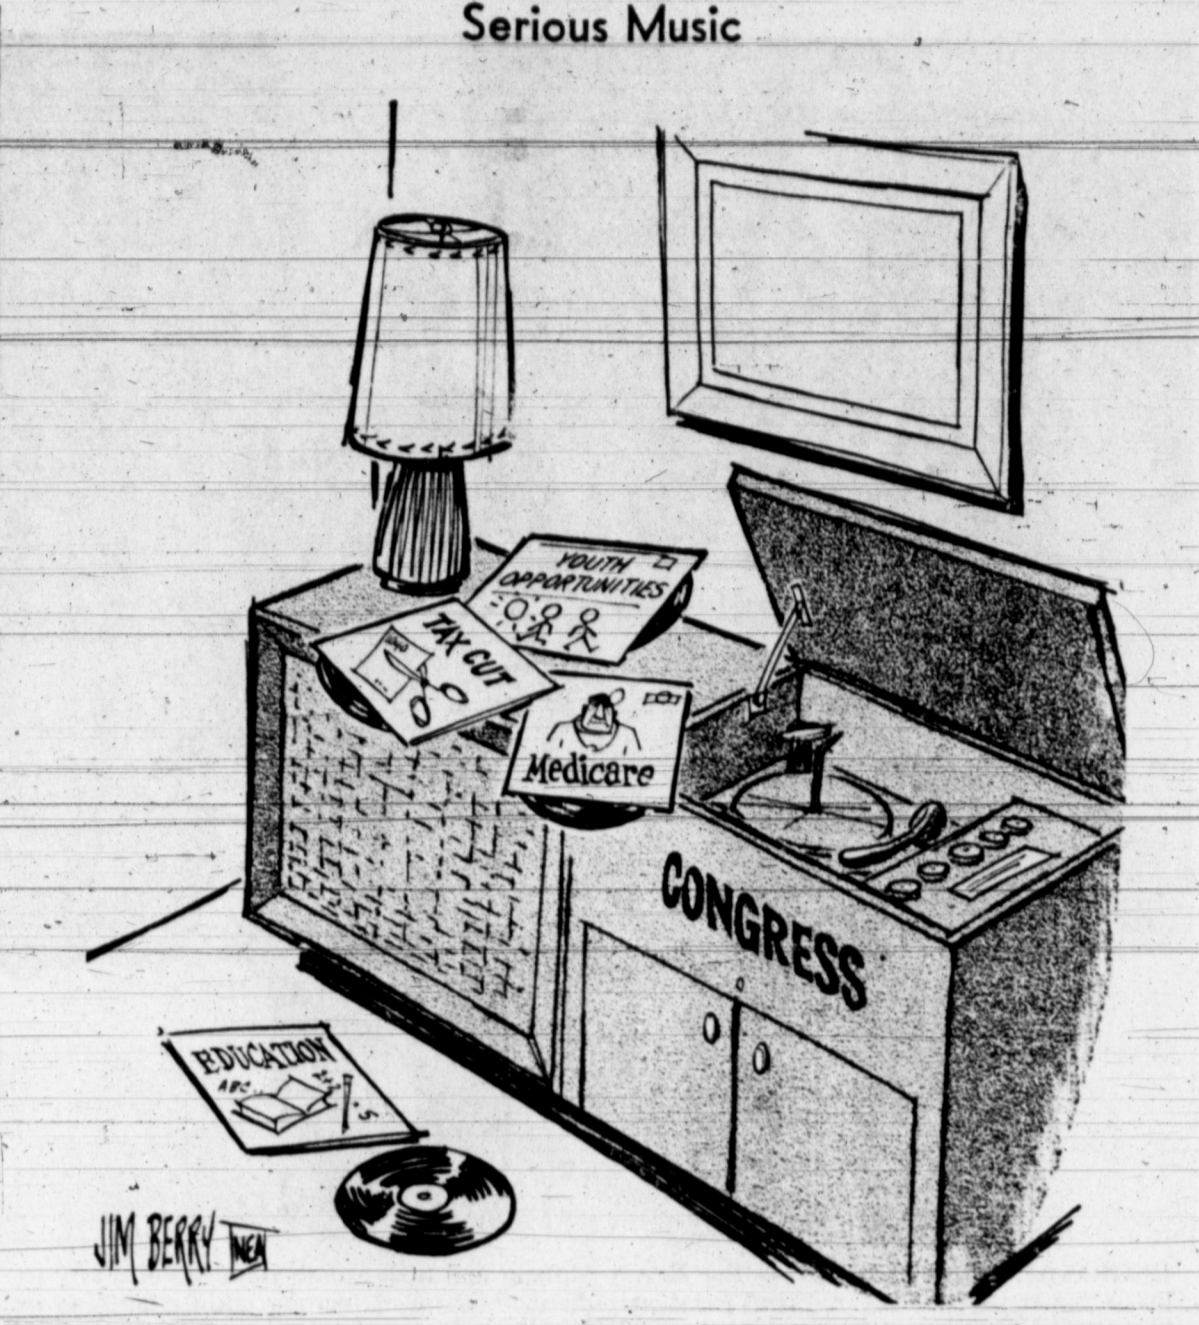

Country Editor speaking: "A husband doesn't mind a wife's changing her mind — but why does she have to do it so frequently when he's helping her rearrange the furniture?" . . . Memory Lane: Despite all legal harassments, professional fortune tellers seem to thrive everywhere. But how come there are no professional interpreters of dreams? For anyone who'd paid money for a fortune teller's service would be quite as likely to fork over and find out what his or her dreams indicated.

In warfare, when you hear of an army being decimated, you think of it as being all wiped out. Originally, though, "decimate" meant to take the 10th part of any grouping, or to select by lot and punish with death every 10th man, so as to "decimate" a regiment for mutiny. . . . A news dispatch from New Haven, Conn. says that a Chinese laundryman reported $3 stolen from his store when he stepped next door to wash some clothes in a laundromat.

Never search for the origin of a saint, river or woman — Proverb of the Far East. . . . When paper currency becomes worn and no longer fit for general use, it is withdrawn from circulation and completely destroyed by incineration. One-dollar bills make up the bulk of the currency which has to be retired because of unfitness. A one-dollar bill lasts about a year as a rule, and more than a billion of them are in circulation. Bills of higher denomination naturally last for many years.

Today's favorite gag: SHE — "Doctor, will you tell me what is wrong with me?" He — "Madam, you are too fat, you use too much rouge and lipstick, you have your hair bleached, you smoke too much, and one other thing — you are in the wrong office. The doctor is next door; I am only an advertising writer." . . . In one of his gallant moods Benjamin Franklin observed: "One good husband is worth two good wives; for the scarcer things are the more they are valued."

Kennedy - Khrushchev Meeting, in Informal Setting, Seems in Making for June—Perhaps in Italy

it's Up To You

by HOWARD KERSHNER L. H. D.

WASHINGTON — A personal meeting between President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev appears to be in the making.

Exploratory talks on that are underway in Washington, Moscow and Belgrade to ascertain if such a get-together can be arranged during the President's forthcoming trip to Europe.

Still very much up in the air are the date and place where the Big Two discussions could be held in an informal atmosphere and in secure surroundings.

Two possible places are Rome or Venice as the paths of Kennedy and Khrushchev could cross late in June when both visit Italy at the invitation of that government.

Rome is favored as the conference site by Khrushchev. Intelligence authorities report the Kremlin ruler would like to time a meeting with Kennedy close to an audience with Pope John XXIII for the resounding impact both would have on world opinion.

Pope John indicated willingness to receive Khrushchev during the private audience granted the Soviet Premier's son-in-law Alexei Adzhubei, editor of Izvestia.

Subsequently, Catholic Church sources in the U.S. learned that Cardinal Giovanni Urbani, Patriarch of Venice, suggested a Kennedy-Khrushchev meeting in Venice. As the Patriarch succeeded Pope John in the Venetian diocese, his proposal is considered to have certain support in the Vatican.

A possible third site is a mountain lake retreat in northern Yugoslavia, near the Italian border.

This resort was offered by President Tito. He made the proposal to Ambassador George Kennan, who has inspected the area and approved it.

SWITCHING POLICY—Since his only other meeting with Khrushchev in Vienna, June 3-4, 1961, the President has given no public encouragement to another. The official position has been that such "summitry" could be repeated only on the hard and fast condition that a significant agreement would be negotiated.

Now the President is saying privately the time is ripe for another informal get-together with Khrushchev even if no formal agreement is reached.

Ambassador Roy Kohler of Moscow and former Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson, now special U.S. State Department adviser on Soviet affairs, have been directed to explore the possibility of a meeting with Khrushchev.

Disarmament Director William Foster significantly hinted at such a conference during a briefing of Democratic congressional leaders.

When a legislator asked about a direct Washington-Moscow communications link, Foster startled his listeners by replying that it was probable that private discussions between the President and Khrushchev would take place before a "hot line" was put into operation. The disarmament chief would not elaborate on this unexpected statement.

MORE TO COME — In a recent unannounced trip to Europe, Assistant Defense Secretary Paul Nitze started laying the groundwork for another controversial "arms control" offer to Russia.

Nitze outlined to influential European leaders, both in and out of government, a plan under which the NATO and the Warsaw alliances would exchange military missions to "reduce tensions and show good faith."

Under this proposal, Communist and Western military missions would be assigned to the NATO and Warsaw headquarters as "observers." Each mission would have a "hot line" communications link with its own headquarters. . . . Nitze, slated to become Defense Secretary McNamara's top assistant in June, met with Charles Stelle, chief U.S. disarmament negotiator in Geneva, to instruct him on presenting this plan to Russia.

In the past two years, the Kremlin has repeatedly urged a so-called non-aggression pact between NATO and the Warsaw Alliance. The Kennedy Administration has been favorable to such an accord, but President Charles de Gaulle has adamantly vetoed it.

FOREIGN FLASHES — President Kennedy is planning to shift Edmund Gullion, controversial Ambassador to the Congo, to South Vietnam to replace Ambassador Frederick Nolting, Jr. Gullion, who worked closely with UN officials to oust Katanga's Moise Tshombe, is expected to apply strong pressure on President Ngo Dinh Diem to widen the base of his government to bring opposition members into his cabinet. In the past, Gullion has favored coalition-type governments in China and Italy. Before the fall of China to the Communists, Gullion, as a member of the State Department Planning Council, was an important policy-maker for that area of the world. . . . Ambassador Nolting, an outstanding career diplomat, is being transferred to another post because of policy differences with Deputy Undersecretary of State

Our union-led strikers are demanding higher wages and fringe benefits. From what source do they expect these extra dollars to come? There are three possibilities.

First, increased production resulting from technological improvement and more efficient industrial equipment. This means greater capital investment. But if more capital is to be invested—those who save it will have to be rewarded, otherwise they will not save and there will be, and indeed there already is, an insufficiency of capital.

Second, a decrease in profits equivalent to the increase demanded by labor. Already labor is paid eight times as much as the owners of the equipment they use. Equipment supplies 95 per cent of the energy used in our industries and the owners of the equipment receive one-eighth of the amount paid to the workers who supply only 5 per cent of the needed energy. If this small portion to owners be further reduced it is doubtful if there would be sufficient incentive to induce savings.

Any further shrinkage in profits might well be disastrous from the standpoint of decapitalizing . . . economy and forcing us into a much less efficient means of production — socialism and its resulting far lower standard of living.

The third alternative is to take the additional money the workers are demanding, from the consumers by means of higher prices. But our workers are, also, by far the largest part of the consuming public. They, themselves, therefore will have to meet the added labor costs in the form of higher prices. To the extent that they and other segments of the public cannot do this, and reduce their purchases accordingly, unemployment will follow.

We conclude, therefore, that the only sound basis for wage increases is corresponding increases in productivity. If the cost of the increases be levied upon the consumer he will buy less and unemployment will result. If these increased costs be levied upon the owners of the equipment the workers are using, in the form of lower profits, saving will decline, financing will be inadequate, industrial equipment will become older and less efficient, productivity will decline and there will be more unemployment and less for all.

Averell Harriman, Secretary of State Dean Rusk will shortly make a speech on South Vietnam in which he will advocate more political and social reforms in that Communist-beleaguered nation.

TRUTH FORUM

Some Newsmen Expect Truth from Government

By ED DELANEY

Spokesmen for the nation's news media told a House subcommittee in Washington that lies by government officials are undermining the faith our people should have in what the officials of their government say. The subcommittee was told bluntly that the tactics being practiced by certain bureaus and departments of the government are comparable to those in communist controlled countries.

Some of us have been warning of this trend for the past two years and more. Those of us who have cited irrefutable proof of such deceitful practices have been accused of trying to destroy confidence in certain of the administration's favored bureaus and departments. It is gratifying to note that at long last the responsible and respected heads of the nation's press are echoing the words we have been shouting in the wilderness, so to speak.

For example, Gene Robb, a vice president of the American Newspaper Publishers Assn. and publisher of two newspapers in Albany N.Y., said the record now shows several instances of the government's lying to the American people in times of crisis. He did not resort to the use of a milder term such as prevarication or conscious deception, he said it was "lies" the government spokesmen told a trusting public.

He added that "a government can successfully lie no more than once to its people. Therefore everything it says and does becomes suspect. And all the more so when a high ranking government officer makes speeches to justify these lies."

These are plain words which even the administration officials cannot fail to understand. And since they are the truth, just what kind of an excuse or alibi may we expect in an unconvincing attempt to absolve the administration spokesmen?

Charles S. Rowe, editor of a newspaper in Fredericksburg, Va., and chairman of the Freedom of Information Committee of the AP Managing Editor Assn. made his position clear for the House subcommittee members. "If we should accept the premise that the government has a right to lie to the American people under one set of circumstances, there is serious danger that this repugnant philosophy will be extended to more and more circumstances and we will find ourselves being lied to with increasing frequency." Mr. Rowe urged that in the conflict of totalitarianism versus our republican form of government an ideology, that we do not imitate the tactics of our enemy. Let our weapon be truth and not the big lie, he insisted. This column has consistently advocated just that.

The fretful excuse some of the lying officials advance is that there are often matters dealing with national security which leaked into the news and were intentionally misleading for the purpose of deceiving the enemy. It is admitted that international communism, with its fountain head in Moscow, is that enemy.

Many of us reject any such alibi, for the simple reason that, from the disclosures of subversion and Soviet espionage agents in important departments of the government, the enemy has the facts and is only mildly amused at the distortion of truth, which the administration officials make unsuccessful effort to conceal.

There is, of course, a long record of lying to the American people by high government officials in past years. Franklin Roosevelt made a practice of concealing his plans and purposes by resorting to falsehood. One of the most disgraceful of his lies was when he went before a joint meeting of Congress after he returned from Yalta. He told the people's representatives that the Yalta meeting concerned itself "only" with the European war and its attendant problems and not the war in the Pacific. At the time he was lying to Congress, he knew that in his private safe in the White House, was the secret agreement with Stalin, which he sold Nationalist China down river and agreed that the Soviet armies should enter the war in the Pacific. They were not chosen or wanted, as Gen. Douglas MacArthur, has stated. But FDR was eager to conciliate and cooperate with the Soviet criminals. The result of that secret deal with Stalin is a plague for us today. Not only in Asia, but in the perfidious abandonment of many countries in Eastern and Central Europe. When campaigning for the presidency, Mr. Kennedy said he would try to follow the path charted by Roosevelt.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economics and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

Question: Can initiated force or threats of same ever produce goodwill? The answer to that is that we can think of no case where initiated force or threats of same have produced goodwill. There are plenty of cases where initiated force or threats of same have produced hate and ill will or fear. As an example, protective tariffs and immigration restrictions produce ill will among those who are prevented from using the talents that nature gave them anywhere in the world where their talents were in the greatest demand.

Another case of where initiated force or threats of same produce ill will is labor unions that strike and limit apprentices and violate the very principles of real democracy. And real economic democracy was expressed by Walt Whitman when he said, "I give you the password of democracy: I will except nothing that everyone else cannot have on the same terms." And when we have laws that give any special privileges, any subsidy for any group at the expense of others, it cannot produce goodwill, but has a tendency to cause resentment and ill will.

That is the great harm of initiated force or threats of same, for it scares people and causes them to fail to use their energy to the utmost to develop their own faculties and thus to benefit themselves and all mankind. If we never initiated force or threats of same, the world would be entirely different and we would have, undoubtedly, peace, goodwill, happiness and much prosperity.

Succession Law

The presidential succession law provides that if both the president and vice president of the United States die, the speaker of the House of Representatives and then the president pro tempore of the Senate shall be next in line of succession.

LITTLE LIZ

The only reason some kids don't flunk spelling is that no one can read their writing.

Averell Harriman, Secretary of State Dean Rusk will shortly make a speech on South Vietnam in which he will advocate more political and social reforms in that Communist-beleaguered nation.
