

Dear, Abby... Miserable Childhood Often Happy Adulthood

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My mother had a miserable childhood and she wants mine to be worse. I am almost 15 and I am treated like a two-year-old. My mother won't let me go in cars with boys, and when I try to explain to her that I like the girls my age are allowed to she accuses me of talking back to her. Please, Abby, help me explain this to my mother.

NO RIGHTS DEAR NO: A daughter who thinks her mother wants her to have a "more miserable child hood" than her own needs to have a few things explained to HER. Your mother forbids you to go in cars with boys, accept her decision without an argument. You might resent her holding you back now but, take my word for it, you will thank her later.

EAR ABBY: Occasionally you print letters in your column from wives or friends complaining of a man's health food addiction. Don't these people know how they are married to a man who band would stop at a HEALTH bar for a glass of carrot juice after work. I wish he would come home with a six-pack of wheat germ. How wonderful it would be to be married to a man who loved his family so much he wanted to take good care of his health so he would be around to see his children grow up.

ALCOHOLIC'S WIFE DEAR ABBY: I've been married for three years and it never occurred to me to mistrust my husband, but here is my story. Last week I went to visit my parents, who live 200 miles away. I stayed three days. When I returned, my neighbor (we live in an apartment) told me that my husband had brought a young woman to our apartment and she went in at 5:55 P.M. and came out at 7:15 P.M. When I asked my husband about it he said he had invited a co-worker to see our apartment because she was decorating her and wanted some Forest Facilities

New Hampshire's White Mountain National Forest contains 100 miles of forest service roads, 1,000 miles of foot trails, 11 picnic and 14 camping areas, 47 lakes and ponds and 850 miles of fishable streams.

DEAR NERVOUS: When a woman is seeking ideas for decorating, an hour and 20 minutes is no time at all. The greatest danger in your marriage at the moment could be your neighbor. She sounds like a trouble-maker.

Stop worrying. Write to Abby. For a personal reply enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Contentment Topic At Varietas Club

Varietas Study Club met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. L. M. Harrah, 2401 Duncan, with Mrs. Tilden Armstrong presenting the first portion of the program on "Contentment Necessary To Successful Living?"

In opening remarks, she said, "No one can really live well until he learns the secret of contentment. A truly contented person is one who has peace in his heart and mind; who is an organized person, happy within, but sensitive without to the trouble and pain in the world."

"In order to be contented," she continued, "you must have a profound discontent. The people who are discontented, yet with a controlled contentment underlying it, are the people who really change the world. The moment you become too contented with yourself that moment you cease to grow."

She said, "Femininity should be the goal of every woman. While femininity is many things, the truly feminine woman gives to others, the gift of herself." Quoting Danny Kaye, she said, "Femininity is the ability and desire to understand, comfort and please a man and to give him support without ever wanting or appearing to dominate."

During the business meeting conducted by Mrs. Harrah, Mrs. W. A. Waggoner, president of the Texas Club Woman of the new home of the Texas State Library in Austin. Mrs. Otis Nace was appointed to bring the history of the club up to date, which, in turn, will be submitted to the district historian. Refreshments were served to 12 members.

Extracurricular Matches Land Youths In Court

The peace and serenity of Memorial Gardens have been disturbed recently by area teenagers who have picked the cemetery as a place to settle differences of opinion via fistfights, according to law enforcement officers.

Highway Patrol Sgt. J. W. Wilson said today both the Highway Patrol and the Gray County Sheriff's department have been called out three times in the last six weeks to break up large groups of youngsters who have gathered at the cemetery as spectators of a boxing match.

Sheriff Rufe Jordan sent out two cars Friday afternoon to break up a ring of some 40 teenagers who were watching two more of their number fight it out. The Highway Patrol also was called out and issued 10 tickets for parking on the highway.

About 27 of the youths were taken to County Court, County Juvenile Officer Bill Leonard reported that some of the teenagers were juveniles and some were over 17. All were taken before County Judge Bill Craig who issued a stern warning to them before they were released.

The action capped a tension-filled week in which officers using snarling police dogs, broke up chanting groups of Negroes marching on the courthouse.

start soon on its own negotiations with unions which have been working under old contracts. The Post resumed publication March 4 after breaking away from the publishers association.

Another happy development on the newspaper scene Sunday occurred in Cleveland where the Press and Plain Dealer have been shut down in a 124-day-old strike. One of the last major obstacles to ending that walkout was overcome when striking printers came to terms with management. This left only the machinists without an agreement.

The New York dailies stopped publication of their editions in the city when printers struck the Times, News, World-Telegram & Sun and Journal-American.

The formula proposed by Wagner which eventually settled the printers' strike, then the other union disputes, was a $1.63 per week package over a two-year contract period. The increase was reflected in new prices for the Times and Herald Tribune today, up a nickel to ten cents.

American Cultural Inferiority Complex Has Given Way To Renewed Interest

First of Five Editor's Note: The United States has shaken off its inferiority complex concerning the arts, and a boom in culture is under way in big towns and small. This is the word of the experts in a series of five dispatches by Harry Ferguson, UPI nation reporter.

By HARRY FERGUSON United Press International WASHINGTON (UPI) — There are 1,252 symphony orchestras in the United States, and last year more persons listened to concerts than attended all the baseball games played in the major and minor leagues.

That is the favorite statistic and statement of persons who proclaim America has come of age in the arts and is enjoying a boom in culture that is only in its infancy. The figures bear them out: The number of books published in this country in 1932 exceeded by 3,000 those of the previous year; little theaters have become almost as common as the county court house; Americans now buy almost $600 million worth of musical instruments and sheet music a year.

Sociologists use the phrase "cultural explosion" to describe what is happening, but actually it was more gradual than violent. Most experts think Americans, who heard themselves denounced for years as cultural morons, now have shaken off their inferiority complex.

Take A Beating In the process they took a bad beating. H. L. Mencken made a reputation and considerable money by clouting Americans on the head once a month with a magazine called The American Mercury. "The general average of intelligence, of knowledge, of competence, of self respect... is so low that any man who knows his trade, does not fear ghosts and has read 50 good books stands out as brilliantly as a wart on the head."

Europeans jeered at the American savages when Henry James, one of this nation's best novelists, decided his native climate was unsuitable to creative effort and went to London and took out British citizenship. British authors were held in such high esteem by the brow-beaten Americans that Charles Dickens made a killing on a lecture tour here and went home to tell jokes about the people who paid to hear him.

Oscar Wilde, landing in New York to reap some lecture money from the yokels, was asked by the customs inspector if he had anything to declare. "Nothing but my genius," Wilde replied and Americans accepted without question his own estimate of himself. They spent their money freely to hear him talk while the poetry of Walt Whitman and the novels of James Fenimore Cooper went largely unread and almost unsoled.

Become Discouraged Over the years American workers in the arts became discouraged and a belief grew up that they would be better off if they acted like foreigners. Miss Lucy Hickenlooper, a talented pianist in Texas, was going nowhere with her career, but when she changed her name to Olga Samaroff things picked up immediately.

Ernest Hemingway decided he could write better in Paris and Havana than he could on American soil. In the twenties young writers flocked to Paris to sit at the feet of Miss Gertrude Stein, who had shaken the dust of Pennsylvania from her shoes but still wanted Americans to buy her books and acknowledge that she was saying something profound when she wrote "A rose is a rose is a rose," and "Pigeons on the grass alas."

The cultural inferiority complex of Americans became more traumatic when they received a one-two punch in 1920 and 1922 from Sinclair Lewis with his novels "Main Street" and "Babbitt." One of them depicted the American small town as a cultural wasteland where the inhabitants talked about nothing except crops and the weather. "Babbitt" was an indictment of the American business man as a dull fellow who did nothing but chase money and boost his home town.

Things Change The big Depression of 1929 changed things, and the circulation of Mencken's magazine fell sharply.

Americans were at grips with problems larger than small town culture and home town boosting. John Steinbeck's novel "The Grapes of Wrath"—the story of an Oklahoma family driven from their farm by dust storms—

Well Regulations To Get Tighter, Oil Men Are Told

WICHITA Falls (UPI) — Railroad Commissioner William J. Murray Jr. told the North Texas Oil and Gas Association today that marginal well regulations will get tighter.

He noted that the commission has recently adopted strict testing procedures for wells in East Texas where slant hole privileges were abused.

"If the East Texas order proves effective it probably will be adopted in other areas of the state," Murray said. "However, if the proposal next to be discussed is adopted, the possibility of marginal well abuse other than in East Texas will be almost eliminated."

He said the commission is considering modifying its allowable production limit more closely to the actual producing ability of each well. This would affect prorated wells which cannot produce their scheduled allowance.

"Should this proposal be adopted, there then will be little concern about abuse of the marginal well statute outside the East Texas field because a marginal well would rarely have a significant advantage over a proratable well," Murray said.

caught the mood of the day. Most sociologists think World War II was the turning point for the American patient and his inferiority complex. U.S. soldiers discovered that people in Europe were not pre-occupied with culture, but with the problem of daily existence. Millions of Englishmen have never been to Stratford-On-Avon and never will go. Frenchmen don't spend all day in sidewalk cafes arguing about poetry; Italians do not devote all their time to strolling the streets singing operatic arias.

Culture Drive Spreads A post-war do-it-yourself craze developed, and Americans discovered it did not have to be limited to using wood-working tools. You could put on plays, organize orchestras, paint pictures, play the violin and have fun without journeying to the Broadway theater, the Louvre or the Metropolitan Opera House.

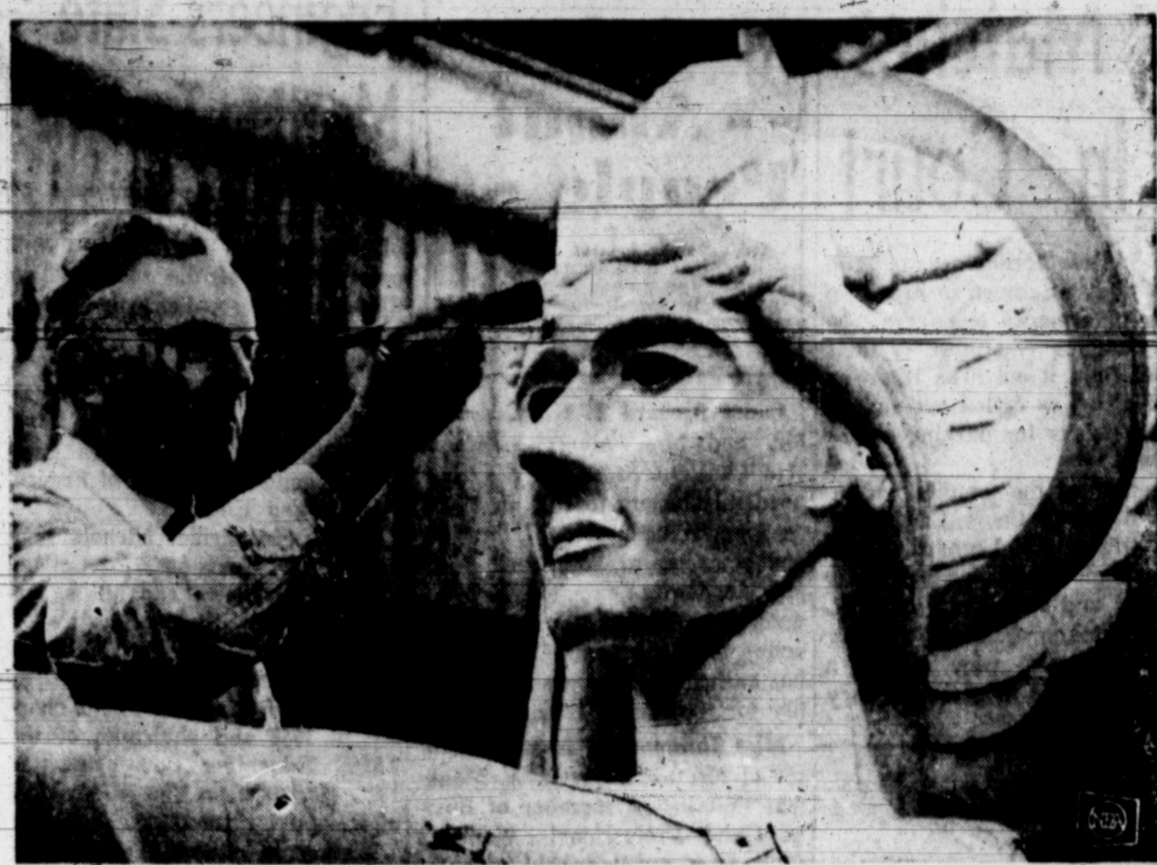

Radio and television began to bring culture into your living room. The phonograph was developed to the point where even the most carping critic could hear faithful reproductions of famous orchestras playing good music.

The heroine of Sinclair Lewis' "Main Street" was named Carol Kennicott and in 1912 she married and moved to Gopher Prairie, Minn. In revolt against the dullness of her life, she exclaimed to a school teacher friend: "It's a relief to have somebody to talk something besides crops. Let's make Gopher Prairie rock to its foundations. Let's have afternoon tea instead of afternoon coffee."

Today Carol would turn the television dial and drink her tea as she listened to the Festival of Performing Arts.

MINE KILLS GUARDS VIENNA (UPI)—Austrian border police said Friday a Hungarian frontier guard was killed and two others injured earlier this week near Guessing when their patrol car hit a mine in the Iron Curtain "no man's land" area.

ANGEL FACE—A coat of gold leaf make-up is going on this 16-foot copper angel. The work is being done in an enclosure erected at the top of the 160-foot tower of the Guildford Cathedral in Guildford, Surrey, England. Mounted on ball bearings, the angel can turn with the wind to serve as a lofty weathervane.

College Choice Is Important

By DAVID NYDIK UPI Education Specialist

Choosing a college is a major decision. The correct choice is basic to an enjoyable and profitable experience. The wrong choice may be unpleasant.

A student who wants to attend a college should begin a careful evaluation during his junior year in high school, or earlier. The first step is an accurate and realistic look at his interests, achievements, and abilities. He should consider the probable course of study to be followed. What are his cultural and social interests?

Parents and students should consult with their high school advisors. The advisors will help complete a picture of the student's needs. Estimate such items as the amount of money available (scholarships may be needed) and limitations on location. Make an outline or check list which includes needs, qualifications, and questions to be answered. This will help in choosing which colleges are appropriate.

The next step is to start investigating the colleges. Each institution has catalogs and brochures which explain requirements, courses and procedures. These will give a general idea of the type of college. A letter will bring answers to additional questions. If possible, a trip to the campus and a chat with one of the staff members can be helpful. Perhaps a friend has attended the college and can give some information.

The college advisor in a high school is familiar with many colleges. A talk with him can often save many hours of research. The most important objective is to find a college which meets the student's needs. Make sure that a good variety of courses are offered in the area of major interest. A limited number of basic courses will not be sufficient. Consider the college's prestige in relation to this area.

Unquestionably, there is an increasing competition for admission to colleges. A student's chances for acceptance will be increased by a thorough investigation. A college which meets his needs will more likely want him as a student.

There are several deadlines to meet when applying for admission. These vary with different colleges. Make sure there is sufficient time to complete all applications and examinations. High schools need time to forward transcripts and records. Obtaining letters of recommendation also takes time. Be sure to meet the deadlines.

In some cases, application may actually be made during the junior year. An acceptance may be obtained which is conditional upon performance in the senior year. Many individuals will receive some rejections. Competition is strong. Colleges attempt to choose students who seem to have the best chances for success.

Assistance in finding colleges with openings can be obtained from various organizations which act as clearing houses. They will try to match students with appropriate openings. These agencies can be located by checking with high school advisors, public libraries, newspaper information services, and other local directories.

DEBT DROPS, BUT WASHINGTON (UPI)—The legal ceiling on the national debt dropped to $305 billion today from the $308 billion permitted since July 1. But it will not stay at the lower level very long. Congress will have to vote an increase within the next 100 or 150 days to enable the Treasury to borrow money required to meet red ink spending commitments already made. Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon has told Congress that for the fiscal year starting July 1 the debt limit will have to be raised to about $320 billion.

I am an INDEPENDENT CANDIDATE. I am obligated to the CITY as a Whole.

I Believe that the TAXPAYERS are the stockholders in our CITY and that the MAYOR and COMMISSIONERS merely serve as the Board of Directors of the Corporation. Foreign Commentary

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
PARIS (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle's post-atomic power have landed him once again in deep trouble. They are the main cause of the long-standing coldness in relations between France and the United States.

Now the resumption of French nuclear testing in the Sahara threatens a major crisis between France and newly independent Algeria. It also is likely to damage relations between France and other African nations bordering on the Sahara, including Morocco, Tunisia, Senegal and Mali. Presumably De Gaulle must have taken these risks into consideration. What is at stake is a short cut to the first all-French H-bomb device which the De Gaulle government hopes to explode in the Pacific in 1964.

The atomic devices being tested in granite caves in the Sahara are said to constitute the trigger for the planned French H-bomb. The French feel they are on strong legal ground.

The Evian peace settlement with Algeria a year ago granted France the use of three Sahara bases for the next five years. True, the agreement contained no specific mention of nuclear testing. But the French say the Algerians must have been fully aware of the purpose of the bases when they signed the pact.

The Algerians retort that it is incompatible with their national sovereignty for France to use bases on Algerian territory for exploding nuclear devices. The chief risk appears to be that Algerian Premier Ahmed Ben Bella may be forced by his own extremists as well as by pressure from other African nations and the "neutralist" bloc in general to "denounce the Evian agreements as a whole."

France gives Algeria nearly $300 million in financial aid this year. It has promised a minimum of $200 million a year for the two following years. Without that aid Algeria can hardly hope to survive.

Completion by Continental Oil Company of a $1 million natural gasoline plant, approximately four miles south of Maljamar, N. M., and 40 miles east of Artesia, was announced today by Roy M. Mays, Fort Worth, southern region general manager. The plant has a processing capacity of 26-million cubic feet of gas daily and will manufacture propane, butane and natural gasoline, said Mr. Mays. It replaces an old gas treating and processing unit with a 20-million cubic feet daily capacity, which has been dismantled. The new plant will extract liquid hydrocarbons from gas originating primarily in the Maljamar field. The facility was constructed for Conoco by R. L. Frailey, Inc., Perry, Okla.

TUNIS, Tunisia (UPI) — Heavy winds and torrential rains, following a violent sandstorm, were reported Friday to have destroyed 366 houses and killed 4,000 sheep in the Gafsa area of Tunisia.

International Trade — $$! Japan Stops U.S. Imitations

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The other day I heard someone say that the two main topics of conversation in America are sex and money. This came as a surprise to me.

I had been proceeding under the assumption that the discussion list was headed by international trade agreements. In my circle, we talk of little else. In fact, it is difficult to discuss international trade without talking in circles.

It was my interest in this subject that prompted me to attend a recent press preview here. I don't ordinarily go to press previews because they are usually frivolous affairs and may be infested with movie starlets.

Views Japanese Lighter
In this instance, however, I was invited to preview a new Japanese cigarette lighter. So, of course, I accepted. The lighter, made by Starlon Co. Ltd. of Tokyo, is a wicked gas model with an 18-carat gold case, which will sell for $500. At least it will be offered for sale for $500.

With each lighter you get an insurance policy to cover loss or theft. I neglected to ask whether the policy includes fire insurance. As every smoker knows, a Japanese firm has for years been turning out a cut-rate imitation of a windproof lighter originally developed in the United States.

New Pond Construction Inaugurated
Something new in pond construction is being inaugurated by Cities Service Oil Co. at its installation near Hutchinson, Kans., one of the salt-making centers of the U.S.

The brine pond is big enough to contain three standard-sized football fields and spectator bleachers and is being lined with a butyl rubber liner to protect against seepage. The use of butyl rubber is the company's newest approach to conservation and protection of both surface and sub-surface water resources. The company is working in cooperation with both the State Water Resources Board and the Board of Health.

The liner is being laid over the highly-compacted dikes and pond floor in 20-foot wide strips. The strips are rolled into place and sealed together in leak-proof tongue-and-groove joints. The largest sheet being laid is 20.5 feet wide and 236 feet long — extending almost one half of the length of the 500-foot square pond. The total area covered by the butyl rubber line is 207,000 square feet.

While the butyl rubber liner is one-sixteenth inch thick, there is enough of the rubber to make 6,000 automobile tires. The pond will hold approximately 300,000 barrels of brine and will be used as a surge pond in operation of the Cities Service underground LP-Gas storage program. The butyl-lined Hutchinson brine pond is the only one of its kind in the Mid-Continent area. It is being built as a part of a program that will make of its Hutchinson installation an LP-Gas manufacturing and distribution center.

Included in the project is the construction of 180 miles of pipeline from Ulysses to Hutchinson and the erection of a fractionation plant at Hutchinson. Pipeline construction already is well under way. Work start on the fractionation plant is scheduled shortly.

Pearl Harbor Day Set For Coast Guard Testing

WASHINGTON, D.C. (SpI) — Congressman Walter Rogers of Pampa announced today that competitive examinations for entrance to the U.S. Coast Guard Academy will be held in Pampa, Amarillo, Childress, Dalhart, and Perryton on December 7, 1963, and in more than 1,000 other U.S. cities.

Congressman Rogers said the four-year course leads to a commission as a career officer in America's oldest continuous sea-going Armed Service and a Bachelor of Science degree.

Appointments are made on a competitive basis; there are no separate quotas for states or districts and no special categories," Congressman Rogers said. "I urge all qualified young men who are interested in this worthwhile profession to write to me for details, at the New House Office Building, Washington 25, D.C." or to write to the Commandant (PTP-2), U.S. Coast Guard, Washington 25, D.C.," the Congressman said.

A candidate for the next examination for the Coast Guard Academy must be single, must have reached his seventeenth but not his twenty-second birthday by July 1, 1964, and must be in excellent physical condition.

A high school diploma is the minimum educational requirement, although high school seniors assured of being graduated by June 30, 1964, are eligible to take the examination if they will have at least 15 credits by that time. All applicants must have three units of English, two in Algebra, and one in Plane Geometry by graduation.

Congressman Rogers said, "This is a fine opportunity for young men in the Panhandle who have the career interest, scholastic ability, good moral character, and physical fitness needed for selection as cadets."

PLAN DIVORCE

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Actress Jane Powell said Sunday she planned to divorce Pat Nerney, her husband of eight years. "Pat and I talked it over and decided it was no use," said the singing star. The couple, separated last November but reconciled a month later, have one daughter, Lindsay, 5.

New Low In Sports Gear Prices At Surplus City

Surplus City has reached a new low in camping and fishing equipment prices. Bill Cavell, of Surplus City, 403 S. Cuyler, reports that he is getting completely prepared for the spring weather with the biggest supply of fishing and outdoors gear in Pampa, and at new low prices.

"We buy as cheaply as we can, and we sell as cheaply as we can," said Cavell. "We buy in such large quantities that we can sell for wholesale prices. We make a very small profit on any item, but we depend on total sales volume to make our money." This year, we were able to buy some items even for less than last year, and we are passing the reduction in cost on to the customer with a reduction in price. Our price on items last year, has been slashed approximately 12 per cent overall.

Cavell reported that the big seller right now were tents for the outdoorsman who likes to spend the weekend away from home. Surplus City is taking on the largest supply of fishing tackle in the nation and at new low prices. Examples of the cutdown from last year's prices include Bomber lures, which sold for $1.29 a set year and are now only eighty-eight cents, and the famous Tucke fishing float which sold last year for $19.95, is now only $11.95. Examples of top brand fishing reels which are at new low prices are the Mitchell 300, listed at $37.50, and only $19.95 at Surplus City. The Shakespeare Wondercast pup tent, 16x16 pyramidal square tent, if you are going by yourself or taking the whole family, Surplus City has the tent-to-fit your needs. Cavell reports that Surplus City had also taken on the largest line of sleeping bags in the nation, to go with the tents, or if you are the rugged type who prefers to sleep outdoors, curl up in comfort in a Surplus City sleeping bag. Cavell is also the sole Panhandle jobber for famous Coleman products, with their stoves and lanterns also going at wholesale prices. An example is the Coleman Coleman lantern, which normally sells for $11.17, selling now for $9.95. By JEFF COHANE

YOURS TRULY wishes to state that reports of excellent fishing in the Top O' Texas are still just reports as far as we are concerned.

An expedition of ourself and Pampa High coaches Ray Howard and Brownie Smith set off for the dam at Lake McClellan Sunday after receiving reports of good bass and catfishing there. We call it an expedition because with those two reading the maps of the lake, they had us visiting every oil pump, picnic ground and dock on the lake before we ever found the fishing spots. (We sincerely hope that Otis Holladay does not use play diagrams for his coaches. Ray and Brownie would have Kenney Hebert throwing passes to the other team's tackles!)

IN ANY case, we finally reached the site of the dam and found that the weatherman's prophecies of mild 10-13 mile an hour winds were as correct as Putt Powell's basketball statistics. Winds of 25 miles an hour and up were blowing directly into shore and you needed at least a two-ounce plug or sinker to get your line more than 20 feet from shore.

We tried everything that could possibly tempt a hungry fish's appetite — shrimps, minnows, plugs, lures, flatfish, plastic worms and what have you. In an effort to get a good cast, Ray was even using some monster flatfish he had used for pickering in Lake Champlain, but to no avail. The only fish we saw caught were a very junior-sized crappie by an elderly lady fishing off a dock with a float and some carp being caught by some Pampa acquaintances of Ray. In an effort to actually catch onto a fish just for the fun of feeling something hit our line, we inquired as to what the carp were biting on, but after being informed that they were taking a mixture of canned corn and breakfast food mashed into a ball with strawberry pop, we decided to call it a day and retire. Roy Pool was right, we should have gone water-skiing!

IN THE MAILBAG:
Dear Sir:
I would appreciate it very much if you could supply me with some information about the semi-pro baseball team at Pampa. I need to know if they would get me a job and if they pay their players and other pertinent information. I am a sophomore at Sayre Junior College and am on the college baseball team and have a deep considered playing ball this summer at Pampa if everything will work out just right.

You may be assured that any information that you could send me would be deeply appreciated. Thank you for your time and trouble.

Yours very truly
Marvin Smith
613 North Fourth
Sayre, Okla.

If any of the officials of the league would care to answer the young man, we would appreciate it, as we have little knowledge of the loop except that being an NBC affiliate, we are positive that they do not pay their players, the National Baseball Congress being on an amateur basis.

Incidentally, we would appreciate it if all area baseball teams from Little League on up to semi-pro would inform us of their plans, schedules, etc., so that we can make arrangements for coverage.

AN APOLOGY to area youngsters who bowled in the National Junior Congress Tournament this weekend. We were unable to get all the information we wanted prior to Friday's deadline for sports, and are still waiting to hear about the results.

ONE OF our staff expressed shock and surprise that the Dodgers would sell Duke Snider down the river to the Mets after all the great years he had led in leading them to pennants. We would like to remind baseball fans that there is no gratitude among baseball owners, especially Walter O'Malley of the Dodgers, who also sold Gil Hodges, an equally great player in their tremendous teams of the last two decades, to the hapless Mets, and literally threw Carl Furillo, another of the great players, out in the street because he complained about unfair treatment. After all, though, what can you expect from a man who left the loyalest fans in the country, namely those of Brooklyn, who had stayed with "Dem Bums" win or lose, in the lurch, because he found there was still gold to be panned in Chavez Ravine.

If Casey Stengel made a good offer for O'Malley's mother-in-law, (and with some of the players he has, Granny O'Malley might be a better fielder) we are sure that the O'Malley, with many a crocodile tear, would not only sell her to O'Casey, but would instruct Don Drysdale to "stick it in her ear if she got on a hitting spree.

FLY CHASER — C. E. Cantrell, despite a sprained ankle which handicapped him for several games, has been an outstanding fielder for the Pampa Harvesters, who open their district baseball season at Amarillo tomorrow.

District 3-4A Results

DUMAS — Amarillo and Dumas split a doubleheader Saturday and closed out their non-conference schedules. The Sandies beat the host Demons 6-4 in the opener and dropped the nightcap 6-5.

Amarillo came out even in non-conference with a 6-6 record. The Demons ended non-conference at 6-7. Both teams open their district races this week. Amarillo meets Pampa Tuesday on the Sandie Field.

SNYDER — Monterey baseballers took two more wins Saturday to bring its non-conference record to 18-2. Snyder fell victim twice to the Plainsmen 5-0 and 6-2.

Monterey was picked to win the District 3-AAAA race and has indicated that it intends to do just that. The Plainsmen play Tascosa in Lubbock Tuesday for their first district game.

Tascosa poured it on the Leveland Lobos in a non-conference twin bill Saturday at the Tascosa field. The Rebel baseballers won the first game 13-5 and outdid that performance with a 20-5 win in the second game.

Tascosa ended non-conference play with a 7-5 record. The Rebels open district Tuesday against Monterey, the team picked to win 3-AAAA for the fourth consecutive time. The game will be in Lubbock.

PLAINVIEW — Plainview came out on the long end of a pitcher's battle and beat Nazareth 4-0 Saturday. Both pitchers went all the way for their teams and struck out 17 batters apiece. Plainview is now 5-2 in non-conference play. The Bulldogs start their 3-AAAA war against Lubbock in Plainview Tuesday.

HEREFORD — Palo Duro moved to a 9-3 non-conference record with two wins over Hereford Saturday 10-6 and 7-5. The Dons will begin play for the District 3-AAAA baseball championship on Tuesday.

Attorney General States Butts Gave Info To Bear

ATLANTA (UPI)—Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook puts the finishing touches today to an investigation which he said indicates that Wally Butts passed "vital information" to Alabama Coach "Paul (Bear) Bryant.

Cook said the information could have affected the outcome of last year's Alabama-Georgia game which Alabama won 35-0.

Butts was the athletic director at the University of Georgia at the time. He resigned the post in February.

Cook made his investigation under orders from Gov. Carl E. Sanders. The attorney general is to hand his report of the matter over to Sanders Tuesday.

Another investigation is under way in Alabama and testimony is expected to be made today before a legislative investigating committee from several University of Alabama football players.

The Alabama committee is headed by State Rep. Alton Turner who said that the football players, all seniors, probably will begin testifying to the committee behind closed doors.

Cook said it appeared "from the evidence of my investigation plus the polygraph examination that vital and important information was given by Butts to Bryant about the Georgia team before the game."

The statement drew an immediate rebuke from lawyers representing Butts.

Attorney William H. Schroder said Cook was obviously relying on "uncorroborated statements" from questionable witnesses and had not given Butts an opportunity to present his written statement on the accusation.

"Before even waiting to receive the evidence of the principal party," Mr. Cook, the impartial investigator, has issued his indictment," Schroder said.

The investigations were the outgrowth of a story in the March 23 issue of the Saturday Evening Post, which related that Butts and Bryant conspired to rig the outcome of last year's game.

The magazine article quoted Atlanta insurance man George Burnett as saying he overheard a telephone conversation between Butts and Bryant in which Butts gave Bryant vital information.

Viramontes Promises Top WT Basketball

CANYON (SpI) — "Dream of where you want to go, then work and pray toward that goal and you'll usually achieve it."

Putting forth his brand of philosophy was Jimmy Viramontes, new West Texas State basketball coach, at a reception Sunday in the West Texas State Student Union.

For his goal, the former University of Texas assistant put it in very explicit terms.

"At the time I was growing up, West Texas State was the basketball team of West Texas. I want to do as much to bring West Texas State basketball back to that level as quickly as possible."

The personable Viramontes then proceeded to unveil his plans of recruiting and the style of basketball that WT cage fans can expect in the future.

Viramontes' ideas included: Recruiting — "There are three categories — (1) exceptional size, 6-8 and taller; (2) medium height, from 6-5 to 6-3; (3) and the smaller boys, 6-2 and smaller. Speed is a necessity in all categories to make the fast break work."

Offense — "We will have a continuity of movement at all times. So if the opposition has us scouted, we can move from one option to another without breaking continuity. If the other team switches defensive assignments, then we're ready at all times to take advantage. We'll play a driving game to apply constant pressure."

Defense — "We'll use an aggressive man-for-man." A zone defense can't instill the aggressive element that a team needs at all times. On offense I want my boys to look them in the eye and say, 'Come and get me.' On defense, I want them to say, 'I'm coming at you.'"

Schedule — "I want to play the best teams possible. I like to learn from the best. When I was at McCallum, a triple-A team, we played only quadruple-A teams until we began conference play. It takes patience. But in order to play a top schedule we must be able to compete with them in recruiting."

Precedent WASHINGTON (UPI) — William Howard Taft was the first President to attend a major league baseball opener in 1909.

THE veteran Burdette became the Braves first pitcher to pitch nine innings and bolstered his chances of regaining a starting turn after last year's disappointing season. He held the Orioles to five hits while Frank Bolling and Hank Aaron drove in the Milwaukee runs.

Rookie third baseman Ken McMullen collected three hits, including two doubles, and drove home four runs for the Dodgers. Jay Hook went the route for the Mets, allowing seven hits and striking out nine.

Jack Hamilton's four innings of scoreless relief pitching and Cookie Rojas' 10th inning single provided the Phils with their victory. Rookie Tom Brown continued his lousy hitting by breaking a 2-2 tie with a bases loaded single for Minnesota.

Claude Osteen pitched nine innings for the Nats against the Cards; Jake Wood hit a homer and drove in three runs for Detroit, and Carl Yastrzemski's three hits and six strong innings paced the Red Sox over the Cubs.

The Colts fanned Bo Belinsky, Jack Spring and Tom Morgan for 13 hits. Vic Davalillo and Fred Whitfield each hit two-run homers for the Indians while Orlando Cepeda had a two-run homer for the Giants.

Canadian Hosting Miami, Wheeler

CANADIAN (SpI) — Canadian will host a triangular track meet with Miami and Wheeler tomorrow afternoon as the three teams get in some last minute practice before this Saturday's district track meets.

Wheeler, Miami, Allison, Briscoe, Booker, Mobeitie and Kelton will meet in District 2B action at Booker Saturday, with powerful Booker and defending champ Miami expected to battle it out for district honors.

Canadian and the other 2A teams will be the only greater Pampa area teams not in district play Saturday, as the Canucks, Memphis, McLean, Glarendon, Lefors and Wellington meet at Lefors a week from tomorrow.

In District 2AA, White Deer, Dahlart, Shamrock, Panhandle, Stinson and Spearman, all among the most powerful small school track teams in the Top-O' Texas, clash Saturday.

Groom, Claude, Hedley, Quail, Sannorwood and Dodson will meet in District 1-B play Saturday, with a two-way fight between defending champ Groom and runner-up Claude looming.

Pampa, of course, will be in district play at Amarillo Saturday, clashing again with powerful Palo Duro and Tascosa.

Leading host Canadian tomorrow afternoon will be ace hurdler Robert Lewis, who finished second in the high hurdles and fourth in the high jump at the Amarillo Relays, and has the fastest hurdles time of any Class B trackman in the Panhandle, second only among small school runners to Carroll Russell of White Deer, who ran a 14.9 to beat Lewis in the highs Saturday, and Wyman Prather, another hurdles expert who finished third in the low hurdles Saturday, and has placed in every meet he has entered.

Heading the Warriors from Miami will be their great high jumper, Jimmy Flowers, who has the second highest jump in the state this year; 6' 3", and was second at Amarillo Saturday; Mark Arrington, who was second in the low hurdles to Russell and has posted almost as good times as Lewis in that event; and Mickey Kivlehen, Miami's burly weight man, who has been improving with each meet and is expected to again place in district, having gone to regional last year.

Heading Wheeler in the triangular meet will be Dunk Porter and Mendell Hunter, who compete in both track and field events and sprinters Terry Yanpou and Henry Lewis.

The meet will begin between 3:30 and 4 p.m.

Barber Felt Sure Of Win

WILMINGTON, N.C. (UPI)—Affable Jerry Barber had a feeling he would win his third Azalea Open golf tournament, but a news photographer almost spoiled things for him.

"It happened on the 17th hole," said a happy Barber, who strung together five birdies on the back nine Sunday to win the tournament going away with a 14-under-par 274.

At this juncture, the Los Angeles pro already had a four-stroke lead.

"But one bad shot could have made it a new ball game," he said. "Right in the middle of my swing I heard the camera click. I flinched."

Ball Goes Straight "Luckily the ball went straight. But it could have wound up in a clump of trees or in a creek and I would have been in trouble. He could have blown me right out of the picture."

Billy Maxwell, Doug Ford, Larry Beck, Jack Rule and Bruce Crampton finished in a five-way tie for second place at 279, five strokes behind the diminutive Californian.

Maxwell, Ford and Beck were tied with Barber after the front nine, but the Californian went on a birdie spree on the backside that buried the field.

There's Bob Gibson (15-13), whom many believe could be one of the best; Ernie Broglio (12-9) and Ray Washburn, also 12-9, to anchor the staff as starters. Keane is hopeful that Ron Taylor, 2-2 with Cleveland last season, will be the fourth starter.

Then there are Curt Simmons (10-10); Bobby Shantz (6-4), Diomedes Olivo (5-1 with the Pirates); Bob Duliba (2-0), Ed Bauta (1-0), and Ray Sadock, the Cardinals.

Maxwell's bad boy of 1962, Peck's bad boy of 1962, maybe the Cardinals have it, but it would fool a lot of people if they go all the way—including their skipper, Keane.

Cincinnati's Bench Gives Them 2-1 Lead

By United Press International — A strong bench — trademark of the Boston Celtics — has given the Cincinnati Royals a 2-1 lead over the defending champion Celtics in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division final playoffs.

All nine Royals, led by Oscar Robertson's 23 points, hit double figures as Cincinnati beat the Celtics for the second time at Boston Sunday night, 121-116.

In the opener of the Western Division final playoff, Jerry West's 27 points paced the Los Angeles Lakers to a 112-104 triumph over the visiting St. Louis Hawks.

A capacity crowd of 13,909 at Boston Garden watched Robertson put the Royals ahead for good at the start of the second period. Royal reserves Adrian Smith, Tom Hawkins, Dave Phonetek and Hub Reed contributed 48 points between them.

Tom Heinsohn led Boston with 28 points while Bob Cousy tallied 26 and Sam Jones 23. Bill Russell was the only other Celtic in double figures with 19 points.

The Royals, who finished 18 games behind the Celtics and lost nine of 12 regular season games to Boston during the regular season, next meet the Celtics at Cincinnati Wednesday night.

West, sidelined for almost two months because of a pulled hamstring muscle, played 36 minutes before 10,088 fans at the L.A. Sports Arena. Elgin Baylor added 21 points and Dick Barnett had 20 for the Lakers, who led 45-43 at halftime.

Bob Pettit scored 38 points and Cliff Hagan tallied 27 points for the Hawks.

St. Louis plays again at Los Angeles Tuesday night in their best-of-seven series.

Gonzales Bids For Ranking

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jose Gonzales made a brilliant bid for middleweight ranking Saturday night when he scored a technical knockout over fifth-rated Rubin (Hurricane) Carter. The fight was shipped at the end of the sixth round.

Gonzales, a windmill-type fighter, cut Carter over the right eye with a hard smash in the second round and blood continuously streamed from Hurricane's eye until Dr. Samuel Swetnik, ring physician, ordered referee Pety Della to halt the fight.

Gallant Gonzales of Puerto Rico, considered a powder puff puncher, was behind on points when the fight was halted. Gonzales, 160 1/2 pounds from Arroyo, Puerto Rico, was a 3-1 underdog against bustling Carter, 158 pounds. Paterson, N. J., but Carter's style suited Jose as he prefers to mix with sluggers.

Tennessee A&I Coaches 'Inactive'

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—The entire football coaching staff at Tennessee A&I State University has been placed on the "inactive but not fired" list, university president Dr. W. S. Davis said during the weekend.

"Anybody could coach a team with a 1-7 record," Davis said as he let it be known the university is looking for a new head coach. "I believe in athletic as well as academic excellence and it's no secret that football has collapsed around here."

Davis is a former coach at A&I himself.

The Negro university is a member of the Midwestern Athletic Association and has an enrollment of 4,150.

Fight Rescheduled

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (UPI) — World lightweight champion Carlos Ortiz hoped to resume training today for his rescheduled title defense against Cuba's Douglas Vaillant here next Sunday.

The bout, originally scheduled for last Saturday night, was postponed when Ortiz suffered a gastric upset shortly before the eight-in.

Promoter Harold Toppel said the champion's fever disappeared Sunday and his condition was "very encouraging." He does not anticipate another postponement.

International Bankers Make Friends For U.S.

So many people believe that all good comes from government that it is frequently with a sense of shock that they realize government's potential to commit evil. It is also true that people believe so much evil accrues to businessmen generally and to constructive actions inspired by hardheaded industrialists or by bankers, who, after all, are seeking profit.

But it is time for us to make certain that these matters are understood. So let us begin with bankers. These are probably the most maligned of all businessmen. The banking industry this year is celebrating its 100th birthday. Abe Lincoln, back in 1863, signed the National Currency Act.

Oscar Schisgal, in an article in Reader's Digest, reprinted from "The Rotarian," has quite a bit to say about the job bankers are doing around the world. These are "international bankers" in a real sense — men of sound financial houses in this country who establish branches for their banks in some out-of-the-way places on this earth.

For instance, the Bank of America, based in California, is prohibited from having branches in some other states. But there is nothing in the law to prevent this enormous institution from having branches in foreign countries. So, in recent years it has established some 22 branches abroad, including outposts in Okinawa, Guam, and Naha on Okinawa.

The First National City Bank of New York has its vaults and tellers' windows in Kuala Lumpur, Malaya; in Asuncion, Paraguay; in Jidda, Saudi Arabia; in Colombia, India, Lebanon and Ecuador.

Now, these banks operate on capital provided by their depositors in these far-away places. According to Schisgal, this isn't just a way of having American dollars flow into lucrative businesses across the sea. On the contrary, many of these branches have been established with only a few hundred dollars in assets, but with heaps of know-how provided by American experts.

The first thing these experts do is to begin training natives to run the bank. And the second thing is to make deposits in their vaults. Then, they go out looking for likely loan prospects. And they find them.

Chase Manhattan Bank has a "meritoric."

Since this amendment puts no limit on the tax, the government can legally take everything the citizen earns. So, the absolute right of property was violated by the passage of this Amendment. If Americans do not wish to permit Congress to have the unlimited power to tax, they have an excellent alternative in the "Proposed 24th Amendment." The "Liberty Amendment," as it is called, would abolish the individual income tax.

The "Liberty Amendment" calls for our government to get out of business. The Defense Department alone owns and operates more than 19,000 business, commercial and industrial establishments without constitutional authority.

Cinderella's glass slipper can still be classified both literally and figuratively as a fairy tale; but in other items of clothing, hitherto unthought of fabrics are being brought into use. One such item, a dress made of paper, after years of experimentation, is about to be put on the market. Made entirely of paper, manufacturers in the very near future hope to make dresses which will stand at least one washing before being thrown away.

By other Republicans and some Democrats he is regarded as a civilian chief of staff, a man on horseback, a ruthless administrator, a spendthrift with a budget that is far too big, a potential dictator, a man to be watched and feared.

McNamara takes full and sole responsibility for the decision to build only one fighter for both Air Force and Navy use, instead of the two the services wanted. The justification is that this saves the government $1 billion.

While McNamara has raised defense expenditures from $41 billion in 1961 to an estimated $51 billion for 1964, the latter figure is a $16 billion cut from what the services wanted.

The secretary's goal, after modernizing conventional forces, is to level off the defense budget. He is said to consider this necessary in the face of demands for tax cuts.

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Defense Secretary Robert Strange McNamara today occupies one of the strangest positions in the capital. A Republican — who was for Kennedy in 1960 — he is regarded by many administration leaders as the ablest man in the cabinet, enjoying the President's complete confidence.

Nevertheless, he has been mentioned as a dark horse possibility for the GOP presidential nomination in 1964 or '68.

By other Republicans and some Democrats he is regarded as a civilian chief of staff, a man on horseback, a ruthless administrator, a spendthrift with a budget that is far too big, a potential dictator, a man to be watched and feared.

The Doctor Says:

Regular Revaccination Protects Against Smallpox By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT

Would you deliberately expose yourself to smallpox? Even if you have been successfully vaccinated, this would be a foolish thing to do unless you had had a recent successful revaccination.

Although I have seen very few cases of this disease, I cannot think of a worse one. It kills one of every three to five victims in an epidemic. Many of those who survive are blinded by corneal scars and all carry unsightly pock marks on their faces for the rest of their lives.

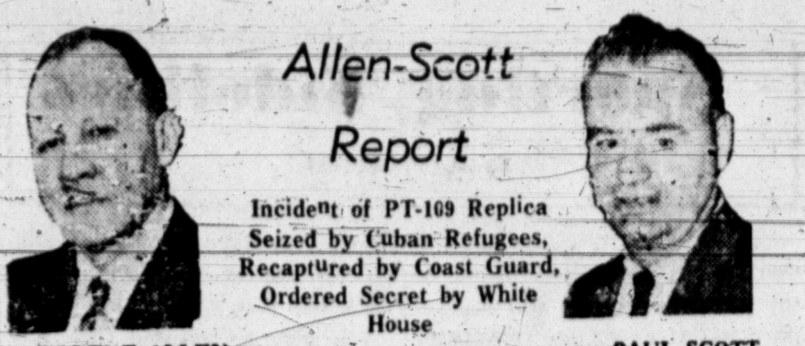

No cases have been reported in the United States for many years, but smallpox has not been eradicated from the world. With the increase in high-speed travel there is always a possibility that a case could be introduced into this country.

Although smallpox is a dreadful disease, it is one of the easiest to control. When vaccination was first introduced in 1798 it met with great opposition. Now opposition has been replaced by apathy.

The very fact that smallpox is rarely seen in the United States has lulled us into a belief that it is a myth. Yet a traveler to Canada was recently found to have this disease. One case introduced into the United States could touch off a serious epidemic for the very reason that we have let down our guard.

How good is the protection afforded by the scar you have from your childhood vaccination? This varies so widely with the individual that the only safe plan is to be revaccinated every three to five years.

In most persons, revaccination results in what is known as an immune reaction. This is a very mild reaction and it serves the same purpose as the booster shots given for tetanus or poliomyelitis. It insures a high level of immunity for at least another three years.

Allen-Scott Report

WASHINGTON — The Kennedy administration's irate crackdown on Cuban refugee commando raids against the Communist Castro regime is producing embarrassing results.

One such incident — hurriedly suppressed by the White House — involved the recapture by the Coast Guard of one of the three PT boats used in Florida in the filming of the movie about the President's World War II exploits in the Pacific.

The heavily armed, high-speed patrol boat, an exact replica of the PT-109 commanded by the President, was seized by a group of Cuban exiles during the movie shooting.

But this daring exploit was short-lived. The Coast Guard and Immigration authorities intercepted the craft as it was preparing to leave a hidden base on the Keys for a hit-and-run attack against Cuba. The boat was also to be used to transport arms and munitions to the anti-Castro underground.

President Kennedy, when notified of this affair, immediately ordered a tight secrecy clamp. He personally directed the Coast Guard to release the refugees and to see that no publicity was given the incident.

Producers of "PT-109," sensing the publicity value in this real life drama, took a different view after getting their boat back. After a series of huddles, the movie makers bombarded the White House with pleas to lift the secrecy ban. But to no avail.

CRACKDOWN — Federal agents are under White House orders to crack down on "soldiers of fortune" who are training and selling guns to Cuban refugees for commando raids.

The Justice Department, with files on most of these Americans, is probing their activities to determine if any of them are violating the law in helping the exiles. This undercover federal threat has caused several refugee groups to complain to the Senate Armed Services Committee. They protested that their liberation efforts are encountering more resistance from U.S. than Castro forces.

MORE NEWS MANAGEMENT — The threat of official punitive action is being added to the Defense Department's avowed policy of "managing the news." On the personal order of Defense Secretary McNamara, certain newsmen are being investigated on their sources of dispatches strongly disapproved by the administration.

Among these reporters are the two writers of this column. They have authoritatively learned that McNamara directed Lieutenant General Joseph Carroll, head of the Defense Intelligence Agency, to ascertain their contacts in the Pentagon. Carroll assigned the Air Force Office of Special Investigation to make this probe.

Specifically being sought by McNamara is the basis of the story published by these reporters November 7 revealing that "Russian jets have flown high-level reconnaissance missions over southern United States. Originating from Cuban air bases, these Soviet reconnaissance flights have ranged as far north as Georgia and as far west as Texas. They are being made by two twin-engine jets piloted by Russians." This report was flatly denied by the Defense Department.

The Almanac

By United Press International

Today is Monday, April 1, the 91st day of 1963 with 274 to follow.

The moon is at first quarter. The morning stars are Venus and Saturn. The evening star is Mars. Those born today include Prince Otto von Bismarck, founder of the German empire in 1815.

On this day in history: In 1853, Cincinnati set a precedent by paying its fire department a regular salary—ordinary firemen $60 a year, lieutenants $100 a year, captains $150 a year and pipemen $365 a year.

In 1931, Virne (Jackie) Mitchell, a 17-year-old pitcher, signed with Chattanooga, Tenn., to become the first woman to become a member of an organized baseball team.

In 1939, Generalissimo Francisco Franco announced that the Spanish civil war had ended.

In 1945, U.S. armed forces began the invasion of the island of Okinawa in the Pacific. A thought for the day — Prince Otto von Bismarck said: "Not by speculating and counting majorities are the great questions of the time to be solved... but by iron and blood."

Remedy For Dictatorship

The perfect prelude to dictatorship is the graduated income tax; it destroys ambition, discourages investment, saps the nation's economy and creates a more powerful centralized government.

Many people believe the graduated income tax soaks the rich most of all and so the middle class is content to bear its share. But this is not so. The people of the low income groups pay more than 80 per cent of the total taxes. The wealthy, with incomes exceeding $100 thousand, pay less than half of one per cent. The remaining 1 1/2 per cent is paid by the people in the $10,000 to $100 thousand group.

The power to tax is the power to destroy and unlimited power to tax creates unlimited government. The limitations on government written into the Constitution were removed by the 16th Amendment which says: "The Congress shall have power to lay and collect taxes on incomes, from whatever source derived, without apportionment among the several states and without regard to any census or enumeration."

EMERGENCY LANDING
 TAMPA, Fla. (UPI)—A Toronto-bound jetliner with 138 persons aboard made a safe emergency landing at MacDill Air Force Base Sunday with a malfunctioning landing gear.
 The Trans-Canada Airlines DC8 circled for more than two hours burning excess fuel before coming in for a perfect landing. Officials directed the pilot to land at MacDill because of better emergency facilities there.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
 United Press International
 HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The

smallest major network, ABC-TV, Sunday announced a fall program schedule gambling specifically on shooting down the all-star comedy lineup of the runway leader, CBS-TV: Lucille Ball, "The Beverly Hillbillies" et al.
 With few exceptions, ABC will "counter-program"; that is, where CBS has a comedy or variety show, ABC schedules a drama. Or where CBS has a drama, ABC often comes in with the opposite. Thus, the new 90-minute version of ABC's "Wagon Train" is rescheduled to meet head-on with Miss Ball, Danny Thomas and Andy Griffith. Thus ABC's "Ben Casey" was rescheduled purposely to collide directly with "The Beverly Hillbillies" and Dick Van Dyke.
 Thus, also, such other CBS entries as "Ed Sullivan," "The Dick Van Dyke Show," "I've Got a Secret," "Jack Benny," "Garry Moore" and "The Dick Van Dyke Show" will face brand-new ABC dramas. And thus will ABC's new Jimmy Dean variety-show take on CBS' "Perry Mason"; and ABC's new two-hour Jerry Lewis effort on Saturdays try to unseat the last half of CBS' "The Defenders" and all of "Gunsmoke."

Many Shows Dropped
 Gone, as of now, from ABC's fall night-time schedule are: "Naked City," "Untouchables," "Howard K. Smith," "Voice of Firestone," "I'm Dickens: He's Fenster," Sunday night movie, "Fred Astaire's 'Premiere,'" "Stoney Burke," "Going My Way," "Our Man Higgins," "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington," "Hawaiian Eye," "Leave It to Beaver," "The Jetsons," "The Dakotas," "The Rifleman" and "The Gallant Men."
 Gone also, as expected, from its daily afternoon spot is the new children's show, "Discovery," because of costs. It will become a weekly Sunday daytime program next season. On the happier side, Dick Clark's daily dance program is also out; and this may be only a temporary joy; he may get a Saturday afternoon show, and he is also aiming for his own series as a cop who runs a youth center.
 Of interest among the new shows is "100 Grand," first big money quiz offering since scandals smothered that type of program. ABC came out clean. And, unless the show is now dropped—which is possible for this and a few other programs—this is its data. An amateur takes on an expert selected by a city; the amateur keeps his winnings, but the expert contributes his for the city's benefit.

Other New Series
 Here are ABC's other new weekly night-time series:
 —"The Adventures of Jaimie McPheeters," based on the novel starring Dan O'Herlihy, about a father and son who join a wagon train; "Arrest and Trial," 90 minutes of cops, robbers and courtroom, with Chuck Connors as a district attorney and Ben

MEET THE 'YUM YUM GIRL'—Carol Lynley, teen idol of 1960's "Blue Denim," returns to the screen as a silk-clad, slinky blonde in "Under the Yum Yum Tree," with Jack Lemmon. For her comeback, Carol also is taking on a dual dramatic role in "The Cardinal," being filmed in Rome.

Gazzara a detective; "F.D.R.," about Franklin Roosevelt, with Charlton Heston as his voice and Arthur Kennedy the narrator, but it is not fully firm yet in the schedule. "Please Stand By," science fiction stories; "The Breaking Point," set in a psychiatric clinic.
 —Also "The Greatest Show on Earth," about a circus, with Jack Palance; "The Fugitive," with David Janssen as a wrongly-convicted wife-murderer who seeks the real killer while pursued by police; "The Patty Duke Show," with the young "Miracle Worker" star as identical twins in a situation comedy; "Channing," dramas set on a college campus; "Amos Burke," with Gene Barry as a millionaire cop; "The Farmer's Daughter," with Inger Stevens as a Swedish governess in a congressman's home; and "Hootenanny," a folks-singing show.

NEW YORK (UPI) — When it comes to the Emmy Award for the best television drama of the season, it will probably go to some thing else besides the P.e.b. 20 "Naked City" episode on ABC, "Bringing Far Places Together," "People who vote on these awards probably don't see too many episodes of the regular weekly series. But this "Naked City" was by far the best drama on the air this season.

The television arm of MGM in Hollywood has set four of its new series for the networks next fall. NBC gets "Mr. Novak," "The Lieutenant" and "Harry's Girls." ABC gets "The Travels of Jaimie McPheeters." All are one-hour series except "Harry's Girls."

Concealed in the Kennedy administration's proposed penalty tax against the better-paid one-third of employees covered by company-assisted group life insurance policies there is also a heavy penalty assessed against the so-called senior citizens.
 Senior citizens are the oldest, mostly retired, who are experiencing what Madison Avenue gushingly calls their golden years. If there is, indeed, any gold in those years, the Kennedy tax penalty is guaranteed to absorb some of it, leaving it to the old folks mere dross.
 The insurance companies are maneuvering to beat this Kennedy administration tax program. The Kennedy purpose is to require that the sum of an employer's contribution to group life insurance premiums for coverage in excess of $5,000 shall be considered taxable income to the employee. If the policy is for no more than $5,000, this employer contribution is not to be considered as taxable income to the employee.

First Target
 So, the better paid employee with the larger coverage is the first target of this Kennedy tax penalty. The second target is the so-called senior citizen. An insurance company which deals in group life policies is advising its clients why this is so, why the old folks would suffer under this Kennedy proposal. The explanation is complex and must be read carefully to be understood, as follows:
 The age of the individual employee would in part determine what portion of the employer's total group premium payment would be charged to that employee as taxable income. This method of computation would place an unreasonably heavy tax burden on older persons. This, in turn, would tend to discourage the continuation of group insurance after retirement although such continuation is socially desirable and only recently has become widespread.

For example: Taxable income of $32,000 would be charged to an employee aged 45 who is insured for $5,000 of employer-financed group term life insurance, over and above the stated $5,000 exemption. That is a piddling sum of no consequence. But at age 75 the same employee, now retired, with the same coverage would be charged with $366 of taxable income. A 90-year-old would be hit for about $1,200.

Confiscatory Tax
 The insurance companies contend that the Kennedy proposal actually is a confiscatory tax. They explain: The accumulative effects of this "attained age" approach illustrate the confiscatory nature of the Kennedy proposal. An employee insured for employer-financed group term life insurance (in excess of the $5,000 exemption) from age 40 would have reported by age 60 additional income equal to 21.9 per cent of the ultimate death benefit. By age 70 he would have reported an income 55.7 of the death benefit. By age 80, 134.3 per cent and by age 90, 312.9 per cent.

It might be unreasonable to believe that the Kennedy administration tax experts deliberately set out to distribute such burdens as those among the American oldsters for whom the politicians so shrilly proclaim their love and devotion. But if you cannot believe the administration tax experts knew what they were doing, you are left with the alarming conclusion that they did not themselves understand what they wanted written into law.
 They rushed in, you might say, where angels fear to tread.

 Want to get a fascinating new pet? Get a capybara. What is it? A capybara is the largest living rodent. When full grown its length is four feet, and the girth three feet. Capybaras are shy, gentle animals, which voice a low, abrupt grunt when pleased and which at the slightest sign of danger jump into water.
