Two Pampa Students Hurt Seriously in Automobile Accident

Two Pampa High School seniors, one of them a foreign exchange student from Turkey, were seriously injured in a one-car accident two miles east of Lefors on Hwy 273 shortly before 12:30 this afternoon.

In Highland Hospital are Tommy Vesie, 17, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Veale Jr., 2125 Mary Ellen.

Turan Soylemez, 18, of Istanbul, Turkey, who as a foreign exchange student at Pampa High is making his home with the Veale family.

The driver of the car, Jesse Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Jones, 2017 Christine, was reported not seriously hurt and remained at the accident scene.

Constable W. R. Combs of Lefors and Highway Patrolman Vernon Cawthon, who investigated the accident, said the car hit a roadside pole near the River Bridge east of Lefors.

Constable Combs said the car rolled over several times and parts of it were scattered along the roadside.

The three youths were taking a drive in Jones' car on "Senior Skip Day" at the High School.

Principal Cameron Marsh said the seniors mark skip day each year as a traditional custom but not as a school-sponsored event.

Legislators Square off on War Claims

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House-Senate conferees squared off today for a possible battle over how to change the 1962 Philippine war claims act to bar fees for lobbyists with inside information.

Unless a compromise is quickly worked out, the differences can lead to a deadlock similar to that which snarled all appropriation bills for most of last year.

The Philippine claims provision is a Senate rider to a $1.5 billion catch-all supplemental appropriations bill, which also carries $475 million for President Kennedy's stepped-up public works program.

Members of the Senate and House appropriations committees were scheduled to meet in closed session to begin working out a compromise between the Senate and House-passed bills. The big issue was the war claims rider.

Adviser Shot By Guerrillas In Viet Nam

SAIGON, Viet Nam (UPI)—A U. S. Army adviser and two Vietnamese soldiers were shot and killed by Communist Viet Cong guerrillas today in an ambush about 25 miles north of here, a U. S. military spokesman announced.

The spokesman said the three men were riding in a jeep from Ben Cat to Phu Cuong when they were attacked by grenade-throwing guerrillas.

The explosions caused the jeep to run out of control. It careened off the highway into a tree and the American and two Vietnamese were hurled out. The Communist guerrillas then moved in and shot all three, the spokesman said.

Name of the American was withheld pending notification of relatives.

The adviser's death raised to 81 the number of Americans killed in South Viet Nam since the United States began helping the government in its struggle against the Communist Viet Cong jungle fighters.

Attitude Criticized

STRASBOURG, France (UPI)—A conference of the Captive Nations of Europe Sunday bitterly attacked the West for its "prudent and conciliatory" attitude toward the Communist world.

Former Lithuanian diplomat Vaclovas Sizikauskas told the gathering of Iron Curtain exiles that the West hope for a "liberalizing process" in Eastern Europe but there was no sign this was happening.

OAS Meets In Secret Session

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The 20-nation council of the Organization of American States (OAS) met today in an emergency session in an attempt to head off a threatened war between Haiti and the Dominican Republic.

The council, minus representatives of the two feuding Caribbean nations, met in secret session.

The meeting was held in the light of reports that Dominican President Juan Bosch was ready to invade neighboring Haiti to topple the regime of strongman Francois Duvalier. However, both U. S. and Latin American officials expressed doubt that Bosch would launch an attack while the OAS was actively seeking a peaceful solution.

Council Chairman Gonzalo Fazio summoned the council to hear a report from three members of an OAS fact-finding mission who returned Sunday from Haiti.

Before the meeting started OAS envoys said the council might be called upon to set up a full-time watch over the situation. The commission might also be enlarged and given more power, they said.

Bosch was reported ready to invade Haiti in response to pleas from Haitian refugees to save them from "savagery" by the Duvalier regime.

Alberto Zuleta Angel of Colombia, chairman of the OAS mission to Haiti, and Gonzalo Escudero of Ecuador, another member, remained in Santo Domingo to be present in case of hostilities.

Panhandle Crash Sends Death Toll Soaring in Texas

By United Press International

A rising number of automobile fatalities, including a tragic Panhandle crash that took six lives, combined with other violence over the weekend to send the Texas violent death toll to grim heights.

A United Press International survey for the period from 6 p. m. Friday to midnight Sunday showed at least 28 persons died violently in the state, 17 of them in traffic accidents. Three persons drowned, and other violence claimed nine lives.

A car and pickup truck collided head-on near Paducah Sunday, killing six persons.

The crash near Paducah killed five persons in the automobile and one person in the truck. Killed were Mr. and Mrs. Porfirio Gutierrez and their one-year-old daughter, Augustina. Also killed were Ysabel and Abel Plasencia and Mark Gibbs, 12. Two other persons were in serious condition.

Russians Break 18-Year Silence; Tell Author They Recovered Hitler's Body

MOSCOW (UPI)—Fresh Soviet accounts of World War II may follow the Russians' claim that they recovered Adolf Hitler's burned body in Berlin at the end of the war, Western observers believed today.

It was disclosed Sunday that the Russians had broken 18 years of silence and said they found Hitler's body in his Berlin bunker when they smashed into the German capital.

The official Soviet position heretofore has been that the Nazi leader may have escaped and fled to Spain or Argentina.

The Soviet admission was made by Marshal Vasily Sokolovsky to Cornelius Ryan, American author, who recently completed a two-week study of top secret archives of the Red Army's final assault on Berlin. Ryan's research is for a new book, "The Longest Day."

Ryan is the author of "The Longest Day," the D-Day story of the Allied invasion of France, June 6, 1944.

(Ryan said in Paris on his arrival from Moscow that the Russians told him how they disposed of Hitler's body, but he refused to elaborate. He said "You'll just have to read it in my book.")

Western diplomats expressed surprise at the unprecedented Soviet effort to make secret military archives available to foreign researchers.

One possible explanation was that the Soviet leadership has been extremely resentful of Western accounts of the Soviet-German war, written almost exclusively from German sources. They now appear ready to make their own version available to Western scholars, especially in connection with the coming 20th anniversary of victory in 1945.

Sokolovsky was Marshal Georgi Zhukov's chief of operations during the Battle of Berlin and until

90 Tons Food, Supplies Sent To Stricken Area

RIO BRAVO, Mexico (UPI)—An Air Force Globemaster C99 from Van Nuys, Calif., carrying 90 tons of food for the starving residents of the Alazan area of northern Mexico, landed at Moore Air Base, Mission, Tex., Sunday.

The food, contributed by the citizens of Van Nuys, was stored in a Rio Bravo warehouse with 80 tons of other emergency supplies awaiting delivery to the stricken area.

Rain which has kept trucks from reaching Alazan continued to fall Sunday, but officials said an attempt would be made today to move the food and clothing.

The drive for aid to the Mexican farmers began last week when it was learned Alazan residents were near death from malnutrition because a three-year drought had destroyed their crops.

When the food is moved out of Rio Bravo, it will be distributed to the head of each Alazan family. Each member of the family will get 12 kilograms — about 24 pounds — of staples per week.

Haitian Invasion Seems Imminent; Duvalier Firm

Dangling Angler

SAUSALITO, Calif. (UPI)—Firemen, police officers and a Coast Guard helicopter rushed Saturday to a point near Golden Gate Bridge, where a boy was reported dangling over a cliff at the end of a rope.

Rescuers found an Air Force sergeant fishing nonchalantly at the bottom of the bluff. He explained that he had been fishing at the same spot for years — by lowering himself down the cliff on a 100-foot rope.

Police Trying to Crack Burglaries

Police today were seeking clues in the burglary of two Pampa business places during the week end.

Thurmon P. Stapleton, owner of the Stapleton Boot and Leather Shop, 612 E. Frederic, reported yesterday afternoon that burglars broke into the shop Saturday night and stole two pairs of cowboy boots, valued at $57.76. They also took $4.50 from a cash register.

Investigating officers said entrance to the building was gained by prying open a west window. The burglars closed the window and left by the rear door.

O. L. Parks, 1049 Neel Rd., an employee of the Pampa Milk Company, 601 S. Cuyler, discovered when he reported for work at 4:50 a. m. today that someone had broken into the building through an east window.

Investigation revealed that the burglars pried open a filing case and took $5.50 from a coin box. A half carton of cigarettes also was missing.

Algeria Mourns Khemisti's Death

ALGIERS (UPI)—Premier Ahmed Ben Bella and visiting Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser canceled their official functions today to lead the nation's mourning for Foreign Minister Mohammed Khemisti.

Khemisti, 32, died Sunday of wounds suffered April 11 when he was shot down by an Algerian schoolteacher outside the National Assembly Building. He never regained consciousness.

Ben Bella proclaimed national mourning, putting a damper on the rousing reception given Nasser here.

Nasser and his party planned to attend burial ceremonies for Khemisti in the Sidi-Mohammed cemetery this afternoon.

All of Nasser's official program for the day was postponed.

Bosch Calls Cabinet; Infantry in Position

By HENRY RAYMONT
United Press International

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (UPI)—President Juan Bosch convoked his cabinet today for a report from military chiefs, strengthening belief the hour for a Dominican strike against Haiti may be imminent.

An Army spokesman said Dominican infantry now were in attack positions the length of the border separating the two countries on the Caribbean island of Hispaniola.

Bosch made no secret of his plans to invade Haiti if necessary to topple the dictatorial regime of President Francois Duvalier.

The Organization of American States (OAS) stepped up its efforts to head off a war between the two nations which share the Caribbean island of Hispaniola, only 55 miles from Cuba.

President Duvalier vowed in Port Au Prince he never would step down under pressure, he told his people.

"I am a revolutionary in every sense — not a sentimental type but one of the hard kind. . . I have for my companion my rifle."

In Washington, the OAS scheduled an emergency meeting to hear a report from three members of the fact-finding mission it sent to Haiti and the Dominican Republic. The mission members expressed doubt that Bosch would move against Haiti while the OAS was trying to solve the crisis.

But Bosch moved troops, tanks and warships into position for an invasion, spurred on by a plea from Haitian political refugees in asylum in Port Au Prince to save them from "savagery" by Duvalier's police.

Although no formal ultimatum was issued, Dominican officials hinted the attack could come at any time and might be preceded by heavy aerial bombardment of Duvalier's palace.

U. S. Marines aboard a Navy task force within 30 miles of Port Au Prince were alerted to move in to evacuate 1,000 Americans in the Haitian capital if fighting broke out. The Navy said it was ready to move on 10-minute notice.

British Frigate Stands By

The British sent a Royal Navy frigate to international waters just off Haiti and the Admiralty in London said the ship would become British residents if that became necessary.

Four Dominican warships moved into the Gonave Channel off Haiti's west coast, according to Dominican government sources.

Demonstrators Encouraged by Racial Marches

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)—Hundreds of Negroes gathered for another mass rally today, encouraged by Sunday's march on city jail in a 34-day racial desegregation campaign that did not result in mass arrests.

Negroes resumed their mass meeting tactics shortly after 10 a. m. One group of at least 100 Negroes marched in columns of three into the Sixth Street Baptist Church, the main meeting house where the demonstrations are launched.

All streets leading to the church were crowded with Negroes headed for the rally. Those inside the church began singing of "freedom" songs and waited for instructions from leaders.

More than 2,000 singing, chanting Negroes Sunday marched six blocks from a Negro church to a park across from the city jail. They were permitted by police to hold a 15-minute demonstration aimed at bolstering the spirits of more than 1,200 Negroes jailed for previous demonstrations.

Burke Marshall, head of the Justice Department's civil rights division, was in Birmingham to spearhead efforts to ease racial pressures. But Mayor Albert Boutwell said he has not been in touch with Marshall nor has Marshall contacted him about any possible truce in the racial disorders.

Pampans' Son Dies in Army Traffic Mishap

Pfc. Norman Galloway of Fort Lewis, Wash., whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Garey O. Galloway, reside at 401 N. Zimmer, was killed instantly in an accident Friday near Lake Keechelus, Wash.

Pvt. Galloway, an army mechanic, was riding in a light vehicle army convoy, when a gasoline transport truck, in attempting to pass, was forced back by oncoming traffic and crashed into the army vehicle in which Galloway was a passenger.

Funeral arrangements, pending the arrival of the body in Pampa, will be announced by Du-nkel-Carmichael Funeral Home.

Pvt. Galloway was born Aug. 13, 1938 in Erick, Okla.

He entered the service on Aug. 21, 1961 and after 14 weeks basic training in Fort Ord, Calif. was assigned to Fort Lewis. He spent six months in Germany and returned to Fort Lewis for continued service.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by three brothers, L. B. and James E., both of Berger, Robert L. of El Paso, and his grandmother, Mrs. Mattie Galloway of Erick, Okla.

HOME COMING — Vince Johnson, the first student from Pampa to participate in the American Field Service exchange program, was greeted at the train by his mother, Mrs. Raymond Johnson, as he returned home early this morning. Vince has been attending school in Berne, Switzerland since last September. He lived with the Fritz Bandi family during that time, and arrived back in the United States April 29, on the Queen Mary.

GOP Split over Rocky's Presidential Chances

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Republican leaders began an agonizing reappraisal of their possible presidential candidates today. They found themselves in almost total disagreement about the political effects of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's remarriage.

Some of them felt the New York governor, who had been considered the strongest contender for the 1964 presidential nomination, had committed political suicide by his marriage Saturday. Others said it would have no effect. Still others commented that they did not know or that it was too early to judge the political effects.

Rockefeller, 54, who was divorced last year by his wife of 31 years, was married Saturday to Mrs. Margaretta Fitter Murphy, 36, a mother of four, who obtained a divorce last month.

Leaders interviewed by United Press International if they believed the marriage hurt Rockefeller's chances for the presidential nomination and who they regarded as (See CANDIDATES, Page 3)

Six Persons Arrested in Amarillo Racial Flareup

AMARILLO (UPI)—Police liquor agents, Van Auken and Jim Travis, tried to arrest two men in a night club in a predominantly Negro section of the city called "the Flats." A crowd blocked the door to the club when the agents tried to leave with the men.

Texas Shudders Under Turbulent Week End

By United Press International

Turbulent weekend weather left a costly trail of wind, hail, rain and dust damages over an expanse of Texas from the Panhandle to the Lower Rio Grande Valley today.

Wide areas of West Texas were rocked Sunday by high winds and hail, some of them for the second day in a row, while up to 6 inches of rain fell on parched crop lands over a wide area.

There were no deaths reported from the weather, but a Nolan County woman—Mrs. J. L. Teel of Lake Tamm, eight miles south of Sweetwater—was seriously injured when lightning struck her home during a violent thunderstorm Sunday afternoon.

Damage was heavy Sunday in the Abilene area, around Sweetwater, at Kermit and Monahans, at Ballinger. Flash flooding hit Lubbock and many other sections. Showers Continue

The weather calmed down today although scattered showers.

Pampa got black clouds, thunder and a few drops of rain as its only contribution from the backlash of turbulent weather that hit other sections of Texas Sunday.

Meanwhile, local residents took advantage of the summer water rate and resorted to sprinklers and lawn soakers to revive drying grass, flowers and gardens. Pampa and the immediate area is experiencing one of its longest drought periods in years.

Blustery winds kicked up a dust storm that reduced visibility to zero in parts of far West Texas Sunday, slowing trains between Sierra Blanca and Valentine and putting a choking dust blanket on Kermit.

A wind gauge at Radio Station KVKM at Monahans clocked Sunday's winds at 92 miles an hour. Trees were uprooted, a house unroofed and signs blown down. The town of Wichita, five miles west (See WEATHER, Page 3)

Dear Abby... Unusual Surnames Create Big Stir

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I was very much amused to note in your column that someone actually collected unusual surnames as a hobby. Here is one that tops them all. "MRS. BY THE WAY." Yes, that's right. Three separate words. "BY THE WAY." She is a friend of ours and lives in Maryland.

my name to her collection. DAVID FEEBLECORN (Brainard, Minnesota.)

DEAR ABBY: I went to school with a girl whose real name was "PEARL HANDLE." She married a boy whose name was "JACK KNIFE."

DEAR ABBY: As a postal employee I have run across some unusual names. To mention a few, "LUCY LACEY," "ETHEL BETH EL," "MARINKA PINKA" and "UPSON DOWNS." On the same street live a "CHARLES DICKENS" and a "ROBERT BURNS." And how about this for a rare one — "HAPPY CLAPSADDLE"?

DEAR ABBY: Perhaps "SURNAME COLLECTOR" would like these: "STONEBRAKER," "RAINWATER," "TURNPIECE" and "MONKEYTRICK." These are all authentic surnames which I found in my telephone directory. "ON THE LEVEL"

DEAR ABBY: Speaking of unusual surnames, I know some dillies. They are authentic American Indian names. "Six Fingers," "Kill - A - Pretty - Enemy," "Kick - A - Hole - In - The - Soup" (honest) and "Comes Out Holy." These names are all real. I know because I am —

DEAR ABBY: The woman who collects unusual surnames should get herself a job in a clearing-house. I have picked up such gems as "CAUGHTRAIN," "CLINKENBEARD," "PROUDFIT," "BROAD" and "IDA ASTER."

Nice crowd out Thursday for the monthly birthday party. Weather was warmer after the cold nights and windy days. Spring is just around the corner and graduation invitations are beginning to arrive. Mrs. E. B. Smith and daughter, Corinne Bell, drove over to Clovis, N.M. last week to visit. Mr. and Mrs. Otto C. Bales and family. Mrs. Bales is a sister of Mrs. Smith, who has been very ill. A guest in the home of Mrs. Maggie Deal the first of the week was her sister, Mrs. Floyd Posey of Amarillo. B. C. Rogers left Friday for Alabama and Tennessee to visit relatives for a few weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cullem have moved back to Pampa after spending 12 years in Snider. They are living at 1800 N. Faulkner and came to the Center Thursday. Welcome back to Pampa and to the Center. In America, we call those over 65 "Senior Citizens" or the "Golden Age Group". In Finland, they are called "The Evergreens." Mrs. Lona Webster spent last week with her sister, Mrs. Carrie McBride in Amarillo. Mrs. McBride is one of those unlucky persons who fell during the winter and broke a limb and is learning to walk again. Mrs. A. H. Burgin and daughter, Mrs. Lucy Shelton of Stineett are spending the weekend in Albuquerque, N.M. C. L. Adams is nursing a sore wrist. He injured it while building a carport for that new car. William A. Hall was welcomed as a new member at the Center. Sorry to hear Mrs. H. M. Norris is ill with pneumonia in Highland General Hospital and that V. S. Keahy is confined to the same hospital with a broken hip. Mrs. Robert Bowman and son, Robert, of Belton are visiting with Mrs. Bowman's mother, Mrs. Edith Mills, and was a guest at the Center Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. Jess Hatcher were saddened by the news of the death of a very dear friend, J. W. Owens of Waco, on Wednesday. Services were planned for 2 p.m. Saturday. Was good to see Mrs. Ada W. Brown out Thursday. Mrs. Brown is Mrs. Adrienne Foster's mother and was quite ill recently. While you're reading these two lines, the U. S. government will have spent $110,000. Hail Damages School

A Sweetwater elementary school lost 35 windows to hail, which also almost completely wiped out the wheat crop in that area. Three inches of rain accompanied the storm. Winds flipped over a light airplane at the Sweetwater airport and combined with the ground-covering hail to inflict thousands of dollars damage.

The winds overturned a trailer house at Roscoe, unroofed a two-week-old $100,000 motel at Ballinger, leveled a nursing home under construction at Lawn where a cafe also was unroofed.

A hatchery at Ballinger was destroyed and 2,400 chickens were killed. Metal roofs were ripped from buildings and Radio Station KRUN was put off the air by a power failure which also silenced the town's police radio.

A dry-goods store was unroofed at Stanton.

Weather

Lubbock Gets Hail!

Hail, the size of ping pong balls, hit sections of Lubbock, where up to five inches of rain was reported in scattered areas of the South Plains metropolis. Water ran curb deep in streets and numerous parks were flooded. The official weather bureau at Lubbock reported only 1.21 inches, but 3 to 4 inch measurements were common on the southeast side of town.

A tornado was reported in the air near Littlefield, in the Lubbock area, but there were no reports of it touching the ground.

Far to the southeast, more than 2.5 inches of rain caused flash flooding at San Antonio and minor damage was inflicted on three homes struck by lightning.

Almost four inches of rain turned streets into shallow rivers at Mercedes in the Valley. A Valley Transit Co. bus slid off the road into the mud, but the lone passenger aboard was not hurt.

Weslaco Gets Soaking

Weslaco, also in the Valley, reported three inches of rain and the moisture was reported to have spread into northern Mexico where a three-year drought had starved residents and killed livestock.

Laredo reported 1.92 inches with in the six hour period before dawn, while elsewhere in the same general area Del Rio had 1.36 and Cotulla 1.69 inches.

Other rainfall reports around the state included 2.63 at Trenton, 1.77 at Ennis, 1.40 at McKinney, 1.31 at Ferris, 1.27 at Rockwall, 1.25 at Anna and .51 at Dallas, .50 at Tyler, .36 at Waco and .32 at San Angelo.

Early morning temperature lows ranged from 44 degrees at Alpine to 75 at Houston. Sunday the mercury climbed to the 100-degree level at Presidio.

Mrs. Clifford Coleman, librarian at Skellytown, attended a library staff meeting at the library in Panhandle Thursday afternoon to discuss plans for Summer Reading Program. The theme of the reading program will be "Explore With Books". Skellytown's reading program runs June 3-27 and a picnic will be held at the White Deer park June 28 at 5:30 p.m. There will be a story hour on June 11-18, and 25 from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. at the library, for all children from pre-school to eighth grade.

Past Matrons' OES Gavel Club will meet Thursdays at 7 p.m. in the home of Mrs. W. M. Voyles, 1001 S. Hobart, for a covered-dish supper.

The Stephen F. Austin PTA will meet Thursday at 2 p.m. in the school auditorium. A program is to be presented by the Stephen F. Austin Band under the direction of Charles Meech. New officers will be installed, and a tea honoring the pre-school mothers will follow the meeting.

Obituaries

L. F. Keough

A rosary for L. F. Keough will be recited at 7:20 p.m. today in Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home. Funeral Mass will be held at 9 a.m. Tuesday in St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church with Father Edward J. Cashman, C. M., officiating.

Mr. Keough, owner-manager of the Highland Motel, 1325 N. Hobart, was pronounced dead on arrival at 6:45 a.m. yesterday in a local hospital. He had a heart attack attending 6 a.m. church services.

Born Sept. 17, 1897 in Denver, Colo., Mr. Keough came to the Panhandle in 1923 and to Pampa in 1932. He was a former cable tool drifter before buying and managing the motel.

He was a member of St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church and Knights of Columbus.

Survivors include two daughters, Miss Ellen Keough of Pampa, Mrs. Pat Spellman of Albuquerque; N. M., one son, Jim of Pampa; one brother, William J. Keough of Denver, Colo. and five grandchildren.

Interment will be in Fairview Cemetery beside his wife, who died May 2, 1941.

Pallbearers will be E. J. Dunigan Jr., Lynn Boyd, E. B. Daley, H. W. Waddell, Thomas L. Wade and W. A. Breining.

One or more Republican leaders was contacted in each of 42 states and the District of Columbia.

The state chairman or national committee members in 15 states expressed the belief that Rockefeller's chances had been damaged. National committee members in 12 states they had not. The two members from Hawaii were divided.

Some Won't Comment

In 16 states, national committee members gave noncommittal or "no comment" answers.

In the District of Columbia, the party chairman and two national committee members divided three ways. In New York, members of the state executive committee commented that the marriage would have no effect or that it was too early to assess its impact.

Some of those who said Rockefeller had written his own political obituary or had hurt himself seriously had been outspoken supporters of Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona for the presidential nomination.

the crowd shouted. The agents pulled their guns and held the crowd at bay until they could get outside and call for help.

Before sheriff's deputies, city police and highway patrolmen arrived an angry crowd spilled out of bars along Van Buren Street and began throwing rocks and bottles at officers.

Soon carloads of officers arrived and worked to disperse the crowd.

Deputy Bill Hagee said the crowd was shouting "kill them." Another deputy, Homer Ewton, was fired at twice when he chased one of the agitators. He did not shoot back.

In the midst of the melee, a Negro grabbed a police megaphone and sang out "Everybody come on down to the 77 Club."

The crowd dispersed soon after arrival of riot gun and tear gas equipped police. No injuries were reported.

Construction To Start Today

GROOM (Spi) - Construction was scheduled to begin this morning on a 12-room addition to the Groom Memorial Hospital.

John H. Jones of Clarendon is contractor for the $48,000 building project.

The hospital board of directors recently purchased two lots across the alley east of the hospital. The addition will be erected adjoining the southeast corner of the present hospital building and will contain 12 single rooms for patients, which will double the present supply of rooms for patients.

Council Sponsors Laundry Clinic

Gray County Home Demonstration Council is sponsoring a Laundry Clinic Tuesday at 9 a.m. in the Court House Annex, east of the city.

Mrs. Mildred Prince, home economist for Southwestern Public Service, will demonstrate sorting, washing and drying clothing, according to Miss Lou Ella Patterson, home demonstration agent.

Mrs. Prince will discuss laundry aids and demonstrate stripping the "tattle tale gray" from clothing.

Local dealers will have new washers and dryers on display.

The public is invited to attend the free clinic.

Leather goods manufacturers of the U.S. produced 7.5 million briefcases during 1961.

Man at Window Frightens Woman

A man peering at her through a kitchen window screen frightened Mrs. Melba Holt, 1005 S. Nelson, early today.

Mrs. Holt told police she went into the kitchen shortly before 3:30 a.m. She said the man was standing at the window with both hands on the screen.

She said she ran into another room and called police. She heard a car drive away in the alley behind the house, Mrs. Holt told police.

Sgt. Don Aycock and Patrolman Charles LaFever combed the area, but reported they were unable to find a trace of the prowler.

Population of the United States passed the 187 million mark in August of 1962.

Pampan is Fined on DWI Charge Today

David Matthew Green, of 513 Harlem changed his plea in County Court today from not guilty to guilty.

Green was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to three days in the county jail by County Judge Bill Craig on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

By JEFF COHANE

U. S. OLYMPIC Committee proxy Tug Wilson's statement that in view of the Pan American games results, Uncle Sam's team in the next Olympic games "will be the strongest ever" contrasts sharply with an article by Sen. Abraham Ribicoff in the latest issue of SPORT magazine.

According to Sen. Ribicoff, former head of the Department of Health, Welfare and Education and advisor to the President on physical fitness, the U. S. recent failure in international dealings with Castro and his ilk are directly due to the fact that the Russians are winning the Olympic games. This lowers world respect for us, so Castro and company spit in our eye with impunity.

Although we think this a little far-fetched (according to this reasoning, after Cuba beat the U.S. in baseball in the PA games, they should be invading Florida any day now), the Senator has come up with a brilliant solution, which shouldn't cost the United States much more than about five moonships, half a dozen nuclear subs and the upkeep of the Berlin corridor for several years.

RIBICOFF, who also reactivated Teddy Roosevelt's 50-mile hike, or was it C. C. Pyle's "hunkie derby" says that the reason we lose is because we concentrate too much on American sports such as track and field and basketball, and provide little competition to the Europeans in such overseas specialties as gymnastics, fencing, field hockey for men, cycling, water polo, soccer, etc., etc., pointing out that a win in men's field hockey is worth as many points as a team win in basketball, and an individual fencing victory is just as valuable as a diving title.

The Senator mourns the fact that there are only a handful of colleges teaching fencing and soccer, and very few water polo teams and cycling experts in the U. S., and few high schools teach these sports to speak of, either.

He also has two brilliant solutions for these problems. One — In addition to their regular sports, American athletes should go all-out for foreign sports as well. Second, we should have an Olympics every year to keep our athletes in shape.

WE WOULD like to ask the Senator three small questions: one being: Where do we get the money for all this? . . . second: where do we get the coaches? third: where do we get the athletes?

With the exception of soccer, since we went to a college that played the sport, participated in it ourselves and think it one of the greatest sports there is . . . and we will admit that several of the sports, while not particularly attractive to Americans are fun to watch and to participate in . . . the average 4-A high school spends enough money on coaches for the major sports, plus maintaining the minor sports such as golf, tennis, swimming, etc. Where do they get the money to put out for equipment and coaches for all these other sports? This also applies to the college level as well, since regardless of what the AAU and the IOC say, Olympic champions start at the high school and college level.

Secondly, the 4-A schools depend on the fact that among the coaches hired for the major sports, there will be enough to find at least one experienced in each minor sport, and able to teach it. Sometimes the school does not have an experienced tennis instructor for instance, and then it either has to hire an extra coach or do without the sport. Since the Senator admits that there are few men experienced in some of these sports in the U. S., the answer obviously appears to be that we hire foreign coaches. This would put a nice dent in the school budget, along with the soccer field that has to be built, the cycling velodromes, the canoes, the fencing equipment, etc. Even the major colleges and high schools will have to dig down real, real deep to find the funds. Or will the Senator dig them up out of HEW taxes?

THEN, what about the small high schools, junior colleges, and small four-year colleges, that have just a handful or less of all-around coaches. Can you imagine the reaction, say, of Mobeetie coach Paul Morris, who already teaches football, basketball, track and baseball, if he were told he would have to teach his athletes to fence, play soccer, paddle a canoe and play field hockey as well? Ouch!

THE THIRD question is very simple. As far as the major college level, if they could afford the facilities and coaches, they would probably get enough students interested to come out and play for the fun of it. But as far as playing it full time like basketball and track, so that they could become Olympic contenders, even the maior conference schools couldn't get the athletes for that without providing scholarships. . . more money.

However, as for the small colleges and the high schools, it would be ridiculous. Even in a 4-A school, the majority of your athletes participate in at least two sports, if not three or four. Can you imagine, say, a Kenny Hebert, finding time out from football, baseball, basketball and track to learn equestrianism?

And in the smaller schools, where almost every boy in the school goes out full-time for every sport he can, can you imagine Jimmy Flowers taking time out from football, basketball and track to go cycling?

To take it a step further, should we tell a Randy Matson to forget about trying to get a scholarship in track or basketball, we need him to play badminton?

THEN, OF course, if they are going to have an Olympics every year in the U. S., the colleges and high schools would also have to have meets in these events. Can you imagine water polo in the Border Olympics? How about the feature event of state meet being the 10,000-meter cross-country or the running hot-step-and-jump?

No more North - South football and basketball games, folks, we have to have playoffs in archery, bird shooting, kayak races, three-cornered saber duels, foil singlesticks, field handball, rugby, yacht racing, skeleton bobsledding and the 30,000 meter walk.

ADMITTING that all this could be done — that the funds could be found, the coaches be found, the fields and facilities be built, the equipment obtained and the athletes persuaded to come out for it . . . isn't it very probable that if we neglect the sports in which we are so proficient to start all over again on new ones, that although in 20 years or so we might win points in rugby, soccer and men's field hockey, isn't it highly probable that we will not have the time, money or athletes to continue our mastery in track and field, swimming, basketball and boxing?

This department doesn't know about the rest of you, but we are not going to rush-out and start buying fencing masks for the staff for a while yet. En garde, Senator!

Funeral Set Today For Dickey Kerr

HOUSTON (UPI) — Funeral services were scheduled today for Richard H. (Dickey) Kerr, who pitched two victories in the 1919 "Black Sox" World Series while some of his teammates on the Chicago White Sox tried to throw the Series.

Kerr, 69, died Saturday of cancer. Kerr was also credited with helping Stan Musial stay in baseball and become a star. He talked Musial out of quitting and urged him to become an outfielder.

Survivors include Kerr's widow; two brothers, Art Kerr of St. Louis and Al Kerr of Brookline, Mass. and several nieces and nephews.

Sports Briefs

REDS TRADE BROSAN — The Chicago White Sox grabbed Cincinnati Reds' relief pitcher Jim Brosnan off the waiver list Sunday and sent pitcher Dom Zanni to the National League club on a similar waiver.

Brosnan, once one of the National League's best relief pitchers, has been bickering with Reds owner Bill DeWitt over what Brosnan last week said "censoring his outside world." Brosnan said last week 1934 would be his last season as a result of the conflict with DeWitt.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Mets packed in 128,585 fans at the Polo Grounds for their weekend series with the San Francisco Giants. Figuring an average of $2 per ticket, that amounts to more than $250,000. As of the moment, the Mets, baseball's biggest losers last year, are the biggest drawing card in the major leagues.

In 10 home dates, they have averaged 23,500 fans. The Los Angeles Dodgers have averaged a few hundred less for 13 dates. No other club in the majors has drawn more than 20,000 per game.

Randy Matson Leads State Twin Winners

AUSTIN (UPI) — Pampa's gifted Randy Matson, with another record-breaking performance, led five double winners in the Big State Schoolboy Track Meet Friday and Saturday.

Matson, who today is the most sought-after trackster in the state and one of the top prospects in the nation, rewrote records he set last year in the discus and shot put. Friday he threw the discus a dazzling 192 feet, 3 inches to break his mark of 185-9/4, and Saturday his shot-put-toss of 66 feet, 10 1/2 inches topped his 64-7 effort of 1962.

Other twin winners included James White of Dallas Sunley in Class AAAA, Coleman's Ryley Dunn and Leonard Peters of Seymour in Class AA and Red Oak's Doug Cockerham of Class B.

White won the 100-yard dash with a 9.5 and the 220 at 20.7, only one-tenth of a second off the conference record set by Charley Parker of San Antonio Jefferson in 1943, one of the oldest records on the books. Dunn took the 100 and 220-yard dashes in his class with 9.7 and 21.0 times, both just one-tenth of a second off the conference mark. Peters also was off one-tenth of a second in the 120-yard high and 180-yard low hurdles — he won those events with 14.4 and 19.2 times respectively.

Wilson Figures About One-fourth for '64

SÃO PAULO, Brazil (UPI) — Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson, president of the United States Olympic Committee, said today that only about 25 per cent of the U.S. athletes who helped win a near-record 109 gold medals in the Pan-American Games will compete in the 1964 Olympics.

While not wishing to downgrade the athletes who performed here, Wilson said that in view of what was shown in the Pan-American Games he was willing to predict that Uncle Sam's team in the next Olympic games "will be the strongest ever."

The Pan-American Games ended Sunday with the United States taking the final two gold medals for a fine harvest of 163 — only 11 short of the record 174 won at the last Pan-American Games at Chicago four years ago.

Under the circumstances our showing here was better than it was four years ago," Wilson pointed out. "You have to remember that for the Chicago games we had all our top athletes available."

Nicklaus Going For Number Four

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Snuggling Jack Nicklaus, with three of Arnold Palmer's 1962 titles already tucked away in his golf bag, goes after a fourth this week when the Colonial Invitational opens at Fort Worth, Tex.

Using power and putting for birdie ammunition, Nicklaus tormented the field by five strokes in winning the $50,000 Tournament of Champions Sunday to strip Palmer of one of his most coveted titles.

Earlier this year Jack took away Palmer's all-important Masters title, and before that he captured Arnie's Palm Springs Classic crown.

Nicklaus, who loves nothing better than to beat his stablemate, had rounds of 64-68-72-69 for a 273 total to finish the five shots in front of Palmer and Tony Lema, who tied for second with 278.

For the victory, Nicklaus collected $13,000 in silver dollars and boosted his earnings for a little more than four months of play to $52,715.

Lema, who ground out a beautiful six-under-par 66 on the final round, is second in the money-winning list with $32,496 to his credit, followed by Palmer with $31,375. They each got $5,300 Sunday.

Nicklaus was 15 under-par for the tournament played on the Desert Inn Country Club course. "I probably won the tournament on the par fives," said Nicklaus. "Of the 10 par five holes, I had three pars, one eagle and 12 birdies. That's 14 under right there."

Nicklaus was outdriving everyone in the tournament by an average of better than 10 yards per hole. Palmer shook his head in puzzled fashion.

"He's getting just too strong off the tees," said Arnie. "He outdrives us all. But at 23 years he's bound to be strong."

Nicklaus gave some of the credit for his fine showing, however, to his work on the greens. "My putting here was tremendous for me," said Jack. "I holed a lot of good ones. And I had only one three-put green in the 72 holes."

Sunday he had nines of 35-34 for his 69. He had four birdies and a single bogey. His closest competitor at the start of the round was Bill Casper, who was four shots back. But after eight holes Casper's left hand pained him so much that he had to withdraw. He was one under par at the time. He has tendonitis and will be off the tournament trail for at least three weeks.

Pascual's Victory Over Yanks Lifetime Pursuit

Surprise-Chicago Cubs Talk Title!

By MILTON RICHMAN UPI Sports Writer "Think you've heard everything? Then just listen to those incredible Chicago Cubs talking penant!" Ernie Banks started the ball rolling this spring when he first planted the idea that the Cubs could win and now the notion is starting to take root among some of the other Chicago players.

By MILTON RICHMAN UPI Sports Writer Something's bugging Camilo Pascual.

It isn't anything that is keeping him up nights, but it's something that has been in the back of his mind since he entered the American League 10 years ago. The 29-year-old Minnesota curve-baller is determined to compile a winning lifetime record against the New York Yankees. Call it pride, self-satisfaction or what-you-will, the classy Cuban right-hander says he won't be satisfied until he achieves his goal.

By MILTON RICHMAN UPI Sports Writer

Turning in his finest performance of the campaign, Pascual struck out eight, walked only one and gave up the Yanks' only run when Roger Maris banged his third homer in the seventh inning. By that time, however, the Twins already had scored two of their runs off Ralph Terry, who suffered his third straight loss after winning his first three. Lenny Green tagged him for a homer in the first inning and Vic Power doubled home another run in the third. The Twins tagged Luis Arroyo for their last two runs in the eighth.

AN INDEPENDENT FREEDOM NEWSPAPER

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by any government, with the gift of freedom, and that it is every man's duty to God to preserve his own liberty and respect the liberty of others. Freedom is self-control, no more, no less.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guides expressed in the Ten Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. For only when man understands Freedom, and is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities in harmony with the above moral principles.

Paying Twice For Postal Service

Basically, the Government operates the postal service for all the people as a giant monopoly financed by general taxation. But then, it insists also that postal revenues from mail rates shall balance postal costs.

Under this policy, both the amount of taxes going to support a public service postal system and the rates being charged mail users have gone only one way for many years — up, and ever up.

In fact, postal rates have now climbed so high that it is time to ask whether we aren't paying twice — once through taxes, and again in stamp charges — for the same quality service.

First class stamps have gone from three to five cents in two steps since 1951; second and third class rates have been increased more than 100 per cent in the same period.

This insistence on higher postal rates, in addition to a larger flow of money from the general tax fund to the postal service, is at variance with Federal policy for other departments and agencies, rendering important public services.

For example, the Federal Government spends approximately $91 million a year for the National Park Service, $205 million on inland waterways, $23 million for the patent office, $3.2 billion for Agriculture Department services — not billed to farmers. None of these agencies is required to charge fees, in addition, which will approximately balance expenditures.

With postal costs at an all time high, Congress should take a long, hard look at Post Office budgeting, accounting, cost ascertainment and mechanization to cut costs.

You should urge your Congressman and Senators to find out whether we aren't paying two or three times the amount of money really needed to furnish a modern, efficient postal communications system.

Now We Know —

Some types of fish have a hearing range comparable to that of man, and their own "language," according to Prof. John E. Bardach.

Bardach, whose skin-diving research is done with hydrophones, states that two key phrases may be, 1—"Come here, I love you," and 2—"Go away, I hate you."

Now, any fisherman who dips a line frequently enough to know those days when fish aren't biting, no matter what the bait, can give the professor a third key phrase for his finny vocabulary.

Obviously, denizens of the underwater world have the words for, "Nuts to you, bud."

HOMES WITHOUT TENANTS

Unoccupied Houses Like Govt. Grain Surpluses

By GEORGE BOARDMAN, Ph. D.

In 1961 more than 45,000 sharecroppers living in FHA financed homes defaulted on their payments and moved away. FHA and various government agencies are now making much conversation about FHA plans to "help" those sharecroppers. FHA will permit the tenants to live in the houses until such time as the financial condition of the tenants improve, at which time the tenants begin to make payments again but at a slightly higher rate to make up for the delinquency. This brings up the subject of equity.

When purchasers of homes finance through normal, unsubsidized, private enterprise methods, their payments, plus a down payment, plus a normal appreciation of property values gives them a very real equity in their houses within a couple of years. They have acquired a tangible value, they have something to lose. They also have a chance to sell and turn some of their equity into cash.

In the very early days of FHA financing of relatively low cost tract houses, the buyers had a chance to come out ahead. I recall a GI financed tract which took over a huge bean field in the San Fernando Valley. Two bedroom houses sold for as low as $7,900. Within five years property values had climbed to an average of about $10,000 for homes which had been individualized or maintained in good condition. Today — many homes of inferior quality sell for $5,000 more and up. Very few of the earlier buyers defaulted on their payments for obvious reasons. The houses were priced right. Property values appreciated. Buyers acquired an equity and were able to sell when and if they decided to move.

We have good reason to believe defaults on FHA financed houses are more numerous today than in 1961 and that more than $9,000 of these houses stand empty — just empty structures because only a few ever became homes. I know of one section in California where block after block of empty houses stand drying out in the desert sun. The original selling price was more than $12,500. I suppose a reckless speculator might offer $5,000 each for these houses, by the dozen. He might be able to sell them for as much as $5,000 if he could arrange a 5 per cent down and not more than $39.99 a month payments, providing the taxes are extremely low. I know of at least one other tract area which is almost fully inhabited but the property values depreciated to such a degree as to make it impossible to obtain a $7,500 cash offer for a house which sold for almost $15,000 only a few years ago.

I hope you will take a very close look at this situation; 50,000 empty houses or more while government and politicians holler about housing shortages, 50,000 or more empty houses which are not even suitable for slums, because they are too far removed from the case workers and the public feeding troughs. Here is something akin to the food and grain surpluses created by government management and one of these days government may come up with the idea of trying to re-sell these houses, completely stocked with surplus foods.

Within the next couple of years there will be more and more empty, desolate houses, block after block and mile after mile. The people who bought them acquired no equity and no feeling of kinship towards the houses and no real sense of responsibility. Within five years, it will be difficult to sell those houses for even as little as $1,500 — a horribly inflated dollar. In the meantime, other facts will suddenly become unpopulated — as some government agency or subsidized business moves or when some proposed government expansion program fails to materialize. And this is the way it will always be when government plans and manages and meddles because government can only grow and thrive upon waste, bureaucracy and mismanagement. Ten years ago I talked with a couple of builders who had just turned their backs on a plan to promote an FHA financed tract of houses. Instead they built good homes for clients who financed their purchases through unsubsidized lenders and were able to look with pride on their work. Taxes and further intrusions by government drove them out of business but they retained their self respect, without which only zombies can live.

Good luck and good health to you, in Freedom.

Until 10 years ago the famous St. Paul's Cathedral dominated the skyline of London because the height of buildings was restricted by law, but later these were removed and today numerous skyscrapers are located in many sections of the English metropolis. Most of these have been constructed since 1956, when a huge building boom got under way. The 55-story Post Office Tower, near the British Museum, will open next year, featuring a revolving restaurant, similar to the one at the Seattle World's Fair. This will afford diners a magnificent view of the entire city. The tower will also provide additional observation platforms at the top for unrivaled panoramic views for sightseers. Other noted skyscrapers in London built in the last few years are: Vickers on Millbank, near the Houses of Parliament, the Shell structure on the South Bank of the Thames and the recently opened Hilton Hotel on Park Lane at Hyde Park, overlooking Buckingham Palace and gardens.

Some conflicting news from the Pembina (N.D.) New Era: "The percentage of correctly prepared tax returns increased sharply, but numerous simple mistakes continue to show up..." WHEN FAMILY LIFE STOPS JUVENILE DELINQUENCY STARTS. This is printed on the official stationery of Henry Barnes, New York City's internationally known traffic commissioner.

The first mother in the English colonies of North America was born on Roanoke Island, N.C. in 1587. The length of a "good night's sleep varies from person to person, but it's easy to tell the next day if one did get enough," says Dr. Nathaniel Kleitman of Santa Monica, Calif. He reports in the AMA News a study of the effects of increasing amounts of sleep on performance of tests the following afternoon. It showed improved performances as the amount of sleep was increased to six hours, after which the rate of improvement dropped off. A simple rule, he said, is "one's ability to wake up naturally at the usual getting-up time and be free from drowsiness in the afternoon."

Changing Times: Latest survey by car rental agencies show that more and more women are caring less about getting hubby to buy that "second car" for their personal use. The shift now is to rent a car for the two or three days of shopping the little woman does each week. Cars can now be rented for as little as $5 per day and this includes insurance. Compared to the yearly upkeep of a car seldom used, rentals have been found not only to have a fashionable appeal but to be quite a saving on papa's pocketbook. Although the newspaper strike in New York has been settled and all the dailies are publishing, rumors persist that all is not well in the Fourth Estate and that some important changes and a merger or two will develop in the coming months. Pope's Message Not Blanket U.N. Okay

By ED DELANEY

Perhaps nothing in recent weeks has stirred comment and controversy as the widely publicized encyclical "Pacem in Terris" (Peace on Earth) of Pope John XXIII. The essence of it and the message intended to be conveyed is succinctly phrased in its introduction: "Peace on earth, which men of every era have most eagerly yearned for, can be firmly established only if the order laid down by God be dutifully observed."

Men of good will throughout the world cannot but endorse those words. But unfortunately, over vast areas of the earth, tyrannical political potentates, not only entirely disregard the "order laid down by God" but they vigorously and unceasingly persecute those people who endeavor to conform to God's commandments, instead of those dictated by some man-made authority.

Space here does not permit comment on more than one or two points emphasized by the Pope. The civilized world, particularly the Western world, will agree with his urging that nuclear weapons be banned and that there be agreement among nations on progressive approach to general disarmament and an effective method of control. Such method of control necessitates inspections within the territory of the nations possessing nuclear weapons. The Soviet has persistently refused to permit. Therefore, there can be no effective method of control until that barrier is overcome.

The Pope's reference to the United Nations, with conditional endorsement of that organization, which in the main does not take cognizance of God, has met with vehement opposition among Catholics as well as non-Catholics not only in this country but in certain European countries. They cite what appears to be some inconsistencies in the Pope's admonition. He notes that the U.N. has as its essential purpose the maintenance of peace based on the principles of equality, mutual respect and co-operation in every section of human society. True enough, that is the declared objective of the U.N., but its record to date is one of disregard for those lofty ideals. The waging of an aggressive war against the defenseless people of Katanga and its refusal to carry out its own resolutions which would have halted the Soviet slaughter of the Hungarians in 1956 are two examples of U.N. departure from its announced principles.

In what appears to be the Pope's support of a world community, he stresses that its authority is not intended to limit the authority of the individual political communities which comprise that world authority. Moreover, he points out, no one "wants to feel subject to political powers located outside his own country or ethnic group." Every citizen of this country and many others will heartily endorse that.

The public authority of a world community, he observes, is to create on a world basis an environment in which the public authority of each political entity, its citizens and intermediate associations can exercise their rights with greater security. That is precisely the view held by those in this country who uphold the Connally Amendment to our acceptance of the World Court jurisdiction. That court may not usurp the rights of the United States, "as determined by the U.S. in this country do not subscribe to that thesis. They view the U. N. as the parent of a One World community with One World rule and armed forces at the sole direction of that world community."

"It is our earnest wish," says the Pope, "that the U. N. in its structure and in its means may become more equal to the magnitude and nobility of its tasks." Obviously he does not regard the U. N. as now being equal to the magnitude and nobility of its tasks. Taking that as his earnest wish, many will agree with him. Because in its present structure, with a preponderance of member-nations which do not respect the God-given rights of the individual it cannot "bring about true peace in the order established by God." The extreme left-wing segment of the Catholic press, also their counterpart among the non-Catholic publications will fasten on the Pope's message and blazon it as a blanket blessing for the U. N. A careful analysis of the entire encyclical reveals a positive urging for principles and objectives that are the very antithesis of those being promoted and practiced by the U. N. The Pope's message, unfortunately, is more idealistic than realistic.

Indians of the American north-west coast went barefoot the year round and wore raincoats of cedar bark in the wet season.

Earlier it was disclosed that the Farmers Home Administration had approved an insured loan of $109,000 to finance construction of 20 apartments in Ocean county, N. J., "to serve the needs of retired farmers and rural residents." This, together with the fact that the department pays farmers for not growing corn and wheat, might justly expand the title just a bit to the department — of fun, sports, amusement, and welfare.

Some all-encompassing title is needed for a department which is spending more than 7.5 billion dollars this year and employs more than 120,000 full time and about 90,000 part time payrollers. Rep. Gross said the department added 14,000 employees during the last two years and has asked authority to hire 5,000 more next year.

"Give him a few more," commented Rep. Gross, "and Freeman can start lending caddies to farmers spreading out golf."

The Nation's Press

FUN ON THE FARM (Chicago Tribune)

Because of the multitalented activities of the department of agriculture, Secretary Orville Freeman some time ago suggested changing its name to the department of food, agriculture, and rural affairs more accurately to reflect its broadened endeavors among farmers and nonfarmers. However, Rep. H. R. Gross (R., Ia.) thinks it should be renamed the "department of fun, sports, and amusement."

Rep. Gross suggestion stems from Mr. Freeman's disclosure that the Farmers Home Administration advanced loans of $17,745 to a North Carolina farmer to enlarge a golf course and improve a lake on his cotton and cattle farm; $2,900 to an Arkansas farmer to finance a quail shooting gallery, and $2,400 to a Wisconsin farmer to build a camping site and a boat dock. These were among the first loans under a new program of assistance to farmers who want to convert part or all of their croplands to recreation facilities that would be available to the public on a fee basis. The federal loans are made at lower rates than the borrowers would have to pay private lending agencies.

But once U. S. news reports attributed to "authoritative sources" were published, then Castro could use them to substantiate all the furious accusations he has been hurling at CIA, and this unquestionably would win him considerable credence in Latin America.

McConne warned that if government officials adopt a policy of acknowledging agents, that will make it difficult to recruit them because of fear of being exposed.

In an unnoticed "Speranza Lecture" at Columbia University on April 18, Sorensen made the startling announcement that "President Kennedy's successor, regardless of party, will find it difficult to reverse the nation's present course in space or in Latin America."

"Whatever the merits of these various decisions," continued Sorensen, "it is clear that no President starts out with a clean slate before him. And even after he is in office, a President cannot easily reverse a promise made by a subordinate — by an ambassador on foreign assistance, for example, or on the recognition of a new government — if that man's stature in the host country is to continue to be respected."

"But the clearest limitations of all are those imposed by a President's own decisions. He need not make a fetish of consistency, but he must avoid confusion or the appearance of deception."

THE WEEDING OUT — After working closely with President Kennedy for 28 months, it is Sorensen's opinion that "a President should not try to decide too few issues — but neither can he decide too many. Above all, he should decide what it is he need not decide at that time."

As a striking example of this, the White House special counsel revealed that during last October's Cuban missile crisis, "The President charged his Cabinet and staff to avoid the presentation of those issues that could be safely delayed or settled among themselves."

"Surprisingly enough, a President's decision in either domestic or foreign affairs," related Sorensen,

Allen-Scott Report

Story on 3 CIA Agents Traded for Castro Saboteurs Leaked by President's Close Assistants — to Forestall Criticism

ROBERT ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Two of President Kennedy's closest assistants were the secret sources who disclosed that three CIA agents were among the 21 Americans freed from Cuban prisoners.

These "informers," as intelligence officers now irately refer to the two White House aides, are Theodore Sorensen, special counsel and principal speech writer of the President, and press secretary Pierre Salinger.

They did this backstage divulging of "sensitive" intelligence information with the full knowledge of the President — and over the strong objections of Central Intelligence Director John McCone and his top officials.

Administration insiders attribute the disclosure of this "CIA story" to a high-level political decision in which the President and key advisers took part.

In these deliberations, Sorensen took the lead in urging publicizing of the CIA agents' swap.

He argued that release of these details was a political necessity to counter a certain storm of criticism of the President for agreeing to Castro's demands that a convicted murderer and four indicted saboteurs be freed in the prisoner exchange.

Sorensen contended the administration could avoid or at least blunt such a political furor if the point was got over that the CIA agents were part of a "devil's bargain."

While favoring the prisoner swap to obtain the release of the CIA agents, Director McCone and his lieutenants vigorously opposed what they deemed as unnecessary and undesirable publicity relating to the agents.

The CIA officials stressed particularly that citing the agents would play squarely into Castro's hands, and also would impair the activities of the huge intelligence agency throughout the world.

NO CONFESSIONS — The intelligence authorities made much of the fact that none of the agents had confessed, and that Castro had no evidence to back up his charges that CIA men were among the exchanged prisoners.

But once U. S. news reports attributed to "authoritative sources" were published, then Castro could use them to substantiate all the furious accusations he has been hurling at CIA, and this unquestionably would win him considerable credence in Latin America.

McConne warned that if government officials adopt a policy of acknowledging agents, that will make it difficult to recruit them because of fear of being exposed.

But the political reasoning of Sorensen, strongly seconded by Salinger, carried the day, and the President's "alter-ego" let the world know about the CIA agents.

DECISION-MAKING — Sorensen also has shed the first authoritative light on the problems and complexities involved in White House decision-making in the Kennedy regime.

In an unnoticed "Speranza Lecture" at Columbia University on April 18, Sorensen made the startling announcement that "President Kennedy's successor, regardless of party, will find it difficult to reverse the nation's present course in space or in Latin America."

"Whatever the merits of these various decisions," continued Sorensen, "it is clear that no President starts out with a clean slate before him. And even after he is in office, a President cannot easily reverse a promise made by a subordinate — by an ambassador on foreign assistance, for example, or on the recognition of a new government — if that man's stature in the host country is to continue to be respected."

"But the clearest limitations of all are those imposed by a President's own decisions. He need not make a fetish of consistency, but he must avoid confusion or the appearance of deception."

THE WEEDING OUT — After working closely with President Kennedy for 28 months, it is Sorensen's opinion that "a President should not try to decide too few issues — but neither can he decide too many. Above all, he should decide what it is he need not decide at that time."

As a striking example of this, the White House special counsel revealed that during last October's Cuban missile crisis, "The President charged his Cabinet and staff to avoid the presentation of those issues that could be safely delayed or settled among themselves."

"Surprisingly enough, a President's decision in either domestic or foreign affairs," related Sorensen, sen, "may also depend upon its acceptance within the executive branch itself — on the President's ability to gain acceptance for his point of view over dissent, inertia, incompetence, or impotence among his own appointees and a policy officials as well as the permanent bureaucracy."

Without going into specific details, Sorensen added:

"I can recall more than one occasion when it was necessary for the President to convince his own appointees before they could undertake to convince the Congress, the Soviet or some other party."

"The administration official who most often looms largest in influencing presidential thinking when he makes a key decision is not the Secretary of State (Rusk) or the Secretary of Defense (McNamara), but the Director of the Budget (Kermit Gordon)."

Reason for the Budget Director's crucial role, explained Sorensen, is that "every President must always be setting priorities and measuring costs."

Sorensen's own view on letting the public know what is going on was summed up by him as follows: "There is a time for every matter under heaven... a time to keep silent and a time to speak."

Only time will tell if this was the time for Sorensen to be silent or to speak — as he often has on high matters of state and security.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government which will not insure answers.)

Question: "1. Do you consider insurance a sound means of providing protection in case of illness or an accident? Why or why not?"

"2. Because of the rapid depreciation of our money value, is life insurance, redeemable at retirement, a good investment? If not, how best can we prepare for old age without resorting to Social Security or any other government handout?"

Answer: 1. For those who believe they need protection in event of illness or accident, we believe a voluntary health and accident insurance program is a sound means of gaining reasonable protection. It is a means of making regular payments in time of health to be sure of meeting major medical expenses when health fails.

However, since there are some who prefer to provide for their own welfare through savings and investment, we believe the program should be voluntary.

2. This question points up one of the greatest problems of the times. Many persons who sought to provide for their own old age by insurance or savings accounts or other investments payable in fixed number of units of money, have found their planning has gone for naught because of the inflation. Therefore, insurance which has a fixed-dollar payment at a specified time, is not as valuable as it once was. An insurance policy taken out 30 years ago is payable today in dollars which will purchase possibly one-third of what they would have at the time the policy was taken out.

When the politicians are embarked on a program of inflation, it is difficult to know what is best to do as a hedge against inflation. Some individuals invest in stocks which are more likely to expand in dollar value with inflation. Others try real estate, which also tends to inflate with the dollar. Some believe gold mining stocks will have great value if and when the bubble bursts.

We are not in the business of investment counseling, and believe each individual must decide for himself. We can only say that if the inflation trend continues, it will follow the same pattern that came in Germany when a million marks would hardly buy a loaf of bread. Social Security or other government handouts will have no value then, either.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
United Press International

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—It takes an awful lot of cheek to begin a commercial when the horses are at the starting gate in the Kentucky Derby. Credit someone at CBS-TV with an awful lot of cheek.

As the nation's most glamorous horse race was about to get under way Saturday, the tenseness was incredibly interrupted by a beer commercial. It very nearly cost viewers the sight of part of the race. The impression received by this viewer is that the commercial may have been cut short amid some last-second frenzy to get things squared away. For no sooner did the commercial disappear than the Derby began.

But that was not all. Hardly was the race over than there was another commercial, this one about lawn sprinklers or something of the like. The result is that the Derby seemed almost like something slipped in between a couple of commercials, which in fact it was.

It was a crass performance, and all the more shameful and sad because CBS had gone to the worthwhile trouble of giving the Derby a full-hour treatment for the first time. Capable Jack Drees, who called the race, appeared thrown by that last-second fuss, and seemed almost the last person to notice that Chateaugay, the eventual winner, had moved up into contention. I don't blame him one whit.

To be brutally frank, I can live without folksinging, though it is often ingratiating. Some people I know, however, not only can live without it, but feel this way because they somehow associate it with beards, people who need washing and wide-eyed radicals; and having once had a wild ambition to the five-string banjo in Chicago, I think there is some merit to that washing thesis. At any rate, it seemed inevitable that a political problem eventually would arise over ABC-TV's new Saturday folksinging show, "Hoot-nanny," and it has.

For a while now, some performers have refused to appear on the show, claiming the controversial Pete Seeger is banned from it because of alleged political reasons. Now, in the latest issue of "Variety," there are seven pages of advertising that seem sure to add oil to the fire, and pressure too. The pages announce the 15th anniversary of "The Weavers," a folksinging group to which Seeger once belonged; there is a prominent picture of him with its members; and many of the congratulatory ads are from well-known performers.

As one who major beliefs tend to wide-eyed blondes, this viewer got the impression that though the ads saluted "The Weavers," part of the over-all effect was also to put the head on embattled ABC, which earlier had headaches with Howard K. Smith's program on Richard Nixon.

BERLIN (UPI)—The West German Red Cross announced today that since the Berlin wall went up Aug. 13, 1961 the East German government has allowed 4,044 mostly elderly persons to leave to join relations in the West.

Last month 481 East Germans received permission to leave, the Red Cross said.

PARIS (UPI)—A new passenger jet flight record between San Francisco and Paris was set today when a TWA Boeing Starstream made the trip in 9 hours and 35 minutes.

The previous record of 10 hours, four minutes, was set by another TWA Boeing last March 23.

Zales Prexy Gets Award

Ben A. Lipshy, president of Zale Jewelry Company of Dallas, has been awarded the 1963 John F. Kennedy "Alliance for Progress" Distinguished Service Award of the Inter-American Relations and Commerce Commission, it was announced today in San Antonio by Ely I. Bergmann, commission chairman.

The award will be presented to Lipshy during World Trade Week in Dallas at a May 21 luncheon of the Dallas Manufacturers and Wholesalers Association, an organization affiliated with the Dallas Chamber of Commerce.

Lipshy received the award for his company's outstanding service to the cause of friendship and cooperation between the United States and the Hispanic world, Mr. Bergmann said.

The company provides a quantity of gift Braille watches to the Inter-American Relations and Commerce Commission for free distribution through the governments of Costa Rica, El Salvador, Guatemala, Mexico, Honduras and Panama.

The Lighter Side

Matter for the Birds

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — In a motion picture called "The Birds," our feathered friends lay siege to the human race with intent to do us in.

And in a cartoon strip, a raven named "Stoolie" has been acting as a go-between for a group of underworld characters.

Neither of these plots is likely to be endorsed by the Audubon Society and in some quarters they are regarded as ridiculous. But I am here to testify they are not as far-fetched as they might seem.

There is no gain saying that many birds become thugs and bullies. I myself have been attacked twice recently by a vicious hummingbird that lurks around my morning glory vine.

These ordinary criminal tendencies, however, are not my main concern. I am more disturbed by the ornithological underground.

Mockingbirds Are Ringleaders

If birds are plotting to overthrow us, as Alfred Hitchcock, Dick Tracy and I suspect, I have reason to believe that the ring-leaders are mockingbirds.

According to a press release I recently received from the National Geographic Society, a mockingbird has been known to sing continuously for six hours—from 3 a.m. to 9 a.m. Do you catch the significance of that?

If they can disrupt our slumber, and thus weaken our resistance, it will make the takeover that much easier.

Most people think mockingbirds only do bird imitations, which is a cheap act that went out with vaudeville. That is only a front, or cover, masking a far more sinister talent.

Mockingbirds also can duplicate the sounds made by peeping tree toads, buzzing locusts, crowing roosters, barking dogs, squeaking gates and whistling policemen.

Can Disguise Voices

In other words, they can disguise their voices and penetrate places that otherwise might be barred to birds.

A ham radio operator in Dallas once heard a mockingbird imitating the "dit-dit-dah" signals of the Morse Code. I hardly need add that seizure of our communications systems would be the first target of any uprising.

Equally alarming are those far pigeons that waddle around in

Matter for the Birds

Lafayette Park across the street from the White House. It was there that Bernard Baruch used to confer with high government officials.

Is anyone naive enough to think those pigeons are only interested in the peanuts dropped by tourists? Hah! Five will get you ten.

The North Texas district is located in Pampa, and is managed by Jim Cochran, who is a company veteran with nine years experience in all phases of tubular goods inspection.

In Montana, the new district office is located in Glendive.

Both new districts will offer inspection service for new and used tubing, casing and drill pipe, as well as rubber casing protectors.

MEMORY GARDENS OF PAMPA, Inc.

those pigeons are espionage agents.

I have reported this matter to police several times, but they refuse to take any action. Whither can we turn for protection?
