Pope Paul Will 'Continue Battle' for World Peace

VATICAN CITY (UPI) - Pope Paul VI promised today that the Vatican will not interfere in the affairs of other states.

In an audience for the Vatican diplomatic corps, the Pope pledged that his reign would continue the battle for world peace based on "the four pillars of truth, justice, love and liberty."

He told the diplomats of some 50 nations in his second official audience that "the Holy See does not propose... to intervene in the affairs or interests that pertain to temporal powers."

The United States has no relations with the Vatican so did not have a representative among the diplomats in the red-draped consistorial hall for the audience.

Says Holy See Honored
The Pope told the diplomats that "the Holy See is highly honored by your presence here."

"Whether it is a matter of normal diplomatic relations or of extraordinary occasions - such as the recent funeral rites for Pope John XXIII - the presence of the representatives of nations is a highly significant tribute to the spiritual mission of the Holy See."

Some observers said the remark could be interpreted as an indirect "thank you" to the United States since Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson was the highest government representative to attend the rites.

The 65-year-old pontiff was Giovanni Battista Cardinal Montini until chosen by his fellow cardinals last Friday to succeed the late Pope John XXIII on the Throne of St. Peter.

Continues Council

In his first major address the day after election, he pledged before the College of Cardinals to continue the Ecumenical Council - the gathering of church hierarchs John XXIII called to modernize the church and work toward Christian unity.

Pope Paul's coronation will take place next Sunday afternoon. Informed sources said it will be in St. Peter's Square and not in the basilica as is traditional, so that more people could see the ceremony.

Up to 300,000 persons can jam the square, where an altar will be placed on the porch of the basilica.

Atlantic City Top Choice for Demo Convention

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Democratic national committeemen gathered today to select a site for the party's 1964 convention, with Atlantic City the most likely choice.

Chicago and San Francisco still were in the running, however.

San Francisco already has won the Republican convention. The GOP National Committee announced Saturday the nominating conclave would open in the Cow Palace in San Francisco on July 13, 1964.

The Democrats are expected to convene their convention much later, probably in mid-August, because President Kennedy is assured of renomination and they don't face the GOP problem of having to build up a candidate.

The Democratic site committee was scheduled to meet in closed session today to prepare its recommendation for the national committee's open meeting Tuesday.

Another group working on a formula for allocation of delegates also called a closed meeting today.

Submit Bids

Chicago and San Francisco each has offered the Democrats a reported $450,000 for the convention.

But Atlantic City, the state of New Jersey and private citizens have bid $625,000 to defray convention expenses, plus free use of the ocean resort's Convention Hall and free hotel and motel space for party operations.

New Jersey Gov. Richard J. Hughes and his wife gave a lavish buffet dinner at Washington's International Inn Sunday night for Democratic big-wigs. Hughes canceled previous engagements at home to wine, dine and woo.

Montgomery Ward Safe Robbery Attempt Fails

Would-be safe robbers failed late Saturday night in an attempt to break into a safe at the Montgomery Ward Store, 217 N. Cuyler.

The break-in was discovered at 12:22 a.m. Sunday by Sgt. Don Aycock and Patrolman James Davis in a routine check through an alley in the rear of the store.

Officers discovered the rear door standing open about an inch. Further investigation revealed the attempt to get into the safe in the second floor office.

The burglars had removed the door from the safe but apparently did not attempt to knock off the combination pin. Police found the safe rolled over on its side.

They said the burglars apparently gave up the job or were frightened away before they could get the safe open.

Charles Herfkens, an employee, told police he had locked all doors before leaving Saturday night.

The attempted safe robbery was investigated by Police Chief Jim Conner, Patrolman C. L. Wallace.

Negroes Attend Churches

AMARILLO (UPI) - About 40 Negroes went to previously all-white churches Sunday in Amarillo and were received without incident.

Parishioners from at least one of the churches greeted Negro couples at the end of the service.

Three of the Negroes attending Kingswood Methodist Church said "we were received beautifully."

Seven Negroes attended Trinity Methodist, three attended St. Lawrence Catholic, about 15 went to First Christian, nine to Polk Street Methodist and four to St. Peters Episcopal. Most of the Negroes were young.

Commenting on the situation, Rev. Edward T. Miller of the Episcopal Church said "if we are Christians we cannot refuse to work for the equality of all people."

Evers' Slayer Suspect Faces Federal Civil Rights Hearing

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) - A slender gun fancier, charged by the state with murder in the slaying of Negro leader Medgar Evers, faced a federal hearing today on civil rights charges growing out of the case.

Byron De La Beckwith, 42, was arrested by FBI agents Saturday night on the federal charges, and the state slapped the murder charge on him Sunday.

Beckwith was scheduled to appear before U.S. Commissioner John R. Countiss III today in a hearing to determine whether there are grounds for charges he and others conspired to deprive Evers of his civil rights.

The murder charge, however, will have priority over the lesser federal charge.

Evers, state field secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), was shot to death outside his house on June 12 when he returned from a civil rights rally.

3 Tornadoes Rip West Texas

By United Press International
At least three tornadoes ripped through West Texas Sunday night and early today causing damage estimated at $30,000 at Levelland.

Thunderstorms, rain and hail hit a wide area of the Panhandle. The weather was freakish. A dust storm was reported only 40 miles from an area that reported 2.5 inches of rain.

A twister shortly after midnight ripped into Levelland taking the tops off two airplane hangars and damaging aircraft. The storm also ripped the roof off the grandstand at a rodeo arena. Debris from the hangars was scattered over a 100-acre area. One airplane was blown across a highway.

Rains up to four inches were reported around Littlefield where a tornado touched down in open country. No damage was reported.

Kennedy Makes Appeal For 'Dozens' of Nations To Organize Peace Corps

Britain Recalls Czech Diplomat For Espionage Try

LONDON (UPI) - The British Foreign Office announced today it is demanding the recall of a Czech diplomat for attempted espionage.

A Foreign Office spokesman said Parliamentary Undersecretary for Foreign Affairs Peter Thomas summoned Czech Ambassador Zdenek Trhlik to the Foreign Office and demanded the recall from London of Third Secretary Premysl Holan.

The spokesman said the recall was demanded on the grounds "Mr. Holan had been detected in trying to persuade a member of the public to obtain secret information."

An official at the Czech Embassy in London said he had no comment to make on the British demand for Holan's recall.

The spokesman said as well as requesting Holan's recall, Thomas protested "at his abuse of his diplomatic mission."

The spokesman refused to elaborate except to say that the Czech ambassador remained 15 minutes with Thomas.

He would not say how long Holan had been given to leave Britain, nor whether the "member of the public" was male or female.

The spokesman said it was not for the foreign office to say whether any arrests would be made because of Holan's expulsion.

Authoritative sources said there was no connection between the Czech's expulsion and other recent security cases.

The Holan affair came in the middle of the big British sex-and-security scandal involving former War Minister John Profumo, playgirl Christine Keeler, and Capt. Eugene Ivanov, a former assistant naval attaché in the Soviet Embassy in London.

First Degree Is Expected For Attorney

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI) - Criminal attorney Tilmer Eugene Thompson will appear before a Ramsey County Grand jury Tuesday in connection with the slaying of his heavily insured wife.

Thompson has been in jail since his arrest Friday on a charge of first degree murder. He is being held in lieu of $100,000 bond which his attorney, Hyam Segell, St. Paul, indicated Sunday would be obtained for Thompson's release.

Ramsey County Atty. William B. Randall was expected to ask for a first-degree murder indictment against the $40,000 a year lawyer. Randall indicated the charge will be dropped if the grand jury does not indict Thompson.

Randall said he would decide today whether Dick (W. C.) Anderson would be asked to testify before the grand jury. Anderson is an ex-roofing salesman also charged with first-degree murder in the case.

Anderson's confession late Thursday night led to the pre-dawn arrest of Thompson. A third person with the same charge is Norman Mastrian, 39, who police said was hired by Thompson to carry out the plan. Police said Mastrian, in turn, got the services of Anderson, 35.

BARN HEAVILY DAMAGED

AMARILLO (UPI) - Fire swept through a barn at the Texas Tech Agricultural Research Farm Sunday, causing damage estimated at $30,000. Firemen said all animals in the barn were saved but machinery and the building were damaged.

President Talks with Adenauer About Cold War Problems

BONN, Germany (UPI) - President Kennedy appealed today to "dozens" of other free nations to join the United States in organizing peace corps "in a great international effort in the 1960's for peace."

Kennedy made the appeal after a two-hour talk on cold war problems with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in what was termed officially "a very cordial atmosphere."

The two leaders conferred against the background of a renewed U.S. pledge to defend Europe at all costs.

BULLETIN

BONN, Germany (UPI) - President Kennedy said today he will not attend the coronation of Pope Paul VI in the Vatican on Sunday.

The U.S. President said the world faces a "moral crisis," with the United States and Western Europe "islands of prosperity in a sea of poverty."

He warned there can be no neutrals in the struggle against poverty and hunger.

German Peace Corps

Kennedy, on the second day of a visit to West Germany, delivered this warning as he watched the "birth" of a West German peace corps modeled on that in the United States.

Earlier, Kennedy and Adenauer, 87, sat down in the chancellor's office, alone except for interpreter, and discussed efforts to reach a nuclear test accord with the Soviets, trade relations between member nations of the Atlantic community and the Kennedy-sponsored project for a multi-lateral nuclear force inside NATO.

At the same time their foreign ministers and other officials met in another room to discuss German reunification, the Berlin problem and international conditions in Communist East Germany, including the latest Red border restrictions. The officials, including U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk, also discussed the multi-lateral force project.

Visits President Luebke

Kennedy then drove to the nearby Villa Hammer Schmidt, the West German presidential residence, to call on President Heinrich Luebke. It was there that Kennedy attended the peace corps ceremony.

The U.S. President had a private talk with Luebke and stayed on for lunch at the villa before (See PRESIDENT, Page 3)

More Charges Brought Against Society Doctor

LONDON (UPI) - The government today brought eight new charges against Dr. Stephen Ward, the society osteopath and artist who opened the door for the Profumo scandal.

Prosecutors did not immediately make public details of the new charges, but they told a Marlborough magistrate's court the charges did not involve security violations.

The Foreign Office, however, came up with a new espionage case. It announced the government had demanded that Premysl Holan, third secretary of the Czech Embassy, get out of the country for "trying to persuade a member of the public to obtain secret information." There was no word on whether the "member of the public" was male or female.

Ward is the man who introduced former War Minister John Profumo to call girl Christine Keeler. Their illicit love affair led to Profumo's resignation and a government crisis.

Ward has been in jail on charges on living off earnings of prostitutes.

The Profumo scandal touched the royal family openly today with a press report denying that Prince Philip was involved in the affair.

The unprecedented front-page statement in the Daily Mirror, which was expected to cause a sensation, was one of several new sex and security reports building further pressure against the government of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

Other press stories claimed that two U.S. airmen have been connected with the Profumo scandal, and that an international vice and blackmail ring may be imperiling security in both Britain and the United States.

Laborite George Wigg, whose detective work helped uncover the Profumo affair, predicted during the weekend that another major case soon would rock the government. He said in a television interview "there are defects at the top."

Leaders of the opposition Labor Party were considering whether to trigger another crucial debate in the House of Commons by demanding a more sweeping investigation into the Profumo scandal.

In the hearing against Ward, defense lawyer James Burge told the court that one new charge involves "the unlawful use of an instrument to procure the miscarriage of a woman..."

Matson Going Against Russians

ST. LOUIS (SpI) - Randy Matson has been named to the United States track team which will compete in the International Games in July and August.

Matson was officially chosen as an alternate shotputter by committee chairman J. B. "Cap" Harrison of Bakersfield, Calif., who said he believed that "this is the strongest team all-around we've ever had for a Russian meet."

A record-smashing team of 50 has been named for the trip.

Although Matson was named as an "alternate," there seems little doubt that he will compete against Russia on July 20-21, at Warsaw, July 26-27, at Hanover, Germany, July 29-30 and London, Aug. 1-3.

Matson finished fourth in the AAU trials behind national record holder Dave Davis of the USMC, three-time Olympic champion Parry O'Brien and NCAA record-holder Gary Gubner of NYU. Both O'Brien, who is a full-time banker, and the newly-married Gubner, have indicated they would not be able to make the trip due to work and family commitments.

Matson, therefore, will team up with Davis to represent the United States.

U.S. Rejects Mediterranean Area As Nuclear-Free Zone

MOSCOW (UPI) - The United States today rejected a Soviet proposal to turn the Mediterranean area into a nuclear-free zone. It said such a move would weaken the United States and its allies.

The United States said it had to maintain Polaris - submarine defense in this area to defend itself and its allies against "a form of nuclear blackmail under which the Soviet Union could have attempted to force Mediterranean countries to succumb to Soviet dictation or Soviet domination."

The note was released here by the U.S. Embassy after it was delivered to the Soviet Foreign Office.

"The Soviet proposal seems designed precisely and solely to change the existing military balance at the expense of the United States and its allies," it said.

The United States has assigned Polaris-firing nuclear subs to the Mediterranean area to replace intermediate range ballistic missile installations withdrawn from Turkey and Italy.

The Soviet Union has charged that this extends the threat of Soviet retaliation in event of war to all the Allied nations in the Mediterranean.

The United States has consistently maintained that such missiles are necessary to counteract Soviet threats and actually help maintain peace by providing a balance of power.

At Any Rate, Wave

LONDON (UPI) - An extract from the English version of a Continental handbook on camping reads:

"The turkey isn't an enemy of camping. On the contrary to other southern countries people are only coming to your tent on a wave and this only if you wave them away as they signal different from us, so if you want them to come here you have to wave away and the other way around."

Absentee Voting 'Little Heavier'

Eighteen absentee ballots had been cast up until noon today for the July 9 special election on proposed changes in Pampa's city charter.

City Secretary Edwin Vickers said today the figure would be considered a "little heavier than usual" for this type of an election.

Principal issue on the ballot at the election will be the proposal to change the method of voting on ward commissioners: Under the present system, commissioners are elected by the voters in each ward.

The proposed change would call for election of the mayor and all four commissioners by city-wide voting.

Vickers said deadline for absentee balloting will be 5 p.m. on Friday, July 5.

Mrs. Nadine Derby, camp director, said she thought the camp was "especially successful this summer." Out-of-town students lived in New Hall and Penland, two of the newest dormitories. They were engaged in activities from 8 a.m. until 9 p.m. each day.

This Fella Loves To Wheel 'N Deal

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow, but am still young and, I am told, attractive. The man I want seems more interested in gin rummy than anything else. He plays for big stakes and I can't afford to play with him. He has invited me out many times. But it is always with other guests at his club or to his apartment, and it invariably ends up in a gin game. How can I get this man to put down the cards long enough to realize that one queen is enough?

of our practice of shaking hands. And how about kissing? Heaven forbid! The lady who lets her parakeet fly over the dining room table is quite right: A caged bird is neither a happy nor a healthy one. On the other hand, if her husband's life is made miserable by this unsanitary practice, she has two choices: (1) Find a loving, but unsanitary home for her pet. (2) Get a less sanitary husband.

DEAR SOPHIE: You can't. If he gets stuck with one queen, it'll cost him ten points. He needs at least three. YOURS is not the hand he loves to hold. Look for another deal.

DEAR ABBY: Our 16-year-old daughter has been doing some baby-sitting. At a second sitting with some children, one of the children informed her that his mother said, "Joyce (not her real name) could at least have done the dishes." Just what is expected of a sitter? She is paid 50 cents an hour to sit, not to do housework. Joyce wouldn't have minded doing the dishes, but why should she be expected to do them without being told? Don't you think if sitters are expected to do more than sit they should be told in advance and paid accordingly?

DEAR POLLY — I have five preschool children. When I went back to my doctor for a checkup after the last baby's arrival, he said I should do a lot of exercising. I could not imagine when I would ever find time to exercise, but my five-year-old son came up with the answer.

The children love to play "Simon Says" and they like having mommy play with them. This serves two purposes: I can do all the exercises I want to and the children are entertained.

THE PAMPA DAILY NEWS MONDAY, 24, 1963

Where once the roar and whine of great piston and jet engines was heard at Lewis Propulsion Laboratory of National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, today the noiseless glow of a small electric rocket in a vacuum chamber symbolizes the mission assigned to Lewis Research Center, another major facility of National Aeronautics and Space Administration. That mission is the development of new types of propulsion for spacecraft of the future. The 1,800 engineers and scientists at the 350-acre facility just west of Cleveland, Ohio, are exploring the potentials of chemical, electric and nuclear power for tomorrow's Mars ship. Though their thrust is measured in but fractions of pounds, compared to the 7.5 million pounds of Saturn V, the moon project booster, Lewis-developed engines may make a trip to Mars or Venus a matter of weeks, rather than years because they could operate steadily. In second panel, a nuclear spaceship hovers near Mars' tiny outer moon, Deimos. Chemical rockets will take man to the moon, but only some kind of electric rocket, powered by a nuclear reactor, will make intensive exploration of the solar system possible. Lewis is studying three types of electric propulsion. One engine, which uses ions—electrified atoms—for thrust, will be tested in 1963. Lewis has also been given the task of developing the Centaur, a liquid hydrogen rocket on which several of NASA's space programs are waiting. This helped nearly quadruple the center's budget from $55 million in fiscal 1962 to $200 million in 1963. For fiscal 1964, $500 million is being asked. Sixty miles to the west, near Sandusky, is Plum Brook Research Station, site of a nuclear reactor operated by Lewis. Here the effects of nuclear radiation on rocket engines and spacecraft components are being investigated. Lewis also has a role in the Apollo moon program. Studies are being made on propellants for the landing craft and work has been done in the center's 8 x 6 wind tunnel (third panel) to study the effects of rocket engine blast on a simulated lunar surface. NEXT: JPL and Planet Probes

Crowds of Germans officially estimated at one and one-half to two million turned out to give Kennedy a triumphal welcome Sunday along a 40-mile route from Wahn Airport through Cologne to Bonn.

Kennedy and Adenauer got down to business with a sweeping discussion of the West's future and its relations with the Soviets in a world in which both Western and Communist alliances are under heavy strains and stresses. Drives to Palace

Kennedy drove to the chancellery, the white Schaumburg Palace overlooking the Rhine River here, from the U.S. minister's residence at nearby Bad Godesberg where he spent the night.

Thousands of children, released from school for the occasion, turned out along the roadside to wave little flags and cheer the President. Among them were many American children from the U.S. Embassy school at Bad Godesberg.

The President drove to the chancellery in an open Cadillac with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and other American officials. A secret service car followed them.

A crowd of up to 1,000, including hundreds of West German officials, cheered and applauded as the President drove through the chancellery gate. First Stop

The four-day visit to West Germany is the first stop of a 12-day European tour that also will take the President to Ireland for a sentimental visit to his ancestral home, to Britain for crucial talks with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, and to Italy where he will confer with Italian officials and have an audience with newly elected Pope Paul VI.

In a series of speeches Sunday to wildly cheering crowds in Cologne and Bonn, Kennedy promised the United States would defend Europe as long as it wants to be defended. "Your liberty is our liberty and any attack on your soil is an attack on our own," he said at Wahn Airport on arrival from Washington.

European Common Market and determined to pursue his own independent nuclear policy, completes the allied picture of confusion, uncertainty and irritation. Aside from De Gaulle, the one figure representing a degree of permanency is Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Thus special importance is attached to the U. S.-U.S.S.R. agreement on a so-called "hot line" to run between the Kennedy and Khrushchev desks as a step to prevent war either through miscalculation or misunderstanding. Negative Agreement

Since it represents neither progress on disarmament nor on nuclear inspection, it is at best a negative agreement, demonstrating primarily that neither the United States nor the present leadership of the Soviet Union seeks or wants a war.

Yet in Western Europe where U. S. interests chiefly lie, there are problems desperately needing solution, ranging from the Common Market to questions of trade with the Communist bloc and Western defenses.

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's government is scandal rocked and there are reports that he may save himself now only on a promise to resign before the end of summer. Confidently standing in the wings waiting to take over is Socialist Harold Wilson, just back from talks with Khrushchev in Moscow. With him be brought a Russian proposal to buy from Britain a $280 million oil refinery. Want Steel Outlet

British industry also is interested in supplying the Russians with steel for a huge oil pipeline, as are the West Germans.

Both fall within the U. S. concept of strategic goods banned from the Communists by allied agreement. Both are sources of conflict not only with the United States but between the British and Germans as well.

De Gaulle's veto of British membership in the Common Market has left the nations of Western Europe farther apart politically than before the market's inception.

The smaller nations resent De Gaulle's high-handed actions and fear that the inward-looking market forced upon them by France may lead both to U. S. retaliation and an increasing lack of U. S. interest in the fate of Europe.

For the final outcome much will depend upon the still untried leadership of Ludwig Erhard, presently tabbed as successor to Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. Italy also presents special problems. There also, Moro is attempting to set up a left-of-center government by agreement with the leftwing Socialists. The outcome of that maneuver could have far reaching effects upon the mixed nuclear force advocated by the United States for NATO.

With Britain also lukewarm to ward the plan, the picture remains one of general confusion.

Man Held On Complaint

A 38-year-old man from Henrietta, Okla., was being held in Gray County jail today. He was charged in the Justice of the Peace Court, McLean, on a robbery complaint, signed by H. W. Harlan, of McLean.

J. D. Fish, McLean constable, said the Henrietta man was apprehended by Shamrock police officers last night on a warrant by Fish. The man was accused in the JP court of taking $210.59 from Harlan yesterday.

Jury Selection Starts on Halford Rape Trial

WICHITA FALLS (UPI)—Virgil Nelson Halford, 26, of Wylie went on trial today on charges of raping a nine-year-old Texas highway patrolman's daughter.

A special jury panel of 500 persons was summoned to Judge Temple Driver's—89th District Court for the trial. Jury selection was expected to take several days. The prosecution said the jury would be qualified on the death penalty.

Halford's case was transferred to Wichita Falls on change of venue from Palo Pinto County. The offense occurred in Mineral Wells on March 28.

The girl was abducted on her way to school, taken to a lonely country area and assaulted. Halford was arrested the same day near Mineral Wells shortly after the girl was released.

Halford, who has a past record of convictions on sex crimes, also faces charges in Dallas County for abducting a 17-year-old Grand Prairie girl and sexually abusing a 12-year-old Garland girl. Those cases have not been set for trial.

Pictures Show Purkey Mistake In Delivery

By TIM MORIARTY
UPI Sports Writer

The Cincinnati Reds are back in the National League pennant picture because Bob Purkey and Johnny Edwards went to the movies last week.

Purkey, a 23-game winner last year who missed the first month of this season with a shoulder injury, became alarmed when he lost four straight games, so he and his batterymate decided to look at films of the big right-hander's recent performances.

Edwards immediately spotted a change in Purkey's delivery.

"The movies showed that Bob was unconsciously favoring his arm," the Reds' baby-faced catcher revealed. "He wasn't rearing back like he used to. He was kinda pushing his fast ball up there and as a result it lacked that little hop."

The lesson Purkey learned from that single movie session paid off handsomely Sunday. Big Bob's fast ball had plenty of hop on it as he pitched his first complete game of the season—a four-hit, 4-0 victory over the Houston Colts in the opener of a double-header.

Sneak Into Third

The Reds also won the nightcap, 8-1, behind ancient Joe Nuxhall to boost their latest winning streak to seven games and sneak into third place, only one game back of the pace-setting St. Louis Cardinals.

The Los Angeles Dodgers edged St. Louis, 4-3, but the Cardinals maintained their half-game lead over second-place San Francisco when the Milwaukee Braves walloped the Giants, 10-4. The Pittsburgh Pirates scored a comeback 7-6 victory over the Chicago Cubs and the New York Mets took a pair from the Philadelphia Phillies, 5-0 and 4-1.

Season's Fastest

Purkey needed only one hour

and 39 minutes — the fastest clocking of the major league season — in subduing the Colts. He didn't walk a single batter and struck-out six as he coasted to victory behind a three-run homer by Edwards in the third-inning.

Nuxhall scattered eight hits and struck out nine before retiring at the end of seven innings in the nightcap when he rejuvinated his thigh muscle. Bob Skinner and Vada Pinson hit back-to-back homers off Chris Zachary, who was making his first major league start for the Colts.

Jim Gilliam beat the Cardinals almost single-handedly. He scored the Dodgers' first run in the fourth inning and hit a three-run homer off loser Ernie Broglio in the next frame. Dick Groat homered for the Cards.

Spain Hits Homer

Warren Spahn hit the 33rd homer of his career to ignite a seven-run Milwaukee rally in the fifth inning. The wily southpaw went on to post his 10th victory of the season and the 337th of his career. Hank Aaron smacked his 21st homer and a single to spark the Braves' attack against four San Francisco pitchers.

The Pirates overcame a four-run deficit in beating the Cubs with the aid of Roberto Clement's three-run homer in the seventh. Ron Santo drove in four Chicago runs with a homer and a single. Harvey Haddix picked up the victory in relief and Glen Hobbie was the loser.

The Mets' sweep enabled them to turn over their cellar berth to the Colts. Carlton Willey pitched a two-hitter in the opener and Tracy Stallard and Al Jackson combined to limit the Phils to seven hits in the second game. Jimmy Piersall trotted around the bases backwards after hitting his 100th major league homer and his first for the Mets in the opener.

GETS THE NOD — Carl Harnsberger gets the nod as starting pitcher in tonight's key game between the Pampa AL Rebels and the Amarillo Dusters at Optimist Park. Amarillo won Saturday night to move into a three-way tie with Pampa and Tascosa for the league lead, and the game will be a "must" for both teams.

Miss Leota Hiescher led CSU with a first place in the all-around cowgirl competition and a second place in the goat tying contest, which was won by another Colorado State lass, Miss Sally Spencer.

Rod Prewitt and Dick Claycomb paced Casper. Prewitt won the bull-dogging event and Claycomb won the Brahma bull riding.

Shawn Davis of Western Montana College, the winner of the bareback riding event, was named all-around cowboy.

Pampa Crushes Rebels, Rattlers

The Pampa Colts moved over the .500 mark in Tri-State League play this weekend as they rolled up a smashing total of 42 runs in two games!

Saturday night saw the Colts even their season mark at 3-3 with a crushing 29-4 win over the Fritch Rebels, and Sunday the Colts went to Stinnett for their fourth straight win, a 13-3 pounding of the Stinnett Rattlers.

Roy Perrin and Ned Patterson split the hurling honors in the seven-inning game against the Rebs. Perrin took the win, allowing two hits and two runs while striking out 10 and walking two.

Patterson came on in the fifth inning and the former Kansas ace allowed two hits and two runs, striking out three and walking one.

The Colts opened with three runs in the first, scored at least two runs in every inning and had a 12-0 shove before Stinnett could score, wrapping it up with a 13-run explosion in the sixth inning.

Big sticks were Jerry Glover, who batted in five runs with three doubles; Mike Stewart, who knocked in four tallies with a pair of two-baggers; Marvin Smith with a single and double; Bobby Nutt with a homer and single; Keith Gregory with a pair of doubles; and Butch Frazier with a two-run double in his only appearance at the plate.

The seventh inning saw the removal of starting Stinnett pitcher Jimmy Morgan as the Colts sent nine men to the plate. Gregory, Nutt, Harnsberger and Stewart singled in the inning, with the big blow a double by DeWayne Glover.

A walk, Harnsberger's single and Smith's long triple to right field tallied two more runs in the eighth to close out the scoring.

DeWayne Glover led the attack with his homer and double, Harnsberger had three hits, Gregory a double and a single, Nutt a pair of singles and Smith a triple and single.

Bouton Vindicating Houk's Faith In Him

By JOE SARGIS
UPI Sports Writer

Manager Ralph Houk of the New York Yankees should feel vindicated today.

It was just a little more than a year ago when Houk was forced to decide between a peagreen rookie and the veteran Robin Roberts. He went for the "kid" and let Roberts go.

The Pampa Daily News

AN INDEPENDENT FREEDOM NEWSPAPER

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by any government; with the gift of freedom, and that it is every man's duty to God to preserve his own liberty and respect the liberty of others. Freedom is self-control, no more, no less.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guides expressed in the Ten Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. For only when man understands freedom and is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities in harmony with the above moral principles.

Pawns In The Power Struggle

The American people have been shocked in recent weeks by the storm of racial violence sweeping the nation. With no section of the country immune, terror has replaced reason.

And yet this latest wave of violence is nothing new. For years, we have witnessed the violence instigated by labor leaders struggling for power.

The pattern in all cases is substantially the same. In the case of unions, the violence is generally excused because "labor is only seeking its legitimate rights." Then the federal government steps in, legalizes the illegally-obtained gains, and grants special powers to the union leaders. — at the expense of the rest of the people.

Today the violence is on the racial front. It is excused on grounds that members of one race have been forced to "take to the street because their legitimate demands have not been met."

And the federal government has announced its desire to eliminate property rights — in an attempt to cater to the Negro leaders. Many states have already been blackballed; into passing "fair housing" and "fair employment" laws — laws depriving the individual of control over his own property or business. And so the pattern is the same.

Overlooked in the struggle — as usual — is the fact that the ordinary Negro is not involved — no more than the rank and file union member participates in labor violence.

Instead, it is a struggle among leaders — attempting to gain political control over a race of people. The real welfare of the Negroes is no more considered than when Castro used the Cuban people as pawns to conquer Cuba. What can we do about all this? First, we must recognize the dual cause of our problem: (1) unchecked violence and (2) government intervention. If local government will enforce their moral and legal mandates to protect lives and property, unhindered by the federal government, the first cause is eliminated. The only cure for violence is to enforce the laws against violence.

Second, governments — at all levels — should recognize that their moral powers are limited to the protection of life, liberty and property. They should acknowledge that personal associations — racial or otherwise — are beyond government's jurisdiction.

In short, governments should stay out of the questions of segregation, integration, "fair housing" or employment. It is morally wrong to prohibit desired personal associations by law. And it is just as wrong to attempt to force such associations by law. If all the people really want such a law, then it is unnecessary. If there are some who don't want it, then their rights are being curtailed.

Our first step today must be to get the federal government out of an area in which it has no constitutional authority. Once that is accomplished, the state and local governments should take steps to repeal all laws that attempt to dictate personal associations.

If that is done, future events will truly reflect the will of the people. Governments will neither force nor prohibit integration. All decisions will be made by the people.

Americans have nothing to fear from the present wave of violence — provided we recognize the cause and direct our efforts toward the real solution.

The Private Man

Just how much times have changed is made clear in a recent book, "The Private Man," by Timothy A. McInerney.

The private man is fast vanishing, McInerney contends, and offers proof. The welfare state, based on taking away from the private sector for spending in the public sector, and false notions of equality are bringing on his demise.

McInerney contrasts the Private Man with the Public Man as follows: To gain the benefit of the work of others, the public man gives himself over to the state; the state, in turn, furnishes him with housing, medical care, food and sometimes clothing, all at the expense of the private man.

"Public housing is a good example of the trend toward the exploitation of the private man. A section of the population by reason of lack of native ambition, ability or skill, finds itself occupying the lowest type of dwelling, unsanitary and unfit for habitation.

The social-minded leaders in and out of government find the sight of these conditions loathsome. So a program of slum clearance or urban renewal is started.

"The slums are bulldozed flat and the first-class apartments are built and the former slum dwellers are encouraged to live in them. However, no stigma attaches to them, because the act of 'charity' is clothed in uplift slogans, the pauper is taught that, by mere reason of birth, he is entitled to accommodations far in advance of what he could have obtained for himself and his family.

"His back is stiffened and his independent tendencies, if he has any, are subordinated to the realization that he has a vote and therefore, entitles him to accommodations for his lifetime equal to the best, far better than the private man who lives in the middle or twilight ground."

Maybe the man from Moscow was right. How long can the private man endure, when he is given no encouragement — in fact is penalized — by his government?

TRUTH FORUM

with ED DELANEY

Even Sen. Wayne Criticizes Foreign Policy When a staunch supporter of the Kennedy administration, such as Oregon's Sen. Wayne Morse, voices disapproval of our foreign follies, it indicates at least dissatisfaction in the ranks of the Democrats. Of course there is very apparent dissatisfaction also in Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and other parts of the South, which are being threatened constantly with invasion by the Yankees, or better termed, Kennedy troops of the North. But that does not stir the ire of Sen. Morse.

The Oregon senator said: "I do not intend to vote with the administration in the field of foreign policy unless this administration is willing to follow a course of action, which it presently is not following, that will be a more effective job of protecting the best defense weapon we have, namely the economy of this country."

At long last some of the profligate spenders are beginning to realize that a sound economy is the best defense weapon we have. Advocating the squandering of billions of dollars on unessential and costly projects at home and abroad, weakens our economy and strikes at our best defense weapon.

Morse was particularly incensed over the fact that two major powers, Russia and France, refuse to pay their assessments for the UN operations, leaving the United States holding the bag, and eventually paying the costs. At present the Soviet and its communist bloc, including Castro's Cuba, owe the U.N. $62.5 million which they flatly refuse to pay. France is the next largest delinquent, with $14 million in arrears. Most of these assessments are for the U.N. operations in the Congo, the cost of which increases, at least the debt increases, daily.

A section of the U.N. charter reads: "A member of the U.N., in arrears in the payment of its financial contributions to the Organization shall have no vote in the General Assembly if the amounts of the arrears, equals or exceeds the amount of the contributions from it for the preceding two years." Both Russia and France are in arrears for more than their dues for the past two years. Neither country will pay their assessments for the Congo operations. The Soviet made known that it will not pay its assessment for the U.N. commission in Korea or for upkeep of the cemeteries there for the soldiers killed in the Korean War. Nor will the Soviet pay for the emergency forces of the U.N. that are assigned, permanently it seems, to keep peace in the Gaza strip between the Arab States and Israel.

Last year an issue of U.N. bonds was authorized to the amount of $200 million. They are supposed to be redeemed out of the "excess" funds received by the U.N. from the member nations, over and above what is needed to maintain the organization. What nonsense. The U.N. never has received enough to pay its obligations, much less have any excess to retire bonds. Actually those bonds are as worthless as Confederate money. But the liberals, and pro-U.N. zealots prevail; upon the United States to purchase half of the $200 million if other countries picked up the tab for the remainder. About $137 million of the amount has been subscribed with another $24 million pledged. That includes, of course the $100 million pledged by the USA.

The debts of the U.N. will approximate $190 million by the end of this year. The U.N. building in New York has been mortgaged for all it is worth. Khrushchev hopes to bankrupt the U.N. and he may well do so. The United States has one vote in General Assembly of the U.N. The Soviet has three votes and controls another 11 votes of its satellites, including Cuba.

The small states that are members of the U.N., such as Haiti, Cuba or the tribal communities "states" have one vote each in the General Assembly, the same as the United States, although we pay nearly 47 per cent of the U.N. costs. We might better let the U.N. go bankrupt before it bankrupts the U.S.

President's Flight Through Berlin Air Corridor Will Observe Controversial Soviet-Imposed Ceiling

WASHINGTON — If the State Department has its way, as appears likely, President Kennedy will fly to West Berlin next week under restrictions laid down by Russia.

The Communists maintain that Western aerial access routes to the surrounded city are limited to 10,000 ft. Flights above that ceiling are considered illegal and subject to "punitive action." The U.S. has never accepted this limitation, and has refused to abide by it.

But the State Department is strongly counseling the President to observe the Soviet-imposed ceiling.

The Air Force, supported by members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, is taking a directly opposite view. It is urging that the President's giant jet fly to West Berlin at its usual cruising altitude of 32,000 ft.

The military are advising this as a resounding affirmation of this country's long-held refusal to recognize the restricted ceiling prescribed by the Communists.

The State Department is advocating a conciliatory course on two grounds:

That defiance of the altitude limitation would be a provocative gesture at a time when the President is making exceptional efforts to reach an understanding with the Kremlin on a nuclear test ban, Cuba and other thorny problems; that Chancellor Adenauer and other Western leaders observe the Reds' ceiling when they fly to West Berlin.

White House insiders indicate the President is "leaning" toward the State Department's stand.

An informal poll of the 17 members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee (12 Democrats and 5 Republicans) revealed that virtually all deem the President's European junket ill-advised and unnecessary. Most of these senators expressed bafflement as to why the President is making the trip.

Several suggested he may have "some kind of a spectacular surprise up his sleeve," but had no idea what it might be.

MORE ANTI-CASTRO STALLING — The Kennedy Administration is doing virtually nothing to make good the President's ringing declaration to "build a wall of men" around Red-ruled Cuba.

Despite this widely publicized promise, administration plans and measures to combat Castro — instigated subversion in Latin America are still in a formative stage with few indications they will ever amount to anything.

This doleful backstage situation is graphically revealed in a report Assistant Secretary of State Edward Martin submitted to a House Foreign Affairs Subcommittee headed by Representative Armistead Selden, D-Ala. He sought information on what the administration is doing to make a good the President's pledge — and learned it amounts to little more than empty gestures.

Martin discloses that the administration has decided against providing effective sea patrols to prevent Castro agents from being infiltrated to other countries. Such naval forces were urged, but the administration has rejected this.

Instead, according to Martin, "the main U.S. effort in helping to develop better internal security (in Latin America) will be to concentrate on improving, land surveillance, patrol and report capabilities."

Just what this ambiguous language means is not explained by the State Department official in charge of Latin American Affairs.

His report to Representative Selden is replete with such double talk, as follows:

"At the Managua meeting of ministers of government, interior and security, representatives of the countries of Central America, Panama and the U.S. agreed to recommend to their governments tightening of measures to control travel of their nationals to and from Cuba. . . . The Managua resolutions called on participating governments to take measures against the movement of funds, arms and propaganda materials for subversive purposes.

"The U.S. will maintain its readiness to respond quickly to requests in specific instances for surveillance assistance of Castro-Communist subversive movements within territorial waters of Isthmian countries. The U.S. military alerting system for the Caribbean has been established to improve our capability to communicate information on movement by sea of subversive elements.

"There has not yet been time for the countries concerned to make much progress in the difficult task of centralizing, reorganizing and upgrading their security forces. . . . Many of the countries have basic political conflicts to overcome before there can be real improvements. . . . Local authorities have few specific accomplishments to record as a direct consequence of the Managua meeting."

Representative Selden has made it bluntly clear to Martin that he and his committee are "far from happy" with this report and what the Kennedy Administration has done so far to make good the President's pledge to "build a wall of men" around Communist-ruled Cuba.

SOCIAL WHIRL — Caroline Kennedy is following in the footsteps of her family as regards physical fitness. The 3½-year-old daughter of President and Mrs. Kennedy can now swim 100 yards. She proudly demonstrated her skill to her father last weekend and was rewarded with a bear hug and a kiss. Two-year-old John, Jr., is to get his first swimming lessons this summer. He has been allowed to wade in a pool, and appears unafraid of the water. . . . This will be a stirring weekend for daughters of Army officers stationed at Ft. Belvoir, Md. Some 600 West Point cadets are spending several days at the post as part of their summer training, and a "hop" is scheduled for them and the young ladies and their friends. An Army band will provide the music, and a gay time is anticipated by all.

Blockade

During World War II, some authorities considered U.S. use of the blacklist as a form of blockade. This blacklist was a list of business firms and individuals who were trading with the enemy and these blacklisted enterprises could not buy goods from the United States and Great Britain.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

Question: I would like to know the differential of discrimination. White families have had and still have a very difficult time finding living quarters on account of children, but so far unable to do anything about it. But if colored people are refused rentals it ends in law suits claiming discrimination. So what would you call what is being practiced against white families?

Answer: We would call this the proper right of the property owner or his representative, exercising his judgement as to the use of his property. It is a decision made solely by the individual, concerned with no outside force, based wholly on his judgement. It is a discriminatory decision, a decision based on his distinction of what is the best use of his property.

Laws which now exist, and many more that are being proposed, remove from the individual the right to make his self-determination of the use of his property. This is done on the theory that the majority has the right to overrule the minority, in this case an individual. In a misguided attempt to legislate what some consider "equality" ownership of property, the basis of all freedom, is violated.

Each of us makes literally hundreds of judgments each day. We demonstrate discrimination in selection of our daily dress, our daily food, the various products and services we purchase. In these things no one tells us what to wear, what products we must buy, or what we must do with our money (which is also property).

These personal decisions may, in the long run, be either good or bad for the individual. But in either case they are solely that individual's responsibility.

Real estate is property. It is another commodity which has the quality of ownership. As with any other type of property the owner should not be interfered with in any disposal he should care to make of that property.

When any outside agency successfully exerts force to coerce the individual to go against his better judgment in utilization of his property then the concept of private property ceases to exist.

If the concept of private property ceases to exist then no man can properly consider himself free. Life itself depends on property (food). Progress in life is dependent upon a man's use of his body (property) and his mind (property). Only a slave does not own his body and mind.

I rushed down town to look after some business. Drove several blocks looking for a place to park and luckily located one where I managed to get in without scratching any fenders. I put two pennies in the parking meter, knowing I would be back in ten minutes, but wanting to make sure I would not violate the parking meter law.

Upon my return I still had time left on the parking meter, but just the same I had a parking ticket on my car stating that I had violated a parking law because my car wheel was parked on a boundary line. So I went to City Hall, paid my $2 fine, got a receipt and drove back home where my wife was about ready to use the rolling pin on me for being gone so long.

"modern." On the contrary, if something called "new" takes hold, it is harder than ever to shake the "new" — look at the New Testament and the New World. To us, the word "modern" suggests something more transient.

By trying to refurbish their image, we wonder if the modern economists aren't, in fact, confessing that their beliefs are as unproved as ever.

Of course the new economics is 30 years old, and by calling it modern Mr. Harris may hope to convey the impression that it is no longer on trial; that it has become established, and that anyone who challenges it is an old fogy. But we can't think of anything that was called "new" and once established, came to be known as

The Lighter Side

NOTSOFCUSAT Campaign

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—As door-keeper, parliamentarian and tally clerk of the National Organization of Stamp Out Folksinging in the Continental United States and Adjacent Tidelands (NOTSOFCUSAT) I have become a prophet with honor in my own house.

My daughter, having lived 12 years with no outward sign of mental instability, recently turned 13 and, in a tradition of teenagers, immediately took leave of her senses.

She confided, after playing a Chad Mitchell record album 49 times non-stop, that her all-consuming ambition was to meet a real, live folksinger in the flesh in person.

This from a girl who only a few short months ago had her heart set on becoming a female Albert Schweitzer.

I did what any father would do under such circumstances. I had my will and testament revised, striking her name from the list of legatees who were jointly to inherit my collection of Rudy Vallee records.

Consults Psychologist
Then I took the case to a teenage psychologist, who recommended the shock treatment Her fixation might be broken, he said, by over-exposure to folksingers.

Fortunately—or, as it turned out unfortunately—I knew just the place to undertake such a cure. The Shoreham Hotel, an occasional waystop on the Hootenanny circuit, was giving asylum to an abundance of folksingers who travel under the name of the Brothers Four.

Using my influence as one of the officers of NOTSOFCUSAT, I discreetly arranged for my daughter to meet them and to hear their rendition of such haunting cantatas as "Keep Your Cotton-Pickin' Hands Off My Leather Jacket, It's the Nearest Thing I've Got to Skin, Mother."

Holds Right Arm
When next I saw her, she was clasping her right forearm with her left hand. My first thought was that the treatment had exceeded expectations and that she had slashed her wrist.

It turned out, however, that her right hand had been defied by handshakes with the Brothers Four and she was holding it aloft as a safeguard against contamination.

"I'll never use this hand again," she vowed, her tremulous soprano suddenly gone husky.

Although it failed to produce the intended results, the experiment did prove a point. It shows that you can't create toxicity to folksinging merely by saturating the subject with folksingers.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—I have a recurring dream in which Ed Sullivan starts his CBS-TV show by announcing: "Tonight, ladies and gentlemen, we bring you—the world!"

In another of my fantasies, there is a Kennedy-Khrushchev summit meeting on the Sullivan hour, followed by a juggling act. Just about everyone has been on the weekly show presided over by this host who is blessed with unceasing enthusiasm; and Sunday night, when his program was expanded to 90 minutes to mark its 15th anniversary with clips of memorable moments, one realized again his stupendous past.

Yet of all the acts that were reshown briefly, it was interesting how clear the standouts were—even in stand-out company: Richard Burton, who, it is some times forgotten, is one of the film "Cleopatra"—was a complete winner in his comic singing, dancing and acting with Julie Andrews in a sequence from the stage show "Camelot." In the same category were Maurice Chevalier and Sophie Tucker as they sang "I Remember It Well" from the movie "Gigi." I have never seen Miss Tucker so toned down before; her mood was so reflective that she seemed near tears, and they were contagious.

No less as standouts were Jimmy Durante and his partner, Sonny King, in one of the Schnozzola's knockdown numbers; and also the electrifying, virile Moise yev dance troupe from Russia.

Inevitably, there was the nostalgia of seeing some of the greats who have now passed on—Gertrude Lawrence, Gary Cooper (singing "Sweet Adeline" with Sullivan); Oscar Hammerstein, Clark Gable, Charles Laughton.

And in retrospect, some of the clips on the show took on a bizarre flavor: Fidel Castro, at one time a hero to many in this country, vowing he wouldn't permit dictatorship in Cuba; Elvis Presley looking absolutely laughable as he hip-twisted through his old "Hound Dog" song.

There was an inexplicable inclusion, however. This was of Connie Francis, who is described as a singer, as she warbled to our troops in Berlin, Miss Francis has a disinclination to sing on key, and if anything can knock down the Berlin wall, it may be her high C.

Anyway, it was a fast—and, of course, showmanlike—90 minutes. Three cheers and a tiger for Ed, bless him. Only dirty rats dislike him.

Miss Lauren Bacall, a lady of ability, somehow got mixed up Sunday night in a suspense story of extraordinary trash quality on NBC-TV's "Show of the Week." The assassin of the tale is unbearable to relate in detail. Simply, Miss Bacall is acquitted of a charge of murdering her wealthy husband when a man she doesn't know gives false evidence for her. It seems he committed the crime, only no one knows it. He is after some of her husband's papers; he romances her, marries her, turns out to be an espionage agent. And there are dreadfully pretentious attempts at wit, including "Russian roulette" with five glasses of champagne, one containing poison.

The Channel Swim: NBC-TV preempts "David Brinkley's Journal" tonight for a half-hour spot news special about President Kennedy in Germany... ABC TV's Moscow correspondent, Sam A. Jaffe, is the nephew of the same network's "Ben Casey" co-star, veteran actor Sam Jaffe. There's a professional tennis exhibition on NBC-TV's "Today" show Tuesday; with racqueteers Lew Hoad, Rod Laver and Earl Buchholz taking part... On Wednesday "Today" offers a report on racial tension in Washington, D.C., and details about a fund for dependents of personnel lost on the nuclear submarine US Thresher.

Guests on the debut of Tuesday's summer Keefe Brasselle variety series include Zsa Zsa Gabor, Barbra Streisand and Fred Gwynne; Carol Channing will appear the following Tuesday instead of on the premiere, as originally scheduled... ABC-TV's "Wide World of Sports" switched its airing of the Irish Sweepstakes Derby from this Saturday to July 6.

NIXON MEETS NASSER
CAIRO, U.A.R. (UPI)—Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon met Sunday with U.A.R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser and praised his "strong personality, intelligence, wisdom, and immense knowledge."

Nixon did not disclose what he discussed with Nasser.

Memory Gardens Explains Right, Wrong Ways

Memory Gardens feels that it is important for people to realize that there is a right way and a wrong way to go about the purchase of a cemetery lot.

Time after time, they have found that thoughtful people are usually astonished, but always grateful to learn the little known, inside facts about family ownership of memorial property.

There are many reasons the "wrong way" is the hard way, according to the counselors at Memory Gardens.

For example, 67 times out of 100, wives outlive husbands and immediately inherit the responsibility of selecting the memorial space. At the first moment of separation, it is too late to be calm and deliberate.

Fully 47 difficult duties demand immediate attention on the day of bereavement. For those left with a 48th, the need to select memorial space at once, there is no time to choose the right location in the right property, under the right conditions at the right price on the right terms.

You wouldn't dream of waiting for a fire to convince you that you needed fire insurance. You provide life insurance, a savings account and a will as safeguards against the future's uncertainties. How odd then, that anyone should wait for the day of need itself before arranging for something as sure to be needed as a memorial estate.

What treasures can you give to match the peace of mind, to free those dear to you from the fear of unpreparedness on a day that comes without warning? The deed to memorial space is as indispensable to your family's security program as your insurance policy, your savings and your will.

COMPLETE GLASS SERVICE — Part of the many services offered by Home Builders Supply is complete auto glass and installation. Jerry Havenhill will do an expert job of installing anything from a new windshield to a corner vent window on your automobile. Stop in at Home Builders Supply, 312 W. Foster for all your glass (Daily News Photo)

CLIMBER U.S.-BOUND

LONDON (UPI)—Barry Bishop of Washington, D.C., one of the Americans who climbed Mt. Everest last month, leaves today for the United States.

Bishop and his wife arrived Sunday night by plane. His feet were still heavily bandaged from the frostbite he incurred on the expedition.

SAY CUBANS DISARMED

WASHINGTON (UPI)—An anti-Castro publication has reported that Soviet military commanders are disarming Cuban militiamen to prevent an anti-Communist uprising.

Free Cuba News, published by the Citizens Committee for a Free Cuba, quoted refugee sources that the Russians suspect the loyalty of most militiamen.

Spectacles were originally worn in France to hide defects of the eyes, and in Spain to add dignity to the appearance of the wearer.
