Tito Still on Fence; Blasts Red Chinese

BELGRADE (UPI) — Yugoslav President Tito reaffirmed Saturday his friendship with Russia and the United States and said Red China had made errors of "Himalayan proportions" in its efforts to build up communism. Tito, who has walked a tight rope between East and West, told his country's Communist party leaders the ideological and political differences which have split the international Communist movement are of momentous significance for all mankind. He defended his "independent" form of communism and said a main reason for the Chinese attacks on Yugoslavia is his government's good relations with the West and the unaligned countries. Tito's policy statements came in an address to a meeting of the party's ruling central committee called to review Yugoslavia's role in the Sino-Soviet talks scheduled to begin July 5 in Moscow.

Subject of Talks
Yugoslavia undoubtedly will be a major subject for discussion at the Moscow talks, which are aimed at easing the rift between Peking and Moscow. The Red Chinese regard Tito as a "major" to the Communist cause because of his "revisionism," and demand that the Kremlin break with him as a price of reconciliation. In his 11,000-word report on Yugoslavia's relations with other Communist states and parties, Tito said "the leaders of the Communist party of China and certain others persist in their dogmatic position on internal relations and further development of the Communist movement. The 'others' was a reference to Albania. Peking's sole ally in Eastern Europe, Tito said, he considered it unnecessary to comment on "the slanderous and insolent" tone used by Albania leaders.

INTEREST NEEDED — Mrs. Mel Gabler of Hawkins, points out areas in which Texas Public School textbooks are lacking. Mrs. Gabler, in a talk to Pampans at Lovett Memorial Library Friday night, urged an increased interest in the contents of the books from which students are taught. (Daily News Photo)

Parents Urged to Take Active Interest In Textbook Content

Pampa parents and the general public were urged Friday night to take an active interest in the contents of textbooks used in Texas public schools. Mrs. Mel Gabler of Hawkins, Texas, said that parents should not expect the school teachers and churches to take the full responsibility of instilling moral values, love of country and love of home and family in their children. She said "and in many cases those on the textbook committees simply do not have the time that is needed for this important job." She read from some of the textbooks and called attention to the omission of many historical facts in the history books and stated that "socialism is preferred in most of the economic books my husband and I have examined. English books for the 11th and 12th grades devote much space to basic grammar that should have been taught in the first grade." Mrs. Gabler said she was not finding fault with school board members or teachers, but was trying to get parents to take an interest in the contents of books now used in the schools. She said she was not questioning the books as a whole but certain portions of them. For instance, she said, she would like to know why the story of "Judge Tom's Cabin" should take up space in a history book that makes no mention at all of the story of Francis Scott Key and "The Star Spangled Banner," or the story of Nathan Hale. Mrs. Gabler said she was not criticizing school officials or the local textbook selection committees. "We hope the parents of Texas will become interested enough to look into these books. The five history books have already been adopted for a six-year period, but new books on the teaching of economics will not be selected until next fall." Mrs. Gabler explained that the opinions expressed were her own. She said the facts she and her husband had accumulated were obtained in a two-year study of books after one of their sons began asking questions at home about historical facts in the history book he was studying in high school.

Cooper Comes in Triumph to U.S.

HONOLULU (UPI) — Astronaut Gordon Cooper who rocketed to glory by orbiting the earth more than 22 times stepped back on United States soil Saturday to accept greetings from proud fellow countrymen and keep a sentimental reunion with his wife. He was flown to Hickam Air Force Base by Navy helicopter from the USS Kearsarge, the aircraft carrier recovery ship. Cooper's brief flight from the carrier ended at Hickam at 7 p.m. EDT. It was the first time since blasting off from Cape Canaveral Wednesday that America's longest flying space pioneer had touched solid ground. A crowd of about 2,000 was on hand for the astronaut's arrival, and cheered when his wife Trudy ran tearfully to greet him. Cooper's two daughters, Camala, 14, and Janita, 13, were right behind to greet their now famous father. Mrs. Cooper threw her arms around her husband and kissed him. The 36-year-old former jet pilot then took his wife firmly by the arm and with a wide grin on his face led her through a crowd of photographers to a reception line which included Hawaii Gov. John A. Burns, Mayor Neal Bleisdell of Honolulu and other officials. (See COOPER, Page 3)

Climbers Blown 100 Ft. Down Everest Slope

KATMANDU, Nepal (UPI) — Two American mountain climbers and four Sherpa guides were blown 100 feet down Mount Everest by howling 80-mile an hour winds two nights ago, it was disclosed Saturday. All six escaped injury. The winds struck the mountaineers trying to scale the world's highest mountain by the previously unexplored west ridge. All six were caught in their tents at night and tossed down a nearly vertical slope from Camp 4W at the 25,100 foot level.

Dominicans May Pressure Haiti For 3 Refugees

SANTO DOMINGO, D.R. (UPI) — The Dominican government probably will press for diplomatic and economic sanctions against Haiti if necessary to get three refugees out of the neighboring Negro republic, informed sources said Saturday. The sources said President Juan Bosch's government probably would make the move if the Organization of American States (OAS) investigators leave Haiti without having secured the release of the three men. Bosch made it clear Friday he considers the three just as important as the 20 that Haitian President Francois Duvalier already has let out of the country. All had taken refuge in the Dominican embassy in Port au Prince. The remaining three are Lt. Francois Benoit, Lt. Col. Pierre Alvarez and Maj. Roger Holly, who have been cashed out of Duvalier's army. A two-thirds vote in the OAS—12 of the 18 nations, excluding Haiti and the Dominican Republic—would be needed for approval of sanctions. The United States has suspended diplomatic contacts with the Haitian government, although the U.S. ambassador has remained in Port au Prince. Informed sources said the Dominican government is thinking of the same type of sanctions against Haiti that were applied to the Dominican Republic under the Trujillo dictatorship.

Alabama Governor Gives 'Stiff' Welcome

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (UPI) — President Kennedy made a flying tour of the racially-troubled South Saturday and got a roaring welcome from more than 225,000 Southerners who turned out at his three stops. Segregationist Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama greeted Kennedy with a stiff handshake. The President stopped first at Nashville, Tenn., where he attracted a crowd of 200,000 persons—by far his largest of the day. He told a capacity audience of 32,000 in Vanderbilt Stadium at Nashville that the South must put aside prejudices that have led to recent racial disorders. His remarks were cheered. From Nashville he proceeded to Muscle Shoals, Ala., for a talk marking the 30th anniversary of the Tennessee Valley Authority. Gov. Wallace, who just a few hours before filed a suit in the U. S. Supreme Court demanding the withdrawal of troops from Alabama, was there to meet the Chief Executive. Wallace greeted the President politely and stood listening while Kennedy delivered a brief address praising the work of TVA. Wallace and President Kennedy flew to Huntsville together in the same helicopter and briefly discussed the Birmingham racial situation enroute. Details of the discussion were not disclosed. At a news conference after the President left, Wallace said he was "confident" Alabama would win its suit and added "there is more violence in Washington D.C. (See PRESIDENT, Page 3)

Special Security Placed to Protect NATO Delegates

MONTREAL (UPI) — The underground terrorist organization FLQ blamed for Friday's assassination bombings, Saturday threatened to bomb the Ottawa Hotel where NATO delegates and U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk will be staying starting Monday. Royal Canadian Mounted Police and NATO security guards immediately took extra security measures to protect the more than 200 delegates expected to attend the conference. Even before the threatening letters were received, police officials had expressed fear that the terrorists who tried to assassinate former Prime Minister John Diefenbaker might strike again Monday. It is Victoria Day, a national holiday in observance of Queen Elizabeth's birthday. Police found 12 homemade dynamite bombs placed in street-corner mailboxes Friday in the Montreal suburb of Westmont. Five of them blasted the boxes to bits. A sixth exploded and critically injured an army demolition expert who was trying to dismantle it. The explosives expert, Sgt. Walter Leja, 42, took the force of the explosion in the chest and face. The blast tore his left arm off. He was fighting for his life Saturday in a Montreal hospital. Another bomb was exploded Friday in an oil refinery. The FLQ is the Quebec Liberation front, an organization that has conducted a months-long terror campaign in its fight to have Quebec secede from Canada. The FLQ advocates that Quebec be set up as an independent French-speaking nation.

Wallace Asks High Court to Outlaw Troops

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace went straight to the U. S. Supreme Court Saturday and asked it to declare unconstitutional the law under which President Kennedy sent troops to Alabama in connection with racial disturbances. The fiery segregationist governor, who is sworn to fight integration bodily if necessary, also asked the high court to declare null and void the constitutional amendment prohibiting states from making laws abridging the rights of citizens. The amendment, the 14th, also is the one under which the court based its

102-Year-Old Woman Leads 759 Refugees

PORT EVERGLADES, Fla. (UPI) — Another boatload of 759 Cuban refugees sailed to freedom Saturday, led by a 102-year-old great-great-grandmother who swung a machete in Cuba's 1895 battle for independence but knew "nothing of this Fidel." Primitiva Nunez Rodriguez of Havana, spry despite her years, was the oldest of the passengers debarking from the U. S. vessel American Surveyor after a smooth overnight sail from Havana. The youngest was 12-day-old Jacqueline Martha Orduña, a namesake of the U. S. first lady. She came off the black-hulled freighter in a Red Cross worker's arms and her father, Roberto Orduña, proudly confirmed that he named the child "after the first lady of this great country." Hardships at Home The refugees seemed quietly happy at their departure from the Fidel Castro regime. And they repeated many of the stories told by some 6,000 other refugees who have come to this country since December—of hardships in their homeland.

Don't Like Seaborne NATO U.S. Calls Charge by Reds 'Preposterous'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States Saturday rejected a "preposterous" Soviet protest against President Kennedy's plans to build a seaborne NATO nuclear force. In a note delivered to the Kremlin, the State Department said that European powers threatened by Moscow with nuclear annihilation had every right to take appropriate defense measures and intended to do so. It said Russian allegations that the NATO force would be an aggressive instrument and might be used by West Germany to regain territory lost in World War II were "groundless charges." Britain and West Germany, to whom the Russian complaint of April 8 also was addressed, made similar replies. Delivery of the Allied notes at this time—almost six weeks after the Soviet protest—appeared designed to clear the decks for next week's NATO council meeting in Ottawa. Nuclear defense arrangements will be among the subjects discussed. "It is preposterous to maintain that the Soviet Union should itself be privileged to deploy nuclear weapons in positions which threaten the cities of Western Europe and to hold that reciprocal defensive measures cannot properly be taken by NATO," the United States said. It added that "the United States and its allies cannot and will not be diverted by threats from taking all steps necessary to safeguard their security." Denying Red charges that Western policy was increasing tension in central Europe, the United States said that if Russia really wanted to ease the peril of war in that area it would tear down the "grotesque and inhuman" wall dividing Berlin and give the Communist Germans the right to vote on their future.

Rains Break Pampa Dry Spell

Pampa was treated to some of the heaviest rain that struck most of the Western portion of Texas Saturday. The News rain gauge had recorded 14-inch by late Saturday night. Hail up to the size of golf balls was reported two miles west of Vega and also near Dalhart. Hail also struck at Bovina, near the New Mexico border south of Amarillo. Forecasters said the storm activity should die out during the night, and fair skies and mild temperatures were expected for today.

Charter Change Vote up for Last Reading Tuesday

Third and final reading of an ordinance calling an election July 9 to amend the city charter is agenda for Tuesday's meeting of scheduled among items on the Pampa City Commission. The proposed charter calls for a change in the method of electing ward commissioners and naming a mayor pro tem. Other business set for Tuesday includes awarding of bids for the purchase of three police cars and two park department tractor-mowers. Also on the agenda is second reading of an ordinance to establish graduated speed zones on state highways leading through Pampa.

Interest Spurred In Sub Search; May Be Found

PORTSMOUTH, N. H. (UPI) — A search flotilla probed the ocean depths off New England Saturday, spurred by the possibility that the shattered hull of the lost submarine Thresher may have been located. The Navy revised completely its plans for the search after photographs taken on the ocean floor some 220 miles east of Cape Cod showed debris which could have come from a sub torn apart by extreme pressure. The Navy Marine research ships Gilliss and Conrad, and Atlantic II, the research vessel of the Woods Hole, Mass., oceanographic institution, were ordered to converge on a 300-yard area near where Thresher made her last fatal plunge April 10 with 129 men aboard.

Coalition Leader Defends Neutrals Against Pro-Reds

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) — Coalition Premier Souvanna Phouma Saturday denounced charges against the neutralist and right-wing factions by his half-brother, pro-Communist Prince Souphanouvong, as "unproven, without foundation or invented." Souvanna lashed back at the chief of the Pathet Lao forces, in a sharply worded letter to Britain and Russia, co-chairmen of the 1962 Geneva Conference on Laos. The letter was made public here Saturday. Souphanouvong has accused Souvanna of trying to settle the current Laotian crisis by force by building up his neutralist forces in the Plain of Jars with the aid of U. S. arms and equipment and rightwing troop reinforcements. "I vigorously protest and regret having to declare that the Pathet Lao president's allegations, particularly those concerning neutralist forces are unproven, without foundation or invented," Souvanna's letter said. Souvanna said Souphanouvong's series of accusations "circumvent the established organization and governmental solidarity" of the coalition government. The premier said Souphanouvong's refusal to allow the International Control Commission (ICC) to police the Plain of Jars, plus the "machine gunning of two ICC helicopters by the Pathet Lao is clear proof that they in no manner wish to cooperate." Souvanna renewed his call for a meeting of the three factions in the royal capital of Luang Prabang. Souphanouvong already has rejected the proposal.

Engineers Plan Protest Picket

GALVESTON (UPI) — Union engineers have voted to picket the nuclear merchant ship Savannah in protest against a government order terminating their contract, it was announced Saturday. An official of the National Marine Engineers Benevolent Association (NMEBA) said pickets would be restricted to the dock area surrounding the Savannah if pickets are permitted to enter Todd Shipyard. If not, he said, the pickets would be placed at the entrance of the shipyard. This, he said, could shut down virtually all work within the yard. Practically all craft unions are represented in the shipyard's work force. A strike committee was set up and the men awaited word from Jesse Calhoun, the union's national president, before setting up picket lines. James Kennedy, administrative assistant for the local union, said the union would not strike against the government. The pickets, he said, would merely protest the maritime administration's order terminating the engineers' contract. The government cancelled the engineers' contract after a dispute in which they demanded higher pay than the ship's officers aboard the Savannah.

Commie Troops Suffer Defeat

SAIGON, Viet Nam (UPI) — South Vietnamese government troops in fast-moving armored personnel carriers wiped out most of two Communist Viet Cong companies Saturday, killing at least 85 guerrillas, military sources reported. The sources said another 18 guerrillas were wounded and 25 captured. It was the biggest victory reported by the government forces in months.

27 Die as Family Filled Bus Crashes

BELLE GLADE, Fla. (UPI) — A converted school bus crammed with families coming home from a gay bean-picking outing careened into a 25-foot-deep canal Saturday, drowning at least 27 men, women and children. This is the worst single traffic fatality accident in Florida that I know of," said veteran highway patrol trooper George Emerson. Twenty-three of the victims—13 adults and 10 children—ranging from teen-agers to 4-year-olds, were trapped inside the bus. Authorities dragging the canal later found the bodies of two men and two boys. Dragging operations continued into the night. Fifteen of the laborers scrambled to safety through the windows of the 17-year-old bus as it settled quickly to the bottom of the 65-foot-wide flood control and irrigation canal running through the rich black-soil farmlands of the Everglades. It was more than an hour after the accident before a diver could locate the bus in the black canal waters and hook a wrecker to yoke to it. The bus, festooned heavily with green streamers of water moss, finally was pulled clear with bodies sprawled around the seats and floor.

The Lighter Side

That's a Lot of Cabbage

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — How much do you know about cabbage? Very little, I'll wager. For some reason, Americans just aren't very cabbage conscious.

Cabbage is one of our most important vegetables. It is grown commercially in 34 states, about 156,000 acres are planted in cabbage and some 125 million tons are grown each year.

The value of the crop averages about $40 million, which is a lot of cabbage. And yet the average American probably knows less about cabbage than he knows about turnips.

You may think you know quite a bit about cabbage, but the odds are that you have only scratched the surface. Believe me, there is more to cabbage than meets the eye.

Resembles Freeway System
Did you know, for instance, that a cross section of a head of domestic cabbage looks like an aerial photograph of the Los Angeles freeway system?

Domestic cabbage is one of five types of cabbage grown in the United States. The other four types are domestic too, but they are called something else. They are called "Danish," "Pointed," "Red" and "Savoy."

If you would like to know more about cabbage, you can write to the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, and he will send you a booklet entitled "Fresh Cabbage, From Grower to Retailer."

Ask for mailing bulletin No. 22. Enclose 10 cents. New let's change the subject.

"Sees" Agriculture's Future
Where does the future of agriculture lie? It lies in the past, or so says a report published today by the Smithsonian Institution.

As the world population increases, and land for cultivation grows scarcer, many crops likely will be grown on sea farms. This is called "hydroponic farming."

The report says hydroponic farming is still in its infancy, so I suppose it would be premature for farmers to start trading in their tractors for water wings.

I should mention it however, for the benefit of those who like to plan ahead.

Will cabbage float? I simply do not know.

Expected Wheat Yield Reduced

The United States Department of Agriculture has again reduced the expected yield of the Texas wheat crop by 3,436,000 bushels from last month's estimate. The prospects in north-central Texas continue to be good for an average crop; however, abandonment continues throughout most of the rest of the wheat producing areas on dry-land crops.

A near average yield is expected from irrigated wheat. Reports by local areas are as follows:

Dallas: The prospects remain average with the harvest to begin the last week in May. No in-migration of combines and trucks is needed.

Denton, Gainesville, Bonham and McKinney: Prospects continue good to average in this area. Harvest is expected to get underway the last week in May to June 1. No in-migration of men and machines is needed.

Mineral Wells, Olney, Eastland and Breckenridge: Reports indicate that the prospects are for an average crop in this area. Harvest is expected to get underway around June 1. No in-migration of trucks and combines is requested. They have some equipment available for out-migration.

Wichita Falls, Archer City and Henrietta: Hot winds are causing wheat to open rapidly. The first few loads have already been checked in at elevators. Harvest is expected to get well underway during the last week in May. No shortage of men or equipment is expected.

Vernon, Crowell, Quanah, Seymour, Munday and Haskell: The wheat in this area continues to offer good prospects. The first load of wheat was delivered in Vernon on Saturday, May 11. General harvest is expected to start around May 20. At this time, the in-migration of combines and trucks is slower than normal although in-migration is expected to continue during the next few days.

Childress, Wellington, Paducah, Clarendon, Memphis, Guthrie and Matador: The wheat crop in this area continues to deteriorate. It is estimated that approximately one-half of the dry-land wheat has been abandoned. Summer-fallow wheat will probably be harvested with a yield from six to ten bushels per acre. Harvest will begin about June 1. Normal migration of men and machines will be sufficient to harvest this year's crop.

Abilene, Baird, Albany and Anson: Showers received during the past several weeks came in time to benefit the wheat crop in most areas. The yield is still expected to be below average due to winter freezes and spring drought. Harvest is expected to begin about May 25. No equipment shortages are reported.

Coleman, Eden, Brady and Ballinger: Report from this area indicate the prospects for the crop to be poor. The wheat which will be harvested is not expected to average more than seven to ten bushels per acre. Harvest should get underway around June 10. No in-migration of men and machines will be required.

Crosbyton, Dickens and Jayton: Some rain has been received in this area but it came too late to be of benefit to the dry-land crop. Irrigated wheat will be about average. There is plenty of local labor and machines to harvest this year's crop.

Brownfield: Rains received in this area on May 4 and 5 have been of some benefit to the wheat crop. Scattered hail damage has caused some abandonment. The crop is expected to yield around ten bushels per acre. No need anticipated for additional men and machines.

Littlefield, Muleshoe, Dimmitt, Farwell and Hereford: Dry-land wheat is still suffering from lack of moisture. Some scattered rain fell too late to be of material benefit. Irrigated wheat continues to improve and an average yield is expected. Harvest should begin in this area around June 10. The normal migration pattern of trucks and machines is expected to be ample.

Plainview, Tulia, Lockney, Floydada and Silverton: No moisture has been received on the crop since our last report and abandonment continues on dry-land acreage. Yields on remaining dry-land wheat will be very low. Irrigated wheat continues to have good prospects for an average yield. Harvest should begin about June 10. It is expected that the normal migration pattern of men and machines will be sufficient.

Amarillo, Vega, Panhandle and Claude: Prospects for a wheat crop on dry-land farms in this area continue to be very poor. Some fields that were seeded on summer fallow land are still holding their own. Irrigated wheat should produce average to above-average yield. The normal in-migration pattern should be ample to handle this year's crop. Harvest will begin around June 10 to 15.

Borger, Spearman, Perryton, Dalhart, Channing, Stratford and Dumas: It is estimated that 99 to 95 percent of the dry-land wheat in these areas has been abandoned. Some dry-land wheat may make up to ten bushels per acre. A migration pattern of 50 to 60 percent of normal will be ample to handle this year's crop. The small acreage of irrigated wheat in this area continues to have good prospects. Harvest should begin around June 10 to 15.

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI) — Investment advisor James L. Fraser points out that until now the public has brought only quality stocks and occasionally a low priced stock that had "instant appeal."

"Public participation in sound secondary issues has been negligible," he says. "And as a result, numerous secondary stocks have grown in investment caliber and are available at a very reasonable price-earnings ratio."

R.E. Buchsbaum of W. E. Hutton & Co. says that even though the market may not have serious excesses to correct it is still plausible that it may have to back-track a bit before meeting head on the strong seasonal influences always evident in late June through early August.

Eliot Janeway says "it looks like the Dow-Jones industrial average is headed towards 800 and maybe beyond. No doubt it may have a sinking spell back into its recent area but this will only be temporary. The important thing is that a big move has got under way."

Cape Canaveral Painting Town Red for Astronaut

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — This spaceport city that adorns astronauts, watches them hurled into orbit and prays for their safe return, prepared Saturday to welcome Maj. L. Gordon Cooper with brass bands, a parade and a red carpet.

"There is a great deal of excitement," said Mayor Robert Murshe. "Everyone is talking about it. While this is not his home town, he is going to get a home town welcome."

Cooper, who flew 575,000 miles around the world in his "Faith-7" spacecraft, will fly Sunday on a motorcade 3.3 miles from Patrick A. Force Base to Cocoa Beach. The astronaut, his wife, Trudy, and their two teenage daughters are scheduled to arrive at the air base by jet transport at 11 a.m. Sunday.

Cooper will undergo a medical debriefing, eat lunch with his family at the officers club, then ride in a convertible to a motel where he will hold a news conference.

All of the original seven Mercury astronauts except Marine Lt. Col. John H. Glenn, the first American to orbit the earth, will take part in the celebration.

Negroes, Police Are Alerted for Possible Bombs

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — Unarmed Negro volunteers and a police force of 1,200 were on the alert here Saturday in the face of threats of new racial bombings.

President Kennedy visiting the South for the 30th anniversary of the Tennessee Valley Authority, appealed for an end of racial violence. He urged people "to reject the temptations of prejudice and violence and to reaffirm the values of freedom and law on which our society depends."

Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., southern integration leader, said this weekend "will be crucial" to a shaky truce negotiated by a bi-racial committee last week. The truce ended mass demonstrations by Negroes.

Police Chief Jamie Moore said stepped-up weekend patrols would move through the Negro section where last Saturday night two bombings touched off four hours of rioting by Negroes. He also said he was "taking other steps we think necessary" but would not elaborate.

There was a question, however, whether the court would consider Wallace's motion covered by the constitutional provision. Should the court decide it does not have authority to hear the case, it would reject it. If the court accepts it, then it will hear arguments on its merits.

Wallace asked the bench to "expedite" consideration of his complaint. Under the normal procedure it will be brought officially to the attention of the justices Monday. At that time Justice Hugo Black, a native of Alabama whose circuit includes that state, could issue a temporary restraining order to keep Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, who is named in the suit, from using the troops in Alabama. Or, Black could ask the entire court to consider issuance of such an order while the nine justices decide than in all of the confederate states.

At Huntsville, home of the Redstone Arsenal and the George C. Marshall Space Flight Center, Kennedy spoke briefly from a temporary platform set up on the arsenal airfield.

He said the United States is "committed in this decade to be the first in space," and that the price of space supremacy is to keep working "here and all around the world."

A small but enthusiastic crowd massed around the platform to hear the third and last of Kennedy's three speeches of the day. Following the talk the Chief Executive took off for the return flight to Washington.

Kennedy told his Huntsville audience that today as in the days of Columbus there were those who did not want to move further and to keep exploring. He said that when Columbus was halfway to America, there were people who asked why he should go any further.

Dry Windy Weather Still Plaguing Texas Crops

COLLEGE STATION (UPI)—Pasture and croplands are suffering from the dry, hot and windy weather, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service reported today.

The service said the moisture situation is much improved in all but the Coastal Bend section of South Texas, however. South Texas crops and pastures are responding rapidly to the moisture, the service said.

But most of the state continues to suffer from lack of moisture. The most critical areas include both the lower and upper coastal areas, Panhandle and parts of western Texas. Central and eastern counties and spots in other areas also continued to report soil moisture on the short side.

Most dryland wheat in the Panhandle has been abandoned where soil moisture is very short. Crops and pastures continued to deteriorate in the coastal areas and stockmen are beginning to cull their herds due to the lack of feed. Pastures are generally below average in East Texas and parts of Central and Central West Texas but scattered rains have helped the situation.

CONGRATULATIONS

To Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Patterson, 609 N. Sumner, on the birth of a boy at 10:06 a.m., weighing 7 lbs. 3 ozs.

An estimated 85 per cent of the irrigated cotton acreage on the South Plains had been planted up to midweek but only 33 per cent of the dryland acreage was planted. Grain sorghum planting in that section was described as in full swing on irrigated land and in the dryland counties where moisture is available.

A limited acreage of wheat has been harvested in Willbarger and Young Counties, but is expected to become more widespread within the next 5 to 10 days if present weather conditions prevail.

The condition of crops, pastures and ranges is closely tied to the prevailing moisture situation. Irrigated sections of Western and Northwestern Texas report that planting is being pushed to completion and that crops are generally making progress. Oats in all areas are ripening. Some are being baled for hay or grazed.

Episcopalians Given Good Dressing Down

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

Episcopalians have been bawled out good and proper by the head layman of their church.

Clifford P. Morehouse, New York publisher who is president of the Episcopal House of Deputies, took a look at the Episcopal foreign missions program and decided it is pathetically puny for a church with 3.5 million generally prosperous members.

"The Pentecostals and other groups of Christians whom we are likely to call 'sects' are far outstripping us in missionary zeal," said Morehouse, in a speech before a diocesan convention in Savannah, Ga.

After more than 100 years of missionary endeavor the Episcopal church has only some 250,000 baptized members outside the United States.

In August, 1961, Pope John XXIII called upon the Roman Catholic religious orders of the United States to send 10 per cent of their priests, brothers and sisters to Latin America, where the church faces a critical clergy shortage.

Since that time, according to a report sent to the Vatican this month, the number of U.S. priests and religious people serving in Latin America has risen from 2,530 to 3,205.

That's still a long way from the 21,000 required to meet the Pope's plea for a "tithe" of manpower. But the U.S. bishops committee for Latin America reports that "substantial" additional transfers are now in the works, and that religious orders in this country have displayed "an admirable readiness to sacrifice great needs in the homeland to serve the far larger needs of the church in a neighboring region."

The new president of the Southern Baptist Convention, the Rev. K. Owen White of Houston Tex., says he'll use his influence to eliminate any tendency toward theological "liberalism" in Baptist seminaries and schools.

White defined liberalism as any attitude which "casts doubt on the reliability and authority" of the Bible. He says it weakens Christianity by causing church members to lose their "strength of conviction and evangelistic fire."

Another Mercury May Fill Space Gap

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — There is a gap of more than a year in the U. S. manned space program that could be filled by another Project Mercury flight—possibly twice as long as Gordon Cooper's 34-hour voyage.
 Within an hour of Cooper's safe splashdown Thursday, top Project Mercury officials said a decision would be made shortly about extending the Mercury program for an additional flight.
 "Once we have analyzed data we'll make that decision," said Dr. Brainerd Holmes, director of manned space flight for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA).

The quaint name of Stoke Poges belongs to a parish and village of Buckinghamshire, England. Thomas Gray is buried in the churchyard which is supposed to be the inspiration for Gray's Elegy. The manor house in Stoke Poges was erected by William Penn who, before crossing the Atlantic to play his part in America's history, also built the golf course.

Typical Troubles For Astronauts

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—All four U.S. astronauts who completed orbital flights encountered at least some difficulty in space. Here is a comparison of their flights:

John H. Glenn Jr.
Near the end of the first of his three orbits on Feb. 20, 1962, signals indicated that the heat shield had separated from the base of the capsule. This raised the threat of a flaming death on re-entry. In order to hold the heat shield in place it was decided not to jettison the retro-rocket pack and he made a safe re-entry. Later it was determined that the signals had been faulty and there had been no heat shield danger.

M. Scott Carpenter
Carpenter completed three orbits on May 24, 1962. He ran out of fuel for his automatic system just before re-entry and he had to line up his capsule by manual control. As a result, his retro-rockets fired late and he overshot his landing area by 250 miles.

Walter M. Schirra Jr.
His capsule performed almost without a flaw but after the first of his six orbits on Oct. 3, 1962, he encountered a minor heat problem in his space suit. The heat in

Cancer 'Quacks' Subject for Meeting

The annual meeting of the American Cancer Society is scheduled to be held Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the Lovett Memorial Library.

Guest speaker for the affair will be Oliver Field, Department of Investigation, American Medical Association, of Chicago, Ill.

Field, who has been called the "Will Rogers of the medical field," will speak on "quackery" in the treatment of cancer.

The lecture will feature a display of quack appliances, medicines, and a film showing how thousands of cancer patients are victimized each year by quack doctors.

Certificates of award will be presented to Pampa cancer workers and officers for the coming year will be elected.

A reception will be held following the meeting.

Field has been employed by the AMA as director of the Department of Investigation since Jan. 1948. Prior to that time, he was with the Federal Food and Drug Administration, as an inspector

Problem for Teachers, Parents

By DAVID NYDICK
UPI Education Specialist

Parents and teachers often are faced with the problem of children who steal. How should it be handled?

The answer depends in part on the child's age. Children below the age of three who take items which do not belong to them ordinarily do not understand what ownership means. Their experiences with toys, etc. lead them to believe that everything is shared. Don't get upset when a child of this age takes someone else's property. You should explain that the item is not theirs and should be returned. Perhaps you can bring out the difference between sharing and ownership. It is important that you realize that the child will probably not be able to develop a full understanding.

In the three to five year age group children should be developing increased respect for their own as well as other's property. During this period, they will become more independent of you. As they learn to get along with their friends, a need to respect other people's property will grow. Additional guidance should be used when incidents of stealing occur.

Might Steal Secretly

Above the age of six, children should have sufficient knowledge to recognize that they are doing wrong when they steal. In this age group children tend to steal secretly and hide the objects. They will probably deny the act. When this happens, you must be particularly firm. Explain that you love the child but do not approve of this behavior and will not permit it.

There are a great variety of reasons why children might steal. Children who are deprived may resort to stealing if the need becomes strong enough. Of course, stealing is by no means limited to the needy. Children who appear to have everything are just as guilty of this objectionable behavior. When children are lonely or unhappy, they may turn to stealing. Sometimes the cause is a lack of a warm relationship with parents.

Don't Humiliate Child

The basis for such actions may be analyzed. An individual might be trying to gain attention or attempting to get even for treatment he feels is unfair. Regardless of the reason stealing is not acceptable. The child should not be humiliated. A great deal of care should be taken to make sure that he has stolen something before he is accused.

Capitol Hill Commentary

By CHARLES W. CORDDRY
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — No amount of contrary evidence seems able to silence the Defense Department's boast that it has ended the great inter-service belt-buckle controversy.

This is interesting partly because it is amusing and partly because the buckle issue is forever being publicized as a dramatic example of the Pentagon's new economies and efficiencies.

It is even more interesting because, 17 months after the claims began to be heard, belt buckle buying has not been "unified" at all. Three old types still are being bought for the active forces, a fourth is being stockpiled in the nation's mobilization reserves, and two new ones are being "field tested" to see whether one can supplant all the rest.

Yet, Assistant Defense Secretary Arthur Sylvester said to the National Association of Mutual Savings Banks this week: "So longer have 18 different types and sizes of butchers' smocks, four kinds of belt buckles and six kinds of exercise bloomers."

Proud of Work

He touted these minor but "colorful" achievements of the Defense Supply Agency (DSA) in a speech about Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara's "vigorous campaign" to save money. He said the new DSA buys common items that the services used to buy on their own, and saved $33 million this year in overhead alone.

Sylvester merely took his cue from McNamara. The secretary spoke to the American Society of Newspaper Editors here last month and, in the course of claiming $1.8 billion in economies, referred to the "consolidation" of smock, bloomer and buckles types as accomplished facts.

The DSA said in answer to inquiry Thursday that it surely intends for all services to use a common belt buckle. But research and field tests were necessary first and will take until July 15. Presumably a common buckle at length will be ordered but not yet.

Claims bring Publicity

All this is different from the original claims that burgeoned into vast publicity about the new economies.

In December, 1961, Lt. Gen. Andrew T. McNamara, DSA chief, and no relation to the secretary, told newsmen that the Army and Navy stuck by their 12-cent brass-colored buckle, the Air Force was just as stubborn about a 12-cent silver-colored number, and the Marines clung to a 29-cent cast buckle.

Gen. McNamara said he had ordered a simple solution to the controversy which he was exposing. Everybody would wear a black buckle, period.

First thing anybody knew, the black buckle began to chip and the Army quartermaster research center at Natick, Mass., was told off to do lab tests and other research.

Meanwhile, as the Army-Navy-Air Force Journal has pointed out, "the myth of the belt-buckle economy grew and grew and grew" and defense officials kept telling "the tale of belt buckle unification."

Or, as Sylvester told the bankers, "the department of defense is so big and so complex that in some ways it is almost beyond comprehension."

Center Wrap-Up

George Smith Director
Pampa Youth and Community Center

The new gym at the Center is fast becoming a completed project. The building will house a basketball court with other minor courts blended in. Volleyball, badminton, shuffleboard, punching bags, mats for tumbling, wrestling, and judo will be housed in this new structure.

If you aren't a member, now would be a good time to join. Memberships for individuals are $5 and $10, and for families $12 and $20.

Some of the activities that we are lining up for summer are: twirling lessons, art and bridge lessons, afternoon tennage dances, dance band contests and motion picture film night.

The Center is participating in the summer Red Cross swim program for the first time this summer. Registration for all classes will be May 20 from 2:30 to 5 p.m. at the Center.

Offered for the first time is the preschool age poly swim class for preschool age poly swim class for children four to six years of age. Sessions will be divided into three two-week sessions running June 10-21, June 24-July 5, and July 8-19.

Classes will meet from 9-10 a.m. and 10-11 a.m. daily.

A free swim will be held from 11:50 a.m. daily except Tuesday for those who take the classes. You do not have to be a member of the Center. Enrollment fee is $1 for children and $2 for adults.

At Swim Competition Friday night the Center was privileged to award gold cups to competitors who had won an event six weeks in succession.

Don Rader was awarded four cups, Scott Rader and Batch Wilkerson one cup each. Several swimmers have won blue ribbons for winning three weeks in succession but were nosed out on their bids for gold cups. One of those was Scott George who was edged out by Scott Rader in the 50 yard free style.

We have added something new lately—a mother and daughter and a father and son swim period. These run from 6-7 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday respectively. This gives the parents a chance to have fun with the children and not be bothered by other swimmers.

Some of the civic clubs in Pampa are helping equip the new gym. The Rotary has contributed a shuffleboard set, and members of the Evening Kiwanis bought two basketballs. The Junior Service League and Troop 41 of the Girl Scouts have also expressed their desire to help with the equipment.

In the recent board of director meeting new officers were elected for the Pampa Youth and Community Center. Those elected were Dr. Joe Donaldson, president; Fred Neslage, vice president; Don Lane, secretary and Bennie Shackelford, treasurer. The executive board appointed the following chairmen: Bennie Shackelford, finance and audit committee; Ed Myatt, building and grounds; and Dr. Joe Donaldson, programming and policies.

A note of appreciation to the Top O' Texas Garden Club for their fine work now being done on the flowers and shrubs around the Youth Center.

Star Is Looking For Indefinable Television 'They'

By JOSEPH FINNIGAN
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Barbara Stanwyck is looking for the faceless men of television, an all-powerful group referred to in video's highest councils as simply "they."

"They," says Miss Stanwyck, are an elusive group of network, advertising, sponsor and production executives who decide the fate of video's shows.

If "they" happen to be in your corner, everything works out fine. But one frown, a negative head shake or a word of disapproval from "they" means the death of a show.

Right now, "they" are not Barbara's staunchest supporters. The king and queen makers of television canceled her series in 1961 and recently turned down another which would have starred Miss Stanwyck.

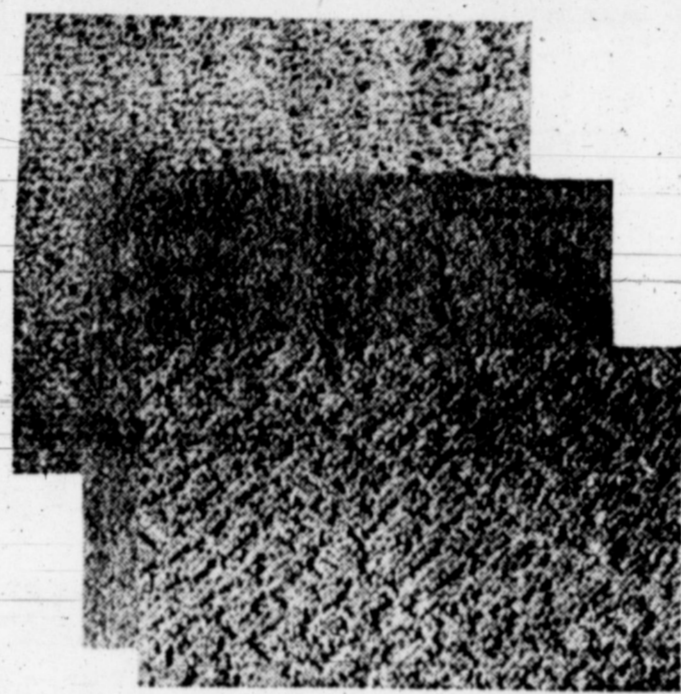

Missing Persons Show

"I did a show on 'The Untouchables' last year, she said. "I played a woman who was head of the Missing Persons Bureau. It was a pilot film for a new series and I thought it had great potential."

"We could have gone all over the world looking for missing persons. That's what I liked about it. The idea was varied and we were using case histories of missing persons. A lot of the histories were tragic but many were funny. The show didn't have to be grim."

Miss Stanwyck did the pilot film episode and "they" showed interest. So, she did another on the same subject for the "Untouchables," hoping to convince television's masterminds further. No such luck, and the project died aborting.

Three Miami Seniors In All-Star Games

MIAMI (Spl.) — Two Miami football players and one basketball player have been invited to participate in post-season classics, announced coach Lawrence Overcast yesterday.

At the Cisco Junior College All-Star Coaching Clinic, held August 23, Mickey Kivlehen has been invited to play on the West football team and Jimmy Flowers on the West basketball team.

Mark Arrington has accepted an invitation to play in the Green Belt Football Game, held in Childress, also in August.

The Cisco clinic is for coaches of six-man and eight-man football teams. Kivlehen was All-District fullback for two years, also played basketball and was the district champion in the shot put and discus.

Flowers was a two-year All-District cage selection and also All-Regional the past year, captain-

Sporting Sidelines

By JEFF COHANE

JACK PATTERSON, newly appointed track coach of the University of Texas, wasted no time on the job. The day following his official appointment, Jack called this reporter, whom he knew from track meets in the Houston area, to report that he was in town to see Randy Matson, ask our help in persuading the Pampa Giant that Texas was the school for him, and to inquire about any other athletic prospects, principally in track, but also in other sports that we thought could make the grade at UT.

We told Jack that having close relations with the University of Houston, we had recommended a number of our area athletes to that school, but that we had told Randy that, in our honest opinion, he would have a better opportunity for a business career after athletics if he stayed in his own state, and that we felt that Texas, if they would let Randy play basketball as well as track, would be probably the best school he could go to, even more than UH, because it is in the Southwest Conference (all Aggie and TT grads please put down your guns, it is our sincere belief that UT has the best combined program in basketball and track—other schools may have better basketball teams or better track teams, but none, except possibly UH, has the best representation in BOTH sports).

Jack who reported that he has been following our paper regularly knew of a number of the area boys we had recommended through his files, but asked some additional data. He said that he had also spoken to Ralph Palmer, but that Ralph seemed set at the University of Oklahoma.

THE BEST other prospects in track, we told Jack, were at White Deer, Miami and Lefors. Carroll Russell, in our book, could make both a fine track man and a fine basketball player at any school. The two-time All-State cager has run a tremendous 14.9 in the high hurdles at regional, but was beaten by a spectacular 14.4. However, Carroll's time improvement from 15.8 to 14.9 in the course of a year, and his potential, both as a trackman and a cager, made him an outstanding college prospect. White Deer's Curtis Campbell, the quarter-pint speed demon, we also felt would be a tremendous prospect, despite having been handicapped most of the season by pulled leg muscles after he ran a 9.7 100-yard dash. Tommy Elliott, a 12-foot pole vaulter, also was good college material. Jack, who said he knew Colie Huffman, immediately hotfooted it for White Deer.

BEFORE GOING, however, Jack stopped to hear the rest of our recommendations and made some comment on the fuss over his hiring and Froggy Lovvorn's firing. Jack planned to see Jimmy Flowers of Miami while he was here, and also intended to visit Wayne "Lightning" Coleman of Lefors. Jack said he had been tremendously impressed by the Pirate junior at state meet and agreed with our prediction that Wayne would hit the 13-foot mark next year. Jack also was interested in athletes in other sports for the Longhorns, especially two-sport men like Matson, Flowers and Russell, and promised to pass on our recommendation of Jerry Glover to the baseball coach.

JACK SAID that he regretted all the "fuss" and premature publicity over the job change, which was apparently caused by someone letting the cat out of the bag too soon. He felt that Froggy was a great coach and hoped that he could do as well, and said that his new replacement at Baylor would do the Bears a fine job. Coach Patterson favorably impressed everyone he visited in this area. Pampa athletic director Weldon "Birdog" Trice was especially appreciative of the fact that Jack had stopped to call him while here, something that a number of the hordes of Matson-seeking coaches frequently fail to have the courtesy to do. We wish Jack the best of luck in his new job, and hope that we can help provide him with some of the great athletes that abound in the "Top O' Texas."

WE HAVE received a number of graduation invitations from some of our favorite athletes, not only in Pampa, but in the area. We sincerely wish to thank you from the bottom of our heart for the thoughtfulness, fellows, and we wish that we could make every one of them. Unfortunately, that is impossible, so if you don't see us in the audience, you know we are there in spirit. Due to the fact that American Legion baseball try-outs begin at 6 p.m. May 27, we can't even attend the Pampa graduation ceremonies, but we will definitely try to make the vespers the preceding day to see some fine athletes and some wonderful young people who are leaving Pampa High.

Oddity of the game was Matney's "five-baser." Matney slammed a drive into left field which hit in front of the left fielder and then bounced high over his head and rolled to the wall while Matney scurried around the bases. Kist got one in the second on James Matney's "five-base" single and three deciding runs the following frame on their lone walk, an unsuccessful fielder's choice and singles by Ted Bird and Teddy Phillips.

Kip Williams Leads TT Stats

LUBBOCK (Spl.) — Walter Rankin Jr., of Midland, son of a former Texas Tech athlete topped Red Raider batting averages for the past season, according to statistics announced Saturday.

Sophomore pitcher Morris (Moose) Dudley, Lubbock right-hander, led most of the mound figures: wins-4; games-9; games started-7; complete games-6; innings-58; hits-37; bases on balls-26; strikeouts-26; shutouts-2.

Sophomore David Tartar of Lubbock had the best earned-run average-.59. Tartar (2-0) and junior Kippy Williams (1-0) of Pampa led in winning percentages, 1.000 each.

For the season the Red Raiders won 11 and lost 11.

GOOD GAINER — Green quarterback Larry Johnson, backed by plenty of blocking is finally brought to a halt by Ricky Goodwin, bottom, and Kyle Vann, top, of the Gold just before the end of the first half. Coming in on the play is Jerry Garrison (16) while James Williamson (behind Johnson) tries to block the two tacklers out of the way. Behind Williamson is Jim Brumley, while on left, Big Phil Klearner (65) and John Neslage (66) come in too late to help Williamson. Trailing the play is Clay Lively (87). (Daily News Photo)

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sports of all sorts: Outfielder Tom Tresh of the New York Yankees, the American League's rookie of the year last season, figures the only way to tick the so-called "sophomore jinx" was to work on the parts of his play he considered his weaknesses. . . . Blue Chip Bailey Paying Dividends For Buccaneers

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Robert Sherwood Bailey, affluent at an age when most potential financiers are struggling bank clerks, is a blue chip investment who is beginning to pay dividends for the Pittsburgh Pirates. . . . The bonus paid Bailey two years ago when he was 18 is a secret as well guarded as a dowager's age. . . . But conjectures place the figure at upwards of $100,000. . . . In a bold stroke, Pirate General Manager Joe L. Brown traded away veteran third baseman Don Hoak and replaced him with Bailey who had only two seasons in professional baseball. . . . Confident and poised, but not cocky, Bailey summed up his performance since the season began. "I'm really not having trouble doing anything," he said. "Things are working out well for me, I'm learning about pitchers. I'm getting to know what batters do in a certain situation and try to play them accordingly. . . . "Right now, things couldn't be better. I'm happy as a Pirate." . . . Bailey was the most happy fella in the home opener against Milwaukee when he stroked a slider off Lou Burdette, 16 years his senior, for his first major league home run. . . . Against the Los Angeles Dodgers last week, Bailey clouted a pair of homers and a single to drive in five runs. . . . The first homer with two board proved something to Bailey. "I'm learning to hit with men on base, I think I was pressing too hard before," he said. . . . Ten major league teams began bidding for Bailey after his phenomenal play with Wilson High School in Long Beach, Calif. . . . Pirate scouts Bob Hughes, Jerry Gardner and Bob Fontaine parlayed their persuasive skills to sign the youngster. . . . "I was only a seventh grader when Gardner organized a winter league," Bob said. "I played right field—and not too well—but Jerry left me in every game. I'll never forget that. . . . "Hughes had signed Dad to a contract in the Cardinal organization years ago and has been a family friend ever since." . . . Buck Bailey played hard in Pocatella, Idaho, Sacramento, Calif., and Albany, Ga., but never made it to the majors. He resolved to help his son reach the top. . . . "Dad started me out as a shortstop. He said if I could field that position well, I wouldn't have to worry about being more than an adequate hitter. But I learned to hit." . . . Hall of Fame third baseman Pie Traynor has sized up Bailey. "He's learning to handle himself now," said Traynor. "He has power at the plate and breaks loose when pitchers expect it the least. He must learn the different ball pitches and he'll be better." . . . "Major league pitchers usually throw a fast ball on a 3-2 count but in the majors you can expect a slider or a curve. Bob is proving he can hit either pitch."

Golf Digest Magazine, Bill Casper, Tony Lema and Doug Sanders are 8-1 with Dow Finsterwald and Sam Snead 10-1. . . . That's a mighty short price on Old Sambo who never has won the blamed thing. . . . Mel Renfro, Oregon's All-American halfback, has done the 120 high hurdles in 14 seconds flat this spring, only a tenth of a second off the year's best time in collegiate ranks. . . . NCAA leaders, clocked in 13.9, are John Bethea of Morgan State and Brian Polinghorne of Southern California. . . . National Golf Day, sponsored by the Professional Golfers Association May 25, has been a fixture for 11 years. . . . Chief beneficiary of more than $900,000 raised so far is a caddie scholarship fund which has used some $240,000 to help young baggeters go to college. . . . Weeb Ewbank, new coach of the New York Jets (see Titans), will face an old coaching rival in his switch to the American Football League this fall. . . . Weeb and Sid Gillman of the San Diego Chargers locked horns in the old NFL when Ewbank had the Baltimore Colts and Gillman the Los Angeles Rams. . . . Ewbank is 5-4-1 in the series. . . . The Baltimore Orioles have arranged a neat "giveaway" on the field after Saturday night's game with the Chicago White Sox. . . . Some lucky Oriole fan will win a waterfront summer cottage on the Chesapeake. . . . Australia's Rod Laver twice has appeared as a tennis pro at Madison Square Garden but the evidence of his grand slam of last fall still is splashed on the big scoreboard at the West Side Tennis Club in Forest Hills. . . . The sign painters don't rub out last year's results until the new tournament draw is available just before the start of a new championship. . . . The New York Mets and Cincinnati Reds are blaming each other for inciting an unruly crowd at the Polo Grounds the other day but maybe some good will come out of the episode before big trouble brews.

The Green then rallied in the final frame as Johnson took to the air. Garrison and Bridges caught the pigskin to move it to midfield. Oler and Seymour drove to the 41 and Garrison then reversed to the left behind a block by Campaign and went to the Gold 19 despite being hit by four tacklers along the way. . . . Criss took a short pass and plunged to the 15. Johnson faked a handoff, faked a pass, and then slipped the ball to Garrison who smashed his way to the four. Oler then broke through for paydirt, but Jamieson and Dison dragged him down on the one, Seymour then followed a path opened by Klearner and Hank-Henry to paydirt. Johnson tried to run the extra points but was stopped by Griffith and Randall Scott. . . . In the waning seconds of the game, the Green started a final drive. Seymour, Garrison and Phil Smith sparked the drive, highlighted by Jerry's weaving 19-yard run to the Gold 25. A keeper behind R. L. Petty made 10 more yards, Williamson smashed to the six and Williams to the four. Garrison reversed, but Kyle Vann caught him by the ankle and held him on the one, with 16 seconds left to play. Neslage, Larry Nichols and Johnson then opened a gaping hole at left guard and Jerry scored with 10 seconds on the clock. Williams ran the conversion and the final score was 53-22.

Japan Is Promising Export Market

By GAYLORD P. GODWIN
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Japan's livestock feed industry is one of the most promising export markets for American farmers.

The Foreign Agricultural Service (FAS) reports Japan already has become one of the largest buyers of U.S. corn and milo and that prospects for steady growth are very good.

During calendar 1962, Japan imported about 3.2 million metric tons of corn and 400,000 tons of milo, almost entirely for feed use. About 1 million tons of the corn and virtually all the milo came from the United States.

The development of the Japanese market has been rapid. In 1948, total corn imports were less than 700,000 tons and no milo was imported. During the next four years, the combined volume of corn and milo imports increased fourfold. Meanwhile, imports of wheat, bran, alfalfa meal and lesser feed-stuffs also have zoomed.

Major Factor

FAS said a major factor behind the recent sudden growth of feed-stuff imports has been Japan's domestic feed situation and the development of its mixed feed industry.

With a limited supply of arable land, Japan has cropping patterns which emphasize production of foods, most of them much more profitable than to raise animal feeds. Farmers' returns from fruit and vegetable crops have been very good in recent years, and rice and wheat can be produced and sold in unlimited quantity to the government's food agency at good prices—about $6.60 per bushel for rice and $3.12 per bushel for wheat. Obviously, with imported corn freely available at $1.40 to $1.50 per bushel, farmers have had little incentive to increase their feed output.

New livestock enterprises, particularly in remote areas of Japan, have provided an opportunity to make fuller use of offgrade food grains and other miscellaneous wastes. But essentially, the expansion of the livestock industry has brought about no significant amount of feed production, other than forage crops. On the contrary, production of barley, miscellaneous grains, and potatoes, all of which are used in part for feed, has declined.

Demand Increases

FAS said the demand for livestock products in Japan is increasing, even though total intake still remains low by comparison with high-income consumer groups of other countries. Per capita meat intake rose from 15 grams per day in 1957 to 21 grams in 1961, while egg intake climbed from 12.8 grams to 22.6 grams.

Any further expansion of Japan's livestock industry requires virtually a corresponding increase in imported feed supplies, according to FAS. By all indications, this relationship is expected to continue for at least the next five to 10 years.

Tips for Friends and Relations

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Invitations to spring graduation exercises are falling around us now like the gentle rain from heaven. A person never realizes how many nephews he has until the commencement season begins.

There is, however, a silver lining in this shower of sheepskin importuning. In most cases, we are not really expected to attend. The great aching void created by our absence can usually be assuaged by a small gift.

At times, of course, the ceremony cannot be avoided. It is to those of you who are facing such an ordeal this spring that I address this message.

Makes Ordeal Bearable

Take heart, kind friends. I may be able to point out a way to make it bearable.

I have found that I can better endure the gaseous orations and the seemingly endless processions by occupying my mind with a pleasant little diversion called "scholar watching."

Scholar watching is closely similar to bird watching. The object is to see how many different types of scholars you can identify by their colors and plumage.

I happen to have at hand a scholar watcher's pocket manual that I obtained from the publishers of the Encyclopedia International. From it I have gleaned a few tips that you might find useful.

Almost anyone who has ever been to a graduation exercise can instantly recognize the familiar "black-tasseled bachelor." But, not everybody can distinguish it from the "black-tasseled master," which also is a fairly common species.

Study Gowns

The trick is to study the cut of their gowns. The bachelor has long sleeves with cuffs that flair down into points, whereas the master has oblong sleeves that are open at the wrist.

The "gold-tasseled doctor" also is easily spotted, but it appears in a variety of sub-species that provide a real challenge to the scholar watcher.

Among those most often found in the western hemisphere are the "purple-hooded lawyer," the "blue-hooded philosopher," the "yellow-hooded scientist," the "pink-hooded musician" and the "scarlet-hooded theologian."

The plumage of the doctoriate genus is not always uniform, however. You may see a "scarlet-hooded theologian" with scarlet bars on the gown. On the other hand, the bars may be black.

On rare occasions, the scholar watcher may spot an European savant among the domestic flock. Most likely its coloration will be richer and more varied. But that doesn't mean that it is any smarter.

Stilts have long been a plaything as well as a means of crossing marshes and bogs. The Belgian city of Namur, which suffered from overflowing rivers, was famed for its stiltwalkers. During the sixteenth century, a company of stiltwalking soldiers from Namur so pleased the archduke that he conferred upon the city a perpetual exemption from the beer tax.

Coffee Break.... ...with d. e. w.

SITTING WITH A group of graduating seniors the other afternoon, the conversation, naturally, drifted around to that most important of all events... graduation exercises. It seems that the girls were questioning a few protocol and etiquette rules, so we resolved to brush up on a few of the more important pointers and pass them along for whatever they may be worth to others, who may have, also, been wondering. For want of a better title, let's call this a "Grooming For Graduation Quiz."

- Wearing The Cap And Gown
1. The cap is worn on the back of the head with mortarboard pointed up. This placement helps to hold the tassel in position and lets the girl wear her usual hairstyle. True or False?
ANSWER: False. The cap is placed on the head so the mortarboard is level. Girls should try to plan for a hairstyle that is becoming when wearing the cap properly.
 2. If the tassel is to be shifted from one side of the mortarboard to the other when the diploma is received, it should be shifted from right to left. True or False?
ANSWER: True.
 3. Boys may wear either a bow tie or a four-in-hand style with the gown. True or False?
ANSWER: True. However, all boys in a given class should decide on the same style and color of tie for all to wear.
 4. Under the gown, a girl wears a slim-lined dress, preferably white and without a collar or high neckline. True or False?
ANSWER: True. The dress is slim to avoid distorting the line of the gown (no full petticoats). The neckline is collarless and lower than that of the gown because it should not be seen. White is suggested as the color, especially if the dress can be seen through the gown.
 5. A boy must wear a suit coat under his gown. True or False?
ANSWER: False. A white shirt is very satisfactory unless the boy is very thin and needs the padding in his jacket to improve the appearance of his gown.
 6. If boys remove caps during baccalaureate service or during prayer at commencement, the cap is replaced by holding tassel and mortarboard in one hand so cap can be replaced easily with tassel in correct position. True or False?
ANSWER: True. And though removing the cap at the times mentioned is optional, it is a nice thing for the boys to do. If one boy removed his cap, of course, they all do. It's something that should be decided upon and practiced ahead of time.
- THE PROM
1. Though not absolutely necessary, a boy usually either sends

DEW TELL! ... Beau of the Ball at Kit Kat Klub's dance last Saturday evening in the Pampa Youth and Community Center was a certain red-haired lad by the name of Hugh Campbell, who can do the "Twist" as Chubbier Checker intended as it should be done. He left no girl "undanced with" for long, but particularly seemed to enjoy having those sophisticated seniors, Jan Grady and Sandra Weatherly as his partners. Hugh is eight years old! He's self-taught, he told us... "bought some records and just taught myself." One of Hugh's friends, bored by the whole evening, was his dog, Chigger, who paced up and down outside, while his master was engaging in the terpsichorean arts.

RAN INTO MARY LEFORS downtown one noonday this week. She was all excited over the embarking in New York that day of her sister from England, who was to arrive in Pampa on Thursday to spend the summer with her. Can't you just imagine all the sister-type girl-talk that will be filling the LeFors home at 2424 Mary Ellen. "Now I'll have someone who understands my English accent," she quipped. Mary, we think it is charming!

AN ART EXHIBIT to be anticipated by Pampa art patrons is the one the Tuesday Craftsmen have up their artistic sleeves and which will open for public viewing at a tea next Sunday afternoon in Lovett Memorial Library. The One-Man Show will be the works of a Pampa, Roger Long, a world-traveling painter, who over the years has more than enough paintings to hold several One Man Shows simultaneously. The exhibit will be a coup for the Tuesday Craftsmen and one to be marked on every social calendar in Pampa. Roger, we have learned began his art career, while a student in Pampa High School. BETTY FINKELSTEIN is back in town after the Denver wedding of her daughter, Rhona to Bruce Ornsten, last Saturday evening. "It was a lovely wedding," Betty told us, "Pink and white and perfect!" Betty's now completing plans for daughter, Glenda's wedding on June 29... and so it goes, d.e.w.

Brown-Hininger United In Double-Ring Service

Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Jr. Hininger
...nee Evelyn Brown

Carrying out the Indian tradition, the bride presented her mother with a single yellow rose before the ceremony and the bridegroom's mother with a yellow rose after the ceremony.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Brown chose a beige linen suit with pink accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. Mrs. Hininger, mother of the bridegroom, wore a blue Shantung dress topped with a white lace bolero, white accessories and a corsage of yellow carnations.

For a wedding trip to southern Texas, the bride traveled in a turquoise frock accessorized with white.

They are making their home at 310 West.

Mr. and Mrs. Hininger were graduated from Pampa High School; Mr. Hininger is employed by Cabot Corp.

Among the out-of-town guests attending were Messrs. and Mmes. Ronnie Roberts and daughter of Tulsa, Okla.; Doug Hininger; Cecil Norman; Henry Smith, all of Fargo, Okla.; H. H. Hininger of Woodward, Okla. and Raymond Gee of Perryton.

Wedding vows of Miss Evelyn Brown and Darrell Jr. Hininger were solemnized in a double-ring service performed on May 11 at two o'clock in the Calvary Baptist Church with the Rev. Orval Seepastor officiating.

Miss Brown is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Brown, 3095 Rosewood. Mr. Hininger's parents are Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Hininger, 321 Canadian.

Vows were repeated in a setting of yellow and white mums flanked by palm greenery.

BRIDE

Given in marriage by her father with the "her mother and I vow," the bride wore a street-length dress of white chiffon designed with an Empire waistline and topped with a lace bolero featuring tapering sleeves and a rounded neckline. Her elbow length veil of illusion tulle was held to a Queen's Crown of pearls.

She carried an arrangement of white and yellow carnations showered with satin streamers atop a white Bible.

ATTENDANTS

Mrs. Ronnie Roberts, bride's sister, as matron of honor, wore a yellow lace over yellow satin frock complemented with a yellow carnation bouquet.

D. L. Hininger served his son as best man. Ronnie Roberts, bride's brother-in-law and Ronnie Gains, friend of the bridegroom, seated the wedding guests.

Miss Rita Bryant was guest registrar.

Mrs. Yvonne Phillips provided the traditional wedding music and served as accompanist for Bobby Jones as he sang "I Love You Truly," and "Always."

Mrs. H. E. Stanfield, outgoing president, conducted the installation of the incoming officers using a symphonic theme.

Assuming office were Mmes. Tom Rose, president; Bill Roots, vice president; Al Knox, secretary; Bob Andis, treasurer; Raymond Harrah, parliamentarian; R. H. Sanford, critic; Jack P. Foster, reporter; Joe Gordon, federation counselor; H. E. Stanfield, Council of Clubs representative.

Members were reminded of the Council of Clubs President's Tea to be held today at 2:30 p.m. in the City Club Room.

It was announced that the Twentieth Century Club scholarship was presented to Edwin Alberts with Ronnie Dean Choate as alternate.

Alpha Iota Closes Current Activities With Buffet Supper

Alpha Iota Conclave of Kappa Kappa Iota Sorority met for a buffet supper on Monday evening in the home of Miss Ann Collard, 1133 Duncan. The serving table was appointed with colorful red bandana accessories and centered with an arrangement of white Shasta Daisies.

Miss Judy Neslage, president, reported on the state convention held in Houston in March. Congratulations were extended Mrs. Bennie Shackelford, who was elected state vice president at the convention and to Mrs. Wynne Veale, for compiling the state-winning scrapbook.

Plans were discussed for sending a delegate to the national convention to be held in San Antonio in June.

During the evening, Miss Shiela Chisholm showed slides of her Hawaiian trip.

Attending were Ann Collard, Roberta Hickman, Martha Jackson, Jo Parker, Mary Keim, Janice Cole, Sue Durham, Geraldine Rumpy, Peggy Turner, Betty Boswell, Kay Veale, Mary Ann Best, Joanne Shackelford, Shiela Chisholm, Virginia Myers, Evelyn Guy and Judy Neslage.

The meeting marked the close of the conclave's activities for the current year season. Activities will be resumed on September 9.

Miss Mary Lindra Cathcart

Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Birdine Cathcart Sr. announce the betrothal of their daughter, Mary Lindra, to First Lieutenant G. Brantley Laycock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Huelyn Laycock of Canyon. Wedding vows will be solemnized on June 29 in the All Faiths Chapel on the campus of Texas A&M College. The bride-elect was graduated from Sam Houston Teachers College, Huntsville, in January, 1942. She is currently employed by the Soil and Crop Sciences Department of Texas A&M College. Her fiance was graduated from White Deer High School in 1937 and received a Bachelor of Arts degree in 1941 and a Masters of Science degree in 1942 from Texas A&M College. He is now stationed with the United States Air Force in Fort George, Meade, Maryland, where the couple will make their home after July 1.

Tools Of Oil Industry Illustrates Installation

Mrs. N. Dudley Steele was the featured speaker for Petroleum Engineers' Wives Society luncheon Tuesday in the Cibola Room of the Coronado Inn. Following luncheon, Mrs. Steele delightfully reviewed the book, "Travels With Charley," by John Steinbeck, which revealed a mellowed author's travels around the United States, with his French poodle, Charley.

"From start to finish, I found no strangers," said Mr. Steinbeck. "These are all my people." Travelling through 40 states, including Texas, he found that the best ways to talk to the people were to let them see Charley, or to pretend to be lost.

During the business meeting, conducted by Mrs. N. E. Turnbo, the resignations of Mrs. Ray E. Wilson as president and Mrs. L. K. Roberts, as second vice president were accepted with regret. To fill the vacancies, Mrs. John Smith was elected first vice president, and Mrs. Ray Jordan will act as second vice president. Mrs. J. E. Curzon, Borger, formerly first vice president will assume the presidency.

A gift of appreciation was presented to the outgoing president, Mrs. Turnbo by Mrs. James Hamilton, Borger.

Following the business meeting, newly elected officers were installed by Mrs. Paul H. Davis, outgoing secretary of PEWS.

In opening the installation ceremony, Mrs. Davis said, "Every organization, whether a large oil or service company, or a small social group such as the PEWS, has within it many positions to be filled. Each position carries with it a characteristic tool by which it is easily identified.

"In the next few minutes, I'd like to introduce you to a few employees of the 'EZY-Flow' Company, and compare their jobs to those of our incoming PEWS officers. The similarity of tools used should be obvious."

A soft cushion was used as a symbol for a district engineer and the office of president to be filled by Mrs. J. E. Curzon of Borger, president; a valve for "reservoir engineer-first vice president," Mrs. John Smith of Pampa; slide rule for "field engineer-second vice president," Mrs. Ray Jordan; a megaphone for "production foreman-secretary," Mrs. Earl Johnson of Pampa; a pump-jacking unit for "oil-pumper-treasurer," Mrs. Russell Talley, a monkey wrench for "troubleshoot-parliamentarian," Mrs. N. E. Turnbo; a hammer for chief salesman-nominating committee chairman, Mrs. Billy Gillman of Borger; a sharp pencil and bottle of aspirin for "warehouse manager-yearbook chairman," Mrs. Austin T. Jones of Borger.

Petroleum Engineers' Wives Society will not meet during the summer months but will resume its activities on the second Tuesday in September with a Membership Coffee.

Pampa Art Club Changes Exhibits

A collection of paintings by Ruth Smalley are being exhibited in a one-man show in the Citizens' Hospitality Room for the next three weeks. The show is sponsored by the Pampa Art Club.

Mrs. Smalley was an art major at Texas Women's University and has studied for five years under Dord Fitz of Amarillo. She has also taken advance training under Elaine DeKooning and Leon Smith of New York City and Charley Bunnell of Colorado Springs.

"The show has a mixture of abstract and visual art done with boldness and vigor. Her paintings evoke a multitude of response, at times, even demand a reaction. Rarely are they indecisive. Some compositions are at times tender and delicate but yet strong as steel in dynamic assertion," Mrs. Howard Johnson, exhibit chairman, states.

Works of Mrs. Smalley have been exhibited at the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo, the Burr Gallery in New York, Oklahoma Little Red School House and Dord Fitz Gallery in Amarillo.

"Clinical Capers" concerning African Violet problems was presented by the hostess, Mrs. Lee Moore to members of the Pampa African Violet Society, at a meeting held in her home Tuesday evening.

The business meeting, conducted by Mrs. Norman Walberg was opened with prayer by Mrs. Moore.

Following the secretary's report by Mrs. Dan Glaxner, the club voted to contribute to the Boyce Eden Research Fund.

Miss Dortha Jo McNutt became the bride of Ennis W. Penland with wedding vows repeated on May 10 at 7:30 p.m. in the chapel of the First Methodist Church with the Rev. M. B. Smith officiating.

Miss McNutt is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe T. McNutt, 416 Carr. Mr. Penland's parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Penland, 412 Hughes.

Eddie Brewer, pianist, provided the traditional wedding marches.

Baskets of white gladioli and daisies appointed the wedding scene.

BRIDE

Given in marriage by her father with the "her mother and I avowal", the bride wore a street-length sheath of white brocade topped with a jacket designed with a stand-up collar and three-quarter length sleeves.

Her elbow-length veil of Bridal Illusion was held to a white brocade half-hat. She carried an arrangement of white carnations atop a white Bible.

ATTENDANTS

Miss LaMonna Hendricks, as maid of honor, wore a pale green frock complemented with a white carnation bouquet.

Barney Baker served as best man with Garry Johnson and Larry Leonard seating the wedding guests.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. McNutt chose a blue chiffon print with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Penland, wore a light blue sheath with blue and white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

RECEPTION

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents, Mrs. O. D. Reames and Mrs. Ruth Clark presided at the cake and punch service. Mrs. C. C. Tackett was guest registrar.

The Mature Parent Through The Eyes Of Caring Father

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Dear Mrs. Lawrence. My husband is often rude to boys who date our two teen-age daughters. The girls complain about it to me. Their father insists on asking the boys where they are taking the girls, what time they will bring them home—questions my daughters say are none of their father's business. I can see their point of view. They are not flighty youngsters, and resent their father's idea that all they go out for is necking.

ANSWER: Male sexuality is not our kind.

That, dear reader, is what your husband knows. He knows that boys' feelings toward girls are more aggressive, more impatient, more indiscriminating than girls' feelings toward boys. I expect that as a man who loves and respects a woman, he wishes to protect his daughters against the kind of impersonal overtures boys make toward girls in whom they have no personal interest.

That is a natural wish in fathers. It can become too interfering, too suspicious and too restrictive if it is not understood by a father's womenfolk.

Perhaps you can better appreciate it if you will realize that this wish of your husband's derives from his love for you.

We are seldom a husband's First Girl. The men we marry are usually romantically experienced people. They know how young males behave in parked cars on moonlit nights. They know that what boys feel toward the casual "dates" is only part of what they later feel for the girl they undertake to love and cherish for life. The fact your husband wants for his daughters what he felt for you should awaken a special tenderness in you toward him, instead of your obvious impatience.

Now you only see the children's point of view. Well, you were a wife before you were a mother. If you will try to extend your point of view to include your husband's as well as your inexperienced children's, perhaps you can interpret his to them. Then they may quit resenting him as a cantankerous, interfering old fuss-budget.

Shells Used As Symbols Installing Officers For Civic Culture Club

Mrs. J. B. Townsend conducted the installation of new officers for the Civic Culture Club in a unique ceremony at a meeting held Tuesday afternoon in her home.

With the theme "shells" as a keynote for the service, Mrs. Townsend used shells she had collected while living in Brownsville last winter. Unusual in shape, some resembled baby feet, a sun dial, olive, pen, clam, turkey wings and age angel wings, which she used as symbols of each office.

Officers installed in the "shell ceremony" were Mrs. Stanley Brandt, president; K. A. Sorenson, vice president; George Neef, recording secretary; A. D. Hills, corresponding secretary; W. H. Waters, parliamentarian; Katie Vincent, parliamentarian; W. J. Morris, reporter and Irwin Cole, membership chairman.

"Just as the shells beautify the beach, so does club work add to the beauty of our lives," Mrs. Townsend concluded.

on May 28 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hills. Mrs. Vona Voss was welcomed as a guest. Sixteen members attended.

In Orbit, Too

DALLAS (UPI) — The 66th annual convention of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs coincided with the launching into space Wednesday of astronaut Gordon Cooper.

The ladies had a "countdown" breakfast and heard Dr. Charles S. Sheldon II of the federal space agency at an "orbit" luncheon.

Sheldon said U. S. space efforts are both to "preserve the peace and to live better in peace."

It's up to the hostess to suggest second helpings at a buffet.

Club Collect Forms Installation Theme

El Progresso Study Club met Tuesday for a salad luncheon in the home of Mrs. J. G. Morrison, 2101 Christine. Tiny pitchers of pansies centered the quartet tables with arrangements of spring garden flowers displayed throughout the house.

Mrs. Carlton Nance conducted an original and impressive installation of officers, using the Club Collect for her theme, and taking the different verses and applying them to each office.

Mrs. Glen Radcliff is the outgoing President. Officers being installed included Mrs. Charles Lanehart, president; Mrs. V. J. Drew, vice president; Mrs. Bernard Johnson, secretary; Mrs. Verl Hagaman, treasurer; Mrs. J. G. Morrison, parliamentarian; and Mrs. Hank Vera, reporter. Mrs. Lonnie Richardson stood in for Mrs. Vera who was not able to attend the meeting. Hostesses were Meses. Bernard Johnson, Elmer Fisher, John Gill and Verl Hagaman, assisted by Mrs. Morrison. Those present in addition to above mentioned, were Jess Clay, Kermit Lawson, Bob McCoy, Tom Perkins, George Waldstad, and W. R. Ewing.

Musical Theme In Lamar Ceremony

Mrs. George B. Cree Jr., past City Council president, installed new officers for the Lamar unit at a meeting held Thursday in the school auditorium.

She compared PTA officers to an orchestra and used musical instruments for each office: Meses. N. L. Nichols, president, a baton; Roy Franke, vice president, a miniature piano; Delbert Daniels, secretary, a drum; Lawrence Parant, treasurer, a musical score; E. C. Pulse, parliamentarian, a miniature horn; Duane Howe and R. E. Warren, City Council representatives, violins.

Preceding the installation, Jack Nichols, Robert E. Lee Junior High principal, gave pointers to parents and students, who will be entering junior high next year. "These are the most interesting years for your child, but he will need your guidance and help more than ever."

Gifts of appreciation were given Mrs. Cree and Mrs. Nichols. Mrs. Alice Dalrymple, a fourth grade teacher, won the cake baked as a door prize by Mrs. Clyde Frye. Mrs. Frances Walls' second grade room, in winning the room count, will be treated to ice cream.

Dear Abby....

Here Are Rules Of A Wise Woman

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Years ago, when my widowed mother came to live with me and my husband, she made our lives so miserable that I determined that I would never bring such misery to my children if I ever had to live with them. One day I sat down and wrote myself a letter. In it were some pertinent rules, and on the outside of the envelope I wrote, "To be opened on the day I go to live with my daughter, heaven forbid." I tucked it away in an old book and forgot about it. I've been widowed and self-sufficient for six years, but now I was recently forced to give up my job and go to live with my oldest daughter. I've opened that letter and I think your older readers might benefit from it, as I intend to. Here they are:

1. Give what you can toward your keep. Any budget will stretch just so far.
2. Keep yourself clean and neat.
3. Remember, it is THEIR home. Be especially considerate of HIM. He allowed her to bring you here.
4. Give them privacy at every opportunity.
5. If they want to go away on a vacation, but are hesitant because of you, offer to visit another relative or friend so they will be free to go.
6. Don't offer any advice or express any opinions unless asked.
7. Volunteer information that they might be too embarrassed to ask for, such as arrangements for your burial, hospitalization, etc.

These rules were written over 20 years ago. I read them often and am determined to keep them.

Sincerely,
WIDOW X

DEAR ABBY: Whoever started that stupid rule of courtesy, stating that ladies should leave an elevator first? I am always annoyed with gentlemen who stand rooted to the floor of an elevator and refuse to get out ahead of women who are in the rear of the elevator, struggling to get out. If those stupid men would just step out of the elevator ahead of the women it would be so much simpler for everyone.

"ANNOYED"

DEAR ANNOYED: "Women and children first" is the rule when abandoning a stricken ship, but common sense should prevail when leaving an elevator.

CONFIDENTIAL TO BENNY: No, I am not a "nut" on the subject, but I still think that anyone who smokes is advertising the fact that he has money to burn.

Yes, Abby will send you a personal reply if you send her a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your problem.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Most of us still line our chest drawers as a protective measure. Drawers marked for jewelry, stockings, lingerie, sweaters and gloves can be lined with a softer, quilted vinyl plastic which cuts down on snagging. You can give it a regular cleaning, and it's necessary to replace the plastic each time you want to freshen the drawers.

New Books Cover Much Psychological Ground

United Press International — Westward Tilt, The American West Today, by Neil Morgan (Random House $6.95): This ambitious report on the new American West is as optimistic and expansive as the land it describes. A columnist for the San Diego Evening Tribune, the author combines exhaustive research with a sensitivity toward prevailing trends to produce a document of contemporary history which, according to writer Eugene Burdick, "has all of the fascination of a well-formed novel." A vast post-war migration of youth, energy and brainpower, Morgan contends, has put the West in the vanguard of American science, industry and education. He details those characteristics which give unity to the eleven states west of the Rocky Mountains — seething energy, eagerness to experiment, hunger for the arts, lack of prejudice — and freedom from tradition. The West has the highest population growth, more new industry, a higher concentration on research and science, a greater saturation of do-it-yourself gardeners, weekend painters and amateur symphony orchestras than any other area of comparable size. While disputing the view that the West is a "sunshine culture," Morgan says it suffers from the problems of adolescence. Its goals are undefined, its integrity unproven, and it lacks the social conscience and moral stability of the older, more traditional East.

Beyond Conflict, by Robert Lawrence Balzer (Bobbs-Merrill $6): Seven years ago Balzer, a California businessman who has also been a painter, pilot, amateur cook, professional wine-taster, foreign correspondent and photographer, was ordained a Buddhist monk at a temple in Camlodia. He had become interested in Buddhism while traveling in the Orient and Asia on a buying trip for a gourmet shop he used to operate in Hollywood. In this book he tells his years of searching "to find myself" and to achieve a rather sophisticated peace of mind through the study of Oriental philosophies. Now 50, Balzer, is engaged in establishing a retreat on his forest land in Riverside County, Calif., "where people can come and study and meditate in proper surroundings." Perhaps the most striking feature for the western reader is the discovery that Buddhism is a cheerful, lively philosophy or religion.

The Hired Killers, by Peter Wyden (Morrow $4.50): "Would you kill someone for money? Or would you hire someone to kill a third party for you?" These are the questions with which Wyden opens his book, an exploration of a chilly twilight world that left him personally not quite positive how he might answer if the chips were down — in the course of his quest Wyden talked with hired killers, with blameless relatives and friends, with attorneys and psychiatrists closely acquainted with their cases. The main thing he discovered was that the killers weren't really too different from him, or you, or me. "The killers-for-hire who roam among us are stains on the same civilization which could not prevent the slaughter of Jews in Europe — or of American Indians on our own prairies," Wyden writes. "They are unpeachable. But we must learn to speak of these humans and of the forces which shape them into so unpeachable a mold. For they are not merely with us. They are of us."

Britain and the United States, by Herbert Nicholas (Johns Hopkins University Press $5): The third volume in the series "Britain in the World Today." Nicholas of St. Anthony's College, Oxford University, traces the relationship between the United States and Britain from the year 1938, just before World War II, to the present time, but because it is based on a series of lectures Nicholas delivered at Johns Hopkins in 1961, most of the developments lead only up to that year and some of the most recent, such as Britain's exclusion from the European Common Market are not covered.

Broadway

NEW YORK (UPI) — After a smashing four-week engagement at the Metropolitan Opera House in New York, Britain's Royal Ballet is now loose in the land for seven weeks of touring and, as usual, it is recommended entertainment.

The incomparable Dame Margot Fonteyn seems never to have been in better form, and this time there is the added attraction of that controversial Russian, Rudolf Nureyev.

Nureyev, who left a Soviet ballet company in Paris some 18 months ago and defected to the West, has been hailed by some balletomanes as the greatest male dancer since the fabled Nijinsky.

Some think he is a little too individualistic, overly mannered. But he is exciting, and he's shown his dancing feats I've never seen duplicated by the best over a long period of years, which includes his former Russian colleagues.

And one important thing is certain — he and Fonteyn form just as perfect a dancing partnership as anyone could wish. There are a number of otherwise fine male dancers who actually leave something to be desired when it comes to partnering a ballerina.

Try to catch them when they come your way in "Giselle," "The Sleeping Beauty" or "Swan Lake." Of course, they don't appear in every performance of these and the other ballets, so you'll have to pay close attention to the announcements.

But it is the usual impeccably trained company in any event, and there are many fine leading dancers in the troupe. You won't go wrong with any of them.

Fonteyn and Nureyev also will be available in a new work called "Margarite and Armand," which is Sir Frederick Ashton's dance version of the familiar "Camille" story. It has a certain curiosity value, being new, although it is less than satisfactory as a showcase for the virtuosity of the two principals, who are called upon to do what seems like more miming than dancing. However, it is a most beautiful production, thanks to designer Cecil Beaton.

Stravinsky Disciple Goes Back to '20's

NEW YORK (UPI) — That veteran Stravinsky disciple among conductors, Ernest Ansermet, goes far back into both his own and the composer's musical development in his newest Stravinsky recording.

It is played by Ansermet's "L'Orchestre de la Suisse Romande" and is made up of the four études for orchestra and the first and second suites for small orchestra which all stem from the Stravinsky of the second decade of this century who was groping his artistic way.

Since that way turned out to be perpetually experimental, it may sound odd to describe these early pieces — as experimental, — but that they are in the truest sense because the Stravinsky experimentation was a desire to find out things by trying rather than a way of life.

All the pieces involved were composed originally for forces other than orchestra. Three of the études were created for string quartet, the pieces for small orchestra were first piano pieces and one was intended for the piano. Some were dedicated to Ansermet.

Stravinsky orchestrated them with all his mastery of the orchestral tool — and his then abhorring passion for keeping it under tight restraint. You don't hear this phase of the enormous Stravinsky output very often, and it is well worth hearing, especially with Ansermet conducting from his rich knowledge of the composer (London-8325.)

Another recording effort to do full reproductive justice to the greatest of living composers is of his opera-oratorio "Oedipus Rex" by a cast of English singers and the Royal Philharmonic, Colin Davis conducting (Angel 15778.)

It is too operatic to be an oratorio and much too stationary to be an opera, especially when the Sophocles tragedy was rewritten into French (by Jean Cocteau) and then translated into Latin so the words could have no meaning to any modern audience. But as photographic fare it has so much power it could have been composed for that reproductive medium which provides nothing visual and only sound. You are enabled to be comfortable with Stravinsky's abstractions and to project your imagination against them without being bothered either by self-consciousness or the preciousness of the whole concept.

Palo Duro Park Offers Much to See

With vacation time just around the corner, what better way to spend a part of it than exploring Palo Duro Canyon State Park, 35 miles southeast of Amarillo.

Interesting sight-seeing is provided for the park visitor through the unique natural phenomena such as the "lighthouse," a 270-foot sandstone formation that actually looks like a coastal lighthouse, and the "Spanish Skirts," a reddish exposure of the Permian Formation which is spread out over the side of Rustler's Draw and looks like the twirling skirts of a Spanish dancer. Both formations are said to have been named by the explorer Coronado when he visited the canyon in 1541.

To add to the visitor's appreciation, the park has a ski-lift that takes the rider on a breath-taking ride high above the canyon floor to the rimrock cliff walls more than 300 feet up.

A miniature train ride with lectures carries visitors into one of the park's side canyons, bringing to view formations that would otherwise be hard to see.

Visitors may rent horses to explore the more inaccessible portions of the park. Many miles of cliff-side trails hold in store endless breathtaking views of the canyon. Colors in the canyon change with every new position of the sun. There usually is a gentle breeze blowing through the park.

Palo Duro Canyon State Park is comprised of more than 15,000 acres. The width of the canyon is about six miles at the southeastern boundary of Palo Duro Canyon State Park. The canyon walls are more than 700 feet high.

This is truly one of the geological wonders in the state of Texas. Visitors to the park are increasing each year, more than 160,000 having registered in 1962.

LIGHTHOUSE ROCK — Sculptured by wind and water, this natural stone tower keeps its vigil near Palo Duro Canyon State Park, 35 miles southeast of Amarillo. Palo Duro Canyon cuts a spectacular 120-mile gash through the Texas Panhandle. Six miles wide and more than 700 feet deep, the canyon is considered one of the truly geological wonders of the State.

Livestock Survey Cards to Be Sent To Rural Patrons

Postmaster O. K. Gaylor has issued a reminder to rural patrons of the Pampa Post Office to be on the lookout for June Livestock Survey cards. Next week, mail carriers will leave survey cards in a sample of boxes along their routes.

"USDA bases livestock and poultry estimates on replies to this survey," Gaylor explained. "It is important for everyone who gets a card to fill it out and return it to the carrier. This way, USDA gets a representative sample of the area's livestock and poultry holdings."

Carriers assisting with the survey are: T. E. Beas, Route 1; C. W. Coffin, Route 2; Coleman Huffman, Star Route 3; D. E. Bradford, Star Route 4; Mrs. V. T. Alexander, Star Route 2.

Survey cards will be forwarded to Cary D. Palmer, State Agricultural Statistician in Austin. After adding and analyzing these cards, USDA statisticians are able to estimate the State's milk production, calf and pig crops, lamb and wool crops, and the number of hens and pullets.

"Information from this survey will guide livestock and poultry producers in making important business decisions," Gaylor concluded.

URGES PIE STANDARDS — WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., said Thursday his drive to get more cherries in frozen cherry pies was gaining momentum.

He told a news conference the Food & Drug Administration (FDA) is investigating the possibility of setting standards on the number of cherries to be contained in the pies. Malcolm R. Stephens, chief of FDA's Bureau of Enforcement, said his field men are checking on the senator's complaint that misleading pictures sometimes appear on frozen cherry pie packages.

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
Notes from the foreign news cables:

De Gaulle Dilemma:

A rapidly rising cost of living is threatening France's booming economy and President Charles DeGaulle is looking for ways to batten down the lid. One problem is to get upper income Frenchmen to pay their taxes. Another is general dissatisfaction among workers in the nationalized gas, electricity, railroad and transport industries who complain their wages are lagging behind those paid by private industry. DeGaulle's aim has been to hold wage increases to four per cent. But French coal miners broke through the ceiling early in April with pay raises of 6.5 per cent. Increases in private industry are running closer to 10 per cent.

Atoms for France:

One field in which DeGaulle is not counting the cost is the atomic. One of the keystone's of France's independent nuclear striking force is DeGaulle's nuclear submarine project. He is anxious to get the maximum prestige for this program and is said to be putting on pressure to have it completed before the current scheduled date of 1969. Costs are expected to soar far beyond current estimates.

Election Trends, German:

West Germany's Christian Democrats, the party of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, are counting heavily on the May 15 elections in Lower Saxony to reverse losses suffered in other recent provincial elections. Their hopes are based on Economics Minister and Chancellor-designate Ludwig Erhard's success in mediating West Germany's worst post-war labor-management dispute. In the last state elections in Lower Saxony, in 1959, the Christian Democrats won 51 seats against 65 for the Socialists. They are not looking for any landslide victory in this predominantly Socialist state but do hope for impressive gains.

Raid:

Japanese industrialists have joined their British opposite numbers in complaining about technical talent being hired away by U.S. companies. Japanese scientists and technicians are not leaving home, simply going to work for the Japanese branches of U.S. firms.

Three Die in 49 Area Crashes Since January

The Highway Patrol investigated 17 rural accidents in Gray County during April according to Sergeant J. W. Wilson, patrol supervisor for the Pampa area.

The wrecks accounted for ten persons injured and $14,048 property damage.

The rural accident summary for Gray County from January through April shows a total of 49 crashes resulting in three persons killed, 28 persons injured and an estimated property damage of $56,333.

estimates property damage of $56,333.

If you travel the rural roads this month, you will meet up with lots of slow moving farm machinery. The patrol supervisor reminds motorists to be ready to slow down in plenty of time to avoid collision. Sergeant Wilson also stated, "Owners of boat trailers should check to see that they meet the State's Motor Vehicle laws. If they do not they are asking for an arrest or an accident or both."
