Pampans Plan Turnout For Armed Forces Day

Maj. Edward L. Miller of the Amarillo Air Force Base will be the principal speaker at Pampa's Armed Forces Day luncheon at 12:15 noon tomorrow in Coronado Inn.

The luncheon will climax the city's Armed Forces Day observance which will begin at 9 a.m. with flag-raising ceremonies on the City Hall lawn.

A concert is scheduled at 11 a.m. in the W. Kingsmill block between City Hall and the Gray County Court House.

There will also be a display of three of armed forces equipment used by Pampa reserve units.

Dr. Joe R. Donaldson, president of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, will preside at the noonday luncheon. A color guard will advance the flags and the pledge of allegiance will be led by Donald Beard, commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Invocation will be given by the Rev. John C. Dyer, pastor of the Hobart St. Baptist Church.

"The Star Spangled Banner" will be sung by Hubert Carson, music director of First Methodist Church, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Carson.

Officials greetings will be given by Mayor H. R. Thompson and

M. K. Brown, followed by recognition of special groups and visitors.

Following Major Miller's address, the meeting will be closed by retirement of the colors.

Major Miller began his military service in 1942 and served as a navigator for the Air Force. His squadron took part in the invasions of Iwo Jima and Okinawa. He is presently assigned as Base Procurement Officer at the Amarillo AFB.

Haitian Police Step up Hunt for Terrorist Leader

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (UPI)—Haitian police stepped up their efforts today to track down fugitive terrorist leader Clement Barbot, suspected of directing the latest bombings against Francois Duvalier's government.

Four blasts went off early Thursday morning in the vicinity of the Paraguy school in Port Au Prince.

Scattered pistol shots accompanied by shouts and the sounds of speeding cars followed the explosion.

Police cordoned off the school and it was not possible to determine the extent of damage or whether any of the peasants and militiamen temporarily housed there were injured.

Six persons were killed and several injured Tuesday night when the school was bombed along with three others.

All Haitian schools are in recess this month as part of the celebrations of "national gratitude" to Duvalier for continuing as president past the end of his legal term May 15.

The capital was completely tranquil during the daylight hours and Duvalier seemed to be in firm control of the nation despite the continued terrorism and international pressures against him.

(In Washington, the U.S. State Department summoned American Ambassador Raymond Thurston home from Port Au Prince today for consultations.)

New Government Eases Tension In Birmingham

By United Press International

The racial situation in Birmingham, Ala., took on a more relaxed air today with the advent of a new city government, but Greensboro, N.C., and Jackson, Miss., continued as sorepoints.

Mayor Albert Boutwell and a nine-man city council Thursday assumed control of governmental operations in Birmingham, replacing a hard-core segregationist board of three commissioners. Each group had claimed to be the legal government of Birmingham following a change of government election in April.

The Alabama Supreme Court Thursday ousted the commissioners who had refused to relinquish office because of an apparent conflict in election laws. The new city council immediately called upon Birmingham citizens for support and pledged to maintain order and work for solutions to Birmingham's racial problems.

Boutwell said the new government's attitude "will be sympathetic to harmonious solution to all problems." Negro leader Martin Luther King Jr. said he was encouraged by Boutwell's statement and a top King aide, the Rev. F. L. Shuttlesworth, said Negroes flock to the Boutwell aid.

Habeas Writ To Be Sought For Attorney

DALLAS (UPI)—Lawyers for attorney James P. Donovan said today they will ask the Texas Supreme Court in Austin again for a writ of habeas corpus to free Donovan from a 26-day jail sentence imposed for contempt of court.

William F. Billings, one of Donovan's lawyers, said just when they go before the high court depends on when a transcript of the contempt proceedings is ready.

The court Thursday rejected a similar petition Billings said at the time that he felt the rejection was because they did not have a transcript of the proceedings to back up their claims.

Justice Department Asks for Injunction Against Gov. Wallace

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Justice Department today asked the U. S. district court in Birmingham, Ala., to issue an injunction preventing Gov. George Wallace from interfering with the enrollment of qualified Negroes at the University of Alabama.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said the complaint was filed to get an immediate court test of Wallace's announced position of legal resistance and legal defiance of federal court orders.

Shortly after Grooms ordered the two Negroes admitted, Wallace publicly stated he would be present to bar the entrance of any Negro attempting to enroll in the university. He said this would test his "constitutional standing" as governor and as "direct representative" of the people of Alabama.

"Gov. Wallace recently filed an action in the Supreme Court of the United States to test the legality of the President's authority to send troops to Alabama during the recent disturbances in Birmingham," the attorney general noted.

Wallace said he personally will bar enrollment of Negroes Vivian J. Malone and David M. McGlathery to the university.

The complaint was filed in the same court where Judge H. Hobart Grooms on Tuesday ordered Miss Malone and McGlathery admitted to the university under a 1949 court order.

Judge Seabourn H. Lynne set hearing for 10 a.m., June 3, to show cause why the order should not be issued.

U. N. Progress Slow On Financial Crisis

Committee Okays Cotton Subsidy Without Wheat

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House Agriculture Committee today approved a multi-million dollar subsidy program for the cotton industry after rejecting two Republican attempts, to tie it in with wheat legislation.

The committee—on an almost straight party line vote—approved cotton legislation 19-15 after five months of bickering and numerous attempts to bring together the warring factions within the cotton industry.

Two Republican attempts to attach a wheat bill to the cotton program were ruled out of order and the decision was upheld on a 284 vote.

Chairman Harold D. Cooley, D-N. C., said the first week in June he will bring the measure to the floor where it faces a stiff fight.

Cooley said he hoped to pick up some Republican votes from the textile areas.

But Rep. Albert H. Quie, R-Minn., said "I don't see how it can even get through the House in this form." He added there will be virtually solid opposition to the program from the GOP.

It was also understood that there was some dissatisfaction among committee Democrats with the planting provisions and that there might be a floor fight to provide more acreage for western growers.

Wheat Hearings Due
Cooley said he would schedule hearings on the controversial issue of proposed new wheat legislation soon. He said he still thinks there is virtually no chance that Congress will pass any new wheat legislation.

The cotton program as approved by the committee contained these provisions:

1. A two-stage domestic subsidy. The Agriculture Department will set the rate of the subsidy

Soviet 'No Pay' Plan Makes Situation Grave

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UPI)—The United Nations, confronted with its gravest crisis since the Korean War or Russia's 1960 drive for a "troika" administration, made slow progress today toward solving its financial crisis.

It was U.S. ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson who told the Latin American countries in a private meeting Thursday that Russia's sweeping extension of its "no pay" policy to include other budgetary items confronted the world organization with one of its gravest situations.

Stevenson appealed for the same unity that created the U.N. Command in Korea and that overwhelmingly defeated the Soviet attempt to put in a hamstringing "troika" administration—so dubbed after the famed three-horse Russian sleigh teams.

The Latins listened to Stevenson—as the 56-nation Afro-Asian group listened to Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko the day before—but there was little indication that either group was won over.

Consultations on a financial formula continued as the General Assembly's Budgetary Committee went back into session after a one-day lay-off, with China the only listed speaker.

Aggravates Crisis
Fedorenko aggravated the financial crisis at the committee's last previous meeting on Wednesday after he announced that, in addition to refusing to pay a single kopeck for U.N. peace-keeping operations in the Congo and the Middle East, Russia would withhold payment on other budgetary items. These included interest and retirement payments on the $137 million U.N. emergency bond issue, the world organization's activities in Korea and Palestine, the U.N. Field Service, and contributions on the technical assistance program except in Red rubles to pay only for Soviet technicians and materials used in the development schemes.

Connally Bristles In $2.3-Million 'Poker Game'

AUSTIN (UPI)—Gov. John Connally and legislative leaders played a $2.3 million poker game today on the last day of the 58th Legislature. Unless one side gives in, lawmakers face a special session to work out a biennium spending bill.

Connally balked Tuesday when the House-Senate conference committee laid out its $3.14 billion appropriations bill. It designated $13 million less than the governor wants for higher education.

Connally reportedly threatened to veto the appropriations bill to run state government through August, 1955, unless conferees gave in to his demands.

This set off a flurry of conferences between the 10-man House-Senate committee, Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, Speaker Byron Tunnell and Connally.

Tension Mounts
Tension mounted as the mid-night final adjournment deadline tonight drew nearer. Smith and Tunnell were seen frequently scurrying from the Senate and House chambers to meetings with the

Pope's Condition Has 'Improved'

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—The Vatican press office today reported a "marked improvement" in the condition of Pope John XXIII as he began a nine-day retreat of rest and prayer.

Vatican sources said the pontiff spent a "quiet night" and was reported feeling "rather well" this morning.

However, it was believed likely that the Pope's illness may cause some delays in preparations for the second session of the Ecumenical Council, scheduled to resume Sept. 8. Sources said the full rest ordered for the 81-year-old man by his doctors is bound to hold up preparations.

The Pope has been receiving blood transfusions for internal bleeding.

There was neither confirmation nor denial from the Vatican of frequently published reports that the bleeding was caused by cancer of the stomach.

Vatican sources said the Pope would spend his retreat in his apartment, because there is space there for his doctors and special medical equipment already installed. There also is an operating room nearby.

Castro Brings Big Diplomatic Victory

MOSCOW (UPI)—Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev today appeared to have won a diplomatic victory over Communist China by gaining Cuban Premier Fidel Castro's public endorsement of the Soviet position in the ideological dispute with Peking.

In return, Castro got a new pledge from Khrushchev that "an attack on Cuba would be considered an attack against the Soviet Union." Western diplomats said he apparently got more during his four week stay in the U.S.S.R. They believe Khrushchev promised new economic and possibly military aid.

Exchange Pledges
The public pledges were exchanged Wednesday at a mammoth farewell rally for Castro at Lenin Stadium. Today, the two leaders were believed planning to head for the Black Sea for a rest before Castro's flight back to Cuba, expected early next week.

Castro's support was all the more significant because China used the Cuban crisis of last October to ridicule Khrushchev's policies of peaceful coexistence and demand a more militant stand against the West.

The Russians, Peking charged, are "as timid as mice" before the American "paper tiger."

Castro did not refer specifically to the Soviet missile pullout in his speech. But he lavishly praised the Russians for their willingness to risk nuclear war and imperil the achievements of the Russian revolution for the sake of tiny Cuba.

Refutes Peking Charges
This was a direct refutation of what Peking charges. It says Russia has abandoned its revolutionary radicalism now that it has some of the comforts of an established society. According to Peking, this means the undeveloped nations seeking revolution and guidance must turn to China. Thus Castro's pledge is likely to have important repercussions among the Communist parties in the poorer Latin American countries. Peking has been trying to woo these parties, but they can be expected to follow the line of Castro, the one Communist in power in the hemisphere.

Nation's Fruit Crop Threatened; Showers for Rain-Hungry Texas

By United Press International

A crippling cold snap shattered low temperature records across the northeastern portion of the nation today and threatened to wipe out millions of dollars worth of tender fruit and vegetable crops.

State police said farmers at Erie, Pa., were "burning everything they could get their hands on" in a frantic effort to ward off damage to lush groves of grapes, peaches, apples and cherries.

The president of one of the four largest wineries in central New York said the skidding temperatures may wipe out the $10 million grape crop.

Temperatures tumbled to 26 degrees at Olean, 27 at Elmira, 28 at Utica and 29 at Poughkeepsie, all in New York.

Albany Reports 31
New York City set an all-time low record for the date with a 39-degree reading. Albany, N. Y., marked a 31-degree reading, breaking the previous low of 35. The mercury fell to 30 degrees at Pittsburgh, breaking the record for the date by two degrees. Some areas in Pennsylvania recorded 26-degree readings.

Commercial tomato growers in Ohio's Miami Valley, a $200,000 toll of this year's crop already taken by skidding temperatures, looked for more losses today. The story was the same in corn fields and home gardens across the upper Midwest and Ohio Valley.

Although the price of sugar in Pampa has climbed nearly seven cents a pound to 13.5 cents, nearly as high as in the city of Dallas, there seems to be no hoarding here as compared to most of the rest of the nation, according to Pampa's three major grocery chains.

The price per 10-pound bag, which was 98 cents two weeks ago, is currently $1.55 at the three major chain stores here.

According to the largest independent grocery here, all independents and smaller chains have followed suit, with the price now 79 cents per five-pound bag and $1.55 for 10 pounds.

They also report that the price of brown, powdered and other sugars has risen, but very slightly in comparison. The large independent said brown and powdered sugar is now 19c a pound, a person.

Some grocers predicted the increases would mean the end of the five-cent candy bar, and threatened to affect the prices of beverages, canned goods and many other items.

But the Agriculture Department assured housewives there is plenty of sugar "either in hand or in sight" to meet national needs.

Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., of the House Banking Committee said late Thursday he had ordered a subcommittee on consumer affairs to begin hearings on the price increases early next month.

The price increases involved a complicated world sugar situation. Trade sources said the loss of Cuba to the free world was a major factor, added to crop failure last year in many countries.

Sen. Barry Goldwater's strategists could do worse than to book their man into Deep Dixie to give Southern voters a chance to sound off their political sentiments. This would be a good idea because President Kennedy is just back from a Southern swing. Kennedy took a big chance in booking himself for personal appearances in an area where Democrats are reported in rebellion against the administration. But Kennedy got away with it in fine style. A disturbing thought could be upsetting Republicans just now—a suspicion that they have over-estimated the Southern hate-Kennedy movement. Kennedy packed his charm and his presidential prestige for his journey into Deep Dixie. They were his safe conduct along with one or two other amulets.

of New York and Pennsylvania and others to Kennedy. They make a pretty good mathematical argument that Goldwater could lick Kennedy that way. That is a valid stipulation to be considered in any estimate of the political import of Kennedy's journey. But it does not apply to Kennedy's appearance in Nashville where 100,000 cheering citizens lined the curbs. His Vanderbilt University speech was well received despite the fact that he talked race relations to citizens whose city just had emerged from a period of shocking street violence. Needs Dixie Votes Enthusiasm for Goldwater is enormous in the Republican party and it appears to be increasing. But even the most enthusiastic make no claims that their man could carry such big fat states as New York and Pennsylvania. The Goldwater strategy would be to raid the South for enough electoral votes to offset the loss conferes. They then would hurry into Connally's office with new offers.

Conferees Thursday came up with $4.4 million more they agreed to add to the higher education fund, but Connally rejected that. His "rock-bottom" compromise figure then was put at $6.75 million.

Thus, some $2.3 million stood between Connally and the conferees, and the possibility grew for a veto and a special session to write a new spending proposal.

The governor called a press conference Thursday to explain his side of the controversy. He said the cuts in higher education "short-changed the people where they can least afford it."

But the governor would not commit himself on the veto question. He said any answer to the question "would be premature and inadvisable."

Ethics — Unless today's adjournment is postponed, the attempt to pass a bill tightening what-out-of-the-legislature work lawmakers can do has failed for the session, stalled by the Senate.

Stalled — A bill to tighten theft laws against slanted oil well violations has died, if House and Senate hold to today's adjournment. The House passed it but it was bottled up in Senate committee.

Odessa — Unless the session is extended past midnight tonight, the Odessa College four-year state support bill is dead, killed by failure of the Senate to take it up.

Notes From Wall Street

NEW YORK (UPI) — The real danger in the current stock market is the obvious increase in the degree of speculation, says Sylvan Epstein of Reuben Rose Co., Inc.

Epstein says that "one has only to look at the tape to become aware of the amount of activity in low-priced, low-quality stocks that nobody dreamed of trading three months ago."

He says he is not referring to speculative stocks, "per se," but rather to that category which shows volume on the tape for no apparent reason only to disappear from the tape and be replaced by another category.

"This type of action is generally indicative of an overbought market condition and is usually followed by a reactionary phase," he adds.

Jerome H. Goldberg of Ira Haupt & Co. says the only surprising part of this market is the consistency of the pattern that is following. Presently, the greatest amount of interest is evidently centered on the better quality secondary stocks which have not as yet fully participated in the advance.

"Such action is expected to continue during the next few weeks," Goldberg says.

Connally Says He Will Veto Money For Screwworms

AUSTIN (UPI) — Gov. John Connally said today he would line-item veto a $300,000 appropriations for screwworm eradication taken from game and fish funds if the provision is in the appropriations bill when it reaches his desk.

The conference committee appropriations bill as reported out last Tuesday set aside $2.8 million to wind up the screwworm eradication program. But $300,000 of the funds were taken out of game and fish funds.

Rep. James Cotten of Weatherford, a leading save-money legislator, had asked for the veto in a letter to Connally. Cotten sponsored a bill already signed by the governor that merges the Game and Fish Commission and the Texas Parks Board.

Cotten said the screwworm money coming out of the game and fish funds is a bad-faith appropriation.

"Use of the game and fish funds raised a furor among sportsmen over the state.

Connally pointed out that he made it clear when he asked the legislature to merge the Parks Board and Game and Fish Commission that no game and fish funds would be used for parks.

Dear Abby... Sixteen Years Is Big Gap, Guy

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am very much in love with a lovely, adorable girl who is 16 years younger than I am. (This could be the problem.) This charming lady says she loves me, but her mother would never approve of our marriage because of the age difference. She is devoted to her family and would never marry against their wishes. I waited ten years after my last marriage before considering marrying again, and believe I have found the girl. I am 38 and she is 22. I insist on an open courtship, but she refuses to be seen with me. Is age that important? Do you think she loves me, or is she just being kind to an "old man"? How can I win her?

STILL TRYING
DEAR STILL: You can't. And if you're wise, you'll quit trying.

DEAR ABBY: When people drop in unexpectedly late in the afternoon, are invited to stay for dinner but refuse (saying they have another appointment) and yet continue to visit well past dinner preparation time, is it possible to start preparing dinner? This has happened several times. Yesterday the company left two hours after our usual dinner time.

MRS. C: If you permit uninvited guests to delay your dinner two hours, you are asking for the inconvenience they have caused you. What's wrong with

What Were They Thinking Of?

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
NEW YORK (UPI) — Here's help for the bridegrooms-of tomorrow who wonder what thoughts will zig and zag through the cranium when they utter "I do."
For what's likely to capture their thoughts during that moment when bachelorhood is abandoned, United Press International asked bridegrooms of yesteryear two questions:
— How long have you been married?
— What is your best recollection of what went through your mind when you said "I do"?

Those surveyed have been married from two to 41 years. An analysis of the questionnaires shows that initial excitement dims around the tenth year of married life.
The original glow goes but isn't forgotten. It tends to reappear after the silver wedding anniversary, growing more mellow with each subsequent year.
Some participants in the survey didn't wear wedding bands. It was necessary to ask, "are you married?" Their comments, as they spurned the questionnaire, included:
— "No. But my wife..."
— "I wish I wasn't."
Typical recollections of the bridegrooms:
— "Oh, heck, I kept thinking. How am I going to get the cat out from under my feet." He said "I do" at a home wedding where even pets were invited.
— "It'll be for a long, long time," recalled a husband of 22 years.
— "I don't think I had a chance to say 'I do' loud enough for even me to hear it. She had the last and loudest word then — and still has."
— "I kept wondering if I'd get a ticket," said the bridegroom of 20 years. "I was double parked."
— "There, I did it and I'm glad," responded a man married two years.
— "What am I letting myself in for?" answered another.
— "I thought of nothing at all."

said a husband of 15 years. "I didn't have snow tires." Some of the bridegrooms just felt trapped, putting it this way: "Well, old boy, you can't get out of it now. You just said 'I do' and a promise is a promise."
Several admitted the mind went blank. These men have absolutely no recollection of even saying the two words.
Others wondered about the possibility of making a mistake, saying at ceremony's end: "Oh, well, now it's too late."
One bridegroom said he never said "I do." The ceremony was in French. He didn't speak a word of French, his bride's native language.
"I simply nodded," he recalled.

"and I remember that I was pretty groggy that day."
Other comments:
"I sure could use a drink here!" "How in the world did I get into this!"
The most sentimental recollection came from a man married 41 years. He said:
"As I said 'I do,' I remember thinking — thank God I got what I wanted. Now I'm happy."
And what do women think when they say "I do"? A husband of 15 years guessed it this way:
"All women remember is the sound of a steel trap slamming shut," he said. "Clink. That did it."

Fountain Of Youth Can Be Found In Daily Care

By PATRICIA MC CORMACK
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — Poor Ponce de Leon never found the fountain of youth so the aging complexion's a fact to be faced.
But you can do something about keeping your skin from growing old ahead of time. Use common sense.
Don't let sun or wind broil or beat it into leathery folds; keep the general state of your health at its best; avoid miracle mixes guaranteed to restore youth's bloom to a saggy, baggy, wrinkled complexion — unless you still believe in Santa Claus.

The points about good skin care were made during an interview with Dr. Robert R. Kierland, the head of the dermatology section at Mayo Clinic and president of the American Academy of Dermatology.
What irritates the dermatologist most: Women who tell him they take a bath a day, wash their hair every two weeks and NEVER let soap touch the face.

"This doesn't make sense," he said. "If the body can stand that much cleansing, so can the hair and face."
Dr. Kierland said good skin care doesn't call for a bath a day. As the skin grows older and less oily, for example, a bath a day can make it dry out faster, giving you "winter itch."
"As you grow older," the dermatologist said, "your skin loses elasticity. You can't do anything about it, really."

If his expression is an indication, he's thinking: "What a fouled up place this world is. Imagine sewer pipe not big enough to crawl through. Mayor, Commissioner Lose Office in Birmingham Fight

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)—Staunch segregationists Mayor Art Hanes and Police Commissioner Eugene (Bull) Connor lost their court battle to remain in office Thursday.

Hanes, who had joined Connor in directing police and firemen during more than a month of civil rights demonstrations here, quickly cleaned out his desk and turned over his office to Albert Boutwell, considered more moderate on segregation.

The Alabama Supreme Court ruled in Montgomery that Boutwell and nine new city councilmen elected when Birmingham changed its form of government last November were entitled to take office at once.

Hanes, Connor and Public Works Commissioner J. T. Waggoner—who had run the city as a three-member commission—had appealed lower court rulings saying they must vacate office.

Birmingham, Alabama's largest city, has been saddled with two governments since April 2.

NEW YORK (UPI) — When builders ask the ladies what they think is the biggest advantage for them in moving into a new home, the most frequent answer is: the pleasure of being able to work in a sparkling, modern kitchen.

Margaret Spader, home service consultant for the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association, says proof of this can be found in the ready sale of homes equipped with new built-in, slide-in or free-standing gas ranges that lend themselves to more efficient kitchen layout, are easier to clean, and boost the kinds of automation that are missing in older cooking equipment.

Musical Tents Replacing Old 'Medicine Shows'

By JACK GAVER
UPI Drama Editor
NEW YORK (UPI) — "Tent Show" (in the non-circus sense) is a term as old as show business itself in America.

It has meant the medicine man with the snake oil ointment, the toady players, the hoochie-koochie dancer, the seediest of dramatic repertory, the smallest of the small time.

But not any more.

Want to buy a stock? You could do worse than look into the over-the-counter offering of Music Fair Enterprises, Inc.

That's the tent show business of today—the musical tents—one of the major arms of the live theater—a medium that the biggest stars willingly embrace because the money is bulky.

"We operate six tents," said Frank Ford, one of the triumvirate running Music Fair Enterprises. "We will total 93 weeks of playing time this summer. The average weekly operating cost will be $25,000. That comes to a total of $2,325,000 paid to actors, writers, directors, dancers, singers and so on in something like four months. We will employ some 4,000 persons."

And Ford, Lee Guber and Shelley Gross, while they have the largest single operation in the field, have only six of 25 musical tents across the land. Not all as big as well but you can see that this is a theatrical phase that can't be ignored.

This is just the spot, too, to give a nod to the father of it all—handsome St. John Terrell, who set up the first tent in 1948 on a hilltop in Lambertville, N.J. and immediately struck gold.

So, this is the 15th anniversary of the tents, which Terrell, who sometimes does a sideshow fire-eating act for his customers, will observe in appropriate fashion when he opens for business June 1 by introducing on his grounds a genuine carousel and a ferris wheel. They'll be there every season.

Appropriately enough, the first attraction at Lambertville will be the memorable Rodgers - Hammerstein "Carousel."

But back to Music Fair Enterprises, which opens its season Monday (27th) at its Valley Forge, Pa., tent with "The Unsinkable Molly Brown," starring Dorothy Collins.

The Westbury N.Y., tent on Long Island opens May 31 with the non-musical "Mr. Roberts", starring Hugh O'Brian of Wyatt Earp fame on television. Camden County, N.J., and the Painters Mill tent near Washington, D.C., open June 3 with "Carnival" and "Can-Can," respectively. The latter has opera star Patrice Munsel and Robert Alda.

Baltimore's suburban Shady Grove tent opens June 7 with "Showboat," starring Keely Smith and Andy Devine, and the West Springfield, Mass., branch starts business June 10 with "Carnival."

"We will put together 12 productions in all," Ford said, "and tents for one or two-week engagements."

"Others will be 'Top Banana' with Milton Berle, 'Call Me Madam' with Martha Raye, 'Oklahoma,' 'Silk Stockings,' 'Wonderful Town,' 'The King and I' with Jane Morgan and 'Irma La Douce' with Juliet Prowse.

"There are some mighty big names involved, but the musical tents do not have much trouble in getting the stars. The top people work on a guarantee — and percentage deal, and they can walk away from a summer of such work with a real bundle. A percentage deal on a popular show will give a star much more a week than he could get on Broadway."

The top people work on a guarantee — and percentage deal, and they can walk away from a summer of such work with a real bundle. A percentage deal on a popular show will give a star much more a week than he could get on Broadway."

Well, what does that leave us with? It leaves us still with the possibility of a good drama and not "progress," which would be inherent anyway in any creditable work. Alas, we not only have the usual soapy "Nurses" histrionics and the above-mentioned one-side argument, but we are lectured, instructed.

The mother doesn't want her deformed child, though of course we know she eventually will—and she does. But we are mainly instructed on how to treat the people involved. Next week, says CBS, the show will tell about "the need for identification and treatment" of V.D. carriers. Well, all right again. Let us frankly label all this. What we are getting is low-level, diluted instructional press releases, which may do honor to anti-thalidomide and anti-V.D. publicity, but is not likely to open new vistas or break fertile ground in television drama.

It is clinical, not lyrical. It is Upton Sinclair, not William Faulkner; lectures, not art. But Sinclair could be powerful. "The Nurse" tastes like cut gin, smells like perfumed fish.

The Channel Swim: Jackie Gleason's CBS-TV show Saturday has everyone from his writers to the stage manager doing acts in a "gaeties" type format. Chet Huntley replaces Walter Cronkite as the Washington emcee on Sunday night's Emmy Awards program on NBC-TV.

Also on Sunday, James Meredith, Negro student at the University of Mississippi, guests on NBC-TV's "Meet the Press."

A copy of NBC-TV's four-part "Catholic Hour" program on the history of the Catholic Church, the last chapter of which airs this Sunday, was presented to a representative of Pope John. Same network's "David Brinkley's Journal" interviews Newton Minow, retiring chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, Monday; subject — television.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — One of the most slippery ways to get out of telling the truth about a bad play that is "on the side of progress" is to say that it may not be perfect but opens new vistas and breaks fertile ground. You can also throw in something about good intentions.

I bring this up in connection with Thursday night's episode of CBS-TV's "The Nurses," which dealt with an expectant mother who had unknowingly taken thalidomide pills, and which proved again that "progress" is much easier to ally oneself with than talent.

Specifically, I bring this up because "The Nurses," presumably to increase its stature—like "The Defenders," which has the same producer — is going in hot and heavy for this sort of stuff now. Next Thursday, for instance, its subject is venereal disease.

Well, all right. Vistas are meant to be opened and fertile ground to be broken. But somehow, "The Nurses" strikes me as being in the same league as Lord Home's remark that he had often made speeches and said nothing. And here's why:

A while back, "The Defenders" had a play about abortion. And though it was a bad play, aimed specifically at propagandizing, it did, in a way, open a vista because it had a point-of-view—and dealt with a subject that has two sides. As for the "Nurses" themes, however, I don't know anybody who is in favor of deformed children or venereal disease.

Astronauts Think Another Mercury Would Help Them

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Three of the nation's astronauts told a group of congressmen today that another Mercury manned space shot would help iron out difficulties which plagued L. Gordon Cooper during the last stages of his 22.9-orbit flight.

The members of the U. S. space team gave their views at a closed and "informal" session of the House subcommittee on manned space flight.

Chairman Olin Teague, D-Tex., said after the meeting that Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard, Maj. Donald Slayton and Capt. James McDevitt agreed that much could be gained from another Mercury shot.

Teague said they indicated, however, that a final determination should not be made until all data is evaluated from Cooper's flight.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration had planned to conclude the Mercury program with Cooper's flight. This would mean there would not be another American in space for about 18 months when the Gemini two-man space capsule program begins.

The vast majority of 3,500 or more species of roaches lives out-of-doors apart from man.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Gil Hodges was additional proof today of the baseball conviction that the "only" substitute for lack of players is a new manager.

There are very few instances of where the manager of a last-place club ever struck enough homers or pitched enough low hit games to win a pennant. None at all, to be exact.

Yet the managerial manipulation game is one of the most frenzied horse-changing scenes in sports.

Walter Alston of the Los Angeles Dodgers is the man with the most one-club tenure in the major leagues today; this being his 10th season. Which explains, probably, why he requires a vote of confidence from the front office every time the Dodgers lose a game. Under the scheme of things he already long has overstayed his welcome.

Figures Tell Story

In support of the fire-the-manager-when-you-fall-back theory, all you have to do is look at the figures.

In the 10 years in which Alston has been at the Dodger helm there have been a total of 66 managerial turnovers in the major leagues, 36 in the American and 30 in the National.

You could run that to 78 if you took into account the meanderings of the Chicago Cubs. This is their third year sans manager. They have been running the show with a series of coaches in charge from moment to moment and it comes to about an even dozen field leaders minus portfolio.

Should Offer Hope

Alston's long run should give heart to Hodges as he succeeds Mickey Vernon on the ultrasplintered seat which has to be ridden by anybody who pilots the Washington Senators. Because there was concern that Gil, being a "quiet man," might not have the brass drive some believe necessary to squeeze full production out of a team.

Alston is one of the quiet breed, too. Having three years' tenure as general manager of the moment he is proof that you don't need a bullwhip tongue or be a "holler guy" to last as a pilot.

He has of course had the hired hands to keep the Dodgers up there consistently, winning three flags, finishing second on three occasions, once third, once fourth and once seventh in nine completed seasons. Hodges even with mirrors, hypnotism and prayer won't be able to come anywhere near that with the woeful Senator lack of playing talent.

56TH YEAR FRIDAY, MAY 24, 1963 7

Robin Spoils Hodges' Debut With 2-Hitter

By United Press International

Robin Roberts always did have Gil Hodges' number.

In the glory years for both, circa 1950 through 1955, Roberts won 138 games for the Philadelphia Phillies and Hodges hit 204 home runs for the Brooklyn Dodgers.

In man-to-man competition, however, Roberts held a wide edge over Hodges, yielding only six of those 204 homers by Hodges during those seasons.

It's a full decade later and Roberts is a 36-year old pitcher hanging on with guile and savvy while Hodges is embarking on a new career as a major league manager.

Big Gil made his managerial debut with the Washington Senators Thursday night and the wheel of fate ruled that Mr. Roberts would be on the mound for the rival Baltimore Orioles. The league, the circumstances and the players were different but the result was pretty much the same—Roberts topped Hodges by pitching the Orioles to a 6-0 victory over the Senators.

"A couple of times I felt like taking a bat and going up to hit myself," Hodges confessed after the game. "But I don't imagine it would have done any good."

Roberts, 1962 comeback of the year player in the majors, started slowly this season but has been a major cog in the Orioles' drive of nine wins in their last 10 games which has carried them into a half-game lead in the American League. He's won three straight complete games, allowing a total of only four runs and 11 hits.

ROBIN ROBERTS

The Cincinnati Reds scored a 2-0 victory over the Milwaukee Braves and the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Chicago Cubs 1-0 in Thursday's only other major league games.

Roberts faced only 29 men, struck out seven and didn't allow a runner past second base in posting his first shutout since entering the AL in mid-1962. Home runs by Al Smith and Jerry Adair paced an attack which dealt Claude Osteen his fourth loss in a row. The Orioles have beaten the Senators six straight times this season and are 12-1 against left-handed pitching.

Roberts' three victories against four losses this season give him a career record of 247 triumphs and 212 defeats.

Jim O'Toole pitched a three-hitter to raise his record to 7-3 with the Reds, who scored unearned runs in the fourth and ninth innings against Denver LeMaster. Daryl Spencer doubled home the Reds' fourth-inning run and Ken Walters singled home their run in the ninth.

Nicklaus Hits Hole-in-One For Memphis Open Tie

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Jack Nicklaus, thanks to the first hole-in-one of his professional career, shared the lead with seven other golfers entering today's second round of the $50 Memphis Open tournament.

His 165-yard ace, the second in six years of Memphis Open history and the season's ninth for the PGA, came on the par-3 third green of the rolling Colonial Country Club course.

Smashed with a six iron, the ball twisted onto the right of the green, snapped sharply to the left about six feet, and disappeared as a gallery of several hundred cheered.

Nicklaus carded a 61 to share the lead with hometown favorite Cary Middlecoff, Jerry Edwards, Buster Cupit, Fred Hawkins, Dick Mayer, John Pott and Tony Lama. Lama ranks third behind Nicklaus and Gary Player in current PGA money winnings.

Player, a pre-tournament favorite, fell behind 25 leaders with a par 70.

The tourney record of 288 is held by Middlecoff, a 42-year old former Memphis dentist. But local experts say the mark, which Middlecoff set when he won the 1961 Open, may fall this year.

Lionel Hebert, defending champion who took the 1962 crown in a sudden-death playoff with Player and Gene Littler, finished well back in Thursday's field with a one-over-par 71.

Deadlocked behind the leaders with 88's were Jack McGowan, Dave Hill, Miller Barber, Dan Sikes, George Knudson and Mike Souchak.

Monterey In Quarterfinals

LUBBOCK (SpI)—Monterey and Dumas move into the quarterfinal round of the state high school baseball playoffs in their respective classes Saturday.

District 3-AAA champion Monterey hosts El Paso Jefferson of 1-AAA at 3 p.m. Saturday in Lubbock. The second game will be at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in El Paso. If a third game is necessary, it will be played in El Paso at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Monterey defeated Haltom City in bi-district, while Jefferson was downing San Angelo.

Dumas meets Snyder in a Class AAA best of three series. Dumas travels to Snyder for the opening game Saturday at 1 p.m.

The second contest will be in Dumas at 3 p.m. Tuesday. If a third game is necessary, it will be played at 3 p.m. Wednesday in Dumas.

The Demons won the District 1-AAA championship and defeated Pecos in bi-district. Snyder, the 3-AAA winner, downed Breckenridge in bi-district.

TIL Okays Schoolboys, AAU Quits

DALLAS (SpI)—A controversy between the AAU and the Texas Track and Field Federation over eligibility of schoolboys to compete in Federation meets dissolved Thursday when the Texas Inter-scholastic League issued a sanction.

As a result the Texas Federation meet will be held at Cobb Stadium, the high school athletic plant in Dallas, June 1.

Kellum Johnson, member of the National AAU executive committee, precipitated the controversy Tuesday when he said schoolboys competing in a regional Federation meet at Abilene were ineligible for international competition because they were not members of the Federation.

Then the status of the state federation meet was questioned and Johnson finally said the boys could become eligible if the Inter-scholastic League made the high school division a function of the league.

Rhea Williams, athletic director of the league, gave the meet sanction Thursday.

Johnson also said the more than 100 boys in the Abilene meet whose eligibility had been clouded could easily be reinstated by telling the AAU they did not know about the rule. For that matter, Johnson said, this will have no effect on their participation in the state federation meet anyway.

Perryton Holds Golf Tournament

PERRYTON (SpI)—The second annual Perryton Country Club Invitational Golf Tournament will be Friday and Saturday.

Each flight will play 36 holes of medal play—18 each day.

Golfers may enter any time Saturday as long as it's not too late to fire 18 holes.

Defending champion is Keith Flowers of Perryton.

Entry fee is $10.

Schoepner Quits

ROME (UPI)—Erich Schoepner of West Germany announced his retirement from the ring today because of his first professional defeat in an eight-year career and his failure to recapture the European light heavyweight title from Italy's Giulio Rinaldi.

Softball League

Panhandle Packing and the Pampa Stars stayed on top of the Industrial Softball League. Last night as each team took its second win in as many starts, the Packers pounded Cabot, 10-4 and Pampa edged host Miami, 7-6, as Homer West singled home Harold Dearing with the winning run in the last of the seventh.

Cabot took a 3-0 lead in the first frame as winning pitcher Raymond McKinney was plagued by lack of fielding support, giving up two walks with three errors behind him in the first frame. McKinney settled down to pitch good ball the rest of the way, allowing two hits and one run.

Meanwhile his teammates pecked away at losing pitcher Travis Peck, also hurt by poor fielding. To take a 6-4 lead in the fourth inning and then wrapped the game up with a four-run attack in the sixth. McKinney struck out 10 and walked three, while giving 1, two clean hits. Peck struck out three and walked two.

Outstanding fielding play of the game was made by second baseman George Gantt of the Packers to stifle a Cabot rally in the fifth. With a run in, two on base and one out, Gantt, made a diving catch of a line drive and then got to second base ahead of the returning runner for an unassisted double play to retire the side.

Gantt, Jack Woods and "Sunset" Carson led the winners' attack with two hits each.

Big sticks rallied the Miami hills last night. Charlie Vaughan, who pitched a one-hitter in his last outing, was reached for three hits and as many runs in the first inning by Miami, who picked up four more hits and three runs along the way. Great fielding, led by shortstop Allen Self and second sacker Jimmy Enloe, pulled Vaughan out of several jams, while catcher Homer West got three hits to lead a Pampa batting attack which struck back to take the lead in the second inning, and then, after Miami had tied the game in the sixth, put the winning run across in the bottom of the seventh. Vaughan struck out 10 and walked only one. Denny Bowerman took the loss, striking out seven, walking two and being reached for nine hits.

Panhandle Packing plays Pampa at Lions Park and Miami hosts Cabot in next Tuesday night's games.

U.S. Can Spoil Brazil's Chances

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI)—The United States, one of the pre-tournament favorites, was ready to play the role of spoiler today in an attempt to salvage its reputation in the world amateur basketball championships.

The Yanks have no chance to win the title, but can prevent Brazil from clinching the crown when the two teams meet Saturday on the final day of the tournament.

Brazil broke a first place tie with Russia and remained the only unbeaten squad by turning back the Soviet Union 90-79 in a near-riotous game Thursday night. Earlier, the United States finally lived up to its advance billing by romping over Italy 101-73 for its third triumph in five games.

Only the United States is now in a position to stop the Brazilians from completing a perfect six-game sweep, and if they are successful they can leave the door open for either Russia or Yugoslavia to create a deadlock.

Yugoslavia is a solid favorite to defeat France tonight and boost its record to 4-1, the same as Russia's. The two Soviet bloc

Jim Piersall To Mets, Has 'Lot of Ball'

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Jimmy Piersall makes the switch from the American League to the National League's New York Mets tonight with a promise to his new teammates that he "learns fast" and still has "a lot of good baseball in me."

The fiery, 33-year-old former Boston, Cleveland and Washington outfielder was sold to the Mets Thursday in what was understood to have been part payment for New York's release of Gil Hodges to become manager of the Senators.

He's due here before the Mets' game with the St. Louis Cardinals tonight and is expected to start in center field for manager Casey Stengel's cellar club.

"I'd been expecting something," said Piersall when the deal was announced. "It's baseball, you come and you go. You do your best and try to stay in shape. I'm in shape and feel I've got a lot of baseball to play."

Piersall, a brilliant outfielder although an erratic hitter from one year to the next, said he was pleased to play for Stengel.

"At least I know Casey wants me," he said. "He picked me for two All-Star teams and in 1953 when I was playing right field for Boston, Stengel called me the best outfielder he'd ever seen. It sort of helped me off the ground as a ballplayer."

Piersall has battled with umpires, teammates, rivals, fans and sportswriters over the years but the rag-tag Mets should find him an important addition at least in their home Polo Grounds. An outstanding defensive center fielder is the key to success in the Polo Grounds and his worst critic never downgraded Piersall as a fly-catcher.

The second annual Jaycee Junior Tennis Tournament will be held Saturday, beginning at 9 a.m., at the Pampa High School tennis courts.

The tournament will climax four weeks of clinics for youngsters between 12-18 years old. Instructor John Bird reported that last weekend's bad weather had thinned the classes down, but between 20 and 25 youngsters are expected to compete in the tournament.

The tourney will be strictly singles play, single elimination, for boys and girls divisions.

Trophies, provided by the Pepsi-Cola Bottling Co., will be awarded first and second place winners in both boys and girls competition and will be presented by the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce president Gary Frasher.

Legion Tryouts Start Tonight

Tryouts for the American Legion baseball team will begin this evening at 5:30. All boys of high school age are eligible to play, and must bring their own gloves and shoes. Tryouts will be held at the high school baseball field. Boys who have not reported otherwise must be at the tryouts tonight or tomorrow night at 5:30 or they cannot be considered for the team.

National Golf Day Play Tomorrow

Tomorrow is National Golf Day, reported Pampa Country Club golf pro Hart Warren.

All golfers are eligible to play tomorrow and try to "beat the champs." Local golfers, as well as golfers throughout the nation, will match their scores, less handicaps, against the scores of National PGA champion Arnold Palmer and National Open Champion Gene Littler.

Palmer and Littler will play their rounds on May 28 at the Dallas AC.

Last year 41 of 51 local golfers who entered beat Little and Jay Hebert, reported Warren. Winners will receive an engraved bronze medal.

By LOUIS CASSELS

The King James version of the Bible, which was translated in 1611 A.D., has never been rivaled for poetic beauty and majesty of expression. From a purely literary viewpoint, it towers over all modern translations as Shakespeare does over a TV script.

But more than 1,000 English words and phrases used in the Bible have undergone significant changes of meaning since the King James was published 352 years ago.

That's why many people feel that a good modern translation is essential for anyone who plans to read the Bible seriously. Which modern translation you choose is a matter of taste. The chief contenders for public and scholarly favor are the Revised Standard Version and the New English Bible.

The Revised Standard Version is essentially a re-write and updating of the old King James, using the same sentence structures but substituting contemporary for archaic English words where necessary to make the original meaning clear. It is available in a vast variety of editions. One of the finest for serious reading and study purposes, is the new Oxford Annotated Bible (Oxford University Press, $7.95, which has helpful footnotes on every page. Still Being Translated

The Old Testament portion of the new English Bible is still being translated, and won't be available for some years yet. The New Testament portion has been a best-seller since March, 1961. It is an entirely fresh translation of the original Greek into contemporary, idiomatic English. While it lacks literary grace at many points, it hits the reader right between the eyes as a message addressed to him in his own everyday tongue. Those who have ceased to get any real impact out of overly-familiar passages of the King James will have the feeling that they are reading the Bible for the first time.

Where you begin reading is at least as important as the choice of a translation. Many people make the mistake of trying to read the Bible straight through from beginning to end, as if it were an ordinary book or novel. If you do that, you are very apt to get "bogged down in the begats" when you reach the dull and endless genealogies of the Old Testament.

It is more accurate to think of the Bible as a whole library of books, written at various times over a span of 1,500 years. These books differ enormously in literary style, historical value and spiritual depth. Except in a very broad sense, they do not tell a consecutive narrative, so there's no need to "begin at the beginning" and plow straight through.

Begin In Middle

Instead, you can begin in the middle, with the part of the Bible which to Christians is the most important and exciting news ever reported upon this earth — the story of Jesus Christ.

"The Bible is a book about God; it tells what He did for men, especially in Jesus Christ His son," says Prof. Floyd V. Filson of McCormick Theological Seminary. "Read the whole Bible by all means, but get to the heart of the biblical message at the start."

Prof. Filson recommends beginning with the New Testament books of Luke and Acts. They were written by the same author, and although they are now separated in the Bible, it is clear that they were originally intended to go together, for they tell a single, connected story.

The first part — the Gospel according to St. Luke — is the story of Christ's life, death and resurrection, written especially for a Gentile audience by a man who seems to have been a very careful reporter with an eye for vivid detail and a gift for poetic expression.

In the Acts of the Apostles, the same writer tells how the Christian church came into being under the awesome impact of the resurrection, and traces its spread throughout the Roman Empire, with particular attention to the missionary voyages of the Apostle Paul, with whom Luke travelled extensively.

Proceed To St. John

After reading Luke-Acts, you may want to proceed to the Gospel according to St. John. Here you'll find less concern with events and sayings, more emphasis on meaning and significance. To over-simplify, you might say that Luke is the reporter who tells you what Jesus did and said, while John is the theologian who tells you who Jesus was and why He came.

St. Paul's letters could well come next — especially those addressed to the young churches at Corinth and Rome. After that you can finish the other Gospels and Epistles of the New Testament; in almost any order that appeals to you.

Eventually, you'll want to read the whole Old Testament, for Christianity cannot be truly comprehended without a thorough acquaintance with the Jewish scriptures which Jesus said he came "not to destroy but to fulfill."

But it may be best to ease your way into the Old Testament by reading first the book of Psalms — the greatest collection of devotional poetry the world has ever known.

After the Psalms, try Isaiah, the noblest and most moving of the Hebrew books of "prophecy." Then, when you're well acquainted with the sublime heights to which the children of Israel are destined to move in their knowledge of God, you can go back to Genesis and begin tracing the early story of this remarkable man who were chosen by God for a special role as light-bearers to mankind.

Mrs. Fischer stresses that all parents be sure to make plans so that their children may attend Vacation Church School.

Chose Good Commentary

Whatever sequence you follow, you will find far more meaning in the Bible if you read it in connection with a good commentary. Before beginning to read any book of the Bible, find out from the commentary what scholars have discovered about its date and authorship, and the historical circumstances under which it was written. This background information will enable you to understand many otherwise baffling passages.

There are dozens of Bible commentaries on the market. One new and relatively inexpensive one-volume commentary which has already found wide favor among Bible scholars is Harper's Bible Commentary (Harper & Roe, $5.95).

Two other valuable reference works that are available in inexpensive paperback editions are "A Theological Word Book of the Bible" (Macmillan, $1.95) and "The Modern Reader's Bible Atlas" (Association Press Reflection Books, $1.50).

Rev. J. Wayne White Is Appointed To Mexico

Pastor and Mrs. J. Wayne White, of Redrock Baptist Church, Las Vegas, Nev., were appointed missionaries to Mexico by the Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board, meeting in Richmond, Va., early this month.

The Whites went to Las Vegas in 1956 at the invitation of Baptist pastors in southern Nevada, who felt there should be another church in the area. "There was only the invitation, nothing else — neither people nor parsonage, not even pencils," says Mrs. White. Redrock Church, organized in May, 1956, with six charter members, used to meet in the White home. It now has nearly 200 members, a Sunday school enrollment of over 400, and two buildings.

Before going to Las Vegas Rev. White was pastor of First Baptist Church, Hastings, Okla., and Strong City, Okla. Baptist Church. Born in Jester, Okla., he grew up in Pampa, Tex., attending Wayland Baptist College, Plainview, Tex., and graduated from Baylor University, Waco, Tex., with the bachelor of arts degree and from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Fort Worth, Tex., with the bachelor of divinity degree.

Rev. White joined the U.S. Navy in 1943, just before his 18th birthday, and went through Pacific campaigns of World War II from Saipan to Okinawa on a destroyer. His ship sunk a Japanese cruiser at the battle of Surigao Strait, in October, 1944, but was disabled at Okinawa the next year by a suicide plane.

on his own for the first time, he began to study the Bible and have regular times for prayer. He was impressed with the need for missionaries and began to feel God had a place of service for him. He relates an incident that occurred in Tokyo after the war:

"A shop clerk asked me to help him with English, using a Japanese-English dictionary. When he thought we had become friends, he leaned over and asked confidentially, 'What means "Jesus Christ"?'" Ever afterward, when I heard missionaries tell of the millions who do not know Christ, I thought of that Japanese."

Mr. and Mrs. White have four children, Laurie, 10½, Robin, eight, Travis, nearly six, and Cynthia, four.

With the appointment of the Whites and 22 other new missionaries in the March meeting of the Foreign Mission Board, the total number of active Southern Baptist foreign missionaries is 1,649.

Rev. Allison Will Speak at Highland

"Longing for the House of God" is the subject adults will be studying in Sunday School at Highland Baptist Church, 1301 N. Banks, beginning at 9:45 a.m. For the 11 a.m. worship service Rev. Allison has chosen the topic "Rally Around Bethel," taken from Genesis the 35th chapter. The church choir will sing "Hail Immanuel," accompanied by Mrs. Edith Beigle at the organ and Mrs. Ann Winegeart at the piano. The pastors sermon for the 7:30 p.m. worship service will be "The Understanding Saviour."

Training Union begins at 6:30 p.m. Intermediates will attend the "Pastor's Class" resuming the study of Baptist Doctrine. Others will be studying "Religion in a Japanese Home."

For the Wednesday Prayer service Rev. Allison has taken his scripture from I Corinthians 3, "Tribute to the Nature of Deacons." Officers, teachers, Sunbeams, G.A.'s and R.A.'s meet at 6:45 p.m. followed by the prayer service at 7:30 p.m.

Junior choir rehearsal is each Sunday at 5:30 p.m. under the direction of Mrs. Don Stafford. Youth choir rehearsal is also at this time.

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

Attend The Church Of Your Choice

REV. DONALD S. HOUCK
THE FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Before the next writing of this Church page meditation, our nation will have passed through a national holiday, established to honor the memory of men and women who have given their lives in the Service of their country. However, Memorial Day in its significance for each of us, has never been limited to the honoring of Military, but it becomes a time for families and loved ones to think about the lives of those who meant so much to us while they were here.

For the Christian, it is a time of renewal as we realize anew that the life in Christ knows no barriers of time or space, but lives on forever under the heavenly protection of God Almighty. The apostle Paul felt compelled to convince the Church at Corinth of this when he wrote his first letter to them. They could accept all the events of Christ's life, including the Easter resurrection from the dead, but they could not apply it to their own lives, they lived in the fear of ultimate death and oblivion. To this fear Paul says: "But in fact Christ has been raised from the dead, the first fruits of those who have fallen asleep. For as by a man came death, by a man has come also the resurrection of the dead. For as in Adam all die, so also in Christ shall all be made alive."

It is strange that we, who are so precious to God, take so lightly his love and concern for us, and ignore so consistently his promise of a Kingdom that begins now in the midst of his covenant people; and continue into eternity a Kingdom that finds its earthly expression right now in the shattering of the barriers that exist between us and Christ, and between us and our neighbor.

Memorial Days will come and go — and when we become a cherished memory and our earthly life is over — will we be remembered as a servant of Jesus Christ, at peace with God's children, one who heard Christ's message of love and eternal life? If we have heard this and live our lives as though we believed it — our witness will follow us for generations.

AN INDEPENDENT FREEDOM NEWSPAPER

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by any government, with the gift of freedom, and that it is every man's duty to God to preserve his own liberty and respect the liberty of others.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guides expressed in the Ten Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Put Old Glory On Display

The Pampa Key Club has been working hard on a project this year to get Pampans to display the American Flag on their homes and in front of business places.

Two days are coming up within the week when the flag should be especially displayed again. These two days are Armed Forces Day tomorrow and Memorial Day next Thursday.

In speaking of the red, white and blue symbol of freedom and Americanism it is well to note that for some reason the fine old custom of "showing the flag" seems to have pretty well vanished from the land.

There used to be an unwavering sense of pride in displaying the American Flag. It was thought of as a symbol of many things—of a free people, of a world power, of a land of opportunity.

Human Beings Are Human Beings

Some little time ago a "Project Horizon" report was prepared to show "what aviation can do for our Nation and the free world."

A prime example is found in international air travel. As a spokesman for the industry puts it, through reduced fares and international border-crossing procedures, the airlines are achieving the national goal of "international understanding through increased person-to-person contact."

Anything which helps to bring peoples of different races, nationalities and traditions together cannot help but contribute to the cause of peace. It is governments, not individuals, that make war.

'The World In Which We Whirl'

The editor of the Germantown, Pennsylvania, Courier tells of a little lesson he was recently given in "How changing is the world in which we whirl."

He dropped in on a jeweler friend to ask what had happened to the dollar watch—the famous "turnip" of a past age. It was a good watch, too, and it went on ticking away indefinitely so long as over-eager boys didn't take it apart to see what made it work.

It's Up To You

By HOWARD KERSHNER L. H. D.

Our country is new but exceedingly well developed because a vast amount of hard work has been done by those who preceded us and by many of our contemporaries.

There are probably basic reasons why some countries are notoriously under-developed. Climate may be one factor. Ideology is most certainly another.

Without any doubt, governmental and economic policies, which discourage effort, are the main reasons for underdevelopment in many lands.

In Europe and in North America men learned to limit their government and therefore to enjoy a far greater measure of freedom.

The development of a country requires individual moral character. It involves the understanding of economic law, the maintenance of sound, honest, non-inflatable money, limited government, low taxation, the encouragement of thrift, saving and free enterprise.

Work, freedom, fair play for capital and no socialism! These are the ways of developing the underdeveloped countries.

WHY NOT PLAY OUR ACE?

By HENRY C. WOLFE

Author and Lecturer on International Affairs

This article was written by Mr. Wolfe while he was in Paris recently.

An inexplicable aspect of the protracted Berlin crisis is the West's failure to take effective counter-measures. Yet we have it in our power to make Khrushchev stop and listen.

Here in Europe every informed observer knows that the major threat of war involves our communication lines between West Germany and West Berlin.

Many people in the free world are wringing their hands and proclaiming that, inasmuch as we are dependent on these bottlenecks there is nothing left to do but concede the contest to Khrushchev.

Why, then, do we Americans choose to remain on the defensive? We are in a position to take the offensive.

Khrushchev's bottleneck is the Dardanelles. Through this narrow strait Soviet commerce from the Black Sea ports must pass in order to reach the Aegean and the Mediterranean.

Khrushchev, it is not generally realized in the West, needs the money from oil sales to keep his industrial machine going at high speed.

The Kremlin hopes to penetrate Western markets to the extent that it can dislocate—even wreck—the free world's basic oil economy.

Looking ahead, the Kremlin expects to complete a major oil pipeline into the Danube Basin not far from Vienna by 1963 and another one to Memel, on the Baltic coast, by 1965.

All automobiles built since 1962 have been equipped with anchorages for seat-belt installation and now the parade of states has started equipping the safety belts in all new cars starting this year.

Why, wonder some of Europe's responsible and informed observers, doesn't the United States warn Khrushchev that its bottleneck for bottleneck? If he closes our access routes to Berlin, we'll close his access route to the Mediterranean.

Now You Know By United Press International Civilian consumption of refined sugar was 97.9 pounds per person in the United States in 1961, according to preliminary figures by the Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Marketing Service as published by the 1963 World Almanac.

But, object the faint-hearted and appeasers among us, that would be an act of war. Would it be any more an act of war than a move by the Russians and their East German stooges to try another Berlin blockade? Obviously not.

But, continue the appeasers, wouldn't this involve Turkey in direct conflict with the USSR? Not necessarily. The Turks know their neighboring enemy of old and they are not faint-hearted.

No one over here has suggested to me that a Dardanelles blockade wouldn't entail some risk. But—and this must be understood—a purely defensive position vis-à-vis the Soviet is the riskiest course of all.

Perhaps the most encouraging factor in the cold war is that coldly calculating man. He wants to win, but without bringing down nuclear destruction on the Soviet Union. He recognizes superior force when he meets it and has always been ready to acknowledge it by stopping before he reaches the brink.

But a reminder to Khrushchev that if he closes our Berlin bottleneck, we'll close his Dardanelles bottleneck, is language he understands. It is also the kind of language he respects.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economics and the proper functioning of government which will not injure anyone.)

Question: "What test should be used to decide whether a newspaper is really an honest, friendly newspaper?"

The answer to that, it would seem, would be that the same test should be used as is used to decide whether an individual was really honest and friendly.

A really honest and friendly individual or newspaper doesn't believe he or it is omnipotent enough to refuse to answer questions about what he is advocating or opposing. He or it is not like a dictator that is drunk with power.

And a newspaper is one of the most important things that come into the home, because it puts the individual in touch with his neighbors and the world.

The newspaper that will refuse to publish an advertisement on a public question which is to be voted on also will suppress news. And any newspaper that will suppress news to favor vested interests at the expense of other persons is not a truly friendly, honest newspaper.

And for newspapers refuse to take ads when they think it might hurt their cash register. These newspapers that believe man can live by bread alone think they need not try to live in harmony with the natural laws as set forth in the Human Relations Commandments and the Golden Rule.

Why, wonder some of Europe's responsible and informed observers, doesn't the United States warn Khrushchev that its bottleneck for bottleneck? If he closes our access routes to Berlin, we'll close his access route to the Mediterranean.

The American Way

GOOD GRIEF, WILL IT NEVER END?

By HARRY BROWNE Editor, American Progress Magazine

No stranger from a faraway planet, no citizen from a bygone era, and—we can hope—no man of the future would ever believe that the American people would let their rulers steal $100 billion from them to be thrown to the four corners of the world in the maddest known as "foreign aid."

There is no conceivable standard by which the "foreign aid" program can be made to look sensible.

It does not stop the Communists—it encourages them to pick off the countries we have ripened with our aid (Cuba, Laos, etc.).

It does not help the people in the countries we "aid"—it merely tightens the control of leftwing dictators over those people.

We even have to borrow the money to supply the "aid"—and our debt now exceeds the combined debts of every other nation in the world.

No innocent observer from a faroff generation or galaxy would ever be gullible enough to believe that such self-destruction could be practiced by the strongest nation in the world.

And yet, "foreign aid" is approved by a majority of the Congressmen, year after year. Despite the absence of any Constitutional authority, the American family continues to be robbed of approximately $100 per year for the benefit of foreign dictators.

Eugene Castle put it this way: "The American taxpayers, who have never known military defeat, have been compelled by their own ruling politicians to pay more treasure into the coffers of foreign powers than all of the vanquished people in history have been required to pay their conquerors."

Where? Name the areas, Walt? This Rostow is the person who urges that we do nothing "to embarrass or degrade the Soviet in the eyes of the world."

The Liberty Amendment will outlaw all federal government economic activities not specified in the Constitution. This, of course, will do away with foreign aid once and for all—regardless of the attitude of any particular Congress.

The Liberty Amendment will do that. It will solve the problem of "foreign aid"—not just try to

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM

UPI Foreign News Analyst In Vietnam, sleepy capital of the sad little kingdom of Laos, Soviet diplomats this week appeared noticeably glum.

If so, they had good reason. For it appeared that Moscow had lost an important round in its battle with Red China for Communist leadership, one that affected not only the Soviet position in Laos but one that would have repercussions throughout Asia.

It also seemed likely to have an important effect on the efforts of the United States and Britain to preserve the shaky neutrality of the little landlocked nation which appears small on the map of the world's power struggle but looms large in the future of Southeast Asia.

When on July 23, 1962, in Geneva the foreign ministers of 14 nations signed an accord on the neutrality of Laos, it was done so by the West with the ironical knowledge that its success would depend upon keeping the Soviets in and the Red Chinese out. The hope lay in the belief that Red North Viet Nam, chief supporter of the Red Pathet Lao, leaned more toward Moscow than Peking in its political orientation and thus would be more likely to heed Soviet counsel.

North Viet Nam's Ho Chi Minh had been trained in Moscow and was believed to depend on Moscow to preserve his own status against any ambitions of his big Chinese neighbor.

Whatever validity there was in the hope disappeared when Red China's No. 2 man, Liu Shao-chi, chose the North Viet Nam capital of Hanoi to deliver another bitter attack on Communist "revisionists" and on Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's policy of co-existence.

The attack could have been delivered by permission of Ho Chi Minh and so it meant that Red China, advocate of the export of violent revolution, had taken over as Ho's chief mentor.

If it meant a blow to Moscow's prestige in Asia and to Allied hopes in Laos, there were others also to whom the Laotian truce had brought disillusionment. One was neutralist Laotian Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma who had castigated the United States for its support of the pro-Western government which preceded him, and who now also castigated the Reds for their violation of the Geneva accord.

It also meant disillusionment for a tiny man named Gen. Kong Le, fight-in the Pathet Lao. Another to whom it must have brought disillusionment was Red Prince Souphanouvong, nominal leader of the Pathet Lao. Laotian observers believe that Souphanouvong is leader in name only and that his place has been taken by hard-core Communists who will take orders from Peking and Hanoi.

Hints for Happy Holidays (2) Rules of the Road

Before starting on your trip, be sure the car and its passengers are ready and in good condition. Install seat belts—and use them! Check gas, oil, tires, brakes, lights, horn, engine, radiator, muffler, steering, fan belt, windshield wipers and defroster. Carry a first-aid book and kit, plus a flashlight—and, of course, spare tire and jack.

Make children ride in the back seat and enforce rule that there will be no hands out window, on door handles, wheel, ignition key, lights or driver. (For extra insurance, install—and use—safety door latches.) Keep kids occupied with games and toys.

THE PINES MOTEL

Alternate drivers, if possible, and stop traveling while it's still daylight—and before the driver is tired or drowsy.

- CHECKLIST
- Before starting, make sure everyone is in good health—including the car.
  - Be sure to use seat belts—in front and rear seats.
  - Teach children safe riding rules—and enforce them.
  - Keep children busy with safe toys and games.
  - Don't try to drive too far in a day. Stop and rest several times a day. Stop for the night before it gets dark or you get tired.
- Safety Hints from the National Safety Council*

Congress Leaving Wheat to Farmers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Congress that has grown weary of farm subsidies seemed content today to let wheat farmers have a taste of the free enterprise program for which they voted.

Any legislation to moderate the consequences for wheat farmers of their refusal to submit to strict production controls on the 1964 crop.

Although the congressional attitude may change in the coming months, the prevailing sentiment today was against enactment of

This was so even though a handful of farm belt Republicans vowed they would "point away" in an attempt to bring pressures on Congress to enact new wheat legislation.

The wheat growers in a national referendum Tuesday rejected President Kennedy's new control program. Only 47.7 per cent voted for it. The plan required a 66.7 per cent majority to become effective.

If no new legislation is enacted, government price supports for wheat will drop from $2 a bushel to around $1.25 a bushel at about the time that the 1964 presidential election campaign is getting under way. Moreover, only those growers who voluntarily comply with planting restrictions will be assured $1.25. Other growers will have no price guarantees.

"I don't know," Kennedy replied when he was asked at his news conference Wednesday what the political consequence of this would be for him in the 1964 elections.

House Democratic leader Carl Albert, Okla., said he opposed new legislation and did not believe that wheat growers were facing "disaster" next year. He said he doubted that as many as five city congressmen would support a new bill.

GIRAFFE RODEO
NEW YORK (UPI) — One of the most colorful spectacles in South Africa is catching the giraffe, says Pan American World Airways.

The giraffe is pursued on horseback and grabbed by the tail. While one man holds on to the tail, another slips a harness on the giraffe. A mild tranquilizer is then administered and the giraffe, more sleepy than frightened, is led into a waiting van.

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI) — Kenneth Ward of Hayden, Stone & Co. believes the current phase of readjustment may prove to be the last chance to switch attention and buy many attractive medium and low priced stocks at favorable levels before the next upward thrust.

Ward bases his belief on the fact that many good values have been held down to exceedingly low levels and that a large segment of the public remains skeptical as evidenced by the size of the short position and the favorable daily ratio of odd-lot purchases to sales.

Except for technical pitfalls, Thomson McKinnon feels that sound common stocks can be expected to follow the line of least resistance which continues to point upward in the market.

United Business Service points out that food store shares, which were generally unpopular last year, have been above average market performers this year. The firm says investors are seeing the group this year as a "recession-resistant growth industry."

The firm attributes last year's unpopularity to "too many stores, too intense competition and too much of a rise in operating expenses."

When Stone was a boy, his worried mother once sent him off to a boarding school because he played hockey from public school while she worked. There also was a time in which he boarded with a family in Chicago so his mother could move to Detroit and start the business that later proved to be her son's major inspiration.

Stone's mother went into the insurance business, pawning her jewelry to get enough money to buy a small agency. It was during a high school vacation visit with his mother that young Clem learned about insurance — and how to overcome a severe shyness.

Eventually Stone resumed his education. He studied at night and enrolled in law school. But he wanted to get married at the age of 21 and decided on insurance as a better way to make money.

MAXIMUM PENALTY
LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A 52-year-old father of eight children was sentenced Monday to 18 months in jail and fined $1,000 on a drunken driving conviction.

In November, 1922, he established his own agency with the working capital of $100 and no debts.

Perry Sparks received the maximum penalty under law. Police said he had nine previous drunken driving convictions in the past four years and was arrested five times for driving without a license. He has served a total of 343 days in jail for driving violations and has paid $500 in fines.

In 1961, the Combined Insurance Company of America wrote more than $37 million in policies, ranking 22nd in a field of more than 800 companies writing all forms of accident and health insurance. The combined group sold $48 million in policies in 1962.

In the spring of 1963, some 3,000 campus leaders at 500 colleges and universities chose Stone as one of 11 winners of the annual Horatio Alger Awards of the American Schools and Colleges Association.

TTA Extending Air Services

ALBUQUERQUE (UPI) — Trans-Texas Airways will extend service to Albuquerque, Santa Fe and four eastern New Mexico cities shortly, a company official has announced.

Max A. King, vice president of the Houston based regional airline, said service would be started in New Mexico within 60 days after the Civil Aeronautics Board decision in the Southwestern Area Local Service Case is made final by a court order.

Under this order, Trans-Texas will replace Continental Airlines at Carlsbad, Hobbs, Clovis, Roswell and Santa Fe, and also will serve Albuquerque. Trans-Texas now operates in five states.

Albuquerque already is served by Trans-World Airways, Continental, Frontier and Bison, a local service carrier which began operations in New Mexico recently.

Trans-Texas flies modernized DC-3s and Convair 240s.

"The big advantage in the Albuquerque area will be our commuter service," King said. "Businessmen will be able to leave their offices in the morning, travel to nearly every major city in the state, and be back that evening."

Success Story: Clem Stone

CHICAGO (UPI) — As a 12-year-old boy, Clem Stone liked to dig in the attic of his Michigan farm looking for books about successful people.

Clem already had been involved in the world of business as a "salesman" of newspapers and magazines, starting when he was 6. And by the time he was 16, he had sold his first insurance policy. Now he is president of a complex of insurance companies built on the Combined Insurance Company of America, which he founded.

Starting with $100 capital, Stone established a multi-million dollar business and a personal fortune. Today he is head of the Combined Insurance Company of America of Chicago and three other companies in the combined group—the Combined American Insurance Company of Dallas, the Heartstone Insurance Company of Massachusetts, Boston and the First National Casualty Company of Fond Du Lac, Wis.

When Stone was a boy, his worried mother once sent him off to a boarding school because he played hockey from public school while she worked. There also was a time in which he boarded with a family in Chicago so his mother could move to Detroit and start the business that later proved to be her son's major inspiration.
