Telstar 11 Roars Into Orbit; May Televis Cooper

By ALVIN B. WEBB JR.
United Press International

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—A fifth-story U. S. rocket roared into space today with a new Telstar communications satellite that may flash "live" television pictures of astronaut L. Gordon Cooper's flight into orbit next week.

The 175-pound Telstar-2, second of its famed breed, rode into the sky in the nose of a 90-foot Delta rocket launched at 7:38 a.m. EDT.

Englishman and Russian Plead Guilty of Spying

MOSCOW (UPI)—A British businessman and a Soviet scientist today pleaded guilty to espionage charges in a spy spectacular involving U. S. and British intelligence agents and seven American diplomats.

Both admitted spying against the Soviet Union following the reading of the indictment in the opening session of the trial for their lives.

Television cameras recorded the tense scene as the defendants confessed their guilt before a packed courtroom in the U. S. R. Supreme Court building.

The Briton is Gerald Wynne, 41, a dapper middle-aged manager of trade exhibitions who was seized in Budapest six months ago and held incommunicado in a Moscow prison. He was accused of being chief contact man for an Anglo-American spy ring.

PPROA Begins Registration Tomorrow

Registration for the 32nd annual meeting of the Panhandle Producers and Royalty Owners Association begins tomorrow at 3 p.m. and continues through Thursday morning at the Coronado Inn.

The meeting will officially kick off with a luncheon Thursday in the Starlight Room at noon with the featured speaker being Jerome J. O'Brien, director of the Office of Oil and Gas, U. S. Department of the Interior.

Beginning at 2:30 that afternoon, seminars on different aspects of the oil and gas industry and problems of Panhandle producers and pending legislation will be conducted.

A service company reception will be held at 5:30 p.m. in the Starlight Room, and the meeting will close out with a 7 p.m. banquet again in the Starlight Room at which L. D. (Red) Tompkins of Lone Star Steel Co., Dallas, will be the featured speaker.

Pulitzer Prizes Given Faulkner, Chicago News

NEW YORK (UPI)—Two posthumous prizes, a furor over an unawarded drama prize, and a public service award to the Chicago Daily News highlighted the announcement Monday of the 1963 Pulitzer prizes in journalism and the arts.

The Daily News received a gold medal and a citation for a series "calling attention to the issue of providing birth-control services in the public health programs of its area."

William Faulkner, chronicler of the imaginary Yoknapatawpha County in Mississippi, who died July 6, 1962, was cited in fiction for his humorous, earthy reminiscence, "The Reivers." He had received an award in 1955 for his novel, "A Fable."

Honor Poet-Physician

Also honored posthumously was Dr. William Carlos Williams, the poet-physician who died in Rutherford, N. J. last March 4 at the age of 79. He was cited for his book of poems, "Pictures from Brueghel."

John Mason Brown and John Gassner, the two members of the drama jury, resigned Monday with statements that the members of the Pulitzer Advisory Board had rejected their choice for the award Edward Albee's "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?"

A spokesman for Columbia University said only that the trustees had "approved all the recommendations of the advisory board." It was noted that the

Dominican Workers Call Strike

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (UPI)—Government workers called a general strike today as the immediate threat of war with Haiti dissipated. The country remained on a war footing but appeared satisfied to let the Organization of American States mediate the dispute.

The Government Workers Federation took advantage of the 14-hour work day to call their long-threatened strike in protest against massive firings which the government of President Juan Bosch claims are necessary to restore the country's failing economic health.

The government sought to brand the strike illegal, but union leaders predicted it would be at least 80 per cent successful. The strike date was moved ahead 48 hours to today because of union anger over Bosch's angry attacks on the projected walkout.

As the war threat eased Haiti allowed five political refugees who had been harbored in the Chilean embassy to leave the country aboard a plane for New York.

Also on the plane was Haitian Foreign Minister Rene Chalmers who was flying to New York to press his country's demand for a United Nations Security Council hearing on complaints of aggression against the Dominican Republic.

Army Checking East Germany Defection Claims

BERLIN (UPI)—The U. S. Army today investigated Communist claims that two American soldiers had defected to East Germany.

The Army confirmed that both the men were "missing" and said that one of them—a captain—had entered East Germany. But it did not say they had defected.

Capt. Alfred Svenson of Scranton, Pa., crossed into East Germany in a jeep on Saturday and Sgt. Benjamin J. Cain disappeared in Berlin last Friday.

The official East German news service ADN said both gave themselves up to border guards in the area of Eisenach and asked for asylum.

Svenson is the son of Mrs. Antonia Svenson of Washington, D. C. (At the home of a relative in New Windsor, N. Y., Mrs. Cain, who lives in Newburgh, N. Y., said she was "bewildered" by the news "I'm in a state of shock.")

"I don't think he defected but was taken to East Germany," she said. "There's more to this than meets the eye. He's been on many overseas tours of duty and his loyalty is unquestioned."

The Army said Cain of Frederick, Del., had been working in Berlin.

The Army announced it was investigating the circumstances. Cain's whereabouts were unknown.

The Army said Svenson was serving with the 2nd Medium Tank Battalion of the 1st Cavalry Regiment of the 3rd Armored Division. ADN said he had been a deputy battalion commander.

Prosecution In Hicks Sanity Opens Today

CANYON, Tex. (UPI)—The prosecution will begin presenting witnesses today in the sanity hearing of Dewey Hicks, well-known Amarillo contractor indicted on two counts of murder. He is charged with the Jan. 1 slaying of J. R. Damron and his son, J. W. Damron.

Defense attorney George McCarthy Monday presented witnesses to uphold his case that Hicks was "irritated, badgered and threatened to the point of insanity" and did not know right from wrong at the time of the killings.

Monday's testimony developed that J. W. (Joe) Damron had been seeing Hicks' wife, Ruth, for the past year and that the deceased had threatened Hicks' life on several occasions, even stating before witnesses he would pay $500 down and another $500 if Hicks was killed.

Hicks' wife and daughter both testified that Hicks had nearly gone out of his mind after receiving threatening calls from the younger Damron on New Year's Eve and New Year's morning.

In cross examination by Dist. Atty. Trust T. Hull, Potter County deputy sheriff Lonnie Bailey said he saw Hicks shortly after the killing and in his opinion Hicks did not know right from wrong.

Flying Age

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Programs were passed out to 4,500 grade school pupils Monday after, rather than before, a student performance of Mozart's opera, "The Magic Flute."

The reason, said Dr. William C. Hartshorn, was "because in previous years we often had 6,000 airplanes flying on stage at the beginning of a program."

Air Reserve Requests Office Space

The city commission today took under consideration a request of Lt. Col. James K. Brown of the 99th Air Reserve Squadron for free office space in City Hall.

Colonel Brown told the commission the Squadron, which has a staff of ten in its Pampa Headquarters, will be forced to vacate its present quarters on July 1.

"We have been notified that under the President's proposed budget cut there will be no funds available to pay our office rent after that date," Colonel Brown said.

The colonel told the commission that the squadron headquarters here serves 125 members from Pampa and various towns and cities throughout the Texas and Oklahoma Panhandles.

"If we can't find space in Pampa," the colonel said, "we will have to move our headquarters to one of the other cities."

Colonel Brown was advised that the city would provide office space for the staff, but stated a week would be needed to discuss just what location in City Hall could be turned over to the squadron.

Committee Reschedules 'Crazy Day'

Pampa's third annual "Crazy Day" trade promotion was rescheduled to Saturday, June 22, by members of the Merchants Activities Committee of the Chamber of Commerce at a meeting this morning in the Court House Cafe.

The promotion was originally set for May 18.

W. G. McComas and Duggan Smith were named to complete plans for the day.

Quannah Maddox, a representative of the L. C. Williams Co., of Houston, presented the group with several Christmas street lighting ideas and arrangements. He recommended that the committee purchase thirty-one complete new units due to the deterioration of the present decorations. Final action (See "CRAZY DAY" Page 3)

Pampa Youth Listed Critical

Tommy Veale, 17-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Veale Jr., 2125 Mary Ellen was listed in critical condition this morning in Saint Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo.

Young Veale sustained multiple skull fractures and brain injuries in a one-car accident about two miles east of Lefors yesterday.

Two other youths, Turan Soylemez, 18, a foreign exchange student from Istanbul, Turkey, and Jesse Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Jones of 2017 Christine were also in the automobile.

Soylemez was listed in good condition in Highland General Hospital this morning. Jones, driver of the car, apparently received only minor injuries from the accident.

Jones said he was coming over the hill two miles east of Lefors, when he saw a farm truck passing another farm truck, and drove off the pavement to avert a collision. Upon leaving the pavement, the car struck a highway post and dropped off a 15-foot embankment, rolling over several times.

The accident was investigated by Patrolman Vernon Cawthon and Constable W. R. Combs of Lefors. According to Patrolman Cawthon, further investigation of the accident is still in progress.

JFK Jars Pentagon With Third Shakeup

City Commissioner L. P. Fort told other commissioners this morning at their meeting in City Hall that he suspected he was "fighting a losing battle," but went on record in opposition to Pampa's continued participation in the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority.

Fort took the floor when an item on today's agenda asked that the commission approve a resolution granting a right-of-way on Kentucky St. to the federal government for construction and maintenance of a portion of the Canadian River aqueduct, leading into the city.

"For two years I have been saying yes, yes, yes on Canadian River projects," he said, "but I think we have perpetrated a big fraud on ourselves."

Fort said he had come to the conclusion in the past few months that Pampa does not need the Canadian River water and read from statements and reports dating from 1947 through 1960, to support his contention that Pampa now has more than enough underground water and that with the construction of new wells at far less expense than the Canadian River project is costing the city, it would have enough water to take care of a city of 100,000 population.

The commissioner charged that the contract Pampa has with the CRMWA faces the city with the prospect of being charged for water whatever the Authority wants to charge if the need for additional funds arises.

"The contract says in one place the water will be delivered to us for 13.62 cents per thousand gallons, but the fine print reads differently," Fort said.

Mayor H. Raeburn Thompson said he was certain Fort had given the matter a lot of study and that he was sincere and honest in his contentions.

"But, I don't see how we can do anything but live up to our agreement," Thompson said. "The people voted nearly 25 to 1 for it, we have entered into a contract with the Authority along with 11 other cities, and I think we are bound to carry it out."

It was agreed that granting the right-of-way to the United States Government would be delayed for a week, pending possible discussion of the matter with T. Carr (See CRMWA, Page 3)

White House Denies Any Mystery

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy has jarringly denied the Pentagon by ordering the third shake-up in the military high command in three years.

A surprise White House announcement Monday also jolted some congressional sources, who privately claimed the administration sought to assure conformity with its own defense views.

White House and Defense Department sources denied there was any mystery in the new move regarding it as a normal development.

Kennedy disclosed that he will not reappoint Adm. George B. Anderson as chief of naval operations, but instead will jump Adm. David L. McDonald, 56, over five senior officers into the top Navy post. Anderson, top military man in the Cuba crisis last fall, ends his two-year term Aug. 1.

Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, Air Force chief of staff whose future has been a subject of speculation, will be reappointed.

But his second term will be for just one year rather than two. He ends his first term of two years on July 1.

Both Anderson and LeMay have differed from their civilian superiors in the White House and Defense Department on several major defense issues—the TEX warplane contract, the Skybolt missile and the RS-70 warplane, for examples.

But they have done so through official channels, in their own services, in the Joint Chiefs of Staff and before congressional committees.

Both are 56 and thus several years from retirement age.

In Kennedy's selection of McDonald, observers saw evidence that a sudden decision to make the high command change must have been reached.

McDonald, who became a four-star admiral April 1, had barely unpacked in London to take over his new assignment as commander in chief of U. S. naval forces in Europe. He previously was commander of the U. S. 6th Fleet in the Mediterranean, having succeeded Anderson 22 months ago.

Action Delayed On Aqueduct

City Commissioner L. P. Fort told other commissioners this morning at their meeting in City Hall that he suspected he was "fighting a losing battle," but went on record in opposition to Pampa's continued participation in the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority.

Fort took the floor when an item on today's agenda asked that the commission approve a resolution granting a right-of-way on Kentucky St. to the federal government for construction and maintenance of a portion of the Canadian River aqueduct, leading into the city.

Band Director Ted Weems Dies Of Lung Disease

TULSA, Okla. (UPI)—Band leader Ted Weems, who became famous during the 1930's and 40's with such hits as "Heartaches" and "The Martins and the Coys," died Monday night in a Tulsa hospital of a lung ailment.

The 62-year-old orchestra leader, who helped such vocalists as Perry Como along the road to stardom, had been hospitalized here for more than seven weeks with emphysema, a lung-destroying disease.

Weems had been in critical condition most of the time. Doctors said he died shortly before 11 p.m.

Operated Booking Agency

Weems' wife, who came here to be with her husband after he was stricken March 14 while attempting a comeback from a previous attack, was notified at her hotel.

Weems and his son, Ted Jr., in recent years operated a booking agency in Dallas, where he maintained a home.

"He never even got his foot in the door," Mrs. Weems told newsmen earlier, discussing her husband's attempt to play the March 14 engagement in Tulsa.

The band leader was hospitalized the night he arrived for the engagement. Last December he had (See DIRECTOR, Page 3)

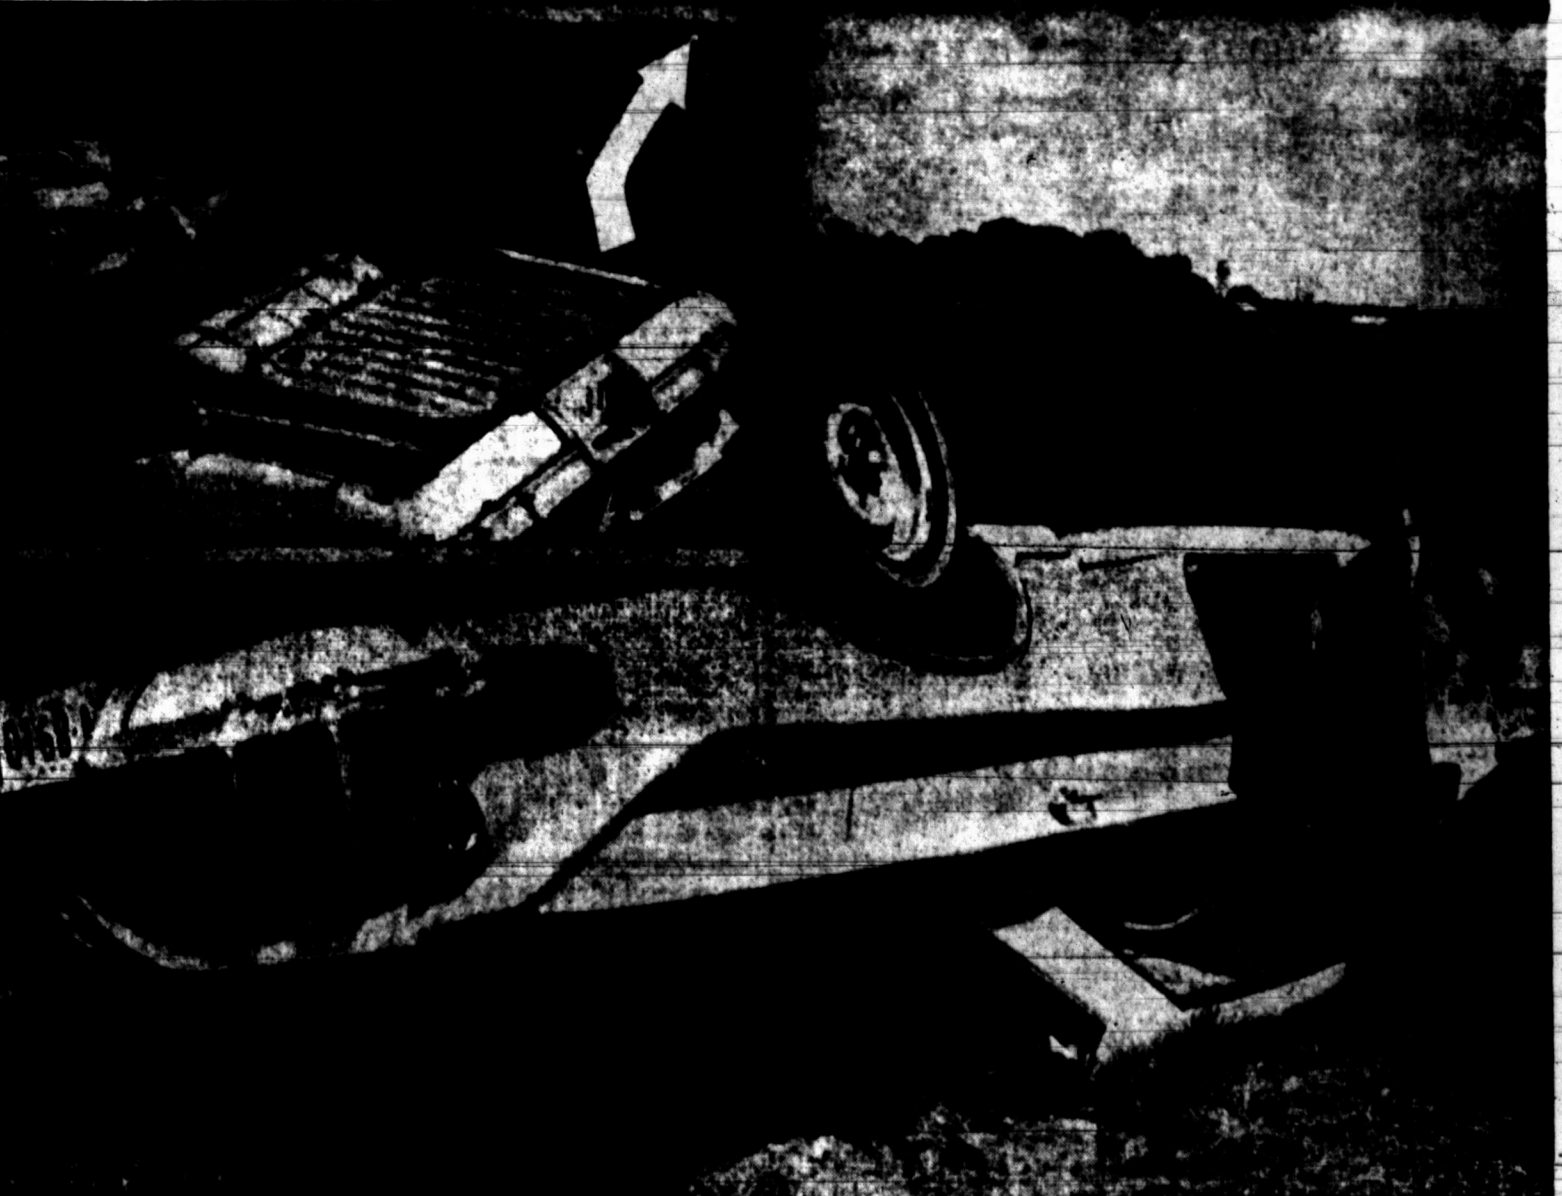

Peace Officers In Pampa for Crime Seminar

The Top O' Texas crime seminar had a luncheon meeting today at the Coronado Inn.

Founded seven months ago, the seminar is a meeting of area police officers, sheriffs, highway patrolmen, Texas Rangers and all law enforcement officers from the Top O' Texas area and some from Oklahoma.

The officers discuss new methods of crime detection and prevention. The meeting enables them to know each other better and work more closely together, according to Gray County Sheriff Rufe Jordan, host at today's meeting.

Jordan said the group originally started with 20 to 30 peace officers, but that 60 were expected for today's luncheon.

Over 3,500 Take Sabin Vaccine

Some 3,535 persons received Type III Sabin oral polio vaccine in Carson County Sunday, according to Mrs. J. B. Howe, county chairman.

Mrs. Howe said the inoculations were given in the following towns: Panhandle, 1,250; Groom, 650; White Deer, 790; Skellytown, 620 and Pantex, 255.

Hicks Resin Price

NEW YORK (UPI)—Union Carbide Corp. announced a price increase of 15 cents a pound on general purpose polyvinyl chloride resin, the basic material for a variety of plastic products.

Textbook Group Appointed for '63

AUSTIN (UPI)—State Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar announced today the appointment of the 15-member state textbook committee for the next year.

The professional educators on the committee were selected for proficiency in certain fields, Edgar's announcement said. Each will read textbooks concerning the specific field for which each member was chosen. Advisers to the textbook committee read and evaluate 275 to 300 textbooks and help the committee members in their recommendations. The committee suggestions go to the state board of education.

The 1963 textbook committee will meet in Austin May 10 to be sworn in.

Committee members and schools represented include Alton O. Bowen of Bryan, Benton L. Brockette of La Marque, Wayne Craddock of Palestine, Avery R. Downing of Waco, Marie Esman of El Paso, Mrs. Lonie Garretson of Pittsburgh, Mrs. Frances Gavena of McAllen, Neida Jobe of Lubbock, Mrs. Christine Kirkpatrick of Denton, Mrs. Fannie L. Knight of Sherman, Dr. John W. McFarland of Houston, Larry O'Rear of Alice, Alan Marie Rohr of Brownwood, Billy W. Sills of Fort Worth, and Arnold F. Whedbee of Beaumont.

New Clock Accurate To 1-Millionth Second

ALAMOGORDO (UPI)—A revolutionary new missile tracking "clock" so precise "it would miss less than one minute in the whole span of time since the days of ancient Greece," according to scientists, is being developed at White Sands Missile Range.

In the instrumentation laboratories of the Army Electronics Research and Development Activity at White Sands, space age clocks are already producing time signals accurate to one second in 200 years.

The new "clock" will be used to synchronize widely separated missile-tracking radars so they will work together with a difference of less than one millionth of a second in performance.

A little-known element called rubidium is the source of accuracy in these instruments. Atoms of the phosphor-like element gyrate within their molecules to emit a resonant frequency with a reliability that is now being harnessed by science.

Scientists hope the rubidium atom will enable them to ultimately develop the best radar tracking the world has known. The close measure of time is expected to be of value in tracking satellites, intercontinental ballistic missiles and for the heartbeat of global communications systems.

The citizen who reads Gen. Thomas D. White's knock on Kennedy administration national defense policies in the Saturday Evening Post will want to cancel 1963 vacation plans and invest his fun money in a bomb shelter. The termite are at work, White wrote in the May 4 Post.

White's termite are the so-called defense intellectuals, young academic theorists. According to White they are displacing experienced military men in making defense policy, especially in the area of weapons decisions.

Fuzzy, innocent and naive are White's words for the defense eggheads of whom, he wrote.

"The very fact that some of the strategy makers refer to their jobs as thinking about the unthinkable is in itself a revelation of the weightless dreamland in which they move and have their influence...."

Freedom Challenge

"What makes the blood of military realists run cold is that a technological breakthrough (for example, a positive defense against ICBM's and Polaris missiles or space weapons or a doomsday bomb with adequate booster) by the Soviet Union could challenge our freedom.

"Fuzzy thinking about war in the atomic age is a dangerous avocation and one we can ill afford around Washington. It indicates willingness to plan idealistic, impracticable or unrealistic alternatives which play into an alert and cynical enemy's hands."

Gen. White, now retired, ended his military career as Air Force chief of staff. His bare-knuckled discussion of Kennedy administration defense policies need not stand alone. Basic in his complaint is belief that civilian innocence is being substituted for military experience in planning the defense of the United States against attack by the Soviet Union. White says the Joint Chiefs of Staff are being bypassed on defense matters.

This invites renewed attention to reports of disagreement within the Pentagon on the administration's plans for a nuclear test ban. The Joint Chiefs are reported to have made written objection to the U. S. test ban treaty proposals. The chief's objection is that U. S. security would suffer. That reveals the Kennedy administration test ban proposals as the product of civilian thinking, perhaps the brainchild of the defense intellectuals of whom White wrote.

Adequate Protection

The administration contends, of course, that U. S. security would be adequately protected under terms of the proposed treaty. The average citizen is not competent to form a judgment on the issues raised. The test ban proposals and the pattern of defense strategy in general are under severe attack. Some of it is partisan. But the swelling clamor of protest cannot be brushed off as misguided partisanship nor, either, as a hubbub generated by odd-ball right wingers.

There is too much at stake for every man, woman and child in the United States in the issue of national defense for anyone to attempt to downgrade the questions raised or the questioners.

When foreign aid policies became suspect and generally unpopular, President Kennedy named Gen. Lucius D. Clay to head a review committee.

Pulitzer

award is designed for a play representing "in marked fashion the educational value of the power of the stage."

It was thought the advisory board might have considered Albee's cathartic and vehement drama outside these qualifications. It was the sixth time since the prizes were established in 1917 that no drama award was given.

Prizes For Reporting

Three newsmen from the New York World Telegram & Sun—Sylvan Fox, Anthony Shannon, and William Longgood—got prizes for reporting under deadline pressure for their coverage on March 1, 1962 of an American Airlines plane crash at New York's International Airport.

Ninety-five persons died in that tragedy. Complicating the coverage of that story was the crush on newspaper staffs created the same day by the vast welcome and ticker tape parade given Lt. Col. John M. Glenn, the astronaut.

In editorial writing, Ira H. Harkey, editor of the Pecos (Miss.) Chronicle, was honored for his work during the integration crisis created when James Meredith became the first Negro admitted as a student to the University of Mississippi.

Other prizes in journalism: —National Reporting: Anthony Lewis of the New York Times for his coverage in 1962 of the U.S. Supreme Court. Particularly noted were his stories on legislative re-appointment. Lewis had won a Pulitzer Prize in 1955 while a staff member of the Washington Daily News.

—Local reporting, not under deadline pressure: Oscar O'Neil Griffin Jr. for a series of articles in the weekly Pecos, (Tex.) Independent and Enterprise that exposed the financial machinations of Billie Sol Estes.

—International Reporting: Hal Hendrix of the Miami (Fla.) News for his dispatches on the Russian arms and troops buildup in Cuba. His stories provided an early disclosure of the installation of Soviet missile launching pads on the Caribbean island.

—Editorial Cartooning: Frank Miller of the Des Moines Register. His award-winning drawing depicted a world shattered by an apparent atomic holocaust. Across a vast chasm, one tattered figure called to another, "I said—we sure settled that dispute, didn't we?"

—Photography: Hector Rondon of La Republica, a Caracas, Venezuela newspaper, for a picture taken during a Venezuelan revolt last June. It showed a priest aiding a wounded soldier and was distributed by the Associated Press. Rondon was under fire when he took the photograph.

The journalism awards, except for the public service gold medal, carry a $1,000 cash prize. The three World Telegram reporters will split the money; each will get a citation.

The other prizes in the arts were as follows:

—Biography: Leon Edel, for his work on Henry James, the American novelist. The year 1962 saw publication of two volumes of Edel's massive study of James, "Vol. II, The Conquest of London, 1870-1881," and "Vol. III, The Middle Years, 1881-1895."

—General Non-Fiction: Barbara W. Tuchman, for "The Guns of August," an account of the preliminaries to and early events of World War I.

—Music: Samuel Barber's Piano Concerto No. 1. Barber had won the music prize previously for the opera "Vanessa," in 1958.

—History: "Washington, Village and Capital, 1800-1878," by Constance MacLaughlin Green. Another volume in this study is planned.

This was the 47th annual award of the Pulitzer Prizes, which were established by Joseph Pulitzer, publisher of the New York World. The prizes are awarded by the trustees of Columbia University after recommendations by an advisory board.

Penkovsky pleaded guilty to all charges against him in a long indictment which accused the two men of funneling Soviet secrets to the spy ring during 1961 and 1962.

Wynne, speaking calmly and facing the court, said "I plead guilty with the exception of those points which I shall name in my statement."

The court adjourned for 30 minutes immediately afterward.

Both men face possible death sentences if convicted.

After the recess, the prosecution started questioning Penkovsky about details of the charges in the indictment. The defendant described the times and circumstances of what he said were his various meetings with Wynne.

Coach Cites Harvesters' 1963 Chances

Guest speaker at the Evening Optimist Club meeting last night was Pampa head football coach Otis Holladay. Coach Holladay spoke on the prospects of next season's football team as evidenced by their first week of spring training.

Holladay was optimistic about the team's chances, stating that they had come along much faster than he had expected and the Harvesters "should have a really good outfit next season."

Holladay pointed out that the Harvesters were playing a very strong pre-district schedule, and were in one of the strongest districts in the state, but that the Harvesters would give their opponents a battle all the way down the line this year.

"The team spirit is good," said Holladay, "and the boys are really getting after it. We have a fair amount of returning lettermen, but the way some of these sophomores have been coming along, there will be a battle royal for a starting berth at almost every position."

Weems, born Wilfred Theodore Weems in Pitcairn, Pa., in 1901, organized his first band while he was still in his youth.

Trademark Was Whittling

Weems' orchestra rose to national prominence during the "golden era" for bands in the 1930's.

Weems' trademark was whittling and peppy dance music. A forerunner of the Lawrence Welk style, he found his most enthusiastic audience among the "mature set."

Weems would sing his way through a song the first time around and then Elmo Tenner would whistle it through on the repeat. The fans on the dance floor would often join in on the whistling version.

Weems' biggest hit was his revival in 1947 of "Heartaches." His first hit was a whistling arrangement of "Nola" featuring Tenner.

Throughout his career, he wrote a number of songs conforming to the style of music he enjoyed playing.

TO HONOR POLICEMEN

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy Monday designated May 15 as "Peace Officers Memorial Day," honoring policemen who have been killed or disabled in the line of duty.

The President's proclamation, carrying out a resolution approved by Congress last Oct. 1, also sets the week beginning May 12 as "Police Week."

Some of the most popular were: "The Martins and the Coys," "The Toyland Band," "Jig Time," "Three Shiftless Skunks," "The Younguns of the Martins and the Coys," and "The One-Man Band."

ALCATRAZ QUESTIONS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Monday voted to set up a five-man commission to consider such questions as whether a plaque should be affixed to a cell at Alcatraz reading "Al Capone slept here."

San Francisco area House members, flooded with suggestions on what to do with the abandoned federal prison, said the proposals range from sensible to ridiculous. The only way out is to let a distinguished, disinterested group sit down and sift through the lot, they decided.

Do Your Bit Around the Home Spring Clean-Up Is Good Time For Getting Rid of Fire Hazards

Homeowners should use the Spring Clean-Up campaign in their community to rid their homes of fire hazards, Lewis A. Vincent, general manager of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, said today.
 The clean-up drive now getting underway in Pampa is the perfect time to throw out the trash that has accumulated in basements or attics and to make the repairs that cut the danger of fire.
 Vincent noted that there are about 800 home fires a day in the United States, and three-quarters of them are the result of carelessness or forgetfulness.
 There is no doubt, he continued, that the campaigns are proving effective fire deterrents.
 Dollar losses are mounting, he said, but this is at least in part a reflection of the expansion of the economy and the rising costs of materials, goods and services.
Prevention Paying Off
 However, studies show that over the years, due in part to fire prevention efforts, the ratio of fire losses to the value of property subject to fire damage is gradually declining.
 "We must congratulate those who direct Clean-Up Week activities," Vincent said. "Their suggestions and slogans have been translated into safer communities."
 There is nothing complicated about any of these suggestions, Vincent observed. They are simply common sense precautions.

Matches—Smoking Chief Cause
 "Nearly one-fourth of all fires are caused by matches or smoking," he said. "Many of these could be prevented by following three simple rules—keep plenty of ashtrays handy, never smoke in bed and keep matches away from children."
 Another 20 percent are due to misuse of electrical equipment. Steps you can take to safeguard life and property include the use of equipment tested and listed by Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc., keeping it in good repair, and not overloading household wiring circuits.
 Vincent urged that the objectives of Spring Clean-Up Week be remembered through the entire year.

11,800 Lost Lives

Last year, Vincent reminded, more than 11,800 persons lost their lives in fires and thousands were seriously injured. Property losses soared to a record $1,265,002,656, the sixth year in a row that losses topped the $1-billion mark. The total bill for the six-year period was almost $7-billion.
 "It is almost impossible to comprehend such a figure," he said. "One example of its size is this: If you counted at the rate of a dollar a second, it would take 222 years of non-stop counting to reach 7 billion."
Would Build Whole City
 "That money would build a whole city of homes. At $15,000 each, it would build 466,666 homes, and, with the 'average family' now consisting of four persons, those homes would shelter 1,866,664 persons—more than the population of Detroit."
 There is no telling how much higher these figures would have been were it not for the Spring Clean-Up Week, Fire Prevention Week and the annual Christmas Fire Safety Campaigns, Vincent said.

Narcotics: Red China's New Cold War Strategy?

By HARRY FERGUSON
 UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL
 WASHINGTON (UPI)—Red China's newest strategy in the cold war is to try to flood the world with narcotics.
 Before things become too melodramatic it should be explained there are no Red Chinese agents lurking in the White House bushes trying to slip opium tablets into President Kennedy's breakfast coffee.
 What the Chinese Reds are after is foreign exchange—money from other countries which can be used to buy such things as tractors and bulldozers. They have vast farms on which the poppy is cultivated, and from the poppy comes opium. From opium, in turn, come morphine and heroin and from them stem most of the trouble the United States is having today with drug addiction.
 It works like this: Not long ago an agent of the Federal Bureau of Narcotics tipped off government officials in Thailand that if they would go to a certain place at a certain time they would find something interesting. What they found was two tons of opium which they seized.
Takes Devious Route
 "The source of this," says Henry L. Giordano, U.S. commissioner of narcotics, "is primarily from Yunnan Province of Communist China. Some of it comes from Burma—the Shan states of Burma—but most of it is moving out of Yunnan Province through Thailand, through Laos, Vietnam into Hong Kong, Singapore, Japan and some of it eventually reaching the United States in the form of heroin."
 America is the top-priority market for drug smugglers. No opium is produced in this country and there are a sizeable number of addicts with money to spend to ease their craving and pain. Agents of the Narcotics Bureau and the customs men are wise and vigilant in catching smugglers, but they are like persons trying to push back the ocean tides with their bare hands.
 To dry up narcotics smuggling the clothing of every person and every piece of baggage that goes through the nation's ports and airports would have to be searched. Everybody—airline pilots, stewards, tourists, sailors from all ships and even foreign diplomats—would have to be considered guilty until proved innocent. Every piece of mail from abroad would have to be opened. It is small wonder that the Treasury Department estimates only five per cent of the drugs smuggled in this country are seized at the ports of entry.
Small Federal Budget
 The Federal Narcotics Bureau has an annual budget of about $5 million, and that practically makes them paupers in a city where an agency dealing in millions instead of billions automatically becomes a second class citizen. It can deploy only 287 agents in this country and abroad, although it works closely with state agencies, local police and the customs agents.
 The fantastic profit to be made out of narcotics in this country enlists the best brains of the underworld. Recently the bureau broke up a ring that had been smuggling drugs into the United States since 1949, and there was evidence to show that the total over the years was 2,200 pounds of pure heroin. Charles Siragusa, deputy narcotics commissioner, computed the retail value of it at $360 million.
 Next to a Central Intelligence agent operating behind the Iron Curtain, a Narcotics Bureau man is in more peril than any employee of the federal investigative bureaus. Sometimes he is dealing with men half-crazed by drugs. His assignment is not only to investigate but bring in the evidence and that means he has to infiltrate the underworld and stay underground until he can get a peddler to sell him some narcotics. Some agents stay underground for as long as 18 months.
Spectacular Results
 Sometimes the results are spectacular as in what the bureau calls "The Case of the Guatemala."
 South Africa's most valuable exports are gold, wool and uranium, in that order.

The Lighter Side Old Theme, New Variation

By DICK WEST
 UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL
 WASHINGTON (UPI)—Place-dropping is a gay little sport, the rules of which are very similar to those of name-dropping.
 The main difference is that in place-dropping—the players win points for where they have been, rather than for who they have been with.
 It is possible to place-drop and name-drop at the same time, but this tends to get complicated and should only be attempted by the more advanced players.
 Place-dropping points are awarded in two categories—the fashionable and the remote. For example, Monaco has a rating of 30 points in the fashionable category and Samarkand is worth 10 points for remoteness.
Scores In Both Categories
 Some places, such as Hyannis Port when the Kennedys are at home, are classed as remotely fashionable and are scored in both categories.
 A player must, of course, be able to drop the place into a conversation in order for the score to count.
 During my recent trip to Venezuela (10 points), I traveled with a group of highly skilled and dedicated players, all of whom were more far flung than I.
 I found myself badly out-classed and, in desperation, began to drop places I had been as a soldier in World War II. Resorting to involuntary wartime military travel is considered bad form.

When the other players discovered what I was doing, I was ejected from the game for un-sportsmanlike conduct.
 The winner by a wide margin was Myron Glaser, a far flung travel writer for the Washington Daily News. However, it was a tainted victory.
Considered Professional
 His occupation gives him professional status and amateur place-droppers ordinarily do not compete against the pros except in open tournaments.
 Glaser took a commanding lead in the third round, or chucker, by dropping Old Rag Mountain, Va. It caught the other players completely off guard.
 He not only scored 13 points for remoteness, but received a 25-point bonus for dropping a place where the other players hadn't been and a 50-point bonus for dropping a place they had never heard of.
 After the match, I asked Glaser if such a place actually existed or whether he had been bluffing. "Yes, Virgil, there really is an Old Rag Mountain," he said. "Some day I'll take you there."
 Our expedition is scheduled to get under way within a few hours from the time I write this. The current American expedition to Mt. Everest may overshadow ours somewhat, but we are not doing it for the glory.
 If all goes well, my next dispatch will come from the summit of Old Rag. Don't miss it if you can.

WHOO?—No great snowy owl. It's airman I.C. Luis Rodriguez, of Encinitas, Calif., assigned to Air Defense Command squadron, Waverly Air Force Station, Iowa. He's shown at midpoint of a 50-mile hike in subzero weather. (Made it, too, in 14 1/2 hours).

ATLANTA—Rev. Martin Luther King, predicting that integration efforts in Birmingham, Ala., will succeed.

Screwworm Is Nearly Under Control

AUSTIN (UPI) — The dread screwworm fly, a serious economic handicap to Southwestern stockmen for many years, may be completely controlled soon.

Gov. John Connally said Monday the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation has gone over its goal of $3 million in contributions to keep the screwworm eradication program going.

The program almost got dropped because of lack of funds earlier this year. Connally had said he would ask the Texas Legislature to match contributions if the $3-million figure was not met.

Joint operators of the program are the foundation, the Texas Animal Health Commission and the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture. Under the program, federal funds are matched as soon as state and private funds become available.

Eradication involves chemical sterilization of male screwworm flies which are then released.

The program began last year in Rio Grande Valley laboratory.

Committee Sets Date for McLean Rodeo, Horse Show

McLEAN (Sp) — Plans are almost complete for McLean's annual 66 Roundup Rodeo and Horse Show. June 5-8 has been set as the dates for the event. The wagon train to Amarillo is scheduled to leave early on the morning of Thursday, May 30, under the leadership of wagon master J. Faris Hess.

Truitt Johnson is president of the rodeo association and Neville Back is vice president in charge of the Horse Show and Bob Sherrod is vice president in charge of the rodeo.

Johnson has appointed the following men to serve as directors: George Orrick, Sammy Haynes, Jack Shelton, Lee Welch, Jim Hathaway, T. Elmo Whaley, Faris Hess, Milton Carpenter, D. C. Lowary, Buck Henley, Cecil Nicholas, Ted Raines, Leslie Darsley, W. W. (Slick) Boyd and Cecil Seany.

Faris Hess accepted the post of boss of the wagon train. Wilson Boyd will be parade chairman and Amos Thacker will serve as his assistant.

Cecil Nicholas is in charge of the saddle ticket sales.

McLean business people and other residents will be encouraged to wear western clothing for two weeks prior to the rodeo celebration.

Raines and Howard Williams are co-chairmen of this phase of the celebration, and they will determine the penalty for persons not cooperating.

Henley was selected chairman of the Old Fiddlers Contest, with Ted Simmons, Johnny Haynes and Donald Cunningham as members of the committee.

Harvey Taylor, C. P. Callahan and Johnny Haynes are members of the cowboy entry committee, with Taylor as chairman.

Mrs. Don Crockett is head of the girls barrel race event and Mrs. Wilson Boyd is in charge of the Old Settlers Reunion.

Other chairmen of the various activities include: Nelson Christie, calf scramble; R. T. Woods and J. T. Trew, furnishing music at Lark on the wagon train's overnight stop; Harvey Hudgins, wood detail for wagon train; Jack Shelton, advertising and publicity; Jim Hathaway and Jimmie Don Morris, concessions; Bob Sherrod, Harvey Taylor, Faris Hess, John C. Haynes, Leroy McCracken and Milly Joe McFall, stock committee.

Back was given authority to select the date for the Horse Show.

Hess has announced that all persons in this area are invited to enter wagons in the wagon train to Amarillo.

A trophy will be presented the winner in the Old Fiddlers Contest in addition to the $25 cash award. The person who sells the most saddle tickets is to receive a $20 stetson hat.

Television In Review

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The do-gooder rides high on television next season.

Keeping up with the times, the networks will flood the airwaves with "entertainment" series about people who do good things rather than attempting great ones. In a sense, it is an easy, popular and backdoor way of presenting some form of the contemporary cultural mainstreams with which television has virtually no connection.

On CBS-TV: George C. Scott plays a social worker in "East Side, West Side," and we know he'll do good for no other reason than that David Susskind is the producer. The "Route 66" boys will also be back, helping people and doing good every time they stop their sports car for gas. And of course nobody does more good than "The Defenders." I don't know how much good "The Nurses" do, but they'll also be back, adding their two cents to the time of the loser.

More Good
On NBC-TV: Robert Taylor will be a worker in the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, so we know he'll be doing some good. The "Eleventh Hour" psychiatrist will be straightening out people's mental problems, while "Dr. Kildare" will take care of their physical ones. "Mr. Novak," as a high school teacher, is sure to be up to some good-doing. And even "The Lieutenant," about a young Marine officer, will not be about combat but — according to NBC — "his growth in personality." And that means more of you-know-what.

On ABC-TV: "The Breaking Point" and "Ben Casey" are this network's answers to psychiatric and sawbones cases who would rather be treated by ABC than NBC. "Channing," about a college, will, you can be sure, do a lot more good than the movies' silly college musicals of the 1950s; and, you can be sure, it won't be as much fun. And "Arrest and Trial" switched Chuck Connors from a prosecutor to a defense attorney, which means it's hewing to the line too.

Doing bad is not chic for next season. Detectives are in the minority. And the cowboy gunsets are going thataway. Only five Westerns return — "Gunsmoke," "The Virginian," "Bonanza," "Rawhide" and "Wagon Train" — and in most of these the heroes spend almost all their time doing good. "Gunsmoke" is the only one of these with a single stand-up hero. The others are group efforts, keeping pace with the hardy individualism and free enterprise of the times.

In all this context, it is interesting to consider the failure of the "It's a Man's World" series, which was about four boys who lived by themselves, tried to work out their own problems and didn't ask help from anybody. It didn't have a chance.

Two thoughts come to mind. One is Marilyn Monroe's famous quote: "I just want to be wonderful." The other is a story told by columnist Mike Connolly in the trade paper "The Hollywood Reporter." In the story, a mother had two chickens, one sick and other healthy. So she killed the healthy chicken to make soup for the sick one.

The Channel Swim: Gary Crosby is expected to be a regular on NBC-TV's new Bill (Jose Jimenez) Dana show in the fall. CBS-TV is reported after Robert Young to be host of its upcoming series about American history, "The Great Adventure," next season.

A group of H-Hollywood unions is angry that NBC-TV's new fall series, "Fanny's Girls," is being shot abroad, and is threatening economic moves against the sponsor. The program deals with an American nightclub act touring Europe.

TOP GENERAL JAILED

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI) — Iran's first four-star general was sentenced to two years in solitary confinement Sunday for embezzlement.

The military court also fined Gen. Abdollah Hedayat $25,000. The former chief of the combined general staff was found guilty of collusion with American construction firms building frontier barracks.

BUYS RUBBER FIRM

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI) — Associated Oil & Gas Co. announced Monday it has acquired all the assets of Long Mile Rubber Co., of Dallas, in exchange for $7,750,000 and 600,000 shares. The purchase is subject to approval by stockholders of both companies.

South Africa's most valuable exports are gold, wool and uranium, in that order.

Dear Abby.... Gossip Repeaters Not Above Inventing It!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: A new family recently moved to town. The wife is very attractive. I heard a woman tell a large group of ladies at a tea that she had heard a rumor about the newcomer. She went into some detail, casting an ugly shadow on the woman's character. Then she smiled and said, "But I don't believe a word of it, do you?" Why, then, did she repeat the story? Before long it had circulated all over town. Now everyone is speculating about the newcomer. How can a person protect herself against something like that?

WAS THERE

DEAR WAS: She can sue for slander, but seldom does. My hat is off to the courageous one who will silence a gossip monger's vicious attack on one who is absent and unable to defend herself. And it is good to remember that those who would repeat vicious gossip are not above inventing it.

DEAR ABBY: Regarding the letter from "EXPECTANT FATHER" who insisted on being in the delivery room when his first child was born: My husband insisted on being present at this event, and was granted permission. Well, I had twins. My husband fainted and fell against the light switch, turning out the lights. I delivered in the dark. Tell husbands to stay out of the delivery room. One patient in there is enough.

P. M. (Morrow Bay, Calif.)

DEAR ABBY: When I was married I had a fairly nice figure. My measurements were 34-25-36. About a month ago I gave birth to my first child. My measurements are now 38-34-42. My doctor agrees that I should be put on a diet, but my husband says he likes me this way. He doesn't want me to lose a single pound. Abby, I love my husband and want to please him, but I'd prefer to be thinner again. Should I please myself or my husband?

PLEASINGLY PLUMP
DEAR PLEASINGLY: Please your doctor! That way you'll be pleasing yourself as well, without deliberately defying your husband.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "DOUBLE SHOT": Dignity is the one thing that cannot be preserved in alcohol.

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. NEW YORK (NEA) — Vacation time is near, and again a confused feminine population will ponder the many names and lengths of shorts in an attempt to buy the right kind for the resort area chosen.

Will Bermudas be in Jamaica? Nassau shorts in Bermuda? Walking shorts on the golf course? There are 10 names commonly used in identifying the various lengths and even sportswear buyers are sometimes perplexed by them. Naturally, the consumer is bewildered.

To simplify this problem here is an easy explanation of the different lengths, according to their names, from Jules Rosen of Pampas, well-known designers of shorts and slacks.

—Clam Digger (also called Fisherman or Cabin Boy)—mid-calf.
—Golf Short — one or two inches above the knee.

Bermuda — two inches above the knee.
—Walking Short or Nassau — three inches above the knee.

—Jamaica — four to five inches above the knee.
—Tennis Short — nine inches above the knee.
—Short Short — 11 to 12 inches above the knee.

WALKING SHORT, NASSAU SHORT SHORT — 11 to 12 inches above knee. BERMUDA — 2 inches above the knee. SURFER — Just a touch below the knee.

Take It From Kathy

by Kathy Peterson

DEAR KATHY: I'm going steady with a boy who just got his first car. I don't mind if he doesn't call every day, but when he walks right past me because he is talking to his friends about his car, I think he is being rude. I'm playing second fiddle to a car, and I'm lost. There is a dance almost every week and he hasn't even asked me to go yet. I need help. — Lost.

Dear Lost: Sharing a boy friend with the mechanical monster isn't half as bad as sharing him with a flesh-and-blood rival. Resign yourself to patting a fender while saying a few nice things about the competition. If you show enough interest in the car, your boy friend will enjoy showing it off to you and discussing it with you.

The novelty will wear off in less time than you think, and that rival will just be your obedient chariot. Bide your time. A boy can't dance with a car. When his interest returns to the human race, you should find yourself close to the top of the list of important matter of fact

Holystone is a soft sandstone used by sailors for scrubbing ship decks. Some authorities say that the name arose from the general practice of scrubbing the decks for Sunday church services; others hold that the name came from the fact that the stone used is naturally porous and full of holes. A small flint or stone having a natural hole in it and worn as a charm is also called a holystone.

IT GOES POOF!—But it's not a new perfume dispenser, despite the attractive lady holding it. The object is called a "subliming solid microrocket" and is designed to make fine adjustments on satellites out in space. The rocket uses a new kind of solid propellant called SUBLEX which turns into a gas when a valve is opened by radio signal. The gas jets out one of the nozzles to provide thrust. The rocket has been selected as "New Product of the Year" by Missiles and Rockets magazine.

Walter Rogers Reports

Continued Drouth

As you know, the past few months have been unusually dry over the High Plains. What are the prospects for improved moisture conditions? I took up this question with my friend Dr. F. W. Reichelderfer, Chief of the U. S. Weather Bureau. It is his estimate that the chances for a wet summer are on a par with those of a dry one. Because science has yet to solve nature's weather-generation secrets, it is impossible to determine definitely whether the dry pattern will continue over the Plains for a prolonged period.

Despite the advances made in irrigation farming in the Panhandle and South Plains, the fact remains that our area's economic health is closely tied to the fortunes of our ranchers and dryland farmers, and lack of rainfall means decreased income for them. When they are hurt by dry-weather, as many of our wheat farmers are this year (particularly north of the Canadian River), retail and wholesale business firms, service firms of all types, and banking institutions also are affected.

Since October of last year, the Panhandle has been in the grip of abnormally dry weather. The Weather Bureau station at Amarillo Air Terminal reports only 3.5 inches of precipitation from October 1 through April 30 — only 57 per cent of the 30-year normal for that seven-month period at Amarillo. This is by no means a record. On the average, Dr. Reichelderfer reports, the October-April period is this dry or drier at Amarillo in about one year of every ten. The record October - April moisture shortage at the Amarillo station occurred in 1935-36 when the total precipitation for that period was only 1.76 inches.

Dr. Reichelderfer says that the immediate outlook for the Panhandle — up to mid-May — is for above average temperatures with precipitation near normal or below normal. But for the period beyond mid-May, the Weather Bureau can't be certain. To date, science has not developed a reliable method to predict moisture conditions for as long as a season or a year ahead. "Such predictions," says Dr. Reichelderfer, "must await clearer understanding of the basic physical factors which produce the atmospheric circulation patterns which generate drouth."

The Amarillo rainfall record shows that the March and April, 1963, precipitation totaled less than three-quarters of an inch. It has done this only seven times in the past 70 years. Three of these seven dry spring seasons were followed by normal or wetter weather during the summer, two of these dry springs produced mild drouth during the summer, and in two of the summers severe drouth developed. As Dr. Reichelderfer points out, this small sample does not produce results which are particularly conclusive either way. "However," he says, "it is known that this area has drouth in about one year out of three, on the average. Therefore, one can reasonably surmise that drouth is more likely this summer than in an ordinary summer because the chances for drouth are about 1 in 2 this year, whereas the average expectancy is about 1 in 3."

One of the Weather Bureau researchers, Wayne C. Palmer, has been making a detailed study of drouth. He has developed a method for evaluating drouth severity. But so far, the results are in climatological terms — that is, they delineate and measure past occurrences of drouth but don't solve the separate problem of drouth prediction. The Weather Bureau has not as yet tested this drouth analysis procedure in Texas, but Dr. Reichelderfer says some areas of the State, including the High Plains, will be studied in the near future. He told me, "Perhaps the results of this machine analysis will enable us to give you some estimate as to the likelihood that another major drouth of several years duration has begun."

"Right now, our guess is that this will not develop into a major drouth like that of the 1950's, but we have precious little basis for such an opinion," said Dr. Reichelderfer. Let us all hope and pray for better, and wetter, conditions. Meanwhile, the USDA Statistical Reporting Service analyst in Austin, Clarence Palmer, reports "Critically dry conditions in the Northern High Plains," where strong hot winds have sapped moisture and retarded growth. Large acreages of wheat are being plowed out. Northern Low and High Plains soils remain critically dry.

By giving you this report, I am not seeking to encourage pessimism. Our people are well able to adjust to these periodic and not unexpected onslaughts of nature. But I think it is important that we know what the situation is, as we head toward summer, 1963.

Here We Go Again, Yanks in First Place

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

The New York Yankees are back on top again and frankly, who did you expect, the Washington Senators?

If you had paid strict attention, you would have known weeks ago everything was going to be okay with the Yanks.

When some alarmists suggested this could be one of their off-years, Manager Ralph Houk said not a chance. When questions were raised about Whitey Ford's arm, the Yankee manager said don't worry. And when anyone asked when Mickey Mantle would start hitting, Houk always said soon.

It looks as if he was right on all counts.

Technically, the Yankees are tied for first place in the American League today with the Kansas City Athletics but the A's had better hurry up and get a picture of that because that situation is subject to change on short notice.

Yanks Crush Tigers

Baring their muscles for the first time in weeks, the Yankees rattled off 15 hits and ran up their highest run total of the season Monday night in crushing the Detroit Tigers, 10-3.

The Tigers ended Ford's string of scoreless innings at 20 when they got to him for three runs in the fourth inning but the veteran southpaw still registered his third straight victory even though Jim Bouton relieved him in the seventh.

Mantle enjoyed a perfect night by driving in three runs on three hits in as many times at bat. With the Yanks leading 4-3, he slashed a two-run homer off loser Hank Aguirre (3-3) in the seventh to make the score 6-3.

Tom Tresh, who also collected three hits, then unloaded a three-run homer off reliever Paul Foytack in the eighth to cap a four-run rally. Bobby Richardson also had three hits and drove in two runs.

In the only other American League game scheduled, the Chicago White Sox beat Kansas City, 5-1, and the Los Angeles Angels snapped a four-game losing streak with a 5-4 victory over the Minnesota Twins.

Pirates Beat Dodgers

Only one game was played in the National League, with the Pittsburgh Pirates downing the Los Angeles Dodgers, 7-4.

Gary Peters of the White Sox, given his first major league start, made the most of it by limiting the A's to four hits and belting a home run himself.

Peters tired after eight innings, however, and Jim Brosnan, picked up 24 hours earlier from the Reds, relieved him in the ninth and set down the A's in order, striking out two of the three batters he faced.

Southpaw Ted Bowsfield suffered his fourth defeat against one victory, yielding 10 of the White Sox' 13 hits, including homers by Peters and Mike Hershberger.

Albie Pearson drove in four of the Angels' five runs against the Twins by connecting for a pair of doubles, both times with the bases loaded.

Pearson's second double came off Bill Pleis with one out in the ninth and broke up the ball game after Zoilo Versalles had singled home Bob Allison in the top of the inning to put Minnesota ahead, 4-3. Dan Orsini was credited with his first victory and Ray Moore charged with his first defeat.

Pinch Single Wins

Johnny Logan's pinch single with the bases full climaxed a four-run rally in the sixth inning that gave the Pirates their come-from-behind victory over the Dodgers.

Jim Watson Earns Letter At A&M

McLEAN (Spl) — Jim Watson of McLean is among 47 Texas A and M College freshmen football players who won letter awards during the 1962 season.

The honorees were announced by Hank Foldberg, A and M athletic director and head football coach.

Watson, a standout gridder with the McLean High School Tigers before his graduation last spring, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Watson.

Bill McBryde of Shamrock was among the freshmen who lettered also.

SNAP IT BACK — Coach Eural Ramsey works on the handoff between center Dean Evans and quarterback Kenny Hebert, while coach Otis Holladay points out the direction in which tailback Eugene "The Bandit" Madrid should cut. Behind them is fullback Clive Seymour and hidden by Hebert is wingback Ricky Stewart. The Harvesters climax their second week of spring training with an intrasquad game Saturday night.

Steelers' Bobby Layne Hangs Up His Helmet

By United Press International

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Bobby Layne, one of the National Football League's greatest quarterbacks, has decided to quit and devote full time to his family and business.

Layne, a 15-year veteran of NFL warfare, made his disclosure in a letter to Pittsburgh Steeler Coach Buddy Parker after a season which saw him set career records in four passing categories.

The Steelers disclosed Layne's retirement plans Monday.

The 36-year-old Layne, who now lives at Lubbock, Tex., was an All-America football player at the University of Texas.

He began his professional-football career with the Chicago Bears in 1948 but was traded quickly to the old New York Bulldogs.

From there he went to Detroit for seven seasons and played his last five campaigns with the Steelers.

Layne holds NFL marks for most touchdown passes (196), most passes attempted (3,700), most passes completed (1,814) and most yards gained passing (26,778).

Parker, who said he received the letter "three or four weeks ago," had advised Layne to retire at the close of last season. He said at the time, "I think Bobby has played long enough. His arm is not as strong as it used to be."

Layne replied to Parker's suggestion by saying he would not return to Pittsburgh if the club management so desired, but he would play elsewhere.

He also rejected, then, and again recently, an offer to become an assistant coach with the Steelers.

Layne and Parker first teamed up in Detroit in 1950. The combine saw the Lions win three championships.

Parker came here as head coach in 1957. A year later he acquired Layne in a trade for Earl Morrill. Layne lost his number one quarterback job to Ed Brown last season, who came to the Steelers from the Bears.

Parker praised Layne as the "best all-around quarterback who ever played."

Gene Green is 'Holdout', Won't Return to Indians

By United Press International

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Dissatisfied with not being traded or played regularly by the Cleveland Indians, outfielder Gene Green says he is a "holdout" and doesn't want to return to the team under present conditions.

"Maybe it's the biggest mistake of my life," the 29-year-old player said Monday night at the House of Serfas Hotel. He stayed in Los Angeles while the team left Monday for Washington.

At the start of the three game series Friday between the Indians and the Los Angeles Angels, the Los Angeles-born Green let it be known that he would like to play for the Angels.

Four Times At Bat — "I heard that the Angels were trying to get me, but Cleveland turned down any deal," Green said. "Apparently I'm not good enough to play for Cleveland but too good to be traded. I've only been up at bat four times this season—and that's ridiculous."

Green hit a home run and a single in his four appearances this season and batted .280 in 66 games for the Indians last year. He was acquired by Cleveland at the end of the 1961 season along with pitcher Dick Donovan and infielder Jim Mahoney, from the Washington Senators for outfielder Jim Piersall. Green played one game for Baltimore in 1960 and three previous years for the St. Louis Cardinals.

"I don't know if I'm going to quit baseball, but under those conditions I'd be an idiot to continue. (Manager) Birdie Tebbetts said I would be used in a pinch-hitting role and then only when the situation called for it," Green said.

Ellis Burton Missing — Ellis Burton, another utility outfielder on the Indians, was also missing when the team arrived in Washington, but Green said he didn't know anything about it and said the last time he saw Burton was Sunday in the Cleveland-Los Angeles game.

Tebbetts was quoted as saying in Washington, "They're both going to get fined. This calls for an automatic fine. I won't know how much I'll fine them until after I hear their stories."

Green's reaction to the reported statement was: "Let him go ahead and fine me. He's going to take more money away from me than I get with the club anyway."

Ford Frick Says Balk Rule Should Be Same

By United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick will inform league presidents Warren Giles and Joe Cronin today that he feels the balk rule should be called the same way in both the National and American leagues.

This does not necessarily mean Frick is in favor of easing the rule. On the contrary, he has already said, "I am in favor of enforcing the rules."

Time to Leave The Lion's Den

Have we been so thoroughly brainwashed that we blindly accept everything that is handed to us — anything in a fancy package, tied with the ribbons and bows of noble words and lofty ideas? The United Nations is a package that has been laid wide open many times, for all to see its shoddy contents exposed. Widely hailed as a panacea for the ills of the world, its ingredients have lacked any potency at all in the uprisings against Soviet oppression in Hungary, Poland and East Germany. Yet, where Katanga is concerned, its potency has proven to be as toxic as a heavy dose of arsenic.

When the UN moved into the Congo and forced Katanga back into union with the corrupt government of Cyrille Adoula, it was not only interfering with the internal affairs of a people, but the interference was of the most heinous sort. The slaughter of unarmed civilians by UN "peace-keeping" forces, their widespread looting, their use of churches and marked hospitals as vantage points for sniping — all spell out clearly what any nation might expect if it surrenders its sovereignty to the United Nations.

Let's look into this Pandora's box and examine its contents. Then, let's make a critical examination of our own thinking — asking ourselves if we haven't been "taken" by the propaganda of the communists and the fuzzy worlders.

Let's look at a list of the UN's founding fathers: Alger Hiss, convicted of perjury for denying, under oath, his communist activities; Vladimir G. Jessup, an official of the Institute of Pacific Relations, cited by a Senate Sub-Committee as a subversive organization; V. N. Molotov; Admiral K. Radinov; Harry Dexter White, shown by FBI records to be a member of a communist cell in Washington, and one-time Assistant Secretary of the Treasury.

This certainly denotes an unhealthy foundation on which to base any movement toward world peace — except under the communist concept of peace, which is to impose its tyranny on the rest of the world.

As a further thought-provoker, from 1946 to the present day, control of the UN "peace force" has been exerted by the Secretary of the Security Council who has been, by some not-so-strange coincidence, a communist. Is it any wonder the Korean war ended in stalemate — or that Soviet tanks were permitted to decimate Hungarians who sought their freedom?

This is all part of the open record, and it adds up to but one thing. If we continue to permit our tax dollars to be used in financing the UN, and continue giving our moral support to this body in which we have but one vote — we must expect to eventually receive treatment similar to that which was meted out to Katanga.

We are now at a fork in the road where we must determine which way to go. One way will preserve our sovereignty and cause us to adopt foreign policies beneficial to us. The other route, the UN way, is but a continuation of the greased slide to the destruction planned for us by the Reds and their "neutral" cohorts.

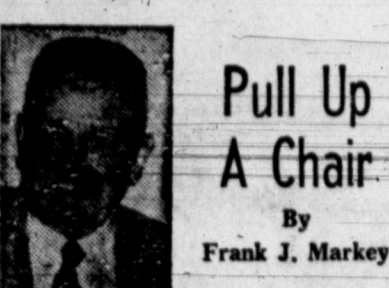

As Americans, we must make this decision now — and convey it in the firmest possible language to our Senators and Representatives in Washington!

Look Forward
It is possible that you have made a mistake a time or two in your life. Instead of brooding over what "might have been" had you not erred, forget it. Learn your lesson, close the book, and then next time your decision will be sound and good will flow.

Pioneers Wanted
We don't hear much these days about young men setting out to seek their fortunes. But if, as we hope, they still do, the happy land of Surinam is beckoning. Also known as Dutch Guiana, its 55,143 square miles stretch inland from a rich, 300-mile Atlantic coastal plain, through the vast jungle of the rain forest to the backlands of the Tumucumaque foothills. To the north is the new "independent" British Guiana under the Moscow-oriented thumb of Cheddy Jagan, and on the south is decadent French Guiana, known principally as a penal colony.

Warmer Under The Roof —
The next time you blow your top and someone tags you as being "hot-headed," he may not be talking through his hat. A University of Wisconsin medical researcher, Dr. Skoda Alonso, has been using a tiny temperature measuring device of his own invention to check on the blood's temperature as it courses through the body.

The hottest blood he finds comes from the liver and the brain. Dr. Alonso's explanation: High-rate metabolic activity (speed at which the brain and

Pull Up A Chair

It's the little things of life that bring a smile and a tear, but this time we are smiling as we read Hedda Hopper's most interesting best-seller, "The Whole Truth and Nothing But." Movie fans will like the confessions of this Hollywood columnist because the book covers not only the doings in the land of make-believe, but it also carries on her feud with Luella Parsons. Both of these ladies have made a good living over the years with syndicated yarns about the screen stars. Sometimes we feel that the feud is pure hokum and the only folks who take it seriously are themselves. When you read everything they have to say about each other, you get the impression that it's about as sincere as an undertaker's get-well-card.

Headings in the Minneapolis Star on two adjoining stories: "HUNT FOR Nude Girl" and "Issues Skirted." Country Editor speaking: "A number of New York churches issued reserved seat cards for Easter services, so here's hoping the 'demand' for pew space will continue throughout the entire year." The Caribbean Islands, with dependable sun and open gambling, have enjoyed their greatest winter tourist season in history. Numerous new luxury hotels have been built in recent years, but they were so booked that many people could not stay one day beyond their reservations. This was especially true in Puerto Rico, where top hotel rates were $35 daily (European plan). But within the shadow of these plush gambling establishments are some of the worst slums we ever saw. All of the Caribbean playgrounds are served by jets which bring visitors who like gambling. The hotels are really mints for their operators, with high rates, full occupancy and low labor costs. In the land of Operation Bootstrap, a maid is paid $50 a month, but this is considered fine pay by natives in the Antilles and the Windward and Leeward Islands. The hotels also get an excellent play from passengers on cruise ships and they are expecting a good summer season.

The medics says that of all sports, tennis is the hardest on the heart, baseball on the arms and football on the legs. There seems to be no hazard in chess or checkers. Since the introduction of jet service, which can cover any part of the United States in a matter of four or five hours, many Congressmen leave Washington on Thursday and Friday and spend the weekend at home. Regardless of how serious the world situation is, they seem to forget that the Pearl Harbor disaster hit America on a Sunday morning. Country Editor speaking: "There are safer ways to prove you are a fool than by reckless driving."

The Bureau of Standards of New York City will soon order all restaurants, bars and hotels to dispense whiskey in full one-ounce shot glasses. An investigation revealed that more than 50 per cent of the outlets are selling whiskey in glasses with false bottoms and conical interiors, which create an optical illusion. The customers are paying for one-ounce and are actually receiving less than half that quantity. This same condition is wide-spread throughout the United States. During the New York World's Fair, which opens next year and continues throughout 1965, Billy Graham will hold evangelistic meetings from time to time in the nearby Met Stadium and also in the Billy Graham Building now being constructed on the exposition grounds.

NO TRAILER TO PARK But Home on Wheels Might Save Taxes

By GEORGE BOARDMAN, Ph. D.

It has been a long time since a young lady told me I could park my trailer in her front yard which make the generous offer of Mrs. Nancy Pierce of Huntington Beach, Calif. doubly appreciated. The fact of the offer being made public through the letters to the editor section of the Register makes me less concerned about the reaction of Mr. Pierce when he gets home and finds a strange trailer in his front yard. At this particular moment, however, we cannot take advantage of the offer because we have no trailer. Of course, Mrs. Pierce did not know my wife and I had discussed the subject of moving around on wheels when further encroachment by government reaches a certain unbearable, to us, level.

A more important item was a statement by Mrs. Pierce concerning the intention of three mothers, including Mrs. Pierce, to enroll their children in private schools. This action will immediately reduce the socialized school budget in direct relation to the number of children removed from the socialized school rolls. In our district, this amounts to something like $750,000 per student, per school year. Logically, enrollment of children in private schools should reduce the overall taxes for parents by an amount equal to the budgeted allowance per student in the socialized school system but socialism is never logical and it never will be.

This brings up another point which should be taken into consideration; I hope Mr. and Mrs. Pierce and the other parents involved will discuss the matter of private school education as a tax deductible item with a well qualified income tax expert. This leads me to a subject which has engaged my interest from a practical point of view for several years; I don't believe the average small business or the average professional man or woman gives enough attention to looking for ways and means of frustrating the snoots and looters lawfully. Just a few weeks ago a young man visited us and I was able to make a simple suggestion regarding the operation of his small business which will help him to avoid certain nuisances and a small expenditure of labor as an unpaid collector for government. This brought us to a few other items and we began to examine other factors with which he might become involved in the future. This brought on an inevitable reaction: "I wonder why everyone doesn't think of these things?"

A great many people have been brain washed into thinking of taxes as some kind of a blessing in disguise. Obviously this prevents them from looking for entirely lawful methods of avoiding some of the taxes. In another group you will find a number of normally intelligent men and women who just can't be bothered. To these you can add the fearful, those who are afraid they may do something to upset the status quo.

Here is one illustration which may provide you with some food for thought. A very good friend of mine discussed the subject of travel in connection with his regular profession with a reliable tax expert. He and his wife bought a trailer and my friend did his work on a daily basis as they moved from city to city and state to state. The entire trip consumed more than one year and the legitimate expenses which could be legitimately charged against his income: train his profession took care of a great deal of the expense involved in the entire undertaking. No don't get me wrong; this long period of travel involved a lot of expense and all of it was legitimately tied up with his profession. He did not make money on saving taxes but he did not pay taxes on a great many legitimately deductible expenses. From his point of view, he was able to travel in connection with his profession for a year and the net cost was nominal. From my point of view, government did not receive quite a few tax dollars it wasn't entitled to in the first place. A great many business and professional people would do well to give these subjects a lot of thought. And thank you, Mrs. Nancy Pierce!

Good luck and good health to you, in Freedom.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economics and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

Question: "How can organized education be real education when it advocates policies, or at least does not oppose them, that result in over $5,000 debt for every man, woman and child piled on them to pay or repudiate?"

That is a question, of course, that we cannot answer, but we wish that some of the advocates of organized education, either compulsory or sectarian, who use the fear of hell and damnation to control the youth of the land, would explain how that can be really beneficial to the children born and unborn. We older people will pass on and the youth of the land and those unborn will be saddled with this condition, which undoubtedly is the result of the kind of organized education which most people think is education.

Organization, of course, means strength, and it is a tendency to mean monopoly. And monopolies are always dangerous. In fact, in the United States the state already has a monopoly on education, because only schools can operate that are satisfactory to the brass hats of what is called "education."

If we were really educating the youth of the land, we wouldn't be leaving the unborn such a stupendous debt hanging over their heads.

And this $5,000 in federal debt alone, let alone the debts they owe to the states, the counties, the cities, the school boards, and the various other taxing units.

We arrive at the $5,000 by taking the over $300 billion that the government admits it owes and adding the $300 billion Social Security obligation, plus pensions and guarantees, until we have it, as Sen. Byrd said, at $1 trillion, 200 billion. Dividing that by 200 million people, we have a $5,000 indebtedness or obligation contracted for every man, woman and child, to be either paid or repudiated.

The real test of education, of course, or anything else, is the results, and when we are piling debts for our children to pay, and claiming we are educating, it is certainly the greatest hoax a nd farce that can be perpetrated on children.

Of course, most of the publishers, Protestant preachers, politicians, businessmen and labor union officials have been trained in tax-supported schools and they have never unlearned what was taught them that the state has a right to do things that are immoral for any individual to do. And when they have a double standard of rightness, they really have no standard at all.

The more we can discuss education that will benefit present and future generations the better off we will be. But the pseudo-educators refuse to publicly discuss what they are teaching or to answer questions. They are like any dictator with power — they have the power and they do not think they need to be rational, so long as they have the power to use taxes to compel people to comply or starve to death.

So the next time you hear a man proclaiming what a wonderful thing tax-supported schools are, ask him whether he thinks it

Edson In Washington Lesson in Laos Crisis: Reds Don't Keep Promises

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Resumption of civil war in Laos gave a lot of people another chance to say "We told you so." The moral is that it's impossible to make a deal with the Russians or any other Communists with any expectation they will keep their promises.

So why did the U.S. get booby-trapped? It may be granted that almost a year's relative peace in Laos has been gained since the cease-fire and the Geneva accord guaranteeing neutrality went into effect and U.S. military advisers were withdrawn. This, however, is not the whole case on which American policy on Laos is built.

When President Kennedy took office, he had three choices on Laos. The first was to abandon the country and let the Communists take it over.

The second was military intervention, in which U.S. troops would take part in a long and difficult jungle and mountain guerrilla action to drive the Reds out of Laos.

The United States was already involved in military support of South Viet Nam against Communist infiltration from North Viet Nam. This operation is still far from successful.

That left only the third alternative, which was to seek a political solution. And when Russia's Nikita Khrushchev agreed with Kennedy at their Vienna meeting that Laos should be a neutral, independent country, it looked like an out.

It was a risk. But it was worth taking to gain time if no more. Roving Ambassador Averell Harriman was assigned to the job. After 15 months of negotiations, the Geneva accord guaranteeing the neutrality of Laos was signed by 14 free world, Communist and neutral nations on July 23, 1962.

But now, as Undersecretary of State for Political Affairs, Harriman has to return to Europe to try to salvage Laotian neutrality. Russia and the United States blame each other for the breakdown.

The chain of events leading up to the new crisis apparently began when Prince Souphanouvong's Pathet Lao Communists in northern Laos attempted to take over the neutralist forces of his half-brother, Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma.

Col. Ketsana Vongsonavanh, commander of neutralist forces in the central Plain of Jars, was murdered in February after he had ordered arrest of Pathet Lao supporters who had shot down a U.S. foreign aid supply plane, killing four Americans. Pathet Lao prevented the arrests.

All this year there has been intermittent raiding by the Pathet Lao against neutralist forces in the Plain of Jars. Reports indicate that fewer than 100 men are involved in each of these forays. But they have the impact of major battles.

The Pathet Lao are believed to number about 20,000 troops plus an unknown number of North Vietnamese who, in violation of the Geneva accord, were not withdrawn after the coalition government was set up.

Neutralist forces are supposed to number only about 2,500 under U.S. Army-trained Captain (now General) Kong Le. He had led a revolt against loyalist forces under Prince Phoumi Nosavan, a former premier with pro-western sympathies.

His army of about 60,000 men is still in the rich and most populous Mekong valley area of southern Laos. They have not been demobilized because there has been no move for unification of the three armed forces under the coalition.

If Undersecretary Harriman's diplomacy in Europe fails to effect a peaceful solution of the new Laotian crisis and a military solution seems inevitable, Gen. Phoumi's army is an ace in the hole for the West.

U.S. troops have now been ordered to Thailand. The U.S. Sevens is fair to pile up debts on the unborn in the amount of $5,000 or $6,000 for the federal government alone, and see what his answer will be. If you can only get him to think that will be a good thing. That's what we need more than anything else—is to get people to think, to reason rationally and advocate things that are in harmony with the laws of the universe.

BLASTING THROUGH A MOUNTAIN—Pennsylvania Turnpike's second tunnel through Allegheny Mountain is being drilled and blasted 125-feet south of the existing tunnel, in use since 1940 when the nation's first turnpike was opened. Traffic is halted briefly in the present tunnel during six blasts a day. Turnpike commission hopes the double tunnels will be able to handle much of the traffic to and from the New York World's Fair in 1964.

PETERBOROUGH, England (UPI) — Walter Cornelius' ambition to match President Kennedy's challenge by walking 50 miles was frustrated today by police, who told him he would create a traffic hazard.

Cornelius, a 39-year-old, life guard, had planned to walk all 50 miles on his hands.

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign Analyst

When from Cairo's Kubbeh Palace the three leaders of Egypt, Syria and Iraq announced their ambitious plan to merge in a new United Arab Republic, Algerian Premier Ahmed Ben Bella dispatched a happy message.

It was he told Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser, "The most wonderful day of my life."

The flag of this new republic would have three green stars against a background of red, white and black bars.

For Nasser it was a new start toward accomplishment of his lifelong vision of an Egypt at the center of three circles—the first Arab, second African and third a Moslem unity which would exert its influence throughout the world.

These were explained in the only book Nasser ever wrote. In it he saw a "role, wandering aimlessly in search of a hero."

He never has left any doubt he considered himself suitable for that role.

The new UAR would establish a single Arab nation extending from the Persian Gulf to the Mediterranean.

It would form the nucleus of the first circle and its mere announcement was enough to send Nasserite mobs into the streets of Amman, capital of neighboring Jordan, to worry the Saudi rulers of Saudi Arabia and to rouse concern in Israel.

With a first step behind him, Nasser this week was considering the second.

In Algiers he was the guest of Ben Bella.

Nasser helped Algerian rebels with money and weapons during their seven-year war against France and Ben Bella is among Nasser's greatest admirers.

Ben Bella looks toward a North African "magreb," a union of Algeria, Tunisia and Morocco.

With Libya and the U.A.R. the sum total could be an Arab federation extending from the Atlantic to the Persian Gulf.

It would be the second circle in Nasser's vision.

But even as Nasser landed in Algiers, things were coming unstuck at home.

In Syria, a smouldering dispute toward the Baathists, members of Syria's largest political party, and Nasserites led to mass resignations from the Syrian cabinet with the Baathists in control.

Baathists, standing for Arab renaissance, hold key positions in both Syria and Iraq.

Politically, they share with the Nasserites an enthusiasm for Arab unity and "Arab socialism," but with a greater degree of parliamentary rule.

They recall Nasser's suppression of the Baathists during the ill-starred Egyptian-Syrian merger of 1958-61.

And their fear now is that so-called collective leadership in a new UAR quickly would deteriorate to one-man Nasser rule.

For the Arab world, more disunited than united, it is a many times told tale. Mutual aims brought the Baathists and Nasser together. Mutual suspicions bid once more to split them apart.

Nasser has proved himself a persistent man but the circles which place Egypt in the center of an Arab world may yet prove to be illusory bubbles.
