

Dog Bites Man—Wrong Man; But Who's the Girl?

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—A police dog which evidently could not tell the good guys from the bad guys bit an officer here today in the climax of a 45-minute chase in which the quarry turned out to be a young woman.

She went to jail while patrolman Dave Courtney, 38, went to a hospital for treatment of an arm wound inflicted by Shadow, a German shepherd dog employed by the North Kansas City, Mo., Police Department.

Courtney did not blame the dog, a veteran of several years police work.

"I just walked too close to that patrol car," he said, adding that three feet was too close. He lunged out the window and took me."

Other officers in the four squad cars which had been pursuing the motorist took her to police headquarters, where she was booked for speeding 70 miles an hour through city streets, running red lights, failure to yield the right-of-way, and driving while intoxicated.

Officers withheld her name because they did not know which if any, of the three she gave them was correct.

Story of Terror, Courage Told

WASHINGTON (UPI) — About 9 p.m. on April 28, a Russian-born U.S. employe in a security-sensitive job returned to his apartment in suburban Washington. As he started to enter, he heard behind him a voice from the past. It was his brother whom he had last seen 23 years ago in Russia.

Thus began a story of personal terror and stolid courage which led Monday to expulsion from this country of a Soviet secret police agent masquerading as a cultural attache at the Soviet Embassy.

The State Department demanded the "immediate departure" of attache Gennadiy G. Sevastyanov, 33, accusing him of attempting to recruit for espionage a U.S. employe by threatening harm to his family in the Soviet Union.

U.S. officials identified the federal employe only as "John." His agency was not disclosed, but was understood to be part of the intelligence complex headed up by the Central Intelligence Agency.

The voice behind him as he paused to enter his apartment was that of his brother, Volodya, who had been brought to the United States in a bizarre attempt to persuade him to spy for Russia.

Volodya suggested they talk in a car he had "parked in the street, but John preferred the apartment and they entered. Volodya was evasive in explaining his presence, saying it had been "arranged."

Shortly, a man entered whom Volodya introduced as "Ivan Ivanovich," his driver. The driver was in fact Sevastyanov, an agent of the Committee for State Security, or KGB, Russia's secret police, and a member of the Soviet Embassy staff since March, 1959.

John's visitors departed after arranging a further talk. When they had gone, he quickly reported the encounter to the FBI, which advised him to continue the meetings. The next two meetings were secretly photographed by FBI agents.

On May 4 Volodya left for the Soviet Union. He could have been apprehended on either espionage or illegal entry charges, but U.S. officials let him go. They considered he was only a helpless tool of the KGB, probably coerced himself by threats to his family.

John, whose age and other details were kept secret to hide his identity, is about to receive U.S. citizenship.

Anniversary of Lost Aviatrix

ATLANTA, Ga. (UPI) — Amelia Earhart and her navigator, Fred Noonan, disappeared somewhere in the Pacific 28 years ago today.

The famed aviatrix and Noonan were on a leg of a round-the-world flight.

Miss Earhart was born here July 24, 1897. On July 24, the city will salute the "first lady of aviation." The program will include the first day issue of a commemorative air mail stamp, and U.S. Postmaster Gen. J. Edward Day will be the main speaker.

The ceremony will be at Amelia Earhart Stadium. Atlanta's municipal airport also is named after Miss Earhart.

NAACP Threatens Reprisal Against Non-Supporters of Civil Rights Bill

CHICAGO (UPI)—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) has threatened to work actively for the defeat of congressmen in 1964 who fail to support strong civil rights legislation.

Executive secretary Roy Wilkins, in a keynote address at the NAACP's 54th annual convention Monday night, specifically named Sens. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., and Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., among those who have opposed President Kennedy's civil rights program.

Wilkins spoke of the "conspiracy" to use Washington, D.C., "to continue human slavery under another name."

Crowd Jams Church
Wilkins told a sweltering, overflow crowd that jammed the 4,000 seats and the aisles, halls and vestibule of a South Side church auditorium that Goldwater:

"...wants what Sen. Russell wants, what Gov. Barnett of Mississippi and Gov. Wallace of Alabama want—"hands off" policy by the federal government with the Negro citizen left to the tender care of the Bull Connors (former Birmingham, Ala., police commissioner) of this world, to the supervision of state governments that bar him from voting and encourage a public climate in which he can be murdered if he tries to vote."

"As we did successfully a generation ago in the case of those senators who voted to confirm the nomination to the U.S. Supreme Court of a judge who had an anti-Negro record we intend to work actively for the defeat in the next election of those lawmakers who fail to support and vote for strong civil rights legislation."

Hits Russell Stand
Wilkins said that Russell had declared the civil rights package is "unpalatable" to him and his.

"We submit," Wilkins said, "that the senator does not know the full meaning of the word. He and his never know what 'unpalatable' really is until they, like the Negro, have the rotten mess of racial discrimination as a daily diet."

Wilkins said Dirksen, the Senate minority leader opposed the section of Kennedy's bill which would ban refusal of service to Negroes by places of public accommodation.

Mac Facing New Scandal Over 'Third Man' Spy

LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan angrily defended his part in the "third man" security case today in a bitter, name-calling House of Commons debate.

Opposition Labor party leader Harold Wilson enraged Macmillan by demanding he appoint a minister of security to end the nation's series of security scandals.

Macmillan pigeonholed the demand and accused Wilson of "inveective and insolence."

The parliamentary battle erupted over Monday's revelation that Harold Philby, former British diplomat in Washington, was indeed the "third man" whose tip-off allowed turncoat diplomats Guy Burgess and Donald MacLean to skip behind the Iron Curtain.

Macmillan said the Burgess and MacLean flight occurred in 1951 under a Labor government. When Macmillan's Conservative party came to power, he said, Philby was "got rid of."

The Laborites jeered.

Statement Issued By Mayor on City Charter Changes

Mayor H. R. Thompson today issued the following statement in connection with the July 9 charter change election in Pampa:

"I have heard statements that some changes have been made in the Charter Amendment Election Ballot different from what was in the petition signed by 814 voters. This is not true. The ballot contains exactly the same items that were on the petition.

"Item 1 is to change the method of electing commissioners. You now vote for one commissioner and mayor (2-3 of the commission). If the amendment carries, the ballot provides that you vote for all commissioners and mayor (3-3 of the commission). The commissioner is to reside in his ward but is to be voted on at large or by all voters.

"Item 2 provides for the election of Mayor Protempore.

"Items 3 and 4 merely eliminates some provisions having to do with a 1947 city election. They are no longer needed in the charter and that is why they should be repealed.

"I urge you to vote July 9th or absentee if you will be out of town at that time."

(Signed) Mayor H. R. Thompson

Final Action Is Postponed on Hiring Agent, Engineers; Employe Handbook Requested

City Commissioners today postponed to a Dallas consulting engineer and bond company representative from Lubbock and Amarillo in connection with the construction of a proposed sewage sanitation plant and a proposed bond issue for financing it.

Carl Shimek of Forrest & Carr, Dallas consulting engineers who made a preliminary survey early this year of the city's water and sewer needs, told the commission of his firm's offer to continue with supervision of the design and construction phase of a sanitation plant. Shimek said the $7,500 already paid for the preliminary survey would be applied on the cost of the additional work if his firm is retained.

Howard Kenyon of the Texas Municipal Bond Co. of Lubbock asked the city to extend his firm's current contract to the fiscal handling of any bond issue in connection with the proposed improvement. R. H. Underwood of the R. H. Underwood Co. of Dallas and Amarillo, also appeared before the commission seeking the fiscal agent contract for the sale of bonds in the event a bond issue is approved by the voters.

The commission decided to give the matter further study and decide on hiring of the engineer and fiscal agent next week.

Commissioner L. P. Fort asked the mayor to have placed on the agenda for future discussion his proposal to have printed a loose leaf operational handbook setting forth in "clear, concise language" just what city policies are and to acquaint city employes with city laws so that they may know just what their duties are under set policies and city laws.

"Much of the knowledge of city employes about city operations and policy is based on hearsay," Fort said. "We have situations where city officials do not know what is law and what is sometimes wobbly precedent."

Fort said he thought there should be a clear, set policy in all areas so Pampa's city employes will know what to do in any situation.

Mayor H. R. Thompson said the matter would be discussed at a later date. Fort said he hoped to (See ENGINEER, Page 3)

Connally to Talk To New Political Group in Texas

AUSTIN (UPI)—Gov. John Connally will make the main address tonight to the first convention of the "United Political Organization," Texas' newest political group which will try to bring a million Negro voters together to form a major political force.

Legislation already signed by Connally will permit registration with a 25-cent fee in the event the poll tax is abolished.

About 300 Negro delegates from throughout the state were expected to register.

State Democratic Executive Committee chairman Eugene M. Locke of Dallas, typical of the state's Democratic leaders who have been attracted to the meeting, also was scheduled to speak. Robert Taylor Jr., executive vice chairman of the President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity will speak and Frank Reeves of Washington will talk on "How to Mobilize the Negro Political Voting Strength."

M. J. Anderson, an Austin insurance man and president of UPO, is one of the most vigorous promoters of the group.

'Commandos' Hired By French Farmers

Solidarity Questioned By Romanian Absence

LONDON (UPI) — Romania, odd man out at the weekend East Berlin Red summit meeting, left a haunting question mark over its solidarity with the Kremlin's front against Communist China.

Romania's strong-man, party chief Gheorghe Gheorghiu-Dej, was a notable absentee at the Red rally at which Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev ostensibly sought and received firm backing from the other satellite leaders for his ideological and political showdown with the Peking regime in Moscow starting Friday.

He was the only satellite boss who stayed away from the summit. Nor did he send a personal ranking representative or commit himself publicly to any specific policy line.

10,000 Meet For Baptist Conference

DALLAS (UPI) — More than 10,000 Baptists assembled today for a nationwide Southern Baptist Evangelical Conference, the first meeting of its kind sponsored by the nation's largest Protestant denomination.

The evangelistic conference begins tonight at Dallas Memorial Auditorium with principal addresses by Dr. W. A. Criswell, pastor of the 12,000-member First Baptist Church of Dallas, the largest in the Southern Baptist Convention; and by Dr. Warren Hultgren, pastor of First Baptist Church, Tulsa, Okla.

Evangelist Billy Graham earlier had been scheduled to open the conference, but was forced to cancel the engagement several months ago because of doctor's orders to curtail his speaking engagements.

Speaking in Graham's spot on the program will be Dr. Criswell and Dr. C. E. Autrey, director of the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board Division of Evangelism in Dallas.

Most of the three-day meeting will be devoted to inspiration-type messages and to sectional meetings designed to help Baptist churches improve techniques of evangelism, said C. Y. Dossey of Dallas, associate in the Southern Baptist Division of Evangelism which is sponsoring the meeting. No business will be conducted.

Vendors' Booths Smashed

AVIGNON, France (UPI) — Free-swinging "commandos" hired by irate farmers today smashed stalls of vendors selling imported fruits and vegetables in this market city.

The men dumped hundreds of tons of peaches, prunes, tomatoes and greens into streets in the second battle in two days over falling prices for domestic produce in a larger wage-price dispute with the government.

Most of the fruits destroyed were imported from Spain, police said.

Today's brawl followed a pitched battle Monday between farmers and club-wielding police which lasted 45 minutes.

The snowballing labor problem threatened to undercut De Gaulle's whole hold-the-line economic policy designed to make France the most powerful industrial nation in Western Europe.

The No. 1 problem was what to do about tomato farmers who raised a bumper crop this year only to see prices fall on the overloaded market.

Farmers, Police Clash

De Gaulle met Monday with Interior Minister Roger Frey as farmers and security forces clashed in Avignon, the center of a lush tomato-growing territory. Meanwhile the government put finishing touches on a bill, given an excellent chance to pass the Gaullist-controlled National Assembly, which would limit and control the right of unions in public service industries to strike.

In Avignon farmers threw bottles and paving stones, injuring three policemen. Four farmers were hospitalized and seven others treated at home for injuries from police nightsticks and a barrage of tear gas bombs. Two tourists were treated for minor cuts.

Bids Opened

Bridge to be Gift of M. K. Brown

Bids were opened yesterday by Gray County commissioners for a $23,705 bridge to be built across White Deer Creek on N. Sumner St. just north of the Boy Scout Center and southwest of Coronado Inn.

Through arrangements with the county commissioners court, total cost of the bridge will be taken care of in a contribution by M.K. Brown, Pampa pioneer and philanthropist, as a dedicated memorial to his 60 years' residence in Gray County.

The contract was awarded to R. L. Garrett of Lubbock, low bidder. Work on the bridge is expected to start within the next ten days.

Construction of the concrete span will be under the supervision of Merriman & Barber, Pampa consulting engineers, who designed the bridge.

The contract price for the project also includes a 300-foot-strip of paving on an unpaved portion of N. Sumner St. and when the bridge and paving are completed they will provide a thoroughfare from the present dead-end of N. Sumner St. at the Boy Scout Center, north to Coronado Dr., which runs in front of the Coronado Inn.

"IN YOU GO" — Buster Collins, dog catcher for the Pampa Police Department is loading another "prisoner" into his already overloaded truck. The dog shown will join the other six already in the truck and to be taken to the pound, where they will be exterminated if no one claims them. Dog licenses are selling rapidly as a result of a campaign to enforce local dog ordinances, according to Aubrey Jones, tax collector, but "dog arrests" are gaining also. (Daily News Photo)

Sew Your Own Shift

By MARY BROOKS PICKEN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

From shop windows to dress racks in our best stores, there are shift dresses. So many, one could think they are coming from outer space.

This season, it seems everyone must own at least one, if not several. Most shift patterns are made up to size 20 only. But if you are slender in the hip in proportion to the bust and are larger than size 20, alterations may be necessary. You can move the pattern in from the fold, front and back, and allow at the side seams to get required bust fullness, plus 4 inches for ease.

The high upward bust dart is seen in most shifts. The very narrow skirted ones are open from the bottom, 8 inches to 12 inches at the side seams, for freedom in walking.

Some shifts are open at the shoulder, lap over and button—the buttons proving decorative, the open shoulder easy for removal of the shift.

For a shift such as shown, you need two lengths plus 5 inches for them, in a 35-inch-or-less-wide fabric: one length plus hems of any fabric as wide as your hip or bust measure, whichever is largest, plus 8 inches.

In other words, if your measurement is 36, then you can use one length of 44-to-45-inch fabric. Bring selvage edges together for cutting.

A tie belt may be worn. If so, make your dress two inches longer than if it is to hang straight. No zipper is needed in a shift. But you must remember, in removing yours, that you must lift up at the hem and bring the garment off over your head.

The lengthwise pieces cut from the sides can be used to face the sides of the open slash. You have allowed, in cutting, for a hem. You can use flat bias binding, or true bias of the fabric to face armholes and neck.

Finish ends of hems as you would the hem at the top of a pocket. Begin the facing at top of hem on each side seam. This way, all raw edges are concealed. If you do not wish your shift to be open at the bottom, make an inverted pleat at the bottom of each side seam, or add a gagelet.

A gagelet can be 6, 8, even 10 inches deep. Taper the seam and stitch it into place. If you are using outside stitching at neck and armholes, you can stitch on outside seam line or reinforce the top of the gagelet on the wrong side.

The above design, No. 8224, is so wonderfully easy to sew, and is available in size 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, Bust 31 to 40. Size 12, 32 bust, 3' yards of 35-inch fabric.

Essence Of Charm Is Thinking Of Others

Dear Kathy

by Kathy Peterson

Dear Kathy: I went out with a boy last weekend and we had a wonderful time. Now he treats me like dirt and flirts with other girls when I'm around.

Is he just making me jealous, or is this a way for him to say that he can't stand me? Please answer in the paper. I know other girls have had the same problem.

—Confused

There are boys who get along well with girls until one they especially like comes along. Then, their behavior would confuse a Solomon: sometimes because they're afraid of being teased if they show their feelings. It can be because they are worried about being turned down for another date. They can be so much in awe of the gal they admire that they don't know how to act.

A request for another date means the boy likes you. Assume he was either showing off a bit or concentrated on the other girls because he didn't quite know how to treat you.

If there isn't another date, you'll know that he has started to show an interest in other girls.

Alcohol-Calories In Weight Battle

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Q — I am trying to lose weight. Do I have to cut out an occasional social highball or glass of beer?

A — In one of the best books on "humane" weight control, "The Safe and Sure Way to Reduce" (Random House), the author states, "If a dieter has been accustomed to one or two drinks a day for many years and regards them as a normal part of his way of life, many students of obesity problems would hesitate to banish alcohol completely from his long-term program. They believe that to deprive him abruptly of what has been a socially acceptable and relaxing part of his routine might threaten his emotional balance at a time when he is undergoing diet discipline."

Q — How do you count calories in alcoholic drinks?

A — Again, turn to "The Safe and Sure Way to Reduce" for the answer: "In general, the way to count calories in whisky, gin and other hard liquors is this: per ounce per proof equals calories. For example, 1 ounce of 86-proof Scotch contains 86 calories. 1 ounce of 100-proof bourbon contains 100 calories and an ounce of 90-proof gin contains 90 calories. If you use gin, vermouth, etc., in mixing, the calories in the mixer must be added to the total in your drink.

"An 8-ounce glass of beer generally contains about 104 calories, according to the Brewers Testing Laboratory. Ale has slightly more, so have foreign beers. Generally, 3 ounces of red wine contain around 70 calories; the same amount of white wine, about 84. Of course, dry wine has fewer calories than sweet."

New in cashmere is a square-necked suit blouse.

One of them seems to shine with cleanliness from her glistening hair to her well-manicured hands and the other overlooks small grooming details.

One of them talks about herself all the time and the other encourages the man to do most of the talking, but so subtly that he doesn't realize he's doing it.

Those are just a few of the reasons why two girls can share beauty honors and yet one click with men and the other doesn't.

Miss Alta June Watson, Ted Shaller Wed By Candlelight In Church Rites

In a candlelight ceremony solemnized in the First Baptist Church on June 7, Miss Alta June Watson became the bride of Ted L. Shaller. Rev. Dan Beltz read the vows before an altar decorated with baskets of white gladioli accented with aqua ribbon bows.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Watson of McLean. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Lee Shaller of Clarendon.

Mrs. Glen Curry, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Miss Linda Willingham of Amarillo, bride's cousin, was bridesmaid. They wore aqua pima cotton dresses featuring a square neckline, full skirts and short sleeves and carnation corsages.

The bride, escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, wore a white street-length gown of white organza over taffeta with a round neckline, full skirt and elbow length sleeves. She carried a bouquet of white carnations with lily-of-the-valley streamers atop a white Bible.

Mrs. Joan Miller provided traditional nuptial selections at the organ and accompanied Mrs. Gladys Stewart as she sang "Aloes" and "Because."

Wendell Luttrell of Clarendon was best man and William Chamberlain, also of Clarendon, served as groomsmen. Carl Watson and Glen Curry, brother and brother-in-law of the bride, were ushers.

A reception for members of the wedding party and relatives was held in the home of the bride's parents immediately following the ceremony.

The bride chose a white arnel jersey suit with white accessories and a white corsage lifted from the bridal bouquet for a wedding trip to points of interest in New Mexico and Colorado.

Mrs. Shaller is a graduate of McLean High School and is employed at the American National Bank in McLean.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Clarendon High School and is a student at Clarendon Junior College.

Mr. and Mrs. Shaller are now at home at 515 West 2nd Street in McLean.

Cooks Equip Kitchens With Gadget 'Arsenals'

By WARD CANNEL
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA) — Quick, everybody, bolt the kitchen door. It's National Housewares Show time again. And that eerie hum in the middle distance is this year's onslaught of revolutionary improvements for the appliance shelf.

Of all the changes in the American personality since Pearl Harbor — from Split Levelty to Second Carism — no seizure has been so epidemic as the chronic U.S. attack of Small Appliances.

What only yesterday was a home on the range with toaster and waffle iron, has imperceptibly become an arsenal of electric knives, electric brooms, electric shoe polishers, electric skillets, electric can-openers, electric hair dryers, electric knife-sharpeners, blenders, grinders, timers, blankets, rotisseries, beaters, massager, hot trays slicers, and...

Well, we spent about $1.5 billion a year on small appliances once production got going after World War II. By 1960 we were up to $5 billion. Last year we spent $7 billion. And there's still no end in sight.

The reasons for it, of course, are as varied and devious as the 110-volt American housewife who, unsatisfied by her victory at polling place and cocktail lounge, yearns for emancipation from the kitchen with recipes that begin: "Placing hands on hips, fold in the whites of two eggs..."

But, alas, few of the appliances built to her specifications are exactly what she had in mind. Some 15 years ago, for example, it was the pressure cooker. Hours of stove time cut to minutes. And about two dozen manufacturers trying to keep up with the demand at an average $29.95 per. But when was the last time you saw a pressure cooker on somebody's stove?

Ten years ago it was the electric deep-fat fryer. A very big $30 item in stores and under Christmas trees. Eight years ago the rotisserie. Seven years ago the hair dryer. Five years ago it was the automatic ice crusher; no fuses, no muss and mountains of icy mist for every emergency.

Well, where are the automatic snows of yesteryear? On the shelf, kitchen cabinet observers say, stored with most of the other small appliances that are trotted out at great cost in labor and management for Special occasions.

But undeterred, the American householder buys on — hypnotized by revolutionary improvements ("just push this button for cleaning") and dazzled by a splendor of small appliances wherever he turns.

So vast is the market that the traditional sales centers in hardware and department stores have been supplemented by discount houses, supermarkets, drug stores, mail-order offerings, jewelry stores, door-to-door vending, party-plan selling and trading — stamp redemption centers.

In such a climate, what delectable can resist an automatic flannel polish dryer, what motorist can do without a gun that fires tokens into a toll chute, what housewife dares defy a home yogurt maker, what infant would complain on a mattress with a built-in mechanism to simulate its mother's heartbeat?

And what president of the U.S., having explained to a press conference that his bandaged finger was the result of a bread-slicing accident, could turn down a Washington press corps gift of an automatic slicing machine (from $29.95 up)?

It is a boon to the industry, says an executive of the General Slicing Machine Co. A veritable boom,

Dear Abby....

Unlearned Wife Troubles Husband

By ARIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 27 and my wife is 20. I'm a high school graduate and she quit at the eighth grade because her mother said she didn't need a diploma to have babies. We've been married for two years and this is my problem: All my wife reads in the newspaper is the funnies. She never listens to the news on the radio and she pouts if I do. She doesn't know what's going on in the world and doesn't care to learn. Last week she asked me where the Berlin Wall was, and why it was there. I nearly fainted. She can't spell worth a hoot and says as long as people can understand her when she talks she doesn't have to spell. The cookbook I bought her is collecting dust. If food doesn't come in a can or a package she won't buy it. How can I get her to improve her mind?

TRoubled HUSBAND: DEAR TROUBLED: If she has no desire to improve her mind, you'll go out of yours before she improves hers. You speak of this woman as though you won her in a raffle. She is the woman you chose to be your lifetime partner. I suggest you make the best of a bad bargain.

DEAR ABBY: This guy I am going with told me that he was married to a Danish girl while he was in the service over there. Now he wants to marry me. He told me they don't have "divorces" in Denmark. If a married couple wants to dissolve a marriage, they just shake hands and say goodbye. Maybe I am ignorant, but I never knew there was anything like that in Denmark. Something tells me he is giving me a line. Can you straighten me out?

DEAR CATHY: The "something" that tells you it's a "line" is your common sense. Divorce is dissolved in Denmark through a court of law, just as it is here. If something was rotten in Denmark, it was your "guy".

DEAR ABBY: I was recently invited to a "housewarming" party. The invitation said a chair had been selected at a local furniture store and everyone was supposed to pay "something" on it. This seemed very crude to me. If this is the "style" now, maybe we should give a housewarming party when we move into our new home next month and ask everyone to pay "something" on the mortgage.

"DISTURBIA" DEAR "DISTURBIA": Perhaps it's the season, but people seem to be getting bolder in their manner of harvesting gifts. In my opinion, there is only one sound reason for giving a gift — for the pleasure of giving.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "C": God divided man into men that they might help each other. Don't stop now.

Pampa Realtor Is Accredited

Quentin Williams received a plaque in recognition of his designation as an accredited farm broker, one of four in Texas, at the regular luncheon meeting of the Pampa Real Estate Board Monday.

Accredited Farm Broker is a professional designation indicating the individual is dedicated to his profession and specializes in specific services for agricultural property. Every Accredited Farm Broker has been examined as to his experience, knowledge, honesty, and integrity. He has also received a satisfactory grade on a lengthy, written examination based on the brokerage of rural properties, economics, ethics, appraising, managing, and legal definitions.

Williams received a B.S. degree in Agriculture from Oklahoma State University and an M. S. Degree from the University of West Virginia. He spent six years in college teaching and agricultural experiment station work, and 15 years in the Soil Conservation Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture prior to entering the real estate brokerage business in Pampa eleven years ago.

Accredited Farm Broker is the highest degree of excellence in the profession, and those who hold this designation are experts on the method of selling, appraising, managing, financing, or developing rural property, and well informed on tax procedures and agricultural trends applicable to the industry.

Williams is the fourth realtor in Texas to receive the designation. There are three Accredited Farm Brokers in Oklahoma and three in New Mexico. Williams also is a certified master broker and is serving as president of Texas Chapter 22 of the National Institute of Farm and Land Brokers. Genevieve Henderson, president of the Pampa Real Estate Board, made the presentation at yesterday's luncheon.

PREDICTS HOT JULY

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Weather Bureau predicts higher than normal temperatures in the eastern two-thirds-of-the-nation in the next 30 days. The Far West can expect below normal temperatures during July the bureau said Monday, while normal to below normal temperatures were forecast for the North Atlantic and South Atlantic coast.

Former Mayor E. C. Sidwell told the commission that he wanted to be heard soon on a matter which he said dealt with "tax inequities and the rising cost of city government."

"I would like to be heard at the earliest possible date," Sidwell said.

Mayor Thompson said the former mayor's request would be granted.

Commissioner Jim Nation questioned Bill Watson, a member of the audience, about a quotation of Watson's which appeared in an out of town newspaper about families moving out of Pampa because of high taxes and high water rates here.

Nation asked Watson to name some of the families that had moved for that reason.

Watson said the story had general circulation around town and that it would take him time to run down the names.

"I think it is damaging to Pampa for irresponsible statements of that type to be circulated over the state," Nation said. "There is too much of it."

Watson said he also heard rumors of a water rate raise coming up in Pampa. He asked if that were true.

"We haven't even discussed water rates," Mayor Thompson said. Commissioner Nation then asked Watson who told him that. Watson said he had the report in confidence, but indicated he could probably furnish some names later.

Gene Lewis, S. Cuyler businessman, asked the mayor if the commission had given any thought yet to Pampa's highway improvement needs.

Mayor Thompson said that project had not yet been considered. "We think our water and sewer plant problem is the No. 1 item on our list right now," Thompson said and we plan to get into the highway and Canadian River projects next."

GOP Claims Lead on Ban Up to Demos

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Republicans served notice today the Democrats must take the lead in any compromise on the administration's proposal to ban discrimination in public accommodations.

The statement was made by Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt., as he prepared to question Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy in his second day of testimony before the Senate Commerce Committee.

Sen. Norris Cotton, R-N.H., echoed Prouty's view.

Prouty said in an interview there was "little doubt" the committee would approve some form of the proposal, a key feature of President Kennedy's civil rights program.

The attorney general, who said Monday the ban was "imperative" if further racial unrest was to be avoided, offered to work with Congress in framing language that would exclude small proprietors, if the lawmakers so desired.

The commission approved a resolution to invest $174.124 that has been lying dormant in the Water and Sewer Revenue Bond Reserve and Emergency Funds. The money will be invested in government securities.

Commissioner Fort wanted to know why it had been dormant so long. City Secretary Edwin Vicars said he had brought it up before other commissions but this was the first commission that had done anything about it.

Former Mayor Sidwell challenged the secretary's statement. "This was news to me," he said.

"It is ridiculous that a city secretary would sit there and say that when anybody knows if it ever had been brought to their attention it would be good business to take care of it right then."

"I still stand on my statement," Vicars said.

Reliever Boosts Yankees On Top

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

Stan Williams has a new pitch, and it's no coincidence that the New York Yankees' American League rivals have that sinking feeling.

The erstwhile fireballer, acquired in a winter trade with the Los Angeles Dodgers, turned in 4 2/3 innings of brilliant one-hit relief pitching Monday night and then revealed that he has added a pitch and revamped his entire pitching style.

"I decided I needed a new pitch," said Williams, whose 3.40 earned run average before Monday night's game had qualified him as the Yankees' biggest disappointment of the season. "And so I developed a sinker by modifying my motion. Instead of throwing full overhand, I now come around three-quarter and the ball naturally comes in low and sinks."

The 6-foot, 4-inch, 230-pound right-hander's near-perfect relief job gave the Yankees a 7-5 victory over the Boston Red Sox and enabled them to open up a 2 1/2-game lead in the AL. It means that the Yankees are edging slightly away from the field for the first time this season—and, if you're an American League fan, you're beginning to get a sinking feeling in your stomach.

Like Drysdale's Both Williams and Yankee manager Ralph Houk compared the big pitcher's new delivery with Don Drysdale's. Drysdale throws full overhand but his fast ball comes in low and sinks. Williams claims he is getting the same result with a slightly modified motion.

Williams made it a gala night for himself when he also delivered a 400-foot, fifth-inning triple that drove in the tie-breaking run and then scored the insurance run on Tony Kubek's third single of the game.

Kubek and Clete Boyer had three hits each, Phil Linz had four and Joe Pepitone had two to give the Yankee infield a total of 12 hits in the Yankees' 17-hit attack. Kubek and Boyer each made a brilliant play in the field and right fielder Roger Maris made an eye-popping catch on Gary Geiger in the seventh inning as the world champions threw up a magnificent defense behind starter Jim Bouton and Williams.

The victory squared Williams' season record at 3-3 and, according to Houk, was "a terrific lift for him." In addition to his troubles with AL opposition, Williams had turned in an utterly miserable performance in the Yankees' "prestige" exhibition game with the New York Mets June 20.

A's Beat Orioles Reliever John Wyatt retired Jim Gentile and Boog Powell with the tying runs aboard in the last of the ninth inning to preserve the Kansas City Athletics' 6-4 victory over the Baltimore Orioles in the only other AL game of the day or night.

Norm Siebern's double was the key blow of a three-run Kansas City rally in the first inning. Jerry Lumpe singled home a run in the third and Wayne Causey homered in the fourth. Bob Johnson had a single and a double for the Orioles.

Arnie Palmer Proves He Can 'Come Back'

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI)—Arnold Palmer, with a new money record of $85,545 in the bank, today planned a "vacation" during which he will shoot for his third straight British-Open golf championship.

"I guess I've proved I could come back," said the guy who apparently had never been away from the manner in which he ripped Tony Lema and Tommy Aaron in a playoff for the $22,000 top money in the $110,000 Cleveland Open golf championship. He was the Palmer of old as he fired a four-under-par 23-35-67, despite a nonchalant bogey on the final hole, to win by three unpressed shots and break his all-time money record of $81,448, which he set last year.

Whatever he wins in the British Open next week will not count in the "official" money winning records kept by the Professional Golfers Association.

But Palmer doesn't mind, for in the last three weeks, and all of them playoffs, he has picked up $54,000. That doesn't include the $1,500 bonus he received in the U.S. Open playoff or the approximately $3,000 he received as his share of the gate receipts in Monday's playoff over the sun-baked, hot and humid Beechmont Country Club course.

Best All Year "From tee to green, I played the best I have all year," said Palmer, who had taken four weeks off the tour to rest after a sorry showing in the Colonial at Fort Worth.

That left some people wondering if perhaps Arnie's innumerable outside activities hadn't caught up with his game.

"I never was worried about my game—all I thought I needed was a little rest," Palmer said. "I took that rest—and well, you can see what has happened."

What happened was: He tied with Paul Harvey in the $100,000 Thunderbird tourney three weeks ago and beat him on the first hole of a sudden death playoff for the $25,000 first money.

He tied Julius Boros and Jacky Cupit for the U.S. Open championship the following week, and lost to Boros in a playoff, picking up $7,000.

The he tied Lema and Aaron and beat them in Monday's playoff for that big $22,000 payoff.

Plans More Tourneys After the British Open Palmer plans to compete in 5 to 10 more tournaments, but he refused to speculate on his chances of topping the $100,000 money mark.

"I never go into a tournament without thinking I'm going to win it," Palmer said. "But when you have such fine young players as Lema and Aaron in there shooting against you, the going is tough."

"I had to be at my best to beat them—and I was. But I'll sure be disappointed if both Tony and Tommy don't keep going. I've been especially close to Lema. We roomed together when I won the Mobile Open in 1960 and you just can't believe how much he has improved since then."

Lema paid tribute to Palmer. "All of us who play golf for a living owe an awful lot to Arnie," said Lema. "He has made the game what it is for us today. He brings out the crowds, and that means money. And in addition to being a great golfer, he's a great guy."

Lema wound up with a 35-35-70 and Aaron with a 37-33-70. They split the second and third place money and received $8,550 each—not counting their cut of the gate receipts.

Babe Ruth League

Kist cracked the First National Bank, 10-3, and Ideal steamrollered the Lions, 12-1, in last night's Babe Ruth League games at Optimist Park.

Bud Hammons scattered six hits and five walks while striking out 12 Banners, while his mates assaulted losing hurler Gary McCarrel for 14 hits, with James Matney getting the last out.

Big sticks for the winners were Larry Jones with three hits and James Matney with a triple. Doc Cornutt and Phil Young had two hits apiece for the Banners.

Johnny Marsh gave up two hits and one third-inning run while walking three and striking out three for Ideal. Lack of fielding support dropped the loss on Dickie Henley, who gave up seven hits, walked four and struck out 13.

Roy Harper had two hits to lead the batting. Hardware vs. Cree and Fannon vs. Enco are tonight's doubleheader.

45s Infielder In Apology

HOUSTON (UPI)—Houston Colt infielder Johnny Temple has apologized for charging "six or seven" umpires were out to "get" him, and blamed it on "the heat of the game."

Temple apologized in a statement released by the Colt management, National League President Warren Giles called Houston officials and demanded an explanation.

Temple said: "In the heat of the game and afterwards, I have said some things that probably were better left unsaid. In some cases, I'm not sure exactly what I said. Because I have been bothered by an inability to even register a mild protest against some of the umpiring calls this season, I have been upset by it."

"If my statements in the clubhouse after Sunday's game were offending in any way to the National League office, I apologize. I had no intention of embarrassing the league office or of impugning the integrity of the league umpires."

Golden Spread Women's Softball The Pampa Queens rolled on undefeated in Golden Spread Women's Softball with a 12-6 win over Skellytown at Hobart Park last night.

Mary Lou Addington made her record 8-1 and Pampa's 9-1 as she gave up 10 hits and five walks, but was backed by good fielding support and heavy hitting against losing hurler Diane Crawford.

Leading the hitting was Ruth Blumer with 3-for-3, while Barbara Ashby, Peg Kastien and Mary Lou each had two hits. Parr, Cruzan and Hughes each had two hits for Skellytown.

Sports Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY
UPI Sports Writer

CLEVELAND (UPI)—You have to put Arnold Palmer into the top bracket with all the famed "killers" of sports today.

Talk about Jack Dempsey in the ring, if you will. Or Bill Tilden on the tennis courts; Jim Thorpe on the gridiron, or Manolete in the blood and steel of the bull ring.

But this guy is something special, too, well fitted to walk with such fairway immortals as Walter Hagen, Bobby Jones and Ben Hogan.

He proved it Monday in the heat which smothered Beechmont Country Club, a rolling golf course on the periphery of Cleveland were the breathless humidity lays in the hollows and wits the starch out of a railroad tie.

Third Tie In Row This was the third week in a row he had been involved in a tie and had to play off for the marbles. Two weeks ago at the Thunderbird Classic he bested Paul Harvey on the first extra hole in a "sudden-death" playoff.

Last week at Brookline he was beaten in a playoff for the U.S. Open championship.

Dempsey lost a few, too. So did Tilden, Thorpe and Manolete. Now it was the third one in a row, and there was $22,000 for first place as he went out against Tony Lema, a 29-year-old ex-Marine from San Leandro, Calif., and young Tommy Aaron, a former Walker Cupper from Gainesville, Ga.

The two who lost would wind up with $8,550 each. Not poverty wages, by any manner of means, but not the jackpot. And Palmer wanted this one because in copping it he would throw the lie at those who said he might be finished. Plus the fact that it would boost his earnings to $85,545—a new all-time record for golf earnings in one year.

Pride A Consideration It goes beyond money with Palmer. It is tremendous pride and a feeling that, everytime he walks out on the tee, he is the best.

The trio went out there in the muggy heat Monday and it was indicative that Lema remarked "I can't finish any worse than in a tie for second."

Palmer never thought of second place. With him, like with all of the great ones, it was the ball of wax or nothing. He took a one shot lead on Lema and two on Aaron by the time they had reached the fourth hole and then it all could have gone down the drain.

Palmer missed the green and left his chip 35 feet short. The others were on the carpet looking for birdies and the whole thing could have changed right there.

So he stepped up and knocked it into the cup—and the other two right out of the box.

When it was over he had shot a four under par 67, legging it home for an anticlimactic bogey on the final hole. The others had 70s, good for a tie for second place.

Talk your Dempseys, your Tildens, your Thorpes and your Manoletes. But don't ever forget the name of Arnold Palmer.

Burning Heads Pitchers Pitchers named by Houk for the 30th All-Star squad were headed by Detroit's Jim Bunning and included Steve Barber of Baltimore, Jim Bouton of New York, Jim Grant of Cleveland, Ken McBride of Los Angeles, Juan Pizarro of Chicago, and relief ace Dick Radatz of Boston.

Houk chose Yankee Elston Howard and Washington's Don Lertper as reserve catchers to Earl Battey and picked Baltimore's Luis Aparicio, Yankee Bobby Richardson, Baltimore's Brooks Robinson and Siebern as infield replacements.

Houk Adds Four Yankees To AL All-Star Team

BOSTON (UPI)—New York manager Ralph Houk today named 17 additional American League All-Stars, four of them Yankees, to the squad he will direct against the National League at Cleveland next Tuesday.

In an announcement made here by league president Joe Cronin, Houk closely followed the form when he named a seven-man pitching staff, two reserve catchers, and four replacements for both the infield and the outfield.

Houk departed from the balloting by the players only once—when he chose Kansas City's Norm Siebern as reserve to his own Joe Pepitone at first base.

Boston's Dick Stuart, had finished second to Pepitone and was the only second choice not selected for the squad.

Under the restrictive rules, however, Houk was required to name at least one player from each club and Siebern was the lone Kansas City player.

His starting infield, announced last weekend, has Pepitone at first, Nellie Fox of Chicago at second, Frank Malzone of Boston at third, and Zoilo Versalles of Minnesota at short.

Outfield spares picked by Houk included Minnesota's Bob Allison and Harmon Killebrew, Tom Tresh of the Yankees, and Boston's Carl Yastrzemski.

Start In Outfield Starting outfielders will be Leon Wagner of Los Angeles, Detroit's Al Kaline, and Albie Pearson of Los Angeles, substituting for the injured Mickey Mantle, who was the first choice in the player poll. Mantle was missing for the first time in 12 games.

In addition to Stuart, there were several other players missing from the list who had expected to be on it. The foremost was Boston pitching leader Bill Monbouquette, with an 11-5 record. The veteran Whitey Ford, a seven-time All-Star selection, with current 12-3 record, also was not on the list.

BOUT ON BRITISH TV NEW YORK (UPI)—Sportvision Inc., which owns the ancillary rights to the Sonny Liston-Floyd Patterson heavyweight title bout, has made arrangements with the British Broadcasting Corporation (BBC) for "same-day" telecasting of the fight.

The bout will be held on July 22, which is early morning of July 23 in Britain. A kinescope of the bout will be flown from Las Vegas to Britain via the polar route immediately after the fight.

Woodeshick Leads Houston Over Cards

It's been a long, rocky road from Wilkes-Barre, Pa., for Hal Woodeshick, but that 1.36 earned run average he's sporting is a cinch to make him the Houston Colts' representative on the National League All-Star team.

It also gives him good reason to claim he's the best relief pitcher in the senior circuit.

A 6-foot, 3-inch, 200-pound left-hander who failed in previous major league trials with Cleveland, Detroit and Washington, Woodeshick has been shooting bullets in relief all season. He's pitched in 27 games and allowed only 10 earned runs in 66 innings. Woodeshick raised his season record to 8-3 Monday night when he yielded one run in three innings to gain credit for the Colts' 4-3, 11-inning win over the St. Louis Cardinals. It was the Colts' second straight victory over the Redbirds and sliced their NL lead to a half-game.

In Extra Innings What makes Woodeshick's record even more distinctive, is the fact the Colts don't score many runs and he's had to battle for his wins in extra innings. The Colts have won six of their last seven extra-inning games and Woodeshick has been the winning pitcher in every one of them.

Bill White doubled home the tying run against Woodeshick in the ninth Monday night but then Hal stopped the Cardinals cold and Colts finally won out in the 11th on Rusty Staub's two-out single which scored Ernie Fazio. Fazio led off the 11th with a bunt single and a move to second on Johnny Temple's sacrifice.

The Dodgers moved to within a half-game of the Cardinals when they beat the Milwaukee Braves, 2-1, the Cincinnati Reds defeated the San Francisco Giants, 4-3, and the Philadelphia Phillies scored an 8-1 victory after losing to the Pittsburgh Pirates, 2-1, in other NL action.

Maury Wills singled, stole second for his 19th theft of the season and scored the winning run for the Dodgers on pinchhitter Wally Moon's double. Johnny Podres pitched a five-hitter and struck out 12 to register his fifth win of the season. Frank Howard homered for the Dodgers and Gene Oliver connected for the Braves.

Home runs by Tommy Harper and Ken Walters paved the way for Cincinnati's Jim Maloney to score his 12th victory against three defeats. Ed Bailey homered for the Giants, but Billy O'Dell suffered his fourth loss compared with 10 wins.

Don Cardwell pitched a four-hitter and struck out eight to win his fourth game for the Pirates when Bill Virdon singled home Ron Brandt with two out in the ninth inning. The Phillies rebounded from the four-hit pitching of Cal McLish (7-4) and an 11-hit attack paced by Johnny Callison and Tony Gonzalez, who stroked three hits apiece, to take the nightcap.

Ralph Dupas, Denny Moyer Hit By Fines

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—The Louisiana Boxing Commission slapped $250 fines each on the managers of world junior middleweight champ Ralph Dupas and former champ Denny Moyer for signing a return-match contract before their April 29 title fight here.

The commission imposed the penalties against Angelo Dundee, Dupas' manager, and Sid Flaherty, Moyer's guide, for a contract signed April 26.

Dupas took Moyer's crown and then defended it successfully against him several weeks later in Baltimore.

Commission Chairman Emile Bruneau, an outspoken opponent of return-match provisions in contracts, said the April 26 pact constituted an agreement to give Moyer a rematch in the event he lost.

Dupas insisted the agreement called for a second fight without regard to who won.

"It was just a contract for both of us to fight again," he said. "No matter what happened." He contended he didn't have to agree to a rematch but did so "because I wanted to have a second fight."

The commission held the pact violated its regulations and was "detrimental to boxing and contrary to its best interest." Bruneau is chairman of the championships committee of the World Boxing Association.

Youth Baseball B&B downed C&M, 7-3, and Crall shut out Highland Drug, 5-0, in last night's Optimist Youth Baseball.

Mickey Ebnkamp took the first win, giving up four scattered singles and issuing only one walk, while striking out seven. Losing hurler Claude Combes gave up nine hits and a pair of free passes.

Mark Stephens, Jim Hollis and Dickie Bailey each had two hits for the winners.

Daniels pitched a magnificent game, giving up only two walks until he lost a no-hitter on two scratch singles in the bottom of the sixth inning. His mates got six hits and five walks off losing hurler Hookins. Thompson led them with two singles and Zieharth and Parrish each had a double.

SIGN FOUR RACKS SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The San Francisco Fortyniners announced Monday that defensive halfbacks Ed "Dove" Terry, Mortons, Dale Messer and Elbert Kimbrough have signed contracts for the 1963 National Football League season.

ARMY-BOUND — Kenny Collins is scheduled to enter the U.S. Army today. Collins, a peerless fielder, was an All-District mention as shortstop for Pampa High this past season.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
 United Press International
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Inevitably, the desegregation conflict is bringing enormous pressure to bear on television.

The pressure stems primarily from the demands of Negro leaders, who are pushing for greater employment of Negroes in jobs both before and behind the cameras, and for what they consider the proper portrayal of their race in programs.

For television, the core of the crisis is financial. Many sponsors and/or advertising agencies believe that an increase in the use of Negroes in shows will bring retaliation from consumers who are foes of desegregation.

Now there is also the added threat that Negroes may retaliate with a boycott of specific products. It will come as no surprise to readers in the South that the so-called northern experts of Madison Avenue in New York find comfort in writing off the whole problem by pointing solely to the Mason-Dixon line.

Yet at least one top spokesman for Negroes has been quoted as saying: "In some cases where Negroes are on television programs, more complaints are received from the North than the South."

One thing is clear, and it is this: The outcome on the headache, for most national sponsors, will have less to do with any matter of belief in either position than with a dollar profit.

For while both advocates and opponents of desegregation are fighting for principles they believe in, it is a rare sponsor—which ever side he may be on—who lets conscience interfere with a profit-and-loss column.

In sum, many sponsors will simply act after seeing who can do them the most good and least harm in dividends. However, as multiple sponsorship of shows increases, more power of decision seems likely to rest with the networks and stations themselves.

There are, of course, exceptions to the probable sponsor action. Some major advertisers are motivated in great part by principle, whatever direction it may take. And local and regional advertisers are more likely to be specially attuned to the particular feelings of their areas. It is the national seller of hard goods who thinks mainly in volume terms.

A recent decision by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) may wind up having considerable effect on the matter. In this decision, the FCC banned "option time," by which the networks were allowed to commandeer the best viewing hours of their affiliate stations for national shows, and therefore for national sponsors. With option time banned the stations can accept or reject any network show, and if and when the matter of race comes up, as it seems certain to, local attitude and consumer interest will assuredly play a greater part than even.

Carla Blamed for Fire, Windstorm Insurance Rates

AUSTIN (UPI)—Hurricane Carla began to cost all Texas homeowners an additional several million dollars a year on fire and windstorm insurance premiums Monday.

Fire and windstorm rates went up yesterday, on orders of the State Board of Insurance. The board has also ordered reductions in coverage in homeowner's policies.

All of the increases are directly attributable to Carla losses paid last year and also tornado, hail and windstorm losses in North Texas and the Panhandle.

The coverage reduction for persons holding homeowner's policies will be simply an application of $100 deductible to all property damage or loss from all perils, eliminating thousands of claims annually for losses under $100.

Do's and Don'ts Promote Vacation Peace of Mind

Heading for a summer vacation at the seashore, in the mountains or at a lake cabin?

Before you pile into the family car and pull away, give a few thoughts to your home, your possessions — and burglars.

When school's out and the majority of 185 million Americans prepare to "get away from it all" at some place other than home, opportunity starts knocking for that segment of Americans who make their livings—burglarizing homes. And the livin' is easy for them in the summertime when families leave on vacations. However, a few simple precautions can prevent a loss, says Police Chief Jim Conner, who offers this checklist of Do's and Don'ts.

1. DO notify your local police force that you will be away and how long. Often they will have a patrol car swing past your home occasionally to check on it.

2. DO carefully lock all windows and doors. All exterior doors should have dead-locking latches. The deadlock makes it virtually impossible for a burglar to open your door by forcing back the latch with a thin piece of plastic pushed between the latch and door jamb. Burglars usually enter only homes that are easy to get into.

In fact, most burglars enter homes through unlocked doors and windows. They prefer this because there is less chance of discovery and because the penalty for simple walking into a home is less than if entry must be forced. "Breaking and entering" merits a stiffer sentence.

3. DO stop deliveries of milk, mail and newspaper deliveries during your absence. A pile of newspapers on the front step is a dead giveaway.

4. DO arrange for a stouthearted neighbor to water and trim your lawn regularly if your absence will be long. Not only will the home have a lived-in look, but the presence of someone working around the house may discourage burglars who are "casing" your home.

5. DO leave lights on in several rooms. A special plug-in self-timer is available to turn room lights on in the evening and off in the morning if desired.

6. Do unplug all appliances, including the TV set.

The list of DON'Ts is relatively brief, but important:

1. DON'T leave the house key under the welcome mat or in the mail box.

2. DON'T label your keys with your name. A Miami Beach hotel manager left his master key on his auto key ring several years ago. The auto key ring had his identification. A total of $180,000 in theft claims were filed against him after prowlers "worked" the hotel.

3. If you have successfully met the challenges of the DO's and DON'Ts above, relax, have a good time and don't worry.

The Lighter Side

Deliverance Day Gift List

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Some clock watcher at the U.S. Chamber of Commerce did a little figuring the other day and came up with a timely calculation.

He ascertained that precisely at 7:12 p.m. on July 9 the 1953 calendar year will be 52 per cent over. Putting it another way, only 48 per cent of the year will be left.

By a stunning coincidence, 52 per cent also happens to be the tax rate on corporation income. Therefore, Edwin P. Neilan, president of the chamber, has proposed that July 9 be designated as "Deliverance Day."

At that time, statistically at least, "the federal government moves out of the top taxing corporations and turns them back to the owners for the rest of the year," the chamber noted.

Neilan recommended that "Deliverance Day" be suitably celebrated by the nation's businessmen, but he neglected to suggest ways that this might be done.

This being the outdoor season, I should think that a cook-out would be appropriate. Perhaps business leaders could get together and barbecue Mortimer Caplin, the revenue commissioner.

Or they could run Chairman Wilbur Mills of the House Ways and Means Committee up a flagpole and fire a 21-gun salute.

Regardless of what mode of celebration is chosen, it seems to me that "Deliverance Day," if it is to become a tradition, calls for an exchange of gifts among those emancipated.

Suggests Gifts
 In this connection, I happen to have at hand the latest catalog published by a company that manufactures a line of toys for executives. Some of them would make ideal gifts for the occasion.

For example, almost any liberated tycoon would appreciate receiving an "executive decision-maker" to help him form snap judgments.

Confronted with a problem, he can arrive at a solution simply by flicking an arrow that spins around a board and finally stops on a square marked "sell out quick," or "go golfing," or "lie about it" or some other logical decision.

Another item that caught my eyes is an "executive jigger" that shows the proper amount of liquor to pour for special occasions. Recommended dosages include 1 1/2 ounces upon being promoted to vice president, 1 1/2 ounces upon being awarded a key to the executive washroom and 2.3 of an ounce to get up courage to ask for a raise.

The jigger does not specify what amount to pour for a toast to "Deliverance Day," but there is a related entry: It prescribes 1 1/2 ounces when tax agents are checking the books.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall said Sunday that the nation's water conservation problem is becoming increasingly serious because rivers have been turned into sewers.

Udall said on a radio television program that increased industrialization coupled with expanding population had made water "one of the really serious natural resource problems" of the United States.

Hereford Man Escapes Jail

BONHAM (UPI)—Police searched today for a "tough character" who tore a 10x10 inch hole in the ceiling of his cell Sunday and fled the Bonham city jail.

Three-time loser James Edward Repp, 29, of Hereford, Tex., had been held in the cell about an hour on drunk and theft charges. The prisoner's car, left parked on the street near the jail when he was arrested, was gone.

Police said Repp may have his wife with him and may be headed for the Sherman-Denison area.
