TEX'S TOPICS

Along about this time every year it becomes the duty of newspaper columnists to start an argument over what was the most interesting news of the year that is just about to fold up.

In other words—What were the ten most interesting news stories of 1936? Careful, now. Just what news story of the year should top the list? There is a difference of opinion on that point. . . . Because it is so fresh in the mind many are wont to give leading position to the love story of David Windsor and Wally Simpson.

Still, for importance the re-election of President Roosevelt must not be overlooked. . . . But for human interest, love element and all that sort of thing the national political story can't hold a candle to the woman who toppled a king from his throne in the name of love.

However, at this point of the broadcast we shall turn the microphone over to J. M. Kendrick, executive editor of the Associated Press, and let him list for you the year's ten most interesting stories, in his opinion, and in their ranking for importance:

1. ROOSEVELT
President Franklin D. Roosevelt again was the key point of interest and developments—all the more emphatically so with his overwhelming reelection over Governor Alf Landon, of Kansas, the Republican nominee, following a bitter campaign, attack and defense of New Deal policies.

Early in the year, the supreme court held unconstitutional the agricultural adjustment act; likewise the Cuffey act. But the President did not permit the power of the Supreme Court to become a dominant issue in the campaign.

Father Coughlin, Lemke and Townsend flopped, so far as the election was concerned.

The soldiers' bonus was paid. The social security act went into effect. The President opened the Pan-American conference in Buenos Aires, receiving a record-breaking reception.

Business conditions improved generally throughout the country. There were widespread wage increases. There was a very sharp increase in dividend payments, the latter caused, in part, by the new surplus tax laws. Unemployment decreased, but remains very much of a problem.

2. MRS. SIMPSON
The Simpson affair, which became known first through the American press and then developed into the issue between King Edward and his government, headed by Prime Minister Baldwin, after the news finally was printed in England—a story that goes into history with other great romances. The sensation came only a few months after the death of King George and cost Edward his throne.

3. WARS
War and threats of war: Italy won its war of conquest with Ethiopia; then the Spanish revolution took the headlines and became the dynamite spot in the ever-growing talk of another World War. Hitler reoccupied the Rhineland; denounced the Locarno pact; signed an agreement with Japan against Russia and the latter led the world—Germany and Japan, in particular—knowing it was ready for war; Japan continued its drive into China; saw several of its ministers assassinated in a military plot.

4. HAUPTMANN
The execution of Bruno Hauptmann, kidnaper of the Lindbergh baby.

5. MARY ASTOR
The Mary Astor child custody case, which brought to light a spicy diary, much to the discomfort of playwright George Kaufman and numerous others connected with the motion picture industry.

6. BAD WEATHER
The spring floods in the east, the drought in the midwest and the tornadoes in the southeast, marked by a heavy loss of life and property damage.

I Heard . . .

Frank Allison commenting that today was the first day of winter but that down in this country the only way one knew it, was by keeping a close check on the calendar. Frank found out about it after two customers had enjoyed a lengthy argument as to whether today or tomorrow was the shortest day of the year.

ARMS EMBARGO ACT IS UPHELD

IMPEACHMENT ALMOST SURE

PRESIDENT OF CUBA VETOES SUGAR TAX BILL

HAVANA, Dec. 21 (AP)—President Miguel Mariano Gomez has vetoed the $1,500,000 sugar tax bill paving the way for prospective impeachment proceedings instituted by his political opponents, Senator Octavio Rivero announced today.

The senator said the chief executive had informed him of his action during a conference in the presidential palace.

The veto measure will be sent to the senate this afternoon, Rivero declared.

Political opponents of President Miguel Mariano Gomez, seeking to oust him because of his fight against the army-sponsored sugar tax bill, declared today the chief executive's veto was necessary "for the welfare of the nation and to preserve the constitution."

The Gomez forces lined up behind Colonel Fulencio Batista, claimed control of 120 of the 169 votes in the house of representatives, eight more than the two-thirds necessary to impeach the president.

The house members were summoned to an extraordinary session at 5 p. m. today to hear the impeachment charges.

Gomez, if impeached, would be tried before the senate, sitting as a court, and a majority vote would decide whether he was guilty of the charge of "an act against the free function of a legislative body."

In this manner, political observers felt, would the final chapter be written in the governmental life of President Gomez who crossed swords with Col. Batista, Cuba's "strong man." Batista sought passage of the sugar tax bill to obtain some $1,500,000 for maintenance of army-taught rural schools.

Gomez, in his opposition to the bill, said he believed it would result only to educate young Cubans in the "dictator manner"—an eventually denied by Batista.

CHRISTMAS TREES FOR NEEDY ARE AVAILABLE

Christmas trees for the less fortunate residents of Pampa will be made available through the generosity of R. W. Wells of Pagosa Springs, Colo., who has more than 100 trees he will exchange for an order signed by Mrs. W. H. Davis.

Mr. Wells brought in several hundred silver spruce trees and with them he included many cedars which he will give away. Mrs. Davis will be in her office in the basement of the city hall all day tomorrow and will issue orders to needy persons. Mr. Wells urges children to apply for the order.

STORES TO STAY OPEN UNTIL NINE THIS WEEK

For the convenience of Christmas shoppers, Pampa merchants will keep their stores open until 9 p. m. tonight, Tuesday and Wednesday before Christmas.

On Thursday, Christmas Eve, the stores will remain open an hour later until 10 p. m.

Merchants today were preparing for a heavy rush of yule shopping business during the remaining days before Christmas.

Postal officials today again reminded the public that the windows in the postoffice will be open each day until 6 p. m. for the mailing of Christmas packages.

Asleep

Christmas will mean only the completion of 15 months of unbroken sleep—with eyes wide open—for 3-year-old Maxine Yarrington. In September, 1935, Maxine was tucked in bed by her parents at Fairview, Pa. Next morning, in a coma, she was taken to an Erie hospital, where she is pictured above. Maxine's affliction, called a form of sleeping sickness, is complicated by the fact her wide, blue eyes have remained open throughout her long slumber.

HOLY FATHER PLANS SPEECH

Pope Pius announced his intention today of broadcasting a Christmas message to the world Thursday to "prove we are still alive."

The broadcast will be made at noon (7 a. m., CST) through a microphone set up in the Pope's study adjoining his bedroom where he has been confined with circulatory congestion and fever.

The 79-year-old Holy Father will be carried to his desk and placed in an armchair in front of the microphone.

The Pope persisted in making arrangements for the Christmas broadcast despite the pleading of his doctor to remain absolutely quiet.

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 21 (AP)—Pope Pius, confined to his bed with circulatory congestion and a slight fever, expressed the wish today to broadcast a Christmas eve message to the world.

The 79-year-old Holy Father, instructed by his physicians to curtail his activities rigorously, was represented as believing a yuletide radio statement would modify world-wide concern over the state of his health.

Father Socorsi, director of the Vatican radio station, was summoned to the pontiff's bedroom to discuss technical arrangements for the prospective broadcast.

Prelates declared the Pope might speak into a microphone set up in his study adjoining the sick room.

The orders for a stricter regimen were put into effect after the Pope suffered a fainting spell as he lay in bed yesterday.

The attack was caused, doctors said, by his irregular heart action, the result of circulatory stagnation.

His re-arrest was caused under a statement would modify world-wide concern over the state of his health.

LOWER COURT DECISION IS REVERSED 7-1

JUSTICE SUTHERLAND IS COURT'S ONLY DISSENTER

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (AP)—A ruling on litigation involving constitutionality of the Frazier-Lemke act granting a three-year moratorium on farm mortgage foreclosures was promised today by the Supreme Court.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (AP)—The 1934 arms embargo act which authorized President Roosevelt to forbid the sale of munitions in this country for use in the recent Chaco war between Bolivia and Paraguay was held constitutional today by the Supreme Court.

The government had contended a decision by the southern New York Federal District Court that the measure constituted an invalid delegation of legislative power to the President would "operate to nullify in large part" legislation "to preserve American neutrality."

This ruling was reversed by the Supreme Court in a 7 to 1 opinion delivered by Justice Sutherland.

Justice McReynolds was the lone dissenter. He held that "the court below reached the right conclusion and its judgment ought to be affirmed."

That was the only statement made in explanation of his position. There was no written dissenting opinion. Justice Stone, ill with dysentery, did not participate.

Recently enacted legislation provides that "whenever the President shall find that there exists a state of war" between two or more countries he "shall proclaim such fact" and thereafter it would be unlawful to export munitions to those countries.

This resolution expires May 1. Congress is expected to enact substitute legislation at the January session.

The 1934 measure applied only to the Chaco war. The embargo was lifted when hostilities ceased.

The majority decision said "it is quite apparent that if, in the maintenance of our international relations, embarrassment—perhaps serious embarrassment—is to be avoided and success for our arms achieved, congressional legislation which is to be made effective through negotiation and inquiry must often accord to the President a degree of discretion and freedom from statutory restriction which would not be admissible if domestic affairs alone involved."

"Not Congress, has the better opportunity of knowing the conditions which prevail in foreign countries, and especially is this true in time of war."

FRESH BOMBARDMENT OF MADRID STARTED

MADRID, Dec. 21 (AP)—Insurgent artillery batteries opened fresh bombardment of Madrid today, four sharp shells falling into the center of the capital.

One Fascist shell struck near the telephone building, Spain's tallest commercial structure.

Socialist troops moved into strong positions in the western suburban sectors, consolidating a hotly-fought victory on the Fascist left flank.

The Spanish defenders strengthened their lines for 12 miles along the strategic El Escorial highway to the snow-capped Guadarrama mountains.

One Of Two Lost Airliners Found, 2 Occupants Dead

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 21 (AP)—One of two airliners lost in the west was found today, both occupants believed dead, as Amelia Earhart Putnam joined the search for the other vanished craft, missing with seven persons.

Lieut. Byron Cooper, national guard pilot, radioed to Spokane, Wash., he had sighted in northern Idaho wreckage of the Northwest Airlines transport missing on a flight from St. Paul to Spokane since Friday.

"There is no question but that both men are dead," the flyer said, "because we sighted the wings about 200 feet down the mountainside from where the fuselage appears to be."

The occupants of the craft, carrying 500 pounds of mail, were Pilot Joe Livermore and Co-Pilot Arthur A. Hald.

A ground party was organized to start the tortuous journey to the reported scene of disaster, on cemetery Ridge, near Calder, Idaho.

Mrs. Putnam, famed air conqueror of two oceans, arrived unexpectedly with her technical adviser, Paul Mantz, to help seek a Western Air Lines plane lost since last Tuesday. Changing an earlier plan, she suddenly announced she was "going to Brigham City on a clue of my own."

She would not discuss details. Her flight, however, coincided with a report from a farmer near that northern Utah valley city that he heard a "crash of some kind" last Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Putnam planned to return to Salt Lake City later in the day.

At about the same time, a new report of mysterious radio signals that could have come from a grounded plane once more raised faint hope for the five men and two women missing in the Western Air craft.

At Sacramento, Calif., M. R. Williamson said he picked up an unidentified radio call—a man's weak voice.

"Come quick. Cannot open door."

Other unidentified radio calls heard Saturday, had been discounted by search leaders.

Chief Hurst wrote to the California firm, and yesterday received a telegram to the effect that the car belonged to them and that it be held until a representative arrived. The message also revealed that a trailer should have been attached.

Chief Hurst found road maps of Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Missouri in the car. Also in the pocket was a postcard, apparently written in Buffalo, N. Y., with Fort Huron, Mich., its destination. It had never been mailed. The card was addressed to "Dear Mom," Mrs. C. Rowe, and was signed Fred.

The card read that the writer had just arrived in Buffalo after driving all night and that "we" would start after a brief rest for Chicago.

Chief Hurst is wondering why a car being driven from Illinois to California would be in Buffalo. Why wasn't the card mailed? Where is the driver? Where is the trailer? Many of the questions may be answered when the representative of Paul Gray, Inc., arrives. In the meantime, Chief Hurst plans to write to Mrs. Rowe.

Officers advance the theory that the driver of the car may have met with foul play or that he might have been kidnapped. He may have just gone for a ride to the east and then abandoned the car when he reached Pampa. His writing the card to his mother would do away with the kidnapping theory, unless it took place later. Failure to post the card gives the mystery a look of foul play.

RELIEF DRIVE IS POSTPONED

Decision to carry Pampa's Supplementary Relief Drive over until after Christmas was reached by fund officials today when it became evident that fund solicitors were too busy with holiday business to devote sufficient time to the campaign during the next few days.

Mr. Garman said today that names of relief fund contributors will be published in The News in the Christmas morning edition.

Decision to carry Pampa's Supplementary Relief Drive over until after Christmas was reached by fund officials today when it became evident that fund solicitors were too busy with holiday business to devote sufficient time to the campaign during the next few days.

Mr. Garman, financial chairman of the drive, reported this forenoon that $3,752 of the relief fund's $5,000 goal had been raised in cash and pledges up until noon today.

Mr. Garman, however, again urged fund workers to devote what time they can to the campaign and to make a report as early as possible to fund headquarters in City Hall.

"Solicitors who have not yet made their reports are delaying the progress of the campaign," Mr. Garman said. "We realize that this is a busy time of the year, but we do hope that everyone will cooperate to the limit to devote what time they can to put the campaign across the goal line by the first of the year."

"The need for this supplementary relief money in Pampa is great. The situation has been thoroughly investigated. We doubt even if the $5,000 will be sufficient to meet the needs during the coming winter months."

Fund officials also were relying on the mail appeal sent out several days ago to boost the total contributions.

"Persons who have received pledge cards by mail," Mr. Garman stated, "should fill them in at once and return them to fund headquarters. Response to this mail appeal will be necessary to raise the needed amount for the relief set-up."

MRS. MADDOX' MOTHER KILLED IN CAR CRASH

Injuries received in an automobile accident three miles west of Vernon Saturday evening proved fatal to Mrs. Dan Cherry of Bridgeport a few hours later. Mr. Cherry, who with Mrs. Cherry was enroute to Pampa to visit her daughter, Mrs. F. C. Maddox, and Mr. Maddox, was slightly injured.

Details of the accident are meager. It was learned by friends that the Cherry car crashed into a truck which had pulled out to pass a car. The car was demolished.

Mrs. Cherry was well known in Pampa, she having spent several months with her daughter here. Mr. and Mrs. Maddox left for Vernon immediately upon learning of the accident by Mrs. Cherry died an hour before they arrived.

Yesterday Mr. and Mrs. N. F. Maddox and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Lynn drove to Vernon. Mr. and Mrs. Lynn returned home last night but Mr. and Mrs. Maddox remained to accompany the body to Fort Worth where burial was scheduled this afternoon following services at Harrison and Cole mortuary.

MRS. EINSTEIN DIES

PRINCETON, N. J., Dec. 21 (AP)—Mrs. Elsa Einstein, wife of the noted German scientist, died yesterday at their home here after a year's illness, it was disclosed today. Informed sources said her illness became serious six weeks ago and that for the past two weeks she had been in virtually a state of coma.

TRAILER NOT WITH MACHINE, OWNERS TOLD

COMPANY MEMBER TO COME TO PAMPA FOR CAR

Where is the driver of a new Terraplane car found abandoned in South Pampa last week? Police Chief Art Hurst and his officers are unable to answer the question even though they have located the owner of the car. The police stored the car in a local garage expecting the owner to call for it. When no one inquired about it, Chief Hurst found a transfer card bearing the name of Paul Gray, Inc., Los Angeles, Calif., signed by the Michigan highway commissioner.

Chief Hurst wrote to the California firm, and yesterday received a telegram to the effect that the car belonged to them and that it be held until a representative arrived. The message also revealed that a trailer should have been attached.

Mr. McMillen asked for 500 tickets. He received assurance that at least 400 tickets for seats in the east grandstand between the 25 and 40 yard lines, on the south end, would be available for Pampa fans.

Empire's Love of Elizabeth Started From the First Sight

(When Edward VIII was Prince of Wales, the empire rated him first in its affections, although the birth of a daughter to his brother, Duke of York, in 1926, gave him a close rival. Now that he's Duke of Windsor, and his brother is George VI, that girl, Princess Elizabeth, succeeds to her uncle's place as charter extraordinary. This is the first of a three-part series telling the story of the winsome little heir-apparent.)

By CHARLES NORMAN (AP Feature Service Writer)

A little princess, as pretty as any in Hans Christian Andersen's fairy tales, rules Britain's empire of hearts.

Some day she may sit on the throne as Elizabeth II, and in this most probable event Englishmen see the possibility of "Good Queen Bess' glorious days" again.

No fairy godmothers attended her birth in the old-fashioned house at 17 Burton Street, London, the town residence of her maternal grandfather, the Earl of Strathmore. But personages from a fairy tale world were there in number on April 22, 1926—peers of the realm, princes of the blood, and a solemnly garbed figure, the Home Secretary, whose presence was required at the birth of a royal child.

Crowds Awaited News Outside in Brunton Street, ordinary citizens of London gathered in excited groups to discuss the event, for even without knowing the child of the Duke and Duchess of York was a boy or a girl they knew that some day the little addition to the royal family might rule over them.

Aging George V was on the throne, and next to him the most popular figure in the Empire was the Prince of Wales; but the prince had shown himself a sluggard as regards marriage, and next in line for the throne was his brother, the Duke of York, and after him his children.

Thus, from the moment of her birth, Princess Elizabeth was third in line for the succession. Baby Hand Won Hearts Hers has been a colorful, if somewhat restricted, existence under the supervision of loving parents much in the public eye themselves; of royal nurses and royal retainers; of progress from town palaces to country castles with all the pomp of a medieval princess' retinue accompanying her.

From the time she first waved to adoring men and women from her carriage in royal, and high that at Great Park to the present, when her appearance in public is an eagerly watched-for event, she has conducted herself like one born to the purple and ermine of sovereigns, and has done it with a childish charm and warmth of spirit that have endeared her to all generations.

Taken To Glamis Castle Her mother was Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyan, of an aristocratic Scottish family whose seat is Glamis Castle where the Lyons of the Great cut in the cream cheese and butter. Wrap the dough in waxed paper and place in refrigerator overnight. To make turnovers, roll out dough to 1-8 inch thickness. Cut into squares. On each place a little gooseberry jam. Gather up the corners and pinch them together. Brush lightly with milk. Bake in very hot oven for about 15 minutes. Turnovers should be served hot and shoo them into the living room.

"Now stir the fire, and close the shutters fast. Let fall the curtains, wheel the sofa round, And while the bubbling and loud hissing urn Throws up a steamy column, and the cups That cheer but not inebriate, wait on each, So let us welcome peaceful evening in."

The tea which William Cowper wrote of was made as follows: Scald the pot, drain. Place in 1 teaspoon tea for each serving and an extra for the pot. Four in a little boiling water. Cover. Stand a minute. Pour in another quantity of boiling water. Cover and stand again. Then add the remaining boiling water and stand until brewed.

CHURCH DRAMA IS IMPRESSIVE YULE SERVICE

Children of First Christian Church Remembered

A huge crowd packed the auditorium last night at First Christian church to see the play, "The Star Shines On," which was given by a local cast directed by the minister, John S. Mullen.

The costuming and tableaux accompanied by the singing of the quartet were very impressive. Especially good was the final tableau which included Mary and Joseph at the manger, the shepherds and the wise men from the east.

The quartet was under the direction of R. L. Allston with Mrs. Mel Davis at the piano. Howard House played Christmas carols on the vibraphone. At the close of the play an offering amounting to $134.08 was taken for the Juliet Fowler orphanage at Dallas.

This afternoon a Christmas party will be given by the Beginners Sunday school class, from 3 to 4:30 at the church. A short program of games, a Christmas tree and treats will be given for all the children and their mothers. At the same hour, the primary and junior departments will have their Christmas party which will also include a tree and a treat for the children. This will also be at the church.

WILL ROGERS in "STATE FAIR"

"YOURS FOR THE ASKING"

FOR EXPECTED TO CARRY ON IN CONGRESS

CONSTITUTION DUE TO BE INTERPRETED IN SESSION

(Editor's Note: The 76th Congress, elected in the landslide which returned President Roosevelt to the White House, convenes January 5. Guided by recommendations of the chief executive, the predominantly Democratic legislature will seek to interpret into law public sentiment expressed at the polls. In a series of five stories by staff writers who have specialized in their field, the Washington bureau of the Associated Press will outline some major issues awaiting solution.

(The first story discusses constitutional problems raised by labor and farm demands on one side and Supreme Court decisions on the other.)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (AP)—The forthcoming Congress is widely expected to go down in history either as an adept stepper within the Constitution as it stands or the proposer of an amendment to enlarge federal powers.

In the political campaign, President Roosevelt and his leaders re-dedicated themselves to NRA and AAA objectives and promised "action." After running a record which showed a six to three score against the administration in the Supreme Court, they have interpreted the overwhelming victory as a mandate to carry on.

The way arriving legislators talk indicates the budgetary, neutrality and other debates may all be conducted before that broad backdrop of differences over fundamentals.

Just where does the line of federal authority stop and "state's rights" begin? Shall we define "general welfare" for once and all? Exactly what does "due process of law" mean?

So the questions run as legislators intent upon regulation of wages and house control crop production re-study Supreme Court decisions bearing on those problems. In one respect the atmosphere is reminiscent of March, 1935, when Congress and the country looked so unquestioningly to the President for leadership. Today again the lead is for him to take. His close advisors say they don't know what he intends; but quickly add it will not be retreat.

Never before was there an election in which the candidates pledged to seek a constitutional amendment "if necessary." Unless questions of wage and hour standards and "unfair business practices" can be answered effectively otherwise, the Democratic platform called for an amendment looking to joint federal and state jurisdiction.

Mr. Roosevelt already has sought to encourage more state legislation on wages and hours, unemployment insurance and old age protection. He promised a platform to supplement the state action when the problems assume an interstate character.

In the general opinion, he will recommend attempts at voluntary cooperation and further legislative exploration of constitutional boundaries before broaching an amendment. He is not believed by advisors to sympathize with proposals to curtail the power of the Supreme Court, or to enlarge its membership.

SENATOR NORBECK OF NORTH DAKOTA PASSES

REDFIELD, S. D., Dec. 21 (AP)—The death of United States Senator Peter Norbeck, who rose from penniless youth to become the first native-born governor and senator of his state, intensified political complications in South Dakota today.

The Republican senator, who was 66 years old, died at his home here yesterday of a heart disease complicated by a cancerous condition of the tongue and jaw.

Prominently mentioned as a possible successor was Governor Thomas Berry, democrat, who will retire from office in two weeks.

Governor Berry, asked whether he planned to resign from office and have himself appointed to fill Senator Norbeck's unexpired term, declined to comment.

IDENTITY OF AMERICAN VICTIM IS LEARNED

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 21 (AP)—An amnesia victim's sub-conscious mind revealed his identity today after a psychologist placed him in a hypnotic state.

The victim said he was Ray Roach of Omaha, Neb., a clerical employe in a bank.

Dr. Otto C. Lucy of the Lucy Psychological Clinic said Oklahoma City police asked his help after the amnesia victim appealed for aid in identifying himself.

Dr. Lucy said young Roach was in a hypnotic state for about 30 minutes.

"I began probing his sub-conscious mind," said Dr. Lucy.

"I asked him his name and he told me."

"During my questioning, he disclosed he worked for the United States National Bank in the debt department in Omaha, and the name of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Roach."

Dr. Lucy said he has solved several amnesia cases for the police here through the use of hypnosis.

SALVATION ARMY WILL DISTRIBUTE TWENTY BASKETS

The Salvation Army pot is boiling in downtown Pampa for the benefit of the city's needy at Christmas time.

Capt. Hermann Lambrecht, head of the local post, announced today that the Army is cooperating with the American Legion's Good Fellows' club to see to it that every family in Pampa has a merry Christmas.

The two agencies will distribute Christmas dinner baskets to the needy families Christmas morning.

Twenty names already have been taken from the Good Fellows' list by the Salvation Army. Captain Lambrecht said today, and it is hoped that additional families can be cared for by the Army on Christmas.

This will depend on the support given to the Army kettles. They are located in front of Penney's store and in front of the Woolworth store on Cuyler street.

LONDON WILL VISIT FAMED GRID BANQUET

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (AP)—An opportunity to visit the man who defeated him for the presidency and to see himself lampooned by the famous Gridiron club drew Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas to the capital today.

President Roosevelt invited his former Republican opponent to call at 10 a. m. CST shortly after Landon's arrival from Baltimore, where he was a guest last night at a dinner of renowned Maryland fare given by Henry L. Mencken, the writer.

Both winner and loser will make "off the record" speeches at tonight's banquet, given by the club of Washington newspapermen.

Summers Proposes Judicial Reforms

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (AP)—Chairman Hatton W. Summers (D. Tex.) of the House judiciary committee proposed three judicial reform bills today, one of which would permit Supreme Court justices who have reached the retirement age to leave the bench to pursue lighter judicial duties.

He said he would introduce in Congress a bill to make a 1919 act affecting retiring district and circuit federal court judges applicable to the Supreme Court justices "so they, too, may be allowed to retire and be privileged to perform lighter duties in exchange for what the federal government is bound, anyway, to pay under the Constitution during their life."

Under another proposal Summers would provide mandatory, 30-day notice to the attorney general, with the privilege of intervening in a case, before a federal court judge could hold a federal law unconstitutional, thereby giving the government a chance to defend it.

200 KILLED IN EARTHQUAKE IN SAN SALVADOR

CITY RAZED AND LAVA POURS FROM VOLCANO

(By The Associated Press.)

SAN SALVADOR, Dec. 21.—Officials expressed fears today of a mounting death toll in the devastating earthquake which razed almost all San Vicente and killed at least 200 persons over the week-end.

Persons arriving in San Salvador from the stricken provincial capital told stories of wholesale ruin, of shattered buildings and homes, and of rescuers digging out some 200 bodies in the first few hours after the quake.

How high the deaths would reach no one would estimate but government officials dispatched all relief available to the area.

Accurate reports were made increasingly difficult to obtain because of the disrupted communications between the quake area and San Salvador.

Telephone and telegraph lines were ripped down by the quakes and information could be had only from those who fled inland from the scene.

The quake, which first struck the sleeping city of San Vicente Saturday night, crashed in buildings and shook the earth in villages nearby, eyewitnesses said.

Refugees, with their families and household belongings, fled along rural roads trying to reach safety from the ever-menacing volcano, Santa Rita, southeast of San Vicente, which some refugees said was erupting.

Adding to the fears of molten lava pouring from the volcano over the wrecked city was the specter of epidemics. Much of San Vicente's supply of drinking water was poisoned by sulphur apparently exuding from the smoking volcano after the quake.

Government officials returning last night from the disaster area said the widespread wreckage was impeding rescue work and making virtually impossible any accurate estimate of the property damage and loss of life.

Among the neighboring villages damaged according to radio reports last night, were Vera Paz, Quadalupe, Apasteplue, Petitan, San Sebastian, San Lorenzo and Pectuca. A special Red Cross train, with rescuers and modern equipment, was sent from San Salvador to San Vicente. Those returning from the scene said the quake leveled all but one of the city's main buildings.

KILLED OVER DOLLAR

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Dec. 21 (AP)—An argument about a dollar to buy Christmas gifts for two of their five children led to the deaths of Anthony McNear, 45, or nearby Terra Alta, and his wife, Mrs. Pearl McNear, 35. Cornerer Leroy C. Goff, said McNear fired four shots into Mrs. McNear's body yesterday and sent another into his own temple. The tragedy occurred while the children were at Sunday school.

ALLOW PARKING SPACE FOR SHOPPERS Christmas shopping takes precedence over all other activities this week.

Courtesy demands that as much downtown parking space as possible be made available for local and visiting shoppers rather than being appropriated for all-day use by merchants, professional men and persons employed in stores and offices.

It would work no particular hardship, during these few remaining days before Christmas, for regular long-time users of street parking space to park their cars a couple of blocks further out, or use taxi or bus in getting to and from their place of employment.

Firms using delivery trucks could be helpful by instructing drivers to avoid obstructing traffic, insofar as possible, during this holiday shopping period.

Policing of business streets and busy intersections during rush hours will also serve to reduce danger for pedestrians.

GOOD SIGNS

One of the signs which have long been looked for as indicating a return to conditions which make for recovery and ultimate general prosperity comes from the convention of the Investment Bankers' Association of America.

Of course, it may be held that even a trebling of the demand for new capital is only a beginning, for there has been a marked absence of such extension.

And a second sign is found in the commerce department's report which forecast that America's foreign trade this year will be the greatest since 1930.

The silver mine, Conn., operative of this department reports that Lily Pons is there incognito. She wants to get away from it all.

Marriage Veterans Bob Garland, former drama critic, says William Powell of the films is superior to any actor on Broadway.

For some time the State Department has been concerned over a loss to American trade caused by the German practice of paying for imports from South America in marks which can be used only for purchase of German goods.

Unofficially, this is sometimes referred to as "black-jack stuff," since the other country must accept the arrangement under penalty of having the German market closed to her exports.

Only a totalitarian state can operate that way or meet such competition.

Nazi propaganda and some colonization goes along with trade. German influence is said to have become especially strong in Brazil.

To a lesser degree the Italian influence in South America also has been strengthened. And the State Department has known for a long time of certain Japanese shenanigans on the west coast of South and Central America.

The Spanish ambassador is understood to have warned Roosevelt that Fascist victory in Spain would have Latin American repercussions, thanks to Italian and German groups already operating below the Panama Canal.

Roosevelt's immediate reaction to this warning against rise of a strong Fascist movement in Latin America hasn't leaked out. But he kept the ambassador with him for two hours and subsequently decided to go to the Pan American conference.

Here's another story about the late Gus Gennerich, Roosevelt's bodyguard and close friend, who died in Buenos Aires.

Gus was a guest at a semi-fashionable cocktail party in Washington and a woman he didn't know became boisterous and profane in her denunciation of Roosevelt.

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER NEW YORK — "My life," says a fellow in Grand Central station, "has been what you might call humorously ironic."

The only Sunday afternoon newspaper in New York is addressed to turf fans and the Broadway mob. It is a chatty, informal sheet, retailing for 5 cents and boasting 13 gossip columns.

The HOLIDAY MYSTERY

Chapter V In spite of the snow which began to fall again in the late afternoon, about a dozen guests...

"We'll start as early as we can get away," answered Ramon behind her. "At the rate this is coming down, it won't take long for the city to become impassable."

"You think the others did have a good time?" asked Pearl John eagerly. "It took a lot of persuading to get the family to let me do this, and if it didn't go all right, I should feel sorry."

"It was lovely," Betty told him. "And Ramon and I had a grand time, too," added Anglique, glancing at Vasquez. "Didn't we, Ramon? We are both awfully glad to know Betty and Bob."

"That's right," Ramon answered. "I, for one, shall always remember this Christmas on Thunder Mesa."

"Shouldn't we all blow out the candles on the Christmas tree?" suggested Betty. "It's proper to make it a sort of ceremony, you know."

"At her suggestion they tramped back down the hall to the small room where the lights on the tree were beginning to gutter. Long shadows already had taken possession of the room, and the greenery, hanging from the walls, seemed strangely out of place."

"Queer how this old house re-asserts itself so quickly," thought Bob, glancing about the room. "The music and guests have been gone only a few minutes, and here is all the strangeness of the place again."

"What's it?" Pearl John asked, pushing forward. "Then they all saw. Under the Christmas tree sprawled the still body of Pearl Sam, a crude knife of black obsidian in his throat."

494 CONVICTS FREED BY GOVERNOR GRAVES

CHICAGO, Dec. 21 (AP)—Some 700 of "the numbers" will not answer Christmas day roll call in the nation's prisons.

They'll be gone, released because they've been given the finest Christmas presents within the power of a dozen states—pardons or paroles.

However, in at least 20 other states the prisoners will eat the prison chicken or roast beef as usual because these commonwealths frown on the holiday parole custom.

The most spectacular instance of Christmas leniency disclosed by an Associated Press survey was in Alabama. Gov. Bibb Graves on Dec. 17 released 494 convicts, including 23 women, for two weeks on their "man to man" agreement to return Jan. 1.

"No Christmas paroles" was the word from these states: South Dakota, Connecticut, Colorado, Arizona, Wisconsin, South Carolina, Texas, Georgia, Tennessee, New York, Washington, Oklahoma, California, Nevada, Oregon, Michigan, Indiana, Montana, Missouri, and Iowa.

MARLIN, Dec. 2 (AP)—J. W. Otto, 77, returned here tonight to keep a promise made 50 years ago. On December 19, 1886, Otto, then a youth of 22, promised August Keel that he would return 50 years from that day to play reels and square dances for his golden wedding anniversary, just as he played them that night for his wedding on the Goodrich ranch near here.

Hale and hearty and full of life and music, Otto, now a deputy sheriff of Fort Bend county, went to the German Lutheran church at Perry, nine miles north of here, for the celebration of Keel's golden wedding day. With him went Theo Chair, a member of the original band that played for the dance. Otto is a cornetist and Chair plays the accordion.

NO MONEY FOR GIFTS By Brooke Peters Church "I am afraid that there won't be any Christmas this year, Sam. There is no money for presents, and so you must not expect any."

From the day when his mother told him this, the joy seemed to go out of life for Sam. Mrs. Smith meant to be kind, she was trying. But she failed to understand Christmas and what it means to children.

When there is need for economy it seems so simple and reasonable to cut out Christmas. Perhaps, having grown up, Mrs. Smith has forgotten what the season meant in her own childhood, how she looked forward to it, counted the days before it came.

But Reri, who traveled from one continental capital to another with childish glee, danced and sang and worked and played and bought fine fancy clothes, has gone native again. She still has a childish giggle, and she has an acquired habit of pointing her finger and saying "Z-Z-Z-Z" as her pet exclamation. This (it dawns eventually) is her Polynesian imitation of a machine gun. Reri has been seeing movies as well as the world.

Wears Native Clothes She returned to Hollywood from France by way of her home town, Papeete. She has 18 sisters and brothers down there, and that was where she went native. Her English is unintelligible now, so let her tell it.

"I cannot wait to kick off my shoes when I reach Papeete. I put on my pareu and am barefoot, and my hair is down, when the boat docks. There is a big crowd waiting for me and what do you think? All of them are in American clothes. I am heart-broken!"

"Papeete is change," But Reri is not. I go barefoot on the beaches and have fun. My feet spread now I cannot get into shoes. I give away all my fine clothes. From now on I wear pareus and sandals. Yes, in Hollywood, too, I want comfort. (A giggle and a Z-Z-Z-Z-Z!)

Reri's trunk contained dozens of the bright-colored native garments, a fiber skirt for dancing, and dolls. She got off the boat with one pair of sandals—those on her feet.

Where Reri is, their you will find her friend and manager, youthful white-haired Mildred Luber. Miss Luber is seeing about tests for the various South Seas films now contemplated in Hollywood, and has written a book about Reri which may be filmed as a starring vehicle.

Big Hand in Poland Only one picture was needed to give Reri a welcome wherever she went in Europe, where "Tabu" is still being shown.

Her greatest reception came in Poland, where they had never seen a Polynesian girl. Reri was told, she made a talking picture in Warsaw, and mastered the language.

I was curious about Ma-ta-hi, the native youth who was opposite Reri in "Tabu." Reri did not see him when she was home. Ma-ta-hi lives on another island. He was never interested in a film career, Reri said. She was persuaded to come to the States, but Ma-ta-hi—

"He did not care," said Reri. "I cry when I see the picture and he die, but we fight all the time when we make the picture. He was father of five children when Mr. Murnau found him. I don't know how many children Ma-ta-hi has now—maybe twenty!"

COINCIDENCE. OMAHA, Neb.—Police received a call from a theater for an ambulance. The regular ambulance crew was absent so Police Officer Alex Grant was pressed into service as an emergency driver.

At the theater Grant found the patient was his mother, stricken with apoplexy.

KERRVILLE AND AMARILLO TO FIGHT CHAMP BATTLE ON BUTLER FIELD

TIVY'S COACH NEVER PLAYED ANY FOOTBALL

20,000 FANS DUE TO WATCH BATTLE AT AMARILLO

DALLAS, Dec. 21 (AP)—Eleven Kerrville youngsters who scoff at substitutions, Kerrville's Tivy high "Iron Men," invade the home of Amarillo's Golden Sandstorm Saturday to make a storybook bid for the state schoolboy grid championship.

Lost in the maze of 99 class A teams at the start of the year and coached by a crafty young man who never played football, Tivy's Antlers today stood as the lone barrier between Amarillo and its third straight state title.

Representatives of both schools, including Head Coach Blaine Cherry of Amarillo and Coach J. V. Holbrook of Kerrville, met at Dallas yesterday and decided, by the flip of a coin, to play the titular classic in the Panhandle.

San Antonio had been selected by Kerrville as the site for the game in the event they won the toss. No neutral field was considered.

Seating capacity of the Amarillo stadium, ordinarily 15,000, will be expanded to accommodate at least 20,000 fans. Amarillo officials said.

Working around Roy Holbrook, a 150-pound ball-carrying genius, the Antlers smothered Port Arthur's Yellow Jackets, 20-7, at Kerrville Saturday while Amarillo was calling on weird passing plays to eliminate North Side of Fort Worth, 20-12, at Amarillo.

Kerrville came out of the game with only minor injuries—and luckily. It is no secret that the Antlers are shy on substitutes, especially for five or six key positions. Only few substitutions have been made for the "Iron Men" in their amazing march through a tough field to the finals.

Holbrook teamed with McCaleb, Chambliss and Fisher, three teammates who have played in junior high and high school backfields with him for the last six years, to overpower Port Arthur. He accounted for the touchdowns while Chambliss bagged a fumbled ball and dashed 51 yards for the other score.

Port Arthur, handicapped by the enforced retirement of Marland Jeffrey, crack halfback, from the game with injuries, started strong but wilted. Speyer plunged over their lone score after McGaffney's interception of a Tivy pass had put the ball in scoring position.

Bounding Bobby Clesson, the Sandies' all-state fullback of 1935, played in his usual starring formation to pace the Sandstorm. He hurled two touchdown passes to Sweeney, a fine pass-catching end, and plunged over the other marker himself after passing the ball downfield.

North Side's Marion Pugh, a one-man football team, worked like mad from his halfback post to produce both Steer scores. He shot a 30-yard pass to Reese for the first touchdown and then found Robinson, substitute end, on two lengthy heaves to work the ball down to the one-yard line, where he plunged it over.

The Steers, with no apparent fear of the touted Sandstorm, struck with deadly accuracy through the air and were threatening until the final minutes of play.

"Kerrville came out of the game minus one of its star linemen—Walter Lee, 175-pound right guard, who suffered a broken bone in his left leg. This blow was offset somewhat, however, by the announcement of team physicians that Kyle Holloman, tackle, out of the Saturday game with illness, would re-enter the lineup for the titular game.

KERRVILLE GUARD HAS BROKEN BONE IN LEG

KERRVILLE, Dec. 21 (AP)—Physicians said today Walter Lee, 175-pound right guard of the Tivy Antlers, injured Saturday in the semifinal state schoolboy football championship game with Port Arthur, will be unable to play at Amarillo Saturday.

Doctors said examinations by X-ray showed Lee suffered a broken bone in his left leg. They put the injured limb in a plaster cast.

Dr. J. D. Jackson said Kyle Holloman, tackle, kept from the semifinal game by illness, would be able to occupy his position against the Golden Sandstorm in the finals of the state race.

HORTON SMITH TOPS MONEY GOLF WINNERS OF LAST YEAR

CORAL GABLES, Fla., Dec. 21 (AP)—The news that Horton Smith topped the 1936 golf money winners with $7,881 in prizes, raised the question today of how the lesser known winter tournament players get by financially.

The answer—gleaned from the golfers themselves and from tournament officials—is that many of them don't get by so well.

The majority do not earn enough prize money during the season for a ticket home.

Few of them have private incomes. Practically all depend entirely upon their golf skill for a livelihood.

Most of the 200 or more who play the prize money circuit are professionals at northern courses which are closed for the winter. Some save enough from their summer salaries to finance their winter treasure-seeking. Others continue to draw their salaries because of the prestige their playing gives the home clubs. Equipment manufacturers finance the southern sojourn of many top shots. They pay good salaries and furnish balls and clubs. In return they receive good advertising when their field men win.

Some professionals come south at the suggestion of wealthy home club members who want to play with them while vacationing in Florida.

Next to Smith, 1936's biggest money winner was Ralph Guidahl of St. Louis, with $7,882.

For every player like Smith and Guidahl there were a hundred, however, who didn't make a nickel. Even Smith, for example, made only $54 last year.

EXPERTS GIVE BOSTON'S SOX BOOBY PRIZE

CLUB RATED AS NO. 1 DISAPPOINTMENT OF YEAR

By ALAN GOULD
NEW YORK, Dec. 21 (AP)—Boston's "gold sox" who ran sixth in the American league pennant derby after being picked to finish 1-2, carry off the booby prize for 1936 so far as the sports are concerned.

Thirty-one out of 83 writers in the Associated Press annual poll rated the Boston club as the year's No. 1 disappointment, taking into consideration all sports as well as individual and team competition.

On points the Red Sox led their only serious challenger, Joe Louis, 93 to 41, in the contest for the poll's most dubious distinction. Eleven experts put the Brown Bomber at the top, because of his knockout by Max Schmeling, an event already rated as the year's biggest combined comeback and upset.

College football's disappointments depended largely upon the sectional point of view. Ohio State's Buckeyes, for failing to be national title contenders, got the most mention, but the Iowa, Kentucky, Georgia Tech, St. Mary's and Fordham gridiron aggregations also were considered "built up for a letdown."

Failure of the American Olympic committee to reinstate the backstroke swimming queen, Eleanor Holm-Jarrett, was voted the main disappointment in connection with the big games in Germany.

Lawson Little's failure to qualify for the United States open after forsaking amateur ranks, was rated golf's main "flop."

Tabulation of the poll, with points on 3-2-1 basis:
Disappointments Points
1. Collapse of Boston Red Sox, baseball 93
2. Knockout of Joe Louis, heavyweight boxing 41
3. Elimination of U. S. Davis Cup team by Australia, tennis 19
4. Showing of Chicago Cubs, baseball 17
5. Lawson Little's failure to qualify for U. S. Open golf 12
6. Collapse of St. Louis Cardinals' pitching staff, baseball 11
7. Loss of three major games

Disappointments or "flops" marked every branch of sporting activity, judging by the nation-wide returns.

Next to the Red Sox in baseball, the Chicago Cubs were rated the biggest disappointment to their followers.

LET'S KNOW TEXAS AND TEXANS

BY WILL H. MAYER.

REPORTS ARE THAT:

Hupp Motor's Detroit plant to go to Nash-Kelvinator. Anchor Cap has perfected a new easy-to-remove bottle cap. California Packing to use Angostura in its canned goods. Long-pull positions of Mohawk Carpet not being distributed. Federated Department Stores—holding and operating merchandising organization—in market for new units with Hearn's in New York mentioned. Congoleum's first quarter net up due to increased prices for linoleum floor coverings. Buying of Sparks-Withington attributed to belief that household accessory division will do better. General Foods' packing "Grape Nuts" in cellophane. Shell Union Oil now offering a new furniture polish. Owens-Illinois' "stubby" beer bottle being used for bottling of fruit juices.

In this column answers will be given to inquiries as to Texas history and other matters pertaining to the State and its people. As evidence of good faith inquiries must give their names and addresses, but only their initials will be printed. Address inquiries to Will H. Mayer, Austin, Texas.

Q. What is the story of the Bullock hogs and the failure of Texas to secure a French loan? D. F. S. A. M. de Saligny, French ambassador to the Texas Republic, occupied the embassy that still stands in Austin. Hogs belonging to Richard Bullock, Austin inn keeper, raided the embassy and destroyed the corn and other property. Saligny ordered them killed. Bullock whipped the servant that killed them. This enraged Saligny and he appealed in vain to the Texas government, closed the embassy, and hurried to France, where he persuaded his brother-in-law, M. Humann, finance minister, to oppose application of Texas for underwriting the Texas national debt, which had been favorably considered.

Q. How was Ben Milam killed in the Texas siege and capture of San Antonio? H. B. N. A. He was shot in the court of the Vermander House by a Mexican sharpshooter hidden in a cypress tree on the river bank.

"No, I'm not broke," he hurriedly explained. "I'm merely tired of having nothing to do and they don't call me to act, anymore."

Christmas Tree For Needy To Be Tomorrow Night

Joy will be brought to hundreds of Pampa children tomorrow night when the Junior chamber of commerce, Pampa clubs and citizens hold a Christmas tree for the less fortunate children of the city tomorrow night at 7 o'clock in city auditorium.

The program will open at 7 o'clock with community singing of Christmas carols. A very brief program will be presented after which Santa Claus will make his appearance.

Parents are urged to secure a ticket for each child from Mrs. Willie Baines whose office is on the third floor of the court house.

The committee in charge still lacks sufficient funds with which to purchase the candy, etc. Pampans desiring to donate to the fund may leave their contributions with Tommy Chesler at Fox Wall Paper and Paint company.

New toys may be left at the fire station or if they need only minor repairs, the firemen will have time to get them fixed and ready for the tree. The response to the call for toys was more gratifying than in past years.

Last Survivor of Greely Expedition Is 80 Years Old

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (AP)—This is a Christmas story of the Far North some 50 years ago—when a little group of men huddled before miserable fires, ate stews of seal-skin, and hoped.

Because he lived through it and the days that followed—whiff but six of his comrades died—Brig-Gen. David L. Brainard will celebrate his eightieth birthday tonight by receiving the honorary membership scroll of the American Polar Society.

Brainard is the last survivor of the tragic Greely expedition which in the 80's set a new record for farthest-north explorations. The men starved and froze in the wilds while relief parties for two years sought unsuccessfully to reach them.

Today Is Shortest Day of Year and First of Winter

In case you may have overlooked it—today is the first day of winter and the shortest day of the year.

In other words Autumn has gone and the hours of daylight today are fewer than on any other day of the year.

From here on out, the almanac says, the days will grow longer. Christmas soon will be history. A New Year will be on tap.

First thing you know it will be summer again.
