Melon-Dumping Vandals Injure Three in Bus

FORT WORTH (UPI) — Police today sought vandals who dumped watermelons on several vehicles including a bus, injuring three persons Thursday.

The melons were dropped from an overpass by several youths. Kerby Blevens, 18, of Eunice, N. M., suffered cuts in his right arm and chest bruises when a melon crashed through the windshield of the Greyhound bus he was riding in.

The other two passengers were not seriously hurt.

Richard Markley said a melon was dumped on his pickup truck earlier.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate shattered a 12-year record by meeting and adjourning today in a scant three seconds. Sen. Lee Metcalf, D - Mont., gavelled the chamber into and out of its record session by announcing:

"The Senate's under previous order will now adjourn until Tuesday next."

Youths to Answer Accusation of 'Bombardment'

Five Pampa boys — two 16-year-olds, two 15-year-olds, and one 14-year-old — have been ordered to appear in Corporation Court next Wednesday to answer an accusation that they "bombarded" the home of Bob Parks, Robert E. Lee Junior high school teacher, with firecrackers night before last.

Parks, who resides at 1707 Evergreen, said the youths made three passes at his house at 3 a. m., 4 a. m., and 5:15 a. m., awakening him each time.

Police said by the time of the 5:15 a. m. visit, Parks had grown a little weary of the maneuvers. Besides that, it was daylight then and he got a look at the boys who were throwing the firecrackers.

Parks turned the names over to police who contacted the youths yesterday and cited them for discharging fireworks within the city limits in violation of a city ordinance.

Four other youths, three 15-year-olds and a 16-year-old, were taken into custody early this morning in Lions Park. Police said the quartet had earlier thrown rocks at a Santa Fe passenger train, breaking out a window in one of the coaches. The four boys were turned over to Juvenile Officer Bill Leonard.

Rock-throwing vandals also broke out a plate glass window sometime last night at the B & B Toyland, 319 N. Ballard, and a small window in the Ideal Laundry Bldg., 221 E. Atchison St.

Absentee Voting Deadline Today

Deadline for absentee voting in Tuesday's charter change election was slated for 5 p. m. today in the office of the city secretary at City Hall.

City Sec'y Edwin Vicars said 132 absentee votes had been cast up until noon today.

Chief issue in the Tuesday election is a proposal to change the method of voting in Pampa.

Under the present charter, ward commissioners are elected by the voters in each of the four city wards. The proposal before the voters Tuesday seeks to change the method to permit all voters in the city vote on each of the ward commissioners.

Guardsmen Ordered to Keep Martial Law in Cambridge, Md.

Outbreaks Continue In North

By United Press International

About 400 National Guardsmen enforcing limited martial law in racially troubled Cambridge, Md., today were ordered to remain on duty through the weekend.

The troops, sent to Cambridge June 14 by Gov. J. Millard Tawes to put down racial violence, were to have been removed at noon today but Adj. Gen. Milton A. Reckord of the Maryland National Guard announced that they would remain.

Cambridge officials had asked Tawes to keep the troops here at least through the weekend.

Some civil rights leaders in Cambridge have urged that racial demonstrations resume immediately after the troops depart. Negroes by the thousands staged anti-segregation demonstrations and rallies, in at least eight cities from New York to California Thursday, and there were arrests in two of the cities — Baltimore, Md., and Chapel Hill, N. C.

The 283 demonstrators taken into custody at Baltimore, where "freedom riders" from New York and Philadelphia sought admission to a segregated amusement park, included the Rev. Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, head of the United Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A.

A bi-racial group of 45 pickets was removed bodily from a road at Hempstead, N. Y., when it attempted to block traffic to Jones Beach in a protest against alleged discriminatory hiring practices at the state park beach.

Around 450 persons marched through Chapel Hill, home of the University of North Carolina, to city hall where they sang "freedom riders."

Navy Secretary Speaker for Bar

DALLAS (UPI) — Navy Secretary Fred Korth and U. S. Solicitor General Archibald Cox will speak today at the Texas Bar Association's 81st annual convention, which continues through Saturday.

Buster Cole of Bonham was inaugurated today as president of the bar, succeeding Leon Jaworski of Houston.

Frank Ikard, president of the American Petroleum Institute and a former Texas congressman, warned the lawyers Thursday that representative government in the United States is threatened because almost half the population lives on federal funds.

Ikard and Gov. John Connally both addressed the entire convention of 2,400 lawyers.

"It is inconceivable," said Ikard, "that our economy would be stronger if more business decisions were made in Washington's regulating agencies and fewer made in the market place."

Connally said these were "a need to reaffirm our belief in the rule of law."

"The apostles of discord are sowing the seed of hatred now as never before," he said.

These are critical times in our lives," Connally said. "Our nation seethes with bitterness and conflict and too loudly is heard the voice of the demagogue."

Connally challenged the lawyers to assume public responsibilities. He was critical of lawyers "who sit in their paneled offices and will not take on the duties of public responsibility to insure that tyrants continue to fall in the face of irresistible force of the ideas of American freedom."

Draft Goldwater Group Tries Dress Rehearsal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The national Draft Goldwater Committee staged a dress rehearsal for the 1964 Republican convention Thursday night with dancing placards, small-scale demonstrations and chants of "We want Barry."

The job ahead is to convince Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona that he has grass roots support convertible into delegate strength to win the GOP presidential nomination at San Francisco next July.

Goldwater admirers from many states assembled in the National Guard Armory to cheer every mention of their conservative hero and to give Bronx cheers to President Kennedy and other New Frontier officials.

Barry Not Present

When the meeting began, police estimated the crowd at more than 7,000. Peter O'Donnell, Texas Republican chairman and head of the draft movement, later told the audience that the official estimate had been increased to 9,000.

Goldwater, who is not an announced candidate, was observing the holiday in Prescott, Ariz.

But the principal speaker, Sen. John Tower of Texas, told the crowd that, if Goldwater could see the rally, there would be no doubt about his decision to run for the presidency.

Tower, O'Donnell and F. Clifton White, director of the draft committee, all sought to answer critics of the Goldwater campaign. These critics complain that the campaign depends too much on the South, that it would give away big blocs of electoral votes in populous eastern states and that it would peak too soon.

Tower said only Goldwater was a "truly national candidate" in contrast to a regional candidate or a "pressure group" candidate.

Counts All States

White said the Goldwater strategy did not call for writing off any state, but he showed slides indicating that Goldwater could win 301 electoral votes, 31 more than needed, without such states as New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Michigan and California.

The biggest cheer came when White showed a slide indicating a Goldwater sweep of the South. A southerner ran in front of the platform waving the stars and bars of the confederacy.

Rep. John M. Ashbrooke of Ohio said the nomination of Goldwater would enable the GOP to carry 20 more congressional districts in the South next year and 20 more in the Midwest.

Rains, Wind Whip State; More Is Due

By United Press International

Hard rains, accompanied by squall-like windstorms and an unverified twister, whipped both ends of Texas Thursday night. The U. S. Weather Bureau said only North Central Texas would escape more rain today.

Light, scattered thundershowers dotted West Texas from the Panhandle and South Plains to the Big Bend country Thursday.

Light rains and thunderstorms swept the Gulf Coast and lightning set fire to a planing mill in Houston.

At nightfall, high winds brought more rain to El Paso, and slashing thunderstorms and rain to Alpine, Panther Junction and Chisos Basin, all in the Big Bend. Alpine received .38 of an inch of rain in the 24-hour period ending at 6 a. m. today. Other amounts included Presidio .39, Wink .38, Palacios .29, Lufkin .04, and Tyler .02. Temperatures ranged from 62 at Alpine to 78 at Corpus Christi in the early morning hours. Skies were clear to partly cloudy.

Stockmen welcomed the rains to Big Bend, where pastures were parched.

NEA Roars Into Final Session With Thorny Problems on Tap

DETROIT (UPI) — The National Education Association's 101st annual convention roared into a hectic final session today with three thorny subjects expected to go to the floor for approval.

They were civil rights, federal aid to education and the Utah situation, which involved the teachers' position in collective bargaining.

The NEA delegate assembly Thursday passed a civil rights motion that called for formation of "consultative committees" to facilitate ending of the system of dual affiliates in the South. In 11 states, Negro members of the association belong to one local affiliate and white members to another.

First Official Step

In passing the motion, which was the first official step on the NEA to end racial discrimination in its ranks, an attempt to strengthen the language of the policy-statement was defeated.

Pat Tornillo, spokesman for the Florida delegation, proposed an amendment that would call for "immediate steps to open all membership doors to all teachers regardless of race, color or creed."

Tornillo said he planned to introduce a motion in today's session. Vernon McDaniel, a Negro delegate from Austin, Tex., planned to introduce amendments to the platform and resolutions that would strengthen the NEA's stand on civil rights. California and Michigan delegations also planned (See NEA, Page 2)

Sino-Soviet Talks Still On in Spite of Protests

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Chinese delegates to the Sino-Soviet ideological talks arrived here today in an atmosphere charged with hostility by a last-minute exchange of bitter charges.

The Chinese negotiating team flew in by special plane from Peking, landing at Vnukovo airport this afternoon. The visitors were met by Soviet delegation leader Mikhail Suslov, senior Kremlin ideologist.

The two sides wasted no time getting down to business. They started their first meeting at 4:30 p. m. (9:30 a. m. EDT).

Relations between the two Communist giants were strained to the breaking point just hours before the opening session of the showdown talks that will determine the course of international communism.

Announced New Protest

Red China announced a bitter new protest against the Soviet Union earlier in the day, and the Russians printed a front-page editorial in the Communist party newspaper declaring they would not back down in the discussions.

The negotiations were called

4th of July Brings Picnics, Orations

Pampa Has Safe, Sunny Celebration

Approximately 15,000 persons from the Top O' Texas area were present last night at Recreation Park for the July 4 festivities held there.

Others participated in varied activities across the Panhandle yesterday, including swimming, skiing, fishing, picnicing and just enjoying the warm sunshine.

It was a safe holiday for most Pampans, and according to police and highway patrolmen, no serious accidents were reported in the immediate area during the holiday.

At Recreation Park, barbecue was served from 6 p. m. to 8 p. m. by the Pampa Shrine Club, and following that the group moved to the rodeo grounds for a free program sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

Old Spirit Is Revived In Speeches

By United Press International

Texas rang bells, shot off firecrackers, watched parades, went on picnics and heard old-fashioned orations Thursday in commemorating the day in Philadelphia 187 years ago when the Declaration of Independence was signed.

Summer's biggest holiday was pleasant enough though hot for most Texans but many never lived through it.

At least a dozen were killed in automobile accidents and six drowned. Bells rang in bellfries of churches in county and city alike to remind their listeners of the defiance of England's George III by a group of men headed by John Hancock.

Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr gave perhaps the most spirited speech reminiscent of the independence day orators of 30 years ago.

originally to restore peace to the Communist world, but the flurry of last-minute vitriolic charges and counter-charges between Moscow and Peking cast strong doubt that any progress would be made.

Western observers felt there was a possibility of an historic split of the Communist camp.

The new China News Agency, monitored in Tokyo, said the Chinese delegation left Peking earlier in the day and flew via Siberia.

The Chinese apparently delayed the departure of their delegation to the last possible moment. There had been some speculation they might cancel or postpone the talks, especially after a new attack on Peking's position Thursday by the Soviet Communist party.

Needle-in-Haystack Search Yields Killer in Huge Circus Parade Crowd

Theodore Adams, 19, early Thursday and tried to lose himself in a huge crowd that poured into downtown Milwaukee to see a circus parade.

But more than 80 police officers kept Weston in their net, and got him just after the parade started on information received from a tipster. Detective Inspector Harold Breier and Detective Sgt. Edwin Shaffer said they found Weston on a bar stool, with a red handkerchief covering a revolver in his lap.

As Weston removed the handkerchief, Breier and Shaffer each fired. One bullet caught him in the left arm, and the other in the left chest.

"I should have called police right away," the young man's father told a reporter. "It could have saved that boy's life he killed last night. But who thinks of things like that?"

Police said Weston told them he killed Adams when Adams went to the aid of a 17-year-old girl friend Weston had slapped.

Authorities said Weston and the girl were out Wednesday night and she fled from him when they quarreled. She found refuge in a car parked near her home. The car was occupied by Adams and Santo Curro, 19.

Weston, chasing the girl, saw her ducking behind the back seat of the car. He ordered all three out of the car, slapping the girl and demanded money from Adams, police said. Authorities said the girl told them Weston drew a small caliber automatic and he and Adams struggled.

Adams was shot through the heart and was dead on arrival at County Emergency Hospital. The shooting occurred shortly after midnight.

Savannah, Ga. — About 400 Negroes marched to the Chatham County jail Thursday night and serenaded a young Negro leader jailed last week for participating in a demonstration. The demonstration broke up peacefully.

Danville, Va. — Negro leaders met Thursday to plan strategy for the resumption of racial demonstrations in this tense city. They said they expect Southern integration leader Martin Luther King Jr. to arrive next week to aid in the campaign.

Travis Lively Is Named Delegate To Conference

Travis Clay Lively, son of Mr. and Mrs. Travis C. Lively, of Pampa has been designated by State Attorney General Waggoner Carr as a delegate to the first Attorney General's Youth Conference to be held in the State Capitol on August 17 and 18.

Young Lively was selected as a delegate on the basis of his proven leadership qualities and outstanding high school record.

A senior at Pampa High School, he is an Eagle Scout, an honor student and was in the Junior Play, a member of the French and Latin Clubs and participated in football and track. Travis, earlier this summer, was a delegate to Boys' State.

District Attorney Bill W. Waters is the local representative of the Attorney General's Office who is aiding in the organization of the conference.

The conference at Austin, which is youth-led and youth-advised, will inaugurate a totally new concept in curtailing the juvenile crime rate in the State and is an outgrowth of a meeting in April of this year between Attorney General Waggoner Carr and over 100 Austin high school leaders to discuss the alarming record of young adult crime and what youth can do to reverse the trend. As a result of this meeting, an Austin Pilot Project was launched by the Austin youth, with research and work to be done in several main areas of concern — including the "drop out" problem, the establishment of a student-community employment bureau, public awareness, the creation of "sparetime" activities and a comprehensive study of vocational needs and possibilities to substantially increase talents and skills among Austin youth.

The Austin Pilot Project will develop discussion leaders and provide the factual material for the Statewide Conference.

to introduce civil rights matters. The Utah situation revolves around a dispute between the Utah Teachers Association (UEA) and the state. The teachers feel the Utah legislature failed to allocate sufficient education funds this session and the UEA voted not to renew contracts in the fall unless Gov. George Clyde calls a special session of the legislature to enact school legislation.

wants National Sanction
The UEA asked the NEA to impose a national sanction of the state, which would be, in effect, a boycott. The NEA would urge all members not to sign contracts in Utah for the duration of the troubled period.

Clyde late in May said he would form a nine-member committee to work toward resolution of the problem and Utah leaders hoped the committee might end the impasse.

The NEA early in the convention said it planned to "reserve judgment" on issuance of a sanction of Utah, pending the outcome of committee meetings. But the Department of Classroom Teachers, the strongest single group in the NEA boasting about 82 per cent of the organization, issued a strong resolution backing the Utah teachers.

"That forced the NEA to reconsider its stand and draft the stronger resolution which was up for approval."

Stripes will take over the summer play-togs scene. Middy (left) is in tiny stripes in wonderful tone-on-tone effects of light and bright shades. Solid color clam diggers coordinate. Bright barber pole stripes lend a new look to the Jamaica shorts (center). Sleeveless cotton-knit, mock-turtlenecked shirt is a perfect foil. Shirt is back zippered and comes in blue, red or white. Striped shorts are red, white and blue. The big sweatshirt (right) boasts a bold swath of stripes in a V. It's the newest, brashiest look for summer play. All these cotton-knits are Aileen designs.

Suit Yourself In Spicy Stripes For Summer Sport, Beach Wear

By HELEN HENNESSY
Women's Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA) — Only zebras and barber poles boast more stripes than summer fun clothes. And the play togs sport their stripes in a greater array of brilliant colors.

Tomato red, polo blue and marigold team with white for a new sunshine brightness. Contrasting light and bright pink striped tops team with solid pink shorts or slim jim pants.

There are dozens of these inexpensive, jaunty cotton-knit separates and they're ideal vacation companions. Not only are they wrinkle-resistant, but with just a small budget and some ingenuity you can mix-and-match for weeks and not turn up in the same costume twice.

These knit go-togethers include shorts of various lengths, slim pants, clam diggers, sweaters, sweatshirts, middies and man-tailored shirts.

With or without stripes, the covered-up look is another new play clothes fashion this summer. One example is the cotton-knit denim shirt, complete with button-down collar. The big sweatshirt is another. And the hooded jacket and high-neck zipper front long-sleever complete the cover-up story.

For active play or simply lounging in the sun, there's variety as well as spice in these companionable knits.

GROOM (Sp) — Mrs. John L. Witt, Mrs. Bob Newton and Mrs. Lee Kirk were hostesses at a luncheon honoring Mrs. O. M. Kimmel, held at the Black and Gold Restaurant in Amarillo recently.

Mrs. Kimmel of Deer Park, Wash., has been visiting relatives here. Those present included Mmes. Pearl Robinson of Panhandle, Bobby Wood, Bill Hammers, Alan Babcock, Kenneth Friemel, John Reed, Kenneth Black, Maurine Davidson and the hostesses.

Masculine Egos Stay Up With Socks That Don't Droop, Expose Ankles

By HAROLD SHEEHAN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA) — It's a funny feeling — and probably stems from the knowledge that men's legs really are not attractive. We speak of that sensation which comes from sitting in a dentist's office, a restaurant chair or at the fringe of a dance floor only to discover that your leg is showing.

The legs are crossed, the socks have slipped down, exposing about four inches of hairy calf for all the world to admire.

Well, brother, let's face facts. The ladies have a corner on the market. Don't try to compete; surrender.

The best way to begin is by purchasing long socks. Hitherto, it was necessary to attach them to garters, but not any more.

Stretch socks are now the big cry with men who are aware that good grooming starts at the feet and ends with a haircut.

Advantage of the stretch socks is gained from the ability of the garment to cling snugly but comfortably to the calf — way up there. You can stand on your head and still be neatly attired.

Stretch socks contain varying amounts of synthetic fibers — from 100 per cent to a few strands. In the case of one sock ("Gold C" by Burlington Mills), it's the 25 per cent nylon that supplies the stretchability. The company twists the nylon fibers into a microscopic spring shape; then applies heat to the fiber which seals in this physical property.

The nylon is then woven with Orlon or natural fiber. The resulting product fits all size feet and stays up above the calf of the leg where it belongs.

In a seemingly curious reversal of the current style trend, socks this year are generally dark — while suits are heading toward ever lighter shades.

The idea is to play down that expanse of masculinity between the pants cuff and the shoe. Save it for the beach!

Dusty and worn suede shoes can be brushed with a metal brush and steamed with a steam iron to raise the nap.

Ruth Millett Book Offers Clubs Money-Raising Ideas

There's a new book which offers clubwomen hundreds of money-raising ideas.

I haven't read them all, but I will be willing to bet they all involve hours of hard work, numerous committees, hours of telephoning, hiring of baby sitters for many of the members involved, and, in the end, a group of women complaining to their families about how tired they are.

Back in the days when women had no money they could call their own and joint checking accounts were unheard of, women had to dream up moneymaking schemes to finance their pet charities and community projects.

But now that most women can lay their hands on a little cash, and when time should mean more to them than a small cash donation — why do women keep on with their endless moneymaking projects?

Why do they continue to work themselves to death on bake sales and silver teas and bazaars, instead of contributing a small amount each, and using their time and energy for something else?

A cash contribution wouldn't cost most clubwomen more than what it costs them to do their part in staging a moneymaking project, if they consider cost of — the gasoline they spend running errands, the cost of baby sitters who take over for them while they work for free, and the meals their families take out because "mama" is too exhausted from her fund raising activities to cook.

And if these women put any value on their time at all, even fifty cents an hour, they could easily come out ahead by a cash donation.

But getting cash out of housewives — even working wives — is still like pulling teeth. Women, it seems, would rather give anything at all — including time that belongs to their families — than a cold cash.

Dear Abby... Minors' Drinking Unlawful Anywhere

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Our son is 16 and very popular. We finished off our basement so he could entertain his friends there. We put in a TV, stereo and billiard table. Last Saturday night he had six couples in for a party. We served sandwiches and soft drinks. We have a rule — no beer or liquor. The next morning, while cleaning up, I found several empty beer cans and an empty vodka bottle hidden behind the TV. We questioned our son and three of his friends. One boy admitted to bringing the beer. A girl had brought the vodka from home. We told them it was against the law for minors to drink. They tried to tell us it was okay if done in a private home. Please print this with your comments in case we need something more concrete to show them.

MOTHER DEAR MOTHER: It is against the law for minors to drink ANYWHERE. And if you need something more concrete to show them — how about the sidewalk?

DEAR ABBY: For years I have written all the letters to my husband's relatives. Yet I'm sure he would never write mine even in an emergency. And would you believe it, Abby, when we hear from his people all the letters are addressed to him and him alone? When they "close," as an afterthought, they add, "Oh, say hello to your wife." I once got angry and told him to write his own letters. So he got even with me by putting a five-or ten-dollar bill in all the letters, and he knows we can't afford it. I've just about had it with my husband and his clan of ill-mannered morons. Tell me what to do and I'll do it.

HAD IT DEAR HAD IT: You are overreacting to your husband's spitefulness. Ignore his needling and it will sting less.

This is the second consecutive year that Becky has been Carson County queen. She will represent Carson County in the District Bake Show at the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo in September.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is in his 60's, but sometimes he acts like a 2-year-old. Whenever we go to the big store to do our shopping, and get separated from each other, he hunts up the store manager and says his wife is "lost" and asks to have my name blasted all over the store on the loudspeaker. Everyone snickers because they start looking around for a "lost" child — and it's me — a gray haired grandmother. They probably think I'm not all there. How can I break my husband of this foolish habit?

GRAY HAIR DEAR GRAY: When you and your husband enter a store, agree on a meeting place (under the clock, or at the south door) and have an understanding that if you should become separated, you meet there.

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

Attend The Church Of Your Choice

REV. L. C. LYNCH, FIRST FREE WILL BAPTIST

"Pray without ceasing"

1st Thessalonians 5:17

We are living in a time when nations are troubled at the thought of what could happen very suddenly to this world. Christians know that the real answer comes by FAITH IN GOD and PRAYING WITHOUT CEASING. Too often we pray for personal satisfaction or for our own desires, and forget to pray for those who are weak and in need of help.

In 1st Thessalonians, the Apostle Paul is instructing Christians to "Pray without ceasing." One may ask, "How can I pray all the time?" The Apostle urged prayer, "In the Spirit," in Ephesians 6:18, "Praying always with all prayer and supplication in the Spirit, and watching thereunto with all perseverance and supplication for all saints." The Apostles in the early church knew that real power came by prayer.

Jesus says in St. Luke 11:9, 10 "And I say unto you, Ask, and it shall be given you; seek and ye shall find; knock and it shall be opened unto you. For every one that asketh receiveth, and he that seeketh findeth; and to him that knocketh it shall be opened." We can see that we are commanded to pray and ask with the promise that our prayers will be answered.

How should we pray? Jesus says in John 16:26, "At that day ye shall ask in my name; and I say not unto you, that I will pray the Father for you." If we ask or pray in the name of Jesus, He will pray the Father for us; and through the love of Christ for us, he will take our prayer directly to God our Father, who in mercy and love will answer to our needs.

One may ask, "Who can I pray for?" First; We should pray that our own lives would be pleasing to God, and that we can become greater soul winners for the Lord. Second; pray for the Leaders of our nation that are carrying a great burden making decisions in this fast changing and troublesome world. Third; pray God let my life be a shining light to those that are lost. Fourth; Pray in the Spirit and ask that we may have a forgiving spirit. Jesus stated while hanging on the cross, shedding his blood for lost humanity... "Father forgive them; for they know not what they do." Fifth; pray for the church and clergy, and for all the missionaries who are suffering great hardship to carry the Gospel to Nations less fortunate than ours.

Houk Is 'Unsure'

Ho-Hum, Yanks Stretch Margin

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

Who's Ralph Houk kidding? He claims there's "still a long way to go" but it figures to be mostly downhill for the Yankees with a fat 4½ game lead and Mickey Mantle due back in a week or so.

Houk is getting a little coy about any pennant talk and that's usually the tool of an on-manager who is beginning to think about which pitcher he will use in the first game of the World Series.

"Right now," Houk says, "I'm more concerned about which pitcher I'll start in Tuesday's All-Star game."

One pitcher who definitely will not start is Yankee southpaw Whitey Ford, who wasn't chosen to the American League All-Star team by Houk.

Ford could be in if he wanted to in view of the fact his 13-3 record makes him the top winner in the league. But he's just as happy to watch the All-Star game on television.

Highest Win Percentage

Whitey not only struck out 12 and won his ninth in a row by beating the Chicago White Sox, 9-1, in Thursday's opener but he also became the pitcher with the highest winning percentage in baseball history.

Ford's six-hit triumph over the White Sox, who snapped the Yankees' seven-game winning streak by taking the nightcap, 4-2, gave him a lifetime record of 118 victories against 74 defeats for a .718 percentage. He thus surpassed ex-Yankee Spud Chandler's .717 mark among pitchers with 100 or more victories.

The only run off Ford in the opener was Floyd Robinson's ninth inning homer but by that time the Yanks had the game wrapped up, thanks to Elston Howard's 14th homer and Roger Maris' 18th.

Juan Pizarro scored his 10th victory in the nightcap although he needed Hoyt Wilhelm's help in the seventh. Nellie Fox's two-run homer in the sixth off loser Bill Stafford proved to be the winning margin.

Elsewhere in the American League, Detroit won its first doubleheader of the year with a 5-3 and 3-1 sweep of Minnesota; Cleveland also took two from Boston, 4-3 in 14 innings and 7-5; Washington beat Kansas City two times, 2-1 and 3-2, and Baltimore defeated Los Angeles, 7-4, in a single contest.

The Tigers' two victories over the Twins gave them their longest winning streak of the season—three games. Phil Rezan last only 6 1-3 innings in the opener, during which he was rocked for homers by John Goryl and Jim Hall, but still emerged with his fifth victory. Hank Aguirre evened his record at 7-7 with a six-hitter in the nightcap. Lee Stange (2-1) and Jim Kaat (8-7) were the losers.

Jerry Kindall homered in the 14th inning off Hal Kholstad to lead the Indians to their opening game triumph over the Red Sox and then worked a two-run homer off Chet Nichols during a four-run sixth inning rally that won the nightcap.

Wynn Fails Again

Early Wynn failed in his sixth try for his 300th victory when he had to leave the opener in the seventh inning with a stiff shoulder. He was leading 1-0 at the time on Fred Whitfield's fourth inning homer and although Whitfield connected again in the eighth, Boston tied the score at 3-1 in the ninth. Gary Bell (4-5) and Jim Grant (5-8) were the winning pitchers.

Reliever John Wyatt of the A's bailed in the winning run with the bases full in the eighth inning to give the Senators their opening game victory and then walked in the winning run with the bases full in the seventh inning of the nightcap. Moe Drabowsky and D'ego Segui, however, were charged with the losses. Tom Cheney (8-9) and Claude Osteen (2-6) were credited with the victories.

Reliever Wes Stock of the Orioles won his sixth straight without a defeat by blanking the Angels on three hits over the last six innings. Jim Gentile's double with the bases full highlighted a three-run fifth inning outburst that robbed Baltimore from behind.

Bob Turley hit his first homer of the year but still suffered his sixth loss in eight decisions.

Doug Ford Holds 2-Stroke Lead In Canadian Open

TORONTO, Ont. (UPI)—Veteran Doug Ford held a two-stroke lead today as a field of 83 pros and four amateurs advanced to the third round of the $50,000 Canadian Open golf championship.

The 46-year-old New Yorker carded a 67 Thursday for a 36-hole total of six-under-par 138 to lead the qualifiers into the second half of the 72-hole tournament. An unusually high five-over-par 149 cutoff point eliminated 63 golfers and the casualties of the rugged par 71 Scarborough course included top-flight American pros Lionel and Jay Hebert.

The 1959 Open champion counted five birdies on the round and handled the back nine in a sizzling three-under 32.

Ford had gone into the second round in a three-way tie for second place, three strokes behind 22-year-old Ed Moehling of Mt. Prospect, Ill. But the youngster turned into a "one round wonder" and ballooned to a 78 Thursday to fall well off the pace.

Herman Keiser of Akron, Ohio, was alone in second place after firing his best tournament score since retiring in 1949. The 1948 Masters champion rejoined the PGA tour this year at the age of 48 and Thursday shot a 68 to put him two strokes back of Ford at 138 and well on his way to launching his "second career."

Four strokes behind Ford was Canada's hope for a homegrown victory, Toronto's George Knudson, and the 1957 Open winner, George Bayer. Knudson had a three-under 68 Thursday while Bayer carded a 70.

Four established American pros, Jack Finsterwald, Gene Littler, Jack Fleck and Dick Mayer, were tied for fourth at 141. Grouped at 142 were Americans Bob Rousburg and Jimmy Clark, and Canadians Moe Norman and Stan Leonard.

Rebels Ride In AL Play

The Pampa Rebels return to American Legion baseball action when they host Carver Community House of Amarillo tomorrow night at 8 p.m. at Optimist Park.

A win by the Rebels will clinch a District 18 playoff berth. The Pampans are currently 4-2 in district play with the Carver game and Tuesday night's game against visiting Berger their final regular season games. In first place is Tascosa with a 5-1 record, in third place are the Amarillo Sandies who are 4-3. If the Rebs win one of their remaining games, they would clinch a tie for second and an automatic playoff berth. If they win both games, they would take undisputed possession of second place, while a loss by Tascosa in their final game with Carver would give the Rebs a tie for first place.

Carl Harnsberger, with a 3-0 record, will be the probable starter for Pampa tonight. Alfa or Alfred Smith will take the mound for the Community House. Pampa demolished Carver, 20-4, in their previous meeting this season.

San Antonians Lead At Odessa

ODESSA, Tex. (UPI)—Johnny Thornton, a San Antonio stockbroker and his professional teammate, Hardy Loudermilk, held the lead today in the 15th annual $15,000 Odessa Pro-Am golf tournament on the strength of their seven-under-par 65.

Loudermilk, pro at Oak Hills Country Club in San Antonio, smashed two woods to the 501-yard 17th green then knocked in a downhill 10-foot putt for a climactic 17th hole eagle Thursday.

Thornton hit a wedge second shot to within four feet of the pin on No. 18 and tapped in the birdie putt as the team dipped three under par on the last two greens.

Starting All-Star Field All St. Louis Cardinals

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI)—Because manager Alvin Dark ignored the players' "mandate," the National League All-Star team will present an historic "first" next Tuesday when all four starting infielders will be members of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Usually All-Star managers in picking reserves for their squad stick tightly close to the way the players themselves voted earlier in choosing the starting lineup.

Dark followed that practice in most cases, too — but in picking a second baseman he skipped over Ken Hubbs of the Cubs, who was runner-up to Bill Mazerowski of the Pirates in the voting for the starting team, and instead picked Julian Javier of the Cardinals. And that's what will make history in the midsummer classic at Cleveland.

For Mazerowski is bowing out of the game with an injured leg muscle.

And that makes Javier a starter right alongside his three Cardinal teammates who were voted into starting berths — first baseman Bill White, shortstop Dick Groat, and third baseman Ken Boyer. It will be the first time in All-Star history that the entire starting infield will be composed of members of the same team.

Dark had to make one extra selection because of Mazerowski's dropout, but instead of another second baseman he picked pitcher Larry Jackson of the Cubs.

Dark ignored the players' vote in two other spots, passing over two Cincinnati Reds who were runners-up in the balloting — left fielder Frank Robinson and center fielder Vada Pinson. His outfield choices were Roberto Clemente of the Pirates, Willie McCovey of the Giants, Duke Snider of the Mets and Stan Musial of the Cards.

In addition to Spahn and Jackson, other pitchers picked by Dark were Juan Marichal of the Giants, Ray Culp of the Phillies, Jim O'Toole of the Reds, Hall Woodeshick of the Colts, and Don Drysdale and Sandy Koufax of the Dodgers.

In addition to Javier, other infield reserves picked by Dark were first baseman Orlando Cepeda of the Giants, shortstop Maury Willis of the Dodgers, and third baseman Ron Santo of the Cubs.

To back up elected catcher Ed Bailey of the Giants, Dark picked Johnny Edwards of the Reds, and Joe Torre of the Braves.

Will They Blow It?

Dodgers Roll On Toward Pennant

By United Press International

The first place Los Angeles Dodgers can blow the pennant again — perish forbid — but only if they prove to be twice as bad as they were last year.

The whole thing boils down to a simple case of mathematics. By out-slugging the St. Louis Cardinals, 10-7, for their fourth straight victory Thursday night, the Dodgers not only successfully got over the traditional Fourth of July hurdle but also increased their National League lead to 2½ games.

Exactly a year ago, they led by 1½ games but still lost the pennant to the Giants after a memorable three-game playoff.

If nothing else, the Dodgers have tradition on their side. The team leading the NL on July 3 has won the pennant 60 per cent of the time from 1900 through 1962. On the other side of the coin, however, is the haunting recollection of last year's collapse by the July 5th leader.

That didn't seem to bother the Dodgers a bit Thursday night as they routed Ernie Broglio during an eight-run rally in the sixth inning to erase a 4-3 deficit. Rookie third baseman Ken McMillen touched off the fireworks with a grand slam homer and Jim Gilliam's two-run double plus Willie Davis' two-run triple completed the carnage.

Roebuck The Winner

Ed Roebuck, the third Dodger pitcher, was the winner although he had to help from Ron Perranoski after the Cardinals raked him for four runs.

In other NL action, the Houston Colts bowled over the Cincinnati Reds twice, 5-1 and 6-2; the Chicago Cubs swept a twin bill from the New York Mets, 2-1 and 3-0; Philadelphia defeated Pittsburgh twice, 1-0, in 10 innings and 5-1, and Milwaukee beat San Francisco 6-3.

Rusty Staub's two-run homer sparked the Colts to their opening game victory over the Reds and Jim Campbell's grand slam homer in the eighth inning of the nightcap completed the sweep for Houston. Ken Johnson (4-11) and Dick Farrell (6-6) were the winning pitchers.

Cubs Climb Up

The Cubs, who climbed to third place with their two victories over the Mets, won the opener on a two-hitter by Glen Hobbie and the nightcap on Paul Toth's three-hitter.

Luckless Roger Craig gave up only four hits in the first game but still suffered his 13th defeat and 11th in a row although both runs off him were unearned. Billy Williams and Ron Santo hit first inning homers off loser Carl Willey in the finale.

Art Mahaffey turned in a do-it-yourself performance for the Phillies when he held the Pirates to two hits in the opener and scored the winning run on Don Demeter's 10th inning single after leading off the frame with his second double off loser Bob Friend. Ryne Duren made it a sweep for the Phils with a three-hitter in the nightcap. Bobby Wine's two-run double during a four-run rally in the sixth helped pin the loss on Joe Gibbon.

Hank Aaron's 21st homer of the year and Lee Mave's sixth were the big blows in the Braves' victory over the Giants. Aaron connected with one on off starter Jack Fisher to put Milwaukee ahead, 3-1, in the fifth and after the Giants tied the score, Mave produced the tie-breaker in the seventh off loser Gaylord Perry. Tony Cloninger was the winning pitcher.

McKinley-Stolle Wimbledon Final

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI)—Chuck McKinley of San Antonio, Tex., faced Australian bank clerk Fred Stolle today for the Wimbledon men's singles championship with the size of a pro tennis offer riding on the outcome.

McKinley, 22-year-old math student at Trinity (Tex.) University, hoped to become the first native American to win the Wimbledon crown since Tony Trabert in 1955.

And one of the most interested observers of the center court match at the All-England Club will be Trabert himself, now president of the International Tennis Players Association. Trabert said he planned to discuss a pro contract with McKinley, win or lose.

Stolle is only the third unseeded player in the 77-year history of the Wimbledon tournament to gain the final round of men's singles. He is ranked only fifth in Australia, but made a strong impression in the United States last year and in Europe this spring.

Stolle beat McKinley twice on clay this year. McKinley beat him in straight sets in the U.S. clay courts championships last year.

The U.S. and Australian also will be pitted against each other in the finals of women's singles on Saturday when unseeded Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif., faces top-seeded Margaret Smith of Australia.

Miss Moffitt, 19-year-old firm's daughter, scored her third straight upset of a seeded player when she defeated third-seeded Ann Haydon Jones of England, 6-4, 6-4, in the semifinals Thursday.

Miss Smith, who will be a heavy favorite, needed only 46 minutes to win her semifinal from fourth-seeded Darlene Hard of Los Angeles, the top-ranked U.S. player, 6-3, 6-3.

Hubble Remains Seriously Hurt

AMARILLO, Tex. (UPI)—Luther Ray Hubble, 28, of Levelland, Tex., lay semi-conscious and unable to speak in critical condition today, one month after he was injured in a light-heavyweight boxing match.

Hubble fell backward and struck his head on the ropes. He scrambled up but later collapsed in his dressing room. He can move his arms and legs and his eyes, doctors said, but cannot speak.

It's Not A Racial Problem

The carefully nurtured tensions between black and white races have produced a nightmare in this country. Without doubt the results of present events and those in the immediate past will cast long shadows into the future.

Those persons who have assisted in fomenting what amounts to a racial crisis will have an enormous responsibility on their shoulders. It may be that there are some white men who cannot stand the sight of a Negro. It may also be that there are some Negroes who cannot stand the sight of a white man. There is considerable evidence that in some instances both may be true.

But by far and away most people of both races wish to live together in the same country, each minding his own business and living without a pall of either fear or resentment stemming from an organized hostility across the color line. And the fact is that had the government stayed out of the picture, this is precisely the direction race relations were taking.

But the government doesn't like to stay out of any picture. Men in government are under the impression that nothing can be accomplished without a law passed and an enforcement agency compelling or preventing specific performance.

And truth to tell, the real problem which is now blossoming with such a fearful bloom, was planted long ago by government. When laws were first passed which created a special category for the newly freed Negroes, the first seeds were inserted into the warm soil of the South.

Now, as the crop has ripened, government's presence has always been noted: First, laws to compel segregation. Then, laws to compel integration.

Always the law and the use of force and guns and bayonets and bombs, in order, it is said, that we may have tolerance and peace! These weapons do not produce tolerance or peace. They are weapons of violence breeding discord, destruction, intolerance and war.

In all of this, the Negro is more a pawn than most people, including most Negroes, realize.

He has been sorely put upon. But now there is one organization called the NAACP which wishes, by force, to compel an immediate mixing of Negroes with whites. And there is another organization called the "Black Muslims" who decry integration and say that they must have segregation and a state-of-their-own-in-which-to-live and act as Negroes.

Which way is the Negro to go? There can certainly be no doubt that a smoldering resentment must exist in many a Negro heart at treatment afforded him in many quarters during the past hundred years or more. But as the Negro understands and has experienced this resentment, he knows that by breeding more of it in other hearts he is not making himself loved. Men who are forced into a type of conduct contrary to their natures will be resentful and bitter.

The problem here is NOT a racial problem. It is the problem that arises when violence and compulsion is used either to segregate or to integrate.

Men, regardless of any color or creed, do not wish to be quarantined and isolated against their natures. Also men, regardless of color or creed, do not wish their associations chosen for them; they will not stand for a government which takes to itself the power to compel associations which are forced and unnatural.

White men and black men have lived and worked together. They have fought and died together in the same causes for the same reasons. They have their separate and unique heritages and they have a common heritage, too, that they can and they do share.

But the current employment of violence is not a cure for prior violence. What is needed is patience and understanding and tolerance and a quick departure from the field of government guns. Men alone, lacking guns, will solve this problem. Men with government and guns will create more new problems than they will solve.

Outgrowth of State Education

If you wish to have a total military camp in place of a good society, as occurred in Sparta years ago, turn the care and education of the children over to the state.

The Best of Intentions

Most, if not all, people act with the best of intentions. This is true of advocates of taxes for schools, roads, hospitals, subsidies, welfare or anything else.

The Pampa News often uses the term theft in respect to taxation. We believe taxation is theft. But we do not believe advocates of taxation intend to steal. We believe they advocate taxes with the intention of improving conditions.

We think they are sincere but wrong. We think truth is truth and that the true description of taxation is to call it robbery even tho advocates of taxation sincerely believe taxation is not robbery.

Beliefs can be wrong. They often are regardless of the number of people holding them. Logic should be used to debate the question as to whether taxation is or is not robbery. The asking of this question tends to arouse emotions to the point where logic is dismissed. But the search for truth cannot be conducted on an emotional basis. Nor can the best of intentions alter facts.

The fact is that cold, hard logic proves that taxation is robbery. Truth is mighty and will prevail. Those who ignore truth, for whatever reason, do so at the peril of civilization.

What's Difference Between Politician and Statesman?

With more and more of our people beginning to take an interest in the affairs of their country and to exert what personal efforts they can to remedy the evils they find, we often hear the question: "what is the distinction between a politician and a statesman?"

A statesman is one who will conscientiously strive for the welfare of the nation and the people as a whole, regardless of whether it will enhance his personal fortunes or future. A strict definition of a politician is one who practices or is versed in politics which is supposed to be the science of government. Admitting that government is a science, it may be conceded that there are more fakers engaged in it than in any other science, not excluding psychology, astrology and theology. There are thousands of politicians but remarkably few statesmen.

We have one form of "politics" in the parable of Christ about the faithless steward who, when caught in his speculations, sought to make himself welcome in the houses of his master's creditors by granting them reductions in their debts. That sort of politician prevails to this day. Many in government office feather their nests by tossing choice contracts or jobs or businesses into the laps of their supporters so when dropped from government service, or while still angling for votes, they will reap pecuniary rewards.

The politician, as contrasted with the statesman, is one whose aim is to perpetuate in power the faction to which he belongs and to gain from public office the prerequisites that are possible, not only for himself but for others of like kidney. This is often occasioned by the fact that the politician began his career as a political party worker in his own bailiwick. Many of them never lose their pinched perspective and never take the pains to study the broader canvas of a national picture.

How to differentiate between the politician and one who endeavors to serve the nation, is a question now being asked by some. By their deeds you shall know them. One who consistently follows the bidding of the political party bosses and who, in Congress for example, always votes as his party leader directs him to do, is a politician and not a statesman. The politician may be expected to low supinely to the will of pressure groups. Such groups have been influencing governments and particularly heads of governments for centuries. Pontius Pilate succumbed to the cries of the rabble who demanded that Christ be given to them. To placate the mob Pilate washed his hands and gave in to the job. To this day we have that phrase "he washed his hands of the affair" which but repeats the words of Pilate. History is replete with repetitions of that historic case.

Another question asked by the sincere citizen is: "am I individually responsible for the deplorable situation in which we and the free world appear to be at present?"

The answer is "yes." There is a tendency to go along voting party labels; names put up by the strongly entrenched political machines without studying the policies or the programs advocated by them. The greatest need is education. For nearly a century we have had public schools but little learning of these essentials.

Very recently 154 senators and representatives accepted Distinguished Service plaques at ceremonies in a Washington hotel, which were presented by the group known as Americans for Constitutional Action. There were Republicans and Democrats who received those awards. The ACA supports candidates and causes without regard for political consideration, so long as they conform to the standards for sound government, as reflected in the constitution and bylaws of the ACA. The ACA, the record should show, might be called the very antithesis of the ADA (Americans for Democratic Action). That is its best recommendation. The ACA strives to honor statesmen and not to glorify politicians.

The Doctor Says

Medicine Recommends Standards for Boxing By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT

Accidental deaths occur in almost any sport, but the aspect of boxing that gives it its bad name is that none of the injuries incurred can properly be called accidental.

This is because, unlike football or baseball, boxing is a sport in which the avowed purpose of the contestants is to batter the opponent senseless.

Those who would defend the sport claim that it helps to keep many fit, and lures them away from mischievous gangs. Medical authorities are coming more and more to believe that there are better ways of accomplishing this purpose.

The best that can be said for boxing, is that, along with teaching these boys how to inflict injury on others, it does help train them in how to avoid injury to themselves and defend themselves in an unprovoked fight.

Blows below the belt were outlawed long ago and are not tolerated by fight fans; yet such blows, although painful, have never been fatal. It is much more important to outlaw blows to the head because, aside from producing cauliflower ears and flattened noses, these are the blows that cause concussions, the punch-drunk state, and death. Often it is not any one blow or bout, but an accumulation of minor brain injuries, that leads a boxer to suffer from dizziness, loss of memory, blurred vision, and persistent headaches.

It is doubtful, however, that fight fans would support recommended rules or legislation that would prohibit blows to the head, because that is precisely what they pay their money to see. That the headgear sometimes worn gives inadequate protection was shown in the recent death of 19-year-old Francisco Valesquez, who was wearing such gear when he received a fatal blow.

The Commission on Medical Aspects of Sports of the American Medical Association has re-examined the whole question. Since there seems to be little hope of outlawing boxing, they have made the following recommendations:

- A thorough medical examination of each contestant before he enters the ring.
- A physician present at all bouts, with authority to stop the fight.
- Opponent to be declared the winner when a contestant sustains more than one knockdown in any one round.
- Automatic suspension of any contestant who is knocked out or severely injured, until physician O.K.'s resumption of boxing.
- Adoption of shock-absorbing ring padding under the canvas.
- Required use of headgear and mouthpieces.
- Training to assure the maximum protection that goes with good condition.
- Referees familiar with a n alert to the health hazards inherent in boxing.

Observance of these recommendations will not eliminate all injuries in the ring, but they will go a long way to reduce the number and seriousness of such injuries.

London's Underground, world's first subway, is 100 years old this year. It now covers 253 route miles serving 277 stations. It carries 67 million passengers a year. London's deep stations (reached by elevators and escalators) were of great value during the war as bomb shelters.

The American Way

WHERE DID OUR ARMY GO? By Harry T. Everingham President of "We, The People!"

Can you believe that the United States government would scrap the U.S. Army, Navy and Air Force and turn their armaments and equipment, including all our nuclear weapons, over to the United Nations to police the world?

This is not only the plan that Soviet Russia advocates, but it is also the plan that U.S. government officials have presented at the 17-nation disarmament conference at Geneva.

I know you'll say that this is too fantastic to believe. It certainly is, but it's true! You may also say that surely this is just for propaganda purposes. But that was firmly denied by William C. Foster, the director of our Disarmament Agency. We quote him from "The Congressional Record" of June 13, 1962, page A-4364:

"U.S. disarmament proposals are, most emphatically, not intended for propaganda purposes. They are a sober statement of action policy which, if agreed to by the Soviet Union, could result in a world free from the scourge of war and the dangers and burdens of armaments in which the use of force has been subordinated to the rule of law and in which international adjustments to a changing world are achieved peacefully. U. S. disarmament programs are designed with one end in view: To increase the security of the United States as well as that of other nations. The problem is not what would happen if U. S. disarmament proposals were accepted. The problem is to gain support for these proposals and to negotiate the necessary details of them into specific agreements."

You can see that our administration in Washington is quite serious about this program for general and complete disarmament of the United States. Wait 'til you hear the details.

Our "Disarmament Agency" began with an Act of Congress known as Public Law 87-297, passed in Congress on Sept. 26, 1961. I'm sure that at the time many of our Congressmen voted for this "Arms Control and Disarmament Act" in the belief that it was only a propaganda move to prove to the world that the United States is not governed by "war mongers," as the communists have long claimed. Most of our Congressmen probably thought it would never go further than that.

But soon after this, the U. S. State Department (in Sept. 1961) released its famous Department of State Publication 7277 (Disarmament Series 5) "Freedom from War — The United States' Program for General and Complete Disarmament in a Peaceful World."

Total disarmament and surrender of U.S. army, navy and air force, according to this program, are to be accomplished in three stages of three years each, during which the United Nations and its various divisions would be progressively strengthened and the "Parties to the Treaty," including the United States, systematically weakened.

This was stated specifically in May, 1962, in a treaty we offered the Russians at Geneva on April 18, 1962. The United States Senate learned of the existence of this treaty from a news story from Geneva, Switzerland, which stated, "The United States will submit to the Geneva Conference a plan calling for the elimination of national armies within nine years and their replacement by a United Nations' force."

When this news broke, Senator Russell (D. Ga.), chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, reportedly said, "This is the first time I have heard of such a suggestion by any official of the government. I shall oppose with all my strength any proposal which would disband the armed forces of the United States. We can talk all we please about various agreements, but the element which is maintaining peace and preventing a major war today is the armed might of the USA, led by the Strategic Air Command."

"I do not believe that the people of the United States would tolerate any such thing as that for five minutes if made by any man in public life. . . . It would put this country at the mercy of the Soviet Union."

Then Senator Strom Thurmond (D. S. C.) added his protest. "I could not agree with Senator Russell more in this eloquent and brief argument against disbanding our nuclear and conventional forces, in order to create a super armed force for the United Nations. The UN is now controlled by the neutralists, who, judging by their UN voting records, are in turn controlled by the Soviet Union."

In 1965, the Salvation Army was founded in London.

In 1945, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced the Philippine Islands were liberated from the Japanese and the campaign could be regarded as virtually closed.

In 1961, 80 persons died in a riot in Algeria.

An ancient law still enforceable on the Isle of Man in the Irish Sea permits the killing on sight of all Scots. That item recalls that next Monday is the anniversary of the founding of Providence Plantations, now Rhode Island, in 1663, and that a similar law was in effect in Massachusetts until 1948.

At a dinner one night Governor Robert Bradford called attention to the old statute by granting safe conduct to the state boundary to Rhode Island Governor John Pasmore, now a U.S. Senator. The next day the Bay State legislature repealed the old law, which was designed to keep Roger Williams' followers from trespassing in the Massachusetts Bay Colony. There is no record that the law on the Isle of Man, or the one in Massachusetts had been enforced in modern times.

Skin diving is a sport derived from World War II. Prior to that time most underwater gadding was done in a bulky diving suit, complete with heavy helmet, leaded shoes, and air hose. The development of portable equipment opened up a whole new world to sport fishermen, who can now hunt fish underwater, or explore regions hitherto unknown. The sport has also created a new cult of nature lovers: the fish watchers. They are as ardent in their pursuit of species as their landlubber counterparts: bird watchers. One told us recently about watching baby lobsters forage on the ocean floor of an East Coast bay. The sport also attracts the fair sex since bright colors were put into the tight rubber suits and equipment. Buster Crabbe, on a movie movie Tarzan, plans a diving camp on the New England coast. He envisions whole families spending a good part of their vacation time underwater. Crabbe is also interested in undersea farming as a new form of agriculture.

The only rodent in the world larger than the American beaver is the capybara of South America. . . . Fort Union, built in 1828 on what is now the North Dakota - Montana border, was the principal fur-trading place in the Northern Plains region and supplied eastern and European markets with pelts for 40 years. Trappers and hunters based there were the trail blazers of the white men in that part of the West. . . . An Oxnard, Calif., man was arrested for driving his car to a work farm where he is serving a term weekends for driving after his license had been suspended. . . . The proposed TV series of JFK's "Profiles in Courage" can do much to stimulate interest in our nation's history. . . . Bellboys at the New Hilton Hotel in London are attired in top hats, gray suits with Eton jackets, striped shirts, and white gloves. Such formal elegance will not prevent their accepting tips from sport-shirted American tourists. . . . What makes the world go 'round, we find, is nothing more than DeTour signs.

Two Peoria, Ill., families are touring the country in a converted Greyhound bus, purchased for $5,000. Four adults and seven children have travelled more than 58,000 miles, twice to the West Coast, once to the Gulf Coast, and this summer touring New England after which they head for Wyoming. Bus contains a deep freeze, refrigerator, kitchen, wardrobe closets, sleeping compartments, two bathrooms, and air conditioning. . . . A truly oppressed minority is a man with a wife and teenaged daughters.

"But they and our Fathers dealt proudly, and hardened their necks, and hearkened not to thy commandments." Nehemiah 8:16

From the beginning of time, man has had a history of pride and rebellion toward a merciful Father. "Pride goeth before a fall."

TWAIN'S HOME GOES

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — A portion of Mark Twain's honeymoon home is being torn down. Owner James D. DiLapo said the house, extensively damaged by fire Feb. 7, will have its front section rebuilt, possibly for office rental.

THE BIG LINK—A Pan-American Highway linking North, Central and South America was first proposed in 1923. A survey was completed in 1933. Now, in 1963, the first half of this highway from Panama City to Laredo, Tex.—the Inter-American Highway—is open to traffic. As Newsmap shows, most of the road's 3,200-mile length is paved. All-weather stretches are mostly of crushed rock. The U.S. has spent $138.7 million on the highway, Mexico and the Central American republics an additional $82 million. About $48 million is needed to complete the unpaved portions.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — I've always wondered why no one made a July 4 television show about the New York jeweler who, when he died a year or two ago, bequeathed $250,000 to the government in appreciation of the freedom afforded in this country.

It would make a fine Independence Day tale. There is nothing the matter, of course, with the original Fourth of July story either, and that's what NBC-TV's "Today" show intelligently went after Thursday morning for all of its two hours, originating from historic Boston and sites vital to the Revolutionary War.

The first hour focused on the old State House, outside of which the Boston Massacre of 1770 took place. The second hour centered around the Boston Navy Yard and the legendary frigate, the U.S.S. Constitution, "Old Ironsides," which never lost a fight, something like Rocky Marciano, another local battlewagon.

Hugh Downs, usually the "Today" host, was absent, apparently tied up with another assignment. And Jack Lescault, another "Today" regular, was on vacation. The two hours, therefore, were guided by reporter Martin Agronsky, social historian and critic Cleveland Amory; and the daily staff member of the "Today" group, Pat Fontaine. And as a working trio, there were dandy Yankee Doodlers, adding—as a team—a refreshing and consistent amount of verve and wit to the usual moderation of the show.

Probably the only untoward moment of the program occurred when a reading of the Declaration of Independence by a high school student on a state house balcony was followed, not long afterward, by a commercial inquiring whether a woman's skin can look smooth when she is past 40.

Mr. Amory, author of "The Proper Bostonians," had his knowledge and wit in good shape. From the costumed commander of some modern "Minutemen," he drew the information that their title meant they were supposed to be ready on a minute's notice, but that it takes 10 minutes for them to get dressed nowadays. Amory also recalled the story of the Boston woman who went to buy a hat and explained to the salesman that she was from Boston, was a Unitarian and wore drawers—so he would know what kind of hat she wanted.

The Channel Swim: President Kennedy makes a White House statement tonight about his European trip on NBC-TV's one-hour special about the journey. The trend toward government-oriented series ideas continues: Now there are reports CBS-TV may be thinking of weekly dramas for 1964-65 about probes by Sen. John McClellan's investigating subcommittee.

Edward R. Murrow, former CBS-TV newsmen and now boss of the U.S. Information Agency, is burning over the slashing of his budget by the House of Representatives. The Screen Actors Guild has negotiated several contracts for raises in minimum pay for performers who work in television series made with electronic cameras on fast shooting schedules.
