

Nelson Is Crusade's Speaker

Another Also To Appear At 'Kick-Off' Rally

Senator G. H. Nelson, Lubbock, was announced Friday by Sales Crusade leaders as one of two inspirational speakers who will address the "kick-off" meeting of the sales campaign Monday at 8 p. m. in the city auditorium.

G. H. NELSON

Received at noon Friday by the crusade steering committee. The other speaker and remaining program details were not learned. Ben Cole, chairman of the steering committee, said that every effort would be made to pack the auditorium Monday evening for the formal opening of a concerted drive over Big Spring to increase sales "flora in every line of trade."

City Inspecting Other Possible Water Sites

Investigations of possible dam sites in this area, and especially those in the northeast sector of the county, were continued by city officials Friday. With a vote on $275,000 water system improvements bond less than three weeks away, city officials are bending their efforts to have all available information on every angle of the city water supply question.

Hines Indictment Upheld In Full By N. Y. Judge

Whether Conspiracy Comes Within Statute Of Limitations Is For Jury To Decide, Pecora Says

NEW YORK, Sept. 9 (AP)—Supreme Court Justice Ferdinand Pecora today sustained in its entirety the 19-count indictment charging Tammany District Leader James J. Hines with conspiracy and contriving a lottery.

He said that if the jury found the $20,000,000-a-year Dutch Schultz racket conspiracy did not extend beyond May 24, 1936—two years before Hines was arrested—it would be their duty to acquit the defendant on the misdemeanor count by conspiracy.

In such an event, he pointed out, the conspiracy count would be outlawed by the two-year statute of limitations.

The 12 other counts, charging the contriving of a lottery, are felonies. The jury was absent when Justice Pecora read his decision.

"The count must frankly state," he said, "that its mind is not entirely free from doubt as to whether the evidence presented by the people constitutes a prima facie case against the defendant as charged in counts two to 13 inclusive"—the felony counts.

The court observed that the evidence was conflicting on the question of whether conspiracy continued in New York county after May 24, 1936, and he said: "It is the duty of the jury to decide that."

The defense lawyers have contended that if the conspiracy did not exist after May 24, 1936, within two years before Hines was arrested, it fell within the statute of limitations.

Commenting on the part of the defense motion to dismiss the 12 felony counts, Justice Pecora said: "The court feels the evidence presented by the people if believed by the jury would justify a decision of the jury as to whether the crimes charged in those 12 felony counts were committed."

Deputy Sheriff Andrew Merrick said that he was filing charges against Bowman as the result of an attempt to flee in a car belonging to Luther Cunningham. According to officers, Cliff Cunningham gave chase on a motorcycle while Luther followed in a car. Cliff was able to overtake the car but its driver disregarded attempts of the motorcycle rider to halt his flight.

The Cunningham car ran out of gas, Luther and Cliff were on hand to seize the man who gave his name as Bowman.

They bound his hand and foot, brought him to town and jarring him over to police. Bowman, who was said to be a native of Eastland county, was untied and placed in the city jail where subsequently he was found bleeding profusely. A razor blade lay nearby, police reported.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Sept. 9 (AP)—Judge William F. Frank of the state supreme court died unexpectedly in his chambers today of angina pectoris. The republican judge from Kirksville was 63 years old.

He was brother of Glenn Frank, chairman of the republican program committee, who recently came to Missouri to aid his brother's campaign for reelection.

RIOT SQUAD IS CALLED OUT AS FRISCO STRIKE FIGHTS FLARE

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 9 (AP)—Flats flew on Market street in front of the Emporium today as milling thousands crowded about to watch the store opening and a police riot squad went into action for the third successive day of the department store strike here.

Hans Horn, non-striking store employe, was hustled to safety inside the store with his face bruised and bleeding, while a man giving the name of Charles Silcox was carried off in the police patrol wagon with a cut lip.

Silcox denied he was a striker, or sympathizer. He insisted he was merely a passerby who got jostled in the crowd as employes were being escorted through the doors under guard.

"Somebody took a swing at me, and I ducked and swung back," he declared.

J. A. Smith, Emporium superintendent, flatly contradicted this account, declaring Horn was "deliberately set upon by two longhairs and beaten."

Smith said he was compiling for presentation to police, a record of nearly a dozen instances of violence to store employes which occurred last night or early this morning.

Mayor Angelo J. Rossi redoubled his efforts as peace-maker, meanwhile, and after a conference with leaders of both sides uttered the hopeful belief that they could "get together."

The walkout, which started Wednesday morning after contract negotiations collapsed, affected but failed to close most of the major department stores in the downtown area and some in other districts. In all, 97 companies

Hitler Misses Talk Because Of Affair

Studies Czech Situation After Report On British Talk

NURNBERG, Germany, Sept. 9 (AP)—Reichfuhrer Adolf Hitler, apparently too deeply engrossed in the crisis over Czechoslovakia, failed today to deliver a scheduled address at the tenth annual Nazi party congress.

"Business of state" The explanation was given that "business of the state prevented" his appearance.

He was understood to be studying the Czechoslovak situation, after Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop had reported to him on a conference with Sir Neville Henderson, British ambassador to Germany.

High praise, in defiant mood, predicted Hitler would demand—and was—a plebiscite for the Sudeten German minority in Czechoslovakia.

It was the fuhrer's first failure to attend the annual women's auxiliary rally during the decade of Nurnberg congresses.

Gertrude Scholtz-Rilak, Nazi women's leader, told 20,000 disappointed women, "we know that what our fuhrer does is always right so we send him our greetings and pledge of loyalty."

Russia And Rumania Chart Plan Of Action

GENEVA, Sept. 9 (AP)—The passage of Soviet Russian troops through Rumania to Czechoslovakia in the event of war was authoritatively reported to have been the subject of a conference here today between the soviet and Rumanian foreign ministers.

Maxim Litvinoff of Russia and Petrus Cionescu of Rumania, here for league of nations council meetings beginning today, were the conferees, and persons close to both left no doubt they discussed seriously the future of the conflict over the Sudeten German crisis.

These persons said there had been no agreement but there would be further talks.

French Keep Close Watch On Border

HUMINGUE, On the Southern End of the French-German Frontier, Sept. 9 (AP)—French military authorities prepared for action on a wartime basis, intermittently blocked traffic today on a pontoon bridge across the Rhine into Germany.

Soldiers stationed on the bridge moved three pontoons out from a roadway from time to time to maintain strict control of vehicles across the river.

The entire region guarding the Burgundian gateway into France from Germany was alive with soldiers. Machine-gun emplacements on the French side of the Rhine have been occupied by troops.

Troops concentrated in the area lent a warlike atmosphere to the valley which France is not permitted to fortify because of its proximity to the Swiss border.

ENGINEER KILLED AS TRAIN WRECKS

HUDSON, Wis., Sept. 9 (AP)—A westbound mail-passenger train of the Chicago and Northwestern Lines was wrecked near here today, killing the engineer and injuring several passengers.

The wreck was caused by a wash-out, result of a torrential rain. The train was bound from Chicago to the twin cities.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9 (AP)—The railroads' plea for continuance of temporary increases in freight rates on bituminous coal will be heard Oct. 17 by the interstate commerce commission.

FRENCH RESERVISTS REPORT FOR BORDER DUTY

French reservists (right) in civilian clothes, are shown as they entered a railway station in Paris enroute to report for duty on the Maginot line. Uniformed French guards are shown at the left. A French war ministry order instructed an undetermined number of reservists to report immediately for Maginot line duty. This picture was flown to London and transmitted by radio to New York.

GRAND JURY INDICTS 19

Two Accusations Of Murder In List Of Charges

Thirteen of 19 persons named in indictments returned by the 10th district court grand jury late Thursday were under arrest Friday.

In reporting after the first session of the term, the grand jury disclosed nine counts for passing forged instruments, two bills for murder, two each for theft by bailor and child desertion. There was one indictment for felony theft, burglary, cattle theft, and conspiring to burn insured personal property.

Gregorio Cepeda, Mexican indicted for murder of his daughter's infant child, of which the state will charge he was the father, had bond set at $10,000 by the court following return of the indictment.

Stiff bond of $3,000 also was set by the court in the case of Leonard G. Gonzalez, billed for murder in connection with a bar room shooting in the Mexican quarter.

Bonds were set at $1,000 in all other cases. E. A. Jones, billed for felony theft, was the only one to post the figure to Friday noon.

Those being held were Jarvis Harold Benton, forgery; Eluterio Oroso, burglary; C. L. McDaniel, cattle theft; Byron Herley, forgery; Joseph Buchanan, theft by bailor; Ed Burgo alias R. S. Strong, forgery; Emmett O'Brien and Ben Keese, felony theft; Bob White, forgery; and Cepeda and Gonzalez.

F. O. Nance, indicted for passing a forged instrument, entered a plea of guilty and was given a two year suspended sentence.

Virgil Haynes, held on a driving drunk charge from a previous court term, was fined $50 and costs, sentenced to five days in jail and had his driving license suspended for six months by Judge Charles Klapproth after a plea of guilty had been entered.

Divorce petitions were heard by the court Thursday afternoon, and Friday morning the judge conducted a hearing on a case brought here from Ector county.

JUDGE ROY BEAN WILL PRESIDE OVER 'COURT' HERE SATURDAY

The eminent, if somewhat mythical, jurist, Roy Bean, is on his way to Big Spring for sessions of his "court" tomorrow.

The judge, who personified the Law West of the Pecos, has been prevailed upon by members of the 49 and 5, American Legion fun organization, to honor the city Saturday with some sessions of his tribunal. His appearance, with bailiffs, deputies and all suitable personnel and accoutrements, will be a feature of a day of festivities marking the initiation of some 25 members here of the new local 40 and 8 unit. Judge Bean—or somebody—will preside at a downtown court, summoning various and sundry before the bar to answer for real or imagined infractions. His penalties may cost somebody, but 40 and 8 men insist that everything is for a good cause. The public, however, is given fair warning that Judge Bean plays no favorites.

A delegation from the San Angelo 40 and 8 will be here Saturday to conduct initiation ceremonies, and new members from Midland and Odessa will be on the receiving end along with the Big Spring men. The program is to start at 4 p. m., in the old Elks club hall, and Saturday evening 40 and 8ers will join American Legion members at an informal smoker at the country club.

Purge Said To Be Limited

No Other Democrats Yet Marked By FD For Elimination

NEW YORK, Sept. 9 (AP)—The New York Times says in a special dispatch from Hyde Park that "President Roosevelt's 'purge' of the party conservative and anti-New Deal democrats will be limited for the present to the few candidates he has already marked for opposition in the primaries. It was indicated today after a conference between the chief executive and Attorney General Cummings."

"While no further steps will be taken by the Washington leaders of the party in the congressional primaries," the article continued, "it seemed apparent that the president has no intention of dropping his drive for election of liberals in November, even if this means open support of republican candidates in isolated instances."

"Thus, so far as the current democratic primary situation is concerned, Mr. Roosevelt is willing to permit his 'purge' efforts to stand or fall on the outcome in Georgia, Maryland and New York City where, as head of the democratic party, he is waging a fight against Senators George and Tydings and Representative John O'Connor."

There was evidence of some irritation in summer White House circles over published interjections of Senator McCarran's pre-Party victory in Nevada as a rebuff to Mr. Roosevelt. It was recalled that the president, while traveling through Nevada on his recent trip, refrained from mentioning the senator's opposition, but appeared with him on the rear platform of his car and once shook his hand.

CHARLES STARRETT IN PERSON AT THE LYRIC TODAY

Charles Starrett, the western movie player who has been in Colorado as an honor participant in the Frontier Roundup, will be back in Big Spring this afternoon to greet fans and, later, to catch a plane for his Hollywood home.

Starrett will make a personal appearance at the Lyric theatre this afternoon between 4:30 and 5 o'clock. It has been announced. A big crowd welcomed the cowboy star here Wednesday afternoon.

Starrett will board the evening westbound American Airlines plane.

ROOSEVELT TO GO TO SON'S BEDSIDE

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 9 (AP)—President Roosevelt scheduled two last-minute conferences today before speeding to the bedside of his son, James, who will undergo an operation Monday at the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn.

The summer White House announced suddenly last night that Mr. Roosevelt would entrain tonight for Rochester, to be present during the patient's operation Monday. Mrs. Roosevelt already is in Rochester and James' wife, Betty, was scheduled to arrive there today.

Little Nation Unwilling To Back Down

British Public Claim: For A Sterner Warning To Hitler

PRAGUE, Sept. 9 (AP)—Premier Milan Hodza received a flood of telegrams today from Czechoslovaks who opposed more concessions to the autonomy-demanding Sudeten German minority.

More than 500 messages and telegrams of protest were on the premier's desk this morning.

Most of the appeals repeated the new Czech slogan: "Not one millimeter further!" Many of them were from groups of citizens and political organizations.

The messages, a government spokesman said, indicated a stiffening of Czechoslovak opinion outside the regions inhabited by the 3,500,000 Sudeten Germans whom Adolf Hitler supports in their demands for self-government.

Several thousand Sudeten Germans, shouting Nazi slogans, demonstrated for an hour in front of the police station at Jaegerndorf, near Czechoslovakia's German and Polish borders.

The clamor added to the pressure on the harassed government from both sides.

The demonstrators at Jaegerndorf obtained permission to write a Sudeten German party affair tomorrow of the funeral of Alfred Knoll.

Knoll, a minor Sudeten German functionary, was killed when he fell from a railroad train while in custody of a military guard. He had been charged with espionage and Sudeten Germans have demanded an inquiry into his death, intimating he was killed after a scuffle with the officers.

Fearing violence, officials had refused permission for the funeral to be held under Sudeten German auspices.

Britons Call For A Strong Declaration

LONDON, Sept. 9 (AP)—Evidence of mounting public support for an unmistakable British warning to Germany "before it is too late" weighed heavily today in favor of such a course in ministerial meetings devoted to the Czech-German crisis.

Persons in all walks of life were shaken out of their indifference to European crisis and recalled the incidents and delays of the British government in 1914. They urged a strong declaration at once.

These developments occurred as the French government was reported pressing Britain to follow the French example of war-time preparedness. One informant said the reason was that Britain had failed by diplomacy to convince Germany she would fight if Czechoslovakia were invaded.

France Pushes For A Firmer Stand

PARIS, Sept. 9 (AP)—With French nervousness regarding Britain's position in the German-Czech crisis increasing, diplomatic circles reported today that Charles Corbin, French ambassador to London, had been instructed to ask the British government to proclaim publicly that it would defend the territorial integrity of Czechoslovakia.

A high foreign office official said he was unable "either to confirm or deny" this report.

Some sources also said Corbin had been told to ask Britain to take "defensive security measures" similar to those taken by France in putting her army, navy and air force on a preparedness footing.

The belief was widely held that as long as Hitler has the impression he can hope for new British pressure on Prague he will continue to demand more and more of the Czechoslovak government.

THE SPORTS PARADE

By Hank Hart

(Whipsey For Hart)

This may be a little far in advance, but such schools in the Oil Belt as are keeping an eye on their brethren as to eligibility requirements (and which one isn't?) probably will be interested in the Inter-scholastic League fathers' decision to change some eligibility rules beginning with the season of 1940.

Chief among the changes is the substitution of an 18-year age rule for the highly controverted eight-semester and four-year participation rule. The league announces this is to equalize competition between the 11- and 12-year high schools, something that has been a source of annoyance for some time.

An announcement from Director R. J. Kidd points out that a vote was taken as to the application of the eight-semester rule for 12-year schools, and that by a ballot of 284 to 181, it was decided to count semesters from the eighth grade in all school systems. "The adoption," Kidd says, "will exclude the seniors who make normal progress of a grade a year in the 12-grade systems from participating in football. One can readily see that bona fide high school students will be denied the privilege of participation on the high school football team. To eliminate this condition the league officials plan to abolish the eight-semester rule and the participation rule and substitute the 18-year age limit."

Which may be a solution to many of the league squabbles. All the schools have to do now is to provide birth certificates and all the other evidence that can be accumulated to show the ages of their grid stars. The point is to enforce this 18-year rule. Sportsmen's clubs ought to be sportsmanlike enough not even to consider a prospective Sammy Baugh for their own towns unless he is young enough to pass the requirements. It would save 'em a lot of trouble and expense.

We hope to get a report some time next week as to the probable strength of the Lamesa football team. If all that Tornado news is the first on the slate for the season, and going into Class B on the ball, if our lads are to go to the Rose Bowl this season, we gotta win every game.

School officials say that the stands out at Steer stadium will be given a thorough working over before the first home game, and that some bracing work will be done to eliminate that dippy-doodle shake. The boys who work in that press box probably will be glad to know this, what with a continued concern lest the outfit come tumbling down. It wouldn't be so bad if only a radio announcer or so were lost, but a sports writer deserves something better—say, the guillotine.

This is a novel angle about "beef trusts" and we pass it on because Gene Spence and other Aggie worshippers like to see anything about A. and M. in print.

"COLLEGE STATION—Head Coach Homer Norton will turn loose his 383 feet and eight inch football giant that tips the scales at 12,400 pounds for the first time when his Texas Aggies meet Texas A. and M. on historic Kyle field here, September 24.

"This giant is a composite gridder constructed from the squad of 94 players based on their heights and weights during the winter training period. Many of the young freshmen probably have gained in weight and stature during the summer and the giant may be somewhat smaller than the one that will carry the Aggie colors in its campaign against the strong opposition in inter-sectional and conference trays. "More than four and a half tons of drawn are wrapped up in 46 line candidates who total 9,000 pounds. Reducing that mass down to a one-man figure the average weight in the forward wall is 198 pounds."

Personal note to Hank Hart: Come on back and take this thing over before Jos Pickle ruins what- ever standing the column had. He got mixed up on his football school bus once, and now comes out with the first assertion that lights are in place out at the Mundy tennis courts. Which is nice to hear, but Herman (Don Budge) Corley comes storming in to assert he went out for a night game and could find no lights. He was threatening either to sue or to whip the editor and we suggested the suit. City officials pass the word along that the lights WILL be in place soon, that the next move is up to the electric company.

Drill Ground The Biggest Problem

Lineup Altered As Howard Hart Placed At End Position

One week from today, the 1938 Big Spring football machine will test its strength against the Lamesa Tornadoes in the Dawson county seat.

What sort of showing the boys will make is a question, but after two and a half hours of stiff practice Thursday afternoon it looked as if Pat Murphy's charges would be working about as well as any other high school team with only three weeks of drill.

Openly more concerned about a place on which to hold his rehearsal than the ability of the boys to give an account of themselves, Murphy puzzled his brain Friday for a practice field.

Pasture Workout Thursday the Steers worked out in a typical steer pasture, complete with mesquite brush, cacti and burrs. Whether the coaching staff would take squaddens back to the same location east of Birdwell tank Friday was open to debate. Murphy is trying to hold off the playing field as the stadium due to adverse turf conditions, but Friday morning he had about decided to put his boys to work there. "They can't make it much worse than it is," he figured.

Together with Carmen Brandon, assistant coach, and John Daniel, new coaching staff member, Murphy put the candidates through a brisk workout Thursday, brushing the boys up on their kicking and passing, blocking and tackling.

Return of Howard "Blug" Hart to the fold necessitated some changes in the tentative starting line-up. Hart, a squaddman from last year, was shifted from his center position to end.

Choc Smith, who was running at the left end slot, was changed to the fullback post, in turn making it necessary to shift Choc Jones to left half. D. R. Gartman, running at a half back slot, was held to the sideline with minor injuries and an attack of boils.

"Red" Dawson's Question Box

By LOWELL (RED) DAWSON

QUESTION: What is meant by "balanced line?" "Unbalanced line?"

ANSWER: When there is an equal number of linemen on either side of the center in the offensive line, it forms a balanced line. An unbalanced line or a "4-2" line occurs when four linemen are on one side of the center and two on the other. A "5-1" line works on the same principle.

Scrimmage Is In Order For S'west Clubs

Bob Stidger Of SMU Is First Casualty Of The Season

Work schedules grew tougher in Southwest Conference grid camps today.

Down at Waco, where Baylor boasts a squad of 52, largest in several years, Coach Morley Jennings squared the Bears off for a moderate, but real scrimmage.

The Rice Owls at Houston and Texas Longhorns at Austin, bearing up without injury under increasing training pressure, looked to their first real scrimmage tomorrow.

Only Southern Methodist reported casualties yesterday. Johnny Stidger, red-haired backfield man, hurt his shoulder.

The Methodists were to get their first real blocking and tackling tomorrow.

Every Sort Of Pitcher Gets A Try In Mad Scramble For National League Pennant

Cubs And Reds Come Through With Victories

As though that weird National League race itself wouldn't make even the most confirmed teetotaler see pink elephants, the first division clubs now have it even whackier with a creaky collection of patchwork pitching staffs as ever came down the pike.

Of course, the "sore arm-itis" for which this year is famous has a lot to do with it. Even the oldest inhabitant can't remember when the four-top outfits in as tight a fight as the current scramble found it necessary to rely upon makeshift flinging staffs in the stretch drive.

Newcomer Helps Take the Cubs. It wasn't enough that they had to lug old Charley Root out of the bullpen for starting duty. Yesterday they decided to ring in one Walter Kirby Higbe. A search of the books revealed he was making his first start since he was recalled from Birmingham.

For the moment, the move paid dividends. Young Mr. Higbe held the Cardinals at bay for six innings, then gave over to old Jack Russell, and the Cubs took the ball game in the tenth on Frank Demaree's second homer of the afternoon, to climb within four games of the first-place Pirates.

So it has been all down the line. Vander Meer Wins Some of this pitching pressure has been lifted off Pittsburgh and Cincinnati with the recent return from the hospital lists of Bob Klinger and Johnny Vander Meer. Klinger, his sore arm right again, has taken two straight for the Cubs. Last night Vandy came back and pitched the Reds to a seventh, 5-3 win over the Pirates.

This, coupled with a 6-4 decision the Giants took by outlasting Boston's Bees, left the Pirates a slim four games in front of the Cubs, with the Reds half-a-game farther back, and the Giants the same distance behind Cincinnati.

The American League race, meantime, rapidly nears its winding. The Yankees blanked the Red Sox, 4-0, yesterday behind Lefty Gomez's five-hit effort. The Indians remained headlocked with the Red Sox in second place by dropping a 4-1 decision to Alton Benton and the Detroit Tigers.

Ken Chase's six-bitter was enough to give Washington a 5-2 edge over the Athletics. Luke Hamlin closed out the night baseballing in Brooklyn by pitching the Dodgers to a 5-0 shutout over the Phillies. The Browns and White Sox were rained out for the second straight day.

Greenberg Losing Out On The Home Run Marathon

By EDDIE BRIEZE

NEW YORK, Sept. 9 (AP)—Ossie Curtis Greenberg is beating the best down at Shreveport by having his Centenary football squad report in practice at 9 a. m. Al Schacht says: "I wish I had Lou Gehrig's money, Ossie's gall and my good times." Suppose you read where Bill Terry did a right-about-face and put the Giants back in the flag race. How? Bill McKechnie usually addresses umpires with the prefix of mister, but he must have said "Mr. So and So" the other day when he drew that $120 fine.

Looks like Hank Greenberg makes his chances of catching up with Babe Ruth's home run record goodbye. The year he swatted 60 for a new record, the Big got six of them during the first seven days of September. Hank's record so far this month is zero. Jimmy Crowley and Ben Enright, who used to be roomies at Notre Dame, will send their Fordham and South Carolina football teams against each other at the Polo Grounds November 19. West Virginia has a five-year football plan which is supposed to wind up in the Rose Bowl in 1940.

Sammy Baugh's contract with the Washington Redskins calls for $1 per year. He is paid his record salary on a side agreement with the club owners.

club quits paying their expenses. No matter how weak their opposition in the early rounds they aren't going to take any chances. They play it safe and win, but their game never gets much better.

"Up to about 1930 every player tried constantly to improve his game. When I was coming up I followed Bunny Austin all over England from tournament to tournament, just on the chance I would get to play him.

"He beat me regularly, but my game got better. I never would have beaten Von Cramm and Crawford and Budge if I hadn't learned to get to the net as fast as I could on nearly every point. "But these baseline specialists out here, I think Bill Tilden still could trim any of them except Budge. Why, yes, I should be able to beat any of the amateurs. Playing against Ellsworth Vines all the time for 18 months couldn't help improving my game, could it?"

title playoff at one game each the Tyler Trojans and Henderson Oilers girded for the third clash of the series tonight.

The Oilers avenged an inaugural beating last night, whipping Tyler 4-3 when a home run off the bat of lanky George Sturdivant drove in three runs.

Sturdivant's clout, in the sixth inning, broke a 1-1 tie, and Landed Roy Weisenborn the best of a close pitching duel with Lewis McLendon.

Tahoka-Lamesa Clash Among Those Carded As Today's Season-Openers

By The Associated Press

The Texas Inter-scholastic League football campaign opens tonight but only a scattering of games inaugurate the nineteenth annual race. Next week practically every school will swing into action and by Sept. 24 all will have opened the season.

Three districts have games scheduled in the Class A division (11 weeks. They are: District 1—Clovis, N. M., at Pampa; Tahoka at Lamesa; Kerrville at Plainview. District 2—Chillicothe at Electra, Quanah at Wellington. District 3—Jacksonville at Tyler.

One hundred and nine teams are lined up for the campaign this year. It is the largest number in the history of the league.

Pro Fred Perry Looks Over The Crop Of Tennis Amateurs And Opines They're No World-Beaters

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK, Sept. 9 (AP)—Fred Perry, who now plays tennis for money and likes his work, has looked over the field in the current national singles championships at Forest Hills and has decided that the standard of play among the amateurs is getting worse faster than it is getting better.

Perry's impression, while not necessarily conclusive and perhaps even a little biased, is interesting nevertheless, because he backs it up with sound reasoning and all but draws a diagram.

"Look over this field," he demanded. "With the exception of Don Budge they're all baseline players. Not a one of the others knows how to rush the net and take charge of a match.

"And I can tell you why they're all playing this cautious, never-take-a-chance stuff. They have learned that as soon as they get knocked out of a tournament the

SCHOOL ZONES MUST BE SAFE ZONES

With the school term having been in progress only a few days, there already have been heard several complaints of traffic hazards around Big Spring schools. Particularly at the high school block, where the student load is heavy, and the street system is complex, have there been reported evidences of dangers.

Traffic signs have been placed at the schools, it is true, but it may take more than that to convince some irresponsible and careless motorists that a school zone is a place where the young pedestrians more than ever have the right of way.

CHICKENS COME HOME TO ROOST

That business has itself somewhat to blame for the restrictions which the New Deal is putting on it is the conclusion of Dr. William Spencer, dean of the School of Business, University of Chicago, one of the college folks of the class that has had the ear of the president, from time to time during his occupancy of the presidential chair.

In "reverting to pooling arrangements, price agreements, trusts, holding companies and mergers with a view to rationalizing and eliminating competition," he said, "business has been a serious offender against the system of free enterprise, about the future of which it is now so apprehensive."

To use the homely expression, it is a case of chickens coming home to roost.

ESTIMATE OF THE EUROPEAN SITUATION During the past fortnight, that is to say in the period since Sir John Simon's speech, the peace of Europe has been hanging in the balance. It still hangs in the balance. But it is now clear enough that the crucial question is whether the British government, which is responsible to parliament and to the dominions, can make effective and convincing diplomatic contact with Hitler who is responsible only to his own conscience.

The key to the situation lies in the fact that Mr. Chamberlain and Lord Halifax are the ministers of a constitutional state, and are unable, therefore, until they have a mandate from parliament and the dominions, to say explicitly that Britain will go to war if Germany attacks Czechoslovakia. And because they are unable to do this, there is the great danger that Hitler will be persuaded by Herr Ribbentrop and the radical Nazis that it is safe to attack.

This being the basic fact, British diplomacy has been moving along two lines, the one through Berlin and the other through Prague. In Berlin the British have been working to convince the rulers of Germany that if Czechoslovakia is attacked, and if it remains, France will in fact go to war and that Britain will in fact, though it has no explicit engagement, go to war too. And in Prague the British through Lord Runciman have been pressing the Czechs to make concessions so drastic that they will convince the British public and the outer world, and possibly Hitler himself, that the Czechs have made every possible sacrifice to avoid war. They have asked the Czechs for concessions which Hitler can accept if what he wants is justice for the Sudetens and peace for Europe; they have asked for concessions which, if Hitler rejects them, will make him the indubitable aggressor in the event of war.

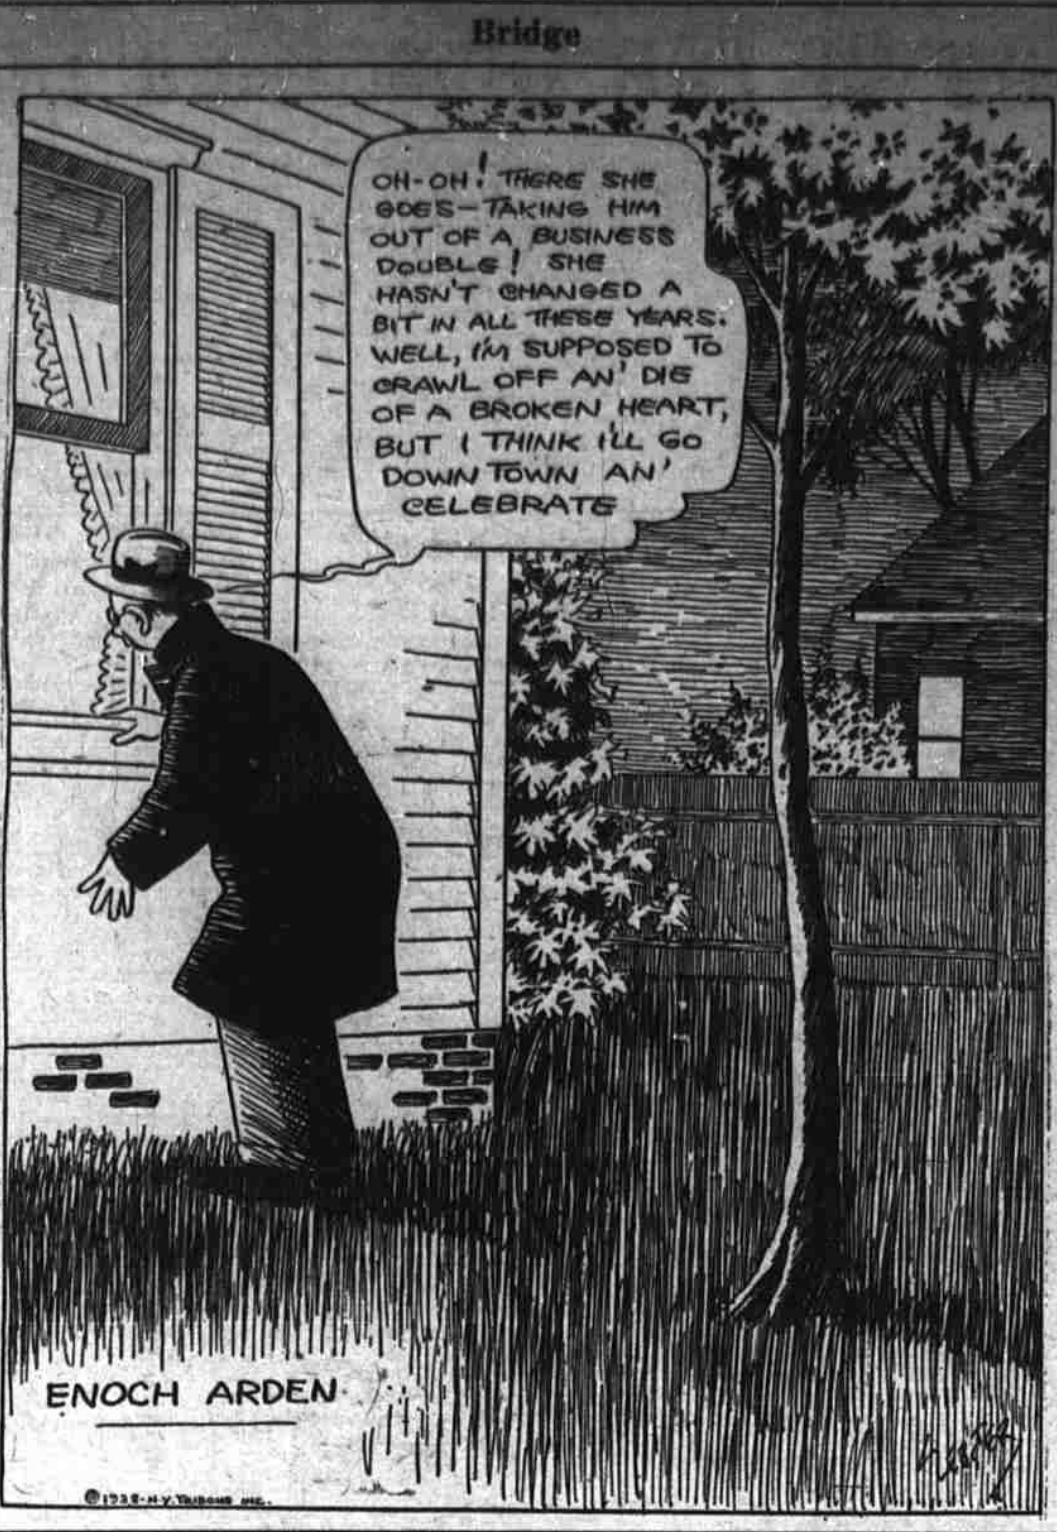

We are now at a point where it can be said that the British have been successful in Prague but that they have not yet been successful in Berlin. There have won half the battle for peace, the easier half to be sure, but everything depends upon their winning the other half.

They have persuaded the Czechs to grant great concessions. Whether these concessions will satisfy Hitler even temporarily is as yet unknown. But it is known that these concessions satisfy the British government that the Czechs are acting in good faith. There seems to be no real doubt that President Benes has convinced Lord Runciman, and through him the British government, that the Czechs are willing to redress all the express grievances of the German minority, and that for the sake of European peace they are willing to run the grave risk of disintegrating the Czechoslovak republic. They are offering to hand over the control of law and order in certain vital strategic frontier regions to a minority who are acting under the orders of the head of a foreign and profoundly hostile state. One can obtain some conception of the extent of the Czechs' concessions by supposing that we were agreeing to turn over the control of police in the Panama Canal Zone and in Hawaii to Japanese residents acting under orders from Tokyo. In fact, the concessions offered by the Czechs are even more dangerous than that. For the regions they are offering to turn over to the control of their enemies are nearer to their capital than Philadelphia is to Washington.

To this point the British have persuaded the Czechs to go. By this policy they are forcing the Czechs to take immeasurable risks for the future. But they have achieved important results. They have confronted Hitler with an offer which a sensible man who wants peace will find it hard to reject. They have insured the Czechs the active, and merely the passive support of France, and they have provided themselves with a moral case which they can take to the British people if worst comes to worst. A month ago British opinion was divided and uncertain as to whether the Czechs had a clear case. The case of the Czechs has now been cleaned and clarified to the point where Mr. Chamberlain could submit the case to the judgment of the British people with assurance as to what their verdict would be.

Thus the situation has changed in an important way since Sir John Simon's speech on August 27. It is that the British government could go no further than to predict that Britain would probably be drawn into a general war. It was possible then to question the prediction because it could be argued that there was inside the Chamberlain government an influential isolationist, anti-Czech, and even pro-German faction. But by driving the Czechs to extreme concessions, Lord Runciman has altered this situation in Great Britain. The clarification of the moral record means that the government would not merely, as Sir John Simon said, be entangled in a general war but that it would have also an obligation of honor to intervene.

The supreme question of the hour is whether Hitler understands the British position and can be convinced that he cannot attack with-

Hollywood

Sights And Sounds by ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—The studios are getting ready for autumnal holiday tans. They're working Hollywood's preview clan overtime. To this game but grim and bleary-eyed tribe this week they unrolled along with assorted other films, these: "YOU CAN'T TAKE IT WITH YOU" Frank Capra's newest, semi-comedy with Edward Arnold, Lionel Barrymore, James Stewart, Jean Arthur, etc., already discussed here at length as the movie-of-the-month.

"CAREER" Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers, top among movie dance teams, step together again after independent ventures, and this is their best, lightest, and most satisfying since "The Gay Divorcee."

For one thing, it has a story and a bright one. Astaire plays a psychoanalyst, and Ginger is the radio singer who's engaged to Fred's best friend (Ralph Bellamy) but can't make up her mind about marrying him. Ralph sends Ginger to Fred as a patient—and the inevitable does happen, but with laughs and merriment and music to spare along the way.

Under Mark Sandrich's smooth direction, practically all possibilities inherent in the pseudo-scientific apparatus of the movie doctor's trade are realized. And it keeps on to the climax which puts it up to Fred, he having hypnotized Ginger into deathless affection for Bellamy and hatred for himself, to snap her out of it.

Irving Berlin wrote the tunes, and for dancing specialties there are Fred's golf number, a real slicer; Fred and Ginger's slow-motion "dream dance," about as beautiful as you can imagine; a "hypnotic dance" in which Fred almost works his spell on Ginger; and the usual big show-off piece, this time called "The Yam," and slick, too.

"DRUMS"—This is Alexander Korda's English production, full of spectacular mountain scenery in technicolor, and photographically superb.

The story is one of those Rule, Britannia things. Desert outpost with a handful of his majesty's troops surrounded by cut-throat native intrigue, valor and the aura of Kipling.

Sabu (remembered as the "Elephant Boy") is a native prince whose uncle has murdered his father and ousted him from the throne. Roger Livesey is the British officer, Valerie Hobson his pretty and so-brave wife, and Raymond Massey—who makes you think he's the only actor in the cast—is the villainous native uncle, turban and jewels and all. Young Desmond Tester, a red-headed freckle-faced, is Sabu's pal, ingratiating in adolescent comedy.

"THE ROAD TO RENO"—Comparatively inexpensive but expertly, even cleverly directed by Sylvan Simon, this one (about the opera star who goes to Reno and falls in love again with the rancher she's divorcing) brings Hope Hampton back to the screen.

Billed second to Randolph Scott, the one-time silent screen star sings opera and a couple of nice ballads while deciding between Scott and her other suitor, Alan Marshall. She has the rather vain beauty of an old-fashioned china doll, and a blondeness about as subtle as a sunburst, but the requirements of her role are not taxing, the fixed toothpaste smile and the camera is kind.

showed five minutes to the hour, the big gates were closed when I reached them. I turned the key in a lock that felt freshly oiled, entered the darkened house, and tiptoed my way upstairs. Everything was still; I could almost hear the house breathing in its sleep. I opened my room, switched on the light, and made a hasty inspection, but everything seemed to be in order. Even the lock of the door still worked, a fact that surprised me mildly, for ever since I had identified the new chasseur, I had had a vague suspicion that things were going to move that night.

I fastened the door, wedged a chair under the handle, and closed the stout outer shutters of the window; then, with the comfortable feeling that if I was to wake up in paradise it wouldn't be for want of taking precautions, I went to bed.

But the long hours were on and I slept and woke and slept again until suddenly, somewhere before the dawn, I woke with a start. What had aroused me I couldn't tell. I was panting as if I had dived out of a race, and in my ears I still seemed to hear the creak of a muffled cry.

Dripping Red I crept to the door, listened intently, and then, with immense precaution, turned the key in the lock. As I opened the door slowly, I saw that the passage outside was filled with the gray half-light of dawn, but it was completely empty; and then, a little way to the right, with a stealthy quiet that made a pulse leap in my throat, a door began to open.

Inch by inch it moved and I stood watching it, holding my breath. I could not think what room it was, for the rest of the corridor beyond was in shadow and I could not count the doors; but this door was clearly lit, and as I watched something appeared round the edge, pushing it wider—something that sent a cold shiver of horror slugging down my spine. It was the fingers of a man's hand, heavy-knuckled, white-skinned, but they were not all white, for the hand dripped red on the marble flags below.

In one swift stride I was back inside my own room with the door shut and locked and my ear to the crack. For a moment all was still, and then I heard a small ominous sound that I knew to be the broken tile in the passage sliding under a stealthy tread. There was no more sleep for me that night. Something horrible had happened but I dared not try to discover the truth, for my own life, and Hugo's and Dunning's, were all that stood between the old man Virgilio Wills and a similar fate.

Just as my watch showed seven, I heard footsteps outside and, prying cautiously round the window, saw the housekeeper crossing the gravel sweep with long nervous strides towards the gate. A minute later a thin figure in dark trousers and a loose white jacket followed after her; I recognized the mop of waving, tow-colored hair and shuddered involuntarily. It seemed a reasonable hour to make my appearance, but before starting any investigations I had an unaccountable longing to take a header into the sea, so I pulled on my bathing-trunks, flung a towel round my neck, and ran down, through a deserted house and garden, to the white beach and the sparkling water.

After a gorgeous half-hour of swimming, floating, and lazing I made my way back. The hall and lounge were still deserted, but as I came up the stairs to the corridor I saw at the far end, outside Mr. Venner's door, the stout, blue-veined figure of Amedee, armed with a breakfast tray.

He turned as he heard my step, showing a troubled face. "Bon jour, monsieur!" he called, and then set the tray carefully on the floor and came to a lumbering trot towards me. "Monsieur will excuse," he said, fumbling nervously at his apron. "It is unpossible that I approach him, but I know that he is a friend of the patron."

"Well, what is it?" I asked curiously. He hesitated. "I am a little alarmed," he admitted. For fifteen minutes I have knocked at the door of the patron—and there is no reply. (Copyright, 1938, Max Saltmarsh)

ABIT' Thinkin' NEW DEAL

Once it was "The full dinner pail." Now it is "The New Deal." What is "The New Deal?" Are we to be wadded into happiness and wealth by some force out of the sky? Or is it a deal under which the individual will have a better, fairer opportunity to work out his own destiny and success?

No government can create wealth. Industry and labor do that. Therefore we are, as should be the case, dependent upon our resources, individually. But our government can give us better opportunity to do this—opportunity to serve and to grow by our own effort and initiative.

US Fems Rally To Win Cup

Strong Comeback Keeps Curtis Trophy In America
MANCHESTER, Mass., Sept. 9—By capturing five or six single matches for a 5-3-2 to 3-1-2 victory over brilliant British rivals, the American women's Curtis cup golf team today retained the international trophy.

The surprising rally of the domestic golfers shattered a commanding lead the invaders had taken earlier in the match and gave the American their third triumph since the cup was donated eight years ago by the Misses Harriot and Margaret Curtis, both former national titlists.

Headed by Mrs. Andrew M. Holm, British champion, the invaders took a commanding lead Wednesday when on a rain-soaked course they won two and halved

the third of the Scotch foursome who proved himself better than a dub at golf by qualifying for the national amateur, said today Don Budge is in no hurry about joining the pro net ranks.

"Budge is interested in those professional offers," he said during a luncheon intermission from the trials, "but he feels there is no hurry about accepting them."

Pauline Parker of Odessa returned home this week after a visit with her brother, J. E. Parker, and Katherine McDaniel.

Gala Program To Mark KBST Net Hookup

National Entertainers To Be Heard; Dance Scheduled Locally

The "Big Broadcast of 1938" will be heard coast-to-coast next Thursday evening, Sept. 15, from 9 p. m. to 12 midnight when the Mutual Broadcasting System celebrates its fourth anniversary and salutes KBST and the newly-formed Texas State Network.

For the occasion, KBST is bringing Jack Free and his orchestra to Big Spring. Free's orchestra will play for KBST's dedicatory program, preliminary to joining the network. (8:30 to 9 p. m.) and will, later, furnish the music for KBST's Jamboree dance, scheduled to start at 9:30 o'clock in the ballroom of the Settles hotel.

Beginning at 6 o'clock Thursday evening, programs of gala proportions will come over KBST from Los Angeles, Fort Worth, New York, Chicago and Cincinnati; featuring such personalities as W. Lee O'Daniel and his Hillbilly Boys, William Gaxton, slick star of a William Tell, and the new motion picture star team, Fred Keating, magical master of ceremonies, Alfred Wallenstein, distinguished musical conductor, Benny Ventura, dynamic singer, Governor James V. Allred, Everett Marshall, Josef Cherniavsky, George Fischer of "Yellow Jack" fame, Vera Van, Warren Hull, and a carload of other entertainers.

At 10 o'clock, KBST will present a number of the nations outstanding dance bands; George Olsen, Red Norvo and his mistress of swing, Mildred Bailey, Little Jack Little, Bob Crosby, Dick Jurgens and Jimmy Dorsey, all coming from various points of the United States over the Mutual Broadcasting System.

KBST will be a permanent member of the Texas State Network and the coast-to-coast hookup of the Mutual Broadcasting System, and will offer approximately 14 hours daily of live talent, coming to KBST listeners from New York, Illinois, California, and London, England.

Top Divisioners Take Whipping In Tex. League

By The Associated Press

Second division clubs rose rebelliously in the Texas league to down the four leaders who go into the Shaughnessy playoff after the regular season ends Sunday.

Shreveport's Sports with their stellar outfielder Pete Fleming making the game a personal issue, led the parade by whipping first place Beaumont 5-2. Houston beat second place San Antonio 6-1; Dallas defeated third place Oklahoma City 2-1, and Fort Worth downed fourth place Tulsa 5-4.

Fleming drove two home runs over the left field wall to score all the points, one in the first inning with Manning on base, and the second in the sixth.

The league leaders and Houston were idle today before going into the season's last series which ends in a doubleheader for them Sunday. Other clubs began their final series.

O'Brien Again TCU's Spark

And Little Davey Will Be Playing Behind A Superb Line

By FELIX B. MCKNIGHT

FORT WORTH, Sept. 9 (AP) — Good little men—the Albie Booths and the Bobby Wilsons—came along too seldom in football.

But there's another one now—rugged, frozen-faced Davey O'Brien, whose 150 pounds is the dynamo of a great Texas Christian team that averages 197 pounds, even with this brood of an Irish lad.

Once they identified Davey as "the successor to Slingin' Sam Baugh," whom he understudied one season, but Davey sort of removed that tag last year when he led Southwest conference scorers, played more minutes than any other man in the league and wound up on the Associated Press' second All-American team.

"It won't be different this year," mused Coach Leo (Dutch) Meyer. "Davey's our spark again—but we'll have a shade better team."

The sophomores of '37 have gained experience, the kicking will be greatly improved and better reserves, experienced reserves, are available.

Tiny O'Brien will have some new backfield playmates to team with

LOUISVILLE CLUB CHANGES HAND

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 9 (AP) — Baseball fans here envisioned to day a return to the "good old days" for their American Association club.

The Colonels, once a power in the league but now on their "uppers," have been sold.

Purchase of the club at a "rock bottom price" by Thomas Yawkey, wealthy owner of the Boston Red Sox; Donnie Bush, manager of the Minneapolis club of the American association, and Frank McKinney, Indianapolis banker, was announced last night.

A first division club was promised.

Juveniles In Ritz Picture

Mickey Rooney, Freddie Bartholomew Are 'Lord Jeff' Stars

The drama of the British Merchant Marine serves to team Freddie Bartholomew and Mickey Rooney in a gripping story in "Lord Jeff," a story of England's future sailors, to play Friday and Saturday at the Ritz.

Its locale, the Russell-Cotes Nautical School, one of the famous English institutions grouped in the Bernardo Homes where orphans are trained for the future, the new picture depicts Freddie as a youngster, the tool of crooks, represented as a scion of nobility, who is taken from his dishonest guardians and trained at the school.

Mickey Rooney plays the student petty officer who is first Freddie's nemesis, later his friend, as the spoiled boy finds loyalty and regeneration. Intimate details of the training of the boys, their athletic meets, mast-climbing contests, annual boat race, and their final graduation to places aboard the Queen Mary, form a background against which a story of sacrifice and hate, loyalty and regeneration is played. Both youngsters are said to be excellent in their roles.

Sam Wood, who directed "Navy Blue and Gold," directed the new story with deft skill and many delicate human touches. Freddie is convincing and his role highly dramatic. He and Mickey stage a vicious fight in the course of the action.

Veteran stage star Charles Coburn plays the superintendent of the school with dignity and conviction. The two crooks are played by Gale Sondergaard and Jonathan Hale and a new child find is introduced in Terry Kilburn, English boy actor.

Among the players are Herbert Mundin, Peter Lawford, Walter

Chas. Starrett At The Queen

Cowboy Star's Personal Appearance

Hard-riding, fast-shooting cowboy and treacherous cattle rustlers race across the screen of the Lyric theatre Friday and Saturday in showings of the western opus, "Cattle Raiders," in which Charles Starrett is starred.

Starrett should be even better known to local moviegoers by now, thanks to his personal visit here this week. Starrett stopped in Big Spring en route to Colorado, where he took part in a Frontier Round-up. Starrett has one of his better roles in the picture, as Tom Reynolds, husky young cowboy who returns home to find himself branded a murderer.

How Starrett successfully breaks down this incriminating evidence and forces the actual killer to reveal himself, promises a thrill-packed picture.

As an added treat, "Cattle Raiders" introduces four new range ballads written by "Tumbull Weed" Bob Nolan. The songs, "Happy Cowboy," "Welcome to the Spring," "This Ain't the Same Old Range," and "The Devil's Great Grandson," are sung by Donald Grayson, accompanied by Nolan and his famous musical quintet, the Sons of the Pioneers.

Grayson, Columbia's singing buckaroo, and lovely Iris Meredith head the strong cast supporting Charles Starrett in "Cattle Raiders." Others featured are Dick Curtis, Allen Brook, Edward Cobb, George Chesbro, Ed Le Saint, Jim Thorpe, the famous Indian athlete, and Art Mix.

MORE PRIZES FOR SEMI-PRO CLUBS NEXT YEAR

CHICAGO, Sept. 9 (AP) — Directors of the national semi-pro baseball congress today voted an increase in prizes for teams competing in the 1939 series of tournaments.

Raymond Dumont, of Wichita, Kas., congress president, said five leading teams in each of the state tournaments would be paid prize money next year and the purse for the winner of the national meet would be raised to $5,000. The latter, representing a boost of $1,000 over this year's prize, would include Dumont's $1,000 as expenses to the 1940 tourney.

PAUL AND DIZZY MAY BE MOUND FOES SOON

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 9 (AP)—Brothers have played with brothers and against brothers in major league baseball, but the possibility that "Me 'n' Paul" may meet in a pitching duel appeared today to be a fraternal, "natural."

Paul Dean's return to the St. Louis Cardinals yesterday, after a year of nursing his arm in the minor leagues, brought the chance he may oppose Brother Dizzy in one of the Cards' six remaining games with the Chicago Cubs.

The two teams play in Chicago Sept. 24, 25 and 26 and wind up the season here, Sept. 30, Oct. 1 and Oct. 2.

Trying to keep pace with his famous brother at the time Dizzy was at his peak may have been the reason Paul almost threw his arm out of joint. The brothers, then teammates, pitched the Cardinals to a world championship in 1934, each winning two games from the Detroit Tigers.

BULLET WOUND FATAL

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 9 (AP)—A 30-year-old man, tentatively identified as Howard D. Lehr of San Antonio, today was found dead of a bullet wound through his head on the bank of Elmendorf lake.

Justice of the Peace Raymond Gerhardt immediately ordered an investigation.

A .22 calibre automatic pistol, cocked, was found three feet from the body.

18 HORSES ENTERED IN STEEPLECHASE

PAIR HILL, Md., Sept. 9 (AP)—Eighteen of the country's fastest jumping horses have been nominated to start Saturday over the grueling fences of the Foxcatcher National cup race, second richest steeplechase in America.

The $6,700 purse ranks next in value to the $10,000 Grand National Belmont park. The winner's share will be $3,000, plus a $200 piece of plate. Other prizes are provided for each horse which finishes the course.
