Walter Rogers Reports

President's Executive Power Needs Study

What are Executive Orders? Sometimes referred to as "Presidential Directives," these orders initiate actions by government departments and agencies. Virtually every American is affected by them. I've often been asked about them by folks in the Panhandle. Here's a report:

George Washington issued the first Executive Order on June 8, 1789, when he asked heads of Executive Departments to submit "a clear account" of affairs connected with their departments. From Constitutional powers is implied the authority exercised by Presidents through history to issue Executive Orders. Under the Constitution, the President is vested with the executive power; the power to preserve, protect and defend the Constitution; and the power to see that the laws are faithfully executed. Presidents have based the authority for Executive Orders on all these grounds, most often the latter.

There has been a tendency in this century for Presidents to guide Executive Branch policies by using Executive Orders. Most have been routine in nature. One order, for example, provided for the appointment of a charwoman in a local post office. Here are the total numbers of Executive Orders issued by Presidents in this century: Theodore Roosevelt, 1,011; William Howard Taft, 899; Woodrow Wilson, 1,779; Warren G. Harding, 484; Calvin Coolidge, 1,248; Herbert Hoover, 1,004; Franklin D. Roosevelt, 3,722; Harry S. Truman, 903; Dwight D. Eisenhower, 481; John F. Kennedy (through July 4, 1961), 212.

Executive Orders are supposed to be based on authority granted directly to the President by the Constitution or by specific Acts of Congress. In many instances, Presidents have issued Executive Orders to lay down administrative procedures to be followed by departments in implementing laws passed by Congress, a practice that has evolved as Congress has legislated in broad, non-specific terms. As many of you know, I have been critical of Congress for frequently legislating so broadly that too many details have been left to Executive decision and discretion.

Occasionally, Presidents have had their hand called by the Courts when a challenge has been raised over the provisions of an Executive Order. The order of President Truman of April 8, 1952, seizing the steel industry, was held by the Supreme Court to be without Constitutional or Congressional authority and therefore could not stand. In this case, Youngstown Steel Co., threatened with seizure, brought the case before the Court — and the Court held that the power President Truman sought to exercise was a law-making power which the Constitution vests in the Congress alone.

When business groups such as the steel industry are threatened by the effects of an Executive Order, they move quickly into the Courts to test its validity. On some occasions, as in the Youngstown Steel case, the plaintiff has been successful.

Greatest concern centers around the type of Executive Order directing administrative action or procedure by a governmental agency. This is, in effect, a construction by the President of Congressional intent. The administrative agency has no choice but to follow the Presidential edict. Action taken by administrators acting under these orders can drastically affect the affairs of small business operators. Unlike major industry groups which are quick to challenge the provisions of Executive Orders they oppose, the "little man" is often loathe to contest the effects by taking the matter to court. The little man's own economic situation may prevent him from seeking redress in an expensive court action.

Custom now is for a President to set forth in the Executive Order the authority, Constitutional or Congressional, upon which his order is based. Thus, in Executive Order No. 11115, a good example of a more or less routine order, President Kennedy cited Section 10 of the Railway Labor Act as authority for him to create an emergency board to investigate a railway dispute. This order of July 4 is the latest in the historic chain.

From time to time there has been criticism of Executive Orders, even as constituting illegal government by edict. I've questioned the wisdom and validity of many Executive Orders issued over the years by Presidents of both political parties. In my opinion, it is time that this question be dealt with directly either by the Courts or by Congress. There should be a delineation in clear-cut terms of where the President's powers with relation to an Executive Order begin and end where they end.

Crops Damaged By Careless Use Of Weed Killer

AUSTIN (UPI) — Agriculture Commissioner John C. White today reported a new pattern of crop damage from careless use of weed killer in Texas this year.

White estimated 8,000 acres of Texas crops, mostly cotton, have been damaged by doses of hormone-type herbicides such as 2-4-D and 2,4-5T. Most of the damage has been caused by those who are not acquainted with the dangerous potential of the chemicals, he said.

"Fortunately, most of the effect has been only light to moderate on the cotton and fields are not seriously threatened," White said.

He urged those not familiar with the herbicides to follow directions closely and consult with persons who have had experience with the chemicals.

Construction in Texas Shows 6-Month Gain

AUSTIN (UPI) — Construction in the state for the first six months this year was 2 per cent above the same 1962 period, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research said today.

Residential building provided the increase with nonresidential building showing slight decrease, the Bureau said.

February, March and May were the best months this year, January and April were rated "fairly good" and June "rather disappointing."

Areas showing strength were office-bank buildings in February, one-family homes, apartments and industrial buildings in March and apartments and hospitals in May.

About 89 per cent of the $813.8 million in estimated valuations during the first six months represented permits authorizing new construction. The remaining 11 per cent, or some $90.1 million, was for additions, alterations and repairs.

Estimated dollar valuation for the period was about 1 per cent over last year.

At 54 per cent of the total estimated valuation, residential construction this year is running exactly the same as the first six months of 1962.

Apartment investment increased from 19 to 15 per cent of the residential valuation.

Though nonresidential valuations are about equal in proportion to 1962, the actual values are running about 3 per cent behind last year.

Office-bank building category was 17 per cent of this year's nonresidential value — down from 29 per cent last year. The 29 per cent placed the category ahead of all other nonresidential groups in 1962.

Stores and mercantile buildings have an estimated $35 million authorized this year compared with $50 million in 1962.

Estimated building values in metropolitan areas were 86 per cent of the state's total and metropolitan construction increased by an estimated $14 million.

Nonmetropolitan construction decreased by some $4 million and was borne entirely by cities in the 10,000-50,000 population range.

More than 87 per cent of the estimated dollar valuations of permits issued for one-family homes this year covered construction in the 21 metropolitan areas.

Dallas, Houston and Fort Worth dominated apartment building, accounting for 86 per cent of the state total.

Houston led the first six months period for total construction value with $18,543,823. Austin led in building dollars per capita with $228.96.

University Students Find Going Rough in the Movies

ALBUQUERQUE (UPI) — Four temporary cavalrymen who charged across the rugged country near Gallup aren't happy about the whole thing.

The four students at the University of New Mexico, have complained about wages and working conditions they encountered while playing the roles of U.S. cavalrymen in the filming of a movie near Gallup.

The students, Ralph Cox, Dennis Williams, Bill Bingham, and Karl Brighter, said they had been led to believe all 96 students who went to Gallup would be hired for about a month in filming of "The Distant Trumpets."

"We were given five days work at the very most," the four said, "and most of us were allowed to work only four days."

The youths also said only about 30 of the students got parts.

A spokesman for Warners at Gallup said the students had not been promised a month's work as the shooting only called for two and a half weeks. He also said many Gallup young men were used and Indians and "cavalrymen" were paid $15 a day alike. The Indians were Navajos who were converted to Apaches for the film.

H.M. Campbell, of the UNM placement bureau, said Warners asked for 100 youths who had long hair and who could ride horses. He said he had received several complaints and said the film company paid no attention to the names given to it by the bureau.

"I think it is a pretty crummy stunt to pull," said Campbell.

Lucifer's Hunger Strike Finally Ends in Death

RALEIGH, N.C. (UPI) — Some folks said Lucifer was too mean to die. He proved them wrong.

In the last act of defiance, the big diamondback rattlesnake, called the "ornierest critter" in the state Agriculture Department Museum of Natural History, died of hunger—refusing to eat.

Forced feeding had prolonged the life of Lucifer when he went on a hunger strike in the past, but this time the five foot, three and one-half inch snake apparently lost the will to live.

Lucifer was a favorite of museum visitors and received some press notoriety because of his viciousness. He would strike against the walls of his cage whenever anyone approached him.

Museum officials already have found a replacement for Lucifer, a five-foot, six-inch diamondback named Lucifer II. But observers say he just doesn't seem to have the vinegar of old Lucifer.

Russians Given Advice in Case Of Atom Attack

MOSCOW (UPI) — "In case of atomic attack," says one Russian to another, "cover yourself with a white sheet and crawl slowly to the cemetery."

"Why slowly?" asked the friend. "So as not to cause panic," answers the other.

This joke reflects the somber attitude which many Russians are taking towards thermonuclear war. And in recent weeks they have received strong warnings from Premier Nikita Khrushchev and the Soviet press as to what it may be like.

Senator Accuses Attorney General Of 'White-Wash'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A Mississippi state senator accused Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy today of "deliberately white-washing" alleged connections between communism and the leaders of the Negro civil rights movement.

"When he (Kennedy) says there is no evidence that Martin Luther King or any of the top leaders of the major civil rights groups are Communists or Communist-controlled then he has either deliberately misstated the facts or is the most ignorant attorney general this nation has ever had," state Sen. John C. McLaurin said.

Winners of the speaking award are entitled to keep the trophy for the week following the night they win it. Boyett gave the winning speech Monday night and Dr. Kimbrough was last week's winner. (Daily News Photo)

McLaurin testified before the Senate Commerce Committee, now in its fifth week of hearings on the administration's program to desegregate restaurants, hotels, theaters, and other public facilities.

He said that Kennedy "is not an ignorant man" and charged that the attorney general "with full knowledge, deliberately ignored facts" in FBI files and in the files of congressional committees.

Kennedy wrote Letter Kennedy last week wrote Sen. A.S. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., that there was no evidence that any of the Negro integration leaders were Communist or Communist-controlled.

McLaurin said the letter was "the most brazen cover-up ever perpetrated on the American people."

McLaurin, who barely mentioned the proposed public accommodations law in his testimony, said the solution to the civil rights problem was to redistribute Negroes evenly throughout the United States.

He said this could be done by making job opportunities attractive in Northern and Western states. Within a 16-year period each state would have an equal number of Negroes, McLaurin said, adding that the migration would be strictly voluntary.

A Northern newspaper publisher, William Loeb of the Manchester, N.H., Union Leader, also touched on the communism charge first raised before the committee by Govs. Ross R. Barnett of Mississippi and George C. Wallace of Alabama.

"The governors could have made a good case of their statement had they bothered to do the research and substantiate their charge," he said. "The cold facts do exist to make the attorney general's statement entirely unbelievable and entitled to no credibility whatsoever."

Helium Being Stored to Offset Nation's Fast Dwindling Supply

By JAMES T. YOUNG
United Press International
AMARILLO, Tex. (UPI) — The Department of Interior, faced with rapidly dwindling helium reserves, is now storing the valuable gas in rock.

The nation's helium reserves will be depleted in 15 to 25 years according to official estimates. Helium fields in the Texas and Oklahoma Panhandle and southwestern Kansas will be useless after 1985 if the present trend continues. Ninety-five per cent of the nation's helium is located in the fields.

To combat the depletion, five privately-owned plants have been built to step up mining helium and a site has been picked for storage—3,500 feet below the earth's surface.

The storage site, Cliffs Field, will insure the nation of a supply of helium even after the reserves are lost. During the 22-year life of contracts with the private plants, an average of three billion cubic feet of helium will be purchased annually. About 63 billion cubic feet will ultimately be bought.

Of the total, about 40 billion cubic feet will be stored at Cliffs. The rest will be purified to meet the demands of industry.

Paul Mullins, general manager of helium operations, said the helium is transferred in its crude form and purified when needed for use.

"If we want to get it, we have to get it now," he said. "The reserves are limited to 15 to 25 years."

All-Texas Air Tour Will Stop Overnight Here

The aviation committee of the Chamber of Commerce met yesterday to plan a barbecue dinner for fliers who will make an overnight stop in Pampa Oct. 8 during their annual All-Texas Air Tour.

About 14 private planes carrying 80 fliers are expected to arrive at the Pampa airport for the overnight stop.

The western style dinner, complete with chuck wagon and campfire, will be cooked and served at 6:30 p.m. on the "South Forty" of the Coronado Inn.

The planes have stopped in Pampa every year since 1951 when the air tour began. The last overnight stop here was in October, 1960. The tour is conducted to promote interest in private flying.

Frank M. Carter, Jr. is chairman of the committee.

Orville and Nikita 'Smoke' Peace Pipe at Conference

MOSCOW (UPI) — Premier Nikita Khrushchev shared a peace pipe with visiting Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman in a Kremlin meeting yesterday.

Freeman ended a tour of the Soviet Union with a meeting with Khrushchev, also attended by U.S. Ambassador Foy D. Kohler. During the meeting Freeman, a former Minnesota governor, presented Khrushchev a Minnesota Indian peace pipe.

"Allow me to present it to you as a symbol of our common desire for peace in the world," Freeman told the Soviet leader.

Khrushchev gratefully accepted the pipe, telling Freeman he does not smoke but welcomes it as a symbol. After Freeman told him how Indians sealed peace agreements by passing the pipe around, Khrushchev held it close to his mouth but did not put the pipe to his lips or attempt to smoke it.

The pipe ceremony took place at the start of the meeting. Newsmen were allowed to watch it but were ushered out when the 10-minute talks began.

Freeman arrived in the Soviet Union July 14. He has been touring farms and agricultural stations.

THE WORLD IN FOCUS

PAY AS YOU GO—When a sidewalk artist works, it's a pay-as-you-go proposition. Thus, this Berlin artist places a little pig bank in a circled spot for those who appreciate his drawing outside the Memorial Church at Kurfurstendamm.

BEE WATCHING—Moving in close for an eyeball-to-eyeball look at a bee in action is William Munroe, 10, of Rochester, New York. He seems rather bee-witched.

PRETTY SHIFTY—Charlene Adams, 22, models the latest feminine fad—the shift—poolside at the Hotel Riviera in Las Vegas, Nev. Reaction was favorable.

PEEK—Breaking up the pattern of a stucco fence, this cat in Sausalito, Calif., just had to see what was on the other side.

CATCH TO IT—Yehudi Menuhin, American violinist, does his best to answer son's questions. Jeremy wants to know about this Hampstead, England, sculpture.

DIAMOND HEAD—Rhinestone rondelles, suspended from a giant topaz and rhinestone flower presents a bit of elegance for the forehead. Premiered in New York.

DEM BONES—Lane Griffin looks as though he were being eaten by this tyrannosaurus rex, but he's actually just getting a close look at him. The Vincent, Tex., youth was visiting a museum in Austin with his parents.

VISIT TO A ROYAL SHOW—Queen Elizabeth II and the Duke of Edinburgh visit the Royal Show at its new permanent site in Stoneleigh Abbey Park, near Kenilworth, Warwickshire, England. Her majesty looks over a prize-winning cow, while the Duke talks to some royal subjects, at right. The cow was a real winner as the many rosettes on her forehead tell. Even royal duties have their fun-filled moments.

LADY'S DELIGHT—Contrary to all convention, this young lady enjoys a good stogie during a brief relaxing moment on the Cook-Centenary tour through Switzerland. No one seemed to notice, except the cameraman.

CRITIC'S CHOICE—When Nancy Whitesacre, of Canton, Ohio, played her sousaphone in Victoria Embankment Gardens, London, she had her share of criticism.

LAKESIDE SILHOUETTES—As the sunlight sparkles on the rippling water like diamonds, two children sit dreamily on the edge of Lake Vassone, Calif., dock. Assisting the picturesque scene three small sailboats drift slowly off shore. Scenes like this one tell the magic tale of summer better than any words can tell it.

SHEER DELIGHT—Pretty as a butterfly on wing, a slender sparkling column of sequins makes this evening ensemble shown in New York. Dress is topped with sheer organdy ruffle.

Good Furniture For Fewer $$

By KAY SHERWOOD
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
One of the bleak discoveries awaiting the young homemaker is the high cost of everything. This was the discouraged comment of a young friend of mine who had been hunting for china, silver and furniture.
Silver, she assured me, was $100 a place setting; china she favored was $60 a place setting and, as for furniture! Well, you couldn't get a decent dining table for less than $500. She didn't think it as funny as I did that only two months before she was yearning to join the Peace Corps and live in an African jungle.
The point gradually became clear; she had limited her shopping to the most expensive departments in the city. At my urging, she shopped other stores, talked to experienced saleswomen. She had a practical lesson on fine reproductions which would stretch her budget.

A graphic example of fine reproduction at mass production prices is a widely discussed new collection based on antique furniture found in Bermuda homes, many of the originals dating back to 1690.

The lines are smooth - flowing with some unmistakable touches: Queen Anne styling with a spoon leg developed by island craftsmen, the shaped, arched apron that appears on table bandings.

Distinctive marks of this new collection of reproductions of fine 18th century Bermuda antiques are visible in this picture. Note the smooth but high arched table apron and, in the background, a glass treasure chest which combines display space with cabinet storage.

Manners Make Friends

Being buddy-buddy with employees often clouds an executive's objectivity. Cordiality and courtesy keep things on a good working keel.

Dear Mrs. Lawrence: When we first moved into our apartment, the woman next to us complained when my 4-year-old boy cried. I guess I started spoiling him then to avoid trouble. He has terrible temper fits now when I don't do what he wants, sometimes tearing his clothes. His doctor says to ignore them. But how can I do this when this woman makes the apartment superintendent come up and complain?

ANSWER: Look, you've tried giving this woman what she wants — and got more complaints. You've given your little boy the candy or privilege he wants—and got bigger tantrums. Now let's try something YOU want.
You want to give to your child freely and happily instead of being bullied into giving to him resentfully. It is by standing firmly for our right to give lovingly that we end temper tantrums.
It is absurd to tell us to "ignore" them. As parents, we are involved with a child's rage and should respond to it. If we know that we are resisting its pressure in order to give to him unresentfully, firmness rallies to us so that we lose our fear of him.
Your little boy doesn't fly into tempers because he wants things, you know. He flies into them because the things given him in fear and resentment give him no true satisfaction. Your little boy howls, kicks and tears at his clothes because he's lost hope of your wholehearted giving.
If we understand this, we can see a tantrum through once and for all. Strength flows into us, stabilizing our resistance the moment we can say to ourselves, "No, no matter what happens, I will not give this thing until I can give it with joy."
The pleasure a small child gets from forcing us to give what we don't want to give isn't real or lasting. It lasts no longer than the taste of swallowed candy. Then terror replaces it. The child who has bullied Mother into resentful agreement with him knows her to be unreliable. He feels:
"I have been abandoned to my own decisions. But I am a little inexperienced child who doesn't know what's safe and what isn't."
So we have another tantrum of despair of our stability. We think it concerns another candy. It really concerns unsatisfied hunger for mother's protective firmness in this uncertain world.

Take It From Kathy
By KATHY PETERSON
Dear Kathy: I've read so many times that it's best to use a lip brush for lipstick but every time I try it I feel awkward and the results look ridiculous. I know what I want to do but can't figure out how to do it. My lips are too thin and would look better if they were widened just a little. Can you give me any advice?
— JULIE
Dear Julie: Home is the best place to try out new ideas. Instead of putting aside that lip brush and pulling it out for occasional experiments, keep it in a spot where you are likely to pause and glance in the mirror. Then make sure you stop for lipstick repair a little more often than usual, using the brush every time. You probably have read instructions for using a brush but let's review them. Hold it just as you would a pencil; completely coat it with lipstick and then outline lips. Steady your hand by placing little finger on your chin. When outline is finished, fill in the center.

Dear Abby.... Don't Mistake 'Cowardice' For Kindness... Tell Him!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I married on the rebound and it didn't work out. Now I find that I have fallen in love with another man, and I see no reason why I should spend the rest of my life trapped in a loveless marriage. We have no children. The other man has never been married. Should I just pack and leave? Or should I tell my husband what I have in mind? He suspects nothing. When he finds me gone I suppose it will hurt him, but I think, in the long run, it would be kinder. What do you think? Don't try to talk me into staying with my husband. My mind is made up.

LEAVING FOR LOVE

DEAR LEAVING: Aren't you mistaking "cowardice" for kindness? Don't just "pack and leave". Tell your husband what your intentions are.

DEAR ABBY: My parents are on this health food kick. Can you imagine anything more depressing than going to the refrigerator and seeing nothing but yogurt, honey, sugarless jells and dietetic soft drinks? There is nothing in the house but wheat germ, soy bread and skim milk. I know it's supposed to be "healthy", but I can't seem to develop a taste for this kind of food. Can you help me?

SICK OF HEALTH FOOD
DEAR SICK: Perhaps if you understood more about health food and why it has become so popular, you'd develop a "taste" for it. Ask your parents to give you a little "food" for thought.

DEAR ABBY: I love my husband and would do anything in the world for him, but oh, Abby—his mother! She is 63, intelligent and in excellent health, but she doesn't know what to do with herself. She calls me every day to "go shopping" with her. Now I wouldn't mind "shopping" with her if she would only buy something. We have spent hours shopping for dresses, hats, shoes, and furniture, and she has never bought a thing. When the clerks see us coming they run and hide in the back room. It's very humiliating.

I can't refuse to go shopping with her, but it is such a ridiculous waste of time, I am disgusted. She is wearing me out. What should I do?

WORN OUT

DEAR WORN: Instead of helping her kill time, show her how to use time constructively. The Red Cross, her own church auxiliary and countless worthwhile volunteer groups need women with her energy. And she needs THEM even more.

DEAR ABBY: To "Young Mother" re the stolen grape. I wish I knew your name so I could be sure you never brought your child to my house. Once a child, who thought a small object would never be missed, visited me and it cost me $150. Children don't know values. If you let them take one grape from a grocery store, pretty soon they graduate to candy bars, magazines, and so on. Remember that when the police arrive, Mother.

Do-It-Yourself Color And Fabric Design From Home School Of Art

By KAY-SHERWOOD
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Enroll in the "kitchen table" school of fabric design if you're looking for lively, colorful (and inexpensive) fabrics for home projects. Using such simple tools as string and fabric dye, you convert well-washed sheeting, muslin or similar cotton fabric into gay piece goods for cafe curtains, place mats, and wall hangings.

I asked the Tintex Color Council to show me how to home-dye patterned fabrics.
First step is to learn that dye will not penetrate where fibers are protected. You can make precise designs, for example, by covering base fabric with adhesive tape on both sides before dyeing. Random circular patterns are made by binding buttons under the fabric with rubber bands. You can tie string at intervals and dye in one color or two or three for striped effects.

The sample lengths dyed to show us the how-to were in brilliant red and yellow. An old but not worn-out sheet was used. (Well-washed sheeting takes dye beautifully). To achieve a shimmering diagonal pattern, the sheet is twisted tightly rope-fashion on the bias. Heavy string wrapped around the sheet holds it together.

The dye is dissolved in hot tap water in the kitchen sink or a pan. Use enough water to cover the fabric. A catalyst in the dye opens fabric pores and make it unnecessary to boil the fabric.

The twisted and tied sheet is stirred in the dye for about 10 minutes. Then it is rinsed several times and excess water squeezed out. Next, the sheet rope is hung over the line or shower bar to drip. When dripping stops, the binding string is pulled off and the sheet opened up and hung to finish drying.
At this point, we can stop or redye it in another color. Yellow, for example, added over the red fills in the white design lines and deepens the red to orange.

Houk Gives Nod To Yankee Bench

By MILTON RICHMAN

UPI Sports Writer

Okay, all you baseball experts, which player is principally responsible for the Yankees winning this year?

Sorry, but no matter who you name, you're dead wrong.

And if you intend to argue about it, better take your case to Ralph Houk, who claims the Yankees are winning ball games not because of any one player but only because of their fine bench.

"I'm convinced beyond the slightest possible doubt that we have the best bench in baseball," Houk says. "Without it, we would never have had a chance this year, especially with injuries to such fellows as Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris.

"Everytime I look up though, our bench wins another ball game for us."

Houk is referring to such fill-ins as Johnny Blanchard, Harry Bright, Phil Linz, Jack Reed and even player-coach Yogi Berra.

It was Blanchard's turn Tuesday night. Even though he had been discharged from the hospital only a few hours earlier following a four-day bout with bronchitis, Blanchard took over right field when Maris showed up with a sprained left hand and delivered a tie-breaking single in the eighth inning that helped the Yankees beat the Kansas City A's, 6-2.

Bouton Won 14th

Jim Bouton recorded his 14th victory against five defeats with a seven-hitter but he was locked in a 2-1 tie with Moe Drabowsky until Blanchard broke the deadlock. The Yanks then added three more runs in the same frame. Wayne Causey had a homer and two doubles for the losers.

The victory kept the Yankees eight games in front of the second-place Chicago White Sox, who beat the Washington Senators, 5-1.

In other American League games, Baltimore downed Detroit, 9-0; Minnesota bumped Boston, 6-3; Los Angeles scored a 5-4 victory over Cleveland in 10 innings and Chicago defeated Washington, 5-1.

Milt Pappas held the Tigers to four hits in winning his 10th game for the Orioles. Brooks Robinson drove in four runs for Baltimore with his sixth homer and two singles while Al Smith had four of the Orioles' 18 hits. Hank Aguirre (9-10) was the loser.

Lemon Homered

Jim Lemon's three-run homer off loser Don Rudolph in the sixth inning clinched the White Sox' victory over the Senators. It was Lemon's first homer since returning to the AL from the Phillies.

Dave DeBusschere, who struck out eight and gave up the same number of hits, was the winning pitcher although Jim Brosnan came on to get the final out.

The Twins tagged Bob Turley with his eighth loss of the season and first since joining the Red Sox when they drove him to the showers during a five-run sixth inning rally. Vic Wertz' two-run pinch single plus another two run single by Don Mincher were the key blows. Bill Dailey blanked Boston on two hits over the last four innings to notch his third win.

Rebels Win Twice, Into Finals

Bob Price Vs. Billy Carthel In Clincher

By JEFF COHANE

Pampa News Sports Editor

LEVELLAND — Booming Rebel bats and flawless Rebel fielding brought long-shot Pampa out of the losers bracket with two wins last night to set up another meeting with Plainview at 8 this evening for the championship of the Levelland American Legion Baseball Tournament.

The Rebs, who had dropped their opening game to Plainview and then swept their next three, took their fourth and fifth straight, squeezing out a 10-9 extra-inning thriller over Lubbock Auto and then rolling to a surprisingly easy 8-1 win over Plainview.

Little Jerry Garrison became the first pitcher in the tournament to win three games and the first Pampa hurler in history to ever win two games in one night. The bespectacled lefthander came in in relief in the first game after the Automen had tied the score at 8-all with a grand slam home run, and hung on for the win. Garrison kept on going, hurling the full seven innings against Plainview and looking even better than in his three-hitter against Olton, giving up three singles, walking four and striking out seven.

The Rebel fielders, who, spearheaded by Claude Middleton and Kenny Hebert, have been outstriking all tourney, even surpassed themselves, with one throwing miscue on a pickoff play the only error made in the two games, with Middleton, Kyle Vann and Rickey Stewart scooping the ball like machines and firing to the acrobatic Steve Molberg at first base. Larry "Shotgun" Gregory, in addition to his usual smooth job behind the plate, switched with Rick Maynard late in the second game to get a rest, and made a fine routine catch to cut off an extra-base bid.

John Barnett led off the bottom of the first inning for Lubbock with a home run for a 1-0 edge. Pampa went ahead, 2-1, in the second on an error and Gregory's first four-bagger, into the left field trees.

Lubbock took a 4-2 lead in their half off Carl Harnsberger, who gave up a walk, a single to Gary Washington and a home run to pitcher Don Coleman.

The Rebs came right back in the third to knock Coleman out of the box with three runs as Vann and Ronnie Oler singled and Hebert walked to jam the sacks. Hebert scored on Gregory's grounder, and the other two runners scored on

Met's Celebrate Casey's Birthday With 5-1 Triumph Over Dodgers

By JOE SARGIS

UPI Sports Writer

The "old man" had his birthday wish today, and who is to say he didn't deserve it.

When friends from the baseball and business worlds gathered in the little house in Glendale, Calif., Tuesday to wish Casey Stengel a "happy birthday," the 73-year-old skipper of the New York Mets said he had only one wish.

"One year with the Yankees," he explained, "I win 104 games and lose the pennant. This time my wish is more modest, I want to win just one game."

The Mets, who equalled the all-time record of 22 straight losses on the road when they lost to the Houston Colts on Sunday, obliged Stengel Tuesday night by beating the league-leading Los Angeles Dodgers, 5-1. And if you don't think the "old man" didn't do that little skip dance of his in the clubhouse after Tracy Stallard nailed down the final out, you just don't know Casey.

Snapped Losing Streak

Your joy would be unrestrained, too, if you managed the Mets and had to watch them lose almost every day, and then were presented with a victory over the Dodgers, a club the Mets have beaten only three times in two seasons.

The win not only snapped an 11-game current losing streak for the Mets but also dealt the Dodgers a jolt just when they had hoped to recover from a slump, for both the second-place San Francisco Giants and third-place St. Louis Cardinals won to cut Los Angeles' once "safe" lead to just 3½ games.

The Giants, paced by Billy O'Dell's shutout pitching, rolled to their ninth straight victory, 5-0, over the Philadelphia Phillies, while the Cards, now just 4 games off the pace, edged the Cincinnati Reds, 7-3.

Stallard, who pitched the Mets' last road victory on June 13 at Cincinnati, went all the way for New York and gave up just four hits, one of them Ken McMullen's fourth home run. The Mets' meanwhile, raked three Los Angeles pitchers, beginning with ex-Met Bob Miller, for 14 hits in one of their finest hitting performances of the season.

Thomas Hit Homer

Every Met except Jim Hickman got at least one hit to make it a team "birthday present" for Stengel. Frank Thomas hit his ninth home run and Joe Hicks had three hits.

YOUTHFUL ACE — Bobby Prichard, 13, became one of the youngest aces ever recorded at the Pampa Country Club when he scored a hole-in-one on the par-3, 145-yard seventh hole with a six iron this weekend. Bobby was in a foursome with Charles McKinney, Frank Kelley and Skip Taylor. It was the third ace at the PCC this year, and the first one on the seventh hole since Kent Reeves did it in last year's Top O' Texas Tournament.

Softball League

Industrial League softball returned to action last night with the Panhandle Packers edging the Pampa Stars, 3-2, to return to first place in the league, and the Cabot Clowns conquering the undermanned Miami Cowboys, 12-1.

The Packers pushed across the deciding run in the bottom of the eighth inning to give Raymond McKinney an overtime four-hit win, as he walked none and struck out 13. Charlie Vaughan was the loser, giving up two hits, walking three and striking out five. McKinney doubled for the winners. Jimmy Enloe homered for the losers.

Larry Rider gave up eight hits and six walks, and was badly hurt by his own wildness and lack of fielding support as he took the Miami loss. Lost sheep Delbert Daniels returned from the Berger fold for a four-hit victory.

Key hits in the game were bases-loaded singles by Hill Browning and Darrell Hiner for six scores in the third inning.

The red hot question about the test ban is not whether such an agreement is urgently desirable now but whether the Soviet Union can be bound to a test ban that would reasonably and properly protect U.S. interests.

The U.S. interest is the interest of the men, women and children of the United States to live their lives equally safe from nuclear holocaust and crippling fall out. Nobody could be against that.

It seems, however, that to question even gently whether the proposed test ban properly protects U.S. interests is a shady business. To so question is like questioning the sanctity of motherhood, the worth of libraries, the merit of good works. To question instead of to cheer is almost to endorse sin. The questions are beginning to come, however, and some of them will have to be answered.

Building To Fight

The U.S. Senate is building up to the kind of donnybrook that accompanied the consideration nearly 45 years ago of the Treaty of Versailles and the League of Nations. The Treaty and the League were defeated. This comparison does not, however, imply that the test ban will lose. Young President Kennedy is a master politician in contrast to Woodrow Wilson or almost anyone you might name. The test ban will have Kennedy going for it as well as the people's prayerful hope that agreement may be had to end the nuclear arms race.

The people's prayerful hope will make it just so much more difficult for those who question the test ban to obtain popular consideration of legitimate related questions. Rep. Craig Hosmer (R-Calif.) is a congressional Republican spokesman on test ban policy. He has begun to ask some questions, one of them about the Soviet Union's good faith. The Soviets violated a test moratorium in September 1961, having prepared in secret for a series of in-the-air blasts.

U.S. Air Force In Europe Gives Aid in Disasters

By WELLINGTON LONG
WIESBADEN, Germany (UPI)

Some Europeans call the U.S. Air Force in Europe (USAFE) "Samaritans with wings" because of the help it brings whenever disaster strikes in its area of operation.

The people of Skopje, Yugoslavia, learned this week just how true that description is, as more than a score of other nations already know.

USAFE's main job in Europe is defense, and with today's nuclear weapons, it has the capability of inflicting destruction more awesome than any of the 26 disasters it has flown aid to. But this destructive power is something USAFE hopes will never be needed. Its relief work is on constant call.

The USAFE specialties are flood and earthquake relief, which usually require large quantities of aid material quickly, and often need it in accessible places.

Helped 21 Countries

Since USAFE started keeping track of its emergency aid operations in January, 1953, it has been involved in helping the victims of 26 disasters in 21 countries, and scores of other events less serious.

The backbone of the disaster relief operation is the 322nd Air Division, functioning from Evreux, France.

Its pot-bellied C130 "Hercules" aircraft are familiar wherever disaster strikes. The turbo-prop planes have helped relieve the distress of floods in Britain, Holland, Syria, Iraq, Germany, Iran, Jordan, Libya, Kenya, Somaliland, and Morocco, and of earthquakes in Turkey, Greece, Algeria, Morocco and Iran.

USAFE was there helping the victims of the Agadir, Morocco, earthquake which took 12,000 lives in 1960 and the earthquake in Iran which took 10,000 lives in 1962. It was at the Hamburg, Germany, flood in 1962 and Holland in 1953 when the angry sea destroyed the dikes.

Helped Many Victims

It has helped the victims of snow storms in Italy and Sicily, of a collapsed dam in France, avalanches in Austria, cyclones in Pakistan, and fire in Yemen.

USAFE usually flies and sometimes air drops emergency supplies to a stricken area a few hours after the disaster. Planes often return with refugees. Sometimes, as this week, USAFE flies in a whole army field hospital, with all its staff and trucks.

Among the more spectacular efforts, USAFE also airlifts medicines to prevent epidemics, and sprays wide areas against locusts.

The men of USAFE are anxious to go when the SOS comes in. The Skopje earthquake struck Friday morning. As soon as the extent of the disaster became apparent, USAFE figured out what it would and ought to do to best help, and informed the Yugoslav government this was what the Americans could do if Belgrade asked for it.

The United States is the world's largest consumer of nick-ties.

'Buffalo Bustin' Features Indian Tribal Ceremony

GALLUP, N.M. (UPI)—Put an Indian on top of a buffalo, turn them loose, and let nature take its course.

That's the formula for "buffalo bustin' excitement" at the Inter-Tribal Indian Ceremonial at Gallup Aug. 8-11.

The buffalo, supplied by Hackberry Johnson of Austin, Tex., will be wild and untamed and there is an open invitation to any Indian who wishes to ride them out of the bucking huts.

In the evening dances, the 42nd annual ceremonial will pay the national tribute to the meaning and glory of the American Indian Civilization—still very much alive today on many reservations.

More than 17 tribes will be represented including the Navajo, Apache and several Pueblo of the Southwest, Kiowa of Oklahoma, Crown of Montana, Ute of Colorado, Pima and Hopi of Arizona, Quechan of lower Colorado River Valley, Paiute of Nevada, and Artee and Totomas of Mexico.

U.S. Was Behind

On March 2, 1962, Kennedy announced that the United States would resume tests. But there had been no secret U.S. preparation therefore there was a substantial lag in the U.S. effort to catch up with the Soviets. Hosmer's strategy has been to quote from Kennedy's March 2 statement:

"We know enough now about broken negotiations, secret preparations and the advantages gained from a long test series never to offer again an un-inspected moratorium. Some may urge us to try it again, keeping our preparations to test in constant readiness. But in actual practice, particularly in a society of free choice, we cannot keep top-flight scientists concentrating on the preparation of an experiment which may or may not take place on an uncertain date in the future."

Can't Maintain Alert

"Nor can large technical laboratories be kept fully alert on a standby basis waiting for some other nation to break an agreement. This is not merely difficult or inconvenient. We have explored this alternative thoroughly and found it impossible of execution."

The President was questioned at his Feb. 7 press conference and said:

"We will support an effective treaty which provides for effective inspection, but we cannot take less. It takes many months to prepare for tests in the atmosphere. The Soviet Union prepares in secret."

Hosmer has suggested an area for close scrutiny when the test treaty reaches the Senate. Many prayerful advocates of a test ban probably would want the Senate to explore that area thoroughly before giving its advice and consent.

Captured Couple Decide They Want To Get Married

EASTLAND, Tex. (UPI) — Bill Splawn, 49, and the 37-year-old woman who, with only a few stitches on, helped him escape from an Idaho jail, want to get married.

The woman is Mrs. Mille Jones. She and Splawn were arrested in Lewiston, Idaho, and put in jail there for Texas authorities who wanted them on a charge of robbing a grocery in Ranger, Tex., March 8.

Ten days ago, Mrs. Jones, with only her panties on, slugged a jailer with a bar of soap in a shirt sleeve and freed Splawn. They fled into the street.

They confronted a motorist who was so shocked by Mrs. Jones' lack of clothes that he abandoned his car and fled. They made it to the country where Mrs. Jones dressed herself by burglarizing a farmhouse.

They were captured in less than 24 hours. Sheriff Lee Horn and Ranger Earl Stewart returned them to Eastland Sunday. Splawn said he will plead guilty to the grocery robbery but he denied that Mrs. Jones had anything to do with it.

He admitted she drove the getaway car. He also said he got about $900 in the holdup and that another Eastland County couple is involved.

Mrs. Jones said they plan an informal wedding. If there is one, it probably will be held in the Eastland County jail.

PARNELLI JONES TEST-DRIVES WARDS RIVERSIDE ST-107 TIRE AT SPEEDS UP TO 138.46 MPH!

RIVERSIDE TEST CAR
The Mercury Marauder Parnelli Jones used to set a new Pikes Peak Hill-Climb record.

PARNELLI JONES TESTED RIVERSIDE TIRES ON THE INDIANAPOLIS 500 SPEEDWAY TRACK. THEY DELIVERED OUTSTANDING PERFORMANCE FOR HIM AT STRAIGHT-AWAY SPEEDS UP TO 138.46 MPH!

Parnelli Jones, record-breaking winner of the '63 Indianapolis 500-mile race, proves Riverside tires are built to last!

For the second time this year, Parnelli Jones drove the searing 2 1/2 miles of Indianapolis track. This time to prove the strength and endurance of Riverside ST-107's tires.

Jones was merciless. He ground into turns and rocketed down at straightaway speeds up to 138.46 mph!

The ST-107's were pounded and baked in the Indiana sun. They suffered more abuse than tires ever receive; and they held!

This was no stunt.

Riverside engineers knew the strength and quality built into every Riverside tire would take it. Though you will never drive 138 mph, it's comforting to ride on tires that can deliver high-speed proven Riverside tires!
