Railroads Will Wait And See

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Kennedy administration adopted a "wait and see" approach today before renewing its efforts to settle the strike-threatening railroad rules dispute.

Authoritative sources said President Kennedy had not decided on what legislation to seek from Congress if there is no agreement by July 22, when he has promised to submit his recommendations.

Administration officials believe chances are slight that the four-year-old controversy over the railroads' proposed work rule changes will be settled without legislation.

But they said a six-man panel named by the President to investigate the dispute might help to shape the issues for Congress and the public. The committee's report to the President also might tend to put pressure on both sides to change their position before the document is sent to Congress, the officials said.

Meets Second Time.
The special fact-finding committee was scheduled to meet for the second time today and continue preparations for making its report.

A labor spokesman said that AFL-CIO president George Meany, a member of the presidential panel, would try to see if there was any chance he could settle the dispute and avoid emergency congressional action.

Meany's mediation role became known as Republican leaders served notice that Congress would not be "stampeded" into action to prevent a strike when the temporary truce ends July 23.

An AFL-CIO spokesman said Meany was unhappy at the prospect of a strike, special legislation to deal with a walkout, or the loss of jobs the railway unions faces if new work rules go into effect.

Pampa Streets Due Revamping

Ninety blocks of city streets will be black-topped and seal-coated in Pampa within the next month, City Manager Harold Schmitzer announced today.

Sealed bids for the work will be opened at a meeting of the City Commission on Tuesday, July 30.

Schmitzer said the work is expected to start within ten days after the bids are opened and the job finished within three or four days. This would bring it to completion about Aug. 15.

The 90 blocks to be improved will be streets which were not seal-coated last year.

The city manager said approximately 166,045 square yards of asphalt and gravel will be used in a double bituminous seal-coating operation.

"The 90 blocks in this year's program," Schmitzer said, "are on streets where improvement is needed the most."

DELEGATION GREETES STATE JAYCEE PRESIDENT — A delegation greeted State Jaycee President Larry Tate of Longview, as he arrived at the Coronado Inn to attend the Area I Summer Convention being held here Saturday and Sunday. Tate who arrived in Pampa Wednesday night, is presently serving as the President of the Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce. He was elected to this office for the 1963-64 year at the State Convention held in San Antonio. As president, he supervises the state Jaycee headquarters located in Grand Prairie, and is responsible for the administration of the approved programs of the Jaycees in Texas.

Tate will travel approximately 100,000 miles during his term as president of the 275-club organization, which represents more than 14,000 members in the state.

Registration for the convention will begin at 12 noon Saturday according to Richard Cooke, convention chairman.

A dance will be held Saturday at 9 p.m. in the Starlight Room.

Sunday's activities will begin at 9 a.m. with a business session in the Starlight Room.

The delegates will then attend one of four clinics each to be conducted by a vice-president in charge of programming.

The clinics will be concluded at 11:30 a.m. and will be followed by regional caucuses conducted by the respective state directors.

A luncheon for the Jaycees and their wives will be held in the Starlight Room at 12:30 p.m. with Tate the featured speaker.

The business session will officially re-convene at 2 p.m. and the convention will end at 4 p.m. Sunday.

Victory Claimed In Spy Defection

LONDON (UPI) — A Russian spy of major importance has defected to the West and is now hiding in Britain under heavy guard, the government said today.

The identity and whereabouts of the defector are being kept secret to protect him from Communist agents who may want to kill him.

He is understood to have revealed a mass of information about other Soviet spies and the workings of the Kremlin's vast espionage network.

The government, which has been plagued itself by its own security leaks, confirmed reports Thursday that the Russian first defected to the Americans and then was brought to Britain at his request after being questioned in the United States.

A government spokesman said the spy was interrogated for weeks by the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) until it was convinced he was not "planted" by Moscow and told all he knew.

British military intelligence questioned the Russian after he was moved to this country, and are continuing to question him in hiding.

The government was reluctant to disclose details about the defector, and confirmed his presence in Britain only after British newspapers reported the defection Thursday.

The press said the spy was being hunted by fellow Communist agents who want to silence him and demonstrate the power of the Soviet spy system.

OBSERVATORY DEDICATED

DALLAS (UPI) — The first facility of the projected $25 million Southwest Research Center, a magnetic observatory, was formally dedicated yesterday.

The observatory will be manned by the government. The center is planned to provide facilities to employ some 1,000 scientists.

Only qualified voters who own taxable property in the county will be eligible to vote at the special election.

County officials said, if it carries, the bond issue would increase the county tax rate five cents on the dollar.

400 National Guard Troops are Ordered Into Cambridge, Md.

Running Gunfight Brings Imposition Of Martial Law

CAMBRIDGE, Md. (UPI) — About 400 fully armed National Guard troops were ordered into Cambridge today by Maryland Gov. J. Millard Tawes after a wild night of racial warfare in the streets.

Tawes issued the order from the State House at Annapolis following an emergency conference with state military and police heads to restore order in this little Chesapeake Bay fishing town. Six white men were shot during fighting Thursday night.

Col. Carey Jarman, superintendent of the state police, and his embattled officers in Cambridge, pleaded with Tawes to again impose martial law in the racially torn town.

A limited form of martial law, including a 10 p.m. curfew, a ban on demonstrations and a halt to liquor sales, was imposed late last month. It was lifted earlier this week—and when guard troops left the city Monday, Negroes immediately resumed demonstrations.

Jarman, State Adj. Gen. Milton A. Rekor and Assistant Adj. Gen. George Gelston met with Tawes at his office in Annapolis. Three of the men shot during the running gun battle were Guardsmen under Gelston's command.

More than 400 Guardsmen had been released from a five-hour standby alert around midnight when the shooting began.

For several hours, white men raced through the Negro section, in cars, exchanging gunfire with enraged Negroes armed with rifles, shotguns, pistols, bricks, bottles and knives. There were no casualties during this stage of the

Barnett Blasts Kennedys' Civil Rights Program

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mississippi Gov. Ross R. Barnett told Congress today that President Kennedy and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy are "sowing seeds of hate and violence" in the civil rights field which could lead to a "bloody harvest."

Barnett, who is under a contempt of court charge for defying a federal court order, testified before the Senate Commerce Committee in opposition to the administration's civil rights bill to ban discrimination in hotels, restaurants, theaters, and other businesses.

About 400 persons, predominantly white youths, packed the hearing room to hear the first of a series of opposition witnesses called by Sen. J. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., the only Deep South senator on the committee.

Audience Shows Sympathy
Thurmond repeatedly called for order as the audience moaned or littered in obvious sympathy with the proposed legislation.

Barnett, almost an hour late for his appearance, slowly picked his way through the crowd to the witness table. He told the committee passage of the bill would "put hundreds of thousands of white businessmen in the streets."

Barnett said the President and his brother "are sowing the seeds of hate and violence."

"A nation could reap a bloody harvest," he said.

Military Clamps Control on Ecuador After Ousting President Arosemena

QUITO, Ecuador (UPI) — The military junta which ousted hard-drinking President Carlos Julio Arosemena clamped tight control on Ecuador today and promised heavy penalties for anyone opposing it.

The nation's military chiefs deposed Arosemena in a bloodless coup d'etat Thursday and put him aboard a military plane to Panama, where he arrived late Thursday night and was taken to a hotel.

Four persons were reported injured in anti-military rioting in Quito and the port city of Guayaquil following the coup.

The junta announced a strict 9 p.m. curfew in Guayaquil and put the entire nation under military law. Censorship was established, all constitutional guarantees were suspended, and summary punishment was promised for anyone attempting to disturb the peace.

Newsletters in Chile charged early this year that Arosemena insulted Chilean President Jorge Alessandri at a formal banquet during Alessandri's state visit to Ecuador.

Goldwater:

Liberals Suffer 'Craven Fear'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., said today that President Kennedy appears "determined to co-exist with international communism wherever it thrives—even in the Western Hemisphere."

The 1964 GOP presidential possibility coupled his attack on Kennedy with a charge that the nation's liberals suffer a "craven fear" of the future and have taken the country "too far to the left."

Goldwater said that U.S. Communist party leader Gus Hall was urging defeat of GOP candidates next year and support of "people's political movements" that Hall said operated within the orbit of the Democratic party.

However, Goldwater added that he was not suggesting that Democrats or New Frontiersmen were Communists or that the Communists had captured control of the Democratic party.

Addresses Conference
In a speech prepared for delivery before the Human Events Conference, Goldwater said today's conservative was "standing where history once placed the true liberal."

He said the conservative stands for freedom, individual rights, justice, order and honor.

"I believe today's liberal is so frightened of the future that he is incapable of acting in the present," Goldwater said. "Why else are we confronted today with a virtual paralysis of policy? Why else does Cuba remain a festering, Soviet power base on our very doorstep? Why else are we trying to pretend that international communism is mellowing and not out to enslave the entire world?"

Goldwater said that the "cause for our indecision and inaction is a deep-rooted fear on the part of the liberal establishment which forecloses the possibility of any action at all that may contain a slight element of risk."

"Such craven fear is completely out of character with the American spirit," he declared.

Goldwater said "liberals have taken us too far to the left for the good of the nation, particularly when we find ourselves in a worldwide struggle with the forces of the extreme left."

His Kennedy Speech
His criticism of Kennedy was based on the President's recent speech at American University in which he referred to a Soviet interest in a "just and genuine peace" and urged an effort to "make the world safe for diversity."

Goldwater said Soviet diversity means "slavery and oppression and tyranny and bigotry as well as 'Godlessness,' mass murder and aggression."

"I suggest that the President's plea is just another way of saying that the New Frontier is determined to co-exist with international communism wherever it thrives—even in the Western Hemisphere," he said.

U.S. Tries to Convince Allies To Cut off All Flights to Cuba

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department is trying to persuade Britain, Spain, Canada and Mexico to end landing privileges in their countries for commercial flights to and from Cuba.

The four countries named Wednesday by the State Department are the principal free world nations through whose territory airline routes still operate to Cuba. Cuban and Czech airlines have used Canada as a stopover point en route to Europe, and Cuban Airlines operates flights to Mexico City.

Spanish flights operate to and from Havana, and the State Department said the Castro regime had been using Britain's Grand Cayman Island in the Caribbean as a stepping stone to sneak subversive agents into other Latin American countries.

State Department Spokesman Richard A. Phillips stopped just short of a flat request that the four nations deny landing rights to planes flying to or from Cuba.

But, he said, the United States has made known to the four countries "our interest in the isolation of Cuba." These representations, he said, dated from even before the Cuban missile crisis of last October.

Sno' Boy Sunk 'Intentionally' by Reds, Says Cuban

MIAMI (UPI) — A Cuban exile leader says the fishing boat 'Sno' Boy' was "intentionally sunk" by Russian trawlers when it surprised the Soviet vessels engaging in "espionage" activities in the Caribbean.

The 'Sno' Boy has been missing since July 1 on a voyage from Kingston, Jamaica, to Northeast Cay with 40 persons aboard.

The exile leader Dr. Luis Conte Aguero, said Thursday night he believed the 63-foot vessel "surprised Russian trawlers engaged in clandestine espionage activities in the area and was intentionally sunk."

The U. S. Navy called off a widespread search for the 'Sno' Boy July 9, authorizing the blue and white boat either sunk in high seas or broke up on a reef.

Mine Rescue Teams Temporarily Abandon Probe for 3 Lost Boys

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Rescue teams temporarily abandoned their search for three teen-aged boys, believed lost deep in the old Castle Shannon Coal Co. mine near here, early today after "doing everything humanly possible."

Thomas MacDonald, of the Pittsburgh office of U.S. Bureau of Mines, said rescue units using oxygen packs had covered all the areas where Daniel O'Kane and Billy Burke, both 13, of nearby Baldwin Borough, and Robert Abbott, 14, of Pittsburgh, could have wandered.

"We've examined every inch that was humanly possible to examine," MacDonald said. The mine official said he would confer with members of the rescue teams and other Bureau of Mines officials to decide what the next step would be.

The discovery of three bikes outside the abandoned mine Thursday triggered the search.

Authorities found that a brick and concrete seal placed over the auxiliary entrance to the mine for safety purposes years ago had been torn down sometime in the past. Nearby residents said they saw the Burke and O'Kane boys playing near the shaft entrance several days ago.

Mrs. Florence Burke, Billy's mother, reported the boys missing Thursday evening. She said they had been missing all day.

At the head of the shaft, last worked about 25 years ago, rescue workers said they found a firecracker which had been set off and some twigs, apparently set to indicate a path. But Everett Turner, a mine inspector from the U.S. Bureau of Mines, said the rescue units, who went nearly 2,000 feet into the mine, failed to find any trace of the boys.

Turner said the searchers discovered several minor rockfalls.

Mrs. Lois O'Kane, mother of Danny, said her missing son and his younger brother, Kenny, told her about two months ago they had gone into the shaft.

"I told them, I told them, I told them not to go near that mine," she said.

Mother Breaks Down
Mrs. Burke, a widow, was led away from the mine entrance when she broke down after leading Billy's pet mongrel dog, Nellie Bell, up the hillside to the shaft. The dog whined continuously.

About 200 persons gathered on a hillside across from the shaft to watch the rescue work under the glare of floodlights.

After the first rescue units left the mine early today, a Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railroad freight train rumbled slowly up a grade on tracks above the mine entrance. The train had been delayed as a precautionary measure during rescue operations. Other volunteers continued the search after the train passed.

A former superintendent of the shaft estimated that the underground area would cover 10 miles if all the passageways were included.

Dear Abby....

Rain Answers Prayers Of Some, But Not All

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am nine years old and have not missed one Sunday school class since I started. I don't believe in God any more. We set the date for our class picnic to be June 8th. On May 29th I started to pray for a nice day on June 8th and do you know what? On June 8th it rained. Why did God have to make it rain on that day? Doesn't He listen to prayer?

NO MORE PRAYERS
DEAR NO MORE: Be assured that God DOES listen to prayers, Honey. Maybe He was answering a prayer for rain from some farmers in Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska and Illinois. Those farmers start praying in April. Now, isn't a farmer's crop more important than a picnic? (P.S. I'm from Iowa, and if our farmers didn't get rain when they prayed for it believe me, it was "no picnic" all year for the merchants in the surrounding area.)

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a woman who knocks nine years off her age when she knows a man is interested in marrying her? I told her my real age, but she lied to me about hers. I found out accidentally yesterday. I am now married to this woman and am satisfied with her in every way, but I don't like to be fooled. She looks younger than she is, but if I had known her real age when I went with her I maybe wouldn't have married her. What should I do about this, if anything?

SATISFIED BUT MAD
DEAR SATISFIED: Any woman who can "knock nine years off her age" and get away with it is a pretty good hitter. She was wrong to have lied to you in the first place, but if you are "satisfied"

Ruth Millett Bashful Teenagers Need More Time

What to do about a teen-age daughter who is—pretty, well-liked—and shy? That is one mother's problem. She writes: "My daughter doesn't mind double-dating with another couple she knows well, but when a boy calls her up and asks her for a date by herself, she becomes petrified. Most of the time she turns him down. "Also, when she talks to strangers she keeps her head down. "If I knew she'd grow out of this I'd sit by and wait, but I know she is suffering as much as I am, but won't admit it." It's natural for a mother to want her daughter to have a good time and to worry if she seems so shy that she makes herself miserable. It is always so very easy for an older person to see how crippling such shyness is, and yet how simple it should be to overcome it. But it isn't a simple problem for a teen-ager to overcome. And I'm afraid the more a mother shows her concern over the problem, the more self-conscious the girl becomes. It should be worth a long-term try for the mother in this situation to adopt a strictly "hands-off" policy. If the mother doesn't appear to take undue notice whether the daughter accepts dates or not, and does not scold her for her dif-

Men Sport Blazers With Status Emblems

By HAROLD SHEEHAN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
LIME ROCK, Conn. (NEA)

Of all the hardy perennials of the male clothes closet, the blazer has enjoyed the longest life. This distinctive jacket has existed almost unchanged for more than a century.

And for good reason. It stands stoutly in the middle ground between business wear and casual dress. Ideal for sporting events, knock-around suburban living or for sipping a cool one at the local oasis.

The blazer was out in force at the annual auto trials at the Lime Rock road racing circuit, sponsored by the British Auto Manufacturers' Assn. All in evidence were blue (although blazers can be any color) with elegant crests adorning the left-hand breast. Such emblems as "British Racing Sports Car Club," and "Sports Car Club of America" were typical.

And here lies the obvious key to seizing status in your community with a blazer.

Crests, which the wife can sew on, are inexpensive. If you can't find one that's exotic enough, have it made up at slightly higher cost. But pick a good one, something that people will remember.

A few suggestions: Munich Fencing Championships—1922; Monte Carlo 20-meter Yacht Racing Club; Rolls-Royce Rodding Society of America; Bermuda Chess Assn.; Explorers' Club of Katmandu; Transatlantic Solo Society; Channel Swimmers' Fraternity (don't specify which channel).

The blazer, according to the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear, came into being around 1850 as a European school coat in vivid vertical stripes—hence the word blazer. The school crests and, later, club crests were a logical addition.

Bright buttons—which many men choose to have custom made—add a final touch to this casual but good-looking all-purpose garment.

One major New York clothing firm reports that sales of blazers have been rising steadily for the past three years in all departments, from the university shop to men's section.

When buying a dress try to select one that is of good quality. A plain fabric with subdued texture and no design is a wise choice. Select a weight fabric that is suitable to almost any season.

For evenings, the longer the earrings, the better. Just sweep the hair back of the ears and let the sides froth forward in saucy points.

Prehistoric Child Drew Natural Art

By DAN PIENAAR
JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI)—Prehistoric man instructed his children in more realistic art forms than do contemporary parents. But that's not all.

Prehistoric children positively were encouraged to draw on walls! Unlike today's children, who draw a circle for the face and lines for limbs, the prehistoric toddlers painted natural shapes.

The points about prehistoric child psychology were made in an interview with Dr. Revil Mason, a local archaeologist asked to comment on an exhibition of fossils dating back more than three million years.

The "man in Africa" exhibition was organized by Prof. Raymond Dart, of Witwatersand University here.

It ranges from fossils of skulls and weapons to rock paintings a mere 2,000 years old. Dr. Mason said he's convinced paintings found in the caves were the work of children. They were found close to the floor.

Besides, they were far simpler than the work of more experienced artists found higher up on the walls.

Many of the prehistoric artifacts on show were discovered at the Makapansgat caves.

Blazers and fine cars go together like pistons and crankshafts. These dapper gentlemen at Connecticut auto trials sport on theirs such exotic crests as "British Racing Club" and "Jaguar Clubs of North America." (Vehicle under inspection, center, is a mint 1921 Sunbeam racer—which can still top 100 miles per hour.)

Take It From Kathy

By KATHY PETERSON

Dear Kathy: What can I do about two cousins who are always borrowing my things, and forget to return most of them? It makes me mad to walk into their house and see things of mine that never found their way home.

I'm sure these girls don't mean to take things and keep them. It's just a case of forgetting.

This has gone on for years, and I've reached the point where I'm about to explode. How can I straighten things out without causing a family crisis?—D.E.

Dear D. E.: I know a man who has a red stripe painted on the handle of every tool he owns. It has become his trademark, so a borrower always knows where to return them. The same system might work for you. It would mean name tags on clothing, identification in all books and some other simple mark on everything from pencils to erasers—perhaps a neat dot of nail polish. Each item would be obviously yours.

Keep track of everything that's lent, so you can ask if it is not returned in a reasonable time. Problems are easy to handle one by one, but a little gripe plus another, plus another, adds up to a maddening situation.

Your best solution would be not to lend in the first place. Couldn't you be sorry, but just happen to need the thing your cousins want to take? In time, they'd get the hint!

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Our 12-year-old brother-in-law arrived from his home in Europe Thursday for a visit, and naturally he was interested in seeing American television, especially because he is studying English.

Out of curiosity, therefore, I scanned the story-lines of the shows that the networks had to offer him Thursday night. I only surveyed the programs that ended before 10 o'clock, because that is when he goes to bed. And I thought you might be interested in some of the plots that made up the bulk of the schedule, all of which were repeats:

—"Dr. Kildare." A beautiful and pregnant young woman dreads having her first baby.

—"Perry Mason." The rivalry for an executive promotion in an investment firm leads to blackmail and murder.

—"Twilight Zone." The caretaker of a "murderer's row" in a wax museum moves the figures of Jack the Ripper and other violent criminals of the past into his basement—and I guess you know what happened.

—"Fair Exchange." An ex-vaudevilleian is stunned when his young son, hardly older than my brother-in-law, decides to study law instead of going into show business.

—"Leave It To Beaver." A girl cancels her movie date because she has to stay home with her younger sister, and there is an attempt to overcome this problem.

—"My Three Sons." Rushing to pack for a business trip, Fred MacMurray's scrolicious goes out, leaving him helpless. When he tries to get his doctor, he learns that the physician has become an obstetrician and cannot leave an office full of expectant mothers.

—"McHale's Navy." The PT-boat is fired on by a Japanese submarine, but the only things destroyed are the captain's uniforms, which a torpedoman is in the midst of laundering. While doing the laundry, the torpedoman scratches his finger and decides to apply for a Purple Heart since he figures he's been in action against the enemy.

—"Hazel." Hazel's nephew arrives unexpectedly and disrupts her boss' household with a promotion scheme. The boss invites the nephew to be a house guest while he's in town, but becomes suspicious when he borrows money and shaving utensils and makes long-distance calls.

My brother-in-law and I didn't watch television. We drove out to the beach and had a fine swim instead.

The Channel Swim: The Russian-Red China rift is the subject of CBS-TV's "Eyewitness" tonight... Allan Sherman, of "My Son, The Folk Singer" fame, will be host of NBC-TV's "Tonight" show during the second week of Johnny Carson's vacation—Aug. 5-9... Bill Cullen has already been announced as the fill-in host for the previous week.

NBC-TV's "Report From—" series offers a dawn-to-dawn tour of Paris Tuesday... Meredith Willson, who wrote "The Music Man," will preview songs from his new show, "Here's Love," on the same network's "Today" program Monday.

Starting this Sept. 22, CBS-TV will have at least five annual one-hour specials marking the anniversaries of the opening last fall of New York's Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts... The first anniversary show, like the others, will be in prime-time, pre-empting Ed Sullivan.

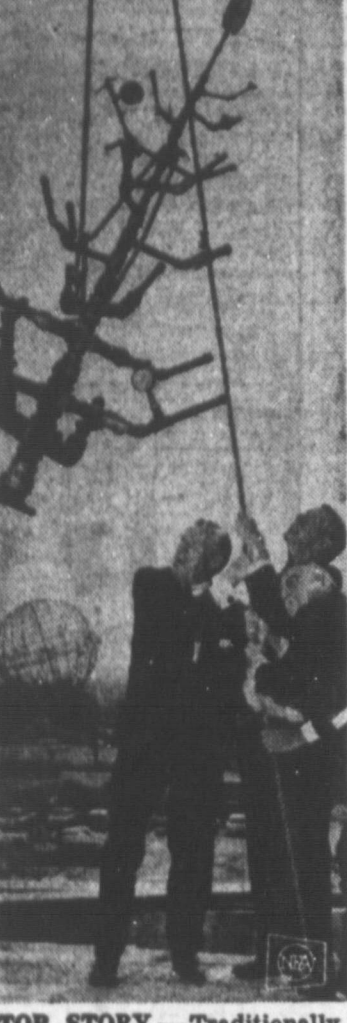

ABC-TV airs a one-hour special Aug. 3 dramatizing the human sides of Abraham Lincoln and Robert E. Lee—but, strangely, it will be telecast only in the eastern and central time zones, pre-empting "Cheyenne"... The program combines two half-hour character studies of Lincoln and Lee originally produced by ABC-TV's affiliate station in Richmond, Va.

DARE COSTS $100

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (UPI)—Leo McLaughlin, 32, angered when a barmaid turned down his request for a date, threatened to ram his car through the tavern's front door.

"I dare you to," the barmaid challenged.

The young man accepted and was fined $100.

TOP STORY—Traditionally, when the highest point of the construction of a building is reached, an evergreen tree is placed atop the structure. Here, members of the gas industry place a tree of gas pipe, fittings and valves atop the Festival of Gas pavilion, going up at the New York World's Fair site.

The Dominican Order was founded in 1215.

"I can't really explain why I bought them," she said. "I don't wear hats."

COLUMBIA, S.C. (UPI)—A "How's that?" expression passed over the judge's face in municipal court when a defendant was brought before him on a charge of public drunkenness.

Clark T. V. Davis looked at the defendant and said: "You are charged with being guilty. Are you drunk?"

Castro Voices Disapproval of Chicken Farmers

MIAMI (UPI)—Fidel Castro, after taking a long look at Havana the other day, said the capital city of his island was full of government parasites and chow hounds.

The bearded premier, in an informal "chat" with students at Havana University singled out chicken farmers for censure, according to a Havana Radio broadcast monitored here Wednesday.

Castro said some farmers were privately selling chicken for three pesos a pound, then buying meat at government butcher shops for 45 cents a pound. (At the official Cuban rate, one peso is equivalent to one U. S. dollar.)

The premier—himself a country boy—said Havana was in a "parasitic condition—full of demanding consumers and chow hounds."

Havana Radio said one student complained that a sewing machine purchased by his mother in Havana broke down within a few days.

Castro advised the student to raise "a tremendous stink" about the machine to the store and the Interior Commerce Ministry.

Guard rails along U.S. highways use up about 100 million wooden posts each year.

battle, but five white youths were arrested.

Police Stand Guard
Helmeted police with dogs and tear gas stood guard at roadblocks surrounding the area, a shambles of broken glass and bullet-pocked buildings, at dawn. But police feared they could not maintain order. They asked Geston to plead with Taxes for enough National Guardsmen to seal off this Eastern Shore fishing community and place it under martial law.

The three uniformed Guardsmen were shot while driving home in a civilian car on a street near the Negro section. The driver, Pfc. Leon D. Buckle of Ridgeley, was hospitalized with bullet and shotgun pellet wounds in the neck and side. Treated and released were Ernest Russell of Benfer, whose forehead was grazed, and Robert W. Fox of Ridgeley, who was struck in the hand.

Civilians Wounded
Earlier, three white men, neighbors on a street facing the Negro section, were wounded by shotgun blasts from across the street as they sat on a porch. They were Frank Tavorario, 26, a pipefitter, who was struck in the arm; John Busta, 30, a truck driver, hit in the face, and Robert Harler, wounded in the side. They were treated at a Cambridge hospital.

Police questioned eight Negroes about the shooting and took fingerprints from a shotgun they had seized.

The gunfire climaxed a day of anti-segregation demonstrations in which six integrationists were beaten by whites during an attempted lunch-counter sit-in, and an evening protest march to the Cambridge Courthouse in defiance of National Guard pleas for a halt.
When the gunfire grew worse, city officials and Maj. G. E. Davidson, field commander of more than 100 outnumbered state troopers, asked Geston for immediate martial law.
"In view of the many shootings throughout the night," he told newsmen, "it is almost on the scale of warfare. I think my request will unquestionably be granted."

Youths Placed On Probation

Five Pampa youths charged with bombarding the home and automobile of Bob Parks, 1707 Evergreen, with firecrackers early on the morning of July 4, have been placed on probation. Juvenile Officer Bill Leonard said today.

The youths were taken into custody after Parks, assistant principal at Robert E. Lee junior high school, reported they had made three separate visits to his home between 3 a.m. and 5:15 a.m. on July 4.

Parks said he was awakened each time with a blast of firecrackers and on one occasion the fireworks exploded on the top of his parked automobile.

Leonard said charges brought in Corporation Court were dismissed and the matter was settled when the youths agreed to pay the damage to Parks' car.

Police said the five boys were in the 15 and 16 year-old age bracket.

Rural Traffic Mishaps Number 21 During June

The Highway Patrol investigated 21 rural traffic accidents in Gray County during June, according to Sgt. J. W. Wilson, Pampa Area patrol supervisor.

The wrecks accounted for 12 persons injured and $9,810 estimated property damage.

Sgt. Wilson stated that the figures bring the total for the year thus far in Gray County to 83 accidents that claimed three lives, injured 47 persons and caused property damage of $69,738.

For a comparison, the patrol supervisor pointed to accidents in Gray County for the first six months of 1962 that accounted for six deaths, 57 injuries, and property damage of $48,240.

Motor Grader Bid Accepted

A low bid of $11,000, for a motor grader, submitted by West Texas Equipment Co. of Amarillo was accepted at the regular meeting of the Gray County Commissioners Court Thursday at 10 p.m.

County Judge William J. Craig presided over the meeting with commissioners, Joe Clarke of Pct. 1, Clyde Organ of Pct. 2, J. M. McCracken of Pct. 3 and Truitt Johnson of Pct. 4 in attendance.

Judge Craig said, other than approving and accepting the bid on the motor grader, the commissioners approved the payment of the county's bills for the month of June.

The car belonged to Travis Taylor, 816 Dean Dr. At 9:30 p.m. Patrolman Joe Brewer issued a ticket to a man for running a red light at E. Frederic and Barnes St.

Police learned later that the man was driving Taylor's stolen car. The driver had given a street address in Spearman which later checked out to be fictitious.

Predicts White Backing
Barnett warned the committee that it was about to hear from "that great, silent, substantial white majority back home."

"If you think 500,000 Negroes marching on Washington is something, pass this legislation and you'll find what 100 million angry white Americans will do."

Barnett's reference was to a planned mass demonstration in Washington Aug. 28 by Negroes and other civil rights advocates from all parts of the nation. A leader of the demonstration said Thursday that about 100,000 demonstrators were expected, rather than 500,000 as mentioned by Barnett.

Barnett repeatedly blamed the President and the attorney general for the racial violence which has raked the nation in recent weeks.

"The attorney general has been personally responsible for helping to put mobs in the street," he said.

Barnett is under contempt of court charges for resisting federal court orders to register Negro James H. Meredith at the University of Mississippi last September.

He is also a licensed lay preacher in the Methodist Church.
As a man who is deeply involved in both worlds, he sees no "conflict" between science and religion.
"Even a scientist needs religious faith," he said in an interview.
"Science has made tremendous contributions to mankind. It has penetrated the mysteries of the material universe and freed the minds of men from ignorance and superstition.
"But science is a partial view of life... in many respects, a narrow view."
Dr. Dryden does not accept the cliché that religious people live by "faith" whereas scientific people live by "objective" knowledge.
"The areas of knowledge which one person can explore in detail and experience for himself, even in a lifetime, are very few," he said.
"No man could possibly live in the modern world on the knowledge he himself has mastered. He lives by faith in the results of the experience of other men, both those now living and those of past generations.
"His interpretation of the universe... of meaning and value... of moral purpose... and his whole philosophy of life are great adventures of faith. In scientific language, they are extrapolations from the information and insights available to him as one particular individual with a sharply limited knowledge of our universe."
"Leads to Materialism"
Dr. Dryden said that some people "are led to a purely materialistic view" of the universe.
"Others, including myself, are persuaded that in the universe there are both the material and the spiritual."
Either view, he emphasized, is necessarily held on faith, because neither can be demonstrated conclusively by the objective methods of science.
Occasionally, some scientist will venture beyond the proper boundaries of his discipline and attempt to "prove" the materialistic view of the universe.
Dr. Dryden said he had read an article recently by a scientist who felt that the apparent spiritual dimensions of human existence could all be adequately explained in materialistic terms.

"He was convinced," said Dr. Dryden, "that the inner life of man—his consciousness of self, his power of thought, his conscience, his ideals—were the direct result of the physical and chemical activity of the brain."
He found "proof" of this thesis in "the fact that damage to the brain destroyed some or all of the manifestations, and that drugs could excite or pacify an individual."
Dr. Dryden said he found himself thinking about this argument one Sunday morning in church "when I should have been listening to the sermon."
"It occurred to me that scientific progress has made us familiar with many realities that are not directly perceived by our own physical senses."
"I recalled that at that very moment there were present within the room invisible electromagnetic waves from hundreds of radio and television stations carrying voices, music and pictures from as many distant places."
"Although I could not at the moment hear or see them, I knew that if a rather complex assemblage of copper, glass, aluminum and a number of other scarce materials whose very names are unknown to most of us were brought into the room and properly adjusted, any one of these programs could be selected and heard or seen."
"I knew too that if I damaged the radio or television receiver, the program would disappear. But this certainly would not in any way remove the radio waves from the room; nor would it demonstrate that the entire phenomena were produced by the apparatus in the room."
"Then my thought returned to my faith that there was also present within that same room, and elsewhere, an ever-present spiritual Personality whose voice can also be heard by another, even more complicated, assembly of materials—the assembly of carbon, hydrogen, oxygen and other chemicals which we call a human being."
"If a human being's physical body is damaged or diseased, the reception may indeed fail. But that does not affect the reality of the invisible spiritual forces, any more than breaking a receiver proves that there aren't any radio waves in a room."
Aren't there people, with quite healthy bodies, who seem unable to "receive" the spiritual dimension of life?

"I'm not sure about that. I'm inclined to feel that anyone who has not cultivated his spiritual capacities is just as deafened as if he had lost an arm or a leg."

6 THE PAMPA DAILY NEWS FRIDAY, JULY 12, 1963 56TH YEAR

Oklahoma Evangelist Will Conduct Nazarene Revival

Dick and Lucille Law, of Bethany, Okla., conduct the "old-fashioned" type of revival services, and will be conducting a series of special services at the First Church of the Nazarene, 500 N. West, July 17 thru 28 at 7:30 p.m. each evening.
Dick, with his trombone, directs the evangelistic singing of the congregation while Lucille ably accompanies with evangelistic-style playing at the piano. The couple sing duets and solos. Poetry and effective musical readings are woven into their program.
Both members of this soul-winning team were trained in Nazarene schools. They are forceful, holiness preachers and God has blessed their work with thousands of seekers, the Rev. Carson N. Snow, announced today.

Brethren Church Pastor Reports On Integration

The struggle for freedom and equality of the part of minority people in the United States was one of the main issues faced at the recent general conference of the Church of the Brethren in Champaign, Ill., according to the Rev. Russell G. West, who represented the Pampa branch of the Church at the conference.
The Rev. Mr. West said the issue soon would be considered by the Pampa congregation. He issued the following statement on the conference which he attended:
"For a number of years the denomination, in general conference, has made strong pronouncements on the issue of segregation in the Churches. This year, with 9000 members and 1,125 voting delegates present the conference voted almost unanimously "That each local church is called upon to affirm by specific council action the already established assumption that membership within the Church of the Brethren will be accorded without regard to racial background or national origin."
"It should be made clear however that one of the original principles of the Church of the Brethren, when it was established in Germany in 1708 is, There is to be no force used in religion. This means that a General Conference decision, regardless of how clearly unanimous the decision, is not binding upon a local congregation. Each local congregation, therefore, will prayerfully consider this recommendation in an open Council meeting, discuss the whole matter, and cast a vote. It is likely that a decision so far reaching as this will not be considered in open council before this fall or winter."
"Due to the importance of this paper the Conference officially sponsored a continuous "Prayer Vigil" through out the week. During the entire conference, during speeches, choir numbers, business sessions, in the background of the stage, there was a constant stream of people kneeling before the altar. The burden of these prayers, which opened with the Moderator, the Rev. Dr. Harry K. Zeller, a Japanese choir member, a pastor from Alabama, a negro choir member, and a layman from the east, kneeling at the altar, was for God's pardon for our failure to follow Christ."
The Pampa Church of the Brethren was officially represented by the pastor, the Rev. Russell G. West, Sr.

Many Needs Met By Salvation Army in Pampa

The Salvation Army meets many needs in Pampa.
One project is that of making baby layettes for the unprepared mother or parents of a new born child. A group of women meets every week at the Salvation Army. They mend, make over from used materials and make new garments for these layettes, to be given to those in need. The garments are washed, ironed, and neatly boxed, ready for emergencies.
Illness has been the cause for needs to be met during the past month, according to Envoy H. C. Seago.
"Our doors are never closed to those in need of a helping hand," Envoy Seago said. "Both material and spiritual help is being given daily."
One case cited by Envoy Seago was that of a young couple who had a car accident. Both parents and baby were thrown from the car. Their clothing was ruined, and all three were hospitalized.
The Salvation Army went to their aid with clothing and a layette was given to a grandmother, whose daughter abandoned her two-month-old baby without a plan for care or clothing.
The motto of The Salvation Army is "Saved to Serve".

Dallas Hosts Southern Baptist Evangelistic Conference Meet

DALLAS (Spl.) — A nation-wide Southern Baptist Evangelistic Conference meeting here, after opening Tuesday night with fiery sermons by two Baptist ministers, featured ten sectional conferences Wednesday on personal soul winning and revivalism.
The ten conferences kicked off the fanfare for a series of nation-wide Baptist Jubilee Revivals slated in March and April of 1964 as part of the observance for the 150th anniversary of Baptist work in America.
More than 8,500 Baptists, nearly half of them from outside Texas, attended the opening session which featured major addresses by Dr. W. A. Criswell of Dallas and Dr. Warren C. Hultgren of Tulsa, Okla.
During the keynote address on the conference theme "Spiritual Conquest... Now," Dr. Criswell, pastor of First Baptist Church, Dallas, painted a dismal picture of the world's destiny.
"In my lifetime, two world wars have been fought and we are feverishly preparing for a third," he said. "Russia and Communist China have their ideological differences," he said, "but they are both agreed upon our annihilation. It's like living with a gun at your temple."

Dr. Criswell, pastor of the nation's largest Southern Baptist congregation, said that unless there is a "spiritual conquest... now," Christianity might lose the battle with Communism.
"There are almost a million people in the world who die every week without Christ," he said. "Our great and overwhelming as-ignment from the Lord is to win these lost to a saving faith in Christ."

Earlier Tuesday night, Dr. Warren Hultgren, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Tulsa, Okla., said that long before we think of conquering space, man must learn to conquer himself.
Dr. Hultgren told the conference that the basic cause of the world's unrest is not lack of technology or education but rather a spiritual disease that God and the Bible call "Sin."

St. Paul Theme Is "What Ails Our Youth?"

The theme of the worship service at St. Paul Methodist Church will be "What Ails Our Youth?" based on the scripture from Isaiah 11:1-4. The choir will sing "Great Is The Lord" by Holton, under the direction of Jerry Trice. Mrs. Lois Fagan will be at the organ.
The Junior High Methodist Youth Fellowship will begin their Christian Adventure Week Sunday night at 8 p.m. with a snack time. They will meet each night during the week from 6 to 8 p.m. for food, study, recreation, and worship. We will have three resource persons during the week. Dr. Joe Gates will lead the group Monday on "The Tormenting Habits". Tuesday, Mrs. Jack Riley will lead on "Hymnal Appreciation" and Friday Dr. Tilden Armstrong will lead a "Bible Study". The youth will be in charge of each program the following nights on the themes "First Dates" and "Whom to Date" led by Kathy Giddens and Carol Tucker.
The evening worship theme will be "A Growing Church" based on the scripture Ephesians 2:11-22.
The official board will meet immediately following the worship service. W. N. Sargent is the chairman.

Baptist Hospital Board Announces Research, Clinical Fellowship

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (Spl.) — A hospital clinical training and research fellowship, designed specifically for Baptist ministers and to be carried out in Baptist Memorial Hospital, Jacksonville, Fla., was announced recently by Dr. T. Sloane Guy, Jr., Executive Secretary - Treasurer of the Southern Baptist Hospital Board.
The fellowship in Clinical Pastoral Care will be awarded for one year and will carry an annual stipend of $3,000.
Administering the fellowship will be Lawrence Payne, Baptist Memorial Hospital Administrator, while Harry McCartney, head of the hospital's Pastoral Care Department, will be in direct supervision.
According to Dr. Guy, funds for the fellowship were made available by the Hospital Board, an agency of the Southern Baptist Convention. This is a part of an overall program to stimulate and strengthen the Pastoral Care programs in the Convention-owned hospitals. He added that the first year of the fellowship will be an experimental period and that if the program proves successful, the fellowship will be made an annual award and other fellowships probably will be established.
The fellowship recipient, during his year in the hospital, will carry out a series of clinical research projects in the pastoral care area, dealing with persons under the physical, emotional and spiritual stresses peculiar to illness. Upon completion of the fellowship period the recipient would be expected to return to the pastorate with new insight into the spiritual needs and reactions of his fellow man, Payne said.
Two types of ministers will be considered eligible, ordained ministers in the active ministry and ministers presently serving in various capacities with denominational boards.
Applicants must be between 30 and 40 years of age with high school diploma and college and seminary degrees and must have had three to five years of pastoral experience.
"This fellowship is an alternative for a man who cannot take two or three years of formal academic graduate studies," Mr. Payne pointed out. "There is no degree involved but we feel that the recipient will be able to equip himself to return to the pastorate

Rev. Allison Will Deliver Sunday Topic

Rev. Joe Allison, Pastor of the Highland Baptist Church will be in the pulpit for both services Sunday. He has chosen "The Glory of Genuine Repentance" for his 11 a.m. worship sermon topic.

Foreign Commentary

In the past year, according to Dommen, he has discovered that the Pathet Lao possess armed camps with their own supply dumps and field hospitals. In the strategic Plain of Jars which provides access not only to South Vietnam but to Cambodia and Thailand as well, they have fought in unit strength up to a battalion, carrying relatively heavy weapons and working with radio equipment.
Giap's advisors work right up with Pathet Lao forward units.
In addition to training Pathet Lao officers in North Vietnam and building up local military units, the Communists are proceeding rapidly with the indoctrination of populations under their control.
Concede Cold Fact
In Laos' capital of Vientiane, Western observers concede that a hard-core regiment of North Vietnamese veterans of the Indochina war could sweep the Plain of Jars now if they wished.
But by the end of the current rainy season or by May of 1964, the Pathet Lao may be ready for the job themselves, thus maintaining the fiction of Laotians fighting for Laos.
The Communist countries then might call for another international conference to ratify the battlefield victory.
There are many facets to the Communist strategy.
They have no desire to exploit their own vulnerable homeland to United States reprisal.

These public spirited firms are making these weekly messages possible — and join with the ministers of Pampa in hoping that each message will be an inspiration to everyone.

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

Attend The Church Of Your Choice

M. B. SMITH, BAPTIST MINISTER

GOD'S PROVISION...

Read Genesis 22;1-14

In the reading of this passage of God's Truth note that in verse 8, Abraham said, "My son, God will provide himself a lamb for a burnt offering; so they went both of them together." God did provide a lamb to die in the place of Isaac. He has provided for us.

I. God has provided a Saviour —

"For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life." John 3;16.

II. God has provided His Word —

Only through the reading and hearing of God's Word do men know how to be saved, and it is only through the reading of the word of God that people can know God's will.

"All Scripture is given by inspiration of God and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness."

III. God provides for our daily needs —

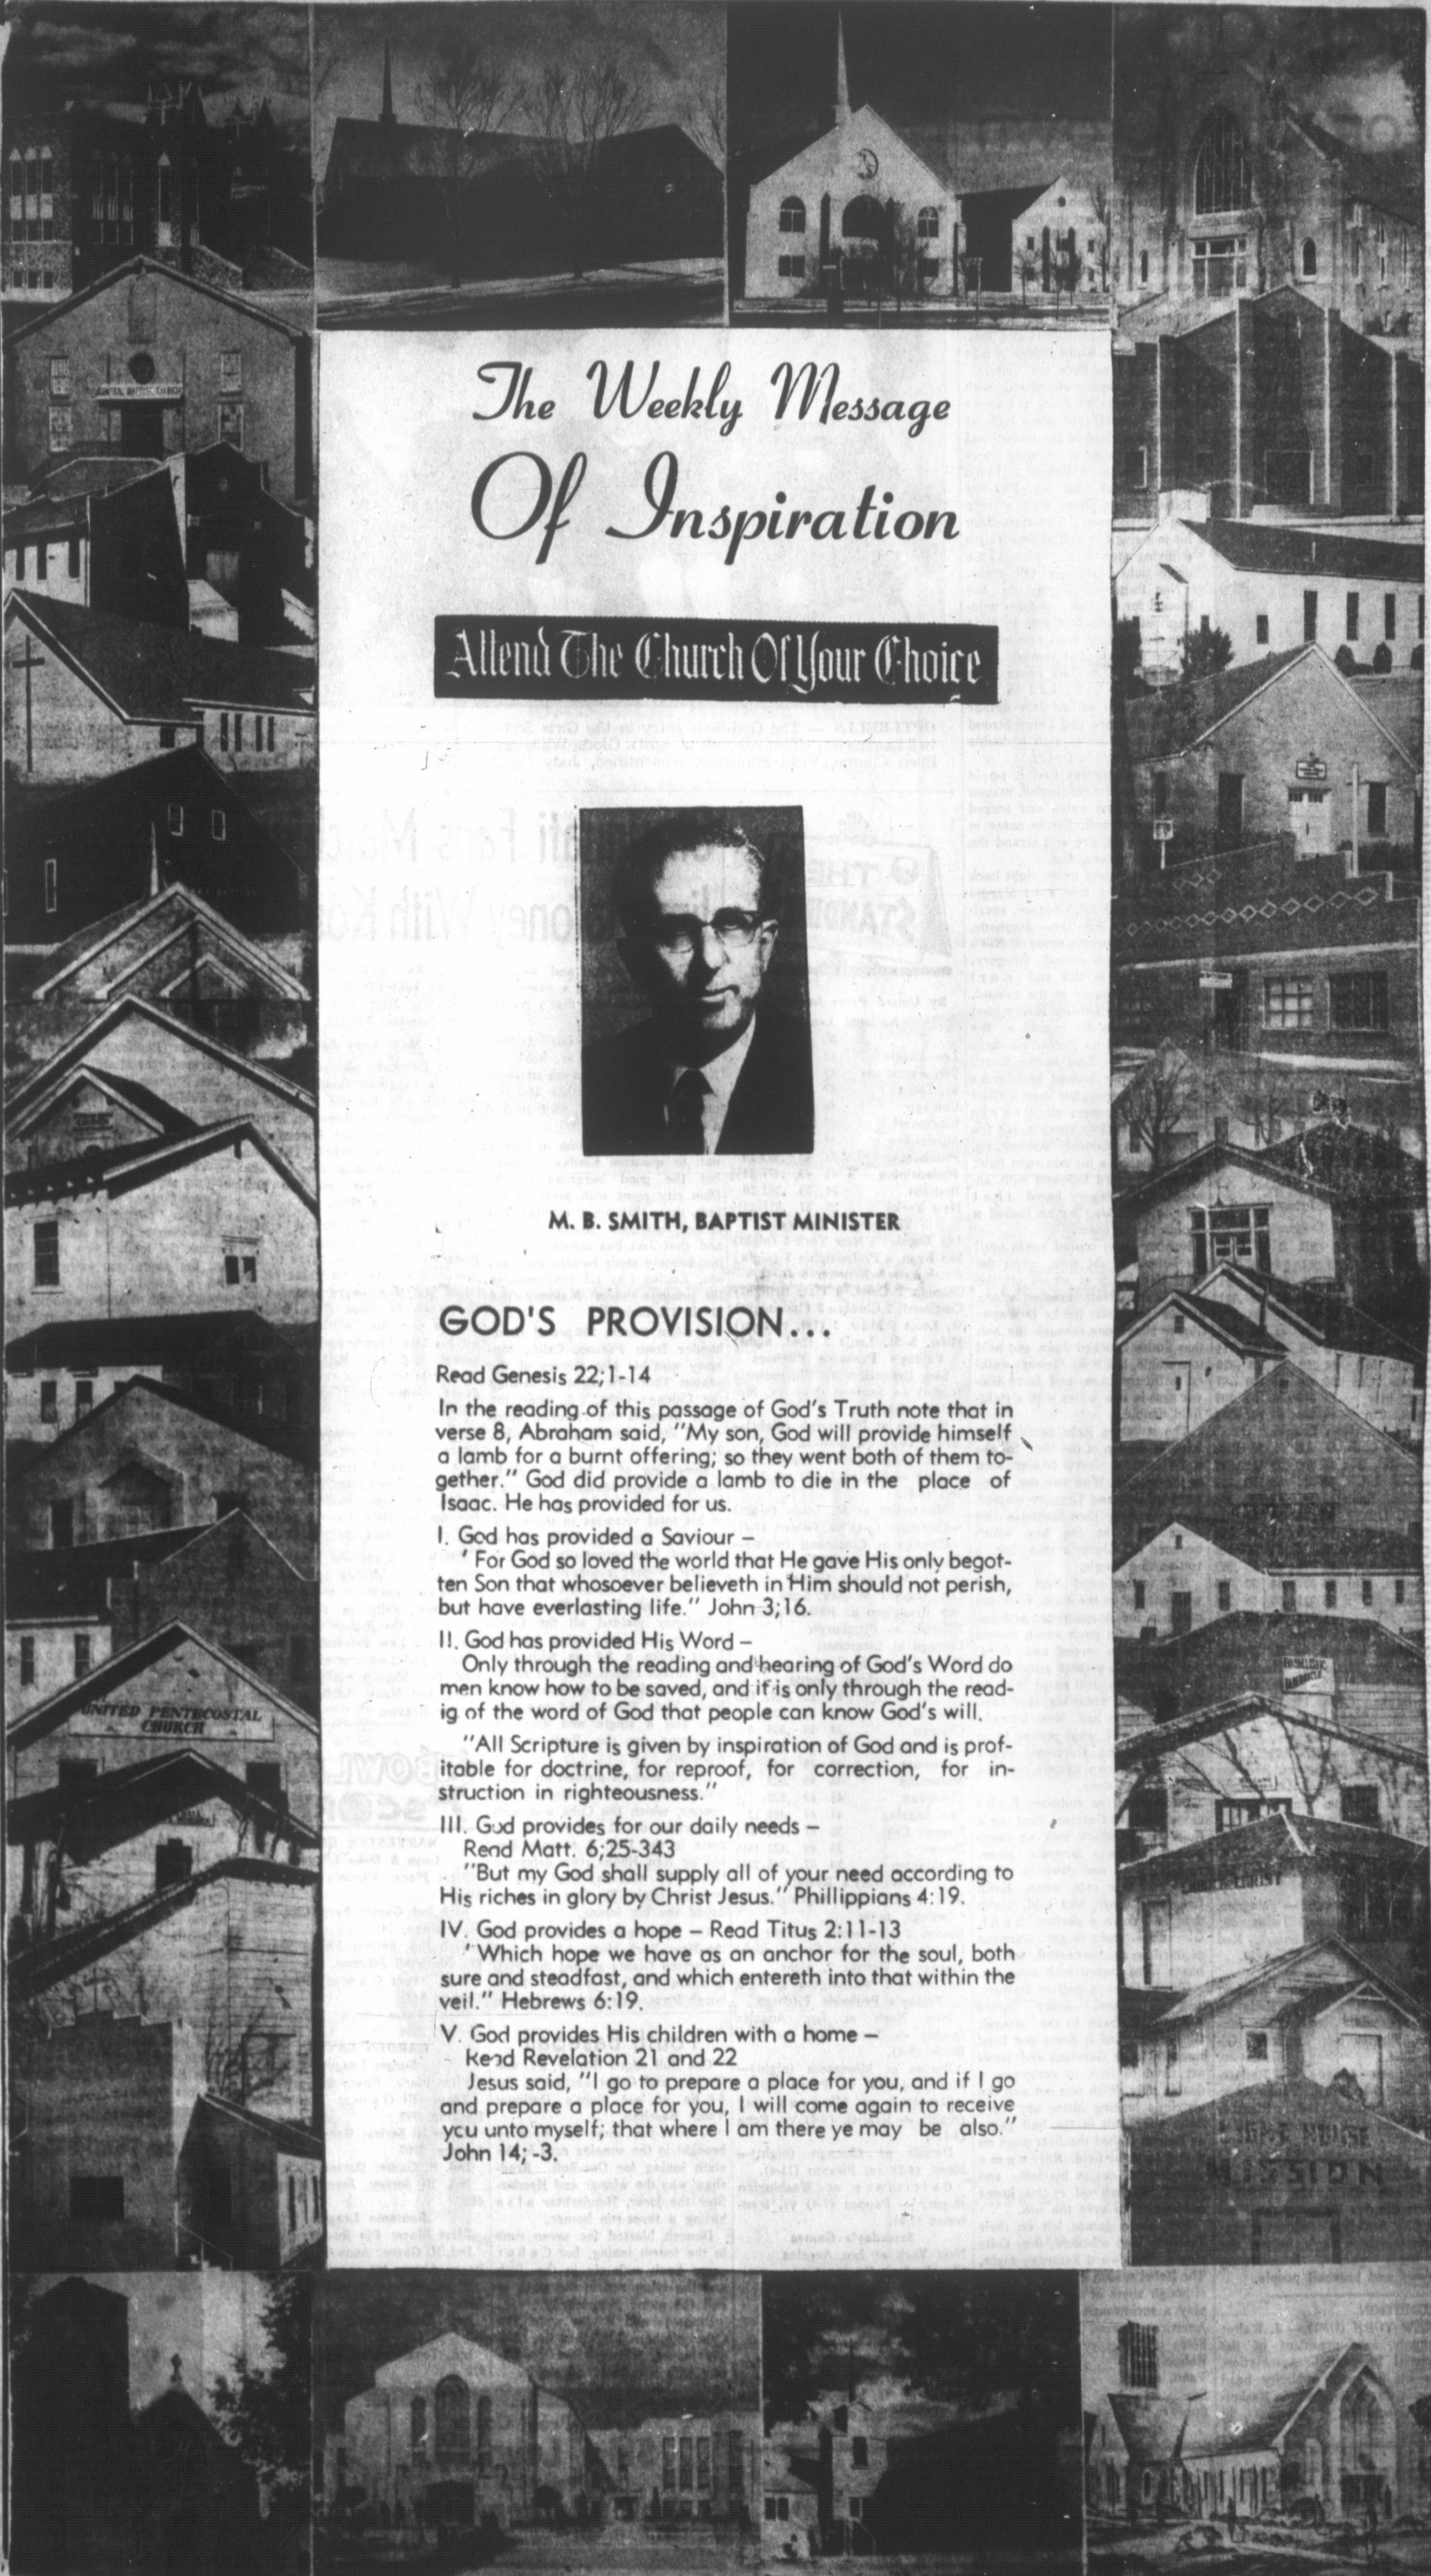

Read Matt. 6;25-34
"But my God shall supply all of your need according to His riches in glory by Christ Jesus." Phillipians 4:19.

IV. God provides a hope — Read Titus 2:11-13

"Which hope we have as an anchor for the soul, both sure and steadfast, and which entereth into that within the veil." Hebrews 6:19.

V. God provides His children with a home —

Read Revelation 21 and 22
Jesus said, "I go to prepare a place for you, and if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again to receive you unto myself; that where I am there ye may be also." John 14;-3.

Colts Clip Rebs For City Crown

By JEFF COHANE
Pampa News Sports Editor

With the bases loaded and none out, Big Jerry Glover retired the Pampa Rebels without a run in the seventh inning to give the Pampa Colts a 7-6 thriller in the game for the city baseball championship.

In a nip-and-tuck game which saw the lead change hands seven times, Glover, fourth Colt hurler, gave the Tri-State League a breathtaking win over the underdog American Legionnaires, as the Colts scored the tying and winning runs on Reb miscues.

Key errors hurt the Rebs as Jim Arthur, Carl Harnsberger and Jerry Garrison limited the semipro to seven hits, while their mates were getting 10 off Ned Patterson, Roy Perrin, Royce Harnsberger and Glover. Leading the Reb attack were Kenny Hebert and Shotgun Gregory, while Bobby Nutt was 3-for-3 to pace the Colts.

Fielding lapses alternated with fielding gems as Jerry Glover made several fine plays both at second base and on the mound and Gray Hill made a running one-handed catch of Hebert's line drive for the final out. For the Rebs, Hebert shone with a rifle peg that chopped a sure extra-base hit to a single, and Phil Smith with a diving stop of a vicious line drive ticketed for the tall grass.

Ned Patterson opened on the mound for the Colts, and his wildness set up the first run as Kyle Vann walked, moved around on Hebert's single and scored on a wild pitch. The Colts came right back to take a 2-1 lead in their half with two out as Jim Arthur walked two men and Larry Stroud chased them home with a double off the right field fence.

The Legionnaires tied it up in the third as Hebert singled, moved around on two walks and scored on a passed ball. Perrin came in to put out the fire and strand the other two baserunners.

The Tri-States came right back in their half to take a 4-2 margin on a walk to Keith Gregory, sacrifice bunt by Roy Don Stephens, and then a throwing error on Hill's grounder which scored Gregory. Nutt singled in Hill and Carl Harnsberger came to the mound.

Carl's older brother Royce soon joined him on the mound as the Rebs pounced on Perrin for three hits and a 6-4 lead in the fourth inning. Harny walked and was forced by Arthur, but Vann walked to put two runners on. Perrin struck out Rickey Stewart, but the Rebel guns suddenly opened up. Hebert belted a hit into right field, Ricky Maynard followed with another, and Gregory found that side to his liking as he lashed a double to the fence.

Neither team scored again until the bottom of the fifth, when the Colts tied it up at six-off the tiring Harny. Nutt smashed a long double into left field, DeWayne Glover sliced one through the hole that Smith knocked down and held to a single, but Mike Stewart walked to fill the bases and Jerry Glover sent in two tallies with a right-field double.

The stubborn Rebs came right back in the top of the sixth to take a 7-6 lead as Jerry Glover went to the mound. With two out, Maynard walked and Gregory singled. Steve Molberg then lashed a line drive back at the box which bounced off Glover's shin for a run-scoring single.

Hill walked and Nutt singled with one out in the sixth. Garrison came in for Harnsberger and unleashed a wild pitch which moved the runners to second and third, but Gregory's pickoff attempt at third was high. Hill came in to tie the score and when Maynard fumbled the loose ball, Nutt followed him home with what proved to be the winning run. Garrison struck out the next two batters, but the damage was done.

Once more the stubborn Rebs came back as Garrison beat out a fluke single which took an unexpected hop over Stroud's glove. Arthur sliced one down to third base and was safe when Keith Gregory's throw was wild. Smith then laid down a perfect bunt, Gregory's attempt to get Garrison at third was unsuccessful, and the bases were loaded with none out.

Glover threw a ball to Stewart, then a strike. Ricky lashed a line drive back to the mound, Glover knocked it down and fired home to force Garrison and Stewart fired to first to complete a double play. With two out and the district's leading hitter up, the Rebs were still in the ball game as Hebert lashed the first pitch on a line to right field. Hill came charging in, cut to his left, and picked the ball off at his knees one-handed to save the win.

With three games left on their Tri-State loop schedule, the Colts play at Woodward Saturday night. The Rebel season is officially over, although some of the team will play a scrimmage game with the American League Babe Ruth All-Stars tonight.

Cincinnati Fans Matching Jim Maloney With Koufax

Strike for strike and win for win, Jim Maloney is a match for Sandy Koufax—and that's no baloney.

Big Sandy, the Los Angeles Dodgers' flame-thrower, holds the National League's season strikeout record of 269 and with a 14-3 record is well on his way toward a 25-victory season.

There's no inclination in Cincinnati to question Koufax's talents, but the good burghers of the Ohio city point with pride to the fact that Maloney's current 14-3 record matches Koufax's mark and that Jim has struck out proportionately more batters this season. Koufax has 150 strikeouts in 156 innings while Maloney has 129 in 128 innings.

A 6-foot 2-inch, 200-pound right-hander from Fresno, Calif., Maloney won his 14th victory of the season Thursday night in beating the Chicago Cubs, 7-3, after the Reds dropped the 11-inning opener of the two-night doubleheader, 7-0.

Something of a hardluck pitcher in previous seasons, Maloney's 1963 win total is only three short of his total victories in three other years with the Reds. At the moment, he's potentially the Reds' biggest winner since Bucky Walters posted 27 victories in 1939.

Reds Break Tie

Maloney yielded all the Cubs' runs in the sixth inning but the Reds broke a 3-3 tie with four runs in the eighth with the aid of a two-run double by rookie Pete Rose. Vada Pinson had two doubles and a single and drove in two runs for the Reds in the nightcap.

Dick Ellsworth pitched an eight-inning and struck out eight in the opener, which the Cubs won with a parade of 13 batters to the plate in the 11th. A two-run double by Ken Hubbs, two defensive lapses by Charlie Neal and a two-run triple by Don Landrum keyed the big inning.

The Los Angeles Dodgers nipped the New York Mets, 4-3, the San Francisco Giants shaded the Philadelphia Phillies, 4-3, the Pittsburgh Pirates downed the Houston

Colts, 3-0, and the Milwaukee Braves beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 5-3, after a 6-3 defeat in other National League games.

Mets Lose Again

Don Drysdale yielded a pair of homers to Jesse Gonder but got his 11th win for the Dodgers on the strength of a three-run fourth-inning rally and Ron Perranoski's sturdy close-out relief. The win was the fourth in a row for the Dodgers and the loss the 12th straight for the Mets.

Juan Marichal received credit for his 14th win against four defers after Bob Bolin came to his rescue when Tony Gonzalez hit a triple and Roy Sievers homered in the ninth to close the Phillies' gap to one run. Willie McCovey hit his 24th homer and Jim Davenport had two RBI-singles to lead a 10-hit attack that dealt 10-game winner Ray Culp his seventh loss.

Don Cardwell pitched a two-hitter for the Pirates, who scored once in the fourth inning and added two insurance runs in the eighth on Donn Clendenon's two-run double. Dick Farrell suffered his seventh loss for the Colts.

Bill White's two-run homer and Dick Groat's double sparked the Cardinals' decisive five-run seventh-inning rally in their first game, but the Braves kayped teammate Lew Burdette in seven innings and took the nightcap behind Bob Shaw's nine-hitter. Lee Maye and Hank Aaron homered for the Braves.

Softball League

Departing from the usual tight pace, the Industrial Softball League saw a pair of free-swinging, high-scoring games last night as the Cabot Glows edged the Pampa Stars, 9-8, in 10 innings and the Panhandle Packers swarmed over Miami, 11-7.

Don Bigham singled home Norm Sublett in the 10th inning to give Hard-Luck Ray Howard a revenge win over Pampa as both he and losing hurler Charlie Vaughan were plagued by lack of fielding support.

Cabot jumped into an early lead with four "gift" runs, but returned the quartet in the sixth to give Pampa the lead. Steve Hall then sent the game into extra innings with a two-run triple in the seventh, with Bigham winning the game in the 10th. Doug Burris led the hitting with 3-for-6, and Hall had a single to go with his triple. Travis Taylor had two hits for Pampa.

Howard gave up six hits, walked three and struck out 13. Vaughan struck out nine and walked two, but was reached for 10 hits.

The league-leading Packers topped their margin as Raymond McKinney pitched and batted his way to his seventh straight victory. Errors were the order of the day, with the Cowboys making five and the Packers four, but McKinney drove in five runs with three home runs to deep left field, and George Ganit chipped in a perfect 4-for-4 at the plate. McKinney was reached for nine hits, but walked only one while striking out eight. Larry Rider took the loss, giving up 14 hits, walking one and striking out four.

Girls Softball

In the highest-scoring game of a high-scoring season, the Optones annihilated the Opti-Belles Wednesday night in the Opti-Mrs. Girls Softball League.

Alice Martin staggered to the win and Pam Gipson was battered for the loss. Sharon Patterson had four hits and Margaret Martin, Brenda Richter and Alice Martin three hits each.

Monbo Keeping Bosox In Race

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

Bill Monbouquette became a star pitcher when he learned to curb his temper. So now it's the Boston Red Sox' American League rivals who feel like tossing tantrums.

The fiery, 26-year-old Frenchman from Medford, Mass., is controlling his temper and his curveball so well this year that he (1) is the first major league pitcher to beat every rival team this season and (2) figures to be the Red Sox' first 20-game winner since 1953.

At the same time he's playing a major role in keeping the Red Sox within shouting distance of the first-place New York Yankees in the AL race.

Monbouquette completed the cycle — beating every rival team — Thursday night when he pitched a three-hitter that gave the Red Sox a 2-0 victory over the Minnesota Twins. Bob Tillman and Eddie Brossoud homered in the third and eighth innings to produce the Red Sox' wins.

Yanks Hold Lead

The Yankees maintained their five-game lead with a 3-2 10-inning win over the Los Angeles Angels, the Chicago White Sox topped the Detroit Tigers, 6-3, the Cleveland Indians downed the Kansas City Athletics, 8-6, and the Baltimore Orioles beat the Washington Senators, 7-4, in other AL games.

In the National League, Los Angeles defeated New York, 4-3, San Francisco edged out Philadelphia, 4-3, Pittsburgh defeated Houston, 3-0, Cincinnati beat Chicago, 7-3, after a 7-0 loss, and Milwaukee topped St. Louis, 5-3, after a 6-3 defeat.

Monbouquette struck out 17 batters in a game in 1961 and pitched a no-hitter in 1962 but is en route to by far his best season in the majors. He struck out eight and walked only one to best Dick Stigman, Mel Parnell, who turned the trick in 1953, was the last Red Sox 20-game winner. Whitey Ford gained credit for his 19th straight win and 14th of the season when Joe Pepitone's double and Elton Howard's single snapped a 2-2 tie in the 10th.

Arnie Long Way Behind Leaders

By HENRY W. THORNBERY
UPI Sports Writer

LYTHAN-ST. ANNES, Eng. (UPI) — Jolly Phil Rodgers of La Jolla, Calif., and defending champion Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., faced different tasks today when 47 survivors marched out for the final 36 holes in the British Open golf championship.

Rodgers, riding in front where he said "I like to be," hoped to outlast Australia's Peter Thomson and countryman Jack Nicklaus, his closest rivals, in today's final two trips over the Royal Lytham and St. Annes course.

Palmer, a heavy favorite to win this tournament for the third year in a row when it opened Wednesday, barely escaped elimination Thursday when he finished the second round 12 strokes off the lead. Not even Arnie's staunchest rooters thought he could pull this one off, but the Pennsylvania muscle-man promised to give it a try.

"Tell those guys at the front that 12 shots is nothing," he said with a wide grin. "Tell them to look out."

Then, in a more serious one, Palmer offered the hope that "maybe I'll hit the ball better today."

"I've sure got to pull out something to get even a mention," he added.

Way Over Par
The rugged Yank added a one-over 71 Thursday to his disastrous 76 in the opening round.

Rodgers, a brash ex-Marine, approached the final two rounds with supreme confidence.

"It doesn't bother me to be out in front," he declared. "That's where I like to be. I'd like to be leading at the halfway mark of every tournament I play."

In Thursday's second round, Rodgers fired a two-under-par 68 for a 135 total. Thomson, who had a 67 in the opening round to tie Rodgers for the lead, added a 69 that dropped him one stroke off the pace.

Nicklaus, the burly U.S. Masters champion from Columbus, Ohio, charged into contention with a 67, the best score of the second round, to take over third place with a 138.

Kel Nagle of Australia followed with a 139 and Bob Charles, the popular New Zealand southpaw, was fifth with a 140.

Fail To Last
Four Yanks failed to make the 148 cutoff. They were Doug Sanders of Ojai, Calif. (75-75-150); Jack Isaacs of Langley Field, Va. (76-75-151); Herman Barron of White Plains, N.Y. (78-80-155) and Bob Marshall of Huntington Beach, Calif. (79-77-156).

The bookies revised their odds after the second round installing Rodgers as the new favorite at 7-4. Thomson was 2-1, Nicklaus 3-1, Nagle 7-1 and Charles 10-1.

Palmer didn't even get a call.

The Danger Signs

Always, somebody is giving a list of "danger signs," and chief among the warners are the people of the American Cancer Society. The "seven warning signs" are sufficiently famous to throw a great many Americans into a sweat the first time they get a nosebleed, toothache or the turis-la.

It would be a fine thing if Americans were as alert to the danger signs of big government, and about a creeping disease that strikes politicians. Assuming, as we must, that politicians were born human and that their intentions are as good as the preacher's, we're obligated to be on the alert for the danger signs which warn us that the politician is coming down with the incurable disease: Bigness.

Bigness, in its full flower, is as poisonous a weed as you'll find. Sometimes known as paternalism, or father-knows-bestism, it springs from the idea that it is the politician's sworn duty to implement the human desire to return to the womb and security.

The best politician is the one who most nearly spins the cocoon. Herewith, our own list of Danger Signs of Incipient Bigness (politicus vera):

1. The patient says, "I don't think the public would be benefited by knowing this." This is said with great earnestness. At this point, the patient—whether he is a mayor or a president—has determined that there are some facts which he is able to tolerate but which are too rare, racy or dangerous for his constituents to handle. He has determined, then, that he is of an elite group, and that it is his duty to shelter his

New Industry

In the matter of enticing "new industry," state competes with state, county with county and city with city.

The key to success is knowing the needs of industry and convincing industrial site selection committees that your area meets the needs—and better than any other.

There are four basic requirements for a new plant site, according to a survey conducted by the Rockwell-Standard Corp. of Corapolis, Pa., and the ATA (American Trucking Association) Foundation, Inc.

The four are, in order of importance, highway proximity, labor, land and markets.

These four, according to the survey, were the plant location factors mentioned most frequently by 1,363 plants of all types and sizes cooperating in a two-year new plant location study.

The questionnaire drew replies from more than 36 per cent of the 4,000 manufacturing plants, distribution centers and research and development facilities to which it was mailed.

Replies came from a wide cross-country of industry, including some of the country's largest chemical, electrical equipment, machinery and drug firms, a number of smaller plants turning out precision tools or women's dresses.

PEACE CORPS

Pull Up A Chair

By Frank J. Markey

"All automobiles are a nuisance. They had no business being invented. With all their speed... They may be a step backward in spiritual civilization. It may be they will not add to the beauty of the world nor to the life of men's souls. They bring a greater change in our life than most of us suspect. They are here and all outward things are going to be different because of what they bring. They are going to alter war... and alter peace. I think men's minds are going to be changed in subtle ways because of the automobiles. . . Perhaps, ten or twenty years from now, if we can see the inward change in men, by that time, I shouldn't be able to defend the gasoline engine, but would have to agree that automobiles had no business to be invented."—Booth Tarkington in "The Magnificent Ambersons," published in 1917.

Washington, D.C., has the first telephone center in the U.S. for emergency drug information. Any doctor anywhere in the country can get detailed data on some 9,000 drugs now in use and new ones as they are introduced simply by calling MEDIPHONE. Operates on a 24-hour schedule every day.

The Good Old Days: U.S. Marines land at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, May 11, 1898. Maj. Gen. Shafter accepts surrender at Santiago, Cuba, July 17, 1898, only 65 years ago.

Some forms of banking date back to ancient times, but "modern" banking started in the 17th Century when receipts from gold deposits, issued by London goldsmiths, began circulating as currency. Early American businessmen did their own banking by borrowing a gold lending among themselves. Now, 90 per cent of the country's business is transacted through checking accounts in 14,000 banks, which transfer almost two and one-half trillion dollars annually.

Country editor speaking: "The young do a lot of wishful thinking and their elders do a lot of thoughtful wishing." . . . Soviet trade with Cuba was 750 million rubles in 1962 and a mere 7 million rubles in 1959. The ruble is worth about $1.11 in U.S. money.

"We agree that babies should be born in hospitals. Never thought until now that babies have been born in airplanes—dozens of them. First on record happened in 1929 over Miami, Fla. The child was named Airline.

Jack Harvey, veteran PanAm pilot, had four encounters with the stork in mid-air, and on each occasion was assisted by Stewardess Patricia Rockwell. His pals now call him "Doc," and Patricia has been nicknamed "Florence Nightingale".

July is the month when the folks at Rockefeller Center select an evergreen that six months hence will become "The Most Famous Christmas Tree in the World." . . . The world's largest cargo ship, MANHATTAN, was christened at Boston in 1962. The tanker flies the U.S. flag. It's 946 feet long, beam 135 ft., capacity 106,500 tons, does 18 knots, and carries a crew of 80.

North Carolina leads in U.S. hosiery production. More than 168 million pair manufactured in 1962. Textiles in the nation annually. Tarheelers make more than half . . . The American flag is said to have been named "Old Glory" by a sea captain, William Driver, in 1813. . . Longfellow's "Tales of a Wayside Inn" was published just 100 years ago. . . There have been 104 heavyweight championship bouts since 1889 when John L. Sullivan won the title from Jake Kilrain in the last of the bare knuckle contests until Sonny Liston disposed of Floyd Patterson in one round last September. . . Wonder how Sullivan would have done with Dempsey, Tunney, or Joe Louis? . . . "Look Alive. You can be replaced by a button." Sign on a research assistant's desk. Funny at first glance, but sobering on second thought. . . Today's smile: A bank robber pushed a note to the teller which read: "Put the money in the bag, sucker, and don't move." The teller looked at the note and hastily scribbled another to the robber: "Straighten your tie, stupid. We're taking your picture."

"Factors 6 through 11 were very important in some instances but varied from industry to industry while the importance of the first four factors—highways, labor, land and markets—remained consistently high throughout most of the response group.

"The trend in location was strongly outward from city to suburbs and small towns and rural areas. Very few reported moves in the other directions.

That last - mentioned result of the survey is going to sound mighty good to the small towns and rural areas.

BEARING ARMS

Support Your Right to Protect Life and Property

By GEORGE BOARDMAN, Ph.D. A few days ago I received a very effective deal from Guns and Ammo magazine which is published in Hollywood, California. The deal states this position: "Support your right to keep and bear arms". As readers of this column know, I do support this position from time to time but this does not cover the entire situation.

I believe a good many Americans realize the truth when they read it and know that to be enslaved, the people of a country must first be disarmed. Disarming an entire nation means more than merely taking away hand guns and rifles and shotguns. It also means disarming the people intellectually. It means selling those people. It means selling them on the idea they are unable to take care of themselves.

First, men and women who will be free must understand their absolute right to protect their own lives and property. To some this may mean new locks on doors, burglar alarms or watch dogs. To others it may mean having a gun handy for protection of life and property and for hunting for food for their own table. To others defense of life and property may mean the use of words, spoken and written and I will never argue with those who believe the pen to be mightier than the sword, or a .45 revolver.

I must have the right to build a high wall around my property, to install electronic devices for my protection without let or hindrance from government, if I prefer to protect my life and property in this manner. I may wish to install moats or traps or both and place no trespassing signs in conspicuous places on my property. I may wish to install automatic cameras which will photograph every person who sets a foot on my property, or install windows which permit me to see out while none may gaze into my home. I may wish to employ individuals assigned to the task of protecting my life and property or I may prefer to contract with a night watch service or a private enterprise police department.

But, I will also continue to support and fight for my right to keep and bear arms because, by the very fact of my existence, I possess the absolute right to protect my own life and my own property in accordance with the dictates of my own conscience.

We have a large, black cat named Zsa Zsa. If a stranger, man or woman reaches out towards her, she will spit at them and strike out with bare claws but she will never institute such aggressive action unprovoked.

My 16-pound brother simply walks away from the smell of a person he suspects and he will not strike unless the suspected person follows and attempts to touch him. Tiger and his sister, Fanny Pans, give strangers a wide berth and Smokey growls and grumbles before he is moved to lash out at a persistent intruder. The felines understand the private property concept and accept the responsibility of protecting their own lives and privacy with their own sharp claws.

My grandchildren have a wonderful little blind cocker spaniel. She protects her own person, her property in the shape of bones and the lives and property of her owners in her own way, with barks and growls and bared teeth. She separates friend from foe with unerring instinct.

Yes, the right to own and bear arms is of vital importance for those of us who believe the right to own and protect life and property is unalienable, whether we own or carry a gun or not. Its importance is magnified, if it is possible, by the insistent drive of the socialist conglomerate to disarm everybody except international and national governments and law enforcement agencies.

Americans need only look at socialist, communist and fascist dominated countries to see their future if they refuse to accept the responsibility for their own lives and their own property.

Good luck and good health to you, in Freedom.

The Doctor Says:

Warning: Don't Endanger Your Vision During Eclipse BY DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT Every time there is an eclipse, many persons who watch it live to regret it. After the eclipse on September 20, 1960, despite advance warnings, 31 persons in Utah and 75 in Washington received retinal burns. Many others undoubtedly occurred but were not reported. Most of the victims were under 20 years of age.

Another eclipse is due on July 20, 1963. The moon will pass between the earth and the sun along a path through Alaska, Canada, and Maine. Over this path, it will cause total darkness for a few minutes. In areas north and south of this pathway a partial eclipse may be seen.

There is no safe way to look directly into the eclipse. Smoked glass and old photographic negatives cut out some of the rays, but enough infra-red heat rays get through to cause serious burns.

Since there are no pain fibers in the optic nerve, which ends at the retina, the burns cannot be felt. They leave retinal scars which remain throughout life as incurable blind spots.

The effect of the sun's rays passing through the lens of the eye and focusing on the retina can be demonstrated by focusing the same rays through a pocket lens on the back of your hand, which is well supplied with pain fibers.

No one is to be blamed for wanting to see an eclipse. But it is hardly worth a retinal burn. For this reason, one of the following alternatives should be used:

1. Watch it on television. Since the eclipse may be shown several times on newscasts, you may be able to see it more than once.

2. Another method is to punch a round hole 1/4- to 3/4-inch in diameter in a sheet of cardboard. With your back to the sun, hold the cardboard in such a position that the sun's rays pass through the hole and are projected onto a smooth, white surface.

This is the principle of the camera, and the image projected will be upside down. In the case of a solar eclipse, this doesn't matter. The important thing: Don't be an "eye witness".

Q — I have had recurring attacks of neuralgia under my left shoulder blade. My doctor says there is no cure. I am becoming discouraged.

A — These severe pains can come and go without any regularity, so it is hard to tell what they will return. The treatment that is usually tried first is to inject alcohol into the nerve near the place where it joins the spinal cord.

Some drugs, such as diphenhydramine (obtainable only on a doctor's prescription) will shorten the attacks, but will not cure the disease. If nothing else works, it is sometimes necessary to cut the nerve. This should be avoided except as a last resort.

SOMETHING FOR THE POOL—A little large for an ornamental float, perhaps, but the gent with the old-fashioned palm frond fan is interested principally in comfort—of any era. He's floating on a superbuoyant, new-type polystyrene foam plastic. Less glamorous applications call for its use in docks, diving rafts, and boats.

The United States gained the Panama by the Hay-Bunau-Varilla Treaty of November 18, 1903. In Caesar's time, the territory that is now Germany was inhabited by barbarous tribes that originally came from Central Asia.
