JAKE GARMAN IS CHAIRMAN OF CAMPAIGN

ADVISORY AND FINANCE COMMITTEES WILL MEET FRIDAY

Jake Garman was named general finance chairman of Pampa's supplementary relief fund campaign at a meeting of the committee of nine in the Chamber of Commerce rooms late yesterday afternoon, and Tuesday, Dec. 15, was set as the tentative date for starting the drive.

The Rev. C. E. Lancaster was made permanent chairman of the general fund advisory committee which is comprised of John Roby, Art Teed, Tex De Weese, Siler Faulkner, Aaron Meek, Earl O'Keefe, Dan Gribbin, and Dr. K. L. Buckner.

Garman was invested with authority to draw up plans for the fund solicitation and to pick committees who will aid in the campaign to raise a goal of $5,000.

Garnett Reeves was chosen fund treasurer and De Weese was elected director of publicity for the fund drive. It was decided to hold a joint meeting of the advisory council of nine and the finance committee at 7:30 p. m. Friday in the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

At this meeting details of the financial drive will be outlined, workers will be assigned their tasks and a general resume of relief fund plans will be outlined.

The plan calls for administration of the funds through the county welfare agent's office as a supplementary agency to federal relief.

It was clearly outlined that the Pampa supplementary relief fund is in no way to be construed as a separate welfare agency but that its purpose is to act as a supplementary set-up to the federal relief plan which, because of a lack of funds, is held to be inadequate to meet the city's relief needs through the winter months.

In this respect, General Chairman Lancaster pointed out that the functions of the Pampa supplementary relief fund are to coincide with wishes expressed by President Roosevelt when he issued an appeal to various communities throughout the nation to take immediate action to supplement federal relief this winter.

TEX'S TOPICS

It looks like a red-nosed Santa Claus and old John Barleycorn are headed for a big spree together Christmas Eve, in spite of anything the liquor control boards in the various states can do about it.

A nationwide campaign to prevent beer and liquor interests from "exploiting the children's patron saint" was launched recently by Miss Ethel Hubler, member of the National Temperance Council. Liquor control boards in many states immediately pledged wholehearted support. Now, wholesalers and retailers in many states are openly defying the action of officials, according to Miss Hubler, who predicts that "a storm of public indignation is sure to result."

In Advertising Age appears the hostile comment: "These noble souls who insist it's sacrilegious to picture Santa Claus in the act of downing a few beers seem to have forgotten that Santa Claus is plenty old enough to take care of himself."

From the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board in the District of Columbia comes this statement which seems to express the sentiment of a majority of liquor control boards: "The attitude of this board is distinctly against any advertising copy which links liquor to the Bible or which pictures Santa Claus dealing or carrying alcoholic beverages."

"Newspaper publishers throughout the country will render distinct public service in the interest of good taste if they cooperate in this effort to keep Santa Claus for the children, and not to get him mixed up in the beer and liquor business," Miss Hubler, sponsor of the campaign, says in a plea to newspapers to assist in the effort.

Scenes In Santa Day Parade Here

In the top picture is shown the LeFors band, drum and bugle corps and their director W. J. Finley, marching on Custer street, jumping over rain puddles every now and then. The sun breaking through the clouds can be seen shining on the wet street. The middle picture shows the Santa Claus float with old Santa waving to the happy children. The hushback of Roy Showers, co-footbal captain, elected by the high school to ride on the float, can be seen. Next to him sat Pauline Gregory. PLANES BLAST FASCIST LINE

INSURGENT SUPPLIES DEVASTATED BY LOYALISTS

MADRID, Dec. 9 (AP)—Government bombing planes blasted the fascist front line along the Casa Del Campo park today and devastated the insurgent supply base at Campamento de Retameros.

Scarcely had the fifteen Socialist bombers settled down at Barajas airport when 23 insurgent planes appeared out of the clouds and loosed tons of explosives, in retaliation, on the airport and the government positions along the Manzanares river.

Socialist batteries blazed away at fascist lines throughout the early morning.

Government commanders, an authoritative source said, frankly were puzzled at Gen. Francisco Franco's insurgent strategy in failing to launch the long expected attack on Madrid.

Worried lest a trap were being baited for them, the socialist officers ordered the continual bombardment to forestall any insurgent maneuver.

Of 65 officers and men arrested as a result of the military uprising in Madrid's Loyola barracks at the beginning of the civil war, it was announced seven had been condemned to death and 39 to penal servitude for life.

14 Killed In Liner's Crash

Inventor of Autogyro Meets Sudden Death

CROYDON, Eng., Dec. 9 (AP)—Forty-nine persons, among them Juan de la Cierva, the autogyro inventor, met sudden, flaming death today in the crash of a "K-L M." (Dutch) airliner, just four minutes off the runway at Croydon airdrome.

Three survived, with varying injuries. They were a German passenger, Walter Schubert, the wireless operator Von Benmel and the stewardess, Fraulien von Bon Gertman. The condition of the men was grave; that of the stewardess, who leaped from the craft before it caught fire, was not dangerous.

Trapped by twisted steel and flames, de la Cierva died with the former Swedish secretary of state, Admiral Arvid Lindman, and twelve others, including two of the crew. No Americans were aboard.

The plane, heading into a heavy fog which cut visibility to little more than 20 yards, ripped the roofs off two houses in nearby Purley, swerved across a street, sheared off a large tree and finally embedded itself in an unoccupied house. The engine, ripped from its mountings, smashed through the front wall. No pedestrians on the street were injured.

Dutch plane, a Douglas, fog-bound two hours with four other planes headed for cross-channel airports, finally took off and safely cleared the boundaries of the field. It had barely cleared the first row of suburban homes surrounding the airdrome, however, when it crashed.

The wreckage burned furiously, one crumpled wing of the machine hanging grotesquely from the third house, while other parts of the plane blocked the roadway.

GAS FLOW IN PANHANDLE UP

OCTOBER WITHDRAWAL GREATER THAN IN SEPTEMBER

AUSTIN, Dec. 9 (AP)—The Railroad commission reported today statewide withdrawal of 1,539,093,000 cubic feet of gas daily in October represented a 1.2 per cent increase over September.

Production outside of the Panhandle, 383,428,000 cubic feet, increased 25.48 per cent with the advent of colder weather.

In the Panhandle, production, which had shown a decrease in August, jumped in September, with a greater increase in October over September, indicating production was based on demand and waste was decreasing, the report said.

Panhandle withdrawals, 1,155,665,000, represented a 1.08 per cent increase.

October figures for both volume and percentage of dry gas produced showed an increase in gas used for light and fuel, while the percentage figure for gas stripped and resoid showed a decrease.

The report said disposition of casinghead gas generally showed an increase for useful purposes and a decrease of the amount vented to the air.

The volume of gas vented in the Panhandle district, the department said, was lower than it has ever been in the history of the field.

There was also an increase in both natural gasoline and carbon black manufacture during October.

STATEMENT IS DUE THURSDAY BRITON 'HOPES'

BITTER, CAUSTIC REPLY FROM KING IS WITHHELD

LONDON, Dec. 9 (AP)—Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin discloses to the distressed and anxious House of Commons today that king and government still were hesitating on the answer to the empire's dilemma—whether Edward VIII will marry Wallis Simpson and lose his throne.

The first minister, after a night spent in seemingly troubled conference with his sovereign, gave hope, however, that the crisis might reach its momentous climax tomorrow.

He told the crowded, worried benches and galleries: "I regret I am not in a position to add anything today, but I hope to make a statement tomorrow."

The members, increasingly concerned over economic and political results of the suspense, pressed him vainly for more.

King Edward outwardly steadfast in his composure, remained at rural Fort Belvedere. Mrs. Simpson, conferring at a villa on the Cote D'Azur with her London solicitor, announced through a spokesman she had "signed no documents."

World Waits Breathlessly. Thus, for at least 24 more hours, it seemed the whole, breath-taking situation must hang in the balance.

However, since the prime minister is not given to unfulfilled predictions, his words were interpreted as meaning he expects to disclose the future of king and throne—and Wallis Simpson—to parliament tomorrow.

The king may do one of three things:

- 1—Renounce his desire to make a morganatic marriage with the twice-divorced American.
- 2—Force a showdown and resignation of Baldwin and his government, seek support of his subjects in a constitutional fight which would have to be settled at the polling boxes.
- 3—Abdicate and marry his betrothed.

Acrimonious Answer? His last word to Baldwin—given

People You Know

By ARCHER FULLINGIM
This whimsical and amusing story was told by a local physician yesterday:

"Now, I'll tell you why there are so many bad colds and diseases of the respiratory tracts in this country. The temperature is so uneven, especially in houses. During the day, the temperature in the house will be around 80. At night it will be from 70 to 40."

Naturally children get croup and have spasms in their throats. Then the parents call us doctors, screaming that Junior is going to pass out before we get there. Well, we used to get out of our warm beds and rush out to find that the parents had arisen, lit the fire and warmed the house, and that Junior has completely recovered. Now, when they frantically urge us to hurry, we tell them to get up, light the fire and wait for us, and we turn over and go to sleep."

Elizabeth's Night Out Investigated; Picture Taken With E. Vicars

Where did Elizabeth go and what did she do on her night out? This question is being asked by members of the American Legion.

The donkey made goo-goo eyes at some one about midnight last Monday. She was untied and started her wanderings. An accurate check of what she did while loose is being made, said Charlie Maisel, commander.

She being lost, an appeal was sent out over KPND and the Pampa NEWS, which enabled the Legion to find its braying mascot.

Elizabeth was then escorted to the First National Bank and pictures were made of Ed Vicars ars and Elizabeth at his desk in the bank.

Exactly four minutes and 45 seconds after receiving this pet Mr. Vicars reported a new member for the American Legion. Elizabeth was then taken to W. M. McWright at the latter's barber shop. The curl of Elizabeth's hair needed trimming and re-setting. Mack is attending to this nicely.

Each member of the American Legion who does not get a new member will have possession of Elizabeth until he does. The few who are to get Elizabeth are really out working in a big way for new members, Maisel said. It looks like a good year for the American Legion, he concluded.

WICHITA FALLS, Dec. 9 (AP)—Bill Kilman, regular left guard for the Amarillo high school football team, is ineligible to play football in the Interscholastic League according to school census records of Wichita county for 1925-26.

The Kilmans lived here in 1925. Records, signed by his mother, Mrs. R. M. Kilman, show the athlete's birth date to be August 27, 1917.

This would place his age at 19 years on August 27, of this year, making him four days over the age limit for athletes participating in league competition.

New Auditorium To Be Opened About Jan. 20

PWA Project Called Beautiful and Spacious

Without the usual fanfare or ballyhoo, construction of the new High School auditorium has reached the stage where the contractors can look a little over a month ahead and see their PWA project completed.

W. T. Williamson, resident engineer for the Public Works administration, and Contractor O. L. Boyington this morning said the building would probably be ready for dedication about Jan. 20. They were quite confident the beautiful new edifice would be ready for use by Feb. 1.

Completion of the building will be about 30 days behind schedule, due to delay in arrival of a huge steel beam that holds up the balcony. This material required a special order and was shipped from Pittsburgh, Pa., after a 17-day delay. Ornamental plaster also arrived late.

This morning the building was finished except for the flooring and seats, stage properties, lighting, plumbing, heating. All plaster work has been completed. The stage is much larger than any stage in Pampa, being twice as long and twice as wide. The fire-proof motion picture projection room in the balcony was completed last week. The finest ornamental plaster obtainable was used on the walls. The corridor floors are terrazzo, and the ceiling provides perfect low density acoustics. The ceiling material is of a substance and construction that will make the sound as audible on the back seat of the balcony as on the seat next to the large orchestra pit.

The auditorium will seat about 1,200 persons, 500 in the balcony and 700 on the main floor. Steam heat will be piped from the steam heating plant in the basement of the high school.

The school board will meet this week to order stage scenery and sets. Dedication of the auditorium,

Telephone calls have been pouring into the American Legion promising support of the Legion-sponsored "Good Fellow" or "Big Brother" organization for Christmas, Charlie Maisel, commander, reported today.

Organization of this type of Christmas cheer for needy families prevents duplication, he pointed out. In past years some families have had four or five play Santa Claus to them while others did not receive any Christmas cheer at all.

It is the plan of the Legion, with the assistance of all the "Good Fellows" in Pampa to see that every needy family enjoys Christmas this year. Telephone calls have been received from individuals, clubs, church classes, fraternal orders, and firms asking for from one to five families to play Santa Claus to it, was reported.

Starting December 15, the American Legion Auxiliary with Mrs. Katie Vincent, president, in charge, will have a desk in the city hall. Anyone wishing to take a needy family to play Santa Claus to that family, may secure names at this desk. In this manner, every needy family in Pampa should enjoy Christmas. "We know that there are enough 'Good Fellows' in Pampa to see to it that every less-fortunate family will be taken care of this Christmas," Mr. Maisel reported.

Announcement of the marriage of Miss Esther Stark, formerly of Pampa, and George T. Felzien at Los Angeles, Calif., on Nov. 22 was made today as her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Stark, returned from a two-week trip that included a visit in her home.

The couple married at the home of the Rev. Mr. MacDowell in Los Angeles, and the wedding was witnessed by a friend, Morris Powers. They are at home in Los Angeles now.

Miss Stark lived here with her parents 10 years, was graduated from Pampa high school and was employed by the Bell Telephone Co. for two years. She was transferred July 1 to a position with the company in Los Angeles.

Mr. Felzien is the son of Mrs. Charles Reichert of Holstein, Neb., where he was reared and attended public schools. He was graduated from junior college at McCook, Neb.

GIFT EXCHANGE CLOSES CLUB'S SANTA PROGRAM

Forum Enjoys Party Yesterday at Teed Home

Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus called at the meeting of Twentieth Century Forum yesterday afternoon, in the home of Mrs. Arthur Teed, and officiated at an exchange of gifts from a gaily decorated tree.

Mrs. Clarence Barrett and Mrs. A. J. Holland impersonated the Christmas saint and his wife at the party. Before the gift exchange Mrs. Dick Walker, program chairman for the afternoon, had conducted an amateur hour in which all the members took impromptu parts. Christmas carols were sung to complete the program.

Refreshment plates were in red and green, with a lighted red candle on each. Sandwiches, plum pudding, and coffee were served.

The business session was brief. Members were reminded that the annual election of officers is scheduled at the next meeting, early in January. Mrs. Don Conley is chairman of the nominating committee.

Mrs. Mary Ellen Webb of San Antonio, former member of the club, was a guest. Others present were Mmes. R. G. Allen, Barrett, Roy Bourland, D. D. Cochrane, Conley, Edward H. Damon, R. F. Dirksen, W. S. Dixon, W. T. Finley, George Friauf, Holland, Frank Perry, Arthur Swanson, Walker, and the hostess.

Mexican Luncheon Is Given For Club

Legends Are Told on Unusual Program Yesterday

Red pepper plants centered luncheon tables in the home of Mrs. C. H. Schulkey yesterday, completing the Mexican atmosphere for a meeting of Twentieth Century Culture club. Mrs. Jim Collins and Mrs. C. W. Briscoe were hostesses with Mrs. Schulkey.

Pottery in vivid colors set the tables, and place favors were figures of dashing caballeros with guitars. Three courses of delicious Mexican food were served. During the luncheon, members enjoyed several pieces of Mexican music played from station KPDN and dedicated to the club.

Legends of old Mexico, its plants, animals, and famous mountains, were told in entertaining fashion by Mrs. R. S. Lawrence, Mrs. Crawford Atkinson, and Mrs. F. E. Leech. Facts about Mexico were given in answer to roll call.

Cooperation with other clubs in sponsoring a community Christmas tree for underprivileged children was voted in a short business session. At the request of the general committee, the club will have charge of decorating the tree.

Mrs. Tom Rose, honorary member, was a special guest. Members present were Mmes. C. S. Boston, Joe

Calotabs Help Nature To Throw Off a Cold

Millions have found in Calotabs a most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take one or two tablets the first night and repeat the third or fourth night if needed.

Second, Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, promoting the elimination of cold poisons from the blood. Thus Calotabs serve the double purpose of a purgative and diuretic, both of which are needed in the treatment of colds.

How do Calotabs help Nature throw off a cold? First, Calotabs are one of the most thorough and dependable of all intestinal eliminators, thus cleansing the intestinal tract of the germ-laden mucus and toxins.

Calotabs are quite economical; only twenty-five cents for the family package, ten cents for the trial package. (Adv.)

White Christmas Is Plan of Woodrow Wilson School

White Christmas gifts which will help make the day happy for many children in needy families were presented by members of Woodrow Wilson Parent-Teacher association at its meeting yesterday afternoon. Other members will send their gifts to the school building before Christmas.

A Christmas pageant directed by Miss Hope Wells was a part of the program. Mrs. W. Purviance was the guest speaker, discussing Intelligence. An interesting report of the state Parent-Teacher conference at Fort Worth last month was given by Mrs. C. T. Hankapillar, district president who was one of the visitors from Pampa.

Numbers by the school band under direction of Eugene Strand, group singing of America, and an invocation by Mrs. Frank Showell opened the program. Mrs. John V. Andrews was program leader.

The attendance award went to Miss Katherine Simmons' room, which will be privileged to use the radio for a month.

PUBLIC DEBT CUT 120 MILLIONS IN 2 YEARS

CHICAGO, Dec. 9 (AP)—State governments today held receipts marked "paid" for more than $120,000,000 of the public debt which burned the depression years.

An Associated Press survey disclosed most of the reductions came with the last two years.

North Dakota, with a reduction of $20,043,000 since June 30, 1933, headed the parade of states advancing toward financial stability. R. M. Stabler, manager of the Bank of North Dakota, said most of the funds used to retire the bonds came from federal sources and from liquidation of foreclosed lands held by the state.

New Jersey's bonded debt has been lightened $14,155,000 since July 1, 1934, and in the last two fiscal years Illinois shaved $14,152,875 from its bond burden.

Connecticut with redemptions of about $6,000,000 last July 1, cleaned up its entire indebtedness on a bond issue outstanding since 1911. Other states with large reductions included:

Arkansas: An estimated cut of $5,000,000 in the last two years.

Oklahoma: A cut of $7,038,000 expected at the close of 1936.

A Kelmscott press edition of Chaucer, published at Hammondsmith, England, in 1896, was sold at auction in New York City recently for $525.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas blasts up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

Laszivas are good, make-shifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those old, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. B.B.

HUMAN BLOOD FOUND ON SAN PERLITA COAT

AUSTIN, Dec. 9 (AP)—Stains caused by human blood on a man's coat offered the latest possible clue today in the mysterious disappearance of Luther and John Blanton in the ranch country near San Perlita Nov. 18.

Officers said the coat was found in the San Perlita area but declined to name the exact location. They refused to intimate what connection the bloodstains might have with the case that has baffled investigators three weeks.

Colonel H. H. Carmichael, director of the public safety department, and M. T. (Lone Wolf) Gonzales, chief of the intelligence bureau, went to the sparsely-settled South Texas area to aid Ranger Captain Bill McMurry in the investigation.

McLEAN XMAS CHEER DRIVE IS UNDER WAY

McLEAN, Dec. 9.—The Rev. J. H. Sharp is in charge of the drive to provide Christmas cheer for children of needy families here, and is directing the collection of toys and clothing through the schools.

A survey showed between 15 and 20 children in the ward school from homes that will be unable to provide toys, and who are in need of warm clothing. Donations are to be sent to the school building Thursday.

Articles in need of repair and mending will be turned to the Methodist women, who plan to give one or more days to the work so the gifts will be placed in the best possible condition.

Streets Decorated

Red and green lights lend a Christmas spirit to the downtown streets in McLean. Colored lights have been strung across the intersection of Main St. and highway 66. Two more strings run across 66, one to the west and one to the east. These and the individual decorations each store has put up add much to the Christmas spirit which seems to prevail throughout the town.

Preparations are going forward to observe Santa Day Saturday.

SENSATIONAL STORY IS DENIED BY RHEBA

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Dec. 9 (AP)—Aimee Simple McPherson's sensational story of a $130,000 underworld payoff, which she asserted Rheba Crawford advised her to accept and divide, drew a scorching denial today from the former copastor of Angelus Temple.

"Manufactured from whole cloth—false and untrue," cried Miss Crawford angrily as her attorneys prepared to resume questioning Mrs. McPherson tomorrow for a deposition in their client's $1,080,000 slander suit.

Mrs. McPherson said her ex-husband informed her early this year: "I am expecting representatives of the underworld to come and offer $130,000. If they do, you take it and we will split."

BLOOD-STAINED COAT FOUND IN ABANDONED CAR

Garment Did Not Belong to Either of Blantons

SAN PERLITA, Dec. 9 (AP)—The blood-stained coat Rangers investigated in their search for two hunters who mysteriously vanished in the South Texas ranch country was found in an automobile abandoned on the bank of Arroyo Colorado near Harlingen.

Baffled by inability to find the bodies of Luther and John Blanton missing without trace since Nov. 18, officers today looked to the stained coat and a smeared canvas discovered with it for a possible "break" in the difficult case.

Rangers had maintained silence about where the coat and canvas came from but the Valley Morning Star said it learned these articles were found by State Highway Patrolmen Dan Abbott and Gerald Modeste, who forwarded them to Austin for chemical analysis of the blood stains.

Tests made by the Intelligence Bureau indicated stains on the canvas were of human blood. Incomplete analysis of stains on the eight-foot-square piece of canvas pointed to them being animal blood but further tests were being made.

Officers said they did not think the coat belonged to either of the Blantons. A man's name was found on an inside label.

Col. H. H. Carmichael, director of the Public Safety department, M. T. Gonzales, chief of the Intelligence Bureau and Ranger Captain Bill McMurry were in the San Perlita area today digging further into the case.

"POWER TRUST" IS ACCUSED IN BRAZOS MIXUP

HARRY HOPKINS ASKED TO ORDER WORK TO PROCEED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9 (AP)—An appeal was directed today to Harry L. Hopkins, works progress administrator, to help settle dissensions delaying construction of a flood control dam on the Brazos river in Texas.

Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas and two other sponsors of the program said they hoped Hopkins would order work to proceed on plans of private engineers calling for expenditure of $3,500,000, which have been approved, or provide additional funds if he found army engineers were correct in estimating the cost would be nearer $7,000,000.

They sought also approval of a proposed agreement with the Texas Power and Light company to sell power which they hoped the project will provide eventually. The $3,500,000 allocation was intended to permit construction only of flood control features of the first dam in a $30,000,000 program, including 13 dams, in central portions of the 900-mile-long river.

The proposed power sale agreed upon the mystery are badly hindered by being unable to find the bodies and prove there had been a slaying. They claim the Blantons could have been killed and buried somewhere in the brushy, sand-dune covered coastal region with little chance of anyone finding their remains for weeks or months.

ment was attacked by representatives Maury Maverick of San Antonio and W. D. McFarlane of Graham.

McFarlane said Maverick informed him he would propose a congressional investigation of what he thought appeared to be efforts of the "power trust" to betray the "best interests of the public."

McFarlane, who previously said the tentative agreement gave the utility "both ends of the string," said he would join Maverick in his request. Sheppard commented "any investigation is satisfactory to me."

John Norris, general manager of the Brazos program, and John McCall, Dallas engineer, declined to comment beyond saying the potential Brazos power supply would be variable, and it would not be practical to attempt to dispose of it directly to communities or consumers.

URGES 1945 FETE

AUSTIN, Dec. 9 (AP)—Acting Governor Walter F. Woodall said today Texas would celebrate in 1945 the 100th anniversary of its entrance into the Union along the lines of the recent Centennial of independence from Mexico. "It would be a tremendous thing for Texas and would return far more than the cost, as the Centennial has done," he said.

NEED TOYS FOR CHRISTMAS AMONG NEEDY
Go up in the attic or down in the basement and knock around for a bit—you may find the Christmas happiness of several little boys and girls in these spots of castaway toys and articles.

Pampa firemen are begging for toys to build over and re-paint for the little unfortunates of the city. Adopting the slogan "A happy Christmas for every child," members of the fire department have settled down to devote all their spare time to "fixing up" toys for kiddies.

Pampa has proved herself time and time again a most considerate and generous city and the firemen know they'll have plenty of old toys to keep them busy from now on if citizens of the town will just keep their project in mind and remember them when they come across old broken-down toys.

One of the first contributions made to the department was a box of used toys from a six year old youngster who wanted them given "to some poor little boy and girl."

That this Christmas should be a happy one for all is proved by the extensive plans made by clubs, schools and organizations to help in some measure the needy. On the charity program of the various groups are lists of garments, food, special Christmas baskets and gifts which will go to the less fortunate of the city.

And the Junior Chamber of Commerce Christmas party will be, as in former years, a bright spot in the holiday season for many tiny tots.

Welfare workers say the response to the needs of their charges by many citizens of Pampa is wonderful and hope that the generous spirit of giving will prevail throughout the coming weeks.

So the firemen, although the toys have, to date, been coming in a bit slowly, have high hopes of being literally deluged with toys within the coming few days.

Nothing is too old for them to fix up, the boys say, so bring down anything and everything that gives the smallest promise of being made over into a piece of Christmas joy for some youngster.

ONE LAST REQUEST

Santa Claus will be a busy man the next three weeks. No one objects if he hires lots of help, nor even if he lets them wear his red suits and black boots.

But do they have to wear his whiskers, too? Couldn't they be cleanshaven, instead of trying to imitate the original Santa Claus? There is a reason for such foolish questions.

Thousands of children who never have seen Santa Claus in person think the fellows with lean faces and saw-tooth complexions who get on the payroll each December are the real thing—not because they look like Santa Claus in the least but simply because they wear white whiskers.

A few fussy persons bring up this matter every year, usually after Christmas. Bringing it up before Christmas won't do any more good, but now it's out of the way. Maybe Santa Claus will read ti.

DAILY WASHINGTON LETTER

By Rodney Dutcher

WASHINGTON.—Vice President John Nance Garner did the unprecedented in endorsing Congressman Sam Rayburn of Texas for the House floor leadership, because Roosevelt wanted him to, because Rayburn is his old and close friend, and because Garner felt sure his public declaration would have the effect of cinching Rayburn's victory.

Mr. Garner is not given to sticking his neck out. He operates on the theory that vice presidents should be seen as little as possible and heard not at all.

So it required plenty of motivation to cause him to inject himself publicly into a situation which technically and theoretically is an affair solely of the House—Mr. Garner being president of the Senate.

His announced promise to work for Rayburn's election was a piece of the administration strategy which calls for nailing down the leadership before the president returns from South America, both to spare the White House embarrassment and to ease off the inevitable bitterness which will follow the probable defeat of Rules Chairman John O'Connor of New York, Rayburn's chief opponent.

The Garner statement, timed and planned with the rest of the pro-Rayburn campaign, was also designed to help make up the minds of new Democratic members and some old ones who weren't sure how they meant to vote, but might be promptly persuaded if they knew Roosevelt were for Rayburn.

O'Connor supporters had been insisting — and they still do — that O'Connor was the president's personal preference.

Bright boys all knew different. They saw working behind the scenes for Rayburn various gents who, if the White House hadn't passed the word on, would never have moved a finger in the House contest.

Garner, in effect, put the administration's seal of approval on Rayburn and if any doubtful Congressman wants personal, private assurance from the vice president, he can get it.

There are 335 Democrats in the next House, so it takes 168 votes to nominate in caucus the Democrat who will be the next majority leader and, probably before long, the next speaker.

O'Connor has claimed 201 votes; Rayburn has said he could count on a few less than that. Rayburn's claims have been the more generally accepted, but O'Connor is more adept than the Texan at making deals and some of the administration strategists were somewhat worried until Garner spoke.

O'Connor strength has been chiefly in northern states which have large delegations. As chairman of the rules committee, he was able to make many members indebted to him by granting the rules which allowed their pet bills to reach the floor.

Two years ago the administration made a futile, covert effort to elect Rayburn speaker instead of the late Joe Bryns of Tennessee.

Garner was at that time asked to take a hand for Rayburn, but he took one look and reported the attempt was hopeless.

This time Garner was sure Rayburn, who has won administration favor by able handling of important New Deal legislation fought by stock exchange and public utility interests, could be put over.

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

NEW YORK.—Personal notes off a New Yorker's cuff: Florence Eldridge, who is Mrs. Fredric March, is in New York rehearsing a play.

The off-again, on-again attitude of Max Gordon has most of the ad writers and theater-goers spinning like whirling willy. Twice recently he advertised that his play, "St. Helena," would close, only to permit capacious audiences to wrench last minute vetoes from him.

The 12-year old daughter of Gladys Cooper, British actress, is proud of her American vocabulary. Her "American" vocabulary consists of "Okay, Kid."

Tito Schipa's little daughter also likes to chide her American friends, at her papa's expense. Born in America, she is really a citizen of this country, but Schipa is 100 per cent Italian. When their ship enters New York harbor, she clutches her dad by the sleeve: "How do you like MY country?"

Diamond in Her Tooth Bing Crosby, crooner, is now Bing Crosby, Incorporated. The actor has offices in New York, Chicago, and Los Angeles.

That septa singer at the Kit-Kat (Mary Perry by name) has a diamond in one of her front teeth. You ought to see it when the spotlight catches her full in the face. Then, too, there is one night club which is so fogged by smoke and dim lights that the orchestra wears smoked glasses.

A group of East Siders gather near Central park every morning to watch Clifton Webb go horseback riding. He is an expert equestrian.

Playwright George S. Kaufman recently wrote a letter to a dramatic critic protesting the fact that Edna Ferber had been shabbily treated by the press. "Miss Ferber has collaborated with me on four plays, yet for some fantastic reason the press refuses to recognize that fact. The idea, he went on to say, that he dashed those plays off while Miss Ferber stood by and sharpened the pencils was unfair and ridiculous. The playwright had principally in mind their newest comedy, "Stage Door," in which Margaret Sullivan is the star. So, if this department has erred thusly, amends are now in order. This is what the subtitle writers would call payment deferred.

Failed By A Bar Of Soap A phenomenon of metropolitan life is that policemen and hack drivers never have nicknames. However, street car conductors and bus drivers do.

John St. Clair Harvey, impresario of a noted old world firm of liquor merchants, makes the interesting observation that American women now prefer sherry to the more robust cocktail before dinner. "Wine," says Squire Harvey, "seems to be much more comme il faut."

A soda-jerker was moaning the blues in a corner drug store the other morning: "I'd be slipping on this minute if I hadn't slipped on a bar of soap and knocked out two teeth," he complained. "I was all set for the part, but when I showed up with this gaping vacancy in front, the director dismissed me. That's luck for you!"

HOW'S YOUR HEALTH

BOTULINUS POISONING Botulinus poisoning is not common, but it is frequently followed by fatal results. The disease is due to the botulinus germ, which is apparently ever-present in the soil. The germ itself does not cause the disease. Its toxin is responsible for the devastating results.

Practically all cases of botulism poisoning are due to the consumption of infected, badly preserved foods, especially those which are of an alkaline or neutral reaction.

The botulinus poison appears to have a specific affinity for the cerebral motor nerves. It causes a progressive paralysis which involves the eyes, the muscles of the tongue, the throat, the respiratory muscles and ultimately the heart. In the untreated cases, death is likely to occur from 36 to 72 hours after the onset of the condition.

When the disease is diagnosed promptly, it can be effectively treated by the administration of a specific antitoxin. To be fully effective, however, the antitoxin must be administered early. Remember that the symptoms of botulinus poisoning are essentially those of a central nervous system paralysis. The victim may show no symptoms until he suddenly begins to see double. Abdominal discomfort with vomiting may also be an early development.

The prevention of botulinus poisoning depends upon the adequate heat treatment of foods to be preserved. The only efficient, dependable method for doing this appears to be what is known as the steam pressure technique. The other common methods of home canning and preservation such as oven heating and "boiling water" are unreliable.

The department of agriculture's Farmers Bulletin 1471 contains detailed instructions for the use of the steam pressure technique. When in doubt about any preserved food, the following instructions should be observed most scrupulously. Boil or heat thoroughly, at temperatures above boiling, all preserved vegetable, meat and fish foods for 10 or 15 minutes before eating them.

AROUND HOLLYWOOD

BY ROBBIN COONS. HOLLYWOOD.—Unreal parade: It's funny how things work out. Judge Rogers from Olathe, Kas., used to call Mrs. Rogers his "own Mary Pickford"—long before the family recalls that even in high in the days when anybody who might have predicted Mary would eventually be their daughter-in-law would have been considered a candidate for the psychopathic ward.

And apropos of Mary and Buddy Rogers, a friend of the Rogers family recalls that even in high school Buddy went with girls who were older than he. The friend thinks Buddy and Mary will make a go of it.

Unconscious Comedy. The funniest line in the Laurel and Hardy feature, "Our Relations," wasn't intended to get laughs when they made the picture. But the Hollywood audiences get hysterical when Hardy tells Laurel: "Don't do that—we're having enough trouble with our wives as it is!"

Serbo Grover Jones' printing gadgets finally have crowded the family automobile out of its garage. Jones got interested in printing 10 years ago and began buying equipment which he stored in a corner of the garage. He put out a little private newspaper, "The Whoopee," for circulation among his friends. The demand grew, and so did his equipment. Recently he bought a power press—and now even he can't maneuver the car into the garage. He's building a new one.

Artline Judge is selling her house—and plans to build another one on the lot right behind it.

Harry Oliver, the art director ("Viva Villa," "The Good Earth," "Rainbow on the River," etc.) tells about the time he designed a "stone" bridge for a silent picture. The bridge had to be dynamited during a cowboy and Indian chase. Oliver says he was very proud of his bridge—until the dynamiting. "The stones" hit the river and floated.

"Hamlet" in Modern Dress. The screen production of "Winter-Set," Maxwell Anderson's prize-winning play, has been done with affectionate care, few major operations having been performed. The blank-verse dialogue has been retained where possible. Members of the stage cast—including Burgess Meredith, Margot, and Eduardo Cinnelli—deliver fine performances. Despite a certain theatricalism which is not too convincing on the screen, the picture builds to intense interest, and most reviewers called it an "artistic triumph," sending shudders down the spine of exhibitors who will have to sell it. Although Anthony Veiller's screen play gives it a happy ending, what "Winter-Set" really is is a sort of Hamlet in modern dress—with gangsters.

Talks to Parents

PREVENTING DIPHTHERIA By Brooke Peters Church

Sam brought a note home from school asking his parents' permission to have him inoculated for diphtheria. Neither his father nor his mother had kept enough abreast of the times to know about the efficacy of the antitoxin or toxoid. Instead of inquiring of a doctor the value and advisability of such preventive treatment, they talked the matter over with friends as uninformed as themselves and decided against it. So Sam was deprived of the immunity which is available against one of the most devastating diseases from childhood.

Few people doubt the efficacy of vaccination. Where it is the rule, the ravages of smallpox, which killed or disabled such a large proportion of our ancestors, have almost ceased. Health and life insurance statistics inform us that where toxoid has been used, the incidence of diphtheria, which used to decimate children between babyhood and the teens, has so markedly decreased as to be almost negligible.

So far, however, parents in general have been slow in taking advantage of the opportunity to safeguard their children against diphtheria. Many parents who have had little experience with doctors have never even heard of the preventive measures which exist. When they do learn of these preventives, they do not often follow the course of Sam's parents.

Not only is diphtheria immediately fatal in many cases, but it may leave a child handicapped for life with a weakened heart or some other marked disability. The least a parent can do is to give the matter serious consideration and seek expert, not lay, advice.

IT'S ALL FIRE WATER. LOS ANGELES.—Jack Mokonto, Mission Indian, was haled into federal court.

Through an interpreter, Mokonto admitted he had been warned not to carry whiskey on a reservation. But the interpreter pointed out: "He never take whiskey. He say he only take gin. Gin not whiskey."

Retorted Judge Leon R. Yankwich: "Well, this judge, he says gin all same whiskey, so far Indian law concerned. Thirty days."

Many organizations in all parts of the world are seeking reform of the calendar.

The Wrong Murderer

By HUGH CLEVELY Chapter 43 NEW PLAN

Wherever, thought Lawson, that house was situated, Mahony was not going to leave it alive. If possible, he had intended to kill Mahony, dispose of his body quietly, and then pretend to Elsa that he had been captured, placed unharmed aboard a small steamer bound for South America, and would be looked after when he arrived there. Now that was completely spiced by Elsa's stubborn insistence on being present at Mahony's capture herself.

A slight, devilish smile touched the corners of Lawson's lips. It had occurred to him that perhaps, after all, it would not be a bad thing if Elsa were to go to that house. Certainly she would witness his treachery, but what of it? What would that matter?

Lawson's smile broadened, a hard gleam came into his narrow eyes. He was a vain man, and liked to imagine himself the central and important figure in dramatic situations. The situation which he was now planning for the following night in that lonely house on Olapham Common pleased him greatly.

Mahony had once saved Elsa from being kidnaped by him. Well, Mahony should see him kidnap Elsa and be powerless to interfere. Elsa had been trying to discover her uncle's murderer. She should learn the identity of that murderer from the murderer's own lips.

He imagined himself triumphant, with Elsa and Mahony both helpless in his hands. Already in his mind he was savoring Elsa's white-faced terrified horror and Mahony's despairing, impotent rage. Mahony he would kill, there and then, with his own hands.

But Elsa he would not kill. She should be taken away and held prisoner until she was a hopeless and incurable slave of the drug habit. Then he would release her, knowing that, as her only means of procuring the drug she craved, he held her in a captivity more secure than any prison.

He turned from the window and looked at Elsa, smiling, but now his smile was friendly and good natured. "So you want to be in at the death, eh," he remarked lightly. "I think it's unwise, but, of course, if you really insist . . ."

He made a little gesture as if to indicate that with him her wishes came first in all things. "So you want to go to the house first, on your own," he remarked. "I'll make my arrangements and close in on the house after you've entered."

Elsa departed, well satisfied with her evening's work. Soon after she had gone, Lawson had another visitor.

"Mr. Lee-Ramsden to see you, sir," announced the butler.

"Show him in," said Lawson.

Lee-Ramsden was in a very bad temper. For once his customary suavity had almost deserted him. He came straight to the object of his visit.

"Look here, Lawson, I want to know what the devil you think you've been up to," he said bluntly. "So far as I can see, you've bungled things absolutely hopelessly."

"In what way?" asked Lawson.

"In every way," replied Lee-Ramsden. "You know perfectly well how I'm situated. In seven weeks' time from now, Ruth comes into control of her money. That means my ruin. We agreed together on a plan which would enable me to retain control of the money. You were to kidnap Ruth, make her into a dope addict, and then return her to her home."

"And a very good idea it was, too," put in Lawson. "She'll have been in control of her money, but you'd have been in control of her, and everything would have been very comfortable for everyone."

His manner was cool and indifferent; he had the air of a man with not a care in the world. Actually, he was feeling far from indifferent to the failure of his schemes; his airy manner was assumed to hide his own chagrin.

"You bungled that scheme," said Lee-Ramsden harshly. "You let that man Mahony get the girl away from you."

"That was unfortunate," admitted Lawson. "But I haven't finished with Mr. Mahony yet. What are you worrying about? There's still another seven weeks to go. A lot can happen in seven weeks."

"Quite a lot has happened in the last week," retorted Lee-Ramsden angrily. "And most of it has been to your disadvantage. You told me days ago you hadn't finished with Mahony yet. It seems to me that the root is on the other foot—that he hasn't finished with you on a plan which would enable me to retain control of the money. You were to kidnap Ruth, make her into a dope addict, and then return her to her home."

"And a very good idea it was, too," put in Lawson. "She'll have been in control of her money, but you'd have been in control of her, and everything would have been very comfortable for everyone."

INSPECTS FOR 1937 PAMPA AND BORGER TEAMS BATTLE TO 13-13 TIE

NEW PLAYERS OF HARVESTER ELEVEN SHINE

BORGER'S SEVEN STARTERS ARE HELD WELL HERE

By HARRY E. HOARE

The big battle of the district 1 high school football race next year looms between the Pampa Harvesters and the Borger Bulldogs. Yesterday afternoon on Harvester field the two elevens, using only players eligible for duty next year, fought a 13 to 13 tie game in a spectacular meeting before a hand full of enthusiastic fans.

Both teams presented new players of great promise. Both Pampa counters were made by new men in the backfield. Borger's veteran mid-guard combination accounted for the Bulldogs points.

Lack of time to throw up a pass defense cost the Harvesters the ball game when Borger's Allen flipped three long passes to the punt in scoring position. They were the only passes of 10 thrown to be completed. The Harvesters completed only one pass out of six attempted, but it could be compared to the famous Flea Flicker completed but not allowed in the Amarillo game.

With the ball on the Borger 20-yard line. Captain J. W. Graham called for a pass play with himself on the throwing end. Cox, end, cut across between the line and the secondary and took a high flip from the little lefthander. When the Bulldog secondary hoed too, Cox lateralized the ball to Reynolds, end, who had appeared from the other side of the line. Reynolds was threatened by the Borger right half, so he flipped to Bobby Carr, a new halfback, and Carr went over to the touchdown. Harding, center, was still available for another lateral had Carr been tackled.

The first Harvester touchdown came on the third play after the last quarter got under way. Smith and Carr had led a ball carrying drive to the 4-yard line from where little Don Smith went across standing up. Graham's attempt for the extra point hit the east goal post and then glanced across the bar for a point.

Borger opened the scoring with a minute left to play at the half. Allen flipped a 20-yard pass to Raber, end, who raced 15 yards to the Pampa 10 before he was downed. Conner picked up 4 yards and then Allen showed his stuff by slipping through Carr, Wear and McMahon to score standing up. Baldwin added the extra point.

The tying touchdown was even more spectacular. With less than two minutes left to play, Graham had to punt from his goal line. Allen connected with Conner with a 15-yard pass and then slipped one for 14 yards to the same spot. One line play failed to get the ball over but on the next plunge, Conner made the necessary foot. Gaiser's try for extra point went wide.

The kickoff was in the air when the final gun ended the game.

The game opened with Raber recovering a Pampa fumble and Nelson getting the ball back on the same kind of play. Three exchanges of punt were registered before Pampa made the first first down of the game. Graham and Smith getting through. Two more downs were registered before the drive bogged. Allen and Conner picked up two successive first downs just at the quarter.

The field became slippery during the early part of the second half and many losses were recorded. Punt exchanges, incomplete passes and some deadly tackling marked the second stanza as the boys settled down after early nervousness.

Borger had the advantage with Allen and Conner reeling off five first downs to Pampa's singleton, a drive by Wear.

The Harvesters took command of the situation after the half. They registered five first downs to Borger's none in the third quarter and picked up three to the Bulldog two in the final stanza.

After a blocked punt had been recovered by Borger, Carr threw Allen for an 8-yard loss and Harding intercepted a Bulldog pass. An exchange of punts gave Pampa the ball on their own 20-yard line from where the touchdown started. Wear and Carr led the drive with Wear making 20 yards on one play. On the dash, the promising fullback threw his helmet aside and raced around end.

Smith contributed 13 yards with a spinner. After Sullivan and Conner had dropped Wear on two plays, Smith and Graham picked up a first down. Smith plunged for the touchdown to open the final quarter.

The second Harvester touchdown featured another drive with Graham, Smith and Wear leading the way. The feature play came with the ball on the 20. Borger woke up in the closing minutes, after three consecutive plays had been killed by Solomon, new tackle.

The play of Pampa's veterans, or the boys back for another season, was pleasing. F. J. Henry Nelson, J. F. Mathews, Bill Stiles and Norman Cox never played better line games. Reynolds and McMahon, ends, and Harding at center, claimed attention. J. W. Graham, the only veteran in the backfield, was slowed up by a ball on his hip which kept him from punting and carrying the ball.

Little Don Smith was the surprise of the game. The mid-guard, working his first game at the short position, handled the ball with only one fumble, tore off many nice gains and scored the first touchdown. Bobby Carr, up from junior high where he played last year, was another bright spot in the Harvester backfield. He is a power on defense and has the appearance of a mighty fine ball carrier. Jack Wear, another former Reaper, has the makings of the powerful fullback for which the Harvesters have been looking.

Tommy Solomon and Alvin Coshaw, have great possibilities as linemen. Several other former Guerrillas and a couple of Reaper linemen will no doubt be heard from next season. Several boys of promise failed to get a chance to show their stuff, so close was the battle. However, Williams and Turner, backfield substitutes last season, showed promise of developing.

Borger's attack, and much of the defense, was led by the "Dynamite Midgets," Conner and Allen. They are a pair of 135-pounders who won't touch the five foot mark but what they lack in size they make up for in power, speed and deception. Simmons, new fullback, is a mighty good prospect. Raber, end, Bomar, center, and Sullivan, tackle, were outstanding Bulldog linemen.

The starting lineups:

PAMPA	POS	BORGER
Reynolds	LE	Kendrick
Nelson	LT	Sullivan
Mathews	LG	Gillman

NEW YORK, Dec. 9 (AP)—Step one in the campaign to clip the all-powerful wings of Kenesaw Mountain Landis czar of baseball, has been completed.

Over the dynamic commissioner's protest, the majors have joined the minors in voting to recommend to clubs of lower classification all the players they want without telling him about it.

Next, unless all signs fall and the commissioner stops the rush, will come a movement to cancel the sandlot rule from the baseball statutes. This would permit major league players to raid the fertile ivory fields without running the risk of losing a good ball player—a risk that confronts the Cleveland Indians in the renowned Feller case.

Times have changed. So has the use of Landis' whip.

When the commissioner was named in 1921 the minor leagues were fighting for their existence, with the majors and their bulging bankrolls endangering the little fellows. Then came the farm systems to change all that and to paint a far different picture.

Today, estimates minor league Commissioner W. G. Bramham, all but 10 of the 186 minor league clubs are owned by or have working agreements with major league teams. Hence, what's good for the majors is good for the minors. The majors do not want the sandlot rule, which forbids a big league representative from signing up a player before he has signed a minor league contract.

Landis never before had lost a battle in his near 16 years of czar-dom.

AUSTIN, Dec. 9 (AP)—Coach Jack Chevigny today was the "mystery man" of the University of Texas.

He had been fired outright, hired with a pay hike, offered an assistant attorney general's position, employed in a better coaching job far from Texas and retained as director of athletics and instructor in the law department — all according to dame rumor.

Discussion which raged a month ago after he had announced emphatically he "would not be a candidate for re-election" seethed again as the athletic council prepared to confer a second time behind closed doors on matters pertaining to the coaching setup. The council makes recommendations to the board of regents.

JIM WRIGHT DIES
OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 9 (AP)—Funeral services will be held today here for James E. Wright, 83, pioneer Texas and Oklahoma cattleman and rancher, who died yesterday.

Wright's career in the cattle industry followed the frontier towns from 1872 when he settled in Sherman, Tex., until he moved to Minco in 1890. He rode the Chisholm and other cattle trails to Dodge City and Humeville, Kas. He retired in 1929 and moved here.

SOUTHWEST PASSES RESULT IN MORE SPECTACULAR FOOTBALL

NEW YORK, Dec. 9 (AP)—If there remained any doubt that football is showing a steady trend toward the more open, more spectacular style of play, responses to a nation-wide Associated Press poll serve to dissipate it.

Almost without exception, college football leaders pointed to the wider use of passes, particularly of forwards, as the most striking development of 1936.

Don McCallister of South Carolina struck a happy phrase when he suggested football offensives had become so unorthodox that the players considered it "all right to do anything, anywhere, anytime."

Reports from the southwest indicated teams there were using just about as many passing as running plays. Vanderbilt, under Ray Morrison, former Southern Methodist coach, reported using more passes than ever before, 15 to 20 a game.

Hand in hand with increased use of the aerial attack, the Rocky Mountain conference noted, went higher scoring. There were eight games in that sector in which the losers scored at least two touchdowns, twice as many as in 1935.

Bill Alexander of Georgia Tech was one experienced observer, however, who viewed the trend with a different slant.

"It seemed to me," he said, "that the teams in this section that were losing were throwing more passes and the teams that were winning were more conservative and more effective with their passing game."

Sports Roundup

NEW YORK, Dec. 9 (AP)—Scouts say Jimmy Braddock's boxing is nothing less than terrible. Tip: The Yankees are in a huddle with the Athletics about something. Jack Appel, best fight referee in town during the days of the old Garden, has been located driving a night taxi.

The Red Sox want Julius Solters back from the Browns. Rogers Hornsby is willing but Yawkey and Co. is going to have to cough up plenty. American league managers are making discreet inquiries about some of the Athletics' young pitchers.

Joe Cronin means to play third base, so if he gets Frank Higgins from the Macks it will be for trading purposes only. You should have seen Eddie Niel, the reformed sports writer, going to town on that organ (Col Stoopnagle model) at the wedding of Mark Barrow AP city editor. Eddie looked like a six-day bike rider. Claims Bill Kilman Of Team Is Too Old

CHILDRESS, Dec. 9 (AP)—The old eligibility bugaboo bobbed its head today into the Texas Interscholastic league football race.

Supt. C. W. Adams of Childress said he would protest the eligibility of Bill Kilman, Amarillo guard, unless Amarillo furnished documentary evidence that Kilman was not over the league age limit.

Amarillo defeated Childress 46 to 0 last Friday in a bi-district game, sending the Amarillo Sandies into the quarterfinals against Abilene this week.

At Amarillo Mrs. R. M. Kilman, mother of the guard, said her son was born Dec. 27, 1917. A family Bible substantiated her statement.

Adams demanded further proof. He said a school census showed Kilman was nine when he entered the Carey, Childress county, school Sept. 1, 1926. That, he said, would make the youth ineligible.

Kilman attended school at Wichita Falls before moving to Childress county. Amarillo's superintendent, C. M. Rogers, said Wichita county had been asked to check school census rolls for an earlier entry.

Comes the Bride," the ceremony was over.

Portsmouth, Va., is staging a big civil celebration for Ace Parker, Duke's all-America backfield star, next Monday. From these Parker will dash to Charlotte, N. C., to attend a football banquet the following night.

KERRVILLE IS TEAM TO BEAT FANS BELIEVE

ABILENE EAGLES MAY CRACK DOWN ON AMARILLO

BY HAROLD V. RATLIFF.

DALLAS, Dec. 9 (AP)—Teams which often have been in the thick of the Texas Interscholastic League football campaign—each boasting more than one championship—clash this week in the feature game of the quarter-final round of the seventh annual race.

Abilene's Eagles were finalists five seasons, winning the title twice. Amarillo's Golden Sandies first gained prominence in 1930 when they played Tyler for the championship, losing in a jarring upset.

Abilene and Amarillo meet Saturday at Abilene in a battle generally regarded as the turning point—if any—in the race.

The season's record would indicate Amarillo holds a decided edge but Abilene is probably the most proved team in the state. Coming on with the speed of the wind in the waning days of the Oil Belt drive, Abilene upset San Angelo, 28-0.

More and more the fans are leaning toward Kerrville as the team to beat in the lower bracket of the race. The Antlers, undefeated and untied and with 309 points to the opposition's 59, came from nowhere to win a district heretofore dominated by Austin and San Antonio teams. Then they took out undefeated Hillsboro, rated one of the best in the state, 25-6.

Kerrville meets another "surprise" team Saturday in the quarter-finals, tangling with the Lufkin eleven that won over Longview in a burst of brilliance after finishing the district campaign with but one defeat—that an inter-district affair.

The winner of the Amarillo-Abilene game meets the winner of the Gainesville-North Side (Port Worth) tilt in the semi-finals. The Kerrville-Lufkin victor clashes with the winner in the Port Arthur-Corpus Christi tilt.

The hope indicates North Side, Kerrville, and Port Arthur will win. Should the latter reach the finals the upper bracket representative would be made a top-heavy favorite to grab the crown. Amarillo already holds a victory over Port Arthur in inter-district play—and traveled to Port Arthur to do it.

better. October showed a profit of $370,381 against a deficit of $224,788 for the same month of 1935. Insiders say that the November surplus was around $200,000. December is expected to show up as well. Due to these figures the speculative buying continues.

WATCHING

Although figures will not be made public for some months New York Central insiders say that for November the road's pickup and delivery service will show favorable public response. Other railroads are actively interested. This because Central serves territory which involves all kinds of freight. If the public's response continues other carriers will go into the pickup and delivery service on a larger scale.

REPORTS ARE THAT: Republic Steel will show about $2 a share for 1936-fourth quarter net running at a $4 annual clip. Increased rail equipment helps Lima Locomotive. For 1936 Stone & Webster will show about $1 a share. Cities Service to get Warner-Quinlan gas stations. American Can running into tax selling. United Engineering to raise prices—will show a $3 net for year. Real estate shares spurred on speculative buying—avoid. United Gas Improvement's 1936 earnings estimated at $1.10 a share for year. Colgate Palmolive-Peet retained because of dividend yield. After allowing for preferred dividends Consolidated Aircraft will net around 60 cents a share for 1936. Increased rail equipment buying bullish on American Steel Foundries. McCrory Stores has 195 units in operation—talk of dividend payment. Early in 1937 Columbia Gas will furnish natural gas to suburbs of Philadelphia—city proper will not get it for two or more years. And that conservative interests are closely watching the labor picture which is becoming quite disturbing. (Copyright McClure Newspapers)

Q. What induced St. Denis to make the hazardous trip to San Juan Bautista in 1714-15? L. H. A. Before leaving East Texas Father Hidalgo, wearing by Spanish indifference toward the East Texas missions, wrote to the French governor of Louisiana asking his co-operation. An expedition was fitted out at Mobile and placed in charge of St. Denis to go in search of Father Hidalgo with a view to establishing religious and trade relations. When the party reached East Texas, St. Denis learned that Father Hidalgo had gone to the Rio Grande, where he went in search of him, reaching Bautista early in 1715. Q. What was the first hard-surfaced road built in East Texas? E. M. A. The road from Longview to Gladewater, built in 1917. Q. How long has Texas had laws regulating fishing? B. J. A. The first law was passed in 1874; the second law was enacted in 1879, at which time the first game commission was created, but it was abolished in 1885 to be re-instituted in 1895. Q. How many game preserves are now under supervision of the Game, Fish and Oyster Commission? B. J. A. Approximately 80, stocked with 13,000 deer, 14,000 turkeys, 400 Rocky Mountain sheep, and 4,000 antelope. Q. What gave rise to the "Battle Creek" Indian fight? B. O. P. A. What became known as the Battle Creek or Surveyors' Fight was near the present down of Dawson, in 1838, when a surveying party of about 25 went into the section to locate and survey lands for settlers. They were attacked by a band of Kickapoo Indians. Seventeen of the surveyors were killed in one of the fiercest fights in Texas history. A small monument stands over the burying place of the Texans. HIRSCHLONIA DIES

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 9 (AP)—Ben Hirschland, 85, former president of the Oklahoma Paper company here, died at his home today after a week's illness. Hirschland held chairmanships of the board of directors of the Tulsa and Amarillo, Tex. paper companies, and served in an advisory capacity to the Oklahoma Paper company.

TEAL'S MIND 'WENT BLANK' HE TESTIFIES

DEFENDANT DECLARES SHE SLAPPED HIM BEFORE DEATH
MULESHOE, Dec. 9 (AP)—Testimony near the end today in the trial of John Teal for the slaying 18 years ago of Miss Evelyn Monts, a 22-year-old school teacher.

The 50-year-old defendant testified his mind "went blank" after Miss Monts told him she had had illicit relations with Lee Cooper, now a Cochran county rancher. Teal said she slapped him and that when his mind cleared the school teacher had been killed and he was holding a pistol to his head.

The bulk of the state's case connecting Teal with the slaying of Miss Evelyn Monts in southern Bailey county Sunday, April 7, 1918, had gone to the jury at noon yesterday.

District Attorney Chas. H. Dean rapidly placed five witnesses, among them Mrs. Charles Crutchfield of Dacula, Okla., on the stand. The accused man had entered a plea of not guilty after an indictment returned against him last May was read to the court and to the jury.

Testimony may be completed this afternoon, as District Attorney Dean indicated he would offer only Sheriff Jim Cook of Muleshoe before resting. The defense swore only two witnesses this morning.

Joe Mumford of Palo Pinto was the first witness offered by District Attorney Dean and Dennis Zimmerman, special prosecutor, of Tulsa. A youth of 18 years, Mumford heard, he said today, Teal tell Miss Monts Saturday before the slaying that her relatives in Castro county were ill and that they had sent him for her.

J. M. Tilson, brother-in-law of Miss Monts, now living in Hale county, testified neither he nor his wife were ill on the Saturday when Teal talked to Miss Monts. "Short remarks" made by Teal to Lee Cooper, now a bronzed Cochran county rancher, at a Sunday dinner gathering at the Mumford home were related by Cooper. The witness was a former soldier of Miss Monts.

Teal twice told Cooper that day rancher testified that he was carrying a 32 caliber automatic pistol containing three bullets. Mrs. M. McCarty, now a New Mexico resident, was the fourth witness. She is mother of Mrs. Crutchfield, the former Opieita McCarty. Mrs. McCarty corroborated Cooper's testimony concerning bullets which fell from Miss Monts' clothing. She said also that Miss Monts had asked her to permit Opieita to accompany the teacher from the Mumford home to the McCarty house that Sunday after the slaying.

THE enormous capacity of the chipmunk's cheek pouches is shown in several instances where the number of grains carried in one load has been checked. One animal was found to be loaded with 750 service-berry seeds. Another carried 360 grains of barley at one time, and another was found to be loaded with a check-load of 357 grains of oats.

JAP FOREIGN POLICY DISPLEASES COUNCIL

TOKYO, Dec. 9 (AP)—The Japanese privy council, which approved the government today it was displeased with the nation's foreign policy.

Premier Koki Hirota and Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita were called before the plenary session of the council and attacked "from every direction" for an hour and a half. One councillor asked whether the government was prepared to make a "grave decision" which was interpreted as an invitation the cabinet may be forced to resign. The answer, observers said, was non-committal and equivocal.

The eighth annual meeting of the Adobe Walls Boy Scout council will be held next Tuesday, Dec. 15, at the Scout headquarters in Pampa. It will be the first time in several years the meeting will be held here. Last year, the council met in Amarillo, and the previous year in Borger.

The highlight of the meeting will be the annual banquet which will be in the First Methodist church in the evening. Group discussions will be held at the city hall at 5 o'clock. Scoutmasters, assistants and commissioners will form one group. At 6 o'clock, election of officers for 1937 will be held. The group will then adjourn and go to the church for the banquet. All Scoutmasters and their troop committees are invited to attend.

Nominations for the council officers are now being considered by the nominating committee. The report of the committee has always been unanimously accepted. Scout Executive C. A. Clark announced today that the Acorn award button, a lapel pin, is available to every cub or Boy Scout who secures a new member, registers and assists him in passing his tests before Dec. 31, 1936. Each troop that assists in the establishment of another troop or pack is entitled to receive the Acorn award streamer, a royal purple silk ribbon streamer for use on the troop flag.

Mr. Clark also emphasized that boys who are considering attending the National Jamboree to be held at Washington, D. C., early this summer must be registered at the local Scout office by Dec. 31, 1936.
