Council to Study Police Teletype Plan for Pampa

Jimmy Phillips of Amarillo told city commissioners in their weekly meeting today that if they would approve installation of a teletype machine in the Police department, it would shorten the time of sending and receiving police reports from hours to minutes.

Phillips, representing the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., said "the cost of leasing one machine would be $90.65 a month. For two separate machines, one in the Sheriff's Office and one in the police station, the cost would be $66.08 per month each.

The teletype would institute direct contact with the majority of police and sheriff departments over the Panhandle and with the State Highway Department.

"When the teletype message is received it is the exact duplicate of the message that is sent. It makes less chance for error, because the message does not have to go through many relay stations to reach its destination.

Besides giving faster communication, Phillips said, the machine transmits weather conditions direct from the United States Weather Bureau, rather than sending them through the Amarillo weather station to Pampa.

Commissioners said they would consider the matter and decide at a later meeting.

In other business, commissioners opened bids for Lovett Memorial Library repairs. W. L. Stark of Pampa bid $7,798.64, with a completion date of Oct. 15. E. W. Hogan bid $13,551 with an Oct. 31 completion date. Rhoades Construction Co. of Pampa, bid $12,264 on an Oct. 15 completion date. The contract award will be made after the bids are studied.

Commissioners authorized payment of the city's monthly bills for July. The total was $24,974.44.

Texas Dropouts Serious Threat

HOUSTON (UPI)— Gov. John Connally said Monday that Texas high school dropouts commit themselves "to a lifetime of low wages and periodic unemployment."

Connally, speaking at the Houston convention of the Catholic Youth Organization, said more than half of the Texas high school population drops out of school before graduation.

"The high rate of school dropouts in Texas is one of the most serious threats to our future progress," he said.

The governor said an estimated 325,000 students will quit school between now and 1968, most of them for good.

A constant backer of education, Connally called for support of free education, which he said provides in America "opportunity to more people than any comparable country in the world."

Meteorite Trap Balloon Is 'Okay' in First Stages

PALESTINE, Tex. (UPI)— A giant helium filled balloon rose from its launching tower today on a flight to trap meteorite particles in the upper atmosphere.

John Sparkman, station manager of the National Balloon Flight Station, six miles west of Palestine said the flight was going "okay through the first stages." The balloon was launched at 6 a.m., 30 minutes ahead of schedule.

The 85 foot high, 250,000 cubic foot balloon was expected to rise to 100,000 feet and remain aloft about 10 hours.

By 6:30 a.m. CST the balloon had risen to 25,000 feet, and tracking planes, telescopes and radar had it under surveillance.

The flight, under the auspices of the Dudley Museum at Albany, N.Y., had been moved up 30 minutes because ground crews feared a rising surface wind might hamper the launch.

The next experiment from the Palestine launch site is set for Aug. 16 to map the oxygen spectrum.

Overruling Sought In Richmond Case

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI)— Negro leaders planned today to ask the U.S. Supreme Court to overrule a federal appellate court's refusal to reopen Prince Edward County's public schools, closed four years ago to avoid integration.

The U.S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals held Monday that the question of whether the county could legally abandon its public education system was a matter for state courts to decide.

to parched farm and range lands. Amarillo had 1.24 inches of rain from midnight until dawn, lowering the temperature to a comfortably cool 64 degrees at daybreak. The high Monday was 95, compared with torrid 100-degree readings the past several weeks.

Brownsville's light shower measured .06 of an inch. There were a few other isolated showers. Dalhart just north of Amarillo had .14 of an inch. Childress received .02, Sherman .01, and Presidio .07.

A five-mile wide thunderstorm swirled through the farm country east of Sulphur Springs, and an Oklahoma shower near Duncan pushed toward Wichita Falls.

The cool front was expected to touch off increasing shower activity as it moves slowly southeastward during the day. There was a promise of cooler temperatures in the shower areas but South Texas was in for more hot weather.

Behind the front, the high readings in the Panhandle and South Plains were expected to be in the upper 80s and low 90s.

The Kelley boy was transferred to the Amarillo hospital's care unit Sunday from Highland General Hospital.

Graham Returns With LA Crusade

LOS ANGELES (UPI)— Evangelist Billy Graham returns to the scene of his first major triumph this week when he opens a three-week crusade bringing his "old time religion" to the masses.

It was in 1949 the 44-year-old North Carolinian hit the big time following a crusade here. However, in 1949 his crusade was held in a tent pitched on a vacant lot and not the 106,000-seat Memorial Coliseum where he opens Thursday.

Since those tent meetings, Graham has carried his crusades across every continent and into many of the world's greatest cities.

Speaking of Texas Brags, You Can Get 'em by Box, or by Acre

By DICK WEST
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — The civic pride of a Texan is one of nature's strongest forces, ranking just behind the pull of gravity and just ahead of the capillary attraction of a tuberous begonia.

His talent is such that a Texan can find something affirmative to say about the place where he lives, even when the odds overwhelmingly favor the negative.

The untrained eye, for instance, might not notice anything superlative about Merkel, Texas, which is my old home town. Yet the citizenry there has never been without a claim of distinction.

At one point they used to boast that Merkel was the only town in the world where the population was the same as the elevation. At that time it had 1,872 residents living 1,872 feet above sea level.

Unfortunately, however, the population increased slightly in the next census. Either that or the elevation sank a few feet. I forget which. At any rate the two figures no longer matched.

The change was a catastrophe, civic pride-wise, and I wasn't certain that the town would be able to recover. So when I visited in Merkel during a recent vacation, I asked my father whether there was anything left to brag about.

"Why, certainly," my father said. "This town is now the home of Cassius Lipbutton, the world's most modest Texan."

"A modest Texan?" I exclaimed. "You must be pulling my leg."

"Honest injun," my father said. "If you don't believe it you can go talk to him yourself."

When I drove up the Lipbutton home, Cassius was out in the back yard camouflaging his oil wells to make them less conspicuous. He wore a pair of low heel boots and his hat wouldn't have held a drop more than four and a half gallons.

I began the interview by commenting on the size of his swimming pool, which was the largest one I had ever seen.

"There's a bigger one down state," Lipbutton protested, blushing furiously. "It's called the Gulf of Mexico."

"Are those your airplanes?" I asked, pointing to an airfield behind the pool.

"Just a few jet transports," Lipbutton said shyly. "Shucks, American Airlines has more jets than I do."

"What about your ranch?" I asked. "Isn't it pretty big?"

"Heck, no," Lipbutton said. "It ain't much bigger than Rhode Island."

"You certainly have a lot of

Plan for Cutting Income Taxes Is Given Revamping

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Kennedy administration has revamped its plan for cutting everybody's income taxes. The new plan, effective next Jan. 1, would provide net reductions of $10.6 billion, phased over a two-year period.

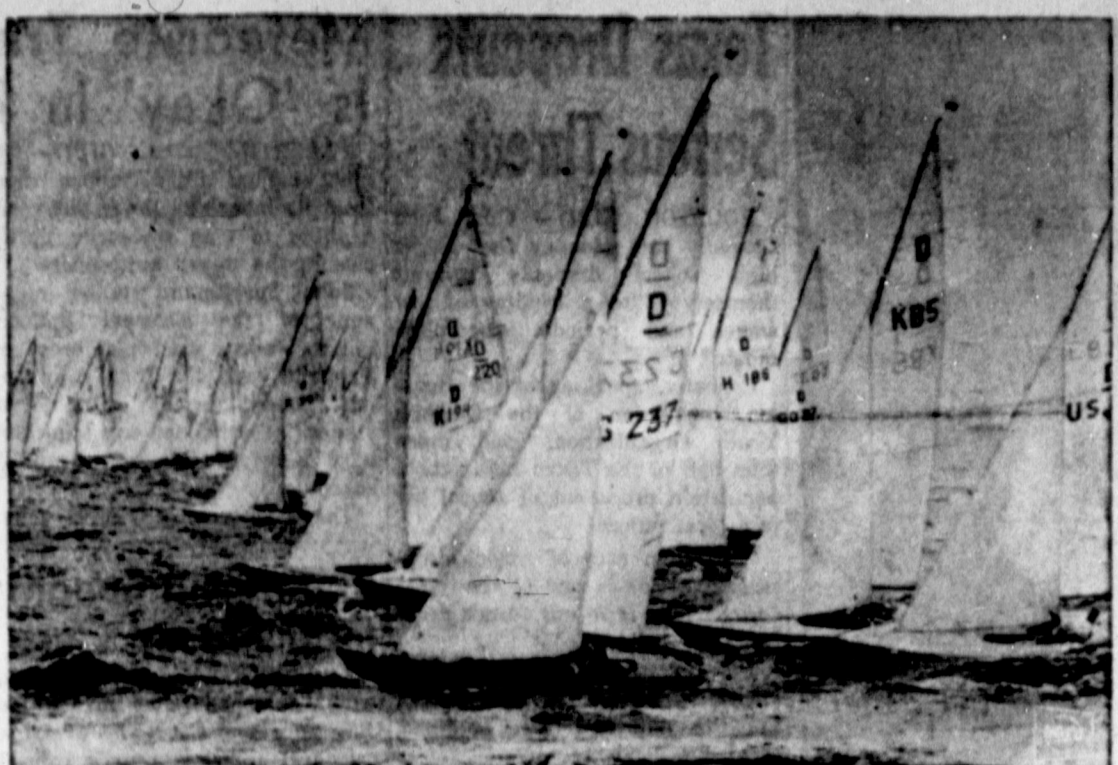

The revised formula compares with the original plan under which individual and corporate income taxes would have been reduced about $10.3 billion, with the cuts taking effect in three stages—on July 1, 1963, Jan. 1, 1964, and Jan. 1, 1965.

Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon outlined the new plan in testimony at a closed session of the House Ways & Means Committee yesterday.

The three main elements of the revised plan:

- Individual tax rates would range from 14 to 70 per cent. That compares with the present schedule of 20 to 91 per cent and with the original plan to cut rates to a 14 to 65 per cent range.
- The tax rate on corporations would be cut to 48 per cent. That compares with the present rate of 52 per cent and the original proposal of a 47 per cent rate. The first $25,000 of corporate income would be taxed at 23 per cent, instead of the existing rate of 30 per cent. The original proposal would have cut this rate to 22 per cent.
- Revisions in the income tax structure would yield $690 million in new revenue, compared with the $3.2 billion originally proposed, jettisoning many of the original proposals.

Lutherans Close Federation Meet

HELSINKI, Finland (UPI)—The Lutheran World Federation brought its fourth assembly to a formal end Sunday with ceremonies in Helsinki's Olympic Stadium.

The main speaker was newly-elected federation president, Dr. Fredrick A. Schiotez of Minneapolis, Minn. About 20,000 persons attended the program, which included music by Finnish choirs and bands.

The federation concluded its working sessions Sunday by electing Dr. Schiotez, who heads the American Lutheran Church, to succeed Dr. Franklin C. Fry of New York City.

Red China Stages Rally to Support American Negro

TOKYO (UPI) — Communist China, seeking to make propaganda capital out of U.S. racial disturbances, staged a rally of 10,000 persons in Peking Monday in support of American Negroes "in their struggle against racial discrimination."

New China news agency reported the rally was held in Peking's "Great Hall of the People."

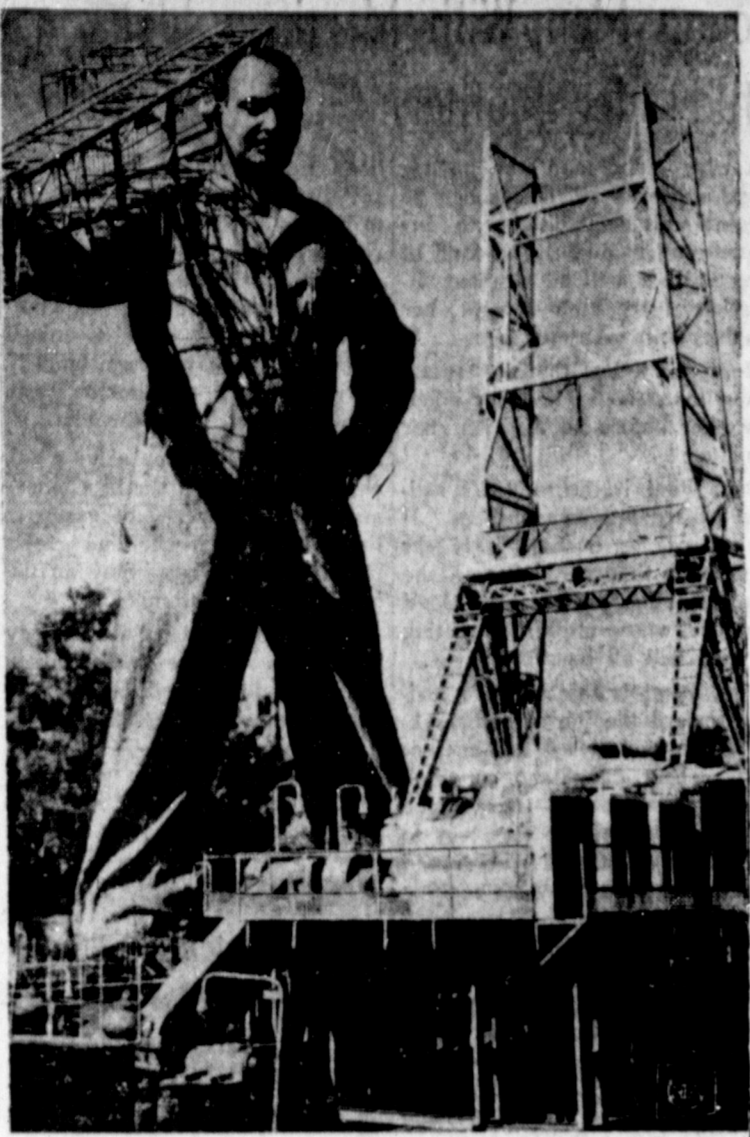

Premier Chou En-lai attended the meeting with vice-premiers Chen Yi and Lo Jui-ching, New China said.

In its report on the meeting which totaled more than 6,000 words, New China said those at the rally were read a message of greeting from Robert Miller, whom it identified as a former president of the Monroe, N. C., chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

"The meeting was called as a follow up to the campaign launched by Chinese Communist Party Chairman Mao Tse-tung who said last week that he had thrown his country's full support behind Negroes in their bid for 'civil rights.'"

Kuo Mo-jo, a vice chairman of the standing committee of the National People's Congress, told the rally that American Negroes "will certainly win complete victory with the support of the people throughout the world."

The official Peking People's Daily and other major Peking newspapers today pledged "resolute support" to the American Negro and the "class struggle."

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — In the past several weeks, some high places in television have been experiencing what the sculptor-goldsmith Benvenuto Cellini described in his autobiography as "the taste of virtuous employment."

Thus, while Yours Truly was on holiday in a tiny Mexican beach town that is innocent not only of television, but telephones as well, video was busy compiling some hits and runs to go with its errors. To wit:

—At NBC-TV, it became known that Jason Robards Jr. will appear Feb. 5 in the title role in Robert E. Sherwood's famous play, "Abe Lincoln in Illinois," which won the 1939 Pulitzer prize. The "Hall of Fame" production will air for 90 minutes. The Lincoln role originally brought great renown to Raymond Massey, now of the "Dr. Kildare" television series.

—Also at NBC-TV, it was announced that a 90-minute special documenting the Korean War will be presented on Nov. 20. And it was reported that the same network is preparing two one-hour programs about Cuba, one dealing with the abortive 1961 Bay of Pigs invasion and the other with last year's missile crisis, both shows presumably to appear this season.

—Furthermore, there appears to be some headway in correcting the television ratings farce, which was exposed this year by a congressional subcommittee. A spokesman for the National Association of Broadcasters (NAB) said there has been "excellent progress" in its attempts to provide an accredited and audited system for ratings, which control the life and death of most shows. The congressional group is giving the NAB a chance to work out the ratings mess itself if it can do so satisfactorily.

—There are increasing reports about the development of television tape-recorders and the obvious enormity of their impact when they come into popular use: the effect on pay-TV, on movies, on theatre, on actors' and authors' compensation, on copyrights, etc. In brief, the home viewer with such a recorder would have his own long-playing films for easy use.

—On Oct. 13, Westinghouse Broadcasting Co. stations in San Francisco, Baltimore, Cleveland, Pittsburgh and Boston will offer free to viewers a taped version of a Broadway play, "The Advocate," which has its opening in New York the same night, and at about the same time. It is a precedent-shattering experiment. Furthermore, since there is an attempt to compromise neither the style of the theatre nor television drama, home viewers will get a slightly different visual picture of the pre-taped play.

—David Susskind's weekly, two-hour syndicated discussion program, "Open End," which departed from its home base video station in New York amid bitter verbal exchanges over freedom and taste, has been picked up by another outlet in that city. And we have been assured by Mr. Susskind's publicity man that we will get 39 new weekly shows this season.

—Finally, NBC and Soviet Russia achieved a temporary truce with each other. NBC was evicted from its Moscow news bureau this year because of two documentaries, "The Death of Stalin" and "The Rise of Khrushchev." But the Soviets gave permission for two NBC reporters and a camera crew to cover the final signing of the nuclear test ban treaty in Moscow.

The Channel Swim: Bob Hope's guests on his first NBC-TV variety special of the new season, Sept. 27, are Dean Martin, James Garner, Barbara Streisand and Tuesday Weld. On Oct. 3, on the same network, Perry Como bows in with his initial special of the season, and his guests are June Allyson, George Burns, Cyd Charisse and Allan Sherman.

Los Angeles Dodger baseball stars Maury Wills and Willie Davis, who have formed a nightclub act in which they sing, entertain Friday on NBC-TV's "Today" show. Bing Crosby makes his first professional appearance with his wife, Kathryn Grant, on his CBS-TV special Feb. 15. Same network's new Danny Kaye series will also be shown on British Broadcasting Corp. TV. Jack Benny had the top-rated program in Ireland in a recent survey.

The name of Gen. Stonewall Jackson, Confederate hero, was added to the Hall of Fame for Great Americans in 1955.

Atomic Exhibit Opens in N. Y.

NEW YORK (UPI) — New York has a new tourist attraction, its opening made timely by current discussions over the nuclear test ban agreement initiated by the United States, Britain and Russia.

It is the Atomic Energy Exhibit housed in the second-floor lobby of the Union Carbide Building at Park Avenue and 47th Street.

An unusual blending of art and science, the exhibit, called "Atomic Energy in Action," is designed to give the public a better understanding of the peaceful uses of atomic energy. A feature is the world's largest operating model of a nuclear reactor.

DeGaulle Is Haunted by Spectre Of Nuclear Pearl Harbor Attack

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
PARIS (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle of France is haunted by the spectre of a nuclear "Pearl Harbor" launched from outer space.

That is the reason behind his plan, which he announced at a news conference July 29, to invite the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union to a meeting here before the end of this year to discuss certain fields of nuclear disarmament.

What De Gaulle seeks is a ban on the manufacture of the various kinds of launching "vehicles" which can carry nuclear bombs or warheads.

De Gaulle included rockets, planes and submarines in his list of such "vehicles."

Could Rain Death

But what he had in the back of his mind was interplanetary rockets and space satellites which could be used by one of the great powers to rain nuclear death and destruction on the earth.

This is not a new idea with De Gaulle.

Jules Moch, France's former Arms negotiator, proposed it to the United Nations disarmament subcommittee in October, 1959.

He raised it again at the abortive Geneva disarmament conference in the spring of 1960 and got the other Western powers to incorporate it in an overall Western package plan for controlled disarmament.

The Soviets turned the proposal down because they said it contained control provisions against cheating. Until recently, the

PAPER'S EXILE ENDS
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The New York Herald Tribune is back on the White House subscription list, ending almost a year's exile on President Kennedy's orders.

Sources said Monday that subscriptions to the paper have been taken by Press Secretary Pierre Salinger and special counsel Theodore C. Sorenson.

Russians always rejected controls on grounds that they would provide opportunities for Western spying.

All But Forgotten
The proposal had been all but forgotten until De Gaulle raised it again at the news conference. The reasoning behind De Gaulle's plan is fairly simple. France has no space rockets or satellites and is unlikely to have any within the foreseeable future — certainly not for the next five to 10 years.

Thus, she has nothing to lose and a good deal to gain by a proposal which, for the time being at least, would affect only the two powers with sizeable space capabilities — the United States and the Soviet Union.

In fact, an agreement to cut out the use of space vehicles for nuclear warfare would reduce France's 18-year time lag behind the two nuclear giants.

The proposal won surprisingly little notice in France. It made headlines, but not big ones.

French officials, for the record, are voicing optimism that the other three nuclear powers will take up De Gaulle on the idea and will agree to such a conference. Privately, they are less confident.

Tax Reductions On Stock Sales Given Approval

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Ways & Means Committee today approved reductions of 16 and 20 per cent in the taxes individuals must pay on profits from sales of stocks and other property.

This completed final committee action on all of the structural revisions in personal income taxes recommended by Kennedy except his request for elimination of the preferential tax treatment of income from stock dividends.

The committee next week is expected to approve a compromise version which would apply tougher tax treatment only to dividends received by large stockholders. It also is expected to approve across-the-board reductions in individual and corporation tax rates, thereby completing action on the big tax bill.

Key committee Democrats have tentatively agreed on the broad outlines of a formula that would result in a net tax cut of almost $10 billion, staged over two years.

Dear Abby... 'Mentally' Disturbed Or Like Being Different?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Are you a psychiatrist? If not, what gives you the right to determine whether or not people need professional care in this field? On several occasions you have advised that some friend or relative be examined by a head doctor. I assume you would have all humans conform to one pattern. Did it ever occur to you that some people LIKE being different, and are not mentally disturbed? Take that woman who wears muu musus on the street and likes to talk to bus drivers. Couldn't she simply be trying to show society that we are not all puppets of conformity? DISTURBED

DEAR DISTURBED: The woman with the muu musus might have been perfectly sound, right up to the point where she was described as "eating tranquilizers like popcorn". Then, I suggested she might need professional help. It is no insult to be directed to a psychiatrist. Furthermore, it's better to see one and NOT need treatment than not to see one and NEED treatment.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for 17 years and have three children. My husband left for a fishing trip for a week and when I asked him to give me an address or phone number where I could contact him in case of emergency, he said, "I'll be 'around' Rice Lake, Wisconsin, and if I give you more information you'll find an emergency to call me back and spoil my vacation." What do you say to a man like that?

FED UP
DEAR FED: If what he fears might happen HAS happened, I'd say, "Goodbye, Dear, CALL ME every other night in case I have something to tell you." If it has NEVER happened, send me your name and address and I'll give you another answer.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell "Canooga Park" that the main reason why so few Americans fly flags is: "On the go Americans" are never sure if they'll be home by sunset to take in the flag so, rather than show this disrespect to the flag, they do not put it out.

TRUE-BLUE AMERICAN

POLLY'S POINTERS Vacation Of The Year, And For Only Pennies

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — Last year our family took a trip across the country to Oregon. We learned a lot and are starting on our vacation this year better prepared. We want to pass on to others the way our dad and mom have worked things out.

As camping stuff is used only once or twice a year, we did not want to buy anything expensive. Dad built a small closed-in trailer to pull behind a car. There will be seven of us and space for all that we'll need was a problem. Mom and I made sleeping bags from old quilts and lined each with an old blanket. They were folded in half and sewed together on three sides. We used heavy nylon thread. If the blankets are needed at home next winter, we can cut the stitches and they are still bed size.

Tapes were attached to the bags so they can be rolled up and stacked when not in use. Dad bought each of us an inexpensive air mattress and these can be used at the beach or in the back yard later on.

Each child is responsible for looking after his own belongings. Mom made each of us a toilet kit out of an old shower curtain. They are stitched in sections and each holds a washcloth, soap, toothbrush, toothpaste and a comb. A cloth bag for each of us holds a pair of pajamas, a towel, thongs and a short beach coat and the toilet kit.

The beach coats were made from old, knitted slipcovers. We use them for swimming and for going to and from the shower.

A large clear plastic bag is for dry swim suits and another for wet ones. Mother packed hooded sweaters and warm things in a large cardboard container (a big metal lard can would do fine.) This was labeled and put in the trailer. Two suitcases then hold all our other traveling clothes. The boys wear mostly knitted tee shirts. Dad put a clothespole into the trailer for coats.

Since mom does not like to sleep in a tent, she made a mattress for herself out of an old feather ticking. This, too, rolls up. Pillowcases for the trip were made from dark cretonne. Towels are also deep colors which mom felt were more practical than white ones. With a charcoal grille, aluminum foil, a few pots and pans, paper plates, an ice chest and water jugs, we are on our way. Even though we traveled 5,200 miles last year, the trip cost very little. In three weeks this year we hope to cover even more ground.—JILL

GIRLS — What lucky kids to have a mom and dad who go to such lengths to make it possible for them to see their country and have vacations they will never forget. Such ingenuity can make a little bit of money go a long way and they have my vote as our Vacation Family of the Year. Such families are the true backbone of America and would make our forefathers very proud.—POLLY

Coeds Can Have New Sportive Look For Fall On A Budget

The sportive look—wrap-around skirts, vests, bulky mohair sweaters — will be "the look this autumn on high school and college paths. And every woman student can have the "look within a price range that appeals to the budget-minded.

Not too many people think of variety stores as a source of apparel — skirts, jackets and dresses — said Violet Hackim, but the truth is that not only does the store fulfill clothing needs but also it has a wide range of accessories at appealing prices for the student with the small purse.

Right now, culottes and wrap-around skirts are heralding the back-to-school clothes season. In plaids, flannel, wide-wale corduroy, they are vying with vests for top fashion position. The vest craze will go on, Miss Hackim said, because American designers have done so much to bring it to the front and keep it there. At a fraction of the cost that a student might spend at a specialty shop or department store, she can assemble in a variety store a complete outfit with "the layered look" — skirt, blouse, vest, jacket — right down to knee socks.

Sweaters, which are basic, sound security for students, are attracting attention at the $4, $5 and $6 level. One all-wool style, in sophisticated colors of camel, gray or terra cotta, had a blend of 75 per cent imported mohair and 25 per cent lamb's wool for $7, which looks like it costs much more. There's a great variety of style in sweaters, too. Cardigans and turtle, boat and V-necks are neck and neck in the back-to-school race.

In patterned sweaters there are paisleys, floral, geometric and Norwegian-inspired designs. Several of these patterns are graduated with the larger designs at the bottom, forming borders. And, of course, there's the cable-knit sweater, always a campus hit, available in a wide range of colors at a price much less than would be expected, she said.

As to dresses, the "long, skinny, stretched-out, easy, soft-shaping dress is in" according to fashion experts. Variety stores support that trend with a large group of chemise dresses, requiring no belts, at modest prices of $3 and $4, made of fabrics in silk-like blends. Several have border prints around the hems; others are medallion-patterned. One style is a mixture of orlon and wool is embroidered all over and priced well under $5. A surprising number of greens — bright olive, bottle green, emerald, kelly and jade — as well as wine tones run through many of the patterns.

For lounging and studying at home, slack sets in knitted cotton are offered, and oxford cloth Bermudas and Capri pants are as little as $3. A series of provincial print blouses at $2 can coordinate with the pants.

Mrs. A. D. Hills announced that one of our faithful Gray Ladies is leaving us next week. Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Brandt are leaving for California to make their home. We will surely miss Mrs. Brandt. Nothing ever seemed to keep her from bringing a car load of Seniors each week; but the inevitable happened Thursday. She had car trouble and had to send out an SOS to get the ladies there on time. We are very sorry to lose Mrs. Brandt, and wish them much happiness in sunny California this winter.

Visitors this week: Miss Cindy Hills, Mrs. Roxie Haston, of Big Spring. Mrs. Haston is visiting her sister Mrs. Ollie Daniel and a niece Mrs. Bodey. Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Meadows recently were: Mr. and Mrs. David Hutchens and sons of Lubbock, Mr. and Mrs. Troy Moore of Munday. Mr. Moore is a son of Mrs. Meadows, and Mrs. Hutchens is a daughter of Mr. Meadows.

Mrs. C. G. Miller was called to Oklahoma General Hospital, Clinton, Okla., Monday to see her sister, Mrs. Maggie McCorkle, who suffered a stroke. Her condition was improved Tuesday, when Mrs. Miller returned home by way of Elk City where she spent the night with her sister-in-law and husband Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Coilotte.

Young Men With Marriage Ideas, Study Her Mother, Clue To Future

A wise young man who intends to get married will do his best to become well acquainted with his future mother-in-law. The kind of person she is will be a strong indication of the kind of wife her daughter will make for him.

Here are a few things a smart young man should find out about a mother before he marries her daughter:

One. What is the mother's attitude toward her own husband? If she regards her husband as of less importance than her children—she has probably raised a spoiled daughter, whose interest in getting married will all be self-interest.

Two. What is the mother's attitude toward the job of homemaking? If she belittles it and has not taught her daughter anything about homemaking — then the daughter is likely to turn out to be another frustrated wife, bored with the responsibility for making a home.

Three. What is the mother's attitude toward her daughter? Is she willing to let her daughter think for herself and accomplish her own — not her mother's — ambitions? If she's a possessive mother, no young man had better count on the idea that she'll stop trying to run her daughter's life as soon as she gets a husband.

Four. What is the mother's attitude toward such things as money and social position? An ambitious mother who has a shallow set of standards may pass them on to her daughter. So if the mother sets great store by money and social position, the young man should make sure the daughter doesn't share those ideas—unless, of course, he shares them himself. In which case, she would probably be a good wife for him.

Five. Is the mother a happy, cheerful person? If she is, chances are the daughter will be easier to live with than if she had grown up in a family bossed by an unhappy, neurotic woman.

These clues will go a long way in telling a man the kind of person his wife will be and the kind of home she will make for him.

The sundew, pitcher plant and Venus flytrap are three American plants that catch and eat insects.

Party Honors Joann Morgan

Miss Joann Morgan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Morgan of Pampa, was honored on her eighth birthday with a party in the home of her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. James Morgan, 823 S. Gray, on Aug. 8.

Music and games were enjoyed by 15 attending friends of the honoree.

The pink and white birthday cake held eight pink candles and had the words, "Happy Birthday Joann", spelled across the center. Cake, ice cream, bubble gum, punch and lollipops were served the guests.

After the gifts were opened, pictures were taken of the group and the honoree.

Ten gifts were sent by persons unable to attend the party.

Sclerosis-Stricken Pilot Writes 'Thank You' Letter With Eyelids

By ROBERT J. SERLING

RACINE, Ohio (UPI) — Until the spring of 1958, Bill Grim was the personification of a healthy, husky and happy airline pilot.

He flew for United Air Lines and earned about $15,000 a year. He had a pretty wife, two teenage daughters and an attractive home.

That was just five years ago. Today, Bill Grim lies in bed 24 hours a day, unable to move even an eyelid. He is suffering from lateral sclerosis, a muscle-destroying disease for which there is no cure.

A pain, then weakness in his right arm was the first symptom. Doctors at first thought it was a muscle strain. But gradually, the disease sapped the strength of his entire body.

Tracheotomy Performed

On June 18, 1958, he was forced to quit flying. In September, 1959, he entered an iron lung. He stayed in the lung for more than a year when his doctors gave him a simpler and less expensive means of breathing artificially. They performed a tracheotomy, an operation which opens the windpipe, and from the incision ran a tube connected to a small motor under Grim's bed. The device keeps air pumping to lungs that are too weak to function.

The disease ran its inexorable course. By late 1961, Bill Grim had lost all muscular coordination except his eyelids. Medical bills and the artificial breathing device (his wife, Edith, had to order two of them so that if one of the motors failed, the alternate would be available instantly) cut heavily into their income.

United kept Grim on salary for almost two years after he stopped flying. His fellow UAL pilots collected more than $5,500 as a contribution toward medical expenses—a gesture which prompted Grim to "write" a thank you letter.

Points To Letters

He didn't actually write it. His wife held up the alphabet in front of him and pointed to the various letters. When she reached one which would fit what he wanted to dictate, he would move his eyelids in signal. This, in part, is the letter, addressed to United Capt. Oscar Bean:

"Dear Oscar:
"I don't know how to thank you. I appreciate the thoughts, effort, time and money. It was good to be remembered by the guys after being gone so long. Edith made a list and when I look at the names I remember the guys and hurt and feel good at the same time. Could you thank them for me? I also got checks from fellows that didn't know me. "Everything about me is failing, but my heart runs fine. I wish I could give it to someone who could use it. . . ."

"You ask how I was. Well, when you have a disease like this and you know there is no hope, you finally get tired of mourning for yourself so my spirits are not too bad. My eyebrows have stopped moving so that leaves only my eyelids and eyeballs. My lids are getting very sluggish. I still use them to communicate. One thing worries me. I'm afraid my eyes become completely paralyzed before I die and I won't be able to contact anyone. My insides keep threatening to stop. When this happens I get pretty sick. "The man who called this disease insidious made the understatement of the century. I never figured on lasting this long."

Worst Fears Realized
Bill Grim's worst fears were realized. Soon after he dictated the letter, the tiny vein of strength he needed to move his eyelids and eyeballs drained away. Technically, he is not blind but he cannot open his eyes to see. His only reaction, if one can use such a weak word, is to have his wife read to him.

Bill Grim is only 43. His once-powerful frame has shriveled to a shadow. But Edith Grim says bravely that "he looks pretty good, considering everything."

"I know he won't get well," she added. "But I think the one thing

God has given us is appreciation of what a normal, healthy life was like once."

FITTING MONUMENT—The farmhouse (top photo) in which Henry Ford was born a century ago, on July 30, 1863, stands serenely in Greenfield Village exactly as it looked at the time of his birth. The only thing that is not the same is its location. The spot where it originally stood, less than two miles away, vibrates now to the hum of automobile traffic. Perhaps the best possible monument to the inventor of the Model T and originator of the assembly line, a modern highway overpass (lower photo) covers the original farmhouse site. The Henry Ford Centennial marker committee recently viewed the area from the overpass prior to erecting a marker, donated by Dearborn school children, close to the intersection.

Tax on Purses Draws Male Ire

NEW YORK (UPI) — A union official has asked the nation's women legislators to decide pocketbooks are a necessity, not a luxury.

Philip Lubliner, manager of local one of the Pocketbook and Novelty Workers Union (AFL-CIO), sent letters recently to Sens. Margaret Chase Smith, (R-Maine), and Maurine Brown Neuberger, (D-Ore.), and nine woman representatives urging them to campaign among their male colleagues for a repeal of the 10 per cent luxury tax on pocketbooks.

A man can cram keys, money, address books, pencils, billfold, aspirin tablets cigarettes, matches, a handkerchief and other things into his pockets, said Lubliner.

"Why don't they put a luxury tax on our pockets?" he asked. In his letter the union official listed these as basic articles in a woman's handbag: change purse, mirror, comb, compact, lipstick, nail file, billfold, drivers license, address book, handkerchief, pen and pencil, tissues, key case, eye glasses, cosmetic bag, memo pad, cigarettes, matches, bankbook, checkbook, medical supplies and photograph folders.

The concept of relativity can be expressed as a question: Do the laws of nature and hence the physical situation described by them, always appear to be the same to different observers, even though the state of motion of the observers is not identical?

THIS IS NGPL

"... recognizing its responsibility to higher education."

Recognizing the need to aid higher education, NGPL in 1962 adopted a program of further support to colleges and universities.

Through its Matching Gift Program, the Company matches, dollar for dollar, employee contributions to schools from which they have been graduated or attended at least one year. The plan already has benefited many fine institutions of the Midwest and Southwest—our operating territory—and other areas as well.

NGPL is among the pioneers nationally in instituting such a program, as it recognizes the indispensability—to continued business and industry growth everywhere—of educated manpower and trained intellects.

Mixed Reaction Greets 'Instant Beer' Prospects

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI)—The unsullied pleasure of a bottle or can of cold beer may soon be corrupted by an ersatz product called "instant beer."

Delegates to the 27th biennial convention of the International Brewery Workers Union were told today that the just-add-water product may soon be ready for distribution.

Although automation and new processing methods—among them "instant beer"—are causing concern among the union's top ranks, the new product is viewed with mixed reaction among the rank-and-file.

The process involves quick freezing fresh beer and removing the water in the form of ice.

The concentrate can then be shipped in tank cars and "reconstituted" at bottling plants scattered around the country. Shipping costs would be cut 75 per cent.

"The process would be a benefit to the big breweries with national distribution," James Wolfe, union director of education and research said. "By having bottling centers in several places, they might cut into the business of local breweries."

"While we might lose some jobs at the big brewing centers, we might pick up more jobs at the new reconstitution points," he added.

But Wolfe said he had no idea of how the beer-drinking members of the union would take to the new product.

Israel Plans to Bolster Forces

BEERSHEBA, Israel (UPI)—Prime Minister Levi Eshkol, responding to new threats by President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic to enlarge the army, said yesterday Israel also will strengthen its military forces.

"We must continuously strengthen Israel in face of the danger from Egypt," Eshkol said in an address at a municipal election rally here.

Nasser declared at Alexandria Sunday that the U.A.R. cannot disarm "while the rights of the Palestine people are usurped."

The U.A.R. leader maintained that Israel was wrongfully taken away from the Palestinian Arabs.

Nasser said his country signed the limited nuclear test-ban treaty but that it was "no contradiction" to talk about increasing the strength of the Egyptian army at this time.

On another subject, Nasser said the ruling Baath party of Iraq and Syria "is destined to fall as did the reactionary regime in Syria and the isolationist regime in Iraq."
