Thompson Will Press For 15-Day Extension Of Crude Shutdown

Oil Leaders Meet Monday At Austin

'No Use Doing It Half Way,' Commission Member Says

AUSTIN, Aug. 26 (AP)—Chairman Ernest O. Thompson of the interstate oil compact commission announced tonight that he would advocate a 15-day extension of the current six-state oil production shutdown.

The announcement was made as leaders in the nation's oil industry headed toward Austin for meetings here Monday of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission. The chief question before both will be whether the shutdown should be prolonged, and if not, what substitute step should be taken to strengthen oil prices.

"There's no use doing this thing half way," Thompson said. "The shutdown is working and 15 days more will do the job."

Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, New Mexico, Arkansas and Louisiana have been parties to the production holiday, which will expire at varying times during the coming week unless extended. The oil and gas commission of Arkansas, smallest producer among the six states, today ordered some of its fields reopened tomorrow, others September 4 and the remainder September 4. Arkansas' allowable production, however, will be slashed 14 per cent.

Since Texas normally produces considerably more oil than the other five states combined, the decision of its railroad commission after Monday's prorating hearing will be vital. The Texas shutdown now is due to end Tuesday night.

Railroad Commissioner Jerry Sadler stated before a trip to Washington and New York this week that he would oppose extension of the closing. The deciding vote, therefore, appeared to be left to Commission Chairman Lon A. Smith, who had not returned from a national convention of public utilities commissioners.

Members of the Interstate Compact commission will listen to testimony at the Texas prorating hearing on the proper level of gasoline and crude oil stocks. They then will go into closed session to reach a decision.

Most of the major oil companies will have representatives at the hearing in response to the commission's invitation. They will see SHUTDOWN, Page 3, Col. 6

REVIEWING THE BIG SPRING WEEK

BY JOE PICKLE

Those who follow building permit totals may be deceived by the total amount of $20,000 for the week, a figure which included six new residences. Three of the homes representing a total of $9,000, were built in previous months and permits were then taken out. However, this does not detract from the fact that building is apparently reviving here.

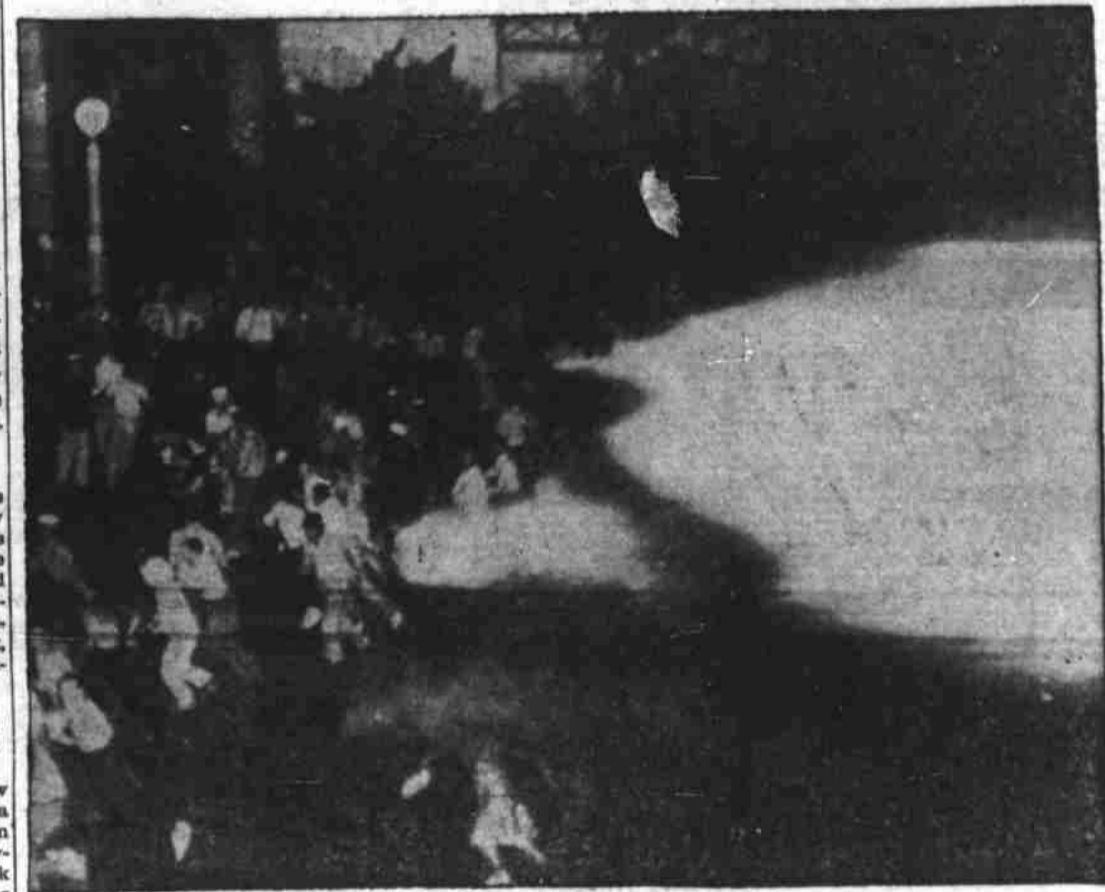

Of course there are many other good things to come out of it, but the annual picnic of the four railroad brotherhoods, such as which was held here last week, serve to remind Big Spring of the importance of the railroad industry to this community. For more than half a century now the railroad has meant much to Big Spring. Here's hoping that matters can be adjusted so that the industry will continue for much longer to play a vital role in the fortunes of this city.

Without major change, the $194,000 budget for the local school district, is expected to be approved on Sept. 11. It will be noted that of the total outlay, only little more than half, or $107,000, went for instructional service. After all it is from this item that the real value of education is gained, yet there appears to be an overbalance in favor of plants, maintenance, etc. Yet, in a sense, they are inadequate. No doubt this is one of the real problems of education and it will take some real thinking to solve it.

City commissioners, too, have a knotty problem in their decision to seek adjustment of the auditorium rates. This, to us, is the issue involved. To make the auditorium available at a rate popular enough

FIRE HOSE AND TEAR GAS DISPENSE SANTONE MOB

A howling mob which broke up a Communist meeting at the San Antonio auditorium Friday night is shown fleeing before spraying fire hoses and tear gas.

Damage estimated at several thousands dollars was done to the auditorium, and more than a score were injured in the melee. Mayor Maury

Maverick's granting the auditorium for Communist use had evoked a great controversy in San Antonio. (Associated Press Photo.)

Finance Firm Locates Here

Completion of a lease deal for quarters in the Petroleum building Saturday had assured the opening here of a district office of the Universal Credit corporation, one of the nation's major financing firms and one which handles exclusively deferred payments on Ford, Mercury, Zephyr, Lincoln and other products of the Ford Motor company.

It has been announced that the office will be opened early in October. It will serve a wide West Texas territory, UCC heretofore having had no office between Fort Worth and El Paso.

Indications are that a staff of ten to fifteen will be associated with the district office, including stenographic and clerical workers, credit men, field representatives, etc.

G. B. Strong, head of the UCC Dallas division, was here last week completing negotiations for office space, and, with other representatives of the company, was due back this week to make other arrangements, including employment of personnel.

LITTLE OIL OUTPUT UNDER EXEMPTIONS

AUSTIN, Aug. 26 (AP)—Railroad Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson said tonight production of Texas oil wells exempted from the shutdown had been reported by commission engineers as 228,035 barrels daily. This output normally produces about 1,400,000 barrels a day.

Thompson said the only wells now operating were those which because of their high salt content could not be closed without being killed, those supplying fuel gas sections where such gas otherwise could not be readily obtained, those open under old federal court injunctions and a few Panhandle wells supplying the Daniger refinery.

RADIO TRANSMITTER DONATED TO A. & M.

DALLAS, Aug. 26 (AP)—Edwin J. Kiest, publisher of the Daily Times Herald, today donated to Texas A. & M. a 10,000 watt transmitter, which has been inoperative since the 50,000 watt unit was installed. Mr. Kiest, member of the A. & M. board of trustees, announced he had presented the equipment to the college for whatever use the faculty may make of it. It was indicated the 500-watt station at College Station would be modernized, and possibly some of the equipment used in the school's electrical laboratories.

Williams was a former resident of Big Spring, having been graduated from the high school here. His father, A. Williams, operated a dry goods store here for many years prior to his death.

MEXICO POLITICAL RALLY MAY DEVELOP INTO PITCHED BATTLE

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 26 (AP)—General Juan Andreu Almazan brings his presidential campaign into Mexico City tomorrow and there was frank speculation that his political rally might become pitched battle between his followers and opposition elements.

So intense has become the political campaign that newspapers for weeks have discussed the possibility of "bloody clashes" at the Almazan meeting in this hotbed of political cross-currents.

Mexico City is the seat of the national administration whose policies Almazan has criticized, and the headquarters of General Manuel Avila Camacho. Almazan and Avila Camacho are now the two outstanding candidates for the office of President Lazaro Cardenas to relinquish Dec. 1, 1940. Political feeling has become so bitter it has brought defections from the ranks of the CTM (Confederation of Mex-

Two Deaths In Kidnap Case

CHIHUAHUA CITY, Mex., Aug. 26 (AP)—Two persons died early today and two others were wounded in a bizarre series of events that followed the kidnaping of Maria Christina Contreras, 19, of Cieneguita, a small village about 100 miles from here, police authorities revealed.

The girl was slain by her alleged kidnaper, Erasmo Gutierrez, 26, who subsequently met his death when his horse fell over a cliff as he fled two pursuers, Filomeno Contreras, 44, Maria's father, and Leopoldo Gandara, 23, another suitor.

According to information received here from Cieneguita, Gutierrez kidnaped the girl because she rejected his intentions of marriage.

When news spread throughout the village that Maria had been kidnaped by her rejected suitor, her father and Gandara went in pursuit.

Several hours after leaving the village, the two men picked up the kidnaper's trail in the mountainous regions north of Cieneguita.

Gutierrez, noticing he was being followed by the two men, opened fire on the pair, wounding both of them. He then turned the guns on the girl and shot her to death, leaving her body by the road.

The two pursuers, although wounded, kept after him. The kidnaper, unable to shake off his two pursuers, tried an untraveled road which led him to the edge of a cliff. Unable to control his horse, he fell to his death.

The two men returned to pick up the body of the young girl and took it to the village.

Washington Continues Its Vigil

Conferences Held On Policies In Event Of War

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26 (AP)— Dispatches from abroad gave official Washington a measure of hope today that a European war might be averted, but there was no relaxation in the hour-by-hour study of developments abroad, or in the government's advance preparations for the steps this country will take if war breaks out.

President Roosevelt, still awaiting German replies to his two messages in behalf of peace, conferred with A. A. Berle, assistant secretary of state, and Louis Johnson, assistant secretary of war, regarding plans to meet the problems a war would present for this country.

Neither the White House nor the state department had received any indications as to when, or whether, Adolf Hitler would reply to the president's peace appeals. It generally was assumed, however, that weekend developments would show whether Europe would be plunged into war or would settle its differences by negotiations.

The French and Polish ambassadors called at the state department and discussed the fast-developing European events with Sumner Welles, undersecretary of state. Jerzy Potocki, the Polish representative, expressed the appreciation of his government for Mr. Roosevelt's efforts to avert. "The only thing we can do now," he asserted, "is to wait and wonder what Hitler will do."

Potocki told reporters he thought recent German developments—the sudden stoppage of communication with the outside world and its unexplained resumption, the grounding of commercial planes and the call for German shipping to return home—were designed as another step in Hitler's "war of nerves."

The Polish ambassador reiterated previous declarations that Poland was "entirely willing to negotiate with Germany." But he added that "negotiations cannot be carried on in an atmosphere of threats."

Avoiding a direct answer to a question as to whether Poland would be willing to negotiate over the status of Danzig, Potocki asserted that Poland could not afford to do anything that would destroy her "vital rights."

PARK DONATIONS ARE EXEMPT FROM U. S. INCOME TAX

FORT WORTH, Aug. 26 (AP)—Donations made for the purchase of land for the Big Bend National park will be exempt from income tax, Amos Carter, Fort Worth, president of the Texas Big Bend Park association, said today.

An amendment to the association's charter, approved by the federal government, guaranteeing that donations to the park fund will be exempt was filed in the secretary of state's office in Austin today, Carter said.

The amendment sets forth that the association is a nonprofit making corporation and that its single purpose is to raise funds for purchase of the land which in turn will be presented to the U. S. government for recreation and educational purposes.

LAREDO, BEAUMONT ASK LEGION MEET

WACO, Aug. 26 (AP)—A large American Legion delegation from Laredo put in a bid for the 1940 convention, along with Beaumont, today as preliminary sessions to the annual meeting started.

Two candidates for the post of state commander, Ed Riedel of San Angelo and Lou Roberts of Borger, were hailed before a mock court today and fined for taking part in politics as legislators spent most of the day frolicking.

Free Fraser of Washington, representing the legion's child welfare committee, was the speaker tonight at a banquet.

Fraser also spoke at a joint welfare luncheon.

General sessions of the convention begin tomorrow and business meetings will be held Monday. More than 4,000 legionnaires and their wives were present at the 40 and 8 started the convention off with faith-provoking activities.

RE-APPOINTED

DALLAS, Aug. 26 (AP)—City Manager James W. Aston announced today re-appointment of Sidney Hansen as Dallas fire chief.

BRITAIN'S ANSWER TO HITLER DEMANDS AWAITED BY EUROPE

Fuehrer's Cancellation Of Nazi Congress At Nuernberg Taken As Sign Reich Taking Steps To Meet An Emergency

LONDON, Aug. 27 (Sunday) (AP)—Europe's outlook for peace darkened early today as Fuehrer Hitler announced a sudden cancellation of his great Nazi party congress at Nuernberg, which was to have opened next Saturday.

The move, announced in Berlin shortly before midnight, followed dispatch of the French reply to the Fuehrer's proposals. France was reported to have told Hitler firmly that she has given her guarantee to Poland and intends to make good.

If Germany wants a peaceful solution, she must negotiate a settlement directly with Poland as an equal power, France was reported to have informed the Fuehrer.

Meanwhile Britain delayed replying to the Hitler message, brought to London by airplane Saturday by the British ambassador to Berlin, Sir Neville Henderson. Hitler was reported to have demanded a straight "yes" or "no" reply to his proposals.

The British cabinet met late last night in framing an answer, and Henderson was expected to take it back to Berlin today. It was reported Prime Minister Chamberlain had decided to call parliament into special session Monday.

Too Busy For Convention

The Nuernberg congress cancellation was not explained, but the inference was that Germany was dissatisfied with the reaction of France and Britain to the Hitler proposals.

It seemed obvious in Berlin that Nazi and government leaders figured on being too busy in the coming weeks to participate in a party convention.

PARIS, Aug. 26 (AP)—The French government tonight cut off all air communication between France and eastern Europe.

A decree, to become effective at 9 a. m. Sunday, forbade any planes except French military craft to fly over French territory east of a line from Calais south through Paris and Lyons to Marseille.

Polish circles in Warsaw said Hitler apparently had been ready to strike against Poland early Saturday, but decided suddenly late Friday upon another course, after which he called in the French and British ambassadors, along with the Italian and Japanese, and gave out his peace terms.

This was interpreted in London as indicating he did not want to risk a European war over his claim against Poland.

Polish circles in Warsaw said Hitler apparently had been impressed by the stand of Britain, France and Poland in the face of the crisis.

Whatever Hitler's offer, it was authoritatively stated, Britain's position is that Poland must have the say as to whether the proposal is acceptable to her as a basis for negotiations between the two countries.

An informed source said further clarification of Hitler's views might have to be conveyed back to London. This appeared to indicate that Henderson would not take back a definite final reply to the Fuehrer's proposals, but a cautiously worded answer designed to keep open the door for further consultation.

France, emphasizing her position as one of absolute firmness, brought her army to a stage of proaching complete mobilization with 2,200,000 men estimated under arms.

"There can be no conference simply to ratify Germany's claims, one high French official said, "but See WAR CRISIS, Page 3, Col. 1

ELLIOTT POINTS OUT EVENTUALITIES OF GERMAN VICTORY

FORT WORTH, Aug. 26 (AP)—Elliott Roosevelt, son of the president, declared today the great question facing the people of the United States during the European crisis is a decision where their sympathies lie.

"If war does come, one side has to win, and for our own good I think we ought to try to decide what a victory for either side would mean to us," said Roosevelt in one of his regular radio broadcasts.

The Germans, "great expansionists," soon would be in Canada, Bermuda, the West Indies and South and Central America if they were to win a war with European democracies, Roosevelt declared.

He asserted the responsibilities of the United States now are far greater than before Russia signed a non-aggression pact with Germany. He said the "only source of supplies in all the world left to the democracies is the United States."

IRISH REPUBLICANS BLAMED FOR BLASTS

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 26 (AP)—Two bomb explosions, which police blamed on the outlawed Irish Republican army, occurred here tonight and angry after-theater crowds attempted to mob a man who was detained by police.

The crowds tried to overturn the police van in which the man was taken away but were quickly controlled by a squad of policemen.

First reports of the bombings mentioned no casualties.

'BOMB DISTANCES' IN EUROPE

This map, indicating approximate flying distances between major European cities, shows the compact area likely to be involved in event of war. In the upper left is shown the distance from British Admiralty headquarters to the barrier reported thrown up against German warships between Denmark and Norway.

Poles Say They've Done Their Part

Warsaw Awaits Diplomats' Decisions On Future Fate Of Nation

WARSAW, Aug. 26 (AP)—Warsaw waited and prayed through a day of drizzling rain today for diplomacy's decision in greater capitals that might break up the clouds of war.

The Poles declared they had done their part, consistent with honor, by agreeing to refrain from any hostile act if Germany also avoided "such act, direct or indirect."

Five Blown To Bits In Blast

HOLDEN, Me., Aug. 26 (AP)—A man, a woman, and three children were blown to bits and four other persons severely injured tonight when dynamite aboard a truck exploded here, littering the countryside with debris.

The five victims, all occupants of the light delivery truck, were the driver, Joseph Moffett, 38; Mrs. Chester Grindle, 37, and her three children, Margaret, 15, Stella, 9 and Marion, 7, all of Ellsworth.

Two automobiles traveling in opposite directions were blown from the highway by the force of the blast, which aroused this northeastern Maine town of 543 inhabitants.

Joseph J. Muir, of Bangor, an occupant of one of the machines, was not expected to live. He and two companions, Mrs. Annie Harlow and her 12-year-old son, Lawrence of Bangor, were taken to a Bangor hospital.

Thomas Skalek, of Cambridge, Mass., driver of the other auto, was thrown 25 feet by the impact. Moffett, a truck driver, had picked up a case load of dynamite in Ellsworth earlier in the day, driver

U. S. MERCHANT MARINE BETTER PREPARED FOR A WAR CRISIS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26 (AP)—This country's merchant marine is in a vastly better position to meet an emergency caused by war in Europe than it was in 1914 when the withdrawal of foreign ships from commercial service created chaos.

Tonnage of American flag lines available for international trade is more than four times greater than at the start of the World War. Also the maritime commission has a building program well under way whereas for many years preceding the last great war the merchant marine had received little but neglect.

The potential need for United States ships to carry world commerce was seen in news from abroad. As tension increased in Europe, Germany ordered all its merchantmen back to home ports. Italy cancelled all sailings between American and European ports and some English ships were ordered back for possible use as troop transports. (The expanded United States merchant fleet took on an immediate importance when the state department, in announcing plans for evacuating American nationals from danger zones, said it would count upon the regular American merchant ships instead of naval vessels.)

The United States now has 322 vessels of 2,200,000 gross tons available for operation in foreign trade. In 1914 this country had fewer than 100 vessels totaling about 500,000 gross tons operating in regular services in foreign trade. For 50 years preceding the outbreak of the World War, 50 per cent of the United States foreign commerce had been transported in foreign bottoms. Now approximately one-third of it comes in American flag ships.

Hedy Lamarr, Robt. Taylor Co-Starred

Appear At Ritz Theatre In 'Lady Of The Tropics'

Robert Taylor, the matinee idol turned "he-man," is cast opposite the sensational Hedy Lamarr in "Lady of the Tropics," a languorous drama of passions laid against the exotic background of Indo-China. The two appear at the Ritz theatre today and Monday.

A dramatic tale of an adventurous American and a beautiful half-caste of the Orient, the picture surrounds Taylor and Miss Lamarr with lavish settings reminiscent of the mysticism and splendors of the Far East in a story written especially for the stars by Ben Hecht. Three years in preparation "Lady of the Tropics" brings to the screen for the first time a panorama of background scenes of little-known places of Indo-China and Cambodia which were filmed by a photographic expedition exclusively for the picture.

The love story has its beginning in the harbor of Saigon, with its teeming Oriental traffic of ocean liners off-shore, quaint native craft at the docks, natives hawking in the colorful, narrow market places and caparisoned elephants and oxen lumbering through the streets. A riverfront a quarter of mile in length was dredged from California soil, landings were built, native huts were erected on piles and an ancient section of the famed and ancient Angkor Wat Temple was recreated for a climactic love scene between Taylor and Miss Lamarr.

Taylor, as Bill Carey, arrives in Saigon and falls in love with Manon, the Eurasian portrayed by Miss Lamarr. A half-caste, she is bound to Indo-China by racial distinctions. Falling to escape through the influence of Delacroix, a rich and powerful admirer, she has planned to marry a native prince when she is dissuaded by Taylor whom she marries instead. Although married to an American Manon is prevented from fleeing from Indo-China. To release her husband, whom she loves devotedly she slays the man who has thwarted her happiness, then ends her own life.

NEW STARRING COMBINATION

A new combine calculated to be pleasing to all the ladies who "adore" Robert Taylor, and all the men who admire Hedy Lamarr is that which co-stars these two in "Lady of the Tropics," a drama of strange passions, set against an Oriental background. The picture is at the Ritz theatre today and Monday.

Bette Davis At The Lyric In 'Dark Victory'

Characterization Seen As Another Academy Award Winner

What is considered as Bette Davis' important bid for another Academy Award is her characterization in "Dark Victory," the poignant drama of a girl's fight with herself and a fatal illness, to be seen at the Lyric today and Monday as the picture makes return showings here.

While every happening in the picture revolves about the girl played by Miss Davis, the production is by no means a monologue for her. An exceptionally able supporting cast, numbering in it such luminaries as George Brent, Humphrey Bogart, Geraldine Fitzgerald, Henry Travers and Ronald Reagan, was provided by Warner Bros., and the superlative performance of the star seems to have inspired them all to attain a degree of ensemble excellence which has rarely before been achieved either on stage or screen.

In this screen play, based by Casey Robinson on a stage play by George Emerson Brewer, Jr., and Bertram Bloch, Miss Davis is presented as a 1929 model of all that is best in American girls of good breeding and great wealth. She is the gray popular belle of a hard-driving and hard-drinking set of "hony" society folk, but she is decent, unselfish and altogether likeable. Her only fault is that her life has been an aimless pursuit of pleasure. Then love and accompanying tragedy come into her life and change her into a mature woman, whose courage conquers life itself.

INSURANCE GROUP IN MEETING HERE

Conatser, W. W. Harrelson, and M. L. Cochran, agents of McCarney; R. L. Black, assistant, C. E. Gann, G. B. Gabbard, W. H. Stephenson, H. R. Edwards and C. G. Sutton, agents of Pecos; S. A. It was announced that the new tractor—which employs new methods and promises more efficient farm operation—likely will be on the market here by September 15. The Ford-Ferguson vehicle, by adapting new scientific principles has set high standards of performance, operation and mobility.

AT THE LYRIC IN 'DARK VICTORY'

What is termed her best characterization to date is that of Bette Davis in "Dark Victory," the poignant drama which returns here for Sunday-Monday showings at the Lyric. Also winning acting laurels is George Brent, who plays opposite the star.

New Line Of Farmall Tractors Now Offered In Three Different Sizes

George Oldham, head of the Miller-Oldham Company here, recently returned from a group meeting of International Harvester dealers who met at Sweetwater for a field demonstration of new Farmall tractors.

According to Oldham, Harvester engineers have built an entirely new line of Farmalls (shown above) in three sizes. The Farmall-A, in the $500 price class, boasts many new features. Included are "Culti-Vision," which permits the operator to watch his work without shifting about on the machine, and rubber tires. A full line of direct attachable machines is manufactured for use with this small tractor also.

To round out the Farmall family, Harvester factories recently went into production of two larger sizes—Farmall-H and Farmall-M. The first is what is classed as a two-plow tractor, while the second has ample power to pull three plows. Both feature practical modern styling, with emphasis on design that fits in with today's farm power needs. Quick attachable machines have been developed for the new "H" and "M" to make full use of their power and efficiency in all crop operations.

The larger units can now be equipped with "Lift-All," an entirely new type of hydraulic power. The new Farmalls are powered by 4-cylinder, overhead-valve engines which operate either on gasoline or No. 1 tractor distillate. The Farmall-A has a 4-speed transmission, with three field speeds and a 10-mile road speed. The two larger models have a 5-speed transmission, providing four field speeds and a 16-mile road speed (on rubber). All models have adjustable trucks to meet all row-crop requirements. Oldham Saturday announced a field demonstration that will be of interest to farmers and land owners throughout this section. The demonstration will be held all next Thursday, Aug. 31, on a tract three miles south of Big Spring, and everyone interested is invited to attend.

New Product May Help To Reduce Citrus Surplus

Hope that Texas citrus fruit growers will be saved from the curse of over-production through sales of canned grapefruit juice in the soft drink market was expressed by G. O. McDaniel, sales manager for the Edgeman Gardens association of Edinburg, Tex.

canners of Won-Up, pure valley grapefruit juice. According to McDaniel, the nickels spent for grapefruit juice in the 5-8-4 ounce can may, within a very short time, completely reestablish the Texas citrus industry, which is one of the state's leading agricultural pursuits.

There is a potential outlet, he says, through the soft drink trade for approximately 10 million of its 15 million boxes of grapefruit annually, and in order to obtain an outlet of this size, it would only be necessary to get an estimated 1-40th of the cold drink business.

"An actual shortage soon of citrus fruits, instead of a staggering surplus, is easily possible," Mr. McDaniel explained, "in view of the ready acceptance this year throughout Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana, of valley grapefruit—as a healthful thirst quencher. In April when we placed Won-Up, canned grapefruit juice, in soft drink outlets over the state," he said, "we were hopeful that the idea of undiluted chilled juice as a hot weather drink would appeal to enough people to give us an additional outlet for our surplus crop. The results were astounding. Within a few weeks more than six million cans of Won-Up have brought healthful refreshment to the parched throats of Texans."

GOP Aspirants To Carry Campaign To All States

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26 (AP)—Officials of the republican congressional campaign committee will start early in September a three-month campaigning tour in behalf of 1940 party candidates for election to the house.

Rep. Ditter of Pennsylvania, committee chairman, said today he and Earl Venable, committee secretary would "visit every state that offers any prospect whatever of republican success." He added that states in the "solid south" would not be visited.

EDDIE CANTOR STAR OF CURRENT SHOW AT CASA MANANA

FORT WORTH, Aug. 26—Eddie Cantor, perhaps the greatest entertainer in the world, is being presented currently at the Fort Worth Casa Manana. He will remain through Thursday night.

The pop-eyed comedian, a star of the stage for many years, has been a tremendous success also in motion pictures and over the radio. That he can still "pack 'em in" was proved a few weeks ago when he made his first Broadway appearance in recent years and the crowds were so huge—many persons waiting for hours to buy tickets—that three sets of police had to be called out. Cantor set a record by playing to 115,000 persons in a week, total receipts exceeding $50,000.

It is understood that Cantor is receiving an amount in excess of $10,000 for his week's engagement in Fort Worth.

With him is his own company including his stooge, Mister Guffy and the phenomenal little singer Leni Lynn, hailed as another Deanna Durbin. On the bill also are Ray Noble and his orchestra, who have been immensely popular the past week, with Larry Stewart and Elizabeth Tilton as vocalists; the Great Yacops, the most sensational act in the four years' history of Casa Manana, and Herman Hyde musical comedian, as well as the "Texas Sweethearts" in four beautiful scenes.

New Field In Prospect For Gaines Co.

SAN ANGELO, Aug. 26—Promised opening of a new oil field in northeastern Gaines county near the Dawson county line and staking of location for an Ordovician test in Crockett county marked high points of activity in the Permian basin of West Texas during the last week as the statewide shut-down generally slowed up drilling and testing operations.

Stanolind No. 1 J. B. Rayner, on the western edge of Cedar Lake, 660 feet out of the southwest corner of section 3-C3-ual, Gaines county, cored ahead through saturated lime at the weekend after preliminary examination. The wildcat, most closely watched test in West Texas during the last 10 days, had a show of gas from 4,652-61 feet and a show of oil from 4,661-4,765 feet. The cores showed varying porosity, some with bleeding oil. A drill stem test was taken from 4,645-98 feet, and open through half-inch choke on bottom for three hours and five minutes, the hole filled 1,900 feet with oil. The oil showed 35.5 gravity at 61 degrees. Bottomhole pressure was 325 pounds. Seven-inch pipe was set and cemented at 4,448 feet with 350 sacks. With 2 1/2 inch tubing set at 4,769 feet, Yates gas was used to blow out drilling mud. Sixty barrels of oil were blown out before tubing was pulled and coring resumed.

Of 9 feet, 8 inches cored from 4,780-90, 3 feet, 3 inches were saturated with oil, and of 8 feet, 10 inches recovered from 4,790-4,800, 1 foot, 8 inches were saturated. Stanolind No. 1 Rayner is 4 1/2 miles southwest of Wilson No. 1 Scanlon, a small producer later plugged, in northwestern Dawson county, 11 1/2 miles east and slightly south of Perryman No. 1 Doak, a dry hole in Gaines county. Stanolind No. 1 Rayner was approximately 251 feet higher on the Yates sand top than No. 1 Doak and still higher than No. 1 Scanlon on the same marker.

Stanolind No. 1 Rayner was making a tubing test the last of the week, bottomed at 4,820 feet in line. Slight saturation continued evident in the last core recovered and described, secured in deepening from 4,810-20 feet. Operators set 2 1/2 inch tubing on bottom with six feet of perforations and with wall packer set at 4,772-75 feet. Eight oil companies are interested in the projected deep oil test in central western Crockett county, Continental Oil company, which will be in charge of operations, announced the tentative location for the Ordovician exploration as 1,890 feet from the south and west lines of section 30, block WX, CCB&F Ry. Co. survey, approximately 15 miles airline northwest of Ozona.

City Urchins' Story Told In Queen Film

Jackie Cooper Heads Cast Of 'Streets Of New York'

From the histories of countless little lives, from the inspiring stories of the struggles of self-made men, comes Monogram's drama of a boy of the streets, called "Streets of New York," playing today and Monday at the Queen theatre, with Jackie Cooper in the role of Jimmy Keenan, "the Abe Lincoln of 10th Avenue."

Jimmy owns a newsstand and supports himself and his little orphaned pal, Gimpy, without any help from "Tap" Keenan, New York's public enemy number one, and Jimmy's brother, Jimmy studies law at night, with Abraham Lincoln as his inspiration; and Judge Carroll, of the local night court, becomes his friend when Jimmy defends his pals of a gambling charge.

The boy's struggle comes from his attempt to succeed in spite of his racker brother, and in his efforts to convince Gimpy that "honesty is the best policy" and valor is his own reward.

Judge Carroll's Christmas dinner helps win Gimpy over to the idea that there is a Santa Claus, but Jimmy's problem in his brother is not so easily solved.

Thrills climax "Streets of New York," as Jimmy finds his career and Gimpy's life threatened when "Tap" Keenan, pursued as a murderer, seeks sanctuary with his brother, who must choose between honor and duty.

The role of Jimmie is one that fits Jackie Cooper, and Martin Spellman as "Gimpy" also wins honors. Others in the cast are George Irving, Marjorie Reynolds, David Durand and Romert Emmett O'Connor.

FOREIGN TRADE IS STRONGER THAN A YEAR AGO

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26 (AP)—The commerce department said today United States foreign trade declined in July below June levels, but was still bigger than a year ago.

During July, American exporters shipped abroad $229,628,000 worth of goods, and imported $168,925,000 worth.

For the first seven months of the year, merchandise exports, totaling $1,645,465,000, exceeded the $1,263,441,000 imports by $283,024,000. Because imports this year have been larger, and exports slightly smaller, the excess of exports was little more than half the $716,569,000 of the comparable period last year.

July imports of gold totaled $278,545,000, compared with $68,880,000 in the same month last year, while imports of silver last month amounted to $5,531,000, compared with $18,326,000 in the same month last year.

War Crisis

only on a basis of absolute parity. Usually well informed Paris diplomatic circles said Hitler had made "such a clever proposition" that it was "almost impossible not to envisage discussion."

Henderson conferred for three hours today with Chamberlain and Foreign Minister Lord Halifax and reported to King George.

Lord Halifax then conferred with the French and Polish ambassadors, Charles Corbin and Count Edward Raczyński, presumably to acquaint them with Hitler's offer and to obtain their government's view on submission to the cabinet meeting tomorrow.

A highly placed informant in Berlin, who said today that "the danger of a world war is definitely averted," indicated Henderson's mission resulted after Nazi generals urged Hitler to show the same willingness to negotiate that Polish President Moscicki expressed in his reply to President Roosevelt's appeal.

Orders which would have sent German troops on the march along the Polish border at 4:30 this morning were rescinded, this source said, at 2 a. m.

Despite this apparent "eleventh hour" respite and the glimmer of hope raised by the desperate diplomatic maneuvers, Germany, Italy, France, England and Poland pushed ahead with military preparations.

Some dispatches said Premier Mussolini, closely informed by Hitler of his efforts to avert war by diplomacy, also was actively engaged in a "last attempt to save the peace of Europe."

There was no mention, meanwhile, of President Roosevelt's second message stating that the Polish president had agreed to negotiate on the basis of Roosevelt's proposal to the Polish pre-dent and Hitler yesterday. Neither the first message nor the second one was mentioned in the German press and official quarters today said they had no comment to make on the matter, other than that no reply had been sent to Washington.

Hitler's "minimum demands" were believed to be for the return of Danzig and a part of the corridor.

on it to Bangor, and was returning to Ellsworth when the explosion occurred.

Mrs. Grindle and her children were returning from a visit to the Eastern Maine general hospital in Bangor where her husband is a patient. Skales said he saw a blinding flash of light, then heard a deafening roar.

Parts of bodies were strewn for 200 yards around. Some fragments clung to telephone wires. Portions of the automobile were found 400 feet from the wreckage.

The blast blew in doors and windows of an unoccupied farmhouse nearby, caused houses to shake in a two-mile vicinity, and ripped communication and power lines, plunging Holden and nearby Eddington in darkness.

A piece of steel from the truck flew through the windshield of the Murr automobile, almost severing Murr's head.

to make it completely useful, yet high enough to preclude the sort of gatherings that would decrease its usefulness in years to come.

After a public hearing, commissioners ordered 11 blocks of Big Spring streets paved. It was indicated that men would be shifted from the park to the paving job. If this is true, the amphitheater project in the park may be again orphaned.

Howard and Martin county ruralists appear to be making progress in their attempt to effect a R.E.A. project for serving some 500 farm families with electricity. Someday, when power lines—possibly other utilities—spread over the rural section, we may witness a mild movement of the population from urban centers to where families can have room for a cow and a few chickens.

At Colorado City last week organization of a Permian Basin Oil and Gas association was completed. If there was ever a doubt as to the need of such a cooperative, common-front organization for the area, recent developments in the oil industry should have cleared them.

The $1.70 tax rate adopted for the city represents a 48 cent increase over the past year. In case you are wondering why, drive out to the almost completed dams south of Ochsama and to the filtration plant at the end of E. 16th street.

The senators therefore invited the CTM and other groups (friendly to Avila Camacho) to send representatives to the Almazan meeting also.

In pointing upon this opportunity to bring opposition elements to the meeting, the anti-Almazanistas engineered a neat political coup. The government permits only one group at a time to hold a political manifestation or parade. Thus the Avila Camacho followers had no way of staging a counter rally. But if they go as "invited guests" that is another matter.

The Almazanistas withdrew their challenge, also withdrawing their suggestion that opposition groups attend. However, anti-Almazanistas are expected to be represented at the meeting.

FREIGHTER HELD UP
QUEBEC, Aug. 26 (Canadian Press)—The German freighter Knigsberg, halted off Quebec last night as she heeded a call to the Fatherland, was unloaded here today, still held up by legal proceedings.

John Noms, an attorney, said he had started litigation for several Montreal and Toronto firms charging non-delivery of goods, and that the freighter could not leave port until a $20,000 bond had been posted.

COMMUNIST RALLY RIOTING IS FOLLOWED BY THREATS OF RECALL OF MAVERICK

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 26 (AP)—

Bull-headed Mayor Maury Maverick, former liberal congressman, remained silent today under threats of recall following rioting which broke up a communist rally, demolished municipal auditorium furnishings and injured possibly two score persons.

The mayor, who had pledged safety for a handful of communists in their attempted meeting last night and backed up his promise of free speech and assembly for the party unit with 200 police and firemen who used tear gas and fire hoses in a futile effort to halt the mob, brushed aside questions with a terse "no comment."

After those attending the communist meeting were driven from the auditorium building, 3,000 persons, jamming the auditorium to their feet when a speaker called for those favoring Maverick's recall to stand.

Reliable sources were chary of comment whether the demand for Maverick's recall would be followed up. A recall petition circulated several weeks ago made little headway.

Except for Newspaper photographer George Bartholomew of San Antonio, struck on the head by a flying brick, none of the disabled retained serious injuries.

Hurling rocks, mudballs and flying glass from shattered windows in the communist meeting room dispersed the assembly if 100, including a dozen negroes, whose leaders repeatedly were howled down.

Mrs. Emma Tenayuca Brooks, local secretary of the communist party, her husband, Homer Brooks, party state secretary, and the rest fled by rear exits before the mob, held at bay for more than an hour by officers instructed not to use force, crashed through doors and stormed into the darkened building. Damage was estimated at $2,000.

Clem J. Smith, commander-elect of a local American Legion post who had begged in vain through loudspeakers for the mob to disperse after he had led the crowd in singing patriotic songs, blamed the mayor for the riot.

"Cause of the whole thing rests on the shoulders of Maury Maverick for not recinding his order and insisting that she (Mrs. Brooks) would speak in the auditorium," Smith said. "As long as they don't meet in the auditorium and meet in the open where we can watch them, we don't care."

Herman Mann, commander of a legion post, asserted: "We repeatedly warned the mayor and councilmen about what might happen, but they did not listen to our protests." Two of four city commissioners had expressed themselves against issuance of the auditorium permit to Mrs. Brooks.

Rev. Marcus Valente, Catholic archdiocese chancellor who was among those struck by missiles, also pleaded with the rioters "to go home." Later he participated in an "Americanism meeting" of the crowd in the auditorium proper and, still later, led prayers for a group in front of the Alamo, shrine of Texas liberty.

Before dawn, Maverick was hanged in effigy at the city hall.

Shutdown

on the present position of their companies in regard to stocks of oil and gasoline and tell the commission how much, if any, they believed stocks should be reduced through the remainder of the year.

Companies which have signified their intention of sending representatives include the Humble, Sinclair, Tidewater, Pan-American, Standard of Indiana, Cities Service, Consolidated Barnsdall, Texas Pacific Coal and Oil, Phillips, Sun, Texas, Magnolia, Shell, Continental and Skelly.

Thompson issued a statement today giving his views of the purpose of the shutdown. They were:

To protect stripper wells from premature abandonment; to preserve and build up bottomhole pressures in water drives wells; to insure an even and dependable flow of crude oil when, and where needed; to protect the consuming public by preventing a scarcity of gasoline and establishing a relationship between the cost of crude oil and the retail selling price of gasoline; and, to transfer forever the control of oil production from those who would seek to use the power of monopoly in New York, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Chicago or anywhere else to the duly constituted authorities at the capitals of the states in which the oil is found.

Thompson also disclosed that the railroad commission was making a statewide survey of retail gasoline prices.

"We want to find out," he said, "why gasoline prices didn't go down recently when the crude oil price was cut."

Cooke Regains Net Honors At Newport

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 26 (AP)—

Wesley but jubilant, Edwood Cooke, of Portland, Ore., set out to regain the U. S. Davis cup squad tonight as the Newport Casino singles tennis victor and one of the runners-up in that historic tourney's doubles competition.

Cooke, dropped from the international squad last week when he and his regular partner, Bobby Riggs, were overwhelmed in a national doubles semi-final by the quint victors, Australia's Adrian Quist and Jack Bromwich, came here to re-establish himself.

His victorious sweep through the brilliant singles field of 104 ended this morning when he overcame Don McNeill of Oklahoma City, 8-10, 6-4, 7-5, 6-3, by grim determination and stubbornness in a two and a half hour match.

TEACHERS DENIED RE-INSTATEMENT

AUSTIN, Aug. 26 (AP)—State Superintendent L. A. Woods today ruled against 20 persons seeking reinstatement as teachers in the Goose Creek schools. His action is subject to ratification by the board of education at its next meeting early in September.

Woods held the former teachers did not have valid contracts for employment after the 1938-39 school year.

"I am very sorry indeed," he said in a letter to P. W. Hebel, president of the Goose Creek school board "that the question of labor unions got mixed up in this matter. While it was not brought out in the trial it is evident from the letters and telegrams I received that it was more or less a labor fight.

"I hope the trustees of your district believe in collective bargaining, and believe working people have a right to organize and protect themselves. I trust that neither your board nor any other school board in this state will attempt to punish people for having done so.

"There is no doubt but that these teachers are worthy and well qualified to teach in any school system. Of course, where people cannot agree and work for the best interest of the school children it is always best to separate."

HEARST PAPERS IN CHICAGO MERGED

CHICAGO, Aug. 26 (AP)—The Chicago Herald and Examiner carried an announcement tonight that, effective Monday, it would be merged with the Evening American under the title of the Chicago Herald-American, an afternoon and Sunday newspaper.

The Herald and Examiner, one of Chicago's two morning newspapers, and the American are members of the William Randolph Hearst newspaper chain.

As a result of the merger, the Chicago Tribune will be the city's only morning daily.

A strike against the Herald and Examiner and the American was called last December 5 by the Hearst units of the Chicago newspaper guild and has not been settled.

Alice Marble Wins, Just As Expected

NEW YORK, Aug. 26 (AP)—Alice Marble won as expected and the Americans doubles team won with comparative ease, as it was up to Kay Stammers to save the English team from a shutout in the first day's play of the Whitman Cup tennis series today. This she did, with a hard-earned triumph over Helen Jacobs, 6-2, 1-6, 6-3, and tonight the Americans held a lead of only two matches to one.

Three thousand fans banked the steep slopes of the Forest Hills stadium saw Miss Marble, playing her tennis only when she had to play, turn back Mary Hardwick, No. 2 on the English team, 6-3, 6-4, before Miss Stammers, No. 1 Briton, went on the court to oppose Miss Jacobs.

Vacations Ending For Many Folk

Visitors Leaving, Travelers Are Returning Home

With the opening of school only a short time away, the "personal" items in the news largely tell of people coming home from vacation trips, and of visitors departing after sojourns with friends and relatives in Big Spring.

The vacation period is not entirely over, however, and the last days of August are travel days for many, with the world fairs continuing to attract travelers.

Miss Margaret Wade and Miss Lucille Garrison of Childress, who has been a house guest in the Wade home here the last two days, left Saturday night for New York to attend the fair. They will join a party of relatives in Dallas before leaving for New York.

Mrs. D. W. Christian, Jr., and son, Lee, returned Saturday from a five week vacation trip to New York world's fair, Washington, D. C., Atlantic City, Niagara Falls and Chicago, Ill. They spent two weeks in Cleveland, O., with Dave Christian and family. They were accompanied on the trip by Mrs. Dave Christian and sons, Sneed and Weldon.

Anne Laura Griffin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Griffin, is home from Texas Tech where she attended both terms of summer school.

Mrs. J. J. Wade and son, Jay, of Tyler are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Kitt. They plan to be here about two weeks.

Bertie Lee Carter returned last Wednesday from Fort Worth after spending two weeks with her mother. She will leave here September 25 for home in Phoenix, Ariz.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Parker and daughter, Cozette, are leaving for Cross Plains, where they will make their home.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Ross have as guests this week their son, E. S. Ross, and his children, Emmett, Jr., John Earl and Lorraine, from Elizabeth, La.

Mrs. Reg Jarvis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Patterson, returned to her home in Toledo, Ohio, Saturday. Her husband is to meet her in Detroit.

Murray Patterson and Mrs. M. L. Patterson returned to Odessa Saturday.

Mrs. V. Van Gieson has returned from Colorado City where she is being visited by her mother, Mrs. W. J. Miller, who is ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Watson have returned from Austin, accompanied by Mrs. Watson's sister, Elaine Smith. They were gone a week.

Charlie Joe Pruitt and Bobby Hill left for Alpine Saturday morning to bring back Anna Belle Pruitt. See WHO'S WHO, Page 8, Col. 7

Some Dresses Young America Will Be Wearing When School Bells Ring Again

Mothers shopping for school clothes for the little miss who soon will be going back to class will find tips on proper and serviceable dresses in the above illustrations. The miss at the left goes back to school in a suspender skirt of navy blue wool and a white cotton blouse trimmed in red ric-rac braid. She ties her pigtail in red ribbon. The two little ladies in the center photo are off to class in new frocks that reflect 1939-'40 trends. The third grader at the left wears a jumper frock of blue, red and green plaid cotton with a white blouse. Her playmate is dressed in a light blue broadcloth dress whose wide white collar and silver buttons reflect the new Dutch influence in juvenile fashions. And, at the right, we learn that checks are smart for school. This fifth grader proves it with her frock of brown and white checked wool. It has a white collar, silver buttons and diagonal pockets.

Lectures In Music Scheduled

Stanley Chapple To Appear At Lubbock Sept. 4-5

Private and public school music teachers, as well as others interested in the art, will have the opportunity of hearing Stanley Chapple, celebrated London conductor and lecturer, at Lubbock on Sept. 4-5.

Mr. Chapple will appear under the joint sponsorship of the Texas Music Festival and the South Plains Music association of the Texas Music Teachers association. He is spending one of two weeks in the United States in Texas largely through the influence of Mary Dunn, Lubbock, who has attended his lectures in Boston where this year he will conduct his eighth annual school. Carl Wisemann, president of the state association, also prevailed upon Mr. Chapple to make the tour of Texas.

On the afternoon of Sept. 5, W. R. Dawes, director of public school music in Big Spring, will be in charge of the South Plains Music association portion of the two-day program and will lead in discussions of music teaching problems in the southwest. Among subjects to be touched by Mr. Chapple are psychological, musical and practical application of principles in music, discussions on teachers equipment, musicianship for adult teachers and class demonstrations. Mr. Chapple, widely acclaimed as a conductor, employs an unusual technique in his teaching. His work is done at the keyboard so that one hears the musical effects which at the moment are being discussed. The lectures are made possible by the state department of education and are entirely free. Several are expected to attend from here.

Home Ec Work Concluded With Display Tea At High School

Summer project work in home economics of the Big Spring high school was brought to a close with a display tea at the school Friday afternoon. The girls have been taking this summer work under Miss Lillian Jordan and Miss Florence McAlister, home economics teachers, who were hostesses to the mothers and friends.

The room was decorated with brightly colored flowers and punch and cookies were served. The program consisted of a speech of welcome by Marie Weeg, project reports from Wynonne Hull, Ellen Dempsey, Margaret Wilson, Gertrude McNew, Myrtle Bunger, Verne Jo Stevens, Sue Walker, Eldred Ely, Ocel Wilson. Several girls modeled their dresses, including Sarah Frances Laney, Nellie Gray, Norma Rogers, Mina Rahe Johnson, June Allredge, Marjory Mae Ely, and Joy Allredge.

Sue Walker and Wynonne Hull furnished "musical entertainment with accordion selections.

Waco Visitor Is Honored By Friends Here

Affairs Given For Mrs. Wilburn Barcus, Former Resident

Mrs. William Tate honored Mrs. Wilburn Barcus of Waco with a luncheon Friday. Mrs. Barcus is a former resident of Big Spring and is here on a visit. The room was brightened with cleverly arranged bachelor buttons. Those present were Mrs. Obie Bristow, Mrs. Lee Rogers, Mrs. Curtis Driver, and Mrs. Adolf Swartz.

Friday night Mr. and Mrs. Adolf Swartz entertained for Mr. and Mrs. Barcus with a Mexican dinner in the Monterey cafe. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Obie Bristow, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Driver, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Edwards, Dr. and Mrs. Lee Rogers.

Mrs. Rogers entertained the same group with a barbecue Saturday night in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Barcus.

Cosden Steps Up The Price
Due a salute from oil producers, royalty owners and all others whose business is closely dependent upon the success of the petroleum industry is our own Cosden Petroleum corporation for its move this past week toward restoration of crude prices. Cosden announced from its general offices in Fort Worth that its postings would be returned to the old level—20 cents above schedules now in effect with major companies.
Actually, this increase, or restoration will be in effect when oil begins to flow again.
The action represents, we think, a fair step toward bringing stability back to the oil industry. Cosden, of course, can not establish the market by itself; neither could it continue operating for long if it were forced to pay 20 cents per barrel more than competing purchasers.
Announcement of the price restoration was accompanied by an announcement which said in part:
"Since the shutdown there has been an advance in the price of gasoline of one-fourth cent per gallon and we now feel that our refineries can again operate profitably and that we can pay the (higher) posted price."
The question which naturally comes to the public's mind is that if an independent purchaser, refiner and marketer can see a profit with crude at its old price, what is there to prevent the major companies, with greater facilities for purchasing, processing and marketing, with a stronger hold on markets and outlets, from realizing a profit with crude at the higher level?
The answer may be that the majors, having encountered unexpectedly stiff resistance to their policies from state administrative authorities, are bitterly determined to maintain the power they have been accustomed to having.
But the public has a lot to say in such matters, and the public, informed this time as to the oil situation as never before in similar crises, ought to know which companies are following which policies, and which companies are working to bring about a stable situation in the oil industry and which companies are still concerned most of all with grabbing all the power and all the profit.

Preston Crover
Washington Daybook
WASHINGTON—We have been told by returning visitors that propaganda is rampant at the world's fair. And why not? We ask. The foreign exhibitors paid for the privilege.
But the choicest piece of propaganda coming to our attention was a subtle little note on the bottom of the menu in the Russian cafe. "No tipping," it says. "All Soviet workers are adequately paid."
The only trouble with that bit of subtlety is that it isn't going to reach the masses. Not at the prices the foreign restaurants seem to be charging.
Just to preserve the foreign atmosphere for a moment we will tell you about our little Italian friend who is keeping his boy in school in Switzerland. The boy likes American clothes and since good ones are cheaper here than there Giuseppe buys them. But the duty on new clothes is terrific. It is practically nothing on second-hand clothes so Giuseppe wears the clothes two weeks before he ships them.
Now Giuseppe is slight and while his boy was the high-cut size the system worked very well. The suits fit Giuseppe. But not any more. Nowadays, he shops around his shop in brand new shoes size nine when his own size is six. He rolls up the cuffs of the trousers, takes in a hitch at the belt and turns the sleeves back under.

Then comes the pleasant little story of how the Federal Reserve board vetoed the president's veto. Congress was considering a bill to extend until 1943 the time during which bankers could be directors in more than one bank. Congress outlawed such "interlocking directorates" in 1934, but since then has kept postponing the effective date.
The Federal Reserve board was fearful the extension bill would not pass, so issued an order on its own account extending the date to next February 1. Almost at the same time the bill did pass and went up to the president. He promptly vetoed it, reminding congress that it better make up its mind and either put an end to interlocking bank directorates or else repeal the law.
The president's veto didn't take effect. It killed the bill. But the Federal Reserve board order was valid so bank directors can interlock until February 1.
You all know that Washington officials' wives hate to appear two times at formal functions in the same dress, which means buying a lot of dresses. Trying to beat the game, one high ranking lady went to an exclusive shop and selected two formal dresses.
"IT take those two home on trial and return the one I don't want," she said.
The shop knew what was up, but didn't know how to stop it without offending a valuable customer. As expected, the lady wore one dress to a formal function and a day or so later returned it to the shop, prepared to say she would keep the other. But meantime a store clerk had seen a news reel showing the lady wearing this same gown at a formal reception.
When the fine lady entered the shop the clerk was at her in a minute.
"Dear Mrs. Flaxtoppita," said she, bearing. "You looked wonderful in this dress at the reception. I saw you in the news reel. But I agree with you it was not adjusting here on the shoulder. Then it will fit better."

Meet Mr. Lochinvar
By Marie Blizard

Chapter 22
ODD BEHAVIOR
Coming toward them was the slight figure of a woman leaning on the arm of a tall young man, her face turned up to his.
Laura and Locke.
As the two couples approached each other the air was electric. Cecily could feel Donald Hemingway stiffen. She was conscious of feeling two things in herself at once: relief to see that Laura was safe, a quick stab of jealousy.
Laura's face had been turned up to Locke's, the way that she, Cecily, had so often looked at him. Whatever Locke's reaction, none of them could tell.
Laura was nonplussed. She was startled to see Donald there so unexpectedly. Cecily's presence had destroyed completely her joint plan with Locke to tell her another story. Waves of flushes rose in her cheeks, giving her a look of blatant guilt.
"Hello," she said. There was so little else to say.
"Hello," Cecily said.
"Nice day for walking," Locke commented.
They might all have met casually on Fifth Avenue. Cecily said, "Oh, Locke... I... I don't believe you know Mr. Hemingway?"
"Only if only I could call a taxi and get into it. Cecily thought. Why doesn't somebody say something! Why did people have to look guilty?
Laura surprisingly, broke the silence. "I was just coming in," she said. "It was such a beautiful morning I couldn't resist the impulse to take a long walk. I had no idea it was so late. Then... then I... I happened to turn my ankle and... and Locke came along and offered me his arm."
"O! Is it turned badly?" Cecily inquired quickly, solicitously. Any Hemingway dropped in to take you to lunch and I... I thought that we might walk out and pick you up at your place."
Cecily was thinking: Never mind that you know Laura hasn't turned her ankle. Pay no attention to the thought that Laura's cottage was in another direction.
"O! thank you, Donald. I'm... I'm afraid that I can't lunch with you today."
Donald murmured that he was sorry.
Cecily thought that perhaps the four of them would spend the rest of their lives as an inanimate group standing there by the roadside. And how could she spend another minute there when she couldn't meet Locke's eyes?
She had met them once and for the first time since she had known him, his glance had dropped before hers. After that she couldn't look at him.
Funny, how quickly a thought can dart through your mind. You can think: Laura is in her early thirties, but she is as pretty as a young girl and men like Locke could like girls like Laura. He might have been attracted to her all the time that he was coming to see me!
At last they began to move along. Donald walking as though his legs were sticks and his mind was fixed on mortgage. Mortgage to foreclosure, Cecily thought.
Then Locke said, "Bister Anne! Bister Anne! What do I see in the distance? As I live and breathe, a chariot! Now, m'lady, you shall ride."
Speechless
Cecily was never so glad to see anything in her life as the ancient horse-drawn lumber wagon that hove into view and drew up beside them.
"Hi, Dod!" apparently Locke knew all the natives. "We've got a lady here who has an injured ankle. Do you think you could balance her on that plank that serves as your carriage?"
Dod reckoned he could.
Very tenderly, Donald giving no help, Locke assisted Laura to a comparatively safe spot on the single plank between the rear wheels.
"When you get home—and you must go home directly—but that ankle in water as hot as you can stand it and keep off it for the rest of the day. It'll be all right tomorrow, I'm sure."
Cecily, anxious to escape, said, "I had better go with Laura."
Laura said, "Oh, it isn't necessary, Cecily."
Cecily couldn't believe her ears. "But I..."
"Locke's right. I really ought to rest and I'll be good as new tomorrow. You'd better get back to the shop, Cecily."
"Since I'm leaving you in good hands, I'll be getting back to work," Locke said, as Laura drove off. And with no more than a wave of his hand he turned and walked back the way he and Laura had come.
"Pinch me," Cecily whispered when she could get her voice.
"beg your pardon," Donald said.
Laura called out, "Thank you for the invitation, Donald. Please ask me another time."
Cecily hadn't seen the expression on Donald's face but she did see the desolation on Laura's before her cart rounded a corner in the road.
Donald and Cecily, speechless for the first few yards, retraced their steps. Then Cecily said something bright about the Yacht Club dance, getting, she noted, no response. Somehow she managed to keep conversation going until Donald escorted her to her door, without once wondering what his guest at the inn would think of the delay. It was then nearly two o'clock. An odd hour for lunch in Vickersport.
But would you tell her, please, if there was anything that best odd that day? You meet your best friend on the road with the man she knows you are in love with. Fate, that wily playwright, takes the moment when you start looking for her to turn up that old cottonball of a bank president that she's foolish enough to fall in love with.
You know perfectly well that Laura and Locke are not interested in each other that way. Or do you? Anyway, you know that Laura is incapable of doing anything wrong or unfair.
But why did Laura have to be about it? And why did Donald have to hear that odious child say that Laura had not been home all night?
While you're asking yourself questions, Miss Stuart, why did Laura treat you that way? Why did she say she didn't need to have you go home with her? Anyone

Hollywood Sights And Sounds
Robbin Coons
HOLLYWOOD—Rouben Mamoulian, the director, came back to his office, between sessions of scoring on "Golden Boy," and he started talking, right away, about musical backgrounds in pictures.
"I think we've got something interesting here," the tall, black-haired young director behind the big horn rim spectacles said. "You know the story—the boy who is both violinist and prizefighter. We're putting the conflicts into the score—the themes of fine violin music alternating or fighting with the oom-pa-oom-pa of jazz, representing Manhattan life into which the boy is thrown."
We got from there into the importance of musical accompaniments to pictures, and I found Mamoulian ranged on the side of those who like their screen music to fit and not to cover.
"Here's dramatic effect," he said, "in the use of music. But there's just as great drama in silence. Reminds me of the story of the old lighthouse-keeper who lived alone in his tower. Every morning at 3 o'clock a shore cannon would boom. The old man slept right through it. But one morning at 3 he woke up with a start. 'The cannon didn't go off,' he cried. 'What's the matter!'"
"Then I have an important scene I don't want the audience to follow, even subconsciously, a musical theme—I want them to be entirely attentive to that scene, its action, its dialogue."
Mamoulian, by the way, brought in "Golden Boy" four days under schedule—as if in answer to the criticism that arose on his over-time with another film he'd prefer to forget called "High, Wide and Handsome." The feat is the more remarkable when it is remembered that he had, in the title role, a boy of 21 who had never faced a camera for a real acting assignment before—Mamoulian picked him for the part.
The director opines that young Bill Holden did a grand job and has a real future in films. Provided, I think he might have added but didn't, that Paramount does right by Bill on its share of his contract with Columbia. Offhand, I'd say the prospects were not too promising. Holden's first film for Paramount, from whose obscure stock ranks Mamoulian snatched him, will be "Golden Gloves," which looks like an obvious attempt to cash in quickly on his "Golden Boy" exploitation.
The boy has had, however, as Mamoulian did point out, a "break" to maintain Hollywood's fame as Cinderella land for years to come.
"In the Caucasus," says Rouben, "where I come from the babies are consistently brunettes. The arrival of a blonde baby in any home there is heralded and sung about, and the child is called a 'golden baby,' one destined for great things. Bill Holden, if he'd been born there instead of in O'Fallon, Ill., would have been a 'golden baby.'"
For there was no reason why an obscure stock player at Paramount should have been singled out for a major starring role, no reason other than freakish chance.
Bill Holden made a test with a girl. It was the girl's test, not his. The girl's test, with others, was sent for Mamoulian's inspection to fill a lesser role in his picture. The girl didn't get the role, but Mamoulian found in Holden what he hadn't been able to find in months of search—his "Golden Boy."

George Tucker
Man About Manhattan
NEW YORK—It seems to me that even captains who conquer cities could not have a tribute more sincere than the waves of cheers that greet Carl Hubbell every time he shows his close-cropped head at the Polo Grounds. Carl Hubbell is the greatest pitcher the New York Giants have had in many decades. He is probably one of the all-time greats. Last year he underwent an operation on his crooked old soup-bone, and it looked for awhile as if he would have to hang up his glove. The boys began to feel off on Hub, knocking him out of there. But even in defeat the cheers he has received have been greater than any he ever was given in his hey-day.
In recent weeks he has come back a long way. His left arm is so crooked from throwing that famed screw-ball that he can't straighten it out. It is as gnarled and as twisted as the limb of an apple tree. But it has magic. The other day in a close game Hubbell ran down to the bull-pen to warm up. They were going to use him in relief. Suddenly a great roar went up. You thought it must be for the man who had just lashed out a triple. But it wasn't. It was for old Long Pants, who has given more, and asked less, than any man you will find in the long, dusty list of Giant heroes.
When he pitches it is with a long, slow, deliberate, oily grace. He never fidgets. He simply uncoils and lets the ball float up to the plate, and when it floats it looks as large as a pumpkin. You think it would be impossible to miss it. But they do miss it. It does queer things in the air. Roy Stockton, the noted St. Louis sports writer, calls it a "butterfly" curve. It flutters and twists in the air like a drunken wasp. Heywood Brown says he never saw any pitcher as graceful as Hubbell.

'Back To School' Movement Is Gaining Momentum Here

Vaccinations Are Required This Year

With the short space of a scant two weeks separating children from the opening date of Big Spring schools, the "back to school" movement was unmistakably in the air Saturday.

School officials announced the completion of a $2,500 WPA project which has had as its objective the refurbishing of eight of the 11 buildings maintained by the local district. W. C. Blankenship declared most of them to be in the best condition for the opening of schools possibly since they were first constructed. Omitted from the clean-up program were the new gymnasium, College Heights elementary school and the administrative building.

A larger percentage of children, complying with the new school vaccination edict of the school board, had only scars to remind them of once mildly sore arms. Others had just been "scratched" and still others have until the opening day on September 11 to be vaccinated in order to be enrolled in the school.

Resume Stadium Work

Temporarily shut down because of WPA payroll fund depletion for the period, the high school stadium project northwest of Highland Park was due to be resumed Wednesday on a double shift, 16-hour-a-day basis in order to have it ready for use by time for the first game on September 23.

Restrained from active practice sessions until September 1 under an interscholastic league ruling, Coach Pat Murphy's high school football hulkies were ready to turn out for the first workout Friday morning.

On the same day, the Garner (Knott) independent school district will classify its 10th and 11th grade students in preparation for opening of school on the following Monday.

Other independent school districts in this area opening on September 4 are Garden City and Cosahoma and the Stanton Mexican ward school. Remaining Stanton schools open the next day.

Another large enrollment was anticipated by local school district officials. The census totals stood at 3,461 as approved by the state department of education, a slight gain over last year. However, there were indications that several new families have moved here during recent weeks.

The board of trustees last week conducted a public hearing on the proposed $194,000 budget for the 1939-40 term and set September 11, the same day as the school opening, as the time for adopting the fiscal document for the year.

Reports drifting into the administrative offices indicated that all of the 85 teachers included in the nine-school system would be on hand for the first day's work.

Meanwhile, high school supervisors were busy making transcription of credits for last year's seniors who plan to enter the colleges and universities for further academic training.

Lamesa Tames Oilers

LAMESA, Aug. 26 (AP)—Jack Williams tamed the Pampa Oilers here tonight with a four hit pitching performance to give Lamesa a 4-1 win. Lamesa, however, trailed until a fat eighth inning salted the game away.

CAPPS CLOSES IN ON NELL IN RACE FOR BAT HONORS

Gordon Nell, Pampa's rugged outfielder, slumped badly during the week but managed to keep the WT-NM league batting lead with a mark of .377.

He is six points ahead of Billy Capps, Big Spring, who beat out Johnny Stone's average of .370, by a single point. Nell was setting the pace in runs batted in with 167, home runs with 39, doubles with 30 and total hits with 175.

Big Spring's Tex Walton was out in front in triples with 25 to his credit.

Threat Of Insect Damage To Howard Cotton Diminishes

Dry Weather Helps Fight On Worms

In this moment of crises, Howard county farmers Saturday breathed easier for they apparently had weathered the first onslaught of insects threatening the cotton crop.

From over many areas of the county's farming sections came reports of diminishing worm damage and momentary control of the situation.

Dry weather of the past week played into the farmers' hands and they pointed with telling effect. Many cotton producers reported leafworm damage in their fields virtually checked. Others said that the infestation had been reduced sharply and to a point that it did not constitute a major threat to the crop.

County Agent O. P. Griffin commented that "we've either got rid of them, or this is the lull before the storm."

While there is a possibility that leafworms may yet hit the cotton and leave it ragged before farmers can again check them, the next serious damage was due to come from bollworms.

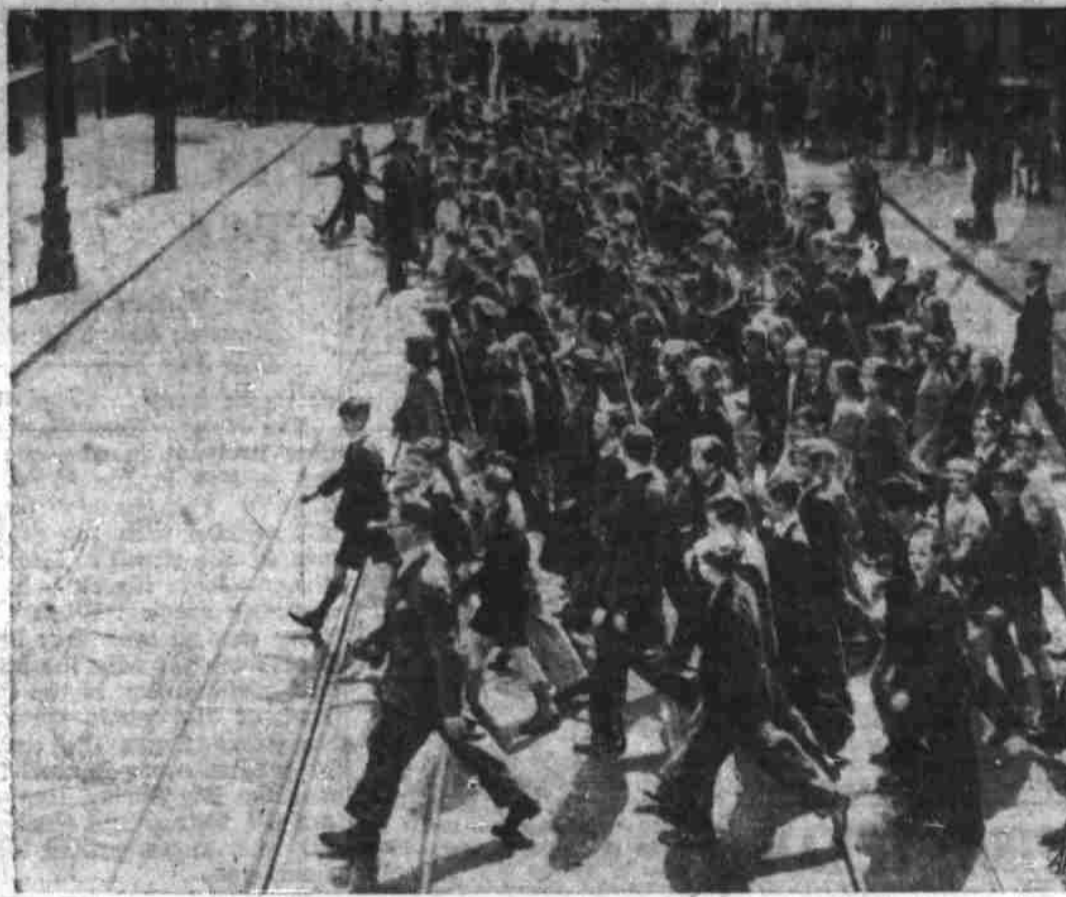

In their case, however, it was noted that much of the cotton has fruited already to the point where a fair crop of bolls will not be seriously affected. This will not hold true for young cotton, and those who got theirs into the ground late in June may look for the bollworm hoard within the next two weeks.

Producers reported a variety of insects in the cotton this year. In addition to leafworms and bollworms, fleas have worked on cotton to suckle its life. The latter insect was later than usual this year and so far has not caused appreciable harm.

On the other side, a species of spiders and ants have appeared in fields and apparently have used their appetites to work a sort of natural control on the destructive creatures. Definitely out is the threat of grasshopper damage. Less grasshoppers were reported in the field this season than in many years.

With at least two bales already ginned, indications are that more will roll to town this week with the volume increasing the first week in September and gradually gaining momentum until full stride is hit the last week in September or the first of October.

What will the county's yield be? None in touch with the situation would yet say, but prospects as they now stand indicate that the 15,000 bale mark will be easily passed. This is far better than was promised a month ago.

Radio Group Is Organized

Temporary organization was perfected Friday evening by amateur radio operators in a session at the city hall.

Named to head the new unit until permanent officers are elected a month hence were M. E. Boatman, president, and Walter Fernald, secretary-treasurer.

Seth Parsons, in a talk on safety, demonstrated the need for better construction of amateur equipment and urged precautionary measures on the part of the operators.

"No matter," said Parsons, "how careful you are, there is always the possibility of something going amiss, or of touching the wrong thing by accident." He also outlined the basic steps to meet emergencies of this nature.

Jack Hodges alluded to the part of amateur operators in maintaining communication during times of disaster, declaring that "with portable, battery powered equipment communication can be maintained from a locality which all other means have been cut off."

Hodges will address the unit at a later date on the co-operative link between operators and the Red Cross.

Meetings will be held weekly on Thursday evenings until permanent organization is perfected. Attending the Friday session were Dick Hooper, C. G. Warner, Thomas Coffey, Wadell Welch, Varnel Fleming, Adrian deGrafenreid, Earl Martin, Walter Fernald, M. Boatman, Howard Carmack, Jack Hodges, Seth Parsons and Jimmie Laird of Big Spring, and Olan Cox, Roy Ayers and Carl Fletcher of Coahoma.

67 Years Tell The Story Of Ward Growth

From a 12x14 foot room to one of the world's largest merchandise organizations—the brief outline of Montgomery Ward & Co.'s history—reads like a modern industrial fairy tale. It is the story of how two young men with a small capital and a big idea founded the world's first mail order business.

The name "Montgomery Ward" is taken directly from one of its founders, A. Montgomery Ward. Early interested in merchandising, Ward traveled rural sections of the country as a salesman. He developed the fact that the accepted attitude of business towards its customers was "let the buyer beware." Ward believed that by substituting the "Golden Rule" he would be able to offer a better merchandising service to rural areas. He interested a friend, George R. Thorne, in this idea, despite the fact that business men of that day looked upon their idea as a "wildcat" venture, they rented a tiny room on North Clark street in Chicago.

The response to their first "circular," in which they promised "satisfaction guaranteed or your money back," was much greater than the two partners ever dreamed. Their small stock was quickly sold out.

After a short while the small place could not accommodate all of their stocks, so they moved to larger quarters. The famous Tower building, a Chicago landmark on Michigan boulevard, was erected by the firm in 1900, and not long thereafter, the company began to build large branch mail order houses at strategic shipping centers. Today there are nine such branch houses, covering the country from coast to coast.

In 1928, the company entered a new field of merchandising—the retail store. The idea of over-the-counter service originated with the opening of a "display store," in which the company merely intended to exhibit selected items from the catalog. So insistent were customers that they be allowed to take merchandise with them that the firm decided to experiment with an actual retail store. The response to these new units resulted in rapid expansion, so that today, 67 years after its founding, the company operates over 600 retail units in addition to its huge mail order business.

LOUISIANA OFFICIAL INJURED IN CRASH

AUSTIN, Aug. 26 (AP)—James A. Nee of Monroe, Louisiana state senator and candidate for governor received a mild brain concussion, extensive scalp lacerations, and two broken ribs today when his automobile overturned on a highway west of here.

Hospital attendants said tonight he was resting well and his condition was satisfactory. The attending physician said Nee would probably have to stay in Austin "several days."

Nee, his wife, their daughter, Miss Gray Nee, and their chauffeur were on route home from Kerrville, Tex., when the car overturned at a curve. Nee was the only one hurt.

They play fellowtownsmen Benny Estep and Gerald Huff for the title tomorrow

JONES IS FAVORED IN C-C TOURNEY

Trophy Matches Friday Herald Ninth Tourney

Doug Jones, who has won but one West Texas tournament title this season but who has been working diligently the past month on sand greens, looks as the favorite in the ninth annual Big Spring Invitational Golf tournament which gets underway Saturday, Sept. 2nd, on the sand greened country club course. Winner of six tournaments in 1935 whose successes faded with a misbehaving putter, the youngster still shapes up as the best all-around player on the sand green shooting some sensational golf over the course of late. His game appears to be as sound as a dollar. He's expected to get plenty of competition from a strong out-of-town delegation, however. Expected as an invader is a former champion, Eddie Morgan, Odessa, a member of the Odessa Sand Belt team. Eddie won the laurels in 1935-36 and lost to Jones in the last round in 1938. Morgan comes as part of a strong Odessa delegation. Others due to make strong bids for Jones' crown are Bob Farmer, who, incidentally will lead the "invading" team in the Sept. 1st Hill & Bennett trophy matches, Morgan, Nell and Wiley Hill.

Roden On Hand A top-ranked due to compete here is Bill Roden, youthful Hugh Rose ace who snaked up the West Texas Junior meet title at the Muni course here in July.

Shirley Robbins, manager of the country club, said he hardly expected the field to better that of last year's record where 134 registrants and the sector is expected to be well represented.

Sammy Sain, captain of the local forces in the trophy matches, will complete his lineup this week. Jones, Robbins, Olop Bristow, Guy Rainey and Eddie Morgan have already been assured berths. Sain's team will be trying to regain the cup won last year by a crew captained by Joe Dick Slaughter.

A series of eight individuals and four Scotch foursome matches will constitute the trophy duels.

Saturday has been set aside for qualifying with first and second round match play slated to take place Saturday. Semi-finals and 18-hole finals will be played Monday.

BETTY JAMESON FIRST TEXAN TO TAKE NATIONAL FEM TITLE

DARIEN, Conn., Aug. 26 (AP)—Sturdy Betty Jameson, who insists she can't putt, rapped in a 29-footer for a winning birdie 3 on the 30th green, banged in a 15-footer for a vital hole in birdie 4 at the 31st, and thereby became the first Texan ever to win the national women's golf championship.

The 20-year-old star from San Antonio, had to give three more holes to defeat Dorothy Kirby, of Atlanta, 3 and 2, in their 36-hole final of the 43rd title tourney at the Wee Burn club. But for Betty and the gallery of 1,200 that trailed this brilliant match, she had sealed the slim southerner's doom with those two putts.

Miss Jameson had been 4 up at the end of the morning 18 holes when she shot a sparkling 75 and took the lead, never to lose it again on the fourth hole. She looked an easy winner then, but when she needed 41 strokes to play the out-going nine in the afternoon, and lost half her margin, there were many who felt the courageous, 19-year-old southerner might haul the match out of the fire.

In the face of this final threat Miss Jameson never wavered. Having won the 27th by belting two beautiful wood shots to the green, she played for her pars and got halves on the 28th and 29th. Came the 30th, and Miss Jameson slapped an iron up 28 feet from the cup.

Miss Kirby went her six feet better. But it was Betty, who studied every putt as if it were going to be her last one, who rolled the ball into the hole, and she was back to 3 up. It was the first she'd canned of more than 10 feet, but there was another to follow. Miss Kirby, putting all her 120 pounds into her shot, was 30 yards short of the 31st green in two, while Miss Jameson with some 25 pounds more behind her drive, was almost home in two on this 427-yarder.

For the last eight holes, Texas Betty was two under par. She had one three-putt green in the entire 36 holes, on the 26th, and didn't play a really bad hole all day. She was slightly off line at the start of the afternoon round. But even at the short 25th, where she missed the green, she exploded out two feet from the cup to win the hole with a par.

Tex Walton Hits 18th Homer; Short Clouts Pair For Foe

By HANK HART The Berger Gassers, running rampant in the chase for a slot in the WT-NM league's Shaughnessy playoff, collided with the offerings of the circuit's leading flinger—Jodie Marek—here Saturday evening. When the firing was all over they had discovered just why the brilliant righthander is the top hand of the whole spread. The former Texas Tech griddler pitched seven hit ball to pace the Big Spring Barons to a 6-4 victory and thereby tied the loop's record for games won.

Jodie made just two mistakes as he recorded his 22nd win. He tossed a home run ball to Mack Short in

MIDNIGHT FIRE DESTROYS PARK STAND FRIDAY

The grandstand of the Big Spring WT-NM league baseball park, West Fifth and San Antonio streets, went up in flames in a blaze of unknown origin Friday midnight at a loss estimated at $2,733 but club officials set workers busy immediately and the Barons' schedule was not to be affected.

The Barons are to replace Lamesa in a 5 p. m. battle. The mechanics were left unharmed and carpenters spent Saturday building a screen behind the batter's box and clearing away debris. The Saturday evening game was played on scheduled and directors had planned a special "fire sale" for today's game, publicizing the fact that admittance could be gained for 25 cents.

Present plans are to build temporary seats to replace the grandstand. The club apparently has an excellent chance to compete in the playoff but Bob Cook, president of the club, said that so little of the season remained that directors had apparently decided to wait until next year to start reconstruction.

The stand was a total loss. The flames consumed the entire structure before firemen could get water into play.

Howard Parks Stops Locals In Opener

Potocar And Pietras Clout Homers In 12-8 Rout

By HANK HART Lefty Howard Parks didn't exhibit his usual mastery over the Big Spring Barons but he was good enough to pace the Berger Gassers to a 12-8 victory here Friday evening.

The Regomen rallied brilliantly in the last two innings but in vain. Faced by Ernie Potocar who collected an even third of the invaders' 12 bingles, the Gassers built an advantage in the first five rounds that the Barons could not overcome.

The locals touched Parks for 12 safe blows. Three of those came from the mace of Pat Stacey. Included in Stacey's collection were a single and a brace of triples.

Potocar's circuit clout with two males aboard in the fifth round was the deciding blow.

Freddy Pietras had a round tripper for the Barons in the ninth with Don Wolin on the sacks.

Of the 12 blows Parks surrendered, eight of them came in the last two rounds as the Barons chased five runs across the dish. Al Berndt's double scoring Billy Capps and Ed Bahr was a feature.

Louis Janicek started on the rubber for the LIT Yanks. He disappeared after the fifth in favor of Clarence Trantham who quieted the rioting thereafter.

OKLA. CITY INDIANS BEAT SANTONE 5-2

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 26 (AP)—The Indians did a lot of milling around, stirred up quite a bit of dust and outhit the San Antonio Missions today but lost the series finale, 5 to 2.

DUDLEY, BURKE TAKE LEAD IN CHI TOURNEY

CHICAGO, Aug. 26 (AP)—Coming from far back in the field with a magnificent display of sub-par golf, two 37-year-old veterans of the game, Ed Dudley of Philadelphia and Billie Burke of Cleveland, took over the leadership of the Walter Hagen invitational tournament at Midlothian country club today.

At the end of 90 holes of play—five rounds—Dudley and Burke held a plus 10 rating, picking up eight points during the day's 36-hole program. But they were only one point in front of two of the game's younger and extremely "hot" stars, Dick Metz and National Open Champion Byron Nelson, and a thrill-packed stretch fight appeared in prospect for tomorrow's 36-hole windup of a tournament decided on the most plus holes won.

Dudley, one of the game's stylists, and the ruddy-faced Burke picked up two holes this morning at the expense of Hagen and Gen Sarazen. This afternoon the Dudley-Burke team, firing eight birdies, routed Paul Runyan and Horton Smith, six up.

Runyan and Smith, who started today's round tied for first place, hit the toboggan to slide into a tie for the cellar spot with Henry Picard and Johnny Revolta.

Nelson and Metz, who between them have won eight championships this year, scored a smashing six up victory in today's first round, over Runyan and Smith. This afternoon, however, those two colorful old timers, Hagen and Sarazen, slowed them down, the match ending with Hagen and Sarazen victorious by one hole.

In third place was the combination of big Ralph Guldahl and Harold (Jug) McSpaden, newly crowned Canadian open titleholder.

Tomorrow's feature battle pairs the Dudley-Burke and Nelson-Metz teams.

Aces To Play Knott Today

Ed Wood takes his Big Spring Aces, local independent baseball nine, to Knott today where they play an exhibition game with the Knott Plowboys. The clash will get underway around 3 o'clock.

The Aces, decimated by Knott and Mesquite in the Gall invitational tournament during the week will bank on Bill MacMillan to hurt them to victory over the Plowboys. MacMillan's battery mate will be Van Ed Watson, while Fred Ewell will be at first, Jim Myers at second, Bill Wood at third, Horace Bostick at short and Dan Johnson, Clifton Patton and Jack Wood in the outfield.

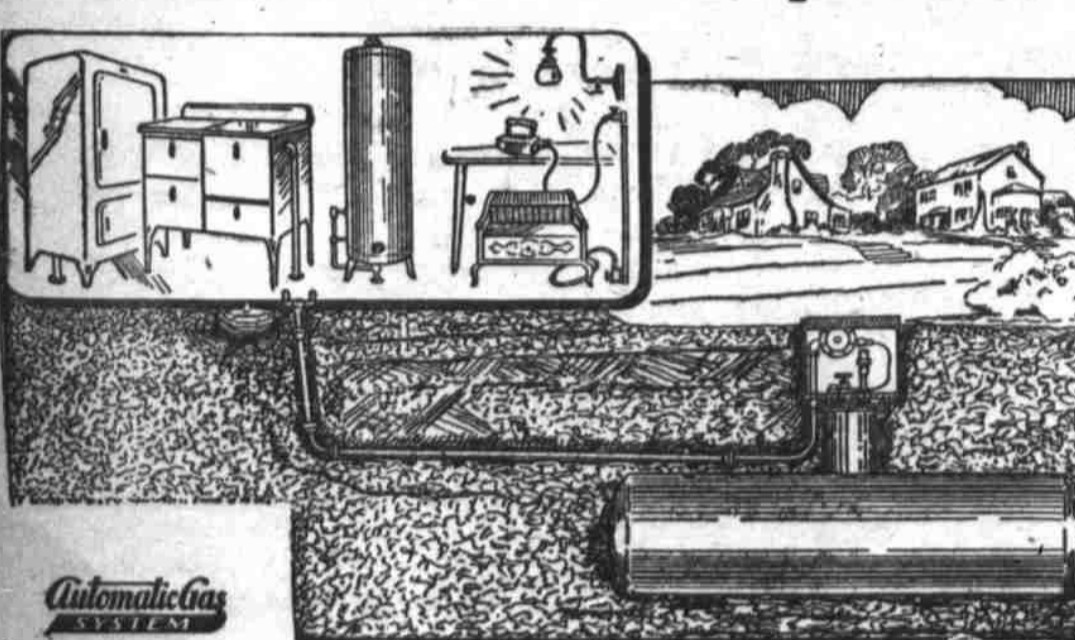

TULSA WINS, 7-1

Equipment To Be Issued Bovine Gridders Friday

More than 40 boys are expected to report to Fat Murphy at the high school Friday morning, 7 o'clock, when the mentor begins issuing football equipment for the coming season.

Murphy, recovering from a recent operation, said he would give the hopefuls one workout and possibly two the first day. He expects his program to be in full swing by the time school begins Monday, Sept. 4.

The Bovines open their 1939 schedule with Mineral Wells Sept. 15.

Eight letters return to the Longhorn camp this fall. The squad looms as faster and more versatile than the 1938 team but the mentor indicated his team would be weak at tackle.

The team's offense will be built around Harold "Red" Bethell, 150-pound halfback who earned unanimous all-district honors last fall. Bethell will get help from Johnny Miller and D. E. Gurnea, both of whom earned numerals last fall, and Bobby Martin, due to call signals.

A leading candidate for all-district honors is expected to be Winnett Nance, letterman tackle. Nance was outstanding in spring drills. He's report practicing around 175 pounds. At the other tackle berth, however, Murphy will have his problem. Douglas Fyfe, 150-pounder, MacMillan's battery mate will report at about 150 pounds and Clifton Patton, 175 pounds, will be fighting for the spot.

Bill Fletcher and Hal Battle, both veterans, are returning guards while Paul Masch, a normal wearer, will take care of the pivot post.

Elva Baker, assistant manager who has replaced Carmen Ertz as the local coaching staff, is expected to arrive in town this week to help Murphy open camp.

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "If men understood their real spiritual source to be all blessedness, they would struggle for recourse to the spiritual and be at peace; but the deeper the error into which mortal mind is plunged, the more intense the opposition to spirituality, till error yields to Truth" (page 22).

Sponsors At Rodeo To Test Riding Skill

MIDLAND, Aug. 26—Officials of the Midland rodeo, to be held September 2-3-4, have announced that cow girl sponsors, representing West Texas and New Mexico towns, will compete for prizes valued at $500, the largest prize list ever offered for a similar event in the Southwest. At the same time they have announced that a finals contest for the girl sponsors would be held at the last performance of the rodeo Monday, September 4. The method of judging contestants in the finals will be highly interesting to cattlemen and their families, as real cow work will be a deciding factor of the contest this year.

None of the color, incident to costume, horse, equipment and personality, which characterizes sponsor contests will be sacrificed, as the finals are an added event to the regular sponsor show.

Under the announced plan, all sponsor contestants during the first two days of the show will be given tests of horsemanship and riding, consisting of mounting, dismounting, stopping, starting, riding at a trot through a series of barrels or stakes, and other tests which the judges may elect to give them. Credits will be given for these accomplishments with additional credits for costume, horse, equipment and personality.

The winner of first place will receive a $125 hand-made saddle and the title "Miss 1939." Second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth prizes of handsome luggage, wrist watches, chaps, and toilet sets will also be awarded.

The six winners in the sponsor event will be eligible to enter a sponsor's final contest, to be held at the last performance of the rodeo Monday, September 4. Eligible to enter the contest also will be four first place winners of the four sponsor shows which have preceded the 1939 rodeo. They are: Miss Tommy Eppy, Fort Davis, 1936; Miss Louis Robertson, Pecos, 1936; Miss Fern Sawyer, Cross Roads, N. M., 1937; Miss Mary Nell Edwards, Big Spring, 1938. There will be but a single award in the final event—a two-horse capacity deluxe trailer, complete with canopy and accessories, valued at $300.

Eligible to enter the contest also will be four first place winners of the four sponsor shows which have preceded the 1939 rodeo. They are: Miss Tommy Eppy, Fort Davis, 1936; Miss Louis Robertson, Pecos, 1936; Miss Fern Sawyer, Cross Roads, N. M., 1937; Miss Mary Nell Edwards, Big Spring, 1938. Under the announced plan, all sponsor contestants during the first two days of the show will be given tests of horsemanship and riding, consisting of mounting, dismounting, stopping, starting, riding at a trot through a series of barrels or stakes, and other tests which the judges may elect to give them. Credits will be given for these accomplishments with additional credits for costume, horse, equipment and personality.

Shutdown Extended
Life On Wells In East Texas Fields

AUSTIN, Aug. 26 (UP)—To the average well in the East Texas oil field, biggest in the world, the 15-day production shutdown now approaching an end probably means that its flowing life will be about four months longer than it otherwise would have been.

State railroad commission engineers are hopeful bottomhole pressures in the long-prolific pool will have increased during the shutdown as much as or more than they dropped during early May to August 15, when the closing became effective.

Keeping the pressure decline at a low rate is very important in an oil field because it delays the time when expensive pumping equipment must be installed on the wells.

At the end of June, the East Texas field had 19,488 flowing wells and 4,382 either on the pump or requiring some other form of artificial lift. Some engineers have estimated that virtually the entire field will be on the pump by early 1942.

Meet Mr. Lochinvar

under her breath. "I'm tired of waiting on people."

The knocking was insistent. She sighed and opened the door. There was a little girl there. "I gotta note," she said, holding it out in her grimy hand.

Cecily tore open the envelope. "Please come out, Cecily," Laura had written. "I want to talk to you." There was nothing more but Laura's name.

Cecily felt as though a weight had been lifted from her heart. It was bad enough to lose Locke; it was a tragedy to lose her friend.

Cecily said, patiently, "I'm trying to understand, Laura. If only you'd tell me something!"

Laura's face, under her heavy rouge, was white. Her head throbbled with pain and she couldn't tell to Cecily. The pain kept coming between her and what she was trying to say to the other girl.

She wished that she could take a sedative and shut out all the limp that possessed her mind. Shut out the memory of Donald's cold face. She had watched it soften during those weeks that she'd known him, watched the light in his eyes grow warm, and in that warmth she had blossomed.

"Surely there is a simple explanation," Cecily persisted.

"I'm trying to give you one. I've said all there is to say," Laura made a turn about her living-room and stared out the window morosely. "I did go to Locke's place, or I started to... that is, as I told you on the telephone. I did talk to him, and I feel the same way I did when I talked to you in the afternoon. But what was said—well, I can't tell you."

They were right, back where they started from.

Continued Monday.

Revival Of Peace Hopes Bolsters Market Prices

NEW YORK, Aug. 26 (UP)—Financial markets today finished a tense "war scare week" with a further revival of peace hopes sufficient to push up prices in all categories.

In stocks leaders extended Friday's brisk rally by 1 to close at 1,500,000 shares.

While all frontiers bristled with military preparations, the general guess in Wall street was that hostilities would be avoided, at least for the time being. At the same time, some commission house customers inclined to stand aside on the view anything could happen over the weekend.

Miss Dublin Thanks Those Who Aided Her

From her hospital bed in El Paso where she is making remarkable strides toward recovery, Dorothy Dublin Saturday expressed thanks to all who had a part in her fight against an infection of infantile paralysis.

She reiterated her intention of leading a campaign on her recovery to finance the purchase of an iron lung, such as was credited with having saved her life, for Big Spring.

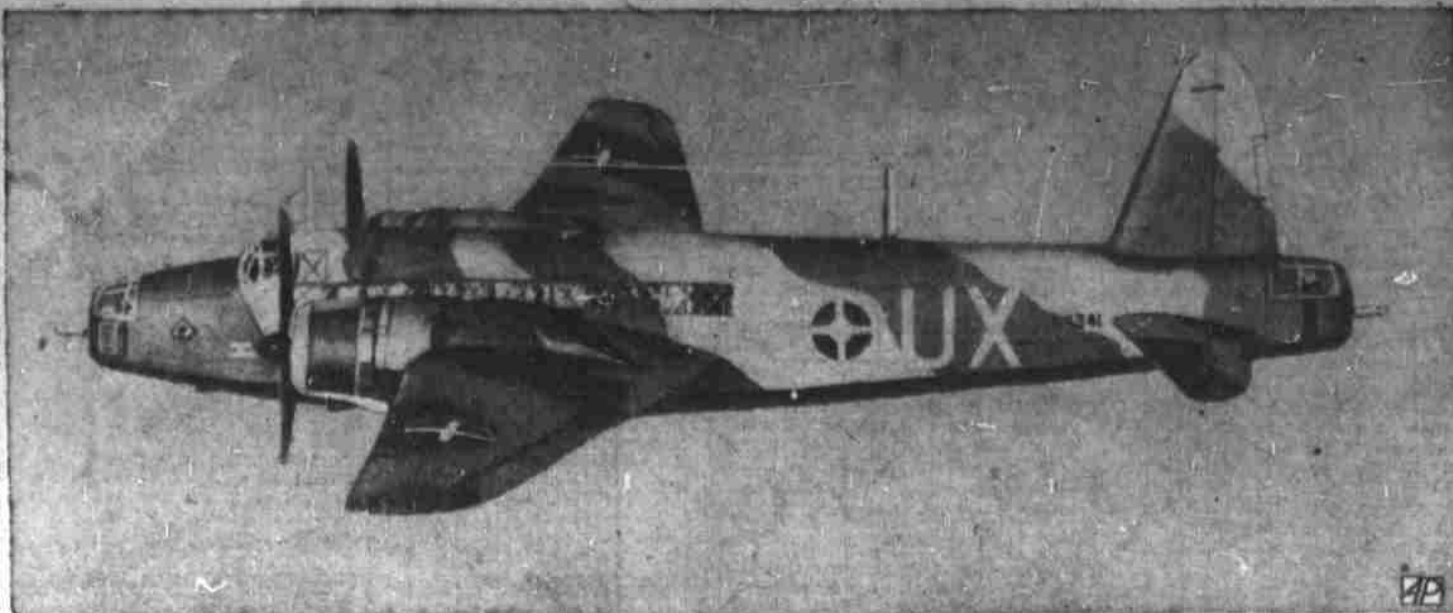

Dorothy had special thanks for L. P. McCasland, Big Spring, state highway patrolman and two members of the patrol from Pecos, who kept traffic clear in order that the iron lung might be moved a distance of 123 miles from Kermit to Big Spring in 110 minutes. Her thanks also went to the unidentified drivers of the truck which transported the device here in time to keep her alive until her lungs could resume their function. Likewise, she lauded Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Walton, Kermit, for donating the lung and Dr. C. A. Robinson, Kermit, for releasing it.

Others she mentioned by name were Elton Taylor, who provided a three-way power system for her trip to El Paso in the lung; J. H. Kirkpatrick, Claude Wright, Rowan Settles, Jess Slaughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eberley, the city police, Mrs. Wagner, superintendent of the Big Spring Hospital, Mrs. Lowe, Mrs. Cathy and Mrs. Jones, her nurses, Dr. Preston Sanders, Shine Phillips, Grover Lumbum, G. H. Hayward, W. J. Gault and many more who aided her directly or indirectly.

"I marvel at the kindness and good will and cooperation extended me on every hand," said Miss Dublin. "I want to express my deep thanks and appreciation through the columns of The Herald to each and every one for the many kind deeds and words of encouragement."

"Last, but not least, from the depth of my heart, I wish to remember and especially thank the dear friends, loved ones and acquaintances for the wonderful prayers to God in my behalf."

City's Outgo Stays Below Budget Total

A substantial under-run of budget appropriations for the first five months in the face of a decrease in the general fund balance at the end of the past month were reflected in the July financial statement of the city Saturday.

Expenditures from the general fund totaled $30,917 for the month, a net decrease in the balance of $2,766 and reducing the total on hand for the fund to $30,400. Expenditures, however, included a transfer of $1,504 to the interest and sinking fund. Revenues for the general fund amounted to $18,156 for the month, including $1,789 in fourth quarter on current taxes and $995 in delinquent taxes.

For the month operating expense and capital outlay for the fund totaled $18,800, which was $413 less than the budgeted amount. Total disbursements for the first four months of the fiscal year stood at $66,540, less by $10,304 than the budget appropriations for the period.

Water billed to the consumers during July amounted to $12,997, more by $1,888 than for June and $1,488 than for July a year ago. Interest and sinking fund disbursements for July stood at $800, making a total of $34,194 for the year, including bonds and warrants paid in the amount of $13,500.

Four departments showed expenditures in excess of allotments, but the amounts were small and over a period of four months were inconsequential alongside savings in other funds.

DRILLER SUFFERS BURNS ON FACE

Roy Crook, driller, working on a water well near McCamey sustained serious burns about both eyes and face when an explosion blew into his face late Thursday evening. Crook, who was engaged in drilling a water well on a ranch near McCamey, dropped a hot bolt into the hole and accumulated gas ignited, causing the explosion. He is in the Malone & Hogan Clinic-Hospital for treatment. He was resting well as could be expected late Saturday.

Shell Posts Higher Prices

HOUSTON, Aug. 26 (AP) — The Shell Oil company announced here today it will pay new and higher prices for crude oil purchased by it in Texas, New Mexico, Louisiana and Arkansas September 1.

J. W. Hershey, assistant manager of the Crude Oil Purchasing company, released a statement here on the price announcement.

Shell cut the price it offered for crude 20 cents a barrel August 11, joining other companies in reducing prices.

The statement of the Shell company:

"Shell Oil Company, Inc., announces today effective at 7 a. m. September 1, it will pay new and higher prices for crude oil purchased by it in Texas, New Mexico, Louisiana and Arkansas. Shell's new postings will reestablish in effect the prices paid by that firm prior to August 11, 1939.

"In making this announcement, Shell officials stated that the statistical position of the industry has already improved and is expected to improve sufficiently by the end of the shutdown period to justify the higher prices."

HIGHWAY EVENT IS SET FOR SEPT. 7

GLADEWATER, Aug. 26 (AP)—A celebration honoring Texas Highway Commission Chairman, Brady Gentry and marking the opening of the Gladewater-Longview final leg of a four-lane highway will be held Sept. 7, a day earlier than originally planned.

The date was moved up because of a conflict with the Sept. 8 opening of the Red river bridge near Vernon.

Construction on the 13-mile strip of highway was started four years ago, and is a link of U. S. highway 80, the Dallas-Shreveport route.

On Sixth Anniversary Of Repeal, Texas Beer Sales On Increase

AUSTIN, Aug. 26 (AP)—Six years ago today newspaper headlines proclaimed that Texas had foregone bone-dry prohibition and legalized sale of beer.

"Texas votes repeal and welcomes legal beer" said one headline on August 26, 1933; "State's rejection of national prohibition decisive as beer legalized in Texas" screamed another.

It was only 3.2 beer, to be sure, but legal beer nevertheless. It marked the end of an era of a kind in Texas and the beginning of a new.

Texas was the 23rd state to ratify the 21st amendment to the federal constitution which abolished national prohibition, 36 being necessary for repeal.

Not until 1935 did the state stamp an "ok" on sales of wine and liquor, but, in the meantime, the brewing industry flourished. Development has continued since.

Consumption Increasing. A checkup today disclosed: Texas probably will consume more beer this year than ever before in history.

It may be sold legally in 142 counties but is prohibited, along with all alcoholic beverages, in 112.

The state is receiving nearly $2,000,000 annually from taxes on beer and this year it looks as if a record in revenue from this source will be set.

A nip and tuck contest is on between breweries within the state and the out-of-staters to see who can sell the most beer in Texas.

About 15,000 persons or establishments have been licensed by the state liquor board to sell beer, and Harris county (Houston) leads all the rest in the number of permits.

Nobody agrees as to where the largest nickel beer can be purchased, or the largest glass at any price either.

Record Be Set. The liquor board reported that in the first seven months of this year Texans lapped up 29,850,719 gallons of beer, which was 785,454 more than the quantity which disappeared down their throats over the same period in 1938.

"If this sort of thing keeps up," said a spokesman, "a record will be set all right."

The high mark in consumption for 12 months has been 47,040,133 gallons in 1937, which was an average of 1.71 gallons for every man, woman and child inside the state's borders. Of course, not every man, woman and child drank that many gallons; thousands did not drink any. Therefore the average for the actual beer drinkers is much higher.

There was a consumption slump in 1938 — officials say the reason possibly was the business recession — only 46,004,517 gallons being downed, for an average of 7.52 gallons per individual, figured on a basis of 6,117,000 inhabitants in Texas.

Now the trend is upward definitely. Consumption in July was 5,257,935 gallons, compared with 4,282,948 in the same month last year. June, May and April of 1939 likewise showed jumps over 1938.
