Odessa Boy Faces Hi-Jacking Charge

Arrested In Colorado City After Salesman Robbed

While efforts were made to gain his release from the Howard county jail by posting $2,000 bond, Jesse E. Karnes, Odessa youth, was charged with the hi-jacking of a salesman near here Sunday.

Karnes, who told officers he had been working in Odessa, was arrested at Colorado City by Jack Delaney, constable, and Dick Hickman, chief of police, less than an hour after R. L. Lushbaugh, Mossella Park, N. M., salesman, reported to authorities here that a hitch-hiker he had picked up had robbed him and had taken his car.

The Colorado officers arrested Karnes in possession of Lushbaugh's automobile, a 1936 LaFayette sedan, and Lushbaugh's billfold containing about $25.

Jess Slaughter, sheriff, and Carl Mercer, constable, returned Karnes here Sunday morning and Justice of Peace J. H. Hefley set bond at $2,000 Monday morning when the defendant would examine trial. According to authorities, Karnes said he had started hitch-hiking from Odessa Sunday morning to Stephenville to visit relatives. Lushbaugh gave him a ride and later picked up a woman hitch-hiker. Karnes then moved to the back seat and when about five miles out of Big Spring, he allegedly told his benefactor that he had relatives on the Caudill road.

Lushbaugh offered to take him to the place and when a short distance down the road, Karnes, it was alleged, produced an old .38 calibre revolver and commanded the driver to stop and hand over his billfold. Then Lushbaugh and the woman were ejected from the car at about 12:45 p. m.

Flinging a passing motorist, they were hurried to town where they reported the hi-jacking. A few minutes later, on advice from the sheriff's office, Karnes was taken into custody.

Karnes is known here, having appeared in the Golden Gloves boxing tournament here in February.

COTTON PRICES IN SHARP GAIN

NEW ORLEANS, July 10 (AP)—Persistent buying lifted cotton prices from 50 cents to $1 a bale here today and into new high ground for the season.

The demand which came from both domestic and foreign sources was attributed in trade circles to improved textiles, higher securities and reports that the conference called for Thursday by Secretary Wallace would consider a plan to export 5,000,000 bales.

STATE TAX REMISSION BILL SIGNED

Federal Probers Go To Work On Louisiana University Scandals

State Denied Any Access To Evidence

Washington Men In New Orleans For Investigation

NEW ORLEANS, July 10 (AP)—United States District Attorney Rene A. Viosca announced today Attorney General Frank Murphy had instructed him not to turn over any evidence or information gathered by the federal grand jury here, investigating ramifications of the university scandal, to any state official or to anyone else.

Investigators Arrive

Extreme importance of the grand jury's inquiry into WPA activities at the state university was given with the unexpected arrival here of Roger Boudin, national chief of the division of investigation of the WPA in Washington, D. C.

Two congressional investigators also came into the complex case today. They were Harry S. Berger and Thomas H. Reaves, special investigators of the house appropriations subcommittee investigating WPA affairs.

Last night State Attorney General David M. Ellison announced in Baton Rouge that Murphy had refused his direct telegraphic request for evidence of state law violations uncovered by the federal grand jury.

Viosca announced on reasons for the order. He said it left no loopholes.

The federal grand jury was called here two weeks ago to examine charges against the WPA at Louisiana State university. Three arrests already have been made on information collected, although no indictments have been announced.

The three men arrested were George Caldwell, former superintendent of construction, charged with diversion of WPA material and labor to private purposes; Eugene Barksdale, Caldwell's former assistant now suspended, and James Marshall, a WPA foreman at LSU, charged with conspiracy to divert WPA labor and materials.

The federal grand jury at New Orleans examined, besides WPA activities, expenditures on the $12,500,000 charity hospital there, for which the PWA made a $3,600,000 grant, alleged 5 per cent deductions of state employees' salaries for political purposes, and income tax returns of Dr. James Monroe Smith, resigned president of Louisiana State university.

The federal government's interest in the salary deductions related to filing of income tax returns, officials said.

Dr. Smith calmly planned his defense in a cell of the East Baton Rouge parish (county) jail at Baton Rouge. He was charged specifically with embezzling $100,000 of university funds.

George Caldwell, former construction superintendent at Louisiana State university, is shown in New Orleans after he was freed on $10,000 bond on a federal charge of diversion of WPA material and labor.

Suspect Tries To Hang Self

CLEVELAND, July 10 (AP)—Frank Dolzal, held as the confessed killer in one of Cleveland's dozen "torso murders," attempted suicide twice today, Sheriff Martin L. O'Donnell reported.

The 52-year-old bricklayer once tried to hang himself with his shirt, but the garment tore, O'Donnell said, and later tried hanging with the aid of his shot strings.

"I won't do it again," he promised. The sheriff meanwhile was arranging a lie detector test later today for Dolzal, who he said has confessed the killing of Mrs. Florence Polillo.

Declaring himself unassisted with the Polillo murder, the sheriff said, "We want to clear up the Polillo death first with an airtight case to take to court."

While the story of the famed Kingsbury Run torso murder serial, told in startling installments over a period of nearly four years, appears to approach its dramatic conclusion with the arrest and confession of the one time slaughter house employe, the whole story will not be told until names are given nine numbers on a grim record sheet in the Cuyahoga county morgue.

Only Mrs. Polillo, Edward Andrasny, a former hospital orderly, and Mrs. Rose Wallace, negro have been identified among the 18 headless dead. Sheriff O'Donnell says Dolzal knew and associated with all.

BRICKLAYER CONFESSES TORSO SLAYING

Danzig Coup Would Affect Poland, Chamberlain Says

Door Left Open For Negotiating A 'Settlement'

LONDON, July 10 (AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain declared today an attempt to settle Danzig's future by "unilateral action organized by surreptitious methods" would threaten Poland's independence which Britain is pledged to help maintain.

Chamberlain said while the present status of the free city was "neither basically unjust or illogical, it may be capable of improvement" and added that "it may be that, in a clearer atmosphere, possible improvements could be discussed."

Recent occurrences in Danzig, Chamberlain said, had caused fears "that it is intended to settle her future status by unilateral action organized by surreptitious methods."

"If the sequence of events should be in fact such as is contemplated in this hypothesis, the members will realize that the issue could not be considered as a purely local matter involving the rights and liberties of the Danzigers, but will at once raise graver issues affecting Polish existence and independence," Chamberlain said.

He then declared "we have guaranteed to give our assistance to Poland in the case of a clear threat to her independence which will be resisted by her national forces and we are firmly resolved to carry out this undertaking."

Chamberlain's statement was intended to dispel any doubts in minds of German officials that Britain would stand by her pledge.

FORMER DIPLOMAT'S CONDITION WORSE

NEW YORK, July 10 (AP)—A turn for the worse in the condition of Dr. William E. Dodd, 68-year-old former ambassador to Germany, was reported by his physicians today.

The retired diplomat was in Mt. Sinai hospital suffering from brain palsy, a disease which affects the lower part of the brain.

START DEPORTATION HEARING FOR WEST COAST LABOR CHIEF

SAN FRANCISCO, July 10 (AP)—Harry Bridges, west coast CIO labor leader, denied from the witness stand at his deportation hearing today that he was, or ever had been, a member of the communist party.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 10 (AP)—Harry Bridges took his 14-year-old daughter with him to his deportation hearing on Angel Island today and, after a dispute, the CIO labor leader's defense committee secretary also was allowed to accompany the official party.

About 100 persons, including Bridges' counsel, government officials and newspaper men, made the boat ride to the immigration bureau station on the northeast side of the bay island.

Immigration authorities at first refused Estel Ward, the Bridges' Defense Committee secretary, permission to board the boat.

OFFERS MEASURE TO RESTORE PREVAILING WAGE FOR WPA

WASHINGTON, July 10 (AP)—Rep. Sabath (D-Ill.) introduced in the house today a bill to restore the prevailing wage rate on work relief projects.

Elimination of the prevailing wage rate from the 1940 work relief appropriation act caused the hours of some WPA workers to be increased to 130 per month and brought on a widespread strike of skilled WPA workers.

The American Federation of Labor protested elimination of the provision which would tend to lower wages generally since its effect would be to make WPA employes work at much lower rates of pay.

A back-to-work movement by the Workers Security federation developed, meanwhile, in the widespread walkouts of WPA laborers in protest against the new 130-hour month.

Officials of the federation, recently organized from local unions of WPA workers and the unemployed, advise those of its members who had quit work to return to their jobs. They urged the men, however, to continue to protest against the house provision by holding night mass meetings and participating in demonstrations.

J. Clark Waldron, publicly chairman of the federation, estimated 32,000 members had joined in the walkouts, but said their only purpose had been to make "an effective protest."

In New York, Col. Brehon Somervell, city WPA administrator, said he would meet an AFL threat to shut down 90 per cent of metropolitan WPA projects by moving men from job to job.

The CIO and the AFL, divided on many labor issues, stood side by side in their opposition to the new requirements which have the effect, by imposing a longer work month, of reducing the hourly WPA wages.

Sex Research Writer Dies

LONDON, July 10 (AP)—Havelock Ellis, 80, scientist and sociologist known for his researches in the psychology of sex, died Saturday at the village of Hinton, it was disclosed today.

Ellis had retired a year ago to the village, near Ipswich in Suffolk. "Studies in the Psychology of Sex," a long series of volumes that began in 1897, was the work to which Ellis was devoted primarily.

The white-bearded scholar, when he celebrated his 80th birthday last Feb. 2, said he had gone to Hinton to retire but had "found it difficult."

Descended on both sides from seafaring families, Ellis spent much of his childhood in travel and from 1875 to 1879 taught in New South Wales.

He returned to England and qualified for medicine but practiced only a short time before engaging in scientific and literary work.

He wrote so many books, he once remarked, that he had forgotten how many. "I must go on writing that is my relaxation," he said on his last birthday.

After giving up medicine, he made a life study of sex, tracing the effects of heredity and habits on crime and insanity, as well as the psychology of sex.

Through much of his life he was unable to get his books published in England and this country knew most about his works from American publishers. In more recent years, however, they gained widespread acceptance here.

His "Studies in the Psychology of Sex" was banned in 1928 by an Old Bailey jury which decided the six volumes were obscene.

Action Brings Howard About $150,000

Officials Unprepared To Say What Local Result Will Be

Howard county Monday had a potential surprise package of $150,000 laid on its doorstep when Governor Lee O'Daniel signed the general tax remission bill which returns half of the state general fund ad valorem levy to counties for a period of five years.

County officials were unaware of the measure and news of its approval by the governor left them unprepared to say how the remission might be used.

Last year the state ad valorem levy in Howard county amounted to $68,813.42 on a 40-cent rate since the local roll was slightly in excess of $17,000,000. With another appreciable rise anticipated in value on the current roll, it is possible that the state levy may be increased still further.

Under the terms of the bill Howard county has a potential remission of at least $32,906 each year for five years from 1941 when the act takes effect for all practical purposes.

Previously, it had been suggested that Howard county apply to the legislature for a special tax remission with which to finance flood control work that may be suggested by a survey being made jointly by the city, county and T. & F. railroad.

However, there is little or no restriction on the use to which the county may put the returned tax money. It may be used for any constitutional purpose such as general fund requirements of relief, or for reduction of indebtedness, abating the tax rate, etc.

Surprised at the prospect of having around $30,000 annually dished up into the county lap for five years, County Judge Charles Sullivan laughingly remarked: "We'll have to look into this. Sometimes it looks like those fellows (legislators) must have looked after our interests."

Regarding the road bond bill which continues the highway debt assumption under a one cent diversion of the highway tax and returns the surplus to counties under a formula based on population, miles of lateral roads, motor vehicle registration and gas tax payments, Judge Sullivan had no idea how much this might mean to Howard county.

Fearing the time that a copy of the final bill is received and accurate estimates on formula factors can be made, he did not believe any close predictions could be made on the amount the county might reasonably expect.

The county had no plans for whatever might be refunded from this source, although officials indicated it likely would be used to improve lateral roads.

SPANISH REPUBLICAN LEADER SENTENCED

MADRID, July 10 (AP)—Professor Julian Besteiro, who was convicted by a military tribunal of helping prolong the Spanish civil war, was sentenced today to 30 years imprisonment. He was the last head of the Spanish republican regime.

Besteiro, a socialist leader and professor of philosophy, headed the Madrid defense council which surrendered the city to the nationalists last March 28, after which Generalissimo Francisco Franco's forces entered without firing a shot.

He was tried Saturday by a military tribunal of four generals and two lieutenant colonels on charges of "aiding rebellion." The government prosecutor, Acedo Colunga, former student of the defendant, demanded the death penalty.

D. A. Koons, who with his wife and son, Billy, was making an extended visit in California, suffered a stroke Friday while in Pasadena, according to word received here Sunday. A report on his condition was not learned.

WOULD PUT NEUTRALITY ISSUE AT TOP OF NEXT YEAR CALENDAR

WASHINGTON, July 10 (AP)—A compromise in the closely-drawn senate battle over neutrality legislation, a suggestion was put forward in some quarters today to make the controversial subject the first order of business whenever congress reconvenes.

This would assure President Roosevelt of prompt consideration. It was argued, should international developments cause him to call a special session before January.

Administration forces were silent pending a show-down meeting tomorrow of the senate foreign relations committee. At that time they possess of the administration bill to repeal the arms embargo against warring nations are expected to

All Counties Would Share In Funds

System Takes Three And Half Million A Year From Treasury

AUSTIN, July 10 (AP)—Governor W. Lee O'Daniel today signed a bill returning to all counties half the ad valorem taxes collected within their borders for the state's general fund.

Means A Sales Tax? The remissions, which would start in 1941 and extend over a five-year period, are expected to take around $3,500,000 a year from the general fund, which already has an $18,000,000 deficit.

At the time of the bill's passage, legislative opponents contended it would make a general sales tax inevitable. During the recent session, O'Daniel supported without avail a proposed constitutional amendment containing a 2 per cent sales tax.

Action on the general remission proposal cleared the governor's desk of virtually all important legislation except appropriation bills. They must be acted on by tomorrow night, and the governor has intimations there may be substantial slashing.

The money refunded to the counties could be used for unemployment relief, flood control, soil conservation, lateral road building, reduction of county property tax rates or any other constitutional purpose.

O'Daniel said the principle of remitting taxes was "questionable" but legislatures for years had authorized remissions to individual counties and that with a few exceptions one county was about as much entitled to a remission as another.

The governor, in a statement in connection with approval of the general remission bill, again called attention to the fact he favors abolition of the state property tax.

"The legislature did not follow my recommendation of abolishing the tax," he said, "but in passing this tax remission bill it appears to me they tacitly have abolished 50 per cent of the state ad valorem taxes as far as the state treasury is concerned and at the same time set a precedent which will be difficult to reverse, and most difficult to keep from granting the other 50 per cent later."

"The ad valorem tax unquestionably belongs in the field of local government, and the next regular session of the legislature will be

DANZIG PROTESTS A POLISH 'VIOLATION'

FREE CITY OF DANZIG, July 10 (AP)—Free City authorities drafted a protest to Poland today against an alleged "violation of the frontier" by three Polish soldiers.

Police charged that shortly before dawn two Polish privates and a non-commissioned officer crossed the frontier bridge over the Vistula river at Llesau and denounced Danzig customs officials with a rifle.

The customs officials, they said, held their ground and the Poles were persuaded to return to Poland. Vorposten, Danzig Nazi newspaper, described the incident as "Polish provocation."

It came in the wake of a defiant Nazi demand for removal of a Polish military depot on the strategic Westerplatte at the mouth of the Vistula.

COURT IS BLAMED FOR 'INSTABILITY'

SAN FRANCISCO, July 10 (AP)—The United States supreme court was accused today of "replicating stability with instability" in national government in an address before the American Bar association by the barristers' president, Frank J. Hogan of Washington, D. C.

At the opening session of the bar association's 62nd annual meeting Hogan said "recent far-reaching decisions of the high court compel the conclusion that the American people must look to the legislature rather than the judiciary for the preservation of a x of liberties."

Graduated Pension Aid

The idea of graduated federal aid for old age pensions is gaining momentum in congress, but it remains to be seen whether its proponents can outvote those who would have everything to lose and nothing to gain by changing the present set-up.

The idea is simplicity itself. Many states are poor, with individual incomes far below the national average. The average income in Texas per capita, for instance, is—say—about $350.

The rich states will howl, to be sure; they will argue that they pay the greater portion of federal taxes and ought therefore to have the greater kick-back in the form of matched dollars for pensions.

But from a strictly humanitarian standpoint the advocates of the new plan are as right as rain. Some states are poor in spite of themselves; they are victims of circumstances, or of unwise federal practices.

The tariff, for instance, has impoverished many; unfair freight rates have made others poor.

If the new law goes into effect, it will solve many a pensioner's problem for harassed state governments, like that of Texas.

Chapter 30: BROTHER AGAINST BROTHER. "And now, my friends," Morris resumed, "I...hys, Admiral, what time does the fleet sail?"

This irrelevant inquiry was addressed to Matheron, who had just appeared in the doorway bearing another consignment of champagne. Hearing himself thus rudely accosted Matheron paused, then high-batted Morris East in the finest British tradition.

Lifting his head until his three chins fell into the proper alignment, he bent upon the swaying figure of Mr. East a look that would have brought out fur coats in Singapore. Then he set the champagne down on the sideboard.

"So you won't talk, eh?" said Morris East unabashed. "Well, friends, as I was sayin', I'm goin' to close my speech tonight with a H! story. They was onet a bareback rider in a circus..."

Mr. Horace East emitted a kind of strangled bleat. Mr. Horace East knew this story. "Morris," he shouted, "not an other word out of you. You're disgracing us publicly!"

"Doin' nothin' of the kind," said Morris, gazing over the table with benevolent eye. Well, indeed, and gen'l'mun, this bareback rider falls in love with a lion-tamer..."

He got no further. Mr. Horace East was on his feet. With a side-long twist of which he had hitherto appeared incapable, he seized Morris about the middle. For a moment Morris teetered wildly, like an ape in the grasp of a python.

Then by a series of cat-like squirms, he broke the hold and turned on his brother. "Now you listen to me, you Horace," he said wrathfully. "I got a snoot-ful of this. Always shavin' me up, always pipin' me down..."

Emboldened by his libellous, he took a definite stance. "Who's got a better right? I...snagh, you—you make me sick. And, to emphasize his statements, he gave Horace a push."

It is the law of the jungle that when a guy pushes you, you push him back. Horace East reacted in orthodox fashion. He pushed Morris. Nothing loath, Morris pushed him again. Horace retaliated with a fine, free, fervent push. The next instant the East brothers, rolling over and over, were mixing it on the fine Oriental that lent dignity and refinement to the dining-room.

A series of horrified gasps broke from Pucky, Miss Dorothy South and Miss Lucilla West. But the conflict made an instant appeal to the sporting instincts of the gentlemen present.

Preston Crover

Washington Daybook

WASHINGTON—Secretary of Agriculture Wallace is staging what is politically known as a comeback. When the election returns of 1938 came in to disclose heavy Republican gains in the farm belt, the stock of Secretary Wallace hit a new low.

For six months after the November elections there was almost constant talk of a new farm plan to replace the whole Wallace setup. But as time wore on the plans were pigeonholed and Wallace and his colony of farm thinkers down toward the Potomac waterfront began to advance ideas of their own.

He continued to plug for crop control allied with soil conservation. And he advanced two fresh plans, one of which was instantly popular and the other of which was instantly controversial. The country liked his idea of issuing special stamps to relief clients with which they could buy surplus products through the regular commercial channels.

But what happened after this? The appropriations he requested were increased in several instances. What the House shaved off here and there the Senate added in fuller measure. A writer named John Steinbeck wrote "Grapes of Wrath," a hearty novel about the dispossessed farmers desperate and starving along the California ditch banks.

Under the Commodity Credit Corporation several hundred million dollars may be lent to bolster prices of wheat, cotton, corn and tobacco, a conservative estimate putting this at $200,000,000. The reorganization bill placed Rural Electrification under Secretary Wallace, with $20,000,000 to spend. And the sprawling farm credit administration was buttoned together under his supervision.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

HOLLYWOOD — Perhaps on the theory that two Louis Haywards might be worth the price of admission where one isn't, Louis Hayward is going to see himself in "The Man in the Iron Mask."

I can picture the poor chap now, taking mental nerve tonics for the ordeal. Because Louis is what we amateur psychiatrists call "a case." More than that, he's a card. He never, never goes near a camera when a picture of his is playing. He can dish it out but he can't take it—unless maybe a year later, when the pain is dulled, he makes a trip down to some beach city, sneaks in unobtrusively, and takes a gander at himself on the screen.

If this sounds smug, it's meant to,—because our Mr. Hayward has no right to suffer so convincingly as he does suffer, although I grant the suffering is real, however inexcusable. Here's a nice-looking young fellow, married to the quite gorgeous Ida Lupino, more than commonly successful in this flickering fame racket, a hard and serious worker at his craft, and yet he wears mental sackcloth-and-ashes. He's as sensitive, and as introspective, as an ingrown toenail. He works hard to cover up his natural shyness and reticence, which is one reason he is (a fact he probably would not admit) extremely likeable. You like a man who's in there pitching.

The other day Ole Doc C. steered this interesting patient into one of the Strip's less elegant coffee houses and heard something about it. Sitting at the counter, Louis told of his newly acquired fealty to Hollywood as a place to live and work. The cause: his recent two weeks' sojourn with Ida in New York. They came back, bought a new home in Brentwood, and are ready to be permanent settlers.

Louis decided, long ago, that his forte in acting was youthful character stuff. He had a part like that in his first film, "The Flame Within," with Ann Harding and Herbert Marshall. Part of his dual role in "Iron Mask" is similarly off-normal. (He'll see it, he says, because he's intrigued by the technical miracles involved in playing two parts.) He has played conventional juveniles, never felt at home in them.

"I'm neurotic," he said, "and when they tell me to be myself in those parts, as they do, I never can—because I don't know myself really. When I play a nice, clean-cut young fellow I'm really doing a character role—with the director pulling the strings. Oh, yes, I did one in 'The Rage of Paris' with Danielle Darrieux, but it was Henry Koster who did it, not I. Was it good? No, I never saw it. I see a few rushes, just to get an idea how I'm doing, which I never get because I can't judge. I get a better idea reading certain critics, and from Ida. Ida is a fine critic. Aside from actually hurting when I see myself in pictures, I'm afraid it would make me self-conscious."

"I want to play 'The Hunchback of Notre Dame'—but I'm up for the conventional lead which I don't want. One I'm looking forward to is 'My Son, My Son!' Some of the fans have written in asking me not to play it—they hate the character—but I'm crazy about it. After all, if I can do characters I can keep on working for years. And after all, I'm a neurotic myself!"

Pat Stasey Is Passed To Set Stage For Hit

Locals Take 9th Decision In 11 Starts From Lubbock

LUBBOCK, July 10.—Clovis Bridwell saw to it that Pat Stasey didn't break up a ball game by giving the Big Spring slugger a free pass to populate the cushions in the ninth round but he merely set the stage for Billy Capps who blasted out a mighty home run as the Barons trampled the Lubbock Hubbers, 10-7, here Sunday afternoon.

Bridwell should have known better. After Curdell Loy' and Tex Walton had gained stations as lead-off men in the ninth heat, the Lubbock flinger emerged from a parley with Manager Saly Parker with the decision to pass the southpaw swinger who to date had broken up nine ball games with last inning round trippers. The Hubbers' strategy was working toward a forced play at home. Bridwell worked Capps into a hole by forcing him to foul two pitches back of the screen but the kid connected with a fast one and there was never any doubt about the distance it would cover.

Bahr Is Victor

The explosive clout clinched the game for Edson Bahr who had relieved Louis Janicek in the midst of a wild Lubbock rally in the eighth round. Bahr appeared just as the Hubbers took a 7-6 lead and pitched one-hit ball thereafter. The victory was his tenth of the campaign.

The champions outdid the invaders, 13-12 with Nat Zorko pacing the parade with three singles in four trips but the Janicek-Bahr combination surrendered only one extra base blow, that a double by Lane Mickey.

The Big Spring's power was packed in the bats of Tex Walton, who had two doubles, Stasey, Capps, Don Woin and Al Berndt, each getting two bingles.

A Baron counter in the sixth and three more in the eighth were unearned.

The victory was the ninth in 11 starts for the Barons over the Hubbers and increased their lead over Borger and Pampa, tied for second place, to two full games.

Art Gill was scheduled to assume mound chores for the Big Springers when the two teams take the ring again tonight. Lee Harris was to be Saly Parker's hill choice.

The Barons return home Wednesday to meet Clovis' Pioneers, who are in fourth place in circuit standings.

Minors Have Their Day At Cooperstown

COOPERSTOWN, N. Y., July 10

James Fenimore Cooper gave this village its initial buildup, but it's beginning to look as though General Abner Doubleday will have to take the credit for keeping it on the map.

The natives have known for years they could count on the fame of Cooper's Leather Stocking tales to attract the run-of-the-mine tourist trade. It wasn't however, until they began celebrating the 100th anniversary of Doubleday's invention of baseball they discovered what the General had really done for them.

They've been celebrating the centennial off and on for a couple of months now, and they added to the festivities yesterday with a ball game in which representatives of 41 minor leagues participated.

The "Doubledays," managed by Mike Kelley, president of the Minneapolis club of the American Association, won the game by a score of 9-7.

The opposition, masterminded by Spencer Abbott, now pilot of the Springfield club of the Eastern League, lined up under the name of the "Cartwrights" in honor of Alexander Joy Cartwright, popularly credited with having organized the first honest-to-goodness baseball club.

Before the game Judge W. G. Bramham, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, presented to the national museum a plaque in memory of the seven men who founded the association in 1901.

The only two living founders—Thomas J. Hickey of Chicago and J. N. Farrell of Auburn, N. Y.—were on hand to witness the designation.

The Big Springers' power was packed in the bats of Tex Walton, who had two doubles, Stasey, Capps, Don Woin and Al Berndt, each getting two bingles.

A Baron counter in the sixth and three more in the eighth were unearned.

The victory was the ninth in 11 starts for the Barons over the Hubbers and increased their lead over Borger and Pampa, tied for second place, to two full games.

ALL-STAR GAME MAY ATTRACT 70,000 FANS

Red Ruffing Is Joe McCarthy's Mound Choice

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK, July 10 (AP)—Proving he has a heart full of sentiment under his amply stuffed uniform, Manager Joe McCarthy announced today his own Red Ruffing would be the starting hurler and five other Yankees would be in the American League lineup for tomorrow's all-star joust with the National League.

Only Boston and Detroit of all the other clubs in the junior circuit will be represented when play starts in Yankee Stadium at noon (CST).

The batting order given by McCarthy:
Doc Cramer, Boston, right field.
Red Rolfe, New York, third base.
Joe DiMaggio, New York, center field.
Bill Dickey, New York, catcher.
Hank Greenberg, Detroit, first base.
Joe Cronin, Boston, shortstop.
Joe Gordon, New York, second base.
Red Ruffing, New York, pitcher.

Tommy Bridges, Detroit, pitcher.
Bob Feller, Cleveland, pitcher.
This will set a record for representation by one team and make the event truly a test between the Yankees and the standouts of the National League, whose lineup was to be announced after Manager Gabby Hartnett's arrival on the scene later today.

Yet the single real surprise on the roster was McCarthy's selection of Ruffing for the No. 1 pitching assignment. A month ago he appeared certain choice but the big right-hander has been laboring with a sore arm and lost his last two starts.

After 15 years of yeoman service he no longer is the leading pitcher in the American League on any basis you care to calculate. But the man who gave Lou Gehrig the chance to play his string to the bitter end now is giving another well-beloved star the homage he feels is due.

The practical aspect of parlaying Ruffing, Bridges and Feller against the National League in that order is that the American League for the first time will not present a dose of southpaw pitching and Hartnett may therefore choose to start Lonnie Frey and Ival Goodman, both of Cincinnati, at second base and in the outfield to take advantage of their left-handed hitting.

The American leaguers, victorious in four of the six previous contests and secure in the knowledge the Nationals never have won in an American League park, have been established favorites at 2 to 1 by local betting commissionaires.

A throng of about 70,000 is expected.

By EDDIE BRIETS

NEW YORK, July 10 (AP)—Week's Wash: Flatback was so steamed up over the Giant-Dodger feud the Brooklyn Eagle got out a special "Best of the Giants" edition... What is Clippinger Smith, the Villanova football coach, doing out there on the Pacific slopes?... Chicago is almost a cinch to get the 1940 all-star game for Wrigley Field.

FAGING DR. SMITH

Down at New Orleans the other day, the leopards at the ball park bared: "Attention, please... H. Dr. James Smith is in the audience will be please report at the box office at once."

Bob Pastor will train for Joe Louis at Tom Luthe's old camp at Saratoga... Joe DiMaggio made his first appearance of the season among the American league's "five leading hitters" the other day. Now let's see you get him out of there.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

Jack Singer, New York Journal-American: "Paul Derringer never should have settled that $5,000 judgment out of court... Now he'll have to pitch to DiMaggio, Dickey, Greenberg and Fox in the All-Star game."

Anything can happen in Brooklyn and usually does... During the Giant-Dodger series two guys dressed like Greenpoint gals tried to get in on ladies' day tickets and landed in the 'clink... A photographer rigged himself out in a football helmet, shoulder pads and chest protector before trying to take a shot of Zeke Bonura... Soft drinks were sold only in paper cups as a protective measure for the Giants and umpires... Fans raised $25 in pennies to pay Durocher's fine for slugging Bonura and tried to dump them on the home plate.

PHANTOM FEAR

When Dick Harlow fears, he says Harvard is due for a terrific lacing when it plays Michigan this fall... Only thing is, Harvard doesn't play Michigan this fall... It must be the Beantown heat.

to Poland in the case of Danzig, and it was understood to have had the advance approval both of Poland and France.

Chamberlain's cautious phraseology had a double purpose—to avoid language which Germany might use to advantage in furthering her claims of "encretement," and to leave open the door to possible negotiations of a settlement of the Danzig question by Germany and Poland.

The statement was intended to supplement the recent speech of Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax, who asserted in strong terms that Britain was determined to resist aggression but omitted specific reference to Danzig.

This was his first detailed statement on Danzig since the present crisis began.

He said the free city was almost wholly German in population but that its prosperity depended to a very large extent upon Polish trade.

"Another power established in Danzig," he said, "could if it so desired block Poland's access to the sea and so exert an economic and military stranglehold upon her."

MARKETS

Wall Street

NEW YORK, July 10 (AP)—While the stock market exhibited considerable rallying indifference today, selected issues managed to tack on modest advances at one time or another.

The list pointed moderately upward at the start but most buyers continued to hang back and gains, running to a point or so in the forenoon, were shaved down in many cases before the close.

Deepening commission house gloom was attributed not so much to lack of price trend clues as to dwindling volume.

There really was more good news, marketwise, than bad, but the speculative urge was notably unresponsive. The foreign situation displayed little alteration and the latest promises of Prime Minister Chamberlain to defend Poland against Germany failed to excite boardrooms.

FOUR BLIND DATES

By Edwin Ruff

Perhaps it was the tinkle of glasses and the sound of merriment coming from within the house. Perhaps it was the cover of shiny and expensive cars that he could just see in the driveway. But no matter what its cause, the Chiesler was being afflicted with a sense of wastage and remorse.

Many years before he had, with due modesty, recognized that he was a great and fertile brain. But too late, he was perceiving that the fruits garnered by the use of this high-powered organ might have been much greater had he employed it in some orthodox fashion. As it was, he had dedicated his colossal intellect to anti-social pursuits with the result that, in the section of the community known as the Underworld, he was now looked upon as a kind of benevolent Dr. Fu Manchu. But, thought the Chiesler, where had it gotten him? He had amassed no fortune. He owned no vast estates. What he came right down to it, he was nothing but a guy moving a couple of jumps ahead of the sheriff.

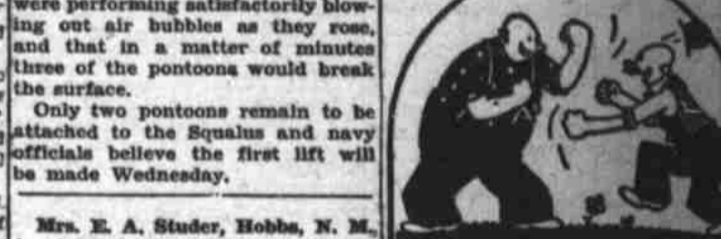

A lesser man might have been in a mood of gloom. But the Chiesler was far too practical. Moreover, there was a bright side. All was by no means lost. There he stood on the verge of a coup which, if properly executed, would win him a fortune. Meanwhile, it was absurd to waste time. Miss Dorothy South had stated bluntly that it might be at least two hours before she would deign to lure Mr. Van Harkness outside to lure Mr. head carcass with a blackjack. And the Chiesler had no intention of squandering these hours. It might be at least two hours before she would deign to lure Mr. Van Harkness outside to lure Mr. head carcass with a blackjack.
