Optimistic Atmosphere Prevails at Conference

By JOHN A. CALLCOTT
United Press International

GENEVA (UPI) — Delegates to the 17-nation disarmament conference gathered today, after a six-week recess, in an atmosphere of optimism generated by the East-West agreement on a partial nuclear test ban.

Charles C. Steele, chief U.S. negotiator, said on arrival Monday he was looking forward to a "useful and constructive session."

Western officials were reported hopeful that the test ban agreement initiated in Moscow would pave the way for settlement of other cold war issues. But the delegates were not certain just where to begin. The different approaches included:

Expect Non-Aggression Try
—An expected attempt by Soviet delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin to press for a non-aggression pact between the NATO and Warsaw treaty alliances, and to urge creation of nuclear free zones in Africa, and possibly Central Europe.

Expect Non-Aggression Try
—A bid by the eight neutral nations to extend the new test ban, which covers only explosions in the atmosphere, outer space, and under water, to include underground tests.

Expect Non-Aggression Try
—A Western move to investigate the two issues on which it is felt the Soviets are ready to talk seriously — the prevention of surprise attack and the reduction of missile stockpiles.

Expect Non-Aggression Try
—Western negotiators were understood to be wary of taking up issues that could only lead to new deadlocks and create new suspicions on both sides. They do not want to do anything here to lose the initiative gained by the Moscow agreement.

Expect Non-Aggression Try
Bilateral talks between Steele and Tsarapkin, away from the spotlight of the conference floor, were looked upon as the major hope for further progress.

Expect Non-Aggression Try
The sole agreement of the conference, reached shortly before the recess, was brought about in such private talks.

Expect Non-Aggression Try
This was the "hot line" arrangement linking Moscow and Washington by teletype to prevent misunderstandings in times of crisis. The link will be installed by September.

Expect Non-Aggression Try
But no further progress is expected here until after the big three foreign ministers sign the test ban treaty in Moscow in the next week or 10 days.

Expect Non-Aggression Try
John Winters, of Austin, state commissioner of public welfare, appointed Mrs. Spoonemore July 18 as a social worker in the old age assistance program. Her area supervisor is John Hessey, 311 N. Ward.

Expect Non-Aggression Try
She will report to the state office in Austin Aug. 12 for a month's in-service training before assuming the duties in the local state public welfare office.

Expect Non-Aggression Try
Mrs. Spoonemore started work for the federal government in 1943 as a civil service employee at the Pampa Army Air Force base hospital dispensary. She worked for federal OPA in Pampa and was chief clerk when the Price administration office closed in 1946.

Expect Non-Aggression Try
From 1946 to 1955 she was employed in the oil industry and as a bookkeeper in Pampa retail stores.

Actor's Daughter Gives Papa Shock

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Actor Dean Martin was shocked today over the marriage of his 18-year-old daughter Claudia to Gavin Murrell.

"I don't even know the guy," said Martin when he learned Monday of the Thursday elopement. "I'm not very pleased about it but what can you do? If that's the way it is, that's the way it is."

Man Buys Gas And Cools Off

HOUSTON (UPI) — As James C. Brown, 26, a gasoline station attendant, was putting a dollar's worth of gas in a car Monday, he looked up to see the driver, nude, showering with the station's water hose.

"He dried himself, paid for the gas, and drove away," Brown said. "I gawked."

Councilmen Wrestle With Paving Problem

Pampa City Commissioners agreed this morning they had "inherited a foggy situation that would take further evidence to clear up" before they could decide if the city should pay for paving N. Hobart from the Perryton Parkway to W. 23rd Ave.

The question came up when Arville Hayes, manager of the Video Theaters, entered a "mild complaint" that he thought his right to offer the city a 10-foot easement fronting the drive-in property on the west side of N. Hobart and have the city pay for paving it should be honored, if the commissioners were going to honor a similar situation agreed to by the 1959 commission. That commission voted to pay for paving a 10-foot right-of-way easement granted by George Cree Jr.

After the commissioners failed to agree as to what should be done, City Manager Harold Schmitzer suggested they get further evidence from all property owners involved and consider the matter at their Aug. 13 meeting.

"The question is whether we are legally bound by what the commissioners of 1959 had obligated themselves to do," Mayor Thompson said. "I don't want to be unfair to anyone involved, but we have inherited a foggy situation that has to be cleared up."

In other business, the commission opened bids on sealcoating and said it would approve a contract at next Tuesday's meeting. Ray Boswell of Pampa bid on conventional asphalt, $16,073.96. E. B. Baker of Borger, bid $17,171.20; Dalworth-Slurry Seal Inc., of Arlington, bid $13,738.32 on seal coating and Chitwood and Son of Pampa bid $13,878.51 on slurry seal coating.

Commissioners authorized a payment of $3,137.10 to International Harvester Co. for two wheel type rubber mounted rotary mowers.

Board to Give Tax Decisions

George Scott, chairman of the City Tax Equalization board, said today the School and City Tax Equalization boards expect to report later this week on the tax evaluations it will give to the Beacon Supply Profit Sharing Trust and the Pioneer Natural Gas Co.

A representative from Pioneer Gas Co. met with the board this morning to give additional evidence as to the value of the Gas Company's property here.

E. C. Sidwell, director of the Trust, had an audience with the tax boards yesterday and presented the Beacon employees case.

powerful Senate committees. They won general praise for their performance and the announced support of two of the committee chairmen. But more than half of the senators interviewed later by newsmen said their minds were not yet made up.

Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Foreign Relations Committee and Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee said they intended to support the

Wirtz Stalled In Rail Dispute

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz was reported stalled today in his latest efforts to settle the four-year-old railroad dispute.

Wirtz found in weekend meetings with union and management negotiators that they not only were in no mood to make concessions but that some of their attitudes had stiffened, an informed source said.

The labor secretary, under pressure from Congress to get a negotiated settlement, may report the continuing deadlock to the House and Senate this week unless there is a change in the bargaining outlook.

Two congressional committees continued hearings today on President Kennedy's proposed legislation to let the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) settle the bitter work rules dispute.

The House Commerce Committee called H. E. Gilbert, president of the International Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen. The Senate Commerce Committee hoped to hear AFL-CIO President George Meany.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy will hold a news conference at 4 p.m. EDT Thursday.

The meeting with newsmen will be over live radio and television. Kennedy last held a news conference two weeks ago.

$10-Billion Tax Cut Is Latest Hint

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sentiment seemed to be jelling in the House Ways & Means Committee today in favor of a $10 billion tax cut, with one half to go into effect next Jan. 1 and the other half a year later.

Chairman Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., gave his first hint of this possible timetable for tax reduction in a question he put Monday to Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon at a hearing on the national debt limit.

Mills asked what the effect would be on government revenues in the current fiscal year if Congress approved a tax bill that contained provisions for reducing taxes by $5 billion, effective Jan. 1.

Dillon replied that it would cut revenues only about $1.5 billion. Mills, who appeared satisfied with the response, did not pursue the matter. But several other committee members said later sentiment was swinging toward that tax-cut plan.

President Kennedy has proposed a three-stage $10.4 billion net tax cut, with reductions becoming effective July 1, 1963, Jan. 1, 1964, and July 1, 1965.

As he has done repeatedly recently, with civil rights and the railroad legislation occupying the attention of Congress, the President today again stressed the urgency for action this year on taxes.

Kennedy told Democratic congressional leaders at their weekly White House conference that "the need for this (tax) legislation is as urgent today as it was when he sent the tax message to the hill." Speaker John W. McCormack, Mass., said.

McCormack said the House leaders assured the President that they were hopeful a tax measure would emerge from Mills' committee "in the reasonably near future."

The speaker said the leadership agreed with Kennedy, during the conference, that "even though the economy is on the upswing, the long-term economic health of the country demands prompt, strong action against the twin cancers of unemployment and underdeveloped resources."

Texas Beauties Vie in Pageant

FORT WORTH (UPI)—Fifty-four Texas beauties—all of them candidates for the 1963 Miss Texas title—toured Six Flags over Texas amusement park today, then attended conferences and rehearsals where the rules and regulations of the beauty pageant were explained.

First preliminary judging in the contest, to choose the state's entry in the Miss America pageant later this year, will be held Wednesday night.

The new Miss Texas will be crowned Saturday night in ceremonies at Will Rogers Memorial Auditorium.

Battle Results When Reds Penetrate Deep Into U.S. Territory

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. officials said today the Communist killing of another American soldier in Korea is part of a deliberate campaign by Red China to raise tension in Asia and sabotage East-West cold war discussions.

It also was believed possible the Communists were preparing to increase artillery bombardment of the Chinese Nationalist islands of Quemoy and Matsu, just a few miles from the mainland.

By SAMUEL KIM
United Press International

SEOUL (UPI) — North Korean soldiers today killed their third American in two days in a sharp, hour-long clash six miles below the demilitarized zone dividing South Korea from Communists and a South Korean also was killed.

It was the deepest known penetration that North Korean soldiers have ever made into the U.S.-guarded sector of South Korea in the 10 years of uneasy truce.

A United Nations Command (UNC) spokesman said the battle broke out about 9 a.m. just north of Munsan-Ni, and that in order to reach the spot the North Koreans had to cross the demilitarized zone, travel through heavily patrolled areas and ford the Imjin River.

Two North Koreans and a South Korean policeman were killed in the gun-and-grenade exchange, after a South Korean civilian tipped off authorities to the presence of the Communists, it was announced.

In Washington, the Army identified the soldier killed today as Cpl. George F. Larson, Jr., 24 of Davison, Mich.

At least one more North Korean, known to be armed with a sub-machinegun, escaped the clash. A UNC announcement said U.S. 1st Cavalry soldiers were sweeping the area in a hunt for him.

The fight broke out a little more than 24 hours after an estimated seven North Koreans ambushed three 1st Cavalry Division soldiers, killing two and wounding one.

Monday's incident resulted for a time in the first full combat alert of American forces in Korea since the Cuban crisis last year. UNC authorities said the "reinforced alert" lasted only a short time, but they emphasized that a "high degree" of readiness was being maintained.

The soldier wounded Monday, Pfc. William L. Foster, 26, of Baltimore, Md., survived an emergency operation and was reported in good condition.

The dead were identified as Pfc. Charles T. Dessart III, 19, of Drexel Hill, Pa., and Pvt. David A. Seiler, 24, of Theresa, Wis.

Ward Morals Verdict Expected Late Today

LONDON (UPI) — Justice Sir Archie Marshall today told the jury considering morals charges against Dr. Stephen Ward that the impression had gone around the world Britain was "a sink of iniquity."

"We are now reaching the last stages of a trial that probably has achieved greater notoriety than any trial in recent years," he said in his charge to the jury after the prosecution had concluded its summation.

"There have been, as we all know, repercussions arising out of what we have to investigate here which have widely spread their tentacles across the public life of this country and have aroused great interest in foreign countries as well."

This was an obvious reference to the resignation in disgrace of War Minister John Profumo because he lied to the House of Commons when he denied misconduct with Christine Keeler, 21, one of Ward's pretty young proteges.

Ward faces a maximum sentence of 25 years in prison if convicted on all counts.

Monday, he heard himself described by both prosecution and defense as "immoral oversexed" (See WARD, Page 2)

'Home Folks' to Have Role in Test Ban Decision

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The folks back home may play a big part in determining whether the Senate ratifies the three-nation nuclear test ban treaty.

This became evident today as more and more senators indicated they were keeping an open mind on the agreement reached in Moscow by the United States, Britain and Russia.

Many senators said privately they were waiting to test the sentiment among voters back home. As a result, ratification of the treaty by the required two-thirds vote shaped up as no sure thing despite optimistic predictions of its ardent backers. One veteran senator noted that it is hard to get two-thirds support for anything in the Senate.

Under Secretary of State W. Averell Harriman, who initiated the agreement for the United States, and disarmament chief William C. Foster faced a bombardment of searching questions at a three-hour closed session Monday with members of three powerful Senate committees. They won general praise for their performance and the announced support of two of the committee chairmen. But more than half of the senators interviewed later by newsmen said their minds were not yet made up.

Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Foreign Relations Committee and Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee said they intended to support the treaty in its present form. But Chairman Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., of the Armed Services Committee was noncommittal.

The preparedness subcommittee of Russell's group will resume hearings Thursday on the military aspects of the treaty, with the heads of two major U.S. nuclear weapons laboratories scheduled to testify.

Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., said the witnesses would be Dr. John Foster, director of the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory, Livermore, Calif., and Dr. Norris E. Alamos, N.M., Scientific Laboratory.

"These respected scientists will be the first of a number of scientific and technical witnesses which we will hear in the next few weeks," Stennis said.

One question troubling many senators, notably Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., is the pact's "veto" provision, which forbids any amendment to the treaty except by unanimous agreement of the three original signers.

Another is the exact meaning of its "withdrawal clause," which would allow any member nation to pull out of the agreement in case of a violation. A third point is the possible restriction on use of nuclear blasts for purely peacetime uses, such as excavation for construction.

Earthquake City Hit by Disease

SKOPJE, Yugoslavia (UPI) — Dynamite squads today began flattening the jagged, disease-festering ruins of this earthquake-shattered city.

Yugoslav army teams spread out through the rubble of the dead city in the footsteps of rescuers making a last attempt to find anyone else alive in the three-day-old ruins of Skopje.

Rescuers found 13 persons huddled Monday night in a tunnel beneath the crumpled railroad station. But seven of the 13 died of shock and exhaustion shortly after their rescue.

The others were "alive and hardly scratched," rescue officials said. Altogether, 10 persons survived after being found in the rubble Monday, they said.

The rescuers said the current death toll stands at 813, with 700 more bodies believed still in the wreckage of what once was the thriving Macedonian capital of 200,000. About 2,170 persons were injured, they said.

Skopje now is little more than a ghost town.

Virtually all women and children have been evacuated. The men forming the rescue squads were running out of spots untouched by their shovels and the special listening devices used to detect living human sounds underground.

A tiny part of Skopje came back to life. To aid rescuers, soldiers and volunteers, a restaurant and several food stores were opened this morning in a few fairly secure buildings.

At nearby Kumanovo, the U.S. Army field hospital sent to aid the survivors was continuing to treat a stream of victims. About 90 were still bedded down in the hospital.

A mercy flight arranged by the U.S. Embassy at Vienna was carrying the hospital staff food as bread, melons, cucumbers, butter, eggs and cereals and softballs and bats for the medical relaxation.

Rose promised to take Bonner's program to the governor.

Bonner said the thing that caused him to act was Connally's televised speech of July 19 in which the governor said he is opposed to parts of President Kennedy's civil rights program.

Connally specifically opposed Kennedy's proposal for a federal law to prohibit discrimination in

Smith, center director, told the group of the services and facilities and introduced each demonstration.

David Deck and Jan Farley, beginners in judo, demonstrated the shoulder throw and hip throw. A. E. Brewer, judo instructor, and his son Eddie, demonstrated attack and defense procedures.

After the judo exhibition, girls participating in twirling lessons offered by the Center, gave a brief demonstration, led by Donna Rath, instructor. Twirlers were Dixie and Debbie Mathus, Katherine and Donna Haynes, Jo Ann Parley, Tiki and Patricia Murphy, Melanie Lyon and Betty Supena.

The square dancers, the Calico Capers Juniors, were directed by Linda Watson. The group, with the boys wearing white levis and western shirts and the girls red and white square dresses and white and lilac check dresses, danced Balance Cindy Lou.

The boys were Ronny Sanders, Sam Waters, John and Bill Duggan and Rod Crow, caller. Girl dancers were Beth and Linda Watson, Vickie Crow and Susie Sanders.

Ten members of the Center's Dolphin swim team, directed by Bobby Bybee, team coach, demonstrated the 50-yard free style swim. The boys were Don and Scott Radar, Scott George, Teddy Byrd, Rusty Reeve, Charles Jordan, Chuck Crosson, Billy Nedifer and Butch Wilkerson. Jackie Stephens demonstrated the 50-yard breast stroke.

Before the demonstration, Aubrey Steele, vice president of the Chamber, made announcements in the absence of Dr. Joe Donaldson, president.

Beginning Aug. 15, Pampa stores will remain open until 9 p.m. on Thursdays. The next membership luncheon will be Aug. 26 in the Coronado Inn.

public places, even though they are privately owned.

"I believe the governor's speech was a foolish move politically," Bonner said. "He could have kept quiet and we would never have known he was against the civil rights program. But he wants to win re-election next year."

Bonner refused to reveal his eight-point program he wants to discuss with Connally, but said it deals with "positive action in areas where the state had jurisdiction."

Bonner is a native of Willis, Tex., near Houston. He said he attended both Texas Southern and the University of Texas, but had not received a degree from either.

He was active in demonstrations about three years ago that resulted in the integration of Austin theaters.

He stayed there until Capitol guards closed the floor at 11 p.m., then went downstairs to wait on the marble floor.

A Capitol guard said as far as he knew, Bonner did not have anything to eat since before the start of the picketing.

One of the signs carried by the pickets said "We want action now. We want freedom now."

Bonner, 35, said he has an eight-point proposal he wishes to present personally to Connally. He met for an hour and a half Monday with Howard Rose, one of Connally's assistants.

He will be featured in the film, "What 4-H Does for Young People."

Rives was selected because of his presentation in the Public Speaking contest at the State 4-H Roundup.

He is a member of the Shamrock Senior 4-H Club and attends Shamrock High School. He is vice president of the Wheeler County 4-H Council.

Burglars Steal Cash and Rings

Burglars broke into the home of Douglas W. Thompson, 729 N. Wells, sometime yesterday, and ransacked two bedrooms.

Entrance was gained by breaking a bedroom window, police investigation showed. The room, the children's bedroom, had been ransacked, and a piggy bank broken open, with money still lying on the floor. The Thompsons were unable to determine the sum taken.

The thief then went to the Thompsons' bedroom, took five silver dollars and two men's rings from a bureau. The rings were a 1955 Pampa High School ring and a white gold wedding band.

MODERNITY IN AN ANCIENT LAND—Sitting on an ornate rug that may well be a descendant of the famous flying carpet, four generations of the family of Ibrahim ibn Suleman (second from right) gather around a modern miracle in their home at Rahimah, Saudi Arabia. They are watching a television program being broadcast over a station operated by the Arabian American Oil Co. for its 11,000 Saudi Arab employees. The station, one of two Arabic-language television stations in the Middle East, uses a retired oil derrick to support the transmitting antenna.

U.S. Plans to Fly Entire Division Of Troops Abroad

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Defense Department is planning to fly an entire Army division — about 15,000 troops — to Germany later this year in a dramatic demonstration of its jet age ability to "get there first with the most."

A major implication of the mass move is that it may point the way for America to reduce its permanent garrison in Germany at some future time and rely on high-speed air lifts for quick reinforcement in emergencies.

Joint chiefs of staff planners believe the massive air lift can be carried out in only three or four days, constituting a unique training exercise for the Army and Air Force. The schedule would call for a jet transport departure every 30 to 40 minutes.

Arriving with field packs and small arms, troops of the U.S.-based division would pick up stocks of tanks, artillery, trucks and other heavy equipment already stored on the continent and begin maneuvers at once.

Strategists preparing the exercise are fearful, however, that some of their plans may be sidetracked by defense budget cuts recently voted by the House.

A vigorous effort is being made to get the Senate to restore most of the funds when it acts on the Defense appropriations bill. The House cut $114 million from Pentagon requests for operations and maintenance, the category that includes training exercises.

The ability to carry out such a huge troop deployment by jets results from the Kennedy administration's decision to make heavy purchases of troop transport versions of the Boeing 707 commercial jetliner.

The resignation of Postmaster General J. Edward Day offers President Kennedy another opportunity to indulge his anxiety for a Negro in the cabinet. Kennedy's first choice for that cabinet post may have been a Negro.

During the 1960 presidential campaign, the Republicans played politics in a stumblum fashion with the idea of a Negro cabinet member. There was no need for candidate Kennedy to match that maneuver precisely during his presidential campaign. The Democratic platform and his own shrewd plays for Negro votes were ample to offset Republican maneuvers.

Once elected, however, President Kennedy had Negro problems. He and his platform had promised — guaranteed — some instant civil rights. It immediately became obvious that the entire Kennedy legislative program probably would be scuttled if the new president proposed broad gauge civil rights legislation to the newly-elected Congress. The decision was to put off the issue.

Negroes were pleased by Kennedy's selection of Negroes for well-paid federal jobs. They were equally pleased by constant evidence of the President's concern.

for Negro problems. Thus it was that the president-elect appeared on the porch of his Georgetown home in December, 1960, with Rep. William Dawson, a Chicago Democrat and a Negro. The president-elect told assembled newsmen — and Dawson agreed — that the congressman had been offered and had refused the postmaster general's post.

Here was another evidence of Kennedy's interest and confidence in Negroes — but was it? The question arose: Was the offer to Dawson for real? The Chicago Daily News printed an editorial under the caption:

"We Can't Believe It. Dawson's record should keep him out of the Cabinet."

The News pictured Dawson as the absolute political boss in Chicago of an empire of corruption, fraud and crime. If so, the nomination of Dawson would have invited severe scrutiny and, probably, rejection by the U.S. Senate. Kennedy scarcely could have been ignorant of Dawson's background nor insensible to the attitude he Senae might take. There tude the Senate might take. There was suspicion, therefore that the announcement that Dawson had been tendered and had rejected the job was a political device and that no real proposal had been made to Dawson.

Suggests New Department
Thereafter Kennedy proposed that Congress establish a new cabinet department of urban affairs. He said he would name a Negro to head the department. The Republicans almost unanimously cried "foul." They were joined by some Democrats from the South.

This was a political play, these dissenters maintained, to make it impossible for a non-southern member of Congress to vote against setting up the new department lest he be accused of anti-Negro bias; of voting against a Negro in the cabinet. However that may have been, Congress did not authorize the new department. But President Kennedy undoubtedly took a substantial political profit among Negro voters.

NIXON AND DEGAULLE

PARIS (UPI) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon arrived Sunday from Frankfurt, Germany, for a meeting Tuesday with President Charles de Gaulle.

Nixon and his family are on a Middle East-European tour. Nixon met with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer Friday in Bonn and earlier in the week toured Berlin, including the East sector.

Old Land Claim Filed With Texas by 'Cherokee Nation'

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—An attorney for the Cherokee Nation today presented the "final form" of a proposal to Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr for settlement of a 124-year-old land claim against Texas.

Earl Boyd Pierce of Muskogee, Okla., said the Cherokees want Texas to give college educations to "less than 1,000 young half-blood or more Cherokees" over a 25-year period to compensate for a two million acre land claim.

Carr conferred with Pierce at length Thursday and asked Pierce to submit a final proposal. Carr promised to give the claim "a great deal of study."

consulted with Pierce, said the educational request was made to fulfill a "moral obligation not a big cash settlement."

Presents Wreath
Pierce presented a wreath today at the statue of Sam Houston in the capitol, commemorating the first president of the Texas Republic 100 years after his death.

Pierce said Houston contributed "invaluable service to the Cherokee nation" and served for several years as the nation's ambassador to the United States.

Final action on the settlement matter would have come from the Texas Legislature which completed its biennial regular session this past May.

Ex-Shoeshine Boy Wins Summer Job At Observatory

ALAMOGORDO, N.M. (UPI)—A summer job at the Air Force observatory on Sacramento Peak at Sunspot, N.M. is the reward of Bobby Varry Forrest, 17, of Baton Rouge, La.

The former Negro shoeshine boy won the post in competition at the National Science Fair at Albuquerque this spring. Forrest, a graduate of McKinley High in Baton Rouge, three times won honors at the Louisiana Science Fair.

He made a study of the magnetic lines of force around the Earth and the Van Allen radiation belt that won the Air Force's Atmospheric Physics award at the national competition. Four years were spent by Forrest investigating the validity of the Van Allen parameters by means of a vacuum tube device that would produce scale models of the forms assumed by streams of charged particles in the earth's dipole magnetic field.

At Sacramento Peak's 9,200-foot observatory Forrest made himself useful in a job that includes solar eclipse analysis and microphotometer work.

This fall Forrest hopes to enter college, and has a full scholarship offer at a southern university. He plans to study engineering and physics, with an eventual goal of research and flying in the U.S. Air Force.

Involves Treaty
Pierce contends Texas failed to fulfill its end of a neutrality treaty made between Sam Houston and the Cherokees while Texas was fighting for its independence from Mexico in 1836.

Pierce says Houston recognized the Cherokees' right to the land in East Texas, but they lost it when the treaty was not ratified while Mirabeau B. Lamar was president of the Texas Republic.

The Cherokees were driven from Texas in 1839 and resettled in Oklahoma.

Pierce said the Cherokees were attempting to back up the claim through Texas historical documents.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Save Time By Zig-Zagging Instead Off Hemming Seams

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — Here is one of my favorite tricks. When making a garment, I use the zigzag stitch on my sewing machine to finish edges of facings and seams instead of the usual one-quarter-inch hem. The thinner edges show less when the finished garment is pressed. — MRS. H. R. G.

GIRLS — This is one of my favorites, too. I often zigzag stitch the unfinished seam edges on a readymade dress. The raw seams of wash clothes so often become ragged and frayed after a washing or two. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — Those who give fancy wrapping paper from showers, birthdays, anniversaries, etc., can take the good pieces, turn on the wrong side and sprinkle lightly with spray starch. Iron with a warm iron and the paper comes out crisp and smooth as new. — MRS. V. J. H.

DEAR POLLY — My hint is for girls with lots of hair bows. Double an inch-wide strip of ribbon and attach it to your bedroom mirror with thumb tacks at the top and bottom. Clip the hair bows onto the ribbon through the first layer only. This keeps the clips from marking the wall and the bows make a colorful addition to the room's scheme. — M. B.

DEAR POLLY — Old or new bicycle baskets, painted and nailed to the inside of a closet door make neat, attractive storage space for purses, hats and accessories. — D. D.

DEAR POLLY — Before laying a pattern on fabric, use a paper punch for punching out the black dots to mark darts, buttonholes, etc., in the pattern. This makes it easy to mark the fabric with a pencil or chalk and keeps the pattern in good shape for future use.

When planning a company dinner, I write the menu on a recipe file card. It is easy to see what, if any, additional groceries are needed. The card is put in a handy place and about 10 minutes before dining, I check the card for the last time to see if any little thing (such as a garnish, etc.) has been forgotten. — J. B.

GIRLS — It might be wise to write the guest list on the back of the card and stick it in the back of your recipe file. When entertaining again you can check and not run the chance of serving the same menu again to the same people. — POLLY

Faculty will include members of the music departments of several universities, musicians from motion picture and television shows, twirling instructors from the National Baton Twirling Association and soloists from the United States Navy and Air Force Bands.

Attending from Pampa, to study in their respective fields, will be Ralph Earl Bradford, 2237 Dogwood, tenor saxophone; Wallace Mark Brown, 1919 Charles, cornet; Gary Blake Laramore, 2139 Chestnut, cornet; Martha Lee Pattillo, 1901 Hamilton, Oboe; John Richard Price, 1022 Somerville, cornet; Van Bob Ragsdale, 801 N. Dwight, trombone.

The American Music Conference reports sales of musical instruments, sheet music and musical accessories in 1962 surpassed the combined dollar volumes of all spectator sports, still a and movie cameras, comic books and playing cards.

Choose Sturdy Cartons And Box Away Your Storage Woes

Handsome boxes which carried department store merchandise will give longer service as storage boxes. Homemaker reinforces edges with black tape. Smaller gift box doubles as a desk pencil holder.

By KAY SHERWOOD
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

With a stack of off-season household items to put away, many of us turn thriftily to the department store boxes we have saved for the purpose. In the collection there will be boxes that sag, squash, bulge or fly apart when subjected to the slightest stress.

This fact hit me hard when I tried to shove a box full of surplus curtain rods onto a top shelf. The boxes I've collected are economical and utilitarian for the most part, but scarcely an aesthetic addition to the storage shelf. Perhaps I shop in the wrong stores.

Changes are percolating in the box world, to our advantage. A few weeks ago I was a judge in a contest sponsored by the National Paperbox Manufacturers Association, judging as a consumer-homemaker the design and functional qualities of rigid boxes used to package store merchandise, cosmetics, drugs, etc.

I made a few notes to share with you. Regrettably some of the best packaging is so specialized (for doctors, dentists, manufacturers) that we never see it.

Some of the better department stores in this country are boxing their wares in truly handsome containers.

One, for example, is an oriental specialty store on the West Coast which uses a brilliant red-orange box that looks lacquered. A soft, wall-paper-patterned paper covers other store boxes, with the store name quietly integrated into the design.

With shoe boxes an indispensable part of many storage plans, some of the nationally advertised brands are being boxed in solid colors or black and white.

Boxes that come apart too readily are apt to be of the folding box construction — containers folded into shape at the store. A rigid box is usually reinforced along the edges.

If you want longer shelf service with less chance of breakage, add a reinforcing strip of tape to the outer corner edges, a box maker advised me. Self-adhesive cloth, plastic tape in color or the invisible mending tape will work.

Look at gift-boxed items for reuse possibilities. I saw some tweedy boxes housing men's handkerchiefs that are sized to double as a card box later.

Another box would go on serving as a pencil-and-pen holder.

Exceptionally artistic stationery boxes (the maker had thoughtfully imprinted name and product information on a removable label) could hold any number of treasures.

The sour note, to my mind, was set by the toy boxes. Often colorful and artistic and so on, the boxes still don't look strong enough to last through a month's play, and appear to require a magician's ability to fit the pieces back in place after use.

Take It From Kathy

by Kathy Peterson

By KATHY PETERSON

Dear Kathy: Some of my friends complain because their mothers and fathers cut down on dates or won't let them go to the movies as punishment for something they do wrong. I wouldn't mind that at all but my parents stop my allowance. They say it isn't something they have to give me and that I don't deserve it if I do something they don't like.

I never do anything awfully bad and losing spending money without warning fouls up my plans for weeks. It also means I can't go to movies, so I'm punished twice. Do you know what I mean and do you agree? — Garry

Dear Garry: An allowance isn't just for fun, it's for planning and learning, too. A small budget in your teens teaches you to manage bigger budgets later.

I'll agree with you that a different kind of punishment might be wiser. Your allowance should teach you to handle regular expenses and to have the chance to make choices between spending and splurging. You'll be doing it for the next 50 years or more so now is the best time to start.

However this becomes a brand new question if you are supposed to do chores to EARN an allowance. Punishment for skipping a job should involve taking away the rewards — in this case money!

Dear Abby...

Tell Him Money Is Loaned
To Him ... Not A Treat

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My boy friend is keeping me broke putting gas in his car, and hamburgers in his stomach. It all started when he said he wanted to take me to a drive-in movie, but didn't have enough money to put gas in his car. I wanted to go, so I told him I'd put the gas in. I thought he understood it was a "loan", but he never offered to pay me back. The next time we were together he said he was hungry (so was I), but he was broke so I came up with the money for hamburgers. Now, every time we go out, he is broke and I do the paying. We both work. He lives at home (free) and has a new car. I am 22 and he is 24. I feel like I am paying him to take me out. What now?

NO SELF-RESPECT
DEAR NO: Unless you made it clear that you were LENDING him the money, he had a right to assume that you were treating him. You got off to a poor start. Now, tell your boy friend that his goose that laid the golden egg is cooked. And if you don't hear from him again, you'll KNOW you were paying him to take you out.

DEAR ABBY: I am 44 but could pass for 50. I have been widowed for 12 years and am now keeping company with a bachelor. He claims to be 55, but he'll never see 60 again I'm sure. He wants to marry me but I am stalling. He's too tight to go to a regular barbershop so he bought himself one of those do-it-yourself barber kits and cuts his own hair. It's so chopped off and chewed up looking I'm almost ashamed to be seen with him. The automobile he drives is so old people stop us all the time and ask him how much he wants for it. It is really ridiculous. (It's a Graham-Paige). He keeps talking about having a "family", but I sure can't help him there. If I married him, do you think I could modernize him a little?

TILLIE

DEAR TILLIE: Either take him as he is or let him be. He sounds like a collector's item.

DEAR ABBY: I don't really care whether "Huntsville" is a nut or not for wanting to donate his body for scientific research, but will you please tell me what is wrong with people who claim to love humanity but won't leave their eyes to an eye bank when they die?

A pair of corneas removed within a few hours after death will make it possible for two blind persons to see. Removing the cornea WILL NOT disfigure the deceased donor one iota. There are long lists of people who remain blind for lack of donors. How many of those who won't leave their eyes after death would turn down a cornea transplant if THEY were blind?

ALEXANDRIA
DEAR ALEXANDRIA: Your question is a good one. And if this item inspires only ONE person to telephone his local eye doctor — or Lions Club, which has spear-headed the Aid-to-Sightless movement — it will be well worth the space in this paper.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MRS. Z.: I wouldn't let that poor excuse for a man on my front porch. And if you sign for your daughter to marry him, knowing that he lied about having a wife and family, you, Madame, should have your head examined.

Tell your troubles to Abby. For a personal, unpublished reply, please send a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Texas Leads In Federal Highway Building Average

Texas is among the leaders of all the states in the proportion of the number of designated miles of Federal-aid highways it now has open to the public, an analysis of progress reports on the nationwide Interstate Highway System shows. Within the state approximately 1,182.8 miles of the 3,032.5 miles designated have been improved or constructed and now are open to traffic, reports B. W. Rippy, assistant vice president of C.I.T. Corporation, the nation's largest industrial and commercial financing firm. The company is a subsidiary of C.I.T. Financial Corporation.

The number of miles of Highway System roads open in the state is 39 per cent of the total designated under the Federal-aid program, compared to an average of approximately 36 per cent for the country as a whole, he pointed out.

"In addition, Texas has about 1,225.8 more miles in the Interstate Highway System under way, either through actual construction or at the level of engineering or right-of-way projects," he said. He pointed out that 90 per cent of the cost of interstate highway construction is paid for by the federal government.

"With the number of registered vehicles in the U.S. expected to rise by about 21 million by 1972, the national highway network must be increased to prevent a serious overburdening of our roads and streets," Mr. Rippy said. "The states should take full advantage of the Federal Program to insure its completion by 1972 and thus provide adequate, safe highways for the more than 100 million cars, trucks and buses that will be 'on the road' by that time."

He pointed out that most of the 1,182.8 miles of Federal-aid highways now open to traffic in the state meet acceptable standards for 1975 traffic but that about 326.6 miles have been improved only to present standards and will need additional improvement to bring them up to the level adequate to handle traffic expected in the next 12 years.

The stills had a total capacity of 220 gallons. Inspectors captured 155 gallons of mash and made two arrests. One quart of moonshine liquor was destroyed.

BOMB STOPS TRAFFIC
COMO, Italy (UPI)—Rail traffic between Milan and the Swiss frontier was interrupted for six hours Sunday when a bomb exploded and toppled a power line. There was no explanation for the blast.

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—Edward F. Underwood of Ira Haupt & Co. feels that although the short term trend of the market is downward, the long term trend is still intact and undergoing an important test. Underwood says that short term traders must continue to remain flexible and long term investors should retain only those issues whose major uptrend remains intact.

R. E. Nuchsbaum of W.E. Hutton & Co. says there seems to be little justification for investors to become more bearish on further weakness. He feels further weakness should be viewed as an accumulation period.

Thomson & Mc Kinnon believes any favorable background change would be a real brace for a trading upswing. The firm cites the upswing in general business sentiment as a reassuring backstop along with the growing number of record or near record second quarter earnings statements.

Yank Gals Given No Hope To Win Today In Berlin

RAUNSCHWEIG, Germany (UPI) — The touring United States women's track and field team takes on the German national team today in the opening of their two-day meet with the host nation favored to hand the Yank girls their third straight loss.

West German publications are predicting victory for their team and there is little to indicate that the German girls will fail. However, the American girls, who lost by a lopsided score to Russia and then made it close against Poland last weekend, were expected to make perhaps their best showing of the tour, although even American officials traveling with the team would not go so far as to predict a victory.

While the Yank girls were expected to take their third straight defeat their male counterparts are being counted on to beat the German men's team in the start of their dual competition at nearby Hannover Wednesday. Both the men's and women's competition is over two days and at different sites with the girls getting underway a day ahead of the men.

Pitchers Star In Junior Loop

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer
Notice how those American League managers always are crying about lousy pitching? Notice, too, how they're not saying one single word today? They couldn't possibly, because they wouldn't have a leg to stand on after one look at Monday night's boxscores.

For example: —Robin Roberts and Mickey Lolich tangled in a pair of two-hitters until Dick Brown hit a pinch two-run homer with two out in the ninth for a 2-1 Baltimore victory over Detroit.

—Dean Chance of Los Angeles held Cleveland hitless until the seventh and settled for a two-hit 11-0 victory.

—Heart-breaking loss
Horlen's loss to the Senators was equally heart-breaking. Recalled from the minors last week, the White Sox righthander held Washington hitless until Chuck Hinton singled over second base with one out in the ninth.

TWIN HOPES — Lefty Jerry Garrison and righthander Carl Harnsberger will be the Pampa Rebel pitching hopes as they are scheduled to start in tonight's twin bill to determine the winner of the Levelland American Legion Baseball Tournament.

South Basketball Coach Grateful Randy In Russia

HOUSTON (Sp) — If South All-Star basketball coach Jimmy Littleton of South San Antonio wasn't a track fan, you can bet your boots he is now.

The reason is simple. When Pampa's Randy Matson withdrew from the North All-Star squad in order to participate in the dual track and field meet between Russia and the United States, it gave Littleton's Rebel forces a tremendous boost for the upcoming high school All-Star game which will be held during the 31st Annual Texas High School Coaches Association Coaching School in Houston, August 5-8.

Matson, the 6-7, 225-pound giant, was expected to give coach Gerald Myers of Lubbock Monterey and his North squad a decided advantage in the 19th meeting of Texas' finest schoolboy basketballers.

Matson, along with 6-7 Bob Glover of Dallas Jefferson, 6-7 David Wray of Abilene and 6-5 Bob Berger of Canyon, was expected to dominate the backboards and the game for the North.

With Matson on the sidelines, Littleton may have enough manpower on the boards in 6-8 Donald Kruse of James Bowie, 6-7 Jon Gorenflo of Houston Milby, 6-5 Rick Greenlaw of Spring Branch and 6-4 Dwayne Murphy of East Mountain.

Even without Matson, the North looks too strong for the Rebel forces. Myers will have five of the finest outside men in the state to ramrod his attack. Heading the list are San Angelo's versatile all-stater Minton White, a 6-3 l.a.d., and Rusk's fabulous deluxe Dotson, a 6-1 shooter deflux. Dotson averaged 37.3 points per game last season on a weak ball club and is considered by many college coaches as the finest all-around basketball player in the state.

White led San Angelo to the AAAA state championship and is a tremendous leader who can do just about anything on the court. White averaged 19.8 for the Bobcats. Also on hand will be Hawley's 6-1 Johnny Sellers with a 27.0 average, Lamesa's 6-1 Wallace Franklin with his 26.2 average and Jim Ned's Ronald McMillon, who hit at a 20.5 clip.

The North also has 6-3 John Ray Godfrey of Aspermont, 6-2 Trenton Bonner of Graham and 6-0 Leo Ames of Millspass and all are youngsters who can play either inside or outside. Bonner, who averaged 18.0 per game, is considered one of the finest in Graham history and Godfrey, hitting at a 18.1 pace, is a two-time All-Stater. Ames averaged 17.6 as a senior.

There's little doubt that the key to the South chances will be just how well Littleton's inside boys perform against the big, tough North boardmen. Although the South has good overall height, it doesn't have a wealth of big, strong inside men.

Both squads as well as the fans will get a break from the humid Houston weather with the game being played in air-conditioned Sam Houston Coliseum. The game is scheduled for 8 p.m. Thursday August 8th and it is quite likely the attendance record of 6,893 set in 1962 in Lubbock will be shattered.

LOUIS BACK IN RING
TEANECK, N.J. (UPI) — Former heavyweight champion Joe Louis will step back into the ring at the Teaneck Armory on Aug. 7. Louis will serve as one of the referees for the eight-card program featured by the bout between Frank DiPaulo of Jersey City, N.J., and Don McAteer of Paterson, N.J.

'Ol' Man River' Spahn Just Keeps Rollin' On

By United Press International
Warren Spahn now ranks as the all-time left-handed strikeout king of the majors — but you'd better put an asterisk in front of that. Until Friday, anyway.

That's when Milwaukee's superlative 42-year-old southpaw is due to work next and since he'll go against the Mets that night, he'll probably dispel any existing question.

Actually there should be no question even now. To all intents and purposes Spahn broke the strikeout record for left-handed pitchers by fanning five batters in an 8-2 victory over Cincinnati Monday night.

Those five strikeouts upped his major league total to 2,378. No argument there. But there is some argument over Rube Waddell's total.

Record Books Differ
Most record books say the former Philadelphia Athletics' southpaw struck out 2,375 batters during his career but in some books his total is listed at 2,381.

Obviously that was all settled 17 years ago when Bob Feller was officially recognized the single season record-holder after striking out 348 batters for Cleveland in 1946. Feller was acknowledged to have broken the record even though Waddell was credited with 349 strikeouts for the 1904 season in some books and 343 in others.

Those six strikeouts by Waddell are the same ones under question now even though it was all supposed to have been settled in 1946. According to the Little Red Book of Baseball, Waddell's total was 2,375. But some purists insist on going by "One for the Book," which lists Waddell's total as 2,381.

Needs Four Strikeouts
Regardless, Spahn has a much better chance of getting rid of his asterisk than Roger Maris has. All the veteran southpaw needs is four strikeouts against the Mets Friday night and he'll be the new record-holder in everybody's book.

Spahn held the Reds to six hits Monday night in posting the 340th victory of his major league career and his 13th triumph of the season compared with five defeats.

Hank Aaron's 30th homer of the season with one on and Lee Maye's eighth homer with one on, both off loser John Taitouris in the first inning, provided enough margin for Spahn, who later yielded solo homers to Vada Pinson and Frank Robinson.

The Los Angeles Dodgers snapped their four-game losing streak and maintained their 4½ game lead with a 6-2 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies while the San Francisco Giants won their eighth straight by beating the Pittsburgh Pirates, 5-4, in the only other National League action.

Three Five-Hitter
Sandy Koufax checked the Dodgers' backslide with a five-hitter over the Phils that earned him his 17th victory against four losses. Koufax struck out seven and walked four. Two-run homers by Tommy Davis and Willie Davis sent 37-year-old Cal McLish down to his sixth defeat compared with 10 victories.

Willie Mays' 24th homer with two on gave the Giants their victory over the Pirates and marked the third time within a week that Mays has delivered a game-winning homer. His blow wiped out a 3-2 deficit and came off Vern Law, who also gave up a solo homer to Chuck Hiller in the third.

Jim Duffalo, second of four Giant pitchers, was credited with the victory, his third without a defeat. The loss was the 10th straight for the Pirates at Candlestick Park dating back to last season.

Over 100 riders from Fritch, Berger, Spearman, Canadian, White Deer and Pampa competed in the Leather and Lace Riding Club's "Play Day" Saturday night.

Bogey Cons Open For Arnie Palmer

CHICAGO (UPI) — Usually a bogey won't win a duffer a beer, but for pro golf's leading money winner, Arnold Palmer, a bogey was good for $11,000 and the Western Open championship.

Palmer won with a bogey because Julius Boros got a double bogey. The third playoff contestant, Jack Nicklaus, also got a bogey.

The over-all performance of the trio on the 205-yard 17th hole at Beverly Country Club Monday may have been the worst ever on network television or in the final round of a $57,200 tournament.

Palmer, who wound up with a one-under-par 70 for the 8,847-yard course, said he had "seen worse," however. Boros finished with a 71 and Nicklaus with a 73.

Palmer, who said he played "pretty well for 13 holes—and then I wasn't too sharp," started the 17th tied with Boros at two under par, with Nicklaus even par.

Palmer hit into a trap and Boros into the rough behind the green. Nicklaus' tee shot stopped five feet from the pin. Palmer's blast from the trap went 35 feet past the pin and Boros dubbed his approach and his ball stopped 22 feet short of the flag. Both missed their first putts.

Opinion Over Cuba

One of the most peril-packed issues of our time relates to Cuba. In the United States, opinion tends to coalesce in three main groupings...

The third group says that the problem is one for Cubans and that Americans should stay out entirely. Opinion here also varies in emphasis.

Some favor encouragement to Cuban exiles so they may have arms and equipment for another invasion try. Others contend that this is too much but there is certainly nothing wrong in suggesting that President Kennedy reverse himself in respect to exile efforts...

There is no doubt some of the feeling favorable to military intervention arises as a result of the aggressive "Bay of Pigs" invasion effort which it was felt that the Americans lost face as a result of the withdrawal on the part of the President...

Those favoring military intervention constitute the first group. The second group also favors intervention, but sees no particular reason for taking up arms or for encouraging the Cubans to do so...

Essential Counterbalance

Due to a variety of forces, in recent years there has been a heavy decline in the search for new oil and gas reserves. Any adverse change in tax policies would inevitably accelerate this decline...

Percentage depletion, which amounts to a 27 1/2 per cent allowance against federal income taxes for oil producers...

Percentage depletion was written into our tax laws in 1926. Then we had 8 billion barrels of oil reserves, we produced eight-tenths of a billion barrels of oil in that year...

Percentage depletion did not do all this, of course. Many factors played their roles in this remarkable industrial drama. But it played a leading part, as a counterbalance for the inscapable fact that searching for oil is an exceedingly risky business...

It is a large order to attempt to define in simple terms a subject about which books have been written. However, we should point out that communism and socialism are the same thing...

One statement in the Manifesto which impresses is the key to socialism-communism: "In a word, you reproach us with intending to do away with your property. Precisely so; that is just what we intend."

"1. Abolition of property in land and application of all rents of land to public purposes."

"2. A heavy progressive or graduated income tax."

"3. Abolition of all right of inheritance."

"4. Confiscation of the property of all emigrants and rebels."

"5. Centralization of credit in the hands of the state, by means of a national bank with state capital and an exclusive monopoly."

"6. Centralization of the means of communication and transport in the hands of the state."

Admiral Speaks Out Before Hawaiians

By ED DELANEY

Some weeks ago HONOLULU, Chester Ward, U.S.N. (Ret) addressed the annual meeting of the Hawaii Foundation for American Freedoms, in Honolulu.

Fortunately there are a few of our retired admirals and generals who have the courage to openly challenge the policies and programs of the present administration which, they assert, are setting the stage for a nuclear Pearl Harbor...

He prefaced his talk by noting that "it will be necessary for me to appear to criticize the administration. The appearance is not deceptive."

Then Adm. Ward proceeded to be "unpatriotic" - by the Lyndon Johnson code. He not only criticized the administration's policies or lack of them, he shook his audience out of its complacency by asserting that, regardless of the distorted appearance of the situation, the Soviet is rapidly developing the capability of "burying us" as Khrushchev has said the communists would do.

Adm. Ward was extremely critical of the cut-back in the Strategic Air Command bombers, which he said "are being scrapped prematurely and deliberately. They are being scrapped to assure the Soviets that we will not retain a 'first-strike' capability."

There is a plot, a real plot, to make bombers unpopular with the American public, said the admiral. Much has been said and written about the striking power of the Polaris missile and the submarines that carry them. But it is the bombers that have kept us safe over the years, asserted Adm. Ward.

Temperature Fluctuations in Child May Mean Little

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT

When is a fever not a fever? If an adult has a temperature of over 98.6 degrees (one degree above normal) we would agree that he had a slight fever.

This rule cannot be applied to infants and small children. In the first place, if a rectal temperature is taken, 99.8, not 98.6, is the normal reading. Also, if the infant is in his first two weeks of life, he may have a rectal temperature of 101 and not appear to be sick.

can't be cured but must take an antihistamine twice a day from May to October every year as long as he lives. He also uses a sun-protective cream and must wear a wide-brimmed hat all summer. Is there any other treatment?

A - This congenital hereditary disease is relatively rare. Its name derives from the fact that it is associated with the excretion of a large amount of a pigment called porphyrin in the urine. This gives the urine a red color. The victim's skin is extremely sensitive to light and there may be an increased growth of facial hair.

It is essential to protect the skin from sunlight or any other source of ultraviolet rays. Since ordinary window glass filters out these rays your son will not need to be protected when indoors with the windows closed.

Even in children who are old enough to run around, an elevation of one to one and a half degrees probably doesn't mean a thing, especially if the child has been very active. Fortunately most active children do not complain of anything don't have their temperatures taken. This is a perfect example of "what mother doesn't know won't hurt her."

Q - My youngster has a pharyngeal duct or cyst in his neck. Should it be removed?

A - In some children the embryonic development of the oral cavity is incomplete at birth and as a result there may be a cystic swelling in the neck. Associated with this there may be a slight intermittent discharge of mucus. Following a cold or sore throat the cyst may become infected and discharge pus. The only satisfactory treatment is complete removal of the cyst.

Q - My 5-year-old son has porphyria and the doctor says he is to be 300 words or less in length. However, longer articles may be printed. All letters must be signed.

The Almanac

By United Press International

Today is Tuesday, July 30, the 211th day of 1963 with 154 to follow.

The moon is approaching its new phase. The morning stars are Jupiter and Saturn. The evening stars are Mars and Saturn.

Those born today include American automobile inventor, Henry Ford, in 1863.

On this day in history: In 1619, the first American representative assembly convened at Jamestown, Va.

In 1916, German saboteurs blew up a munitions plant outside Jersey City, N.J., and two people were killed. Damages amounted to $22 million.

In 1937, a new union was formed - The American Federation of Radio Artists.

In 1942, President Franklin D. Roosevelt formed the WAVES, "Women appointed for voluntary emergency service," in the Navy.

A thought for the day—British Prime Minister, Sir Winston Churchill said: "If we open a quarrel between the past and present, we will find that we have lost the future."

Percentage depletion was written into our tax laws in 1926. Then we had 8 billion barrels of oil reserves, we produced eight-tenths of a billion barrels of oil in that year, and the price of gasoline, before taxes, was 20.9 cents a gallon. It took the average worker one hour to earn the money to buy 2.6 gallons of it.

What was the picture 36 years later, in 1962? It was hardly recognizable. We had 38 billion barrels of oil reserves, and produced 3 billion barrels of oil during the year. The price of gasoline, before taxes, was less than in 1926 - 20.4 cents a gallon. And the earnings from an hour's work would buy more than four times as much of it - 11.7 gallons.

Percentage depletion did not do all this, of course. Many factors played their roles in this remarkable industrial drama. But it played a leading part, as a counterbalance for the inscapable fact that searching for oil is an exceedingly risky business, in which the dry and useless wells outnumber the productive ones by a wide margin. In this situation a fair profit inducement must be offered if men are to take the long chances.

notion of fact

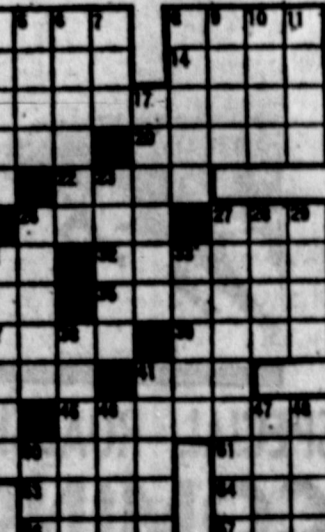

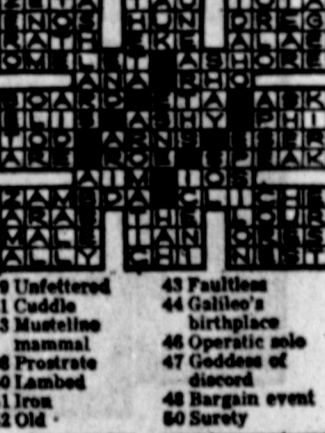

In the days of the empire, Roman houses of every size and degree of wealth were centered around the atrium, or open court or patio. This idea of an open court derived from the one-room hut days when there had to be a hole in the ceiling to let the smoke escape and to light the interior.

64,000 FOREIGN STUDENTS STUDIED IN AMERICA IN 1962-63

THEY COME TO LEARN—The number of foreign students in the United States hit an all-time high this academic year—64,000 students, an increase of 11 per cent over last year and almost double the number 10 years ago. They came from 152 countries and were enrolled at 1,805 of the nation's 2,000 colleges and universities. Africa, with the smallest number of students, showed the greatest percentage increase. Canada sent more students here than any one country, followed by India and Nationalist China. In addition to the students, there were 6,000 teachers, researchers and other scholars from foreign countries and more than 7,000 interns and residents in U.S. hospitals. Meanwhile, the number of American students and teachers abroad fell 15 per cent, to a total of about 19,000.

Rio Grande Valley Area Crops Hard Hit by Drouth

ALBUQUERQUE (UPI)—The worst shortage of irrigation water in 60 years, and perhaps in history, is creating a serious threat to crops up and down the rich Rio Grande Valley of New Mexico. The chief engineer of the Middle Rio Grande Conservancy District, Hubert Ball, said today crop losses in the middle valley "already are serious" and could become worse. "If we get water to a farmer once in two months now we figure we'll be doing pretty good," Ball said. Ball's remarks came in reply to a petition from 45 property owners in the valley who complained they were "not getting our fair share" of irrigation water. The petition stated the signers had received no irrigation water on their farm lands since June 1. Ball has ordered an investigation of the complaint but said if the signers were getting their fair share of what water is available "that was it." A river flow of from 1200 to 1400 cubic feet per second is needed at the north end of the district to fulfill irrigation demands but the flow has been only about 130 to 140 cubic feet per second, or about 10 per cent of the necessary amount. "It would take a lot of rain to better the situation," Ball said. "What little rain we have had hasn't put a bit of water in the river." Ball said the present drouth was the worst since 1903. In that year the Chama River quit running at Chama and the Rio Grande quit running at Velarde, north of Albuquerque. "For all practical purposes they (the two rivers) have quit running now," Ball said. Approximately 50 per cent of all one-family homes in the United States were built before 1929, note building authorities at Allied Chemical's Barrett Division.

Capitol Hill Commentary

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press International
Guest conductor and also subject of today's essay will be Ernest F. Lyons who should be the envy of every press association and newspaper working stiff who maneuvers this piece toward print or into the waste basket. Lyons probably has the best job in journalism. He is editor of the Stuart, Fla., News which means that he works and goes fishing in the Stuart-Jensen Beach area of east coast Florida.

The News is a weekly, fat with local news, advertising and pictures each Thursday. It easily would rate among the 10 best weeklies in the United States. The combination of an exceptionally good newspaper in the exceptionally delightful Stuart-Jensen Beach area is what makes Lyons' job, maybe, the best in journalism. Lyons is a friendly man slow to anger. The Post Office Department's new zip-code, however, is too much for editor Lyons. He says it will be a flop and he fears it will be the most expensive burden on business and industry since taxes. In the News, Lyons wrote:

"The U.S. printing industry should chip in for a solid gold monument to Postmaster General F. Edward Day. Good For Printers "His new zip-code numbers, coming as they do ahead of dog days, will be a shot-in-the-arm to the printers in an otherwise dull period and will cost American business untold millions of dollars. "Indeed, if we were in the printing business (the News has no job shop), we would call in our salesmen and give them a pep talk. 'Get out there boys and sell! Every letterhead and envelope in the U.S.A. is out-of-date. They got no zip!' "And there would be a sense of urgency in our attempt to get this business, the sweetest printing plum since the phone companies changed over to the dial system. "For common sense would tell us that zip is going to be a dismal flop and we'd better make hay while the sun shines. Human beings just aren't made like computers and it would take a computing system to remember all of the zip numbers of all of the correspondence in which the average person engages. The general idea that Postmaster General Day is trying to sell is that, if you send it by zip it will go by fast U.S. mail; if not by zip it will go by slow U.S. mail.

Predicts Flop
"There is only one cure for it, another mammoth printing job listing the zip numbers of every post office in the United States, a copy to be furnished every person using the U.S. mails. And even the firm that prints the Sears Roebuck catalogs would be glad to get that order. We predict that it will be a flop." The beauty of Lyons' job is that he can do something affirmative about his frustrations. When, for example, he is overcome by some such enormity as Postmaster General Day's zip-code, Lyons can rig and eel skin on a line and take a 30-pound snook from the St. Lucie River. Or, with more elaborate gear he can tie into a sailfish off shore. In a more contemplative mood, editor Lyons can simply sit and observe the little St. Lucie fish leaping to escape the big fish. The leapers will be up to 18 inches long and may weigh a couple or three pounds. The big ones down below are really big, tarpon. What we working stiff think about editor Lyons is this: We think he's got it pretty soft.

Treaty of Cooperation Already Bearing Fruit

BONN (UPI)—The French-German treaty of cooperation has borne fruit sooner than expected. At the close of the first of the two-yearly meetings the treaty requires of them to coordinate policy, French President Charles de Gaulle and German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer appeared to have made no progress in either of the two most urgent problems confronting them.

Spokesmen for both governments hurried to explain too much shouldn't be expected of the first meeting. But now it is shown the two men had in fact moved significantly. Each had sacrificed a pawn, but by doing so had gained other advantages. In German, a chess pawn is known as a "bauer" or farmer.

That's who Adenauer sacrificed. After years of holding out, he and his cabinet finally agreed to the principle of a single grain price for all six nations of the Common Market at something less than the present high German price. The farm organizations have cried "treason," claiming Adenauer had promised he'd never abandon the high price policy. They claimed the government's promise to make up the loss in full in the form of direct subsidies was inefficient. In return for Adenauer's pawn, De Gaulle agreed to regular economic policy contacts between the Common Market and Britain. But he got the talks into the West European Union, where he can better control their use, and where the Common Market high commission which he so dislikes can enter only when invited.

Girl Is Mauled By Circus Bear

CANOGA PARK, Calif. (UPI)—Three-year-old Lyn Seely today faced the possible loss of her right hand as a result of being mauled by a circus bear she tried to pet through the bars of the animal's cage. Lyn's physician, Dr. Elliott Harris of Santa Susana, Calif., said Sunday the girl's hand might have to be amputated. However, he said no decision would be made until the bandages are removed at the end of the critical time period of 48 to 72 hours. The youngster was attending an afternoon performance of the Ted Duane Circus in Santa Susana on Friday when she ducked under a sawhorse and put her hand into the cage of a Himalayan bear to pet him.
