Death Toll Reaches 18 in Utah Mine Blast

Investigations Begin Into Cause Of Explosion

By JAMES BAPIS
United Press International

MOAB, Utah (UPI) — The grim task of identifying bodies of victims of a potash mine explosion began today in a truck repair shop converted into a temporary morgue.

At the same time, federal and state agencies began full-scale investigations of the blast, which killed 18 of 25 construction workers nearly 3,000 below the earth's surface.

The makeshift morgue was set up when word reached officials that the remaining 18 men still in the mine were dead. Seven men survived the blast. Five were rescued Thursday night; two were rescued Tuesday, the day of the explosion.

Sheriff John Stocks, who knew most of the victims personally, said it appeared that visual identification would be impossible in most cases. He said there was a possibility he would ask the FBI to aid in the identification.

Orders Inquiry

The federal investigation into the blast was ordered by the Interior Department in Washington Thursday following a statement by the director of the Bureau of Mines that "all but one" of four fatal accidents involving workers at the mine property during the past 20 months "were preventable."

Bureau Director Marling J. Ankeny said corrective measures had been recommended to the shaft-drilling contracting firm, Harrison International, Inc., of Miami, Fla., a Canadian concern. Ankeny said the mine still was in custody of the Harrison organization at the time of Tuesday's explosion, but that Texas Gulf Sulphur Co. "was exercising some surveillance over the contractors."

Wednesday's survivors, Don Blake Henna, 27, and Paul McKinney, 22, were at the mine Thursday to aid in the rescue of their five companions. The five included Charles Byrge, Helper, Utah; Robert June, Moab; Charles Clark, Moab; Tom Trueman, Toronto, and Grant H. Eslick, Moab.

Eslick was the only employe of the Texas company. The 24 other men worked for Harrison International.

Trueman and Hanna were hospitalized for treatment of injuries and burns.

Eslick said the smoke after the blast gave him his "worst moments."

"If a guy is going to panic, he will do it in smoke," he said.

June was asked how he spent the 31 hours awaiting a rescue party.

"I just laid there and sweat," he said.

Shortly after the five men were brought to the surface, the crowd of newsmen and relatives which had kept a long vigil at the mine was told that the 18 other men were dead.

June Crawford, chief engineer for the Texas company, said over a loud speaker:

"For all of you on the firing (See UTAH MINE, Page 1)

Chamizal Dispute Ended By Signing Of Agreement

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — The United States and Mexico have signed an agreement giving Mexico a net of 437 acres in the El Paso area in settlement of the century-old El Chamizal dispute.

The dispute started when a hurricane changed the course of the Rio Grande, which the United States considered the border. Mexico actually is getting 630 acres of U. S. territory in settlement of the dispute.

But Mexico is giving the United States 193 acres of Mexican territory, leaving Mexico a net gain of 437 acres.

Ambassador Thomas Mann of Laredo, Tex., signed Thursday for the United States and Foreign Minister Manuel Tello for Mexico. Mann said the agreement was a model of "cordial and diplomatic" settlement of border disputes. Tello hailed it as "a great victory for reason and rights" and "one of the most important agreements in (U.S.-Mexican) diplomatic history."

The settlement now goes to the U.S. Senate and the Mexican Congress as a treaty for approval.

The Chamizal (Spanish for thickets) is an area that includes schools, a packing plant, a housing project and 3,500 residents.

Rio Grande Meandered
The land wound up on the U.S. side of the border in 1864 when the Rio Grande changed course. It became a matter of pride with Mexicans to get the small chunk of land back.

Awards Program Set for Tonight

The fifth annual awards program and beauty contest sponsored by the City Improvement Club begins at 8 p.m. today at the Marcus Sanders swimming pool, according to Mrs. Samuel Motley, club president.

Prizes will be awarded to yard and garden beautification winners and a bathing beauty queen will be crowned at poolside.

Mayor H. R. Thompson, Dr. Joe R. Donaldson, Chamber of Commerce president and L. P. Fort, city commissioner, are scheduled for short talks.

Mrs. L. E. Wortham will outline the club purposes. Mrs. John Morgan will introduce beauty contestants and contest judges.

E. O. Wedgeworth, Chamber of Commerce manager, will present the awards. Group singing will be led by Mrs. Artie Moultrie and Commissioner Fort will give the invocation.

Presiding officer, Mrs. Motley, will close the meeting with introduction of new club officers.

Commission Holds Two-Hour Closed Door Meet; Holmes, Fort Stay Away

Mayor H. R. Thompson and two of Pampa's four city commissioners met for two hours last night in a closed-door meeting at City Hall.

Newspaper and radio representatives and the public were barred.

In attendance at the meeting were the mayor, Dr. MacField McDaniel, Ward 1 commissioner; Jim Nation Jr., Ward 2 commissioner; City Manager Harold Schmitzer, City Atty. Bob Gordon, and City Secretary Edwin Vicars.

Ward 3 Commissioner Leon Holmes and Ward 4 Commissioner L. P. Fort did not attend.

Holmes and Fort stated they would not attend any meetings of the commission which were closed to news media representatives.

City Manager Harold Schmitzer, when questioned today, said the mayor and two commissioners discussed the proposed $1,650,000 city budget last night.

No official action of any kind was taken, Schmitzer said, and no minutes were kept on the meeting because it was an "executive" session.

The fact that the meeting was closed to the press resulted in a wide-open split on the commission, with Commissioners Holmes and Fort emphatic in their opposition to the policy of barring news representatives from meetings.

Commissioner McDaniel expressed his views on the matter in a public meeting of the commission last week when he stated he thought the commission was "missing the boat by not holding executive sessions."

So far as is known, last night's meeting was the first closed session held since then. It lasted from 5:30 p.m. until shortly after 7:30 p.m.

A previously scheduled closed door meeting for last Monday night was canceled.

Commissioner Holmes said that

Equal Employment Is 'Master Key' For Negro Struggle

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Msgr. George G. Higgins, director of the social action department of the National Catholic Welfare Council, has termed equal employment opportunity the "master key" to improving the status of the Negro.

In his annual Labor Day message, the Catholic leader said that despite limited steps taken during the last year Negroes are still "the last to be hired and the first to be fired in all too many occupations."

in addition to the fact he had made up his mind not to attend closed meetings in the future, the meeting last night was called at a time when he could not attend if he wanted to.

"They certainly know that the stores are open on Thursday nights and I cannot get away from my store," Holmes said.

Holmes added:

"I cannot understand why the news media should be barred from any meeting where public business is being discussed."

Commissioner Fort said:

"I think the press should be allowed to attend the meetings in order to be familiar with what is taking place in connection with the handling of the taxpayers' business and money. In addition to that, these so-called executive, closed door sessions have a tendency to upset the morale of city department heads and employees."

Fort said he had received several calls from city personnel in the past few days wondering if "this one or that one was to be fired."

"They wanted to know if that was the reason for the closed door meeting," Fort said.

Before last Monday's closed meeting was canceled, Mayor Thompson stated that the reason for the executive session was that "there are some things about the budget we would rather discuss among ourselves."

Commissioner Fort, in the statement he released for publication, said:

"If it were a matter of personalities, ways could be arranged for private talks, but a matter of the taxpayers' money should be discussed in the open. Personally, I can say there is much that I would like to have changed in the proposed budget, but this is no reflection on city personnel who submitted it."

"To pointedly build up a plan to close the commission doors seems to me to be a way to aggravate public feeling and cause one to suspect that something is under cover."

"I have always found that our news media are trustworthy and have no desire to embarrass anyone unnecessarily."

For Boys, Girls Under 18 Science Essay Contest Offers Prize Trip to Cape Canaveral

The Pampa News is proud to announce that beginning Sunday boys and girls will have a chance to win an all-expense paid trip to Cape Canaveral, or the West Coast Missile Base, for two! Plus 50 other exciting prizes! See and tour the famous missile base. See the launching pads of our famous astronauts!

Simply write a brief essay (100 words or less) on "Why I want to be a Scientist." That's all you have to do. There is nothing to buy. The contest is open to boys and girls under the age of 18 or who will not have reached their 18th birthday by midnight, Oct. 31, 1963. (Employees or relatives of employees of this newspaper are not eligible.) Send your essay to Suite 1700, 203 N. Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill. Entries must be postmarked before midnight, Oct. 31, 1963. You may send as many essays as you wish.

In connection with this nationwide contest, The News is beginning a new illustrated series of Science Tips and Projects for youngsters, a new illustrated science feature column which will appear in this newspaper each Sunday and Thursday during September and each Sunday during October. Read this fascinating and exciting new feature. It's informative and fun!

Besides the Grand Prize, there will be 100 complete sets of the 20-volume all-science encyclopedia awarded to the 30 runners-up and their school libraries. The Young Peoples' Science Encyclopedia is published by Childrens Press, Chicago, Ill.

Special note to parents and teachers: The Pampa News is pleased to cooperate in this nationwide contest to encourage youngsters to learn more about the sciences. It has received the endorsement of Cameron Marsh, Pampa High School principal.

5—Contest closes Oct. 31, 1963. All entries must be postmarked before midnight, Oct. 31, 1963.

6—Decision of the judges is final.

7—All entries become the property of Childrens Press, Inc., Chicago, Illinois.

8—Winners will be announced in The Pampa News the week of November 20, 1963.

Kennedy Wants Aid Restored

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (UPI) — President Kennedy made a strong public appeal today for the Senate to restore House cuts in his foreign aid program and said Americans must realize that "freedom does not come cheaply or easily."

Kennedy warned Congress and the nation that unless the billion dollar cuts are restored, U.S. commitments from South America to Southeast Asia will be seriously endangered.

Kennedy called newsmen to the Cape Cod White House to restate his insistence upon undoing the House action after meeting more than an hour with foreign aid director David Bell and retired Gen. Lucius D. Clay, who headed a special committee which studied the program.

Unless the cuts are restored, Kennedy said, the United States "will not fulfill its commitments" to Latin America under the Alliance for Progress or be able to continue military aid to nations rimming the Iron Curtain.

House Made Slashes
The House last week slashed $585 million from the foreign aid authorization bill after its Foreign Affairs Committee already had chopped about $40 million from it. This reduced the amount from Kennedy's $4.5 billion request to $3.5 billion.

The President already had scaled his request down by $400 million at the urging of Clay's committee. And Clay last week also said the House had gone too far.

Words Are Stronger
The President's words were even stronger. He said that the 1960s will continue to be "very difficult" for the free world, adding that "peaceful coexistence (with Russia) will be very intense."

He said this applied particularly with the competition between communism and freedom in Asia, Africa and Latin America.

"We are going to make every possible effort to insure that the security of the United States and effective foreign policy will be maintained in the coming months," Kennedy said in reporting on his talk with Clay and Bell on what might be done to "strengthen this mutual security program."

"This is before the Congress but in a very real sense it is before all the American people," the President asserted.

'Lunatic' Sought In Stabbings

NEW YORK (UPI)—A "lunatic" who made obscene and threatening phone calls was sought today in the carving knife slayings of two career girls in their fashionable East Side Manhattan apartment.

One of the victims, pretty Janice Wylie, 21, a niece of writer Philip Wylie, recently had received several crank calls from an unidentified man, according to her father and one of her friends.

"They were from some lunatic who used obscene language," the friend said Miss Wylie told him.

Terrified by Calls
"She was plagued and terrified by the calls. Two weeks ago she told the man, 'Don't ever call me again,'" the friend related to police.

The friend reported that the caller answered "Then you'll have to take the consequences."

Miss Wylie, an aspiring actress who worked for Newsweek magazine, and one of her roommates, Emily Hoffer, 23, a school teacher and daughter of a Minneapolis surgeon, were found Wednesday night tied together with sheets in a bedroom of their apartment.

The bodies were discovered by Janice's father, Max Wylie, a writer and advertising executive, who was let into the four-room flat by the third roommate, Patricia Tolles, 23.

Apartment Ransacked
Miss Tolles last saw the two girls alive when she left at around 9:30 a.m. EDT on Wednesday for her job at the book division of Time, Inc. Police said the girls were slain later that morning by a quiet killer who apparently did not steal anything.

Dr. Milton Helsen, the city's chief medical examiner, said preliminary autopsies on the bodies showed the girls had not been raped. Helsen said they had been stabbed repeatedly about the neck and abdomen.

Detective chief Lawrence McKearney said, "Anyone able to kill these girls as they were killed is certainly not normal."

NAMED FOR RAYBURN
WASHINGTON (UPI)—A bill to change the name of the McGee Bend Dam and Reservoir on the Angelina River in Texas to the Sam Rayburn Dam and Reservoir, honoring the late House speaker was approved Wednesday by the Senate.

Two Army Pilots Killed in Saigon

SAIGON, Viet Nam (UPI)—Two U.S. Army pilots, a captain and a lieutenant, were killed when their HU3B helicopter was shot down by Communist groundfire about 30 miles north of Saigon, military sources said.

The sources said that three other Americans aboard the chopper were wounded.

The chopper one of about 15 troop-carrying H21s escorted by five armed HU3B helicopters, was on its way to Tay Ninh town near the Cambodian border to pick up troops for an assault on Viet-Cong guerrillas.

Its rear rotor blade was hit by groundfire, and the big craft spun crazily out of control, nosing into the ground with terrific impact and killing both men, the sources said.

The men were the 107th and 108th U.S. servicemen to die in the grinding guerrilla war against the Communists since massive numbers of American military advisers began pouring into the country in January, 1961.

They were the 49th and 50th killed by hostile action, according to a United Press International tally. Of the dead, 82 have now died in combat, 32 of them by accident. The other 26 deaths have come from suicide, disease and training accidents.

Grand Jury Is in Session

The Grand Jury of the 31st judicial district, Gray County, met in County Court room this forenoon. Reports of cases for investigation were not available for publication until after the session, according to District Attorney Bill Waters.

Jurors selected to serve were W. F. Dean, W. S. Dixon, J. W. Shelton, Tom Rose, Pat Watson, D. L. Hale, D. A. Campbell, and Hugh Burdett, all of Pampa; Mrs. Ercy Cubine and Carl Lee Henley, McLean; F. H. Browning and C. A. Hammer, Lefors.

Camera Being Used In Search for Bova

SHEPPTON, Pa. (UPI) — A television camera lowered in search of miner Louis Bova, trapped for 16 days, recorded early today "what looked like the entire body of a man," according to H. Beecher Charnbury, state secretary of mines.

The camera, Charnbury, said was lowered into the escape hole through which David Fellin and Henry Throne were dramatically rescued early Tuesday.

The Aug. 13 cave-in which imprisoned all three miners had trapped Bova separately from the other two, and they said they had not heard from him since Aug. 20 but Charnbury said it was possible Bova had come into the chamber since Fellin and Throne were rescued.

The camera, according to Charnbury, recorded what "looked like the entire body of a man — a miner's hat, head, shoulders, arms, legs and boots." The form, he said, appeared to be in a sitting position against a wooden post.

Findings Not Conclusive
However, Charnbury emphasized that the findings of the camera were not conclusive.

He said further pictures were being taken and that a volunteer might be lowered into the hole today. Whether to send one of more than 20 volunteers down was to depend on the hazards involved and the scrutiny of pictures.

Originally it had been planned to take pictures down another hole, 22 inches wide, reamed down Thursday to the presumed location of the 52-year-old Bova.

"There's a man down there." Thus did 21-year-old William Unger, one of the volunteers, explain his willingness to go down after Bova. Unger said he did not know Bova, but "that doesn't make any difference—not to me, it doesn't."

Unger, a slender six-footer who weighs a wiry 150 pounds, quit high school to go into the mines at age 15. Of his young wife Marie, mother of his baby daughter, Unger says that his volunteering is "okay with her..."

"Sure she's worried, but she always worries when I'm in the mines."

Chances Are Slim
Unger thinks Bova is alive, though chances for his survival are conceded slim by almost all observers here. He said his only worries on going down would be gas and black damp—a lethal combination of coal dust and carbon monoxide.

A 3-inch-wide drill probe to Bova's presumed location has been completed. A 6-inch-wide probe has not yet been finished.

Controversy continued Thursday over a contention by David Fellin, who was dramatically rescued with Henry Throne early Tuesday, that they should have been brought out after 5 instead of 15 days.

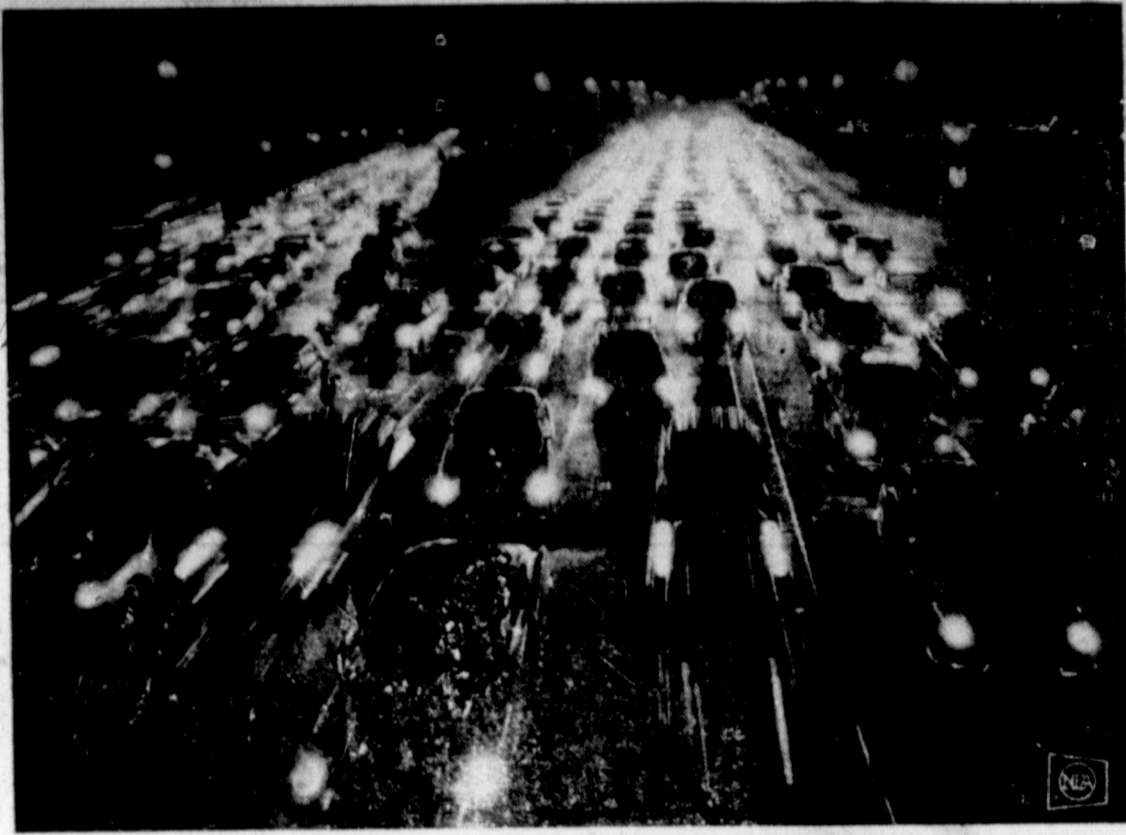

Fellin, a co-owner of the mine, had told newsmen that rescuers should have dug through the old mine shaft, instead of drilling new probes to the two men.

Officials Take Issue
The three leaders of the rescue effort took immediate issue with Fellin's statement. Gordon Smith, deputy state director of mines, said it was partly Fellin's fault that the mine caved in.

"The miners in this operation were removing pillars of coal," Smith said. "Fellin showed he doesn't know all there is to know about mining by getting himself in this predicament."

The mine, abandoned in 1928, had been worked again sporadically since 1950. Smith said Fellin was "taking out coal pillars left all those years" to support the mine.

Washington March Gets Sympathy From Western European Press

LONDON (UPI) — Western European news media gave massive and sympathetic coverage today to the Washington civil rights march but the Soviet news agency called it a demonstration of the "sore of American society."

Tens of millions of persons on both sides of the Iron Curtain watched a four-minute portion of the protest march on live television beamed through an intricate system of relays linked to the Telstar satellite.

the national mass movement of the Negroes which can no longer be ignored by the United States rulers," Tass correspondents Vladimir Vashedchenko and Mikhail Sagatelyan reported from Washington.

Telstar and West Europe's Eurovision network brought the march into homes throughout Western Europe and to stations in Communist East Germany, Hungary, Poland, Russia and Czechoslovakia.

The Communist New China News Agency, in a Peking broadcast heard in Tokyo, said the demonstrators converged on the capital "unintimidated by a force of 10,000 troops and police mobilized by the Kennedy administration to control the march."

London Daily Mirror columnist William Connor, who writes under the name Cassandra, said the gathering of 200,000 Negroes and whites was "moving in its softness, its gentleness, and in contrast with the brutal roaring sounds that crowds degenerating into mobs usually emit."

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
Partly as result of the new partial nuclear test ban treaty, partly as result of long-standing pressures, there is today increasing talk of a vast new buildup in East-West trade.

The United States has admitted it is reviewing its policies toward Communist-bloc nations.

For years under Nikita Khrushchev the Soviet Union has pressed for increased trade with Western nations and has protested especially the Western ban on strategic materials which covers far more than the question of guns or rockets.

For the West, the more cautious advise that the nuclear test ban treaty by itself constitutes no real breakthrough in East-West relations and that in Germany, for example Soviet demands have not been reduced in the slightest.

Business Questioned

There also is the question of doing business with and helping to build a system frankly dedicated to destruction of the Western democracies and their economies.

Within both blocs there are important pressures beyond the political.

In the Soviet Union and its satellites there is an increasing demand for an increase in the standard of living and the supply of consumer goods after years of hardship. And as the Soviet bloc has increased its own output of both manufactured and raw materials there is an increasing need for outlets.

Among the satellites, enjoying a period of respite from hard Moscow control, there also is a spirit of independence demanding freedom to develop their own economies, including increased Western contact.

Among the latter, Romania offers an excellent example. The Romanians not only have increased their trade faster with the West than with their Communist-bloc partners but also have shown marked reluctance to join the integrated economic program advocated by Moscow.

Growing Temptation

Among the Western nations, with production capacity in some cases outdistancing markets, there is a growing temptation to dip into the "oceans" of trade promised by Khrushchev.

German and British merchants have been particularly restive under U.S. demands for strict enforcement of the ban on shipment of strategic materials.

Under pressure of the West German government, German merchants finally cancelled a deal to supply pipelines to the Russians.

The British government showed no such inclination. The British also are interested in exchange of ships for oil.

The West Germans do some $500 million a year in trade with the Soviets, the British more than $300 million. U.S. trade with Russia is only about $35 million.

While admitting the risks, advocates of a revision of Allied trade policies argue that increased contacts with Communist regimes mean greater opportunities to wield influence. Increased trade with the satellites, they say, not only should weaken the bloc as a whole but also decrease dependence of the satellites on the whims of the Kremlin.

FIRST PREFAB?—Historians think this odd half-and-half house was the first prefabricated building in America. It is the Barrett Gate House in New Harmony, Ind., built about 1814. Rappites from Germany established a model community on this location. The logs for the building were cut and prepared in the woods. To make erection easier, they were numbered, then dragged to town and placed in position.

Train Derails In Reagan, No Casualties Listed

REAGAN, Tex. (UPI) — Thirty-eight cars of a Missouri Pacific freight train jackknifed and jumped the track in the middle of the community of Highbank yesterday.

Police in nearby Reagan said there was a report some of the cars were leaking Triolene, a gasoline derivative. Fire trucks were standing by.

No casualties were reported. The cars were derailed when an axle burned through in the middle of the 140-car train.

Airdrop Delivery in Vietnam Jungle Has Some Close Calls

By ROBERT C. MILLER
United Press International
SAIGON (UPI) — Mule Train delivered the groceries to Polei Jor Tuk B6K, 12 tons of them.

The shopping list included "C" rations, barbed wire, ammunition, bales of burlap and all the household commodities needed to create a home away from home in the jungles of Vietnam.

Mule Train is the 315th Troop Carrier Group whose C-123s carry out the Air Forces' supply missions in Vietnam. Polei Jor Tuk Buk was the delivery point for this cargo.

It was largely a California operation with Capt. Charles Gonzales (2820 H. Street) Sacramento and Richard Ivers (8720 Canary Drive) Sacramento as pilot and co-pilot and TSGT. Melvin Halvorson (3463 Sunnyside Drive) Riverside as loadmaster. Canario Hinton (1614 Keller Drive) Honolulu represented Hawaii.

The other two non-coms were Roy Whaley (2309 2nd Avenue) Birmingham, Ala., and R. Bratcher (618 13th Street) Auburn, Neb. It was Lt. Dorman Warren (Killeen, Texas) job to find the tennis court-sized drop zone in the jungles and mountains where the ground troops were hungrily awaiting the three twin-engine Fairchilds.

The delivery boys on mule train wear a special uniform—the iron jock straps and sometimes flack vests to protect them against enemy ground fire, which is an expected hazard for just about any mission anywhere in Vietnam.

"If it has to be air dropped," explained the brown-eyed Gonzales, "it means there are probably Viet Cong in the area. And if the VC are around, we get shot at."

Three things combine to make the Polei Jor Tuk Buk drop hazardous. The terrain, the distance and the size of the drop zone. The briefing to the pilots was short and to the point: "Find the DZ. If there is a smoke signal, drop. If no smoke, get the hell out of there."

It's early afternoon before the lumbering Fairchild reaches the general area. Halvorson opens the tail gate. Spread out below is the juicy green earth. It's a gold mine for botanists with its giant trees, underbrush, clinging vines, ferns and bushes; a collector's paradise for zoologists with its snakes, leopards, bears and reptiles, but a living hell for the men who have to fight, live — and sometimes die — in it.

The spectacular beauty of the rolling countryside changes as the plane drops lower and lower among the valleys and hills. For it's then that you can see the mass of vegetation, the density of the jungle and the sharp peaks and straight-edged valleys that are interior Vietnam.

The mid-afternoon heat reaches up and the turbulence increases as Gonzales and company dodge the towering thunderheads and zig zag up the valley. Even on the ground it's tough work moving the tonnage aft to the fan tail and preparing it for the drop. This afternoon it is stevedoring at its worst. The crew drips with sweat, cursing as they lurch about the bouncing plane and shout warnings and orders to each other over the din of the laboring engines.

Warren spots the glade and reports panels and smoke that show the men on the ground are ready and waiting. There's to be one dry run and then three more runs to dump the load. Static lines are hitched, the red light comes on and the bulky crates of rations teeter precariously on the edge of space, held on by one thin strap.

The dry run is an indicator of what's to come. The prop pitch is changed and the racket becomes even more deafening as the big blades bite deeper into the air. Gonzales pogo sticks over the ridge, banks sharply to miss a mountain and levels off just seconds before they are over the panels. Even the two Vietnamese crewers know this is a dirty one and shake their heads.

On the run for the roses, Gonzales repeats his steepchase course, slides down the ridge and rings the bell just as they level off over the spotted panels. Massed feet, shoulders and arms shove at the cargo as Halvorson unhooks the restraining strap. At that moment the freighter hits an air pocket that pushes the tail up, and for a split second it's debatable whether the load is going out the back or crashes forward against the straining crew. Gonzales guns the engines, pulls up the nose and the pallets swish out the back. The white chutes open, the plywood pallets sail a long glider fashion and Gonzales heads around the track for the second pass. But there's no happiness aboard, for the chutes drop into the jungle about 500 feet beyond the glade. There's no time for lamenting, either. The second load has to be moved into position and ready for the drop by the time the Fairchild comes over the DZ again. Twice the heavy loads nearly escape as the updrafts move the plane up and down like a yo-yo. But the hookups are made in time and the second pass is made the way the book prescribes. Gonzales manages to tighten the lurching plane just as they hit the DZ, the bell rings and with a heave the four loaders send it off. This time there are wide grins all around as the orange and white striped chutes drop their packages right on the doorstep.

The third and final drop is a repetition of the second with an even narrower escape for Bratcher who just gets his leg out of the way as a careening load of ammunition sails down the conveyor and crashes into the restraining strap.

Three minutes later the plane is empty, the chutes have lowered their cargoes on the glade again and the job is done. The two other freighters will follow us in with their loads and enough material

'Influential' Man's Arrest Costs Job

SAN MARCOS, Tex. (UPI) — Former San Marcos police dispatcher Tommy McClannahan Wednesday testified he was dismissed from the police force by city councilman Garland Stokes because he arrested "an influential man."

McClannahan testified in a hearing at which lawyers for Johnny Cantu Morales, editor of the controversial weekly El Reportero, took depositions upon which they say they will base a civil suit against city officials.

Councilmen Stokes, Ruben Ruiz and Lee Swift, Police Chief W. A. Dial and corporation court Judge Kenneth Sutton were among those who gave depositions.

Safety Council Gives Estimate For Labor Day

By United Press International
The National Safety Council has estimated that as many as 520 persons may die and 21,000 suffer injuries in Labor Day weekend traffic.

Last year's Labor Day weekend claimed 501 lives in traffic accidents, a record for the 78-hour period.

The council estimated Wednesday the total number of traffic deaths during the three-day holiday would range between 430 and 520. From 17,000 to 21,000, it said, would be injured during the holiday, which begins at 6 p.m. (local time) Thursday and ends at midnight Monday.

Howard Pyle, former Arizona governor and council president, said Labor Day this year follows two summer holidays that set records for traffic deaths, Memorial Day and Independence Day.

"On these two long weekends alone—only eight days—more than 1,000 Americans were killed on our highways. All of us can and must exercise greater caution if we are to make sure this frightening performance is not repeated over Labor Day," he said.

Duck, Goose Season Told

AUSTIN (UPI)—Duck and goose seasons for Texas this year have been set by the Parks and Wildlife Commission, the Travis County clerk's office said yesterday.

Duck and coot season will run from Dec. 1 to Jan. 4 from sunrise to sunset except on opening day from 12 noon to sunset.

Goose season will run from Nov. 1 to Jan. 14 from sunrise to sunset.

The duck bag limit was increased to four per day with eight in possession. Mallards in possession are limited to four. There will be no open season again on canvasback and redhead ducks.

Bag and possession limits for geese are five. Two Canadas is the maximum per day.

The commission set the seasons after recommendations were made by the federal government for the Central Flyway.

Blanket the Comfort Problem

KAY SHERWOOD
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The speed with which seasons change can catch the homemaker off-guard. Overnight, the thermometer climbs like a rocket on take-off and leaves us panting behind the securely latched storm windows with warm blankets on the beds and summer things somewhere at the back of the closet.

This year, the rushed arrival of summer caught me again. Half the screens are installed. Last summer's clothes are predictably, a skimpy fit. The linen closet has precious little to offer for summer sleeping comfort. Two lightweight cotton blankets are all that's left to take care of five beds.

Pretty summer blankets that provide just enough warmth on a mildly cool evening are an asset to any household. Some of the new blends of rayon-cotton, cotton-nylon, and the all-cotton are flower-printed in delicate colors so they could double as summer bedspreads. Very often lightweight blankets are pattern or color-matched to sheets and pillow cases.

Without too much expense a bedroom can be given a cool, summery look via sheets and blankets. If you have pastel sheets or striped ones, solid-colored lightweight blankets can be selected to team with them.

For children's rooms and summer cottages, the sturdier type of cotton blanket is usually purchased. These are built to last through rough wear and innumerable washings.

A new type of all-cotton blanket holds a particular interest for many of us with limited linen closet space and several beds to outfit. This is a cellular weave blanket that looks rather like a hand-crocheted afghan. The construction is based on the same insulating principle that lead to the development of thermal underwear for outdoor sportsmen and women.

While the blanket offers light warmth on a summer evening, the millions of cells in the weave speed the evaporation of body heat. This blanket becomes useful the year around when, in winter, a light covering is tossed over it, trapping heat in the cells. One American manufacturer of this type of insulating blanket says it washes as easily as a bath towel and never shrinks or mats. It may be tumble-dried or air-dried in jig time. It weighs around three pounds. The approximate price is $10. One homemaker told me she bought two because they are so light they are easy to transport to her lakeside cottage where nighttime temperatures are unpredictable.

Main Street U.S.A. Unfolds Just Across From The United Nations

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

United Press International

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)

—Across the street from the sedate United Nations, a bit of Main Street, U.S.A., unfolded the other day. It wasn't so sedate.

The drama of the uncovered wagon — it could only be called that — was there for all delegates who cared to stare. Those who looked got a close-up of young love and the thrifty ways of contemporary frontier people on the move.

The time: Noon.

The characters: Husband, expectant mother and friend.

The props: An open truck and a sidewalk full of furniture from a small apartment over a store next to a sidewalk cafe and facing the United Nations.

Compact Truck

The plot: Get the furniture, obviously too much of it, on the compact truck as only a determined family can—or can't. To save money—maybe for a layette or baby carriage. And nevermind the spectators.

The cast could have used some experience in a pickle-packing or sardine factory.

Sturdy folks, they ignored suggestions hooted by guests sitting and sipping in the sidewalk cafe.

First a sleeping couch was bedded down on the truck. Then boxes of books and shopping bags full of who-knows-what. Next came a complex unit — a combination of conversation bench and hi fi speakers. This extended several feet beyond the end of the truck.

On top of this, delicately balanced went chairs and bookcases. By now the little truck was piled twice as high as itself, the load coming to a point at the top. The point was made by a hat box from a posh fifth-avenue store.

Obviously, a status symbol.

A professional juggler would have admired the skill shown sandwiching a rocker in between the hi fi and couch. Then came the pole lamps and just plain lamps. Then more shopping bags full of what no-one could tell.

Bundled Clothes

Next came clothes bundled in shapes geometric and otherwise. The little vehicle sagged when the helper took rope and laced the load to its superstructure.

"That's going to fall off and cause an accident," a non-friend cautioned from the sidewalk cafe.

The family on the move ignored the remark.

Obviously it is a happy family. Among things left behind in a trash box, was a rolling pin.

"There they go, three sheets to the wind," a spectator broadcast from the sidewalk cafe as the little truck pulled out.

The three sheets covering the furniture were to the wind.

As the little truck set sail, they were blowing off.

Pampa Altrusa Salad Supper

The Altrusa Club of Pampa met at the Lovett Memorial Library Monday for a salad supper and regular business session.

Mrs. Lillian Snow was in charge of the table arrangement and floral centerpieces for the salad supper social.

Visitors of the groups were Mrs. M. W. Rafferty, Lafayette, La., and Mrs. A. Rheems of Oklahoma City.

During the business session, which was presided over by Mrs. Lorene O. Locke, president, reports were heard from committee chairmen.

Reporting for the International Affairs Committee was Mrs. Lora Dunn, who gave the committee's projects for the coming year. They include a Grants-in-Aid to be given in October; a silver offering to be given to last year's recipient, Mary Kwan of Philadelphia, who is doing graduate work toward a doctor's degree; an International Tea to be held at the Citizens Bank Oct. 1 in the Hospitality Room; a "Books of Friendship" collection to be sent to foreign countries which will include books that reflect the culture and history of the United States, such as "American Literature," "American Reference Books," etc.

A communication from the Altrusa Club of Borger was read, stating that their noon meetings will be held the second Wednesday of each month, inviting the Pampa club to attend at any time.

The next meeting will be held Sept. 9 at the Coronado Inn.

Dear Abby... Lady, You're The One Who Should Be Hospitalized!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY

DEAR ABBY: Why does a woman hang on to a man when she knows he's in love with another woman? I met this man and we became interested in each other. His wife was in the hospital for a month, so nobody could blame him. After his wife came home we continued to see each other, but not so much. I know he loves me because he said so. I wanted to help him bring things to a head, so I called up his wife, pretending to be a third party, and told her all about her husband and myself. I gave her my name and address in case she wanted to check. She said she wasn't interested in anything I had to say. I hear she is back in the hospital again. Should I visit her there and have a woman-to-woman talk with her?

TIRE D OF WAITING

DEAR TRED: You rank high on my list of predatory women. Someone should put a bounty on your kind. And I'm afraid in this case, the wrong woman is in the hospital.

DEAR ABBY: How old do you think I should be before I can (1) Wear the kind of make-up I want to wear? (2) Go in cars with boys? (3) Pick out my own clothes? My mother and I fuss about this all the time I would like your opinion.

"SOMEBODY"

DEAR "SOMEBODY": Every girl must live by the rules set down for her. If she is lucky enough to have a mother, she should listen to her mother. I could tell you what MY regulations would be for a daughter, but I wouldn't help you because I'm not your mother.

DEAR ABBY: I am going to be married in two months. My mother dug up her grandmother's wedding gown and she wants me to wear it. I tried it on and it is still in very good condition, but it looks so old-fashioned! Some very fashionable people will be attending my wedding and I would rather have a new wedding gown. Am I wrong? It's not a matter of money because my father can well afford to buy me a new one.

MIXED EMOTIONS

DEAR MIXED: An heirloom wedding gown is considered VERY fashionable—and the older the better! Most girls would give their blue garters for the opportunity to be married in their great grandmother's gown, but if you can't see it, buy a new one.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "BEEN HAD:" If you don't mind the publicity, you could take him to court and probably get some of your money back. And in the future, young lady, I advise you to tell him that from now on all he can count on is his fingers!

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Square Shooters Postpone Meeting

The Mobeetie Square Shooters met Monday with six members present. Mrs. Margaret Trout called the meeting to order and the TOPS pledge was given. Roll call was answered with the amount of weight lost or gained by each member.

During the business meeting, it was voted to postpone the meeting scheduled for Sept. 2, Labor Day.

The next meeting will be held Sept. 9 at 2:30 p.m. with Mrs. Euline Walser and Mrs. Thelma Harrison acting as hostesses.

The program, "What Does TOPS Mean?" was given by Mrs. Helen Sweetman.

Mrs. Melba Burch was hostess to the group.

Swim Club Party Surprises Coach

Bobby Bybee, Dolphin Swim Club coach was honored with a surprise going-away party recently at the Youth Center by team members and their families.

After a two-hour swim, the group moved to Central Park where hotdogs and home-made ice cream were served. Twenty-five team members and their families were present.

Bybee was presented a gift by the group. He will leave Sept. 9 to attend college in Denton.

Originating the swim team in February, 1962, Bobby has since been active in coaching and has accompanied the group to local and area meets including Lubbock, San Angelo, Amarillo and Elkhart, Kan.

The team members and their families used the party as a means to thank Bobby for his time and effort, and to show their appreciation for his efforts that made a young team a good team, they stated.

Harold Thrasher is expected to assume the duties of coach.

Special guests attending were Mrs. Libby Shotwell and her grandson, Hugh Shotwell of Lubbock.

Koufax Wins Twentieth As Dodgers Blast Giants

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

Sandy Koufax, the majors' first 20-game winner, still was in a state of semi-shock today.

Not because of those 20 victories so much, but because of all those Dodger players who kept crossing home plate Thursday night in an 11-1 romp over the Giants.

Koufax hadn't seen so many runs in more than two months. The Dodgers had scored a total of two for him in his previous two tries for his 20th victory.

But they did the job up brown before a record crowd of 54,978 at Chavez Ravine Thursday night, breaking out for five runs in the third inning to turn the contest into a "laugh" and increase their National League lead to 6½ games over the second-place Giants.

"With a big lead like that, I let them hit the ball," said Koufax.

Not too much, though.

Get Three Hits

The Giants were able to collect only three hits and that included Orlando Cepeda's 23rd homer which produced their only run in the second inning.

Koufax, whose record now is 26-3, struck out five and walked only one in becoming the first Dodger left-hander to win 20 since Preacher Roe did so in 1951.

Southpaw Billy Pierce, who replaced Giant starter Bob Bolin in the second inning, got the side out in that frame but was chased in the third when the Dodgers put together six hits, including a two-run homer by Frank Howard, for five runs.

The Dodgers then batted around again in the fifth when they added three more runs on four hits.

Ron Fairly drove in four runs with three of the Dodgers' 15 hits while Willie Davis kept things going with two doubles and a single.

Giants Appear Goner

The setback just about cooked the Giants' chances even though Alvin Dark refused to look at it that way.

"The loss won't have any effect on our club," he said. "We'll be back tomorrow. Before this game, I said we'd have to win five of our last seven games with the Dodgers—now it's five of six."

Even should the Giants win the next three games of the current four-game series, however, they still would leave Los Angeles 3½ games out with less than a month to go.

Only two other games were played in the National League Thursday, with the Mets beating the Pirates, 7-4, and the Cubs defeating the Phillies, 2-1.

Emerson Unawed By Yank Threat

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI) — Roy Emerson, of Australia, sets out today to regain the U.S. tennis championship, completely unawed by the new American threat led by Chuck McKinley of San Antonio, Tex., and Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif.

Emerson, 1961 champ and seeded second to Wimbledon winner McKinley this year, hopes to give Australia its eighth straight U.S. crown. About the American threat, he said with a twinkle in his eye:

"We'll just have to see about that. I'm playing as well as I ever did and I like the grass at Forest Hills. It suits me fine."

Emerson, finalist to grand slammer Rod Laver last September, was matched against Chauncey Steele III of Cambridge, Mass., in an easy first rounder marking the opening of the men's championship flight after two dreary days of qualifying matches.

Third-seeded Ralston, star of the U.S. Davis Cup victory over Mexico, fifth-seeded Ken Fletcher of Australia and sixth-seeded Bob Wilson of England also were down for opening matches.

Ralston drew Walter Johnson of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., while Fletcher plays Premjit Lal of India and Wilson goes against a qualifier to be determined in a morning match.

A dandy first rounder pits two "top tenners" — Alan Fox of Los Angeles (4) and young Charley Pasarell (10) of Puerto Rico.

Pro Football Roundup

They're going to roll out a barrel of sentiment in Detroit tonight to honor one of the most hard-nosed competitors of the game of football has ever seen.

Bobby Layne, the tough Texan who ruled the huddles of the Detroit Lions and the Pittsburgh Steelers with an iron hand, will be honored during halftime festivities when these two clubs clash in a pre-season game.

For the 32-year-old Venturi of Crystal River, Fla., who has been hampered for two years by various ailments, his physical condition pleased him as much as his hot, four-under-par round.

"I feel fine," he beamed after burning up the course with a five-under-par 36 on the front nine. "I've had two real bad years physically with a back ailment and tendonitis. Then, two months ago in Cleveland I was bruised in a car accident."

Venturi said he had not mentioned his physical trouble before because "I didn't want to say anything when I was losing." But he feels his 66 entitled him to explain what his problem has been for the past two years.

"It's tough not feeling really strong enough to play my shots," he said. "I was winning my share of tournaments in 1957-58-59. I don't think I was, but I was winning my share."

Venturi's hot putter gave him five birdies on the front nine and two on the back nine.

"I feel fine," he beamed after burning up the course with a five-under-par 36 on the front nine. "I've had two real bad years physically with a back ailment and tendonitis. Then, two months ago in Cleveland I was bruised in a car accident."

Venturi said he had not mentioned his physical trouble before because "I didn't want to say anything when I was losing." But he feels his 66 entitled him to explain what his problem has been for the past two years.

"It's tough not feeling really strong enough to play my shots," he said. "I was winning my share of tournaments in 1957-58-59. I don't think I was, but I was winning my share."

Venturi's hot putter gave him five birdies on the front nine and two on the back nine.

The 38-year-old Johnston, of Phoenix, Ariz., who doesn't play the pro circuit continuously, missed only one green, never missed a fairway and used only 31 putting strokes all day.

"I played better than I know how," he commented.

Rex Baxter Jr., Amarillo, Tex., came in with a 67 as did Bill Eggers, Henderson, Nev., and Lionel Hebert of Lafayette, La.

Ten contestants were bunched next with 68s. They included the 1961 champion, Dave Hill of Jackson, Mich.

Horned Frogs Begin Drills This Monday

FORT WORTH (SpI) — Texas Christian will open 1963 varsity football drills on Monday, Sept. 2, Head Coach Abe Martin said today.

Plans call for two-day workouts Monday thru Saturday until September 14 when the annual Frog Club Purple-White intrasquad "game" will wind up the long sessions. Drills will be held at 9 o'clock in the morning and 4 o'clock in the evenings.

Martin will expect around 70 candidates for physicals at the Daniel-Meyer Coliseum Friday night. Expected among the reporters will be 28 lettermen including seven regulars from the 1962 squad which posted a 6-4 won-loss mark.

Several positions will have new faces on Monday. Foremost will be at the halfback slots. Marvin Chipman, the 190-pound senior from M. Pleasant, will switch from the right side to the No. 1 left-halfback post, while Jimmy Walker, a letterman from Fort Worth, and Sophomore Ken Theford of Graham, will move over from left to right halfback.

An all-letterman line-up will open on Monday on the No. 1 unit. They are: Lynn Morrison, Cleburne, LE; Rickey Williams, Fort Worth, LT; Robert Mangum, Edinburg, LG; Ken Henson, San Angelo, C; Steve Garmon, Groom, RG; Jim Fox, Taylor, RT; Tom Magoffin, Fort Worth, RE; Gray Mills, Fort Worth, QB; Chipman, LH; Jim Fauver, Houston, RH; and Tommy Crutcher, McKinney, FB.

NBC Champs Play Tonight

WICHITA, Kan. (UPI) — Defending champion Wichita Rapid Transit and the Ponchatoula, La., Athletics who won it all in 1961, meet tonight in the featured game at the National Baseball Congress tournament.

The winner will join the Grand Rapids, Mich., Sullivan as the only remaining unbeaten clubs in the tourney.

In elimination games, the Hollandale, Miss., Mowers (3-1) will meet the Wichita Service Auto Glassmen (3-1) and the Merson-Westwood, N.J., Merchants (2-1) will face the Everett, Wash., Orioles (2-1).

The New Jersey and Washington clubs were postponed in the early game of Thursday's program because of wet grounds.

Hollandale moved into the fifth round by taking the nightcap of Thursday's program 7-4 over the Leachville, Ark., Tiremen. Four unearned runs helped the Mississippi club to its third win which assures it a money berth.

In the other games Grand Rapids won 8-4 over Wichita Service Auto on three consecutive home runs by Bill Davis, University of Minnesota senior. Davis also doubled while having a perfect night at the plate and driving in six runs.

Packers Win, Will Take On Graham Plow

The Panhandle Packers battled their way into the finals of the Pampa Invitational Softball Tournament, winning the right to meet undefeated Graham Plow at 8 p.m. tonight in Lions Park.

The defending Industrial League champs eliminated a powerful Fritch team last night, 4-2, to win the losers bracket and the right to play the Plowboys.

A tired Raymond McKinney came through, scattering five singles, striking out seven and allowing no walks. Herb Haddox, who has pitched brilliantly for the Panhandle Tournament champions, was victimized by the hard hitting of Ronnie Mills and the Packers' bare-faced base-stealing.

Panhandle tallied in the second as Jack Woods walked, stole second and was plated by Mills' first hit. Mills swiped second in turn and came in on David Fulton's one-baser.

The Packers got two more in the fourth as Mills walked and again stole second. McKinney drove him in with a hit, and then stole second, and then stole third, with a wild throw by the catcher enabling him to score.

Fritch got single runs in the fourth and fifth, but McKinney bore down and shut them out over the last two frames.

New Marks Set By Minnesota

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

They sounded the all-clear in Washington today.

That means it's okay for everyone to come out now because the Minnesota Twins finally have left.

Before departing, however, they did everything but level the nation's capital with a terrifying bombardment that broke two major league records and tied two others.

The Twins caused all that devastation by burying the Washington Senators, 14-2 and 10-1, Thursday in what was innocently advertised as an American League doubleheader.

Babyfaced Harmon Killebrew was the Twins' ring-leader with three home runs, raising his season total to 32, while rookie Jimmie Hall, Vic Power and Bernie Allen hit two apiece.

Bob Allison, Rich Rollins and Zorro Versalles settled for one each as Minnesota collected 20 hits in the opener and 15 more in the finale.

The spectacular long-ball exhibition set major league records for most homers hit in four consecutive games (17) and for three straight (15).

For the statistically-minded, the eight homers by the Twins in the opener equaled a major league record for a single contest and another mark was tied in the same game when six players on one team hit homers.

The 12 homers for a doubleheader fell one shy of the major league record of 13 established by the 1939 Yankees, but they were more than enough to help Lee Stange to his eighth victory.

TOT Teeing Off In 26th Annual Golf Matches

A field of 225 top-ranked amateur golfers tee off today to open the 26th annual Top O' Texas Golf tournament at the Pampa Country Club. Sixty-five of them are competing in the championship flight.

Impressive practice rounds by Mile Norman of OSU and Randy Geiselman of the University of Texas moved them up to front-ranked roles in the championship flight. Norman blazed to a five-under-par 66 on the PCC course yesterday, while Geiselman came in with a 68 on the par-71 course.

Other top-rated contenders for the championship honors include John Farquhar of Amarillo, who had the second-best regional score in qualifying for the National Amateur earlier this week; Marty Fleckman of the University of Houston, slated as the number one golfer in Southwestern college ranks; and John Paul Cain of Houston, last year's runner-up.

Last-minute entries in the tourney include Billy Wiggs, national junior champion from Denton; D. L. Robinette of Colorado, winner of the Colorado Springs Open; and a TOT contender last year: Burch Houk of Dallas, who tied for fifth in the 1962 TOT. Lanier Wilson, one of the top golfers in Fort Worth; and two more strong Wichita Falls entries, Hugh Rexford and Al King.

The championship flight is shooting for the medalist trophy today, while the other flights are shooting practice rounds. Championship flight contenders will shoot 18 holes of medal play Saturday and Sunday, with half of them being cut off at the end of 36 holes. The other 10 flights will shoot 18 holes of match play tomorrow and Sunday, with the 10th flight teeing off between 6:30-7 a.m.

Championship flight survivors will play 36 holes of medal play Monday, finishing at 7 p.m. Those cut from the flight Sunday will shoot 18 holes for consolation honors Monday, with the other flights playing 18 holes of stroke play Monday to finish up.

Authority Agrees With Supreme Court Decision

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

The Supreme Court decision forbidding devotional exercises in public schools will do far more good than harm to religious life in America.

That's the studied conclusion of a leading authority on church-state relations, Dr. Wilbert G. Katz.

Dr. Katz is professor of law at the University of Wisconsin, and has written extensively on the First (religious freedom) Amendment to the Constitution. He is an Episcopal layman, and chairman of the Episcopal Church's commission on church-state relations.

His appraisal of the high court's ruling appears in the September issue of The Episcopalian magazine.

Dr. Katz says the doctrine which the court laid down, in holding that recitation of the Lord's Prayer and devotional reading of Scripture are unconstitutional in public schools, was not a "sterile separation of church and state."

Calls For Neutrality
Instead, the court called for a

"wholesome neutrality" on the part of government, he said.

"This neutrality protects religion both from government restraint and from the dangers inseparable from government sponsorship," says the professor.

American society has been drifting steadily for some years toward unofficial "establishment" of a non-sectarian religion. This religion has no particular creed beyond a vague belief in God and a strong conviction that God is pro-American. Its essential ethos was well expressed by a patriotic orator who declared that he was opposed to atheism "because it's un-American."

Dr. Katz believes this tendency to enshrine a sort of non-sectarian "national faith" is even more dangerous to religious freedom than would be the outright establishment of a particular church.

No Legal Steps
When a country has an official state church, it can take legal steps to protect fully the rights of all dissenting groups. But when non-sectarian religion is informally established as the American religion, to be inculcated in public schools, the onus of unpatriotism is likely to fall on those who believe strongly in a particular faith, as well as on the small minority who disbelieve in all faiths.

Dr. Katz says the decision will have a "liberating" rather than a restricting effect on true religious faith in two ways.

First the churches are liberated from the danger that religion may be secularized and emasculated when it is promoted by government agencies.

He recalled that one of the school board lawyers in the recent cases argued that "public school recitation of the Lord's Prayer is not a religious act but a mere exercise in civic morality."

May Be Right
"The danger," said Dr. Katz, "is that the lawyer was right, and that children might come to regard all prayer in this light."

But there is a still more profound sense in which the decision is "liberating" rather than damaging to religion, Dr. Katz says.

"The court's action reminds us of something basic about religious freedom. A religious majority which uses the government to promote its beliefs is itself undermining the freedom of that majority."

"Religious freedom is not merely freedom from external restraint; it is basically a quality of religious belief (or of religious doubt, or searching.)

"The establishment of religion, if only by social pressure, is not merely a threat to the freedom of dissenters. It is a threat to the spiritual freedom of those who accept the established beliefs."

Wesley Boyd of Okla. City Will Conduct Singing

LEFORS (Sp) — Five days of revival services will open Sunday at the Lefors Methodist Church, according to Rev. Oran Smith, pastor.

Reverend Smith will preach and Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Boyd of Oklahoma City will conduct the song services twice daily at 7:30 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

Reverend Smith said the Boyds have lived in the United States the past three years. Until recently they lived in Ireland, where Mrs. Boyd was accompanist for the Belfast Symphony. The Boyds have worked in evangelistic crusades in England, Ireland and America.

The public is cordially invited to attend the services.

On to College Will Be Theme At 1st Baptist

Sunday has been designated as "On to College Sunday" by the First Baptist Church. The Pastor, Dr. Douglas Carver is using as his subject "Sending Home a Report Card," directing it particularly to the College and High School students.

Joe Whitten will present the church choir singing "Take Up Thy Cross" an arrangement by Adams. Miss Eloise Lane will play "A Hymn of Peace" by Landon for the Prelude and "Chanson" by Grotan for the offertory.

In the evening services at 5 p.m. the pastor will speak from the subject, "Jesus Said He Would." The Chapel Choir will occupy the choir loft and a special solo will be presented by Joe Whitten. Miss Lane will play for the Prelude "Memories at Twilight" by Hopkins and for the Offertory "The Lord Is My Shepherd" by Koechat.

The Sunday School workers have set a goal of 1,000 people present commemorating the third anniversary of the coming of Jack Parker as Minister of Education. The Church will honor Mr. and Mrs. Jack Parker and children, Wednesday evening, in the dining room. A special program has been arranged that will thrill the hearts of the people. Another feature of the evening will be recognition of the students going away to College. These young people will be seated at special tables arranged for them.

As a part of the Sunday night worship services at 7:30 p.m. the Youth Choir will present some of their favorite anthems, directed by Hugh Carson, choir director, with Mike Palmer bringing the evening message.

The official board will meet Wednesday in Fellowship Hall at 8 p.m. All Commissions will also be meeting Wednesday at 7 p.m.

1st Church, Lamar To Continue Joint Sunday Services

The joint evening worship services held each Sunday have proven so spiritually successful that Lamar and First Christian churches have voted to continue them through the month of September. The worship time begins at 7 p.m. and Lamar Christian Church will be the host church. At the 10:45 a.m. worship hour Sunday Loren E. Williams will be speaking on the subject "Let Us Labor in Vain." World C. W. F. Birthday will be observed by members and friends of Lamar Christian Church on the evening of September 6. Joining their spirit with Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ) around the world in 22 countries, Lamar Christian Women's Fellowship will host a Birthday Dinner held at the church and beginning at 7:00 p.m.

Series of Gospel Talks Will Start At Central C-C

A series of Gospel Meetings will be held at the Central Church of Christ on Sunday. The speaker for this special series will be Evangelist W. L. Wharton, Jr. of San Antonio. Evangelist Wharton has been here before in a similar effort and is well known to many of this community. He is a very capable speaker and teacher of God's Word, and has a way of making Bible teachings plain to all who hear. His lessons are characterized by humility, plainness, simplicity and a love and respect for the truth of God's word. According to J. M. Gillpatrick, regular minister of the church, a hearty welcome is extended to all to come and study together. The meeting will continue through Sunday, Sept. 8.

17th Annual Laymen's Retreat For NW Texas Conference Begins Today

Dr. Jones will speak to the laymen 4 times. He has traveled extensively throughout the world since he first became a missionary to India in 1907. His 23 books have been translated into 30 languages and millions have been sold. Dr. Jones' sermon topics will be: "Our Greatest Need," "Our Greatest Resource — The Holy Spirit," "Our Greatest Untapped Resource — Laymen," and "Our Greatest Opportunity — The Present World Situation."

Dr. Holler has been the Director of the Division of Instruction, State Department of Education of South Carolina since 1952. He served as lay leader of his Conference for 10 years and has been a member of Jurisdictional and General Boards of Lay Activities of the Methodist Church. He is the author of the "Manual of the Lay Member of the Annual Conference." Dr. Holler will speak to the group on "The Promise — Miracle or Myth," "In the Rubbish of the Temple," and "We Test Our Lives By Thine."

Registration will begin at 3 p.m. today for laymen attending and no reservations are necessary. Items to bring are bedding and towels. Only charge is for meals.

The Methodist men will also be treated to an excellent music program during the retreat. Mr. Oliver Bush, who has served as song leader at Laymen's retreats since 1949, will direct the song services. Bush is manager of the Book Store at McMurtry College, Abilene. A quartet from Gruver Methodist Church will perform at 8:30 a.m. tomorrow.

Recreation for the laymen will include swimming.

Gillis Family Reunion Will Be Sunday

The Church of the Brethren, at 600 North Frost Street, is extending a special invitation to visitors this Sunday, for both Sunday School and Worship Service. Special Visitors will be members of the Gillis Family which will be holding a Family Reunion at the Church, with a Fellowship meal at noon. The morning sermon will be presented by Rev. Bryce Hubbard of the local Church, whose mother was a Gillis. "Man Against Himself" will be the sermon subject of Rev. Hubbard. The pastor, Rev. Russell G. West, will be in charge of the worship service.

The Sunday School will open promptly at 9:45 a.m. with Archie L. Patrick, Jr., in charge. Classes are conducted for all age-groups, and a Nursery, headed by Mrs. C. L. Adams, will be provided from 9:30 a.m. to noon.

A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Dr. Bratcher Will Be In Pulpit Sunday

"Redemptive Love" will be the sermon topic Dr. Hubert Bratcher, pastor of the First Methodist Church, will preach on at the two morning services this Sunday. The 8:45 a.m. service is broadcast over radio station KPDM. The special music for the early service will be the anthem, "God Is The Light Of The World" by Haydn Morgan. The Sanctuary Singers will also present this great anthem of praise for the 11 a.m. service.

Mrs. Hugh Carson will be at the organ for all services.

The youth choir meet at 5 p.m. Sunday, followed by Sunday Evening Fellowship at 6 p.m., with a light supper for the entire family in Fellowship Hall. At 8:30 p.m. children, youth, and adults will separate for one hour of Fellowship group activities according to interest and needs. The Adult Fellowship group will meet in the church parlor.

Presently, Harland is serving as Oklahoma State University and a native of Texhoma, was officially appointed Assistant County Agent in a special call session of the Gray County Commissioner's Court on Monday, August 26.

New Assistant County Agent Is Appointed

Jerry W. Harland, a graduate of Oklahoma State University and a native of Texhoma, was officially appointed Assistant County Agent in a special call session of the Gray County Commissioner's Court on Monday, August 26.

Harland will fill the position that was vacated by former Assistant County Agent, Cecil Regier, who transferred to Collingsworth County as County Agent in March of this year.

His primary responsibility will be that of working with 131 4-H club boys, voluntary adult leaders as well as certain duties connected with the adult work carried on through the Extension Service — County Agent system.

The Agricultural Extension Service is a part of the Texas A&M University system (formerly A&M College).

Texas A&M has three main responsibilities. First is the resident teaching of both graduate and undergraduate work at the college. Second is the research work carried on through the Agricultural Experiment Stations located over the state.

The third phase of A&M University is the Texas Agricultural Extension Service which provides the link between rural and urban people and Texas A&M University.

Harland will work under the supervision of County Agent, Foster Whaley.

NAME HOUSTON (UPI) — Have you ever wondered how "Project Mohole," the attempt to dig through the earth's crust, got its name? From a Yugoslavian who discovered the change in the earth's surface between the crust and the mantle.

He was Andrija Mohorovicic. This was abbreviated to "Moho" and when scientists decided to try to drill holes into the crust of the earth to find out what the skin of the earth is made of, they decided to call the drilling a "mo-hole" and the operation "Project Mohole."

REV. EARL MADDUX, PASTOR FELLOWSHIP BAPTIST CHURCH

THE SINNER'S GRAVE-YARD

Text: I saw the wicked buried, who had come and gone from the place of the holy, and they were forgotten in the city where they had so done" (Ecclesiastes 8:10).

Introduction: This is a graphic picture of church-going sinner in most any community. Note:

- I. THIS MAN WAS A CHURCH MEMBER
 1. Consider what he saw:
 - a. He saw a building dedicated to divine worship.
 - b. He saw a minister, and the congregation.
 2. Consider what he heard:
 - a. He heard the gospel preached.
 - b. He heard the invitation songs.
 - c. He heard the invitation warning.
 3. Consider what he felt:
 - a. He felt holy emotions within.
 - b. He felt convicted for his sins.
 - c. He felt concerned about his soul.
 - II. THIS MAN WAS A SINNING CHURCH MEMBER
 1. "The wicked who had come and gone" (text).
 2. "From the place of the holy" (church).
 3. No different from sinning church members today, some even brag about it.
 4. May have been a deacon or a steward!
 - III. THIS MAN DIED LIKE ALL CHURCH MEMBERS
 1. "Saw the wicked buried..." May have had a church funeral and perhaps was "preached into heaven."
 - IV. THIS MAN'S CHURCH MEMBERSHIP DID NOT SAVE HIM
 1. He was a "wicked" man (text).
 2. He died a wicked man.
 - V. THIS CHURCH MEMBER LOST HIS SOUL
 1. Only the new birth saves the soul.
- CONCLUSION: This wicked man was soon forgotten!

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities. We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself, no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

A Watchful Newspaper

The importance of having a watchful newspaper in your possession as a daily necessity, can hardly be overemphasized. A good newspaper is one that is watchful. And this can only mean that a good newspaper is one which mans the ramparts with its various facilities to keep watch so that the enemies of man do not creep upon him unawares. It follows, of course, that no watchful newspaper can be owned or managed by an enemy. And in the field of human liberty, a newspaper which is owned or managed by an enemy of human liberty is hardly in a position to warn its customers of the encroachments made by itself against their liberty. There is only one real enemy of human freedom and that would be an organized agency capable of exerting aggression against people. Such an organized agency would be any government or any labor union. It would also be any organized gang of bandits who were trying to prevent people from doing what they want to do in any honest fashion. Thus, any agency which is capable of exerting force against you, is the kind of agency you must keep a watch to discover. And a good newspaper is a watchful newspaper which keeps its eyes open to discover what such an agency might be planning next in order to reduce your freedom, to take your money or otherwise to dominate or oppress you. David Thoreau saw the importance of a watchful newspaper when he wrote the following: "Among measures to be adopted, I would suggest to make as earnest and vigorous an assault on the press, as has already been made, and with effect, on the church. The church has much improved within a few years; but the press is, almost without exception, corrupt. I believe that in this country the press exerts a greater and a more pernicious influence than the church did in its worst period. We are not a religious people but we are a nation of politicians. We do not care for the

Pull Up A Chair By Frank J. Markey

The recent exhibit of the Retail Jewelers of America at New York's Waldorf Astoria featured an estimated $25 million in baubles and luxuries that would have dazzled the rulers of ancient Babylon. You name it and they had it in gold or silver, stainless steel, or platinum. We were fascinated by a silver shovel for groundbreaking ceremonies with a price tag of only $1000. Somehow, we thought of Harry Golden's line "Only in America." The elder Henry Ford, whose centenary was recently observed, was always interested in improving efficiency. It took 12 hours, 28 minutes, to assemble the early Model T's, but within a few years he cut that to 5 hours, 50 minutes. When he was ready to bring out the Model A in 1927 he had stepped up production so that a Tin Lizzie rolled off the assembly line every 10 seconds. Incredible, but he was an incredible man. He built 15 million Tin Lizzies and 196 tri-motored planes, some still flying after 25 years; produced the first V-8 engine for a passenger car; pioneered the $5-a-day minimum wage; and did a host of equally spectacular things in industry. He always believed the impossible was possible.

Country Editor speaking: "The train that carries the most passengers is the gray train." . . . There's money in "pro" golf: Arnold Palmer won $96,995 in 17 tournaments this year. Jack Nicklaus, $79,590; Julius Boros, $69,996. They have fun too! . . . Just heard about a South African woman who claims she saw 9500 movies in the last 40 years. Wonder which one she liked best? . . . The Edison Electric Institute reports electricity production reached a record high during July, saying more juice was used during the hot weather for fans, refrigerators, and air conditioning. We always say one thing leads to another. . . The first U. S. stamped envelopes were authorized for use on August 31, 1852, just 111 years ago tomorrow. . . 20th Century-Fox might be interested to know that the OLD FARMER'S ALMANAC says Cleopatra committed suicide on this date in 30 B. C. . . A recent survey shows 70.9 million Americans were gainfully employed in July, an increase of 600,000 over June. But 4.3 million were out of work. Wish the Administration could solve at least half of the latter figure. . . Recently Radio City Music Hall was forced to evict 6000 patrons because of a basement fire. Full refunds were given. It was the first time in its long history that the Showplace of the Nation interrupted its schedule. The efficiency of the staff and the quality of the entertainment at this magnificent theatre reflect the ideas and taste of its managing director, Russell Downing, our nomination for America's No. 1 Showman. . . A consumer research firm says that higher income families eat more frozen foods. The only thing that proves to us is that they buy more at the supermarket and the little woman gets more trading stamps.

Today's smile: The teacher asked her baseball minded pupil: "Where is Boston?" He replied: "They're playing Washington today."

Well, the steel industry has just reported that it had 1,230,765 stockholders in 1962. Even more revealing is the steady trend to wider stock ownership. Just after the war, in 1946, there were 559,783 holders of steel stocks. In 1950, this number had increased to 633,216. In the 12 years following the number of shareholders just about doubled. It wouldn't be difficult for those behind the curtains to perceive that the people own these "capitalist" companies. This is something that for the people behind the curtains to ponder.

Passman Planning Additional Cut in Foreign Aid Budget Democratic Committee's Opposition Contradicts 'Partisan' Charges

WASHINGTON — Wait until President Kennedy sees what the House Appropriations Committee does to his already severely slashed foreign aid budget! If that mauling angered him, then Representative Otto Passman, D-La., chairman of the Appropriations subcommittee in charge of the money bill for foreign aid, will really throw him for a loss.

Passman, long-time militant foe of large-scale foreign aid spending, intends to cut these funds to a record low of $2.4 billion. That would be approximately half of the $4.9 billion originally proposed by the President; $2 billion less than the $4.5 billion he subsequently recommended; and more than $1 billion under the $3.5 billion authorized by the House in its smashing rebuff to the President last week.

Apparently Passman has the votes to put over his record low budget. Of his 11-member subcommittee, only four (all Democrats) lined up against the $555 million reduction approved by the House.

For weeks, Passman has been quietly setting the stage for his contemplated record-setting budget axing. In a series of closed-door hearings of his subcommittee, Democratic and Republican members, vigorously spearheaded by Passman, have been battering foreign aid officials on the handling of the billions of dollars voted by Congress.

This bipartisan attack has charged waste, bungling, gross extravagance, corruption and numerous other misdeeds and shortcomings. The attitude of the overwhelming majority of this key group is graphically summed up in the caustic jab Representative John Flynt, Jr., D-Ga., aimed at Foreign Aid Administrator David Bell. "The record of the administration of this program is horrendous—instead of cementing alliances, it is building a false foundation for our relations with nearly every country on earth."

WHY THEY'RE AGAINST FOREIGN AID — Throughout Administrator Bell's lengthy grilling, he was continually on the defensive. Also, the steady bombardment of complaints and denunciations was strictly bipartisan. In fact, some of the harshest criticism came from Democratic committeemen, notably chairman Passman and Representative Tom Steed, Okla.

These two significant factors stand out in these highly important backstage proceedings. They flatly contradict the President's irate charge that the House's deep axing of the authorization bill was a "partisan" (Republican) attack. The record of the Passman subcommittee doesn't support that; it's exactly the opposite. Pointedly illustrative is Steed's interrogation of Bell about Afghanistan's refusal to permit

GROWING GIANT Editor: Aunt Zelda stood by the window and watched with fascination as a gentle whisp of wind loosened the seed from the neighbor's elm tree, spiraling it like a fluttering snowflake until at last it nestled gently down in a flower bed beneath the eaves of her-house. Then the incident was forgotten.

The ground shifted from the winter freeze until the little seed was tucked beneath the soil's surface. Aunt Zelda was surprised the next spring to find a vigorous little elm peeking its head above the flowers. The leaves were so bright and green and it was such an attractive little plant that she decided not to pull it up. In its second year it reached almost to the eaves of the house and sent forth its hardy branches. Unseen under the ground it sent its roots racing in all directions, in fact its root growth equaled its top growth.

The years passed quickly and the elm sent its branches crashing through the eaves of the house, its roots cracked the house foundation and raced across the little yard to break sidewalks. The little wire-like surface roots sucked the nutrients from the soil and a once lush lawn was dead, flowers would no longer grow. A tiny seed that could have been placed in the bottom of a sewing thimble, sprouted, grew and caused all this damage.

Social Security established in 1935, was such a tiny little thing, its costs were going to be almost negligible and its benefits so tremendous that there would be no needy people left. Like the elm tree, it was so very attractive in the beginning; then its branches began to shoot forth in all directions and its tenacious roots began to suck the life blood of both employee and employer. New branches were grafted to Social Security. At this time its perpetrators are trying to graft a branch called Medicare to the original tree.

The seizing power of Social Security has become so great that it can send its agents into the field of the Amish farmer, unhook his team and sell it in order to pay his social security dues. This depicts the fact that his religion forbids him to participate in any kind of insurance program.

His God-given rights are trampled under by the power of government which also makes a mockery out of the Constitution of the United States. Like the elm tree, Social Security was such an attractive tiny little thing to begin with. Now its tenacious roots threatens to choke the nation to death.

James Waldrop 404 Doucette foreign aid agency has been publishing a house organ for its personnel since last November at a cost of more than $1,000. Two men work on it. . . U.S. Steel has been paid $685,000 to make a survey of the hotly controversial giant steel plant for India. Under this plan, the U.S. would contribute $900 million of the $1.5 billion cost of the huge project. . . The aid agency is still investigating a conflict-of-interest case involving one of its high officials. Administrator Bell denied this probe has been dropped, asserted it is still underway.

Between the Bookends

OUR MOST IMPORTANT "CIVIL RIGHT" It has been suggested that private business should no longer have the right to refuse service to potential customers. A great many Americans have been shocked by this infringement upon private property rights. But unfortunately, many of these people find it difficult to explain or justify their views. This is the natural result of an educational system that has not bothered to teach its students the ideals of private property upon which this nation was created.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION: "Why do so many people believe that competition is harmful and the government should protect them from competition?"

Answer: There is no question but that the majority of people believe that competition is harmful. That's the reason we have minimum wage laws, protective tariffs, immigration restrictions, and a system of licensing various people to do business and practically giving them a monopoly in their line of service. It cannot be blamed on the schools entirely, because those people who can't read, still are afraid of competition. If people did not compete most of us would starve to death.

When a man exchanges his labor with his neighbor's production, they are, in a way, competing, because if one man can do a job for less than another man and the other man can do another job for less than he can, it is to the advantage of both of them to exchange the products of their labor. Probably one of the reasons people are afraid of competition is that it is close to home and they seem to get the idea that there is a limited amount of work to be done and if somebody else does it, he'll be out of a job or have to work for less. Nor do they realize that if wages go up, then the cost of what they buy will go up. But real wages are made better by more production and a free and natural division of labor — that is, a free market where competition is free to let everybody help establish values. Competition is simply a moral method of arriving at what each man should get for what he produces. And anything that interferes with it, whether it be the government or labor unions or a combination of employers to try to set wages and prices, harms everybody in the long run.

Thomas B. Macaulay contended that economics was a dismal science, and most people believe that economics is dismal. And the way it has been presented it does become dismal. But economics is simply a form of the economic endeavor men put forth in making a living, and that should be the most interesting part of what a man needs to know. Unless we can get more people to understand that a free market or competition without any government interference is beneficial, we'll have lots of unemployment, our standard of living will go down, and maybe we'll become serfs to those other nations that believe more nearly in competition.

Competition or a free market has never failed, because they have never been tried, but to the degree that they are put into practice do those people prosper spiritually, mentally and materially. The great economist Bastiat pointed out that "where goods do not cross borders there because of protective tariffs, soldiers will. You'll have wars." And wars consume wealth that is badly needed to help people live more comfortably and have more leisure to understand the laws of nature. Competition is nothing more than a form of freedom, a form of liberty that permits all people an equal right to help establish values. There is nothing fairer than common rights that belong equally to all people without any interference from any combination, whether it be individuals or the government.

MOUNTAIN RETREAT—Col. R. T. Greigg, North American Air Defense Command's director of civil engineering, points out features of models of buildings for NORAD's new underground combat operations center. The center, expected to go into operation in 1965, will consist of 11 buildings constructed within a series of granite chambers hollowed out of Cheyenne Mountain near Colorado Springs, Colo. The buildings will be free-standing, without contact with the mountains, and will be joined by flexible connections.

Celanese Announces Purchase Of Yardley Plastic Company In Ohio

Celanese Corporation of America announced today the purchase of Yardley Plastic Company one of the nation's largest producers of plastics pipe and fittings.

The multi-million dollar deal includes purchase of Yardley's two plastics pipe and fittings plants both in Columbus, Ohio, and other assets.

William P. Orr, President of Celanese Polymer Company a division of the corporation, said that Celanese will operate the facilities through a subsidiary known as Yardley Company. Yardley will continue to function with present operating and selling arrangements and with no changes contemplated in key operating management and personnel.

Founded in 1941 by Frederick B. Hill, Yardley pioneered in the manufacture of plastics pipe and now makes polyethylene polyvinyl chloride (PVC) and acrylonitrile-butadiene-styrene (ABS) piping and cellulose acetate and polypropylene specialty products. The firm also specializes in the manufacture of plastic fittings and sells its products throughout the nation to more than 1,000 plumbing distributors and industrial accounts.

Paul M. Thomas, Vice President Marketing of Celanese Polymer Company, said market research studies indicate substantial growth for plastics pipe which has proven its ability to do an outstanding job in many applications.

In 1948 the United States plastics pipe industry had total sales of less than $500,000. Since then sales in the United States have increased steadily to a current annual volume of about $70,000,000.

Thomas noted that development of the market requires establishing performance standards providing in-depth technical service to customers promotion and merchandising. He said that Celanese with considerable marketing success in fibers, chemicals, polymers and plastics will give Yardley further support in technical service and marketing of pipe and fittings.

Celanese acquisition of Yardley's assets is part of the corporation's long-range program of continuous product diversification within the area of its technical competency. In fibers the corporation recently announced plans to manufacture nylon '66' yarn. In plastics the corporation recently announced plans to manufacture and market polyester film.

Celanese produces polycarbonate and cellulose acetate film and sheet polyethylene film and sheet and celcon acetal co-polymer resin. The corporation also manufactures a full line of blow-molded plastic bottles and containers and polyethylene film. Purchase of Yardley's assets is its first move into the manufacture of plastics products to serve the construction industry.

Crowds Dispersed By Police, Riot Squads in Sarawak

MIRI, Sarawak (UPI)—Police and riot squads used tear gas and night sticks today to disperse crowds demonstrating against a United Nations Malaysia fact-finding team.

At least one policeman and one demonstrator were injured. Another demonstrator was arrested.

The demonstration occurred as the Malaysian government in Kuala Lumpur announced that the proposed Greater Malaysia Federation would come into being on Sept. 16.

About 200 persons greeted the U.N. team peacefully as it drove from the airport to the community center to conduct hearings on whether Sarawak should join the federation.

But a mob of young people shouting opposition to Malaysia tried to march on the community center. They were stopped by police, and a melee developed.

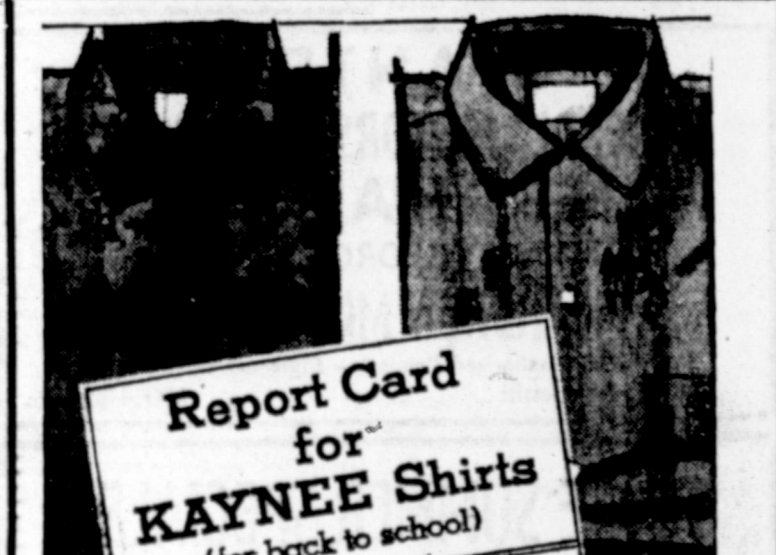

The police used tear gas and swung heavy sticks to clear the road. The demonstrators retaliated with rocks and bottles.

The U.N. team has been checking public opinion in Sarawak and North Borneo to see if the two British territories should join Malaya and Singapore in the federation.

SPOT CHECKUP

PLAINVIEW, N. Y. (UPI) The new cars are bright and shiny—and stay that way—because laboratory technicians follow them out on the road to see how they perform. The Grow Corporation, whose Detroit subsidiary supplies thinners for paints, lacquers and enamels to the auto makers, says its executives and technicians examine cars after many thousands of miles of exposure to the elements under actual driving conditions to learn how their products perform. Formulas are constantly being revised and new ones added on the basis of their findings.

WHIRLY-GIRL—Doris (Mrs. W. H.) Renninger of East Norwich, Long Island, has become the first woman in New York State to qualify as a helicopter pilot. She is now the 59th member of the Whirly-Girls, an international association of women helicopter pilots. Mrs. Renninger, a grandmother, has been an airplane pilot since 1955.

Labor Congratulated For Job Done in Texas

HOUSTON (UPI)—The head of a Mexican-American political action group congratulated organized labor Wednesday for trying to solve the problem of workers who live on the Mexican side of the border and hold jobs on the U.S. side.

Albert Pena blamed undesirable working conditions and low pay in the Rio Grande Valley on the commuting worker problem.

Speaking of the city council sweep in Crystal City, Pena said PASO merely gave "some political techniques" to the voters.

The people there "did not know the first thing about organizing a political campaign," he said. Some 95 per cent of the voters went to the polls in the election that swept the incumbent city council, which had no Mexican-American members, out of office.

"As long as you have 95 per cent voting, those people who are elected are going to represent the people," Pena said.

Says Wages Depressed

Pena contends that commuting workers depress wages in U. S. areas all along the border. U. S. workers have to accept the same wages as commuters, because prices are cheaper across the border.

Pena is head of the Political Association of Spanish Speaking Organizations (PASO) which recently spearheaded a drive that took over the government of Crystal City, Tex. He also is a Bexar County (San Antonio) commissioner.

"You cannot imagine the reaction we have had in the Valley," Pena said, "among these people who for too long have gone unsponsored."
