

President Sees No Need For Calling Congress Back

Special Session Only In Event Of War Threat, FD Says In Interview

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 11 (AP)—Seeking to scotch reports he would call a special session of congress this fall, President Roosevelt said at a press conference today that so far as he knew at present there was no reason for calling congress back.

But he added that if an actual crisis of war became imminent in Europe or the Far East—in other words, if it became reasonably certain there was going to be a war—he would probably immediately call a special session.

He said he would do so in order to insure American neutrality along the lines of international law.

The president said he favored the lines of international law so that this country would not be involved.

In general, he said, he favored neutrality legislation of the type for which the administration fought unsuccessfully in the last session—legislation making us neutral instead of unneutral.

That would mean repeal of the controversial arms embargo provision of the present law.

Asked whether it also would involve abandonment of the cash and carry system for trade with belligerents, Mr. Roosevelt asserted there were so many ways that matter could be handled he could not give a yes or no answer.

The president disclosed he had signed the social security bill and said he was busy with a pile of additional measures. He hoped to dispose of them all today, motor to New York tomorrow and board a cruiser for a sea trip off New England.

He said he had nothing to add to his message to the young democrats, read at their Pittsburgh meeting yesterday, in which he said he would not support a conservative democratic nominee for the presidency.

He said the words he had used in that were very carefully chosen and were plain simple English. They were designed to speak for themselves, he said, so that nothing could be read into them which was not there.

Lolling back in a chair in the study of his home, Mr. Roosevelt asserted that words of one syllable were about all that could be said and that was the type of words actually used.

Going more fully into the neutrality problem, Mr. Roosevelt said much could be done by executive action.

For instance, he said, during the World War Secretary of State Bryan urged President Wilson to warn Americans to stay out of foreign brawls. One reason that Bryan resigned, he said, was because Mr. Wilson declined to do so.

We all are for the objectives of cash and carry, the chief executive declared, but there is a question whether that system requires legislation. After all, he said, it is a minor point, since the big thing is a return to international law.

Turning to other matters, the president said he had received a letter from President Cardenas of Mexico which, however, contained no new proposals for solving difficulties between the Mexican government and American oil companies in Mexico.

He said he could not discuss the letter as the entire matter was being handled by the state department.

GIRL VICTIMS

The body of Ruth Frances Dunn (top), 17, Miami, Fla., high school girl, was found at Boca Raton, Fla., where police said a man booked as Charles Jefferson had confessed the slaying. Jean Bolton (below), 19, said she and Miss Dunn left for a press tea with the man who posed as a "talent scout." She said the man bound and held her in a house and attacked Miss Dunn. Miss Bolton was released unharmed.

Fear Violence Against Killer

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Aug. 11 (AP)—Fearing mob violence, police authorities today delayed arraignment of Charles Jefferson in charges of abducting two Miami high school girls, slaying one and holding the other prisoner three days.

A few hours after the tall, 34-year-old Jefferson confessed, County Solicitor W. E. Roebuck asked, to assassinating and fatally slaying Ruth Frances Dunn, 17-year-old brunette beauty, officers bound him under heavy guard to a jail cell.

Officials reported there was an undertone of anger in street gatherings here as details of the case became generally known.

Jean Bolton, 19-year-old blonde second abduction victim who was released unharmed late Wednesday night at Boca Raton 25 miles from here, was taken to a secluded resort to recuperate.

Miss Bolton yesterday told of being kept bound for most of three days and nights in Jefferson's coupe, lugged in a marshy side road 600 feet from the coastal highway near Boca Raton.

The body of Miss Dunn was found in palmetto underbrush nearby, half covered with sand and an old raincoat, it was badly bruised, bore several stab wounds in the side and a bullet hole in the forehead.

Jefferson, a man of many aliases and a checkered nation-wide career which included theatrical, radio and newspaper work as well as a civil and military police record since the age of 15, left Miami early Monday with the two girls, who thought he was a movie talent scout. He had promised them a screen test here.

TWO QUESTIONED

Two persons were questioned at police headquarters Friday in connection with reported prowling Thursday night. One, a negro, was still held. The other, a boy, was released.

Europe Turns Attention To 'Axis' Parley

Italian, German Officials Confer On Danzig Policy

By The Associated Press

Uneasy Europe turned today to a meeting between the foreign ministers of Italy and Germany for an answer to the question "war or peace?" which the Danzig Nazi district leader, Albert Forster, failed to give in a bristling but unrevealing speech last night.

Mussolini's Suggestions

Italian Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano went to Salzburg, Germany, to take to German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop Premier Mussolini's suggestions on what to do about the free city, the Balkans and the Far East.

Throughout Europe, it was acknowledged the meeting of the axis ministers may be momentous and that even Europe's peace may hinge on their talks.

There was widespread belief Mussolini was opposed to any action which might lead to a conflict with Poland and would urge moderation.

Danzig Nazis, especially, looked to the conference in Salzburg's ancient Castle Fuschl. They felt the Führer Hitler, which their "gau-leiter" did not give them in a 45-minute blast at Poland before cheering throngs in the free city's Langer market place.

Although Forster voiced belief "the hour of liberation is coming," he set no date.

"Poland may clearly understand that...Germany and our Führer, Adolf Hitler, are determined to stand at our side in case of an attack from Poland," he said.

In England millions of Britons watched a make-believe war and hoped real war would not come. As dawn broke, Britain's greatest blackout—a demonstration of civilian and military defenses against bombing raids—and a mimic air raid ended.

Half of England, an area populated by 30,000,000 persons and including London, emerged from a curtain of darkness, 300 "attack" war planes and 1,300 "defensive" war planes left the skies and 30,000

Storm Moves On Florida

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Aug. 11 (AP)—A tropical disturbance of less than hurricane force moved today toward the Florida east coast in a direction which the weather bureau said would carry it inland near Palm Beach about mid-afternoon.

A 9 a. m. advisory placed the storm 100 miles east southeast of Palm Beach. It was moving west-northwest at 14 miles per hour.

"The center is very small but attended by a small area of gale winds up to 50 miles per hour and a larger area of squalls," the report said.

Storm warnings which earlier had been displayed from Daytona Beach to Key West were ordered down south of Miami.

Although forecasters emphasized that the disturbance was of only moderate intensity persons in exposed areas along the coast evacuated and some buildings were boarded up.

RAIN ON PLAINS

PLAINVIEW, Aug. 11 (AP)—Hard rains covered a wide plains area last night, with crops benefiting from Lubbock to north of Amarillo and west into New Mexico.

Plainview had 1.35 inches, Amarillo 1.38, Clarendon .48, Dalhart .30, Memphis .40, Miami 1.44.

Study Effect Of Oil Order

AUSTIN, Aug. 11 (AP)—Railroad commission officials today pondered possible effects of a ruling made by a three-judge federal court in San Antonio that the Humble company was entitled to a 44 per cent increase in its East Texas oil production.

Commissioner Jerry Sadler admitted the commission had suffered a "bad defeat" and added he could not yet say whether the decision would lead to a revision of the proration policy for the East Texas field.

Some observers voiced the opinion the commission might drastically alter the East Texas proration formula to give consideration to acreage. A few even mentioned the possibility of a temporary shut-down of the big field, although this received no confirmation in official sources.

The Humble company and the firms of Rowan & Nichols now have obtained higher East Texas production through federal court injunctions. Apparently any other operators similarly situated can get relief through going to federal court. The state's appeal from the decision in the Rowan & Nichols case will be heard by a United States circuit court in Atlanta October 2.

Sadler stated the federal action in the Humble case would not cause cancellation of the commission hearing here next Wednesday on the Humble's application for an East Texas production increase. Several other large producers have filed similar petitions with the commission.

VETERAN RAILROAD MAN SUCCUMBS

FORT WORTH, Aug. 11 (AP)—Ruben C. Hatfield, 70, assistant general freight and passenger agent of the St. Louis & Southwestern Railroad here and a veteran employe of the line, died at 10:30 a. m. today in a local hospital shortly after he suffered a heart attack at his residence.

Mr. Hatfield had undergone a minor operation a week ago but apparently had been in good health since, friends said.

He had been a resident of Fort Worth approximately 50 years.

CHARLIE CHAPMAN IS PUBLIC ENEMY NO. 1

NEW YORK, Aug. 11 (AP)—It now appears that Louis (Lepke) Buchalter isn't the toughest guy in the country after all.

In a new list of 10 public enemies issued today by the New York office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Lepke was ranked No. 1 goes to Charlie Chapman, Texas kidnaper, missing since he escaped the Texas state penitentiary at Huntsville July 8, 1937.

Other names on the list include: Alvin Karpis, John Dillinger, Fred Barker, Alvin Karpis, John Dillinger, Fred Barker, Alvin Karpis, John Dillinger, Fred Barker.

Mrs. Griffith, another son and her sister, Miss Lucille Hudson, escaped injury.

RENEWED CAMPAIGN IS URGED FOR BIG BEND PARK FUNDS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11 (AP)—Texasans were called on today by Representative Thompson of El Paso to revive their campaign for the solicitation of funds with a view to establishing the proposed Big Bend national park.

Keen interest by President Roosevelt in the park project, displayed during a conversation with Thompson, prompted the congressman to make the appeal.

"Why, the president was red hot for the Big Bend," said the Texan, enthusiastically. "He was familiar with the natural wonders to be found there, and mentioned that it and the Florida Everglades were the only remaining areas left in the United States of great proportions suitable as national parks."

"He even went so far as to say that in a speech he made later at the dedication of the Great Smokies national park he will make reference to the Big Bend. You know funds for the acquisition of lands there were raised by public subscription. Just as they have been in Texas for our park project."

Thompson discussed the subject with President Roosevelt before the chief executive left here for his Hyde Park, N. Y., estate.

Secretary Ickes of the interior department, which includes the national park service, has repeatedly expressed interest in the Texas Big Bend country, and voiced a hope the land would be turned over to the government for park purposes.

Roosevelt Rejection Of A Conservative Brings Speculation As To His Own Plans

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11 (AP)—The question of how far President Roosevelt would go in his avowed refusal to participate in selecting a "conservative" or "lip-service" democrat as his successor intrigued capital politicians today.

Did he mean, they speculated, that he would head a third party if an anti-new deal democrat were nominated?

Or would he merely sit in his White House study on the velvet lawn of his Hyde Park, N. Y., home and remain silent throughout the 1940 campaign?

The chief executive himself gave no clue in his message to the Young Democrats' convention at Pittsburgh, limiting his comment to a statement that he would "find it impossible to have any active part in such an unfortunate suicide of the democratic party."

Senator Thomas (D-Okla.), who talked with the chief executive last Sunday, told reporters: "Under no conditions do I believe he would run as an independent."

The Oklahoma senator added the personal opinion, however, that Mr. Roosevelt might walk out of the democratic convention if Vice President Garner were nominated.

Senator Logan (D-Ky.) said that although it would be "very damaging and unfortunate" if the president did not back the party's choice, he believed the democrats could win anyway if they "nominated a man who can obtain support from all classes."

The president's message generally was viewed here as an attempt to block anti-new deal candidates well in advance of the 1940 democratic convention.

Politicians were quick to note the president left wide open the question of a third term.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 11 (AP)—Spirited young democrats, cheering for a "third term" for President Roosevelt, entered the second session of their annual convention today after hearing a message from the chief executive that he would not support a conservative for president in 1940.

They waited with interest an address by Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the senate democratic leader, and a night speech by Paul V. McNutt, federal security administrator mentioned as a possible "compromise" candidate for the democratic presidential nomination.

In a carefully worded message to the convention here last night, President Roosevelt said: "If we nominate conservative candidates, or lip-service candidates, on a straddle bug platform, I personally, for my own self respect and because of my long service to, and belief in, liberal democracy, will find it impossible to have any active part in such an unfortunate suicide of the old democratic party."

The president still kept his own counsel about a third term, but asserted flatly the party would "fall if it goes conservative" or "is led by people who can offer naught but fine phrases."

Shortly after the convention here the Roosevelt message read amid cheers by Pitt Tyson Manner, of Montgomery, Ala., retiring president, the audience stood and applauded a statement by Senator Pepper (D-Fla.), convention keynote, advocating a "third term for Roosevelt's ideas" in 1940.

FD APPROVES SECURITY ACT CHANGES

DAVISES ON HOPEFUL HONEYMOON

Makes Saving For Taxpayers

New Legislation Also Broadens Scope Of Benefits

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 11 (AP)—President Roosevelt signed today a bill making broad liberalizations in the social security act and cutting hundreds of millions of dollars off the tax burden it imposes.

Step Forward

The president said in a formal statement "these amendments to the act represent another tremendous step forward in providing greater security for the people of this country."

"This is especially true," he added, "in the case of the federal old age insurance system, which has now been converted into a system of old age and survivors' insurance providing lifetime family security instead of only individual old age security to the workers in insured occupations."

"In addition to the worker himself, millions of widows and orphans will now be afforded some degree of protection in the event of his death whether before or after his retirement."

The president said the size of benefits to be paid during the early years would be "far more adequate than under the present law."

He said he was glad unemployment insurance benefits have been extended to cover workers in some occupations previously uncovered.

Howard Producers Hit By Oil Slash

Humble, Major Purchaser, Cuts Prices In This And Other Areas

Producers in the Howard-Glasscock, East-East Howard and Snyder pools Friday stood to lose approximately $5,000 daily in revenues with the posting of a 20-cent price cut by Humble.

The company announced a general slash during the morning, and the reduced-income figure is based on a general estimate of about 25,000 barrels per day allowable for the three fields.

Magnolia and Shell, other major purchasers here, were expected to follow the reduction, as were Coston Petroleum Corp., and Howard County Refining company, local buyers.

The reduction had the effect of whittling the price of crude in this area to varying levels between 47 and 61 cents per barrel. The flat rate on 26 gravity oil in local fields has been 67 cents with 2 cents addition for each degree of increase in gravity. Top price has been around 81 cents.

Only compensation for the cut in the three nearby fields is that they are to operate on Sundays throughout the month of August in an effort to furnish Coston with enough crude to fill contracts.

In the past month Coston has been about the largest purchaser of crude from the three fields.

EFFECTIVE TODAY

HOUSTON, Aug. 11 (AP)—The Humble Oil and Refining company today announced a cut of crude oil prices ranging from five cents to

Publisher Is Indicted For Tax Evasion

CHICAGO, Aug. 11 (AP)—An Annenberg, former newsboy who amassed a fortune in publishing racehorse information, was indicted today by a federal grand jury which charged he "willfully evaded the income tax law" by failing to pay taxes, plus interest and penalties, of $5,948,384.89 from 1932 to 1936 inclusive.

District Attorney William J. Campbell said it was the largest income tax case in government history.

The 50-page indictment listed the amount of allegedly evaded tax at $5,358,809.97 for the five years, and the 50 per cent penalties, plus 4 per cent interest at $2,589,574.92.

Annenberg, whose race wire weaver over the United States and into Canada, also publishes newspapers and magazines and has large real estate holdings. He listed his net income for the five years as $1,178,117.15; the government contended it was $5,928,628.26.

Others indicted were Annenberg's son, Walter, and Arnold W. Kruss, and Joseph E. Hafner, alias Samuel Goldfarb, whom the government identified as officials of the Cecelia company, Annenberg's top holding corporation.

They were accused of aiding and abetting the alleged evasion.

The indictment, returned before Federal Judge James H. Wilcox, contained ten counts, one for each of the years involved and five relating to the alleged aiding and abetting. Annenberg was named in all counts.

Bond of $100,000 was set for the publisher; $25,000 for each of the other defendants. Conviction would carry a maximum penalty of five years imprisonment and $10,000 fine on each count.

The indictment was reported to be but one of a series to be sought against Annenberg.

They toured through northwest suburbs and southern Wisconsin late yesterday, dining with friends at Lake Lauderdale, north of Elkhorn, Wis., before returning to their suburban River Forest home.

Quiz Negro In County Budget Hearing Mon.

TYLER, Aug. 11 (AP)—A negro suspect was questioned in the Smith county jail today in connection with the raping and stabbing of a white woman near Terrell Wednesday, after his capture by two Tyler city officers near Ben Wheeler.

Terrell officers said there was some doubt as to the negro's identity and no formal charges had been filed against him in Kaufman county, where the woman was attacked. The negro denied knowledge of the attack.

He was captured during a man hunt in which citizens joined county and state officers.

It was not expected the negro would be returned to Kaufman county, where feeling was high. The woman was seized as she walked along the Able Springs road, east of Terrell, dragged beneath a culvert, and assaulted.

She was stabbed twice in the neck, but her condition was not regarded as critical.

Early in the search for the negro suspect, bloodhounds picked up his trail, then lost it. Citizens dropped out of the hunt yesterday, but county officers, rangers, and state highway patrolmen continued it.

MISS LANEUS NOTES

By Mary Whaley

Closing time and the last customer drifted out and the doors locked shut behind her. Inside the store took on an air of quiet and desertion.

The clerks, who had wrestled with bargaining women for some eight hours, moved slowly about the task of shutting up shop. Their faces relaxed from the polite "the customer is always right" position into more human lines. Standing on one tired foot to rest the other, they called jokes and pleasant commonplaces to their co-workers.

The lights were dimmed and sheets were brought out to shroud the merchandise. Figures displaying the smartest in styles assumed ghostly positions and the dress shop looked vaguely like a museum filled with white statues.

A few, anxious to get away to homes, husbands, and beaux, made haste to straighten up and join the closing time crowd in the streets. Others, more sedate, took an owner's pleasure in putting things back into accustomed places.

In a quarter of an hour, the last clerk had gone, stopping only for a quick slip of powder and a dash of lipstick. The store was wrapped in solitude that was shattered only by the close of the door as the janitor left. Inside it breathed peacefully — alone at last.

For the last month our entire Used Car personnel and office force have been checking stock, reconditioning cars and placing every price way below normal retail value, giving them now the lowest prices we have ever offered on this type stock. This is the same sort of sale as staged by this company in April last year—an event that bested all others for attendance and number of cars sold. They were all exceptional values (if you didn't attend, ask your neighbor), and this year's offering is an exact reproduction except on one feature—PRICES ARE STILL LOWER!

For positively the greatest savings ever made in a Used Car purchase we urge you to visit our packed lot on Main Street next Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday during "Inspection Days." No Used Car will be sold during these three days.

Maverick And Free Speech

In spite of vigorous protests from organized groups and individuals, Mayor Maury Maverick of San Antonio has refused to rescind a permit he granted to a communist speaker to use the municipal auditorium for a communistic meeting August 24.

Holding that there "is no way under the law" that the communist speaker, a woman, may be denied any public property for a public meeting, Mayor Maverick added that he respects very deeply those who oppose her.

Voltaire put it in more striking language: "I disagree with everything you say, but I will defend to the death your right to say it."

The first of the 10 articles of the Bill of Rights is quite specific on the point. Congress shall make no law abridging the right of free speech, free worship, free press and free assembly.

The average American has no sympathy whatever for communism or communists. In granting them the right to speak, he is merely preserving one of his most prized heritages—the right of free speech, for himself and for all.

"The Old Maid." Screenplay by Casey Robinson from play by Zoe Akins and novel by Edith Wharton. Directed by Edmund Goulding.

HOLLYWOOD—When "The Old Maid" won the Pulitzer prize for excellence among Broadway's stage productions, dissenting critics raised a howl.

Miss Hopkins plays Della Lovell, about to be married as the film opens, in 1861, to wealthy Jim Ralston (Stephenson) after refusing to wait longer for impetuous Clem (Brent).

Well, it's wartime, and Clem goes and is killed. After the war, Charlotte and faithful maid (Fazenda) are engaged in caring for homeless waifs, among them little Clementina.

On the eve of Tina's wedding, Charlotte defies Della, announces her determination to have Tina for her own on this one occasion. Face to face with the future, however, the "old maid" backs away, gratefully accepts the crumbs of affection which Tina now throws her way.

The co-stars are about equally limelighted, and the acting honors favor neither over the other. Brent, in a brief role, is excellent and Miss Fazenda fills a different niche admirably.

Chapter 19 THE FUTURE?

Cecily turned down the lamps in her bedroom and went to the window, dropping to her knees and staring out into the night.

"You ought to be home in your little straw bed," she scolded. "But I'm glad you're not. I feel like talking to someone."

"The bird said, 'Cheep!' 'I don't know whether you're saying, 'Cheer up' or 'cheep' but we could discuss it in the first place, I don't need cheering up because I'm so happy that my heart is singing—and isn't that being happy?'"

"Was she happy? She tried to sound her emotions. Could a girl be happy when the man who had become the center of her universe was cloaked in mystery?"

As she had done so many times before, she brought out all the memories of the times that they had been together. Two weeks before there had been the unforgettable day of their picnic.

There was the day of the circus twelve miles away when he had hired a rattlerap car from the garage and over-ridden her objections about leaving the shop.

It was already September. There were only a few weeks longer for her to be in Vickersport. Only a few weeks longer to make something real and lasting of her enchantment. What then?

She had made vague plans to open a shop in New York on her return. At another time, she would have been thrilled, filled with her plans. Now, she couldn't bear to think of them.

But, in the meantime, he talked about the past, about the future, yet he was as elusive as a moonbeam. There was an incompleteness about their relationship.

He had a way of turning off her questions as though she had never asked them, a way that was done so gracefully that she was not aware of it until the question came to her again.

ask him questions, yet she could not control her impulses.

He had an Irish way of answering her questions by using questions of his own. He knew all about her. He knew about her childhood, her schooling, the things she liked and the things she didn't like.

"He's maddening," she confided to the small bird who lingered on for some reason of his own.

"Cheep!" the bird retorted unmistakably. "Oh, yes, cheap! But I'm not, my fine feathered friend. I protest! You mustn't get the idea I'm throwing myself at him. Indeed, I am cool as can be when I see him."

"He doesn't even know that I don't live except when I'm at the shop. This is the house—this merely an interlude that must be endured every night. But he doesn't know. And I shall never tell him and if he doesn't speak... but he will! He will!"

Later, lying open-eyed in her bed, Cecily wondered if she had dreamed all the things she wanted to believe. Was it only because Locke had filled the dull world with glamour that she had imagined those happy silences between them?

It would be cold and dismal here in the winter," she said absently. "Oh, no!" the older girl protested at once.

Cecily half turned in her chair and saw that now it was Laura who was embarrassed. There was a flush on Laura's bent face.

"It will be lovely here," Laura went on, "when the ground is covered with clean, white snow and you're enclosed in sturdy walls. Cecily, think of the crunch of crisp snow underfoot, the exhilarating tang of salt on the cold air, the crackle of logs in a big hearth, light spilling a yellow welcome out of windows. There would be long quiet evenings...."

"You're getting positively poetic, Laura," Cecily answered from a great distance. She was thinking: Life enclosed by sturdy walls can be beautiful. But I can't ever think of them because I have nothing. My walls belong to someone else.

She turned full around. "What does it all mean, Laura? Aren't you going back to Boston?" Laura took a long breath. "I don't know, yet," she said in a small voice. "It's that... well... I oughtn't to speak yet but..."

Cecily meant to find out.

Silas Fowers kicked open the back door of the book-shop with a capable foot and came in with his arms filled with stout logs.

"You'll be needin' plenty of 'em, Miss Stuart. Gits right cool all of a sudden in September up here."

"That's right, Silas. But I don't mind. Hearth fires in a book-shop are good for the book business. There's something about a fire that inspires reading, you know."

"Dunno," he said, brushing up the chips into Cecily's neat hearth before he left. "Business has been awfully good, hasn't it?" Laura said from the depths of a chair where she was bent over a column of figures.

"Aren't you?" she inquired anxiously. Cecily laughed quickly. "Of course, I am. I don't know what I was thinking of to say that."

"Oh, no!" the older girl protested at once. Cecily half turned in her chair and saw that now it was Laura who was embarrassed.

"It will be lovely here," Laura went on, "when the ground is covered with clean, white snow and you're enclosed in sturdy walls. Cecily, think of the crunch of crisp snow underfoot, the exhilarating tang of salt on the cold air, the crackle of logs in a big hearth, light spilling a yellow welcome out of windows. Cecily crossed the room and sat on the arm of Laura's chair. "Is it Donald?" Laura folded her hands in her lap. "Yes," she said.

Washington Daybook

WASHINGTON—Congress has passed up one of its last opportunities to determine whether the army's "Dreyfus case" will go into history without a conclusive investigation.

The "Dreyfus case" is that of Oberlin M. Carter, one-time captain of engineers, top-ranking man in his class at West Point. In pre-Spanish war days he was engineer of a harbor improvement project at Savannah, Ga., out of which grew a scandal and a court martial that sent him to imprisonment in Leavenworth.

He was tried in 1895. Scarcely a year has passed since that he has not pressed a case in court, or, more recently, in congress to have that stain removed from his record. It never has been. The rush of the final hours of congress made it impossible to take up the bill which, year after year, has been introduced to clear Carter's record.

The story really begins at West Point. Carter was No. 1 in his class and set a record for scholarship and attainment which his friends say surpassed that of Robert E. Lee. Second in the class under Carter was George Goethals, who later rose to fame as the builder of the Panama canal.

They were always friends and to the last, General Goethals never questioned Carter's integrity. But others did. Carter and others have testified that army associates, jealous of his pre-eminence as an engineer, set out to ruin him.

Although only a captain he was put in charge of the huge works at Savannah. He devised a plan for laying artificial dykes through which the tides would course and wash the harbor deep enough for heavy traffic. He was commended at home and decorated abroad.

Ultimately he turned over the project to other officers and was given the distinguished honor of appointment as U. S. military attache with the embassy at London. He returned from there with his name under a cloud, for officers at Savannah had charged him with conspiring with his wealthy father-in-law and with contractors to defraud the government of large sums of money.

They alleged that, while engineer at Savannah, he had approved payments to contractors for inferior rock and brush mattresses when superior material had been specified. The contractors had already created a bad atmosphere in Savannah by assertedly chiseling on contracts for the immense quantities of bound brush cut from the countryside for the harbor work. And Carter himself, financed by his father-in-law's money, had cut a social swath which made him the envy of some of his fellow officers.

MARK HANNA INVOLVED

The trial, before a tribunal of army officers, began just as the Spanish-American war was breaking out. It lasted six months. Carter was found guilty on a small number of the numerous detailed charges. The verdict was passed up to President McKinley for approval. Weeks of delay followed. An election campaign was coming up and the Carter case had been a sensation. The president had a special investigation made before he acted. It had been asserted and denied that final approval of the conviction was dictated by Mark Hanna, McKinley's political mentor, as being politically the most expedient course.

In any event, the conviction was approved by the president. Carter, dismissed from the army, served his sentence. His standing as an engineer had not been forgotten and he soon was receiving big fees. All these, together with wealth received from his father-in-law, he has spent in the vain attempt to wipe the blot off his record.

Army attorneys, standing by the court martial, have opposed him. Various courts and investigators, as well as congressional committees, have asserted or implied his innocence of any conspiracy of fraud, but still the record stands.

Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK—The other night I went to the world premiere of Jascha Heifetz' new film, one of those big Broadway stunts where a searchlight as big as an anti-aircraft spotter played its dazzling beam on the front of the theatre and dozens of mounted and foot police held back a crowd of curious people.

Strangely enough, there is an art to being recognized as a celebrity by the crowd. Anybody could slip into the theatre without being noticed. The real trick is to get the crowd's attention focused so they will start cheering. As soon as the first row starts a patter of hand-clapping, the back row begins to whoop things up until there is quite a bedlam.

In front of my taxi waiting to roll up to the theatre entrance under the searchlight beam was a town car which pulled into the curbing a little to one side of the main doorway. And out of the car stepped a beautiful overland person whose name has been in lights all over the world. She darted into the theatre, and not a single cheer was raised.

When my taxi slid into the light rays, I slowly stepped out, surveyed the crowd, smiled and waved my hand. Within a few seconds everyone was cheering like mad. For what? I don't know. They didn't either.

There were lots of celebrities there, not the least of whom was a couple seated next to me. The girl was in a backless, strapless and guileless evening gown. The chap with her was in orange-colored slacks, and his shirt tail was hanging out in approved drug store cowboy style. It takes a brave man to do that.

After the picture, which was rather good considering Jascha carried the whole thing tucked under his chin, everyone stood around looking for some biggie to applaud. They didn't have long to wait. Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, whose husband is president, was in the audience.

As she walked slowly up the aisle there were "Oh's" and "Ah's" everywhere. In the lobby the people burst into applause and exclamations which the first lady smiled and chatted with her party. She didn't pull a gracious grand dame act and bow, nor did she ignore the people. She just seemed to smile back as someone does when you wave to them from the front porch on a quiet summer evening.

The applause inside the theatre was taken up by those outside as Mrs. Roosevelt crossed the sidewalk to enter her car. Before she left, Broadway for blocks was jammed tight and everyone was cheering.

Some 30 minutes later, a lone figure emerged from the theatre and looked around. The searchlight crew had packed up and gone home. The street and sidewalk was littered with pieces of newspaper and rubbish dropped by the curious throng. The theatre lights were dimmed.

The rumor that Pete Cawthon is on his last legs as head football coach at Texas Tech college cannot be quieted. The fiery Dutchman, who has really put the Lubbock school on the map, is said to have been thinking he's played out his string, is casting his eyes to more attractive posts. Too, there seems to be certain individuals in that group of business men who help pay his salary, who, incensed at the Southwest conference's stubborn refusals to admit Tech as a league member, blame Cawthon for the indifference shown them.

General opinion has developed that Tech will never become a member of the Southwest circuit as long as Cawthon is connected with the school. Whether Cawthon blocks the way for the Lubbock school's admittance isn't known by your correspondent but it is apparent that Tech's chances at landing a berth is less bright than at any time within the past four years.

At any rate it is known that Cawthon isn't in the best of health and may be forced by doctors to retire from the game entirely.

The Red Raiders, incidentally, play 11 games the coming fall. The schedule:

Sept. 23—Texas Mines at El Paso (night game).
Sept. 30—Texas Wesleyan at Lubbock (night game).
Oct. 7—Gonzaga university at Lubbock (night game).
Oct. 14—Arizona State at Lubbock (night game).
Oct. 21—New Mexico university at Lubbock (night game).

Oct. 27—Duquesne at Pittsburgh (night game).
Nov. 3—Miami university at Miami, Fla. (night game).
Nov. 11—Centenary college at Shreveport (day game).

Nov. 18—Marquette at Lubbock (day game).
Nov. 25—Montana at Lubbock (day game).
Nov. 30—Loyola of South at New Orleans (day game).

Tech was originally scheduled to play St. Mary's of California Nov. 3 but Slip Madigan, Gael coach, requested that the game be played the 4th, which falls on Sunday, and the Tech president would not permit the Raiders to fill the engagement.

Lloyd Devan, Coahoma high school's 1938 grid mentor, checked his job to Brady Nix, Foreman, to gain an extra year in school. He's to earn a degree in vocational agriculture and return to Coahoma in 1940 as teacher of that course.

Leading the local delegation will be George Tillinghast, No. 1 ranking local player. Others who will comprise the squad are J. H. Brown, Harry Jordan, Jack Penrose and J. W. and Joe Elrod.

In a match played here two weeks ago the Big Springers took five or six singles matches and one of three doubles matches from the New Mexicans.

Local Golfers To Colorado Sunday

To Play Odessa Team In Odessa August 20

The country club's golf crew continues its campaign for a Sand Belt league title Sunday by meeting Colorado's representatives in Colorado.

The locals will play their twice-postponed match with Odessa in Odessa Aug. 20.

Stated to play against Colorado are Shirley Robbins, Doug Jones, Sammy Sain, D. P. Watt, Bill Barker, Jim Brigham, Lib Coffee and Frank Morgan.

The Buffs, paced by Nick Cullup and Hal Byrnes, slammed 16 hits as they set the Fort Worth Cats back 12 to 2 last night.

The Padres held on tight, nosing out Oklahoma City 8 to 5. E. Tietje pitched well for the Missions until the eighth but gave way to Art McDougall, who suppressed an Indian uprising. The Missions were outlasted 14 to 11.

Dallas moved up a notch in the standings with a 5 to 4 victory over Shreveport. Mort's triple in the ninth inning drove in the winning run.

Texas took a 6 to 1 decision from Beaumont in an afternoon contest. Stein set the Exporters down with four hits while the Oilers pounded three Shipper hurlers for 17.

SWEDE MAY MAKE RING HISTORY
CHICAGO, Aug. 11 (AP)—Comes now a giant Swedish bricklayer to seek fame and fortune in the ring as a heavyweight boxer.

He's Arne Anderson, 21-year-old, weighing 205 pounds and standing six feet four inches. He comes with the reputation of being a terrific puncher, winning 10 of his 11 professional battles by quick knockouts, and his showing in his first two engagements since landing in the United States two weeks ago has bolstered his European reputation.

He floored his first opponent six times to win on a technical knockout and stopped his second in two rounds.

Anderson will get his first serious test when he engages Billy Miska, Jr., son of the late heavy-weight contender, in a 10 round contest at St. Paul, Aug. 21.

A SPLIT TERM
SPENCER, Ind., Aug. 11 (AP)—Ward M. Hicks, democratic township trustee incumbent, sued Arlie Kay, republican who won last November, for a recount of votes.

Judge F. M. Martin decided each received 288 votes and ordered Hicks, who held the office during the litigation, should serve the first half of the four-year term and Kay the second half.

CLAIMS RECORD
EDWARDSVILLE, OHL, Aug. 11 (AP)—The softball teams here today claimed a new marathon record of 1601 innings in 21 hours and 5 minutes after ending a game at 9:05 o'clock (CST) last night with the score tied at 9-9.

OILERS FATTEN LEAGUE LEAD
By the Associated Press
Henderson's Oilers fattened their hold on first place in the East Texas League standings by a game as they copped from Jacksonville last night while second place Kilgore was losing to Palestine.

The Oilers slugged three Jack hurriers for 13 hits and a 10 to 2 victory.

Grover Miller allowed only one hit as he pitched the Palestine Pals to a 5 to 0 win over Kilgore. Texarkana scored seven runs in the eighth to take a 10 to 8 decision from Longview.

An error on a double play ball in the fourteenth inning gave Marshall a 2 to 2 victory over Tyler.

The Senators shook a run out of the Yankees on one hit in the first inning yesterday. Then every time New York scored, Washington cancelled the runs in the same inning until by the fifth frame the Senators had it 5 to 7-8.

Dutch Leonard, the 30-year-old knuckleballer, got credit for his fourth victory without defeat against the Yankees this season although he had to be removed for a pinch hitter in the fifth. Bobby Estalea, who batted for him, struck out with the bases loaded for the winning run.

Locals' Rally In 9th Frame Falls Short

Billy Capps Gets 4 For 4; Stacey Hits In Clutch

Firmly entrenched in third place in WT - NM league standings despite a 9-7 reversal suffered at the hands of the Lubbock Hubbers in Lubbock Thursday evening, Tony Rego's Big Spring Barons returned home today to open a six-day stand.

The L'I Yankees, who played .500 ball on the road to keep in the fight for the top spot, tangled with the Hubbers in an 8:30 game this evening, then square off against the champions again Saturday evening.

Sunday afternoon and Monday night they match blows against the Clovis Pioneers, then close out their home stay in a two game series with Amarillo.

On their campaign of the next week depends largely their chances of landing a place in the Shaughnessy playoff.

A ninth inning uprising by the Barons fell short of tying the score when Clovis Bridwell went in to relieve Walter Gorski and the Hubbers won Thursday evening to break even in the two game series.

Start Rebellion
Consecutive hits by Edson Bahr, who had relieved Lefty Janicek and put out the Hubber fire in the third inning, Decker and Wollin, followed by a double by Pat Stacey, his first hit of the game, scored three runs for Big Spring in the ninth.

Gorski, who had allowed only seven hits up to then, four of them by Billy Capps who had a perfect evening at bat, walked Capps then and Bridwell came in. The tying run was on first and Red Wilson, who had fanned four times in a row, drew a walk but Bridwell struck out Curdele Loyd and Al Bernad to end the game.

Clarence Trantham, Big Spring's starting hurler, was chased in the third round after giving up runs in the first two heats. Janicek was even less effective.

Bob Mosel paced the Hubbers' 10-hit assault with three singles.

Gene Sarazen, Shute Share Pitt Lead

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 11 (AP)—Lightning greens saved par from a shelling in the first round of the $10,000 Dapper Dan Open but record is the target as the nation's top-ranking money players worked up to their task.

Topping the field with one over par 71's were 37-year-old Gene Sarazen of Brookfield, Conn., gentleman farmer who has won every championship of any significance on either side of the Atlantic, and lanky Denny Shute of Huntington, W. Va., two-time winner of the National PGA and nearing 35.

National Open Champion Byron Nelson from Reading, Pa., came home with a 73 in the chase for $2,500 first money. Bracketed with him were Jimmy Thomson, Shawnee-on-Delaware, Pa., Ed Dudley, Philadelphia, Johnny Revoila, Evansville, Ind., Harold (Fog) McLaughlin, Winchester, Mass., and Ralph Guldahl, Madison, N. J.

HENRY AND LOU WANT NO PART OF EACH OTHER

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK, Aug. 11 (AP)—Two uneasy and unhappy young men will face each other at Yankee Stadium a week from Tuesday, when Ambers and Henry Armstrong fight for the latter's lightweight title.

It should be a great fight and a bitter one, but that doesn't alter the fact that both of them would rather be doing almost anything else that evening than throwing fists at each other again. They are too evenly matched and both took too much punishment when they fought a year ago.

"This fight has given us more headaches than any we ever made," said an official of the 20th Century club. "Both sides have been thinking up silly excuses for a year. The truth is that they don't want any part of each other, and I don't blame them a bit."

Henry and Lou, probably as great little men as we will see, nearly beat each other to death the other time. Armstrong, the barrel-chested, tireless little negro, won Lou's crown that night, but they had to put 14 stitches in his mangled mouth the next morning. Ambers had knots on his face the size of a turnip.

If it were not for Ambers, Armstrong could go along polishing off the balance of the lightweights and welterweights for a couple more years and then retire very comfortably on his earnings. He probably wouldn't absorb as much punishment in all that time as Ambers will serve up for him in an hour.

Ambers is the only one to slow Henry down in the opening round and make him act like a human being.

So a couple of fighters, not too eager for the fray, are getting ready to take it. The other time they met the odds against Ambers were 3 to 1, but they are only 7 to 5 for this one and getting shorter.

Birmingham Is Purchased By Red System
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 11 (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds purchased the Birmingham Barons of the Southern Association today for an undisclosed sum.

Warren C. Giles, general manager of the Reds, announced the purchase after a brief conference with Ed Norton, Birmingham club president.

Giles will be president of the new operating corporation, with Frank Lise as vice-president and Bill McKechnie, Jr., son of the Cincinnati manager, as secretary-treasurer. McKechnie will make his home in Birmingham.

The Casadena Alleys will be the scene Sunday of exhibition bowling clashes between crack men and women teams of San Angelo and Big Spring.

Local teams have invaded Angelo recently and the Concho city leggers will be repaying the visits.

SOUTH FAVORED IN HI SCHOOL ALL STAR CLASH AT HOUSTON

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
HOUSTON, Aug. 11 (AP)—Forty-five youngsters whose names were often in the headlines of the 1938 football campaign close out their schoolboy careers here tomorrow night with the squad from the southern region picked to triumph in the annual all-star game of the Texas High School Coaches association coaching school.

The coaches argue the squad brought from the lower eight districts of the interscholastic league will beat that representing the north because it has more power and all-around strength.

Bo McMillin, Indiana university coach, is directing the north and Bear Wolf, University of North Carolina mentor, the south.

A crowd of 15,000 was forecast. The eve of the game finds two members of the north squad injured. Backfielder Kenneth Robbins of Sunset (Dallas) was believed definitely out with an injured shoulder and Bob Tully, North Side (Fort Worth) tackle, nursed a cut hand.

Gained Strength
The south squad lost two members but picked up one, Jack Jenkins, Texarkana guard, was unable to come here and Carlton Perkins of Brownsville turned down the invitation because of an appointment to the United States Naval Academy. Ted Weese, Rockdale, replaces Perkins in the south backfield.

Officers of the coaches association will be chosen at a meeting tonight, when opposition to several changes in interscholastic league football is expected to be voiced. A change in the limitation placed on spring training and a rule that sets an 18-year age limit in 1941 drew the principal fire.

The coaches argue 30 calendar days for spring practice should be changed to 30 school days so a full month can be employed with Saturdays and Sundays skipped, and that the 18-year rule is in reality a 17-year rule as a boy who becomes 18 before Sept. 1 is ineligible for football.

Under the present plan, the eight-semester rule would be discarded but many coaches want a 19-year age limit even though the semester clause is taken out.

Corn-Hog Surplus Another Worry For Govt. On Farm Situation

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11 (AP)—A surplus of corn and hog situation similar to that of 1933 is developing in the midwestern farm belt—but agriculture department officials believe there will be no "little pig" killing program this time to reduce price-depressing supplies. There no longer exists the shortage of corn and hogs which followed the 1934-36 drought period and the hog reduction program, under which the government bought several million heads of pigs and diverted them into relief channels and into by-products. Last year's corn crop was bumper proportions. Another big crop is in prospect this year. Normally, bountiful supplies of corn are followed by large supplies of hogs and other meat animals. The 1939 pig crop is expected to be the third largest since 1923. As a consequence of these increases, prices of corn and hogs have declined sharply. Corn prices in mid-July averaged the lowest since 1923. Hog prices were the lowest since 1934. Federal farm officials say there is one major factor responsible for the unfavorable price situation, and that is a reduced foreign market for lard and pork products and with corn. Production being in excess of domestic needs, surpluses have accumulated. Until a few years ago, the United States normally sold abroad between 35 and 45 per cent of its lard production. Those sales have slumped to about 20 per cent. What does the government plan to do about this surplus situation? It is developing a two-fold program, one for attacking the corn surplus and the other for attacking the lard and pork surplus. To bolster corn prices, it has been expected to continue to offer farmers loans. The loans, made at rates in excess of normal market prices, are designed to keep the surplus close to the farms and off the markets. The government also expects to ask corn farmers to grow less grain next year. To bolster hog prices, the government will distribute lard and pork products under relief families. It also has under consideration proposals to offer surplus lard to foreign buyers at "cut-rate" prices. It would do this through an export subsidy. Too, it may offer feeders a premium to sell their hogs at medium rather than heavy weights. Such a program, officials believe, would tend to reduce prospective lard and pork supplies and prevent further declines in prices of their products.

Jews Seek To Get Into Palestine

CONSTANZA, Rumania, Aug. 11 (AP)—Homeless Jews continued today to pour into this seaport with the faint hope of crashing Britain's sea blockade into Palestine. Two river boats with 483 Jews from Hungary and from former Austrian regions of Germany reached the mouth of the Danube river at Sulina where they were stopped for passport examination. Several hundred Jews already were waiting there for a chance to continue toward Palestine. A handful of ragged men brought news of the steamer Lisei and its 800 Jewish passengers. The Lisei's captain was in jail in Palestine, it was stated, and most of the passengers were held in camps. For more than two months—with water and food running low—the Lisei cruised along the Palestine coast, waiting for an opportunity to crash the blockade. With passengers exhausted from hunger and thirst, the captain finally surrendered to British authorities and the Lisei was escorted into Haifa by two destroyers. Oil Well Finished On L.S.U. Campus

BATON ROUGE, La., Aug. 11 (AP)—A vision of flowing "black gold" of an oil well—today spread over Louisiana State university, which at the same time gloomily recorded its first violent death since scandal broke over the school six weeks ago. At about the hour the well was being brought in on the campus, George C. Heidelberg, 60, secretary of the L.S.U. student employment committee, shot and killed himself yesterday. His wife was secretary to Dr. James Monroe Smith, former university president, whose resignation, arrest, and many indictments rocked the university. The oil well, first on the campus, was brought in by William J. Heile and the Louisiana Crusader Oil company under a lease granted by the university three years ago. There will be no evening service. "However," he asserted, "workers in other occupations have been excluded. In my opinion, it is imperative that these insurance benefits be extended to workers in all occupations."

Mr. Roosevelt said he was asking a committee on economic security, comprised of government officials, to study various proposals which may be made for additional changes in the security act.

In signing the legislation, Mr. Roosevelt disposes of the last major bill remaining from the congressional session.

Millions of persons will benefit. One amendment alone, freeing for three years the present tax rate for old-age insurance, will result in an estimated saving of $905,000,000 to taxpayers.

The tax of 1 per cent on employees and 1 per cent on employers, based on individual earnings up to $3,000 a year, will be retained at least until January 1, 1942. Without the amendment, the rate on each would have advanced to 1-1/2 per cent next January 1, 1940, also will mark the start of old-age insurance benefits—two years earlier than the old law would have allowed.

Another step toward solution of the British-Japanese dispute at Tientsin was disclosed with Britain's announcement that four Chinese would be handed over to Japanese authorities for trial at Tientsin. Asylum for the Chinese, accused by Japan of terrorism, brought off a Japanese blockade of the British and French concessions at Tientsin which has been enforced since July 14.

In Tokyo, however, the main stumbling block to an agreement still stood. That was Britain's refusal to withdraw her support from the Chinese central government's currency in which, London had argued, other powers are concerned. Tokyo has contended the issue is solely between Britain and Japan, but there were signs the deadlocked negotiations would be resumed.

The British and French military missions arrived in Moscow, ready to begin staff talks which may advance the slow-moving negotiations there for a three-power mutual assistance agreement.

MARKETS

Wall Street

NEW YORK, Aug. 11 (AP)—Light selling chilled a brisk early rally in the stock market today and initial recoveries running to a point or more were subsequently reduced or turned into losses. There was a modest revival at the close.

Belated nervousness over suspension of the international banking firm of Mendelssohn & Co., at Amsterdam, brokers said, helped halt the upswing. It was ultimately recalled that the Dutch were owners of a number of stocks in the United States and the fears were expressed the Mendelssohn development might cause liquidation of these issues.

As a matter of fact commission houses with overseas connections reported moderate offerings from Holland, near the tail-end of the season, of such issues as Pennsylvania railroad, Chrysler, General Motors and Douglas Aircraft. Stocks of American Bosch corporation, of which the Mendelssohn concern was the principal holder, slumped about two points to a new low for the year.

"We must turn these cars," he said, "and to do so, we are offering what we believe are the best values to be found." Merrick also pointed out that an unqualified guarantee stands behind each car, with the R&G label on each machine. "Money back if the car isn't as advertised," he stressed.

Merrick said that the used cars, lots of the company would be closed for the first three days of next week—Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday—so that all cars may be completely inspected. Long Lieutenant Is Brought Into Probe

Former Levee Board Head Is Quizzed

Investigation Hits Naturalization Proceedings

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 10 (AP)—A. L. Shushan, former president of the New Orleans levee board, arrived unexpectedly at the post office today to confer with postal inspectors who have been active in the federal probe of scandals in the state.

No comment was forthcoming from either Shushan or the inspectors. O. John Rogge, assistant U. S. attorney general in charge of the investigation, has said the grand jury this week would concentrate on investigation of alleged jury tampering in the income tax evasion acquittal won by Shushan in October, 1935, a month after Huey P. Long was shot to death in the capitol at Baton Rouge.

Shushan was one of the principal lieutenants of Long when the latter had his political dictatorship over Louisiana. The government had indicted Shushan and several other leaders of the Long machine for income tax evasion. It admitted consideration of its case against Shushan the strongest, and when Shushan was acquitted the other charges were not pressed.

Rogge said the federal government's probe into Louisiana affairs was broadening to include false swearing in naturalization proceedings.

He declined to say who was involved or whether more than one person was involved but did reveal that the naturalization proceedings in question occurred recently.

Richard H. Hill, special attorney in the lands division of the department of justice, was scheduled to arrive here from Tyler, Tex., where he left a plane from Los Angeles yesterday to obtain some records to be used in the government's investigation of further "hot oil" leads.

September 5 had been set as the date of trial for Dr. James Monroe Smith, former president of L. S. U.; Seymour Weiss, hotel man and "hot oil" man in the state administration; Louis C. Lesage, suspended assistant to the president of the Standard Oil company of Louisiana; Monte E. Hart, electrical and general contractor, and J. Emory Adams, nephew of Mrs. Smith.

POLICE SEEK FORMER SUITOR IN DEATH OF CAMDEN GIRL

CAMDEN, N. J., Aug. 10 (AP)—A former suitor of suburban-haired Wanda Dworacki who once roomed in her home was sought in four states today as the slayer of the 17-year-old minister's daughter.

"We know who the man is," Chief County Detective Lawrence Doran announced, but refused to divulge the name.

The girl's body was found two days ago in a weed patch bordering a dirt road where trysting lovers often park. She had been choked with a grip that broke her breast bone. The murderer also beat her. A rose corsage adorned her rain-soaked black coat.

Pursuing an undivulged lead he called "plenty hot," Doran sent detectives to several New Jersey communities and across the Delaware river to Chester, Pa., last known home of the suspect. The investigation also branched to Brooklyn, N. Y., it was learned, and a description of the man was sent to Florida police.

Detective Lieutenant Samuel Johnson predicted the "climax" in the case would come today "at the latest."

Doran said the girl was insured for $2,500 and that in addition to the life insurance, she had a $10,000 accident policy payable to her father as beneficiary under certain conditions.

He added the $2,500 insurance was made up of these policies: $445, beneficiary unnamed; $250, mother as beneficiary, and two $1,000 policies with her father as beneficiary.

Claims FD Trying To Control Pitt Demo Convention

"Purge" Victim Not To Speak During Parley

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 10 (AP)—Former Rep. John J. O'Connor of New York, new deal "purge" victim in the 1938 elections, charged today the Roosevelt administration was trying to control the convention here of the Young Democrat clubs of America.

The three-day meeting gets under way tonight with a keynote speech by Senator Claude Pepper, of Florida. Meanwhile, electioneering for the presidency proceeded apace amid charges and denials of legal "vote-buying."

O'Connor, who said he was here representing a newly organized group known as the Young Democracy of New York, asserted the new deal, through Thomas G. Corcoran, Roosevelt legal aide, was throwing its support to Homer M. Adams, of Illinois, leading candidate for president of the Young Democratic clubs.

The New Yorker said Harold Moskowitz, New York director of the National Emergency Council and head of the affiliated Young Democrats of the state, was Corcoran's representative here to boost Adams.

O'Connor will not be allowed to speak before the convention, according to Pitt Tyson Maner, in-charge of the convention.

Sinclair Cuts Oil Price 20 Cents

Announces Slice To Offset Loss Of Company

NEW YORK, Aug. 10 (AP)—Two-fisted, 63-year-old Harry F. Sinclair, chairman of the executive committee of the Consolidated Oil Corporation, today announced a reduction of 20 cents a barrel in all grades of crude oil in the Mid-Continent area.

Maker-faced Sinclair, known as the "bone wolf" of the oil game, had given the industry plenty of warning what he was going to do. At the last meeting of stockholders, he said either prices of gasoline and other refined products had to go up, or crude prices had to go down.

In June this year he boosted the company's gasoline price a cent a gallon in 42 states, but the mark-up was only about 50 per cent effective.

The Sinclair campaign to boost gasoline prices collapsed because competitors wouldn't follow the rise.

Oilmen Silent After Slash In Price

Majors Expected To Follow Action By Sinclair Unit

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 10 (AP)—Mid-continent petroleum chieftains were silently watchful today after a major buyer's abrupt slash dropped the crude oil price here below a dollar for the first time since 1934.

Sinclair-Prairie Oil Marketing company late yesterday announced a reduction, effective at 7 a. m. today, of 20 cents a barrel in the prices it pays in six mid-continent states.

The unexpected move was made known as oil offices were closing yesterday and whether other major companies would follow suit was problematical.

A view expressed here was that the cut probably would be met unless a concerted protest developed.

Some Tulsa oil officials plainly were surprised and gloomy but none would comment. In Dallas, varying degrees of amazement were voiced.

Executives of most major companies headquarters at Houston said the reduction probably would be followed but many felt a 10-cent drop would have been sufficient.

Sinclair-Prairie Oil marketing company buys about 100,000 barrels of crude daily in Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico, Arkansas and Louisiana. The firm did not elaborate its announcement.

Recalled, however, was that Sinclair Refining company, a companion firm, had raised tankwagon gasoline prices one-half cent a gallon in its 42-state territory on June 14.

Price Cut Due To Cost State Much In Taxes

AUSTIN, Aug. 10 (AP)—The comptroller's department estimated today a general reduction of 20 cents per barrel in the price of crude oil would mean a loss to this state of $180,000 to $200,000 per year in revenue from the production tax.

The loss is 2 3/4 cents per barrel when oil sells for $1 or less per barrel and 2 3/4 per cent of value when the price is above $1.

Current posted prices in the East Texas field, major production area, is $1.10 and a 20-cent decline in price would not bring a 20 per cent loss of tax revenue. Statisticians said such a reduction would reduce revenues in East Texas about $45,000 and in other areas would increase the total to a possible maximum of $150,000.

The production tax for the first 10 months of the current fiscal year brought the state $1,738,372, compared with $1,173,144 for the same period a year ago. The reduction, comptroller's employees said, was due chiefly to price drops and lessened production.

FOUR DROWN AS BOAT CAPSIZES

CORRICANA, Aug. 10 (AP)—Four negro youths were drowned in the Corricana Country club lake several miles north of town this morning about 9 o'clock. The fourth body was recovered shortly after 11 o'clock.

Officers were advised 11 negro caddies started across the lake in a boat that capsized.

Those dead are Carl Joyner, 13; Robert Sanford, 14; Clarence Mills, 15; R. P. Person, 19.

The Joyner boy's body was recovered by his father, Odis Joyner, an employe of the club.

Efforts to resuscitate the victims were futile.

MOVIE STARS ENGAGE IN BITTER LABOR SQUABBLE

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 10 (AP)—With all the fanfare of a world movie premiere, flying squadron of Hollywood and Broadway stars came here today for a showdown in the most bitter jurisdictional dispute in the history of American theatrical unions.

Led by Ralph Morgan, president of the Screen Actors Guild, they threatened a strike that might darken every theater in the nation unless the American Federation of Labor's executive council rejects an attempt by the stagehands' union to take in a block of dissident entertainers headed by Sophie Tucker.

William Green, AFL president, said last night he believed the executive council would hand down a "clear-cut" decision on the stars' demand that the AFL outlaw a charter issued by the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees to the American Federation of Actors.

The I.A.T.S.E. granted the A.F.A. a charter after the A.F.A. had been expelled on charges of executive management from the Associated Actors and Artists of America, parent of a dozen radio, screen and theater actors' unions.

Both Sophie Tucker, president, and Harry Richmond, a leader in the A.F.A. organization of 10,000 vaudeville, night club and circus performers, have been dropped by the A.A.A.A. They will go before the council to demand that the A.F.A. members be allowed to remain in the I.A.T.S.E. the stagehands' union.

With Morgan in the Hollywood delegation opposing extension of the I.A.T.S.E.'s jurisdiction were Edward Arnold, Binnie Barnes, Jean Muir, Wayne Morris, Mischa Auer, Henry Hull, Lucille Gleason and Larry Steers. They arrived at Newark yesterday by plane.

Broadway stars joining them in their planned council protest included Tallulah Bankhead, Fredric March, Peggy Wood and others. They held a final conference last night with Lawrence Tibbett, radio and opera star, and Frank Gillmore, president of the A.A.A.A.

Says Poland Has Incited Violence

Forster Declares That Germany Is Back Of Reunion Move

FREE CITY OF DANZIG, Aug. 10 (AP)—Nazi Leader Albert Forster told cheering throngs in Langer Market Place tonight that "Poland may rest assured" Germany and Adolf Hitler "are determined in the event of attack to stand at our side."

Speaks Of Conference Speaking with the full authority of his conference earlier this week with the German Fuehrer, Forster declared:

"In a serious moment we have assembled in this historic market place in order to protest against the threats of war uttered by Polish papers and speakers."

His declaration that Germany stood solidly behind the Free City in the Nazi campaign for reunion with Germany was interrupted by cries of:

"One people! One reich! One Fuehrer!"

"We want to return to the reich!"

"The Danzig population has shown that it loves peace," he said. "If the Polish threats had not been so serious we should have been content to pass over them."

Forster got no farther when cries of "put!" reverberated throughout the square, but continuing he said: "Anybody who expected sensational announcements tonight was mistaken."

"Since these threats continued, however, and are even supported by official utterances, the time has come for us to bring our viewpoint to the attention of the world in no uncertain terms."

"It appears as though over in Poland there is no inclination to return to common sense."

"It may be said that those who must bear the responsibility are those who for months have been inciting to violence."

The Danzig Nazi leader then cited numerous utterances of the Polish press seeking to prove that the Poles wish to establish a protectorate over Danzig.

More "phus!"—the German equivalent of the Bronx cheer—greeted this passage.

As he spoke the crowd kept shouting, "We want to return to the reich!"

Forster's reference to a much-cited utterance of the Polish newspaper "Gazeta" that "Guna of the Polish army are facing Danzig" drew even louder "phus!"

The worst utterances of all, Forster said, was one by Marshall Edward Smigly-Rydz some months ago in which he is alleged to have declared that Danzig would be the See DANZIG, Page II, Col. 3

Posse Hunts For Attacker

Missing Girl Found Dead

TERRELL, Aug. 10 (AP)—Foot-weary and sleepy after failing to trap their quarry during the night, state and local officers and incensed citizens kept up their grim hunt today for a negro rapist who stabbed and left his white victim for dead.

The woman was seized as she walked along the Able Springs road east of here yesterday afternoon, dragged beneath a culvert and assaulted.

Threatened with death and stabbed twice in the throat, she pretended to be dead until her assailant fled. Then she staggered to the nearby farm home of A. A. Elliott.

The woman was treated and released after four stitches had closed each wound.

News of the crime spread fast, feeling ran high, and soon the greatest manhunt in Kaufman county history was underway.

Bloodhounds placed on the trail by Sheriff Frank Wolfe picked it up but lost it. Captain John Draper of Dallas headed a group of state highway patrolmen and rangers commanded by Capt. Royal G. Phillips joined the search.

One negro established an alibi when captured shortly after the attack.

YOUTH, CONFINED TO IRON LUNG, WEDS

CHICAGO, Aug. 10 (AP)—Courageous young Fred Suito, Jr., who has been fighting for life in an "iron lung" for three years, was married today.

The smiling 20-year-old infantile paralysis victim who has refused to let the handicap of an artificial respirator interfere with his many activities, took Miss Teresa Larkin, 25, of Dayton, O., for his bride.

The ceremony which united the widely known "boiler kid" with the Ohio girl was performed in the Suito suburban home in River Forest by the Rev. J. W. Morrison.

Young Suito was in his iron lung as the service was read. Announcement of the marriage was made by Suito's father, Fred, Sr., who said the young couple planned to take a short trial trip. Suito has a trailer specially equipped to carry the apparatus necessary to his life.

The bride is a tall, slender brunette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Larkin of Dayton, O. She and Suito have been acquainted for seven years.

Martin Roman, an attendant of the Cook county clerk's office was dispatched to the home residence in suburban River Forest to obtain the information for the wedding license. He said Suito and his bride-to-be smilingly answered the questions in the garden, but did not reveal the wedding date.

"That boy! What courage he has!" Hogan said, "he was smiling all the time and was as happy as any other young man about to be married."

News of the impending marriage surprised some relatives and friends of young Suito. His aunt, Mrs. John T. Suito, said: "Of course, we are all pleased. Teresa is a wonderful young woman. They have known each other since long before Fred's illness."

Young Suito, a smiling, curly-haired graduate of Notre Dame University, has attracted world-wide attention since he was stricken. He was placed in a respirator in Peiping on April 1, 1936.

Since then his father, Fred Suito, Jr., head of a loan bank system here, has spent a fortune in an effort to restore his son to normal health.

In recent months young Suito has been able to leave his respirator, an huge, round, boiler-like device, for hours at a time. During these intervals, while he sat in the sun or road, he swung a lightweight aluminum and rubber lung which fit over his chest.

Confesses Kidnap, Slaying

Garner Off On Fishing Trip

UVALDE, Aug. 10 (AP)—Vice-President John N. Garner, whom many friends would like to see land the presidency in 1940, was more intent himself today on landing some fish.

Long before the southwestern sun cast its gleam across abundant fishing streams, Cactus Jack and fishing-pal Ross Brumfield slung their 16-foot boat atop the 1930 model roadster the vice president calls "the jitney" and headed for an undisclosed fishing hole.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 10 (AP)—John Nance Garner is not Gov. William H. Vanderbilt's candidate for president.

Rhode Island's republican governor so notified today E. B. Gardner, president of the "Garner-for-President" club, who had written Vanderbilt to thank him for his "support" of the Texas democrat for the presidential nomination.

Governor Vanderbilt said he signed no card allegedly promising support.

While he is known to be fond of fishing, the outdoors-loving vice president indicated he was even more interested in the exercise.

"I don't care much whether I catch any fish or not," the Washington-weary official said. "The main thing I want to do is see the country, get the exercise of rowing the boat and get off to myself."

He disclosed he was depending on dieting, as well as exercise to keep him in condition for whatever the future may hold. He said he had been dieting several weeks and had lost 11 or 12 pounds.

Says French Told Of Plot

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—Sumner Welles, acting secretary of state, disclosed today the French ambassador, Count Rene de St. Quentin, had voluntarily informed the state department last March of the misuse of French diplomatic pouches, as charged in a federal grand jury presentation yesterday at New York.

Welles said the French ambassador called at the state department in March on his own initiative and stated there had been a misuse of a French pouch.

The ambassador, Welles said, expressed regret and said an administrative inquiry would be made and disciplinary measures taken in France.

The grand jury presentation said the French ministry of foreign affairs conspired to smuggle commercial films into the United States.

The ambassador called on Welles this morning and discussed the situation with him.

St. Quentin told reporter he could not comment on the situation. He said with a smile, he was going out to luncheon "on bail."

School Issue Is Refunded

Refunding of $39,000 outstanding bonds of an issue voted in 1937 at 2 1/4 per cent was announced here today by N. P. Taylor, superintendent of Glascock county schools.

The rate of interest was shaved from three per cent, already the lowest on record for any school or municipality in this area.

Taylor said that $40,000 of a $48,000 issue voted for a new high school building at Garden City in May 1937 were still outstanding but that the board had enough on hand to pay off a $1,000 bond.

By refunding the bonds at the lower rate of interest and cutting amortization from 10 to eight years, the school district will save $2,350 in interest.

Scarborough Insane, Says Kermit Court

KERMIT, Aug. 10 (AP)—Declaring him of unound mind, a six-man county court jury here recommended a guardian be appointed for Hollis Scarborough, whose trial on an indictment charging he killed his wealthy father, W. F. Scarborough, 71, is set in November.

Mrs. Hollis Scarborough brought the insanity charges and requested the guardianship action after the elder Scarborough was shot fatally at his Fryling Pan ranch near here June 19.

District Attorney William L. Kerr said Hollis told him the two argued over money.

Physicians testified Hollis suffered a glandular disturbance, was "unstable" and should be confined for treatment.

Mrs. Scarborough said her husband's health and mentality began to fail after he returned from the World war during which he was gassed and broke further after their son, C. B. (Buddy) Scarborough, died in 1928 while a military academy student.

Deficiency Bill Signed

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 10 (AP)—President Roosevelt signed today the third deficiency bill appropriating more than $180,000,000 for varied federal activities.

The largest fund in the bill is $140,000,000 for the Commodity Credit Corporation, a sum which Secretary Wallace said recently was necessary to prevent a slump in farm prices to 1932 levels.

Meet Mr. Lochinvar By Marie Blizard

Chapter 11... LOCHINVAR IN PERSON... Cecily picked up her cup. It danced on the saucer as she put it back when he had spoken...

There was a letter at her breakfast place. She opened it eagerly. Wilson had returned with the evening mail while she was out of the night before and, in her excited mood on her return, she had forgotten to ask if there had been any for her...

She closed the door in back of her and set out homeward toward Darclea, forgetting the ball of white yarn. Unreality... The rain had cleared away in the night and the bright morning sun fell on Cecily's eyes, waking her to the day and a realization that she anticipated that day...

She said, "Laura, I want to invite a few people personally. I'll ask Mrs. Brewster and Mrs. Keefer and the Goodales. Would you mind making a few visits? I'd like you to ask Mr. Hemingway and..." King Cotton On The Move

King Cotton, whose westward march was halted by the government farm program in 1934, has gone back to his domain in the old South, to dispel thoughts that the entire production might at some time move west of the Mississippi, and to cause the Southwest to wonder about the results of the government program as combined with its own farming practices.

Statistics released recently show government limitation of cotton planting had hit hardest in southwestern states, while in the older cotton areas of the Deep South the monarch's reign has been more firmly established in the past five years.

When Uncle Sam stepped into the picture in 1934 with acreage restrictions, the southwestern states, where cotton growing had been increasing furiously, reduced production by nearly one-third—Oklahoma by more than half.

In the older cotton areas, by contrast, production actually increased! Prior to restriction, the southwestern plains, leading themselves to high mechanization and low production costs, seemed to hold the future of the industry.

Even this year southeastern growers had gloomily predicted "we are through with cotton east of the Mississippi!" But last week the American Cotton Cooperative association released new statistics against these ideas.

The figures revealed that Texas and Oklahoma, which produced 40 per cent of the cotton grown in this country during the four years preceding government control, produced only 30 per cent in the first four years of restricted acreage.

The average production for the two states in 1939-43, inclusive, totaled 5,687,000 bales out of a national average of 14,270,000. In the 1934-37 period they produced an average of 3,849,000 out of 12,905,000 bales.

Although the ACCA tables included only the two four-year periods immediately before and after introduction of restrictions, government figures show that the same situation prevailed last year.

Ginnings from the 1938 crop as reported in the United States census were 3,550,456 bales for the southwestern states, or 30.5 per cent of the national total of 11,944,000 bales.

For the periods covered in the ACCA announcement the average crop in the two states was 1,210,000 for Texas and 628,000 for Oklahoma, or a total of 1,838,000 in the Southwest. Meanwhile the rest of the 10 major producing states hiked their net production by 120,000 bales annually.

A principal reason given for the great losses in the Southwest as compared with the Southeast was that improved cultural methods had raised the per-acre yield by more in the older states.

The quality of land taken out of production also had some effect. The Southeast had a larger proportion of worn-out soil, which had been producing so little anyway that its loss was scarcely felt.

Light Rains Over Parts Of County; Other Areas Soaked

Moisture Heavier In Territory East Of Here

Light, slow rain again covered Howard county early Tuesday after showers had touched widely separated areas Monday evening. From reports received here, it appeared that only the northern and particularly the northeastern sector of the county received enough moisture to be of appreciable benefit.

There was no accurate gauge on the fall in Big Spring but the U. S. department of commerce weather bureau at the airport measured .08 of an inch. No reading on the U. S. Experiment Farm gauge could be had immediately. The fall in the city, however, was estimated at a tenth of an inch.

Over most of the county the slow rain all soaked into the ground but from a point six or seven miles north, spasmodic dashes of rain produced considerable run-off and stock water supplies were replenished. Toward the northern county line the precipitation amounted to as much as three quarters of an inch.

Most benefited were young cotton and feed, the moisture not being sufficient to penetrate to a depth which would greatly help old crops. There was a strong possibility if the moist, overcast condition continued to prevail for several days that there would occur a severe infestation of worms in cotton patches.

GENERAL OVER WEST BY The Associated Press Hard rains drenched parched crop and range lands in much of West Texas Monday night and Tuesday, and lowering clouds moved south and east, indicating moisture for other dry sections of the state.

The Dallas weather bureau predicted cloudy with thundershowers for the north and east portions of East Texas, and for the southeast portion of West Texas Tuesday night. A high pressure area—meaning a mild cool wave—precipitated moisture borne on high winds from humid Gulf regions.

At Abilene, farm experts said the rainfall will increase cotton production 100,000 bales in 39 counties in that section. Childress county, where rain was badly needed, had from two to three inches. Rainfall in the city was 2.5 inches, heaviest of the summer.

Other points reporting good to heavy rains included Spur 70, Quanah 1.92, Snyder 3.2, Seymour 3.2, Haskell 5.4, Alplins 2.8, Amarillo 3.9, Del Rio 3.2, Clarendon 3.4, Eastland 3.8, Fort Stockton 3.4, Borger nearly an inch, Vernon 1.2 with hard rain over Wilbarger county.

In that area and the Wichita Falls vicinity, there were general rains with 1.50 to 2 inches from Electric to Clarendon. Wichita Falls reported a "light mizzle" with skies still overcast.

SCHOOL TO OPEN ON SEPT. 11TH

Schedule of dates for the 1939-40 school term, and a date for the annual public hearing on the district's budget were set by school trustees at a meeting Monday night. The board also elected two teachers to regular positions, and named faculty members for the negro school.

The school term will open on Monday, September 11, with the first semester concluding January 29, 1940, the second opening January 29, and the term closing on May 24. This provides for the required school term of 175 days.

Holidays fixed by the trustees include those for Thanksgiving, November 30 and December 1; for the Christmas period, December 23 to January 1, inclusive; and one for about March 5, when the West Texas Teachers association holds its annual meeting.

Named to teaching posts were Mrs. Jas. Wilcox and Mrs. C. B. Gentry, both of whom were supply teachers last year. New instructors also were elected for the negro school, J. H. Allen and his wife Eva Polk Allen. He holds a B.S. degree from Prairie View college and has taught for three years in Hearne. Previously he was instructor at Garrison and Paris. His wife holds an A.B. degree from Sam Houston college at Austin, and has taught for several years at Blackshear.

UVALDE, Aug. 8 (AP) — Cactus Jack Garner, the nation's No. 2 man, was up early today to find out how his spacious grounds and poultry had fared during his extended sojourn in Washington.

He was interested, too, in where the fish were biting but declined to give political anglers even a tempting nibble about his views on governmental problems and his presidential possibilities.

"I'm mighty glad to get out of governmental affairs for awhile," the vice president told a small group of neighbors after he slipped into Uvalde. He left a train at San Antonio and motored here with his fishing partner-crony, Ross Brumfield, a garage operator.

Several neighbors were waiting at the large two-story home and others dropped by before the vice president's 9 o'clock bedtime. But most of the townfolk, knowing his dislike for fanfare, were content to wait until they saw him in the regular course of things.

During the 37 years Garner has commuted between Washington and Uvalde, this little southwestern city has accustomed itself to his homecoming — becoming excited only once, after his nomination for the vice presidency in 1922.

"It's come and go without any sort of show" is what tautologous Cactus Jack wants and his townsmen have respected his wishes.

Garner Up Early To Take A Look Around His Home Place At Uvalde

UVALDE, Aug. 8 (AP) — Cactus Jack Garner, the nation's No. 2 man, was up early today to find out how his spacious grounds and poultry had fared during his extended sojourn in Washington.

He was interested, too, in where the fish were biting but declined to give political anglers even a tempting nibble about his views on governmental problems and his presidential possibilities.

Several neighbors were waiting at the large two-story home and others dropped by before the vice president's 9 o'clock bedtime. But most of the townfolk, knowing his dislike for fanfare, were content to wait until they saw him in the regular course of things.

During the 37 years Garner has commuted between Washington and Uvalde, this little southwestern city has accustomed itself to his homecoming — becoming excited only once, after his nomination for the vice presidency in 1922.

"It's come and go without any sort of show" is what tautologous Cactus Jack wants and his townsmen have respected his wishes.

"I didn't take Garner long after he and Mrs. Garner arrived to forsake the customs of official Washington. He shed his coat and collar and gave the premises a hasty inspection before nightfall.

Spitting a healthy young peach tree he remarked to Mrs. Garner, "We ought to get some peaches off that one next year."

Recent rains broke a serious drought. "Things are looking fine," he remarked to R. G. Jordan, member of the staff of the Uvalde weekly newspaper. "I'm beginning to wonder whether we ever had that

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

HOLLYWOOD—The mother of a swingstick adolescent had to chuckle the other day when daughter came home humming what she described as a brand-new red-hot five tune. The tune was "Martha," and daughter couldn't believe that mother—dear, antiquated young matron of a mother—had heard it before.

Mother said oh-yes-she-had, and she got out an old record marked "Martha—M'Appari—Sung by Enrico Caruso" and she played it and daughter listened quietly and at the end opined that maybe that old music had something after all.

The youngsters are going to be bringing home a flock of other "new ones" from the movies pretty soon. The vogue for old-tunes-made-new that was started by "Alexander's Ragtime Band" is by no means finished. There'll be songs to stir the memories of oldsters and the feet of youngsters in "The Star-Maker," in "Hollywood Cavalcade" (in which Al Jolson will sing "Mamma" just as he did for the first talkie feature), in "The Roaring Twenties" (incidental to melodramatic action here, of course).

And "Babes in Arms" is using half-a-dozen old-timers along with its newly composed numbers. Mickey Rooney, in a minstrel show sequence, introduces again "Shine On, Harvest Moon" and "Ida," both of which were sponsored originally by that grand man of minstrelsy, Eddie Leonard. You'll be hearing also "I'm Just Wild About Harry," and "Stumbling" and "Moonlight Bay."

It's the sturdiness of the old tunes, their easy adaptability to modern dress and orchestrations, that makes them go. And then, they're really new to the youngsters who keep swing going.

As if in answer to all this, up steps Nelson Eddy, no swingaroo, on the "Balalaika" sound stage with the considered opinion that swing is on its way out. What Nelson, who spends about half his time on the concert stage, would be knowing about swing isn't at once apparent—but he says that on his last tour the requests for swing stuff were few compared to those on tours of three years ago.

Pretty soon it's going to be unanimous, this Swing-Is-Out opinion, and then where will Benny Goodman be? My guess is he'll be right at the same old stand, swinging along in the form of music that will be swing's successor—if any.

On the set of "Three Sons" the other week roamed three stray cats, not swing but selected by Propman Eddie Trickle for mousing duties among the sacks and barrels of flour, grain, corn, oats, crackers—props for an 1870 store owned by Edward Ellis as the founder of a department store dynasty.

Director Jack Hively had ordered the cats for mousing purposes only. But you can't keep a good cat down. Ellis was before the camera, leaning on a counter, when one of the cats appeared from nowhere, climbed slowly up his back to his shoulder. A little thing like that, not in the script, didn't faze Ellis—not even when the nice kitty began licking his nose during dialogue.

It was a laugh to everybody afterward, except Hively, who was too happy to laugh, and to Eddie Trickle, who was too bothered—until reassured by Hively that the scene was great and would stay in.

Washington Daybook

WASHINGTON—These are the days of the great congressional jitters. Brave senators who never have wined under the exchange of oratorical punches on the senate floor dread what they will find at home when they begin measuring the support they will have next year.

Some 435 house members return to the same situation. The reason for the worrying is this: While there are two summers between now and the 1940 elections, there is only one summer between now and the next primary. And that summer is the present one.

A few members of congress live in states where the primary comes late next year, so they will have an opportunity to put up a case after the 1940 session. But most won't have any such opportunity. Any door-to-door and picnic-to-picnic visitation. Any door-to-door and picnic-to-picnic visitation. Any door-to-door and picnic-to-picnic visitation.

That situation really has the pudding up in the neck of whole clusters of members. Two-thirds of the senate can always laugh at the other third which in the senate can't always laugh at the other third which in the senate can't always laugh at the other third.

ASHURST AGITATED What they do chuckle at is the agitation of those members who never are in much danger and yet have members who never are in much danger and yet have members who never are in much danger.

SENATOR PITTMAN OF NEVADA Senator Pittman of Nevada had come up with ways suffers pre-election panics but comes up with ways suffers pre-election panics but comes up with ways suffers pre-election panics.

REASON TO WORRY Of course there are some members who are expected real trouble. Senator Truman of Missouri will be opposed for his party's nomination by popular Governor Stark, who rocked to prominence as the result of exposure about the Pendergast machine in Kansas City.

One of those who doesn't need to worry is Senator Hiram Johnson of California. They would elect him out there if he turned communist.

MARKETS Wall Street

NEW YORK, Aug. 10 (AP)—With fresh fears of another European "crisis" receiving the principal blame, stock market leaders today were shelved for losses of one to three points or so.

The list extended Wednesday's setback moderately at the opening on meager dealings. Selling volume picked up before mid-day, but offerings subsequently dried up appreciably.

Worries over a possible weekend Nazi coup, with Danzig as the focal point caused traders to lighten commitments in virtually all industrial categories, butchers and beef cows high, it was thought they were hardy sufficient to entirely offset uneasiness regarding overseas potentialities.

Rails held fairly well notwithstanding last week's freight loadings were up slightly less than seasonal. Oils backed away as the price of mid-west crude was out.

warning they were to remain quiet," he reported.

Nude and stabbed twice, the body of Miss Dunn was found beside a swamp early this morning two miles north of Boca Raton, in Florida's gold coast winter vacation area.

Miss Bolton, pretty blonde, was under a physician's care at her mother's home. Her mouth bruised and in a highly nervous state, she told of having been bound and held captive since leaving her home Monday with Miss Dunn and Jefferson, who professed to be a "talent scout" for movie tests at Palm Beach.

Miss Bolton told an incomplete story of her experiences. She said Jefferson did not attack her but assaulted Miss Dunn and became enraged by her outcries. Miss Bolton was fed with crackers and milk during her captivity.

Jefferson, guarded by detectives, was hurried to the West Palm Beach jail after his confession. Earlier he had told of an accomplice, but police said this was not verified.

He was unarmed when arrested while walking along a beach road at daybreak.

BODY OF MURDER SUSPECT FOUND

CHICAGO, Aug. 10 (AP)—The body of Frank Japczynski, 47 year old national guardsman sought for questioning about the mysterious killing of a woman, was found today in Washington Park about three blocks from the armory where the woman was slain.

He had been shot in the head. Police found a pistol nearby.

Miss Elsie Deolwerdt, 28, an attractive riding enthusiast, was found shot in the side and chest last night near the riding arena of the regimental armory on the far south side. One bullet had pierced her heart.

Private Charles Held, on guard duty, told investigators he admitted the young woman to the building after being told by Japczynski she would call.

Sergeants Albert Freeman and John Tillman said they were on the second floor when they heard a woman scream. Hurrying to the first floor they saw the girl resisting a man who was pulling her by the hand.

The officers said the man, whom they could not identify in the dim light, pulled a pistol, fired three shots and fled.

Reduction in PWA Personnel Made

FORT WORTH, Aug. 10 (AP)—Announcement of a 20 per cent administrative personnel reduction in the seven-state Public Works administration region with headquarters in Fort Worth, was made today by George M. Bull, regional director. Approximately 70 persons including 28 engineers, will be affected by the cut, effective September 1.

Bull said the reduction was ordered by the Washington, D. C. office of the PWA because of rapid completion of projects in the region, including Arkansas, Colorado, Kansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Texas.

Comparable reductions will follow in October and November as the 1938-39 PWA program is completed. The PWA setup, as it now functions, will pass out of existence July 1, 1940, as a result of congress' failure to provide additional funds.

Bull said that 80 field engineers already have been furloughed since the employment peak was reached in April. He also said site employment was down approximately 6,000 since late April.

Hope Revived For Boy, Reported Dead

VINCENNES, Ind., Aug. 10 (AP) Mrs. Edna Lawrence waited hopefully here today for definite word her 22-year-old son, James William, whom only yesterday she believed dead, was alive and well.

The young man, who left home a month ago, wrote last week he had a job picking peaches near Corning, Calif.

She received his card Monday. A short time later, a telegram arrived from Commerce, Texas, saying he had been killed by a train there.

Sorrowfully she ordered his body shipped home and arranged a funeral for today.

Yesterday the body arrived. Mrs. Lawrence looked—and said it was not her son's.

The dead man's name, in his papers, was James William Lawrence. But his age was given as 29 and his occupation as mining.

Authorities here began efforts to reach Mrs. Lawrence's son through state police radio.

JAMES AND GARNER 'Ideal Nominees', Says Publisher HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 10 (AP)—Col. Carl T. Kates, anti-new deal Texas publisher, said today Pennsylvania's Gov. Arthur H. James and Vice President John N. Garner "would be the ideal nominees" for president on the republican and democratic tickets in 1940. "With their nomination," Kates said, "business would revive immediately and America would turn the corner." Col. Kates is a close friend and adviser to Governor James. They returned yesterday from a Nova Scotia fishing vacation with Joseph M. Pew, Jr., Pennsylvania's republican leader and vice president of the Sun Oil company. Col. Kates would not predict who would win if Pennsylvania's governor, who took office last January, and Garner were their party nominees.

Four Daughters Grouped In New Story Of Family Life

Lane Sisters At Ritz In 'Daughters Courageous'

"Daughters Courageous," the Warner Bros. comedy of domestic life which is offered Saturday night, Sunday and Monday at the Ritz theatre, could be termed a first cousin to the same studio's highly successful "Four Daughters," but it is not a sequel to that picture.

The similarity starts with the cast, for every important player in the former picture is also in the new one; then it had the same director, and besides it was written by a writing team one of whose members was also co-author of the screenplay which was last year's hit.

While the plot concerns different people than those in "Four Daughters," there is a basic similarity in that the new picture is also about the joys, the sorrows, the laughs, the tears in the lives of a genuinely "folksy" family.

There are the same four daughters in this family and again they are played by Priscilla, Rosemary and Lola Lane and Gale Page. Their father again is Claude Rains, and their suitors again are John Garfield, Jeffrey Lynn, Frank McHugh and Dick Foran. May Robson again is a member of the household, this time, however, a faithful—and outspoken—old servant who has been with them for years.

And this time the girls have a mother, in the person of Fay Bainter—the mother in "Yes, My Darling Daughter"—a newcomer to the cast, and their mother has a suitor, in the person of another newcomer to the cast, Donald Crisp.

The girls' errant father returns on the eve of the wedding and he soon has it within his power to upset the nice future which loomed for his little family until he suddenly appeared on the scene. The working out of this situation makes a sentimentally amusing tale with a moving denouement.

The director, as indicated above, was Michael Curtiz, and the screen play, suggested by a stage play of Dorothy Bennett and Irving White, was written by Julius J. and Philip G. Epstein.

HOLC Cuts Interest Rate To 4 1-2 Pct.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 (AP)—John F. Fahey, chairman of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, announced today a reduction in home owners loan corporation interest rates from 5 to 4 1/2 per cent.

Fahey said the cut was estimated to save borrowers from the corporation up to $5,000,000 or $6,000,000 a year.

The reduction will apply to all borrowers who meet their obligations in accord with their contracts, he said.

It is to become effective as soon as the necessary detailed arrangements can be completed throughout the country.

The cut followed reduction last Monday of one-half of one per cent on mortgages insured by the federal housing administration on small homes. The FHA cut, effective last Tuesday, scaled the rate down to 4 1/2 per cent.

The conflict between the elder and younger generations is dramatized in "Parents On Trial," in which Jean Parker and Johnny Downs have featured roles. The picture is at the Queen theatre Saturday midnight, Sunday and Monday.

BING TAKES CARE OF TWO GALS

"Paris Honeymoon," which plays Friday and Saturday at the Ritz. It's a comedy romance with lots of music, including such popular hits as "You're A Sweet Little Headache," "I Have Eyes," "The Funny Old Hills."

Club Members Playing Pool

Closed since the first of the year, pool halls are reopening in Big Spring, but this time as private clubs.

Monday there were at least two establishments operating, but both issued notices that only those holding memberships in the club could play on the tables.

While the state law against pool tables precludes the selling or rather charging a rental fee for cues for games, it does not touch upon tables maintained for club purposes. The local units have been set up to charge monthly dues, and to operate from this revenue.

One official commented that the arrangement was entirely legal but that a close watch was being maintained to see that the operators lived up to the law and did not charge any fee outside the memberships.

Dead End Kids To Be Seen At Lyric

Institutional Life Depicted In 'Hell's Kitchen'

Those famous little toughies, the "Dead End" Kids, are the stars of the Lyric theatre's next attraction, "Hell's Kitchen," playing Sunday and Monday. In their newest picture, the "dirty-faced angels" turn the tables by turning reformers. Aiding and abetting them are Stanley Fields, Margaret Lindsay and Ronald Reagan.

This doesn't mean that they have suddenly become an aggregation of little sisters or that even their exuberance has been toned down in the least. It just means that in this particular story they have somewhat more sympathetic parts than has been their usual lot.

In the screen play based by Crane Wilbur and Fred Niblo, Jr., on Wilbur's original story, they are presented as a group of inmates of a shelter home for boys, a private charitable institution for kids who have been problem children but haven't committed such acts of criminality as would put them in prison school.

The crux of the story concerns their relations with a case-hardened old racketeer, played by Stanley Fields, who achieves a sort of regeneration and nobility just because the boys have gotten "under his skin."

The veteran of the underworld has been convicted of liquor smuggling but jail sentence has been suspended, the suspension to be effective only if he remains upon his good behavior. So, when he is approached for a donation to the Hudson Shelter for Boys, he not only contributes, but goes there himself to help run the place, on the advice of his young lawyer, played by Reagan.

When he gets there he learns from one of the boys that they are not only horribly abused by the head of the institution, played by Mitchell, but that they are virtually starved, with most of the charitable contributions going directly into the pockets of Mitchell. A young and pretty teacher at the place, played by Miss Lindsay, helps to arouse his interest in the kids, and with their help, he establishes a new regime at the school, with the boys governing themselves.

Hopalong Cassidy Feature Booked At The Queen

A cardinal point in the unwritten law of the frontier West, that a man must fight to the death for the honor of his friends when suspicion falls upon them, brings "Hopalong Cassidy" face-to-face with some of the most dangerous experiences of his colorful career in "Pride of the West," the action drama which plays Friday and Saturday at the Queen theatre.

Stage coach robbery, always a perilous occupation in the West, becomes doubly dangerous for the bandits when they try to frame "Hoppy's" two closest friends "Windy Halliday" and "Lucky Jenkins," who have been riding as the stage coach's guards. Realizing that the peace of the entire community as well as the safety of his saddlemates is concerned, "Hoppy" leaves his work as roundup chief to become the leader of the posse tracking down the thieves.

"Hopalong's" task is made harder due to the secret connection of the bandits with two of the community's leading citizens, the town banker and a daring land speculator. These men harry the pursuers at every turn and even allow the thieves to turn the bank into their stronghold. It is in this place that the highways and ranchers in the climax of the picture.

WPA To Cut Off 20,000

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 3 (AP)—Under orders received by H. P. Drought, state administrator of WPA, approximately 20,000 workers must be dropped from WPA projects within the next three weeks to bring the state within the quota allowed by recent legislation enacted by congress, it was said at WPA state headquarters here today.

Approximately one-fourth of the $5,000 WPA employees in Texas will be affected by the legislative provision requiring that all persons, except veterans, who have been employed 18 months or more be dismissed, Drought said. There are 65,000 unemployed now in Texas qualified for WPA employment and on the waiting list. However, there will be virtually no replacement of workers dropped from the rolls, it was explained, as a quota reduction is also required under the new legislation.

A quota reduction of approximately 17,200 workers in the state is made necessary under the new reduced relief appropriations act, according to estimates at the state office here.

ALBERT SMITH IS BROUGHT HOME

Albert Smith, brakeman for T. & P. railroad, who was hurt in an accident in the yards in Daird Saturday morning, has been moved from the hospital there to his home here.

He was reported to have spent a restless night and his condition is about the same. He suffered a fractured right shoulder and a head injury in the accident.

KIDS TAKE THINGS IN HAND

The famed "Dead End" kids are back in a film story of juvenile delinquency, "Hell's Kitchen," booked as the Lyric theatre's Sunday-Monday feature. Grant Mitchell (shown above), Stanley Fields, Margaret Lindsay and Ronald Reagan are adults in the cast.

THOSE DAUGHTERS AGAIN!

"Four Daughters" was one of the past season's most appealing pictures. So, the producers take practically the same cast, and tell a new story of family life, with the interests and adventures of the girls occupying the spotlight. The new one, called "Daughters Courageous," is at the Ritz theatre Saturday midnight, Sunday and Monday. The girls are Lola, Priscilla and Rosemary Lane (sisters in real life) and Gale Page. John Garfield and Jeffrey Lynn are with them again, and other players are Claude Rains, Frank McHugh and Dick Foran.

Major Portion Of County In Good Shape

Fall Here More Than An Inch, Dry Areas Are Benefitted

More rain, falling early Wednesday morning, combined with showers earlier in the week to leave Howard county crops generally in best condition of the current growing season.

Dry areas helped. The major portion of the county had received sufficient moisture for a measure of production by Wednesday noon. A survey of the precipitation Tuesday night and Wednesday morning showed that dry areas of the county had been benefited.

Big Spring had 1.27 inches, according to the U. S. Experiment Farm gauge. The amount held good for 15 miles to the north before lightning to about a half to three-quarters of an inch.

Lomax, driest community, had about half an inch which fell Wednesday morning. Elbow reported a good rain. South of Hartwell's the precipitation totaled half an inch but to the north it was considerably heavier.

At Ackery, less than a half an inch was recorded, but the fall was more intense to the south and about the same to east and west. Martin county had good rains, amounting to as much as an inch in the northern part. Stanton got about an inch, counting in several showers and drizzles.

Luther had approximately three-quarters of an inch and the amount was slightly lighter to Vincent, but that area had received about an inch the night before. Coahoma had only light showers, having received three-quarters of an inch Monday night.

BUTLER IS FAVORED FOR TRUSTEE POST

In an unofficial election Thursday afternoon, Foran school patrons chose Q. R. Butler as trustee to succeed Lloyd Burkhardt, resigned. The election was conducted by County Superintendent Anne Martin to determine sentiment in appointing a successor for Burkhardt.

Local Man Is Named Lions' Club Official

Boyd J. McDaniel, immediate past president of the Big Spring Lions club, was named chairman of the zone which embraces six clubs in this area at a sub-district meeting here Tuesday evening.

McDaniel will succeed John Butler, Midland, and will hold office through July 1940. He was nominated for the post by Bill Collyan, Midland.

In an address before approximately 70 Lions from Midland, Colorado City, Hamlin and Big Spring, A. G. Bearden, Lamesa, governor of Lions district 2-T, challenged club members to realize their opportunity for service.

"Service," he said, "does not necessarily mean charity, although it frequently finds expression in that channel. Clubs can be of service to members in fellowship, in fostering a richer and deeper appreciation for humanity."

The governor appealed to organizations in the zone to foster a spirit of Americanism during the year, to continue their record of growth in numbers and in activities.

Colorado City was chosen as the next zone meeting site in a close contest with Midland. John Butler, retiring zone chairman, heard reports from the clubs represented, and all reflected gains in membership and activities, and a strong financial position.

Western Picture, 'In Old Caliente,' Plays At Lyric

A rousing adventure film, with pleasant interludes of music, is Republic's "In Old Caliente," booked for Friday and Saturday at the Lyric theatre. Roy Rogers, Mary Hart and George "Gabby" Hayes have the leading roles.

The time of the story is the 1860's, the place American California. Roy is seen as an employee of a wealthy landowner. A group of bandits hold up a caravan of gold shipment which Roy is in charge of, and suspicion falls on an American wagon train encamped nearby. The train is led by Scout George Hayes, an old friend of Roy's.

The two combine to clean up the gang, and furious action thrills fill the screen when the two pals set to work. Lovely Mary Hart, as usual, is the feminine inspiration of Roy's heroics.

The three leads—Rogers, Miss Hart, and Hayes—turn in excellent performances. They are abetted by a fine cast, headed by Katherine De Mille, Jack La Rue, Frank Puglia, and Anna Demetrio.

Crosby Film At The Ritz

Big Song Hits To Be Heard In 'Paris Honeymoon'

Four of the season's big hit tunes—written by the master tunesmith, Robin and Halager, will be heard in the Big Crosby manner in the new comedy romance "Paris Honeymoon," which brings Bing back to the Ritz theatre Friday and Saturday.

They are "You're A Sweet Little Headache," "I Have Eyes," "The Funny Old Hills" and a novelty called "Joobalal." Bing sings all of 'em, with generous assists from Shirley Ross, the "Thanks for the Memory" girl from "The Big Broadcast of 1938" and "Thanks for the Memory," and Francesca Gaal, whose first American appearance was in the Cecil B. De Mille epic, "The Buccaneer." The music also provides background for some novelty and folk dancing, performed by several Hollywood troupes.

"Paris Honeymoon" is the gay story of a young American millionaire, played by Bing, who is just about to get married to Shirley Ross when he discovers that there's a little matter of a divorce which Miss Ross forgot to take care of. To expedite things, he goes to Paris and then to a Balkan state known as "Pushtalnick" where Alkim Tamiroff is everything from Mayor to slot machine operator; and many things between. "Push-talnick" is also the home of the lovely peasant girl, Manya, played by Miss Gaal. Bing falls in love with her!

The comedy in "Paris Honeymoon" is mainly concerned with Bing's efforts to free himself from Miss Ross—from whom he doesn't want to be free—and his efforts to win Miss Gaal—whom he doesn't want to win at all.

1,400 In Area Register For Age Pensions

Old age assistance commission investigators in this 21-county district (No. 18) apparently have enough to keep them occupied for months to come.

A tabulation of registrations, begun with the signing of a new liberalized pension law two months ago, showed that nearly 1,400 have registered for investigations.

Lubbock county topped the list with 326 registrations. Howard was second with 141 and Dawson was third with 128. Yoakum and Andrews counties each for 4 registrations.

George White, district supervisor, said that the six investigators were making precursory examination of those on the list in the order that they registered.

The number registering, and additional ones are being received every week over the district, is more than half the number of recipients in the district. In June there were 2,414 receiving aid from the state, and White, and in July there were 2,406. None were added in either month.

The tabulation of registrations, as of Aug. 1, follows by counties: Howard 1414, Mitchell 57, Glasscock 5, Borden 12, Cochran 29, Gaines 30, Terry 58, Yoakum 29, Martin 28, Midland 65, Ector 36, Dawson 128, Andrews 4, Garza 65, Scurry 96, Kent 16, Lubbock 326, Hopkins 55, Crosby 43, and Dickens 86, total 1,376.

Parent-Child Problem Topic Of Picture

Queen Theatre Presents Drama, 'Parents On Trial'

Deriving its inspiration from the age-old conflict between the older and younger generations, "Parents On Trial," the production playing Saturday midnight, Sunday and Monday at the Queen theatre has been hailed as an attraction of exceptional appeal. Much interest has been centered recently on the parent-child relationship and the picture, which features Jean Parker and Johnny Downs, presents the contrast between the old and the new way of solving the problems of adolescence.

On the modern side of the conflict are allied a beautiful seven-year-old girl, eager for the good times and romance that life holds out to her, her school-mate and the latter's mother, between whom there is a perfect bond of understanding, and two young aeronautical students.

Opposing them is the girl's father, who ignores the changes in standards that have come about since the horse-and-buggy days and insists upon discipline that humiliates her proud spirit. The mother of one of the boys, a narrow-minded, selfish person, sides with him. The resulting sequence of events, which includes a midnight elopement, annulment of the marriage and a thrilling flight by the lovers, culminates in a startling courtroom denouement.

In addition to Miss Parker and Mr. Downs, the cast includes Noah Beery, Jr., Linda Terry, Henry Kolker and Nana Bryant. Sam Neilson directed the film, which is based on a popular radio serial.

Story Of N. York Told In New Issue Of March Of Time

Many unusual and hitherto unknown facts about New York City are shown in the latest March of Time film, "Metropolis—1929," coming to the Ritz theatre Friday and Saturday. Included among these facts which were uncovered by March of Time's research staff while preparing the script for their unique film story of present-day New York, are the following:

The average income of the 3,000,000 men and women who work in New York City is $25 a week. Only 10,000 of them earn $15,000 a year or more. Over 1,200,000 men, women and children in the city are dependent entirely or partly upon charity for relief.

The number of commuters and visitors who pass through the city bus and railroad terminals each year is almost twice as great as the U. S. population and is equal to the entire population of western Europe.

The buildings and land in the city of New York are valued at twenty-one billion dollars, or more than the total assessed valuation of 22 of the nation's largest states.

New York City pays into the U. S. Treasury every year more tax than 28 states combined.

The 21 tunnels deep beneath the Hudson and East rivers cost more than four hundred million dollars. At the city's airports, day after night, planes land every seven minutes.

Cash deposits in the 144 banks in the city's financial district are equal in value to half the world's supply of gold.

New York City's police force of 18,000 men is bigger than the standing army of Norway.

W. C. Higginbotham, Dallas, chief clerk of the land and industrial department of the Texas and Pacific Railway company, was here Friday to confer with County Judge Charles Sullivan concerning right-of-way on rerouted Highway No. 9 across railroad property south of town.

The new road will angle across about three-quarters of a mile of railroad lands in the vicinity of the T. & P. lake. Following the party, Judge Sullivan predicted that the problem of securing this strip of right-of-way would be handled easily.

THE RECORD... Facts That Concern You

$2,132,891.90* TO THE RESCUE

AND that's just the beer tax revenue this state itself collects... to lift the burden of direct taxation from your shoulders. Nationwide, beer contributes over a million dollars a day to the cost of government. Think what that means in paying for relief, in public works, in old age assistance right in your own community.

Then think of the million new jobs that beer made. And then add to that a 100 million dollar market for farmers' crops!

How can we keep these benefits for you and for us? Brewers of America realize this depends on keeping beer retailing as wholesome as beer itself. They want to help public officials in every possible way. They cannot enforce laws! But they can—and will—cooperate!

May we send you a booklet telling of this unusual self-regulation program? Address: United Brewers Industrial Foundation, 19 East 40th Street, New York, N. Y.
