PARTY HONORS THREE KIDDIES ON BIRTHDAY

Four-Year-Olds Are Hosts Yesterday At Hopkins

BY HELEN PARTRIDGE. HOPKINS, Dec. 3.—Don Barrett, Joyce Stewart, and Peggy Ann Magerkurth entertained with a birthday party Wednesday afternoon at Don's home celebrating their fourth birthday.

Games and movies kept the little guests busy. The movies were one reel of Popeye, one of Mickey Mouse and one reel showing Don Barrett and Peggy Ann Magerkurth with some of their friends, when Don and Peggy were still younger. After the movies caps were given to all, and each fished for favors.

The boys chose partners for the refreshments, which were served on small tables. Beautifully decorated cakes in pink, white, and green, with four candles on each cake were presented to the little hosts by their mothers. The candles were all lit, then with a few puffs they were blown out.

The cakes were cut and served with Dixie cups to Betty Rose Higgins, Barbara Jean Barrett, Jimmie Martin, Donna Marie Barnett, Delva Sheday, Beverly Mae Gibson, Joan Romaine, Beva June Bull, Joan Morrison, Betty Duncan, Mary Keough, Bobbie Huntington, Patricia Williams, Marilyn Adams, Gene K. Smith, Bobby Turner, Charles Turner, Marcus Parker, Freddie Boatwright, Tracy Cary, Paul Wayne Hill, Walter Hieronimus, J. D. Partridge, Eddie Caldwell, Jimmy Don Foster, Carl Foster, Jerry Pace, and the three hosts.

During the party, KPDN broadcast a birthday song, and read the names of all invited.

P-TA Plans Social Twenty-five persons were present at P-T. A. Wednesday. Following a business meeting plans were made to have a "get-together" party on Dec. 18. This will be a Christmas party and all patrons are invited. Committees were appointed. Chairmen were Miss Jarrell, program; Mrs. Rippel, refreshment, and Miss Siddons, decorating. When plans were completed refreshments of hot chocolate and wafers were served by Mrs. Proctor, Mrs. Bynum, Mrs. Wright, Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Horn.

The chapel program Wednesday was presented by the seventh and eighth grades. A play was given by the science class. Following the play the case, Water vs. Wind, was tried. Martha Orr was the judge.

School Honor Roll On the honor roll for this six weeks were Mary Louise Harwell, fourth grade; Tommie Lou Harwell, sixth grade, and Beth Fowler, second grade.

Three Entertain For Bridge Clubs

Yuletide Colors Are Chosen by Party Hostesses

A succession of pretty parties for bridge clubs marked the first half of this week. The most recent was that for Queen of Clubs yesterday morning, when Mrs. I. B. Hughey entertained with breakfast and bridge at the Schneider hotel.

White and red table decorations emphasized the colors on place cards, where Santa Claus was pictured. Chrysanthemums were the flowers used.

Added guests played with the club members at five tables. Mrs. Hoover made high guest score, Mrs. W. V. Jarratt high club score, and Mrs. Carl Boston cut high.

Special guests were Meses. Siler Paulkner, R. E. McKernan, Hoover, John Sturgeon, Charles Thut, C. T. Hunkapillar, Claude Ledrick, Carl Jones, Glen Pool. Club members playing were Meses. E. O. Lilly, H. D. Keys, R. S. Lawrence, Max Mahaffey, Bert Curry, Raymond Harrah, L. N. McCullough, Carl Smith, Jarratt, Boston, and the hostess.

Mrs. Bert Curry was hostess to all members of London Bridge club Tuesday with a luncheon at the hotel, and bridge afterward. Christmas decorations brightened the room. High score was made by Mrs. J.

M. Lybrand, and second high by Mrs. John Sturgeon. Others present were Meses. E. C. Low, John Studer, Otto Studer, Clarence Barrett, Arthur Swanson, P. O. Sanders, W. J. Smith, R. G. Allen, R. M. Bellamy, M. C. Overton.

The Tuesday Afternoon club met with Mrs. Skeets Roberts, who used green and gold decorations in her home. Mrs. Ted White, a club guest, made high score, and Mrs. P. C. Ledrick cut high.

Other special guests were Meses. Kelly, Robert Montgomery, Luke McClellan, and E. W. Hogan. Members playing were Meses. Carl Boston, H. E. Carlson, Homer Elliott, Ledrick, Roger McConnell, Sherman White, and the hostess.

NEW CONTRACT WITH UNIONS IS ANNOUNCED

VICTORY FOR STRIKERS IS ACCEPTED BY COMPANY

HOUSTON, Dec. 3 (AP)—The Lykes steamship interests announced today agreement to a new contract with the two striking seamen's unions.

The agreement, considered a victory for the strikers, was prepared for presentation later in the day to membership of the Marine Engineers Beneficial Association of the Gulf and Masters, Mates and Pilots of the Gulf. No contract will be signed until a vote has been taken.

Spokesmen for the Mates and Engineers predicted the agreement would be accepted by the membership. Members of the American Radio Telegraphers, also on strike, were expected to meet with Lykes' representatives.

The terms of the new agreement reached by the company and the Mates and Engineers were:

- 1—Pay increases ranging from $15 to $20 a month.
- 2—Two weeks vacation with pay each year, and one week with pay if the employee has been with the company only six months.
- 3—Night engineers and mates to receive $8 per night for working on ship the first three nights in port.
- 4—$1.25 per hour for regular overtime.
- 5—All men, whether union members or not, to be able to return to their ships with no questions asked.
- 6—The conditions for the fourth mate and fourth assistant engineers to be thrashed out on Jan. 31.

The striking officers are well satisfied with the new agreement, according to E. W. Turner, spokesman for the engineers.

The rank and file of strikers of the International Seamen's Union, who had hoped that all four organizations would hold out until each reached an agreement with the steamship operators, were apparently disturbed over the action of the mates and engineers.

Grand Champion Steer of Show To Be Auctioned

CHICAGO, Dec. 3 (AP)—The auctioneer's hammer hung today over the head of G. Page 3629, grand champion steer of the International Livestock Exposition.

When it falls at the call of the highest bidder the price of the most expensive beef in America will be set. Stockmen and officials of the exposition would be set for meat cattle when the grand champion and 5,221 other head of livestock go on the block.

The trend was shown yesterday in the sale of a senior heifer calf owned by H. W. Marshall of Lafayette, Ind., president of the show, for $1,275. He said it was the highest price paid for a female in two years. Last year the grand champion brought $3 a pound on the hoof. The all-time high record of $8.25 a pound was set in 1928.

TOM DEBERRY SERVES AS TEXAS GOVERNOR

AUSTIN, Dec. 3 (AP)—Senator Tom Deberry of Bogata was acting governor of Texas today in the absence from the state of Governor Alfred and Lieut.-Gov. Walter F. Woodul.

Alfred and Woodul were in New Orleans for an interstate conference on parole problems and Deberry became acting chief executive by virtue of his position as president pro tempore of the Senate.

Alfred will be out of the state about nine days, planning to go from New Orleans to Little Rock to participate in a tree-planting ceremony and from there to Indianapolis, where an address at a farewell banquet for Governor Paul V. McNutt, Woodul will return probably Saturday.

Because of a severe cold, Deberry remained at his hotel and did not come to the executive offices immediately.

He was the seventh person to have served as governor in the past two years, others in addition to Alfred and Woodul, being Governor Miriam A. Ferguson and Senators Kent M. Fagan, of Pecos, John S. Reed, of Lubbock, and Wilbourne B. Ollie of Eastland.

JAN ISBELLE FORTUNE INJURED IN CAR CRASH

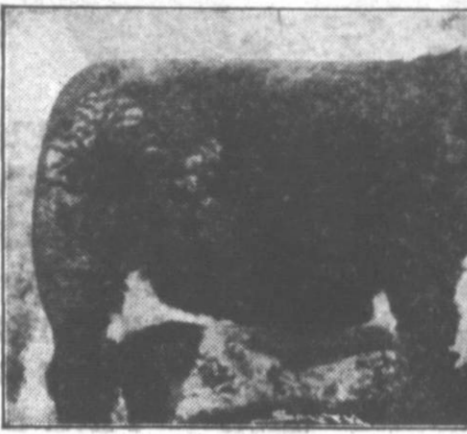

DALLAS, Dec. 3 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Ed Goodin, daughter and son-in-law of Mrs. Jan Isbelle Fortune, were in an automobile accident at Perry, Fla., left here by automobile today to bring the injured woman to Dallas.

Mrs. Goodin said she had been informed her mother was seriously but not critically hurt. Mrs. Jan Isbelle Fortune is prominent southwestern writer. She wrote most of continuity for Cavalcade of Texas, Texas Centennial's historical spectacle, contributed many articles to newspapers and magazines, and published numbers of poems.

TEXAS 4-H'ER WINS $200 SCHOLARSHIP

MEET the champion 4-H livestock boy of the southern states, J. D. Jordan, 15, of Mason, Texas. Each year since his 15th he fed and showed baby heaves. His prizes on the 40 head handled total $1,116.86, and his sales return $5,480.15. For this record and his work as assistant leader and other activities he was awarded second national honors by club leaders in the seventh Thomas E. Wilson annual contest, and prizes including a $200 cash college scholarship presented at the 15th National Club Congress in Chicago. The boy had won state honors in 1934 but was too young to qualify for higher awards. This year's state award fell to Carl Martin, 18, Mansard County, who fed 21 baby heaves in five years, winning $254.77 in prizes and returning proceeds of $1,107.22.

PRESIDENT IS GIVEN OVATION IN MONTEVIDEO

Uruguay's Executive Welcomes Him In Rain

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Dec. 3 (AP)—President Franklin D. Roosevelt, returning from his Latin-American voyage of peace, stepped from the cruiser Indianapolis today to the cheers of this tiny republic and into the outstretched arms of President Gabriel Terra.

The president left the Indianapolis at 9:56 a. m., making the last stop of the South American trip during which he inaugurated the inter-American peace conference.

On the beflagged shore, a tumultuous crowd, packed behind 3,000 khaki uniformed soldiers, braved a cold rain and wind.

The troops, both cavalry and infantry, lined twelve blocks of the route arranged for a Roosevelt-Terra motor tour.

Escorted by Uruguay's one-ship fleet, the 1,100-ton cruiser Uruguay, and a naval tug, the Indianapolis came up to the dock amid the pealing of Montevideo's church bells.

The Indianapolis fired a 21-gun salute and a single cannon ashore replied. The sirens of harbor craft sent up a din of greeting.

President Terra and other welcoming notables stood on a specially constructed gallery, extending from the edge of the wharf.

Half-way down the gangplank, President Roosevelt paused and smiled.

"Well, here I am, Terra," he said, dispensing with the title of president. Terra, at the foot of the gangway, grinned broadly and threw out both arms to embrace Mr. Roosevelt.

FEDERAL CHARTERS FOR CORPORATIONS PUSHED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (AP)—Senator Borah of Idaho today proposed federal charters for corporations doing business across state lines.

The corporations would not be permitted to do business without such charters and to retain them, concerns would have to avoid "monopolistic" practices.

Similar in form to a federal incorporation law proposed by Senator O'Mahoney, Wyoming Democrat, Borah's plan differing in aims.

"Mahoney intends primarily to set up uniform wage and labor standards for interstate corporation. 'The chief object of my bill,' said Borah, 'will be to prevent the monopolistic practices now carried on by corporations under the vast powers granted by state charters.'

SCOUT NEWS

Boy Scout troop 16, sponsored by the Lions club, held its weekly meeting Tuesday evening at the Scout Hut. The assistant scoutmaster, Wilma Postma, presided. Two new patrols were organized, the Black Hawk with James Taylor as leader, and the Wolf patrol with Richard Huff as leader.

L. B. Allison was named senior patrol leader. No assistant patrol leaders were elected.

Plans were made for a program to be given at the next Court of Honor. Scouts present were Billy Hudgens, Robert Huff, Ross Cupp, Bob McKinley, James Taylor, Richard Huff, Junior Hensen, Robert Boyston, Harold Hanson. Bad weather kept several members away.

18,518 WELLS DRILLED. NEW YORK, Dec. 3 (AP)—The American Petroleum Institute announces 18,518 oil and gas wells were drilled in the United States the first nine months of 1936, compared with 16,081 in the corresponding period of 1935, and 21,420 for the 12 months of 1935, 18,197 for 1934, and 12,312 for 1933. If the rate continues for the rest of the year, as expected, the Institute says, the total should exceed 24,000. The number of dry wells for the nine months was 3,803, or 20 per cent of the drillings; in 1934, 23 per cent, and in 1933, 26 per cent. The decrease in dry wells, the Institute says, is believed to have resulted from improved methods of prospecting. Of the drillings in 1936, 1,451 were gas wells.

ALFRED TALKS ON PROBATION

ATTENDS INTERSTATE CONFERENCE AT NEW ORLEANS

NEW ORLEANS, La., Dec. 3 (AP)—Gov. James V. Alfred of Texas, president of the Southwestern States Probation and Parole conference, emphasized in an address to that body today the need for interstate co-operation to solve probation problems.

"Along with the other phases of law enforcement and crime prevention," the governor said, "probation and parole necessarily become interstate in nature. I sincerely trust the time has passed when one state will seek to dump its refuse into the back yard of a sister state. Rather we should seek to co-operate with each other, for the good of each individual and the general welfare of our people."

"We are agreed, I believe, at the Galveston meeting that probably the most effective form of co-operation was through an interstate compact. It is my hope that this conference will produce a satisfactory form of such compact for submission to the respective legislatures. "In formulating such a document let us bear in mind not only the objectives which we seek, but at the same time try to avoid constitutional pitfalls."

The Texas chief executive voiced the opinion the Galveston meeting "did more to crystallize public sentiment in the southwest than any other one event within my memory."

"We were agreed at that time, however," he said, "that we had only made a beginning and that it is now the purpose of this group to put into tangible form the results of our agreed discussions, and to give our legislatures the benefits thus derived."

Alfred told the delegates "Your presence and the fact so many people have made sacrifices to attend these first two meetings is a guarantee to me that we have started something which will continue to function and expand through the years."

"My experience in common with that of every other governor," he said, "convinced me that probation and parole are an integral part of the law enforcement program. Those of you who know me are well aware that I do not believe in coddling criminals. I am not addicted to maudlin sentiment, but I do believe in applied Christianity in the rehabilitation of people and a second chance for down-and-outers."

WOODWARD, Okla., (AP)—J. E. McCoy, oil company employe, was driving his heavily loaded truck along a muddy road. Suddenly the truck skidded, overturned. McCoy crawled out of his cab unhurt but jittery. The truck was loaded with a ton of dynamite.

COURT AFFIRMS CONVICTIONS FOR OPERATING SALOON

INSPECTORS OF STATE UPHELD IN DECISIONS

CONVICTION OF MONTE BRIDGES ALSO AFFIRMED

AUSTIN, Dec. 3 (AP)—The Court of Criminal Appeals affirmed yesterday three convictions for operating an open saloon. The only previous open saloon convictions to reach the state's highest criminal court had been reversed because of faulty complaints.

The fines affirmed were two of $500 each against J. L. Nounes of Houston, also known as Johnny Jack, and one of $100 against M. J. Gremillion, operator of the Southern Grill at Houston at the time the alleged offense occurred.

The court held in the Gremillion case that the liquor board inspectors who came to his establishment were not accomplice witnesses because they testified they did not enter for the purpose of buying whisky but to eat. They could see the drink and merely took steps to detect the crime, the court said.

The Nounes case was affirmed on the grounds the complaint was adequate and the appellant filed no exceptions nor brief.

The court upheld a second conviction of Monte Bridges for murder of Jay Donaldson in Garza county July 1, 1934. Bridges was assessed a 50-year term at his second trial in Dawson county.

John Barr of Coryell county lost his last chance to avoid a 99-year prison sentence when the court denied his motion for rehearing. The penalty, imposed at a third trial in McLennan county, was more severe than that in either of the previous trials. Barr was convicted of killing John Mayhugh with a wagon standard on January 5, 1933.

UNLUCKY LEADERS
CHICAGO (AP)—There's another jinx on the loose. He goes around stalling the leading ground-gainer of the year in the National professional league, Beattie Feathers of the Chicago Bears, top star of 1934, was injured in 1935. And now Doug Russell, 1935 leader, has been out with injuries most of this season.

AROUND HOLLYWOOD

BY ROBBIN COONS.
HOLLYWOOD—Snugly fitted with bullet-proof vest, last will and testament made, and a "Te Salutamus" on his lips, your reporter timidly invaded the big white house that is the lair of that beautiful and haughty ogress of Hollywood legend: Miss Constance Bennett.

The Marquise de la Palaise de la Coudraye's relations with "the press" in the past have been notably lacking in cordiality. So it was that the sign guarding the front door, arched "Trade Entrance" around the driveway, seemed rather pointed. But we who are about to die (this was my muttering) must die nobly. Front or nothing.

It's a nice lair. You get an impression of formal period things and luxuriously thick beige rugs as the maid escorts you to the more practical, dourish and forthrightish playground. And presently... Le Marquise!

She's Cordial Today.
But what's this? Today, at least, La Marquise is just Connie Bennett. She is in white tennis shorts and sweater, and she looks rather like a golden lollipop, the figure topped by shining golden mane. Sweet as candy, too—but not fulsomely sweet.

It seems Connie is having a little private tennis tournament today. Just Gary and Sandra Cooper, Fulke Warwick, a few others... Connie thinks all the tennis she's playing is making her look as if she were gaining weight, even if she isn't.

"I eat enough for seven men," she says, "and I never gain an ounce. My legs will always be like sticks."

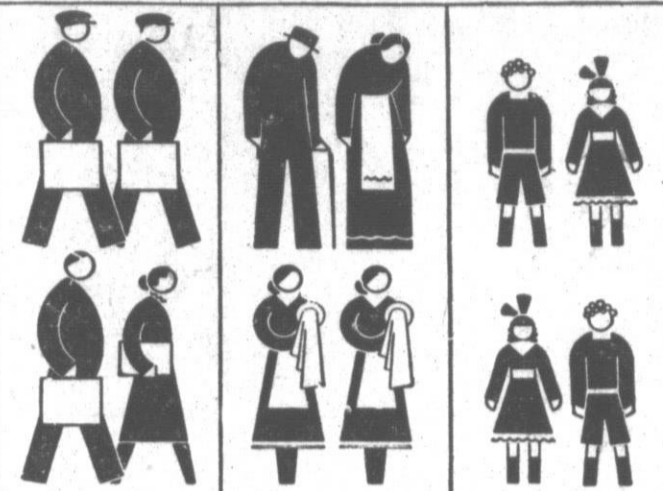

This is rank defamation, but let it pass. ... Connie is talking about "Gone With the Wind" now, in superlatives. She did a broadcast of a scene from it. She got quite a few letters about it, but intimates she does not consider herself seriously in the running for the role of Scarlett in the film, although she is testing. She isn't sure she could be quite the type. Her hair, for one thing.

To Keep On Acting.
And now, down to business: Once upon a time Connie Bennett said she would retire "in five years," didn't she? Well, it isn't so. Woman's prerogative, and besides—there's always business.

High taxes eat into earnings, and apart from that Constance Bennett has to do things. She tried illness for five years when she was first married—the first time—and she had enough of it.

Even now she is forming her own production company. She will appear in her pictures "as long as the public will stand it" and then she will work at producing with other stars.

HE LIKES BOXING!
GREENVILLE, S. C. (AP)—The old Manassa Mauler got talkative when he was down here recently. In an interview it developed that Jack Dempsey's favorite sport is (surprise) boxing, and that his next-favorite sport is football. While here, Dempsey announced that he would quit refereeing wrestling matches. His hash-slinging duties must be getting heavy.

POULTRY TOO CROWDED SURVEY IN KANSAS SHOWS.
MANHATTAN, Kas. (AP)—Poultry is too crowded in poultry houses on the average farm, a survey by Prof. L. F. Payne disclosed. Payne said the survey showed the average floor space per bird is 2.3 square feet while the recommended space is four feet. Crowding poultry, he said, means lowering the efficiency of the flock and reducing profits. Vinton county is one of the poorest in Ohio. It has no large cities and much of the land is hilly.

MEXICO'S AGRARIAN LAW IRKS AMERICANS

SAN ANGELO, Dec. 3 (AP)—Mexico's drastic agrarian land law, needing only the president's signature to become effective, kept American cattlemen below the border in a state of unrest today despite assurances they would be reimbursed for any land taken by the government. Cattlemen who declined to be quoted said Americans with stock and other ranch interests in Mexico would like very much at this time to have their property on this side of the Rio Grande.

Some feared a general movement of cattle northward might invite an export tax that would make the crossing impossible. There also was talk of Washington being urged to formulate a trade treaty that would give ranchmen a chance to move their livestock to the United States.

Three Mexican states—Durango, Sonora and Chihuahua—were where potential trouble centered for American cattlemen who have been ranging their stock on leased and owned lands are concerned with the possibility of the Mexican government, under the new law, expropriating their land and cutting it up into small farms for the agrarians.

The agrarian movement is not directed against foreign owned land particularly, but foreign property holders are not exempt from application of its sweeping provisions.

NELSON ROCKEFELLER KILLS DEER, TURKEYS

HOUSTON, Dec. 3 (AP)—Nelson Rockefeller, business associate of his father, John D. Rockefeller Jr., killed a couple of turkeys and some wild turkey on a border country ranch but said it was no credit to his shooting. "Hunting in Texas is a 'natural,'" said young Rockefeller. "I went down on Charles Armstrong's ranch in Kennedy county. You know how so much wild game down here that you simply can't miss."

Young Rockefeller is visiting his brother, Winthrop Rockefeller, an oil company workman. Accompanying him on the trip were his wife and Tom Armstrong, who is connected with the Standard Oil company of New Jersey. The Nelson Rockefellers plan to fly to Dallas, possibly tomorrow, and from there to New York. The island group of Curacao is a part of the Dutch West Indies.

FARM TENACY DESCRIBED AS BURNING ISSUE

TOM CONNALLY WOULD TAKE STEPS TO END IT

PORT WORTH, Dec. 3 (AP)—The farm tenacy problem is one of the most compelling economic and political issues. Senator Connally said at the opening session of the annual convention of the Texas Agricultural Association Wednesday.

"Farm tenacy in Texas," he declared, "has increased from 37.6 per cent in 1880 to 57 per cent in 1935. Tenants now operate 57 per cent of all farms in Texas, 54 per cent of all harvested crop land, 30 per cent of all farm land and the farms operated by tenants include 40 per cent of all Texas farms."

"With the increase of the percentage of tenancy in Texas there also has come an increase in the percentage of mortgages... of mortgage indebtedness of the actually owned farms. Statistics reveal that farmers who operate land have an equity that amounts to only 33 per cent of the value of all Texas farm land. From 1900 to 1930 the per cent of owner-operated farms that were mortgaged increased from 22 per cent to 40 per cent. The disastrous deflation in values which occurred during the recent economic depression shows how shadowy and uncertain is an equity in high-priced land covered by a mortgage."

"The government of the United States is about to develop a far-reaching policy looking to the acquisition of the soil by those who till it. It is planned to provide cheap credit and amortization over a period of years whereby tenants may become owners, not of large acreages, but of farms to become homes, upon which the owner may produce and provide his own livelihood."

LONG-LIVED REFEREE
KANSAS CITY (AP)—Talk about iron men among the baseball and grid officials, and among the fans who go to every game regardless of the virtues of their favorite team! Well, John C. (Jack) Grover, Kansas City lawyer and veteran Missouri Valley official, has a record that is distinctive. From 1910 to 1930 he refereed every Oklahoma-Missouri grid game.

ALMOST A HABIT.
WELCH, W. Va. (AP)—Angelo Makris told trooper M. G. Green that his lunch stand near Stevens Clinic was burglarized again—the twelfth time in four years. Trooper Green arrested Mack Parks of Saw Mill Hollow, and charged him with robbery.

Makris asserted $90 worth of canned goods was stolen.

LOOK NOW—DON'T WAIT

An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure—and the thorough inspection of your property may prevent a disastrous fire.

The cold season will soon envelop much of the United States. Furnaces and other heating devices will be taxed to their utmost.

To enter the winter season without checking such equipment is to give a hostage to fortune. Many a heating plant has developed an inconspicuous flaw—and fire has resulted.

If you were wise, you took advantage of Fire Prevention Week, which was observed early in October.

If you aren't sure that you can properly inspect your property, any insurance agent will be glad to help.

In communities where it is possible, have the inspections made by a fireman or a member of the fire marshal's department.

So—don't wait until the temperature is around zero to wonder whether you are safe from fire.

THE CHRISTMAS FULLBACK

The fellow who was worrying about what he would do Saturday afternoons with no football games to go to, will soon discover how silly it is to worry when Saturday afternoon finally comes.

His wife, or maybe his mother or his sweetheart, will invite him to go shopping, just to get a lineup on this year's Christmas purchases.

Our hero, who thought Saturday afternoons without football would be dull, will know what the fullback of the losing team went through all season, except the fullback had to look out for only 11 opponents, not a whole stadium.

DAILY WASHINGTON LETTER

WASHINGTON.—In all the heavy speculation as to what the next four years of Roosevelt administration may bring forth, you rarely hear anyone mention the Democratic platform and its promises of last June.

Everyone knows that no political party ever entirely lives up to its platform. Nevertheless, this one caused quite a stir at the time and it was the work of the president and his friends, who have been continued in power.

The platform may be considered at least enough of a vague guide to justify looking at it again, to sort out such relatively concrete promises as it contained and add to them such few similar promises as Roosevelt made in campaign speeches.

One of the most sensational promises in the Democratic platform has generally been forgotten: "... We will act to secure the consumer fair value, honest sales, and a decreased spread between the price he pays and the price the producer receives."

On the face of it, this appears to mean an attempted reform of the distributive system which would hit at waste, deceit, and excessive profits.

Organized pressure groups are in better position to persuade the Democrats to make good. Labor, for instance. This group finds much more nourishment in the Madison Square Garden speech than in the platform, except as the latter dealt with the constitutional amendment issue.

Roosevelt promised continuance of the fight "to improve working conditions... to reduce hours overlong... to increase wages that spell starvation... to end the labor of children... to support collective bargaining... to wipe out sweatshops."

If there is a question as to when hours are "overlong" or wages on the starvation level, organized labor will seek to give the answer. Wage, hour, and child labor legislation seems a certainty within the next four years and even a likelihood in the next Congress.

But the hour and wage problem is an involved one, and constitutional complications are almost inevitable.

The platform definitely promised agriculture that the New Deal would "continue to improve the soil conservation and domestic allotment program with payments to farmers."

Roosevelt, going farther, promised to do "all in our power for crop insurance, for a reduction of farm tenancy, and for a stable food supply for the nation."

The administration would seem committed to a large subsidized housing program in the platform assertion that "the government should steadily extend its housing program toward the goal of adequate housing to those forced through economic necessities to live in unhealthy and slum conditions."

Roosevelt probably will support the Wagner housing bill which failed last session.

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

BY GEORGE TUCKER. NEW YORK.—This is one of those off the record—this is a bit of back stage Broadway involving a critic, a press agent, and a columnist.

It would make a better story if their names would be used. At that, their identities aren't too deeply shrouded in mystery.

Not long ago a glamorous film star was lured east to appear on Broadway. Most of the critics approved the play, but one lone dissenter (the one you're hearing about) gave it a severe ribbing.

All But One Laughed. Being on excellent terms with the critic, the ballyhoo artist wrote a letter to his friend, amiably wondering whether the persons who had read his deprecatory review were aware that other reviewers had endorsed the play.

It was a good letter, smartly conceived, written in the crisp, confident style of the term of a swell essay. Preceding it with some remarks of his own, he printed the letter and agreed (in print) to advise his public how greatly the other critics had enjoyed the show if they in turn would.

HOW'S your HEALTH? Several medical authorities have written the "log books" of their scientific explorations lately, and a number of medical classics have been reprinted.

Recently the Commonwealth Fund reprinted the medical classic "Snow on Cholera." Cholera is practically unknown in the United States, but at one time it was a widely prevalent and extremely destructive disease.

The germ causing cholera was not discovered until 1883. But the control of cholera was achieved in 1854, 29 years before its specific germ cause was discovered.

This attainment stands to the credit of Dr. John Snow of London, who by keen analysis arrived at the conviction that cholera was caused by some agent transmissible through contaminated drinking water.

In the latter part of August, 1854, a terrific outbreak of cholera developed in and about the neighborhood of Broad Street and Golden Square, London. Within 10 days there were upwards of 500 fatal attacks.

On the evening of September 7, while the vestrymen of St. James were sitting in solemn consultation on the causes of the visitation, a stranger appeared and asked for a hearing. This stranger was Dr. Snow. He made a simple suggestion. He urged the vestrymen to order the removal of the pump handle of the Broad Street pump, from which many in the neighborhood drew their drinking water.

The vestry was incredulous, but had the good sense to carry out the advice. The pump handle was removed and the plague was stayed.

Subsequently it was found that a child had been sick with cholera and that its excretions had been poured into a drain located within a few feet of the Broad Street pump.

A strange piece of corroborative evidence was revealed. A woman who lived a distance away had the delusion that no drinking water in all England could equal that which came from the Broad Street pump.

She therefore had a bottle of this fluid brought to her daily. She and her servant drank this water and promptly developed cholera. No one else in that neighborhood suffered the disease.

This demonstration led to world-wide reforms in the safeguarding of drinking water, and millions owed their spared lives to the genius of Dr. Snow.

The Wrong Murderer

By HUGH CLEVELY. Chapter 39. FATTY RICKS. "What the devil do we care if the police are after us, so long as we're together again?" Mahony said.

"The Golden Centipede Club?" echoed Mahony innocently, as if he had never heard of the place. "Why, what happened there?"

"You know damned well what happened there," he replied. "And incidentally that club will not be opening again. We found evidences on the premises that it was one of the principal dope distributing centers of London, and we've made six arrests."

"Good," said Mahony. "Did you find any evidence against our friend Lawson?" "Still harping on Lawson, eh?" commented the Inspector. "No, we didn't find any evidence against him. So far as we're concerned, we haven't any evidence, except your word, that Lawson is not an entirely blameless citizen. What's happened to Miss Fraser?"

"Yes," answered Mahony. "I suppose you'd like me to tell you where she is?" "I certainly should; I'm very anxious to get hold of that young woman," said the Inspector.

"What I want you to do is not to arrest either of us at present. Give us a couple of hours to make ourselves scarce, and then set all the policemen in the country looking for us. Then, if you catch us—we'll tell you all we know. And if you don't catch us, and we shall do our best to see that you don't—you'll stand a good chance of catching somebody else—the man you really want."

Inspector Kennedy considered for a few moments. His keen, clever face was very thoughtful. Then he nodded slightly. (TO BE CONTINUED.)

CAPITOL JIGSAW

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL

AUSTIN, Nov. 27 (AP)—"Gentlemen, here is the vice-president of the United States!"

An astonished secretary to Gov. James V. Allred bounded out of a chair, rubbed his eyes and looked at the erect, white-haired figure in cowboy hat.

Indeed it was Vice-President John N. Garner, standing, eyes twinkling, in the reception room of the governor.

The announcement by a press correspondent was the first intimation the governor or his secretarial staff had of the visit from the distinguished Texan.

In his usual unobtrusive way, Garner, paying his third visit to the capitol since he left it about 30 years ago at the conclusion of a brief term in the legislature, had knocked on the front office door of the gubernatorial suite, found it closed on account of lunch, and was about to depart.

The press correspondent sighted him, however, piloted him to back entrance, past several pogie-eyed negro clerks and into the reception room.

Allred was in his office on the second floor, but hurried down the winding stairway connecting with the first floor office as soon as notified the vice-president was present.

"What did we talk about?" Allred mused later. "Well, nothing of great importance. The vice-president said he had been hunting, but didn't say whether he had killed any deer."

"He's the kind of a man who doesn't have to kill something to enjoy a hunting trip. He gets a big kick out of being outdoors. On this trip, he said he did most of the cooking."

Mrs. Garner enroute with her husband by automobile to Waco where Baylor University conferred honorary degrees on both, remained in the car. Gov. Allred welcomed her there.

Last summer Mr. and Mrs. Garner spent a night at the governor's mansion, breaking a story to Dallas for "Garner Day" at the Central Centennial exposition.

Years ago Garner was a member of the legislature and, at that historic session, so the story is told, carved out for himself a congressional district by means of a re-districting bill, from which for 30 years he was elected without intermission to the national Congress.

In Austin the vice-president also made a brief appearance before the state board of education and a number of college presidents. Someone saw him in a hotel lobby and persuaded him to go upstairs and give the educators a "look."

He told the school men he once was a school superintendent, serving as an ex-officio superintendent when a county judge at Dywade before beginning his congressional career.

AUSTIN, Dec. 3 (AP)—Gov. Allred frequently agrees to crown queens, make speeches, and otherwise participate in celebrations without familiarizing himself with details. This was brought out at a press conference recently.

Asked about plans for the weekend, the governor brightened and said he was "going down to Orange to inspect." He paused and thought a moment, but finally gave it up.

"I don't know what I'm going to inspect," he said. "Hey, Ed, what will I inspect at Orange?"

Edward Clark, his secretary, gave the information.

The "tree of truth" flourishes outside the governor's windows, although, like other trees hereabout, its leaves are falling and its limbs beginning to look gaunt.

It is a slender young pecan sapling planted by the Capitol press corps last spring in the presence of a large number of state officials and employees. No one remembers who first dubbed the tree, but the appellation stuck.

Looking out the window one day the governor remarked the "tree of truth" seemed to be doing right well.

"Yes," commented someone. "But have you noticed it is a little bent?"

There was a lot of excitement when a report got out about that the governor would declare martial law somewhere, possibly in the strike area at Houston.

Press correspondents hurried to the gubernatorial suite, and then checked all other possible sources of information, including the adjutant general's office.

It was all a mistake. The rumor—nothing more—originated when Edward Clark, the governor's secretary, had data on martial law gathered for use in an address.

Col. H. H. Carmichael, director of the department of public safety, says a marine strike is a tough proposition.

The colonel has participated as an officer of the National Guard in every case of martial law in Texas in the last 10 years, and has been commanding Rangers and highway patrolmen in the Houston territory.

In one week-end, he says, there were more than 20 instances of men beaten and robbed of their clothing and money. He refused to say the department had the "situation in hand," but did say it was "making progress."

FEASTS FOR PARKER
DURHAM, N. C. (AP)—Ace Parker, Kercheval of the Brooklyn football Dodgers has set up a record they'd all like to equal. Kercheval last year set a new standard for distance punting when he booted a ball 96 yards in the air. He has averaged 86 yards in his kicks, all told. Annabe scored more than 100 points himself. He'll retire at the end of this season.

KING EDWARD VIII HOPES TO BE 'HEAD MAN' OF BRITISH EMPIRE

NEW YORK, Dec. 3 (AP)—Necessities growing out of the universal political upheaval, in which dictators and totalitarian states are rising overnight on the ruins of monarchies and democracies alike, have brought forth a new and dominant leader for the British Empire in this crisis.

It is the king-emperor, one of the outstanding personalities of his time, who has chosen to override tradition and enter the lists in competition with the Mussolinis and the Hitlers, to try to preserve his throne and the democracy which is bound up in the British Commonwealth of Nations.

It would be wholly incorrect to suggest that Edward VIII is trying to clothe himself with dictatorial powers. No such step would be tolerated in Britain. But professional British observers say he has moved many degrees in that direction in recent months, with the approval of his government, and has set up signposts to let all know where he is going.

No other person could fill this role, because of the diversity of races and nationalities in the empire. The successful British generalissimo must be above these things, like an international spiritual leader. Only he who occupies the throne, symbol which binds the heterogeneous units of the empire together, fulfills that requirement.

A Man Of The People
Of equal, and perhaps greater, import is the fact that by instinct and inclination Edward is a man of the people. But for the circumstance of royal birth he belongs to the masses, as much as to the aristocracy, as he has demonstrated time and again.

It was no mere whim, or yet excess of egotism, that impelled this forceful king to scrap tradition in his first speech from the throne and employ the authoritative "I" instead of following the age-old custom of and radicalism, and provide a really constructive leadership.

A corollary to this situation is that Edward long has given indications that he possesses the qualities for this position. He has an inspiring and wholly likeable personality. He is credited with great acumen in matters affecting Britain. From youth he has been noted for a dogged determination which would brook no interference, once he felt that he was on the right track.

King Well Equipped
As Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin recently pointed out, the new king is better equipped for his great post than any other monarch in the long history of England. He has spent most of his life—he is 42 now—studying his people and imperial problems.

He has traveled over a great part of the world and acquired first-hand knowledge of conditions. And again, at heart he is a commoner who has worked with his subjects, and played with them, and fought side by side with them on the battlefield for king and country.

There is one discordant note in this new British symphony. That is the romance between Edward and Mrs. Wallis Simpson.

Those close to the British government and parliament say there is grave concern lest Edward should persist to the point of marrying Mrs. Simpson, and thereby endanger the safety of the throne, not to mention his new-born leadership, in the empire. Should he take this step, and it prove to be a grave error in judgment, it might be the last mistake he would ever make as king.

The king's independent attitude in this matter is just another indication of his strength of will. He refuses to be driven. As an indication of such strength, it is welcomed by many Britons, but they say they hope and expect that he will change his mind—a further sign of force of character.

From the moment he mounted the throne Edward has been grappling energetically with the grave international problems affecting Britain—problems which in theory belong exclusively to his ministers and parliament. Those close to him say he has been eager to improve international relations and obviate the dangers of war.

Visits Foreign Notables
There has been a steady procession of cabinet ministers to the palace to discuss affairs with the king. He himself has taken on diplomatic conversations with such statesmen as Baron Konstantin von Neurath, German foreign minister; Prince Ernst von Starhemberg, of Austria, and the famous Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet Commissar for Foreign Affairs, Rumania, Portugal and Spain have figured in the exchanges as Edward played chess with the god of war.

During his yachting holiday this summer—the one which set tongues wagging because Mrs. Simpson was a member of the party—he conferred with King Boris of Bulgaria; King George of Greece and Kemal Attaturk, president of Turkey. It is said that matters of moment, affecting their countries and the peace of Europe, were discussed.

As showing the other side of the picture, the king has been touring the poverty-stricken coal mining areas of South Wales, partly to express sympathy and encourage these hapless people, and especially to get information on which to base quick, practical help.

While Edward was still Prince of Wales he is said to have told intimate friends that when he became king he would rule. He is proving that he meant it. No other king of modern history has been given by his people such a mandate for leadership.

THE SECOND TERM

By ALEXANDER GEORGE
WASHINGTON (AP) — Precedent-smashing Franklin D. Roosevelt will begin his second administration with the American tradition of "no third term for Presidents" still unbroken.

One of the questions which immediately bobbed up with his reelection, was whether he might be inclined four years from now to brush aside the no-third-term custom as he has already shattered several political, party and presidential precedents.

Grant failed of third-term nomination. Washington, who was the only president unanimously re-elected, made known to intimates early in the last year of his second administration that he would decline a third term. He had not been the candidate of any particular party, and there is little doubt that he could have been re-elected again if he had desired.

Jefferson announced after his second inauguration that he would not be a candidate again. Andrew Jackson, in his first message to Congress, expressed the opinion that it was advisable to limit the service of the chief executive to a single term of four or six years. He repeated this recommendation in several messages.

Unwritten Law
Since George Washington set the fashion, there has been a sort of unwritten law that eight years be considered the limit of any man's service at the head of the government. Only two men, Ulysses S. Grant and Theodore Roosevelt, have been candidates for third terms. Their candidacies, however, followed intervening administrations and

YOUNG PEOPLE MEET AT TCU IN CONFERENCE

Student Government Congress Holds Sessions

PORT WORTH, Dec. 3.—Approximately 200 young men and women representing 25 colleges and universities will meet at Texas Christian University Friday afternoon for a two-day session of the Texas Student Government Congress.

This is the second meeting of the state's outstanding campus leaders in student thought, the congress having been organized in Austin this year. Harry Roberts, T. C. U. student body president, also head of the congress, will greet the delegates.

The students will discuss extracurricular activities, the R. O. T. C., student publications, co-operative bookstores, campus dances, and similar subjects. Colleges which have already signified their intention to take a leading part in these discussions are: Texas Tech., E. M. U., Trinity university, Texas State College for Women, North Texas State Teachers College, Rice Institute and the University of Texas.

President E. M. Waits of T. C. U. will welcome the delegates at a banquet Friday night. Dr. E. M. Waits, regional director of the Labor Relations Board, will speak. Resolutions will be made at the final plenary session Saturday afternoon. The representatives will attend the annual Horned Frog Popularity Revue that night.

Jackson acceded to demands of his followers that he seek a second term. He made no effort to obtain a third term although some of his enthusiastic supporters maintained he could keep on being re-elected as long as he lived. However, he stepped out of office just in time to escape "the terrible panic of 1837."

Grant Movement Killed
Two years before Grant's turbulent second term expired, it was rumored he would be a candidate for a third term. In a letter to a Pennsylvania Republican, he said: "I do not want a third term any more than I did the first." But he added that the people were not restricted to two terms by the constitution.

President Grant said that the time might come when it would be unfortunate to make a change at the end of eight years and that he would not accept the nomination "unless it should come under circumstances as to make it imperative—circumstances not likely to arise."

"This 'leaving the door open' to a third term stirred heated public and private discussion. Then congress virtually killed a possible Grant third term movement at the time.

A Democratic member from Illinois offered a resolution that "in the opinion of the house the precedent established by Washington and other presidents in retiring after two terms has become by universal concurrence a part of our Republican system of government and any departure from this time-honored custom would be unwise, unpatriotic and fraught with peril to our free institutions."

The resolution was adopted by the huge majority of 234 to 18. It was supported not only by all Democrats but by 70 out of 88 Republican representatives who voted. Four years after the completion of his second term, Grant was again proposed for the 1880 presidential nomination. His name led for 36 consecutive ballots but the convention finally chose Garfield.

T. R. Might Have Been First
When it became known that he had been elected for a second term by an overwhelming majority in 1904, Theodore Roosevelt announced he would not seek a third term.

"On the fourth of March next, I shall have served three and a half years—and three and a half years constitutes my first term," Teddy said. "The wise custom which limits the presidents to two terms regards the substance and not the form, and under no circumstances will I be a candidate for or accept another nomination."

But in 1912 he became the presidential candidate of the Bull Moose Progressives in the famous campaign which split the Republican party and resulted in the election of Woodrow Wilson. In 1916, Colonel Roosevelt's name was placed in nomination for the presidency but he made no campaign for that honor and Charles Evans Hughes became the party's candidate.

Again at the close of the World War it appeared almost certain that Teddy would be the Republican presidential choice in 1920. Death intervened in January, 1919, to end his celebrated career. If he had lived he probably would have been the first President to shatter the no-third-term precedent since the Republicans with the comparatively unknown Warren Harding as standard bearer, won a smashing electoral victory.

Another President who, according to widespread opinion, could have had a third term for the asking was Calvin Coolidge. He tried to scotch re-nomination talk with his famous "I do not choose to run statement issued while on vacation in the summer of 1927 but was forced to clarify it with emphatic announcements later on before he could convince the public of his sincerity.

REMEDY SUGGESTED FOR CALCIUM DEFICIENCY.
MANHATTAN, Kas. (AP)—Deficiencies of calcium and phosphorus in rations due to the drought may seriously affect the health of mid-western dairy cows, Professor W. H. Riddle of Kansas State college says. To correct the deficiency he recommended a simple and inexpensive mineral mixture made of equal parts of finely-ground limestone, steamed bone meal and common salt fed at the rate of three pounds to each 100 pounds of grain mixture.

Riddle's mixture has a rare and excellent source of calcium and wheat bran and high protein concentrates are the best sources for phosphorus.

CHIEF WHITE TELLS HOW TO PREVENT FIRE HAZARDS HERE

Increased caution by all residents, merchants and their employees to prevent fire hazards developing in their homes and stores during the Christmas season is urged by Fire Chief Ben White in a warning issued today.

The chief especially recommends caution in the following cases:
Don't leave packing material and paper carelessly tossed under counters, down stairways, in corners or other similar places. Don't use anything but fireproof material for decorating and even then be careful.

Use fireproofed paper and other trimmings.
Don't place decorations near electric or other lights and don't decorate drop light cords. Keep decorations at a safe distance from heating appliances. Don't use cotton in any decoration scheme.

Watch The Celluloid
Don't let celluloid, a soluble mixture of gun cotton and camphor, touch lights, electric wires or any heating appliance. It burns fiercely and with great heat and when smoldering gives off explosive and toxic gases.

Keep inflammable material of any kind away from steam pipes and radiators.
Don't pile boxes, cartons or merchandise near stoves or furnaces.
Don't block stairways, windows, doors or aisles. Pile material in rows with passageways between so firemen can get to various parts of the building without delay in case of fire.
See that fire doors are in working order. Don't permit them to be blocked.
Use Care In Wiring
Don't hang electric wires or cords over nails or other metal. Have a licensed electrician make needed repairs or extensions.

Decorations should not be hung in continuous festoons but should have breaks or gaps to prevent rapid spread of fire. Poles with hooks on the ends should be kept handy to pull the decorations down in case of fire.
Smokers should exercise great care when entering business places. Don't discard cigarettes or cigars carelessly. A spark dropped on a counter of flimsy and highly inflammable material may cause a serious fire or a panic. Throw smokes away before entering the stores.
Each merchant should have a card prominently displayed in a window or doorway giving the name, phone number and street address of the person to be notified in case of emergency.

Boy Scout News

SCOUTS BUILDING 'CITY' FOR THEIR JAMBOREE

WASHINGTON — Construction of a new American 'city' within the National capital has just started here. It will house thousands of Boy Scouts from every state who will hold their National Scout Jamboree next June 30 to July 9. Headed by Harvey A. Gordon, national director of engineering, the Scouts own engineering service is busy making preliminary plans and surveys.

The federal government is lending the Scouts some 350 acres of its property on both sides of the Potomac river, nearly all within view of the Capitol, the Washington Monument and the Lincoln Memorial. A more inspiring camp site could hardly be found.

President's Participation

Here on Columbia Island, part of East Potomac park, the Tidal Basin, part of the Arlington agricultural farm and the Abington site on both sides of the Mt. Vernon Memorial highway, the Jamboree troops will pitch their tents. They will live together for ten days enjoying an unusual program of camping, pageantry, sightseeing and national functions in which it is hoped the President of the United States, as well as foreign ambassadors and leading persons at the nation's capital will participate.

The grounds surrounding the Washington Monument will be available for demonstrations and massed gatherings of the Scouts. Here an arena, seating 25,000, will be erected for afternoon and evening displays. Complete flood lights and an amplification system will be provided.

Each troop is bringing its own tentage and the Jamboree will be a show of camping methods used throughout America. The Scout's engineering service is releasing a manual on the construction of tentage, sleeping bags, and will tell what gear each Scout should bring and what will be furnished here. Many special trains bringing contingents will run onto sidings on the Jamboree grounds where the Scouts can detrain with their camping gear.

By March 1, the Scout Engineering Service expects to complete preliminary planning and construction. More than 250 men will be engaged at the height of operations.

To visualize the extent of work just begun, one might imagine the Jamboree grounds as a city comprising 25 small villages. Each "village" will house a sectional camp of 24 Jamboree troops each having 33 Scouts and three leaders. Together with the sectional leaders each "village" will house 1,260 persons.

Each section will have its own commissary disbursement depot, like a country store, its own post office and its own "trading post" where souvenir post cards, ice cream, films and the like may be purchased and where laundry may be deposited. Each sectional camp will have its own hospital with a complete medical staff, and a food depot in a 40 by 80 tent where trucks will leave the Scouts enormous food supply. Deliveries of perishable foods will be made twice daily to insure freshness.

Special Water Supply

The "Jamboree City" will have its own water supply. Eight miles of mains will bring a million gallons of water daily from three water sources in the District of Columbia and nearby Virginia. Every precaution will be made to safeguard the health of those at the Jamboree. More than 20,000 feet of sewage disposal lines will be needed for removing all shower and kitchen waste. Pit latrines will be provided for each troop where possible. In other cases scavenger cans will be used and disposed of in early morning hours.

An intensive system of pre-fabrication will be used. All wood structures, whether showers, railings, tables, or duck boards will be cut and assembled in panels at the factory and shipped to the Jamboree site for immediate erection. This saves working time and cuts waste to a minimum.

The "Jamboree City" will be connected with the outside world through a 15-trunk-line switchboard at the general headquarters. Eighty lines from this board will connect the sectional camps as an internal communication artery every hour of the day. In addition, each sectional camp will have its own pay station phone. Through a special communications division, parents in distant cities will be able to speak to their sons within a few minutes no matter where they might be located on the Jamboree grounds.

General headquarters will contain a main post office, main hospital and ambulance staff and telegraph offices for ordinary telegrams and press dispatches. Many newspapers will be represented by Scout correspondents and the Scouts themselves will publish a daily newspaper of 50,000 circulation.

Financed By Scouts

The Jamboree will be financed by the Scouts themselves through a nominal fee to cover the food, other essentials and the costs of preparing the Jamboree site. The Jamboree replaces the one scheduled for August 1935 which had to be cancelled by President Roosevelt due to health conditions in states near the capital when the site was 95 per cent complete.

An army officer who inspected the 1925 Jamboree site and its equipment before it was dismantled, characterized the encampment as "one of the greatest projects of non-military assemblages ever attempted in this country."

Job for Son of FDR Is Part of Fiancee's Dowry

(Copyright, 1936, By The Associated Press)
 WASHINGTON (AP)—New Year's day arrives and the du Pont families of Wilmington observe a family tradition carried through many generations.

The women dress their prettiest and stay at home beside heavy-laden buffets and wine-carts to greet the day's guests. But the men put on their top-hats, fill the back seats of their cars with sweet-meats and go the rounds of all the du Pont homes. It's the one day of the year in which all the du Ponts see all the du Ponts.

That's one custom to which the young and handsome Franklin Roosevelt, Jr., probably will be introduced when he marries the beauty of the Wilmington clan, Ethel du Pont, in June.

But Miss du Pont no doubt will be inducted into just as interesting a Roosevelt custom. Their most famous one centers around birthdays in the family. The family gathers wherever the President and his wife happen to be.

A magnificent cake is brought to the dinner table. It never bears more than 21 candles, for age stops there for the Roosevelts as far as the birthday cake is concerned. Each diner lights one candle and makes a wish for the birthday-child. If any remain unlighted, the round starts again, and those lucky enough to secure a second candle may make a wish for themselves.

Those are just two outstanding traditions which will enrich the future lives of the country's No. 1 romancers of the day. There are many others.

For instance, the homes. Each family has a summer home on the Maine coast. The du Ponts go to North East Harbor, Maine, where they sail and play golf in the tangy air. The Roosevelts go to Campo Bello, a resort island in New Brunswick, Canada, where they sail and pack picnic hampers.

Each winter both families repair to the south.

Even the year-round homes of the two families are much alike. The du Pont manor is a big place with mahogany furniture, fire-places, books and one "show-room," the two-story entrance hall in which the bride's father has hung his hunting trophies.

The Roosevelt home is another comfortable, rambling place with books and mahogany. But instead of hunting trophies it has the marine trophies of the President.

There will be a slight difference in the spirit of the places, however. The Roosevelts like to play. They play charades. They spring pranks on each other.

If the du Ponts are pranksters, the world doesn't know it. The term most often applied to the family is "conservative." But their conservative habits have given them a serene clan life.

The bride-to-be's father explains: "I suppose my daughter will settle down and be a good home-maker. Franklin is a fine lad. And then, all of our women marry young, have good-sized families and devote their time to their homes."

"Most of our young men, whether they are du Ponts or marry du Ponts, are brought into our plants, if they wish. They must succeed like non-members of the family, but we have a system of shifting employees around until they find their niche."

He doesn't explain — because Eugene du Pont seems an extremely shy, retiring and gentle person—but the fact is obvious. The family doesn't insist that its daughters marry financial equals. Many have married poor men, but the young bridegrooms may have jobs.

Ethel Never in Factory
 The women enjoy the family life that grows out of the clan's exceedingly successful corporations, but they know little of the business. Miss Ethel has never been in any of her family's scattered factories—and there are 78 scattered through 28 states, employing 50,000 people.

The church of the du Ponts is another rallying ground for the family. They built it in 1856.

Its pastor, the Rev. Frederick T. Ashton, hopes to perform the marriage ceremony in June because it will have special significance for his. His father, Rev. Amos T. Ashton, was the pastor at the Roosevelt Hyde Park church.

TIRE FACTORY OF GOODYEAR FIRM CLOSES

6,000 WORKERS ARE AFFECTED BY SIT-DOWN

By The Associated Press
Strikes in industries supplying units for automobile production extended today to the Goodyear Tire & Rubber company at Akron where a plant employing 6,000 workers was closed.

Some 400 workers in plant No. 1—one of two Akron factories, each employing 6,000—started a "sit-down" strike last night, one of a series of more than 20 this year. Strikers turned back employes on the midnight shift at the gates. The "sit-downers" left the plant early today.

Company officials said they were informed the strike was in protest against a new head room wage rate and a rotation work system in the truck tire department.

Approximately 7,300 workers engaged in plate glass production at Creighton and Ford City, Pa., Clarksburg, W. Va., Mt. Vernon, O., Henryetta, Okla., and Ottawa, Ill., and 1900 employed in the Midland Steel Products company at Detroit, maker of automobile frames, remained idle.

Federal and state conciliators resumed efforts to settle the strike of 6,000 employes of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company. Thirteen hundred workers at the Ottawa plant of the Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass company stopped work on a $4,000,000 Chrysler Motor order which union spokesmen said was shifted from the Pittsburgh firm in an effort to defeat the strike for union recognition there.

At Duluth, Minn., night shift employes of the Coolerator corporation, refrigerator manufacturers, left their jobs after a strike call by the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers. Union leaders said all the plant's 500 to 600 workers would be idle pending negotiations for union recognition, a 30 per cent wage increase, and a 40 hour week.

A collective bargaining agreement ended a 20-day strike of 9,000 employes of the Celanese Corporation of America plant at Cumberland, Md.

In Reading, Pa., 32 pickets striking against the Berkshire Knitting mills were arrested, bringing to 135 the number placed in the county jail. Pickets lay in slush and snow in front of the plant's entrance in a "die-down" demonstration over wages and working conditions.

Two transatlantic liners were affected by the maritime strike which continued on the Pacific, Atlantic and Gulf coasts.

FLASHES OF LIFE

(By The Associated Press.)

SMALL WORLD.

CLINTON, Ind.—Joe Barto of Centenary, Ind., says he put a distinguishing mark on a half dollar 35 years ago.

The coin was part of the payment for his passage from Europe to the United States.

The other day, Barto said, he received the same coin in change from a tavern in Centenary.

MISS AND HIT.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio—An unidentified man of quick temper sprinted for a bus here and missed it by inches. Exasperated, the driver reported, he picked up a stone, smashed a window of the moving vehicle and fled.

SHAME, SANTS!

COVINGTON, Ky.—Santa Claus, at the head of a welcoming parade sponsored by retail merchants, tossed hundreds of kisses (the candy kind) into crowds lining the streets.

Along came the board of health with a protest that the kisses, falling into gutters and on sidewalks, were a menace to health.

NO SALE.

TWIN FALLS, Idaho—William Henry Labounty, 80, thought highly of his Guernsey bull.

Several days ago two stockmen sought to buy the bull. Labounty refused to sell.

Yesterday the stockmen returned to renew their offer. They found Labounty's sored body in the corral being trampled by the enraged bull.

ROAD TO RUIN.

WEST PLAINS, Mo.—C. S. Martin is wondering how much longer he can live in a house by the side of the road and still be a friend to motorists.

His house stands by a highway curve. Recently five cars, failing to make the curve, have bounced into his front yard. The last, a truck, demolished his front porch.

—WHAT! NO PIE?

JEFFERSON, O. (P)—William Logan, 28, of Geneva, O., landed in jail because he wanted apple pie.

Now he faces 60 days without his favorite piece de resistance because it isn't on the jail menu.

Logan pleaded guilty to assault and battery before Justice of the Peace C. D. Adams. He said he beat his wife when he came home to find no apple pie after ordering her to bake one.

HOT DISCOVERY

NEWTON, Mass. (P)—Alderman Henderson Inches sat down in the aldermanic chamber, sniffed and said "Something must be burning." Fellow aldermen searched the corridors but found nothing. The odor became stronger.

Inches leaped to his feet and exclaimed, "It must be me."

FIRE FIGHTER

OKLAHOMA CITY. (P)—Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Cosgrove wanted to fire their maid. The maid didn't want to be fired. They tried cajolery to no avail, then appealed to police.

Sergeant Grover Gaines went to their rescue, laconically reported: "A disturbance call. Maid wouldn't leave. Watched her pack. Stayed until she left. Disturbance over."

QUICK, WATSON, THE NEEDLE

SHELTON, Wash. (P)—When Charles Hanson, 20, sought to enlist in the marines, a shapely but altogether undraped female figure was discovered tattooed on his right arm.

MaJ. T. Talmadge Taylor, recruiting officer, objected vigorously to the decoration. Hanson promptly hunted up a tattoo artist who added a modish, ankle-length gown to the picture. Then Hanson joined the marines.

NUISANCE TAXES MAY BE CONTINUED AGAIN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (AP)—Congress may be asked to continue most of a group of "nuisance" taxes scheduled to expire by next July.

The taxes, which provided more than $30,000,000 of revenue in the fiscal year and returned about $10,000,000 during the first five months of this year, include levies on gasoline, radio sets, mechanical refrigerators, firearms and automobiles and parts.

Although saying no definite decision has been reached as to whether the taxes should be continued, fiscal officials nevertheless added that revenue they produce will be needed next year's budget is to show an approximate balance.

President Roosevelt has announced he does not plan any additional taxes, but, besides the "nuisance" imposts, several taxes are expected to be continued by Congress.

The chairman of the British potato marketing board says the possibility of canning potatoes—whole, washed, fried—for export overseas is being investigated.

FARM OF THE FUTURE

Where Flies Are Electrocuted While Bossy Is Milked By Electricity

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 —The farmer who comes to the capital during the next year will find a truly electrifying display awaiting him at Rosedale Farm, across the Potomac in Virginia. Installed under direction of the Rural Electrification Administration, the display shows how the hard work of farming may be cut down to the simple flip of a switch.

It's a free show, with the only charge in the power lines that makes life easier for Farmer J. W. Hughes and his family. In the house, the barns, the workshops, the chicken coops—a succession of electrical wonders does his bidding. Even the fences, consisting of a single strand of wire through which charges are sent at regular intervals, shock the livestock into keeping out of the corn. And flies trying to crawl through the electrified screens are instantly electrocuted.

Practically all of the tools and machinery about the farm, as well as lighting and ventilation, have been electrified. Electric razors, stoves, washers, curlers and a host of electrical modernize the old farmhouse. Only the hog wallow seems to have escaped the maze of wires.

'SURPRISING' CLUES FOUND OFFICER SAYS

SIX MEN HEAD INTO RANCH COUNTRY IN SEARCH

SAN PERLITA, Tex., Dec. 3 (AP)—Six men, armed with what Constable Ernest Oakes termed "surprising" evidence, headed today into ranch country in search of Luther and John Blanton, missing farmers.

Oakes said he had received evidence from a North Texas police department pointing toward possible location of the bodies of the men who disappeared mysteriously on a hunting trip Nov. 18.

The constable said two Mexicans who rode through the Ranch property two or three days after the Blantons vanished had made written statements that their horses were taken from them at Norias, 25 miles north of Raymondville, by two Americans who told them to "get out of the country."

Oakes declined to say what connection, if any, the statements had with the Blanton case. He said he was working on another case when he found the "surprising evidence."

Sheriff Howard Cragg said in the absence of new clues he was awaiting the return of Texas rangers who had been investigating the case at other points.

Meanwhile, Santiago Saurez, Mexican consul at Brownsville, told the Valley Morning Star at Harlingen he was preparing a demand from the Mexican government to the United States department for an investigation of the disappearance of Jesus Rivera, whom Saurez said was a citizen of Mexico.

Rivera and Reyes Ramirez vanished last Feb. 18 while hunting about two miles from the place where the Blantons last were seen.

Saurez said he had received no answer to a letter he wrote "over a week ago" requesting Rangers to combine an investigation of the Rivera case with the search for the Blantons.

KING EDWARD INSISTS ON PRIVATE LIBERTY

LONDON, Dec. 3 (AP)—Unruffled by a government crisis over his possible marriage to Mrs. Walls Simpson, Britain's bachelor king stood firm today in his insistence on private liberty.

From accurate, definite and authoritative representations, the Associated Press learned King Edward's position could be stated this way:

"While still insisting upon his prerogatives as an individual to seek personal happiness in his private life, he nevertheless realizes the great responsibilities of his high office."

"Above everything, what he considers to be for the best interests of the British realm will continue to dominate his life."

These highly informed sources denied without qualification that King Edward has made any plans for possible marriage to Mrs. Simpson.

The king feels assured, they added, of the loyalty of the great masses of the British public and that in any problem affecting either his public or private life he will continue to have their sympathy and support.

The king was represented as prepared to face grave and developing political crises as they arise.

Francois Leclerc du Tremblay, confidant of Cardinal Richelieu, was better known as Father Joseph.

TOACCO HEIRESS GAVE $50,000 TO DEMOCRATS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (AP)—Senate investigators reported today that John D. Rockefeller Jr. gave $70,000 to Republican campaign funds, while Democratic organizations received $50,000 from Mrs. James R. H. Cromwell, formerly Doris Duke, the tobacco heiress.

Their contributions were included in a list of large donations compiled by the special Senate committee investigating spending in the recent campaign.

The committee said it hoped to trace the source of most of the $13,000,000 spent by scores of political organizations in the last campaign, as a basis for legislative recommendations to the President and Congress.

Investigators said they expected to seek "far more drastic restrictions" on campaign expenditures than those imposed by present law.

The list made public today showed gifts totaling $50,100 from Alfred P. Sloan Jr. of New York, president of General Motors Company, to 15 anti-New Deal agencies.

Mrs. Cromwell's contributions comprised $5,000 each to the Democratic state committees of Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia and Connecticut.

Making Good

A graduate of Pampa high school, class of 1930, and an ex-Harvester football player, is making good in Long Beach Junior college, Long Beach, Calif. Raymond W. Wiedman, above, is vice president of the Junior college student body, and is the editor of the feature page of The Viking, school newspaper.

Last week, The Viking won first place in the Southern California Junior college press association for the best all around paper, and the feature page also was awarded first place.

When Mr. Wiedman visited Pampa last year, he was a member of the United States Marine corps. Shortly after his discharge at San Diego, he enrolled as a student in the Long Beach school, rated as one of the best in California. While in the Marine corps he won marksmanship medals while stationed at Honolulu. As a Marine he also saw service in Haiti and off the coast of South Carolina. Mr. Wiedman left the Corps with an enviable record.

Mr. Wiedman writes a column "On the Poodin'" on the editorial page of The Viking. His picture is carried each time at the head of the column. While in Pampa high school Mr. Wiedman was interested in athletics and football. He played on the Harvester team. He was a member of the cast of several dramatic offerings, produced by the school. Mr. Wiedman plans to continue his education at a senior college after he graduates. He is working his way through college. This summer he was employed on an old Spanish grant ranch near Santa Barbara.

Santa Fe Workers Unable to Agree

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 3 (AP)—Forty joint committeemen of the four big railway brotherhoods—representing 3,000 workers on the western lines of the Santa Fe railway—today were unable to reach an agreement with the railway in wage negotiations.

Spokesmen for the brotherhoods, who would not be quoted by name, said the union membership west of Albuquerque, N. M., would be asked to empower their grand officers to call a strike if necessary.

The controversy, an official announcement said, involves requests "for rates of pay comparable with those now in effect and received by employees engaged in similar service on other railroads in this territory."

A pioneer in the Sunday school movement was Sarah Trimmer, English authoress born in 1741.

Although seldom used, hitching posts and water troughs may be seen in many parts of the south today.

GRAHAM, SMITH AND WEAR WILL BE IN BACKFIELD AGAINST BULLDOGS

BOYS BATTLE FOR POSITIONS ON 1937 TEAM

SIX SEEK LEFT HALF BERTH FOR GAME SATURDAY

So keen is competition for places on the 1937 Harvester football team that Coaches Odus Mitchell and J. C. Prejean are loathe to name a starting lineup for their game with the Bulldogs Saturday afternoon at Harvester field. Game time will be 2:30 o'clock with admission 25 cents for students and 50 cents for adults.

Captain J. W. Graham Jr. will lead a small but fighting band against the Bulldogs who will have a wide edge in experience, weight and practice for the game. The Bulldogs have been out for three weeks while the Harvesters will take the field with only a week of training.

A 1937 "find" will be in the lineup. He is little Don Smith of the famous Smith family which has given the Harvesters several stars. Little Don will be at the short position usually played by the quarterback, who will be J. W. Graham. The midget captain will call signals from his right halfback position. The other sure starter will be Jack Wear at fullback. Wear comes to the Harvesters direct from the Junior high Reapers.

The battle for the left half position goes on with no less than six boys in the thick of the fray. Probably on the inside track are Junior Williams and Melvin Turner of this year's squad. They are being chased hard, however, by Bobby Carr, a newcomer to the squad. Pete Dunaway, Beecher Freeman and Ackie Prater are also in the big middle of the scrap. Freeman is up from the Gorillas with Dunaway and Prater former Reapers.

The line battle is not so hard to figure out although several stiff arguments are in progress. The ends will be Norman Cox and Topy Reynolds. Harvesters back for another two years each, with Harry McMahan the third man in the race. The tackle position is not so easily diagnosed. Three boys up from the Gorillas appear to be on the inside track. They are Alvin Coshaw, Tommy Solomon and Harold Wisley, which will give the positions more weight. John Henry Nelson, Harvester tackle this season, will probably be switched to a guard job where he will battle J. P. Mathews and Bill Stiles for starting honors. Arthur Harding will be the center.

Several other fine prospects are in uniform and will no doubt be heard from before the next playing season gets under way. The backfield appears to be in for another battle against weight while the line might be heavier than that of the 1936 team.

All-Pacific Coast Team Is Selected

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 3 (AP)—Fleet-footed backfield men, each a triple-threat, take their places behind a fast, rugged, hard-charging line in the Associated Press 1936 All-Pacific coast football team.

There is weight in the forward wall, versatility and sufficient poundage in the backfield to combine every asset required for a championship team.

University of Washington, champion of the Pacific Coast conference and the far west's Rose Bowl defender New Year's day, placed four men on the first eleven—Max Starovech, guard; Charles Bond, tackle; and halfbacks Byron Haines and Jimmy Cain.

Starovech, polling the greatest number of votes in the consensus of coaches, officials and sports writers, won the distinction of line captain. Ed Goddard, Washington State, was picked for backfield captain. He was the dynamo that made the Washington State team run; without him it might have been a second division squad instead of runner-up for the title.

Sam Baugh Is Named Most Valuable Man

HOUSTON, Dec. 3 (AP)—Sam Baugh, Texas Christian's, passing-quarterback, was the unanimous choice today of sports writers in the seven Southwest conference cities as the loop's outstanding player and the player most valuable to his team.

He was chosen to receive the Houston Post trophy Monday night. Lloyd Russell of Baylor was second. Joe Routt of Texas A. & M. and Jack Robbins of Arkansas tied for third place with Buck Friedman of Rice next.

It was the ninth consecutive time a backfield man had been chosen.

CAGE GAME SCHEDULED

KELLEVILLE, Dec. 3—Coach J. L. Lloyd and his Kellerville Bearcats will meet the Magic City Eagles Friday afternoon in a final football game to be played in Magic City. Members of the teams have been working long and hard for the big game. Neither Coach Lloyd nor Coach Phillips of the Eagles would release starting lineups yesterday.

Each of Davidson college's five cheer leaders performs acrobatic stunts for amusement of fans.

Wheeler Mustangs—1936 District 3B Champs

This, incidentally, brought the district championship for the first time to Wheeler school. Reading from left to right they are:

Young, back; Norman, back; Derbyberry, back; Ford (captain), back; Markham, end; Groves, back; Cole, back; Robison, manager.

Third row—Stina Cain, assistant coach; Shipman, tackle; Badley, guard; Tucker, center; Noah, tackle; Williams, guard; Robison, back; Bob Clark, head coach.

Class B District Titles Will Be Decided Tomorrow

STOKES AND MOOSE MAKE GOOD AS ATHLETES AT KERRVILLE

Midget Captain

J. W. GRAHAM, JR. Football fans meet the captain of the 1937 Harvesters. He is J. W. Graham, 137-pound quarterback, who was elected by his lettermen teammates. Others receiving votes were J. P. Mathews, Bill Stiles, Topy Reynolds and Melvin Cox. Captain Graham is a sophomore and has two more years eligibility. He is only 15 years of age and has lived in Pampa for 12 years. He was born in Mobeetie. Graham's work in the Harvester backfield this season was outstanding. Besides being an ace ball carrier, Graham can pass and punt with the best. He will probably do both for the Harvesters next season.

Two former Harvesters are making good with a bang at Schreiner Institute at Kerrville according to reports in a Beaumont paper sent to The NEWS by Joe Gribon and Skeet Wise, students at Texas university.

Preceding the important game with the Lamar Junior college in Beaumont, the Schreiner eleven was hoisted to the sky with Moose Hartman and Stokes Green getting their share of the praise. Hartman, according to stories, is the outstanding freshman who reported to the team this year. Lamar defeated the Schreiner team 7 to 6 on a slow field but according to reports of the game, Hartman and Green were among the outstanding players on the field.

In commenting on the players on the team, the Beaumont Journal said:

Hartman, probably the outstanding player, is a sophomore and is a midget. Good at breaking through and spilling opposing runners. Tips the scales at 207 pounds, is number 47. Wears a size 15 shoe.

Green, another behemoth tackle. Good but slow. Registers 190 on the scales and is number 57. The paper also carried a story about Hartman's huge feet. The stories frequently mentioned the "two giants from the Pampa Harvesters." About the feet, well, here it is:

Quite a bit of interest is centered around Fred Hartman, of Pampa, largest man on the squad. Hartman is 6 feet 2 inches tall, and weighs 210 pounds. He wears a size 15 shoe, and the athletic department at Schreiner had some difficulty in getting football shoes large enough for Hartman. The shoes were finally ordered from Chicago after Hartman had played in tennis shoes for several weeks.

Games To Be Played At Matador and Tulia

It will be a long way to football games on Friday afternoon but many Pampa fans plan to follow the Wheeler Mustangs and the Panhandle Panthers on their long jaunts in quest of bi-district honors.

The Wheeler eleven will meet the Flomot Longhorns in Matador while the Panhandle team will battle the Tulia Hornets in Tulia.

The Panhandle Lions club will lead a large delegation of fans to Tulia by special train, leaving Panhandle at 12 o'clock. Pampans wishing to ride the special should be in Panhandle early. Led by the Sparks boys, the Panthers have rolled up 313 points in 10 games. Tulia also has an excellent record with only one defeat recorded.

Wheeler also went through a tough schedule undefeated to win district honors while only a tie marred the Flomot slate. Ford, giant fullback, is the sparkplug of the Wheeler attack. He has been assisted all season by Norman, midget quarterback.

Down on the other end of the line, Polmot has a quartet of brilliant ball toters although the squad consists of only 15 players. Light and Brown are the big noises on the offense, it is reported.

Tulia, with seven regulars in bed with the mumps, lost district honors from Dalhart. Some of the mumps victims reported for practice early this week; it was related, but it is doubtful if the team will be at full strength for the big struggle.

Both games will be called at 2:30 o'clock.

The Raleigh (N. C.) recreation commission sponsors a training school for girl basketball referees.

EASTERN TEAM LIKELY TO BE BOWL CHOICE

HUSKIES TO NAME FOES BEFORE NIGHTFALL TODAY

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 3 (AP)—The annual Rose Bowl football mystery was due to be solved today.

Director of Athletics Ray Eckmann of the University of Washington, the West's representative in the famed New Year's day grid classic, was to announce the opposing school before nightfall.

As the zero hour approached, close observers were still completely in the dark as to the lucky candidate—lucky because of the glory and financial gain attached to a Rose Bowl bid.

Undefeated Louisiana State and Alabama remained at the top of possible candidates from the South. The Navy, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania and Dartmouth figured as the leading schools of the East.

Founded on nothing but rumor, the guesses here were that one of the eastern group would be invited. Never confirmed or denied by Eckmann, Coach Jimmy Phelan or anyone else connected with Washington, the supposition was based on the point that teams from Dixie had outnumbered the representatives from other parts of the country in recent years.

Seven out of the last eleven invitations have gone to outstanding southern teams. Southern Methodist came out last New Year's day, Alabama made its fourth trip since 1926 the year before, Tulane traveled out from New Orleans in 1932 and Georgia Tech in 1929.

Sports Roundup

BY EDDIE BRIETZ.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3 (AP)—When Auburn gridders return to the campus from their holiday junket to the Havana festival, they will have covered 11,000 miles and visited three countries during the season. They went to Canada on the trip to Detroit, stopped off in Mexico on the way home from the Santa Clara game, and now are packing up to go to Cuba for a New Year's day game there.

Mickey Concrane says he's serious about playing Hank Greenberg in the Tiger outfield and using Rudy York at first base. A traffic judge here soaked old Jack Johnson 25 bucks for speeding. That pass interference business is like the golf stymie—there's no answer. Al Schacht, the baseball comedian, has gone under the wing of Christy Walsh, manager of Babe Ruth and other sports celebs. Schacht is going to be booked for a tour of the minors.

Danno O'Mahoney, who once was tops, is working the small wrestling clubs around town. Detroit is willing to listen to offers for Al Simmons and Goose Goslin. Strange sounds: Franco Getroetti, once a prime favorite, getting the

Longhorns Are Determined To Wreck Arkansas' Hopes

Mustang-Rice Game Is Described as Toss-Up

(By The Associated Press)

Five Southwest Conference teams neared the end of the season's training grinds today in preparation for final games Saturday.

Baylor already had completed its schedule and Texas Christian finishes next week against Santa Clara on the west coast.

The week's card pits the University of Texas against the University of Arkansas at Little Rock, Southern Methodist against Rice at Houston and Texas A. & M. against Manhattan at Tyler.

The Texas Longhorns, determined to wreck Arkansas' title hopes, prepared to entrain after working overtime to perfect a defense for the Razorbacks' potent aerial attack. It will be the final game for seven Longhorn players and possibly the last for the Steers under Coach Jack Chevigny, who has announced he would not seek reappointment.

The Porkers discarded scrimmage as a precaution against injuries as they drilled on plays designed to bring them their first conference championship. Ralph Rawlings, leading scorer, said he would be unable to play because of a leg injury.

The Texas Aggies also took no chances, substituting a limbering up workout for scrimmage. Rain hampered the cadets in their efforts to reach top condition for Chick Meehan's Jaspers.

Coach Matty Bell of Southern Methodist termed the Mustang-Owl clash a toss-up. He drilled the Ponies under Cowby Stadium stands when rain prevented an outdoor workout. The Owls began tapering off an intensive week of practice.

Bronx cheer at the six-day bike race. It hurt Franco so much he quit the race. Of course, the fact he was 19 laps behind at the time had nothing to do with it.

Gate Receipts At Grid Games Show Increases

By HERBERT BARKER

NEW YORK, Dec. 3 (AP)—Reflecting easier money conditions as well as a full quota of competitive thrills, the college football campaign for 1936 enjoyed a substantial increase in attendance "gate receipts."

An Associated Press survey covering more than 50 representative colleges today indicated attendance rose 15 per cent over 1935, and gate receipts soared in about the same proportion.

This, following a ten per cent increase in 1935 over 1934, continued the upward swing since the "depression low" in 1932.

Figuring home attendance only, the survey showed that 4,829,000 fans had witnessed 217 games played by major schools in the east, midwest, south, southwest and far west. This compared with 4,056,000 at 210 games a year ago.

The south led in percentage gain, roughly 32 per cent.

Individualy, Ohio State's Buckeyes, whose championship hopes nationally were ruined by Pitt, Notre Dame and Northwestern by a total of 11 points, were tops in home attendance with nearly 283,000.

WISE GUYS BETTING DIZZY WILL STAY WITH CARDINALS

By PAUL MICKELSON

MONTREAL, Dec. 3 (AP)—The cast tells the story of the minor league baseball convention in session at Montreal. Here it is:

Kenesaw M. Landis. . . The commissioner of organized baseball, whose powers are so broad he can do what he wills with no legal recourse by the clubs. The old judge was due to arrive today, while scores of reporters were ready to pounce on him with: "How about Bob Feller?" He'll tell them nothing until he's ready.

Feller. . . The 17-year old school-boy pitcher picked up by the Cleveland Indians. Des Moines, the club nearest his home, claims the Indians violated the contract rules. Commissioner Landis must rule him either the property of the Indians, a free agent, or property of Des Moines.

Dean. . . "Dizzy," the pitcher, for whom Cincinnati has offered $200,000 but the St. Louis Cardinals want players besides.

Rickey. . . Branch Rickey is the St. Louis auctioneer in the reported Dean Deal. . . The smarter baseball men offer even money Dizzy will stay with St. Louis.

Comiskey. . . Lou Comiskey, owner of the Chicago White Sox, who has something the other American league clubs want: Luke Appling, first batting champion in White Sox history.

Terry. . . Bill Terry, manager of the champion New York Giants, who will sell or trade Outfielder Hank Leiber, a good player but reputedly persona non grata to Mr. Terry.

Both games will be called at 2:30 o'clock.

Quite a bit of interest is centered around Fred Hartman, of Pampa, largest man on the squad. Hartman is 6 feet 2 inches tall, and weighs 210 pounds. He wears a size 15 shoe, and the athletic department at Schreiner had some difficulty in getting football shoes large enough for Hartman. The shoes were finally ordered from Chicago after Hartman had played in tennis shoes for several weeks.

Iowa U. in Night Club Business—but No Liquor!

Just another bibulous night spot, a casual observer might say, but the one in this scene isn't. It's believed to be the first college-sponsored night club in the country, launched at the University of Iowa, in Iowa City. It has soft lights, music, dancing, floor shows, excellent food, and all the other ingredients—except liquor. Even beer is barred. A campaign led by Editor Jess Gorkin of the Daily Iowan resulted in the opening of the "Silver Shadow," with 110 couples of formally attired collegians attending. Gorkin is shown in foreground with Miss Dorothea Carlin. The musician is Donato Petruccelli, law student, all entertainers and waiters being students.

Jannazzo Down, but Not Out

In a slow, humdrum fight that had a small crowd clamoring for action, Barney Ross successfully defended his welterweight crown against the challenge of Izzy Jannazzo, Alabama battler, in a 15-rounder in Madison Square Garden, N. Y. Ross, making probably the poorest showing of his career, hit with no telling force, and looked slow and flabby after 17 months' layoff. The picture above, showing Jannazzo on the floor at left, was taken after the challenger had slipped in the second round.

Reported in Even Split on Federal Aid for 'Co-ops'

These six members of the special presidential commission which spent six months abroad studying European consumer co-operative movements are reported divided three to three on whether they should or should not recommend government aid for development of consumer co-operatives in the United States. Chairman Jacob S. Baker, former WPA deputy administrator; Leland Olds, of the New York Power Commission; and Miss Emily Bates, of Kansas City, are reported in favor of a government agency to foster co-operative movements. Opposing such recommendations, it is reported, are Clifford Gregory, farm paper editor; Robin Hood, executive director of the National Co-operative Council; and Charles E. Stuart, New York engineer.

Winter Storms Make Their Bow

A foretaste of the many struggles to come between powerful transatlantic liners and mountainous seas churned up by winter storms is afforded by this picture made as the S. S. Bremen pounded her way toward New York, her bow throwing up a plume of spray. Driven by head winds, the huge waves delayed the liner's arrival at New York nearly 24 hours.

Industrial Pioneer

Two new industries may arise from the scientific pioneering of Dr. Charles H. Herty (above) of Savannah, Ga., who has found a method of extracting fat from pine trees. The wood pulp, thus treated, can be made into high grade bond and book paper. The fats have the same properties as animal flesh and are suitable for manufacture into soap and paint. Dr. Herty's research has been sponsored by the industrial committee of Savannah.

'Royalty' at Livestock Congress

U. S. Flyer Faces Rebels in Spain

Casting his lot with the government forces, Bert Acosta, American flyer, has left the relatively quiet pursuit of civilian flying for service in Spain's savage civil war. Acosta is pictured above in Paris just before going to Murcia, Spain, his first post of duty. One of the flyers who crossed the Atlantic by air with Admiral Byrd, Acosta has been making plans for the proposed New York-Paris air race in May, 1937.

TORCH OF HIGH IDEALS

Ray King, left, captain-elect of Minnesota's 1937 football team, has a lot to live up to if he carries the Gophers' torch as high as did Ed Widseth, All-America tackle and retiring captain, right, this year. The torch, emblematic of the Minnesota captaincy is being passed in front of Andy Uram, halfback and alternate captain of next season's squad.

Cowing the Deer-Hunters

As three many-pointed bucks crashed through a nearby thicket unnoticed, a deer-hunter blazed away at the cattle of Charlie Porter (left), Traverse City, Mich., farmer. Since antlered quadrupeds seemed to attract least attention of the Michigan nimrods, Porter decided to disguise his cattle as deer—which is why the bosses graze with antlers tied to their horns.

Was Favorite

Frau Katharina Schrat is seldom heard of these days and this picture is probably the first taken of her since the death of Emperor Franz Josef of Austria-Hungary 20 years ago. Now 84, for years she was the confidante and adviser of the Emperor, the most influential woman in Europe. She lives in Vienna, devotes her life to aiding penniless nobility.

CAIN IS ABLE LAD

HE ALSO CAN LUG THE LEATHER, AND IS ON THE RECEIVING END OF A LOT OF PASSES...

Dogs Are Guards for Executioner

Threats against his life have become so numerous that Rich Owen, executioner at Oklahoma state prison, has built a strong fence around his McAlester home and keeps two savage bulldogs on guard. Owen, shown here with his ferocious sentinels, has pulled the switch at more than 50 executions.

Singing Fireman of Congress

If singing can be used in filibustering, Fireman John T. Bernard, Minnesota Farmer-Laborite, ought to be in first position in the next Congress. Bernard, photographed as he sings an aria from Pagliacci, was successively iron miner, railroader, and fireman. Elected congressman Nov. 3, he will join the Progressive bloc in the House. He is widely known for his singing.

New Queen for the Belgians?

Belgium is stirred by reports that its King Leopold, whose wife was killed in an auto accident, may take the Archduchess Adelaide, above, as his second bride. The archduchess is a sister of Archduke Otto of Hapsburg, pretender to the throne of Austria.

New $8,000,000 Capital to House Japan's Lawmakers

Built completely of Japanese materials, the massive new capital (above) in Tokyo has just been finished after 17 years of work. It cost $8,000,000 and will house the Diet. Only the pyramid atop the central tower is reminiscent of the ancient Japanese architecture. Typ splendors are in the Imperial resting halls (right below) and the rich finish of the president's chamber adjoining the House of Representatives.

Not all prisoners of war are given an opportunity to live for the day when peace will be restored to Spain. Too often, as shown here, a firing squad and a convenient tree in an isolated spot end the captured man's plight. The youth who stands so defiantly with white hood drawn over his eyes awaiting the end was captured in Madrid and convicted of being a rebel spy.

STRIKERS LAY PLANS FOR DEMONSTRATION

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 3 (AP)—Striking maritime workers laid plans today for a huge public demonstration to gain support for their 35-day walkout while a factional dispute flared between eastern and western longshoremen. Union committeemen said 25,000 persons, including women and children, would participate in a parade here Saturday in which floats and marching units will satirize the "big three" employer group which is deadlocked with unions over peace terms. A public mass meeting and parade is scheduled for next Tuesday night when union speakers will present their side of the strike, affecting over 37,000 maritime workers and halting movement of about 225 vessels. Harry Bridges, president of the Pacific Coast longshoremen, was charged by international president Joseph Ryan with being in a "hook-up" with Joseph Curran, leader of striking insurgent seamen on the gulf and east coast. Bridges, in a letter to Curran, accused Ryan of breaking a pledge that Eastern longshoremen would support the west coast strike. Ryan replied eastern longshoremen's representatives "definitely stated to representatives from the Pacific coast that under no circumstances would they agree to a sympathetic strike."

Pampa's Christmas lighting decorations in downtown streets will be turned on for the first time Friday night. The streets have been strung with holy intertwined about vari-colored lights. Jaycee officials said today the lighting system will be given a test Friday night to assure perfect operation for night crowds in the city for Santa Day on Saturday. "When the lights are turned on," A. J. Johnson, Santa Day chairman, said today, "Pampa will take on a festive spirit, wholly fitting with the holiday season." Fourteen civilian conservation corps for soil conservation have been established in Kentucky. Carl Carlson won the corn husking championship in 1936.

THE FINANCIAL WHIRLIGIG

By LOUIS SCHNEIDER

EXEMPT The healthy demand for high grade bonds is the reason for current low interest rates. In many cases industrial issues are priced to yield as little as governments and municipals. This situation has created a demand for municipals. Uncertainty about future tax impositions has spurred large investors into this market. Reason—they are tax exempt. Municipal bond dealers report that even small investors are now active buyers.

WAITING

Corporate officials are closely watching basic commodity prices. They note that contrary to unfavorable supply demand conditions prices have been moving up. After making a close study of the situation they conclude that the advances are attributed to inventory speculation. It is to be noted that business conditions have at last started on the upturn. It is also to be noted that most bank deposits are for corporations. With funds now drawing interest and with all signs pointing to increased business activity, inventory buying has started. The more cautious point out that prices will move a bit better. But since the supply keeps up with speculative demand and not consuming demand there is belief current that a temporary reaction in the near future is quite logical. It is admitted, however, that the long term trend of basic commodities is upward. That is why when the expected decline takes place new commodity buyers will be witnessed. This time for actual use and not speculation. But that isn't expected until the turn of the year.

COTTON

Cotton trade insiders look for a strong statistical position entering 1937. This despite the increased output of foreign countries. Domestic consumption continues at a high rate. Foreign buying of American lint continues large especially for British accounts. It is said that some 1,000,000 bales will disappear out of the season's stock. Exports are estimated at better than 5,500,000 bales there will be a dip into the carryover.

REPORTS ARE THAT:

Southern California Edison will spend $2,750,000 next year to build a transmission power line from Boulder Dam. Leo's will be a liberal dividend payer during 1937. Tape action of Callahan Zinc due to tip out on shares—SEC can't help if you lose. Commodity traders say that corn contracts are unattractive at current levels. Baldwin's unfinished corn copra being mentioned in speculative circles. Toronto believes that Noranda Mines will show $4 a share.

FACTS

Of the 622 radio stations in this country newspaper was invented in a Frenchman named Pascal National Theaters is owned two by the Chase National Bank York and one-third by Century-Fox Film. As. Ward E. Loomis, president of the Railroad, will be replaced by is the road's plant facilities to produce over eight billion bottle caps per year.

LET'S KNOW TEXAS AND TEXANS

BY WILL H. MAYES

In this column answers will be given to inquiries as to Texas history and other matters pertaining to the state and its people. As evidence of good faith inquirers must give their names and addresses, but only their initials will be printed. Address inquiries to Will H. Mayes, Austin, Texas.

Q. What is believed to have been the route of Cabeza de Vaca and his men through Texas to the Pacific coast in 1534? L. L. E.

A. From Galveston bay to Corpus Christi bay, thence north to the site of San Antonio, thence westward on the Texas side of the Rio Grande to the El Paso area.

Q. During what period did Texas give most liberal land grants to secure railroad building and with what results? T. H.

A. From 1870 to 1882, the increase between 1870 and 1880 being from 711 to 3,244 miles and that between 1873 and 1882 being from 1,578 to 6,009.

Q. How many Spanish explorers, and colonizers visited Texas prior to 1731? N. C.

A. According to Casteneda, Latin-American historian, instead of the eight or ten sporadic expeditions heretofore mentioned by Texas historians, recent discoveries show that there were 92 different Spanish expeditions into the present borders of Texas before 1731, and at least 40 missions (other than those whose ruins have survived) were built, mostly crude log structures.

Q. Who was Austin's first mayor, when was he elected and what vote did he receive? H. D.

A. Edwin Waller, who surveyed the town site and for whom Waller Creek, running thru it, was named, was elected the first mayor, January 13, 1840, without opposition, receiving 187 votes.

Q. When was Mexico declared independent of Spain? C. B. C.

A. Iturbide proclaimed the independence of Mexico, February 24, 1821, and Gen. O'Donoghue ratified the Treaty of Cordova, Aug. 21, pending confirmation of which by Spain, a temporary government was set up.

Q. What prosperous East Texas town was once known as "Cow Hill"? T. M. B.

A. Commerce, so named because of its prospects for being a commercial center, but now known best as the home of the East Texas State Teachers college.

Q. (a) Was San Felipe ever the capital of Texas? (b) Was court held there about 1846, and if so over what part of the state did it have jurisdiction? L. W. F.

A. (a) San Felipe was established July 26, 1823, and while it could hardly have been called the capital of Texas, it was for all practical purposes the capital and political center of the American colonists until the constitutional convention at Washington-on-the-Brazos, March 1, 1836. (b) Austin county was organized in 1837 and in 1842 the county seat was moved from San Felipe to Bellville, where the courts with county jurisdiction have since been held.

Q. When and by whom was the "Old Spanish Fort" constructed, the ruins of which are near the Spanish Fort postoffice in Montague county? G. D.

A. Presumably by Coronado's expedition in 1541, as it is known that it was at this point that Coronado divided his forces to pursue three separate routes in Texas, the fort probably being intended as a possible concentration point.

Q. When was the Houston and Texas Central Railroad building begun? J. K. L.

A. First called the Galveston and Red River Railroad, it received a charter from the Legislature, March 11, 1858, which was revoked February 14, 1862, and reinstated in 1866 with the name changed to Houston and Texas Central. Grading was begun, however, at Houston in 1853 and the first engine was installed in January, 1856, when only two miles was completed.

Q. How did it come about that the defenders of the Alamo were fighting to preserve the Coahuila constitution in anticipation of the declaration of Texas independence? R. F. M.

A. Assuming that to be a fact, it could only have been because they had not learned of the Declaration of Independence of March 2, or the assembling of the convention, and regarded themselves as a part of an army of the Texas provisional government, created by the consultation of November, 1835, which by a vote of 33 to 15, had asserted its loyalty to the Mexican constitution of 1824 and had declared it would remain faithful to Mexico so long as it was governed under that constitution.

Q. How many and what county sites has Angelina county had? N. G.

A. When the county was organized in 1846 the county site was at Marlon, now known as Marlon's Ferry on the Angelina river. Jonesville near the center of the county, became the second county site; the third being Homer; the fourth located at Lufkin, the present county site.

Q. When was New Mexico colonized? T. L. K.

A. Juan de Onate received a commission in 1598 to colonize the territory and commanded a party that passed through the El Paso section to San Juan and Santa Fe, the capital being established in 1609 at Santa Fe.

Q. Was El Paso established before or after the settling of Santa Fe? T. L. K.

A. The town of El Paso was not founded until 1680. Following a revolt of New Mexico Indians that year most of the 2,000 Spaniards then in New Mexico retreated to El Paso and established the town.

ABILENE ELEVEN HAILED AS SEASON'S TEAM OF DESTINY

BY HAROLD V. RATLIF

DALLAS, Dec. 3 (AP)—Inter-scholastic League football prepared today for thrill-packed battles on eight widely separated fronts as survivors of gruelling district campaigns made final preparations to bid for state gridiron honor.

Amarillo's Golden Sandstorm, seeking its third straight championship goes to Childress tomorrow to begin the drive against a team that on paper is accorded but an outside chance.

Early in the season Childress lost to Pampa 26-6. Amarillo smashed the same team 29-6 in a district game.

Abilene, surprise winner of the turbulent Oil Belt scramble and hailed as probably the season's "team of destiny," gets its first state test with El Paso high at El Paso Saturday. El Paso lost to Lubbock 33-12 and Abilene tied Lubbock 6-6.

McKinney plays at Gainesville Friday. The Lions and Leopards stack up about even on the basis of season play, both having met early reverses at the hands of Dallas teams. Gainesville apparently holds a slight edge.

North Dallas, upset winner in district eight, plays the undefeated, untied Steers of North Side at Fort Worth Saturday. This game is rated as another toss-up.

Longview, undefeated though tied, meets Lufkin at Longview Friday. It is another contest where there is little comparison to offer.

Hillsboro and Kerrville clash at San Antonio Friday night in probably the feature battle of the week. The game matches undefeated, untied teams with Kerrville apparently showing an edge on the basis of the season's record.

Port Arthur, a favored South Texas team from the start of the campaign, plays Jeff Davis at Houston Friday. Port Arthur lost one game, that to Amarillo, and was held to a scoreless deadlock by Byrd high of Shreveport. The Yellow Jackets defeated Thomas Jefferson of San Antonio 33-0, a team that held Jeff Davis to a 7-7 tie.

Corpus Christi and Edinburg, both undefeated though tied, play at Corpus Christi Friday. The season record indicates the Buccaneers hold the edge. Corpus Christi having decisions over Harlingen 35-0, Brownsville 47-0 and Kingsville 53-0. Edinburg tied Harlingen 15-15, defeated Brownsville 24-0 and won over Kingsville 13-7.

HARMONY NOTE IS SOUNDED BY EX-PRESIDENT

RAFFERTY MAY SEEK SHOWDOWN AT CONVENTION

BY ALAN GOULD.

HOUSTON, Dec. 3 (AP)—Jeremiah T. Mahoney of New York, leader of the anti-Olympics forces in last year's convention, sounded a harmony keynote today on the eve of the 1936 annual meeting of the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States.

Mahoney was a probable choice to be returned to the A. A. U. presidency which he yielded to Avery Brundage of Chicago and his stand for peace cheered those desirous of a calm convention.

Nevertheless, indications pointed to efforts by some leaders, including Houston's Jack Rafferty, to bring about a showdown on events connected with this year's Olympics. Items they want aired include the expulsion of Eleanor Holm Jarrett from the American swimming team, the post-Olympic suspension of Jesse Owens, and the exclusion of two Jewish sprinters from the 400-meter relay team.

"Serious mistakes were made in connection with our part in the Olympics," said Mahoney. "To my mind some of the things that happened were inexcusable, but there is nothing actually to be gained now in reviving disputes or debating matters that primarily concern the Olympic organization, not the A. A. U."

"We have our own problems and business," Mahoney also holds the Olympics have become greatly "over-emphasized," with undue importance attached to America's Olympic participation.

Delegates discussed favorably a proposal to build up a fund for the American Olympic team with a five-cent tax on admissions to athletic events conducted under A. A. U. sanction.

Delegates friendly to Mahoney predicted he would be elected president by a decisive margin over Major Patrick J. Walsh, president of the Metropolitan (New York) Association. Classified Ads get results.
