Barry Seeking Backing of GOP in Michigan

First Trip of Campaign Designed To Snare 48 Convention Delegates

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (UPI) — Republican presidential hopeful Barry Goldwater carries his campaign into the heart of Michigan's GOP stronghold today, determined to win the votes of the state's 48 delegates to the national convention.

The visit is the first to Michigan by any announced presidential candidate and marks the first major speech by the Arizona senator since he announced his candidacy for the GOP nomination last Friday.

Goldwater will be honored at a $100-a-plate GOP fund-raising dinner tonight.

The Kent County Republican committee anticipated a crowd of nearly 1,000 GOP stalwarts attend the dinner.

Goldwater was scheduled to arrive at the Kent County Airport in his private plane at 4 p.m. EST today and make a brief speech. Several hundred Goldwater supporters were expected to greet his arrival.

He was next scheduled for a news conference at 5:30 p.m. at the Pantlind Hotel before the dinner program. Gov. George Romney will introduce Goldwater to the dinner guests at 7 p.m.

A host of prominent GOP leaders was expected to attend the dinner, including Reps. George R. Ford of Grand Rapids, August Johnson of Battle Creek, Edward Hutchinson of

Famed Firefighter Faces Blazing Well

CARLSBAD, N.M. (UPI) — Red Adair's situation today was comparable to that of a man standing on a blimp with spiked track shoes—except he would go up instead of down if he made a mistake.

Adair, a world-famous professional firefighter, planned to try to cap a blazing natural gas well 23 miles northwest of Carlsbad today.

He said he would clear the area surrounding the well and set off a nitroglycerine charge. He hoped the tested method of using an explosion to choke off the gas supply feeding the fire would work.

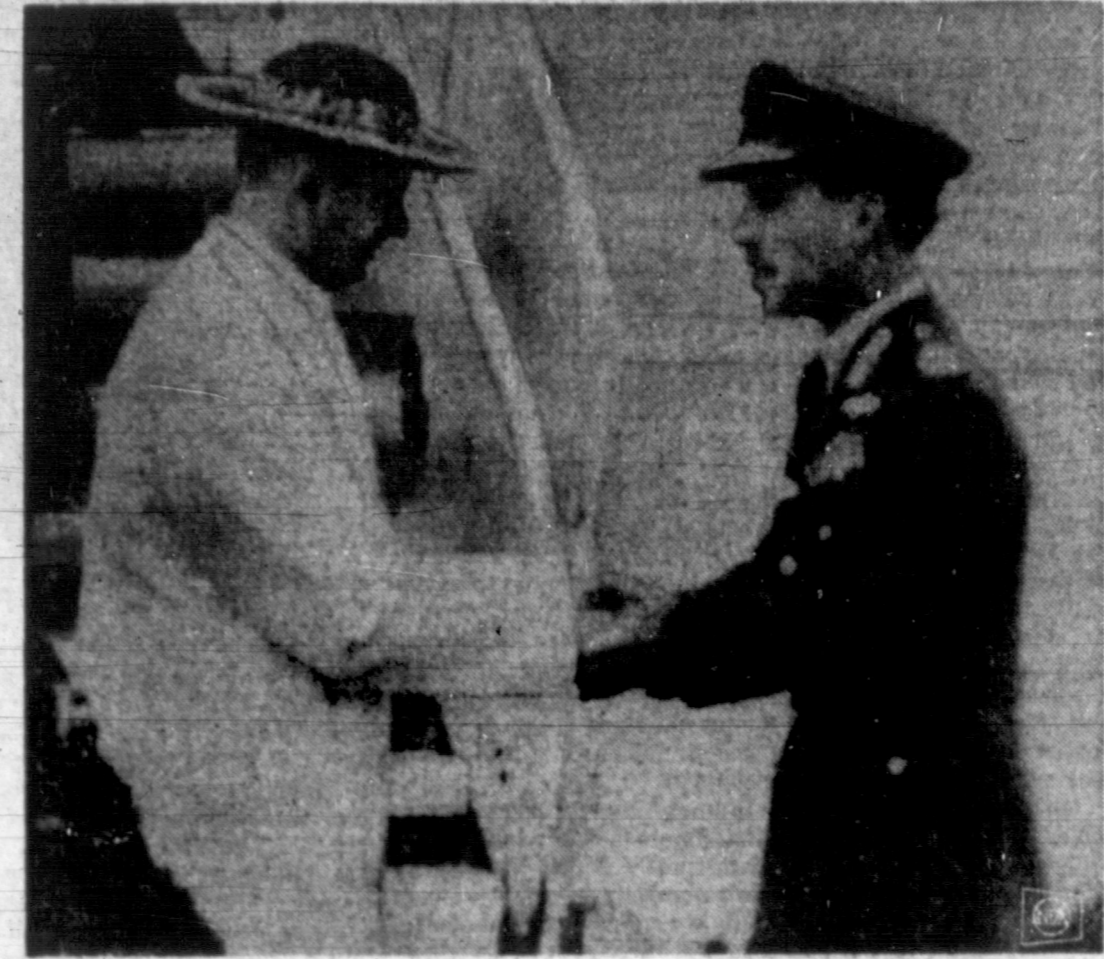

The Houston firefighter has been on the job since Thursday when the fire started, but said he could not attempt extinguishing the fire until his special heavy equipment arrived at the site.

Adair said the Carlsbad fire, which has cost an estimated $500,000 and which for five days has shot a stream of flames as high as 150 feet in the southern New Mexico sky, was not the biggest he has seen in his years of experience. "But it's a pretty good one," he said.

Since the fire started, when an estimated 3,000 pounds of pressure per square inch blew safety valves, natural gas has burned at the rate of 60 million cubic feet per day.

Shortly before the safety valves gave way, workmen heard a loud rumble and ran for it. No one was injured.

For Carlsbad area residents, the fire was an expensive show with admission free. Hundreds gathered daily to watch the huge fire. Its glow could be seen at night for more than 50 miles.

GREETED — Pope Paul VI is greeted by King Hussein of Jordan upon his arrival in Amman. President Sends Note to Paul VI

JERUSALEM (UPI) — President Johnson sent Pope Paul VI a message Sunday saying he hoped to meet him at an appropriate time.

Peace Corps Director Sargent Shriver, who delivered the message, said the pontiff replied he would be "happy to place himself at the convenience of the President when the opportunity arises."

Supreme Court to Eye Virginia School Case

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court agreed today to decide whether Prince Edward County, Va., must reopen its public schools, closed since 1959 to avoid racial integration.

The court set the case down for argument on March 30.

The Justice Department has contended as a "friend of the court" that keeping schools open in one place and closed in another is a denial by Virginia of the constitutional rights of the children without education.

But Virginia has maintained that providing education is the business of local communities and not the state's duty.

The state constitution says: "The General Assembly shall establish and maintain an efficient system of public free schools throughout the state."

Attend Private School

White children in the tobacco-growing region 70 miles southwest of Richmond started attending a private school after the county board of supervisors refused to appropriate tax funds for education.

The white children received state tuition grants in 1960-61 and the county in 1960 provided for tax credits for contributions to the foundation operating the school.

Negro children were without schooling until the current term when a private school was established for them.

In 1961, on complaint of a Negro group, federal district Judge Oren R. Lewis barred further grants and tax credits. The following year he ordered the schools reopened.

The 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Richmond, however, said Lewis should have waited for interpretation of the state constitution by the Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals.

Urge Go-Ahead

Both the Justice Department and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) urged the U.S. Supreme Court to go ahead and straighten out the legal tangle. They were anxious to get free, non-segregated schools operating by September, 1964.

Shortly after these pleas were filed with the federal tribunal the Virginia court ruled that under the state constitution operating schools is a local matter and not a state responsibility.

East Passes Come to End

BERLIN (UPI) — East was East and West was West in Berlin again today and the tearful sound of "auf wiedersehen" echoed along the wall.

The Christmas pass agreement ended at midnight, and shortly before 3 a.m. Communist guards cleared the last stragglers returning to West Berlin and resealed the barrier which divides the city.

Officials estimated that a record 300,000 West Berliners swarmed through the wall opening Sunday for last-day family reunions, raising to 1.2 million the number of visits made to East Berlin during the 17 days covered by the agreement. Nearly half a million made it on the final weekend.

Football Coach Gets New 2-Year Contract

Pampa High School football coach Otis Holladay has received a new two-year contract as head coach effective this month, it was learned today from Superintendent of Schools Jack Edmondson.

At an executive meeting of the school board last month, it was decided to extend Holladay's contract for another two years through December of 1965, actually making this a new contract at the same pay rate he currently is receiving.

The action was taken in December, explained Edmondson. Holladay was hired in January of 1962, so his contract does not run out at the end of the school year as do other coaches and teachers. Holladay was on a continuing contract which came up for review each December.

In Holladay's first year at the helm, Pampa posted a 4-6 record, one of its best grid marks in recent years, and repeated the record, this past season, winning four district 3-AAAA games and tying for third place in the conference.

Holladay is now attending the meeting in New York of the National High School Football Coaches' Association.

Holladay's wife, Ruth, is also a teacher at Pampa High. They have four daughters.

Johnson Visits Senator's Home In Unity Move

Congress in Hotbed Of Major Legislation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress returns Tuesday to tackle such hot issues as an $11 billion tax cut, civil rights and medical care for the aged plus some new proposals by President Johnson.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., said Sunday he expected Johnson to include "pockets of poverty" and foreign policy legislation among other recommendations to the second session of the 86th Congress.

Mansfield indicated in a television interview that the Senate probably would take up the House-passed tax bill first, with passage expected mid-March. It would be followed by civil rights legislation and a medicare bill.

The Senate leader said he knew of no compromises being considered by the administration to get a civil rights bill. He anticipated an attempt to break a filibuster after two or three weeks of debate, and another try a week or two later if the first failed.

Mansfield also warned his colleagues that they might have to come back after the political conventions this summer if they don't move faster than last year or change Senate rules and procedures.

House and Senate leaders are pondering hopefully how to get more work out of Congress in six months than it was able to turn out in the 12 months of the last session. One casualty may be the traditional long weekends away from the Capitol.

The civil rights bill, aimed at barring racial discrimination in schools, jobs, voting and use of public accommodations, must get through both House and Senate to become law.

The medicare proposal also needs approval by both Houses. In addition House and Senate managers face the annual appropriations and housekeeping chores that bothered them up to adjournment of the first session on Dec. 30.

They hope to get all this done, and more, before the Republican convention opens in San Francisco July 13. After that, the Democrats hold their nominating convention in Atlantic City, starting Aug. 24. And then come presidential and congressional campaigns, and the November elections.

Meanwhile Back at The Ranch

AUSTIN (UPI) — President Johnson, like a good cowboy, mended a political fence near the ranch Sunday before flying off to Washington for the big roundup—the new Congress.

Johnson, in a 15-minute visit at the home of Sen. and Mrs. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., put the finishing touches on a process that has crystallized the greatest harmony the Democratic party has had in Texas in 20 years.

It was a social visit. Only pleasant greetings were exchanged between the President, senator and the 125 political friends present. But the fence-mending results were sure to be felt by Democrats all over Texas—from the Rio Grande to the Red River and bayous to dry plains.

The President Sunday also visited Texas Gov. John Connally, who was wounded by the same sniper that assassinated President John F. Kennedy.

Connally and Johnson are old friends and allies. But there has been a wide gap between Johnson and Yarborough.

Yarborough is associated with the "liberal-loyalist" Democrats in Texas. He has feuded with the "conservatives," especially those Democrats who jumped party lines and supported Dwight D. Eisenhower for the presidency.

Johnson and Yarborough, the senator recently admitted, had some spirited debates over who would control patronage appointments in Texas—the vice president or the senior senator. Yarborough, with a beaming smile, said all differences are settled.

President Kennedy made his fatal trip to Texas hoping to patch up the party squabble. Johnson and Yarborough were sharing a car in the caravan when the assassin struck Nov. 22. President Kennedy, reportedly, had suggested that they ride together.

Yarborough called a presidential aide Friday and invited Johnson to drop in at the informal cider and coffee session. The President accepted.

Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Yarborough chatted about the home while the men exchanged greetings with the guests.

"He wished me success," Yarborough, who faces re-election this year, said. "A very pleasant meeting — mostly social."

Hotel Astor Ballroom Hit By Arsonist

NEW YORK (UPI) — An arsonist set fire to the Grand Ballroom of the Hotel Astor in the heart of Times Square early today. The fire was controlled quickly without injury.

The blaze, which caused damage estimated at $1 million by hotel officials, was "definitely set," said fire commissioner Edward Thompson.

Moments after the fire erupted just after midnight, a hotel employe chased a young man with a crewcut and trenchcoat from the ballroom into the street but he escaped. Police later questioned a man fitting that description but he was released before dawn.

Firemen answering three alarms contained the smoky fire within an hour but the combined effects of fire, smoke and water heavily damaged the 2,500-seat ballroom. Thompson said its sprinkler system and fireproof construction probably prevented the flames from spreading into other parts of the hotel.

Girl Hurt in Fall Into Mine Shaft

SILVER CITY, N.M. (UPI) — A 10-year-old Texas girl who fell 75 feet into an abandoned mine shaft is reported "semi-conscious" today in a Silver City hospital.

The girl, Lucy Marian Watson of Austin, fell into the shaft Dec. 29 while hunting for ore samples at the old Peerless Mine near Central, N.M. She never has regained full consciousness.

The girl's mother, Mrs. James A. Watson Jr., said Lucy now, however, "is responding somewhat" and is able to eat although she does not seem able to recognize members of her family.

"However, the doctor thinks she is making satisfactory progress," said the mother.

The family was en route home to Austin after a vacation trip when the accident occurred.

By LYLE C. WILSON have been elected as easily on United Press International the Democratic ticket. Sen. Barry Goldwater's announcement for the presidency the conservative arguments backs the political tradition against the liberal-modern tradition that the Republican party will follow which so long has nominated and cannot elect the Republican party, a conservative presidential candidate. The support is provided by "The Dunn Survey" conducted by Rogers C. Dunn, McLean, is considerably challenged by Va. Dunn is a political analyst, some of the political facts of his reviews, in general, make life one of the facts is that the point that the Republican the Republicans seem equally party does better at the polls unable to elect a liberal president when party policies are made denial candidate—or any candi-by relatively conservative leader. The only recent exception publican congressional leaders to that rule was the election ship than when liberal or moderate re-election of Dwight D. Eisenhower presidential nominees are in charge.

He Takes Northeast Reflections of Republican political From 1940-1960, inclusive, strength. The Republicans gave Dunn points out that only Elmer A. Latta, a Republican, was able to carry the election in his first two years but Northeast. He lost one Mid-Atlantic state in 1952. West Virginia, carried all of New England, in 1956 Ike won all 12 mid-Atlantic and New England liberal or so-called modern for president is a hand-painted Wendell Wilkie 1940, and Thomas E. Dewey, 1944, each eastern Republican leaders who representing eight of the 155 north-eastern states electoral votes. In 1948 Dewey carried Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont for 12 electoral votes in 1960.

Richard M. Nixon lost all Mid-Atlantic states but carried of the 270 electoral votes necessary to elect. The conservative, answer to this, of course, is that Republican liberal or modern candidates consistently have flunked their northeastern states tests. The conservatives complain, further, that the Republican party consistently has insisted on losing with liberal or modern candidates in preference to a conservative effort. So that is what Barry Goldwater is up against. And that is why Goldwater fears that no Eisenhower election and re-election other person would offer Republican which blur the liberal-conservative issue. Ike was elected against New Frontier principles as a war hero and could of the Democratic party.

School Teachers' Salaries Show $231 Hike for Year

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Salaries of U.S. public school teachers this year, an average almost $231, or 4.3 per cent, from last year, the National Education Association (NEA) said today. The NEA said the average salary for public elementary and secondary teachers in the 1963-64 school year will be $5,963 compared with $5,732 for 1962-63. The figures cover the 50 states and the District of Columbia. The five states with the highest average salaries are Alaska, $8,150; California, $7,373; New York, $7,200; Connecticut, $6,775 and Illinois, $6,645. However, the NEA said the sum for Alaska "represents only about $6,113 in buying power, because prices are generally higher (there) than in other states."

Mississippi continues to have the lowest average teachers' salary in the country, the NEA said. This year the average is $3,830, and $259 raise from last year. Following Mississippi at the low end of the scale are Arkansas, $4,031; South Carolina, $4,350; Kentucky, $4,400 and Alabama, $4,615. The NEA said its research division estimated the Alabama figure. By areas, the Far Western states lead with the highest salaries, followed by the Mid-eastern, Great Lakes, New England, Rocky Mountain, Southwest, Plains and Southeast states.

QUICK, EASY — The Coin Operated Car Wash at the corner of West and Francis is the perfect place to knock off the winter dirt and grime that collects on automobiles. Stop in and try this convenient, easy method of washing cars. (Daily News Photo)

New Car Wash Gets Winter Dirt, Grime

The Self Service Coin Operated Car Wash, owned by Bill Self, located at the corner of West and Foster, is the ideal place to knock off the dirt and grime that comes with winter. The Coin Operated Car Wash is open 24 hours a day. An attendant is on duty eight hours a day to make change and to explain operation of the car wash. At night, the Coin Operated Car Wash is lighted. In just a few minutes, one can do a thorough wash job at a fraction of the regular cost.

The system at the Car Wash is easy and cheap to operate. Costing only 25 cents for five minutes of operation, the system is operated by pushbuttons. After inserting the coin, you press the first black button to soap down your car, moving the gun up and down 8 or 10 inches from the car; to rinse, you press the rinse button and thoroughly rinse off the soap.

The Coin Operated Car Wash is quick, economical and simple. Many students stop in just before their dates, businessmen before work, to wash their cars. It isn't necessary to dress in dirty clothes to use the Coin Operated Car Wash; many people come dressed in their business suits. With a little care, you can wash your car in your Sunday best.

Any $2 purchase at the Dairy Queen, located 1117 Alcock, will entitle you to a free coupon good for a five minute, 25 cent car wash. Bill Self invites you to try this convenience for a savings of both time and money.

Wildcatters Hit Seven Dry Holes

AUSTIN (UPI) — Wildcatters drilled 7 dry holes while reporting only eight oil and gas finds last week in Texas, the State Railroad Commission said Saturday.

The eight oil finds brings the 1963 totals to 333 oil and 651 gas wells in Texas. At the same time, a total of 2,639 dry holes were drilled in the state during the year.

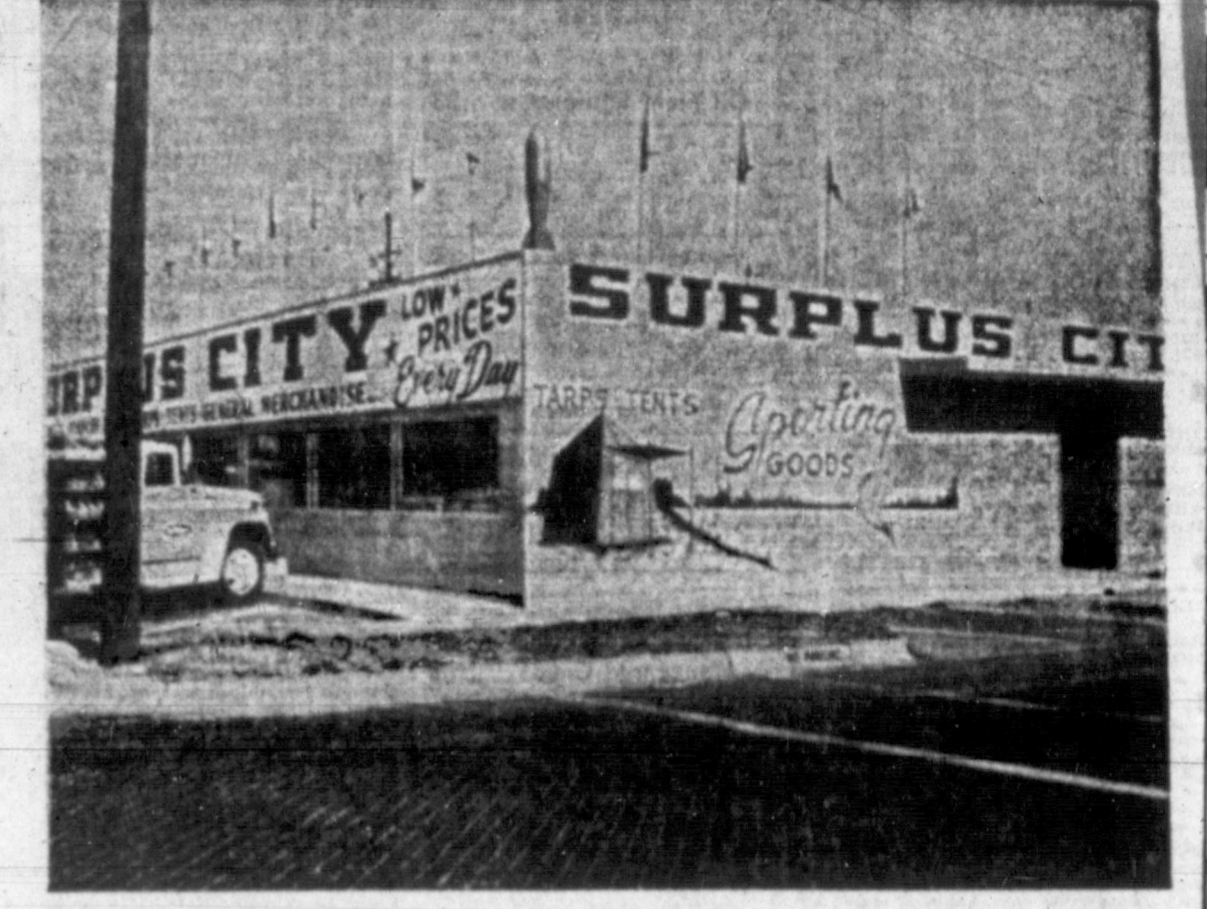

Regular drillers completed 176 oil and 43 gas wells during the week, upping the 1963 totals to 8,586 oil and 2,442 gas wells. This compares with 10,661 oil and 3,335 gas wells completed during 1962.

Novels on Suburbia Bring Desire to Sue

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — I keep reading these novels about sex and sin in suburbia and they make me want to sue my real estate agent. I feel that I have been cheated.

The house he sold me is indisputably in the suburbs, but at best I can tell the area is almost totally devoid of hanky panky.

I moved out there expecting to find material for a book of my own. And I have. But who wants to read a book about Japanese beetles?

If I used my neighborhood as the setting for a novel, its salacious index would register several degrees below "The Five Little Peppers and How They Grew."

Furthermore, I have prowled around a bit in the adjacent neighborhoods and they don't appear to be any more wicked than my own.

The conclusion seems inescapable that some of the novels depicting the suburbs as hotbeds of depravity were subsidized by sub-developers.

The only hotbeds I've seen were full of African violets.

According to the blurbs on the dust jackets, suburbs are a symbol of our decaying moral fiber. But I haven't encountered any decay outside of a compost pit.

It is true that the agent I dealt with didn't exactly promise that riotous living went along with picture windows. I guess I got that impression because he carried his conditional sales contracts in a paper-bag copy of "Peyton Place."

At any rate, I soon found that the suburbs are a poor place for research on assignments. In my community, people are more interested in bird feeders.

Last summer, having nothing on my note pad more spicy than a new recipe for barbecue sauce, I tried to persuade one of my neighbors to start a secret romance with a lady across the street.

"Sorry, old boy, I'd like to accommodate you but I've got to mow the lawn," he told me.
