US Pledges Zone Defense With Try To Settle Crisis

Johnson Issues Stern Statement After Hearing Report on Battle

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (UPI) — At least 10 agents trained in Communist Cuba have been arrested and are being held by Panamanian authorities in Panama, Army Secretary Cyrus R. Vance said today.

Vance, who returned from Panama Monday, told a news conference he thought at least one of the 10 was a sniper.

The Army secretary said the agents were identified by U.S. authorities and were arrested by Panamanian police.

By MERRIMAN SMITH — The United States tries to live by the policy of the good neighbor and expects others to do the same," the statement added.

The White House said the United States welcomed the establishment of the joint cooperation committee set up by the Inter-American Peace Commission of the Organization of American States (OAS).

The OAS move was seen as the initial step toward settling the main issues in the crisis over the U. S.-operated Canal Zone.

The statement was issued shortly before 1 a.m. EST after President Johnson met for more than two hours with his top advisers on the tense Panamanian situation. Johnson remained in his office until nearly 2 a.m. EST.

The President heard a first report on the Canal Zone crisis from Thomas C. Mann, assistant secretary of state for Inter-American affairs, and Army Secretary Cyrus R. Vance, who returned late Monday night from their troubleshooting mission.

Peace Is Essential — The White House said the President "continues to believe that the first essential is the maintenance of peace." It said the United States "continues to believe that when order is fully restored it should be possible to have a direct and candid discussion between the two governments."

Panel Views High Issue on Agenda

By HALE MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate tax writers turned their attention today to proposals aimed at limiting tax benefits enjoyed by some executives under stock option plans.

The stock option issue was placed high on the agenda as the Senate finance committee met in its fifth day of closed sessions to rush work on the $11.1 billion tax cut bill.

Barring any unforeseen road blocks, administration forces hope the bill listed as top priority by President Johnson can be cleared and ready for Senate action by the end of this month, or early February.

But some Treasury officials were concerned that an estimated $500 million in extra tax relief added by the committee might jeopardize final passage. The bill has swollen to about $11.6 billion in revenue loss.

The stock option issue presented some problems. Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., has sponsored stern measures to repeal stock option privileges altogether.

The conservative-dominated committee, however, was expected to go along with some version of the more moderate approach taken in the bill as passed by the House Sept. 25.

Under these features, executives who are given an option to buy stock at a certain price, must exercise that option within five years and must hold the stock for three years. Present law permits options to be exercised to sell his shares in six months and still enjoy a capital gains tax on the profits.

The limitations were designed to prevent executives from purchasing stock at a low option price in a rising market, and then taking a quick profit at low tax rates on the sale of the shares.

In morning and afternoon sessions Monday, the committee look tentative action on a number of controversial sections in the complex, 320-page measure.

It voted 9 to 7 in favor of a provision that would grant an extra tax relief for regulated natural gas and oil pipeline and electric utility companies.

The committee also approved, 13 to 3, a related provision liberalizing investment credit for the utilities. If approved by the Senate it would mean an estimated revenue loss of about $180 million the first year, rising to $725 million by 1973.

Change Drug Provision — In other action the committee approved a provision to repeal the 1 per cent limitation on deductible drug expenses where the taxpayer is aged 65 and over. It would continue to apply to those under 65. Revenue loss: $10 million.

3 City Water Wells Out of Commission

Three of Pampa's 17 water wells are completely down and out of commission, E. S. Lowry, water superintendent, told city commissioners today.

Lowry said one of the wells had been inoperative for a couple of months and only this week two more of them broke down.

All three wells, he stated, have burned out motors and estimated it would cost $12,000 to replace the motors.

The water superintendent said he had one of the motors reworked and it lasted only two hours when placed back in operation.

The three crippled wells are not having any present effect on pumping Pampa's water supply, Lowry stated.

"However," he added, "if we were in the peak load summer season when we have to use all 17 wells we would be in trouble."

The three disabled wells are No. 158 on S. Barnes, No. 155 on Crawford, and No. 358 on the old air base south of Pampa.

Commissioners asked Lowry if it would not be possible to remedy the situation with rebuilt motors and asked him to investigate the possibility of getting the job done locally and also to get figures on the estimated cost.

Castro May Get Warning Over Canal

MOSCOW (UPI) — Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev is likely to warn visiting Cuban Premier Fidel Castro not to try to exploit the U.S.-Panama dispute because Russia wants no new Caribbean crisis, Western observers said today.

Castro, who arrived Monday for a surprise visit expected to last a week, got down to major talks with Khrushchev in the Kremlin today.

The discussions are expected to center on the $1 million a day the Soviets are investing in Cuban aid and on Castro's free-wheeling foreign policy.

When the bearded premier left here after a month's visit last May, he was promised the increased aid for the island's faltering economy.

He in turn apparently promised to support Khrushchev in his dispute with Communist China.

But last fall, Castro joined with Peking in refusing to sign the nuclear test ban treaty, one of Moscow's key steps in seeking a cold war settlement with the West.

JUST WHAT THEY NEED—MORE ICE

NEW YORK (UPI)—A restaurant today was forced to give Monday's doughnuts to the early morning breakfast trade with the explanation that the near-blizzard snowstorm had delayed food deliveries.

However, patrons leaving the restaurant noted that another truck was unloading its wares on time. The truck delivered packaged ice cubes.

City Ruling Bans Smoking Cigarettes

EASTLAND, Tex. (UPI) — Three smoking members and one non-smoking member of the Eastland City Council Monday unanimously passed an ordinance prohibiting the sale or use of cigarettes within the municipal limits.

The ordinance provides a $1,000 fine or three years imprisonment for any person caught with cigarettes or smoking them. Mayor Don Pierson said he expects the ordinance to become effective Feb. 20.

There were strong indications that if the ordinance was not passed as a joke, it may have about the same effect. S. G. Johndroe Jr., city attorney of nearby Fort Worth, said Eastland residents can smoke all they want to without fear of arrest.

Johndroe said that the state, in effect, approved the sale of cigarettes by taxing them. There is no local option law on cigarettes as there is on alcohol in Texas.

Furthermore, Johndroe said, the city council of Eastland put the punishment too high. A city may not legally fine any person more than $200 and can send to jail only a person who refused to pay his fine or is in contempt of court.

Storm Abating After 100 Die Over Nation

By United Press International

One of the worst winter storms in years stunned New York and other of the nation's largest cities today. The death toll rose over 100 in the storm which raged from the Mississippi to the Atlantic.

The weather bureau reported encouragingly the near blizzard conditions would abate during the day as the deep storm moved off into the North Atlantic.

Two storms collided over New York and gales reaching 60 miles an hour lashed the streets Monday during the worst of the fury. Hundreds of flights were diverted. There was chaos in the movement of commuters.

Boston was virtually paralyzed. A state of emergency was declared in Wilkes-Barre, Pa. The first snow fell in Pensacola, Fla., in five years.

Schools were closed by the hundreds in more than a dozen states. Highways were either closed or extremely hazardous in nearly all parts of the East. The American Medical Association issued warnings against frostbite and shoveling snow.

Drifting Severely — The gales piled up six foot drifts in many areas. Gale warnings were posted along the Atlantic from Maine to New Jersey and from Virginia to North Carolina.

Thirty inches of snow fell at Ashland, N.Y. Seventeen inches of snow fell at Ashtabula, Ohio. The 10 inches in Washington was the heaviest fall since 1958.

In New York's Central Park, nine inches of snow fell by mid-afternoon Monday, breaking a 25-year record. Twice that much was forecast for the metropolitan area.

More than 200 flights were diverted from New York's Kennedy International Airport when poor visibility almost caused snowplow collisions on the runways. Sanitation Commissioner Frank Lucia issued a call for citizens to report for night work to assist the city's crew of 2,300 men in plow trucks and shovel brigades.

Riders to New Jersey experienced delays of up to two hours. Lanes in the Lincoln Tunnel were closed. The Transit Authority sent two buses to a remote section of a Brooklyn parkway to pick up 300 motorists who were stranded.

Storm Strands Lawmakers — In upstate New York, state Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney ordered 30 cots brought from the Capitol fallout shelter for use in legislative offices by stranded lawmakers and staffers.

Two ships were in distress. An aircraft carrier off Miami launched search planes to look for the schooner Campdress reported sinking in the stormy Atlantic with five persons aboard. The British freighter Middlesex Trader with 35 men aboard was 840 miles northeast of Bermuda and was in danger from the battering seas, the Coast Guard said. It radioed it was "liable to break in two."

In Boston, most stores and businesses closed early. Logan International Airport was closed down at 3 p.m. Monday. Drifts stacked up four to five feet deep on Martha's Vineyard off Cape Cod and ferry trips were canceled.

19 Car Pileup — Fourteen inches of snow fell at Brattleboro, Vt. There was a 19 car pileup near Catskill, N.Y.

The state of emergency in Wilkes-Barre was believed to be the first in the city's history in which all police and firemen were called out. Pittsburgh's two airports were closed by high drifts.

An expectant mother managed to get to St. Rita's Hospital in Lima, Ohio, Monday in time, but a physician had to take a freight train to Delphos, Ohio, to attend the mother en route—just in case. Mrs. Robert Wegesin and her 10-pound, 3-ounce son were reported in excellent condition.

The death toll included Pennsylvania, New York and Ohio 14 each, New Jersey 9, Indiana 6, Missouri and Illinois 5 each, Colorado 4, Alabama 3, Tennessee and Michigan 2 each, and Kentucky, Connecticut, Virginia, Wisconsin and New Hampshire one each.

Record-Breaking Cold Hits Texas

By United Press International

Record shattering cold gripped much of Texas again today. Temperatures fell below freezing in all but the extreme southern regions of the state.

Fort Worth's 4 degree reading was its coldest in 15 years and a record low for Jan. 14. It was 11 at Dallas and 17 at San Antonio, both the lowest ever recorded in those cities for this date.

Lows dipped to 20 as far south as Del Rio and 19 at Beaumont. Dalhart matched Fort Worth's 4 degree low for the coldest readings in the state.

Zanzibar Chief Asks Recognition

ZANZIBAR (UPI) — The African "field marshal" who led the coup that deposed Zanzibar's Arab-dominated government appealed to the United States and Britain today to join two African nations in recognizing his regime.

The U.S. destroyer Manley reported it has taken off all but two of the 63 Americans on this island nation. Those remaining are Frederick P. Picard III, the charge d'affaires of the U. S. Embassy, and embassy Third Secretary Donald K. Petterson.

LAST CHANCE — Brenda Waller, a pretty Pampa High School senior, is sitting in the library doing a little last minute thinking about her mid-term Latin examination scheduled to begin soon. Thinking of all the previous lectures and home work is the order of the day. Examinations at PHS began at 9 a.m. today and will end Thursday evening. Students will have a "rest day" Friday while teachers grade papers and prepare report cards.

Burdette Will Head CofC Industry Panel

Hugh Burdette of Cabot Corporation was introduced as chairman of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce industrial committee at the regular directors meeting Monday at Coronado Inn.

Burdette succeeds Frank Culberson who served as head of the committee last year, according to Aubrey Steele, president.

Burdette will head a newly organized committee to put into operation the recommendations of a new industrial survey now being made by Texas A&M University. The survey report is expected sometime in March, after which a complete schedule of activities will be mapped to conform with the suggestions made in the survey.

Culberson reported that a barbecue dinner honoring Crall Products, Inc., upon the completion of their new building, would be held in the new plant on Price Rd., at 7 p.m. Jan. 24. The public is invited to attend the appreciation dinner and reservations can be made at the Chamber of Commerce office.

B. W. Musgraves, head of the junior college division of the Texas Education Agency will address a membership meeting of the Chamber of Commerce in the Starlight Room at Coronado Inn Monday noon. The public is invited and reservations can be made at the Chamber of Commerce office. A question and answer period will follow his presentation, according to E. L. Henderson, chairman of the Chamber's junior college committee.

Jerald Sims, finance director for the organization reported that Chamber of Commerce dues were arriving in support of the Chamber's budget of $34,607.00.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plates dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just stick a little FASTTEETH, the silicone (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture health). MIDDLEBURY, Vt. (UPI) — Los Angeles Dodgers Coach Leo Durocher, a center of controversy on and off the diamond, was arrested Monday on a charge of alienation of affections, officials said.

Durocher was arrested at the Middlebury Inn by Addison County Sheriff Allen Chandler on a body writ. He was released in $30,000 bail which authorities said was put up by "a group of local citizens."

Officials said the complainant was the mother of a young woman who was a resident of Middlebury but has been in California. She was not identified.

Durocher, who spoke at the American Legion Hall Sunday night, refused to talk to newsmen.

Middlebury officials said the bail was set after a conference with attorneys for both sides. For example, they said if the suit was for $75,000, each side would state what it considered to be fair bail and then the judge would set the sum.

Durocher has 42 days to appear in court on the charge, officials said.

Restoring Pain of Paying Might Cause Rise From Taxpayer

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press International
Rep. John Anderson, R-Ill., wants to restore some of the pain to taxpaying and now is the time for all good men to lend a hand in getting the job done.

The painkiller in taxpaying is the withholding system where the little guys who pay most of the tax bill never see the money they earn but which the Treasury takes. This painless system of paying taxes was whopped up by the late Beard-ley Ruml, a business genius and tycoon, who did his country no good service when he invented the method by which the ordinary Joe scarcely feels Uncle's hand as he picks his pocket.

Don't Realize Bite

What the average Joe makes is not his salary or his wage rate anymore. What he makes is his take-home pay. Take-home pay is what is left after Uncle has gotten his. There are citizens, otherwise smart and alert to their surroundings, who actually have ceased to realize that the U. S. government takes a big chunk each week of their earnings.

Anderson would remedy that, to some extent, anyway. He has introduced a bill which would permit employers, at their option, to withhold income taxes on a monthly basis even though pay periods were more frequent, weekly, for example.

Good Bill

That, friends, is a good bill. Anderson claims for it that it would reduce bookkeeping and other paper work imposed on employers by the withholding system and, therefore, reduce their expense in acting as collecting agent for Uncle Sam. That, of itself is a worth while proposition.

But better than that would be the shock treatment to which the taxpayer would be exposed. For three weeks each month his salary would go into his pocket untapped by the treasury. Then, on the fourth week he would be slugged for four weeks' taxes all in one shot.

The yelps of dismay and anguish would echo over the land. The chuckle-headed taxpayers who have been suckered into the take-home-pay way of thinking would come alive, suddenly, to what the government and the slap-happy big spenders are doing to them.

The big-time spenders never would have gotten away with it in the first place but for the withholding system. If the taxpayers had to write checks on their bank accounts to get square with Uncle each April 15, the citizens would be shooting at tax collectors on sight.

That might be the only alternative for the average man faced with the problem of getting up in one bundle the annual tax levied against him. There might have been a tax rebellion in this country if it were not for the relatively painless withholding system.

Might Declare War

If the little guys — they pay most of the taxes — suddenly came to realize how hard they are being hit they might do something about it. They might, for instance, declare war on the big spending politicians who spend public money to curry favor with the voters and, thus, to maintain themselves in office.

A tax rebellion and election defeats for the big spenders just might restore the principles of sane economy to the operation of the U. S. government. There probably is no other way to restore it.

The Lighter Side Ten-Gallon Hats Top Heads of LBJ's Aides

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Each administration has its own "ins" and "outs." At the moment, 10-gallon hats are "in."

When President Johnson tells you to keep something under your hat, he gives you a hat to keep it under.

Barbecue also is "in," but cocktail parties are "out." This explains why some of the White House aides have been coming the town for a 100 proof barbecue sauce.

The President, as you know, has established a pattern of taking important foreign visitors to his ranch in Texas and playing them with barbecue. Apparently, it is a very persuasive technique.

Johnson may go down in history as the first U.S. Chief Executive to use indigestion as an instrument of foreign policy.

His guests are inclined to strike an accord as quickly as possible. It's the only way they can avoid a second helping.

Could Be Beneficial

The effect this will have on the cold war remains to be seen. My guess is that it wuvv be beneficial.

For one thing, it will serve to demonstrate the strength of the free world solidarity. Any alliance that can withstand Texas barbecue can easily hold together under Communist pressures.

I don't mean to imply that barbecue isn't one of the most succulent dishes on the face of the earth. I mean to say it as plainly as possible.

Barbecue isn't one of the most succulent dishes on the face of the earth.

I was surprised to learn recently that the term comes from the Spanish word "barbacoa." I always thought it was a derivative of "barbaric."

A "barbacoa" is an elevated platform or frame. I never tried eating one of those, but it might be an improvement over barbecue.

Exposed to Barbecue

Man and boy, I have been exposed to Texas barbecue for roughly 40 years. Which is the approximate age of some of the steers that go on the spit.

It is possible, of course, to barbecue other types of meat besides beef. But in Texas, that is tantamount to treason.

When I was growing up in Texas I had barbecue every other day. On alternate days, I had Mexican food. Sometimes, for a change of pace, I would have barbecued Mexican food.

I can't honestly say that this diet did me any harm, which may be why I have been urged to bequeath my stomach lining to the Harvard Medical School.

All it takes to enjoy barbecue is ingrown taste buds.

PLEASANT DUTY — Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman was pleasantly surprised when he arrived in Amarillo to speak to the National Wheat Growers Association and was greeted by Kansas Wheat Queen, Carolyn Joyner of Freeport, Kan., left, and Wheatheart of the Nation, Diane Loftin of Perryton, right. Freeman told the growers that the U.S. will sell more wheat to the Russians in 1964, probably a total of 3 million tons. (NEA Telephoto)

Ford Wins Motor Trend's "Car of the Year" Award

January 8: Motor Trend magazine's "Car of the Year" Award goes to an engineering breakthrough! It honors all the '64s from Ford "For engineering advancement in the concept of Total Performance, proven in open competition."

Here's what the Motor Trend Award means to you...

The editors of Motor Trend, America's largest general automotive magazine, watched Ford's total performance in open competition... saw competition-modified Fords win every 500-mile stock car race in the last year, saw Ford-built engines end an era at Indianapolis and sweep the sports car circuits.

Then they drove the 1964 Fords, Falcons, Fairlanes and Thunderbirds and discovered how the lessons of open competition have helped, bred into them a new kind of total performance for the open road, for your kind of driving. And then they made their award!

The "Car of the Year" Award is an impressive testimonial, but see for yourself!—take the wheel of a '64 from Ford. These cars speak for themselves with their ease of handling in a supermarket parking lot or their greater stability on a rain-slick blacktop.

Before you buy any new car this year, test-drive total performance in a Solid, Silent Super Torque Ford, now hundreds of pounds more car than anything in its field. Try America's only total performance compact, the Falcon V-8, totally new, totally changed. Or, any of the '64 Cars of the Year from Ford!

TRY TOTAL PERFORMANCE FOR A CHANGE!

Italian Chief Due in U.S. Open House for New Wing Of Convent Set on Sunday

MONTREAL (UPI)—Italian President Antonio Segni leaves today for Washington and a six-day official visit to the United States.

Segni had an unscheduled 20-hour stopover here because of weather conditions south of the border.

The presidential DC8 Alitalia jetliner was scheduled to depart from nearby International Airport for Baltimore from where Segni will travel by train to Washington for talks with President Johnson.

The talks between the two Western leaders were expected to center on NATO problems, particularly the multinational nuclear force proposed by the late President Kennedy.

They follow similar talks with West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard two weeks ago.

Segni's airliner was headed for Philadelphia Monday when it was rerouted here because of a raging snowstorm which swept through the eastern United States.

Attempts to continue the journey to Washington by train were abandoned because officials apparently were unable to arrange suitable plans.

AMARILLO (SpI)—An "open house" at St. Francis Convent, for the new Educational Wing, has been set from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday at 4301 N. E. 18th, Amarillo.

The wing provides additional space to the St. Francis Aspirant High School and to the College of our Saviour, a junior college which provides initial college training for young sisters.

The wing houses a library, language laboratory and offices on the first floor and a dormitory for 20 girls on the second floor.

In 1932, the Franciscan Sisters of Mary Immaculate came to Amarillo in response to a request from Bishop Rudolph A. Gerken, the first Roman Catholic Bishop of Amarillo. This group of missionary teaching sisters came to help staff the parochial schools in the new diocese of Amarillo.

The sisters now staff Texas schools at Hereford, Plainview, Odessa and Amarillo. In addition, they also have charge of two schools in California—one in Los Angeles and one in Long Beach.

The sisters invite all the people of the area to visit with them during the "open house."

Cotton Harvest Nearly Complete

AUSTIN (UPI)— Cotton harvest was almost completed in Texas during the week ended Monday, the Crop Reporting Service said. Farm activity was seasonally slow.

Strippers moved into a few remaining cotton fields in the High Plains, and only salvage of lint on the ground remained in the Low Plains.

Wheat remained dormant in cold weather. Dryland acreage on the High Plains urgently needed moisture, but elsewhere prospects were good.

Oats in North Texas showed leaf burn from low temperatures but were expected to recover. Flax in South Texas was in fair to good condition. Seeding disease thinned some stands.

Supplemental feeding of livestock was widespread. Prickly pear was being burned on the Edwards Plateau and in South Texas, and ranges and pastures were dry in all parts of the state.

Commercial vegetables were making satisfactory progress in the Rio-Grande Valley, Laredo, San Antonio and Coastal Bend areas. Most crops seemed to have survived hard freezes with little serious damage.

Foreign News Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
Time, as it does to all men eventually, is forcing the hand of Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru.

On Jan. 1, the 74-year-old Nehru received UPI correspondent Michael T. Malloy for the first and only interview he has granted in the new year. "I suppose that I'll retire some day," Nehru said. "But I have no plans for that now." It was scarcely a week later, at his Congress party's convention in Bhubaneswar, India, that an event occurred that is of vast concern to India and may change drastically Nehru's own plans. At Bhubaneswar, Nehru suddenly fell ill.

To an original diagnosis of high blood pressure, the doctors added references to a "weakness of the left limbs." The general interpretation was that he had suffered a paralytic stroke. Now the word is that he has been urged to take a complete rest for at least three months.

New names, many of them strange to the West, will be emerging from an India which since independence in 1950 has been dominated by only one name—Nehru. Nehru inherited his mantle of leadership from the assassinated Mohandas Gandhi, and with it came also the mystic hero worship which enabled Nehru alone to dominate a nation of half a billion people, ranging from the primitive to the most sophisticated, divided by 845 different languages and major dialects.

In India's remotest areas there even are some who never have heard of Nehru. Nehru has dictated his country's economic policies, a curious mixture of capitalism and state socialism. And he has dictated its foreign policy which still, despite Red China's threat is based on non-alignment.

Nehru's strong personality has brooked no rivals for leadership and this is a matter of chief concern now. Even under Nehru's strong hand, members of the Indian parliament, sharply divided between right and left, staged walkouts and noisy uproars accompanied by exchanges of mutual insults. Indian politics, rowdy before, now will become more so.

As a temporary measure, leaders of the Congress party's quarrelling right and left wings have reached a compromise by which they hope to run the government in Nehru's absence. Neither is a name known to the west.

On the right is Tiruvallur Thattai Krishnamachari, an engaging, off-again cabinet minister since 1952 and now a sharp-tongued minister of finance. Nehru sent him to Washington last winter to negotiate U.S. military aid.

On the left is Home Minister Guzarilal Nanda. He is 68 and a fervent believer in planned economy. He has been associated with the government's five year plans since 1951. Still more names will emerge before India's power struggle is over. One powerful voice may be that of Nehru's daughter, Mrs. Indira Gandhi. A possibility for the foreign ministry post is Nehru's sister, Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit.

Robert Kennedy Leaves on Trip To Far East

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, one of his late brother's most valued global troubleshooters, leaves for the Far East today on a similar mission for President Johnson.

Kennedy will confer with Indonesian President Sukarno in Tokyo on Thursday about Indonesia's dispute with the newly formed state of Malaysia.

The attorney general was scheduled to meet with President Johnson at 10:30 a.m., EST today for a last-minute briefing on his trip.

Sukarno's threats against the Malaysian Federation have stirred increasing tensions in Southeast Asia, and Johnson is under pressure from Congress to withdraw aid to Indonesia if Sukarno does not mend his ways.

The main purpose of Kennedy's mission apparently is to dissuade Sukarno from his announced intention to "crush" Malaysia.

Several weeks ago Johnson sent a special note to Sukarno expressing grave concern over the military buildup in the Malaysian crisis.

Kennedy met with Sukarno once before, in February 1962, as President Kennedy's personal emissary. The attorney general helped settle the Indonesians' territorial dispute with the Dutch over West Irian, a part of the old Netherlands New Guinea, and has been highly regarded by the Indonesians since then.

Search Goes On for Crew Of Bomber

CUMBERLAND, Md. (UPI)—Searchers struggled through knee deep snow in a desolate mountainous area of western Maryland today in search of four missing crewmen from a Strategic Air Command (B32) jet bomber.

The crewmen bailed out of the plane which was carrying two unarmed nuclear bombs shortly before it crashed in a snowstorm about 40 miles west of here early Monday.

The pilot, Maj. Thomas W. McCormick, 42, of Yawkey, Va., made his way safely to farmhouse about 10 miles from the crash site Monday night and reported he was all right.

McCormick said he thought he was the last of the five crewmen to bail out of the bomber before it crashed with a loud roar. He was reported in satisfactory condition at a hospital here where he was being treated for exposure.

McCormick, who said he was red and a bit bruised, had no idea where his comrades were. Still missing are Capt. Parker Peeden, 29, Smithfield, N.C., co-pilot; Maj. Robert L. Payne, 41, Tulsa, Okla., navigator; Maj. Robert E. Townley, 37, Gadsden, Ala., co-navigator; and T.Sgt. Melvin Wooten, 27, Rapid City, S.D., the gunner. Authorities from West Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania lined up military officials in searching for the missing crewmen. Officials feared for the safety of the missing men because of the remoteness of the area and because of near zero temperatures.

Two teams of experts on nuclear safety were en route to investigate the crash. One team of six investigators, headed by A. Charles B. Stewart, USAF director of nuclear safety, flew from Kirtland Air Force Base in New Mexico to assist in retrieving the nuclear bombs. The second team, composed of four men and headed by Col. James W. Tisdale Jr., came from Norton Air Force Base, Calif.

The Army sent a 15-man team of bomb disposal experts from Meade, Md., and the Air Force sent a rescue team of 35 men from Andrews Air Force Base, Md., near Washington.

The Pentagon emphasized that ordinary explosion or crash of a plane carrying nuclear weapons would not touch off a clear blast.

The Defense Department said an unarmed nuclear bomb had been found. A spokesman said there was no radiation danger and the bombs were under control.

Immediate Jail Terms Urged for Estes Trio

EL PASO, Tex. (UPI)—Robert Earl Clements Sr., who was convicted during the Billie Sol Estes scandal, has demanded that a federal court send three convicted Estes accomplices to prison immediately to serve their sentences, it was disclosed Monday.

Clements, one of the founders of the Townsend plan for old-age pensions in the 1930s, charged there was a "conspiracy" between federal prosecutors and the three defendants to keep them out of prison so they could testify against Clements.

Clements faces federal charges of fraud. He already has been sentenced to two years imprisonment and has appealed the conviction.

The accomplices are Ruel Alexander, 36, and Harold E. Orr, 31, of Amarillo, Tex., and Coleman D. McSpadden, 43, of Lubbock, Tex. They pleaded guilty in federal court to fraud and conspiracy charges that Estes chose to stand trial on.

The three defendants pleaded guilty and were sentenced to definite terms in the penitentiary in excess of 180 days. The motion said, "Notwithstanding, Orr, McSpadden and Alexander remain at large as desperadoes and fugitives from justice from the date of sentencing."

The motion asked that "Orr, McSpadden and Alexander be committed to the proper federal institutions forthwith to begin serving the sentences..."

Vendor Reveals Pay For Help of Baker

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A former vending machine company officer said Monday he gave Robert G. (Bobby) Baker a total of $5,600 in cash payments over a period of 17 months for the former Senate official's help in obtaining and keeping a controversial contract.

Ralph L. Hill told the Senate Rules Committee the payments were first negotiated at $250 a month and later at $650 a month before Baker told him last year that Hill's company, Capitol Vending Co., Inc., would lose the profitable contract at the Melpar, Inc., plant in suburban Virginia.

Hill said Baker was "powerful" enough to control the Melpar contract but "I was surprised that he would take it away from me." He said the monthly payments were carried on Capitol's books as operating expenses because "I was trying to protect Mr. Baker as well as myself."

The former vending company official said he made the monthly cash payments directly to Baker in the former Senate Democratic Secretary's office at the capitol.

Hill said Baker originally sought $1,000 a month when he stopped by to thank the former senate aide for his help. "We argued back and forth and finally settled for $250," Hill said. The committee is digging into Baker's outside business interests which led to his resignation from his $23,500 a year Senate post last year.

The private payments to Baker were increased to $650 a month after Baker interceded to let Capitol raise prices at Melpar, Hill said, although Baker still asked $1,000 a month.

Capitol Vending put the spotlight on Baker's outside business interests last September by filing a $300,000 civil damage suit in which Baker was a defendant. It alleged that Capitol paid Baker $5,600 for securing and maintaining a $300,000 vending machine franchise with Melpar which later went to another company.

Mechanic Tells Of Fight to Get Oil Field Title

SANTA PAULA, Calif. (UPI) — Mechanic O. V. Morris told today of a legal battle he is waging to establish his right to a share in production of a West Texas oil field over the last half-century.

Morris, who has filed suit in Texas to determine title of the property near Breckenridge — about 80 miles east of Abilene, claims his grandfather owned 160 acres of land on which wells have been drilled since 1912.

The grandfather, W. C. Manley, died in 1898. Morris is contesting a will not recorded until Dec. 17 of last year. He claims the will is fraudulent because the signature is misspelled and not of his grandfather's hand.

The will left everything to Manley's second wife, but Morris claims there is no record of her and that the money should go to descendants of his grandmother, Martha Manley Edwards — of which there are 41.

"Why should I fix automobiles when I could share in a rightful inheritance of these proportions," said Morris, who makes his living as a mechanic in this Southern California town north of Los Angeles.

BARTLESVILLE, Okla. (UPI) — Phillips Petroleum Co. Monday declared a regular quarterly dividend of 50 cents per share, payable March 2 to stockholders of record Jan. 31.

Oilman Seeking Import Limits

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI)—A Texas independent oilman Monday urged the United States to adopt a policy that would limit gas imports to their current ratio to domestic gas production.

E. Bruce Street, president of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association (TIPRO) spoke at the annual meeting of the Oklahoma Independent Petroleum Association.

He said U.S. policy must help develop adequate petroleum reserves to make the country self-sufficient in the event of a national emergency.

He said the U.S. has failed to meet this need. He said Canadian imports of natural gas threaten to "undermine the reasonable price structure for United States petroleum."

Dear Abby....
She'll Have to Prove The Case in Question

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 23 years old (male) and need your help. Recently, in a joking way, I gave a girl a cheap imitation ring I picked up at a dime store. Now she's trying to tell me that no matter how cheap the ring is, as long as I gave it to her, we are officially engaged. I tried to tell her it was all a gag, but she is threatening to sue me or breach of promise. Can she do this? A buddy of mine who is attending law school says she can.

GETTING WORRIED
DEAR GETTING: I am so worried, but I can tell you that anybody can sue whom ever he (or she) wants to sue and all the defendant can do is try to defend himself. If she sues against you (which I think is unlikely) she will have to prove that the ring was given to her together with your promise to wed. If she can do that, Brother, you are trouble.

DEAR ABBY: Do you remember way back when you visited people over for a meal and they came and ate with such enthusiasm that it made you feel that it was worth every bit of trouble you went through? What has happened to these days? I had a Thanksgiving dinner for 20 and I carried more than half the food to the table untouched. Nobody wanted any sweet potatoes (too fattening!) and all my lovely home-made rolls were passed up. Somebody had me if the peas had butter on them and only 5 out of 20 would even taste my pecan pie! Everybody is either on a diet or watching their cholesterol. It's no fun to cook any more. What's the answer?

DISAPPOINTED HOSTESS
DEAR HOSTESS: Next time take the whole lot of 'em to a restaurant and let them order what they want.

DEAR ABBY: I just had a thirty-minute argument with a boy on the phone and hope that you can settle the question: When a boy talks to a girl, who is supposed to hang up first? I really don't think it makes much difference, but he says the girl is definitely supposed to hang up first. Is there any such rule?

BILL'S FRIEND
DEAR FRIEND: As far as I know, there is no such rule, but it really doesn't make much difference as long as SOMEBODY hangs up after thirty minutes.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "Sharp Observer": The worse a man is morally, the better he expects his wife to be.

POLLY'S POINTERS

DEAR POLLY — It used to be so annoying to put up the storm windows and in a few days see spider webs between the two windows that I had to look at for months. Now I spray an insecticide around the casings after I wash the windows on the outside so when the storm windows are put on they stay clear of spider webs. — MRS. A.F.Y.

GIRLS — This sounds good. My storm windows are already up but I will remember this hint for next year. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — My 8-year-old daughter has a good way of keeping rubber bands on hand for fastening her braids or pony tail. She wraps the rubber bands tightly around the handle of her hairbrush. When she needs them they are conveniently within reach. — J.J.

GIRLS — Betty, my assistant, liked this idea for providing a better grip on some hairbrush handles. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — When in need of a large cookie cutter, use the top from your coffee pot. It makes a very handy cutter and works especially well for old-fashioned sugar cookies.

To keep your ball of crocheting thread from rolling all over the place, take a small board and put a spike through it, or even a piece of heavy cardboard with a knitting needle stuck through it, and slip the ball of thread over the spike or needle. It works very well. — H.P.H.

DEAR POLLY — Just before you take a bath, sprinkle sachet on your underthings and roll them up. When you get out of the tub put on your scented lingerie, you will feel pampered. Do your little girl's undies this way, too. She won't mind taking a bath if she knows she can later put on sweet-smelling garments. — MRS. J.T.T.

DEAR POLLY — When I am working in the living room, I hook the baby car seat over the back of the couch and baby is content to watch while I finish my work. When we go to a drive-in movie and an older child cannot see, we let him sit in the baby's car seat and then we all enjoy the movie. — MRS. D.P.

To Be Happier—Buck the Trend Toward Perfection Expected Today

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Homes are becoming simply houses or shelter because of unrealistic pressure for perfection placed on American women, the editor of two magazines for women recently told a group of home economists in business.

Explaining what he meant by "pressure," the editor said a woman is supposed to keep a house spotlessly clean, keep herself elegantly groomed, prepare excellent meals, work 18 hours a day, and still be happy and sympathetic. Such standards, he maintains, are impossible even for a superwoman.

any child in the neighborhood is welcome to play in our yard. ... isn't a house where no one is allowed to make any clutter more of a shelter than a home? (And yet that attitude is fairly typical of today's housewives struggling for perfection.)

If all of her friends are struggling to look 20 years younger, what woman is going to have the courage to say, "I'm old enough to have some gray hair — so why pretend I'm not by keeping it dyed? I'm old enough to have a few wrinkles — so why worry about them? I'm old enough to have grandchildren — so what's so terrible about looking like a grandmother?"

Women today do need to relax their standards enough to get more pleasure and enjoyment out of life, and to let their families get a little more. But who is going to buck the trend toward perfection and risk having her friends and neighbors look down their noses at her?

Men: help your wife unwind. Read "Happier Wives hints for husbands." Just send 25 cents to Ruth Millett, Reader Service, care of Pampa Daily News, P.O. Box 408, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 20, N.Y.

State Officials Likely to Visit In City Soon

Probability that one or more of Texas' railroad commissioners will come to Pampa for an open house ceremony in the commission's new city hall offices was indicated today by Roy Payne of Austin, the state body's director of field operations.

Payne was introduced at today's meeting of the Pampa City Commission by Jack O. Miller, district supervisor in Pampa.

Payne thanked the commission for remodeling the local headquarters. The $10,000 remodeling job got underway Monday and contractors expect to finish within about three weeks. The commission offices are on the third floor. Temporary headquarters are located in the Palm Room of city hall while the remodeling is being done.

Present members of the Texas Railroad Commission are Jim C. Langdon of El Paso, Ben Ramsey of San Augustine and E. O. Thompson of Amarillo.

Payne told the commissioners it is hoped plans can be arranged for a visit to Pampa by the railroad commissioners after the remodeling is finished and the district office is fully established in its new quarters.

Miller said an open house will be held for the public. The definite date cannot be set, Miller stated, until the remodeling is completed.

Miller said tentative plans call for a two-day "open house" ceremony which would bring to Pampa oil industry executives and operators and other dignitaries from over the entire Panhandle.

Litter, Trash Problem Worries City Official

Mayor H. R. Thompson told city commissioners today he was disturbed with Pampa's littered streets and trash problem.

The mayor said the full length of Hobart St. is a vast trash area.

"It's scattered all up and down Hobart St.," he said, "and I think it's a shame and disgrace."

The mayor indicated he wanted something done about it and invited officials and commissioners to take a tour around town with him and he would show them what he was talking about.

City commissioners today got into a discussion about parking spaces around city hall. City

Two Texans on Top Jaycee List

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI) — The U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce Monday announced its selection of the nation's 10 outstanding young men of 1963, including two Texans.

Recipients will be honored at ceremonies in Santa Monica Civic Auditorium Jan. 25.

The selections include James W. Whittaker, the first American to climb Mt. Everest and A. Leon Higginbotham, first Negro ever to be named to a federal regulatory agency.

Among others was Rep. Edgar F. Foreman Jr., 30, Odessa, youngest member of Congress and first Republican ever to represent his state's 19-county district and Thomas S. McKay, 33, Texas City, engineer and general manager of the world's largest tin smelter, located in Texas City.

City OKs Renovation Of Sewage Facilities

City Commissioners today approved plans of City Engineer Harold Foreman to increase efficiency of Pampa's sewage treatment plant by means of a thorough renovation program.

Foreman told the commissioners that the present plant facilities could be improved with a cleanup project.

The commission authorized the city engineer and City Manager Harold Schmitzer to get figures on the cost of purchasing a 4-inch sludge pump and protective breathing equipment for workers in order to get the cleanup job underway.

Foreman said he thought the pumps and necessary equipment to clean the two treatment tanks could be bought for around $1,200.

"We could do the work ourselves," Foreman said, "and this would cut down the cost of the same job that would cost us around $3,000 to $5,000 on an equipment rental basis with an outside firm doing the work."

The engineer stated that Pampa should get its present facilities into the best shape possible.

"The amount of efficiency we pick up on current facilities at the plant," Foreman said, "will reduce that much the new's when it comes time for installing oxidation ponds."

The present Pampa plant is considered to be operating only about 60 per cent of maximum efficiency.

Foreman also told the commissioners that the city needs additional means of control over businesses that use sand traps and grease traps.

"Failure to control these," he said "is allowing a condition to exist which causes many stoppages in lateral sewer lines."

Troop Movement To Test Plans For Fast Action

TOKYO (UPI) — The U. S. Army will fly 4,000 troops across the Pacific next month to test a new concept for stopping aggression within hours, it was disclosed this week.

U. S. Army headquarters in Japan announced plans for air-lifting the 25th Infantry Division brigade task force from Hawaii to Okinawa.

Ships dispatched from a U.S. naval base in the Philippines will meet the soldiers on the beach with artillery, tanks and other heavy equipment needed for warfare.

The transpacific war games allow last autumn's airlift of a full army division from the United States to West Germany. Washington is testing and refining methods for rapid deployment of combat troops and equipment in order to reduce American forces stationed overseas and to better meet sudden wars in remote corners of the globe.

The United States announced December that it will withdraw some 3,500 Air Force men from Japan during 1964.

Other American troop reductions in the Far East may follow.

The Army said the February exercise will be the first of its kind ever staged in the Pacific.

First Negro Eyes Hobbs City Post

HOBBS, N.M. (UPI) — Six Hobbs residents, including the first Negro ever to seek a city commission post, will seek three commission slots today in a city-wide election.

The Negro, who thinks he has good chance to win, is Fred Washington, who owns his own plumbing firm.

Washington will seek to oust-time incumbent Walter T. Nam in Ward 1. Also in the ward 1 race is Bert Wray, a school teacher.

Running for Ward 2 is Robert (Bob) Hensley and Burl Ay. The incumbent, Ed Laughlin, is not seeking re-election.

Running in Ward 5 is Mrs. A. Kennitz, who seeks reelection.

Voters also will decide on $1 million general obligation bond issue for constructing additional storm sewers in the city.

Smith to Represent Texas at Meeting

CARLSBAD, N.M. (UPI) — Lt. Gov. Preston Smith of Texas will represent Gov. John Connally at the three-state International Border Congress of the minor Chamber of Commerce in Carlsbad, Jan. 31-Feb. 2.

Connally said he would not be able to attend because of poor health due to wounds received the time of the assassination of President Kennedy.

New Mexico Gov. Jack McInerney and Gov. Praxedes Duran of the state of Chihuahua, Mexico, will speak at the meeting.

Between 300 and 400 persons are expected to attend the congress.

Texan to Assist Baptist Crusade

DALLAS (UPI) — The Rev. W. Tyndall, a former state legislator and attorney, Sunday became the associate co-ordinator of the Texas Baptist in American New Life Crusade.

He resigned as pastor of the Hampton Place Baptist Church to take his new post.

Tyndall will begin his work with the Baptist General Convention Feb. 1.

Harvesters Host Tascosa Tonight

Congress Watching Finley-AL Hassle

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Organized baseball may get more than it bargained for when the American League meets in New York Thursday to consider Charles O. Finley's proposal to move his Kansas City Athletics to Louisville, Ky.

In addition to baseball men, a good sized coterie of national lawmakers may be on hand to watch, and possibly participate, in the deliberations.

Finley signed a contract last week to move the Athletics to Louisville when he was unable to come to terms with Kansas City officials on a new lease. Several American League owners have voiced their disapproval of Finley's action, and Finley has threatened to cause trouble if the other owners block his move to Louisville.

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., and Sen. James B. Pearson, R-Kan., plan to be present to back Kansas City's efforts to retain the team. Sens. Thurston B. Morton and John Sherman Cooper, Kentucky Republicans, are expected to back the proposal to move the team to Louisville.

Besides the senators, assorted House members from both states may attend the league meeting.

Brings Out Jitters Baseball men get jittery when government officials take too close an interest in their affairs. They have a great deal

The Pampa Harvesters will be seeking to even their district record tonight when they host the most improved team in the loop, the Tascosa Rebels.

The Rebels, although one of the shortest teams in the district, pulled off the upset of the season last week when they knocked lowering Monterey out of the ranks of the unbeaten, 39-38, then taking Friday night off while Monterey regained a tie for the loop lead. The Plainsmen did it at the expense of Pampa, 65-60, while Lubbock was getting upset in turn by the Amarillo Sandies.

Tascosa, starting slowly, has blazed to six victories in a row since Pat Harkins joined the team. The all-state quarterback, who sparked the Rebels to the state semifinals, has had the same effect on the basketball team, leading them to a 4-3 loop mark.

The potent Rebs boost the league's leading scorer, with three of their starters in the top ten in the loop, but it has been Harkins that sparked the show. The Rebels have abandoned their cautious defensive play, for the most part, since Harkins returned, for a fast breaking, run-and-shoot game, with Harkins the master thief in their full-court press.

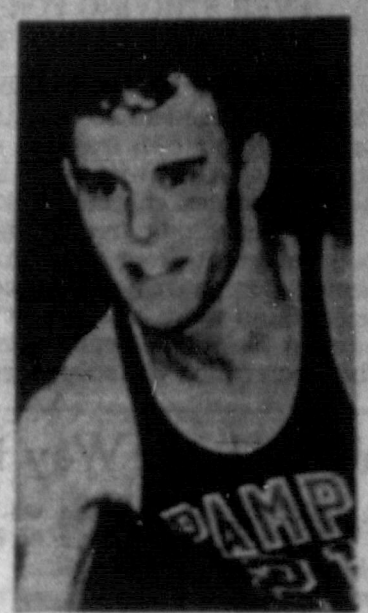

The Rebels were averaging 81 points a game since Harkins' return, until last week when they went in a creeping stall to edge the Plainsmen. They still boast double-figure Bill Bogan, 6-3 returning starter, who has pumped in 121 points in seven district games to lead the loop. Steve Plattler, 6-2 center, is seventh in district scoring and 5-11 junior Larry Willoughby is 10th with 66 points.

Rounding out the starting lineup is another 6-2 forward, Johnny Bowman. Reserves who get plenty of action are 5-10 Bruce Magnus, 5-8 Ronnie Baker and 6-2 Wes Clayton.

Coach Terry Culley's Harvesters will face both a defensive and an offensive problem tonight, but have one big advantage in both.

The Green 'n Gold has varied both its offense and its defense to suit the opposition's tactics, usually successfully. They have beaten Amarillo at their own game of fast-break, they almost matched Lubbock in their deliberate game, they have slowed the game down against the run-and-shoot clubs and speeded it up against the sloppies. However, Tascosa has proven that they can play the fast-break or stall games equally well, can press successfully and can defend a variety of attacks and break through a variety of defenses.

Pampa's big opportunity will come on the backboards, where they will have an overall height advantage for one of the few times this season. Although Tascosa can match the 6-3 pair of Charlie Price and Roper Roper, 6-2½ Danny Hill and 6-0 Kenny Hebert should have a chance at the boards while Price and Roper fight off Bogan and Plattler.

The Pampa Shockers will be going after their 18th straight victory tonight at 6 p.m. when they meet Tascosa's B team in the opener.

Sooner Cops Rodeo Lead

DENVER (UPI) — Billy Hale, 25, of Checotah, Okla., was $1,344 richer today after he wrestled a rangy steer down in 4.6 seconds in Monday night's performance of the National Western Stock Show Rodeo.

He bested 97 other entries in the concluding go-round of the steer wrestling competition. Hale has a chance to win a like amount if he wins the overall average in the second go-round to boost his winnings to $1,980.

Second place and $1,287 went to C. R. Jones of Santee, Calif., who dogged his steer in 5.3 seconds.

Monday night's results: Bareback bronc riding: 1. Daryl Brown, Okla., Wash., 59 points; 2. Bernis Johnson, Cebu, Tex., and Bucky Baker, Rochester, Minn., 53 (tie).

Bull riding: 1. Bob Robinson, San Diego, Calif., 59. Several other contestants in the event were bucked off.

Saddle bronc riding: 1. George Myren, Viking, Alberta, 59; 2. Gerald Eichelberger, Olney Springs, Kan., 52.

Steer wrestling: 1. Jim Basch, Rapid City, S.D., 4.6; 2. Leon Adams, McAlester, Okla., 5.4.

Calf roping: 1. Howard Nichols, Higley, Ariz., 14.2; 2. Richard Walker, Cotulla, Tex., 11.2.

Girls' barrel racing: 1. Loretta Manuel, Burkholder, Tex., 15.9; 2. Dorothy Snow, Denison, Tex., 16.1.

CONGRATULATIONS should be in order for Charles O. Finley, the owner of the Kansas City-Louisville and points west Athletics, for being the first man to dare defy the moguls of the American League since they drove Bill Veck out of the business. Veck tried to do things legally and got his throat cut. Finley has taken the law into his own hands.

The defiance of the American League poses a fascinating problem. If the league refuses to allow him to move his team to Louisville and he has no place to play in KC, exactly what can he do to him? Call all his games forfeit? That would be an awful lot of revenue to lose. The Ol' Swami predicts that they will have to give in rather than lose those juicy gate receipts, but that they'll get Finley along the way . . . probably in the back as they did Veck.

LEO THE LIP is on the loose again. The Borger Blabbermouth phoned recently to ask that we cover the Borger basketball game at Pampa for him. Queried as to why he didn't come down in person, the Bearded Borger Beatinik admitted he valued his carcass too highly to bring it within the reach of any Pampa coach or player. Perhaps he is still suffering indigestion from the column coach Terry Culley had him eat. On the other hand, it may be because of a vicious and completely unprovoked attack on another Pampa coach. We don't want to go into the details because the remark was completely uncalled for, unwarranted and just plain dirty. A little honest sniping is standard procedure, but when you knife a man in the back who has always gone out of his way to be pleasant to you, you're stooping to a new low . . . even for Leo.

TOO MUCH of a good thing department: Miami High School is winning trophies faster than they can find places to put them! The Warriors and Warriorettes, two of the most potent Class B basketball teams in the state, an 8-man football powerhouse and a fine track team, cleaned up 18 trophies last year, completely filling a brand-new trophy case which had been built in the new school. Before anyone could turn around, the teams have racked up six more this season. Football, basketball and track trophies are currently overflowing every trophy case in every Miami school, desks and offices of all school officials, and basketball coach Larry Overcast even has them sitting in his house for lack of a place to put them! We know quite a few schools that wish they had the same problem.

FROM THE MAILBAG: A letter from Texas A&M track coach Charlie Thomas anent the latest doings of Randy Matson.

Dear Jeff, Randy has been invited to compete in the Los Angeles Indoor Meet Jan. 18 and the New York Athletic Club Indoor Meet Feb. 13. The New York meet will be nationally televised on Wide World of Sports. Randy will compete in these two meets and in three Texas Indoor meets. He will probably throw in the National AAU Indoor Meet, also.

Randy says he feels stronger due to his weight training. He has put two inches around his chest and his arms are already a little larger. He has thrown only twice, hitting 56 feet the first day. A week later, he hit 58 feet. He has not thrown for distance now for about three weeks. He is working with an 18-pound shot.

Academically, he is doing great; needless to say, we are expecting great things of Randy. Sincerely, Charles Thomas Track Coach

Weather May Strand Some of NBA Stars

BOSTON (UPI) — New blizzard conditions delayed — and possibly snowed out — some of the top basketball players on their way here for tonight's National Basketball Association All-Star game.

Alternate transportation plans were made and the game was expected to go on as scheduled. A few of the players arrived time for Monday night's banquet. However, officials said 18 present and past stars, who are to participate in the two-day event, were stranded by weather in Chicago and eight others were held up in St. Louis.

NBA President Walter Kennedy said if a sufficient number of All-Stars failed to show by game time, the world champion Boston Celtics will get those All-Stars who arrive late.

Some All-Star exhibitions may be staged primarily for the television audience, but not so the NBA where everything is strictly for blood.

The mere presence of the NBA's currently most successful coaches, Red Auerbach of Boston Celtics and Fred Schaus of the Los Angeles Lakers, virtually assures the All-Star game here tonight will be an all-out affair.

There's no difference in the take-home pay or the expense allowances to winners and losers. But to players like Bill Russell, Walt Bellamy, Oscar Robertson and Wilt Chamberlain, that makes not a particle of difference.

Auerbach, 5-3 in his eight seasons as Eastern coach, thereupon named three members of his own five-time champions to the East starting lineup. They included unanimous-choice Russell at center, veteran Tom Heinsohn in the corner, and Sam Jones in the backcourt. The opening five also will include Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson and rookie Jerry Lucas.

Western Coach Schaus had the problem. Two of the top five Western vote-getters were centers. Baltimore's Walt Bellamy was the squad's only unanimous choice while perennial leader Wilt Chamberlain of San Francisco finished fourth.

Schaus, basing his decision on Bellamy's vote victory, named the Baltimore pivot to the starting center job.

Beyond that complication, Schaus said he would have his own twosome, Jerry West and Elgin Baylor, the veteran St. Louis Hawk star Bob Pettit and San Francisco's Guy Rodgers on the court for the opening tap-off.

Unbeaten UCLA bumped neighboring Southern California twice during the weekend to justify its No. 1 ranking obtained last week, and increased its lead to 80 points. The Bruins received 31 first-place ballots from the 35 coaches on the UPI rating board.

Ratings are based on games played through Saturday, Jan. 11.

Loyola of Chicago, the early-season leader, romped to its fifth consecutive victory and replaced Kentucky in the runner-up spot. Michigan also passed the Wildcats to reclaim third place. The Wolverines' only setback in 12 tests was to UCLA.

Kentucky, beaten by Vanderbilt last week before rebounding to rout LSU and Tulane with 100-plus totals, slipped to fourth. Vanderbilt moved back into sixth-place following its win over Kentucky and a 90-56 pummeling of defending Southeastern Conference champion Mississippi State.

Fifth-ranked Davidson survived a scare from lightly regarded Virginia to remain in the unbeaten class with UCLA and 13th-ranked DePaul. These are the only major colleges with perfect marks. Davidson has won 12 straight, UCLA 13 and DePaul 11.

Oregon State dropped a notch to seventh and the remaining three top 10 members—Cincinnati (No. 8), Duke (No. 9) and Villanova (No. 10) — remained stationary.

PACKERS SIGN TWO — GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI) — The Green Bay Packers have signed Texas quarterback Duke Carlisle and Omaha University tackle Jack Petersen.

Carlisle, who led Texas to the national championship and a victory over Navy in the Cotton Bowl was Green Bay's fifth draft choice.

Clans Widen Lead in College Cage Poll

NEW YORK (UPI) — Loyola Chicago, Michigan and Vanderbilt advanced today in the weekly United Press International major college basketball pollings but top-ranked UCLA kept up a wide first-place margin.

Unbeaten UCLA bumped neighboring Southern California twice during the weekend to justify its No. 1 ranking obtained last week, and increased its lead to 80 points. The Bruins received 31 first-place ballots from the 35 coaches on the UPI rating board.

Pressure on OU for Jones

NORMAN, Okla. (UPI) — Pressure appeared to be building on University of Oklahoma regents today to name Gomer Jones to succeed Bud Wilkinson as head football coach.

Three members of the four-man screening committee named to recommend a successor apparently favor Jones who as an assistant to Wilkinson the past 16 years contributed much to Oklahoma's gridiron successes.

Jones, 49-year-old former star center at Ohio State, said he is interested in the job.

"The powers that be knew I was interested in the head coaching job," he said Monday.

Jones has received overwhelming support from team members, who circulated a petition urging the regents to name the famed and popular line coach to the top post.

Wilkinson, it is reported, already has mentioned Jones to the regents. Dr. George L. Cross, university president, said he concurred in the team petition.

But legislation could be made that operation of all the sports is business.

A DODGE CREWCAB KEEPS THEM ALL UNDER ONE ROOF!

"Ours is a seasonal business, from March through November. During these months it's a constant race against time to pour as many concrete building foundations as we can. We can't afford to fool around with trucks that won't go when we go. So we buy Dodge trucks, have been since 1936. Now we have 11, including two D100 Crew Cab pickups, and they're the greatest. It used to be a crew rode to a job in the pickup box, or in their own cars. Now they all go together, under cover. Besides being comfortable, the Crew Cab Dodges cut down our travel time, and they're all on the job at the same time." — N. Polizzi & Sons, North Grafton, Massachusetts. There are three important things to know about the Dodge 6-man Crew Cab. It is one of the lowest priced crew cabs offered by any U.S. truck manufacturer. It is available on seven chassis models . . . low and medium-tonnage, two or four-wheel drive. And it can be used with any kind of body you want. Sweptline and Utility pickups included. Remember, too, that Dodge trucks are priced lower than most of the competition, right in line with the fact. Attractive? So is your dependable Dodge dealer's liberal finance plan. We think it's the best in the business. See how little it will cost to put a Dodge Job-Rated truck to work for you!

Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities. We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself, no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Fabians Lead Way to Socialism

In reflecting on the state of the union and on the state of thinking throughout the nation, there can be no question that we are far down the road in an active acceptance and participation in socialist theories. If readers are as yet unaware of this fact, we would advise our readers to read this. There is a wealth of literature which not only supports this conclusion, it documents this case with some thoroughness.

Our purpose here is to examine the present situation which we believe to be as described, and then to try to find out why this nation, founded upon the concept of liberty; foremost in all the world in the productive processes; basing its entire ability to survive on a free market; free enterprise system; has nonetheless turned squarely about in a flirtation with economic folly discredited and disproved by more than 300 years of experience in this new world of the Americas.

Why have Americans even considered socialism for a moment? We were successful when we were not socialists. Ever since that magic moment at Lexington when the embattled Minute Men fired the shot heard 'round the world," we continued to advance until recent years.

Today while we admittedly maintain the appearance of progress, we are in fact engaged in gobbling up our seed corn, planted with such danger and difficulty so many years ago.

In the years from 1850 up until possibly about 1919 America offered the consistent image of a people well able to make individual decisions and successfully manage their own affairs.

Today these are only a remnant who believe in themselves. The faith of the nation has shifted very largely from individual resolve and reliance to a faith in the collective, the mass, and worse: to decisions which must be made and forced upon us by an ever-encroaching state.

Why this 180-degree turnabout in our philosophy? Obviously, no single reason could explain what has happened and is still happening.

Clearly socialism is ancient in origin. Savage peoples the world over have always practiced it. Barbarians made little improvement on it. Ancient legal writings indicate that socialism was implicit in the ancient governmental forms which came into existence.

Yet in spite of the fact that socialism is most ancient, that governments always practiced and if we care to consider the evidence, much of the world's great literature from Plato until modern times advocated it and still it never became acceptable as a generally held philosophy until modern times.

The Communist school of thought, inspired by Karl Marx, had some degree of success, but ended in alienating millions of people because of the violence he espoused. The anarchists, under Bakunin, were even less realistic than Marx and certainly, with their bomb-throwing and assassination efforts, equally unattractive to most. Yet, today while most people say they oppose communism or anarchy and can offer good reasons for doing so, the fact remains that these same people have accepted and are practicing socialism.

Further, they are advocating it and welcoming it with open arms. If we wish to find a rather all-encompassing reason for this massive acceptance of socialism in our midst, we must look to the Fabian school in Britain and to the methods adopted by that school which relate to education rather than violence.

While many deplore the slowness of the educational approach, it is demonstrable that socialism made small headway as an acceptable philosophy until educational techniques were advanced by the Fabians to "sell" the ideas to the public in general.

'Federal Aid' Is Nonsense

We repeatedly hear a jingle in favor of Big Government. It goes something like this: "When private enterprise cannot, or will not, meet existing needs; then the Government should step in and get the job done."

There's a big fly padding furiously in that ointment — yet too few Americans have even noticed it.

Has anyone thought to ask just who is supposed to determine what those "existing needs" are? Who makes this big decision as to whether or not something is beyond the capability or willingness of private enterprise — and therefore must be done by Government?

Should vital necessities be determined by politicians and bureaucrats with their practiced eyes on voting blocs? Or should these "needs" be determined by the people themselves (who ultimately pay the cost of every governmental project) in the normal working of a free market economy?

Very few Americans, unfortunately, have sufficient understanding of the private enterprise system to realize that true needs and desires automatically translate themselves into actual buying and selling of goods and services. Wherever there is a demonstrated need of a new product or service, the profit motive impels someone into the activity of serving the needs of others.

Contrary to accepted belief, government cannot serve any need other than the protection of our God-given rights. For, in order to go into such business as private enterprise "cannot" or "will not" undertake, government must finance its activity by force of taxation. If the "need" which government claims to serve were truly existent, this same money (left in the hands of the people) would constitute the buying power that would bring the necessary private production into existence.

The U. S. Constitution enumerates certain powers and responsibilities for the Government to carry out in protecting the rights of the people. Such Constitutional activities are financed through taxation — the only means any government has for doing anything.

But taxation of the American people, in order to finance activities that are in direct competition with the taxpayers, is contrary to the intent of the Constitution. And this competition with its own people takes place every time Government determines by itself that there is some unfulfilled need somewhere in the country.

Therefore, what appears to be beneficent paternalism or magnanimity on Government's part is nothing more than the Robin Hood stole from ruling nobles only difference being that Robin hood stole from ruling nobles who had inherited their wealth, while our own bureaucrats steal from the producers of wealth, including those in every income bracket.

Never before in our history has it been more important for us to realize that if Government has the power to "give," it has already exercised the power to take away.

Only private enterprise can determine what "must" be done; for only private enterprise is required to satisfy the consumer's real needs. Every billion dollars that we cut from the federal budget will be a billion dollars that will start serving us productively instead of politically.

The only things you can take with you when you leave this world are the things you have given away.

Pull Up A Chair

By Frank J. Markey

Ike's own account of the Eisenhower administration, "Mandate for Change," recalls that Calvin Coolidge was the first President in this century to write his memoirs after leaving office. His predecessor, Herbert Hoover, didn't publish his presidential recollections until 1953, and Harry Truman's own story came out in the mid-50's too. Teddy Roosevelt and William Howard Taft wrote for publication after retiring from office, but never told the story of their respective administrations. Woodrow Wilson, who might have turned out a scholarly report, was physically incapacitated before his term expired. And death took McKinley, Harding, Franklin Roosevelt, and John F. Kennedy while they still held the presidency. It is reasonable to assume that if JFK had lived his story would have been a literary masterpiece.

Today's smile: An elderly lady, learning to drive, found things confusing. She turned into a one-way street and was stopped by a traffic officer, who asked: "Where do you think you're going, lady? Didn't you see those arrows?" The old gal said: "Officer, believe me! I didn't even see any Indians."

The world's only monument to the queen of all gems, the diamond, was erected in Antwerp, Belgium, 500 years ago — long before an American blonde concluded diamonds were a girl's best friend. The statue also honors Ludwig Van Berckan who, in 1475, invented the method of cutting diamonds, which is basically the same method used today.

Thoughts while shaving: (or Everything Happens in Blighly) A friend who spent the summer in England tells us that, while at a dog track there, he saw a spectator hop over the rail and try to catch the mechanical rabbit. He failed and the Bobbies caught him on the first turn. The St. Louis (Mo.) POST-DISPATCH reports: "He bought a do-it-yourself barber kit and cuts his own hair." Someday he's going to give himself a haircut, too.

Still on a heady subject: We were amused to learn that a drug clerk in Lexington, Kentucky, caught a bald-headed man trying to shoplift a hair dryer. A few visitors to New York realize they are berthed in Manhattan by calling the steamship line directly and requesting passes. A small fee of 50 cents is given to the Seamen's Fund. This is a great treat for anyone who has never sailed the seas. Booksellers tell us that any volumes on Virginia or New England usually have a good market, not only to folks in those areas but throughout the country. So, we recommend "The Face of Virginia," a magnificent 340-page treasure of photographs of the Old Dominion by T. Aubrey Bodine, one of America's outstanding pictorial photographers. He traveled 50,000 miles through the State and has caught unusual and memorable pictures of Jamestown, Williamsburg, Richmond, lovely old mansions and the valley and hill country. Super work.

The moon is new. The evening stars are Venus, Jupiter and Saturn.

Those born today include Dr. Albert Schweitzer, in 1875. On this day in history: In 1878, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that a state law outlawing segregation of the races in railroad travel was unconstitutional.

In 1914, Henry Ford inaugurated the manufacture of automobiles by the "assembly line" method. In 1943, President Franklin D. Roosevelt and British Prime Minister Winston Churchill began a 10-day meeting in Morocco to plan Allied offensives aimed at "unconditional surrender" of the Axis. In 1959, the new Cuban regime led by Fidel Castro was holding war crimes trials. An estimated 220 persons were executed by firing squads in two weeks.

B-47 Jets Only Part of Administration's Disarmament Package; Joint Chiefs Vigorously Oppose 'Big Bonfire' Plan

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The Johnson administration's sky-lighting proposal to destroy those B-47 jet bombers is only part of the disarmament package U.S. officials are preparing to offer the Russians.

The controversial plan, which is being vigorously opposed by the Joint Chiefs of staff, calls for the U. S. and Russia to jointly destroy mortars, tanks and atomic firing cannons.

The giant 280-millimeter nuclear field pieces now used by U. S. forces in West Germany and Korea but considered obsolete are being added to the disarmament proposal to give it an atomic impact.

Still under backstage consideration is whether the package should include a State Department plan providing that the U. S. offer to dismantle a small number of atomic bombs on a two-for-one basis with the Soviet.

This unpublished proposal and the exact number of jet bombers and other military equipment to be destroyed are being hotly debated by President Johnson's military, intelligence and foreign policy advisers.

Secretary of State Rusk, who hopes to have the new "arms control" package ready to offer the Russians at the East-West talks that open in Geneva on January 21, favors the big bonfire plan.

He is seeking presidential approval to propose that a match be put to 200 medium-range B-47 bombers and a comparable number of Soviet Badgers — similar to the bombers Premier Khrushchev secretly shipped into Cuba in 1962.

If the Russians agree to this, according to Rusk, the accord will keep these Soviet bombers out of the hands of African and Asian nations seeking Russian arms.

THE ARGUMENT AGAINST — The Joint Chiefs, who have unsuccessfully fought the whole issue, have made a counter-proposal that the number of bombers to be destroyed be limited to 20 or less.

They argue that destruction of more of the B-47s would not be in the national interest. Although the bombers are slowly being phased out by the Air Force, the Joint Chiefs point out that they will continue to be one of the Strategic Air Command's top nuclear bomb carriers during the '60s.

Should either a major or brushfire war break out before 1970, these military advisers claim that all the B-47s in the Air Force's 1,200 inventory would be needed. They stress that the bomber's capabilities for low-level penetration of Soviet defenses are still unsurpassed.

visers plan to include in their report a warning that any disarmament agreement providing for large-scale destruction of "conventional arms" will work to the disadvantage of the U. S. at this time.

To support their argument, the Joint Chiefs plan to cite intelligence estimates that the Russians have more than 70,000 tanks compared to less than 10,000 for the U. S., and four times as many armored personnel carriers as the U. S.

As first revealed in this column on June 24, 1963, the proposed unilateral closing down of several U. S. atomic plants, as announced by President Johnson in his State of the Union message, was one of the major steps in the new disarmament plan.

At the time this column appeared, the White House issued a vigorous denial that such a proposal was even being considered.

ON THE INSIDE — Dictator Tito either is in direct contact with the Kremlin, or he has developed the best intelligence system in the world.

To the surprise of foreign diplomats in Belgrade, Tito produced a copy of the private "New Year's" letter Premier Khrushchev wrote Brazil's President Goulart within two days after it was allegedly sent.

While the left-leaning Brazilian leader has flatly refused to reveal the letter's contents in private discussions, Tito not only showed the full text to his visitors but revealed that Goulart had already accepted the invitation to visit Moscow.

He also reported that Goulart had assured Khrushchev of his support for Moscow's policy of seeking a non-intervention pledge from the U. S. on Cuba.

Details of Tito's new middleman reporting role are revealed in an intelligence summary being circulated at the highest government levels.

WASHINGTON ROUND-UP — Burke Elbrick, former ambassador to Portugal, is Secretary of State Rusk's choice to become the new ambassador to Yugoslavia. President Johnson is considering the recommendation. The Defense Department has sent a report to the House Armed Services Committee revealing that in the past ten years, military projects in which the U. S. had invested $5,235,800,000 were canceled. The projects were either abandoned before completion or declared obsolete or surplus soon after completion. They included such missile programs as the Navaho, Rascal, Snark, Skybolt, Talos, Goose, and Crossbow.

A thought for the day—English essayist William Hazlitt said: "No young man believes he should ever die."

THE INTERVIEW

Editor: ANNOUNCER: Mr. Habosh, I understand that you are an expert on unemployment, suburban welfare and all types of welfare for our needy citizens.

HABOSH: Ah, yes, that's right. I am a qualified expert on all government welfare for our needy citizens, made a lifetime study of those problems.

ANNOUNCER: One of the questions we would like to ask you, Mr. Habosh, and one that we feel is of great interest to our vast audience is, just how does a man become an expert on human needs and what the government can do to alleviate them? I suppose you must have been raised in a poor family and suffered many privations, so that you have first hand knowledge of the needy. Could you tell us a little about your suffering and your life?

HABOSH: Well now, I was never poor, in fact my daddy before me was a great welfare worker. I learned most all I know from dear old daddy.

ANNOUNCER: Mr. Habosh, this is a little confusing, you say you became an expert on human need and government welfare by observing your father attend to the wants and needs of the needy people. Tell me, Mr. Habosh, how did your father become an expert on government welfare for the needy?

HABOSH: Young man, are you trying to confuse me? After all I've been a welfare agent for years. Why son I've read all the books written by the experts on that subject.

ANNOUNCER: I see, Mr. Habosh, now if you will not think too harshly of me, I'd like to ask one question: about those books written by the experts.

HABOSH: That seems fair enough. Just go right ahead son.

ANNOUNCER: Mr. Habosh, how did those people who wrote those books become experts on the subject of human need and government welfare? Did they become experts by reading books that were written by other experts who in turn had become experts by reading...

HABOSH (interrupting): Now look here young man, are you trying to make me look ridiculous? Why you young whipper-snapper. In all ages there have been great men like myself who have known how to use tax money to alleviate the needs of the needy — a kind of born in us I guess. (End of interview).

It is the opinion of yours truly, that there have been men since the dawn of time who felt they were divinely appointed to equalize the wealth of the earth, with a special generous hearing share for themselves. James Waldrop 404 Doucette

The American Way

GOVERNMENT'S ONLY ASSET IS FORCE By HARRY BROWNE

Editor, Freedom Magazine — The foreign aid bill has passed — and with it the authority for the Export-Import Bank to guarantee loans to the Soviet Union for wheat purchases.

It was a foregone conclusion, of course, that no commercial banker in his right mind would trust the Soviets for even one week. And neither would any private agency be willing to guarantee that the Soviets will pay the bills.

Poor Business But the American taxpayers are now going to be forced to guarantee the Soviets' payments — because the Export-Import Bank is financed by us. Obviously, this guaranteeing of Communist debts is not "good business" — as its backers proclaim — for if it were good business some private company would be doing it to make the profit involved.

So why force the American people to do it? In fact, why force the American people to guarantee FHA loans at interest rates lower than sound policy would justify? And why force us to subsidize farmers and foreign governments and low-interest REA loans?

If the benefits from these various programs are as great as we are told, why must anyone be forced to support them? If an enterprise is owned and operated by individuals, then the customers who benefit from it will willingly pay the costs involved. But when government owns the enterprise, everyone is forced to pay for it — whether or not they benefit.

Is the Export-Import Bank (or any other agency) really beneficial? If so, turn it loose from government and let those who benefit pay its costs. If it doesn't provide real service, it will eventually die from non-support.

By Force The key word in all this is force. There is a basic economic truth involved: If an enterprise has to be operated by the government, it can only be because its benefits are to be derived by forcing others to pay for them. For government possesses only one asset — force — that is not available to private enterprise.

The proposed Liberty Amendment to the Constitution will put an end to forced support. It will require the federal government to give up every economic enterprise not specified in the Constitution.

This will not abolish any needed enterprises — it will only transfer them to private ownership where all people will have the choice of supporting them or not. If foreign aid, farm subsidies, electricity projects, lending agencies, etc. are worthy projects, they will continue after the Amendment is passed.

But if they don't really have the support of the people, they will simply "fade away."

Our Choice The Liberty Amendment will restore the citizen's right to judge for himself what is worthy and what isn't. When enacted, everyone can make his own decision to give to foreign aid or farm subsidies, to pay the cost of the Export-Import Bank of the REA — and no one will be forced to contribute to projects of which he does not approve.

The Liberty Amendment is the most important matter facing America today. It has already been approved by 18 states and will be considered by 18 more states in 1964. It deserves your support and your effort because it will restore to you the most precious right you have — the opportunity to control your own property and your own purchases as you see fit.

MILK COW OR WATCHDOG (The Freeman)

Some 2,000 years ago, it was Plutarch who warned: "The real destroyer of the liberties of the people is he who spreads among them bounties, donations, and benefits." And it was an old French peasant who made the sad observation after the collapse of France in World War II, burdened with social subsidies: "My country fell because we had come to consider France as a cow to be milked and not a watchdog to be fed."

Neither in Asia nor in Europe was printing viewed at first as being useful in the wide dissemination of literature or learning. The earliest reaction, which persisted for centuries, was one of opposition by church, government, university and other powerful interests.
