Industrial Fact-Book Presented To Chamber by A&M Survey Pair

By GLENN McCASLAND
A 14-section, well diagrammed fact-book, which shows the potential of industrial growth in Pampa and Gray County, was presented today to the Chamber of Commerce board by Texas A&M University experts.

The fact-book contains basic facts and reports broken into various phases of community life that can be used in luring new industries into the area.

The report ended a four-month effort by A&M experts in evaluating Pampa for the Chamber of Commerce industrial development committee.

Jim Bradley and Perry Shepard, A&M experts, told the directors that the fact-book should be used as a reference when questions about the city and county arise.

we will outline a five-year operating budget for use by the committee in financing the program."

Book Breakdown

The fact-book includes chapters on general description of the county and city, including weather information and geographic location; living conditions, which touches on civic school life and even into the effect on the community of its daily newspaper and radio stations; business and industry, showing what types of firms operate here now and outlining all phases of governmental procedures here.

The book also discusses communications and utilities, transportation, taxes, laws and regulations, markets (local, area and national), labor, raw materials and possible industrial sites.

in the same period of time.

Income Higher

He said income per household had increased $800 and the effective buying income had increased some $24 million in the county since 1952.

The two experts answered a number of questions from the Chamber board and others present at the meeting, held at 10 a.m. at Coronado Inn.

They summarized the entire fact-book by telling Chamber officials that its best use would be determined in their final phase of the $5,000 survey.

The two A&M engineers said they would begin work on this last step in the program, which began in October, at once.

Baker Statement Places Worth At $2.1 Million

Committee Probes Further Into Financial Entanglement

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Robert G. (Bobby) Baker claimed to have rolled up $2.1 million through his extra-curricular dealings during nine years as Senate Democratic secretary, Senate investigators said today.

The estimate was contained in a statement filed by Baker on Feb. 1, 1963, with the Fraternity Savings and Loan Association of Baltimore. It listed the net worth of the one-time aide to then Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson as $2,166,386.

The statement was introduced today at a Senate Rules Committee hearing into Baker's outside interests while holding the key Senate job.

Cites Inconsistencies

Lorin H. Drennan, a General Accounting Office (GAO) investigator, introduced the statement as a witness before the committee. But he said there were marked inconsistencies in the financial report.

Drennan claimed that Baker overstated his assets and understated his liabilities. Taking this into account, Baker's net worth should have been listed as $1,791,186, he said.

Drennan testified as the committee probed deeper into the Baker's vast financial entanglements. The first of several Baker personal financial statements introduced by Drennan indicated the start of the former South Carolina farm boy's meteoric rise in personal wealth.

The first statement filed June 3, 1954, showed Baker's worth at only $11,025.

Among his assets were real estate, valued at $21,375 with a lien of $16,800, and a 1952 automobile. It also listed 120 shares in the Kerr-McGee Oil Company, owned by the late Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okla. The stock at that time was valued at $5,000.

Nine years later, Baker claimed he owned $456,666 in real estate and held stock in 14 companies worth $1,582,630.

Among the stockholdings listed in 1963 were 2,850 shares in Serv-U Vending Machine Co. Baker said these holdings were worth $1 million.

Liz, Burton Want To Talk; Ed Doesn't

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Lovers Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton want to talk with Eddie Fisher today, but the angry singer showed no sign of joining the tangled odyssey before it moved on to another international scene.

The timetable to settle the marital status of the dark-haired movie queen and permit her to marry Burton kept the amorous pair on the move. Fisher is due to leave Friday for Europe and Burton must be in Canada next week.

Supporters Hope To End Testimony

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A hitherto quiet effort to push the civil rights bill out of the House Rules Committee and onto the House floor showed signs today of breaking into the open.

Supporters hinted that they might try today to chop off further testimony on the sweeping measure designed to eliminate discrimination in voting, education, employment, public accommodations and the use of taxpayers' funds.

The Rules Committee has had six long hearings on the bill since Jan. 9. But all of the witnesses have been members of the House Judiciary Committee, and a number of other congressmen have asked for a chance to speak on the bill.

House leaders had hoped to get the bill to the floor to start debate late next week, and complete action before the traditional week of Lincoln Day dinners starting Feb. 10.

Kookie's Car to Be On Exhibit in City

(Picture on Page 13)
By JEFF COHANE
Daily News Sports Editor

Kookie's car is coming to town!

"Tweedy Pie" and the "Fort Worth Filly" will be the centers of attraction this weekend in Pampa at the First Top O' Texas Car Association Show.

The show, displaying some nationally famous custom rods and some of the top area racing jobs, will be held at the First National Bank Annex Saturday and Sunday, and is expected to attract cars from Oklahoma, Kansas and New Mexico.

Highlight of the show will be "Tweedy Pie," a chopped, channelled and reassembled roadster which is driven regularly by Edd Kookie (Burns) on several television shows. Parts from a number of cars and trucks, from vintage 1923 Model T to a 1958 motor with a six-carb manifold, make up the gleaming exterior and roaring speed of "Tweedy Pie." (No, girls, Kookie doesn't come with the car.)

The Fort Worth Filly has won several national awards as one of the finest customized cars ever produced. Despite being primarily a show car, the remodeled 1938 Ford coupe has a modified Corvette engine underneath its apparently innocuous exterior.

But Bolling made no move, telling reporters that he had not completed arrangements. Bolling would need at least two Republican votes to muster a majority of the committee to end discussion. It appeared he did not have the GOP support lined up Wednesday.

However, Bolling conferred with Rep. Clarence Brown, R-Ohio, senior GOP member, late in the day and reports circulated that they had agreed on a bipartisan strategy.

LATE PAPER DUE TO BREAKDOWN

Due to mechanical difficulties today's edition of the Daily News went to press several hours late. The management wishes to apologize for any inconveniences the late press time may have caused.

Third Phase

Bradley said the survey of the area would now enter its third and final phase which will conclude about March 15.

The third step in the survey will develop a basic industrial development plan which, Bradley said, would include four basic things.

"We will try to present the problem areas that exist in the industrial development program and offer suggestions to combat these problems," he said.

"Secondly, we will give the groups of industry which would be better suited for this area," he continued. "Third, set up a timetable that the committee should consider or use in completing various phases of the overall development program."

"And last, but not the least,

LBJ, Pearson Talks May Ease Friction

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson and Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson have agreed to try to head off U. S.-Canadian frictions by developing a new economic golden rule to govern the complex relations between the two countries.

They announced in a communique Wednesday after two days of talks that they were setting up a working group "at the senior level" to consider the possibility of devising a new set of economic principles by which to guide economic relations.

The idea would be to avoid economic backlashes in which steps taken by one nation have an adverse impact on the other. The United States and Canada, with the biggest bilateral trade in the world and with intricately interwoven economies, are especially vulnerable to such developments.

In talks that ranged from relations with French President Charles de Gaulle to U. S. professional football, Johnson and Pearson also:

—Discussed East-West, NATO alliance and Western Hemisphere affairs, including the possible ramifications of De Gaulle's intention to recognize Communist China. Pearson, who met with De Gaulle last week in Paris, said he saw no unbridgeable gulf between Johnson and De Gaulle.

—Called for cabinet-level U. S.-Canadian meetings on trade and economic affairs by the end of April.

Wheat Sales To Go Under New Setup

WASHINGTON (UPI)—U. S. wheat will be sold beginning May 1 under a new set of standards which Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman described as an important step to increase dollar sales of the bread grain in overseas markets.

The new standards represent a tightening of quality factor tolerances to make the wheat cleaner and more attractive to buyers.

Assistant Secretary of Agriculture George L. Mehren, who announced the new standards for Freeman said that under them the buyer of American wheat would know better what he's getting. He anticipated a brisker demand for American wheat for the export market because it will be cleaner than heretofore.

Sign Agreement

—Took part in the signing of a multi-million dollar agreement for joint power development of the Columbia River system in the Pacific Northwest and British Columbia.

—Signed an agreement to create an international park at the Campobello Island summer home of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Fines Total $44,236 in City Court

Traffic fines totaling $22,520 were paid at Corporation Court during 1963, court attendants revealed today.

The total was part of a 12-month breakdown of fines from traffic tickets, parking tickets and criminal cases.

A total of $44,236.75 in fines was paid in all three brackets of the court, but traffic outstanding both criminal and parking fines by a wide margin.

A total of $12,066.75 in parking meter tickets was reported while criminal cases brought in fines totaling $9,622.

Biggest month in the traffic fines section came in December with $3,379 paid to the court. November showed $2,884.50, to rank second highest. September was third with a $2,225.50 total.

October was high month in parking tickets with $1,273.50 with March second at $1,200.75.

Criminal court fines were highest in July with $1,229 recorded and $1,039.50 in August.

February was low in traffic with $927 and $462.50 in criminal fines recorded.

June was low in parking tickets with a total of $711.50 recorded.

Castro Back After Visit With Soviets

MOSCOW (UPI)—Cuban Premier Fidel Castro returned to Havana today in secrecy at the end of a 10-day visit to the Soviet Union in which he backed Moscow publicly in its dispute with Red China.

Moscow Radio said the Cuban leader flew from Kiev in the Ukraine by way of Murmansk to Havana aboard a giant TU114 jetliner. The broadcast said the plane reached Havana at 8:40 a.m. EST.

The radio station said that Castro received a farewell embrace and a kiss from Khrushchev at the airport in Kiev.

Khrushchev had good reason to be pleased with Castro's trip here, the second he has made in eight months.

Castro gave Khrushchev significant public backing in his ideological fight with Peking by condemning splinter movements among foreign Communist parties.

FEATURED SPEAKER — Texas Red Cross secretaries heard Bob Nash, Lubbock County Chapter representative, deliver the principal address Wednesday night at a banquet given in honor of the Red Cross secretaries who are holding a three-day conference at Coronado Inn.

Red Cross Leaders Hear Lubbock Man

Bob Nash, Lubbock, chapter chairman of Lubbock County Red Cross, addressed more than 100 delegates and guests of the Texas Red Cross Executive Secretaries Conference during a banquet at Coronado Inn last night.

Nash, a volunteer staff member, urged representatives of the Red Cross to strive to attain greater goals in the future. In introducing his topic of Red Cross ideals and functions, he suggested that success in the organization was largely dependent upon good public relations, with clear communication between local, state and international divisions and the public. He urged paid staff members and volunteer staff aids to strive for coordination at all times in order to pursue a common ideal.

E. B. Pemberton, Gray County Chapter chairman, acted as master of ceremonies and Warren Hasse introduced the guest speaker.

Entertainment was provided by the "Music Makers" and madrigal singers of Phillips High School, Phillips. Paul Biggs, Amarillo, acted as master of ceremonies for the group.

The agenda today included a meeting this morning conducted by Art Jackson, Denton, regional director of civil defense Jim Kuartz, St. Louis, assistant director, Midwestern Area, presented a program concerning work in the field of home service, followed by an afternoon session conducted by Miss Donna Sims, nursing representative, Oklahoma City. Mrs. Leoti Deaton, Wichita Falls, volunteer field chairman moderated a panel discussion on volunteer service during an afternoon session.

A buffet supper will be served to delegates tonight followed at 7 p.m. by an entertainment hour. Pampa High School choral groups under the direction of Hugh Sanders will present musical selections. Door prizes, donated by Pampa business establishments, will be awarded throughout the evening.

A conference period for area personnel will be conducted at 8 p.m.

Selection Near On Hoffa Jury

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (UPI) - Selection of a jury for the James Hoffa jury - tampering trial appeared near today despite defense charges of racial discrimination and telephone tapping.

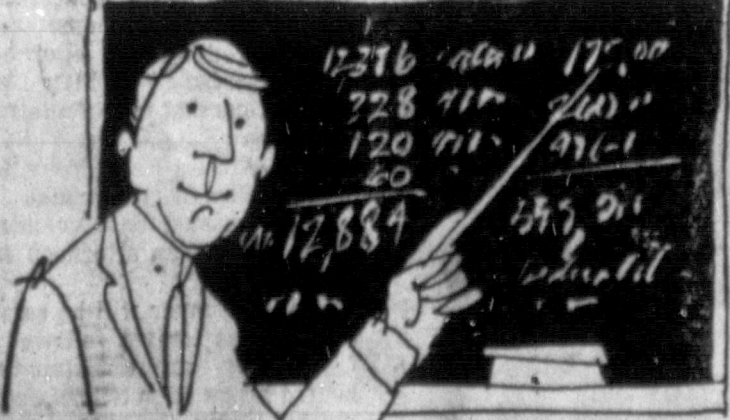

Government attorneys held slim hopes of starting their expected two-week-long presentation of evidence sometime today.

Eleven prospective jurors were to be seated in the jury box when the fourth day of proceedings started. However, they face possible peremptory challenges by government and defense attorneys.

Examination of prospective jurors was stepped-up Wednesday when federal Judge Frank Wilson took over jury examination.

Hoffa, the controversial Teamsters Union president, and five others are charged with attempting to bribe or influence jurors in Hoffa's 1962 Nashville mistrial on conspiracy charges. Hoffa, if convicted, could receive 20 years imprisonment and fines of $20,000. Attorney Jacques Schiffer, representing Negro Thomas Ewing Parks, charged late Wednesday there has been "discrimination against Negroes" in the selection of a jury list for the trial.

District Attorney Seeks Re-election

Bill W. Waters today filed as a candidate for re-election to the office of district attorney, 31st Judicial District of Texas, subject to the action of the May 2 Democratic primary.

Waters has held the office of district attorney of the district composed of Gray, Wheeler, Roberts, Hemphill and Lipscomb Counties since 1955. Prior to that time, he served as county attorney of Gray County for four years.

Waters is a graduate of Pampa High School and the University of Texas Law School. Married to the former Elaine Carlson of Pampa, they have two sons, Lee, 13, and Steven, 10.

Waters presently holds the office of vice president of the District and County Attorneys Association, a statewide association of prosecuting attorneys.

A detailed announcement will be made in the near future regarding his candidacy, Waters stated.

Goldwater Hits Plans to Seat Red China at UN

KEENE, N.H. (UPI) — Sen. Barry Goldwater charged Wednesday that allowing Red China to join the United Nations would be "like inviting Al Capone to join the Sunday evening social."

Goldwater told a news conference that French President de Gaulle's reported plan to recognize Red China points up more and more the need for revision of the United Nations charter.

"Unless we revise the U.N. charter," he said, "I can see no reason for any Western power to stay in the United Nations."

Goldwater, campaigning in New Hampshire, said "we could not operate effectively as the greatest power in the world if the United Nations could be controlled by the Afro-Asian majority," Goldwater said. "Its almost as if we were playing into the hands of our enemy."

"Nothing New"

Goldwater, on the second day of a three-day campaign swing through New Hampshire, described as "nothing new" President Johnson's recommendations to the Geneva disarmament conference to curb the arming of nations.

The President Tuesday offered to negotiate a verified freeze of the numbers and types of strategic nuclear delivery vehicles such as long range bombers and missiles.

He called the trend of the last few years "a plan to disarm and weaken the nation. I think it's dreadfully dangerous."

No Further Comment

But, he said, he did not want to comment further on the President's message because he had not had a chance to study the original text. He added, "I notice even the press is rather fuzzy on some of the points."

Midland Woman to Address Youth Here

Mrs. Chuck Caldwell of Midland will be the inspirational speaker at the 5 p.m. worship service Sunday at First Baptist Church. All youth in the city are invited to hear Mrs. Caldwell, who travels over the South speaking to young people. Following the Training Union meetings, a chili supper will be served at 7 p.m. to over 200 boys and girls who already have received tickets. Mrs. Caldwell will speak and conduct a seminar. The service at 5 p.m., however, will be open to all ages with emphasis on youth.

"nasties" for adults in the recreation building of the First Baptist Church, teaches Christian poise and charm in the Y.M.C.A., and works with young people in the Training Union and young adults in Sunday school.

Mrs. Caldwell is a graduate of Rice University with a major in Spanish and a minor in Speech, and has one married son and a daughter in Texas University. Her husband is division manager for Rud Roller Bit Co. and is also active in church and civic work.

Last summer Mrs. Caldwell was a featured speaker at the Student Week at Glorieta, N. M., near Santa Fe and spoke to 2,000 high school seniors and college students. The public is invited to the 5 p.m. service.

In Midland, Mrs. Caldwell conducts classes on charm and poise, gives book reviews and narrates style shows, working with the teen-agers of the city, holds classes called "slim-

Knicked By Knife

The cab driver said Lowery knicked him with the knife accidentally, and offered an apology. But the escapee took $10 from McCoy and $1 from Wiggins.

His next victim was Mary Jane Wright, whom he forced into another car.

He forced Miss Wright to accompany him into a tire and supply store, and asked to look at shotguns.

A salesman told Lowery to help himself. He did, to a 12-gauge shotgun which he loaded and turned on store employee Burt G. Rathbun. 24 Rathbun gave Lowery about $100 from the cash register.

Lowery forced store manager Max Franke, Rathbun and Miss Wright into the car, but soon released the woman and gave her $3 "for cab fare."

"He told me I wouldn't be hurt if I followed instructions," she said. "I've never killed a woman yet," she quoted him as saying. She said Lowery told her and the other hostages to "tell everyone I'm a mental patient and a murderer."

Stop At Home

Lowery, Franke and Rathbun stopped at the home of Dr. George Kimball, 68, who was in the front yard.

"One wrong move and you are all dead," he warned them. He tied them together on the floor with a telephone cord.

Lowery fled in Kimball's car.

SYMPATHETIC EAR

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI)—Jack B. Skye went before the city council Wednesday to complain that a policeman would not let him have his car which was being towed away from a no parking zone.

The officer made him wait until the car was towed to a police lot.

Mayor Louis Welch promised a sympathetic investigation.

"The same thing once happened to me as a private citizen," the mayor said.

Apple and Onion Duet Adds Zest To Baked Ham

A baked ham served with a casserole of sweet red onions and tart apples is a happy Sunday dinner suggestion.

Avanelle Day, one of our favorite food experts, gives us her recipe.

ONION AND APPLE CASEROLE

(16 servings)
3 large Bermuda or sweet red onions
1 1/2 inch boiling water
1 t. salt
4 tart medium apples
3 T. sugar
1 t. ground cinnamon
1/4 t. ground black pepper
1-3 c. onion liquid
1-3 c. butter or margarine
Peel onions and slice about 1/2-inch thick. Cook 10 minutes in covered saucepan in 1/2-inch boiling water and 1/2 t. of the salt. Peel apples and cut them into slices 1/4-inch thick. Drain onions, reserving the liquid to use later. Fill a 1-quart casserole with alternating layers of apples and onions, sprinkling each layer with the sugar, cinnamon, black pepper and remaining 1/4 t. salt. Add onion liquid. Melt butter or margarine and pour it over the casserole. Cover. Bake in a preheated 350-degree (moderate) oven 45 minutes or until apples are done. Serve with pork, ham or turkey.

Cherry Ice Cream Pie -- Yum!

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Here's a dark dessert with a bright outlook. It combines pitted dark sweet cherries with vanilla ice cream and makes a very festive surprise. Where did we get the recipe? From a reader? No, it is our invention for a special occasion, a gala dinner for our son the night before he left to enter college.

DARK CHERRY
ICE CREAM PIE
(Makes one 8-inch pie)
2 tablespoons softened butter or margarine
1 cup flaked coconut
1 can (1 pound) pitted dark sweet cherries

1 pint softened vanilla ice cream
2 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
Spread bottom and sides of 8-inch pie plate with butter or margarine. Press coconut into butter or margarine. Bake in 350-degree (moderate) oven 10 minutes; cool.
Drain cherries; reserve syrup and 1/4 cup cherries. Fold remaining cherries into ice cream. Spoon ice cream mixture into cooled pie shell. Decorate top of pie with 1/4 cup reserved cherries. Freeze 2-3 hours.
Meanwhile, combine sugar and cornstarch; add reserved syrup, stirring constantly, until blended. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened and clear. Cool. Serve with pie.

THIS DESSERT has a bright outlook on life.

Pickles Give Ham Loaf Zip

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Did you ever use sweet pickle relish and sweet gherkins in a ham loaf? Try it. Gives the loaf a surprisingly good extra flavor. Actually turns it into a party dish.

PICKLE HAM RING

(Makes 8 servings)
2 cups soft break crumbs
1 1/4 cups milk
2 eggs
1/2 teaspoon salt
Dash seasoned pepper
1 teaspoon Worcestershire
1 1/2 pounds ground cooked ham (about 4 cups)
1/2 cup undrained sweet pickle relish
1/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
8 small sweet gherkins
4 canned pineapple slices,

halved
Blend together bread crumbs, milk, eggs, salt, pepper and Worcestershire in bowl. Add ham and pickle relish; mix thoroughly. Sprinkle sugar in bottom of greased 6 1/2-cup ring mold. Arrange gherkins on bottom and pineapple slices around side of mold; turn in ham mixture, packing lightly. Bake in 350-degree (moderate) oven 1 hour; unmold.

NOTE: Place aluminum foil under mold when baking.

Try Winter Grown Corn on the Cob

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Fresh corn on the cob is rated by many as one of nature's sweetest gifts to hungry mankind. Today we don't have to go without fresh corn from the first frost until mid-summer. The way we used to. Thanks to scientific agriculture we can now get it during the winter months.

The new sweet corn varieties which thrive in spite of the shortened winter day have been developed with extra sweetness — almost too much sweetness when first picked. But by the time they reach the consumer, they retain just the right and pleasing amount of sugar.

FRESH CORN OFF THE CUB IN CREAM

VEGETABLES team deliciously with hamburgers. Serve Vegetables Finely Chopped In Hamburger and Fool the Kids

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Often mothers find it far from easy to get their small children to eat vegetables. A mother of four children between 2 and 8, Mrs. C. R. writes:

"My youngsters will always eat finely chopped vegetables mixed with hamburger meat."

VEGETABLE HAMBURGERS WITH MASHED POTATOES

(8 servings)
1 lb. ground chuck
1/2 cup fine dry bread crumbs
1 egg, beaten
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon ground black

(8 to 10 servings)
4 tablespoons butter or margarine
4 cups fresh corn cut off the cob
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon sugar
1-3 cup heavy cream
1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper
Pimiento
Fresh parsley

Melt butter or margarine in a skillet or saucepan. Add corn, salt and sugar. Cover and cook 10 minutes. Add cream and cook 5 minutes. Stir in black pepper. Cut small stars from pimiento, using a star cutter and arrange over the top as desired, along with parsley.

pepper
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1-3 cup chopped green peppers
2-3 cup finely chopped onion
1/4 cup finely chopped fresh tomatoes
Combine ingredients. Shape into 8 patties and brown as desired on both sides in a skillet over direct heat or in the broiler with oven control set to broil. Serve with mashed potatoes or in hamburger buns.

Local FFA Youths Set 14 Fort Worth Entries

Twelve members of the Pampa High School Future Farmers of America will enter 14 barrows in the junior show competition of the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show at Fort Worth Friday.

Entering animals will be J. T. Winters, Fred Vanderberg, Dale Nolte, Kenneth Nickel, Bart McLean, Gerry Ingram, Gary Johnson, Jimmy King, Gene Ferguson, Larry Richardson, Robert Danford and Sonny Behrens.

King and Vanderberg will enter two barrows each at the show while the rest of the group will show only one barrow each.

The Pampa FFA won 20 places, including two championships and four first places, in the Amarillo Fat Show out of 25 entries.

The boys will be accompanied to Fort Worth by their sponsor, Bob Skaggs.

The 1964 Exposition, scheduled Jan. 24 through Feb. 2, will have an entry list topping 10,000, shown by exhibitors from more than 30 states. The livestock division figure alone is 5,824, exceeding last year's total for cattle, sheep and swine by more than 370 head. There will be nine breeds of beef cattle, 10 breeds of sheep and eight of swine.

The horse division of the 1964 Southwestern Exposition, again featuring the largest Quarter horse show in the world, will have approximately 1,500 entries.

James Drury, star of NBC-TV's "The Virginian" and the Sons of the Pioneers, known as "America's Foremost Western Music" group will be the featured entertainers at the Fort Worth Stock Show Rodeo. Fast paced rodeo action is guaranteed as more than 400 of the nation's top cowboys, champions and challengers, compete for part of the $70,000 plus prize purse of premiums and entry fees.

Newsman to Run For Legislature

FORT WORTH (UPI) — Bud Sherman, longtime radio and television announcer for WBAP and WBAP-TV, said Wednesday he would seek the Democratic nomination for a seat in the state House of Representatives.

Sherman was associated with WBAP from 1948 to 1960.

He has been a project coordinator with the aeronautics division of Ling-Temco-Vought. This will be Sherman's first try for public office.

Indians worked flint by flaking and grinding to produce weapons and tools.

TO SING HERE — The Weatherfords, well-known music group, will sing old-time Gospel music at the First Assembly of God Church, 500 S. Cuyler, at 7:30 p.m. Friday. The quartet includes Lily Fern Weatherford, Earl Weatherford, Mack Evans, Armond Morales, Jerry Evans, piano, and Vic Clay, guitar.

Apaches Hold Court To Halt Drunkenness

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Civilization has caught up with the Apaches. They now have a tribal traffic court.

An Apache judge from Arizona — 27-year-old Dennis Nelson Jr. — made the disclosure Tuesday while attending the 17th annual Western Regional Traffic Court Conference at the University of Southern California.

Nelson is chief traffic judge of the San Carlos Tribal court. He said traffic troubles for the Apaches began when an Arizona state law was passed in 1957 allowing Indians to drink liquor on the reservation.

"Some non-Indians can drink and know when to stop," said the Apache judge. "But one thing had about my people is that when they start drinking, they go on and on."

The situation is made worse, he said, by the fact that Highway 70 runs 50 miles straight through the San Carlos Reservation in central Arizona.

"Some of my people feel that because the highway is on our reservation, no one else has the right to use it," said the judge.

"A drunken Apache driver takes off on the highway as though no one else is there. Fatalities take place even on a straight ten-mile stretch."

Nelson said that at least four traffic cases a week are reported for the reservation's 10,000 population.

"I have had a hard time interpreting law to my people who would rather be ruled by ancient customs than modern law," he added.

"But the day will come when we have enough educated Apaches to grow along with the outside world."

Welch Lawyers Seek Reversal

SHERMAN (UPI) — Lawyers for Eugene Welch said today they would seek a reversal of the death sentence given him Wednesday.

Welch was condemned to die in the state's electric chair Feb. 25 for the shotgun slaying of Robert Wayne Ballou June 10, 1962.

His lawyers said they would ask the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals to overrule the sentence because Dist. Judge R. C. Vaughn, the trial judge, refused a motion for a sanity hearing.

Welch was convicted of killing Ballou while robbing Ballou's farm home near Sherman. The mother, father and brother of the victim were tied up and severely beaten.

Welch said he was struggling over a rifle with Ballou's father when the gun discharged, killing Ballou.

Weatherfords Set Appearance At Pampa Church

A nationally known Gospel singing group will appear at 7:30 p.m. Friday at First Assembly of God Church, 500 S. Cuyler.

The Weatherfords have recorded for many record companies and are among the most sought singing groups in radio and television religion circles.

The quartet consists of Lily Fern Weatherford, Earl Weatherford, Mack Evans and Armond Morales with Jerry Evans at the piano and Vic Clay as guitarist.

The quartet will feature old favorites in Gospel music and sensitive interpretation of new religious music.

The quartet's appearance is public and interdenominational.

Preston Smith To Run Again

AUSTIN (UPI) — Lt. Gov. Preston Smith announced Wednesday night he will seek re-election to his second term as presiding officer of the Texas Senate.

Smith, a Lubbock businessman and former state senator, said he would base his re-election bid on a platform of "intelligent and determined effort" to trim the 1965-66 state budget.

"Pressure will be on the 59th Legislature to put state spending much higher than the current $3.2 billion spending program," Smith said.

"If this happens it will mean a tax increase. This we should make all reasonable efforts to avoid."

Smith's only announced opposition in the Democratic primary is Albert Fuentes Jr. of San Antonio, a leader in the Political Association of Spanish-Speaking Organizations (PASO).

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI) — Indicator Digest Inc. says that behind the blinding glare of a few skyrocketing issues large scale liquidation has been taking place.

The firm says an analysis reveals that upside volume has increased noticeably with most of the increase coming from the general public in 100 share lots while downside volume has been running in blocks of 2,000 shares and more.

Robert T. Allen of Shearson, Hamill & Co. notes renewed public interest in the market as evidenced by increased odd-lot buying and sharp moves in glamor issues. He points out that the odd-lotters had been persistently on the selling side until the beginning of 1964 but are now on the opposite side of the fence. He also points out that many market technicians believe odd-lot sentiment usually predicts the market's course in reverse.

Jack Coleman of Bergman, Cummings & Co. says it must be recognized that stock prices are always vulnerable to capricious developments outside the economy that cannot be foreseen by fundamental technical studies. However, he feels the market is still in a major upturn and investors should continue to buy on balance for the long term while traders exercise selectivity and continue to buy on dips.

Richard T. Leahy continues to believe that a correction of the advance for the mid-December lows is overdue and says that last week's heavy turnover with no appreciable progress indicates some technical deterioration.

Amarillo Trial On Fraud Sent To Wichita Falls

AMARILLO (UPI) — The federal fraud trial of Robert Earl Clements Sr., a founder of the depression-era Townsend Plan for the aged, has been shifted to Wichita Falls.

Clements, already under a two year prison sentence on conviction of state fraud charges, similarly has been accused by the federal government. He has appealed his state conviction.

The charge involves Clements' sale of Superior Manufacturing Co., a fertilizer tank manufacturing plant, to Billie Sol Estes Associates.

Federal Judge Joseph R. Dooley said he did not believe Clements could get a fair trial in Amarillo and said he wanted to give the defendant the benefit of the doubt.

Some 30 persons were called for Clements' change of venue hearing, but three convicted Estes associates—Ruel Alexander, Harold Orr and Coleman McSpadden—did not testify.

Clements had charged federal prosecutors with conspiring to keep the three out of jail so they could testify against him.

The federal docket in Wichita Falls comes up in March.

Paper Executives To Hear Connally

AUSTIN (UPI)—Texas Gov. John Connally is scheduled to speak to U.S. and Canadian paper company executives in New York Feb. 25 and hopes to visit Washington on his way home, it was learned Wednesday.

The visit would be the governor's first to Washington since Lyndon Johnson became president. The two are old friends.

Connally is still recovering from gunshot wounds suffered when he was shot down with President Kennedy in Dallas Nov. 22.

SURPRISE!

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI)—Policeman Ed Hanson responded to a call for assistance Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wells—and helped in the delivery of a baby girl.

As Mrs. Wells prepared to leave for the hospital with the baby in an ambulance, her husband confided to the officer: "We didn't even know she was pregnant."

SUFFICIENT EVIDENCE

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—"Let's see, I lost three suits, one sports coat and five shirts, and that sweater the defendant is wearing," Peter J. Alexander testified Wednesday.

Judge O. Benton Worley ruled the evidence was sufficient to hold suspect Charles Oliver Eber, 18, for trial, set for Feb. 5.

SALARIES OF COLLEGE GRADUATES*

TWO YEARS AFTER COLLEGE, BY MAJOR FIELD OF STUDY

WHAT COLLEGE EDUCATION MEANS—It has been said that the college graduate will not more earnings in his lifetime than the nongraduate. Above chart tells what a June 1958 bachelor's degree graduate is averaging as of May 1960. However, while the pharmacist has gained a foothold in his profession in the two years, the law student or medical student requires more study and training in order to establish himself. This is reflected in his income after two years. Then, too, all graduates are not employed directly in a field related to their college study. In this group the student's occupational field accounts for the largest source of his employment. Data from National Science Foundation.

Soviet Military Aides Win Battle in Dixie

PASADENA, Tex. (UPI)—A Pittman of Los Angeles was glad when final examinations are over this week at Jacinto Junior College. When he can stop commuting between Texas and California Monday and Thursday rides in English and History. Pittman used to live in Houston, about 20 miles from the college, but Continental Airlines promoted him and moved to the West Coast two weeks ago.

SHREVEPORT, La. (UPI)—Two Russian military aides who fought a stand-off with the Shreveport police department boarded planes Wednesday under the surveillance of officers and returned to Washington. The aides, Lt. Col. A.V. Udakov, an assistant air attaché, and Alexei Chizhov, an employee of the naval attaché in Washington, were questioned by Public Safety Commissioner George D'Artois Tuesday on a downtown street.

D'Artois said "I think the federal government certainly owes it to the citizens of this country to keep them informed of visits by officials of a country such as Russia."

It was obvious, however, that D'Artois did know the two aides were coming. He had two men waiting at the airport when they were in town. The two were probably restricted to the city of Shreveport because Barksdale Air Force Base, a Strategic Air Command base, is located just across the Red River.

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (UPI)—Santa Cruz sheriff's deputies have smashed an extortion and blackmail plot attempted by a 12-year-old girl, who said she was inspired by a television program. The youngster, who sent a letter to a stranger demanding $10, told deputies she didn't realize the television extortionist was arrested — because her mother made her go to bed before the program was over.

DECLARES DeMOLAY WEEK — Mayor H. R. Thompson signs a proclamation setting aside March 15-22 as DeMolay week in Pampa as DeMolay officers, Frank Parrish, left, and Gene Eads, right, look on. The proclamation opens the way for the Pampa DeMolay chapter to begin extensive plans for the special week which will be highlighted when the youths take over Gray County and Pampa governmental offices for a day.

Mayor Sets Week for DeMolay Activities

A stroke of Mayor H. R. Thompson's writing pen Wednesday opened an intensive campaign by Top O' Texas DeMolay chapter members to gain area recognition.

Thompson proclaimed the week of March 15-22 as DeMolay Week and chapter officials announced plans to obtain permission to operate the city and county government for one day, hold a banquet, at which a number of leading Pampans will address the group of young men, along with several other projects.

Frank Parrish, publicity director for the event, said the youth group had gained formal permission to attend the Pampa City Commission meeting during DeMolay week, plus appoint members of the DeMolay to work a full day with various city officials, observing what each job entails.

The Pampa high school sophomore also announced that Sheriff Rufe Jordan had pledged to allow DeMolay members to serve as sheriff and deputy at the Gray County Courthouse and other county officers were following suit.

"We are trying to form an outstanding program for the week and are starting almost two months in advance so that every member of DeMolay can take part," Parrish said. The junior counselor for the group indicated that further plans would be released later in the month.

Gene Eads, who as master counselor for the local chapter, joined with the Mayor in the announcement of the special week, explained that the DeMolay youth day in city government was an event "which many cities and counties all over the nation participate in and has become something to look forward toward."

The 20 member DeMolay chapter in Pampa is governed by Eads, Parrish and Danny Stone, senior counselor. Adult advisor is Bill Parrish.

Pampa Corporation Court Judge John Warner gave a talk on Pampa's Teenage Traffic Court at the Pampa Rotary Club yesterday in Coronado Inn.

Warner explained that the teen-age court is held every Saturday morning and traffic violators who are found guilty are given the choice of either paying their fine or writing a 1,000 word theme on traffic safety. Warner grades the theme and if the teen-ager fails to pass, he or she must write the theme again.

The corporation judge asked the members help in setting a good example for their children by obeying and respecting traffic and safety laws.

Rotary Club president Cameron Marsh announced that the annual Ladies' Night Banquet will be held at the Inn Feb. 13.

Border Studied For Race Track

JUAREZ, Mexico (UPI)—John Alessio, here for an inspection tour of construction on his $5 million Juarez Greyhound Club and Race Track, says he plans to look into the potential of other Texas border areas for location of similar sports complexes.

Alessio, who operates the Caliente track across the border from San Diego, Calif., said he planned to personally survey the border areas of Eagle Pass, Laredo and Brownsville to determine feasibility of locating in those tourist spots.

His Juarez layout, which includes a thoroughbred horse track, a portable dog track and a foreign book, is scheduled for opening April 15.

Juarez is across the Rio Grande from El Paso, Tex.

RFK Hopeful On Meetings In Malaysia

JAKARTA, Indonesia (UPI)—Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy was cautiously optimistic Wednesday that his efforts will lead to a summit meeting to head off a possible "major conflict" and bring a peaceful solution of the dispute among Indonesia, the Philippines and Malaysia.

Kennedy arrived here from Kuala Lumpur, capital of Malaysia, the new British Commonwealth federation that borders Indonesia. His wife, Ethel, was with him.

Men's Western Dress Gaining in Popularity

By PRESTON MCGRAW

DALLAS (UPI)—The popularity of Western-styled men's clothes is steadily increasing, notwithstanding a decline in the horse population. Designers and makers of Western wear do not think the cowboy shows on television are altogether responsible.

"The popularity of western-styled men's wear is increasing not only in the country but in the big cities," Max Feldt, a designer of Western wear, said today. "There is more and more acceptance, for instance, of the fitted western shirt."

"The westerner has always wanted to wear a form-fitted shirt with squared-off shoulders. Now you find fellows wearing them instead of sports shirts."

Feldt displayed two of about 1,000 lines at the Southwestern Men's and Boy's Apparel Club show in Market Hall this week. The show was of spring and summer wear.

Many Western Lines

There were 35 Western lines at the show, "compared with five or six a year ago. One exhibit, by Sims Saddle and Leather Co., of Chattanooga, Tenn., consisted of nothing but gear for horses — blankets, brides and saddles."

Arthur Byer, head of the Bradford (Western) hat division of Resistol Hats, said his business is increasing. He thinks Western hats are becoming more popular primarily because this is "Western country."

"A man who owns a Western hat wears it," Byer said. "Not so with the owner of a regular dress hat. Sometimes he wears it and sometimes he does not."

B. R. Thompson of Yoakum, Tex., who had one of the biggest display rooms at the show, makes belts—Western, traditional and dress for men and boys. Thompson, who traveled for 31 years, selling belts for another company, tells a remarkable success story.

Wife Helps Out

The company he worked for merged with another and he quit. He went to making belts in his garage, 18 miles from Yoakum, in July, 1962. His wife helped him.

Part of the time they made belts together and part of the time she made them by herself while he traveled and sold. After a year, Thompson's brother started helping.

Business got so good that the Yoakum Industrial Foundation asked Thompson to move to town. The foundation helped with the land and Thompson borrowed the money to build a 6,000 square-foot factory.

In 1920 there were 45,000 miles of electrified trolley tracks in the U.S.

Love Those Leftovers!

Added attraction in this living room carpeted in a clear green is a homemade fireside bench whose panels are upholstered with left-over scraps of carpet.

Some leftovers are a bore and some are just too valuable to ignore. Leftover roast beef will attract a lot more attention in the refrigerator than leftover mashed turnips. The same thing applies to the leftovers in home furnishing. Some scraps from sizable projects like carpeting, tiling, slipcovering, yield usable pieces. When we were buying a carpet for the living room we had to have two feet shaved off the 12-foot carpet width to fit the room size. This gave me, unexpectedly, a fine hall runner. Too often, carpet scraps are shelved when they could give a bonus of usefulness. This is especially true today. Carpet colors are clear and bright, patterns are interesting and upkeep a relatively simple matter. New, textured weaves lend themselves to uses above floor level, too. If a wall-to-wall carpet installation or a rug cut to fit a room leaves you with odd-shaped scraps, you can put them to use as upholstery for a fire bench or footstool. One do-it-yourselfer who did exactly that explained the procedure.

It started with a deeply carved Creslan carpet in a clear green which was shaped to fit the living room. Cutouts for fireplace hearth and a jog in the wall were enough to upholster a bench.

Fireside benches, traditionally, are simply benches, often handsomely covered, used in front of the hearth. I have seen piano benches converted to fireside use. Simple, low, wood-framed footstools can also be recovered with carpet scraps.

If your household handyman is moderately skillful he can make a simple bench, high or low, like the one in the picture, which is also homemade. Four 2 by 2's, each 26 inches long, serve as the legs (they could be shorter, too). These are nailed to a top frame made of four more 2 by 2's, 20 inches long and 10 inches wide.

About 10 inches below the top edge of the frame, nail in two 16-inch 2 by 2's on the long side and two 6-inch widths on the short side. Fill in the frame with plywood panels.

Measure carefully, cut the carpet strips and glue or staple to the plywood panel. One secret of a neat job is careful measuring and the use of a sharp cutter to shape the carpet.

Carpeting is stiff to handle. It is easier to fix it to flat surfaces and finish the edges with molding or the edge of a frame.

A final reminder: if you use carpet scraps for small rugs or runners, have the cut edges bound to give a finished look.

Newest 'Dust-Raising' Idea Suggests Keeping Brooms in Children's Rooms

By PATRICIA MC CORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — The newest dust-raising idea helps youngsters keep their rooms neat.

The notion: "A broom in every bedroom."

The suggestion stems from recognition by good housekeepers that if two key chores are done, all the rest follow in orderly sequence. The key chores: Sweep your floor, broom-clean and fix your bed. A clean floor seems to inspire such natural follow-ups as replacing records, books and clothes.

The keep-clean advice is from the Broom Research Council, a non-profit organization which informs homemakers on the best and latest methods of house cleaning.

More Order The council reported that in homes where the children have their personal brooms, there is more order in the family.

Some youngsters decorate their broom handles with amusing designs. Others are making funny covers to protect the bristles.

The covers, made from felt, nylon, cotton and sateen, are embroidered, appliqued or have mad designs pasted or painted on.

Once you get a broom in the bedrooms, the council suggests you further encourage cleanliness by placing an all-purpose cleaning kit in child's room — if you can find space for it.

Dusting Cloth The kit should hold dusting cloth, polishing cloth, scouring powder, furniture wax, a soapless wire scouring pad for stains and hardened dirt, and a whisk broom for clothes.

Like the broom, the kit can be decorated to suit the child's whim — from traditional to "way out" designs.

Dear Abby.... Ask for Waiters, Whistle for Birds!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We need your help in settling an argument. What is the proper way to get a waiter's attention? Is it all right to strike your glass with a knife? How about snapping your fingers? Also, is it bad manners to whistle a short and not too loud whistle?

DON and DORA

DEAR D. and D.: Striking one's glass would startle and annoy everyone in the restaurant, including the waiter. Snapping the fingers is for the dogs, and whistling is for the birds. Simply say, "Waiter, please."

Manners Make Friends

DEAR ABBY: I am 15, an honor student, sing in the church choir and am considered pretty. My parents are the best in the world, with one exception. They never had a heart-to-heart talk with me. Abby, I know this is hard to believe, but everything I learned about sex I had to learn on my own. Because there was no mention of this subject at home, I was too ashamed to bring it up although there were so many things I wanted to know. The invisible wall grew thicker between my parents and me and I became a very curious, foolish and susceptible girl. From what I have said, you can guess that I would make very easy prey — and I did. I don't know if I am pregnant or not. I just pray to God I'm not. I know of no human being other than you to confide in. Abby, I love my parents and I am not blaming them for what I did. I brought it all on myself and deserve whatever happens. I am only writing this as a plea to parents, especially mothers, to get to know their teenagers before it is too late. God bless you, Abby, for printing this, if you do.

IMPASSE

DEAR IMPASSE: I would tell my father candidly of my doubts and fears, and then, if he promised to stay sober on that day, I would let him walk me down the aisle. If we let people know we expect the best — they rarely disappoint us. Big brother can be waiting in the wings if Dad lets you down. But I'd bet on Dad this time.

Abraham Family Holds Reception

CANADIAN (Spl) — An open house reception was held recently in the home of Mr. and Mrs. N. Abraham honoring Mr. and Mrs. Malouf Abraham Jr., Dallas.

Guests were received by Mr. and Mrs. Malouf Abraham, Mr. and Mrs. N. Abraham and the honored couple.

Presiding at the refreshment table during the evening were Mrs. Dan Witt, Mrs. N. L. Abraham, Amarillo; Mrs. Tom Abraham and Mrs. Joe Page, Pampa.

A linen cutwork cloth covered the serving table, with an arrangement of white mums in a silver and crystal vase used as a centerpiece flanked with white candles held in silver candelabra.

Miss Carol Abraham and Miss Kay Abraham registered the 200 guests that called during the evening.

RAIN GO AWAY

Ruffled umbrellas are pretty and feminine, but only when the ruffles are crisp and bright. If they become the least bit droopy — and they do very quickly — the umbrella takes on an unkempt look. It's wiser, for the sake of practicality, to shun them.

Spring Refurbishing Plans Call Briefly for 'More Accent on Accent'

By KAY SHERWOOD

Sharp-eyed furniture watchers bring reports from the design front that may affect spring refurbishing plans.

The word is, briefly, "more accent on accents." At the winter home furnishings markets, I'm told, we'll see a speed-up of the trend started earlier toward wider choices of accent pieces to team with new furniture collections or to freshen an established interior.

Storage cabinets engineered to organize the clutter are innovations we'll see more of. One cabinet that interests me is a small chest. The fold-back doors reveal an interior with eight small black drawers down one side, shelves on the other. It is sized to hold a slide projector and similar camera equipment. The eight drawers are a perfect fit for boxes of slides, rolls of film and snapshots waiting for the scrapbook. This contemporary design has an oiled walnut finish.

Other homemakers seeing this chest might envision its use for sewing equipment or entertainment items (coasters, cards, games, etc.) or for purses and gloves.

Tables of all sizes and shapes are news and all to the good for those of us with replacement problems. Lower round party tables are in some cases being suggested as substitutes for the old cocktail tables.

Harvesters Sole Owners of 4th

The season-long logjam around fourth place in district 3-AAAA basketball has been resolved in favor of Pampa, after Tuesday's upset 67-58 victory over Lubbock. The win, in addition to knocking Lubbock out of first place, left the Harvesters in clear-cut possession of fourth place, half-a-game behind third-place Plainview, idle Tuesday.

Monterey squeezed out undisputed possession of the top spot with a 47-45 squeaker over Palo Duro and Borger rose up for a 71-60 win over Tascosa. Amarillo pushed hapless Caprock deeper in the cellar and closer to a new scoring record... against... with a 97-69 romp.

Monterey should have little trouble keeping the lead as it hosts Caprock Friday; Plainview must win at Amarillo; Pampa must defeat visiting Borger to stay in the race and Palo Duro and Tascosa decide who leaves town first; while Lubbock takes the night off to lick its wounds.

Despite Tascosa's defeat, Bill Bogan increased his scoring lead as second-place Buddy Fulgham was held to eight points by the Harvesters while Bogan belted 20 to average 19.8 points per game. Idle Ronnie Peret remained third, while Charlie Price of Pampa scored 14 to remain in fourth place. Although Sammy Gast of Amarillo and Terry Simpson of Palo Duro are hot on his heels, pointwise, each has played one more game than the big Harvester, and Charlie is comfortably ahead in per-game average.

One player dropped out of the top ten, Gary Hughes of Monterey, being held to six points in his last outing. Kenny Hebert of Pampa held onto the number 10 spot, one point ahead of Hughes, although also well ahead in average.

Villanova Struggles Over West Chester

By United Press International
The way Jim Washington of the seventh-ranked Villanova Wildcats figures it, you can't go wrong if you copy the best in the business, namely Bill Russell of the Boston Celtics.

Washington, emulating Russell's great defensive prowess and clutch scoring, rescued the Wildcats from an uncomfortably close game against small college representative West Chester State (Pa.) Wednesday night.

West Chester tenaciously stayed within a couple of points of the powerful Wildcats until midway in the final period when Washington, sophomore Richie Moore and All-America candidate Wally Jones began to find the range and raced to a 78-61 victory.

Washington, a 6-foot-7 junior center with a steel-spring leap, commanded both boards and blocked 10 West Chester shots in the final eight minutes as Villanova posted its 13th victory and eighth in a row. Moore had 26 points for the Wildcats followed by Washington with 17.

Other games on the semester exam-shortened schedule featured three of the top 10 teams in the UPI small college ratings.

Evansville, the No. 1 small college team, overcame an early lead by sixth-ranked Kentucky Wesleyan for a 81-69 win, its 11th win in 13 games.

Fifth-ranked Hofstra almost upset Army at West Point but the Cadets rallied in the closing minutes for a 64-59 victory which snapped Hofstra's nine-game winning streak. Steve Nisenon scored nine straight points late in the contest, tying the count three times, the last at 57-all. He finished with 34 points. Mike Silman led Army with 21.

In other games, Virginia Tech rallied for its 11th win, 72-68 over East Carolina; Providence defeated Canisius, 77-74; and Pittsburgh topped Kent State, 84-83.

TAC Folds After H-SU Quits Grid

ABILENE (UPI)—The decision by Hardin-Simmons to abandon football caused the early demise of the Texas Athletic Conference Wednesday.

The conference dissolved after Hardin-Simmons' withdrawal from the gridiron left the four-member conference with only two schools playing football.

Only McMurry and Tarleton State would have been able to field teams during the 1964 season. McMurry, which had not played football for many years, had planned to resume the sport in 1965.

The decision to abandon the conference passed by a 2-1 vote. Hardin-Simmons abstained from voting. McMurry and McMurry were in favor of dissolution and Tarleton voted to keep the conference alive.

The conference was founded on a limited-scholarship basis. Scholarship athletes were granted only tuition and fees instead of the tuition, room and board offered by most schools.

The action wipes out a red hot basketball race in which McMurry had a 3-1 league mark and Hardin-Simmons owned a 2-1 record. The schools will resume operations on an independent basis.

Aggies Booming Bennie Lenox As Candidate for All-America

By ED FITE
UPI Sports Writer

DALLAS (UPI)—Bennie Lenox, the main reason the Texas A&M Aggies are the surprise leader in the Southwest Conference basketball race, has been labeled the "Rembrandt of the basketball set."

Lenox isn't the "big" reason for the switch in Texas A&M fortunes, for he stands only 6 feet 2 inches—small by today's standards. But, he makes up for the lack of height with his marksmanship for the basket and overall leadership.

With Lenox the only bonafide returning starter from last year's club which had a 16-8 season and stood 9-5 in the conference race, the Aggies started slowly this year while adjusting to new coach Shelby Metcalf's "team style."

Locs Three
The team lost three of its first five games and finished its pre-conference schedule with an unimpressive 5-4 record. But, in the last game prior to the start of league play Lenox got hot.

It was against Wyoming in the third-place game of the All-College Tournament at Oklahoma City. Lenox twisted and squirmed for inside shots and went outside for the long range bombs to pump in 19 field goals and found time to drop 15 of 16 free throws. A&M won 99-87.

The 53-point output was a tournament record and also a Southwest Conference record. Metcalf said Lenox "could easily have gotten 65 or 70 points... but we were in a delay game for quite a while and he passed off a lot of the time."

"If we had nothing in mind except Bennie's making all-America he could be up with the top scorers in the nation," Metcalf said.

Metcalf said his Aggie team "matured" during the All-College tournament and they went on to sweep their first three league games, including a pair of big road games against Southern Methodist and defending champion Texas, the pre-season favorite.

The 170-pound Lenox, a product of Clear Creek Consolidated High School where he scored 2,357 points in three seasons, is poetry in motion as he goes about his work.

Curly Comes Along
Metcalf said he felt before the season started that Lenox, whose little brother, Curly, is coming along on the freshman team to step into Bennie's shoes after graduation this spring, was a "bonafide all-America candidate and the best player in the Southwest."

"I feel more strongly about it now," he said. "He gets better every game and he does more than just shoot. He's a team leader as captain, a great floor man, feeds off well and plays good defense."

An even more graphic on-the-spot summation comes from one of the men who was entrusted to guard him, David Hull of Texas Christian:

"He's great. What a touch. Time and again he'd go up and bank his shot off the board. When he went around the screen and I wasn't able to pick him up, our high post man would take him. He'd go right on by him and drive on in for a lay-up. When I'd check him, he'd just go up and shoot over me."

International Golf Field, Picks Same

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—An international field of golf stars faces up to the weather again today when play opens in the $50,000 Lucky International tournament—with those young-old standbys, Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, in the role of favorites.

After a storm-ravaged finish at Pebble Beach on Sunday; and a day at Sacramento spent in freezing temperatures, the crack field opens in the mud here — with the possibility of rain.

"This tournament should join the fall tour, when the weather is good in northern California," said Tommy Jacobs after wading through the rain, hail and mud Wednesday in the pro-amateur event.

But mostly there were few complaints from the touring throng of shotmakers. The Harding Park course, which is 6,722 yards long and plays to a par of 36-35-71, has been swept by rainstorms during the past week. The greens are waterlogged and the fairways soggy.

During the pro-am, many of the stars were putting with their two-irons to get the ball through the water.

Palmer has shown flashes of his championship form after the winter lay-off, but Nicklaus says he is not near his peak. He had a 75 Wednesday.

"I'm not playing well," said the Masters and PGA champion. "And I don't think I'll be back on my stick until we reach Phoenix. I don't even expect to do a good job of defending my title at Palm Springs next week."

Palmer fooled around the course in even-par 71 Wednesday, but he so inspired his partners that they came in with a best ball of 58. This won Palmer $400 in the pro-am department.

Hall of Fame Voters Draw Election Blank

By DICK DEW
UPI Sports Writer
BOSTON (UPI) — What'll you have — shortstop, pitcher, catcher or Ducky Joe Medwick?

That's roughly the choice facing the mossbacks of the nation's baseball writers who begin almost immediately to choose among some of baseball's greats of yesteryear.

Some 286 10-year veteran diamond writers must settle, by Feb. 3, another stalemated Hall of Fame election.

They will be following a new procedure established four years ago by the Baseball Writers Association of America—for a time when they just couldn't reach a decision.

The BWAA installed a special runoff election, apparently from embarrassment over the fact that they had chosen only two Hall of Famers in six years.

Results of the baseball primary Wednesday night made Luke Appling just one vote stronger than Charlie (Red)

Ruffing. Appling played shortstop and spoiled good pitches for the Chicago White Sox for 21 seasons.

Ruffing, after a dismal career start in Boston, went on to become one of the top pitchers in New York Yankee history.

That pair ran 1-2 in biannual baseball balloting. At 142 votes, Appling missed Hall of Fame election — "a great honor," he said — by just nine votes. Ruffing finished only one vote behind Appling.

Paralyzed former Dodger catcher Roy Campanella was a distant third on the preliminary election list at 115 votes, 36 short of the number needed for election.

And Gashouse Gang member Medwick was even further back at 108 votes, 43 short of a niche in the Cooperstown, N.Y., baseball shrine.

The writers must now start all over again in a rare bid for agreement. They have until Feb. 3 to give somebody 75 per cent of their votes and a ticket to the baseball Hall of Fame.

Matson Enter Millrose Meet

NEW YORK (UPI)—Randy Matson, huge freshman from Texas A&M, has entered the shot put at the Millrose Indoor Track Meet at Madison Square Garden, Jan. 30, where he will oppose New York U. star Gary Gubner.

Matson, who stands 6 feet, 6 inches and weighs 220 pounds, last year put the shot 60 feet, 6 inches, while still in high school at Pampa, Tex., making him the only schoolboy to surpass that distance with the 16-pound shot.

Gubner, who has won the Millrose event two straight years, will be trying for his 22nd straight indoor victory. He has not been defeated since he lost to former Olympic champion Parry O'Brien while he was still a freshman at NYU.

ABC SIGNS KEITER
NEW YORK (UPI)—Les Keiter, veteran baseball and boxing sportscaster, has been signed to do the blow-by-blow radio account of the Sonny Liston-Cassius Clay world heavyweight championship bout at Miami, Fla., on Feb. 25, ABC announced today.

Minnesota Asks Segregation Aid

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI)—The Minnesota Twins baseball club, criticized for allowing segregation of its players at its spring training site at Orlando, Fla., has asked a national group to help solve the problem.

Calvin Griffith, president of the team, said Wednesday night the Twins have been unable to come up with a solution to the segregated accommodations at Orlando.

Griffith made his comments after the Minnesota Council for Civil and Human Rights called for an immediate end to the segregation.

The council said "we condemn this segregation policy and implore baseball fans and the management of the Twins to take whatever steps are necessary to have this policy cease."

Griffith replied that the team, whose 10-year training contract at Orlando expires after this year's Grapefruit League season, was told last year the segregated policies at the hotel would be eliminated by this year.

However, he said, "last September, when we started to make reservations for 1964 spring training, we found that this would not be so."

He said the club tried unsuccessfully to force the end of the segregation and then called on the National Commission against Discrimination to help try and solve the problem.

Griffith said neither the club nor the commission "has come up with a workable solution."

Ted Williams Puts Blast On Pitchers Getting Edge

By OSCAR FRALEY
UPI Sports Writer

ISLAMORADA, Fla. (UPI)—Ted Williams, swinging as hefty a bat as ever, declared today that baseball was "stupid" in its failure to protect the hitters' background.

Williams pointed to the "pitchers' World Series in which the Dodgers beat the Yankees four straight as an example of how the hurlers are being given the edge.

"It's like Sonny Liston fighting Cassius Clay with a spotlight in the eyes of one of them," asserted the Boston Red Sox immortal. "They spend millions on new ball parks and leave the background brutal for the hitter."

Preparing for a hunting and fishing trip to New Zealand, the tall, handsome slugger rated Sandy Koufax of the Dodgers as a "helluva pitcher" who might be the answer to the American League's Bob Feller.

Blasts Baseball
"But I read an article where Mickey Mantle said Koufax and Don Drysdale both were great but he found Drysdale tougher," said Williams. "That's because Koufax throws overhead and Drysdale sidearms out of the background. How stupid can baseball be to permit an asinine situation like that?"

Displaying all the old fire, the Splendid Splinter insisted that football has made great strides in improving the game but baseball "has done nothing" when it spends millions on new parks but fails to think of the background which ruins the basic essence of the game—the duel between batter and pitcher.

"You can be miles from a ball park but you can tell by the roar when a guy is rounding third base and going for the plate," he said. "But now everything is being done for the pitcher. Sure, there may be a few more home runs but look at the fewer runs scored. Substantially, the hitters don't get on base like they used to do."

Won't Pick Toughest
Williams still refused to pick the toughest pitcher he ever faced, grinning in sudden calm that "against them all I only went a little better than one for three and the guy I thought was a lamb one day sent me none for four the next time."

"But the pitcher who impressed me with his all-around stuff, poise and what have you was Feller," he acknowledged. "Koufax had a tremendous year and looks like a great one because he can lean back and pour it on when he has to do it."

A noted fishing authority, Williams says that baseball "is all over for me" although he'd enjoy working as a batting coach during spring training.

"I'd like that," he nodded. "I'd feel flattered if some kid thought I could help him become a better hitter. But I have no desires as far as coaching or managing goes. I'm past the end of the baseball road and wouldn't like to go back at all as a steady diet."

Tri-State League Meets Sunday

WICHITA, Kan. (Sp1)—The Tri-State Baseball League, an affiliate of the National Baseball Congress, will reorganize Sunday at Spearman, Texas. The meeting has been called at 2:30 p.m. by W. A. Shufelberger of Liberal, 1963 secretary-treasurer of the organization.

The eight members that fielded teams in this organization last year have been invited to be again represented at this meeting. These include Liberal, Kan., Woodward, Okla., and six clubs from Texas, Pampa, Borger, Amarillo, Fritch, Stinnett and Spearman.

Sporting Sidelines

by JEFF COHANE

NEWLY-APPOINTED head coach at OU Gomer Jones is wasting no time starting on the personal recruiting campaign he promised upon being named to the post. The day after Jones promised that he would go on an all-out flesh-and-blood hunt, the following telegram was received by a Pampa athlete:

"I am pleased to have been appointed head football coach at Oklahoma. I hope very sincerely that you will want to be a member of our 1964 freshman squad. I look forward to visiting with you very soon.

Best Regards,
Gomer Jones

Further query shows that a number of other area athletes also received the same telegram. Western Union must have made a small fortune on the transaction. Wonder if the missives will make up for the lost time and loss of prestige suffered while the OU Board of Regents played footsie. While OU fiddled, Baylor, TCU, Houston, Texas Tech, etc. burned up the high school paths and got to some of the cream of the crop first. Bill Martin insists that the Sooners will have a championship team next year, which is highly likely, but the OU Swami's crystal ball predicts a long, hard winter in about three years.

THE COUNTDOWN is on for the Swami's winter bath. Some time ago, the Pampa Shockers, then early in the throes of a consecutive winning streak, threatened to throw me in the shower after a tough win at Amarillo. The threat was stalled by a solemn promise that if they went through the season undefeated, they could not only throw me in the shower, but Glenn McCasland could take pictures of same. With 20 down and seven to go (the hard-hearted souls refuse to count their post-season tournament), it doesn't seem quite so funny anymore. Teddy Bird is stocking up soap, Doug Altom is wearing a raincoat and Barney Riley is setting up extra lights in the showers for Glenn to get a good picture. I refused to go unless Roy Kieval and Terry Culley went in with me, but both coaches assured me that for an undefeated season, they would be willing to swim Lake McCasland at high tide! Washrag, anybody?

PAMPA ALL-STAR coach Dwain Orr reports a financially beneficial evening for the game with the Harlem Stars recently. Stiff and sore as we are, it was a lot of fun and for a good cause. Everyone discussing it said they enjoyed the game and got more than their money's worth, which is the important thing. Despite the heckling the OU Swami received, the perfect defense is the retort that we scored as many points as All-State Sam Condo and more than the YCC League's leading scorer, Roy "Gunner" Pool (which the OU Swami will NEVER hear the end of... maybe we'll call him "Zero" Pool from now on.) Memphis, which is scheduled to host the Harlemites next Monday night, doesn't have an overabundance of basketball talent and has asked some of the All-Stars to take over. Once is enough, fellows, have fun!

ACC Having Banner Season

ABILENE (Sp1) — Abilene Christian's basketball forces, showing remarkable depth and hitting a fantastic field goal percentage, appear to be headed toward a banner season.

The Wildcats lost four of their first five ball games but are currently on a seven-game winning streak and boast an 8-4 season record. They haven't lost since dropping a 78-76 decision to Midwestern on Dec. 13. The Cats roared back to clip the Wichita Falls crew, 67-66, Dec. 20 and haven't been seriously challenged since.

Included among the seven victories have been solid Southwest Conference verdicts over Lamar Tech and Arkansas State, the two pre-season favorites for the league flag.

The Wildcats, with a 2-1 loop record, have just one family outing this month, hosting Arlington State Jan. 28. ACC's next

YCC Basketball

The Panhandle Packers took a YCC Basketball League win last night and Pampa continued undefeated in the Jaycee Loop.

The Packers led only 23-20 at the half against SW Public Service, but broke the game open in the second half for a 58-30 win. Carroll Russell headed the way with 18 points, Arlen Kaiser had 13 and Ronnie Chase 10.

Pampa was never headed as they clipped Clarendon Jaycees, 63-47, placing four in double figures. Gary Griffin had 18, Cousin George Smith 15, Gene Brown 14 and Howard Anderson broke into the double-digits with 10. Ken Hovsund had 19 for Clarendon.

Liston-Clay Fight Slated to Pep Ailing Box-Office

NEW YORK (UPI) — Even Cassius Clay cannot fight a Sonny Liston sure can. That is the one big thing going for the theater television promoters who are expected to an all-time box-office record on Feb. 25 when the big fight between the two heavyweights will be shown.

Boxing is sick... sick... sick in the lower echelons because of saturation by free television in the early days of the medium and only now is showing signs of a modest recovery.

But at the top—wow! Six of the all-time top 10 money fights are on the list through the courtesy of pay television. Patterson, no great shakes as a crowd pleaser, appeared in five of them. Rocky Marciano and Archie Moore (1955) were in the other.

Scores Three Times
Jack Dempsey makes the list three times in two fights with Gene Tunney and one with Georges Carpentier. Joe Louis is there for his second bout (1946) with Billy Conn.

While Clay-Liston are expected to move to the head of the class on Feb. 25, chances are there will never be a challenger for the gate record of $2,658,660 set in the second Dempsey-Tunney fight at Chicago in 1927. That is good for third place among all-time grosses in an era in which even radio was young.

Following are Patterson-Johansson second fight, Marciano-Moore, Louis-Conn second bout, Dempsey-Tunney first bout, Dempsey-Carpentier, Pattersonhansson, in their third fight at Miami Beach, rank second with slightly over $3 million for the works.

Those totals indicate what strange things have happened in the prizefight industry since the coming of television.

Buff Coach
To U of Cal

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—Howard White, backfield coach at West Texas State and Myrel Moore, head coach at Santa Ana Junior College, were both assistant mentors at the University of California today.

Head coach Ray Willsey hired them Wednesday. He did not reveal their specific duties but commented "Howard can coach any phase, line or backfield, and Myrel comes from a winning program and has an excellent background."

Moore, 29, a graduate of the Cal Aggies, played one year at defensive halfback for the Washington Redskins before coaching at Santa Ana for one year.

White, 38, coached at New Mexico State before going to the Texas school.

Two more assistants are expected to be named shortly.

Homeless Finley Signing
Players Just The Same

By United Press International
Maybe he has no ballpark yet, but at least Charles O. Finley is going to make sure he has some ballplayers.

Finley has one more week to work out a Municipal Stadium lease with Kansas City officials, according to a resolution passed by American League owners, or else.

Nevertheless, the energetic owner of the Athletics still has to sign his players.

Pitcher Diego Segui and infielder George Williams became the first members of the Athletics to sign their contracts, which were mailed to them by General Manager Pat Friday.

Since the Athletics abandoned their offices in Municipal Stadium, Friday mailed the contracts from his home.

While the Athletics are merely starting to sign their players, the Chicago Cubs are nearly finished. Southpaw Freddie Norman became the 24th member of the Club to okay his terms after outfielder Don Lander and pitcher Jack Warner also signed their contracts.

Right-hander Alvin McBean, who won 13 games and lost three last season, and center fielder Bill Virdon signed with Pittsburgh while Wade Blasingame, 20-year-old $100,000 bonus southpaw, became the 13th member of the Milwaukee Braves to accept terms.

The Yankees signed second baseman Pedro Gonzalez, first baseman Mike Hegan and pitcher Jack Cullen and George Shoremaker.

And the neighboring Mets announced the signing of pitchers Tracy Stallard and Bill Wakefield.

Right-handed pitchers Don Lee, Fred Newman and Aubrey Gatewood agreed to terms with the Los Angeles Angels, who now have satisfied 12 of their players.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities. We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself, no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Safe for Diversity

"All generalizations are false, including this one," goes an old saw, but generalizations are the stock in trade of the Federal Government. Treating all citizens alike sounds fine, but the same treatment is not what all citizens need.

Some of us might benefit from a compulsory Florida vacation, for instance, but others burn and never tan.

There's a drive on now in high Washington quarters to broaden the voting privileges, including allowing all youths of 18 and over to vote. At almost the same moment, we learn from Washington that the Selective Service machinery is turning down one third of all young men it examines, and four out of each ten rejected have mental defects so serious that they are unacceptable to the Armed Forces.

So Washington reasons in one case that if you're old enough to fight, you're old enough to vote, and in the other that just being old enough is not enough. See? At the other end of the scale, there is an assumption that anyone over 65 needs help in paying his hospital bills. Some do, some don't. But the generalization is used as the basis for demanding Medicare, which would tax working people no matter how poor to pay hospital bills for the retired, no matter how rich.

The British, who are usually better at figuring such things than we are, underestimated by more than 100 per cent what the cost of their National Health Scheme was to be. Even so, those who want the bill figure it will cost about half a dollar a week for every factory paycheck in the land and proportionate amounts of other earnings.

All this is predicated on the generalization that old people are poorer than young people, which is true in instances, but not generally.

Washington also has programs based on the generalization that all farmers are going broke, that all small business men need help, that Americans will sleep in the rain unless the government is involved in housing them, and that all housewives who look at a box of soap will think it is "large" if that's printed on the box, no matter how the box looks to her.

While we're making the world "safe for diversity," how about recognizing that we, in the United States, are diverse?

Golden Years Start at 10

In Chattanooga, Tenn., they have just retired a veteran employee of the county government because he is too old for the job. He is 9, going on 10.

It seems the law says the duty of drawing names for the Hamilton County grand jury must be performed by someone under 10.

So here we have a man washed up in his career while still practically in the prime of life. The news story about this was provokingly incomplete.

What did they give this veteran as a retirement gift?

How much pension is he getting? What provisions have been made for his dependents?

Does he plan to loaf, travel and do the things he has always wanted to do but couldn't because of the press of work? Or does he intend to remain active for a while in the belief he still have a few good years left?

Will he move to St. Petersburg? Or does he disdain living among other elderly people and prefer the company of folks younger than he is?

Whatever his plans, we congratulate good old Chris Haley, the retiree, on a long and useful career of more than four decades and wish him all the best in the golden years ahead.

Humility

If everyone in the world is convinced that you are great, you can help to show they are not wrong if you can sincerely disagree with them.

Relax, All Is Normal

If you are wondering if the stress and strain of the space age may be affecting our way of life, you can relax.

There is abundant evidence that we the people are bearing up nicely, thank you.

In California, for instance, a rugged individualist insists on being chauffeured by an ape. Not some clown who drives like an ape, but a real ape.

In Minnesota, a group of real cool college kids have just been acclaimed cookie — or is it kookie? — champs by baking a wafer that weighed 2.300 pounds.

In California again, a determined driver was apprehended as he gunned his small foreign car down a runway at the Los Angeles airport in a valiant effort to keep up with a jet airliner which was taking off. The motorist was on his way home from a party and mistook the runway for a freeway. It could happen to anyone.

A society which can keep its head in times like these is here to stay. We can look forward to what's ahead with high hope and renewed confidence.

Does introducing a roomful of people to each other, or answering an invitation to a posh event, throw you? It shouldn't because a hundred books have been published on Etiquette to make just such a happening easy for you. The very name Etiquette throws a lot of people, but it's simply the prescribed code of usage governing behavior. It's based on thoughtfulness, consideration of others, deference to women and older people, respect for the feelings of others and our own. Don't try to remember the rules verbatim. Just think a little and be yourself. That's a summation of all the Etiquette books ever written.

Today's smile: An American comedian, a big hit in London, was asked to play a command performance for the Queen. A palace aide spent time outlining the protocol for the occasion, and the big moment finally arrived. The comic had a bad case of the jitters. "Surely you remember the few things I told you?" the aide asked. "I remember them okay," said our hero, "but I've forgotten my act."

We recently read that in the past 39 years the U. S. has had more than 3500 meetings with the Communists, including Tcheran, Yalta, Potsdam, Panmunjon, and Geneva, not to mention the many missions to Moscow and Washington. The report comprises 750 volumes at the State Dept. showing the negotiators spoke nearly 200 million words. All this talk led to 52 major agreements and Soviet Russia has broken 50 of them.

Thoughts while shaving: A doctor friend told us recently that exercising alone won't bring about weight reduction, but only serves to make us hungrier. He advises moderate exercise with a strict diet, both on a planned schedule over a period of several months. Reported in the Albany (N. Y.) KNICKER - BOCKER NEWS: "The persecution is being handed by the district attorney. Any Perry Mason fan knows D. A.'s are adept at that sort of thing. Just 155 years ago last Sunday (January 19, 1809) Edgar Allan Poe, creator of the modern detective story, was born at Boston. He gained immortality, but led a tragic life. His poetry is exquisite. Read a little about his vicissitudes sometime, and then read immediately afterward, preferably aloud and to yourself, "Annabel Lee," or "The Bells." You'll instantly recognize his genius. We've always had a hunch great lyricists like Oscar Hammerstein and Lorenz Hart were secret students of Poe's style. Travelers in England are now tipping porters with tradings stamps instead of money. The porters say it okay and have put up rate cards at British railway stations and airports suggesting the number of stamps to be given as a gratuity for the baggage carried. Just discovered that Latex foam rubber was discovered by accident in 1928 when two British scientists were seeking a way to make better tires. Now it has a dozen uses aside from the furniture industry. They failed to make a better tire, but did make things "soft" for millions.

President Fencer - Mending with Southern Leaders While Pushing Civil Rights and Noting Inevitable Differences

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — While President Johnson is busily exerting all his influence and skill to secure enactment of the controversial civil rights bill, he is at the same time quietly refurbishing his personal ties with key Southern leaders.

Strikingly illustrative of this are the following:

In the past several weeks, the President has had long private talks with Senator Richard Russell, Ga., chairman of the Armed Services Committee and the powerful leader of the Southern bloc; Senator James Eastland, Miss., chairman of the Judiciary Committee; Senator Strom Thurmond, S. C., militant states' rights champion who is the States' Rights Democratic candidate for President carried four states in 1948, and Arkansas Governor Orval Faubus.

Senator Russell was an unpublicized January 11-12 weekend guest of the President at the White House retreat at Camp David, Md. Senator Eastland has been asked by the President to submit a list of State Department officials he feels should be replaced. As chairman of the Senate Internal Security subcommittee, Eastland has been highly critical of a number of State Department officials.

The Democratic National Committee, at its meeting earlier this month, approved at the direct behest of the President a quota formula for delegates to this year's national convention that differs sharply from one contemplated by the late President Kennedy. Under it, Southern states, in effect, would have been penalized, with Northern states gaining delegates and Southern states getting less. This plan, drafted by Stephen Smith, brother-in-law of the late President and under him the real ruler of the National Committee, was quietly shelved and a new formula adopted that gives the south a fair break.

Authors of that quota system are Clifton Carter, long-time Texas friend of the President now installed in a strategic place at the National Committee, and former Deputy Postmaster General William Brawley, also at the National Committee. They apprized Johnson of the backstage Kennedy plan, and he authorized its drastic revision.

Brawley, a South Carolinian and strong 1960 pre-convention supporter of Johnson, lost his postoffice job in 1962 after clashing with former Postmaster General Edward Day. Brawley aspires to another high government appointment after this year's election. Close friends credit him with yearning to be postmaster general.

WHAT LBJ TELLS THEM — In the President's talks with the Southern leaders, he does two things: While unequivocally reaffirming his stand for civil rights legislation, he stresses his earnest desire to work closely with them "within the Democratic party." The President lays great emphasis on that.

In every conference he has held the Southern leaders that he wants and needs their help in this year's fateful election. He has frankly said they will undoubtedly differ from time to time on issues and policies, but has expressed the hope this would not impair their personal friendship or interfere with their working together on other matters.

"It's inevitable that we will disagree," the President said. "I fully understand that, as I am sure you understand my position as President of the country as a whole. There is nothing I can do to change your viewpoint, and I wouldn't think of trying to do so. But I know that you and I are big enough to disagree and still be friends and good Democrats."

The President also made a point of again expressing his gratitude for Southern support in the 1960 convention battle, adding, "I haven't forgotten that, and I never will."

INSIDE THE WHITE HOUSE — President Johnson is looking for a new press secretary. Close friends are being asked for possible suggestions to replace Kennedy hold-over Pierre Salinger. The President has given no indication when this next White House change may take place, but is making it clear it is definitely contemplated. The President is indicating he is seeking a press secretary of the stature and character of the late Steve Early, who filled this role for President Roosevelt. Also slated for departure is Assistant Defense Secretary Arthur ("news management") Sylvester, friend of Salinger, who was instrumental in his getting this Pentagon job. He won't be missed over on the White House staff.

First book slated to be published on President Johnson will be by an old friend and stellar newspaper editor, Harry Provenance, editor of the Waco News-Tribune and Times-Herald, who has known Johnson intimately since he was a youthful member of the House, is publishing a book in March titled "Lyndon Johnson, A Biography." Provenance has been working on the book several years. Pennsylvania Democratic leaders are having a difficult time trying to drum up a candidate against Republican Senator Hugh Scott. Some are talking about trying to induce former Governor David Lawrence to enter the fray, but the 70-year-old politico is showing no signs of being interested. The Senate race in Indiana appears to be shaping up into a battle between Democratic Senator Vance Hartke and Republican Representative

Donald Bruce, vigorous supporter of Senator Barry Goldwater. Bruce, member of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, made national headlines in 1962 by disclosing the number of Russian nuclear missiles in Cuba before Defense Secretary McNamara got around to doing so. Bruce is a member of an informal group of some 40 Republicans and Democrats who meet weekly to exchange ideas on forcing a tougher U. S. stand on Cuba and Russia.

It's Up To You

by HOWARD KERSHNER L. H. D.

According to a newspaper dispatch before me, leftward-leaning Prime Minister Papandreu of Greece is proposing to solve his country's problems by more spending and less income — that is, more inflation. His program includes legislation providing for better social services and education, a moratorium on farmer's debts, and a curb on taxation. The first three proposals all mean more spending and the fourth less income. That unquestionably adds up to bigger deficits and more inflation.

When will men learn that governments cannot solve economic problems and improve the conditions of their people? There is nothing the government can do to meet problems such as those Greece is facing other than provide sound money, encourage initiative and self-reliance, restrain and punish predation, enforce contracts and encourage the people to go to work, produce more wealth and solve their own problems.

That's what Germany did after World War II and in a little while the work of the people brought to them great prosperity. That's what the Swiss do, and in their little country, with hardly any natural resources, they enjoy prosperity. The formula for success is well-known, but governments never tire of deluding their people into thinking that legislation, government-managed economy, subsidies and taking money from some to give to others is the way to solve economic problems. All history proves that view wrong and yet even in America the will-o'-the-wisp is still followed.

Another current example of this delusion is the formerly prosperous Uruguay in South America where one-fifth of all employed people work for government and for government-owned industries. In Uruguay, prices doubled from 1955 to 1959 and doubled again by 1962. This past year they are up an additional 25 per cent. Working hours are very short, workers retire on pensions in middle life, many do not work at all, and a large portion of the population receives various types of social security and welfare payments. Production is declining and hardships increasing.

There is no substitute for work, and all the government manipulation men can devise have proved this fact over and over; yet men persist in the delusion that there is some legerdemain by which government can create prosperity. The Communist bosses of Russia have had more than forty years in which to prove that they can produce prosperity, but the people in all Communist lands are hungry, ill-clad, inadequately housed, and suffering great privation. Nevertheless the official policy of our government seems to be to draw closer to Russian ideals with more and more Marxism coming into play all the time.

Feller said to me just the other day, "nobody could possibly have all those relatives you mention in your letters, with such names as Uncle Stretch Falsehood, Uncle Hayseed Flatpaw, Cousin Boliver Sockwad and Brother-in-law Crookedlegs Satlonger." It could be that feller just hasn't ever seen anything like my relatives, especially on Moma's side of the family. Boy, there is some snuff bottle stoppers in that bunch of her's.

Never will forget when I was just a little strapping youngin, I was out helping Papa fix the windmill, leastwise I was out there with him. Anyway I looked up at the crest of the hill and saw a big cloud of dust. I could tell right away that it was Moma's relatives coming. There were covered wagons, buggies, Indian slides, people riding horses, scads of them walking and my Uncle Highup Lowboy was crawling because he had been sampling some of his own makings. I said, "Papa!" He answered, "What do you want, boy?" I said it again, "Papa!" He snapped, "What do you want, boy, I'm busy!" Papa was busy. He was holding about two hundred feet of sucker rod heaving and straining at it. I said, "Papa, yonder comes Moma's relatives."

Papa looked up and his face just froze, he didn't bat an eye, not a muscle twitched; there he stood like a stone statue staring at the caravan coming over the hill. I got plum worried about him, but finally he got his breath back, or what ever it was he had lost, and said ever to himself than to anyone else, "Lord have mercy, they'll eat up Creation and drink Jordan dry."

Now, on the other hand, Moma was right glad to see her relatives and enjoyed their stay, even though they did just about what Papa said they would do.

Now in politics it seems that some folks think there should not be any differences of opinion, that we should all joyously look forward to the coming of socialism. I certainly believe that if a man wants to joyously look forward to the coming of socialism, that he has a perfect right to do so. As for me, watching socialism approach is just as upsetting as the coming of Moma's relatives was to Papa and I'm inclined to believe they will eat up Creation and drink Jordan dry with an inflated dollar and a staggering tax burden.

The Almanac

Today is Thursday, Jan. 23, the 23rd day of 1964 with 342 days to follow.

The moon is approaching full phase.

The evening stars are Venus, Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1845, Congress ruled that all national elections would be held the first Tuesday following the first Monday in November.

In 1937, 17 Russian Communists confessed they conspired with Leon Trotsky to undermine the regime of Josef Stalin.

In 1941, Charles Lindbergh appeared before the House Foreign Affairs Committee and testified against the proposed lend lease bill of World War II.

In 1948, Gen. Dwight Eisenhower said he would not accept any nomination for the presidency. Two years later he did.

A thought for the day — In 1953, in his first inaugural address, President Dwight Eisenhower said: "Since this century's beginning, a time of temper has seemed to come upon the continents of the earth."

Chamizal Costs Set For Two-Week Report

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Boundary commissioner Joseph A. Friedkin, today promised to supply "within 10 days or so" a figure on how much it will cost to carry out terms of a treaty transferring the Chamizal section of El Paso, Tex., to Mexico.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee Tuesday requested a "firmer figure" on the cost of carrying out the terms of the treaty.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., wanted to write a ceiling on appropriations in a bill implementing the treaty.

The committee's action came at the end of a two-hour session during which a proposed bill was under discussion. Friedkin estimated that an appropriation of $39.4 million would be needed. This figure included an estimated $4 million for compensation for displaced property owners over and above fair market value of the property they will lose.

Legislation is required to carry out terms of a treaty giving title to the Chamizal to Mexico. The treaty was ratified by the senate last Dec. 17 and it went into effect Jan. 14 when the American and Mexican governments exchanged documents of ratification.

The proposed bill, backed by the State Department, applied formulas which resulted in estimates of appropriation authorization needs of $29.3 million as the cost of carrying out the treaty, $4 million for compensation to property owners to avoid injury because of the special nature of the government requirement for their property (international), and $6.1 million for cost of custom and immigration facilities.

This would be offset by receipts of $4.7 million from Mexico for the value of improvements in the area, and an estimated value of $6 million for land the United States will receive in the exchange.

Morse and Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, raised questions of why property owners and businessmen should receive more than fair market value for their holdings. They said they feared this might set a bad precedent for future condemnations by the government.

The bill would authorize a special board to pass on claims for government compensation over and above fair market value.

Press Group Sets Meeting

AUSTIN (UPI)—The 17th annual mid-winter meeting of the Texas Press Association convenes this weekend with about 200 to 300 Texas publishers and editors expected to attend.

The three-day meeting will begin with a coffee Friday afternoon, hosted by Gov. and Mrs. John Connally.

The meeting's highlight will come Saturday night when California industrialist Charles Bates Thornton, a native of Haskell, Tex., will be honored as "Texan of the Year."

He is the fourth person to win the award. It is presented each year to a native Texan who has brought fame and prestige to the state while maintaining a legal residence outside the state.

Previous winners were Paul Richards, now general manager of the Houston Colts, pianist Van Cliburn and television performer Dan (Boss) Blocker.

fair market value alone was the standard applied.

The two Texans, however, found themselves on opposite sides of the argument whether canal and highway improvements on the American side of the new border should be authorized in the bill. Foreman said he was for putting them all in one measure, even though it would mean a delay until feasibility reports and cost estimates could be obtained. This was estimated at between 45 and 60 days.

Yarborough contended, along with the state department, that the settlement of "human considerations" of the people living and doing business in the section should not be delayed. They wanted the present bill passed as soon as possible, so that the whole issue would not get backed up behind forthcoming debates on the tax bill and a possible filibuster on civil rights.

Brazos River Group Seeks U.S. Funds

WACO (UPI)—The Brazos River Authority has applied to the Housing and Home Finance Agency for an advance of $313,108 in funds to complete all phases of planning for a $21 million DeCordova project.

The project includes construction of a dam and power and a 135,000-acre-foot reservoir on the Brazos River Hood County, and the installation of a third generating unit at existing Possum King Dam in Palo Pinto County.

Col. Walter J. Wells, general manager of the Brazos River Authority, said funds advanced "are the major step we have progressed to point where we are on project."

"Without these funds," said, "we could not have the preliminary planning studies necessary to permit establishment of the final feasibility of the project." The discoverer of barbiturate named the drug after St. Iara.
